

Nearly ideal weather conditions greeted those at the annual Memorial Day Service in Wayne on Monday. Hundreds of flags rippled in the breeze as Commander Denny Spangler made introductions, Adjutant Jean Nuss read the roll of the deceased veterans and Pastor Bill Koeber gave the Memorial Day address. Members of the American Legion and Auxiliary, the VFW and Auxiliary, Sons of the American Legion and the Wayne High School band also took part in the program.

Obituaries Thyra Nelson

Thyra Vivan Nelson, 94, died Monday, May 28, 2001 at the Hillcrest Care Center in Laurel.

Services will be held Friday, June 1 at 2 p.m. at the United Presbyterian Church in Laurel. The Rev. Doug House will officiate. Visitation was to be held Thursday until 8 p.m. at the Schumacher-Hasemann Funeral Home in Laurel, with family present from 6 to 8 p.m.

Thyra Nelson, the daughter of Fred and Ida (Hathaway) Brown, was born June 13, 1906 in Cedar Bluffs. She lived in Winner, S.D.; Manilla, Iowa; and Clay Center, Kan., before her family settled down in Dixon, making their home above the movie theater. She attended school at Dixon through the eighth grade, graduated from Allen High School in 1925 and attended Morningside College in Sioux City, Iowa. She married Clarence W. Nelson on Aug, 8, 1928 in the United Methodist Church in Dixon. They made their home on a farm east of Dixon, until moving into Laurel in 1977. Clarence died May 3, 1990. Thyra moved to the Hillcrest Care Center in the fall of 1996. She was a member of the United Presbyterian Church, women's society and Circle in Laurel, Laurel VFW Ladies Auxiliary #4504, the Thrifty Club, Friendship Club, Twilight Line Club and the Laurel Senior Center.

Survivors include one daughter, Muriel and Milo Johnson of Laurel; two sons, Merlyn and Eleanor Nelson of Jackson and Marvin and Donna Nelson of Dixon; 8 grandchildren; 13 great grandchildren; numerous nieces, nephews and friends.

She was preceded in death by her husband, one grandson and one great grandson.

Pallbearers will be grandchildren Robert Johnson, Monte and Laurie Johnson, Cindy and John Searls, Jim Nelson, Debbi and Troy Dimmitt, Duane and Kim Nelson, Jeff Nelson and Monica and Mark Ebmeier.

Burial will be in the Concord Cemetery with Schumacher-Hasemann Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Will compete in state talent competition

Emily Kinney of Wayne will be competing in the Lion's Club State talent competition Friday, June 1 in Lincoln. She won the local contest this spring and went on to win the district competition. She performed a vocal solo "I Turn to You." Emily is 16 and will be a senior at Wayne High School this fall. Her parents are Vaughn and Jean Kinney.

Emily's first ever public performance was for a Lion's Club contest in Wayne, when she was seven. As a nine year old, she won the State Lion's Club talent contest with her rendition of "Jesus Loves Me." Emily has taken private voice lessons from Mrs. Kaki Ley, Kim Imdieke and Mrs. Connie Webber. Emily attributes her voice to God, hard work and her music teachers, but she attributes her love of performance to the Wayne Lions Club.

Reader voices opinion of recent editorial

Dear Editor,

4A

Your Memorial Day editorial opens with the fine statement, 'Memorial Day is a time of remembrance and thanksgiving.' However, the editorial went on to push a political agenda that is divisive. The editorial tried to promote flag flying as a symbol of agreement with the idea that there should be laws to 'protect' the flag.

The writer (not a Wayne citizen) would like to define patriotism according to his own political views. He suggests that if I fly the flag then I agree with him that it should be unconstitutional to destroy a flag. If I don't agree with him and don't fly my flag, I am not a patriot and he can say, see those people don't love love their country. I am sorry to disappoint him. I will not let him or you as the publisher take away a great symbol of freedom from my front porch.

There are two main reasons why a 'flag protection' law is not needed. First, I don't believe the flag needs 'protection.' The flag is a symbol of our government-it is not the government. The founding documents of our nation are the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution with the Bill of Rights. What separates our government from other nations is the bold concept that in a democracy, while the majority rules, it also respects minority opinions.

The Bill of Rights outlines individual rights that no government can take away. These concepts were revolutionary 200 plus years ago. They are still a difficult sell, as your editorial attests. Burning a flag is basically a freedom of speech issue. Protest is a time honored tradition. The men and women who have died protecting the 'flag' died to protect the form of government that it represents. I hope they did not die to protect a piece of cloth. The second reason why a 'flag protection' law is wrong is that it is totally impractical. Unless the law is worded to include such ideas as. 'destroyed in protest or to embarrass the government,' there will be many unintended criminals.

As a Boy Scout Leader, I participate in collecting old and ripped flags. The scouts retire them by giving them a respectful, but real burning. Will we be put in jail for our solemn ceremony of respect? Many people do not know the 'rules' of flag presentation and leave their flags up 24 hours a day without proper lighting. I see many flags flying that are torn and faded. Should these infractions be reported for criminal prosecution? How about the advertisements in the paper that have flags? If I burn my newspaper or even shred it will I subject to arrest? The obvious answer is that the 'flag police' will be interested only in people who burn the flag in protest. If that is the case, then the law is being used to inhibit the freedom of expression.

It is upsetting to see a symbol we hold sacred being destroyed, but it is my belief that our flag can take a few protests along the way. The principles that the flag symbolizes are correct and have served as a model for the world. We will improve our society by free debate of the issues. Intimidation of pubic discourse is not the American ideal. I am sorry that our home town newspaper, who editors should know the value of freedom of speech (and the press), would promote such a short sighted idea. Sincerely,

Charles A. Shapiro Wayne

Capitol news Afraid higher teacher pay will raise taxes

By Ed Howard Statehouse Correspondent

The Nebraska Press Association The 2001 Legislature, at this writing, has declined to appropriate state funds to supplement the salaries of teachers who work for local school districts. Some lawmakers, the state teachers' union and some editorial writers have sent up their respective howls about this inaction. They have cited what critics call the woeful state of teacher pay in Nebraska and the risk it poses to quality education. The thing to understand is that this situation is not at all hard to understand.

Put yourself in the place of a state senator.

If you vote to raise taxes, you will be perceived by a majority of folk as just another politician. You know the ones who always say they will fight to lower government spending and will never raise taxes, but then, somehow, wind up voting to increase government spending and to increase taxes.

Well, it would seem that the Legislature has a collective sense that the people really don't wish to pay higher state sales and/or income tax rates right now. Not for anything.

Legislators can give away the state's tax base by providing seemingly endless tax breaks for big companies, in the name of economic development, because such became acceptable in the public mind somewhere along the way. That's just the way it is. And it doesn't generally apply to raising taxes - at any level - for public schools.

REMEMBER: The Legislature responded over the years to taxpayer demands for "property tax relief." It long ago did away with personal property tax in general. It sends enormous sums to school districts (state aid) to reduce need for local taxes on real property.

REMEMBER: Lawmakers responded to taxpayer demands with limitations on the ability of local governments to tax and spend. Lawmakers gave communities and themselves an out: Local voters can go to the and use the money to supplement polls and tax themselves beyond the state limit.

So, what did taxpayers anticipate? Did they suspect that limiting authority of local governments to tax property would somehow lower the cost of running local government, including schools? Most probably didn't think that far ahead. "My taxes are too high" is an American mantra. We want lower taxes, period. Collectively, we don't want to hear details.

The cost of running schools continues to climb, despite consolidations, program reductions, distance learning and such. What to do?

As previously noted, the teachers' union and some other folks say that since local government can't raise taxes to pay teachers more money, state government should raise taxes teacher pay. And, as noted, the Legislature won't go for the idea.

Nebraska has ever compared itself to neighboring states, that have larger tax bases, in providing public education and other services.

A recent editorial in the Lincoln Journal Star noted the Legislature's inaction and asked: "Do we aspire to be Mississippi?"

Our answer: Remember that, for years, Nebraska was known in Congress as "the Mississippi of the North" because of the voting records of its members. Nebraska doesn't aspire to be Mississippi, but it doesn't have to. Doing nothing might suffice.

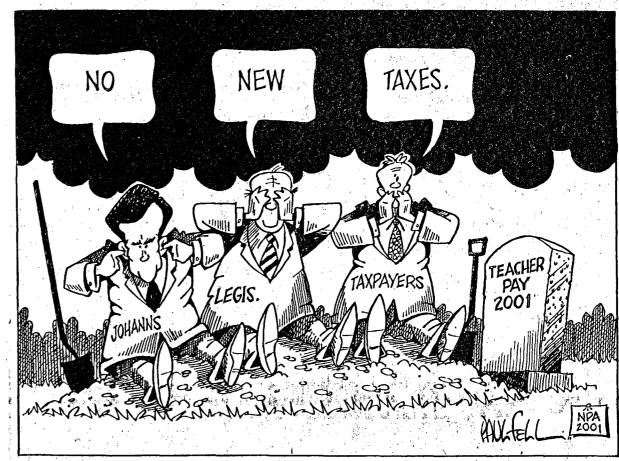

Nebraska loved (and still loves) Ronald Reagan. Nowhere was the line about "doing away with waste, fraud 'n abuse," more popular than here. Collectively, Nebraskans still suspect that schools waste money, that they can spend less on pointyheaded administrators. Or something.

Add another thing to the mix. A huge number of Americans seem to despise schools because they perceive that a huge number of school children are despicable. That sounds harsh, and virtually anyone would deny it. But it's true, anyway. Collectively, Americans don't discipline their children as they should. Individually, they resent one another and the school system for it.

Now, put all those things together. Add a little bit of an economic downturn. Throw in a governor who is certain of at least one reality people don't want higher taxes and any lawmaker who wants to raise them will have to do so over his veto.

What do you get? Nothing. That wasn't hard, was it?

Legislative update

Senator Cunningham gives his views

The Governor returned the twoyear state budget to the Legislature, after vetoing $18.4 million dollars in spending. The Legislature had previously planned to transfer $15.5 million from the Cash Reserve Fund to the General Fund, due to the lower than expected revenue forecast.

With the amount that the governor vetoed, he was able to block the transfer of $14 million of the $15.5 million from the Cash Reserve Fund and still leave approximately $4.4 million for new spending. In an attempt to work with senators, Governor Johanns only vetoed onehalf of the "increase" that the Legislature appropriated in several areas over what the governor had proposed.

The Appropriations Committee recommended that the Legislature overturn $4.9 million of the Governor's vetoes. Their recommendation included $1.75 million for flood control projects, $1.1 million for state college operating costs, $817,000 for higher education scholarships, $500,000 for a renovation project at UNO, $488,000 for community-based services for the aging, $186,000 for aid to libraries and $60,000 for a substance abuse task force. The Governor and his staff heavily lobbied against the overrides. It was made known that pending legislation could be in danger of a governor veto if the vetoes were overturned.

Although I struggled with the vetoes of some items, particularly the state college funding and the programs for the aging, the Legislature was not given the option of voting to override each item separately. I decided that I could not support overriding the total package, as I felt that the Governor had tried to work with the Legislature on his vetoes. It is his responsibility to make sure that the budget balances for the next two years and must use his veto authority accordingly. The vote by the Legislature on the veto overrides was 20-21. Thirty votes are necessary to override.

LB 536, my priority bill that proposes to offer production credits to new ethanol plants, received second-round approval by the Legislature this past week. However, it is not home free. The Governor and other senators are concerned with the $3 million annual price tag. A compromise amendment has been worked on that would reduce the annual appropriation to $2.5 million for the first two years and $2.4 million for the following six years; reduce the credits from 20 cents to 18 cents per gallon; reduce the check-off from 1/2 cent to 4/10 cent per bushel after the first two years and eliminate the excise tax on glüten.

Due to stalling tactics initiated by Omaha Senator Ernie Chambers, Lincoln Senator Ron Raikes and Harrison Senator Bob Wickersham,

the compromise amendment was not debated during Select File prior to the cloture motion and the bill must now be returned from Final Reading to discuss the amendment. Senator Cap Dierks and I will be working very hard in these last few days of this legislative session to make sure that LB 536 is passed by the Legislature.

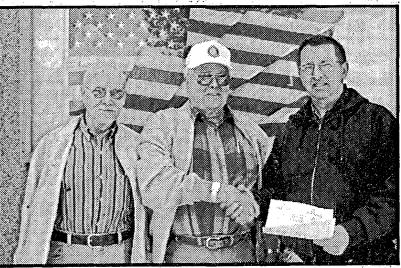

The redistricting bills have been given first-round approval. The legislation containing the redistricting proposal for legislative districts that moves District #18 to the Omaha area advanced with only three no votes - Senator Gene Tyson of Norfolk, Senator Cap Dierks of Ewing and myself. An amendment was offered by a rural senator to retain all the current legislative districts, thereby not giving the Omaha area an additional senator. Although I supported it, the amendment was not well received - even by some rural senators.

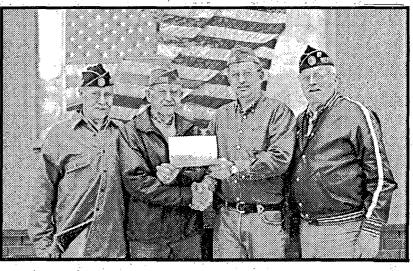

The legislation that contains the redistricting proposal for congressional districts was moved to second-round debate, with the understanding that interested parties would be working on a compromise prior to debate resuming on this issue.

As recommended by the redistricting committee, Madison County would have been moved to the 3rd Congressional District. Due to much opposition from that area, Senator Curt Bromm of Wahoo offered an amendment that instead moved Saline County and most of Gage County to the 3rd Congressional District. Although this amendment was adopted, those opposing it are working on alternatives.

I encourage you to contact my office regarding any issues currently before the Legislature. My telephone number is (402) 471-2801, my e-mail address is dcunningham@unicam.state.ne.us and my mailing address is Senator Doug Cunningham, District #18, P.O. Herrald Sports Jason Peterson wins Men's Open

Jason Peterson of Norfolk rips a drive during the championship round of the Wayne Men's Open last Sunday. Peterson fired a three-under-par 33 over the final nine holes to claim the title.

By Kevin Peterson

For the Herald

The Wayne Country Club's Annual Men's Memorial Open was held last Sunday with a familiar face rising to the top to claim top honors.

Norfolk's Jason Peterson trailed Omaha's Ken Jones by one stroke after the first 18 holes but like so many times in recent history, Peterson took care of business on the final nine holes with a threeunder par 33 to finish at threeunder par 105 over the 27-hole tournament.

Peterson made his statement early in the final round with a birdie on the first hole while Jones suffered a bogey.

He would go on to birdie hole six with a 30-foot putt before closing out the round with a birdie on hole nine.

Peterson has won at least one of the two Open Tournaments held yearly in Wayne for the past four vears.

Former Wayne High golf standout Ryan Sturm placed second with a 109 and Matt Willmott of Sloan, lowa was third at 109. Pender's Chip Sorenson finished fourth with a 109 followed by Dan Young of Hinton, lowa at 110.

Wayne's Rob Sweetland was sixth with a 111 while Doug Boever of Remsen, lowa netted a 111 for seventh. Bob Wynn of Omaha placed eighth at 112 with Rich Kortum and Doug Rose of Wayne notching ninth and 10th place respectively at 112 and 113.

Laurel's Dave Anderson and Shane Schuster fired 113's for 11th and 12th while Scott Osmera of Omaha placed 13th at 113. Wayne's Klinton Keller was 14th with a 113 and Bill Willroth of Vermillion, S.D. was 15th with a 115. Mike Carlson of Valley was 16th at 115. There were eight additional flights of golfers as well with several Wayne golfers placing. First Flight: Dan Freed, (73); Ted Ellis, (74); Grant Whalen, (75); Ken Fike (75).

Second Flight: Doug Pfeifer, (76); Louie Kampschneider, (76); Dave Knievel, (78); Glen Schuetze, (79).

Third Flight: Jeff Backstrom, (78); Dick Broders, (82); Bruce Conant, (82); Frank Kowal, (84).

Fourth Flight: Mark Fischer, (79); Todd Erb, (83); Tim Sutton, (83); Gary Troth, (83) Fifth Flight:

Sixth Flight: Steve Bronieck, (84); Leif Olson, (86); Jeff Recker, (86); Rusty Parker, (90).

Seventh Flight: Dennis Munderloh, (87); K.C. Belitz, (87); Bill Theisen (88); Bill McQuistan, (89).

Eighth Flight: Craig Clause, (87); Virgil Hunke, (89); Don Koeber, (94); Les

accomplished a rarity by notching an albatross, a.k.a. double eagle on hole number nine during the final round.

Dimick fired a five-iron from 190 yards out and sank the shot for a two.

An albatross is considered to be mathematically more rare than a hole-in-one.

Wayne Midgets win Chuck Ellis Tourney; Juniors fall

By Gabe Musselman For the Herald

The Wayne Junior Legion baseball team continued competiton this week as they finished up the Chuck Ellis Tournament at Wakefield with a pair of losses and one win.

Last Thursday, Wayne rocked Pierce 8-1. On Friday, Wayne lost 13-4 to West Point, and then 14-1 on Sunday against Wakefield.

Eric McLagan led the way against Pierce by going 5 innings, scattering five hits with five strike outs to pick up the pitching win.

Brad Hochstein came in to finish the game, by going two innings with no runs allowed.

Shane Baack had a solid peformance at the plate connecting with two doubles, and one single. Ben Meyer and Adam Jorgensen also hit doubles. Craig Olson and Jeremy Foote also provided a single apiece.

Shane Baack took the mound against West Point Friday night, going 4 1/3 innings allowing three runs off five hits while being tagged with the loss.

Brad Hochstein led the offense for Wayne with two singles. Ben Meyer and Eric McLagan supplied the only rbi's with Meyer getting two and McLagan the other.

Craig Olson and Dan Roeber also provided a single apiece for Wayne. In the final game of the Chuck Ellis Tournament, Wayne's Craig Olson got hit hard early allowing nine runs in the first inning and took the loss in a 14-1 setback against Wakefield.

Brad Hochstein, Shane Baack, and Adam Jorgensen provided the only hits of the day for Wayne with all connecting with singles.

With solid performances over the tournament, Brad Hochstein and Adam Jorgensen were nominated as members of the All Tournament Team.

Wayne will continue action this week as they host Wakefield Friday night, and then take part in the Paul Otte Toournament at home over the weekend. Wayne will then wrap up the week at Tekamah on Monday.

Wayne Midgets brought the Ellis Tournament Chuck Championship home this past week with wins over West Point, Pierce, and Wakefield. Jon Ehrhardt, Matt Nelson, Aaron Jorgensen, and Adam McGuire were all named as members of the All-Tournament Team.

Travis Luhr led the way for Wayne on Thusday night by going four innings, allowing three hits with strike outs to get the (16-15) win. Jon Ehrhardt led the way with a sensational performance at the plate going 5-5 with four singles, one home run, and four rbi's.

Other multi-hit performances came from Matt Nelson with three singles, and Adam McGuire with two singles and three rbi's. Mike Sturm and Aaron Jorgensen each connected with a triple. Chris Nissen and Travis Luhr also provided a single apiece for the winners.

Wayne continued to dominate on Friday, by pulling out a convincing 13-5 victory over Pierce.

Mike Sturm went the distance on the mound, allowing five runs off three hits with 10 strike outs to get the win.

Aaron Jorgensen led the way on offense with the big hits, hitting a double and a single which drove in six runs.

Matt Nelson and Chris Nissen connected with a pair of singles. Travis Luhr also provided a two-hit performance with a double and a single. Mike Sturm and Matt Roeber had a single apiece.

With two straight victories, Wayne went on to beat Wakefield 7-3 on Monday night to pull out the Chuck Ellis Championship.

Adam McGuire pitched a complete game, allowing three runs off four hits with nine strike outs to get the win.

Jon Ehrhardt continued his redhot play going 2-3 with a pair of doubles and two rbi's. Aaron lorgensen hit a double, while Chris Nissen, Adam McGurire, and Matt Roeber all had a single.

WAYNE-Wayne's 16-under softball team defeated Scribner-Snyder by a 1-0 margin on Tuesday night in Wayne, Erin Jarvi was the winning pitcher with six strikeouts. Amanda Munter doubled twice and singled to lead Wayne with Leigh Campbell and jill Andersen each netting singles.

The 18-under team won a 7-6 decision from Scribner-Snyder as Brandy Alexander got the win with six strikeouts. Wayne pounded out 11 hits led by Beth Sperry with two doubles. Brandy Alexander and Jamie Sharer each doubled and singled while Liz Campbell and Melissa Turney each doubled. Katie Nelson and Nicole Jensen each singled.

Wayne State soccer team gets two more

Two high school seniors have signed national letters of intent to attend Wayne State College and play for the women's soccer team, WSC Head Coach Justin Cole announced today.

Michaela Blaylock of Omaha, Neb., and Melissa Anderson of Columbus, Neb., both signed letters of intent to play for the Wildcats. They join Staci Karlstad of Rochester, Minn., Megan Johnson of Omaha, Neb., Andrea Haig of Inver Grove Heights, Minn., Tanya Mitchell of Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., and Desirae Paul of Gillette, Wyo., who have already signed.

Michaela Blaylock is a 5-6 midfielder from Mercy High School in Omaha. A two-year starter for Mercy, Blaylock was an honorable mention all-state selection during her junior season. She helped lead her team to its best season in school history this past spring as Mercy climbed as high as sixth in the class, B rankings.

"Michaela is a nice addition to our recruiting class," Head Coach Justin Cole said. "She is strong central midfielder with good field vision and a nice field presence. She has a great work ethic and I think she can bè a very good player at this level in the years to come."

Melissa Anderson is a 5-3 defender from Columbus Senior High School in Columbus, Neb. She was a three-year starter at Columbus and was an all-conference and honorable mention all-state selection during her senior season.

"Melissa is a very aggressive defender," Cole said. "She has good speed and quickness and should give us another option in the back. Her physical make-up should allow for her to advance as a player very quickly. I think she has the ability to be a good defender at this level." Cole is pleased with the outlook of this recruiting class,

"We're really excited about this incoming class. I think we've addressed some immediate needs in our program and have added some much-needed depth. More importantly, I really like these young ladies as people. They're solid students and good kids. I think they'll mix very well with our returning corp." Wayne State posted an 18-4-1 record this season, breaking the school record for wins in a season, In just their second season in the Northern Sun, the Wildcats went 74 2 and took home second place in the NSIC Tournament. Cole will welcome back eight starters from last year's team.

Catfish is one of America's most popular fish

One of the most popular species of fish in the U.S. isn't the prettiest fish in the world. It lives in just about every body of water in the U.S., making it available to anglers everywhere.

Catfish can be found in farm ponds, creeks, rivers, lakes and reservoirs.

One of the three main species, Channel, Blue and Flathead catfish can be found in each of the 48 states.

Catfish generally prefer warm water but some of the largest catfish are caught come from the Red River which flows from northeast South Dakota through North Dakota northward into Lake Winnipeg.

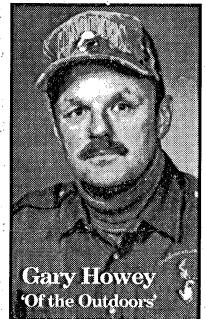

Catfish spawn when water temperatures reach 70 degrees. Theyspawn in enclosed area such as muskrat runs, beaver dens, amongst tree roots, sunken logs or barrels. Rumors of huge catfish above and below the Missouri River dams have been around for a long time. In fact, the largest Blue catfish ever caught was taken from the Missouri River weighing in at 97 pounds which was caught in 1959 near Vermillion, S.D. The largest Channel catfish weighed 58 pounds and was caught in Santee Cooper Reservoir in South Carolina in 1964.

The largest Flathead, also know as the mud or yellow cat, a 79 pound eight ounce fish, came from the Indiana River in Indiana in 1966./ Catfish habitat varies from one body of water to the next! Generally you'll find them in deep pools below dams, log strewn channels and in slack water areas adjacent swift current.

Cats bite best during the night, rod & reel, set lines and in some southern states by hand fishing.

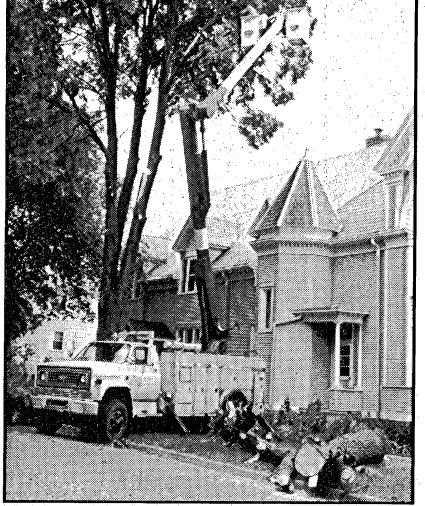

Because of their poor eye sight, catfish feed mainly on their sense of taste and smell. Catfish locate food using their barbells and taste receptors located on the outside of their mouths.

Channel and Blues prefer smelly concoctions that leave a scent trail. The scent trail works its way down stream, allowing the cats to locate this smelly bait from great distances.

I've seen catfish anglers using lvory soap, gizzard shad, smelt, chicken liver, turkey liver, congealed chicken blood, entrails of small animals, dead birds, mice, cheese and commercial stink baits. The smellier. the betterl Flathead catfish prefer live bait and anglers use shad, Bluegills and Bullheads.

In most states, if you use game fish like the Bluegill for bait, they need to be caught on rod and reel.

Tree lift

The Presbyterian Church in Wayne is receiving a new look as the five big, old trees surrounding the church are being taken down because they are unsafe. With new foliage, strong winds we've been experiencing, many old, decaying trees around Wayne have either been coming down on their own or they are being taken down this spring.

but can be taken throughout the day under the right conditions.

Flatheads and Channel catfish can be found in similar habitat. They prefer rivers with areas of slow to moderate current with a hard bottom and lots of sunken logs. Look for them in deep water pools during the day, moving shallow as the sun sets.

Blue catfish prefer faster water than their relatives and generally prefer areas with noticeable current. There are several ways that catfish can be taken! Anglers take them on

Patience is the name of the game when it comes to catfish! Since they feed by taste and smell, they may need to move upstream to locate 'your bait. Fresh bait is another thing that will assure that you'll catch cats. If after two to three minutes you haven't had a bite, check your bait and make sure that it's not bled out or washed off your hook.

When fishing for cats, it's best to think big. Use larger rods, reels and heavy line just in case one of the big cats takes a hold of your bait.

8A The Wayne Herald, Thursday, May 31, 2001 Wayne United Way helps purchase new mower helped out Greenwood Cemetery in-Wayne by providing $1,500 towards the purchase of a new mower.

The cemetery is in need of money for projects such as cement work on all the roads in the cemetery and new fencing. The only source of income for the cemetery is from the sale of grave sites and the opening and closing of the grave sites. Perpetual care makes up one third of the cost of a grave site sale and the amount is very minimal for the years of care required to take care of the site. Anyone wanting to donate to the cemetery can do so by contacting any of the board members. Board members for the cemetery: in Wayne include Jay O'Leary, Donna Shufelt, Lee Swinney, Sheryl Connolly, and Mylet Bargholz. The group is one member short so if anyone is interested in becoming a board member, they can contact any of the present members. Shufelt helps direct care of the grounds, locates and sells sites, etc. and Bargholz is secretary/treasurer.

Extension news The upside of juggling work and personal lives

We all experience the stresses of juggling our work and personal lives. We often feel tired and pulled in many directions and it seems as if there's never enough time to get everything done.

Section B

But there's a positive side to all of this. As one parent says, "Looking forward to seeing my family at night softens the impact of any negative things that happen during the day. I really enjoy both parts of my life."

Roles play off each other. There's a good deal of evidence that despite everyday stresses and tensions, both men and women derive a sense of rather than drain them, and also accomplishment and fulfillment from simultaneously having work as well as other roles and responsibilities in their lives. In fact, people's involvement in many roles seems to increase their satisfaction with each one. In fact, the more a woman likes her job, the better her self-image and the more she enjoys life.

Researchers have found that the busiest women are not necessarily those who feel the most stress.

Instead, their jobs energize them feel inadequate in one place, you often have the comfort of knowing that you're O.K. in the other place, Events in one area of your life can also put events in other areas into perspective.

Variety is the spice of life. Having different roles provides us with the change and balance we need in our daily lives, We need to see many different faces and hear many different voices. We need a change of room and places. Even the office tedium (or chaos) can provide a healthy change from domestic tedium (or chaos). If people don't experience variety in their lives, they're liable to get discouraged. For that reason, whatever our status in life - single, married, with or without children ---we need to balance our work with relaxation and enjoyable activities that will bring us in contact with many other people. Take the long view. It would take a lot of pressure off all of us if we acknowledge that there probably can never be such a thing as perfect balance in our lives at one specific moment. Over time we can anticipate problems and possibilities in every aspect of our lives — potential triumphs and trade offs — that we will find ourselves dealing with at different points in our life cycle. And when we think of balance, we should remember that well-being in no way means an absence of problems in one's life.

Rather, it means a life in which, for most domains and for most of the time, the rewards outweigh the difficulties.

Cautrell and Gray pinned

Twenty-three students were honored at Northeast Community College recently during the associate degree nursing program's annual pinning ceremony in the Lifelong Learning Center. Local students pinned during the ceremony included: Connie Cautrell and Kelly Gray, both of Winside.

The pinning ceremony is a nursing tradition that acknowledges the completion of the student's course of study. Following completion of the course work, the graduates are eligible to take the National Council of Licensure Examination (NCLEX-RN). After passing that exam, the students are able to work as registered nurses.

Each nursing school, at every level of education, has its own unique pin which is worn on the nursing uniform.

Consider giving to Red Cross Disaster Fund

Every day, more than 63,000 times a year, the American Red Cross responds to very real human needs and helps save lives. From food, clothing, and shelter to emotional support and basic health needs, trained Red Cross disaster workers - the majority of them volunteers - help individuals and families pick up the pieces of their shattered lives and begin the long journey to recovery.

The Red Cross developed an Annual Disaster Giving Program (ADGP) where annual financial gifts to the National American Red Cross would provide a stable base of funding for disaster relief across the nation and around the world. The ADGP provides innovative solutions and allows the American Red Cross to proactivley react to 21st century emerging crisis' when the American public looks to us for help.

By making an annual gift to the National American Red Cross, you can help victims of all major disaster relief operations within the United States, as well as internationally.

For more information, or to make a gift to the national 2001 Disaster Relief Fund Campaign, you can call your local Red Cross chapter at 402-375-5209 or check out the national website at www.redcross.org.

Nearly 1,000 Nebraskans — vot- Synod Council. ers and visitors -- will gather from 265 congregations to conduct the business of their synod in Fremont today (May 31) and listen to nationally known speakers and musicians. Sharon Garvin, Glenn Kietzmann, Sheryl Lindau, Susan Urbanec, Lance Webster, Pastor Kevin Ruffcorn and Pastor Bill Koeber are representing Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne as voting delegates discussing and voting on issues before the church.

Nebraska Lutherans assemble once a year to conduct the business of the synod at different sites in the state. Voting members will decide budget matters, constitution amendments and various resolutions, as well as discussing issues before the church. Forums before the Assembly begins will offer conversation on the future of rural America, the new partnership between the Lutheran and Episcopal churches and homosexuality.

Bishop David deFreese will preside at his first Assembly as leader of the Nebraska Synod. He will discuss the "State of the Synod" at both Assembly and Festival and will preside at the Saturday morning worship. The Assembly and Festival offerings will support the Rural Internship Endowment Fund

Together for one last time

Final program given

Food, fellowship, and memories were shared at the last of many programs that were given through the years at District 51. The 10 students during the 2000-01 school year will be attending school in Wayne this fall, Geneva Broomfield will be teaching in Osmond, and Jessica Sebade who was the P.E. and Music teacher during the 2000-01 school year is a student in elementary education at Wayne State College and will graduate next May.

Some of the recent events Sebade organized were Jump for Heart, the Christmas Program, and the Parents Day Program. Sebade also helped the children make a video on the Husker Team, wrote and sent the video to the Husker players asking them to attend their school. The players couldn't attend but sent a "School is Cool" video back to the children. District 51 was the last rural school in Wayne, Dixon, and Cedar counties.

Band students do well

Band students at Wayne High School have participated in a number of activities this spring.

Results from those events include: The 19th Annual Northeast Jazz Festival was held at Northeast Community College in Norfolk. There were 39 Jazz Bands from Nebraska, South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa and Kansas participating in this event.

Jazz Band II of Wayne High School received an Excellent rating and Jazz Band I of Wayne High School received a Superior rating with Tenor Saxophonist Eric Shapiro and drummer Nick Lipp receiving Outstanding Solo Performance Awards.

The 17th Annual Bloomfield Junior High Honor Band Festival was held at Bloomfield High School in Bloomfield.

Over 250 seventh, eighth and ninth grade band students from northeast Nebraska auditioned. From that group, 125 students were selected to perform in this Festival. The students rehearsed in the morning and afternoon and gave a final concert at 4 p.m. John Alpers of Vermillion High School in South Dakota was the guest Conductor/ Clinician. The following ninth grade band students from Wayne High School were accepted to perform at this festival: Clarinet — Megan Jensen (second chair), Kari Hochstein, Jessica Monahan and Jamje Backstrom. Trumpet — Adam Steinbach (first. chair), Sara Stauffer and Mary Boehle, Trombone — Kyle Schmale. Baritone - Brady Garvin (first chair) Percussion — Jacob Kay.

The Norfolk Junior High Instrumental Music Clinic was held in Norfolk at the Norfolk Junior School.

Agriculture

No-till boosts yields, saves on equipment and fuel over time

With fuel prices on the rise and commodity prices stuck in a slump, many Nebraska farmers are looking for ways to save money.

STREET STREET

Over time, no-till farming can help producers save money on fuel and equipment and increase yields, providing more income when times are tough, University of Nebraska specialists said.

In no-till or conservation tillage systems, crops are planted in residue from last year's crops. By reducing the number of trips through fields with disks, plows and cultivators, farmers can cut equipment costs, use less fuel, reduce the potential for soil erosion and conserve critical soil moisture, said Paul Jasa, an NU conservation tillage specialist.

"All you need is a planter or drill and a tractor to pull it, so you save money on other tillage equipment, fuel, time and labor," the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources specialist said. "Many people think that with no-till you end up using more chemicals, but with careful management that doesn't have to be the case."

Keeping a close eye on potential weed problems is essential in no-till systems, Jasa said. No 14 090.

"When the neighbors are out doing tillage, you should be scouting weed problems and putting out a residual herbicide that will soak into the soil as it rains," he said. "Don't just think about weeds during planting. You can't let the weeds get ahead of you because weed control can make a big difference in the money that is left over for you after production costs are paid." Jasa said many farmers today till for no good reason, other than tradition.

Herald

"There may have been a reason for tillage 30 to 50 years ago, when their father or grandfather farmed, but today it isn't always necessary," he said.

Common reasons for tillage include preparing a seedbed, controlling weeds and leveling fields. Jasa said his research shows that these are not good reasons to till.

"Today we have planters that put the seed in the soil correctly and we have herbicides that do a good job of controlling weeds," he said. "As for leveling the field, tillage destroys the residue cover and actually leads to more erosion and therefore rougher fields."

From a financial standpoint, producers may not see the benefits of no-till right away, said Roger Selley, a farm management specialist at NU's South Central Research and Extension Center at Clay Center. "If you can go entirely to no-till, you may eventually be able to sell equipment like chisels, cultivators and anhydrous applicators," he said. "You would have a reduction in equipment investment and less cost to house and run that equipment. You would need less power so you may be able to downsize to a smaller tractor, but you may also need to invest in a larger sprayer for no-till systems." Farmers who rent their crop land may not always be able to save as much on equipment, Selley said. "Sometimes landlords won't agree to try no-till systems, in which case the farmer can't get rid of the equipment entirely even if he wants to practice no-till on his own fields," he said.

Farmers switching to no-till also may need to switch from traditional anhydrous ammonia fertilizers, which are applied using a knife system, to higher-cost liquid nitrogen fertilizers that disturb the soil less. Herbicide failure also may result in the need for more expensive herbicides or even the need to use tillage equipment to control the problem, Selley said. "In short, with no-till you reduce the cost of housing equipment and running it over the field, but you often increase the cost of purchasing and applying fertilizers and herbicides," he said. "In the end, any extra costs associated with no-till generally are paid for by the increase in yield."

Through nearly 20 years of onfarm research, Jasa has found that yields tend to go up as the amount of soil disturbance goes down.

"It may take some time for the soil structure to heal itself after years of tillage, so these yield increases may not be immediate," he said. "With adequate rain, any well-managed tillage system can produce a crop,* but no-till systems tend to show higher yields, particularly in dry years."

The year 2000 yields from Jasa's long-term tillage systems study show no-till farming was the handsdown winner in last year's drought conditions, producing twice as many bushels of soybeans per acre as some conventional tillage systems. No-till grain sorghum fields produced similar results. No-till also may be financially rewarding to farmers in another way, Selley said. "With no-till, farmers often can handle more acres because they are doing fewer operations on each field and have more time to cover more acres," he said. "You can also get in to treat weeds earlier with a sprayer, which is easier than with a cultivator. So even if you don't make much more profit per acre, there will still be more income with more acres. For more information on conservation tillage, consult Cooperative Extension NebGuide G91-1046, Conservation. Tillage and Planting Systems, available from local extension offices or on the web at http://www.ianr.unl.edu/pubs/fieldcrops/g1046.htm.

Nebraska celebrates beef

A beaming Governor Mike lohanns, expressed great expectations for the Nebraska beef industry in comments made May 15 in Lincoln. Calling the beef industry's contribution to the state worthy of celebration, Johanns and wife, Stephanie, hosted a celebratory beef luncheon where industry leaders witnessed the signing of documents proclaiming May as Nebraska Beef Month.

Johanns expressed pride in Nebraska's ranking among premier beef states, congratulating and thanking the operators of the state's 28,000 farms, ranches and feedlots for their impact on Nebraska's economy. In year 2000, Nebraska cattle receipts exceeded $5 billion, making beef production the largest segment of agriculture and the most prominent industry in the state. Stanton County Roadside Policy

Dear County Landowners,

Stanton County is experiencing problems with snow removal, road maintenance and safety due to improperly mowed or cleaned rights of way. Stanton County has determined that it can lower its snow removal, maintenance costs and improve safety, if state statutes were followed by adjoining landowners. . Fi

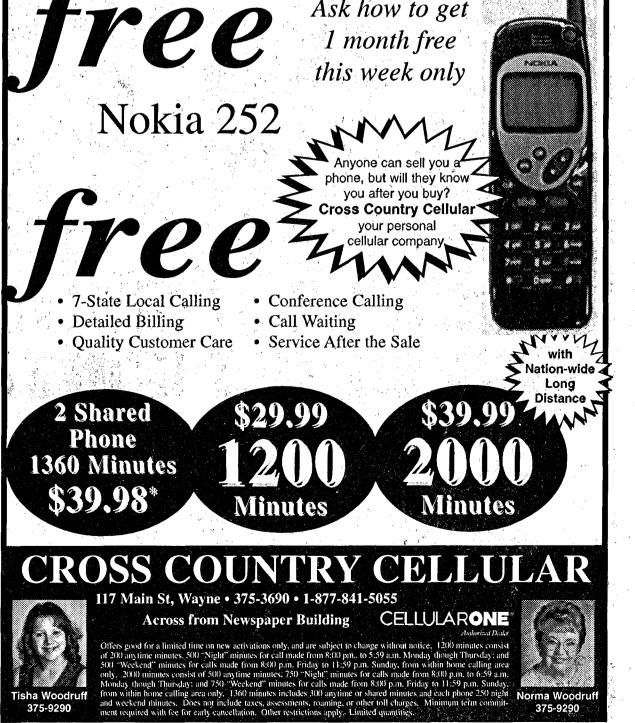

Nebraska Law required landowners to mow county roadside right of way on at least an annual basis. A copy of state statutes will be available at the County Clerk's office for review.

Landowners are required by September 1st each year to mow or otherwise maintain roadside right of way. If by September 1st of each year, such roads are not mowed or otherwise maintained according to law, it will be the policy of Stanton County to send a written warning letter. If the right of way is not mowed or otherwise maintained within 15 days of the postmark of such letter, Stanton County will without further notice correct the problem. Stanton County may in its discretion use its own employees and equipment or may contract for service to correct the problem. If the landowner does not pay the assessed costs within 30 days after mailing the notice of costs, such cost shall, according to state law, be assessed as real estate taxes and become a lien on the landowners real estate,

Any landowner that needs assistance in order to comply with mowing and/or maintenance may contact the County Commissioner of the landowner's district. The County Commissioner will attempt to assist the landowner with a written plan to correct the mowing and/or maintenance problem. Only the completion of a written plan will excuse the delay of the deadline as set forth above.

Thank you. Stanton County Commissioners

MEMORIAL DAY

6B

A new monument at the Wakefield Cemetery which honors the three service men from Wakefield who are listed as Missing in Action was unveiled and dedicated during the Memorial Day Services.

Guest speaker was Gene Twiford, who is State American Legion Commander. He has been active for many years with the American Legion and just last year was elected State⁺ Commander. He likes to describe himself as a "hay farmer from Laurel."

* Twiford was instrumental in getting a monument erected along Highways 15/20 just north of Laurel to honor the crews of two B-17 bombers which crashed near there during World War II.

Wakefield's new monument commemorates Ensign John Paul Hart, who was Wakefield's first casualty during World War II, lost in February 1942; Lt. (j.g.) Allen Keagle, who died in 194 while serving his country and Sqt. Willie Stark, who was lost in action in 1966 during the Vietnam Conflict. Hart and

EMT VOLUNTEERS

Wakefield's three newest EMT-B's, Juan Rodriguez, Scott Salmon and Rick Danforth, completed 150 hours of class time, lots of reading, lots of quizzes, tests and practical exams. Following this the EMTs must pass a national final exam called the National Registry.

An EMT-B is responsible for a wide range of activities. In addition to patient assessment and care, an EMT-B is also responsible for preparation for response, a safe response to the scene, safe transportation to the hospital and transferring patients to hospital personnel for continuing or care.

The biggest change in the Emergency Medical Service system is the philosophical change in the the EMT. No longer is the EMT just someone who loads the patient in the ambulance and gets them to the hospital, now the EMT's role is to provide "pre-hospital care." That care can range from everything from a simple bandage of a wound to performing cardiac arrest man-

RESCUE SQUAD

Since the Wakefield Rescue Squad was organized, volunteers have answered 2,286 call. So far this year, the tam has answered 37 calls. These emergency responses have required 171 EMT hours and the ambulances have traveled a total of 864 miles.

HONOR STUDENTS Sixteen of the 32 graduating seniors at Wakefield High School were presented scholarships during graduation ceremonies at the school on May 20. Some of the awards were from community organizations, others from colleges and universities. Kassi Anderson received a Milton G. Waldbaum Scholarship to attend Wayne State College and the Steve Wilkerson Memorial Scholarship sponsored by the American Legion Post #81. Traci Potter was selected for a Leadership Award Scholarship to Wayne State College, a P.E.O. Chapter CZ Scholarship, Future Business Leaders of America Scholarship and the Left Olson Scholarship for Business Students. GRADUATE WITH HONORS

Eleven 2001 graduates of Wakefield High School received honor cords during graduation for high academic achievements.

They were Annie Bierbower, Josh Henderson, Leslie Boeckenhauer, Kassi Anderson, Nicole Hansen, Todd McQuistan, Traci Lueth, Matt

Petersen, Kim Hattig, foreign exchange student Rebekka Kahlhaus and David Petersen.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

The Wakefield Community School Board of Education met May 14. Visitors were John Torczon and Justin Smith.

Elementary Principal Jennifer Widner informed board members of upcoming activities including summer school, a Math Assessment Institute and the Spring Concert.

Secondary Principal Bill Heinmann informed the board that John Torczón, Justin Smith, Leslie Bebee, Dan Zulkosky and he went to Omaha and toured the Body Basic facilities to review options for equipment needs for the new fitness room. He cited other events that had occurred during the last month including a Perkins Grant Site visit. National Honor Society awards ceremony, the Athletic Banquet, Senior Sneak trip and the music trip. He and Rex Mueller met to discuss plans for upgrades of technology hardware and software.

Mr. Heinmann provided a copy of a preliminary master schedule and a professional development proposal for next year.

Superintendent Mike Moody reviewed the travel release policy with board members and explained that the reason students are not allowed to be released to anyone other than a parent is that it exposes the school to significant liability risk. Discussion was held on amending this release policy.

Mr. Moody provided information about the upcoming 2001 School Law Seminar to be held in Grand Island on June 8. Marcia Kratke and Stan McAfee asked to be registered for the seminar.

Mr. Moody also provided information on LB305 (teacher pay bills) Marcia Kratke informed the Board that the negotiations committee and staff staff representatives had met and are preparing to meet again soon.

Superintendent Moody provided a copy of the Progress Report that was written as a result of the construction meeting on May 7.

ESU EMPLOYEE OF THE YEAR

Julia Slaymaker of Wayne was presented the Educational Service Unit 1 Employee of the Year Award by Bob Uhing.

The award is presented annually in honor; of the late Georgia McQuistan, who was an ESU employee.

Julia has been employed by the service unit as a resource teacher/ vision specialist since 1991.

The students were honored for completing requirements to receive a Nebraska High School diploma through the GED (General Educational Development) test administered by Northeast's Adult Basic Education (ABE) Program.

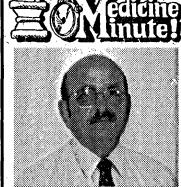

Northeast English instructor Julie Ptacek delivered the Faculty Welcome and told the graduates that she, too, had had difficulties in a high school system and dropped out of school. "It is a real pleasure for me to stand here as a Northeast faculty member to congratulate you and encourage you to continue your education," she said. Ptacek now has both a bachelor's and master's degree from Wayne State College.

ABE Program, said the ABE Program in Northeast Nebraska served 1,688 students last year, of which 169 received their Nebraska High School diploma. The program, with its 181 volunteers and 45 paid staff, also served 758 English As a Second Language (ESL) students.

As of March 31st of this year, the ABE Program has served approximately 1,000 students with 142 qualified to receive the Nebraska High School Diploma. Some 126 volunteers donated their time to the program this year.

The ABE/GED/ESL programs are free to persons 16 years and older who are not enrolled in secondary school. It provides preparation for the Nebraska High School Diploma and instruction in basic skills such as reading, writing, speaking English, math, citizenship, and consumer education.

Natural "Medicine" for Heart Disease

According to a recent study, a natural compound known as coenzyme Q-10 or ubiquinone may be useful in a number of conditions the involving heart. Uboquinone was first identified in 1957. Today, according to some reports, it is one of the "medicines" of choice in treating heart disease in Japan, where 250 different commercial ubiquinone products are available. These products are used for congestive heart failure, high blood pressure, and heart irregularities. Other uses include increasing exercise tolerance and protecting the heart from low oxygen blood levels. Although ubiquinon is not an herb, it is included in some herbal formulas.

One study of ubiquinone involved 2,664 persons with mild to moderate heart failure. Improvements in edema, shortness of breath, and palpitations (being able to feel the heart beat) were reported. In another study of 19 chronic heart disease patients, there was an increased ability to tolerate exercise with ubiquinone. Twelve of the 19 showed marked improvement, and no serious side effects were reported,

NITRATE VIOLATION NOTICE

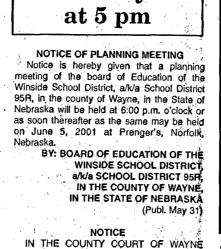

In accordance with the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) Regulations Governing Public Water Supply Systems, the consumers of the City of Wayne public water supply system are hereby notified that the system is in violation of the established drinking water standard of 10 milligrams per liter. Nitrate has been measured at an average concentration of 12 milligrams per liter in two samples from Well 541 collected from this system on May 2, 2001 and May 16, 2001.

The Drinking Water Program sets drinking water standards and has determined that nitrate poses an acute health concern at certain levels of exposure. Nitrate is used in fertilizer and is found in sewage and waste from human and/or farm animals and generally gets into drinking water from those activities. Excessive levels of nitrate in drinking water have caused serious illness and sometimes death in infants under six months of age. The serious illness in infants is caused because nitrate is converted to nitrate in the body. Nitrate interferes with the oxygen carrying capacity of the child's blood. This is an acute disease in that symptoms can develop rapidly in infants. In most cases, a health deteriorates over a period of days. Symptoms include shortness of breath and blueness of the skin. Expert medical advice should be sought immediately if these symptoms occur. The purpose of this notice is to encourage parents and other responsible parties to provide infants with an alternate source of drinking water. Local and State health authorities are the best source of information concerning alternate sources of drinking water for infants. The Drinking Water Program has set the drinking water standard at 10 milligrams per liter for nitrate to protect against the risk of these adverse effects. Drinking water that meets the standard is associated with little to none of this risk and is considered safe with respect to nitrate.

This violation is for water collected from Well 541 (Well #4). Well 541 has not been pumped into the distribution system since the date of the last sample, May 16, 2001. Since the City of Wayne has 5 other wells that are not in violation of the nitrate standard of 10 milligrams per liter, Well 541 will be put in standby or emergency status. This means Well 541 will not be pumped into the distribution systems except in extreme emergency situations, for example a major fire. Testing will still be done on Well 541 to minimize impact in emergency situations, and to monitor the nitrate level.

The bulk of Wayne's water is pumped from wells #9 and $10. The nitrate levels are 3 milligrams per liter and 2.7 milligrams per liter respectively. Well 5 is 3mg/L, Well 7 is 3.8mg/L, and Well 6 is 9mg/L. Water in the distribution system usually runs around 3mg/L, For additional information regarding this notice please contact Harold Reynolds at 402-375-5250. Alternate contact Jeff Brady at 402-375-5250.
