Council approves special licenses

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

Following considerable debate, the Wayne City Council approved, conditionally, two special liquor licenses at Tuesday's meeting.

The first came from Brian Frevet and Kelly Heithold of The Liquor Barn to have a beer garden in front of their business in conjunction with Henoween activities on Friday, July 13.

Council members questioned the safety of having the beer garden in the street with the street being open to traffic.

Council members voted to allow the license to be granted, on the condition the business get liability insurance and portions of the street be blocked off to prevent traffic from entering the area.

The second request for a liquor license came from West Side Convenience to have a beer garden on their property during the Chicken Show on Saturday, July 14. The request was approved, on the condition that the business obtain approval from the fire marshal's office due to the fact that the beer garden is to be located near the gas pumps.

Council members approved Ordinance 2001-5 which approved a rezoning request from Don Goeden to change the zoning on an 89 acre tract of land from A-1 (Agricultural) to A-2 (Agricultural Residential).

Approval was also given to waive the requirement to have a determination study done by professional engineer regarding the effect of a well on the existing city wells. This was done specifically for a domestic well being installed south of Wayne. However, the well is more than 2.5 miles from the closest municipal well.

Approval was given on an application from Glen Nichols for $40,000 in Wayne Revolving Loan Funds.

Two public hearings will be held at the council's next meeting, Tuesday, July 10.

Both deal with requests to rezone property from A-1 to A-2. The first is from Frese Farms and the second

Tuition rates are increasing

The Nebraska State Colleges' (NSC) Board of Trustees set tuition rates at $69.75 per credit hour for the system during the June 18-19 board meeting. This reflects a six percent increase for undergraduate students attending Chadron, Peru, and Wayne State Colleges. The board meeting was held at Western Nebraska Community College in Scottsbluff.

"The mission of the Nebraska State Colleges is to provide access to high quality education. Our commitment to this is reflected by the board's decision to keep tuition under $70 per credit hour," said NSC Executive Director Stan Carpenter.

The board considered the system needs, as well as state funding when determining the tuition rate. The tuition increases, along with the additional appropriation support from the legislature will help the system address essential needs, such as salaries, health insurance, operating

Trip to the past

The Oaks had a van tour for the Assisted Living residents recently. The group traveled to Sholes to the Donna and Murray Leicy farm where Murray was cultivating corn with his team of work horses. Murray also uses the horses for haying. Those in attendance talked about the teams they had had years ago and the kind of equipment they used. Murray had a cultivator that his brother Ed had restored for him. Ed also does the harness repair. The van trip also included a drive through Sholes to see if any familiar buildings were still standing.

Auxiliary serves community for 40 years

The Wayne Hospital Auxiliary was organized in February of 1960. Since that time members of the auxiliary have tirelessly devoted their time and energy in making generous financial contributions to Providence Medical Center.

Over the past forty plus years, the Wayne Hospital Auxiliary has hosted numerous bazaars, soup and pie luncheons, style shows and even managed a gift shop at the hospital for a time.

According to the hospital foundation president, Sandra Bartling, the total financial contributions made to Providence Medical Center by the auxiliary over all these years is in excess of $100,000. "The Wayne Hospital Auxiliary has a place of honor on our donor tree as a Regal member of the Providence Medical Center Foundation," said Bartling.

This week, members of the Wayne

Hospital Auxiliary announced that the hospital auxiliary would not be hosting their annual style show. In fact, according to auxiliary treasurer Marilyn Carhart, they will be taking the next year off.

"It's time for us to reorganize and prepare for the next 40 years," Mrs. Carhart said.

As part of the reorganization, the group plans to change its name to Providence Medical Center Auxiliary to better express the desire for area involvement of all who benefit from Providence Medical Center.

According to Carhart, anyone who has an interest in assisting the auxiliary with annual fundraisers is encouraged to give her a call.

"We are trying to prepare well for the years ahead. We want to continue to provide financial assistance to Providence Medical Center, but in order to do that, we need individuals who will be willing to work one time a year at a fundraiser. Time will tell if we have prepared well for our future. At the moment we will be spending the next few months examining all of our opportunities and hopefully arriving at exciting new goals," Mrs. Carhart said.

"Over the past years, many loyal individuals have contributed to the Wayne Hospital Auxiliary and we in turn, have been able to help out the hospital. It is our prayer that after our little sabbatical, we will be able to continue on with renewed energy and vitality," Mrs. Carhart said.

Anyone interested in assisting the hospital auxiliary is encouraged to contact Lois Hall at 375-1555; Marilyn Carhart at 375-2976 or Diane Pieper at 375-4307. Messages for auxiliary members may also be left at the Providence Medical Center Foundation office.

Highway work begins

Construction signs have been put up south of Wayne on Highway 15 and plans for improving the roadway and shoulder are planned for the next few weeks.

The project, being undertaken by the Nebraska Department of Roads, begins at the south end of the Logan Creek bridge at the city limits and continues south for just over eight miles, to the Altona intersection.

The project will involve milling out a two inch depth of the 24 foot roadway, patching the bad areas, placing two inches of new asphalt on the roadway and then sealing the existing shoulders.

According to Scott Brummond, Highway Project Manager, the milling is scheduled to begin Monday, July 2 with the installation of the new asphalt to follow. It is estimated that the project will take three to four weeks to complete.

Close Up coordinator gives thanks

Dear Editor,
 Democracy is more than a spectator sport — for it to survive and flourish, we all must become active, engaged citizens.
 This is the message I heard from 859 students representing 52 Nebraska high schools, who recently participated in the Close Up Foundation government studies program in Washington, D.C.
 For a full week, these youth had unique opportunities to develop a better understanding of our democratic process. History, government and current issues came alive for them through meetings with congressional leaders, political advisors and journalists. In addition, they learned from other Close Up participants from across the nation through daily debates and discussions.

 Most important, they returned home with a deeper awareness of their responsibilities as citizens and the realization that a single individual can make a difference. Their newfound enthusiasm for involvement in our system of democracy is to be admired.
 The Close Up experience was made possible through the efforts of local educators and parents, and the financial support of a number of corporations.
 On behalf of Close Up, I commend the dedication of the Wayne community and look forward to working with you for many years to come.

Eric Adydan,
 Nebraska Coordinator

area fundraising effort to finish off the costs of the building and equipment. Some interesting ideas to maximize the building are being incorporated including facilities for golfers in the winter.

Activity Center Site
 The dirt work on the site is approaching half completion and when completed the southwest hill will be gone and the whole field will be relatively level and seeded back to grass. The grass waterway will still cross the field and will be sized to carry a six inch rain that falls in one hour. The standing water seen this week is caused by silt control stops placed in the waterway to keep the mud out of our city storm sewers.

Skate Park
 The council will be opening bids on July 10 to repave the skate park by the swimming pool.
Midge Flies
 Harold has the waste water lagoon on a regular treatment schedule to control the hatch of midge flies. So far none have been found.

Ethanol's future depends on policy, politics

By Ed Howard
 Statehouse Correspondent
 The Nebraska Press Association

President Bush seems to be sizing up the issues and angles in agricultural politics like a billiard player.
 You have to play the angles in billiards so that you make just enough contact with the object of your aim. You have to put the right spin on things, too.
 Bush recently gave the nation's corn growers cause to rejoice. He denied California's request for an environmental waiver on motor vehicle fuel requirements. That was good news for ethanol. Thus it was good news for people who grow the corn that becomes the alcohol that goes into ethanol.

A week or so later Bush got his way in the House Agriculture Committee. The committee voted to limit supplemental farm aid to $5.5 billion. That was $1 billion less than even the committee's Republican chairman had wanted.

The president's budget for agriculture simply reflected what he had quietly but consistently said for some time - that he would cut funding for agricultural programs.
 You ought to recall that Nebraska's Sen. Ben Nelson put up quite a holler earlier this year over the proposed Bush spending blueprint. The president slapped Nelson on the back, gave him the nickname "Nellie," and took the extraordinary step of saying good things, even flattering things, about Nelson. In public, too!

Nebraska's "Nellie" made clear that he was a bi-partisan kind of guy. The kind of guy who wanted to do right by the country in general - and right by Nebraska in particular. Pretty soon Nelson was getting more photo ops with the president than old Jim Jeffords (remember him?) ever dreamed about, even when he was a full-fledged, card-carrying GOP type.

Remember those pictures of Republican Bush sitting right next to Democrat Nelson at the College World Series? Did you think that was a coincidence?

Nelson made clear months ago that he was not satisfied with vague references by Bush to possible "contingency funds" that "might" be available for Nebraska farmers. In a Senate divided right down the middle, a president would be foolish to ignore the wants of a genuine Democrat moderate, especially one who could vote Republican and not get much grief about it back home.
 The president gave little if any ground on the issue of supplemental payments. But his "California decision" was expected to give corn prices a solid boost (eventually), and his overall commitment to ethanol (the depth of which has not been made clear) could be a good thing for corn growers over an undetermined period of time. This is known in some circles as "Gimmee some of yours, and I'll give you some of mine."

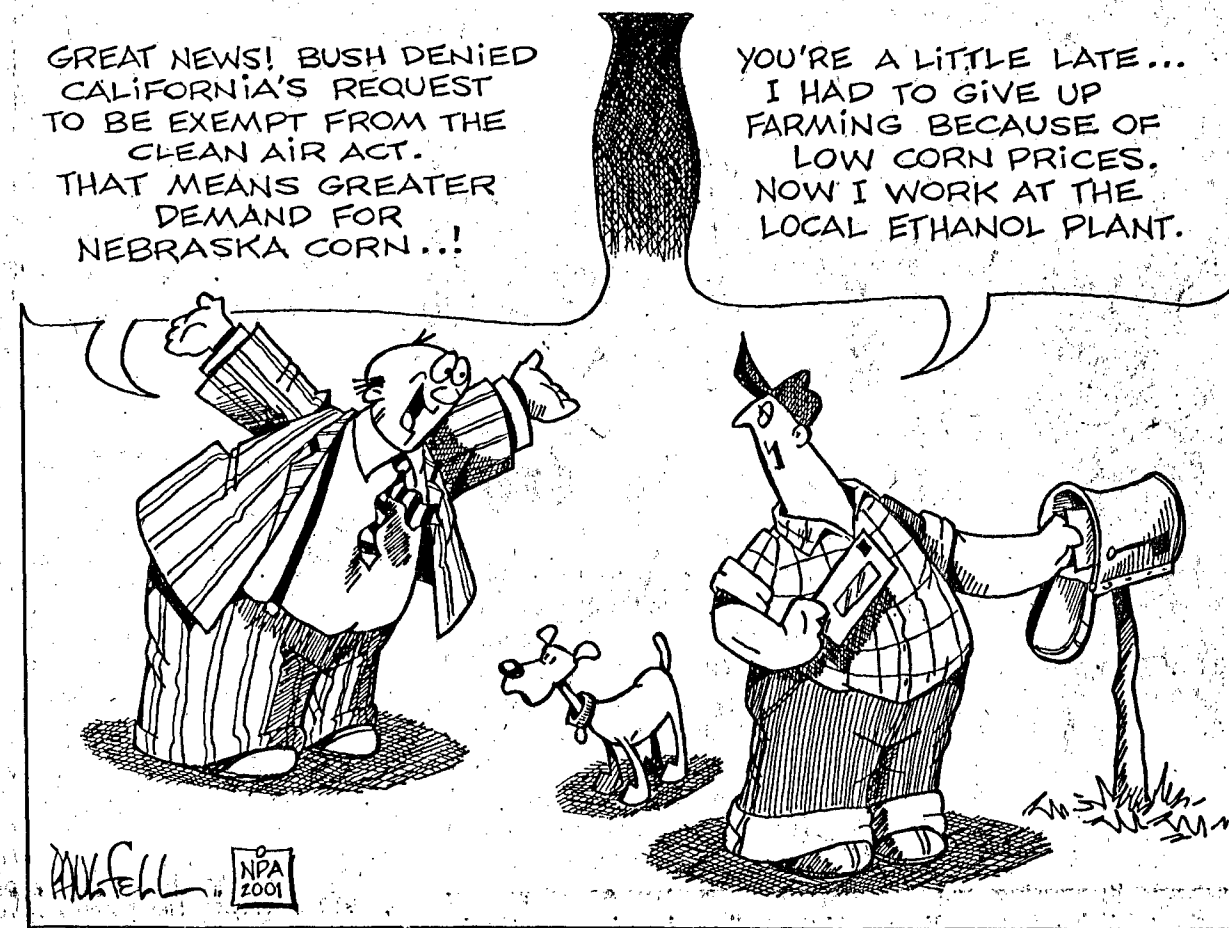

A continuing danger for corn growers, however, remained unchanged. That danger was reflected in doubts critics expressed about ethanol as an economically viable, long-term fuel additive. Critics said it takes more energy to make ethanol than ethanol actually provides.

So, what made ethanol viable to begin with?

If you said "government subsidies" you got it right. The need for subsidies has always represented the knife at the jugular of the ethanol industry. But when MTBE turned out to be responsible for polluting water more effectively than it could clean exhaust fumes, ethanol moved to the head of the class.

There is energy policy and there is energy politics. The future of ethanol, and the economic well being of some corn growers, depends upon both.

Updates given on Wayne Chicken Show

By Karin Vaughn
 The Wayne Chicken Show is almost here and the Chicken Show Council has been eating, sleeping and breathing the event.

As many of you are aware, the council has made the decision to move the events on Saturday to Wayne State College. The process began well over a year ago in an effort to make the Chicken Show an even more enjoyable event.

There were many factors that led to this decision by the council. Some of these were lack of space to accommodate a growing number of participants and activities; safety concerns; accessibility for handicapped and elderly populations, parking for chartered buses bringing tour groups and problems with the way certain events were laid out which made the event confusing and frustrating for our visitors.

We realized some of these issues, needed to be addressed after the "wrap-up" meetings we held following both shows in 1999 and 2000. These concerns, along with other suggestions were brought to our attention and upon review, the council deemed this move necessary.

If you will recall, the council suggested different ideas to the community for this relocation, which included downtown, the fairgrounds and areas at the college. The response was a desire to keep green space (grassy areas) and shade.

With those predominant requests in mind, the college seemed to be the best location. The final destination of the Willow Bowl was chosen due to the natural stage area, trees surrounding the Willow Bowl and other accommodations which will help the event to run smoothly.

A proposal was drawn up last fall and presented to the President, Vice-Presidents and Directors of several departments at the college. They viewed the move as being beneficial to both parties and offered their support for the project.

Once approval was given, plans began to work out the logistics of the move, lay out of activities and general operations for the 2001 Chicken Show. This involved contacting the 20 different organizations that are involved with putting on different aspects of the event.

We needed to find out if they would support this type of move and identify their needs and concerns.

Once approval was given and the information obtained, the council started diligently working to make it a reality. As they worked, the pieces of the puzzle seemed to fit together effortlessly. Things were clicking, making sense and the council's enthusiasm for the project has continued to grow.

There are several new and exciting things happening with the event. First, Main Street Wayne has agreed to organize the events, downtown, on Henoween, which will provide more resources and support. As a result, some of the new activities you will see include games and events for the teenagers, a window-decorating contest for the businesses, teen dance and chicken dance contest.

Saturday, at the college, two shuttles that hold 50 passengers each, will run a route around the campus to pick people up from the parking areas and drop them off closer to the activities.

The quilt show will be moved from the Masonic Lodge to the Lutheran Student Services building on Tenth Street.

The schedule of activities has been adjusted to help things run smoothly. The parade begins at 10 a.m. instead of 10:30 and all of the contests (except for the Rooster Crowing Contest) will begin at 1:30 p.m. Each contest has not been assigned a specific time, because we never know how many entries there will be for each and therefore can never stay on schedule. Instead, they will follow one right after the other, starting with the Chicken Flying Meet.

There are some new additions to the Chicken Show "Cluck"ibles which include lapel pins, frisbees and souvenir bags (great for collecting candy from the parade and items from the vendors).

In addition to all these exciting changes, we have also been receiving national and international attention. The Chicken Show has been featured in Country Discoveries, a national publication, and is scheduled to be featured in AAA Home and Away Magazine and the Navigator, an in-room magazine for Holiday Inn Express.

The Hard-Boiled Egg Eating Contest has been getting a lot of attention, too, this year. Our Champion Eater, Eric Smith, who holds the title for most eggs eaten in two minutes, has had two guest appearances. First, Eric was flown to Los Angeles, Calif. by a Japanese Television Production Company to compete against people from across the nation. Although Eric placed fifth, the winner went to Japan to compete against their champion eater. The second event was on a very popular talk show from Chicago, Ill. called The Man Cow Show.

We have also received inquiries on our event from India and Korea. The last two years we have had people from at least 10 different countries at the Wayne Chicken Show.

In conclusion, the Wayne Chicken Show Council is seeking the help of the Wayne community. The well-known Chicken Show Coupe de Ville, is in need of repair; therefore we are launching a "Save the Coupe" campaign.

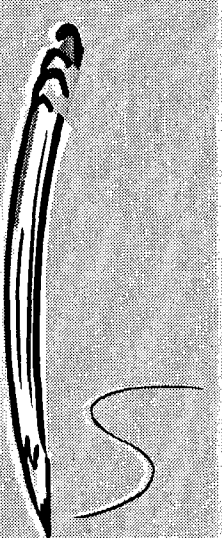

More details will follow in future articles.

McGruff safety training held

McGruff the Crime Dog was in Wayne last month to help Garry Poutre, City of Wayne Electric Distribution Superintendent, and Officer Matt Hoffman of the Wayne Police Department conduct safety training for the preschool through second grade students at various schools and daycare facilities in the City. Near the end of each school year, over 300 children are reminded that the City of Wayne sponsors a McGruff House and McGruff Truck Program so that they know where they can safely go for help if they or a friend are injured, lost, or scared for any reason. The children's training included safety booklets, a video, and a presentation from Poutre and Hoffman to remind them of the importance of playing in groups, being safe around traffic, and avoiding strangers while they enjoy the outdoors during summer vacation. The City of Wayne wants to inform all residents that there is a need for additional McGruff Houses. For information on becoming a McGruff House, please contact the Wayne Police Department at 375-2626. Pictured with McGruff the Crime Dog is the kindergarten class of Wayne Elementary School.

Fun in the sun

Recent hot, humid conditions have made the Wayne Municipal Swimming Pool the ideal place to be. Hundreds of children and adults have taken advantage of the pool to cool off and gather with friends. The weekend forecast is for more warm days.

from Chad and Marcia Spahr. Discussion was also held on the city's requirement to remove tree stumps.

Melodie Longe requested a waiver from the requirement for a stump on her property that she has used for decorative purposes.

Council members and city employees voiced concern on liability should a stump fall down and the safety of tall stumps.

Approval was given for Longe to keep the stump at this time. However, the council plans to discuss the issue in the future.

Ken Kwapnoiski, head of the Auditorium Renovation committee, presented a report on the concept plan for renovation of the building. Among the items to be addressed will be the heating and air conditioning system, new electrical system, new ADA accessible rest rooms, refurbished doors and windows and front canopy. The estimated cost of these improvements is $675,000. Also discussed was the possibility of installing a new sound system with additional funds that have resulted from the interest on the sales tax funds.

Approval was given to move forward on the project.

Plans and specifications were approved for the installation of utilities along the two blocks of Grainland Road. It is estimated that a contract will be awarded at the council's July 31 meeting.

Mayor Sheryl Lindau appointed Vicki Pick to the Planning Commission.

The council's next meeting will be Tuesday, July 10 at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall.

increases, extraordinary utility costs, and some instructional equipment.

Board Chair Jeff Renner, Bellevue, said, "The state colleges provide quality education for the students in this state at an affordable price, and the funding we received from the state will allow us to continue to do this. The Governor and the legislature had some difficult choices to make during this legislative session; and the state college system is grateful for the additional funding we received for the next biennium."

The board determined that an approximate five percent increase was required to fully fund essential needs, the additional one percent will help enhance academic budgets, maintain technology, and meet accreditation requirements.

Tuition for graduate and non-resident students was also increased by six percent.

The Nebraska State College Board members include Jeff Renner, Bellevue, chair; Sheryl Lindau, Wayne, vice chair; Richard Halbert, Falls City; Willa Kosman, Scottsbluff; Steve Lewis, Lexington; Larry Teahoh, Chadron; and Dr. Doug Christensen, Lincoln. Student trustees include Chadron State Junior Katie Watt of Wauneta, Peru State Junior Tammie Mundil of Hooper and Wayne State sophomore Jenni Chleboun of Schuyler. Stan Carpenter is the NSC executive director.

The Board of Trustees next meeting is September 10-11, 2001 in Chadron.

During month of July

Nebraska ETV to broadcast 'Statewide' series

Tune in to the Nebraska ETV Network's weekly "Statewide" series throughout July for "doers profiles" - stories about individuals, institutions and organizations whose actions help make the good life in Nebraska even better. This month's feature segments deal with business builders, educators, child advocates and even hockey fans.

"Statewide," which airs each Friday at 8 p.m. CT (7 MT), features the top news and feature stories reported that week by Nebraska television stations and newspapers, as well as in-depth stories by "Statewide's" own correspondents. Episodes repeat Saturdays at 7:30 p.m. CT (6:30 MT) and Sundays at 1:30 p.m. CT (12:30 MT) on Nebraska ETV and Sundays at 3 p.m. CT (2 MT) on NETV2.*

On Friday, July 6, correspondent Andrea Gallagher introduces viewers to Dick Cabela of Sidney who started out selling hand-tied fishing flies through the mail and, along with his wife, Mary, built their business into one of the state's largest employers and the "world's foremost outfitter." In 1999, Fortune magazine ranked Cabela's as one of the top 100 companies to work for. Gallagher talks to Dick Cabela about his humble beginnings and how he created a successful multi-million dollar business. Gallagher also talks to other employees and members of the Sidney community about economic growth.

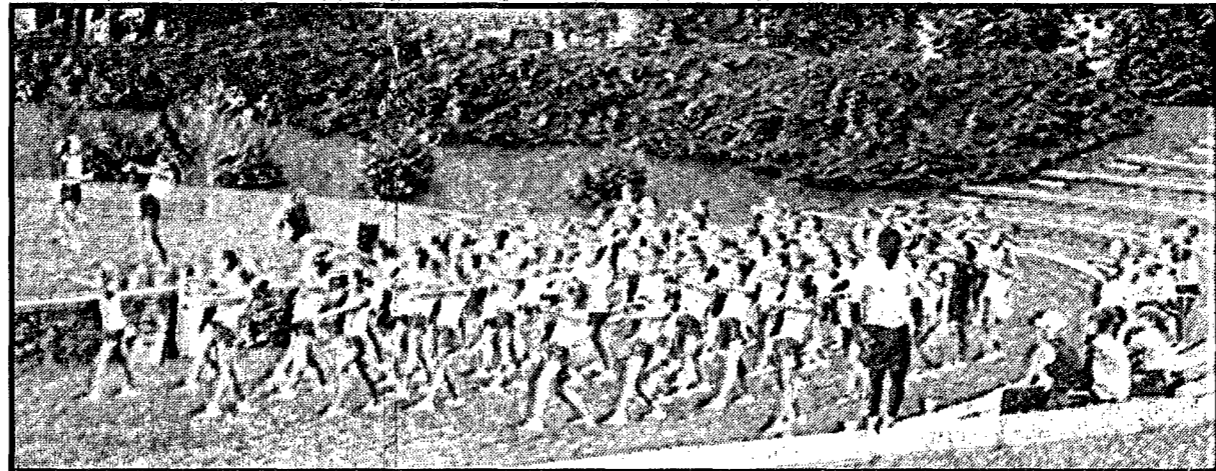

On Friday, July 13, correspondent Mike Tobias reports on the remarkable turn-around at Peru State College. In 1997, turmoil engulfed the campus and the State College Board of Trustees recommended relocating the school from Peru to nearby Nebraska City. Today, however, enrollment is climbing and the school's facilities are undergoing much-needed repair. Just as importantly, the mood on campus has improved and students and faculty are optimistic about Peru State's future. Tobias' report includes interviews with students, faculty, Peru State President Ben Johnson and Nebraska State College System Executive Director Stan Carpenter.

On Friday, July 20, correspondent Brad Penner takes viewers to Sarpy County to meet people who help abused and neglected children by volunteering for the Court-Appointed Special Advocates (CASA) program. CASA volunteers spend time with children, learning about each child's particular situation and doing what they can to make children feel safe and secure.

On Friday, July 27, Gallagher takes viewers to Kearney where the a Storm is brewing -- the Tri-City Storm, the Junior A hockey franchise for the Kearney-Hastings-Grand Island region. This year, the Storm joined the Lincoln Stars, Omaha Lancers and Sioux City, Iowa, Musketeers as a member of the United States Hockey League (USHL). Gallagher's report includes a look at the history of hockey in Nebraska and at why the sport has grown so popular among Cornhuskers.

"Statewide" is a production of the News and Public Affairs Unit of University of Nebraska-Lincoln Television for broadcast on the Nebraska ETV Network and NETV2.

The Nebraska ETV Network and NETV2 are services of Nebraska Educational Telecommunications (NET). The complete program schedules for Nebraska ETV and NETV2 are available on NET Online (<http://net.unl.edu>). round and followed with a 75 on day two.

The cut was 156, allowing Sweetland to remain in the field for all four days.

His final two rounds were 78 and 79 which left him in the top 40 overall with a 313 total.

He was the only golfer in Northeast Nebraska to make the cut.

The championship was won by Lincoln's Knox Jones with a two-under total of 286.

Scott Hansen was Sweetland's caddie for the tournament.

Choosing the proper rod

How many times have you been out fishing and had trouble detecting a bite or were constantly setting the hook because the end of your wimpy rod was jumping all over the place?

It happened to me just last week, I was fishing near Niobrara with a friend from Freeman, SD and I had a terrible time detecting a bite.

The trip was set up rather quickly and on my way out the door, I grabbed a couple of rods, not paying any attention to the rod action. When I started fishing, it was obvious that I had grabbed rods that were too heavy for the type of fishing we were doing.

The cranks baits I was trolling couldn't vibrate hard enough to make the stiff rods I was using vibrate or wiggle.

When you're trolling crankbaits, the vibration on the end of the rod is the only way to tell if your bait is working correctly.

I needed a lighter action rod so that I could see how the bait was working and tell if I had a fish on or was dragging a mess of weeds and cotton.

Many anglers don't even look at the action of a rod before they purchase it. Some push them against the floor while others shake the rod to see how much give is in the end of the rod.

Sure these are a couple of ways that lets the angler see how stiff or fast the rod tip is, but you won't know if the rod you're buying has the correct action until you look at the manufacturer's recommendations.

Different action rods will perform differently, especially when the reel that you put on the rod is filled with the wrong weight line.

On the rod just above the handle, you'll find the recommendations for lure size, line weight and the action of the rod.

When it comes to rod action, there are several categories. There's the Ultra-light, Light, Medium, Medium Light, Medium heavy and Heavy.

Listed below are guidelines for each of the rod actions.

Ultra-light rods are set up to throw 1/16 - 1/4 ounce baits and be spooled with 1 to 6 pound line, and these work well for panfish. Light weight rods 1/8 - 5/8 ounce baits and 6 to 15 pound line. Light weight rods work well for walleye and larger panfish. Medium rods are set up for 1/4 - 5/8 ounce baits and 6 to 15 pound test. Medium rods work well for bass fishing in water that is not snag infested. Medium Light rods are set up for 1/8 - 5/8 ounce baits and 6 to 12 pound test work very well on walleyes.

Medium Heavy rods are set up for 1/4 to 1 ounce baits and 10 to 25 pound test. These rods are made for dragging heavy lures through heavy cover and work well for bass fishing. The Heavy rods would be set up for 1/4 - 1 1/4 ounce baits and 10 to 20 pound test. Heavy rods are used on hard charging big fish or in snag infested waters. Bass fishermen; pike and musky fishermen use these rods to rip fish from trees, brush and weedy areas.

A lighter rod will generally have a quicker rod tip and some anglers like to go to a lighter rod to help them to detect a sort bite.

What you need to remember is that the lighter quicker rod tip is not as strong as the proper rod action.

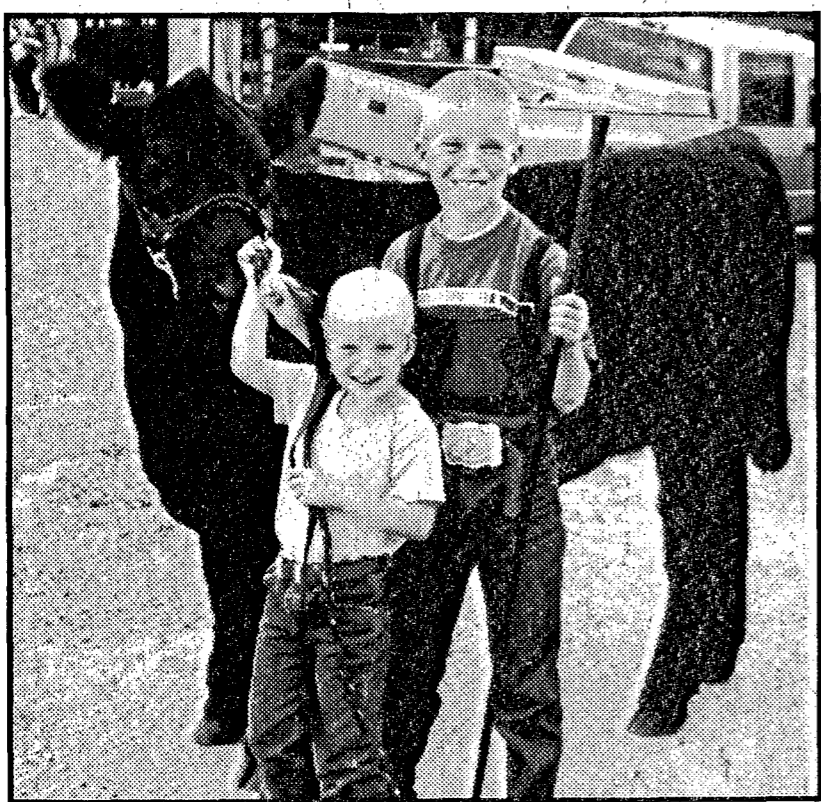

For walleyes, I've went to medium light because the rod tip is more sensitive, allowing me to detect the nibbler, yet strong enough to land a big fish.

If you spool a rod with heavier or lighter line than recommended, the rod won't perform as well and if you throw a lure that is too light or too heavy, you'll also get poorer action from your rod.

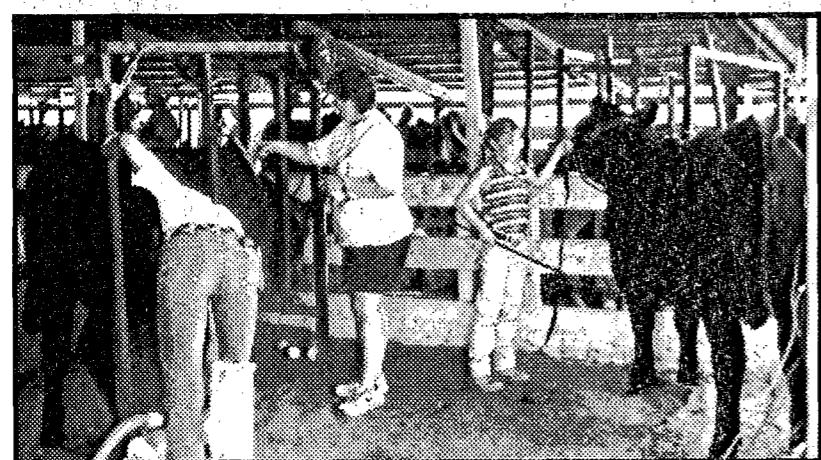

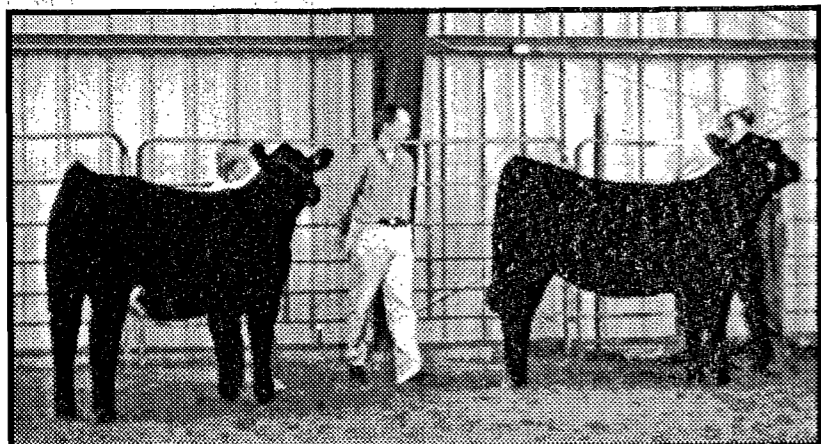

By following the manufacturers recommendations, you'll get the most out of the rod.

The next time you purchase a new rod, think about what type of fishing you'll be doing and what weight bait you plan on throwing. By knowing what you expect out of a rod and reading the manufacturer's recommendations, you'll be able to find the best rod for the type of fishing you're going to do. With the proper rod, you'll be able to feel a lot more bites and enjoy the sport of fishing much more.

Fish hard, Fish often, and on hard charging big fish or in snag infested waters. Introduce a youngster to the Outdoors!

Annual Izaak Walton fishing derby held

The annual Izaak Walton League's "Kids Fishing Derby" was held June 16 and deemed a success by Chairman Scott Brummond.

"It was a beautiful day for fishing," Brummond said.

There were 39 youth, ages two through 14, that participated. A combined total of more than 200 fish being caught. The largest was a 6 3/4 pound catfish caught by Ben Poutre.

Age group winners include: Two through six year old girls — Amanda Hurlbert; Two through six year old boys — Dylan Hunt;

Seven through 10 year old girls — Shannon Jarvi; Seven through 10 year old boys — Zach Rasmussen; 11 through 14 year old girls — Aubrey Workman; and, 11 through 14 year old boys — Eric Carstens.

The grand prize winner for the most fish caught was Zach Rasmussen who caught 45 fish and received a $50 Savings Bond from State National Bank.

All those participating won prizes which were donated by local businesses.

Gary Poutre won the adult prize for bringing the most participants. He won a year's subscription to the Wayne Herald.

"In closing, I would like to thank everyone who helped at the event, those who helped get the lake and grounds ready and all the local businesses that donated prizes or cash," Brummond said.

Garden insects: not all are pests

Homeowners generally think of garden insects as pests, but many actually are beneficial.

Although some pests feed on plants, others control pest insect populations. These insects are called beneficials and they can be either predators or parasites.

Predator insects capture and feed on other insects.

"Just because they're beneficials doesn't mean they strictly destroy or feed on pest insects," said Jim Kalisch, University of Nebraska pest diagnostics specialist. "But a number of insects they do eat happen to be pests."

Lady beetles, green lacewings, paper wasps, ants and spiders are common predatory insects in Nebraska.

Not all beneficials devour others, though. As larvae, some insects, called parasites or parasitoids, feed on the internal contents of their hosts and destroy them from the inside. Eggs, larvae and adults can be attacked, he said.

Common parasitoids include chalcid and braconid wasps and tachinid flies.

Armyworms, cutworms, cabbage-worms, aphids and caterpillars are common garden pests that beneficial insects help regulate.

Often, it is difficult for homeowners to tell which insects are pests and which are beneficial, the NU Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources specialist said.

Many people don't recognize lady beetles, commonly called lady bugs, in the larva stage and spray to get rid of them, he said. However, lady beetles, in all life stages, are important for controlling aphid populations.

"If you see an insect feeding on a pest insect, you know it's beneficial," Kalisch said.

Spraying sometimes is the only effective way to eliminate a nuisance pest from the environment, but most pesticides eradicate beneficials as well.

Using a selective biological pesticide such as Bacillus thuringiensis (Bt) kills many kinds of caterpillars and minimizes damage to beneficials, he said. Spraying in the evening when pests are more active or using a spray that doesn't persist for long periods also reduces impact on beneficials.

"If homeowners want to minimize the use of pesticides and encourage beneficials, they have to tolerate some damage to the garden," Kalisch said. "Pests might be wiped out by beneficials, but not before causing a little damage."

Several companies sell beneficial insects for pest control. However, it's important to determine whether enough target, or problem, insects exist in the garden to sustain the beneficials, he said. Beneficials will disperse if their hosts or prey aren't abundant.

Time of year also plays an important role in whether to purchase beneficials. For example, convergent lady beetles would rather seek shelter and hide during summer because of the hot, hostile environment than prey on pests, Kalisch said.

In addition, people can attract beneficial bugs to their garden.

"To enhance their presence, make sure moisture, nectar and pollen sources are available," he said. "Plant a variety of flowers to attract them."

Beneficials feed on nectar and pollen to get energy if other insects aren't readily available, he said.

For more information consult NU Cooperative Extension NebGuide G95-1251-A, Biological Control of Insect and Mite Pests, available on the web at <http://www.ianr.unl.edu/pubs/insect/g1251.htm> or at local county extension offices.

Master Gardeners tour

Alice Johnson of Wakefield, a member of the Wayne County Master Gardeners, hosted several tour groups on June 16 in Wakefield.

The tours began at her home where she served lemonade and tea while touring her yard. The group then moved to the arboretum at the Wakefield School, then the senior center grounds, downtown Wakefield, and six beautiful private yards. The evening tour concluded with refreshments at The Pub.

The Wayne Master Gardener's group is planning a trip on Saturday, July 28 to Odebolt, Iowa to the Prairie Pedlar, a bouquet of gardens with more than 50 theme gardens. Every plot reveals unique plant combinations that explore the utilization of flowers and herbs through the ages. Signs are posted to tell the history of each theme garden and primitive folk art adds whimsy. There is also a gift shop in the lower level of the bow-truss barn with lots of wreaths, swags, and floral bouquets handcrafted from the summers harvest.

The Gardens are free to visitors with hours Monday-Saturday 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. and on Sundays 1-4 p.m. The Wayne County Master Gardeners would like to invite anyone interested to go along for the tour. Rides will be pooled by calling Deb Daehnke at 375-7301 days or 375-1694 evenings by July 25.

There is also a garden walk in Norfolk on July 12, which will be a benefit for the American Red Cross from 4-8 p.m. Tickets and more information is available at the Norfolk Red Cross Office at 126 South 4th Street.

Meyer is All-American Scholar

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Sheila Meyer of Wayne has been named an All-American Scholar.

The USAA has established the All-American Scholar Award Program to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in the academic disciplines. The All-American Scholars must earn a 3.3 or higher, grade point average. Only scholars selected by a school instructor, counselor or other qualified sponsor are accepted. These scholars are also eligible for other awards given by the USAA.

Sheila, who attends Wayne High School, was nominated for this national award by Rocky Ruhl, a math teacher at the school.

Her name will appear in the All-American Scholar Yearbook, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly, winners of the All-American Scholar Awards should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

Sheila is the daughter of Mike and Michelle Meyer of Wayne. Her grandparents are Walter and Marge Gillen of Omaha and Edna Meyer of Wayne.

Need to be registered

On July 1, 2001, portions of newly passed LB 667 become law.

A portion of this new law states, "Except for water wells which are used solely for domestic purposes and were constructed before Sept. 9, 1993 and for test holes and dewatering wells used for less than 90 days, each water well which was completed in this state before the operative date of this section (which is July 1, 2001) and which is not registered on that date shall be an illegal water well until it is registered with the Department of Natural Resources."

According to Susan France, Nebraska Department of Natural Resources, "not registering a water well is considered a Class IV misdemeanor."

The local natural resources districts have the power to issue cease and desist orders to stop illegal wells from being operated. However, State and local natural resources districts prefer working with water well owners to correct registration problems and bring their wells into compliance with the law. A properly registered well can protect the rights of the owner.

AS of July 1, 2001, water well contractors are responsible for registering water wells drilled by them on or after July 1, 2001. Any existing wells can be registered by the land owner or by the water well contractor by completing a form provided by the Nebraska Department of Natural Resources.

The Department can be contacted at (402) 471-2363.

Leadhead jigs are lures for all species

Jigs have been around forever, they come in all sizes, shapes, and colors.

When used properly, they'll catch all species of fish in all bodies of water.

What is a jig, is it some type of a new wonder lure, a secret weapon?

Gary Howey
Of the Outdoors

NO! It's just a hook with a piece of lead cast around the eye.

A jig is just a method used to get your bait to the bottom quickly with a hook to catch the fish.

Jigs come in all sizes, 1/32 ounce and smaller are used for smaller panfish and trout on up to huge jigs used for deep seas fishing.

Some anglers use the plain no colored jigs while others prefer the multicolored ones.

Jigs come in different sizes and shapes, some are used plain, some with feathers and others with plastic tails.

What makes the jig so deadly? It's the simple fact that they catch fish!

They can be cast, vertically jigged, drag along the bottom, trolled or swam just below the surface. All of which are deadly methods.

Every angler has his favorites and every angler may use a jig a bit differently.

I prefer the multicolored jig heads, especially for walleye because it gives them several different colors to look at. There are days when chartreuse is the only color the walleye wants, then there are days when they want fluorescent red or perhaps fluorescent green.

If I use a jig with chartreuse, red and lime green, I've got all bases covered and am probably going to catch more fish than an angler using just one color.

I like to use a plastic body or trailer on my jigs. Power Bait tails, are impregnated with scent gives me another advantage. They also come multicolored and with the extra colors, my jig can appeal to numerous walleyes.

The jig with a larger body creates more resistance in the water and making the jig fall slower. Jigs that descend slowly give the fish more time to locate the bait and feel a slow descending bait will catch more fish.

Jigs catch all species of fish as you can tip a jig with minnows, leeches or night crawlers, depending on what you're hoping to catch.

Every angler who fishes jigs fishes them a little differently.

One of the finest jig fishermen I know, Bruce Pitzer, Oakdale, uses marabou or feather jigs and catches a lot of fish. The feathers flutter and move around as the jig is worked. This gives the jig more movement and will attract fish.

Another excellent jig fisherman is Larry Myhre of Sioux City, Iowa, who uses jigs so small that it's hard to believe that a bait that small will even be looked at by a larger fish.

I've fished with Larry when he used a 1/32 ounce jig and caught 7 pound plus largemouth bass.

Both of these anglers have used jigs for years and can get the bait down and work it along the bottom actually feeling their way along the bottom.

When I fish a jig, I'll start shallow and work deep. If there are bait fish on the shore line, I'll pitch the jig up along the shore and swim it back.

If the fish are working the surface, you can cast a jig to them and swim it back just below the surface.

When the bite is slow and the fish are tight to the bottom, you can drag a jig along the bottom.

When the fish are suspended, you can drop your jig to that depth and take fish.

Most anglers fish a jig right on the bottom, hoping it up off the bottom and then letting it settle back down.

The key to catching fish with a jig is to keep your line tight as fish will inhale a jig and spit it out before you know it if you don't keep a tight line.

Jigs will catch all species of fish under all conditions and the only way that jigs won't produce is if you leave them in the tackle box.

Spend some time fishing with jigs and you'll become a more consistent angler.

Attend workshop

Karen McDonald, Wayne County Treasurer and Debra Finn, Wayne County Clerk, completed a three-day workshop conducted in Kearney June 13-15 for Nebraska county clerks, election commissioners, registers of deeds and treasurers.

The annual workshop, attended by approximately 225 county officials and employees, is part of a continuing education and leadership development series sponsored by the Nebraska Association of County Officials.

The workshop updated county officials on recent changes in state laws and provided extensive training on the responsibilities of their respective offices.

The Library Card

This column is written occasionally to inform the Wayne area as to what types of reading material and other items are available at the Wayne Public Library.

"Experience is what we call our mistakes." — The Frugal Librarian

FUN, FUN, FUN. Wednesdays in June have been busy at the Library, filled with the hustle and bustle of the Summer Reading Program. Enrollment is up 50 percent from last year's program and everyone, participants and staff alike, seem to be having a blast! Themes and activities have included travel and tourism, vehicles and roads, places to go, as well as a classic car show, sand painting and balloon animals, all highlighting 2001's overall theme of "Reading Road Trip U.S.A. @ the Wayne Public Library." The final party was held Wednesday, June 27 at 7 p.m. in Bressler Park and featured a one-act play performed by the Young Actors' Association of the Little Red Hen Theatre of Wakefield as well as games, awards and a special visit by area rescue vehicles.

In cooperation with the Wisner Public Library, Wayne Public Library has purchased a subscription to "Book Page." This publication is a newspaper format review sheet which features timely book reviews of adult and children's books (fiction and non-fiction), profile articles of authors and hot topics in the publishing world. Pick up a free copy of the "Book Page" at the Library.

Thank you, thank you to the Wayne Eagles Auxiliary for their recent $250 gift. Because of the Auxiliary's generosity, the Library will be able to purchase a new passel of large print books. The books are currently on order and should be arriving in the next few weeks. While the Library's standard budget meets basic purchasing needs, grants from organizations like the Eagles Auxiliary allow us to buy some extras that make our Library special. Our humble thanks.

WPL enters the 21st Century! In addition to our very popular books on cassette tape collection, the Library has recently purchased 25 books on compact disc, the first acquisitions in our new Books-on-CD collection. And we remembered area children in our 21st century update. The Children's Room now has an additional computer that will play new interactive CDs, including the popular animated storybooks, "101 Dalmations," "Hercules," and "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," as well as the Jump Start and Reader Rabbit series which help pre-K through fourth graders learn reading, writing and arithmetic while still having fun. Whether you like to "read" your books on tape or CD or the old-fashioned way, the Library aims to meet your reading needs.

COMING IN JULY: Computer Class Marathon and "Christmas in July." Intrigued? The Library is full of surprises.

The display case at the entrance to the Library/Senior Center is available for community use year round. In the past, service organizations, artists, clubs and special school classes have used this space to feature their wares and provide information about how their groups work in Wayne. The display is changed at the beginning of each month and the WPL invites community members to take advantage of this free and highly trafficked site.

Do you need a space for a meeting in a hurry? Would your book club like to meet regularly at a neutral spot where no housecleaning is required? Think of the Conference Room located at the Library/Senior Center. The policies for using this room have recently been re-vamped. Reservations should now be made through the Library (375-3135). Two day's notice would be nice but next day notice is accepted. The hours available are 9 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. or the open hours of the Library/Senior Center. Non-profit groups will be required to make a $25 deposit for room use. This fee is completely refundable once the room has been inspected for damage. There is a non-refundable rental fee of $25 for for-profit groups. So whether you'd like to meet regularly or at the last minute, keep the Library/Senior Center Conference Room in mind.

Regular WPL Year Round Hours: Noon to 8:30 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday; 9 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday; noon to 6 p.m. on Friday and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday. From Labor Day to Memorial Day, the Library will offer Sunday hours from 2 to 5 p.m. No Sunday hours in the summer. Our phone number is (402) 375-3135; fax number is (402) 375-5772 (sending or receiving fax charge is $1 per page).

NHCP to hold meeting

The Northeast Health Care Partnership will hold its organizational meeting Thursday, July 19 at 3:30 at the Wisner Fire Hall. The Partnership is an organization that has been meeting since August of 1999 and is now formalizing to become a private, non-profit corporation.

Public Health Departments.

The coordinator's office is located at Goldenrod Hills Community services office at Wisner. The meeting is open to anyone interested in the health care needs of people residing within the nine NHCP counties, as the partnership is always searching for new members.

Digital thermometers are now available

Exposure to mercury, occurring when ordinary mercury thermometers are broken in the home, can cause a number of adverse effects including headaches, cough, abdominal cramps, nausea and difficulty breathing.

In an attempt to lower the number of mercury-related illnesses, a mercury thermometer roundup is taking place throughout the Goldenrod Hills' service area. Mercury thermometers may be brought in to be exchanged for new, free digital thermometers during the months of June and July on a first come, first served basis.

The Mercury Roundup will be taking place at several sites: at the corporate office in Wisner; at Goldenrod Hills Family Services offices in Wisner, Walthill, Creighton, Wayne, Norfolk, and South Sioux City; and at Commodity Supplemental Food; Immunization; and Women, Infants and Children Nutrition (WIC) clinics. To locate the nearest distribution site in your area, feel free to contact Goldenrod Hills at 1-800-445-2505 or (402) 529-3513.

Counties served include Antelope, Burt, Cedar, Cuming, Dakota, Dixon, Dodge, Knox, Madison, Pierce, Stanton, Thurston, Washington, and Wayne.

The Mercury Roundup is offered through a program of the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services Regulation and Licensure, with funding through the Department of Environmental Quality's Waste Reduction Incentive Grant Program.

Goldenrod Hills Community Services is a community action agency which mobilizes resources to meet the needs of Northeast Nebraskans. GHCS programs include: Weatherization; Immunization; Kids Connection enrollment; Lead, Poisoning Awareness and Screening; Public Health Nursing; Commodity Supplemental Food Program; Family Services; Head Start; Early Childhood Services Coordination for children with disabilities; Every Woman Matters breast and cervical cancer screening; Maternal and Child Health Programs; HOME; and Women, Infants and Children Nutrition. Goldenrod Hills Community Services provides referrals to local and state agencies, working together to combat poverty, promote self-sufficiency, and improve quality of life for residents in the Goldenrod Hills Community Services service area. The Goldenrod Joint Housing Authority and Northeast Health Care Partnership are also housed in the Wisner Corporate Office.

Area UNMC students train across Nebraska

Several University of Nebraska Medical Center students from the area are working with health professionals across Nebraska as part of their health care education requirements at UNMC. The student rotations are part of the UNMC Rural Health Education Network (RHEN), an innovative program developed to help address the shortage of health professionals in rural Nebraska.

Hastings Regional Center in Hastings is the rotation site for Cody Carstensen and Shane Schuster, both of Laurel, in the field of pharmacy; Carstensen's rotation is from July 9 to August 3 and Schuster's is from August 6-31.

Laurel is the rotation site for Joe Lutt of Wayne in the field of primary care-first year medical students. David Felber MD is the preceptor. The rotation will be from June 25 to July 13.

Faith Regional Health Services in Norfolk is the rotation site for Andrea Blecke of Wakefield in the field of physical therapy. The rotation is from June 18 to July 13. Faith Regional is also the rotation site for Nicole Mohr of Carroll in the field of primary care-first year medical student. Her rotation is from July 16 to August 3.

Sav-Mor Pharmacy in Wayne is the rotation site for Joshua Jaeger of Winside and Ryan Jackson of Bloomfield, both in the pharmacy field with Willis Davis RPh as preceptor. The rotation for Jaeger is from July 9 to August 3 and for Jackson it is from August 6-31. Holly Schroeder of Coleridge was in rotation in the field of radiography/radiation therapy at Providence Medical Center in Wayne with Kevin Hermesen RT as preceptor. The rotation was from June 6-15.

Winnebago PHS Indian Health Center in Winnebago is the rotation site for Shane Schuster of Laurel in the field of pharmacy. The rotation will be from July 9 to August 3.

The purpose of RHEN is to change how and where primary care students at UNMC are educated. RHEN was developed to expose students to a rural health setting with the idea that if students receive their training in a rural area, the chances are much greater that they will return to a rural area once they complete their training.

Herbs for Health

Why Use Standard Herbal Products?

In some ways herbs are like wine. Wines vary in quality depending on many factors: grape type, extraction and processing methods, where grapes are grown, and growing season characteristics. The same is true with herbs which contain numerous complex chemical agents and which vary in quantity from plant to plant. In some respects, herbal products are more complicated than wine. Wine comes from one part of the plant - the fruit. Herbal medicines can come from flowers, leaves, stems, roots, and other parts. Medicinal agents may be concentrated on one part of the plant and not in others.

Standardization helps assure consumers that a consistent dose of active ingredients is in each dose of herbal medicines. Standardized herbal medicines typically cost more than non-standardized products. And although some products are labeled as "standardized," tests by independent laboratories may show that little or no medicinal agent actually is present in the product. Therefore, it pays to use quality brands of herbal medicines from reputable companies.

Hormones After Age 75 Improve Cholesterol

Many studies have shown that women who take hormones after menopause -- when the body stops making as much estrogen -- have less heart disease than women who do not receive hormone replacement therapy, or HRT. One reason for less heart disease may be that blood levels of HDL cholesterol may remain high. HDL cholesterol is "good cholesterol" that prevents hardening of the arteries (atherosclerosis). Another reason is that LDL cholesterol is decreased. LDL cholesterol sometimes is referred to as "bad cholesterol" because it hastens atherosclerosis.

According to an Annals of Internal Medicine report, researchers at Washington University treated 39 women age 75 and older with HRT and treated the remaining 20 with a placebo. After only 9 months the women who received hormones showed a 16% increase in good cholesterol and significant decrease in bad cholesterol.

and reliance. But exhibitors don't need top honors to be recognized and feel accomplished. Indeed, sometimes those who aren't champions learn more than the winners!

The 4-H recognition model is based on human development theory and can help volunteer leaders, parents and judges learn how different types of recognition motivate youth. Such recognition includes participation, acknowledging progress toward self-set goals, achieving a standard of excellence, peer competition and cooperation.

Many county fair exhibits are judged based on standards of excellence. The standard serves as a sort of measuring stick, to let exhibitors know, whether they have gone beyond or fallen short of an established benchmark. In 4-H, the benchmark is established by land-grant university research, in this case the University of Nebraska. Evaluating achievement of standards compares each 4-H'er's efforts only against the standard, not against another person's efforts.

In Nebraska 4-H, each exhibitor is awarded a ribbon based on the Danish Ribbon System;

Purple — Project is outstanding and exceeds all standards.

Blue — Project is above average, with almost all of the standards met in a way that surpasses the norm.

Red — Project is average, with the majority of standards met, but not exceeded.

White — Project needs improvement, with many standards unmet.

Children learn resiliency from their challenges, and striving to do better and move up the ribbon ladder is just one way to do that. Being named first is simply the icing on the cake.

Parents must remember that their children's accomplishments should be recognized in their own right, for what they learned and for their progress in reaching goals. Unfortunately, some parents see their children's exhibits as being more important than the learning taking place.

Sometimes, parents see the exhibit as being a way to advertise their own business ventures. This may send a message to the child that their efforts are valued only if they are named top winners, when in fact all exhibitors are winners because they have learned life skills in the process of creating the exhibit.

Church to begin new series

Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne will begin a new series of messages at the Sunday evening contemporary worship service.

"The Claims of Jesus and Daily Life," is the new series, which will begin Sunday, July 1. This eight part series examines who Jesus claims to be and impact his claims have on us in our relationships, work and leisure.

Our Savior's weekly contemporary service is casually called "The Seven" because worship is held each Sunday evening, beginning at 7 p.m. The service features a casual atmosphere and uplifting praise music led by a contemporary worship band.

The Seven is designed to have a different flavor than traditional worship services and offers a unique style of worship. Thought-provoking dramas, inspiring music and people-friendly messages are used in the worship service. Worshipers are encouraged to lift up their voice in song and their hands in praise.

Those attending are encouraged to invite a friend to worship and hear the good news.

Our Savior continues to offer weekend worship services on Saturday evenings at 6 p.m. and Sunday morning at 8 and 10:30 a.m. The church is located on the corner of Fifth and Main Streets in Wayne.

For more information on "The Seven" or any other worship service, contact the church office at (402) 375-2899.

Eye Allergies

If you are one of the millions of Americans who suffer from seasonal allergies, spring and summer might be hard on your eyes. Eye allergies can range from mild to severe. Plant pollens and molds are the most common causes of seasonal allergies. There are over-the-counter products and new prescription products that may help. Drowsiness can be a problem with some of these medications. Check with your pharmacist before taking over-the-counter medication especially if you are taking any prescription medications.

Wedding proves interesting

We've just had three days in a row with negligible wind: a record for Nebraska! I even ate yesterday's supper at the picnic table and just enjoyed the quiet. Today, I've been cleaning like crazy; even using the ladder to do fan blades.

I'm brewing tea for iced tea later. I won't sweeten it, much as I'd like to. We're just back from South Carolina, where the sweetened ice tea flows freely.

We were there for a Redneck wedding! My nephew Jay is a Carolina state trooper, a true redneck; one we thought would not be married for a long time yet.

But Angela, a paramedic/scuba diver, likes pickups; and tolerates hunting, fishing, and beer. Apparently, she even likes Rose, the purebred Chesapeake Bay retriever who looks like a coon dog to me.

By: Pat Meierhenry

They rented a hall, hired a justice of the peace and a karaoke machine, and put tuxes on the guys and hunter green dresses on the gals. The bride's son was ring bearer (my brother gets instant children and instant grand-children); the groom's father was best man.

My sister in law looked lovely in pastel pink and pearls, and she and grandma were ushered in to Canon in D. (the karaoke, of course).

They said some lovely vows, recited Ruth's pledge to Naomi together, and were pronounced man and wife. All told, it took about 10 minutes. Then, the chairs were placed around the tables in the back of the room, they broke out the beer, and we ate all kinds of finger foods. It really was a "no-hassle" ceremony, and just as legal as all we've been to before.

The bride even sang along to some country music, including "Any Man of Mine Is Gonna Walk the Line." We'll see.

On Sunday, we were treated to Frogmore Stew, a delicious concoction of potatoes, kielbasa, corn on the cob, and shrimp. There were peaches for dessert, fresh from the local farmer's market.

On Monday, Mom and Mary and I drove to Savannah and took the trolley tour of the old part of the city. Lots of history here, including the cobbled ramps that took the wagons of cotton to the wharfs. We had dinner in an old warehouse and strolled the shops on the River Street.

It was kind of hard to come home. We had actually left four guests! A neighbor had come over to serve breakfast, turn off lights, and lock the door. But I worked for hospice the rest of the week; hence, the cleaning today. I did get the sheets and towels washed and all our laundry from the trip.

Now we're gearing up for next week, when we host nine folks: five adults and four teen-agers! It should be interesting. I hope we survive.

Slaymaker is recognized

Julia Slaymaker of Wayne was presented the Educational Service Unit #1 Employee of the Year. The award is presented annually in honor of the late Georgia McQuistan, who was an ESU employee.

Julia has been employed by the ESU as a resource teacher/vision specialist since 1991.

Her nominations included the following commendations, "Julia drives many miles to serve children with vision difficulties; works weekends taking students to Nebraska

City for workshops and evaluations; parents and school staff rely on her expertise to provide curricular options for their students."

"Always willing to go the extra mile to make sure her students are successful in school; even after graduation she continues to help students receive services while they attend college, and she is willing to travel and work with students in her schools during the worst of driving conditions."

Signup continues for 2000 crop disaster program

"Nebraska Farm Service Agency (FSA) County Offices are continuing to accept and process applications for crop disaster programs for losses suffered due to natural disaster on 2000 crops," said State Executive Director Brian Wolford.

"I would urge farmers, landowners and ranchers who suffered losses who have not applied to proceed and complete their applications at their local FSA office."

The 2000 CDP was authorized in the Agricultural Appropriations Act for 2001. The disaster program offers direct payments to producers who suffered losses in excess of 35 percent on their 2000 crops. Producers who qualify are able to receive disaster payments in a relatively short period to assist them with meeting 2001 crop expenses.

The program covers producers who are insured, noninsured or who have crops that are not eligible for crop insurance. Producers who did not carry crop insurance in 2000 on an insurable crop do have to purchase crop insurance on that crop for the 2001 and 2002 crop years.

Wolford noted that "with the program winding down, we would ask all potentially eligible Nebraska producers to visit their local FSA office and complete an application."

Youth joins cattle association

Courtney Koepke of Hoskins has recently become a junior member of the American Simmental Association (ASA).

"We want to offer a sincere welcome," said ASA Executive Vice President Jerry Lipsey. "This organization takes great pride on the quality of its junior program which emphasizes a meaningful, hands-on learning experience."

Founded in 1968 when the first Simmental cattle were imported from Europe, ASA was founded on a philosophy that stresses performance in the production of breeding cattle.

The ASA junior program, admired throughout the industry as a model program, focuses on herd management and self-improvement in addition to live evaluation and exhibition of cattle. Four Regional Classics and a National Classic are held annually. The Association provides 20 Merit Award scholarships each year to deserving junior members.

Headquartered in Bozeman, Montana, ASA has responsibility for maintaining the herdbooks of the Simmental and Simbrah cattle breeds. The association has a junior membership of nearly 5,000.

Roberts enters cattle show

Bryce Roberts of Winside will exhibit Angus cattle at the 2001 National Junior Angus Show at the National Western Stock Show Complex in Denver, Colo. July 9-14, reports Richard L. Spader, executive vice-president of the American Angus Association.

Bryce, a junior member of the American Angus Association with headquarters in St. Joseph, Mo., is one of 650 young Angus breeders from 36 states who have entered a total of 1,335 head in the show.

Alex Dees of Yuma, Ariz. and Eldon Krebs of Gordon will judge the breeding cattle. Randy Perry of Clovis, Calif. will judge the registered Angus steer show.

The National Junior Angus Show is the largest single-breed registered beef cattle show in the world. This year's event will host a beef cook-off, team sales competition, public speaking, photography, graphic design and poster contests in addition to the traditional cattle show.

The National Junior Angus Show is sponsored by the American Angus Association and the National Junior Angus Association (NJAA). The NJAA serves a membership of more than 10,500 junior Angus breeders in the United States and Canada.

USDA purchases Cry9C affected corn seed

The U.S. Department of Agriculture announced that it has completed purchase of over 322,000 hybrid seed corn units containing the protein Cry9C from 63 small- to medium-size seed companies.

USDA is making these purchases, currently estimated at $12.9 million, to ensure a safe supply of corn for human use and so that seed companies are not adversely affected by the presence of Cry9C in their seed corn. The vast majority of seed corn produced in the United States was not affected as the number of seed corn kernels that contained Cry9C was less than one percent of the entire 2001 supply of hybrid seed corn.

USDA is still reviewing applications from eight companies. The total additional quantity of hybrid seed units that could be purchased if all these applications were approved would be approximately 125,000 units. Accordingly, total USDA purchases would be slightly less than 450,000 units (a unit is 88,000 kernels a bag or bushels for bulk seed) at an expenditure of no more than $18 million.

Corn containing Cry9C may be fed to animals; it is not approved for use as food for human consumption. In March, after conducting extensive tests under USDA recommended procedures, some seed companies found isolated occurrences of extremely low levels of Cry9C in seed originally intended for sale this year.

To help limit the production of corn containing this protein so that it would not be planted and then later enter the human food supply,

Funds Available, But Act Quickly

LINCOLN --- About $620,000 are now available in Nebraska through a new conservation program announced recently by Secretary of Agriculture Ann Veneman. Nationwide, $20 million dollars are being made available through the Soil and Water Conservation Assistance Program. Steve Chick, State Conservationist for the Natural Resources Conservation Service, and whose agency will administer the program, said these funds will help meet the conservation needs and requests by Nebraska farmers and ranchers. "On Monday, June 25th, our local offices will begin taking applications for these funds" said Chick. "The application process will continue through September. However, on July 13th, we will do the first ranking of the applications received by that date, and begin committing the funds. We encourage people to apply early," he said. The Soil and Water Conservation Assistance funds can help landowners make cost-effective changes to cropping systems, grazing management, nutrient management and irrigation. A conservation plan developed with NRCS will be required. Federal cost-share funds of 75 percent of the eligible practice or practices are available. Total contracts will not exceed $50,000 and will be administered in a five to ten-year contract. Landowners who had previously applied for statewide Environmental Quality Incentives Program funds will automatically be considered for these new funds. Authorized last year by Congress through the Agricultural Risk Protection Act of 2000, the funds must be obligated by October 1, 2001.

EDITOR'S NOTE: An electronic file of the SWCA map can be downloaded TUESDAY, JUNE 26, 2001, from the Nebraska News section of the NE NRCS web site at: <http://www.ne.nrcs.usda.gov>
