Wayne helps with clean-up

Ominous clouds east of Wayne produced an F-2 tornado that hit the town of Jackson last Friday around 5:45 p.m. Winds were estimated at 130 mph. By 7:20 that evening, the Wayne Red Cross disaster trained responders and volunteers were loading their emergency response vehicle (ERV) with first aid supplies and needed items so they could offer help at the scene.

Wayne Red Cross responders on Friday evening included LeRoy Janssen, John and Lori Carollo, Rowan Wiltse, Dan and Connie Sukup, R.N., Deb Allemann, and Jacey Klaver. Wayne Fire and Rescue workers were also at the Red Cross office with all their equipment. A decision was made to split the group with some going to Jackson and others going to help at the shelter in South Sioux City. Sukups and Allemann assisted at the shelter.

Carollo called Don and Nancy Endicott, owners of Pac N Save in Wayne, to see if they could help provide food and water. The disaster director in Sioux City suggested having enough provisions for 300 people. It was determined that Pac N Save had enough bottled water on hand as well as needed food items for sandwiches and snacks.

Carollo noted she could not believe the response when they arrived at Pac N Save. Two employees were there taking care of everything for them. They even got extra coolers and help with loading up the bottled water, while another employee went through the store and helped them determine how much bread, lunchmeat and other food items would be needed.

Fresh fruit was also sent along from Pac N Save as well as all the chicken that was cooked and a bucket of roast beef and buns. Brooks Widner and his wife, Sherri, and another Wayne Fireman, David Foote, also helped transport the food from the store with their vehicles. Everything was loaded within 15 minutes.

"It was an awesome response time on the part of Pac N Save, not to mention the generosity and courtesy," Carollo said.

Nancy Endicott of Pac N Save said, "We're very proud of the way our employees responded in helping the Wayne Red Cross members collect the supplies they needed. In these disaster situations it's so important that everyone does what he or she can to help out because someday you may be the one needing help."

Endicott adds, "Wayne's Red Cross chapter certainly deserves a lot of credit for all the work they have done up at Jackson and we're just proud to be associated with them. Every community should be so lucky as to have such a wonderful group of people to count on."

Leaving Wayne at the same time, the Red Cross drove their ERV and the Fire Department headed out with their red van and five of their crew including Jeff Sukup, Brent Doring, Steve Lamoureux and Don Forney.

The Wayne team arrived in Jackson a little after 9 p.m. and were met on the outskirts of town by the state highway patrol who had shut Highway 20 down to all traffic. Allowing them to enter, the ERV was set up by the church. The town had been evacuated and was under Marshall Law.

Wayne Fire and Rescue workers traveled throughout the area accessing needs and letting people know food and drinks were available. Red Cross workers also talked to workers and offered support. John Carollo took water east of town and farther out where state troopers and others were located.

Cots and blankets were placed in the lawn with the only source of light coming from two large generated-powered lamps donated and brought from South Dakota. Workers from Northeast Nebraska Public Power were already on the scene repairing lines that were down.

Also on the scene were numerous state patrol officers, various county sheriffs and deputies, as well as the canine units.

Around 11 p.m., the Sioux City Red

Business After Hours planned

A Business After Hours is being planned for Friday, Sept. 7 at the Wayne Country Club.

The event begins at 5 p.m. and runs until 7. Sponsors for this event include the Northeast Nebraska Public Power District, the Nebraska Public Power District and the City of Wayne Electric Department.

This event will include food, fun and networking. Sponsors will give a short presentation at 5:45 to highlight events for "Public Power Month." Door prizes will be given and a cash bar will be available.

All Chamber members and their employees are encouraged to attend. The cost is $5 per person.

To register, call the Chamber office at (402) 375-2440.

Grone travels on mission trip

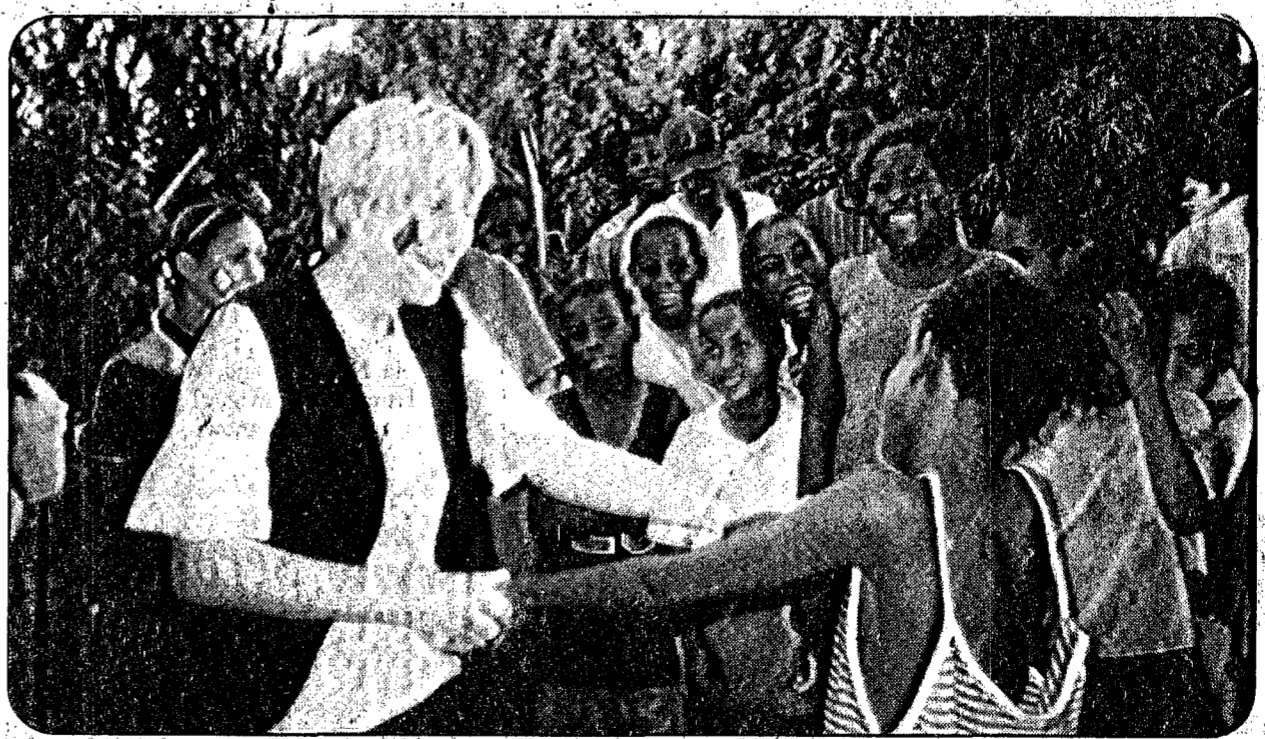

Tara M. Grone, daughter of Larry and Kathleen Grone of Wayne traveled to Jamaica on a mission trip.

She went to Savanna-la-ma in the parish of Westmoreland. Due to political unrest the missions trip was moved from Kingston to Savanna-la-mar.

Tara traveled with a team of more than 100 teens and staff with Teen Mania Global Ministries of Garden Valley, Texas. Teen Mania takes thousands of teen missionaries to all parts of the world. The team consisted of teens from all over the United States and Canada.

Tara learned about Teen Mania through listening to a teen program, "Dawson MacCallister Live" on Christian radio. She then signed up through the internet and raised funds by writing letters asking for donation and selling candy and bottled water.

She left for Garden Valley on July 24 for four days of intensive street drama and evangelistic training. On July 28 the team left for Kingston. They arrived at 1:30 a.m. and took a five hour bus ride to Savanna-la-mar. They headquartered in an old sugar plantation house.

Together we can accomplish much Capitol news

Over the past few years many of you have come to know me as a two sport individual, Golf, summer and snowmobiling-winter. Some would say that I love snowmobiling more since I have a personalized tag on the front of my Expedition. Honestly, I could make a strong point for either one, just ask my wife, I like the changing of the seasons and both sports fit nicely.

Jimmy Jo's Jams
By James Shanks

But change can happen anywhere, just look at what can happen in Washington D.C. Wow - what a difference a couple of months makes.....80-90 degrees in the outside temperature and 360 degrees in the White House. Who says people don't like change?

Now we seem to have an administration that asks and listens to what people want in the form of recreation. Not the heavy handed manner that the previous administration used. Recreation stands to benefit in the next 3-plus years. That includes snowmobiling, ATVs, campers, mountain bikers, equestrians and all other forms of recreation. By speaking together - as recreationalists or for what ever cause you believe in, you can set a positive agenda. If we speak together, we can get the job done and make a difference. But, we must all work together, we must talk the talk and walk the walk - all in sync.

One of the most positive changes we have seen is the current Administration reviewing many of the 11th hour decisions of the former administration.

In the last hours of Bill Clinton's administration he rushed through pardons and unilaterally made decisions on public lands that had major impacts on recreation. The results were devastating. The current administration saw the wisdom of thoroughly reviewing those decisions.

Lobbyists in Washington, DC, made it a point to emphasize our appreciation of thorough reviews, good science being applied to the decision making process, and proper management of public lands. One of the Senators that addressed our group made it a point to tell us we must not only hope for positive change, we must actively pursue positive change. And once positive change has been made, we must thank those people that were involved in making the change. We must not take those changes for granted. We must not have the attitude that we elected so-and-so because we knew they would do that.....we must thank them. And we must continue to thank them for making a difference. Senator Chuck Hagel is one of those Senators who support our cause.

Remember, we must work together to set the agenda. Then we must speak together to get the job done. Having said that, what have you done lately? Have you contacted your Congressman or Senator's office to let them know what you think!

So, what have you done lately? Probably not much....after all most people are just winding down from summer and starting to think about fall and winter. That's okay - it's not too late!! Take some time to write a note to your Congressman or Senator. Take some time to write or call your local land manager. It will not take that long - but the payoffs will be tremendous.

Remember, by speaking together, we can set a positive agenda and make a difference. That means you must get involved. Recreation needs you. Snowmobiling needs you. You can help make a difference.

Letters

Upset with prior column

Dear Editor,
Though I am most certainly not a feminist, I read last week's "Jimmy Jo's Jams" with increasing disgust. In this petulant little manifesto, you list several dozen "rules guys wish women would learn." (I should quote here several of these "rules," but to have them appear once in this newspaper was bad enough.)
But it is not women but men whom you column insults. Your writing (borrowed or not) is severely flawed because it operates completely on stereotype. According to you, Mr. Shanks, men are selfish, arrogant, untrustworthy, itchy, lusty, airheaded, fat, slothful, language-less, belching, television-addicted hyenas. Moreover, we are apparently so proud of this fact that we need to share lists like this with each other to justify ourselves.

The nature of masculinity and the relations of men to women are infinitely more complicated than your diatribe suggests, Mr. Shanks. You probably intended no more for your list than to provide your clientele with a couple of cheap chuckles. Yet when you deal so superficially with a fundamental question of human existence ("What is a Man?"), make such depravity public, your column was a public depravity. Scratching oneself in public is not journalism.
I could continue, Mr. Shanks, but my wife, who has proofread this letter, tells me I have made my point. I trust her because she knows me, as a man, better than I do. After all, she has to live with me.

Dwaine Spieker,
Wayne

Would like signs returned

Dear Editor,
I would like to please ask the person or persons who took the dear "Welcome" sign from the home up by the large water tower to please return them, no questions asked.
They have the name D. Johnson on them. These were one of the last things my Dad made for my Mom before he died, so they mean much more to her than they ever will to you.
Please learn to respect other people's property and put trust back in our vocabulary!
If anyone else has seen these, please call me.

Karen Zach,
Wayne

Travel is a broadening experience. In this berg, my waistline has been broadened by some of the best food one could imagine. My appreciation of music has been broadened by a saxophone player who could put Gabriel's horn to shame.

And my appreciation for patience has been enhanced enormously by a credit card company, with which I may soon stop doing business, forever and ever. Amen. Of course, patience tends to run a little shorter back here where the humidity and the carbon monoxide and the noise combine to make various of life's experiences more intense.

My basic problem was the fault of no one other than myself. For a guy who lived in New York for years, I was a grand-slam chump; I allowed my pocket to be picked. Actually, I was a chump because I had my credit card in my wallet. The jerk who bagged my wallet went to town (we were in Midtown Manhattan, actually) and wasted no time proving that my credit was very, very good. That's okay. Stuff happens.

The real trial came when I undertook to get a new credit card and, with it, a cash advance. Sparing you the "hold please" business, and "give me that account number again" stuff that literally took hours, I'll jump to the part where, after literally begging and pleading and giving secret security names and dates of birth, I finally got my new card. It took three days. Three days is a long time in NYC.

For the record: The VISA people with whom I have done business for 25 years first said they couldn't issue a new card because I owed them $23. I told them my wife paid them $35 that day. "Ohhhhh-kay. Yes. I see that now." I had this conversation with four people; then I quit counting.

My "new" credit card eventually arrived at my hotel. Bear in mind that I was ready to deliver one of those John Wayne lines. Like, "I sent fer ya' three days ago, kid; and here ya' come ridin' in today!" I didn't use the card until the next day, just to make sure all the computers had time to talk to one another. Next morning: Off I go to a bank to get a cash advance.

"Identification?"
"I have my press ID. See, I was robbed Friday and ...

"Can't do it. Sorry."
"Wait. See, this is my new card. You can ..."
"Sorry. Can't do it."

More and more and more phone calls to Nebraska. More "hold please." Lots more "hold please." More phone calls. "Did you know you owe ...?" "No ma'am, I don't owe ..."

The bottom line was that, no matter with whom I talked, my "platinum" credit card wasn't worth doo-dah to me, unless, apparently, I could find a sympathetic bank. However, I was assured that while I could not get a cash advance, the card was otherwise good. No problem.

This last assurance was given while I was sitting in a restaurant. The waitress brought me a check.

I gave her my "good" VISA card. The waitress was Charita. And she looks like she would be the perfect mother for any and every small child.

She returned to my table and said ...

"Sir, I can see you are very upset there on your phone, but I have to tell you - this card was declined. I'm sorrrrrry." Angels should have eyes so sympathetic.

It is not pretty when a balding, stubble-bearded Irish-American turns purple in public.

God bless (and I mean it) Charita. "Sir, don't you worry," she said. "I heard you on the phone there. Your breakfast is mine. Okay? I'll buy it."

I found a $10 bill and paid for my breakfast. I took Charita's picture. I intend to write about her again sometime, somewhere.

Returning to my hotel room, I called the VISA people. Again.

Conversations follow with three more VISA people. The always polite VISA ladies told me that my card most certainly was good. Uhhhhh-huh. I am wondering what, exactly, it might be good for. Now, get this: The VISA folks had talked to me and to my wife. I gave them my secret password and my date of birth and my Social Security number, my home address and my mailing address and the names of my employers. But they couldn't give me my PIN number over the phone because they couldn't be sure I really was me.

But, while I couldn't have my PIN number - stay with me - I was told that, for sure now, I could go to a bank with none of the usual IDs, and get cash, or I could go to Cartier's and buy a diamond. The first bank I went to said that, without the kind of ID that had been stolen, they couldn't help me.

Enter Chris, a guy I met at Hurley's Saloon.

"Go to the Chase bank on 7th Avenue. They'll take care of it. They have people there."

At the Chase Bank I met my nominee for Banking Employee of the Year for the Whole World. Her name is Miss Snider. I told her my story.

"I understand. I'm going to take care of this. Just give me your credit card and your press ID..."

She manually punched in my card number.

"Mr. Howard, your card has been declined. Wait, wait. Don't look like that. I'll call your bank in Nebraska. Just give me that number and a name. I'll take care of it."

She called the bank in Nebraska. The card, someone told her, was perfectly good.

"Then why was it declined?" asked Miss Snider.

"What did they say?" I asked. "They have no idea," said Miss Snider.

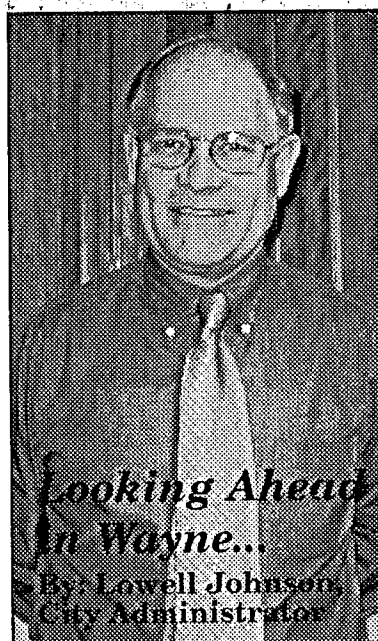

Finally, somehow, Miss Snider concluded that the card was good and my (not for much longer) bank did something that allowed my comparatively piddling transaction to clear.

The rest of the day in NYC was terrific, given the humidity and the humanity.

So, like I said, travel can be educational. The lesson learned: Get an American Express card. That's what my wife uses. And in the future, if I'm smart, I won't leave home without either one of them.

Administrator gives updates on projects in Wayne

Looking Ahead in Wayne...
By Lowell Johnson, City Administrator

City Council
Meets Tuesday, Aug. 28 at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall at Third and Pearl.

Snakes and Potbelly Pigs
Check with the police department for a special permit if you plan to have any exotic animal for pet in the city limits.

Dangerous Dogs
We have fielded calls about dogs chasing and/or biting people in Wayne. Wayne has a lot of people of all ages walking out doors and we are impounding threatening animals and can require them to be removed permanently from Wayne or destroyed.

City Budget
The council is working on the final draft of the city budget for next year. Next meeting on the budget will be at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 28 in the council room.

Salesman and Peddlers Permits

All out of town sales persons and peddlers are required to carry a City of Wayne permit with them when they go to the door of any home to sell products or services. They must show that permit at your request. If they do not have a permit, please call the Wayne Police Department and report that as soon as possible. The City of Wayne will not endorse any products or services but they will perform a background check on all out of town sales persons and peddlers when they apply. There are no exceptions.

New Fire Hall
The footings are poured. Insulation will be laid on the ground under the concrete floor and water piping will be laid into the concrete floor for the hot water system to heat the building. The location is south of McDonalds on Sixth Street.

Apartments and Rental Mobile Home
We will be contacting owners of rental property in Wayne to schedule random spot checks for fire safety code violations.

Cross called the Wayne chapter in Jackson to inform them all the families had been accounted for and were either in hotels or with relatives or friends so the shelter was shut down. After finding that the state patrol and public power crew were working all night, Janssen, the Carollos and the six Wayne rescue workers also remained in Jackson all night. The Wayne helpers provided workers food and drink through the night. Feeling coffee and caffeine pop were needed, Wayne Fire Department members went to Hy-Vee in South Sioux City who made up a 5 gallon container of coffee as well as donating some cans of Coke and Mountain Dew.

Saturday morning the local electric crew stopped to go home and get a little sleep. The Wayne rescue unit also returned home. Janssen and Carollos stayed until Sioux City Red Cross workers came in their response vehicle at 7:30 a.m. with coffee and donuts. They then returned to Wayne, leaving fruit and water for workers coming on to duty. The group returned to Wayne, unloaded items at their office in the Mineshaft Mall and returned some unused items to Pac-N-Save before returning home to rest.

Reflecting on the tornado, "The destruction and devastation was just overwhelming," Lori Carollo said. "I have never been to a site following a tornado and I remember commenting what a sick feeling I had inside to see so many houses stayed in touch with the Disaster Director from Sioux City throughout the day on Saturday. On Sunday morning they received a call requesting them to return on Monday to serve meals and assist families and workers.

The Madison/Stanton Red Cross chapter contacted Lori Carollo with an offer of help. They, along with Ilene Nichols, Lori Carollo, Rowan Wiltse and Gene Fletcher, all of Wayne, went to Jackson Monday morning. When the Norfolk Red Cross found no one could drink the water in Jackson, they called the Orphan Grain Train in Norfolk and a tanker with 5,000 gallons of water and 400+ empty plastic jugs were delivered to the town by late afternoon. clearing out the school. Much of what was found was salvageable and classrooms were set up in the church parish hall. Again being short of coffee, Fletcher called on lems and would not make the trip on Tuesday. Lori made a call to Arnie's Ford in Wayne to see about using a vehicle, and one was waiting for them when they returned to morning. Summing up the help from the Wayne area, Carollo notes that to be able to gather together people and provide provisions for 300 at a site an hour away in about two hours, is quite an accomplishment.

"Also to see businesses and individuals around Wayne rally together to provide for those in need makes me proud of our chapter, of the Wayne Fire & Rescue, and of the community in which I live," she said.

Carollo thanks everyone for their support and asks people to please remember the Wayne Red Cross with financial support as it is necessary so they can continue to be there when they are needed. She noted Pamida has agreed to donate a microwave to the Red Cross to have in their ERV for future needs. Also, the Wayne Coat Closet donated coats.

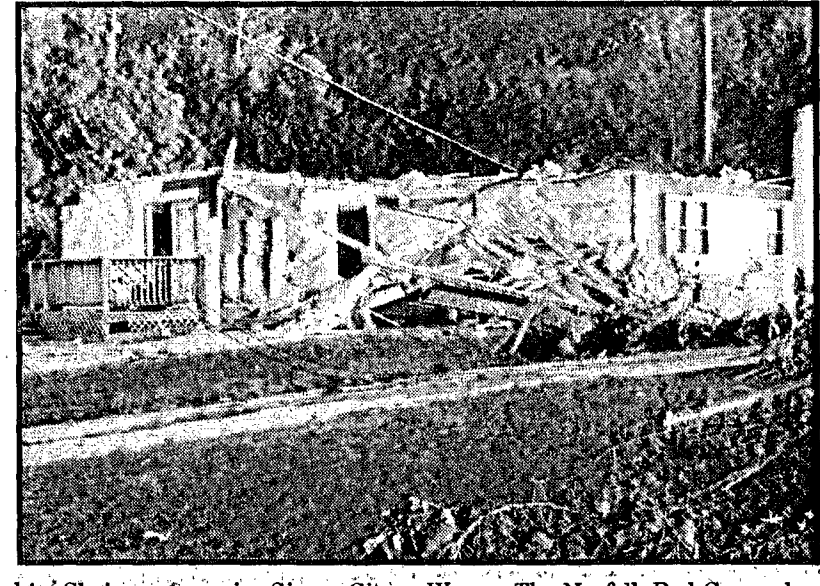

She thanks those already giving donations and for those still wanting to donate, they can send their donations to the Wayne County Red Cross, 112 East 2nd Street, Wayne, Neb. 68787.

The Wayne County Red Cross Emergency Response Vehicle (ERV) was a very necessary piece of equipment used on site at Jackson. The vehicle's generator quit while the Red Cross was using it during this disaster response.

The main job on Monday was to recover the Wayne Red Cross chapter.

his Shrine group in Sioux City. They started making large pots of coffee which Wiltse picked up and brought to Jackson.

National Guard unit from Wayne helps after tornado

On Saturday morning, the National Guard unit from Wayne, was just beginning its work at this disaster. Company A, 1-134th Infantry of Wayne had nine Nebraska Army National Guard volunteers who aided the Jackson tornado relief effort on Saturday and on Sunday.

Among these soldiers were Sgt. Brendan Dorcey, Sgt. Damon Lutz, Spc. Steve Bolken, Spc. Russell Briggs, Spc. Brian Campbell, Pfc. Jody Campbell, Spc. Kenneth Locker, Spc. Justin Petersen and Spc. Nicolas Salitros.

Alpha company's primary mission was to assist the Nebraska State Patrol and the 192nd Military Police Law and Order Detachment, a Nebraska Army National Guard unit from Omaha, in securing Jackson while ensuring the protection of property and the prevention of looting.

The local National Guard unit provided military vehicles, and military items such as a deuce and half, a water buffalo and tents were on call.

Salitros noted that working in Jackson with the National Guard was a good experience as it not only helped train soldiers, but helped the community.

gave the woman a hug and a Red Cross teddy bear which she also gave to the children. The family had been living in a trailer behind the school. The woman had pieces of wood embedded in her leg from the tornado which had to be surgically removed.

Janssen, Dan Rose and John Carollo were back in Jackson by late Monday afternoon to assist with serving supper. The Sioux City Red Cross had arranged for a child counseling meeting for all school children. Burger King provided hamburger meals.

The Wayne and Norfolk Red Cross chapters cleaned and loaded up and left Jackson by 8 p.m. Monday night. They were asked to return Tuesday morning with 10 gallons of coffee and eight dozen donuts.

By now, though, it was apparent the ERV had major generator prob-

Yano Jones benefit planned

Yano Jones, 2000 season Wayne State College Wildcat senior cornerback, is battling non-Hodgkin's lymphoma (a form of cancer).

A benefit for Jones includes a spaghetti meal and a silent auction of items donated by area businesses on Saturday, Aug. 25 in the exhibit hall at the Civic Auditorium, Chicago Street Entrance, in Omaha, 3:30 to 5:30 p.m.

Jones spent three seasons at WSC before moving on to play defensive back for the Omaha BEEF, an indoor professional football league. His fellow players, coaches and staff will be involved in the "Meet the BEEF" Dinner.

The dinner costs $6 at the door.

Individuals may also donate to the Yano Jones Cancer Fund at any Commercial Federal Bank in Omaha. Jones was diagnosed with non-Hodgkin's lymphoma in May. Every three weeks, Jones goes through a series of chemotherapy treatments. Those treatments will continue through the fall.

For more information, please contact Ann Wagner at (402) 573-5639 or the Omaha BEEF office at (402) 558-4849.

On the first day the team went to an infirmary which was a hospital/care center.

"The people were very poor, but the elderly enjoyed having us there. One lady, Anna, who was blind, sang Christian songs to us," Tara said.

Many of the elderly there were abandoned by family who could not care for them. Anna had no family to visit her.

The team also ministered on the beach to vendors and drug dealers.

One ministry group talked with three men who were selling drugs on the beach. They had never heard about Jesus.

"They wondered how you could know Him without having seen Him and yet, were very open and asked a lot of questions," Tara said.

After several minutes of hearing the Gospel message, these men took the tracts that were offered to them and wanted a follow-up call from the church.

Most days the teens ministered on the city streets through street evangelism and drama.

"Many of the children followed us around constantly, even to the 'motel' late at night. It seemed that many had no place to go, even really little kids. The poverty was shocking and the streets smelled really bad, but you kind of got used to it. The best thing was the kids. They were great and I loved working with them," Tara said.

"One time after a street drama, one little girl came all alone to give her life to Jesus. It was one of the best things I saw because she didn't care what her peers thought," she added.

In Jamaica Tara learned about the culture as well. She enjoyed eating fresh sugar cane, pineapple, drinking fresh coconut milk, bread fruit, mangos and ganaps, a type of grape. She also ate fried snails, which she said were "pretty good."

Next summer Tara hopes to take a longer missions trip to minister in South Africa to children. She says that street ministry was "okay," but she hopes to work more one-on-one with children, such as in an orphanage.

"When it comes to short-term mission trips, teenagers have a real advantage. Young people are able to overcome cultural barriers that adults often time could not."

"For the most part, mingling is easier as a young person, perhaps, because so many experiences and life in itself is still new," Tara said.

The group returned to Dallas, Texas on Aug. 7.

The two-week trip Tara says was a life changing one, but it is just the beginning for her.

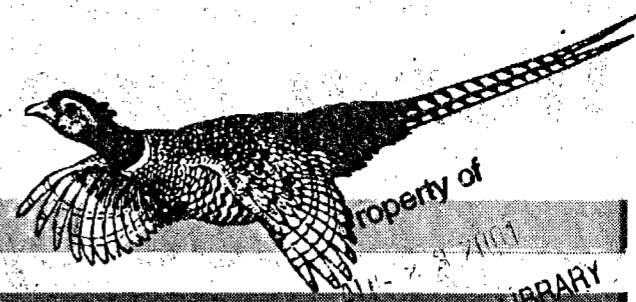

"I have felt called to be a missionary since I was little, but I really felt called to the missions field when I was 12. This is just the beginning for me," Tara said.

"Thank you to all who bought candy, water, gave gifts and prayed for me. It was a great adventure."

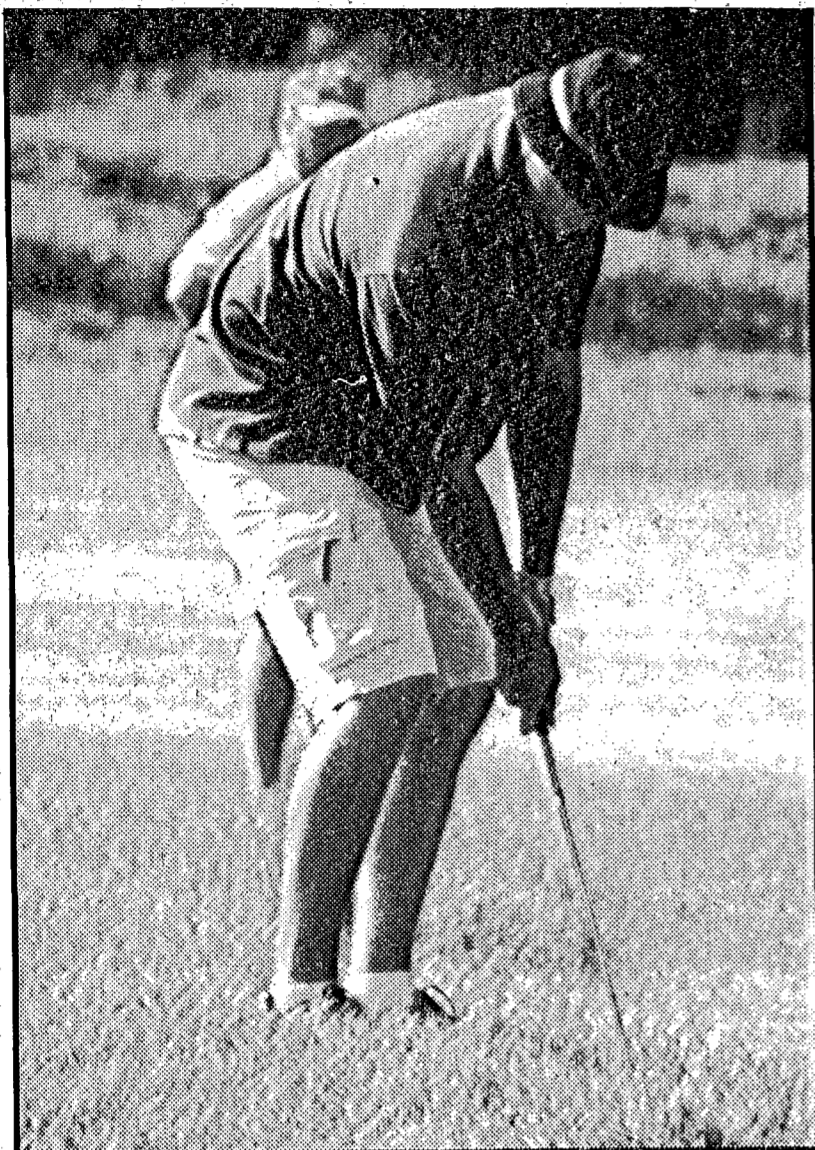

Tara, 16, is a junior who is home schooled. To learn more about Teen Mania Ministries, call 1-800-299-8336 or visit their web site at <http://www.teenmania.com>

Sutton wins her sixth; Keller flirts with course record Sutton, Keller claim club title

Klinton Keller chips on to the number two green from the grass bunker during the championship round.

Sandra Sutton drives the ball on hole 18. Sutton fired a 75 to claim her sixth overall club championship.

Molly Melena putts the ball on hole 17. Melena won the first flight after it was netted out.

For the Herald

The annual Wayne Country Club's men's and women's Club Tournament was held Sunday with Sandra Sutton and Klinton Keller topping the field.

Sutton won her third consecutive and sixth overall, club title with a three-over-par 75.

She fired an even-par 36 on the front nine and pretty much had it on cruise control on the back nine, finishing with a 39.

Sutton, who captured the club title in 1990, 1994, 1995, 1999, 2000 and now this year, recorded birdies on holes four, five and 10.

On the men's side it was Klinton Keller's show from the on-set as the sophomore at Wayne State, fired a five-under-par 67 on the first 18 holes before posting an even-par 36 over the final nine holes to win the tournament by five strokes over Rob Sweetland.

Keller's 67 on the first 18 holes included birdies on holes two, three, four, five, seven, 13, 14 and 16. His 27 hole score of 103 is the best championship score in recent history.

Sweetland, last year's champion, fired a two-under-par 34 over the final nine holes to finish runner-up at 108.

Ryan Sturm placed third at 110 while Marty Summerfield copped fourth place honors with a 112—edging Jim Shanks who also finished at 112.

Kelly Hansen laced sixth overall with a 113 and Doug Rose was seventh at 113 with Mike Bentjen carding a 114 for eighth place honors.

In flight play, Dennis Jensen claimed top honors in the first flight with an 81 while Phil Griess was second with an 83. Based on net scoring, Tim Keller placed third with an 84 and Reggie Yates was fourth with an 83.

Ben Martin took flight two with a 78 while Randy Simonson was second with a 79. Bill Sharpe was third with an 81 and Lee Stegemann, fourth with an 82.

Ryun Williams was the champion of flight three with a 78 while Kevin Peterson placed second with an 87. Ralph Etter was third with an 88 and David Fuller, fourth with an 89.

Chris Orwig won flight fourth with an 82 followed by Dan Bowers with an 89 and Tim Gessell, 90. Paul Roberts finished fourth with a 91.

Doug Carroll claimed flight five with an 88 followed by Steve Becker with an 89 and Bob Krugman, 92. Ray Novak was fourth with a 93.

Don Lemley claimed flight six with a 90, edging John O'Neill with a 90. Larry Lindsay finished third with a 93 and Les Keenan, fourth with a 94.

Bill Melena captured flight seven with an 89 with Denny Lutt carding a 92. Don Koeber edged Don Goeden for third after each shot 93.

The final flight was won by Kevin Heithold with a 93. Brian Bowers was second with a 98. Casey Schroeder placed third and Brendan Dorcey, fourth.

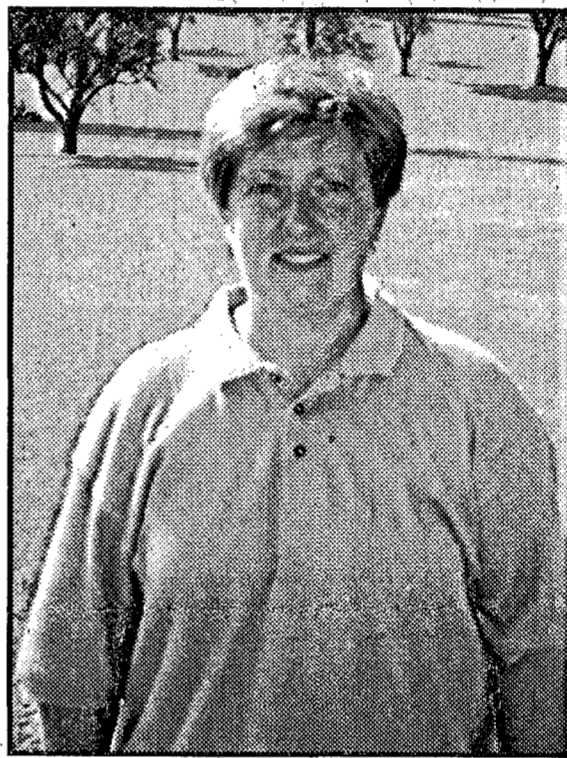

In the women's division both flights were netted out with Molly Melena winning the first flight with an 85 (65.3) while Sandra Sutton was second, 75 (65.6).

Monica Novak placed third with an 81 (67.8) and Carol Novak, fourth at 98 (68.9).

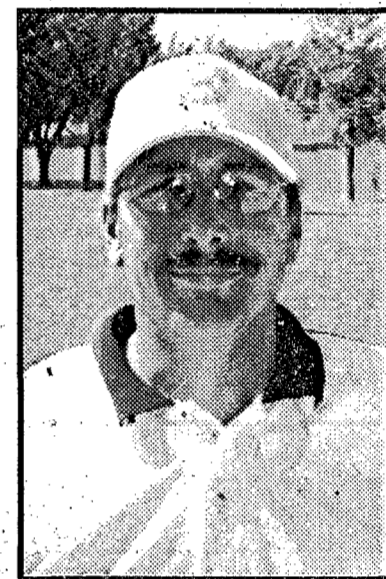

Diane Magnuson won the second flight with a 105 (66.0). Liz Garvin was second at 103 (70.2) while Karla Orwig finished third, 113 (70.5). DiAnn Kenny placed fourth at 111 (72.0).

Luhr receives Meyer Award

The most improved Midget baseball player award was given to Travis Luhr this past season.

The award is given in memory of the late Jerry Meyer and is given by his brother Mike.

The following is a copy of Mike's speech when the award was given.

"I think some of the players and parents are losing focus of the importance of improvement. We all want to win but we can't just go out on the field and expect to perform perfectly. That's what is expected from the professionals and they still make mistakes.

There is a group of younger guys that had a rough year of baseball this past season. They were put in a situation where their group was split into two teams. The younger of the groups didn't win a lot of games and some of the players looked demoralized.

It's our duty as parents and coaches to let the kids know that at this age, it's a growing stage.

Even I, a man in my mid-40's, still learn a thing or two from each game I'm involved with on the town team.

Warm weather can have a negative effect on your bait

Hot weather can be tough on an angler, but it's really tough on your bait.

As anyone can tell you, the livelier the bait, the better the bite. Squirming fat healthy worms will attract and catch more fish. The only thing that dehydrated wrinkled up worms will attract is "flies."

I thought I'd solved that problem years ago, I put my night crawler containers in my cooler along with my cold drinks and lunch.

I may have solved the worm problem, but I created another one. While heading down river, I hit some rough water and the styrofoam containers got crushed spilling the bedding, dirt and worms all over my lunch.

I solved that problem by purchasing a larger two sided styrofoam worm container. It worked OK until the lid wasn't put back on properly and the worms, bedding and broken styrofoam cooler ended up scattered through my sandwiches and chips.

My worms ended up getting beat up and my fishing trip was ruined because $10 worth of night crawlers had been wasted.

Last year while fishing during hot weather in Minnesota, I took along a new bait cooler from Hagen's in Mitchell, SD.

The Hagen's "Keep Kool Live Bait Cooler" was made from high impact plastic, had a locking lid and an insulating foam core in its outer shell.

This is not one of those styrofoam coolers that you use a couple of times and then it's shot and goes into the trash.

On several rough, hot fishing trips, it proved that it could take a beating, keep my bait fat and sassy and not dump it all over the boat.

The unique thing about the bait cooler was that it's compact, only 10 3/4" wide x 14 3/4" long x 6 1/4" tall. The "Keep Kool" is constructed so it has two compartments, an inner one that holds your bait and an outside compartment that will hold up to 5 pounds of ice. The ice keeps the bait compartment at 38-44 degrees F. As the ice melts, you simply drain out the water and add a little more ice and you're in business.

I've put up to 10 dozen night crawlers in the cooler and on other trips I used it for minnows and leeches.

If I'm going on an extended trip, I've filled the ice compartment with water and then placed the "Keep Kool" in the freezer. Once frozen, my bait stayed at just the

The Wayne Town Team baseball squad enjoyed another successful season with a 10-6 record. They placed runner-up at the mid-season tournament but only managed a fourth place finish in the season ending tournament. The team wishes to thank the fans and support they received including from sponsors Wayne East, White Dog, and Citgo/Daylight Donuts. This years team consisted of Dusty Jensen, Ryan Stoltenberg, Brian Lentz, Robbie Sturm, Darin Jensen, Rusty Hamer, Jeremy Lutt, Brian Dish, Justin Thede, Matt Clausen, Frank Vito, Ryan Wetterberg, Mike Jacobsma and Jason Bauer. Coaches were Mike Meyer and Tim Shaeffer.

Earlier in the season, I gave a couple players a ride home after a game in which they had played against each other.

Both players were down because of what they had or had not done in the game.

I told them to take something positive home from the game whether they won or lost.

IMPROVEMENT! That's the name of the game and it will come if they respect the game.

Stop...Look...Listen...Remember. Don't think you know it all.

Travis Luhr batted .280 his first year of Midgets and hit .410 this past summer.

Club Tournament

The annual Wayne Club Golf Tournament was held Sunday with more than 110 people taking part in both the men's and women's divisions. At left, course superintendent Ken Dahl hits his approach shot on hole four from a different angle. Above, Kelly Hansen hits his approach shot on hole four. Hansen carded an even par 72 over the first 18 holes and ended the tournament with a sixth place finish. This year's winners included Klinton Keller at five-under-par 103 and Sandra Sutton at three-over-par 75.

Children receive citations

The following children were 'caught' being good by the Wayne Police Department. Trevor and Trent Beza were caught while helping their mother with chores. Keith Morgan and Todd Morgan were caught while playing nicely with each other. Collin Jeffries was caught riding his bike in a safe manner. Lt. Phil Shear of the Wayne Police Department encourages anyone in the community who notices children being safe or "being good" to call the Wayne Police Department so they can be recognized also.

12-under softballers enjoy success

The Wayne 12-under girls softball team enjoyed a solid season with a 15-3 regular season record and a 28-9 overall mark including all tournaments. They placed first at the Wayne Tournament and second in O'Neill. Members of the team include from back left: Coach Heidi Johnson, Regan Ruhl, Sarah Frerichs, Liz Baier, Brooke Anderson, Kelsey Lueders, Stephanie Dahlgren, coach Carol Longe. Middle: Jordyn Doescher, Megan Kardell, Sadie Bessmer, Leslie Backstrom, Kara Hoemann, Samantha Dunklau, Stacey Armstrong. Front: Danica Carroll and Kayla Hochstein. Not pictured: Amy Anderson.

Child support helps prevent poverty

Nebraska child support collections have increased by five percent, from $135 million in 1999 to approximately $142 million in 2000, according to the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS).

"Child support makes a big difference in a child's quality of life, and is one of our best tools in preventing poverty," said Ron Ross, Director of HHS.

Child support collections have more than doubled in the past 10 years, going from $60 million in 1991 to $142 million in 2000, according to Daryl Wusk, administrator of HHS' Child Support enforcement Division. "We would like to thank the parents who pay their child support willingly. Children are entitled to emotional and financial support from both parents."

Wusk attributed the steady increase in collections to:

- The child support automated computer system, which assists workers in locating parents.
- The New Hire Directory, which matches new employees against a list of individuals who owe child support.
- Automatic wage withholding when individuals obtain or change jobs.
- Increased efforts to establish paternity.
- Enforcement tools including possible suspension of driver's, recreation or professional licenses for people in arrears more than three months who have not made arrangements to pay. In 2000, 671 driver's licenses were suspended, 101 recreational licenses were suspending, and 36 professional licenses were suspended.

"Our goal isn't to suspend licenses, but it is another collection tool," said Wusk.

The hard work and persistence of child support staff, along with automated location of delinquent parents, has resulted in several large lump-sum collections, Wusk said.

•Another child was over the age of 18, but the noncustodial parent still owed past-due support, plus interest. Child support staff learned the person had three different accounts in one bank, and filed an administrative attachment on those accounts. The result was a payment of $15,000 to settle the amount owed.

Tips shared for hunting fall gobblers

I recently had the opportunity to spend some time with Eddie Salter from Evergreen, Ala.

Eddie has been hunting turkeys since he was 10-years-old, and was the 1985 and 1989 World Turkey Calling Champion to name a few. Eddie can make more turkey sounds with his voice than most people can with a call.

Eddie now does seminars and promotions for H.S. Strut out of Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

We talked about calling turkeys and on turkey hunting in the fall.

I quizzed Eddie on several types of turkey hunting, and was very impressed with the information he had to share on hunting fall gobblers.

In most states, fall hunters can take either sex turkey, at times many hunters simply pull the trigger on the first bird they see in order to fill their tag. I feel that I'd be missing the boat by taking the first turkey I saw, as many of the birds you see in the fall are young of the year birds and small by comparison to the older wiser toms.

Finding and taking a fall gobbler is the most challenging of all time when moving through the woods. Since the fall tom is not out looking for a girl friend like he would be in the spring. He doesn't gobble much and is a lot more difficult to call. Below are some of the most frequently asked questions by hunters about fall turkey hunting.

1. How does a fall hunter begin his hunt?

Salteri: Get out into the woods early and look for turkey sign such as droppings, scratching, tracks, areas where the turkey's are feeding and moving. Once you've found good sign, then go looking for the turkey.

2. What should a hunter do when he spots a flock of turkey's in the fall?

Salteri: If the birds are feeding towards you, just set still, and let them get as close as possible. Chances are they won't get close enough for a clean shot, so when they get near you, you'll want to split the flock so you will have a chance to call them back together. Jump up and scream and holler and try to scatter the flock to all points of the compass. If the birds are moving away from you, try to speak as close as possible and then scatter them.

Scattering a flock of birds in the fall may seem like an unusual tactic, but the primary instinct of turkeys, especially the young males in the fall is to flock together. Therefore, after you scatter them, a hunter can sit down at the point where the birds split up and begin to call the birds back together. This gives the hunter a better chance at picking out one good bird.

3. How do you call young birds in the fall?

Salteri: Young gobblers, commonly called jakes, usually are very vocal in the fall. If you sit down next to a big tree in the area where you scattered the flock and start calling, within a short period of time a young gobbler should start talking to you. He more than likely won't gobble but will call back with a locator call.

4. What calls should the hunter make to bring in young gobblers?

Salteri: Two calls will bring in jakes, a very raspy, pleading, old hen, assembly call or the kee-kee run call which is the young gobbler's squealing call.

In the fall, young gobblers want to flock back to the dominant hen as well as to get back together with other members of the flock. So either of these calls will bring in young birds.

Since fall weather is often times, wet, I like a call that isn't affected by the rain. I use a rain proof slate known as the Small Sweet Hen. The call mimics the assembly call of the old hen. I also use my double reed, split mouth diaphragm call to imitate the young gobbler.

5. Will a hunter see flocks of older gobblers in the fall, and if so how does he call them?

Salteri: During the fall, long beards will often flock together. Many times they're birds of the same year class, generally two and three years old. After scattering a flock of these birds, I give a cluck on my box call or on my four reed diaphragm cutter. The key to calling these older wiser birds in the fall is to be patient and not over call!

6. What is the main difference between spring and fall hunting?

Salteri: Fall hunters use different calls than the spring hunter. The fall hunter will not call as much and will do a lot less moving around than the spring hunter. Bagging a tom in the spring requires a sportsman to have only a pint of patience. But in fall, that same turkey hunter better have a 55 gallon drum full of perseverance to take an older tom.

7. If I bust up a flock in the morning and call, and don't have a bird come in that day, should I return to the same spot later on?

Salteri: Most definitely, because often three days may pass before a long beard returns to the spot where he was spooked. However, if you stay in the same place for several days, and the turkey doesn't see you, you should be able to bag him. As I said earlier, bagging a big fall tom is a game for the patient hunter.

8. Why are bigger toms in the fall so hard to take?

Salteri: During the spring of the year, the turkey has to follow his natural mating drive which often will force him to be careless. However, in the fall of the year, he does not want to mate and may not want to be social. And there is just no reason for him to be careless. During the fall, the woods are also much cleaner than they are in the spring when the leaves can help camouflage the hunter.

Therefore, the slightest move the sportsman makes, the turkey will see it. Most hunters don't like to try for big toms in the fall, because the sport is difficult. It's the fact that it's somewhat difficult that makes fall hunting big toms so challenging of all game species and the most highly prized by turkey hunters.

Fall turkey hunting is just around the corner, start your scouting now for the upcoming season and practice the methods and calls that Eddie mentioned and you'll have the opportunity to bag a big fall gobbler.

THIS WEEK'S WEATHER FORECAST

Herbs for Health
Purple Coneflower Enhances Immunity

The purple coneflower was the most widely used herb in the US during the nineteenth century. This flower, which is one of the several from the species echinacea, is native to the great plains. It was used by American Indians to treat everything from coughs to snakebites. During the first half of this century, Echinacea was listed in the National Formulary, a book of "remedies" that generally were recognized as being useful. With the advent of antibiotics, the herb fell from widespread use by most physicians.

Echinacea seems to enhance a nonspecific type of immunity. The herb stimulates the body to make chemicals that fight illness caused by bacteria, viruses, and fungi. Numerous studies have shown that the herb does enhance immunity. One such study involved persons who were prone to have upper respiratory infections. Study participants were given either fresh juice from Echinacea purpurea or a placebo two times a day for 8 weeks. Those who received the herb had about 40% less illness. They also had 40 days between episodes of illness as compared to 25 days in the group that received the placebo.

Rainbow Riders receives grant funds

Rainbow Riders of Wayne was one of 28 nonprofit organizations that received grants totaling $55,559 from the Fund For Siouxland, a discretionary grants program administered by the Siouxland Community Foundation.

Rainbow Riders received $2,500 for the purchase of horses for the therapeutic riding program which serves physically, mentally and emotionally challenged children and adults.

During the 2001 riding season, more than 30 riders benefitted from the services offered by Rainbow Riders.

Established in 1988, the Siouxland Foundation works to enrich the quality of life in Siouxland by receiving and administering endowed gifts to carry out the charitable objectives of donors for the long-term benefit of those within the greater Sioux City tri-state region.

The Fund for Siouxland, an unrestricted endowment fund, was created to receive contributions from individuals, families, corporations and other foundations to provide a permanent source of charitable support to help meet the ever-changing needs within Siouxland. Income from the Fund For Siouxland is annually awarded in grants to nonprofit organizations within a general 50-mile radius of Sioux City. The annual application deadline is Jan. 15.

"Since the Siouxland Community Foundation awarded its first grants in 1991, over 180 nonprofit organizations have received one or more grants from the Fund for Siouxland," said Debbie Hubbard, Executive Director of the Foundation. Over $1 million has been distributed to date in charitable support from the various restricted and unrestricted funds the Foundation administers.

Chicken Pox Vaccine Is Highly Effective
 In the six years since its approval, the chicken pox vaccine has proven to protect 85% of the children given the vaccine. The findings were published in the New England Journal of Medicine. Chicken pox is usually mild in children but can open the door to pneumonia and other serious infections. It remains unclear if patients are immune for life or if they eventually will need a booster dose.

Getting ready for the year

Suzanne Penn of the Support Staff Breakfast Group serves ice cream to Linda Raveling (center) and Jason Barelman of Career Services during an ice cream social in the Student Center, Aug. 15, planned by the group and Wayne State president Dr. Sheila Stearns in appreciation of faculty and staff work in preparing for the new academic year and productivity throughout the year.

Housing issues to be addressed

Interested residents of Dixon County have formed the Dixon County Housing Partnership in conjunction with the Federal Home Loan Bank of Topeka (FHL Bank) in an effort to provide quality affordable housing in the community. The formation of the partnership is the first step required of a community participating in the FHL Bank's Rural Technical Assistance Program, which brings together public and private organizations to address affordable housing issues in communities throughout Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma. Security National Bank of Allen, the local financial institution that is a FHL Bank member is sponsoring the program.

Melissa Miller-Atwood, manager of the FHL Bank's Rural Technical Assistance Program, said, "Our bank is looking forward to helping this partnership coordinate the resources necessary for it to succeed in enhancing the county's housing options."

An organizational meeting July 12 brought together city officials, local bank representatives, real estate agents, nonprofit housing providers, government agencies and others to discuss the history and impact of housing development in the community and to identify local housing problems. Participants acknowledged the need for affordable housing in the area and agreed there was a lack of understanding regarding the tools and resources available to address such issues.

The group also agreed there was a need for owner-occupied housing costing below $50,000 and rental units costing below $500. A need exists as well for rental housing for the elderly, assisted living facilities, accessible housing for persons with special needs and housing for the near or hidden homeless. The group also felt that the cost of existing housing, the cost of new construction, the cost or availability of land, as well as a lack of general public knowledge of applicable programs were barriers to housing development. Other resources needed to address housing issues include down payment assistance, grants, low-interest loans for purchase and rehabilitation, pre-development financing and technical assistance.

The Partnership further defined the issues of public concern related to housing. Low incomes and lack of pride have contributed to an undesirable stock of housing and blighted areas. Rental vacancies are low and the rental stock is in poor condition. Affordable

OSHA record keeping class to be offered

Northeast Community College in Norfolk will be the site of a one-half day class on OSHA's New Record Keeping Standard.

The class, with course number SAF 0106-01, will be offered Thursday, August 23rd, from 8 a.m. til noon in the Maclay Building, Room 100A, on the Northeast campus. Instructors will be provided by the Nebraska Safety Council.

The record keeping standard is currently under review by the Bush Administration. Should the standard be released, the Nebraska Safety Council and OSHA office in Omaha are prepared to train personnel in the new standard.

Cost is $75. To register, call the Nebraska Safety Council at (402)483-2511.

financing is not available for rental housing investors. Social service organizations report increased challenges in finding housing for lower income people and those with disabilities. There is a gap between median household income and the cost of both new and used houses. Custom housing is being built in the range of $100,000 to $150,000, and lots are selling in the range of $10,000. Land and site improvement costs have risen two to three times in the past 20 years.

A mission statement was drafted to describe why the organization exists and its purpose in the community. "The mission of the Dixon County Partnership is to enhance affordable housing options through cooperation and collaboration that seeks to create awareness of government assistance programs, eliminate barriers to development and build local capacity to address housing issues."

New Catholic ministry director named at Wayne State College

Sister Cynthia Hruby will welcome Wayne State students to campus ministry activities as director of the Catholic Campus Ministry and Newman Club.

"We hope to work closely with Wayne State Student Services to projects and carry them through. They find they can believe in themselves and others."

Before accepting her position in Wayne, Hruby served as campus ministry director at Our Lady of the Lake Parish, Branson, Mo. and coordinator of youth ministry for the Catholic Christian Newman Association (CCNA) at the College of the Ozarks in Lookout, Mo. She also served as campus minister at the Catholic Campus Ministry Center at Southeast Missouri State University. She has also taught at the junior high and high school level in Iowa and Nebraska for 14 years with a background in science education.

As a graduate student at Southeast Missouri State University, Hruby earned the Student Development's Graduate Student of the Year Award. She has also earned a master's degree in Christian Spirituality at Creighton University in Omaha. Her undergraduate degree was completed as a double major in education and natural sciences at the University of Nebraska - Omaha.

support and compliment what they offer on campus," Hruby said.

Hruby is a native of Clarkson. A certified Catholic Campus Minister, she is a member of the Notre Dame Sisters, Omaha Province. Hruby and Father Mark Thomasiewicz will be working together.

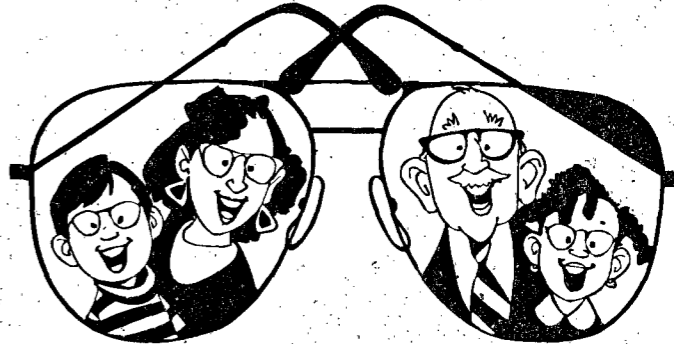

Sign-up Weekend is planned for Aug. 25 and 26 at St. Mary's Parish at 412 East 8th Street in Wayne. Students are encouraged to register and indicate their areas of interest after masses during that weekend.

Hruby said the information collected from students on Sign-up Weekend guides her when planning programs in four areas: hospitality, service and advocacy, social and spiritual. Mass times are 6 p.m. on Saturday and 8 and 10 a.m. on Sunday. Food will be served after each mass. Students, faculty, staff and administration are also encouraged to participate in Sign-up Weekend.

During the school year, masses are planned for Tuesday evenings at 9:15 p.m. in the Welcome House east of the Student Center.

"My whole professional life has been spent working with youth," Hruby said. She said her vision for peer ministry with Wayne State students involves development of leadership teams. "It is easy to see how perfectly our program relates to student development on campus. My greatest joy comes from following how they (students) take ownership in accomplishing their goals. As they develop their skills and discover their abilities, they grow in confidence in their ability to make a difference. Their sense of empowerment builds when they can take

A simple thank you is important

In the fast paced world in which we live, sometimes it is easy to take what we have for granted. We are so busy thinking about the next event or activity that once we

Amy Topp
Extension Educator
4-H & Youth

have completed something we really do not take the time to think about what has been accomplished.

One of the things that we try to encourage in the 4-H program is positive character, and with character we touch on manners and politeness. Saying thank you to someone who has helped out is the first way that this can be done.

Several weeks ago during the warm weather at the Wayne county Fair, when everyone was busy, there may have been some thank yous that at the time were left unsaid.

On behalf of the University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension 4-H Program, I would like to thank all individuals who helped us in any way make the fair the success that it was. The youth really put forth an extra effort in showing character. On a 100 degree day, it would have been easy to not be so friendly to the individual who placed higher in a class. However, though the heat I was impressed, how everyone worked together to make everything go that much smoother.

We also have our parents, who are always working so that their child can be their best. It is important at this time to really look at why your child is involved in the 4-H program and the benefits that this will have on their life. So this means, if you weren't happy with something that went on at the fair, how can you help make it a life experience and building block for your child's future.

The leaders and volunteers we must not forget because without them, it would be impossible to have such an event. Maybe these individuals were superintendents, helpers, worked on displays or in the foodstand, or helped run errands when it was needed. All of these actions showed that they cared about the program and were willing to give of their time to help the youth. Thank you for being a part of this event.

For all the community members, businesses and leaders who gave support to the 4-H program, maybe by doing an educational program, National KidsDay, helping with fair clean up, providing prizes and sponsorships, being a herdsman judge or even supporting our local program by doing business at the 4-H foodstand. Thank you! It definitely is a community event and such an event does not just happen without many people supporting it.

The Wayne County Ag Society also puts in a lot of time all year long to prepare the grounds for the fair. We want to thank them for the volunteer hours that they put in on hosting a community event. To everyone who helped out in any way... thank you!

So no matter, how busy we get involved in an activity, remember a thank you to those people who help is a polite thing to do and goes a long way in being a person of positive character.

Lloyd and Pat (Hook) Straight of Wayne and their sons Doug and Jenise Straight, Conley and Cody of Shickley; Rick and Laura Straight, Katie and Kyle of Wayne and Ton and Tammy Straight, Justen and Jordan of Summerfield, N.C.

Don Straight organized this reunion. He created a video show of family photos past and present. This was enjoyed by family members at the banquet. Don and Tammy's family presented everyone with a shirt that had a silhouette of Ted and Lenora and the logo "Hooked" on family on it.

The family history was compiled and presented by the four Hook daughters at their picnic concluding the reunion.

Kopperud-Jepsen wed

Kristine Kay Kopperud and Ryan Evan Jepsen were married May 27, 2001 at Wilderness Canoe

Mr. and Mrs. Jepsen

Base, where they met, near Grand Marais, Minn.

Parents of the couple are Keith and Cheryl Kopperud of Wayne and Dr. Marvin and Karen Jepsen of West Des Moines, Iowa. Grandparents of the bride are Betty Andrews of Sioux City, Iowa, Frank Andrews of Miami, Fla. and Verna Kopperud, of Westbrook, Minn. Kenneth Kopperud, both of the bride, served as gentleman of honor. Graham Jepsen of Highlands Ranch, Colo., brother of the groom, was best man. Ring bearer, was Waylon Jepsen, nephew of the groom.

Joel Rogness, fellow camp staff member and friend of the couple, performed acoustic guitar selections, including "Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring," by J.S. Bach and "Spring Wind" by Greg Brown.

Krista Magnuson of Somerville, Mass., friend of the bride, served as personal attendant.

Jonathan Rova, assistant camp director and friend of the couple presided and a host of friends and family witnessed the ceremony in the wildflower-laced outdoor chapel, high above Seagull Lake.

A reception and dance, featuring folk and blues music, followed in the camp's meeting and dining hall.

The couple lives in Driggs, Idaho, at the foot of the Teton Range.

A 2000 graduate of Augustana College in Sioux Falls, S.D., the bride is a writer and editor for Powder Mountain Press.

The groom is a 1999 graduate of Luther College in Decorah, Iowa. He works as a wrangler and guide.

Legion auxiliary gathers

Irwin L. Sears Unit #43 met Aug. 6 at the Eveline Thompson residence for a picnic supper.

Following supper, President Fauneil Hoffman opened the meeting with colors in place. The POW/MIA flag was placed on the empty chair. Leona Kluge gave the opening prayer followed by the singing of one stanza of "Star Spangled Banner" and the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. The unit citation preamble to the Constitution of the American Legion Auxiliary was recited.

Eveline Thompson gave the treasurer's report.

Membership Chairman Eveline Thompson reported that there are 23 paid up members for 2002. The dues are now due and should be mailed in as soon as possible.

A letter was read from Department President Donna Gava. Her theme for this year is "Soar to New Heights in our Airplane."

The Nebraska State Fair Veteran's Day Celebration will be Monday, Aug. 27 at Lincoln. The special guest will be Lt. Shane Osborn. The parade starts at noon with the parade of colors. At 1:30 p.m. the First Nebraska Volunteer Band will perform and at 2 p.m. a memorial service will be held to salute all "Pearl Harbor Veterans" and a "Tribute to all American Heroes." This is to be a red-white and blue affair.

A letter was read from District III President Beverly Neel.

American Legion Auxiliary #43, VFW Auxiliary #5291, DAV and DAVA Chapter #28 will hold a supper for veterans at the Norfolk Veterans Home on Monday, Sept. 24 at 5 p.m.

Chaplain Leona Kluge gave the closing prayer, followed by one stanza of "America" and the Little Red Schoolhouse March.

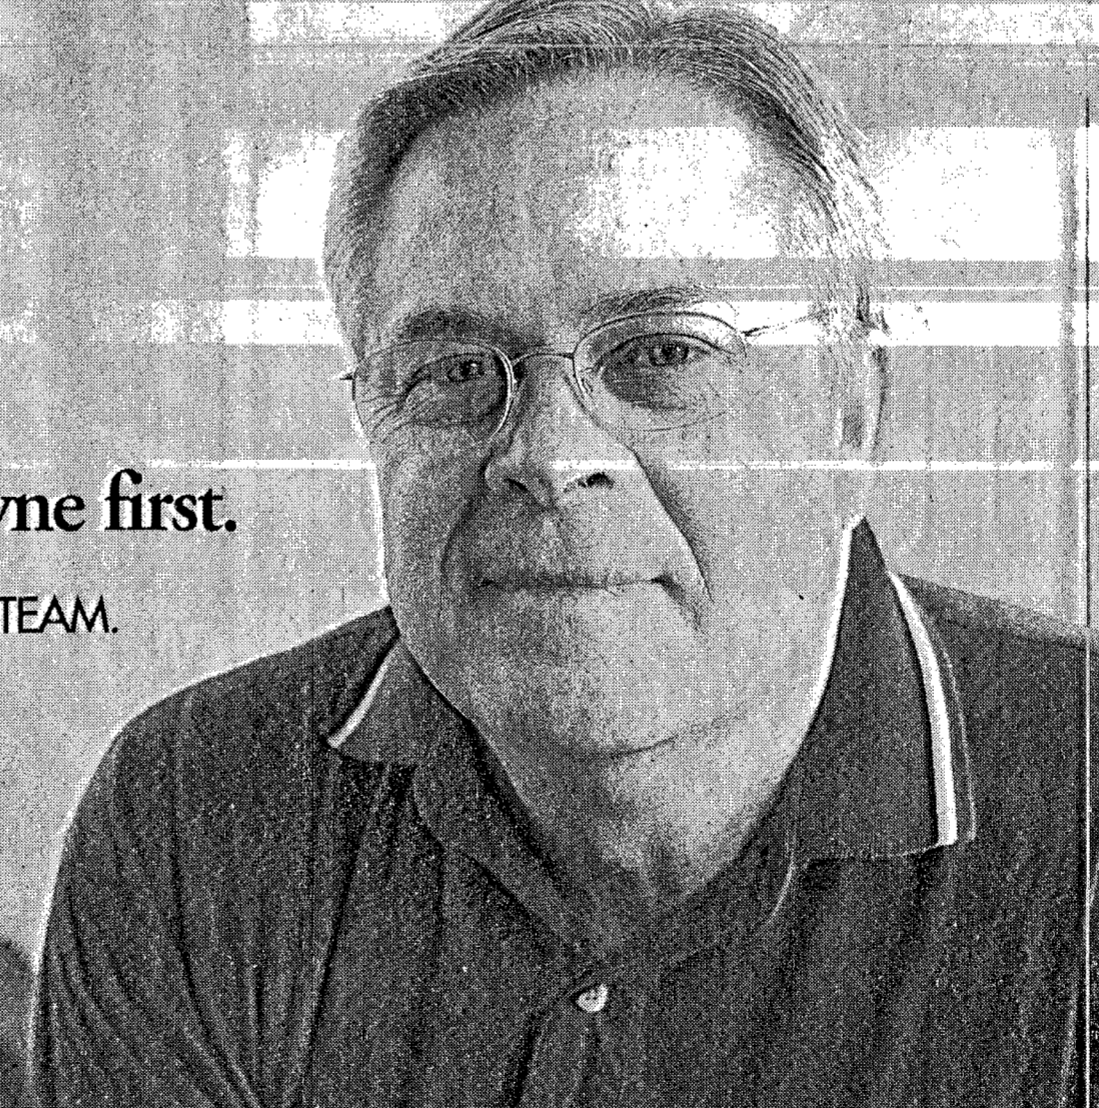

President Fauneil Hoffman closed the meeting to re-open on Monday, Sept. 3 at 2 p.m.

Rally Day planned

Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne will kick off its fall ministries with Rally Day on Sunday, Aug. 26. Rally Day celebrations will be held at the weekend worship services Saturday at 6 p.m. and Sunday at 8 and 10:30 a.m.

A Sunday School program will be held in the sanctuary at 9:15 a.m. on Sunday. The Sunday Seven Praise Band will kick off the rally with music. God's Music Makers, the our Savior Youth Choir will perform, "Father of Lights," to set the mood for this year's Christian Education Theme, "Christ's Light Shines Through Us."

Three year olds, third and ninth grade students from Our Savior Lutheran Church will receive their Bibles during this celebration. Bible distribution will include a special video presentation featuring the Bible recipients when they entered into God's Kingdom through baptism. Following the opening, students will have the opportunity to visit their classrooms and meet their teachers.

On Sunday, Sept. 2, there will be a special guest speaker, Brenda Meier, who has visited Tanzania several times and will share some of her experiences during the Sunday School hour (9:15 to 10:15). Our Savior's Vacation Bible School and Day Camp students collected school supplies that were sent to Tanzania this summer to support their Christian Education Ministry. The youth of Our Savior are helping sponsor a member of a Tanzanian Youth Choir that will be visiting Nebraska and Our Savior in November.

Our Savior Lutheran Church has Christian learning opportunities for people of all ages. Sunday School classes are offered for children ages three years through 12th grade. All classes will begin their fall session on Sunday, Sept. 9 at 9:15 a.m.

"We invite the community to share in the celebration this weekend and to learn more about the dynamic ministries of Our Savior," pastor Ruffcorn said.

For additional information concerning the ministries of Our Savior, contact the church office at (402) 375-2899. The church is located at the corner of Fifth and Main Streets in Wayne.

Carroll Ladies Aid gathers

The Carroll St. Paul Lutheran Ladies Aid and LWML met Aug. 15 for a morning brunch. Pastor and Mrs. Kiihne and seven members attended.

The meeting opened with the League Pledge. The lesson "My Path or His," (Matthew 10) was led by the pastor.

Nancy Junck was remembered with a get-well card. She recently broke two small bones in her foot.

The Fall Rally will be held at Immanuel Lutheran of rural Wakefield on Tuesday, Sept. 25 with an alternate date of Oct. 5. Registration will be held from 9 to 9:30 a.m. with a closing at 3 p.m. The theme will be "Blessing from God." Monica Ebmeier will be the guest speaker and show slides of the National Convention held at San Jose, Calif.

The first Sunday in October will be observed as LWML Sunday.

Gerry Buresh was honored with the birthday song for her August birthday.

A Lutheran World Relief Ingathering will be sponsored during November. All types of clothing are welcome with the exception of women's clothing. Only women's sweaters are needed.

National LWML Convention 2003 will be in Oklahoma City with Martinsburg to send a delegate.

The Christian Life leader spoke of allergies, including information from "Environmental Allerg-Ease" by Carolyn Blum. Many lives are affected by a variety of allergies.

The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday, Sept. 12 with Donna Leicy as hostess. It will be a morning meeting, beginning at 9 a.m.

Slides to be shown

Jens Kvols of Laurel will be showing slides from his recent trip to the Philippines at the Concord Evangelical Free Church in Concord.

The presentation will be Sunday, Aug. 26 at 7 p.m. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Mom & Dad talked about everything and they always planned ahead to make life just a little easier.

Adult education available at Our Savior Lutheran

Our Savior Lutheran Church is hosting several different Adult Christian Education opportunities in which the community is invited to participate.

A course in the "Basics of the Christian Faith," will be offered between the services (9:15 to 10:15 a.m.) beginning Sunday, Sept. 9. This will be the time to discover the answers to all those questions that you were too uncomfortable to ask your Sunday School teacher such as, "How do we know there is a God? How do we know that the Bible is inspired? Are we sure that Jesus is God and that He rose from the dead?"

All of these topics and more will be covered in a combination video presentation and small group discussion. The book, "Surprised by Faith," will be the textbook for this course.

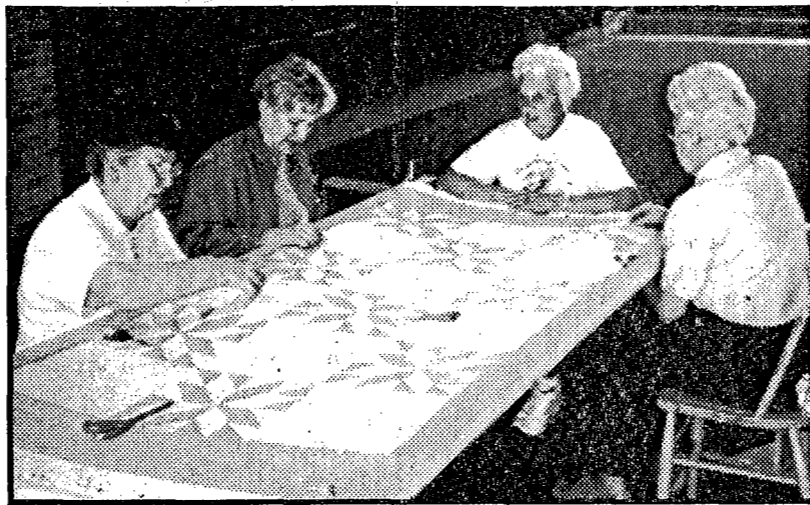

"Romp Through Romans" will be offered on Tuesday mornings at 9:30 a.m. and evenings at 7:30 p.m. beginning on Sept. 18. This will be a two-part adult study. The first portion will involve learning how to study the Bible in a way that will help understanding of its message and open the hearts of those to the voice of God. Following that, the lessons learned will be applied to an intensive study of St. Paul's theological masterpiece, "Romans."

A three-session New Member Class will begin on Sunday, Sept. 16. This two-hour class will be held Sunday afternoons from 4 to 6 p.m.

"We invite you to Our Savior Lutheran Church, where our doors are wide open to all people," Pastor Ruffcorn said.

For more information concerning these opportunities and to register for any of these classes, contact the church office at (402) 375-2899.

Auction at Carol Joy Holling sets new record

A record breaking 301 quilts were sold at the 13th annual Carol Joy Holling Camp Quilt Auction near Ashland.

Our Savior Lutheran Church Sewing Group in Wayne donated five quilts and one crocheted afghan for the auction. Over 750 people came on Aug. 4 to enjoy the sunny weather, quilts, fellowship and camp activities.

Larsen & Associates Auctioneers of Cordova auctioned 241 quilts and 60 more were sold on a silent auction. Total proceeds from the auction, lunch and concessions set another record of $64,182.31. Quilts, donated by church organizations, quilters groups and individuals from across Nebraska and neighboring states, sold from $20 to $4,400. Two antique quilts and a quilt rack were also sold. The seventh and final cedar chest, made by Fritz Grueber of Nelson, was auctioned for $4,100.

Proceeds from the auction help provide the staff and programming for the summer camp sessions at Carol Joy Holling. The Carol Joy Holling Quilt Auction is held annually on the first Saturday in August. The 2002 quilt auction will take place Aug. 3.

Carol Joy Holling Camp is owned and operated by Nebraska Lutheran Outdoor Ministries. NLOM is a serving arm of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, Nebraska Synod.

Youth from Our Savior attending a few days to a week of camp at Carol Joy Holling Camp this summer included Christina Roberts, Ian Webster, Courtney Preston, Samantha Dunklau, Brandon Karel, Shannon Connolly and Megan Stalling.

Concert planned

In observance of Rally Sunday on Sept. 9, the First United Methodist Church of Wayne is planning a concert that afternoon at Bressler Park in Wayne. The quartet "Grateful Heart" will be performing around 1-1:30 p.m. There will be a freewill offering. The concert is open to the public. The quartet has been in exist-tence for around four years and consists of Rod Arant, first tenor; Jeff Wilson, lead tenor; and Gareth Boehr, baritone and handles many of the management duties, all live in Omaha with their families; and Eric Davidson, bass singer who lives by Lincoln with his family.

The Principal's Office

by Dr. Don Zeiss, Wayne High Principal

In recent years, much national, state and local attention has been given to the intense pressures that put our children at risk for alcohol and other drug use, addictions, violence, sexual diseases, pregnancy and emotional hardships.

Wayne High School is pleased to offer the School Community Intervention Program (SCIP) to assist students and parents who are experiencing the pressures that stand in the way of a student's academic success.

Your SCIP team is trained to identify, intervene and connect students and parents to support when your child is at risk for academic difficulties. Through a confidential process, the SCIP team can assist by gathering information about your child's behavior. The team will help you develop a plan to assist your child.

The four components of SCIP include:
Identification — Teachers, students, parents and administrators can refer to the SCIP team students show problematic behaviors. Information is gathered about the student's behaviors. The SCIP team then reviews the information and determines possible strategies to assist the student.

Intervention — is a meeting with students, parents or both to discuss the problem and seek possible sources of help.

Connection — is when the SCIP team assists the student and/or parents with school support, information regarding a free assessment at a community agency or other area community resources which assist families.

Student Support — follows up with the student by implementing a plan to assist them in academic success.

If you have any questions, please call the school office (375-3150) or any of the SCIP team members listed below. SCIP cares about your student and wishes the best for them in the 2001-02 school year.

Sincerely,

The SCIP Team

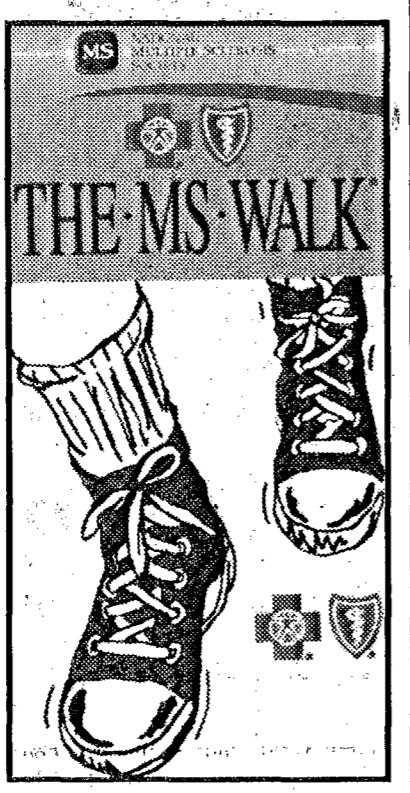

Dr. Don Zeiss, Principal, Duane Blomenkamp, Kathy Fink, Brad Weber, Kathryn Ley, Terry Munson and Terri Hype

HIGH CHOLESTEROL PATIENTS:

Bayer Pharmaceutical Division voluntarily withdrew BAYCOL® (cerivastatin) from the U.S. market on August 8th because of reports of sometimes fatal rhabdomyolysis, a severe adverse reaction in the muscles from this cholesterol-lowering product. Rhabdomyolysis is a condition that results in muscle cell breakdown and release of the muscle cells into the bloodstream. In rare cases the muscle injury is so severe that patients develop renal failure and other organ failure, which can be fatal. Symptoms of rhabdomyolysis include muscle pain, weakness, tenderness, malaise, fever, dark urine, nausea and vomiting. Contact your physician if any of these symptoms apply to you.

Firefighter grant is awarded

The Wayne Volunteer Fire Department will receive a grant for personal protective equipment under the Federal Emergency Management Agency's (FEMA)

Assistance to Firefighters Grant Program, according to Representative Doug Bereuter.

The fire department will receive $3,955 of the approved amount for a $4,395 project. The fire department will provide $440.

FEMA awarded 320 fire departments across the United States more than $15.3 million in grants in a fourth round of awards under the Assistance to Firefighters Programs.

More than $11.5 million of the funds are to be used for personal protective equipment, $826,549 for wellness and fitness programs, $108,465 for fire prevention, $742,468 for vehicles and $2.1 million for firefighting equipment. More grants in both categories will be announced in coming weeks. The grants, which were authorized last year by Congress, can be awarded for training, firefighting vehicles, firefighting equipment, personal protective equipment, wellness and fitness programs and fire prevention programs.

New director named

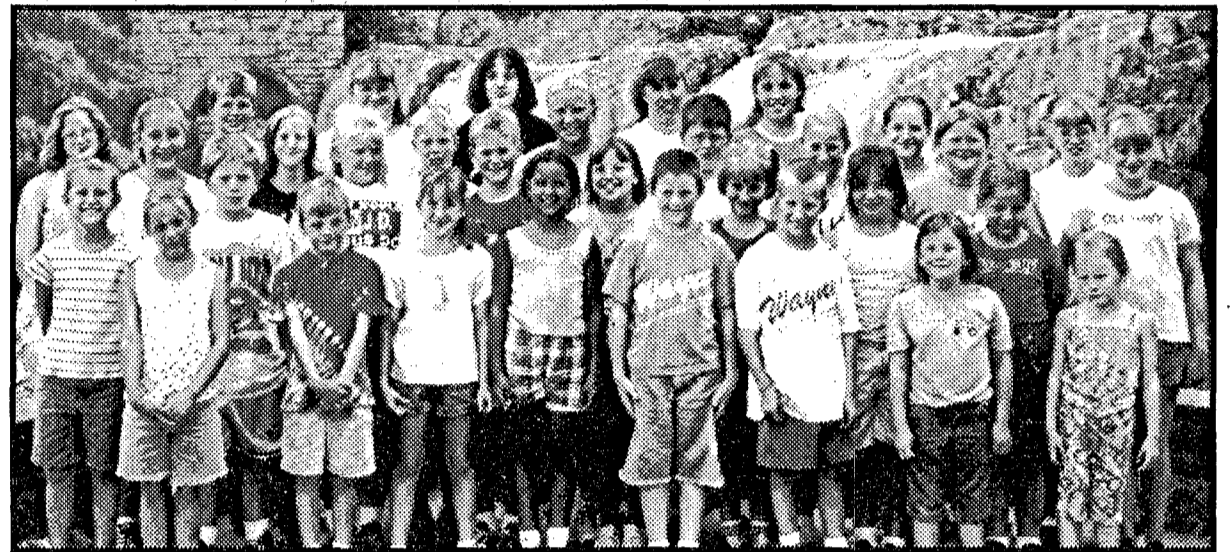

Ducks Unlimited (DU), recently named Holly Long of Memphis, TN, as the new Regional Director for eastern Nebraska. Long is the first female Regional Director in the 64-year history of the conservation organization.

Long has worked at Ducks Unlimited's national headquarters in Memphis for nine years, most recently as the product manager of event merchandise. Long began her career with DU as a field operations coordinator, serving as a liaison between DU headquarters and Regional Directors in the field.

Regional Directors work with DU volunteers to organize committees, chapters, banquets, and other fundraising events within a specified area. Ducks Unlimited currently employs 90 regional directors across the United States.

Long will work with Ducks Unlimited chapters in eastern Nebraska, where she replaces Joe Hyland, who retired after 18 years as a DU Regional Director.

Several piano students of Mrs. Marcile Uken visited Sioux Falls, S.D. on their annual summer field trip.

The group spent time at the Out Door Campus on the hiking trails and on the playground. While at the campus, the group did outdoor cooking, making their noon meal.

The next stop was the noon concert at the Old Court House Museum where they were entertained with a trio group singing folk music.

The group then rode the Sioux Falls trolley to Falls Parks where they viewed the falls which give Sioux Falls its name as well as some of the first buildings built in Sioux Falls.

The trolley then took the group to the Washington Pavilion of Arts & Science. Here the students were given a science demonstration and then did many hands on activities that are available at the pavilion. They then went to the CineDome Theater where "Thrill Rides" was the movie being shown.

Following this the group went to the Royal Fork Buffet for their evening meal before returning to Wayne.

Students making the trip included Bethany Barelman, Ben, Lauryn and Zac Braun, Ben Bruflat, Elizabeth Brummond, Kaitlyn and Morgan Centrone, Caitlin, Carissa and Carly Fehringer (of Winnebago), Stephanie Klein of Wakefield, Amanda and Ashley Kudrna, Griffin Knotwell, Alyssa Lundahl and Ally, Cassidy and Sadie Miller (all of Wakefield), Karie and Kelly Mitchell, Hannah Mitiku, Jessica Monahan, John and Michelle Murray, Jacob Pulfer, Burgandy Roberts, Faye Roeber and Lisa Temme.

Parents accompanying the group were David and Jerrae Braun, Alan and Madge Bruflat, Michael Centrone, Shelly Fehringer, Audrea Klassen, Diane Lundahl of Laurel, Angela and Dan Miller of Wakefield, Kathy Mitchell, Linda Murray, Christie Roberts and Diane Roeber.

Feel 'casual Fridays' too casual

I can't believe it's time for Monday Night Football already! But, I've certainly enjoyed the cooler weather. We actually had an inch of rain last week, which was most welcome. The lawn has perked up a bit. I tore off a bunch of wild cucumber from the evergreens last evening. I hate that stuff.

Ironically, when I became a school nurse over 20 years ago, it was the first year the immunization law was implemented. What a headache it was to check all those cards and dates. They got lost in the health offices, and turned up in strange places. This year, a second MMR is due. And, in spite of numerous notices in the paper and school newsletters, there will be kids kept out of school because they aren't compliant. I'm disappointed I have to deal with that again.

At the time I left the hospital, we were all wearing pants. I remember the first one in the worn out several pair of navy Naturalizers. So, the question of what to wear came up and the orientation for Lincoln Schools. We were told to wear "cool," including long shorts and sandals. And, on Fridays, jeans.

When I was helping at Ashland Clinic, I wore white there on Friday and found the other staff in jeans. Many of the nursing homes in this area also allow jeans on Friday. It blows my mind!

To me, casual Friday does not mean jeans. And, the hospice office does not sanction them. I think health care staff in jeans looks plain tacky. And, I won't be wearing shorts in the school health offices.

I know, I'm old fashioned. I still believe our actions reflect our clothes. When school administrators have to ban spaghetti straps and bare midriffs, I wonder where parents are.

The other item I won't be wearing is a long skirt. I know, with bare legs it's cool. But it gets in your way! Nice for special events, but not for work.

Needless to say, they will know this old fuddy-duddy when she subs: closed-toe shoes, hose, navy slacks, coordinated top. But, when they look at the grey hair, they'll know "she's seen it all before!"

place. It caused quite a stir. But our uniforms were all white. Now, they are "scrubs," in all colors.

Mr. Mills at the service unit said we should look like nurses. So, we wore white tops and navy pants. White slacks in and out of cars, hauling equipment, were just not practical.

In home health care, the dress code was basically more of the same: navy and white. So, when I started this job, 10 years ago in July, I continued with the same basic scheme. Plus, Tabitha requires no open-toed shoes when caring directly for patients. I've

Web-based services are updated

Wayne State College Network and Technology Services (NATS) has announced the creation of a new Website that supplies a virtual campus effect relative to technology access. The Virtual Campus website centralizes past college Web resources as well as makes other resources available globally.

The project expands areas available to all off-campus students, faculty, staff and administration computer users for access to their data files. A network drive and a shared directory are now available through this Website.

"Virtual Campus removes some of the walls and barriers that often face students as they complete their college work," said Dennis Linster, WSC chief information officer.

E-mail access is made available easily from Virtual Campus.

Conn Library has, in the past, helped provide remote access to library databases. That access is now centrally located on Virtual Campus.

Students and faculty can now go to Virtual Campus and gain access without jumping around a variety of websites.

The newly released Web For Students and the Web for Faculty Products from Administrative Systems are highlighted on the Virtual Campus page as well. Virtual Campus will be updated on a regular basis. The URL for Virtual Campus is: <https://wildcat.wsc.edu/virtual-campus/>.

Special graduate

Cory Tomlinson, son of Donna and Rich Roland, received his diploma at an Open House of family and friends at the Allen Fire Hall on July 27. Darlene Fahrenholz served as Master of Ceremonies for the event. Speaking about Cory's accomplishments were John Werner, Linda Roth, and Darlene Roberts. Dan Hamil, superintendent of Allen Consolidated Schools, presented Cory with an Allen diploma.

ORDINANCE NO. 2001-11

AN ORDINANCE CREATING WATER EXTENSION DISTRICT NO. 2001-1 OF THE CITY OF WAYNE, NEBRASKA; ESTABLISHING THE OUTER BOUNDARIES OF THE DISTRICT; DESIGNATING THE SIZE, LOCATION AND TERMINAL POINTS OF WATER MAINS AND WATER LINES WITHIN SAID DISTRICT; AND REFERRING TO PLANS AND SPECIFICATIONS AND COST ESTIMATES AS PREPARED BY THE ENGINEER IN CONNECTION THEREWITH AND ON FILE WITH THE CITY CLERK.

Section 1. The Mayor and Council of the City of Wayne, Nebraska, hereby find and determine that it is necessary and advisable to extend the municipal sanitary sewer system beyond the existing system by the construction of sanitary sewer mains and sanitary sewer lines and appurtenant improvements and that for the purpose of constructing said sanitary sewer mains and related improvements, there is hereby created Sanitary Sewer Extension District No. 2001-1 of the City of Wayne, pursuant to authority granted in Section 19-2402, R.R.S. Neb. 1997, as amended.

Section 2. The outer boundaries of Sanitary Sewer Extension District No. 2001-1 shall consist of a tract of land located in Wayne County, Nebraska, being described as follows:

A tract of land located in the South Half of Lots 1, 2, and 3, Moore's Subdivision to the City of Wayne and a tract of land located in the Southeast Quarter of the Northwest Quarter and the North Half of the Southwest Quarter all in Section 7, Township 26 North, Range 4 East of the 6th P.M., Wayne County, Nebraska, more particularly described as follows:

Commencing at the Southwest corner of Lot 1 of said Moore's Subdivision; thence North 190 feet on the West line of said Lot 1; thence East parallel with and 190 feet North of the North line of Grainland Road to a point on the West line of said Knoll's Subdivision; thence South 190 feet on the West line of said Knoll's Subdivision to a point on the North line of Grainland Road; thence continuing South with the extension of the West line of said Knoll's Subdivision to a point 190 feet South of the South line of Grainland Road; thence West parallel with and 190 feet South of the South line of Grainland Road to a point on the Southerly extension of the West line of Lot 1 of said Moore's Subdivision; thence North on the Southerly extension of the West line of said Lot 1 to the Point of Beginning.

The size, location and terminal points of the sanitary sewer mains, sanitary sewer lines and other appurtenances in said District shall consist of the following:

The proposed sanitary sewer improvements consists of the installation of an 8-inch diameter sanitary sewer main and all necessary appurtenances thereto on Grainland Road from a point approximately 278 feet west of the west right-of-way line of Maple Street to a point approximately 568 feet west.

Section 3. Reference is hereby made to the plans and specifications for said sanitary sewer extensions, which have been prepared by JEO Consulting Group, Inc., special engineers for the City, and which, together with said engineers' estimate of the total cost for the proposed sanitary sewer extensions, have heretofore been filed with the City Clerk.

Section 4. The engineers' estimate of total cost for the proposed sanitary sewer extension improvements in said District is $26,000.

Section 5. The Mayor and Council hereby find and determine that none of the properties located within said District are presently served by the City's existing system of sanitary sewer service and that said District constitutes an area of land located apart and outside the area served and benefited by said system and all of the property in said District is located within the City of Wayne, Nebraska or within one mile of the corporate limits of the City of Wayne, Nebraska.

PROCEEDINGS WAYNE BOARD OF EDUCATION SPECIAL MEETING

August 13, 2001

A special meeting of the Wayne Public Schools Board of Education was held in room 202 at the high school on Monday, August 13, 2001 at 7:00 p.m. Notice of the meeting and place of agenda was published in the Wayne Herald. The purpose for the meeting was of hearing support, opposition, criticism, suggestions or observations of taxpayers to discuss the amendment of the 2000-2001 budget.

The following Board members answered roll call: Jean Blomenkamp, Bill Dickey, John Dunning, Sue Gilmore, Dennis Lipp, and Kaye Morris.

Dr. Reinert explained to board members the purpose of the amending the 2000-2001 budget. The amendment of the budget will allow the district to use $76,000 of unused budget authority to pay outstanding bills. These bills are from unbudgeted expenditures, which include technology, energy costs, snow removal and others. Some of these expenses may have been underestimated when the budget was set last year. By accessing this money, it will not increase our taxes and meets the required bills. If the money is not used, it will be carried forward to the next budget year. No action was taken by the board.

Motion to adjourn at 7:10 p.m. Motion carried.

This special meeting was followed at 7:10 p.m. with the regular meeting.

VFW FLAG RAISING CEREMONY
The Veteran of Foreign Wars Post and Auxiliary sponsored the Flag Raising ceremony to signify the beginning of another school year at the Wakefield Community School. It was held Wednesday morning, Aug. 22 at 8:15 a.m. on the east side of the elementary building.

Sundell. Rev. Susan Banholzer was the speaker providing words of encouragement as staff, students and parents begin a new school term.
Supt. Mike Moody introduced the school staff. Members of the Boy Scout Troop raised the flag and lead the Pledge of Allegiance. The Trojan Band played the National Anthem.
The color guard was provided by the VFW Post and Auxiliary. Students in the sixth grade rang the old school bell to announce the beginning of classes.

NEW TEACHERS
Kevin Roberts will teach English as a Second Language at the secondary level and also coach some junior high sports. Kevin is originally from Pender and taught and coached in the Pender School system. He also spent three years as an instructor at the Juvenile Detention Center when it was located in Wayne. He earned his education degree at Wayne State College.

Kevin, his wife Christie and two daughters, Burgandy, eight, and Lindsey, three, live in Wayne. Christie is employed at Sav-Mor Drug in Wayne.
Roberts replaces Mollie Spieker, who resigned this spring.
Amanda Replogle will be one of the first grade teachers this year. Kathy Muller has moved from first grade to Kindergarten, following the resignation of Sara Jaixen. Originally from Vermillion, SD, she received her bachelor's degree in Early Childhood education from SD State at Brookings and in elementary education from Dakota State at Madison. She also has a master degree in education from Northeastern State at Tahouquah, Okla.

Last year she taught first grade at Walthill.
Her husband, Seth, is an offensive line coach at Wayne State College and the couple lives in Wayne.

Brouwer, an elementary teacher at Lawton-Bronson, Iowa, was chosen from the Sioux City store nominees.
Along with the recognition, each teacher will receive a $500 check to be spent for needs in their respective classrooms.

SET RECORDS

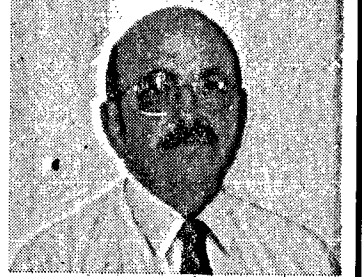

A record breaking 301 quilts were sold at the 13th annual Carol Joy Holling Camp Quilt Auction near Ashland. Over 750 people came on Aug. 4 to enjoy the sunny weather, beautiful quilts, fellowship and camp activities.
Total proceeds from the auction, lunch and concessions set another record of $64,182.31. Quilts, donated by church organizations, quilters groups and individuals from across Nebraska and neighboring states, sold from $20 to $4,400. The auction also featured the sale of two antique quilts and a quilt rack.

The seventh and final cedar chest, made by Fritz Grueber of Nelson, was auctioned for $4,100. The day was named "Fritz Grueber Day" at the Carol Joy Holling Camp in honor of the years of service and support that Fritz has given to the camp.
Guests also enjoyed camp tours, boating, fishing, hayrack rides and swimming. Proceeds from the auction help provide the staff and programming for the summer camp sessions at Carol Joy Holling.
The Carol Joy Holling Quilt Auction is held annually on the first Saturday in August. The 2002 quilt auction will take place Aug. 3.

Another Way Some Cholesterol-Fighting Medicines Work

We have known that lovastatin and the other "statin" medicines reduce cholesterol levels by decreasing cholesterol production in the liver. A study described in The New England Journal of Medicine describes another way that statin medicines may reduce the risk of heart disease - even in persons who have normal levels of "bad" cholesterol.

An elevated blood level of C-reactive protein, or CRP, is a risk factor for heart disease. This protein increases with inflammation, which plays a key role in hardening and narrowing of the arteries. In a study of almost 6,000 persons, CRP levels were monitored. Those persons with high CRP levels yet relative low levels of the type of cholesterol associated with heart disease (LDL) were found to enjoy a 42% decrease in heart disease risk when given lovastatin.
