Community Theatre month honored

In honor of Community Theatre Month in the State of Nebraska, the following information has been provided about community theatre in Wayne.

The Wayne Community Theatre was first organized in 1937 when the community of Wayne developed the Wayne Players. This group met, read plays and held workshops on various aspects of the performing arts. The Wayne Players performed numerous shows over the years staged at the Wayne Auditorium. Even in the early years, one of the long range goals was creating a theatre of their own. For a few years the Wayne Players dissolved and Wayne was without a community theatre. Then, in the early 1970's, a group of interested people came together and brought the theatre back to life.

In the early 1990's a dream of Ted Blenderman began to take shape in what used to be a Carriage House and then the Chevrolet garage and later part of the Mineshaft Mall.

The area was rented and renovation started on what was to become the Carriage House Theatre. Hundreds of hours of labor were donated by several people, but the majority was done by Ted Blenderman and Dave Headley.

A number of plays were done there until this last spring when the roof began to fail.

"This being an old building, the fire marshal and state electrical inspectors were called in by the city to come and inspect the building. It was found to cost too much for the present owner to renovate up to current building standards for theatre occupancy and the theatre had to move out," said Mick Kempy current president of the Theatre's Board of Directors.

The Wayne Community Theatre board of directors is currently in search of a new location to call home to the Carriage House Theatre. The group has looked at several buildings in town and have considered possibly building a new facility from scratch. They would very much like to be able to put on dinner shows again.

"Many of our patrons have been asking for this and hopefully our new home will be able to accommodate that. We are a

Public invited for technology open house

The public is welcome to attend an open house to honor Wayne State and Wayne Middle School students involved in modular technology lab study on Thursday, Nov. 1 from 6:30 to 9 p.m. in Benthack Hall, room 126 on the north side of the building. Refreshments will be provided.

Industrial technology education students who gained experience with local seventh and eighth grade students in a modular technology lab setting will be available to talk with parents and the public.

WSC students were under the direction of Greg Vander Weil, assistant professor of applied science. Vander Weil said the project was successful because of a strong partnership with the local school system. The project was funded by a WSC instructional improvement grant.

The modules of study included using a plastics injection molder, to make screw drivers, becoming involved with computer desktop publishing, using a digital camera, designing and screen printing their own artwork on a t-shirt, using precision measurement to make a key ring on the wood lathe, programming a computer to carve their initials out of wax and experiencing structural engineering by building a truss to be stress tested.

Pilot reflects on airline changes

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

Located far from the east coast, attacks on the World Trade Center and the Pentagon have not directly affected many Nebraskans. One resident, Brian Nelson of Wayne, commercial airline pilot for Sun Country Airlines of Minneapolis, Minn. is having to cope with changes in the airline industry.

After the attacks, Nelson had to drive to Minneapolis to get to work rather than ride in cockpit courtesy seats aboard local planes as he had before. All cockpit privileges were discontinued. Now, some airlines are allowing pilots to travel in courtesy seats again and some crew can request to go along but have to ride in the back of the planes.

Also, charter work was increased at Sun Country while scheduled flights were decreased and some were cancelled to certain cities. At first, service was limited to Boston, New York and the Los Angeles areas.

Within a week after the attacks, Nelson notes hardly anyone was in the Minneapolis airport. Now, business has picked up and they are doing a better job of sending people through security.

Brian Nelson of Wayne, a commercial airline pilot for Sun Country Airlines of Minneapolis, Minn., is shown in the cockpit of one of the airplanes he flew to Cancun, Mexico recently and he is also shown standing on the ground by the plane.

This is to bring you a subtle reminder about the Dec. 2 "Holidazzle-Puttin' on the Glitz." The event is open to everyone and anyone. Black tie is optional and we would love to have you come and spend a festive holiday evening with us. There will be holiday music and entertainment, hors d'oeuvres, valet parking, a drawing for two "grand" grand prizes and more. On Dec. 6 is the Parade of Lights, Living Windows, Santa, great store specials and more. You'll be receiving, hearing and reading more about this evening later. (Remember what I said about advertising!). Until next time...

Capital News

The world has changed

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

The twin towers of the World Trade Center fell and Americans began to think, and say, that the world had changed.

At first, it might have seemed this change meant that, now, sinister people would do the sorts of things in America that they had been doing for generations in the Middle East. And Northern Ireland. And other places that most of us couldn't find on an unmarked map, but whose names popped up on the nightly news every so often.

We thought about bombs of various sorts. Assassinations. For those who dwell in the middle of the country it seemed that all these dark doings would mean changes in America, but most noticeably in other, metropolitan parts of the country.

The fact is that the collapse of those skyscrapers marked the end of something. It seems to have marked the end, finally and completely, of the American sense of innocence. Or naiveté. Pick one.

How do you know an era has ended? When you realize that people will talk to their children and grandchildren in the past tense about something, or things, that previously seemed fundamental to their way of life. Things like coming and going at government buildings.

Example: That big, black gate that now surrounds the governor's mansion in Lincoln. When it went up, lots of us thought it was more silliness than anything else. Now, the governor wants to spend up to $6 million on "security" for the Capitol building.

A very short time ago such a thought would have prompted an instant reaction: "For security? In Nebraska? Get over it!"

That reaction isn't so automatic these days. And that's the tip of that fundamental change. The body of it lies in how we will talk to children, or reminisce amongst ourselves, about what used to be. "Okay, sweetheart. Let's just wait here until they open the gate so that we can go on the tour. You know what? When I was little we used to just walk right up to the governor's house and ring the doorbell! Yeah! We did. Heck, you could go over there to the Capitol and just walk into almost any office."

There will be anecdotes, too. "One time your grandpa and I were going down the hall in the Statehouse, and the chief justice of the state Supreme Court walked out of his office. We said 'Hello!' and he stopped and talked to us. Now, they've got that whole part of the building sealed off."

The seminal change these things make in society is not reflected in locked doors, or bullet proof glass, or cameras all over the place. It has to do with how they change the way people think.

People who go through fences and past armed guards, people who know they are "on camera" in a public place, people who grow up seeing that there is a "safe zone" and a "danger zone" for some officials, and that the safe zone is away from the citizenry, are people who will have a worldview that, in part, is much different from that of the baby boomers.

When you realize that when Americans contemplate visiting some building, or attending some event, they will subconsciously be calculating a risk factor as well, you know that things have changed. An era has ended.

Thanks given to disaster volunteers

Dear Editor,

On behalf of the staff at Providence Medical Center, I would like to extend sincere appreciation to all those who have willingly and enthusiastically committed their time and talents as hospital volunteers in case of disaster in our regional community. Special thanks to those individuals who were able to attend our disaster drill last week. We had an amazing turnout of people who were truly interested in learning about the disaster process at our facility and helping us to make it better.

The drill enabled us to acquaint volunteers with the facility and the job assignments they would be given in the case of a disaster. It also provided us the opportunity to see where our Disaster Plan needed revision and improvement to adequately and efficiently integrate the volunteers. We learned a great deal, and again, are very grateful to the volunteers. The comments and suggestions provided are invaluable to us.

One lesson we learned is that we need more volunteers from Wayne and the surrounding area. If you're interested in serving our community as a volunteer, please contact me at (402) 375-7997. We need health care professionals as well as people from other walks of life to answer phones, direct in-house traffic, register volunteers and visitors, deliver messages and a variety of other functions.

Thanks again. Our prayer, of course, is that we will never need the services of our volunteers. It's great to know that we live in an area where people are willing to be ready if called upon to help.

Director of Risk Management

Clinic to open satellite office

Midwest Health Partners, P.C. will be opening a clinic in Wayne in mid-November.

The clinic will be located at 114 West Third Street in Wayne and will be staffed by Kevin Harm, A.P.R.N. and several others.

Harm has been employed by Midwest Health Partners in Norfolk since August of 2000. The group has been looking to expand its services to other areas of northeast Nebraska.

The clinic plans to be open from 3 to 9 p.m. weekdays, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturdays and from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Sundays. Patients will be treated on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Harm received his bachelor's degree in nursing from Mount Marty College in Yankton, S.D. in 1996 and the worked in occupational medicine at Excel in Schuyler for one year.

He then entered the graduate program through Clarkson Hospital in Omaha and earned his Master of Science in Nursing degree in April of 2000. He is currently a nurse practitioner with Midwest Health Partners.

A nurse practitioner is a registered nurse who has advanced education and clinical training in a health care specialty area.

Nurse Practitioners practice under the rules and regulations of the Nurse Practice Act of the state in which they work.

"As a nurse practitioner, I work on education and prevention, as well as treating illnesses and injuries," Harm said.

He is licensed by the Board of Nursing and has prescription authority. He will consult with physicians and other health professionals as needed.

The clinic in Wayne will be able to provide well-baby checks, manage stable conditions, provide child and women's check ups, be able to provide sutures and casting as well as completing laboratory work.

The office plans to have a bilingual receptionist and nurses to accommodate all patients in the area.

Dixon First Responders recognized

Dixon First Responders, located in Dixon County, was honored by The Prudential Insurance Company of America for acquiring portable cardiac defibrillators through The Prudential Helping Hearts Program.

The rescue squad received a $1,000 grant from Prudential to help defray the cost of the defibrillation unit. The presentation took place at the Dixon Community Auditorium.

The Prudential Helping Hearts Program is a grant-making initiative designed to help speed the acquisition of portable cardiac defibrillation units by volunteer rescue squads and fire departments. Defibrillators, which administer jolts of electricity to "reset" the heart's natural rhythm, have been called one of the most important lifesaving inventions of the 20th century.

Mike Vrieze, an IFS representative for Prudential in Sioux City, Iowa, addressed squad members and praised them for their initiative. "Prudential commends you for your tireless efforts to help the residents of your communities. We applaud your selfless volunteerism and are pleased to be able to help you acquire this life-saving machine."

Each year, approximately 250,000 Americans suffer sudden cardiac failure and die before reaching a hospital, according to the American Heart Association. Studies have shown that on-site defibrillation more than doubles a victim's chances of survival.

Kicked off in New Jersey on Feb. 14, 1994, the Helping Hearts program has been providing defibrillator grants to volunteer EMS squads for the past five years. At the end of 2000, nearly 2,400 squads nationwide have qualified non-profit organization and totally volunteer run," Kemp said.

The Wayne Carriage House Theatre has been used by many community organizations over the years. The Wayne Chicken Show, the 4-H style show and speech contest, local piano recitals, church groups, Red Cross, Wayne State College, Wayne High School, several local businesses and many others.

Annually the Wayne Community Theatre provides several events for the community. Generally a Spring and Fall production and our annual summer musical are performed.

"At Christmas time, we host a 'Visit with Santa' and during the summer we have a children's theatre workshop which allows children grades two through eight the opportunity to learn about theater and put on a play. We also offer our help to the High School for their One Act and Musical and to the Middle School for their annual play," Kemp said.

"From crews and clowns to kids and curtain controllers, hundreds of people have participated in theatre productions. Casts of two or 102, enormous amounts of hard work and dedication goes into each project of the Wayne Community Theatre. We thank the community for its past support and welcome its continued support of the organization," he added.

"We want to publicly thank the Wayne United Way for their support over the last few years. It is through their generosity and the generosity of the people of Wayne and the surrounding communities that we are able to keep Community Theatre alive," Kemp said.

Keepsake Video tapes each of the plays and each of the cast members is presented one as a thank you for all of the hard work that they put into each of the productions. A copy is also given to the library that is able to be checked out by anyone who would like to see one of the past productions.

The Community Theatre's next production will be held in January with a couple of one act comedies directed by Laura Straight. She is still in need of several cast members. Anyone interested in a part, is asked to give her a call at 375-2645. The Wayne Herald and KTCH radio station will provide more information.

"Our yearly fund drive will begin in January. We usually hold this in the fall but decided to change it to January so we did not conflict with the United Way fund drive and also to give our patrons a chance to use their patron passes for one last show. Hopefully this may also be the start of a "new building" fund drive. Please be generous to the United Way in their efforts to improve the quality of life in the Wayne area and please look for our mailing in the beginning of the new year," Kemp said.

Anyone with questions or comments about the Wayne Community Theatre, is asked to contact President Mick Kemp at 375-1936 or any of the board members — Jennifer Nelsen, Judy Nemas, Carol Niemann, Dan Baddorf, Rick Gathje, Sue Denklau, Laura Straight, Todd Young, Terri Hyspe, Ron Lofgren, John Gradwhol, Patty Wieland, Molly Spicker and Michelle Evans.

Fundraisers planned for sports facilities

By Lynn Stevers
Of The Herald

The Wayne Community Board of Education met in regular session Monday night at the high school in Wayne.

One of the first items on the agenda was discussion on the football field/track facility. It was noted that plans were underway for the Wayne Community School Foundation to start a fund raising campaign to help bring a new track facility and reworking of the football field to reality. The board decided it would be a good idea to talk over the idea with Wayne State College. More discussion will be held in future meetings.

Another topic was board goals. Accomplished from 2001-02 is progress on the Middle School, joined the Mid-States Athletic Conference, involved with the city on city recreation project, there has been student/teacher progress, new fine arts wing in high school, completed standards in two core areas, assessed Language Arts standards, $30,000 from Gardner Foundation, working on new track, updated policies, high score on reading test, closing of District 51, new SPED rules-education of staff, assisting teachers to find strategies to helping At-Risk children, approved a unique application of funding, Athletic Director becoming Assistant Principal.

Immediate board concerns: money/financial status, new computers/technology, strategic plan for track facility.

Some of the hopes the board has for the future: building a "state of finances," lifecycle technology funding, develop a foundation, fundraiser for eight-lane track/football field.

The board discussed goals that are ongoing or not started and tried to narrow them to realistic goals for now, especially with the proposed state aid cuts and a tight budget.

Also discussed was the sale of the modulars where Middle School classes have been held since construction/remodeling of the old Middle School building first started. The board plans to sell the modulars after the students and staff move into the newly reconstructed Middle School the first week of December.

No executive session was needed. A Middle School ribbon cutting/dedication ceremony is planned for Monday, Jan. 7 at 6:30 p.m. with a snow date of Sunday, Jan. 13 at 2 p.m.

The next regular meeting will be held at the newly remodeled Middle School at 6 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 12. Planned prior to the meeting is a coffee at 5:30 p.m. honoring several local veterans who are receiving their high school diplomas through "Operation Recognition".

WSC Marching Band Cavalcade set for Oct. 27

Five bands will be involved in the Wayne State Marching Band Cavalcade, a marching band field show, Oct. 27 at 3 p.m. in WSC's Memorial Stadium.

High school bands involved in the show include Wayne, Winside, Pierce, Stanton and Seward. All bands will perform a show for evaluation by four judges.

Admission will be $3 for adults, $2 for students and children under 6 are free. A concession stand will be available for refreshments.

Pilot

In the past, Americans had been relaxed with air travel. Pilots and crew used to just knock in order to open a cockpit door. Nelson feels cock pit doors are a joke. Anyone wanting to get into the cockpit, can. Sturdier, more secure doors are needed.

Also, if attendants had trouble in the back of a plane, it was not uncommon for a pilot to go and check things out. Now, it isn't safe to leave the cockpit. The most important thing in a pilot's mind is getting the airplane back safely on the ground.

Changing too, it used to be customary to have two pilots and a flight engineer along on each trip; now there are only two pilots and if one leaves the cockpit, that only leaves one to fly the plane.

For safety reasons, there will be more scrutiny in who is buying tickets and who is flying. "There has always been a red flag if someone buys a one way ticket with cash," Nelson said. "With international flying, there are bag matches and this will take place on domestic flights. Soon, airplanes won't move without instant bag matches replacing the traditional baggage claim procedures."

There has been a controversy on government air traffic control. Nelson can see the FAA more interested with security and independent contractors who do screening now. Screening has always been a weak link in the system but its staff hasn't been under scrutiny until now.

Nelson feels flight members have always been scrutinized when boarding but passengers haven't been checked good enough. Until Sept. 11, passengers could carry 4 inch or less knives, box cutters, etc. but that has changed.

As for armed marshals aboard planes, Nelson said the crew has always known when FBI agents, etc. are traveling along. Agents provide forms letting them know they're aboard with guns, even on pleasure trips. Nelson feels undercover armed marshals are good but armed pilots would be bad because if anyone wanted to get into the cockpit, they would have access to a weapon.

Thinking back, "What happened on Sept. 11 should come as no surprise to people, years back a disgruntled Federal Express pilot who had been fired tried to overcome the flight crew of a company DC 10 with a spear gun and a hammer," Nelson said. The intent of the Federal Express pilot was to crash into corporate headquarters of the Federal Express building.

Remembering Sept. 11, "It was interesting," Nelson said. "I was in the simulator training center in Minneapolis and had just finished engine fire simulated training. None of the current training procedures could have prepared us for what had just happened."

Nelson is not fearful to fly because he refuses to let terrorists win by making him feel that way. But, he's more cautious. Terrorist groups have been around a long time and they're always testing to find weak links. By finding and destroying encampments, paper trails, etc., terrorists see we're watching which will dampen their spirits but won't stop them. It takes vigilance. He notes Homeland security is good but we can't let down our guard because they will be there ready to do something.

According to airport rules on Sept. 11, what the terrorists did was not illegal; they had proper ID and went through security. They used what they had and took over airplanes. Nelson said passengers and the public can help by watching and reporting unusual behavior but they should not pick on a certain race because of the Sept. 11 attacks.

Personally, "I feel bad for Islamic and Muslims in this country who may be chastised because of the attacks," Nelson said. "I travel a lot internationally so I am around them all of the time. We should try to not be prejudiced."

Overall, Nelson said nothing in the airline industry will ever be the same again. But, we are creatures of habit and we may get complacent again.

Members of the Wayne Blue Devils Marching Band performed at Seacrest Field in Lincoln on Saturday, earning a Superior rating for the 13th year in a row.

Band receives superior

The Wayne High School Blue Devil Marching Band traveled to Lincoln on Oct. 20 to participate in the Nebraska State Band Association's State Marching Band Competition held at Seacrest Field.

The Blue Devil Marching Band received a Superior rating and trophy again this year. This is the 13th year in a row that the band has received a Superior rating at the State Marching Band Competition.

There were 15 marching bands competing in Class B. Of those, five bands received a Superior rating, nine bands received Excellent ratings and one band received a good rating.

"Thanks to all the adults who helped sponsor the buses to Lincoln. Thanks also to the Cadet Band for all their help loading, unloading and moving equipment before, during and after the performance," said Brad Weber, Direct of the Blue Devil Band.

He went on to thank Dennis and Kathy Mitchell and Gerald and Sharon Grimm for driving the equipment, trucks. Keith Kopperud, Dennis Jensen and Robin Stauffer for following the band through its warm-up stations and helping with tuning and minor repairs.

"Thanks to Ann Ruwe, president of the Wayne-Carroll Music Boosters and the group for all of its support. Thanks to Pac 'N' Save, Pamida and Bomgaars for supplying treats for the goodie bags that were given to the band students on the bus trip," Weber said.

Appreciation was also extended to all the parents, relatives and friends who followed the band to Lincoln and cheered for them, with special thanks to all the ex-Wayne High Band members who were at the competition to support the Wayne High Band.

"Your time, effort and support are greatly appreciated," Weber said.

The Blue Devil Marching Band will be participating in the Cavalcade of Bands Marching Competition on Saturday, Oct. 27 at Memorial Stadium on the Wayne State campus. Wayne High School marches at 3:45 p.m. with the awards being presented following their performance.

Funding helps in number of ways

The following is a report of one of the agencies that are partially supported by United Way funds. October is United Way Month.

The Wayne Senior Center is located in the Robert and Mary Benthack Library/ Senior Center building at 410 Pearl Street. The 13,000 square foot building is evenly divided between the two uses.

The Senior Center has a large activity space/ dining hall, a lounge and a separate food service area. A billiards room and room designated for quilting are also housed in the Senior Center.

The Senior Center programs and services are funded by various sources which include: Title IIIC and IIIB funded through the Northeast Nebraska Area Agency on Aging, Public Transportation Assistance funded through the Department of Roads, participants' contributions, United Way, other donations and the City of Wayne.

The programs and services offered at the Senior Center are a major asset. The participation is a growing concern. The numbers are slightly decreased from last year with the harsh winter and the assisted living programs available, when looking at statistics on a monthly basis.

The 'out reach' units are directly influencing the participation in the other programs and services offered. The United Way donations assist with the expenses involved with the 'out reach' program.

"The support from the United Way is greatly appreciated," said Tracy Keating, Senior Center Coordinator.

The main programs and services offered include: congregate meals, home-delivered meals, transportation services, health services and social and leisure activities. A monthly newsletter is produced and distributed to area citizens.

The following are statistics on the clients served last year: Congregate meals — 9,545; Home-delivered meals — 4,930; Handi-van one way trips — 8,902. Over 350 people used the Wayne Senior Center in one year, in one capacity or another.

"The Senior Center is a great place to renew old friendships and to make new ones," Mrs. Keating said.

Testing technology

Wayne boys capture school's first State Cross Country Title

By Kevin Peterson
Of the Herald

The Wayne boys cross country team completed a perfect season in Kearney last Friday with the school's first ever boys state cross country championship.

Rocky Ruhl's Blue Devils went through the entire season unscathed and was one of just two teams in the entire state to be undefeated—sharing the honor with Class A's Omaha Benson.

Wayne's sensational six-some completed the 5,000 meter course with 53 points—edging runner-up Minden by eight.

Preseason number one pick Centennial, finished third with 72 points while Elkhorn Mt. Michael was fourth with 86 points.

Wahoo Neumann finished fifth with 94 while Gordon was sixth with 96 points. The rest of the 12 teams finished in the order of Ord, Wood River, Fairbury, Chase County, O'Neill and Hastings St. Cecilia.

Wayne's senior dominated team was led by Devin Bethune—last year's individual state champ, who placed 12th in 17:46.9 over the 3.1 mile trek.

Nick Lipp was 16th in 17:57.4 and lone freshman Bryan Fink was 19th in 18:05.9. Brad Hansen placed 26th in 18:24.2.

Jeff Pippitt was clocked in 19:18.7 and Tony Carollo finished in 19:29.5.

"Winning State was the culmination of a perfect, unbeaten season," coach Rocky Ruhl said. "We were favored along with Centennial to win State and that alone can sometimes be the Kiss of Death. "I have never had a group more focused on what they wanted to accomplish. Most of the guys were here last year when we thought we were going to win it all," Ruhl added.

"This year the attitude was merely to do what you can do as a runner and the race will play out."

Ruhl said he felt the race would be toughest for Bryan Fink since he was just a freshman.

"Not that Bryan wouldn't have a great race but traditionally speaking across the board, freshman boys do not fare well at State."

Fink however, defied some of that tradition by placing 19th overall, the highest of any freshman at the meet.

"Jeff Pippitt and Tony Carollo did what was asked of them by beating number four and five runners from Centennial," Ruhl said. "Nick Lipp saved his best for last by running number two for us at State. He pushed it all the way knowing that Bryan and Brad were struggling some."

Ruhl said Brad Hansen fought more than the course through the 5,000 meters—he fought his body. "He gave it everything he had and spent some time in the First Aid tent to prove it," Ruhl said. "Devin Bethune did not need to win the top spot for us to win this year," Ruhl added. "He had a great finish however, overtaking several runners down the stretch to earn his

Blue Devils place runner-up at conference tourney

Joyce Hoskins' Wayne volleyball team raised some eyebrows in the Blue Devils inaugural Mid-State Conference Volleyball Tournament in Madison this week.

The Blue Devils defeated Pierce in the first round and upended Norfolk Catholic for the second time this season in the semifinals before falling to West Point Central Catholic in the championship on Tuesday.

The 17-9 Blue Devils downed Pierce, 16-14, 15-11 on Monday, as Allison Hansen and April Thede pounded out seven kill spikes each while Kari Hochstein had five.

Allissa Dunklau tallied 21 set assists. Hochstein paced the servers with a 10-11 effort that included four aces. Jenny Raveling was 11-11 with one ace and Ashley Loberg was 9-10 while Erin Jarvi finished at 8-8.

Hochstein led the defense with four blocks. "We came out nervous but once we settled down we played well," Hoskins said.

Wayne had its way against Norfolk Catholic, 15-9, 15-7 as a well-balanced attack kept the Knights at bay.

Erin Jarvi, Allison Hansen and Kari Hochstein each had six kill spikes with April Thede notching five while Allissa Dunklau posted 27 set assists.

Ashley Loberg was 10-10 in serving with two aces with Dunklau at 11-12 with one ace and Jenny Raveling, 12-12. Jarvi led the defensive charge with three blocks with Hansen and Hochstein notching two each.

"The girls just went out and played, not worrying about making mistakes," Hoskins said. "They communicated well and everyone contributed. We really don't have a go-too person—we have five. I am really proud of the way we played, overall."

Hoskins also commented that Stacie Hoeman did a nice job of coming in off the bench and contributing in the victory.

Wayne fell to West Point Central Catholic in the championship, 15-9, 15-9.

April Thede had six kill spikes to lead Wayne with Kari Hochstein and Allison Hansen notching five each and Erin Jarvi, three.

Allissa Dunklau tallied 19 set assists with Jarvi leading the servers at 10-10 with two aces. Hansen was 9-10 with one ace.

"We played like we were a little nervous and intimidated," Hoskins said. "However, we are not hanging out heads for being the conference runner-up in our first trip."

Last Thursday in Hartington, the Blue Devils went 1-1 in triangular play with O'Neill and Cedar Catholic.

Wayne defeated O'Neill, 15-6, 15-1 as Allison Hansen led the way with eight kill spikes while Allissa Dunklau had six and Erin Jarvi, four. Dunklau also had 24 set assists and was 8-8 in serving with one ace.

Erin Jarvi was 12-12 in serving with an ace and Kari Hochstein was 10-10 with one ace. Hansen led the defense with four blocks while April Thede and Erin Jarvi had two each.

"We came out ready to play and stayed focused through the entire match," Hoskins said.

Wayne fell to Cedar Catholic, 15-12, 10-15, 11-15. Allison Hansen pounded out 11 kill spikes and Erin Jarvi had seven while April Thede had five and Kari Hochstein, four.

Allissa Dunklau posted 27 set assists and was 16-17 in serving. Hochstein was 23-23 in serving with one ace and Jenny Raveling, 12-12 with one ace while Jarvi was 9-9.

Hansen led the defensive charge with six blocks with Jarvi netting three.

The freshman also won, 15-12, 3-15, 15-8 as Dawn Jensen scored eight points while Marisa Roney and Sarah Jensen had seven each.

Bears take NENAC title once again

Top-ranked Laurel-Concord kept their unbeaten record in tact by capturing the NENAC Conference Volleyball Tournament on Monday and Tuesday in Plainview.

Patti Cunningham's team improved to 19-0 with the three conference tourney wins including the championship on Tuesday over Elkhorn Valley, 15-8, 9-15, 16-14.

The Bears opened NENAC tourney play with a 15-5, 15-0 win over Bloomfield as Katie Peters had a team-high six kill spikes while Lani Recob and Maggie Recob had four kills each.

Tori Cunningham posted 10 set assists and Emily Schroeder led the servers at 12-12 with three aces.

Susan Pritchard, Cunningham and Lani Recob each had two aces.

The Bears pounded Randolph, 15-2, 15-11 in the semifinals with Lani Recob pounded out 13 kill spikes while Emily Schroeder notched a dozen.

Tori Cunningham finished with 28 set assists and Emily Schroeder was 16-16 in serving with five aces while Cunningham and Susan Pritchard were each 8-8.

Defensively, Schroeder had five blocks at the net including three aces while Pritchard had a team-high four digs.

"We worked very hard keeping the ball in play," Cunningham said. "We passed well and served and blocked aggressively."

In the championship match the Bears were pushed to the limit before prevailing.

Lani Recob led the way with 12 kill spikes with Emily Schroeder and Susan Pritchard each netting eight kills. Katie Peters finished with six ace hits.

Tori Cunningham posted 37 set assists and Schroeder led the way in serving with four aces while Cunningham had three.

Schroeder and Pritchard each had three blocks at the net while Cunningham led the team in digs with eight with Lani Recob adding seven.

"Our serving and receiving were not as consistent as we need them to be," Cunningham said. "Less effective passing led to less effective hitting. The team however, needs to take pride in the fact they found a way to win by working to overcome the hulls caused by passing and serving errors."

Earlier last week, the Bears defeated Ponca, 15-1, 15-3 with Emily Schroeder posting an unprecedented 1,000 kill percentage after going 7-7 with seven kills. A kill percentage in volleyball is the number of kills divided by the number of attempts.

Wayne State football coach Scott Hoffman talks strategy with quarterback Justin Burhoop.

Wildcats edged by Concordia, 14-11

Scott Hoffman's Wayne State football team slipped to 3-5 on the season and 2-4 in the Northern Sun Conference after a 14-11 setback at home against Concordia-St. Paul last Saturday afternoon.

The 'Cats took a 3-0 lead in to the second quarter as Nate Hale booted a 37-yard field goal at the 8:07 mark of the opening stanza.

On the first play of the second quarter Concordia took the lead on a one-yard run by Chris Washington and the 7-3 score stood up at the half.

The Golden Bears scored on a 31-yard pass play in the third quarter to go up 14-3 but the 'Cats refused to let up and needed just two plays to go 80 yards in the fourth quarter to draw with in three with the two-point conversion.

Justin Burhoop connected with Ryan Kuester for 70 yards and Bryce Teager did the rest on the next play with a 10-yard scoring burst.

Teager also caught the two-point pass from Burhoop.

Later in the fourth quarter WSC had the ball deep in its own territory.

On a fourth down and 19 play-call, Burhoop hooked up with Tavaris Johnson for 51 yards to put the ball at the Golden Bears 46-yard line.

On the next play, however, Burhoop was picked off to end any chance of a Wildcat comeback.

The 'Cats turned the ball over five times compared to just one for the visitors and Hoffman's troops racked up 392 yards of offense on 69 plays while Concordia at 345 yards on 73 plays.

Despite the loss, Tavaris Johnson became the all-time yards receiving leader with 2132 yards. He surpassed Kevin Swayne, who currently plays for the New York Jets.

Johnson had eight receptions in the game for 118 yards. It was the sixth time this season he went past the 100-yard receiving mark in a game.

Teager was the leading ground gainer for the 'Cats with 63 yards on 13 carries while John Ostermeyer had 30 yards on eight attempts.

Justin Burhoop was 17-34 in passing with two interceptions and 261 yards.

Besides Johnson's eight catches, Ryan Kuester had three receptions for 88 yards.

Defensively, WSC was led by Mike Baker and Kyle Lingenfelter as each racked up nine tackles with Baker recording a quarterback sack in the process.

Desmond Grace and Antonio Jackson had six tackles each. Jeremy Neill had an interception.

Concordia improved to 7-1 on the season and 5-1 in conference play and the Golden Bears entered the top 25 at the 25th position in last week's division II poll.

WSC will travel to play Southwest State on Saturday in Marshall, Minnesota with game time slated for noon.

Southwest State will enter the game with a 2-6 record and a 2-4 mark in the NSIC. The Mustangs were thumped, 49-20 last Saturday by Winona State.

12th place finish."

Ruhl said the Blue Devils began preparing for this season at the end of last cross country season. "We came into fall camp in pretty good shape," Ruhl said. "These guys are the true definition of a team. Though we were senior dominant, they allowed a freshman to play a vital role in the team's success."

Ruhl said Bryan Fink understood his role on the team and did everything he had to do to earn the respect from his senior teammates.

"This was a great team to coach," Ruhl said. "I would like to thank them for what they've done for this program—and for me."

THE WAYNE GIRLS finished 10th as a team, scoring 139 points. Columbus Scotus won the state title with 44 points with Gothenburg placing second with 46 and Boone Central, third with 69.

Lincoln Lutheran, Gordon, Fairbury, Central City, Minden, Wahoo Neumann all finished ahead of Wayne with Fillmore Central and O'Neill rounding out the 12-team field.

Amber Nelson finished 18th individually, in 16:50.2 over the 4,000-meter course.

Cali Broders was second on the team in 17:42.2 and Andrea Bethune netted a time of 17:55.0. Jessica Murtaugh finished in 18:51.2 and Leah Pickinpaugh, 19:12.8 while Jacey Klaver finished in 19:31.2.

"I thought the girls ran well," Ruhl said. "They were a little disappointed because they wanted to finish in the top half of the field but looking back over goal times, we weren't far off.

"Amber Nelson ran four seconds faster than last year at State when she was the lone competitor for us. She fought hard and tried to get a medal for us but fell just three places shy."

Ruhl said Cali Broders ran a good race and Jacey Klaver ran solid. Andrea, Jessica and Leah ran hard but the tough course and atmosphere did not allow them to run their best race.

"It was a great experience for all the girls," Ruhl said. "Four of these ladies are underclassmen which sets up well for our next season. We did accomplish our goal of qualifying for State."

Wayne offense kicks in to high gear in blowout

The Wayne High Blue Devils took no mercy Friday night with a commanding 48-12 victory on the road against Plainview.

Wayne got the fire going right away in the first minute with a 30 yard touchdown run from Ric Volk to begin the scoring barrage. Justin Davis followed with a 46 yard touchdown scamper to take a 14-0 lead into the second quarter.

Wayne's Justin Davis continued to make his presence known in the second quarter with two, 15-yard touchdown runs, before Jon Ehrhardt would catch a 33 yard touchdown reception from Ric Volk to add on to the lead. With four seconds left in the half, Justin Davis would find the endzone again with a 25 yard run to head into the locker room up 41-0.

After a scoreless third period, Wayne put the final nail in the coffin with a 99-yard touchdown run from Josh Davis (ties a school record held by Rusty Hamer) to give the Blue Devils the 48-12 victory.

"We had a great first half. Our execution on offense was super. The kids are doing a good job of staying focused and they are improving with each game," said head coach John Murtaugh.

Justin Davis sparked the ground game with 174 yards on 19 attempts while Josh Davis ran for 99 yards on just two carries. Volk added 36 yards rushing and Brad Hochstein netted 35.

"I'm so proud of the character of this team. We came out of halftime with an enormous amount of fire. We had our chances to make some plays, but we came up just short. We could have quit, but didn't," said head coach David Uldrich.

Allen girls have win streak snapped by Bancroft at 18

The Lewis & Clark Conference Volleyball Tournament semifinals and championship were held in Ponca, Tuesday with a surprise ending in both divisions.

Allen was upset by Bancroft-Rosalie in the semifinals, 11-15, 16-14, 12-15 as the Eagles 18-match win streak came to a halt. Still, Denise Hingst's team sports a 20-3 record heading to sub-district play next week.

Angela Prochaska pounded out 21 kill spikes and had 18 blocks at the net including nine aces while notching 15 digs. She was also 17-18 in serving with an ace.

Alycia Stewart finished with 11 kill spikes, 11 blocks with three aces and 10 digs while also serving at 17-18 with an ace. Katie Koester tallied 37 kill assists.

"It seems the Lewis & Clark crown escapes us every year and we are capable of winning it," Hingst said. "Our season has gone very well and thought this would be the year but Bancroft-Rosalie played very well and they deserved it." Hingst said her squad still has high expectations for this season and they are looking forward to playing their best volleyball at districts.

Allen reached the semifinals with wins over Beemer, 15-2, 15-8, and Emerson-Hubbard, 15-2, 15-4 before falling to Bancroft-Rosalie.

The Eagles made quick work of the win over Beemer as Kristin Tomlinson and Kelli Rastede had three kills each to lead the way.

Rachel Strehlow had eight set assists and Katie Koester, six while Rastede was 8-8 in serving with five aces and Tomlinson, 6-6 with four aces.

Angela Prochaska had three blocks at the net to lead the defense while sharing team honors with Rastede in digs with three aces.

Allen's win over Emerson-Hubbard was very similar to the first match.

Prochaska was 15-17 in hitting with 10 kills and Elizabeth Bock was 11-13 with four kills while Katie Koester posted 11 set assists.

Koester was 11-12 in serving with two aces while Prochaska was 8-8 with one ace. Prochaska also had a team-high four blocks with Angie Sullivan pacing netting seven digs with Koester adding four.

"We focused on aggressive serving and getting to the block," Hingst said. "The girls did a great job of playing together and staying aggressive throughout the match, regardless of the score."

Earlier last week Allen defeated Homer, 6-15, 15-6, 15-8. Angela Prochaska pounded out 16 kill spikes to pace the winners with Alycia Stewart netting six kills. Prochaska was also 15-15 in serving with two aces and had 10 blocks to lead the defense.

Katie Koester posted 25 set assists and was 13-13 in serving. Stewart had five blocks at the net and was the team-leader in digs with 11 while Elizabeth Bock had seven.

The JV team won, 15-12, 15-11 and the "C" team won, 15-9, 10-15, 15-4.

Allen's Elizabeth Bock passes the ball to a teammate during a recent Eagles volleyball match. Allen's record stands at 20-3.

Cranberry Juice or Extract for Urinary Tract Infections

Since the mid-1800s, cranberry has been used to prevent and treat urinary tract infections. The mechanism was thought to be acidification of urine. Now we know that cranberry's protective effects are due to prevention of the bacterium E. coli from binding to the bladder cells and other sites. The primary use of cranberry is treatment of urinary tract infections, and the secondary use is as a deodorant for incontinent patients.

The most cited study was a double-blind, placebo-controlled trial of 153 women. The women consumed 10 ounces per day of a cranberry drink or a placebo. Women who drank the cranberry drink were 58% less likely to have bacteria and pus in their urine as compared to women who received the placebo.

Dosing for adults is one 300-400 mg cranberry extract capsule daily or drinking several glasses of pure cranberry juice. The juice must be 100% cranberry, not the cocktail, which is heavily diluted and loaded with sugar. Side effects are rare, and there are no known drug interactions or contraindications.

WSC soccer team falls twice

The Wayne State soccer team lost a tough 3-0 decision, to Southwest State last Saturday. The Mustangs opened up a 2-0 lead through the first half, and the 'Cats were never able to find their way to the net. The (10-7 and 3-4) Wildcats out-shot the Mustangs 17-11 despite the deficit.

On Tuesday the 'Cats closed out the home portion of their 2001 schedule with a 5-4 setback to South Dakota. The game was tied at three at the intermission and the host 'Cats were up 4-3 before USD scored the final two goals with in five minutes of each other for the win.

Despite the loss Sarah Herrick broke her own school record with goals scored in a season with 21. Herrick scored WSC's first two goals of the match with Tanya Mitchell and Sarah Lund also scoring goals. Alana Pfeffer had two assists and Nikki Field, one for the 'Cats. "We've just had a tough season," coach Justin Cole said. "It seems like we've lost a lot of games typical of this past weekend. Still, I feel our team can go in to the tournament and not only play with anyone, but beat anyone." Cole said his four seniors are nearing an end to an unprecedented era at Wayne State.

"Alana Pfeffer, Sarah Herrick, Jil Eschliman and Brienne Abshier have done so much for this program that I hate for them not to have the type of season they deserve," Cole added. "But, it's not over yet and we plan on going out with a stir."

Wayne State will look for a pair of wins this weekend in the final games of the regular season as they hit the road with games against Minnesota-Crookston on Saturday, and Moorhead State on Sunday.

The NSIC Conference Tournament will be held next weekend in Aberdeen, S.D.

Kyle Straight, left, was chosen as the recipient of the Dennis Otte Memorial Award at Wayne Middle School. The award, which was started by Hank and Glenda Overin, is presented to the most improved eighth grade student involved in football. With Kyle is Junior High Football coach Dave Claussen.

St. Mary's plans Sight Night

St. Mary's Elementary School children will be collecting used eyeglasses as they trick-or-treat on Halloween. The collected glasses will be cleaned, repaired, classified by prescription and hand-delivered by LensCrafters and Lions Club volunteers to people in developing countries who desperately need glasses but cannot afford them. Sight Night is part of a nationwide collection drive by Give the Gift of Sight, a series of charitable vision care programs sponsored by the LensCrafters Foundation in conjunction with Lions Clubs International.

Pops concert upcoming

All colors, shapes and sizes of glasses and sunglasses are needed - prescription and non-prescription. Children's eyeglasses are always needed, as they are more difficult to come by. It does not matter how old or out-of-fashion, old glasses are, they will make a world of difference to someone in a developing country. If the children don't make it to all doors on Sight Night, the used eyeglasses can be dropped off at either of the eye doctor's offices. Give the Gift of Sight programs provide recycled glasses to people in developing countries and new glasses to those in need in North America. Each year, Give the Gift of Sight volunteers and doctors provide free eye exams and recycled eyeglasses to more than 150,000 people. For more information, contact Linda Murray at (402) 375-1584.

Recent studies in youth development have identified the development of values as critical for children's well-being. In Program across the state.

Responsibility: Do what you are supposed to do; persevere - keep on trying!; always do your best; use self-control - be self-disciplined; think before you act - consider the consequences; be accountable for your choices.

Fairness: Play by the rules; take turns and share; be open-minded - listen to others; don't take advantage of others; don't blame others carelessly.

Caring: Be kind; be compassionate and show you care; express gratitude; forgive others; help people in need.

Citizenship: Do your share to make your school and community better; cooperate; stay informed - vote; be a good neighbor; obey laws and rules; respect authority; protect the environment.

Evening Circle gathers

Grace Evening Circle met Oct. 9 with 12 members present. Christian Growth Leader Mary Lou Erleben opened with a devotion and responsive reading entitled "In God We Trust." Several items of correspondence were read and presented by President Carol Rethwisch which included a thank you from New Hope Mission in Omaha for the personal grooming kits. Hospitality Committee members Orvella Blomenkamp and Valores Mordhorst sent care to the care center and The Oaks and visited residents. A new card order has been received and inventory should be substantial. Bonnie Sandahl informed the group of various types of kits that could be assembled for the District Convention in Valentine in May of 2002. There are approximately 10-15 members from Grace Lutheran who are interested in helping with the Braille project if approved. Vera Mae Baier distributed soup labels and box tops and announced that Meals on Wheels is looking for substitute delivery personnel. An invitation was extended from Immanuel Lutheran Church in Laurel for Guest Night on Oct. 10. Lanora Sorensen and Kathleen Johs attended the District Retreat in Plainview. Carol Rethwisch reviewed the minutes from the Zone Fall Rally held at Immanuel of rural Wakefield on Sept. 25. LWML Sunday was observed on Oct. 7 and thank yous were extended to those who helped and participated. Mites collected were over $200. The nominating committee will be made up of Lorraine Johnson, Lee Larsen and Jan Casey. The Dec. 11 Christmas meeting will be held at Geno's Steakhouse at 6 p.m. with spouses or friends as guests. Special guests will include Pastor Anderson and his family. Pastor Anderson led the group in a Bible Study from the Fall Quarterly entitled "Between Friends."

Northeast raises money for relief

The students, faculty and staff at Northeast Community College in Norfolk have recently made monetary donations to the American Red Cross and Norfolk Fire Division for disaster relief following the terrorist attacks in New York City, Washington, D.C., and Pennsylvania.

The Computer Information Processing (CIP) Club spearheaded a student fund-raising effort that raised $516.90 for disaster relief. The CIP Club, with Richard Chrisman and Tom Broekemeier as advisors, raised $86.90 through individual donations and by collecting money in the NECC Cafeteria.

The Student Activities Council (SAC), under the leadership of Rick Goben, and the Drafting Club, with Harry Lindner and Gary Parker as advisors, also joined in the effort. The SAC raised $250 by taking up a collection at a recent Xtreme Bowling and Beach Party event and through donations left in a collection box in the Activities Center game room.

The Drafting Club donated $100 of the proceeds from a recent car wash on campus to the fund-raising drive. The Student Ambassadors, with Shelley Lammers as advisor, also donated $80 from the group's budget and individual member donations.

Monies raised by the CIP Club, SAC, and Student Ambassadors were donated to the Red Cross while the Drafting Club made their donation to the Norfolk Fire Division for disaster relief.

The faculty and staff raised $1,067.12 for the Red Cross during a recent Casual Day. For a minimum donation of $1 to the American Red Cross, faculty and staff dressed casually on a recent Friday at Northeast.

LINCOLN — With fall harvest on the near horizon, now is a good time for landowners to take action for post harvest opportunities like enrolling land in the Conservation Reserve Program, recommends Steve Chick, State Conservationist for the Natural Resources Conservation Service here.

The Conservation Reserve Program continuous sign-up is a voluntary program. It offers annual rental payments and cost share assistance for select conservation practices, he said.

"There isn't a national bidding process for this, continuous sign-up. Landowners should know soon if their land is accepted into the program," said Chick.

The program helps a producer to protect small tracts of farmland that are environmentally sensitive, such as land along streams, small farmed wetland areas, and fields requiring protection from wind or water erosion.

Other lands, like land in an approved wellhead protection area, or marginal pastureland along a stream that is suitable for riparian buffer strip to be planted to trees, are also eligible. The land offered must have been cropped two of the five most recent crop years. The producer can choose a contract from 10 to 15 years, depending upon the practices to be installed.

Annual rental payments are based on the agriculture rental value of the land. The program pays 50% of the cost of the establishing practices and $5 to $10 per acre per year maintenance fee.

In addition to the basic soil rental payment, some conservation practices like field windbreaks, grassed waterways, shelterbelts, living snow fences, grassed filter strips, riparian buffers and small farmed wetlands are eligible for a 10% to 20% bonus soil rental incentive payment. These practices are also eligible for other incentive payments such as an up-front CRP Signing Incentive Payment of $100 or $150 per acre per year. This is a one-time payment after the contract is approved.

Almost all practices eligible for the CRP continuous sign-up program qualifies for an additional Practice Incentive Payment of 40% of the total eligible installation costs. This is a one-time payment after practices are installed.

"In summary, depending on the conservation practice, a landowner can receive a soil rental payment with a bonus 10% to 20% incentive, a one-time $100 or $150 per acre signing incentive, a one-time installation incentive up to 40% of the costs, and an annual maintenance payment," said Chick. "This is a pretty good voluntary conservation payment to help keep our waters clean," he said.

Recalling fond band parenting memories

In the talk on Humor, I ask the audience who reads the comics. Usually, only a few hands go up. (which I think is sad.) Then, I ask for the favorites. "For Better or Worse" and "Baby Blues" are right up there. Obviously, we can all relate. When the heads are gray, "Pickles" is frequently mentioned.

My personal favorite is still "Funky Winkerbean," and I think it has to do with many years of band parenting. There is a band director named Harry in this strip; and they sell turkeys as a fund raiser. A couple of years ago, it featured a zealous mom who was president of band boosters and a dad with an ever-present video camera obscuring his face.

Since I didn't have the opportunity to play in a band, I kind of insisted that my kids do so. And, as a band parent, there were many trips on school buses; either to Nebraskaland Days at North Platte, Black Hills Days in Rapid City, or just band day at Wayne State. Oh, and there were a few to Norfolk for La Vitsef.

I remember going to the end of band camp performance by the Nebraska Marching Band, and being amazed at their athleticism. It took early practice, discipline, and many repetitions to be competitive. No wonder the members bonded.

So, last Saturday, when Mike said there had been a school bus accident in Omaha, I shuddered. I have always marvelled at the drivers who took that kind of responsibility.

By: Pat Meierhenry

Soon, we learned it was a Seward High school bus, loaded with band members going home after a competition. There we saw the pictures. A 60 foot drop! How could anyone survive? Amazingly, many did. I thought of the paramedics and the ER personnel. What an after noon shift this turned out to be.

On Sunday, the names of the dead were announced. All three were members of St. John Church, where Sue and her family attend. One, a band mom, was the wife of the assistant principal at St. John School. The school had not really healed since the death of its principal in August. Now, this. The driver, a student at Concordia University, across the street from St. John.

One thing that touched me were the floral tributes the high school received; from all over, including the University of Texas. Omaha band parents have been offering assistance to those still hospitalized all week.

And the band played Friday night, before the Seward-York game. Some were on crutches or splints. Alumni filled the gaps. One drummer drove all night from the University of Wyoming to take a spot. I have tears as I write about it.

The driver is still in critical condition, on a ventilator. The paper says he was preparing to be a teacher and loved kids. In fact, he is described as a "giver," even spending one summer in Calcutta, working with Mother Teresa.

Folks, there are lots of people to pray for these days; especially those in our special forces. Please add this young man, the families of those who died, and Seward High School band to your list. Thank you.

Requesting help against agro-terrorism

Nebraska Farm Bureau President Bryce Neidig is asking for help from rural residents to protect Nebraska livestock from the potential threat of biological terrorist attacks.

At the same time, he urged hunters to check in with landowners so they aren't regarded with suspicion.

"The watchful eye of a rural neighbor and the reporting of any suspicious activities in pastures and feedlots to livestock owners would go a long way in protecting the state's livestock industry from the potential of bio-terrorist activity," Neidig said.

"The threat of agro-terrorism is real and could be devastating to Nebraska's number one industry. Livestock producers aren't becoming obsessed with the treat of bio-terrorism, but it is something they are concerned about, and they're taking steps to be more cautious about the activities that go on around their livestock operations," he said.

Producers can't afford the cost and time it takes to watch over their livestock every hour and every day of the week, Neidig said. "Local residents driving by livestock operations and neighbors down the road seem to almost know when something is out of the ordinary. When the cows are out, it always seems to be a neighbor or a driver passing by who will report the problem. We are just asking that people report any unusual human activity around livestock facilities and along roadside fences to the owner of the livestock.

"What we are asking for is sort of an extension of the 'Neighborhood Watch' programs that have been effective against crime in towns and cities," he said. "The neighbor's eye may help prevent a direct terrorist hit on our livestock industry."

Neidig also called on hunters in Nebraska to be extra vigilant during their hunting activities and to make absolutely sure they have landowner permission before entering fields and pastures.

"With the major hunting seasons fast approaching, we think it is appropriate to remind hunters of their responsibilities to landowners and ask that they be aware that producers are on the 'alert' in regard to strangers on their property."

Even if permission has been arranged ahead of time, it's wise to check in with the landowner when arriving to hunt, he said.

Because of the outbreak of Foot and Mouth Disease in Europe this past year, the USDA, Nebraska Department of Agriculture and other government agencies have already taken several measures to strengthen security against the potential spread of livestock diseases in the U.S. Those measures will help but they cannot totally eliminate the threat of agro-terrorism, Neidig said.

Planetarium show ongoing

The public is invited to Wayne State's new planetarium show, "Backyard Astronomy." Show dates are Oct. 7 through Nov. 11 in the Fred G. Dale Planetarium at 3:30 p.m. on Sundays.

"Crisp autumn evenings with increasing hours of darkness and crystal clear skies provide the best astronomical viewing of the year," said Carl Rump, WSC planetarium director. "During October and early November, the sky presents a myriad of features that can be enjoyed without a telescope or even binoculars. It's the time of year when you can sit back and visually soak-up some of nature's most spectacular sights."

This show takes visitors into the planetarium "Backyard" to reveal when and where to look for such objects as the "Milky Way," star clusters, nebulae and galaxies. Special sky events such as upcoming meteor showers, planetary conjunctions, auroral displays and satellite passes.

The planetarium is located at the south entrance of the Carhart Science Building on the WSC campus.

Special showings may be arranged for school groups and other organizations by calling (402) 375-7343.

TAPPING

The Wakefield Chapter of the National Honor Society will conduct induction ceremonies on Wednesday, Oct. 31 at 2:30 p.m. in the school auditorium. A reception will follow the ceremony hosted by the current National Society members and their parents.

Students, family and community members are invited and encouraged to attend the tapping ceremonies.

Students in grades 11 and 12 are eligible to be inducted.

The Wakefield Honor Society (NHS) is the nation's foremost organization established to recognize outstanding high school students. The organization is more than a mere honor roll, NHS serves to honor those students who have demonstrated excellence in the areas of Scholarship, Leadership, Service and Character. These characteristics have been represented in NHS since its beginning in 1921.

The NHS National Council established the national standards for all NHS chapters. Any student in grades 11 and 12 in a school with an official chapter of the National Honor Society is eligible for consideration for membership in the National Honor Society. The four criteria for selection from the foundation upon the organization and its activities are built.

Scholarship: Students who have a cumulative grade point average of 87 percent or higher meet the scholarship requirement for membership. Based upon scholarship, students are then eligible for consideration on the basis of service, leadership, and character.

Service: This quality is defined through the voluntary contributions made by a student to the school and community, done with compensation and with a positive, courteous, and enthusiastic spirit.

Leadership: Student leaders are those who are resourceful, good problem solvers, promoters of school activities, idea-contributors, dependable and persons who exemplify positive attitudes about life. Leadership experiences can be drawn from school or community activity while working with or for others.

Character: The student of good character upholds principles of morality and ethics, is cooperative, demonstrates high standards of honesty and reliability, show courtesy, concern and respect for others and generally maintains a good and clean lifestyle.

A candidate, with qualifications based upon scholarship, is then rated by the high school faculty on a five to one scale on the basis of the aforementioned criteria of service, leadership, and character. These ratings are those used by the Faculty Council during the final selection procedure as prescribed by the NHS Batuikab Council rules.

Once selected by the local Faculty Council, a student is awarded membership in the local chapter at a special induction ceremony. As an inductee in the NHS, a member assumes certain obligations with regard to service both for the school and community.

Accutane Plus Pregnancy: A Risky Combination

Accutane is the trade name for isotretinoin, a prescription-only medicine that, for some, provides amazing clearing of acne skin. A serious potential adverse effect in females is birth defects that may occur if the user becomes pregnant while taking Accutane. The manufacturer provides this warning: "Females of childbearing potential should be instructed that they must not be pregnant when Accutane therapy is initiated, and that they should use effective contraception while taking Accutane and for 1 month after Accutane has been stopped. They should also sign a consent form prior to beginning Accutane therapy."

The US Centers for disease control recently reported that over 2,000 pregnancies in US women taking Accutane were reported to the Food and Drug Administration between 1982 and March 2000. Accutane plus pregnancy can result in birth defects in offspring - a risky combination.

Walking Daily May Help To Prevent Diabetes!

According to an 8-year study in the Journal of the American Medical Association, cutting your risk of Type 2 Diabetes may be as simple as taking a brisk one hour walk daily. Researchers found walking as effective as doing more vigorous exercises such as running or jogging. They believe walking is beneficial because it aids in weight loss and helps your body use insulin more efficiently. Walking is easy to do, can be done anywhere, and it rarely leads to injury.

Is Your Child's Backpack Making the Grade?

Backpack safety urged

The dangers of wearing a backpack were the focus of an Aug. 31, 1999 Washington Post Health Section article.

Titled, "That Backpack Could Do Some Damage," the article highlighted ways for backpack wearers to stay injury-free.

Patrice M. Winter, PT, a private practice physical therapist in Fairfax, Va., was interviewed for the article. "What we're seeing is increased incidence of headaches, shoulder pain, upper back pain and lower back pain," Winter said. "It's a combination of more time at the computers and having backpacks."

Winter recommended that students carry backpacks with wide, well-padded shoulder pads and backpacks that are the right size for the student.

In addition, she advised students to carry loads no more than 15 to 20 percent of their body weight and to carry backpacks on both shoulders instead of slinging the pack over one shoulder.

Students participate in Nebraska Teacher Academy

More than 50 Wayne State College students are part of The Northeast Nebraska Teacher Academy (NENTA), collaboration between Wayne State College, Educational Service Unit #1 and 14 northeast Nebraska school districts.

Forty to 65 qualified teachers will be placed through NENTA into the northeast Nebraska substitute teacher market for a total of 3,200-5,200 substitute days per school year. The program enables districts to take full advantage of staff development opportunities since capable, qualified substitutes will be available.

Additionally, the quality of substitute instruction in each of the participating districts will be significantly improved by consistent use of lesson plan formats from one district to another, by staff development activities directed at substitute teaching performance, and by substitute mentoring efforts that are built into the project.

NENTA substitutes enhance their own professional progression toward full certification through the project's concerted training and support activities.

WSC education majors gain classroom experience while helping to alleviate the substitute teacher shortage in the area. This three-year project is funded by an Excellence in Education Grant: Education Innovation Fund for $299,900 from the Nebraska Department of Education (state lottery funds).

The program is believed to be the first of its kind in the nation.

"This program is not intended to put regular substitute teachers out of work," said Theobald. "There is a serious shortage of substitute teachers in the area and across the state. Our students will be used for planned teacher absences."

The following school districts are partners in the NENTA Consortium:

- Laurel-Concord, Randolph, Pierce, Norfolk, Winside, Wayne, Coleridge, Hartington Public, Allen, Ponca, Wakefield, Pender and South Sioux City.

Local WSC students involved in the program and their hometowns include:

- Paul Blomenkamp of Wayne
- Abbie Diediker of Wayne
- Kayla Koeber of Wayne

Scholarship applications available

Application materials are available now for the Peter Kiewit Foundation Distinguished Scholar Awards. These awards are valued at $6,500 per year and are renewable for up to four consecutive years for a maximum total value of $26,000. The Foundation presents 100 of these awards to Nebraska high school seniors each May.

Interested students should request application information from their high school guidance office. Applicants must be:

- *current high school seniors on schedule to graduate from a Nebraska high school in May or June of 2002,

- *ranked in the top 10 percent of their high school class as of the end of their junior year and as of the end of the first semester of their senior year;

- *able to present standard college entrance test scores (ACT or SAT), and

- *Nebraska residents.

The trustees of the Peter Kiewit Foundation created this program to reward excellent students from all across Nebraska and encourage them to continue their education in Nebraska. Recipients are allowed to use the scholarship to attend any of the following publicly-supported schools: UNK, UNL, UNMC, UNO, Chadron State, Peru State or Wayne State.

Applications are due Jan. 11, 2002. Independent judges will review the applications and select finalists, who will then respond to a more extensive questionnaire. Winners will be announced in May.

School counselors may call the Peter Kiewit Foundation in Omaha at 402-344-7890 for clarification or to request additional copies of application materials.

The Kiewit Distinguished Scholar Awards have been presented annually since 1996.

Peter Kiewit was a lifelong Nebraskan and believed strongly in the importance of education. The Peter Kiewit Foundation was created from his personal estate in 1980, and has since awarded grants totaling more than $365 million to non-profit organizations and communities throughout Nebraska and southwestern Iowa. The Peter Kiewit Foundation is a private philanthropic trust, and is not connected legally or administratively with the operating companies which also bear Peter Kiewit's name. It is the largest private foundation in the state of Nebraska.

Driver examiners to attend special training program

Beverly Neth, Director of the Department of Motor Vehicles announced that all of the State's 98 driver license examination locations will be temporarily closed from Oct. 29 through Nov. 1, 2001.

The Department's driver license staff will be attending a special training program.

"We do recognize that these office closings may temporarily inconvenience some of our customers; however, training to improve fraud detection, use new computer systems and provide better customer service is essential," Neth said.

The Department of Motor Vehicles annually provides training to nearly 100 Examining Division employees resulting in these temporary exam station closings. The county treasurers offices will be open during these dates to issue non-commercial driver license and state identification duplicates or replacements only.

"We are encouraging those planning to get a new driver's license or permit, state identification card, or renewing their license to mark these closing dates on their calendars," said Sara O'Rourke, Examining Division Administrator.

Individuals renewing their licenses can do so up to 90 days prior to the expiration date. For more information, individuals may call (402) 471-3861 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. CST.
