Mercy acquires medical clinic

Mercy Medical Center-Sioux City and five northeast Nebraska physicians, Drs. A.D. Felber, James Lindau, Benjamin Martin, Mark McCorkindale and Willis Wiseman, have announced Mercy's acquisition of the Northeast Nebraska Medical Group, P.C.

The group of five physicians and one physician assistant currently operate primary care clinics in Wayne, Wisner, Wakefield and Laurel.

Mercy will assume ownership of the physicians group effective Dec. 1, 2001. The clinics will remain at their current locations and will be named Wayne Mercy Medical Clinic, Wisner Mercy Medical Clinic, Wakefield Mercy Medical Clinic and Laurel Mercy Medical Clinic.

"We're looking forward to working with Mercy with their outstanding reputation and the support they'll be able to offer the doctors and clinics in this rapidly changing healthcare environment," said Dr. David Felber, one of the five physicians associated with the Northeast Nebraska Medical Group, P.C.

Alluding to the vision of Mercy Medical Services, which seeks to position the healthcare provider as the indispensable provider of primary care services for the people in the region, Mercy Chief Medical Officer Dr. Larry Sellers says, "the years of experience and outstanding medical care provided by the Wayne physicians are consistent with Mercy's vision."

"Working collaboratively, we can sustain and improve medical resources for the Siouland region, and we welcome the new physician partners in this venture."

Time is right to get flu shots

As the holiday season approaches and people will be gathering in greater numbers, a reminder has been issued, reminding all residents to get a flu shot.

The flu is more than the sniffles. It can lead to pneumonia. Complications from the flu kill more than 20,000 Americans each year and cause more than 100,000 to be hospitalized. For the best protection against the flu, it is recommended that a flu shot be given.

Although it is not too late to prevent the flu by getting a shot at any time through the season, a number of high risk persons should get the shots early for best protection against the flu.

Those who are 65 years and older, health care workers and people with chronic health conditions such as heart disease, diabetes, kidney disease, asthma, cancer and HIV/AIDS, as well as women, who will be at least three months pregnant during the flu season, should get flu shots immediately.

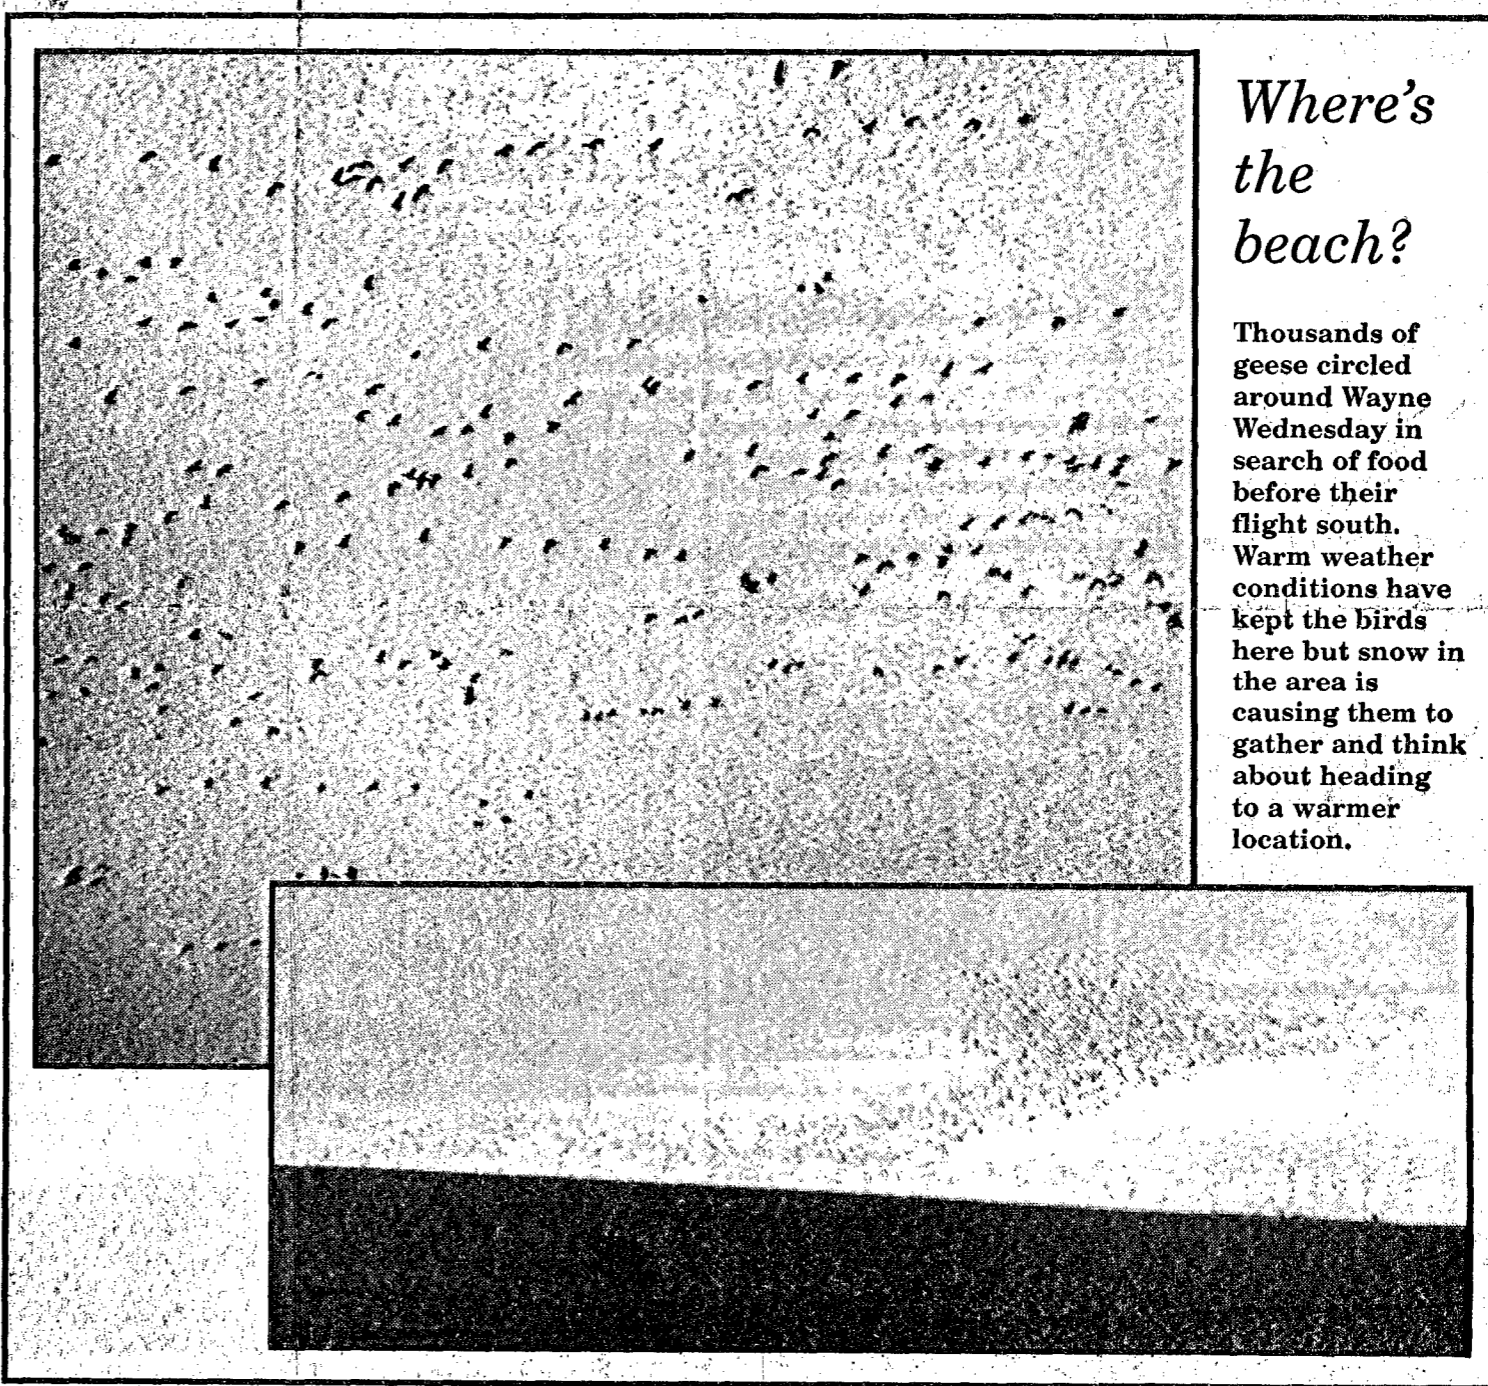

Those who have household contacts with anyone 65 years or older or those having chronic health conditions, as well as those people 50 to 64 years of age should get shots as soon as possible.

The following are myths and facts about the flu:

False — "The shot can give you the flu."

Flu vaccines are made from killed, influenza viruses. These cannot give

And I chuckled at the people that put their Christmas lights up when it was over 60 degrees.

However, I'm at my best when it's snowing and blowing and the temperature and wind chill is way

Below freezing. It has been mentioned to me that our yard should win the Clark Griswald Award for overdoing the Christmas decorations. For those that have seen it in the past... we're scurrying to finish a couple of things and add to it!

Wayne County Red Cross begins Holiday Fundraising campaign

The Wayne County American Red Cross has begun its Holiday Fundraising Campaign. Area residents should have been receiving the donation request letters in their homes over the past couple of weeks.

The Wayne chapter has been called to three house fires over the past three months, two of which required Red Cross assistance. All three homes were totally destroyed and all personal belongings were gone.

This aid is made possible through the generosity of the people in our community who make donations to the local chapter.

Chapter Manager Lori Carollo states, "I hope that people will take time to read the letter and be touched by the important services we provide."

Last year, we helped one family that experienced a fire on Thanksgiving Day and two families that had fires just a few days before Christmas - one family having small children and losing not only their home and personal items, but also all their Christmas presents!

Since we receive no federal or state funding, we must rely solely on the support of businesses and people in and around Wayne to help us continue to be there when help can't wait!

Short and sweet this week, but the mind is locked on to Sunday night and the events next Thursday. Main Street is pleased to be providing some fun, seasonal activities and hope you'll be part of the fun.

Until next time...

only their home and personal items, but also all their Christmas presents!

Since we receive no federal or state funding, we must rely solely on the support of businesses and people in and around Wayne to help us continue to be there when help can't wait!

She also wanted to add her appreciation to the many people who stepped forward recently to become Sponsors of the local chapter by committing to annual donations of $250.

"We send out a general mailing to homes during the holidays and in March during Red Cross month and I would really like to stress that we need this support to put toward our disaster relief funding! Thanks in advance to everyone who sends in a donation to help us - help others!" says Carollo.

If someone did not receive their mailing and would like to make a donation to the local Red Cross chapter, they can send it to 112 E. 2nd Street in Wayne or you can call Carollo at 375-5209 if you have any questions.

How do we interpret facts?

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
Nebraska Press Association

The fact is that no one can figure out how to read that new "report card" that's supposed to tell Nebraskans how their kids are doing at various stages of K-12 education.

As for the people who think they do understand it, forget it. They're making it up. (If one of them asks you to prove that they're making it up, ask them to prove that they're not. That'll fix 'em.)

And let's face it, fellow taxpayers. Some of you suspect that the Department of Education planned it just the way it turned out. You know. A whole world full of lay people running around asking: "What the heck does this stuff mean?"

Now, is that a comfort, or what? But, there is hope.

Not much. But some. It lies in that old saying about how "It takes one to know one." Therein you will find the solution to getting a translation of Nebraska's collective education report card.

You're wondering, "Who could possibly make sense of the darned thing?"

The answer is sooooo obvious. Ready?

Find someone who purports to understand how the BCS system works!

If they can figure out the hoo-hah that goes into figuring out who qualifies for which college bowl games, the Nebraska Report Card ought to be right up their alley.

Actually, my guess is that the state's report card thing, and the BCS, could ultimately give rise to yet another specialized degree in education.

Pretty soon there will be expert consultants (people from out of town) who have advanced degrees in Interpreting Data: Intentionally Obfuscatory and Tedious.

Think about it. Maybe your school board will be the first to hire someone with a degree in IDIOT studies.

Of course, that won't be the end of it. There will be disputes within the educational industry over how some IDIOT specialists interpret data. Thus, the Department of Education will need to come up with a system for evaluating the evaluations of those who interpreted the original report card evaluation of how the school district was doing.

Is all this too much for you? No offense, but I figured it would be. Thus, my point is made. We need certified IDIOTs in education, and in the BCS racket. These things have become too complex to be left to talented amateurs.

Financial tips for 'snowbirds'

Now that Thanksgiving is over, the lucky ones among us will soon be headed to their winter homes.

If you're one of these "snowbirds," consider yourself fortunate. But before you go, you need to take care of a few things, apart from packing your golf clubs and sunscreen. Specifically, you'll want to ensure that your financial situation is in good shape while you're gone.

Here are a few tips for helping you do just that:

- Open a checking account. Trying to pay for something with an out-of-town check is difficult. So, even if you don't plan on writing many checks in your winter home, you might want to open a checking account. Keep in mind that many banks offer senior citizens discounted fees and a lower minimum balance.

- Make sure your bills are paid while you're gone. Just because you're out of town, your bills won't go on vacation. You may still have a mortgage and you'll have utilities, investments and other regular expenses. If you haven't already set up bank authorizations to pay these bills automatically, now is the time. It's easy to do, and it can save you a lot of hassles.

- Stay in touch with your investment professional. You'll need to let your investment professional know where you are at all times, just in case he or she must contact you immediately about your accounts.

- Stay informed. Even though you may feel as though you're on vacation when you're at your winter residence, the world keeps turning. That's why you need to read the papers, watch the news or take whatever other steps you normally do to stay informed. By staying on top of current events, you'll be in a better position to make investment decisions — both while you're a snowbird and when you return home.

- Keep track of any earned income. It's true: Some industrious snowbirds keep working while they're basking in the sun. If you do some consulting or other type of work while you're at your winter home, make sure you keep track of your income. As long as you maintain your primary residence, you'll most likely owe income taxes in your home state only, but it's still a good idea to keep close tabs on your "snowbird income" and consult with your tax advisor. Also, keep records of any business expenses you may incur during the winter. And make sure you know where this documentation is when it's time to do your taxes.

If you're not a big fan of winter, you're probably eagerly counting the days until you can assume your official "snowbird" status. And by taking the above common-sense steps while you're away, you'll maintain the progress and momentum you need to achieve your long-term financial goals — winter, spring, summer and fall.

Ready, Set, Learn

Being a good student takes work both at home and at school. To help your teen get the most out of every class, you can encourage him to do these four things:

Prepare
Preparing for class the night before will give your high schooler a head start the next day. He'll understand each class better if he does all assigned reading at home and brings the right materials to class. Also, getting enough rest will help him stay alert in school.

Pick a Good Seat
Where a student sits can affect her performance. Encourage your teen to sit where she can see and hear the teacher clearly. She'll concentrate better if she also picks a seat in a quiet place, away from chatty friends and other distractions.

Pay Attention
Paying attention in class helps a student understand the lesson. But it's harder than it sounds, especially for a full school day. You can help your teen stay focused. How? Remind him to sit up straight, watch the teacher, take notes and think about what is being said.

Post-class Review
Finally, encourage your high schooler to review her notes every day after school. It takes only a few minutes and will help her keep the information fresh in her head. She'll be better prepared for tomorrow's lessons and get a head start on studying for tests.

Council approves ordinances

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

Public hearings were held on three issues during Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

The Planning Commission had recommended amending the Wayne Municipal and Zoning Code.

The changes deal with boarding houses in the city of Wayne. The Commission had recommended allowing a maximum of nine persons living in a boarding house. However, Mayor Sheryl Lindau and City Planner George Ellyson felt that six persons was sufficient.

The council approved the ordinance and waived the three readings, following the addition of language to add a common living area in the house, reducing the number of bedrooms to six and requiring the hard surface parking at the location.

The second hearing dealt with the planning commission's request to re-zone property at 1308 Main Street from B-3 (Neighborhood Commercial District) to R-3 (Residential District).

No one spoke for or against the change and the council then passed Ordinance 2001-20 which amends the zoning map to allow for this change.

The final public hearing dealt with the planning commission's recommendation to vacate the east-west alley between Fifth and Sixth Streets, ending at Sherman Street. Council members approved the resolution, allowing for the closing of the alley between Lots 9 and 10, Crawford & Brown's Outlot, subject to a utility agreement.

While voting to approve the claims for the month, discussion was held on withholding a check for work done on the Community Activity Center. The request came from City Administrator Lowell Johnson. Johnson advised waiting until results can be checked on footings that have been poured.

Council members and those involved with the project spoke about the strength of the footings for the wall and roof. Discussion centered on what would happen if a swimming pool were added to the facility in the future.

Council unanimously voted to approve a policy change allowing the serving of alcohol in the City Auditorium. The request comes partially due to the fact that the auditorium will be air conditioned following its upcoming renovation and also because of recent events that make the National Guard Armory unavailable for use at this time.

Approval was given on a request to waive the Engineering Fee for a well permit for Brian and Amy Bowers. The Bowers are building a home west of Wayne and eventually hope to create a subdivision on the property. Discussion was held on the possibility of connecting the property to the city's water and sewer system.

In other action, the council voted to set a public hearing date regarding the Planning Commission's recommendation for a Use By Exception permit application for Dave Hix. The hearing will be held Tuesday, Dec. 11 at or about 7:10 p.m.

Ordinance 2001-21 received first round approval. The ordinance would increase the number of persons on the Recreation-Leisure Services Commission to eight and allow three of those to live outside city limits.

'Cats even season record at 2-2; York College visits Rice Auditorium on Tuesday Wayne State men fall to Nebraska-Kearney

By Kevin Peterson
For the Herald

The Wayne State men's basketball team defeated Mt. Marty in the season debut at home last Saturday, 83-68 before dropping a 79-67 decision to in-state rival Nebraska-Kearney on Tuesday, leaving Rico Burkett's team at 2-2 on the young season.

Against Mt. Marty the 'Cats got off to a slow start but got their rhythm going about mid-way through the opening stanza thanks to the dead-eye shooting of senior Kevin Lingenfelter.

"Kevin hit some big shots for us which really boosted our offense," Burkett said. "We led by 16 at halftime and then used solid free throw shooting down the stretch which is one of our team strengths."

WSC connected on 12-of-14 attempts from the foul line in the second half.

Todd Klostermann led WSC with 17 points with Kevin Lingenfelter tossing in 16. Jon Moore netted a season-high 13 points and Levi Cahill tallied a season-high 11.

Both teams finished with 31 rebounds with Colin Tague leading the 'Cats with nine caroms while Cahill had seven and Klostermann, six.

WSC had just eight turnovers in the game while forcing 15. Justin Sanny led the winners with five assists.

The 'Cats 12-point loss to Nebraska-Kearney on Tuesday didn't sit real well with coach Rico Burkett and his staff.

"Frankly, we're embarrassed with the way we played," Burkett said. "We were simply flat and I don't know why. It was a disappointing loss. We lacked the energy and intensity that I know we possess."

UNK opened the game with an 11-0 run and the 'Cats first score came at the 14:52 mark with a bucket from Todd Klostermann.

Despite the slow start the 'Cats fought back to tie the game at 13 before UNK went on a 7-0 run and eventually led 32-24 at the intermission.

WSC could not get any closer than seven points in the second half.

Kevin Lingenfelter led WSC with 20 points with Todd Klostermann pouring in 16 and Levi Cahill, 11—all in the second half.

Former Creighton Prep stand-out Nick Svehla led UNK with 18 points Nick Branting adding 17.

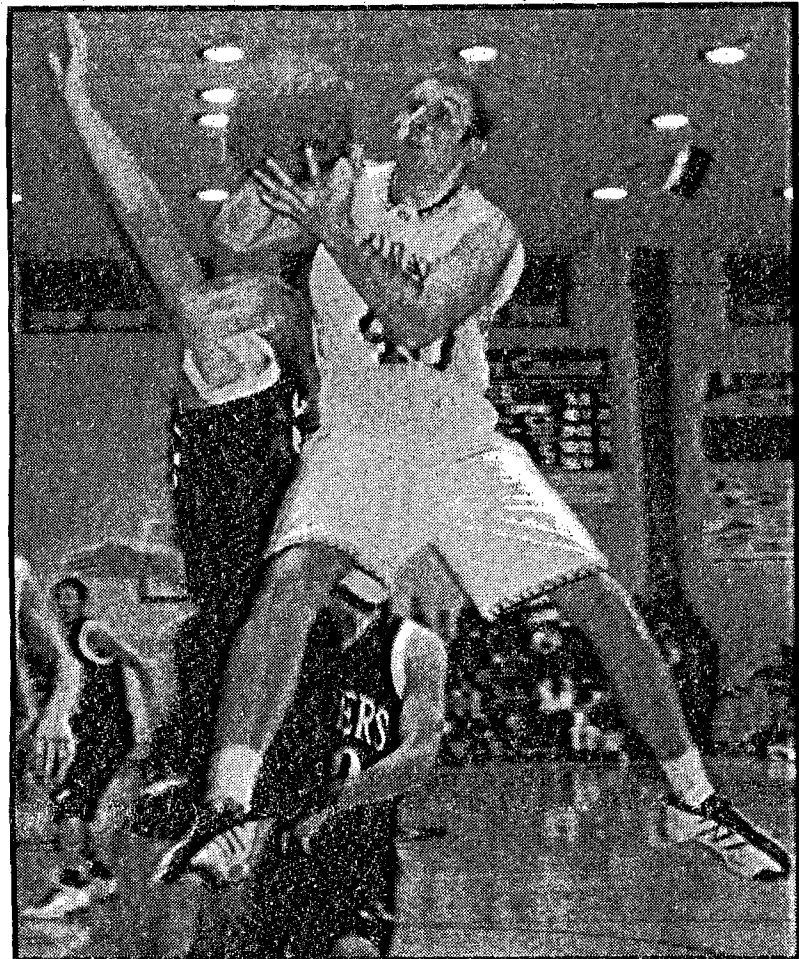

WSC was out-rebounded by a 47-38 margin with Colin Tague leading the 'Cats with nine caroms while Todd Klostermann and Levi Cahill had seven each and Brett Watson, six.

Again, WSC took good care of the basketball with just nine turnovers while the Lopers had 12. Tague also led WSC with three assists and he had three blocked shots.

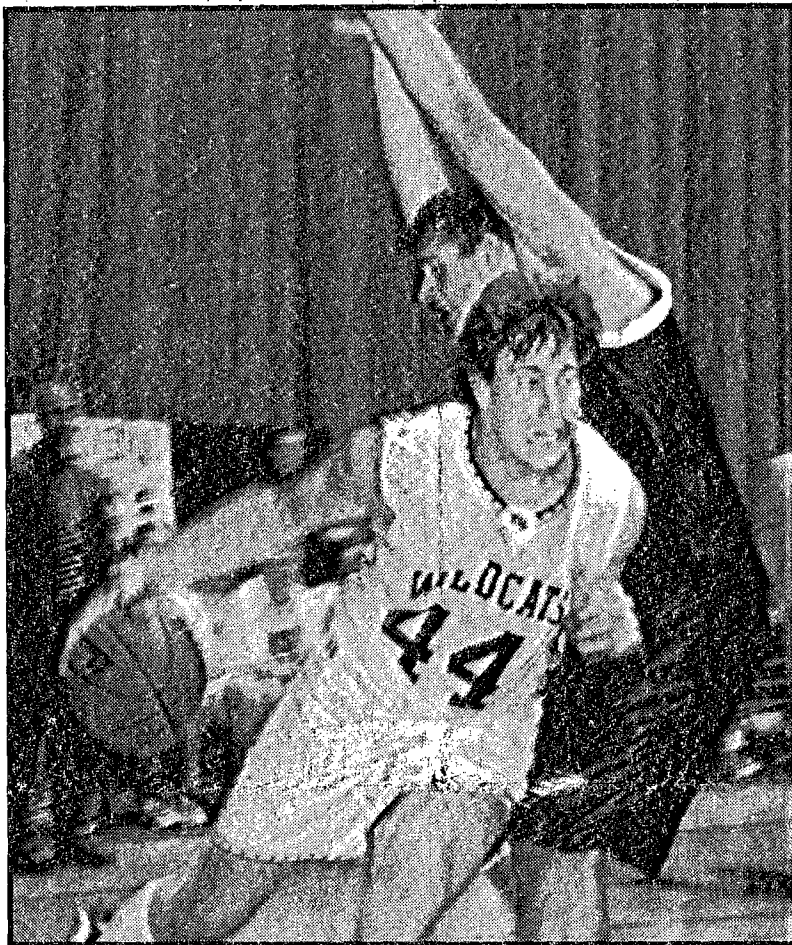

WSC went to the free throw line just nine times in the game—just three times in the second half while UNK had 27 charity tosses as the Lopers out-scored WSC, 21-6 from the foul line.

"The stats really don't matter

Wayne State women even record with pair of wins

By Kevin Peterson
For the Herald

A little home-cooking is all the Wayne State women's basketball team needed to snap a season-opening two-game losing skid as Ryun Williams' team defeated Mt. Marty and Grand View, in the friendly confines of Rice Auditorium to even the season record at 2-2.

The 'Cats out-lasted Mt. Marty, 77-69 last Sunday behind a very balanced attack that saw four players in double figures and another with nine points.

"I thought we played pretty solid against Mt. Marty after we got off to kind of a sluggish start," Williams said. "I liked our balance."

Dodie Martin poured in a career-high 21 points with Tracy Williamson tossing in 19. Lesley Menken scored 14 points in her first game as a Wildcat after nursing a shoulder injury the first two games of the season.

Menken's performance included a double-double as she dished out 11 assists while notching four rebounds and four steals.

"Lesley can be a difference-maker," Williams added. Rochelle Sohl was also in double figures with 10 points with Karen Hochstein netting nine while leading the team on the boards with seven caroms.

WSC edged the Lancers on the boards, 36-35 with Williamson and Sohl hauling down six rebounds each.

The 'Cats did suffer 21 turnovers while Mt. Marty had 19. Dodie Martin had three steals to go with Menken's four.

Tuesday in Wayne, the 'Cats defeated Grand View College, 77-66 after leading, 40-27 at the intermission.

The lead grew to 16 points in the second half before Grand View made a late run.

"We're happy with the win," Williams said. "Once this team realizes just how important each defensive possession is, we can be a real nice team."

Williams said as each game passes the players get more used to their respective roles.

"We led by 19 points with just 10 minutes left in the game but then allowed an 8-1 run by Grand View," Williams said. "We can't afford to give up easy baskets in transition like we did on occasion."

Karen Hochstein was nearly unstoppable, scoring 30 points against a much taller opponent.

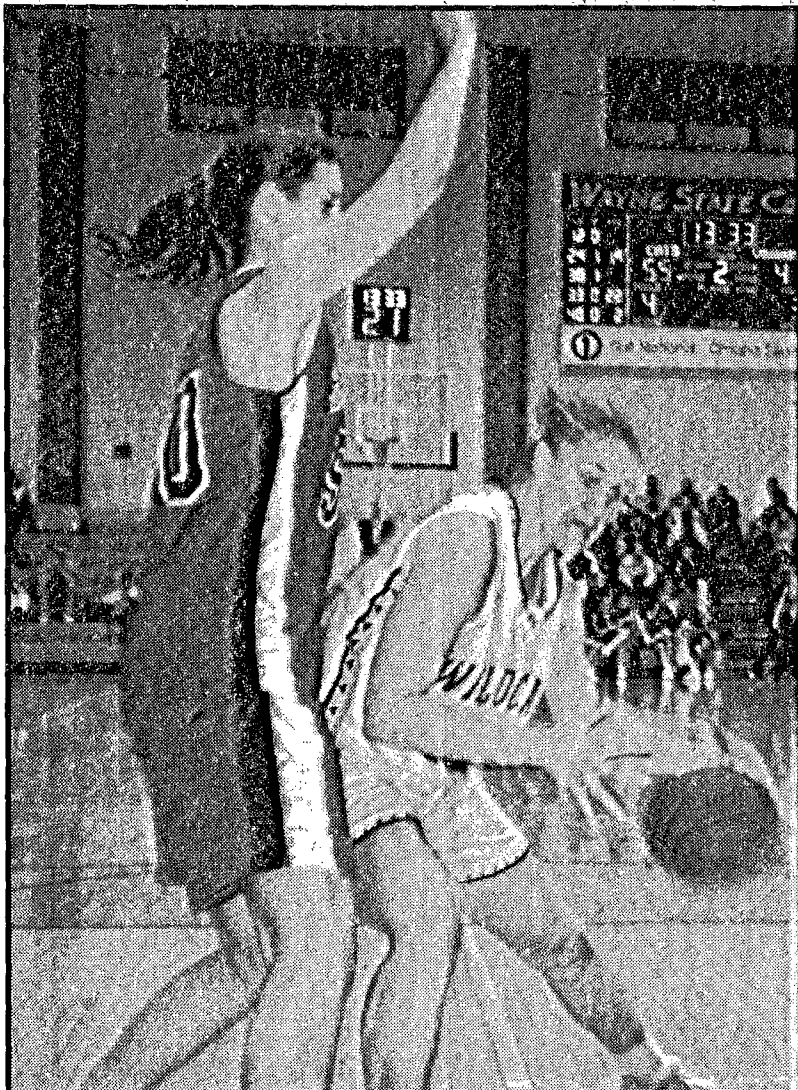

Grand View's Kylee White stood 6-5 and scored 17 points. "She wasn't easy to score over but we ran a lot of isolation plays for Karen and she took advantage."

Hochstein set a new Wildcat record for made free throws in a game with 14 after a 14-18 perfor-

"Timarie will make the move from middle hitter to outside hitter," coach Sharon Vanis said. "She has a great deal of athletic ability that has not been challenged day in and day out."

Bebee tallied 254 kills, 38 service aces and 93 digs from her middle hitter position. She was a four-year starter in volleyball and a three-year starter on the basketball team.

"I feel once Timarie gets used to the Division II level of play she will be able to step in and contribute," Vanis added. "She has a bright future here at Wayne State."

Antibiotic - Resistant Pneumonia Increase
At one time bacterial infections responsible for pneumonia were relatively easy to treat with "old-time" antibiotics such as penicillin. According to a report in The Journal of the American Medical Association, this is now longer the case. Studies in 1995 showed that 11% of samples of invasion bacterium Streptococcus pneumoniae were resistant to macrolide antibiotics such as erythromycin, clarithromycin, and azithromycin. By 1999 resistance had increased over 20%. During this same time period the use of these antibiotics had increased 13% overall and 320% in children under age 5.
Everyone can do something about antibiotic resistance, a worldwide problem. First, we should not use antibiotics unless they are needed. Viral infections, for example, do not respond to antibiotics. Second, we should finish any course of a prescribed antibiotic, rather than taking only a portion of a prescription, which occurs frequently.

Caffeine May Boost Mental Awareness in Some Persons

A study conducted at Hofstra University in New York suggests that heavy caffeine users may not get the same boost from the stimulant as do conservative users. Volunteers were divided into groups - frequent and infrequent users. Persons in each group were given either a moderately high dose of caffeine or an inactive placebo. All participants were then instructed to type a page of randomly selected words and phrases. Of those who received caffeine, typing speed increased among both the frequent and infrequent caffeine users. Interestingly, the infrequent caffeine users produced fewer errors, indicating that they may have been more mentally aware than were the heavy caffeine users.

The results of this study may support the occasional use of caffeine as a supplement for mental awareness. Yet, use of caffeine is not without its drawbacks. Caffeine can increase blood pressure and may not be appropriate for persons with high blood pressure, heart disease, and anxiety.

Dr. Mark Hammer to speak at WSC First Fridays

Dr. Mark Hammer of Wayne State College will speak on Habitat for Humanity during the First Fridays forum in the Niobrara Room of the Student Center on the Wayne State College campus, Dec. 7 at 9 a.m.

This final First Friday's presentation of 2001 will include a holiday sing-along and a vocal group performance directed by Ron Lofgren of Wayne State.

Hammer is campus advisor for Habitat for Humanity, a campus chapter designed to involve students in the work of Habitat for Humanity International.

WSC student members work to educate the campus and local community about affordable housing issues, help build or remodel houses in partnership with Habitat for Humanity affiliates and homeowners and raise funds for the work of Habitat for Humanity. WSC student members have also attended international Habitat for Humanity conferences such as the recent gathering that marked the 25th anniversary of the organization, Sept. 13-15 in downtown Indianapolis, Ind.

Habitat for Humanity International is an ecumenical Christian ministry dedicated to eliminating poverty housing. Founded by Millard Fuller along with his wife, Linda, the Habitat organization has 1,916 affiliates in 64 nations. The group has built and sold more than 80,000 homes to partner families at no profit with zero-interest mortgages.

There will be no program in January for the First Fridays Series.

A free continental breakfast will be served. Although designed for senior citizen appeal, all ages are welcome to attend. There is no admission charge.

During each First Fridays event, a special guest of honor is recognized, birthdays are acknowledged and a talk or performance by a member of WSC's faculty or staff completes the session. The First Fridays event series is co-sponsored by the Visual and Performing Arts Office and the Wayne State Foundation.

FBLA assists community

The Wayne High School Future Business Leaders of America has been involved in many activities so far this year. They range from attending a conference, fundraising and conducting meetings.

President Jill Meyer leads the group and Mrs. Annette Rasmussen is the sponsor.

The FBLA officers traveled to Omaha in late September for the Fall Leadership Conference. There they listened to a motivational speaker, went to workshops for each specific officer and also attended various workshops that specialized on other important topics.

All the members believed the conference was helpful in many ways. They took the information and put it into action. After using some of the techniques suggested at the conference, the club believes that they are off to a good start. The number of members has increased greatly. Many have shown to be participating actively and are willing to continue to do so throughout the year. This has made the group excited about what can happen in the future.

The FBLA chapter has done a number of activities with the local Red Cross Chapter. They began selling First Aid kits in September. The kits come with various items, all of which are very useful when in an emergency. They can range from a small babysitter's kit to a large family package. They are reasonably priced, from $4 to $20. The Red Cross receives half of the profit.

Another fundraiser the FBLA group was doing with the Red Cross was the quarter canisters. They were canisters set in the high school that were to be filled with quarters. The proceeds went to the Disaster Relief Fund for those affected by the Sept. 11 attacks.

Finally, the club is selling bean bags in the shape of Dairy Queen Blizzards for the Red Cross. They will be sold at high school events such as athletic competitions.

"The club is continuing to come up with activities to do later this year. We want to get more involved with other people and let the public know more about the group."

Dr. Mark Hammer to speak at WSC First Fridays

Dr. Mark Hammer of Wayne State College will speak on Habitat for Humanity during the First Fridays forum in the Niobrara Room of the Student Center on the Wayne State College campus, Dec. 7 at 9 a.m.

This final First Friday's presentation of 2001 will include a holiday sing-along and a vocal group performance directed by Ron Lofgren of Wayne State.

Hammer is campus advisor for Habitat for Humanity, a campus chapter designed to involve students in the work of Habitat for Humanity International.

WSC student members work to educate the campus and local community about affordable housing issues, help build or remodel houses in partnership with Habitat for Humanity affiliates and homeowners and raise funds for the work of Habitat for Humanity. WSC student members have also attended international Habitat for Humanity conferences such as the recent gathering that marked the 25th anniversary of the organization, Sept. 13-15 in downtown Indianapolis, Ind.

Habitat for Humanity International is an ecumenical Christian ministry dedicated to eliminating poverty housing. Founded by Millard Fuller along with his wife, Linda, the Habitat organization has 1,916 affiliates in 64 nations. The group has built and sold more than 80,000 homes to partner families at no profit with zero-interest mortgages.

There will be no program in January for the First Fridays Series.

A free continental breakfast will be served. Although designed for senior citizen appeal, all ages are welcome to attend. There is no admission charge.

During each First Fridays event, a special guest of honor is recognized, birthdays are acknowledged and a talk or performance by a member of WSC's faculty or staff completes the session. The First Fridays event series is co-sponsored by the Visual and Performing Arts Office and the Wayne State Foundation.

Student serving as resident assistant at UNI

Kristin Barry of Wayne is among the 90 students serving as resident assistants (RAs) for the 2001-02 academic year at the University of Northern Iowa. She is a junior majoring in elementary and middle school education.

Resident assistants are Department of Resident staff members whose responsibility is to serve as student advisors to approximately 50 students in a residence hall. As advisors, the RAs provide assistance to the individuals with personal, interpersonal and academic concerns. The RAs also support residents in the development of a cohesive living and learning group.

RAs are certified in first aid and CPR, and they receive extensive training in conflict mediation. They are the university's contact for students in the residence halls. They plan and present educational programs, offer planned and spontaneous social activities and provide academic support for students. RAs earn room and board and a stipend as compensation for their responsibilities.

"RAs are vital to the success of the University of Northern Iowa residence system," said Lyn Redington, associate director of the UNI Department of Residence/Housing. "They provide models for leadership while maintaining high academic standards."

This holiday show begins with a view of the evening skies of December, containing some of the brightest stars of any season. After looking at the modern skies, the show takes the audience back 2,000 years to explore the astronomical and historical events surrounding the "Star of Christmas." The public is invited. There is no admission charge.

Tutor wins national award

In his fifth semester as a tutor, Wayne State College senior Jeff Child earned the College Reading and Learning Association's (CRLA) "Tom Pasternack Outstanding Tutor Award" for 2001. A committee at the CRLA October Conference in Spokane, Wash. selected Child to receive the award and a check for $250.

Child is the son of Craig and Pam Child of Draper, Utah. He is studying speech communication with an emphasis in corporate and community relations and public relations. He is also earning a minor in mathematics and computer science. His WSC activities include service as president of the computer science club, vice president of the National Speech Communication Honor Society and treasurer of Blue Key national honors fraternity. Child will be making an honors presentation in December.

"In four semesters of tutoring, he (Child) gave 10 workshops which were attended by 195 students. In all, he has served 377 students through workshops and individual tutoring (as of the beginning of the semester)," said Dorothy Weber, director of the Wayne State College Learning Center.

Child has been a tutor office assistant each week for 10 hours. He has served as a tutor for the course, "Principles of Human Communication" and is responsible for working with 16 sections (approximately 300 students) each semester. Each semester as a volunteer, Child also delivers an evening speech communication workshop on informative and persuasive public speaking.

He also volunteers to conduct review sessions for major communication classes. Child will make his honors colloquium presentation this December. Recently, Child made videos of his speeches to be used in the classroom to instruct and critique the public speaking process.

"I have focused on connecting with a greater number of students by trying to make tutoring a more natural, stress-free setting for them. I have learned that in order to make this happen tutoring must leave the classroom," Child said. "I hold workshops two nights during a given week, which generate approximately 60 students in overall attendance. I cover frequent questions that I receive from students during my tutor hours."

Tutoring on a personal level is invigorating for me, and has provided me with many valuable experiences that can only come through the learning process and seeing someone succeed after they

The "Tom Pasternack Outstanding Tutor Award" was established by the CRLA International Tutor Certification Program to honor the late editor of the CRLA newsletter and to reward outstanding tutors. Since 1995, the award has been presented at the National CRLA conference each fall.

Child earned the award nomination by reaching the highest level of certification as a tutor at WSC, maintaining at least a 3.0 GPA and obtaining a professor's recommendation. The award was also based on summarized tutor evaluations from students, supervisors and peers.

Award criteria involved Child's ability to help students improve their self-esteem and academic study skills, promote healthy student interaction and active learning with emphasis on student responsibility and ethical behavior, manage responsibilities at school, work and home, as well as become involved in special projects. Child also wrote an essay on the role of tutoring in learning.

Wayne State College tutors are selected from among numerous qualified applicants and must be upper-class men and women with high overall grade-point averages. They also receive endorsements and recommendations from Wayne State faculty. Tutors consult regularly with faculty and administration members.

This is the heart of Nebraska

Using the most advanced technology and procedures possible, the Faith Regional CardioVascular Institute is dedicated to the prevention, detection, intervention and rehabilitation of heart related diseases. This means patients and their families no longer have to travel across the state to receive quality, comprehensive cardiovascular care.

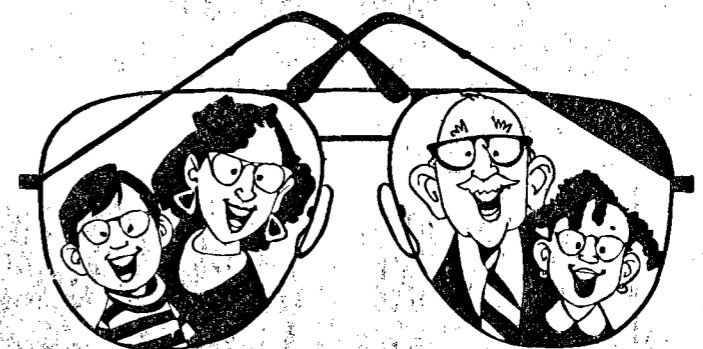

By working closely with patients, their physicians and the entire Faith Regional health care system, we hope to forever reduce the number of heart attacks and coronary related diseases in our region. After all, rural Nebraska has always been a great place to live. Now it's a great place to live longer.

Teens influenced by parents

Learning to balance a job with schoolwork and social activities helps teens learn life-long skills of hard work and saving money.

To help make a teenager's first job beneficial to his or her social and moral development, parents need to help teens find an appropriate job and assist them in developing a money management plan.

The number of hours worked and the type of job a teen takes determines if a job will be beneficial to development. The job should not interfere with time needed for schoolwork, family or sleep. Involvement from a parent can help teens find an ideal job that is challenging and directly related to a teen's interests or future employment goals. This makes the job genuinely meaningful to the teen.

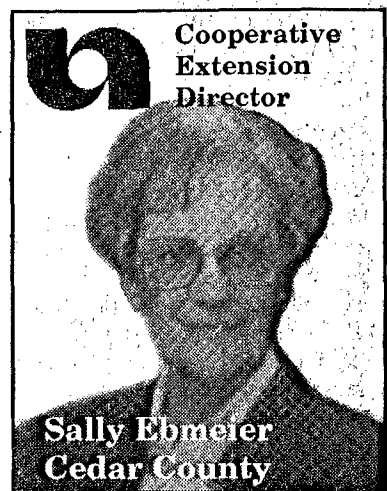

If the ideal job can't be found, look for an employer who will listen to teen employees and invite their input as opportunities for problem solving. For example, if a teen is waiting tables and notices a more effective way to do the job, the teen should feel free to talk to the employer about a possible method change. This benefits the teen through problem-solving skills, and it also benefits the employer through gaining a more efficient practice. Employers also can help provide meaning to a teen's job by explaining to teens how their specific job fits into the larger system and why their tasks are important for making the business or organization successful.

Employed youth should work in atmospheres where an adult is in charge. Teens can learn from these adults and develop healthy relationships with role models outside of the family. Adults on the job site also help to ensure the working atmosphere is safe; a teen should never work in an atmosphere that doesn't feel safe.

A recent study found nearly 80 percent of high school students had worked at some point before high school graduation, but not all teens are ready for a job at the same age. How well a teen balances school and social life determines when the teen is ready to add the responsibility of a job to the mix.

As teen start to earn money, problems also can arise when they start spending it. The average teen

Sally Ebmeier

spends about $3,500 a year. Many teens want to spend money on name-brand clothing, the latest electronic gadgets and entertainment, but they also need to save money for college. Parents can indirectly and directly influence their teen's spending habits.

Family is the main environment where teens pick up most of their attitudes about money. Parents can indirectly shape these attitudes by analyzing their own money practices to set a good example for their children.

Parents can directly shape their teens' spending habits by helping them set up a budget and set short- and long-term goals. For example, a teen may want to buy shoes in the near future or save for college or a car. Parents can also teach their teen specific skills such as how to balance a checkbook or how to read a credit card or bank statement.

November ..... National Home Care Month

"I have been asked to write something about the Providence Home Health people who visit me three times a week. These people are very special. They are kind, loving and caring. Without them I would have been admitted to a care center when I returned home from living in an assisted living home in Elkhorn, Nebraska."

Margaret Fischer
Wakefield, Nebraska
Friend of Providence Personal Care

"Home care services are an invaluable asset to any community. The entire northeast Nebraska area is certainly fortunate to have Providence Home Care services so 'close to home.' As a physician, I witness with regularity the sigh of relief from patients who are told that they will be able to be at home and receive health care attention, as opposed to entering a formal healthcare facility. Home IS where the heart is. My gratitude goes out to the professionals at Providence Home Care for the excellent services they provide to our patients and community."

Mark McCorkindale, M.D.

"Hospice is a great organization. They were so helpful for Loren, and for me, when I needed someone to talk to. They are admired by all and Loren had a lot of faith in them. I will always be thankful for the nurses and I think they should be praised for their job. It takes a loving and caring person to be a hospice nurse and they deserve the highest respect. May God bless them all."

Wayne Eagles welcome new members Nov. 19

The Nov. 19 meeting of the Wayne Eagles Auxiliary was called to order by President DeAnn Behlers.

Several members had attended the Thanksgiving Potluck which was held on Nov. 17. Amy Renz and Tony Olson turned out to be "Turkey Wizards of Knowledge."

Three new members, Laura Gamble, Leslie Schulz and Diane Maguson, were welcomed. The auxiliary is still in a tight race with the men for the membership challenge.

A reminder that the Men's State President, Kip Lytle, will be in Wayne on Friday, Nov. 30. There will be a 7 p.m. potluck for him. He will also be picking up the items that have been collected for the Nebraska Children's Home. Any items to be donated should be at the Aerie home by Friday.

A steak fry will be held Saturday, Dec. 1 from 6 to 9 p.m. Salads would be appreciated, but are not necessary to attend.

Soup suppers will be held on the Thursdays in December, (6, 13 and 20) from 5:30 to 9 p.m. Volunteers are needed to help work and make the soup, sandwiches and bars. There is a sign up sheet at the club or call 375-9956.

The Club's Christmas party is scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 8 at 7 p.m. It will be a potluck with a gift exchange to follow. Group members are hoping to get a hold of Santa Claus in time, so that he can attend.

A box will be available at the Club for food items for the Wayne Food Pantry. Items should be brought in soon, so that they can be taken to the food pantry.

Glendora Weisler served snacks after the meeting. Ruth Korth and Jessica Olson will serve at the next meeting, Monday, Dec. 3 at 8 p.m.

Advent service planned

Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne will be holding special Advent worship services on Wednesday, Dec. 5 and 12 at 7:30 p.m.

Several groups from the congregation will serve a soup supper prior to each Wednesday evening worship service from 6 to 7:15 p.m. with the proceeds helping to fund Our Savior Youth that will attend the National Youth Gathering in 2003.

"Of all the seasons of the church's liturgical year, Advent is probably the one least acknowledged by the world," said Pastor Kevin Ruffcorn of Our Savior.

"Indeed, secular culture does not simply ignore Advent; it actively contradicts it. While the church tries to cling to a season of preparation and expectation, the world rushes on — prematurely, it seems, to Christmas — to a time of arrival and fulfillment. This determined avoidance of Advent is at least partly because the theme of the season is one with which our world is profoundly uncomfortable: waiting, Pastor Ruffcorn added.

"As we wait with hopeful anticipation for the celebration of the birth of Jesus, I hope that all people feel welcome to worship with us on Wednesday evenings at 7:30 p.m. during Advent and share in the soup supper and fellowship prior to each service," Pastor Ruffcorn said.

On Dec. 5, Pastor Ruffcorn will be sharing the message, "Preparing for the Unexpected," and on Dec. 12 Pastor Koeber will be bringing the message, "So Powerful, So Gentle." On Dec. 19 at 7:30 p.m. the Adult Choir of Our Savior will be presenting a cantata "Gloria."

The church is located at the corner of Fifth and Main Streets. For more information, contact the church office at 375-2899.

Home repair takes time

As usual, I didn't watch The Game. But, as the afternoon wore on, I thought I was hearing about an 8-man high school game! It was very sad.

Today, Monday, it's back to normal here. "Normal" is a carpenter driving in at 8 a.m. to continue our basement project. Again this year, it looks as if I'll be painting new walls in December. Thus, it behooves me to get the tree up, the decorations out, and the annual letter written this week. We're hosting a "ladies retreat" on Saturday so that's my deadline. Plus, there are two days I won't be at home, so that leaves three to work at it.

We obviously love old houses, given that we moved from a rather old one to an even older one nine years ago. If you choose to live in an old house, you need to remember one important dictum: you never finish working on them.

On the farm at Hoskins, we completely replaced the foundation walls and dug out under the north half of the house to make a full basement. Then we added an attached garage.

The guy who laid the blocks for both projects swore while he worked. It was his everyday language. We almost had to rededicate the house when he was finished, because it had not heard so many swear words in its entire existence.

The Farmer's Wife
By: Pat Meierhenry

This month, we are working on the basement of this house. The foundation is all limestone. It's full basement, with 10 foot ceilings just like the main floor. But the south half still had a dirt floor.

There was a 1000 gallon cast-iron water tank in one corner, impossible to get out in one piece. They must have put it in place, and built the house around it. Because the price of iron is so bad, we couldn't find anyone who wanted to scrap it out. We finally paid a fellow from Weeping Water to cut it up with an acetylene torch.

This carpenter worked on this house even before we owned it. He gutted the plaster walls and put up dry wall for the two ladies who sold it to us. He's created a second upstairs bathroom for us out of a closet; and added our much loved office/family room.

Now he has poured cement and framed in another family room and bathroom downstairs. There's not been one nasty word. In fact, he usually has KGBI on, and his young helper whistles to the music. Which makes pleasant sounds coming up the duct work.

Can you imagine a world without music? The Taliban banned music in Afghanistan. What a strange, repressive society. Music has been a part of worship since the beginning of time.

We do take a lot for granted, don't we? As I play my Christmas tapes and records, I'll remind myself of that: As I play the songs of the season, the piano and the organ, I'll remind myself again. I wonder if there are any pianos in Afghanistan? They wouldn't be as easy to hide as a radio or cassette player.

Barry Manilow sang it on the "Today Show" last week: Turn the Radio Up! Thank God for music, which is well said to be the speech of angels.

Stay warm

Hunting should improve with the colder weather moving in

Well it happened, we went from 65 degrees to a chilly 40 degrees, howling northwest wind and rain.

I guess it isn't all that bad, we need the moisture and instead of the rain we could have had a foot or so of snow.

Well like it or not, it's here, the cold weather that generally signals the beginning of winter.

Waterfowl hunters have been waiting patiently for the waterfowl to move into our area and the northwest winds usually are a signal that the waterfowl will soon be moving into our area.

Hunters in the Pierre area have been shooting a few Canada geese; most of them have been the smaller geese, as the giant Canada geese haven't moved down from the north yet.

Along the Missouri River in our area, hunters have been taking a few local ducks and some of the early arriving ducks & geese. These moved in after the last blast of cold air in N.E. South Dakota.

Hunting near DeSoto Bend area near Blair, NE, has also been hit and miss, with only a few small flocks of geese using the refuge.

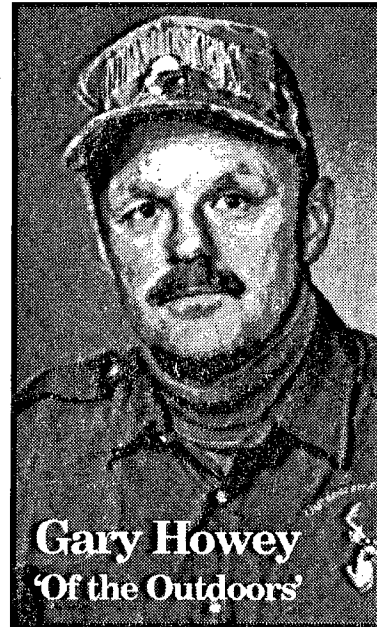

Hunters along the Platte River have been taking a few mallards, but the main flight hadn't arrived yet.

With the colder weather up north, the ducks and geese will start moving south. They won't move any farther than they need to. If they can find open water and feed, they'll stay in an area until the food is gone or until the Mother Nature forces them out.

Pheasant hunters will also benefit from the colder weather, because the birds will start to bunch up and be easier to locate.

Hunters will have to dress warmer, but the hunting will improve and areas with heavy

'Of the Outdoors'

CRP grass and sloughs will become productive hunting spots.

The moisture will also help the dogs to scent better. The dry conditions that we were experiencing made it almost impossible for the dogs to locate the birds.

I'm on my way to film an archery hunt in S.W. Iowa and I'm not too sure that this cold windy weather is going to do me much good.

I'm not looking forward to setting in a tree stand all day while 40 mile an hour winds and rain beat on me.

Deer don't like to move during windy days because the wind hampers the deer's ability to hear.

On windy days, deer like all other species of wildlife like to find a place out of the wind to hunker down and wait until the wind subsides.

The weather that many hunters have been hoping for is here and unless we have another winter like last year with heavy snow and ice, hunting should be pretty good through the rest of the season.

Stay warm, hunt often, hunt ethically and take a kid or a new hunter out with you the next time you go to the field!

SCOUT TRAILER

The Gardner Foundation granted Boy Scout Troop 172 of Wakefield the money to purchase an enclosed trailer. Scoutmaster Cheryl Roberts recently showed the trailer to Les Bebee, a member of the Foundation Board, and also a mother of a Boy Scout.

The late Dan Gardner, who with his family established the foundation, served as Scoutmaster for many years.

The 6 foot by 12 foot haulmark trailer was purchased from Marxz Brothers in Sioux City. The decaling was done by Quality 1 Graphics in Wayne.

In addition to identifying the troop, the lettering on the back door of the trailer lists all 18 of Wakefield's Eagle Scouts. The license plate number, is 172.

The Scout Troop also got some new camping equipment. The Mid-America Council in Omaha, following the National 2001 Jamboree in Virginia, sold equipment used there at discount prices to troops in the council.

Wakefield acquired a camp serving set for eight, utensils, camp stove with stand, chuck box for cooking equipment, covered dishes, cedar picnic table, flag poles and some other miscellaneous items to use on campouts. This equipment was purchased with monies raised by the sale of aluminum cans which people in the community saved and donated to the troop.

Scoutmaster Roberts said in addition to campouts, the trailer would also be used to haul cans to market. He added that last week he used it to bring cartons of popcorn to Wakefield which the troop recently sold. Scouts will be delivering the popcorn to customers over the next two weeks.

Troop 172 and Scoutmaster Roberts expressed their appreciation to the Gardner Foundation and family for their generosity in providing the funds to purchase the trailer. "It is a big improvement. We will enjoy using it on camping trips and it will help us take better care of our equipment." The troop also expressed their thanks to everyone who saves aluminum cans for the benefit benefit of scouting.

MORE DONATIONS

Edna Gustafson is one of the recent donors to the Round Barn Restoration project. Mrs. Gustafson made her contribution of $600 in memory of her late husband, Berneal. When Berneal retired and sold his Main Street office building he contributed a number of items to Lefty's Memorabilia Collection like plat books and map, old voters records and the play book. His collection will be displayed in the barn.

Other donations have been received from Louise Hansen for $300; Joyce Reeg of Wayne, $15; Victor Mares of Schuyler, $150 and an anonymous donation of $1,000.

The Iowa-Nebraska State Bank, which had Kirby Mousel paint a mural of the barn in the building, in exchange opened an account with a donation at that time to the Wakefield Heritage Organization, the group restoring the barn. The Bank now added another $150 to their contribution.

Anyone interested in contributing to the project may leave their donation at the Bank. For a contribution of $150 or more the donor will receive a barn sculpture created by Kirby Mousel.

Currently the WHO Group is conducting ticket sales for Pork Products donated by Jim Lehmkuhl and Iowa Beef of Madison. Tickets are available at Anderson Lumber, Pam's Barber Shop and Viken's Antique Store. Drawing will be Dec. 18.

REORGANIZING MEETING

The Wakefield Heritage Organization (WHO) will hold a reorganizing meeting Saturday, Dec. 8 at the school. Purpose of the meeting is to elect new officers, discuss a constitution for the group and non-profit status and organize a restorative committee.

Anyone interested in the preservation of the round barn and the placement of Wakefield

Memorabilia in the barn, is invited and encouraged to become a part of the WHO group.

Questions about WHO may be directed to Daryl Harrison, Jennifer Goos, or Kirby Mousel, all instructors at school.

HONOREES

Timarie Bebee and Megan Brown, both seniors at Wakefield High School, were recently named to the Clark Division of the Lewis and Clark Conference All-Conference Volleyball team.

Other local selections included Julie Jacobsen and Ashly Hoffman, both of Winside.

Gina Dutcher, a freshman and Kayla Erwin, a senior, from Wakefield were among the players who received honorable mention.

BOOK FAIR SUCCESS

The Scholastic Book Fair held during parent-teacher conferences at the Wakefield Community School's Library Media Center was a big success. The sales generated this year was $2,871 which was $750 over last year's sales, according to Jolene Klein, Library Media Specialist.

The Library Media Center was able to take books from the fair valued at $287 plus $430 in cash that the Library Media Center can use towards the purchase of books from any vendor. In addition by increasing sales by over 25 percent, the library received a bonus of $75 in books, as well as another bonus for booking a fair for next fall, Klein added.

The Library Media Center is grateful for the participation of so many community and school members. With list prices of hardback library books averaging between $15-$28 per copy, the benefits from the book fair can really stretch the materials budget for the library. The students at the school will "read" the benefits in the long run.

Many thanks are given to the student volunteers from Mrs. Harrison's class and study hall, Gary Rastede and others who helped set up and take down the fair: Sandra Driskell, Bonnie Hoffman, Dawn Lubberstedt, Pat

Lunz, Carlene Bodlak, Estelle Bierbower, LaVon Anderson, and Paula Erickson.

BABY SHOWER

A baby shower for Cole Gene Lundahl, son of Sherri and Brian Lundahl of rural Wakefield, was held Nov. 13 at the Wakefield home of Faye Greve.

Grandmothers Mary Lundahl and Deanna Wittler, along with employees of the Wakefield Health Care Center, enjoyed having Sherri share photos and other memorabilia from the 99 days Cole spent at the University Hospital in Omaha.

KAFE KALAS CANTATA

Keim is the son of Tom and Diane Keim and is a 1998 graduate of Wakefield High School. He is majoring in elementary education.

At WSC, he is a member of WSC Wildcat Football team and is a co-captain.

RECOGNIZED

SCHOOL BOARD MEETS

The regular meeting of the Wakefield Community School Board of Education was held on Nov. 12. Visitors were LaVonne Carson, Dale Fernau, Casey Fernau, Kathy Jensen, Rick and Eleanor Liekhus and Amy Munderloh.

Casey Fernau addressed the board in regards to a school function. Rick and Eleanor Liekhus visited with the board concerning consequences received on attendance issues. LaVonne Carson presented her Spanish curriculum.
