Wayne residents remain some-what shocked following the arrest of a local business man on charges of false imprisonment and sexual torture.

Nebraska Floral and Gifts owner Roger Van was cuffed and taken to the Pender jail last Thursday morning after an investigation by local authorities and the Nebraska State Patrol.

Van. 55 was charged with five criminal acts including: First Degree Sexual Assault; First Degree Assault; Second Degree Assault; First Degree False Imprisonment and Terroristic Threats.

Another Wayne man, Jerry Marshall, 36 was charged with four criminal acts in connection with the same incidents.

Marshall was taken to the Pierce jail and faces the following: First Degree Assault; Second Degree Assault; First Degree False Imprisonment and Terroristic Threats.

Marshall's bail was set at $100,000 while Van's bail was set at $150,000. Both men could be released with 10 percent of the bond posted until the first court appearance which is slated for Monday, Feb. 4 in Wayne.

The case involves the December disappearance of a 36-year-old Houston, Texas man who had come to Wayne after extensive communication with Van through the internet.

The Texas man arrived at the bus station in Omaha on Dec. 7 where he was picked up by Jerry Marshall and driven to Wayne to Van's flower shop at 221 Main Street.

According to the victim, he and Van were to begin a sadistic-bondage relationship that included various forms of torture and sex. Marshall participated in the activities with Van before Marshall aided in the victim's escape back to Houston

Once back in Houston, the victim went to the authorities who then immediately got in touch with the Nicaska State Patrol and the Wayne Police Department who headed up the investigation.

Marshall has cooperated with authorities by providing information.

The Nebraska State Patrol provided assistance through a criminal profiler, Gary Plank and a Computer Crimes Division expert in Scott of the flower shop.

The victim told authorities he was kept naked while in restraints over the nine-day stretch from Dec. 8 to Dec. 17.

While being held against his will the victim said he was subjected to numerous counts of sexual assault and assault.

At one point the defendents allegedly threatened to make the victim dig his own grave before being killed. The Wayne men also branded the letter "W" on the victim's right buttock. Van retained his own attorney, Doug Luebe of South Sioux City while Marshall's court-appointed attorney is Ron Temple of Norfolk.

Basement floor is dug up

By Kevin Peterson Of the Herald

Local law enforcement officials and the Nebraska State Patrol needed less than an hour to dig up the basement flooring of Nebraska Floral and Gifts at 223 Main Street, Tuesday morning after a cadaver dog used in the search of the business last Thursday picked up a scent. Officials used sledge hammers and picks to dig up the floor.

The basement of the building owned by Roger Van, housed a Houston, Texas man against his will in a small cell for nine days in December before his escape.

Van and another Wayne man, Jerry Marshall were arrested last Thursday in connection with the crime and both face multiple criminal charges.

Deputy Wayne County Attorney Chris Connolly said the search warrant was obtained simply as a precautionary matter.

"There was nothing found in the basement in the form of human remains," Connolly said. "There is no evidence that anything else took place. No one had been reported missing. What this search did was to verify and put some rumors to rest."

Connolly said the scent the dog picked up may have come from an old drain beneath the cement which was discovered when the floor was dug up.

"These dogs are very well trained to pick up any human scent with relation to bodily fluids," Connolly added."

Van, a former school teacher in Howells, owned and operated Nebraska Floral and Gifts since 1990. He had been living at the residence of his mother in Wakefield.

Marshall has only been in Wayne for a few months and had been residing at the business which contains apartments above and below the flower shop. Despite living what appeared to be a quiet life, Van had spent time in jail in the late 1980's after he was convicted of debauching a minor in Colfax County, He spent a year in the Lincoln Regional Center.

Though he moved to Wayne after serving his sentence, he was not required to register with local authorities as a convicted sex offender because that law did not come in to existence until 1997.

In obtaining search warrants for the purpose of digging up the basement, authorities had to get an additional warrant to search underneath the business at 223 Main Street since the buildings are connected.

A hole in the wall between Nebraska Floral and Gifts and the adjoining office building, also owned by Van was discovered.

Authorities said the cell which confined the victim was actually in the basement of 223 Main Street and not Van's flower shop basement.

Both Van and Marshall are scheduled to appear in court on Monday, Feb. 4 in Wayne. If the case moves on to district court, it could be held as early as March.

Wayne Police Lieutenant Phil Shear and police officer Rick Haase get ready to enter the Nebraska Floral and Gifts through the back entrance to get to the basement. The floor of the basement was dug up on Tuesday morning but revealed no remains. Both Roger Van and Jerry Marshall are scheduled to appear in court on Feb. 4 in Wayne. Authorities said the floor was dug up in less than an hour.

The Wayne Auditorium has been nominated by the Nebraska Historical Society to be listed on the National Register of Historic Buildings.

This does not really change what we have to with the building, but it does bring public recog-

At the council's request, the architect is reviewing the renovation design plans to evaluate the potential for doing more of the renovation over time as maintenance with city staff or by contracting it out locally.

We will have that information at the Feb. 12 council meeting. Water Backflow Valves

If a garden hose is under water filling a pail, soap or pesticide in the mixture can siphon from the pail back down into the water system. If an underground lawn sprinkler system is running at the time, small pools of water in the grass around the sprinkler heads could drain back into the system because the electric controller keeps the supply valve open even if there is no water pressure. If a manufacturing plant is running water into a production tank when the pressure drops, that product mix could siphon back down into the city water system. To prevent these from happening, Nebraska has regulations requiring backflow valves on certain residential and commercial water lines to stop the water from draining back down into the city water system and carrying contaminants when the pressure drops. The city water department is responsible for enforcing these state requirements and state officials spot check communities to verify compliance. Wayne has received notice that we will be spot checked late this spring. Backflow valves are required on underground sprinkler systems, manufacturing plants, hospitals, schools, etc. We will be doing spot checking to check residential chemical spraying using garden hoses to make sure they are protected with backflow hose bibscoll of yordoms' populations of the second of

Capital News Tax shift not popular idea

The Wayne

Herald

by Ed Howard Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

Gov. Mike Johanns certainly got the attention of long-time government watchers when he recently began uttering the words "tax shift."

To those familiar with Nebraska politics, "tax shift" connotes something akin to "Little Big Horn."

It was Republican Gov. Kay Orr who made the politically fatal mistake of telling Nebraskans that tax system revisions she supported wouldn't cause a tax increase; they would just cause a "tax shift."

When people get a paycheck this week, and the government takes more money out of it than it did last week, people figure "that's a tax increase." Mrs. Orr lost her bid for re-election.

Now, years later, comes Johanns. His "no tax increases" mantra has understandably stood him in good stead with the populace. So what does he start talking about? A tax shift. Why would any governor even say the words "tax shift"?

Johanns' gambit is based on his view that local property taxes are too high (can't go wrong there), and that the state ought to do something about them. Leading to the obvious inquiry: "Like what?"

"I\have always supported the idea that using state funds for property tax relief is appropriate," Johanns said in a recent interview. "I think property taxes in Nebraska are very high.

Critics of Johanns will say this is a political ploy. Johanns is talking about the need for local property tax relief while running for re-election this year, but he isn't saying

'how" he would propose to address. the issue when the Legislature meets next year. (That would be next year, as in, after the elections this year.) The trouble with that view is that it makes no sense. Johanns doesn't need any political shenanigans. He doesn't even have a viable opponent in sight at this writing. His approval rating, according to polls, indicates he would wallop anyone who challenged him. (This presupposes that neither Tom Osborne nor Eric Crouch want to run for governor.) 11

People who pay property taxes overwhelmingly think they pay too much. But does that mean there mightn't be a whopping political backlash if the Legislature increased the income tax burden? No, it doesn't. Or that there mightn't be political liability attached to a state sales tax increase or (what makes more sense) expanding the sales tax to services? And who could even imagine a Republican governor suggesting that any of the current tax exemptions enjoyed by business be repealed?

Finally, why would a governor facing a revenue shortfall of at least $50 million even talk about increasing the amount the state would spend to reduce local property tax burdens?

3A

The fact that people want one local tax to go down doesn't mean they support the notion of another state tax going up. No one is more aware of that reality than Johanns.

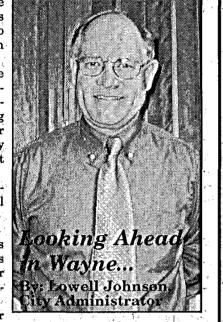

That's why it is so surprising that he would consider riding into that valley. The one where the very thought of "tax shift" conjures images of political blood letting.

Phone charges explained

A report by Rep. Doug Bereuter

The Federal Communications Commission has revised its consumer fact sheet entitled "Charges on Your Phone Bill." Many consumers do not understand the various charges and items on their monthly phone bills.

Here's the quick reference that describes some of these charges: 911 — This charge is imposed by local governments to help pay for emergency services such as fire and rescue.

Federal Excise Tax - This is a three percent tax mandated by the federal government (not the . Communications Federal Commission (FCC)). It is imposed on all telecommunications services, including local, long distance and wireless bills. (Federal) Subscriber Line Charge - This was instituted after the break-up of AT &T in 1984 to cover the costs of the local phone network. This charge may appear as "FCC Charge for Network Access," "Federal Line Cost Charge," "Interstate Access Charge," "Federal Access Charge," "Interstate Single Line Charge," Customer Line Charge" or "FCC-Approved Customer Line Charge." The FCC caps the maximum price that a company may charge for this, this is not a government or tax and it does not end up in the government's treasury. Local Number Portability Charge (LNP) - The FCC allows local telephone companies to recover certain costs for providing "tele-" phone number portability" to its. customers. This charge provides" residential and business telephone customers with the ability to retain, at the same location, their existing local telephone numbers when switching from one local telephone service provider to another. . This is a fixed, monthly charge. Local telephone companies may continue to assess this charge on . their customers' telephone bills for five years from the date the local telephone company first began enable eligible persons to buy program, which begins March 1. "I strongly support this ground-itemizing the charge on the bill. This is not a tax, State and Local Municipal Tax

- This charge is imposed by state, local and municipal governments on goods and services. It may also appear as a "gross receipts" tax in some states.

(State) Subscriber Line Charge - This charge is mandated by some states' public service or utility commissions to compensate the local phone company for part of the cost of providing local telephone lines associated with state services, i.e., intrastate long distance and local exchange services. Telecommunications Relay Services Charge - This state charge helps to pay for the relay center which transmits and translates calls for hearing-impaired and speech-impaired people.

need," said Engel, who represents District 17. The program will provide access to over 80 Pfizer medicines, including treatments for hypertension, high cholesterol, diabetes, Alzheimer's disease and depression.

To qualify, seniors must be enrolled in Medicare and have an annual gross income below $18,000, or less than $24,000 for couples. Recipients can have no other prescription drug coverage.

The program is designed to bridge the gap in drug coverage until broader Medicare reform is implemented.

"While the federal and state governments continue to work to expand prescription drug coverage for senior citizens, Pfizer has taken an important step in bridging this gap in health care for low-income seniors," Engel said.

cooks Naomi Peterson and Fern Erickson of the Concord Cafe are hanging up their aprons after 23 1/2 years.

Wanting to be able to relax and join their friends at the cafe, the ladies are hoping someone steps forth and offers to run the cafe they started.

"The town owns the cafe," the ladies remind me. "We're not sure how long they'll keep it open unless someone takes over."

The business is located on the south side of the Fire Department building on Main Street in Concord. The large room was once going to be used by the firemen but they hadn't finished it off. Finally, town officials completed the room so they could open a cafe and asked the ladies if they would be interested in running it.

"Years ago, there was a cafe across the street." Erickson said. "Mary Peterson was the last one running it. Before it closed, Erickson had worked there when Bertha Vollers ran it.

Thinking back, Peterson said her children had graduated and she was looking for something to do. She and her husband, Iner, farmed about 1 1/2 miles from Concord them going, especially when they had a lot of couples signed, up. They even ran the meals to Dixon for awhile.

Sometimes their husbands pitched in and helped too; especially in later years and on Saturdays which were big days for breakfasts.

Open 8-5 daily and every other Saturday, the ladies were kept busy through the years. They served the most meals at noon. In the afternoons, they would make their pie crusts, cookies, etc. to get ready for the next day. They froze their crusts and then filled and baked them each morning so they had fresh pies to serve.

"We made desserts, too," Erickson said. "One we always had on hand was banana split dessert because it could be frozen. That way if we ran short, we could get it out of the freezer. Some people though, wanted only that dessert." Peterson smiled and said a lady stopped in the other day asking for the recipe.

Explaining how the two worked good together. They had a system worked out; each cooked three days a week and each waitressed three days a week. Also, if one had to be gone, the other was there to take over.

Even though the ladies agree they will miss the people they served, they are looking forward to retirement. "I'll be free to do what I want," Peterson said.

Books for Babies program to begin

The Wayne Public Library Books for Babies program began as an ides nurtured by Lauran Lofgren and Jennifer Pommer in 2001.

This January, the program was put into action by Julie Osnes and Peggy Nelson (of the Library) and Sandy Bartling (of the Providence Medical Center Foundation).

The program provides a canvas tote bag filled with items for mothers of infants born at Providence Medical Center.

The Wayne Public Library Foundation purchased the tote bags. The Library provided board books, magnets and bookmarks to be included as gifts. Staff members also compiled à booklet of finger plays and songs, along with other useful information from resources in the Parenting Corner. Brochures about the Books for Babies program and the Parenting Corner also also included in the bags. Through this program, the Wayne Public Library hopes to encourage the families of the nearly 100 babies born each year at Providence to read to their children from infancy and make use of the resources available at the library as a family.

The Wayne boys basketball team posted a rare win at Hartington Cedar Catholic last Friday night and Rocky Ruhl's Blue Devils put in a little overtime in doing so.

In fact, it's the first win at Cedar since the early 1990's and it was Ruhl's first win in Hartington during his nine-year tenure as Blue Devil mentor.

Wayne trailed 24-23 at the half and 36-25 after three quarters of play.

The Blue Devils needed a heroic finish just to send the game to overtime and they got it.

Wayne was trailing 48-47 with 11 seconds left. On Cedar's inbounds pass Wayne fouled to send Cedar to the free throw line for a one-and-one which was missed.

Wayne rebounds the ball and is fouled but the Blue Devils missed both free throws but Brad Hansen gets the offensive board.

The Blue Devils however, lose possession of the ball and are forced to foul. Cedar hits one free throw and misses the other for a two point lead at 49-47 with 6.2 seconds left.

Volk takes the ball coast-tocoast and is fouled with 1.2 seconds on the clock, He makes both free throws which forced overtime. In the bonus period Wayne and Cedar traded the first baskets and then it was all Wayne, as they outscored the host team, 12-2 for the 61-51 win.

"Our guys never gave up," Ruhl added. "It was another great win on the road."

Brad Hochstein scored 16 to lead the winners with Brad Hansen and Jon Ehrhardt each adding 13 while Ric Volk tallied Luke Christensen added five points and Caleb Garvin, two.

"The O'Neill game went like we wanted," Ruhl said. "We got to play a lot of people. Brad Hansen got a lot of good looks and he made O'Neill pay for leaving him open." Hansen poured in 26 points as he nearly equalled O'Neill's total output.

Ric Volk and Brad Hochstein scored eight each with Jon Ehrhardt and Bryan Fink each scoring six while Caleb Garvin and Ryan Schmeits added five apiece.

Luke Christensen tallied four points with Jeff Pippitt netting three while Travis Luhr tossed in two.

Wayne out-rebounded O'Neill, 30-22 led by Hansen and Erhardt with five caroms each.

Wayne will travel to play West Point on Friday before taking part in their first ever Mid-States Conference Tournament on Tuesday at Northeast Community College.

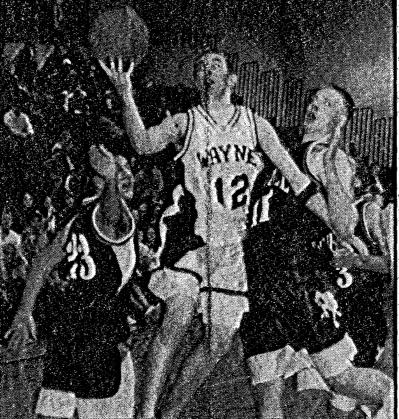

The Blue Devils will play Battle Creek in the first round as Wayne drew the number two seed behind Pierce.

Norfolk Catholic will play West Point Central Catholic in the other quarterfinal game in Wayne's bracket with the winners squaring off on Friday, Feb. 1. The championship is slated for Saturday, Feb. 2 at Northeast Community College.

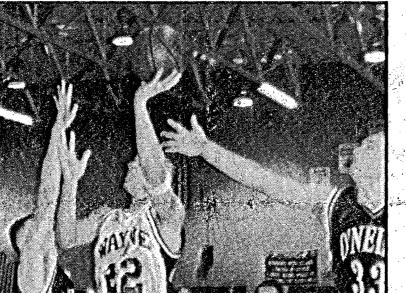

The other half of the bracket has top seed Pierce playing Madison and four seed Boone Central playing Hartington Cedar Catholic.

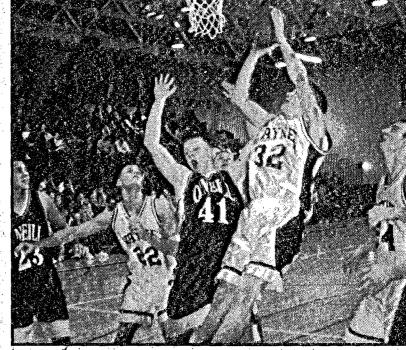

Wayne's JV team went 1-1 over the weekend with a 54-48 loss at Cedar and a 54-41 win over O'Neill. The 8-2 JV squad was led inscoring against Cedar by Mike Sturm with 14 and Bryan Fink with 12 while Ryan Schmeits added nine.

Travis Luhr scored five and Winside cage teams defeat Clarkson but fall to the Vikings

The Winside girls and boys basketball teams played a pair of games last week with the girls downing Clarkson, 60-46 but falling to Wausa, 53-46.

At Clarkson the Wildcats got 31 points from Julie Jacobsen while the senior hauled down a gamehigh 10 rebounds as well.

Winside trailed 25-23 at the half and led 37-34 after three quarters of play.

Amy Rademacher scored a career-high 17 points and Stacy Wittler tallied seven while Kayla Bowers and Makayla Marotz netted two each and Kalynda Hokamp, one.

The Winside boys also went 1-1 with a 65-55 win over Clarkson but a 67-61 setback to Wausa. Against Clarkson, Adam Hoffman scored 20 points while Ben Lienemann added 17 and Denton Cushing, 11 while Adam Pfeiffer scored nine and Michael Hawkins, six. Andy Roberts rounded out the attack with two. Hoffman also had nine rebounds while dishing out nine assists. Winside led Wausa, 50-49 after three quarters of play but was out-scored, 18-11 in the final stanza.

Adam Hoffman scored 24 and Wayne won the boards battle, 28-22 as Hochstein had nine rebounds while Hansen and Christensen had seven each and Ehrhardt, one.

Volk dished out a game-high 12 assists. Christensen and Ehrhardt each had three steals. Saturday in Wayne, the Blue Devils pummeled O'Neill by a 73-40 margin.

Wayne led 44-17 at the half and out-scored the Eagles, 29-13 in the second half for the lop-sided Heath Dickes, four while Brady Heithold tossed in three and Chris Nissen, one.

Chris Nissen led all scorers against O'Neill with a dozen points while Mike Sturm added 10 and Travis Luhr, seven. Bryan Fink netted six points and Ryan Hix, Ryan Schmeits, Heath Dickes and Brady Heithold added four each while Austin Leighty scored two and Trevor Krugman, one.

Wayne State's men's basketball team enjoyed a weekend sweep in the friendly confines of Rice Auditorium as Rico Burkett's 'Cats defeated Minnesota State Moorhead, 72-69 on Friday before posting a 79-74 win over Minnesota-Crookston on Saturday.

The 'Cats improved to 6-10 overall and 3-6 in NSIC play. In the Moorhead contest WSC fell behind early, scoring just five points over the first 10-plus minutes.

The Cats rallied and trailed by just a point at the half, 28-27.

Levi Cahill's three-pointer at the 13:29 point of the second half put the host team up by three at 44-41 and WSC would never relinquish the lead.

In fact, WSC held a seemingly comfortable 10-point lead with under a minute remaining but Moorhead hit three, three-pointers in a 40-second span while WSC missed four consecutive free throws as the gap narrowed to three.

Moorhead had possession of the ball with 17 seconds left, with a three-pointer needed for a tie but the shot drew iron and WSC ran out the clock.

WSC rode the wings of some red-hot shooting in the second half as the 'Cats sank nearly 62 percent of their attempts.

The back breaker for Moorhead came when Tim Gesell hit backto-back three-pointers to push the 'Cats lead to double digits.

WSC was led by Todd Klostermann with 14 points while Brett Cain scored 12 while blocking three shots. Levi Cahill and Derek Archer each scored nine. WSC edged the Dragons on the boards, 33-31 as Archer hauled down a team-high five caroms, Justin Sanny dished out a career-high eight assists. Saturday against Crookston, WSC sprinted to a 46-33 lead at the half and the gap remained around that margin with the 'Cats. holding a 14-point cushion with 11:29 remaining.

Crookston responded with a 15-3 scoring run which trimmed the margin to two at 64-62 with 6:07 left in regulation.

Winside wrestlers third at Oakland Craig; six medal

The Winside wrestling team finished third at the Oakland-Craig Invite last Saturday as Paul Sok's Wildcats had six medal winners including Jared Jaeger (119) and Brandon Suehl (125) who captured individual championships.

2B 🚊

Jaeger went 4-0 in placing first and in doing so surpassed the 100victory mark for his career.

The senior won two matches by pin and defeated Todd Ruzicka of North Bend, 9-2 in the finals.

Suchl will likely move to the top of the ratings at 125 pounds after knocking off previously secondranked Craig Brester of Howells in the finals by pin. The top ranked wrestler was also defeated last week which should enable third-ranked Suehl to move to the top.

En route to his championship, Suchl earned a major decision over Brandon Carlson of Scribner who was ranked fourth before downing Brester.

"Brandon's intensity is his main asset at this time," Sok added. "He is at the top of his game."

Bo Brummels (112) and Tom Schwedhelm (189) each placed runner-up with Schwedhelm falling victim to top-ranked Michael Bayer of Howells, 3-1 in overtime.

The two have clashed six times in the past two seasons with Bayer winning all of them by one or two points with three of the matches going to overtime.

Schwedhelm's loss in the finals snapped his 20-match win streak. Nathan Stevens finished third at 130 and Mike Tomasek placed fourth at 275 to round out the medal winners.

North Bend won the team title with 223 points while Norfolk Catholic tallied runner-up honors with 188.5 points.

Winside scored 136 with Oakland-Craig netting 123 and Pender, 106.5.

Howells, Elkhorn JV's, West Point CC, West Point, Ponca, Scribner Snyder, Tekamah-Herman JV's, Laurel-Concord, Logan View JV's and Oakland-Craig JV's, rounded out the field of teams in order,

"I felt we finished where we were capable of," Sok said. "It was a very tough tournament and though we finished, third, I thought we could have scored a few more points,"

Sok said among the strongest weight divisions was 275 where 16 heavyweights went at it with the Winside special placing fourth.

"Mike reached the 20-win mark for the year with his showing and I have to admit this had to be one of the toughest heavyweight groups I've seen in a long time. Not too many small school tournaments have 16 heavyweights." Winside will wrestle at the Ainsworth Invite on Saturday in what Sok is calling an even stronger field than the one at Oakland,

Mother Nature is in the process of changing the landscape from dull grays and browns to the lush greens of a new awakening. The woods are alive with the sounds of spring. As the sun starts to make it's appearance in the eastern sky, the woods become full of the sounds of a world awakening.

One of these sounds is the gobble of the wild turkey and once you've heard it in the woods, the spring turkey and the sounds of spring too will mesmerize you.

Last year, I drew eight tags, hunting spring turkey in Wyoming, The Black Hills, South Dakota, Nebraska and Missouri. I had a tough year, only bagging 4 birds, but I wasn't disappointed, I was thrilled just to have the opportunity to be able to be out enjoying the outdoors. I've tagged 63 toms, most of these being Merriam.

Four main subspecies of wild turkeys inhabit the United States. They are the Eastern, Rio Grande, Osceola and the Merriam.

In the Nebraska and South Dakota, Merriam are the dominant species, although in some areas, there are small groups of Rio Grande and hybrids.

Merriam turkeys originally lived in northern mountain states of Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona they have adapted to the northern mountain states and the prairie states. The Merriam is about the same size as the Eastern birds.

The Eastern turkey, found in thirty-eight states can be found from Iowa west, with a few coming across the Missouri River into eastern Nebraska. The eastern turkey is the largest of the breed with toms weighing in at thirty pounds with a twenty-pound average and hens coming in at eight to twelve pounds,

The Rio Grande inhabits the wide-open spaces of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas. A tom will weigh in at twenty pounds and a hen will weigh eight to 12 pounds. The Osceola turkey inhabits Florida and a fifth subspecies. The Osceola is the smallest of the species, with toms weighing less than twenty pounds; the other subspecies in North America is the Gould lives in Mexico.

Once you've tagged the four subspecies that live in the U.S., you've

I've been fortunate enough to tag three of the species and hope. to make a trip to Florida this year to complete my Grand Slam.

Spring turkey hunting isn't as tough as many would have you believe! There are a couple of things you'll need, and if you're a hunter, you more than likely already have them.

Camouflage clothing is very important, because a turkeys eye sight if phenomenal and they can detect things that doesn't fit into the terrain quickly. You'll need to blend in with your surroundings. Clothing such as dull flat greens and browns will work as long as you can sit still, but a good camouflage pattern will give you the edge that can make the difference between success and failure.

You'll also need a full choke shotgun as most turkeys are taken at 25 to 35 yards. Turkeys may look like a big target, but you'll need to remember that body shots on turkeys won't bring them down! Their feathers will slow down even the heaviest loads. Chances are that a bird hit in the body will eventually die, but they'll run or fly great distances and won't be recovered by the hunter.

Copper clad five or six shot patterns best in my twelve gauge at these distances. The best shot on a turkey is a head and neck shot. You'll need to put a good number of pellets in the head and neck region to drop a turkey in his tracks.

Every spring, I take my shotgun out and fire it to pattern it at different distances. I want to know how many pellets are going to hit the head and neck at what distance, just in case I have to take a longer shot.

The real thrill of spring turkey hunting is calling the bird in. It becomes a competition between you and the bird.

Toms generally don't come to the hen; so you need to reverse the way things happen in the wild. If a tom gobbles, he's letting the hen know his location and she's suppose to come to him.

In order to do this, you'll need to talk turkey! It's really pretty easy as it's a rhythm and once you get the rhythm down, you've got it! One long yelp and five short yelps! A box call is the easiest to use and as long as you keep it chalked, it's almost impossible to sound bad enough to not sound like a hen. turkey.

Some of the worst sounding calls I've ever heard came from hen turkeys. Just like people, all hens don't sound the same.

The most important thing that you'll need is patience, because Toms can be pretty stubborn and hang up just out of gun range, expecting the hen to come to him. I like to call from one spot for an average of twenty to thirty minutes before moving to a new set up location.

Calling gobblers in the spring is one sport that every outdoorsmen and women should try, it's a great way to get out and enjoy the beauty of spring and all that the great outdoors has to offer.

Gets Friend of the Rotary Award

Nancy Cederland, representing Haven House, was honored by the Wayne Rotary Club with the Friend of Rotary Award. She was selected for her outstanding leadership and contribution to the community of Wayne.

Nancy, her husband David, and daughter Kristyne (age 8) currently reside in Wakefield. They all have a love for animals and the great outdoors, especially camping and boating, Nancy and David moved to the Wayne area in February of 1986 due to David's employment with Great Dane Trailers (formerly known as Timpte, Inc.)

Nancy also became employed by Great Dane in the summer of 1986 and remained with the company until returning to college fulltime in the fall of 1995. She started her employment with Great Dane as the Bill of Materials Clerk in the Engineering Department and later transferred into the Industrial Relations Department as a Records Clerk.

In August of 1996 Nancy received a Bachelors of Science Degree in Human Service Counseling from Wayne State College and started employment with

Haven House Family

She was promoted in April of 1997 to the position of Executive Director and is still serving Haven House in that capacity.

Haven House provides crisis intervention and support services for domestic violence and sexual assault victims in the counties of Cedar, Dakota, Dixon, Wayne, and Thurston (including the Omaha and Winnebago Reservations).

During the past five years the agency has experienced tremendous growth in caseload; growth that is quite evident when comparing the current fiscal year average of 56 clients per month to the 1996 fiscal year average of 27 clients per month.

To accommodate the increased caseload and provide a more immediate delivery of services the agency established satellite offices in South Sioux City and Hartington, along with the addition of personnel to provide services. Haven House operates with a small staff (currently 5), a gov+ erning board of directors, and approximately 45 volunteers that contribute an average of 1,000 hours monthly.

The services the agency provides would not be possible without volunteers and the strong sup-

John Thies and his family recently opened the locker in Winside and named it "Thies Family Locker."

Winside locker is under new ownership

John Thies of Winside has purchased the former Winside Locker business and has re-named it Thies Family Locker.

The locker opened its doors in late November.

"We are a custom service," Thies said. "We do our own slaughtering and processing of beef and pork. We will also process deer meat."

"We have available a variety of over-the-counter meats for sale and we specialize in our dried beef, summer sausage and hot dogs.

The locker is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Saturdays from 8 a.m. to noon. In addition, they can be reached at (402) 286-1010 in emergencies. Thies can also be reached at his home at (402) 286-4705.

John is a native of Winside and a Winside High School graduate. He is a volunteer EMT and member of the Winside Fire Department and Rescue Squad. He has four children, ranging in age from 15 to six. His previous locker experience comes from working at Roman's in Norfolk and IBP.

Super Clinic on Monday, Jan. 28 from 10:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

The clinic will be held at the Family Resource Center, 403 Johnson Street in Wakefield. (Please note the change in the day the Super Clinic is held. Wakefield Super Clinic will now be held the fourth Monday of the month instead of the fourth Tuesday of the month.)

The Super Clinic offers immunizations, WIC - Women. Infants and Children Nutrition, well-child checks - a complete head to toe physical, Lead Screening and enrollment in Kids Connection - a, state insurance program for chil-. dren.

Women, Infants and Children Nutrition Program provides free food and nutrition information to help keep pregnant women, infants and children under five healthy and strong. Eligibility requirements include living in Nebraska, being pregnant, postpartum or breastfeeding women, an infant or child under five years of age, having a nutritional risk and meeting the set income guidelines.

Well-child checks are conducted at the clinics free of charge to participants. Currently, the age requirement for well-child checks are infant to 21 years of age. Those interested are asked to call for an appointment for the physical.

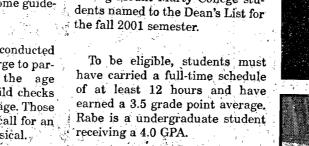

guidelines. The child should be accompanied by the parent or guardian and bring past immunization records. Proxy forms may be obtained by contacting the Wisner office at (402) 529-3513. A $15 administration fee per child is requested to help defray the costs of the clinic. No one will be denied immunizations for inability to pay.

The clinic now offers pneumococcal conjugate vaccine (Prevnar) which can prevent pneumococcal disease, the leading cause of bacterial meningitis in the U.S. Prevnar is available for VFC (Vaccine for Children) eligible children.

Participants are asked to call (402) 529-3513 or 1-800-445-2505 for an appointment regarding immunizations, Women, Infants and Children Nutrition, well-child checks or more information.

the investment world alone. In fact, if you're going to make the right decision in all types of markets, you'll need the help of an investment professional - but that's not the only reason to work with one.

Reasons for seeing an investment professional

 Maintaining proper portfolio diversification - Over the years, you may have bought some stocks here, some bonds there and some money market accounts somewhere else. But have you ever analyzed your portfolio to make sure it was properly diversified? An investment professional can help you keep your assets allocated in a way that is appropriate for your individual goals, tolerance for risk and time horizon.

• Dealing with an inheritance - If you inherited a substantial sum of money, what would you do with it? Would you know the best way to invest it to help you meet your objectives? Would you know how to avoid taking a big tax hit? An investment professional, along with your tax adviser, can help you with these issues.

• Planning for retirement --You've probably already thought a bit about your retirement, but have you really envisioned what it might look like? Will you spend your time traveling and pursuing hobbies, or will you do some parttime work or consulting? An investment professional can help you put a price tag on your goals and suggest investment strategies for achieving them. By showing you how much you need to save, and what type of return you need to earn, your investment professional can help guide you along a well-planned path toward retirement security.

 Transferring 401(k) money — When you leave your job, you'll have to decide what to do with your 401(k). You could just take the cash, but you'd have to pay income taxes, along with a possible 10 percent penalty. You could leave the money in your employer's plan, if allowed. Or you could roll over your 401(k) to an IRA or your new employer's plan. An investment professional can help you decide which move will be in your best interests.

• For all these reasons, and many others, you'll want to work with a qualified investment professional. But don't just pick the first name you see. Ask your friends and relatives whom they use. You may want to interview several people until you find one with whom you'd be comfortable working Look for someone who has experience working with people like you. Once you've found a good match, don't hesitate to get down to work. The sooner you start getting professional assistance, the faster the progress you'll make toward your financial goals.

at Diversified Services in Laurel price scenarios which may occur at harvest."

New grain marketing tool is introduced

North Side Grain in Laurel is a subagent for Diversified Services. Tim Gubbels or Dave Anderson begin by inputting information, such as average yield and number of acres per crop, into the Strategizer computer program The farmer's break-even cost is established, as well as a "this is what I'd love to make per acre" income level.

With the touch of a button, a simple, down-to-earth chart plots out exactly where the farmer's break-even and desired revenue lines fall for various yield/ price options.

"Basically, there are nine different scenarios a farmer could see during harvest: anywhere from low vields with low prices to big even line, indicating a loss for that crop year; some rise above the desired revenue line, showing the farmer potential for profit that crop year.

If a farmers doesn't like the income projections he sees. Gubbels said, he can adjust his grain marketing plans or increase his crop insurance levels to see what those changes may do to his income projections for the year.

With Strategizer, it's all there in black and white - and red and green and blue.

"Farmers can farm with the peace of mind that comes from knowing their hard work will be rewarded," Anderson said. "That's a benefit farmers haven't had for a very long time and North Side Grain is proud to be the one to provide it."

Strategizer will be unveiled at

Attend district meeting

The Jan. 21 meeting of the Wayne Eagles Auxiliary was called to order by Madam President DeAnn Behlers.

The District 6 meeting was held in Fullerton on Jan. 20. Attending from Wayne were Bob and DeAnn Behlers, Tony Olson, Byron and Barb Heier, Cec Vandersnick and Charles Roland. There were several state officers in attendance also, including Madam State President Charlene Koch.

Attendance drawings were won by DeAnn Behlers and Cec Vandersnick of Wayne and Jo Beyer. The State Ding-A-Ling came from Norfolk. Jeanne Peterson from Hastings gave a presentation on the City of Hope. Activities and ideas from the clubs were discussed.

The group will be having a Steak Fry on Saturday, Feb. 2 from 6 to 9 p.m. Salads are appreciated but not necessary to attend. The public is welcome to join the group.

The annual Smoker will be Saturday, Feb. 9 from 6 p.m. to 1 a.m. Beef, pork, beans, chips, kraut and pickles will be served. Set up will be on Friday, Feb. 8.

Members welcomed a new sister, Lisa Popejoy. The membership race continues with the men hot on the heals' with new members.

A "Kiss the Pig" contest will be held to help raise money for the club's 25th anniversary. The contest will be between the Aeries' President Jim Nuernberger and Auxiliary's President DeAnn Behlers. Which ever of the two ends up with the least amount of money will have to kiss the pig. The looser then has the option of matching the donated amount and passing the "kiss" to someone else.

The meeting attendance drawing was not won at this meeting. The club's newest member, Lisa Popejoy, was appointed to take over the office of Outside Guard, which had been held by Mardella Olson.

Lunch was served by Bonnie Mohfeld and Vern Jaqua. The next meeting will be on Monday, Feb. 4 with Doris Gilliland and Tracy Henschke serving lunch.

Eric not only had to compete against the other students, but his sister and brother, Tyler and Aprill. They are the children of Marvin and Carleen Bodlak. Runner up in the contest was

Morgan Lunz, Other contestants were Tim

Suing, Margan Lunz, Tyler Bodlak, Sarah Mousel, Teresa Foote, Brelynn Puckett, Aprill Bodlak, Eric Bodlak, Matt Erwin, and Chelsey Victor.

The next step for Eric is to take another written exam. From the exam, the top scores across the state will qualify to compete to go on to the national contest.

UNDERGO SURGERY

Friends of nine-year-old Alexandrina Gardea will host an Omelet Feed and Bake Sale on Sunday, Jan. 27 to help her and her family with medical costs and other expenses.

She is a fourth grader at Wakefield Elementary School and the daughter of Ofelia Caleros and Isisdoro Gardea of Wakefield. Doctors have diagnosed her with arterial vein mal-formation and she is scheduled to undergo brain surgery in late January at St. Joseph's Hospital in Phoenix, Ariz:

Prior to the major surgery, Alexandrina will undergo five preliminary surgery procedures over a five-day period. Her condition currently does not allow her to attend school.

The fundraiser will include an omelet feed and bake sale from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Wakefield Fire Hall along with a number of donated items for a raffle.

The event is being co-sponsored and matching will be e provided by Aid Association for Lutheran Branch 1542 of Wakefield and Lutheran Brotherhood, Wayne County Branch 8212.

Free will donations will be accepted for the omelets. If you cannot attend and would like to contribute, a fund has been established at the Iowa/Nebraska State

Bank. Checks may be made out to the Alexandrina Gardea Fund and left at the bank or mailed tot he bank at PO Box 180, Wakefield, Ne. 68784.

If you have an item you would like to donate for the raffle, please contact Shelly Schultz at 402-287-3154 or Kathy Muller at 287-2448.

PLAN INFORMATIONAL BOOK A number of committees are busy working on details for hosting BRAN riders in June. The bikers will be arriving in Wakefield from Battle Creek on Thursday morning, June 13 and stay overnight.

BRAN published and gives to each participant a book with information about the host communities. The book gives riders an idea of what to expect in the way of' food, activities and shopping opportunities in the communities they visit.

The book includes maps of the path from one community to the next, lists times and locations of activities, a brief history of the community, etc.

The book also includes advertising from businesses and organizations in the host community. The ads promote what the businesses may have to offer--foods, souvenirs, etc.

Anyone interested is welcome to advertise in the the book. Currently a committee of Kathy Skinner, Rosa Villa and Linda Rischmueller is working on organizing the advertising. You may contact any one of them if interested. SINCE 1981.

The Ride Across Nebraska (BRAN) organized in 1981. The group was established to provide a safe enjoyable bicycle ride across returned to Nebraska in a very beneficial way. One of these ways is to present host communities with a $500 scholarship to in turn to be given to a local high school graduaté. The recipient must attend a Nebraska college.

our great state. The beautiful countryside and the people of Nebraska, according to BRAN, are two of the best-kept secrets of the United States.

BRAN has developed a reputation as the best way to see the state of Nebraska up close and personal. BRAN allows one to sneak a peak into this pristine beauty and rugged individualism, which characterizes our state.

Although primarily not a fund raising event, the excess funds generated from BRAN are

"BRAN is far more than just a bike ride," state organizers. COMPLIMENTARY CALENDARS

The Wakefield Heritage Organization (WHO) is currently offering a 2002 Barn Again Calendar published by the Madison County Historical Society to prospective members of the group.

The round barn south of Wakefield is the featured barn for the month of October. Restoration of the round barn is W.H.O.'s main focus.

The calendar also features a Dixon County Barn which is surrounded by grazing land for the Tar Box Hollow buffalo. The scene also includes a pair of buffalo cows and their calves.

Another barn in the calendar is the Hansen Barn in Hunter Township in Wayne County located a couple miles east of Wayne. Membership dues are just $5 a year. The group is looking for interested people to assist with the restoration process. The group meets the second Saturday of the month at 10 a.m. at the Wakefield Fire Hall.

At the group's meeting Saturday morning, Jan. 12, discussion was on securing estimates for repair work on the floor to stabilize the barn and also the window repair and replacement. Enough money has been raised to begin some of these types of restoration projects. Donations are still being accepted at Iowa/Nebraska State Bank. Donors contributing $150 or more will receive a complimentary replica of the round barn.

To become an active member, please contact W.H.O. secretary Sylvia Olson. SURPRISE COUPLE

Laurel on Jan. 15. The evening's topic was "Youth Community Involvement and Retention." Dr. Gary Heusel, State Director 4-H Youth Development from the University of Nebraska at Lincoln, presented the program. The Northeast Community Builders is a regional division of statewide Nebraska the Community Builders, which was founded in the 1990s by Dr. Robert Manley, with support from the Nebraska Rural Development Commission and the Nebraska Department Economic of Development.

This regional entity is dedicated to the purpose of mobilizing community members in support of local/ area economic development and is made possible through the active staffing of the Northeast Nebraska Public Power District. Five counties - Cedar, Cuming, Dixon, Stanton and Wayne - are currently included in the Northeast Region. Among the 31 in attendance at the January meeting were representatives of these communities: Carroll, Laurel, Dixon, Hartington, Martinsburg, Wisner and Wayne.

Generally, the Northeast Community Builders meet every other month at rotating sites. The next meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday, March 19 in Wisner.

Explaining the plan

Judith Berry, left, Karin Vaughn, center and Amy Jackson, right, spoke to members of the Wayne Kiwanis Club this week. The three are spear-heading a project to put a mural, depicting the past, present and future on the side of a building on West Third Street. The project, should be completed in early May.

'100th Day' noted

Allen students took part in a "100th Day of School" party on Monday. Joy Bock, the Kindergarten teacher, planned the event and several grades had activities. Clockwise, upper left, Kindergartners wear hats and glasses and pose with their teacher who's holding a cake in the shape of 100, Upper right, 5th graders made hats which had 100 items on them. Middle right, 3rd grade student, Jill Stallbaum, points to the mosaic picture she made. Third graders each used 100 pieces of paper to create their pictures. Bottom, left, posters the Kindergarten class made each showing 100 things they like to eat. Middle, left, a banner the children made to hang in the hallway at school. Candy kisses with numbers on were hidden in the school and each class had to find and chart them till all 100 were found.

Participate in policing program

Lance Webster, chief of police and Phil Shear, lieutenant, both of the Wayne Police Department, participated in the session, "A Police Response to Terrorism in the Heartland" in Lenexa, Kan.

The program was hosted last month by the Regional Community Policing Training Institute at Wichita State University. The course placed a new emphasis on assessing possible terrorist targets within the community, identifying people who may be directly involved or have direct knowledge of terrorism acts and developing and sharing law enforcement intelligence in these issues.

The nearly 15,000-student Wichita State University is committed to providing comprehensive educational opportunities in a metropolitan setting through teaching, scholarship and public service. Keith Harvey of Creighton and J. Paul McIntosh of Norfolk were selected as representatives to the Nebraska Community College Association (NCCA) Board. Also reappointed were Diane Reikofski of Tilden as Recording Secretary and Steve Schram of Norfolk as Board Treasurer, Honored at the board's meeting as outgoing chairman was Larry Poessnecker of Atkinson. During his service as board chairman, Poessnecker led the college in the selection of a new president, Dr. Bill Path.

Also during Poessnecker's term, college enrollment continued to increase to an all-time high enrollment of more than 7,400 credit students and more than 18,000 continuing education students. Poessnecker has served on the board since 1989 and represents Brown, Boyd, Holt, Keya Paha, Knox and Rock Counties.

Lifestyle What is a strong family?

One question that has fascinated researchers in the field of family studies for many years is "What constitutes a strong family?"

In essence, what are the qualities that make for success in families? Finding an answer to this question is important, because with this foundation knowledge we can help people in families learn about family strengths and give them the information necessary to create their own strong family.

Our research at the University of Nebraska for more than 20 years has focused on families in the U.S. and around the world who believe they are doing well. Information has been gathered through in-depth family interviews, observations and written questionnaires. Family members from all 50 states have participated in a series of more than 40 studies. More than 60 researchers at UN-L and allied universities in America and internationally have been involved in these studies, Nearly 18,000 family members have participated in these efforts, including people in 27 countries. The amazing thing to us, when you ask people around the globe, "What makes your family strong?" the answers are remarkably similar from culture to culture.

Our model of family strengths has six general qualities;

• Appreciation and affection: People in strong families deeply care for one another and they let each other know this on a regular basis. They are not afraid to express their love.

• Commitment: Members of strong families are often task-oriented in their commitment to one another, investing time and energy in family activities and not letting their work or other priorities take too much time away from family interaction.

• Positive communication. Successful families are often taskoriented in their communication identifying problems and discussing how to solve them together. Perhaps even more important than this, however, strong families also spend time talking with and listening to one another just to stay connected. Some of the most important talk occurs when no one is working at connection: openended, rambling convérsations can reveal important information which helps smooth out the bumps of family living, • Enjoyable time together: One, study of 1,500 school children asked, "What do you think makes a happy family?" Few replied that money, cars, fancy homes, television sets or Disney World made a happy family. The kids were most likely to say that a happy family is one that does things together, a family that genuinely enjoys the times they share with each other.

• Spiritual well-being. Perhaps the most controversial finding of the family strengths research is the importance of religion or spirituality in strong families. We use the term spiritual well-being to describe this concept, indicating that it can include organized religion, but not necessarily so.

People in strong families describe this concept in a wide variety of ways: some talk about faith in God, hope, or a sense of optimism on life, some say they feel a oneness with the world. Others talk about their families in almost religious terms, describing the love they feel for one another with a great deal of reverence. Others express these kinds of feelings in terms of ethical values and commitment to important causes Spiritual well-being can be seen as the caring center within each individual that promotes sharing, love and compassion. It is a feeling or force that helps people transcend themselves and their petty day-today hassles and focus on that which is sacred to them in life.

Successful management of stress and crisis. Strong families are not immune to stress and crisis, but they are not at crisis-prone_as troubled families tend to be, Rather, they possess the ability to manage both daily stressors and difficult like crises creatively and effectively. They know how to prevent trouble before it happens and how to work together to meet challenges when they inevitably occur in life.

Little change expected for 2002 ag markets

Grain prices are likely to continue to stagnate in 2002, and the outlook for livestock prices appears only slightly better, say University of Nebraska experts. "I think we're going to continue to struggle with commodity prices," said Roy Frederick, University of Nebraska policy specialist. "I don't see any bonanza in the immediate future."

Large corn and soybean supplies will continue to keep prices down in 2002, the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources specialist said.

"With prices of both of our largest crops struggling, it is hard to be real optimistic about the crop sector," Frederick said.

Lynn Lutgen, NU. marketing specialist, said the average projected price for corn is $1.85 to $2.15 per bushel compared to $1.92 last year and $1.82 in 2000. Sovbean's projected range is $4 to $4.80 per bushel, compared to $4.54 in 2001 and $4.63 a bushel in 2000.

"There aren't many positive thing's a person can say about the corn and soybean picture," Lutgen said. "When you have a marketthat's sitting still and not doing a whole lot, there isn't much you can : do:

Lutgen said the United States

be to get rid of last year's crop. "It's the whole world picture --the value of the dollar and other decline 0.5 to 1 percent, that countries substituting closer crops and not buying as far ahead," he said.

On the grain price front there is one bright spot, Frederick said: Wheat prices reached the highest level in three years in early January. The average price for the 2001-2002 marketing year was $2.70 to $2.80 per bushel, and the new crop could reach $3.20 to $3.40 per bushel, Lutgen said.

There's also encouraging news on the expense front: Fuel and fertilizer prices have gone down, as have interest rates for operating loans. Yet to be determined is the impact the new Farm Bill may have on prices.

The livestock outlook is slightly better, Frederick said. Livestock numbers aren't expected to increase dramatically, demand in the U.S. remains steady and, as the economy recovers, export markets also may improve.

Dillon Feuz, farm management specialist at NU's Panhandle Research and Extension Center in Scottsbluff, said there are encouraging signs but also some reason for concern in the beef sector.

"When you look at total cattle isn't exporting as fast as it should - numbers, beef cattle have been declining during the last three to four years," he said. "As they should be positive for beef producers in Nebraska. Likewise, if you look at feedlot cattle, the last three to four months' placements in those feedlots are lower than in previous years."

In 2001, U.S. beef cow numbers were 33.4 million and are expected to be 33 million head in 2002. Fed cattle prices for first quarter 2002 are projected to be 5 to 10 percent below 2001 levels.

"Recently a couple of things are depressing cattle prices and those trends will continue through 2002," Feuz said.

First, there are record level carcass weights in the United States, putting more meat on the market. Favorable conditions so far this winter are making for heavier cattle, Feuz said. Exports to Japan declined considerably due to its unstable economy and concerns there about bovine spongiform encephalopathy.

However, in late spring or early summer, the combined impact of fewer calves placed in feedlots and less slaughter numbers should leave the second and third quarter prices even with 2001's.

"When we move into the fourth quarter, fall and winter prices should increase relative to 2001 and end up 10 percent or more higher than when we ended 2001," Feuz said.

Fed cattle prices in 2001 averaged $72.50 per hundredweight; feeder steers at 750 lbs. averaged $89.60 per hundredweight; steer calves at 550 lbs. averaged $106.73 per hundredweight. For ### 2002, the outlook for fed cattle is about the same; feeder steer prices are projected to be about $90 per hundredweight; and steer calves $108 per hundredweight.

Hog producers shouldn't see any large price drops this winter, but should keep in mind that December 2002 will mark the end of a four-year cycle in the industry. Traditionally, the final year in those cycles sees the lowest prices, dipping from the high, usually found in the middle of the four years. Prices shouldn't reach the lows of 1998, but they will tend to fall by year's end, said Al Prosch, NU Pork Central coordinator,

"If I was a producer I'd look at risk management tools to protect me in any longer than expected drop in November and December this year," he said. "Keep an eye on the market this spring and sum-

"The situation is clearly one of how close we get to the packer's capacity, especially in the third and fourth quarter," he said. "The Dec. 28 USDA Hogs and Pigs Report did not show any real expansion and was good." Based on the report, Nebraska pork producers can expect pork prices to average around $46 per live hundredweight -- about the same as last year.

The potential of the price going lower will depend on the total number of Canadian pigs imported to the United States or from changes in the United States to improve productivity in the breeding herd or overall swine operation management, Prosch said.

We call it our welfare check. In truth, I guess it is. The payments we get for putting in dams and terraces for not raising crops. I know it has helped us make loan payments on the farm for a lot of years. We don't brag about it; but it's incorporated in our plans every year.

Somehow, we don't exactly feel ashamed of it. One year, the kids qualified for free lunches at school. That bothered, a lot. We lived below what the government calls the poverty line for a lot of years, even with the subsidies. It's sort of like Medicare, which has made a lot of hospitals solvent. Our payments helped build bigger banks.

The Big Farmer maintains that as long as newspapers and trains and all kinds of entities are subsidized, agriculture can be, too. Especially, as long as there is a cheap food policy. And, food in our country is cheap, when taken as a percentage of our income.

In December, we toured the Bed & Breakfast in Plattsmouth. The owner showed us her pantry, stocked with canned goods, and commented that she had a visitor from Ukraine who burst into tears when she saw it. There's a reason we are overweight. Food is plentiful, and affordable.

NU offers course for pork producers

A University of Nebraska course offered at several area locations will help those working in the farrowing area of any pork production operation learn the basics of lactating sow and piglet care.

Beginners and those needing a refresher course in farrowing management will benefit from Farrowing Basics, according to Duane Reese, NU swine specialist. Participants will be able to attend the one-day sessions from in West Point. Hartington, Norfolk and then a hands-on session at no extra cost from in Norfolk, where sows and litters will be available for teaching and hands-on experience

Participants will be able to attend the one-day sessions from in Norfolk, where sows and litters will be available for teaching and hands-on experience.

After attending one of these courses, participants should be able to better prepare the sow and farrowing space, know when and how to assist a sow to farrow, induce a sow to farrow, process piglets, manage the sow to maximize feed intake, identify and treat pig and sow health problems, identify disadvantaged pigs and tration form at (402) 472-0776.

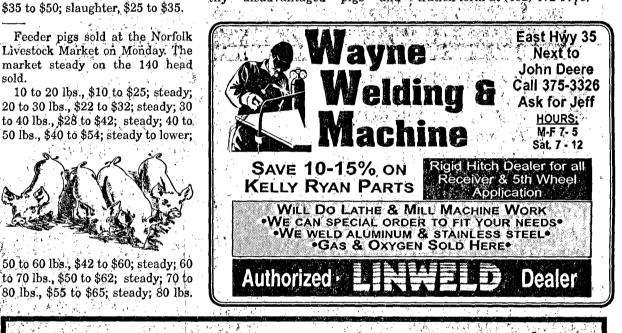

improve their survival rate, meet the environmental needs of sows and litters, keep records and recognize normal behavior of pigs and sows.

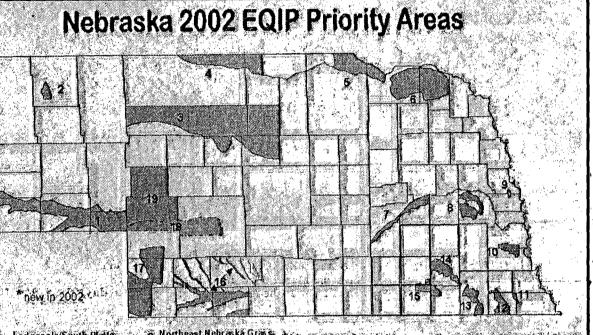

Presenters include NU specialists, practicing veterinarians and a unit manager.

To reduce the chance of possible disease spread, participants must wear clothing that has not been exposed to pigs since their last washing and shower before coming to class. Those attending the hands-on sessions must avoid exposure to pigs 24 hours before the class starts.

If that is not possible, documentation must be provided from the herd veterinarian that the operation is negative for PRRSV and pseudorabies. Plastic boots and coveralls will be provided.

Registration is $20 and includes lunch, refreshments and reference materials. # Conservation funds available

Nearly $3.8 million is available this year for farmers and ranchers to use in natural resources management according to Steve Chick, State Conservationist for the USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service.

"Farmers and ranchers have until Feb. 25, 2002 to apply for these funds," Chick said. "However a conservation plan and cost estimates of the work to be done have to be developed, so we hope people won't wait till the last day to apply," he said.

The funds are being made available through the Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP). In the previous five years of this program, nearly 2,200 applications have been funded for $22 million in financial assistance. About $4.3 million, was, available last year in EQIP.

EQIP funds are distributed into 19 geographic priority areas and the remainder is available throughout the state. nearly $2.5 million is targeted into the priority, with $1.3 million available elsewhere. 2.4 1. 2

While there are again 19 priority areas statewide, five are new this year. The new priority area are Kirkmans' Cove Lake project area near HUmboldt, Lodgepole Creek-South Platte River Watershed between Kimball and Ogallala, Ash Creek Watershed near Crawford, Platte River Corridor (south side of the river) between Columbus and Grand Island and the Lower South Platte' River Watershed between Ogallala and North Platte.

EQIP funds are to be used to address natural resource concerns by installing conservation practices like terraces or filter strips,

Superintendent Report:

Building Renovation/Construction Update: Dr. Reinert has an updated punch list that entails little items such as painting, electrical, and various other items. Another topic of discussion was the staining of the brick, as the contractors are retaining money to do that at a later date. The question comes will the method they use work and will they stand behind their work. John Melena will be moving the phone system from the modulars to the new building on Wednesday. A new line will be activated on Thursday for the building as on of the existing lines was connected to the elevator. Channel One was in the building last week to move the televisions from the modulars and mounted them in the new building. Ed Holloway from NETV will be here on January 26th to hook up the cable and get Channel One up and running. People were pleased with the new building and the open house was well attended. Dr. Reinert had been contacted about having an afternoon open house and an open house for the senior center.

Sale of Modular Buildings: Board members were given the sale criteria for the modulars as proposed at the December meeting. The district owes $17,000 on each unit, total of $170,000. The minimum bid on each unit will be $30,000 and the buyer is responsible for costs of moving the building from the site. Bids will need to designate which unit is being bid upon. Dr. Reinert has had several inquiries about the modulars. If the minimum bid is not received, any or all of the bids can be rejected. The last day to receive bids in February 15. 2002. The bid opening and completion of the paperwork for sales is February 18, 2002. The buyer would be responsible for removing the building from the site by June 1, 2002. Community Activity Center Update: Dr.

Reinert had talked with City Administrator Lowell Johnson. Mr. Johnson said they are awaiting the arrival of the crane to place the steel and roof panels on the building structure. 2002-03 Budget: Dr. Reinert gave a brief

Agenda Items: None Boardsmanship: Each month, the Board of Education will visit one of their goals. Goal two is as follows:

We will insure that our investment in technology is adequate and appropriate by taking the following steps to:

a. develop Board policy that guides access to and use of the District's network;

b. study issues in technology as they relate to curriculum development:

c. work cooperatively and actively with community organizations to use resources and facilities effectively: d. evaluate and develop a plan for faculty and staff training to address immediate core concèrns: e. consider ways to cooperate with area schools.

The district has invested in technology with Quality Education Grant money. Two new servers were purchased last year at a cost of $30,000. The schools, City of Wayne and Wayne State College are in the process of working together to write a grant to put each entity's library online.

WINSIDE BOARD OF EDUCATION PROCEEDINGS

Contraction of the second

The Regular Meeting of the Winside Board of Education was held at 7:50 PM in the Elementary Library on Monday, January 14, 2002.

Board members present were Doug Deck, Scott Watters, Brian Hoffman, Jean Suehl, Paul Roberts, and Dan Jacger. The meeting was called to order by Dan Jaeger. The meeting was turned over to Arden Svoboda and the election of officers for the year 2002 was held Motion by Watters, second by Deck to nominate Dan Jaeger as President, Brian Hoffman as Vice President, Jean Suehl as Secretary, and Doug Deck as Treasurer. Aves-Deck. Watters, Hoffman, Suehl, Roberts, and Jaeger. Nays-none.

The visitors (Emma Burris, Melissa Heberer, Stacey Gnirk, Steven Fleer, Annette Boelter, Cheryl Wieseler, Laura Straight, Eliene Loetscher, Marilyn Leighton, Don Leighton, Karol Stubbs, Barbara Stenwall, Elaine Saul, Julie Hansen, Michelle Evans, Craig Evans, Susan Mohr, and Kathy Meyer) were welcomed.

Julie Hansen addressed the Board voicing concerns about unification or consolidation of the school district, The Board responded by saying unification had been looked into but since there are no longer incentives offered at the state level they see little reason to take any action at this time. Consolidation has not been looked at.

Concerns were voiced by other patrons regarding the financial condition of the district and what the Board's plans are for the future. Budget cuts and a special election to raise the tax asking to exceed the $1.00 lid were discussed. It was suggested that there is a great need to educate the public about the financial tuation of the district.

Motion by Hoffman, second by Suehl to approve the Regular Board Minutes on December 10, 2001. Ayes-Watters, Hoffman, Suehl, Roberts, Jaeger, and Deck. Nays-none.

The claims were reviewed. Motion by Watters, second by Deck to approve the claims totaling $191,636.78 from the General Fund and $150.00 payable to Guarantee Roofing of Norfolk, Nebraska for supplies related to the roof replacement on the high school from the Sinking Fund. Ayes-Hoffman, Suehl, Roberts, Jaeger, Deck, and Watters. Nays-none.

overview of the preliminary 2002-03 budget. State aid for 2001-02 was $2,106,244 and state aid for 2002-03 is estimated at $1,689,829 (a decrease of $416,466). The 2001-02 budget was $6,552,850 and budget for 2002-03 is estimated at $6.870.937 (an increase of $318,087). If the county undervalues land in the school district, the state can adjust the valuation. The state can increase the valuation (wealth) but the increase cannot be accessed by the school district. Therefore, there is a decrease in state aid. If valuations increase, state aid decreases to equalize wealth of the district. A special budget workshop meeting will be held at a later date. .

Foundation- Alumni mailing began on Sunday, January 13, 2002, with about 20 years of classes left to address envelopes for. The Wayne Booster Club had committed to $3,000 for the next 10 years to help fund the track renovation project. Dr. Blomenkamp suggested that the board needs to make a financial commitment to track renovation to show the district's support. The track will not only be used for extracurricular activities but also for curriculum. The track has gone too long without any major repairs and is to the point that it needs to be done. The foundation hopes that with this mailing they will be able to fund the track project and future endeavors. It will also mentioned that the Board of Education has very to decide whether or not they are going to join Wayne State College with their track renovation project. WCS faculty and staff contributed $3,500 to the project.
