Public meeting held in Winside

By Dianne Jaeger, Winside correspondent

The Winside Public School Board of Directors and Administration, to inform parents and taxpayers of the district about the school's financial situation, held a public meeting in Winside on March 5.

Approximately 80 individuals attended. Board President Dan Jaeger welcome everyone, and, to clarify rumors going around, assured everyone that the school was not planning on closing now or in the near future.

Superintendent Arden Svoboda then took over the discussion and showed overhead projections of the school's financial situation, past, present and

City Council debates water issues

Accidents keep police busy during storm

The ice and snow that blanketed Wayne starting last Thursday kept police officers very busy.

Between Thursday and Monday here were nine traffic accidents reported to the Wayne Police Department. During the same time period last year, there was only one accident investigated.

Many of the accidents were weather-related, including the involvement of a Wayne Police Department patrol car in one of the accidents. None of the accidents reported involved any injuries.

Police Chief Lance Webster said the icy road conditions on Friday caused him to restrict the patrol activities of the police officers. The icy conditions on the streets were so dangerous that officers were restricted to emergency calls and they were required to use a fourwheel drive pickup from another city department.

With more bad weather predicted for this weekend, Webster reminds drivers to allow more time, don't rush anywhere and drive very defensively on snow or ice covered streets. He suggests putting motorists put their cars in neutral when approaching stop signs or traffic signals on slick streets. This will give drivers better stopping power.

Group is opposed to gambling

Editor's note: The following letter was originally addressed to members of the Wayne City Council before being submitted to the Herald for publication.

Dear Editor,

We have been informed that the council is considering the expansion of gambling in our community by authorizing Keno games at certain business establishments in the community.

We, as a group, would want you to know that we oppose this expansion of gambling in our community. And we would ask you not to allow this to happen here in Wayne for the following reasons:

1. Promotion and expansion of gambling sends a message to the youth and college students that is contrary to the work ethic we try to promote and for which our community has had a solid reputation. It promotes idleness rather than industriousness and initia-

2. This will divert money from local businesses. This seems a shortsighted approach dealing with long-term financial needs of a community. Some of these monies will leave the community as opposed to adding new industry and business, which would solidly improve the economic picture of the community. Additionally, gambling siphons away discretionary funds that might otherwise have been spent in local businesses.

3. This will create social problems with family members who do not know how to control them. selves where gambling is concerned and the community will be required to pick up the cost.

4. We live in a Christian community. With 11 churches in this community - not to mention the various expressions of the Christian Church on the Wayne State College campus --- we need ever to ask the question, "What is God calling us to do?" in matters of faith and life. In this issue, it seems to us the corollary to this question is, "How shall we be our brother's keeper?" We believe the expansion of gambling is not a responsible action of love, but rather serves to further separate us from one another and from the God whom we are called to serve. Thank you for your consideration in this matter. Respectfully,

Bad day for Democrats

By Ed Howard Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

Some day, Nebraska Democrats will look back on 2002 as "the bad old days." This prognostication is, of course, dependent upon the notion that things will eventually get better for the Democrats. The thought of things getting worse for the state's minority party is painful to contemplate. It would also require a lot of imagination.

The Nebraska Democratic party isn't in danger of dying. But it is, unarguably, in critical condition. It's emaciated. Democrats, the poor souls, can barely field any candidates for statewide offices.

Quick: Who's running against Republican Gov. Mike Johanns? Against Republican U.S. Sen. Chuck Hagel? See what I mean?

The big problem for Democrats: In recent years the party has lost its heavy hitters. Both of them. And there are no replacements in There's not a Democrat in sight who would or could rouse the voters, ala former governor and U.S. Sen. Jim Exon, with a convincing, theatrical denunciation of "the Republican hierarchy." Not a one who could rally Republicans to the other side, with Chautauqua-worthy broadsides aimed at the "wildeyed spenders" in the Nebraska Legislature. Exon's been gone for six years or so, but there's not so much as the hint of a successor to him as a builder of the party.

And there might never be a Nebraska Democrat to fill the shoe of former governor and U.S. Sen, Bob Kerrey. Actually, there's no one of either party who can talk vaguely and dreamily about "hopes and dreams," and harvest a concrete batch of votes for his effort. There's not a Democrat extant, having lost part of a leg to an enemy grenade, who could make a success of denouncing Republican foreign policy as so much prattle.

Registered Republicans greatly outnumber registered Democrats in Nebraska. That won't change. Thus, Democrats not only need a David willing simply to face the monolithic Republican Goliath they need a salesman who can convince Goliath's own fellows to throw stones at him, too.

The success of Exon and Kerrey in GOP-dominated Nebraska was understandable. Both were businessmen and both came across as sufficiently conservative to pass for Republicans in most states. And they were perceived as being comparatively plain spoken fellows. Each inspired others to step up and be counted among the Democrats. Most importantly, they inspired a lot of registered Republicans to vote for them and for other Democrats.

How did they do it? They captured the imaginations of voters. They managed to dismantle Republican candidates while simultaneously appealing to Republican voters. And they were fun to listen to while they did it, too. And that's important.

Exon was succeeded by Republican Chuck Hagel. Kerrey succeeded Democratic Gov. Ben Nelson.

The thing is, in a time rife with partisan bickering, Nelson made himself into the ultimate "small d" Democrat. That might well be in the best interest of the state and the nation overall, but it doesn't do much by way of building the party at home. Of course, had he come across as a Democratic cheerleader in general, Nelson couldn't possibly have been elected.

So, what does all this mean for Nebraska's "second party" in the two party system?

Bad days. Really bad days. And a 2002 election year that could make oatmeal and white rice seem like really spicy dishes.

Your input is very valuable to us. We are going to share the information from the questionnaire with the City Council in regards to the renovation of the City Auditorium. The Main Street Wayne Program is on record in favor of the renovation. The responses have been from those in favor of and those against the renovation. We want to hear from you. This is your chance to express your feelings on the issue.

An Executive Board Meeting was called Tuesday of this week. At that time we discussed the budget and bids for the printing of our Historical Tour brochure. The brochure will be a tour of selected residential and business buildings in Wayne. (This is not a tour of the inside of the residential listings).

The brochure will obviously limit us from listing and scripting every beautiful historical home and business here in Wayne. The choices will be difficult but we feel that when finished, will give visitors, new and old Wayne residents a wonderful overview of the community and its history.

On Thursday Nebraska Lied Main Street State Director J.L. Schmidt and Assistant Director Elizabeth Chase will be here from their Lincoln Office to give Main Street Wayne its Annual Program Review. They will review all the aspects of the program to make sure we are meeting the requirements to maintain our designation as a Main Street Program. Part of the review is also to disthat impact our program.

The new community application deadline is Aug. 1, 2002. The new communities will be announced at the Annual Main Street Conference in Beatrice on Oct. 3.

This will probably be a bi-weekly reminder. It's is time to think

We held hearings with various agencies on March 8 to deal with the projected $186 million revenue shortfall for the current two-year budget period.

When we finished the hearings, we received the news that the state's revenue shortfall grew by $35.6 million when Congress passed the economic-stimulus package. Because Nebraska's tax system piggybacks on the federal corporate income tax, new federal, tax breaks for business will mean less tax revenue for the state.

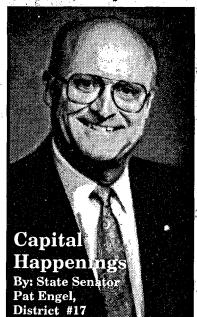

The Appropriations Committee was within $17.5 million of the cuts that Gov. Mike Johanns proposed. Although some of us wanted to come up with deeper cuts in certain areas, we could not get a cons sensus. So I feel we have cut as much as we can at this time. Since the Appropriations Committee has to have a bill before the Legislature by March 14, we are not going to have time to come up with another $35.6 million in cuts.

At this time, we are going to have to look to the Revenue Committee and the rest of the Legislature to decide on more cuts or revenue increases.

After March 14 we will have 20 working days before our session ends, and I believe that most of it will be taken up dealing with the budget issue.

As I said before, we have to have a balanced budget in Nebraska. So no matter how painful it might be, we have to do it and we will. Meanwhile, legislative floor at the local level, but there seemed State of the state

The Legislature on March 6 debated LB 1172, which deals with the thorny issue of student fees in public schools.

Originally, the bill would have allowed each school district wide discretion in formulating its own student-fee policy. However, many senators said they wanted to give school districts more guidance on the subject.

Senators approved an amendment offered by Speaker Doug Kristensen of Minden. Under the amendment, school districts could not charge fees for classes that are required for graduation but could charge fees for extracurricular activities.

Watters said, "We've become very competitive with Wayne and Norfolk for teacher salaries. We offer them incentives for their past experience as well as for continuing education classes. We're also considering expanding our Long students, it is anticipated that the Distance Learning curriculum. We currently are offering Spanish classes and a Vocational Agricultural Class."

Syoboda stated, "We are anticipating a reduction in our teaching staff by two for next year and if we do, we will not be re-hiring for these positions but trying to fill them with current teachers."

Another patron then was concerned about how that would effect the school's quality of education and accreditation,

"The State law requires that we have at least 80 percent of our teaching staff endorsed in their special fields. We currently have 86 2002-03 budget. This amount their endorsed fields," Svoboda

A number of students were also in the audience and one student made the suggestion that students be used to replace a teacher's aid. The board acknowledged that this was a possibility.

Another spectator wanted to know the reason why the Winside school did not apply for as many grants as it seems other schools do.

Scott Watters responded, "Winside has a team of four teachers who write grants when their time permits. Last year we received a $25,000 grant for installing T-1 lines for our long distance learning and to upgrade our " computer capabilities. Also, Instructor Paul Sok receives grants annually for his biology student Hoffman said. trips. I guess we just haven't publicized the grants that we do receive and maybe we should do more of that."

* Option enrollment was also dis-year. Of those, 33 came to Winside and 22 opted out. Some of the reasons students transfer to Wayne or Norfolk is because of parents working there or because of moves. Having students opt into the school is a good thing for the district because more state is received per student.

Based on the current number of school will receive $220,057 in state aid for the. The standard amount of aid is $5,115 per student.

The state also figures in other factors so the amount received is more than that amount per stu-

There are currently 29 students coming to Winside School from the Hoskins and Norfolk areas; 19 from Wayne and Carroll areas; three from Randolph and two from Wisner-Pilger.

"There are a total of 287 students in the school this year and it is anticipated that a total of $938,401 will be received in state aid for the percent of our teachers teaching in depends on whether or not Governor Mike Johanns' proposed three percent cut in state aid passes or not in the legislature. They will be voting on it sometime before the session ends in April," Svoboda

> Board members also encouraged parents who qualify to apply for free or reduced school lunches, as this helps the school receive more state aid.

> Svoboda demonstrated what revenue could be generated by an increase to the tax levy.

> "Currently, the levy is $1.01. If the board asked for an increase in the valuation levy, it would probably ask for a 30 cent override for a three year period. However, it may not be necessary to increase by that much," Board member Brian

Svoboda said that it isn't possible right now to determine the school's budget needs because staff contracts for next year haven't been

"We know we will have a deficit Svoboda stated that there were of at least $308,000 because of 55 students having options this needed repairs to the high school gym roof and to replace the cash reserve we had to use the past two years. There is also a balance left to pay on the roof replacement we did this year. Our budgets run from September through August," he

Board members asked the group for a show of hands regarding how many present would support a temporary increase in the tax levy. The vast majority of those present indicated they would.

Jaeger said, "It will be less costly to the school district to put a tax levy vote on the primary election ballot this May, rather than wait and have a special election. The board, however, does need voters who are in favor of the increase to help promote it to other voters in the district."

If the tax levy does not pass, the board will then be faced with making program cuts.

Board members encouraged every to also promote the Winside Public School's programs and to tell others about all the positive things that are being done at the school.

Only those who live in the school district's boundaries will be able to vote on the increase.

A committee was formed of about a dozen individuals who said they were willing to work on promoting the levy increase.

Superintendent Svoboda stated, "I feel we had a very positive first meeting. It would have been nice to see more people her, but we will probably have at least one more public meeting before May."

Anyone who might have further questions or suggestions is welcome to give him or any of the board members a call.

The Winside School board was scheduled to meet in regular session on March 11.

Wayne's 'Cardiac Kids' fight to the last beat; Fall in semi's

By Kevin Peterson Of the Herald

The Wayne boys basketball team, a.k.a. "Cardiac Kids" played to the final beat at the Nebraska Boys State Basketball Tournament in Lincoln last weekend.

Rocky Ruhl's troops overcame a 12-point second half deficit to Fairbury in the first round and edged the Jeffs on a last second lay-in by Jon Ehrhardt, 55-53 in round one.

Incidentally, Wayne was the only Class C-1 school to defeat Fairbury this season as the other losses came against Class B schools.

Wayne jumped out quickly on the Jeffs with a 5-0 lead and the Blue Devils grabbed a 13-8 lead after one quarter of play.

Fairbury however, got things rolling in the second stanza and quickly erased a seven-point Wayne lead into a 28-23 halftime advantage over the Blue Devils.

The Jeffs continued to pressure Wayne in the third quarter and they took a 42-35 lead to the final stanza.

The never-say-die attitude of Wayne was prevalent throughout the fourth quarter and the Blue Devils made their run midway through the final period, erasing a double-digit lead.

Wayne took its first lead since early in the second quarter with just 20 seconds remaining at 53-

Fairbury's Tyler Stewart was fouled with just 5.1 seconds on the clock and the senior missed the first free throw attempt but made the second to knot the score at 53.

After a Wayne timeout it was juniors Ric Volk and Jon Ehrhardt that took center stage.

Volk drove the length of the court and bounced passed the ball to Ehrhardt who put the shot off the glass and in as the horn sounded to end the game in one of the most heroic comebacks in Wayne history.

That same duo combined to defeat Laurel-Concord in the finals of the Great Northeast Nebraska Shootout in December but the encore replay had much higher stakes at risk.

Brad Hochstein led the winners with 20 points while Brad Hansen scored 10 and Jon Ehrhardt, nine—six in the final period.

Ric Volk tossed in eight points with Luke Christensen and Caleb Garvin netting four each.

Fairbury was led by Mark Rogge with 21 with Tyler Stewart netting 10.

Hochstein led Wayne with six rebounds despite the fact the Blue Devils were out-rebounded by 10.

Ric Volk dished out seven assists and Hochstein had five assists. Wayne was 8-11 from the free throw line with Fairbury hitting just eight-of-seventeen.

IN FRIDAY'S SEMIFINALS
against number-one-rated
Columbus Lakeview, the Blue Devils got off to a slow start and the Vikings took advantage to the tune of a 21-6 lead after the first stanza.

Wayne battled with Lakeview the rest of the way despite trailing 37-22 at the half and 51-34 after three quarters of play.

Wayne had one of its patented come-from-behind tactics ploy in the fourth quarter and it nearly worked.

The Blue Devils began chipping away at the 17-point deficit and got it down to seven and had possession of the ball but Lakeview stars Calvin Kapels and Dusty Jura quickly regrouped and pushed the lead back to 14 and it ended at 18 at 69-51.

Senior Joe Holstedt sank the final bucket for Wayne.

Brad Hochstein ended his high school basketball career with 18 points with Luke Christensen scoring nine and Brad Hansen, eight.

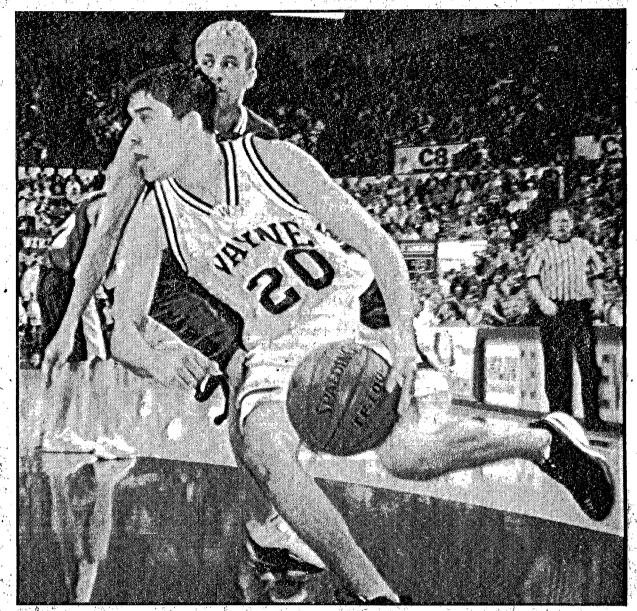

Ryan Schmeits and Jon Ehrhardt each scored five points while freshman Bryan Fink added four and Holstedt, two.

Kapels scored 25 for Lakeview with Jura tossing in 17 and Wes Gehring, 12.

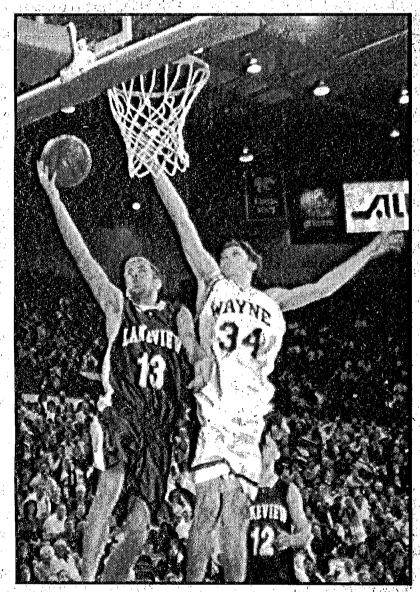

Wayne was dominated on the boards, 31-15 with Hansen's four caroms, tops for Wayne.

Hansen had a team-high five assists. Wayne was 9-15 from the free throw line with Lakeview hitting 17-28.

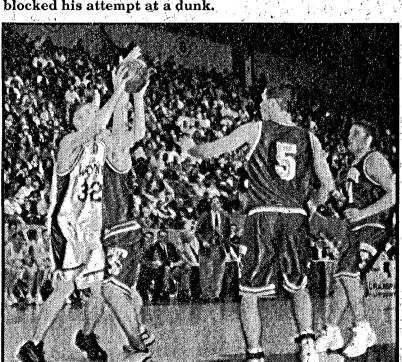

Wayne's 21-5 record ties a school record for most wins in a season. The 1951 team went 21-2 while winning the state champi-

Wayne senior Jeff Pippitt drives past all-stater Calvin Kapels during second half action of the Class C-1 State semifinals last Friday at Bob Devaney Sports Center in Lincoln.

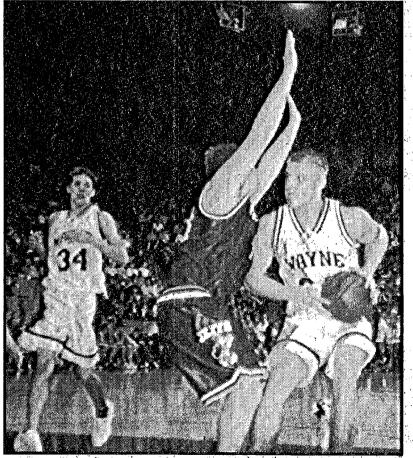

Wayne's Luke Christensen skies with Columbus Lakeview all-stater Calvin Kapels and the Wayne senior blocked his attempt at a dunk.

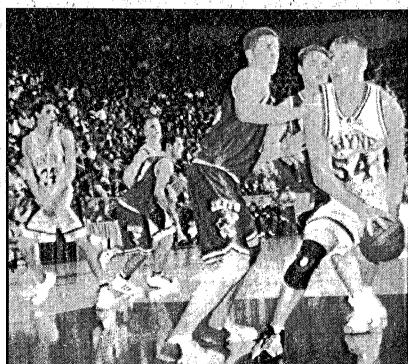

Wayne senior Brad Hansen shoots the off-balanced shot with a Fairbury defender draped over his arm. Hansen scored 10 in the first round win.

Wayne's players and coaches wait patiently for the start of the Columbus Lakeview game introductions last Friday in Lincoln. The Blue Devils season came to a close after falling to Lakeview for the second time this season by the same margin. Wayne's 21-5 record ties the all-time record at Wayne for wins in a single season.

Wayne senior Brad Hochstein tries to draw a Fairbury player into the air before hitting two of his 20 points.

Wayne sophomore Caleb Garvin gets an inside look at an easy shot against Fairbury in the first round game of the C-1 State Basketball Tournament at Pershing Auditorium last Thursday in Lincoln. Garvin scored four points including two on this play with Fairbury's Luke Beerbohm and Steve Selk looking to double-team him before the shot went off. Wayne erased a 12-point deficit in the second half to edge the Jeffs by two points.

Local Red Cross status given has a budget of $40,000 for fiscal year 2000-01. The United Way contributes $3,350 to that budget. The remaining amount must be raised through class fees, books and first aid kit sales, and personal donations from the community. "We are at a very critical time not only for our local chapter, but for chapters nationwide," says local manager Lori Carollo. "There have been over 100 chapters close in Nebraska and South Dakota during the last few years. Only 27 chapters remain open (down three . from last year!) and we want to remain one of those chapters."

The Wayne chapter is very proud that they were able to send three trained responders to aid with the 9-11 disaster back east.

Assisting through the Wayne chapter were Mary Lou George city funding of any kind. We do

Your local Red Cross chapter who went directly to New York on Sept. 12 and assisted families with child care; Claire Hansen from Coleridge who also went to New York to aid in mass care and was on-site when the second airline flight crashed into a neighborhood area; and Karen Granberg who went to Falls Church, Va. and worked on crisis hotlines aiding in the area of mental health counseling. All three of these individuals will testify to the wonderful work the the Red Cross did following this horrific disaster and also that ALL funds raised through the American Red cross were being spent wisely and correctly.

In Wayne County, almost $6,000 was given to the local chapter to be sent back to assist with those disaster relief efforts.

"We receive no federal, state or receive a little over $3,000 from the United Way, but that represents only about 8 percent of our total budget! We need to find ways to raise the other 92 percent to meet the needs of the community and the requirements to maintain an active status as a chapter," says Bill Claybaugh, chapter chairman of the local chapter.

The bottom line to all the recent attention to the Red Cross in Wayne is due to the fact that they have been operating at about a $12,000 loss for the past couple of years and operating on reserve funds. At that continued rate, reserve funding was running out very quickly. The Sponsorship Program was met with great success and is a good starting place to begin their rebuilding process.

"I was really encouraged with our sponsorship drive (which is giving to the Red Cross something that they will want to be a part

Just like this city doctors, hospitals, firefighters, and other emergency responders, Wayne NEEDS the Red Cross. They work hard to help the community prepare for, prevent and cope with emergencies. They respond to disasters and people in need (including assistance to firefighters), train people in lifesaving skills and provide direct communication to members of th Armed Forces and their families in times of emer-the financial needs of YOUR Red Cross, particularly during March-Red Cross Month. It will help them continue their services and programs. The local chapter would like to recognize and thank the Wayne United Way to supporting the work that the Wayne Red Cross does in our community. Nebraska Consumer Bulletin

Don Stenberg Attorney General

THE NEGATIVE OPTION YOU DIDN'T SAY "YES", BUT YOU DIDN'T SAY "NO"

If you didn't say "yes" to the offer of a product or service by a telemarketer or through the mail, but find a charge placed on your credit card account anyway, you may have been the victim of the "negative option"....

The "negative option" requires that the consumer decline an offer, usually in writing, or the assumption will be made by the business that the consumer has accepted the offer. If the consumer fails to "opt out", a charge for the product or service will be placed on the consumer's credit card.

Credit card charges for a "negative option" offer take many consumers by surprise. The consumer may have received information in the mail about the offer, but tossed out the promotional material. Or, the consumer may have missed the part that stated a negative response to the offer must be mailed to the business in order to decline the offer and prevent a charge.

A telemarketer may award a 30 day "free trial membership" in a discount travel club, buying group, magazine savings plan or other promotion as a "bonus" to a consumer calling a mail order business to place an order. The consumer may not be given an opportunity to decline the offer, and may not be told that his credit card account will be charged for a full years membership following the 30 day free trial

A consumer may find a charge placed on his credit card account even if he did not give a credit card number to the telemarketer who calls with a "free trial membership" offer. Many times the calling list the telemarketer uses was purchased from the credit card company. Credit card companies do not give the telemarketers credit card numbers, but when a positive response by a consumer is indicated, the telemarketer notifies the credit card company. The credit card company supplies the credit card number and places the charge. Here are some suggestions to help avoid a "negative option"

Ask questions about any "free trial promotion" offered by a telemarketer. Find out if and when you will be charged, and decline the offer if you do not want it. Watch your credit card statement carefully for any charge you did not authorize. Notify the credit card company immediately, in writing, to place an unauthorized charge in dispute.

Promptly notify any business that mails you a "negative option" promotion, if your decision is to decline the offer.

Contact the Nebraska Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division if you find an unauthorized charge placed on your credit card account.

For more information about this or any other consumer issue contact: Office of Attorney General Don Stenberg, Consumer Protection Division, 2115 State Capitol, Lincoln, NE, 68509, (402) 471-2682, Consumer Protection Line - 1-800-727-6432. Website address: www.ago.state.ne.us, Read Across America Night was held recently at the Winside Elementary School.

Over 120 kindergarten and first grade families attended the event.

The National Education Association has promoted Read Across America for the past five years. The March date correlates with the birthday of Dr. Seuss, famous children's author.

Since Garth Brooks was the national spokesperson for the event, the theme at Winside was patriotic country. Students wore cowboy hats, bandannas and special badges.

Winside Elementary Principal Lynn Pierce welcomed everyone. The kindergarten students designed a flag with handprints and wrote about what the flag means to them. They also read their writings that evening.

The first graders took the participants on a tour of Washington,

Paul Loeb, author of the nationally-acclaimed Soul of a Citizen: Living with Conviction in a Cynical Time, will present a general lecture at Wayne State College on Monday, March 18, at 9 a.m. in the Frey Conference Suite in the WSC Student Center.

Loeb, an associated scholar at Seattle's Center for Ethical Leadership, has written on social involvement for The New York Times, Washington Post, Los Angeles Times, Psychology Today, Utne Reader, Redbook, Parents Magazine, Christian Science Monitor, Mother Jones, Salon Internet, the Village Voice, National Catholic Reporter, and the International Herald Tribune.

He's been interviewed on CNN, NPR, PBS, C-SPAN, NBC TV, the BBC, and national German, Canadian and Australian radio. He has lectured at more than 250 college campuses. He is the author of Generation at the Crossroads: Apathy and Action on the American Campus (Rutgers

Norfolk to be site of jazz festival

The public is invited. In addition to the students, their music instructors and parents will also participate in the festival. About 100 different performing groups from throughout the Midwest will compete, Trophies will be awarded to the top four jazz bands and swing/jazz University Press, 1994), of Nuclear Culture, and of Hope in Hard Times.

In his books and lectures, Loeb gets beyond prevailing media stereotypes of youth apathy to understand the struggle, of this new generation to find its place in a confusing world.

He looks at how ordinary citizens of all ages learn to take committed stands. He talks of how people can getinvolved in larger, community issues and what stops them from getting involved. He explores how students and citizens in general can gain the moral, political, and intellectual tools to take responsibility for the future.

"We are delighted to have Paul Loeb visit Wayne State College," said Dr. David Fuller, vice president for academic affairs. "We would like his visit to spur as much learning, thought and discussion as possible.

"Loeb's lecture will draw those students already concerned with social issues. But it's even more important that he reach those who resist any notion of common responsibility or feel overwhelmed when they think about getting socially involved. Many will discover, as they have at other schools, that they can indeed find ways to have a role as active citizens,"

Lifestyle

A healthy lifestyle can be achieved through small changes and balance

Since the revised definitions of overweight and obesity appeared in 1998 in the form of the Body Mass Index, the term " obesity epidemic" has become part of our everyday language.

Numerous government reports, scientific and medical reports have documented the problem and illustrated the alarming increase in the number of obese individuals both adults and children over the past two decades.

In the United States alone, rates of overweight and obesity have skyrocketed — more than 61 percent of Americans are now considered overweight - more than double the rate of a generation

In the meantime, the U.S. population is constantly being inundated with so-called miracle cures, promising "quick fixes," usually through dietary supplements, the advice of diet books, or the latest fitness fad. Each provides the tempting lure of a "magic formula" that will help a person lose weight or gain health. The scientific evidence required to back up the claims made for these quick fixes is often lacking. Therefore, these quick fixes can, at best be ineffective, at worst, they can be downright dangerous.

The temporary popularity of such quick fixes is a clear indication that many people hope to achieve a desired health or weight management goal through these methods. Since an instant cure is not the answer, what is an achievable solution for most individuals? It stands to reason that achieving and maintaining a healthy lifestyle through gradual changes and a lifetime commitment to balance, variety and moderation in regular physical activity and healthful eating may be the key to sustainability and balance.

The reasons underlying eating and activity behaviors are not well understood, but such behaviors are likely to be affected by the fast-paced nature of U.S. society. Consumers often report that they do not have the time to prepare meals and engage in regular physical activity. When it comes to the high-stress, complex lives that we are living today, the activities that must be done to achieve a healthy lifestyle often end up too far down on the priority list.

To meet the goal of a healthy weight and lifestyle, consumers need to make changes to both sides of the energy equation: the inputs and the outputs. The desired approach is to incorporate small, achievable modifications in eating behaviors and additions of activity into daily life - activity

Your son will learn mental & physical fitness via Scouting

To get the most from life, one must be both mentally and physically fit. For Wayne Boy Scouts, this is an attitude which represents one of the main underlying reasons why they participate in the organization.

American youth are being raised in an increasingly sedentary society. Youth who once roamed free in the outdoors after school now spend their time watching television, playing video games, or surfing the Internet.

The fast-paced American lifestyle is taking its toll on our youth. Health is not something that should be taken lightly. Research has shown that fitness can increase self-esteem, in addition to decreasing chances for health related problems later in life.

For decades, the BSA has worked hard to educate youth about healthy and productive lifestyle choices. The Boy Scout Handbook, for instance, outlines ways for Scouts to live a healthy life in terms of diet, nutrition, and exercise.

The BSA has always been characterized for its wide array of outdoor activities, such as swimming, rowing, hiking, and canoeing, which promote physical fitness. From an early age, Scouts are taught the importance of regular exercise to their growth and development.

Healthy living goes beyond eating and fitness, to avoiding unhealthy behaviors such as the decision to use drugs or alcohol. Scouting takes issues such as youth drug use very seriously. In 1987, the BSA developed a multimedia, multifaceted drug education campaign to deal with this pressing issue that

Blood bank makes a visit to Wayne

An estimated eight million people donate blood in the U.S. each year, but the demand for blood is greater than ever as the nation's supply needs constant replenish-

Eighty-nine people volunteered and a total of 79 full units were collected when the Blood Bank made a recent visit to Wayne. Those reaching milestones included: One gallon: Gail Hochstein and Mary Turner.

Two gallons: Mike Jaixen, Darrell Miller and Lesa Backstrom.

Four gallons: Sheryl Emanuel. Five gallons: Timothy Lang.

Ten gallons: Gerald Otte.
Twelve gallons: Sharon Fleer.
Every three seconds someone needs blood and every day, approximately 40,000 units of blood are used throughout the country. More than 23 million units of blood and blood components are transfused each year. However, less than five percent of healthy Americans eligible to give blood actually donate each year.

Jennifer Zimmerman, Donor consultant, said, "Thank you all who came and donated or to those who tried to donate'. . . also a big thanks to Providence Medical Center for letting us use their facilities. A special thanks goes out to the people in Wayne who helped coordinate these great blood drives, Roger Meyer, Evelyn Jerman, Bonnie Moomaw and Dennis Lipp. Without these people, we couldn't

The Siouxland Community Blood Bank serves all the blood needs of 25 area hospitals and their patients. The only way plood products are made available for area patients is if individuals in our communities volunteer to donate blood on a regular basis.

Depression and Diabetes Linked

People with diabetes are two times more likely to suffer from depression. Those with depression are twice as likely to develop diabetes. Diabetes causes an imbalance in brain chemicals and hormones that can increase the risk of depression. Likewise, there are changes in hormones that Phil Griess R.P occur in depression that increases resistance to insulin. Recent studies state that treating the depression improves both quality of ie and blood sugar lvels (reducing the effects of diabetes and its complications). Persons with diabetes and depression need to treat both and both should

MUSICAL TIME! After many hours of practice and setting up the sets, the Allen Music Department will be presenting their musical "Joseph" beginning Wednesday March 20th with a matinee at 1 pm. The group will also perform at 7:30 pm on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights - March 21,22, & 23. Mr. Lacy and his Music Department of 46 high school choir members have been working hard to prepare for their performance of "Joseph & the Amazing Technicolor Dream Coat". Andrew Lloyd Webber's "Joseph" is unlike any musical Allen has ever attempted in the past.

There are no speaking parts-the whole show consists of entirely songs. A very impressive preview of the musical was given at the Pops Concert. The event promises to show off their very talented musical department and you'll be able enjoy all the time and effort that the students put into this spectacular event! BLOOD BANK

The Siouxland Blood Bank was in Allen on March 4th. Several people stopped in to donated. First time donators were Chantel Stapleton and Viann Stange.

Also signing up to donate were Paticia Bathke, Arlene Blohm, Ricky Chase, Richard Davenport, Carl Domsch, Mary Johnson, Pauline Karlberg, Bonnie Kellogg, Hubert O'Brien, Marcia Rastede, Courtland Roberts, Michelle Sachau, Donna Schroeder, Ricki Smith, Pearl Snyder, Clifford Stalling, Donna Stalling, Carmen Stark, John Werner, and Ronelle Woodward.

There is no substitute for blood, If people lose blood from surgery or injury or if their bodies can't produce enough, there is only one place to turn - volunteer blood donors. We appreciate everything you do to help assure there is a safe and adequate supply. Look for signs for the next time the Blood Bank is in town and make it a priority!

Reminiscing about Randolph

When I decided to leave the hospital for the much better schedule of all weekdays, no nights, no holidays, and no summer work. I didn't apply for a job as school nurse with an individual school.

Instead, I applied and interviewed with the administrator of the education service unit, which provided the nurses to its contracted schools. It's no longer done that way; in fact, there is a video service that can be used by schools and the student never sees the nurse in person.

Even then, 20 plus years ago, we weren't first-aid providers; we were the screening and educational personnel. We were only in each K-12 system one day a week. And, I was doing height, weight, vision and dental exams; plus, checking immunization records, the whole first semester.

One of my assigned schools was Randolph. In the 18 years I had lived 13 miles from Randolph, I had never been in the town. I had been to Sholes; there was a pretty good restaurant there; but never to Randolph. Winside was not in the same conference; the town was in Cedar county, not Wayne. I just did not have any reason to go that direction. It was east of highway 81, on the rare occasion we took that road north of Norfolk.

Consistently, I was curious on that first Tuesday when I drove into town. I soon learned that there were two schools; east and west campus. This had happened because the Catholic school next to the church had closed, and the public school used that building with lung cancer, Deanna for a sort of middle school. So, it stood right next to St. Francis, one of the most beautiful churches I've ever seen. The superintendent's office, and the elementary principal's were in that building.

Across town was a fairly new building that had kindergarten, first and second grades, and a very old building that was the high school.

Since I didn't know a soul in Randolph, I was a little nervous.

never met a stranger. So, I headed for the east building principal's office and introduced myself. He made me feel welcome; and I soon met some of the faculty and the superintendent's secretary. (I never did see the superintendent.)

After getting all of that building screened, I moved to the west campus. This went much faster, after those lower grades, and I actually had a little time to go to the teacher's lounge during breaks. Gradually, I met most of the staff. Everyone was pleasant to me. One first-grade teacher had me do a health class whenever I was in town; and we are still

When I left, after 4 years, they had flowers and cake for me. One year, I attended a community Palm Sunday musical; the next, I sang in it. When the priest there, FR. Rick Arkfeld was diagnosed Edwards, the music therapist, did a special program on the grief process there. The church was

That year, the girls' basketball team was having a very good season. They qualified for state, and brought home the championship trophy. I'll never forget the pride of the community. And I think I can still name the starting five, and the coaching staff.

The boys' coach was a lanky, basketball for Nebraska. He also reffed in the area. I came to appreciate his pleasant manner and friendly smile. Turns out he comes from a family of six boys from Syracuse, just south of where I live

Lyle Nannen has now been at Randolph for 30 years. He has taken teams to state before. In fact, a couple of years ago, they played our local Elmwood-Murdock in the first round. And, folks sitting around me there commented that his team was well coached, and fundamentally sound.

This year, I didn't even realize they were back at State; until the Big Farmer called it to my attention. Since I was in Lincoln on Thursday, I made sure I was at Southeast High at noon; and caught the second half of the opening game. One of their starters, grandson of the community's retired doc, was on the bench with a broken foot. That made everyone a little nervous. But the son of one of the coaches stepped in and did a great job. The son of my long-time friend, who is a very big guy, played center and certainly knew what he was doing. In a very close game with Sandy Creek, one of the tournament regulars, Randolph pulled it out. On Friday, they got past Overton.

So, on Saturday morning, Mike turned on the TV. The finals are always telecast. They were down by seven at the half; and the big kid was in foul trouble. However, Sutton couldn't connect with their basketball the second half; and the Cardinals did. They own a state championship for Mr. Nannen in his last year as coach.

That had to be very emotional for everyone; it was for me, and I haven't even been in the school for 20 years. And, by the way, the old building is gone; they have a new school. But I was thrilled for them.

March Madness always ends up , full of emotion. And Mother Nature had to get into the act. Let's hope that was the last snow

CHOPPER IN WINSIDE

Winside residents and school children received a visit March 7 for the newly purchased helicopter of US92 Radio Station from Norfolk.

The chopper landed on the Winside football field as their second stop out of nine Nebraska communities they planned to visit. Radio station announcer Mike Flood, accompanied by several other employees, greeted the school children, teachers and other spectators. They handed out tickets for a chance to win an Allen Jackson concert.

John Linke, a pilot for the Life Net Emergency Service of Norfolk, was flying the chopper.

Besides the chopper, some the crew came in the station's wellknow Hummer for about a 45

Nebraska residents eligible

Housing partnership available

Northeast Nebraska Joint Housing Authority (NNJHA) has announced the completion of its first mortgage assistance package for a new Nebraska homeowners.

This mortgage assistance is available under the HUD SEC-TION 8 Homeownership Program administered by SIMPCO.

In using the NNJHA program, the dream of homeownership may now be even more easily attained for Nebraska residents. Through the joint efforts of the State of Nebraska and Nebraska Housing Resource (NHR), the opportunity to purchase newly constructed modular homes at lower than normal costs is available.

This affordable modular home program is called Bar-None Housing.

Bar-None House was unveiled at at recent NHR workshop in Beatrice with a tour of two of these well-constructed homes delivered to sites at Wymore. Bar-None Housing offers a choice of two or three bedroom homes. The square footage total is 960 for the main floor with 24 foot by 40 foot dimensions. The open floor plan of the kitchen/ dining/ great-room provides for barrier-free living space and is appealing to disabled and elderly persons.

The low cost construction of these homes results from the effective help of prisoners at Lincoln. The effort is twofold: an affordable, energy efficient home for rural and small-town Nebraska residents and training for prison inmates as a labor skill when released.

Currently, the Federal Home Loan Bank has approved funds for assistance in the purchase of these homes. The first 50 houses will be allowed $4,000 per unit to assist in down payments, closing costs, gap and construction financing.

For additional funding help in northeast Nebraska, visit with local cities and villages for down payment assistance through Nebraska Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Northeast Nebraska Economic Development District and Community Housing Development Organization (CHDO).

Two main Bar-None Housing NHR guidelines are: 1) be a Nebraska resident and 2) meet low-income guidelines. Additional guidelines to qualify for the NNJHA Homeownership Program are required.

"I'm Now Able To Drive In The Day And At Night!"

"I was having trouble seeing, things were blurry, it was like my glasses were blurry all the time. The cataracts affected my driving, I couldn't see the intersections real good and my night vision was bad. So I came to Feidler Eye Clinic and Dr. Herbert Feidler found I had cataracts on both eyes.

I had the surgery in the morning, and at noon I came back and Dr. Feidler took off the bandage. The next morning I woke up and my vision was clear.

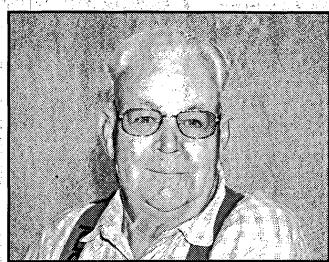

I would tell anyone who's afraid to have cataract surgery, there's nothing to it. It's a simple procedure, no discomfort at all.

Dr. Feidler and his staff always keep me informed and are always willing to help."

More Good News: Aspirin May Reduce Severity of Stroke

In the most common type of stroke a blood clot or some other form of blockage reduces blood flow to the brain. According to a new study reported in the medical journal Stroke, persons who took a single aspirin tablet during the week before they had such a stroke lowered their risk of severe strokerelated damage - including loss of speech or speech difficulty and paralysis. In the study of more than 1,200 persons it was found that about 50% of aspirin users had mild strokes, and only about 10% had severe strokes, however 43% of individuals who did not use aspirin had mild strokes, and 15% had severe strokes.

Many physicians recommend a small daily dose of aspirin for patients who are at special risk for heart disease or stroke. Yet, chronic use of aspirin is not without risk, including bleeding problems. Ask your physician if taking aspirin every day is right for you.
