A new veterans service organization has been started in Wayne by Wayne County Veterans Service Officer Wayne Denklau. AMVETS Association Post 22, chartered last month, meets the second Monday of each month at the Vets Club in Wayne.

This is the third AMVETS group Denklau has belonged to. Denklau was also involved in starting a chapter in Stanton.

According to Layne Beza, commander the local AMVETS chapter,

Conference on tourism to be held in Wayne

A one-day regional tourism conference, "Practical Tourism," will be held at Wayne State College in Wayne on Thursday, April 18. The annual conference is sponsored by the Northeast Nebraska Travel Council.

"This year's program is really terrific," said Judy Johnson, WSC director of college relations and conference coordinator. "Each of the sessions will provide. useful tips for promoting and marketing special events, attractions and other tourism-related activities."

The conference will begin with registration, rolls and coffee at 8 a.m., with the first session beginning at 8:45 a.m. in the Frey Conference Suite, WSC Student Center. Sessions , include "Practical Photography: Capturing the Moment," presented by Dennis Linster, Wayne State College chief information officer who is also a professional photographer. He will share ideas to make photos come alive, including practical tips for taking special event or scenic photos. The second morning session, "Practical Partnerships: Sharing Resources and Expertise" will feature panelists Tom Doering, Research Coordinator of the Nebraska Department of Economic Development; Mary Ethel Emanuel, Marketing

"AMVETS is a veteran organization here to help vets. It's not meant to replace other service organizations. In fact, vets can belong to more than one service organization at a time."

A fundraiser to help get the group started is planned for Saturday, April 13 at the Wayne Vets Club. A meal will be served with tickets being sold at the door at $6 each. A 27 inch color T.V. will be raffled off. The State Commander of the Nebraska AM VETS is planning to attend the event.

AMVETS (American Veterans of WWII) began August, 1943. It's open to anyone who is currently serving in the United States Armed Forces or who has honorably served in the Armed Forces of the U.S. - to include National Guard and Reserve components- at any time after Sept. 15, 1940. There are no service time constraints as in some other organizations.

LaVerle McDonald, adjunct commander for the newly formed AMVETS organization said, "We're losing 1,100 veterans a day nationwide. We need younger people in to maintain our voice

Walk of the cross

Bringing you the hometown news since 1875

Approximately 50 people took part in the annual Good Friday Walk sponsored by the Wayne Association of Congregations and Ministers. Pastors from several churches took part in the readings as the group walked from Grace Lutheran Church to First Presbyterian Church. Volunteers from the crowd helped carry the cross. At the same time, a number of pastors and another group of people were reading the same passages at the Presbyterian Church. Above, the group stopped at the corner See TOURISM, Page 4A of Seventh and Main Streets for part of the procession.

Construction continues on highways

Construction is continuing on the expressway project east of Norfolk on Highway 275. The project consists of replacing the existing two-lane highway with a four-lane expressway from the east edge of Norfolk to the junction of Highways 275 and 57.

The contractor plans to complete construction of the grade for the first half of the project and begin paving by late summer. Weather permitting, traffic will be on two of the new lanes by winter and the contractor will begin building the grade for the second half of the project.

Drivers are urged to use caution in this work zone as trucks and equipment will be entering and leaving the highway and operating near the highway,

As for Highway 35 from Winside to Hoskins, it is closed again so road construction can resume. The highway will be closed to traffic from April 1 until the reconstruction project is complete. It is anticipated that the highway will be open to traffic in August 2002, depending on weather conditions.

A detour utilizing Highway 81 and Highway 98 is in place to accommodate traveling between Norfolk and Wayne, Traffic is urged to use the marked detour, as travel on Highway 35 will not be permitted between Hoskins and Winside.

Trucks have been seen hauling concrete pieces from a pile north of Wayne recently. There is also a pile west of Wayne that will be loaded up soon and hauled away to Norfolk where it will be crushed. The Nebraska Department of Roads will use the concrete pieces as a base core for the Highway 275 expressway project; a four-lane east of Norfolk.

Red Cross relies on community

Dear Editor,

RED CROSS. Two powerful words that evoke a range of emotions throughout the world including joy, relief, pride and comfort. During March, Red Cross month, we celebrate all that the Red Cross stands for-- humanity, caring, unity, experience and innovation. The Red Cross. enhances lives and saves lives each and every day in and around Wayne and around the world. The nation's best known humanitarian organization is dedicated to helping make families and communities safer, including people right here in Wayne. Your Red Cross in Wayne is about helping our community prevent, prepare for and respond to emergencies. As a volunteer-led organization, the Red Cross relies on the generosity of people living here in Wayne who donate their time, energy and money.

We are a non-government organization, so we receive no federal or state funding. The only regular funding we receive on a regular basis is our annual United Way allocation. All emergency support service that we provide is made possible through local donations. Donations are needed and appreciated. It is private local citizens in Wayne county, as well as business owners and community leaders that we rely on to give generously to enable us to keep our promise to the American people that "we'll be there!"

The Wayne Red Cross NEEDS your continued support in 2002. During Red Cross month and throughout the year, we ask people to consider giving generously to the Wayne County Red Cross. Individuals and businesses can make financial donations to the Red Cross by calling 375-5209 or mailing donations to our office in the Mineshaft Mall, 112 East 2nd Street, Wayne, NE 68787.

Each and every person in our community can ALWAYS count on the Red Cross for a helping hand, a comforting smile or hug, and a compassionate heart.

On behalf of the Wayne County Chapter of the American Red Cross, thank you for any donation you can make to help us continue to be the calm following the storm, a pillar of strength and knowledge and a pacesetting humanitarian organization.

We invite you to become part of glorious past, inspiring present and exciting future with the American Red Cross! With thanks,

Capital News Legislature must make choices

By Ed Howard Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

At this writing, it appears that your sales tax and personal income tax obligation will be heading upward if the Legislature musters sufficient votes to override* a promised veto from Gov. Mike Johanns.

Amid the heated battle of the budget, there's the possibility that the Legislature is overlooking a couple of alternatives. Lawmakers, wrangling over numbers and patchwork policies, have failed to consider the potential in a more subtle, overall approach to the state's money problems.

For instance, what about a shutdown of state government? Okay, it's not subtle. But given the way the Legislature is demonized by some of its economically conservative critics, a shutdown might be just the thing. Whenever there is talk of increased taxes, government comes in for an all-around brow beating. It is accused of being approximately useless and unconsciónably expensive.

True; the nation generally seemed angered years ago when congressional Republicans forced a shutdown of the federal government during a budget fight with the Clinton administration. There was a measurable backlash nationally, and a subsequent consensus among political types that the shutdown gambit had been an error.

In Nebraska, however, a threatened state government shutdown might even be popular in the short term, and educational in the long term. It might accomplish the ### needed trick; the trick, in this case, being the rousing of the public, and the private sector, to an audible consensus on fiscal policy.

Business interests, understandably, exercised their right to fight against a surcharge on their tax breaks. They succeeded. The tobacco industry did okay for itself, too. And it is generally understood that the majority of the public isn't anxious to pay higher sales or income tax rates, either.

It's time for the Legislature to force some decision making onto the shoulders of the body politic. Like a parent, or the person who

Nebraska might benefit if the Legislature were to find an appropriate vehicle and venue with which to confront the public, present policy choices, and then use the ballot box to hand the people the ultimate democratic mandate: Choose!

Maybe such a mining of the public will would show that Nebraskans want to emulate what some people call "The People's Republic of Wisconsin." Maybe we would learn that the popular will is to become the Mississippi of the North in terms of social programs. Either way, a clear voice would help to clear the air and set the future's stage for something other than the equivalent of boom-andbust policymaking.

Water department is busy checking systems

City Council

The City Council will meet Tuesday, April 9 at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall at Third and Pearl. Water ...

Water Department employees will be busy for the next few months contacting Wayne businesses and residences to check plumbing systems to see if they are in compliance with Nebraska water regulations. Since 1991 the Nebraska Department has required all city water departments to protect the public from contaminants that could back siphon into the city water mains from certain businesses and homes.

Wayne and all other cities can operate water departments only if the state allows them to. To be approved, we must comply with state laws regarding certified operators, regular water testing and back siphoning hazards.

A back siphon hazard exists when fire fighters open a hydrant at a fire, a water main in the lower part of town breaks or a section of main is shut off for repair.

These all cause a drop in water pressure in some sections of the city water mains and could suck water out of businesses and houses. If that business should be filling a chemical tank or washing equipment with water, that mix could be drawn right back into the water main. That contamination would be pushed into other businesses and houses later when the water is turned back on. If the city water main pressure drops when a home owner has a lawn sprinkler system running or has a garden hose in soapy water or spraying chemical, that dirty water could be sucked through the house back into the water main.

The chances of these happening are slight, but state law requires public water systems to prevent these from happening. This prevention is done by requiring customers to install back flow prevention devices in their plumbing when they use certain pieces of equipment. Many people in Wayne have already done this and the city is required to check back regularly to make sure that back flow. devices are still in place and functioning. The state requires us to document that back flow devices are in place where needed and that they have been tested. The tests are the cost of the home or business owner.

When our water department contacts you, they are required by the State of Nebraska to get a response. Thanks for your help. Community Activity Center

We are having an open house this Saturday morning, April 6, to show the public the building with the floors poured and at its current stage of construction. We will be there from 9:30 to 11 a.m. Stop by and take a look.

Wakefield facility is part of project

The Wakefield Health Care Center, Terrence Hoffman, Administrator, was one of 10 nursing facilities chosen as the Founding Members of "Nebraska's I Support Quality of Life" Project.

The Alzheimer's Association -Lincoln/ Greater Nebraska Chapter was awarded a grant by the Nebraska Health & Human Services System, Division of Aging Services in September of 2001 to introduce the concept of residentcentered planning and care to Nebraska's nursing facilities.

The purpose of the project is to assist the nursing facilities in bringing about environmental and cultural changes that will improve the quality of care and quality of life for the individuals living in the facilities. The funds used for the project are Older Americans Act, Elder Abuse Prevention funds.

The idea for the Nebraska proiect developed from learning about the changes that have been implemented at Crestview Nursing Home in Bethany, Mo. to improve the quality of care and quality of life for individuals who live there. In 1998, Administrator Eric Haider and his wife, Director of Nursing, Margie Haider introduced "personcentered planning" to the staff and residents at Crestview and the concept is now known as "The Ideal Nursing Home" program. in the senate and congress. This is needed to keep VA benefits, etc. in force.'

Beza added, "There's strength in numbers as in lobbying, etc."

McDonald notes that being newly chartered, anyone signing up for membership until the end of June, 2002, will have their names included on the charter list which will be displayed at the Wayne Vets Club. Dues are $20 a year or $150 for a lifetime membership.

The idea for a AMVETS organization in Wayne began last fall with their first meeting being held in December. There were three officers at that time. There are 20 members now with six being lifetime members.

AMVETS State Commander, Adjunct for the State, Duane

Wilson swore in officers at the January meeting. They are: Commander Layne Beza, First Vice Commander Brian Loberg, Second Vice Commander Brendan Dorcey, Adjunct Commander LaVerle McDonald, Chaplain Mark Ahmann, Provost Marshall Eric Schnell, Judge Advocate Marlin Meier, Three trustees- Randall Johnson, Wayne Denklau, and Kelvin Wurdemann.

Part of AMVETS protocol is to aid and assist veterans asking for help. A couple of examples of what the new group can help with includes being able to obtain wheelchairs for vets and get hospital equipment which can be loaned out through other service organizations

Both McDonald and Beza say the group wants to get a scholarship program going; starting next year. Community projects and city rec issues are also something they would like to help with. Another important function they plan to provide is Color Guard and Honor Guard for parades, Chicken Days, Fairs, funerals, etc. They are talking about having a booth at the Wayne County Fair this year explaining the AMVETS organization. There are plans to be involved in fundraisers such as pancake feeds, etc. in the future.

Also, the group plans for a AM VETS auxiliary to be formed as soon as they get established.

Anyone interested in becoming part of the AMVETS Post 22 can attend their next meeting on Monday, April 8 at 7 p.m at the Vets Club in Wayne or call Membership Chairman Brendan Dorcey at 375-2039, Commander Layne Beza at 375-4549, or Adjunct Commander LaVerle McDonald at 375-2529.

Rewarding their efforts

Fifth grade students at Wayne Middle School were rewarded for their reading efforts last week. Those students who reached their Accelerated Reading goals were treated to pizza at Godfather's Pizza. The students were each able to make a pizza with toppings of their choice, watch the pizza being baked and then eat it.

Identities. Marilyn Bath will speak on identity theft on Monday, April 15 at 7 p.m. at the Wayne City Auditorium.

Identity theft occurs when a thief steals personal, identifying information such as a Social Security number, bank or credit card account numbers and then uses that information to tap into the person's good credit. The thief, assuming your identity, opens credit card accounts, robs your bank accounts and retirement savings and more.

Bath, of the Consumer Protection Division of the Nebraska Attorney General's Office will explain how people may protect themselves from consumer fraud. She will also explain what warning signs to look for if theft is suspected and what can be done if you are already a victim.

The public is invited to attend the presentation free of charge and encouraged to ask questions. For more information, contact the Main Street Office at 375-5062.

Entries must include a name. address and phone number.

The essays will be judged during the last week in April and the winners will be announced during Be Kind to Animals Week. Prizes will be given to the top three essays and they will be printed in the Wayne Herald.

The deadline for submitting entries is Friday, April 19. They should be sent to Kind Kid Contest, P.O. Box 112, Wayne, Neb. 68787.

For more information, call after 5:30 p.m., Lois at 375-1278 or Kathy at 375-3498.

"We want you to meet with current students, visit academic areas of your choice, and tour campus. You will also have the opportunity to eat lunch in our cafeteria. These activities are just a few of the events planned to help you decide if WSC is the place for you,"

Williamson, admissions specialist. "This is our last of eight events. All have been well-attended occasions for students."

Students attending the event should pre-register by Thursday, April 11. The admissions office will be setting up academic visits for students.

Anyone who wants to visit with a specific instructor should let the admissions office know when they pre-register.

'Cats off to a 3-1 start in conference play WSC sluggers handle Duluth

The Wayne State baseball team captured three of their first four games of Northern Sun Conference play last week by taking three from Minnesota-Duluth. John Manganaro's team evened the season record at 12-12.

WSC dropped the opening game to Duluth, 6-4 after giving up six runs in the first inning.

Jarëd Hertzel was tagged with the loss after being roughed up the first inning. Hertzel went 4 2/3 innings before being relieved by Joseph Wall.

Both teams had seven hits with Brian Foy lead the 'Cats with a double and single. Donald Whitmire and Adam Lavorato each doubled while Ryan Radtke, Joey Baldwin and Eddie Burns each singled.

In game two, WSC won by a 9-1 margin as Travis McCarter went the distance from the mound with six strikeouts to his credit while scattering four hits.

WSC had nine hits led by Eddie Burns with a triple and double while Brian Foy and Joe Hartman each doubled and singled. Scott Hayduk smacked his second homerun of the season and Ryan Radtke along with Joey Baldwin each singled.

The Cats swept Duluth on Good Friday as WSC posted an 8-5 opening win as Aaron Hyde posted the pitching win with a complete game.

Both teams posted eight hits with Eddie Burns netting a pair of doubles while Brian Foy had two singles. Gary Redden belted a double with Ryan Radtke, Donald Whitmire and Scott Hayduk lacing singles.

WSC won the nightcap by a 7-3 margin with Justin Caréy earning the win from the mound with relief help from Courie Weber and Joseph Wall.

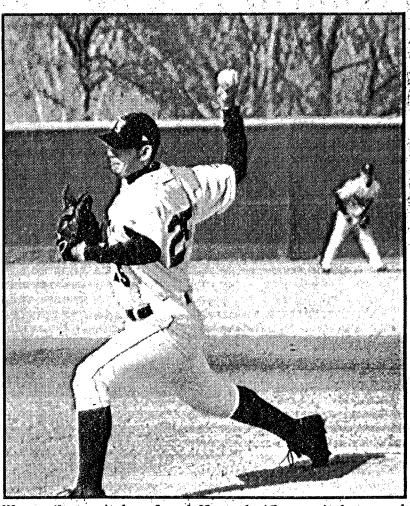

WSC out-hit Duluth, 11-4 as Brian Foy went 3-3 with a trio of base hits.

Donald Whitmire doubled and singled twice with Scott Hayduk hitting a pair of doubles. Ryan Radtke, Joe Hartman and Justin Conley each had a base hit. Earlier last week WSC dropped an 8-4 decision to UNO in a very sloppy affair that saw the two teams combine for nine errors.

WSC was out-hit, 9-6 by the Mavericks with Joe Hartman lead the 'Cats with two singles while Donald Whitmire blasted a double.

Joey Baldwin, Brian Foy and Ryan Radtke each had a base hit. Dustin Nilius was tagged with the loss from the mound. Mark Bignell and Joseph Wall also saw action.

Turkey decoy placement set-ups that work

I just returned from filming a turkey hunt on Mississippi's Giles Island and after being beat up by Eastern turkeys for 5 days, I came to several conclusions about decoy placement.

On day one, we had a Tom coming to the call, he wasn't strutting, and he wasn't gobbling, but he was coming in.

Then it happened! He spotted our decoys and he was off like a scared rabbit.

The only thing I could figure was that the decoy spooked him or he had seen either myself or the camera man mové.

We spent the rest of the day trying to figure out what went wrong and accusing each other of moving at the wrong time!

The next day, we had a hen walk right between us, without a care in the world. Behind her there were three silent long beards. As they hit the road, something spooked them, they bolted and off through the woods they went.

I couldn't believe my luck or lack of it! Something had to be wrong! I checked and rechecked my gear for too much shine, checked the camera to see if our camo was still working and covering all the shiny parts.

We had bird after bird hang up out of range or run off and this was really starting to bug me.

We had six days and wanted to film two turkey hunts, one with a regular shotgun and one with a Knight muzzleloading shotgun. At the rate it was going, we would be lucky to film one show and traveling all the way to Mississippi to be beat up by a turkey wasn't in the cards, we had to figure out what the heck was wrong.

That's when I started really paying attention to the way the turkeys were acting and how they looked.

Most of the turkeys we spotted weren't the entire turkey and they weren't standing in the open. You might see a head sticking out of the vegetation, but you never saw them standing in the open.

We needed to move our decoys out of the open and tuck them into some type of cover, leaving just enough decoy exposed for the sharp eyed Toms to spot.

The next thing I noticed that 99% of the Toms coming in weren't gobbling, weren't displaying and their heads weren't the gaudy red, white and blue of a spring Tom. They were gray like a hen, with a few starting to show a bit of white. The Boss Gobbler or "Ole Boys" as our guide called them, had bright heads.

My Tom decoy, with the stubby little beard, had a bright red, white and blue head. Even though he was a runt, his head made him look like one of the "Ole Boys" that had been kicking the tail feathers out of all the other birds.

Could it be that the birds coming in spotted the brightly colored head of the Jake decoy and immediately thought he was the big gobbler that was the "Boss"?

With this information, we decided to retire my Tom, and use a gray headed hen, tucking her into some cover with only the neck and head exposed

This helped as the birds were coming closer, but still not coming into gun range.

The really tough part was the fact that the Toms weren't gobbling, so you didn't hear them coming in. All of a sudden, they were there and a wrong move before you spotted them, you didn't stand a chance, because the Tom would see you and slide back out of the area even more quietly than he slid in.

Since the turkeys weren't coming to us, we needed to figure out a way to get them into range.

The Mississippi River was on the rise and the water was starting to take over the low ground of the island. This was starting to cut down on the dry ground that the turkeys were able to use.

We found an area that the birds had been strutting in, an area that was getting smaller as the water rose, creating a funnel effect! What we were looking for was an area that was big enough to place a decoy within shooting range, yet small enough to restrict the approaches to our decoy.

Our decoy was placed in front of us, in between the water and our calling location and my guide, Jimmy Riley started calling. In a short period of time, I caught some movement out of the corner of my left eye. As I turned, there stood a long beard and several Jakes, they spotted my movement about the time that I spotted them.

They headed for the decoy and the funnel down area created by the water. To my surprise several of the birds waded right into the water and headed out across the swamp.

The long beard got in front of us and ran into another Jake that was heading back after, spotting our camera. The long beard took the retreating jakes action as aggressive and a fight ensued. It didn't take long for the big bird to run off the young one and that's when I drew a bead on the nervous

Tom. Since the birds were right up against the water, it was about a 40 yard shot. Not a shot I would generally take, but I'd patterned my 12 gauge and knew that it was a shot that would work. My shot caught him in mid stride and he spun around looking for an escape route. The only escape route was out over the swamp.

With two powerful strokes, the Tom was airborne and heading across the swamp. My next shot caught him right where it needed to be and he splashed down in the water. water boots on or I'd still be there trying to figure out how to retrieve the bird.

We bagged our bird and got our show on this trip by modifying our hunting tactics to take the advantage from the birds and give it to us.

Here's a couple of things that you might want to remember the next time your turkey hunting and run up against similar situations.

(1) Early in the season, some Toms won't be breeding, so when you see some Toms, check out their head color, if the majority of the Toms have the old red, white and blue breeding colors, then use a decoy with a similar head color. If the majority of the Toms are still gray headed, tone down your decoys and go with a gray headed one or just use your hen decoy.

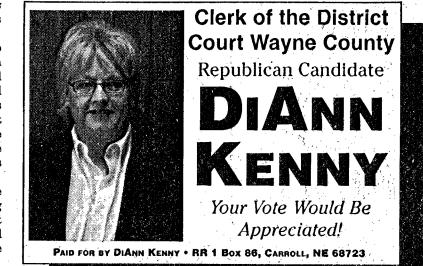

(2) If the Toms are hanging up when they see your decoy out in the open or if all you see is a turkey head peaking up over the cover, move your decoy into an area where the entire decoy isn't exposed.

(3) If the Toms are coming in silent, it's tough hunting, the only thing you can do is keep your eyes and ears open. Since my hearing was damaged in the service, the hearing part just isn't going to happen. I make up for my hearing loss by using a hearing device that amplifies the surround sounds and shuts down when I fire my gun. I've used Walker Game ears for years and feel that on days when the Toms have lock jaw, the extra amplification helps me to hear incoming birds.

Will Davis Sav-Mor Pharmacy More Good News: Aspirin May Reduce Severity of Stroke

In the most common type of stroke a blood clot or some other form of blockage reduces blood flow to the brain. According to a new study reported in the medical journal Stroke, persons who took a single aspirin tablet during the week before they had such a stroke lowered their risk of severe strokerelated damage - including loss of speech or speech difficulty and paralysis. In the study of more than 1,200 persons it was found that about 50% of aspirin users had mild strokes, and only about 10% had severe strokes, however 43% of individuals who did not use aspirin had mild strokes, and 15% had severe strokes.

Many physicians recommend a small daily dose of aspirin for patients who are at special risk for heart disease or stroke. Yet, chronic use of aspirin is not without risk, including bleeding problems. Ask your physician if taking aspirin every day is right for you.

CITIZEN OF THE YEAR

Cited for his work with young people, both students and baseball players, Paul Eaton was named Citizen of the Year during the annual meeting and banquet of the Wakefield Community Club. The nomination praised Eaton for instilling community pride and volunteerism in the young people he works with. Paul was also complimented for the many community projects he initiates at the park and around town.

In accepting the award, Paul credited all the volunteers whom he says makes his ideas a reality. He added, "The only thing I am good at is asking people to do the work." Freshman speech student Ashley Anderson delighted the audience with her entertainment speech entitled "Underwear." The Library Foundation made a presentation on the proposed new building and their fundraising efforts.

Elected to the board of directors were Mardell Holm, Larry Clay, Mike Salmon and Pastor Ross Erickson. They join current directors Marvin Borg, Sharón Salmon, Weldon Schwarten, Anne Brenn,

Judy Loofe and Harlan Thompson. Thanked for serving on the board were Michelle Tullberg, Dr. Jim Bierbower, Janice Roberts and Ron Wenstrand. The event was attended by approximately 90 persons. Members of the Boy Scout Troop assisted with serving the meal.

RECEIVE ALL-CONF. HONORS The Lewis and Clark Conference recently selected allconference teams for the basketball season. Honored from Wakefield were Luke Hoffman, Ross Hansen, Timarie Bebee, Megan Brown, Jessica Dutcher and Kayla Erwin.

Ross and Timarie were all-conference selections and the other four honorable mention. Bebee, Hansen, and Brown were Omaha World Herald All-State Honorable Mentión honorees. Bebee was also selected by the Lincoln Journal-Star for All-State Honorable Mention, Honorable Mention by the Norfolk Daily News Elite Eight and Academic All-State. Nicole Jensen was selected for All-State Academic Honors.

COLLECTING CAN TABS The Pop's Partners 4-H Club has kicked off a two-month drive to collect aluminum beverage can tabs for the benefit of the Ronald McDonald House in Lincoln. The club is asking the Community to help them reach their goal of 60 pounds of tabs.

Tabs may be dropped off at a number of Wakefield businesses where collection containers have been placed including Anderson Lumber, Dorcey's Pub, The Fair Store, ESU office and C Store.

Persons who have tabs to donate may also contact one of the club members. They are Brent Roeber, Ashley Lunz, Jessica Lunz, Clint Luhr, Alison Luhr, Amanda Luhr, Edie Billiar, Mishea Maxwell, Kristina Lunz, Keri Lunz and Jacob Lunz.

Club members met March 24 at the Roeber home. Members watched a video on Quality Assurance. The club plans to go ice skating April 5.

SCHOOL MUSIC DEPARTMENT The junior high chorus attended Wayne State College Middle School Music Contest March 5. After weeks of preparing the pieces, "Joshua Fit the Battle" and 'Turn the Key" the students performed for a judge and received helpful comments, according to director Tracy Anderson. The judge noted the choir's mature sound and complemented them on performing three-part music, Anderson said.

Allen hosted a Middle School Music Contest on March 14 at which 19 junior high students attended. After forming many small groups and solos, these students found time in their schedules to come in practice for the event, Mrs. Anderson explained. Wakefield came home with six superior ratings on performances by Brelynn Puckett, solo; Dakota Roberts, solo; Andy O'Neil, solo; Shay Tullberg, solo; Amanda Nelson, Courtney Rouse, Lindsay Rollins, Luke Henderson, Andy O'Neil and Garek Bebee, mixed sextet and Shay Tullberg and Samantha Peterson, duet. Other students participating included Theresa Foote, Tisean Schulz, Clint Luhr, Jeremy Kaufman, Calie Nelson, Tami Johnson, Kristi Odens, Stephanie Thomsen, and Erin Bird.

music groups include:

April 15: Pre-contest concert at 7 p.m. Performing groups will be the junior high choir, high school choir, girls glee, boys glee and swing choir. Soloists and small. groups will also present during the Exhibition Night portion of the evening.

April 19: The high school choir will travel to South Sioux City for District Music Contest. Dates for the elementary and secondary Spring Concerts are to be announced according to Mrs. Anderson. GIRL SCOUTS

The Wakefield Junior Girl Scout Troop has had a busy month of March with a variety of activities. 'The latest was District Day which the local troop hosted March 23. Approximately 80 Junior Girl Scouts (grades 4,5,6) from 13 Northeast Nebraska towns making up the district attended along with their leaders.

Activities took place at the Little Red Hen theatre and at the Wakefield Family Fun Center. One of the activities the Scouts took part in was in voice production and character movement. In addition to working with costumes and makeup, all part of earning a theatre badge. Members of the Wakefield Speech Class of Mrs. Zoe VanderWeil shared their time and talents with the Scouts.

As a final project for badge requirements, the Scouts broke up into smaller groups of 12 to work with a student director and presented a dramatization of a fairy tale complete with costumes and props. "The girls really enjoyed the day," stated Junior Leader Val Bard. "The leaders and adult sponsors accompanying the visiting troops were impressed with Wakefield's young leaders," added Mrs. Bard.

Girl Scout Week falls in March and the girls started carving a Peace Pole on Thinking Day in February and dedicated the pole during Girl Scout Week with Scouts from Emerson and members of the community as guests for the ceremony.

The pole was placed as an addition to the flower garden just North of the Post Office. It delivers its message of peace in four languages.

Emma Burris

the 2002 Girls State Delegate. Selected as alternate was Laura Yosten, daughter of Clyde and Barb Yosten of Winside.

Emma is a Winside High School junior and is the class president. She is active in the Winside Youth Leadership Council, the Winside Student Council, the school speech team, the school jazz band, the school musical, the school concert band, the school annual (yearbook) staff, the school mentoring program, the school W-club, and the Norfolk Faith Regional Hospital medical explorers group. Earlier this year, she was involved with the school quiz bowl team, the school one-act play, and the school cross-country team. She also attended the Conference honor band clinic (first chair second alto saxophone) this year and the Wayne State College honor band (second cháir first alto saxophone.) On March 23, she attened the Class C All-State Band Clinic (first tenor saxophone in the jazz band).

During the past 12 months, she has taught vacation Bible School. taught Sunday School, served on the Winside United Methodist Chürch's worship committee, been a member of the Winside Youth Alive Bible Study, and improved the appearance of the Winside Museum. During the last week of May in she 201, taught the Trinity/Methodist Vacation Bible School first and second grade class. During this time she was able to teach the children about Jesus and His mission. Throughout the week of Bible School, they made crafts, read stories, and sang songs regularly. She also, currently, teaches the Trinity/Methodist Sunday School third ad fourth grade class and has been able to help the children memorize the books of the Bible, help'them learn how to use their Bibles and has also taught them about many of the Bible's main parables. They have also been making crafts and learning how to apply the teachings of Jesus in daily lives. As a member of the Winside United Methodist Church Worship Committee, she has begun to help the church incorporate a contemporary worship service into the weekly services. She has also been a member of the Winside Youth Alive Bible Study since 2000. During the Bible Study, their. group discusses the Bible, its many meanings and how to apply its teachings into daily lives.

around the school flagpole. During this prayer service, they pray for the nation, the community, and their school.

Throughout the summer and autumn of 2001, she was able to serve the community by planting and maintaining a garden area around the Winside Museum. At the back of the Museum, there is a small flowerbed that, at the summer's start, needed quite a lot of tender loving care to bring it back to life. Therefore, she weeded the garden area, divided some of its flowers, and purchased new, perennial flowers to fill out the area. There was also a shady patch of soil at the museum's front where grass would not grow; in this area, she planted and maintained a small shade garden.

Following high school, Emma intends to enter the pre-medical program at the Virginia Commonwealth University in Richmond, Va. Following the completion of this program, she shall enter the Virginia Commonwealth University's Medical Program with an emphasis on pathology as a couse of study Following graduation from program, she intends to enter into a 12 month residency at the Richmond, Va, Office of the Chief Medical examiner where she will study the subspecialty of forensic pathology. Then, after she becomes a certified forensic pathologist, she intends to become a medical examiner for the state of Virginia.

Students, faculty and community members discussed support and opposition for the three options. Also moderating was Kathy Mohlfeld, counselor and academic advisor.

Financial information shared

-"Understanding bonds can be important in helping to maintain stability and diversification in a portfolio," said Ric Wilson, Waddell & Reed Financial Advisor. Are you bewildered by bonds? If so, you are not alone. In fact, according to a Nov. 18, 2001 New York Times article, 30 percent of investors indicated that they avoided investing in bonds simply because they did not understand them.

Not fully understanding the importance of bonds could potentially prove detrimental to you if that lack of understanding prevents you from including bonds within your portfolio. Perhaps the best place to start is the basics.,', What is a bond? A bond is similar to a loan. It is a contractual obligation between the lender (investors like you) and the borrower (the issuer). A bond pays a fixed rate of interest (called the coupon) to the investors with a steady stream of income fro further investing or to meet expenditure needs.

Bonds come in many flavors. For investors desiring capital preservation, a portfolio of high quality, short-maturity bonds can fill the bill while providing a stream of income. If you seek a higher level of income, however, a diversified bond portfolio can provide that by varying quality, maturity, industry and payment type. By adding bonds to your portfolio, based on your risk profile and income needs, you have the potential to help enhance overall returns and reduce risk. For more information about how bonds may fit into-your overall financial plan, contact Ric Wilson, the local Waddell & Reed Advisor.

investor, typically two times per year. A bond has a "face value" or "par value," typically of $1,000.

Furthermore, and unlike stocks, each bond has a pre-determined endpoint, called the maturity. At maturity, the borrower must pay in full the original amount of the loan and any remaining interest. As long as a company doesn't go into bankruptcy, you will receive your original investment, in addition to any interest income over the life of the bond.

For example, a $1,000 par value bond with a five percent coupon and a 10-year maturity will pay the investor $50 per year ($25 every six months) for the next 10 years and then repay the original $1,000 at the end of 10 years.

Why invest in bonds? The answer is simple - diversification. You should typically maintain a diversified investment portfolio consisting of bonds, stocks and cash, with percentages in each that take into consideration your individual circumstances and objectives.

Bonds are generally less volatile than stocks and often are referred. to as "fixed income" investments, Whereas the income from the average stock has declined dramatically over the past several years, bonds can often provide Top Scholar.

Pay for grades?

Should you offer to pay your teens for good grades? Probably not. It's better for kids to learn that doing well in school is its own reward. If you'd like to celebrate their achievements, try non-monetary treats like a special dinner.

Tuning in to Teens

Parents can encourage teenagers to talk by being ready to listen. When your child chooses to confide in you, try to give her your full attention. It may be inconvenient, but your teen will see that you care - and may be more willing to open up.

Fun things to learn

Steer your high schooler to the "Learn how to do . . ." links at www.teacherszone.com/howto1.htm. He can learn how to cut hair, build a camera, write a resume, or do other fun and useful stuff in his free time.

German students excel in test

'Elysia Mann, a third year German student, scored a perfect 100 on the National German test. In January, students in Wayne High School's German II, III and IV classes took the National German Examination.

Several students, Elysia Mann, Ann Temme, Kathryn Taber, Jon Ehrhardt, Deron Connolly and Kristin Echtenkamp, demonstrated their proficiency in the German language by achieving high scores. They were among the 25,000 students who participated in this year's testing program, sponsored by the American Association of Teachers of German, a national organization with over 7,000 members.

The German examination is administered on levels 2, 3 and 4 and is considered a real challenge. Topics include listening comprehension, reading skills, applied grammar and idioms in context. Each year a new version of these German exams is created.

There were 180 Nebraskans who tool the level 2 test. Deron Connolly, with a raw score of 80, placed in the top 20 percent in Nebraska.

One hundred twenty students in Nebraska took the level 3 test. Elysia Mann placed first in Nebraska for the second time. Her perfect score was one of only 33 in the country.

Seventy-nine Nebraska students took the level 4 test. Ann Temme, last year's prize-winner,

Their German teacher is Edith Zahniser.

Awards given at the local level include certificates, books, medals and other prizes. Through this program, students who scored at or above the 90th percentile are eligible to apply for a four-week study trip to Germany this summer. Elysia, having completed her written application and an interview in German with the Nebraska selection committee, was chosen as the Nebraska winner. # Matthew Youngmeyer Youngmeyer commissioned in US Air Force

Matthew Youngmeyer was commissioned on Dec. 15 as Second Lieutenant in the United States Air Force Reserve. The commissioning took place at the student union building on the campus of Illinois Institute of Technology in Chicago, Ill.

Youngmeyer received the Blue Chip Award which honors the top 15 percent of the ROTC graduates nationwide. This gives him the opportunity to receive full tuition for a Master's Degree in Engineering. Matthew will need to complete his master's degree within three years to take advantage of this award.

Youngmeyer will be on active duty for the next five years. He is currently receiving training in Space/Missile Operations at Vandenburg AFB, Lompoc, Calif. He will be stationed at Minot AFB in Minot, ND beginning this August. Youngmeyer graduated from Wayne High School in May 1997. He is the son of Jim and Deb Youngmeyer of rural Wayne. His grandparents are Les and Pearl Youngmeyer of Wayne and Dorothy Badgett of Corning, Iowa.

Several attend workshops

Sixty-seven individuals attended a Nebraska Emergency Medical Services Association pre-conference instructor workshop March 14 in Columbus.

The workshop was sponsored by the Nebraska Instructor Society (NIS) NEMSA, Nebraska Health and Human Services System Emergency Medical Services Program and Central Community College-Columbus. It covered regulations and legislation, the practical and written exams, course curriculum and new instructional ideas.

Area residents attending included Kevin Garvin of Dixon and Sandra Atkins of Wayne.

Names omitted

The names of three students at Laurel-Concord High School were inadvertently left off the list of those named to the third quarter honor roll.

Senior Jared Hartman and freshman Brandon Koch were listed to the honor roll. Junior Greg Knudsen was also on the list with a 4.0 grade point average.

Bupp chosen as Girls' State alternate

Jessie Bupp, daughter of Richard and Vicki Bupp of Allen, was chosen as the alternate for Girls' State.

She is actively involved in the following school activities: volleyball, basketball, track, band, choir, teacher's aid, class officer, quiz bowl, and annual staff.

Bupp has been a team captain for the Relay for Life Cancer Walk for two years. She is a member of the Masonic All Star Marching Band. She is actively involved in the United Methodist Church as a Sunday school teacher.

Art faculty to exhibit work

The Wayne State College art faculty will be exhibiting works in the Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery, Peterson Fine Arts Building from April 2 until April 18.

The Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery is open Monday through Friday, from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. when classes are in session. There is no admission charge to view the show. For more information, please call the WSC fine arts division at (402) 375-7359.

Talk about birdwatching

Recently Rose Janke and Bonnie Wylie presented information about birds and birdwatching to the fourth grade students at Winside Public School. They brought many interesting items to share about birds and talked about the many different varieties of birds found in Nebraska. The fourth graders really enjoyed the presentation. The fourth graders have been studying about flying.

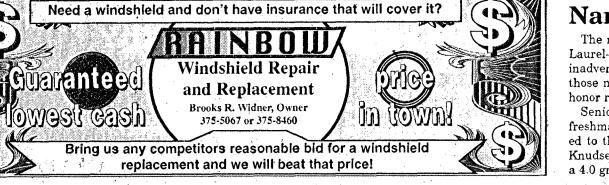

> 2002 HIGHWAY FATALITIES ARE TRAGIC

. By Governor Mike Johanns

Dear Nebraska Neighbors:

We have witnessed an alarming trend emerge on Nebraska's roads in 2002. As of March 27, seventy-five, traffic fatalities have occurred on our roadways. This is a staggering increase of 92 percent, from 39 fatalities the same time a year ago. The new statistics also surpass the record number of 70 traffic fatalities at this time in 2000, These numbers are a tragic reminder that we all need to be more cautious behind the wheel.

est number in more than 50 years. Even one traffic fatality in any state is one too many. Continued vigilance on our roads is crucial.

Another safety challenge for motorists and workers this time of year are highway work zones. The presence of road construction crews will become more pronounced throughout our state as spring and summer approach.

More than 300 state highway construction projects are planned across Nebraska this year. With this road work comes increased potential for traffic congestion and safety hazards. The season will require even greater caution on the part of motorists. By slowing down and staying alert when approaching highway work zones, motorists can reduce or prevent the risk of accidents.

Nationwide, more than 1,000 people were killed in construction work zones in 2000. It was the deadliest year on record. Eight of those deaths occurred in Nebraska. A total of 765 work-zone related accidents were reported in Nebraska. While only eight fatalities were reported, injuries were suffered in 292 of those accidents.

The biggest cause of most work-zone accidents continues to be drivers' failure to pay attention. More than half of the drivers involved in construction zone fatalities contributed to the accidents by speeding, running off the road or crossing into the wrong lane of traffic. As drivers, we need to stay alert when driving near highway construction sites by observing lower speed limits, heeding posted warning signs, and being aware of potential work-zone hazards.

Highway work zones can be an inconvenience, but they are essential to building safer, smoother roads that will ultimately save lives. I urge everyone in our "Nebraska United" to drive safely around road crews this spring and summer. This is the perfect time to take a minute to remember the responsibility that comes with getting behind the wheel. It's my hope that with a little more caution, the remainder of 2002 will be a safe year for all of us on Nebraska's roads.

Encourage teens to set goals

Making plans for the future can be exciting -- and stressful -- for teens and parents.

Teens have many educational and career options they need to sort through as their high school graduation date nears. Most teens understand that decisions made during youth will have long-term consequences, which adds pressure to choose the right path.

Parents play important roles in helping their teens plan for the future. To help teens set goals, parents should:

• Encourage teens to develop their talents and abilities. A child that is a math whiz should be encouraged take advanced math courses. Tell teens to consider careers that use their strengths.

• Help teens choose high school courses and college majors that will allow them to reach their career goals.

ishes teens' motivation to do well. • Stay flexible. Teens' goals and desires often change as they mature, so their lives may change directions after they've already made important decisions. Teens who learn to think about their options will be able to handle these situations better than those without that skill. SOURCE: Rosalie Bakken,

New series to begin

Our Savior Lutheran Church in lized to reach out to the worship-Wayne will begin a new series of messages on April 7 that will continue through May 5.

The series, entitled "Prayer Can Change Your Life," will begin on April 7 and will be based on Luke 11:1-13. This will be followed with "The Five Conditions of Answered Prayer," based on John 15:7 on April 21; "How to Pray About Your Problems" based on Romans 10:17 on April 28 and on May 5 "How Receive an Answer from God" based on Luke 1:5-23.

On Sunday, April 14, Pastor Paul Lutter, Wayne State College Lutheran Campus Pastor will be speaking on "The Problem with Being a Prodigal" based on the test from Luke 15:11-32.

Our Savior's weekly contemporary service is casually called, "The Seven" because worship is held each Sunday evening, beginning at 7 p.m.

The Seven's Praise Worship format is designed to have a different pers. Worshippers are encouraged to life up their voice in song and their hands in praise.

The congregation extends a special invitation to the community to come and worship at Our Savior Lutheran Church on Sunday evenings at 7.

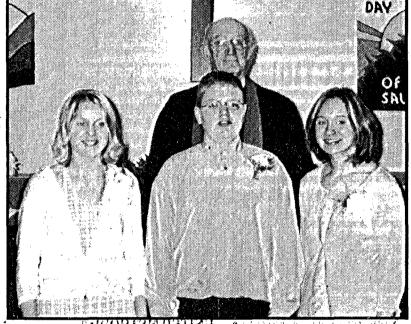

Our Savior continues to offer weekend worship services on Saturday evenings at 6 p.m. and Sunday mornings at 8 and 10:30 a.m.

Used oil to be collected

The Nebraska Oil Collection & Reuse Program will be expanding by 17 new local collection sites. This expansion will bring the total participating collection sites to 27.

Six of the new collection sites have been assisted in program implentation by Northeast Nebraska RC&D. These new collection sites are located in the follwing counties; Antelope, Cedar, Dixon, Knox, Pierce and Wayne.

The mission of the program is to ensure that all Nebraskans can dispose of used oil properly. This in turn will protect Nebraska's soils. and prevent potential contamination of surface and ground water.

Used oil collected through the program will be reused, recovered for energy, used in asphalt road applications or re-refined. Under a state contract, the participating cities and counties are receiving 10 cents for each gallon of oil collected, The Nebraska Used Oil Collection and Reuse Program is an environmental initiative endorsed and chartered by Gov. Johanns on Dec. 21, 1999.

Nice day on Easter

The Wayne

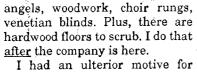

Herald

Easter Monday and I have to go to work. One of the regular hospice nurses is on vacation. We had lovely weather for the bunny to do his work, but the wind is really blowing today.

Our music at church yesterday. was goosebumply. Our pastor's wife, who has not played since her baby arrived three months ago, did all kinds of special arrangements on the organ. On the congregational hymns, "Christ, the Lord is Ris'n Today," and "I Know That My Redeemer Lives;" there was brass and percussion,too.

Since I was even pressed into service for a couple of Lenten services, I told her I would hold the baby when ever she wanted to play! I think that's a fair trade.

One of the things I gave up when I "retired" was an every other week housekeeper. Boy, do I miss that luxury! Especially when it comes to dusting. I hate to dust. And there are lots of things to dust around here: pictures, hosting Easter dinner: I had couches that needed moving. The new room in the basement got carpeted on Wednesday, and one ### couch needed to go down there. The other one went to the office and the one in the office went to the living room. It comes in handy to have a son and three sons-inlaws at times like this.

I'm not a person who rearranges furniture very often. For one thing, I've always lived in houses with long, old-fashioned windows. That limits things a lot. And for the other, I can very quickly get in a rut. Even now, with just the one couch in the living room, it doesn't seem as cozy. Or, as Monte puts it, you've changed the "dynamics for intimacy." We may have to get another recliner. We'll see.

Both the Big 12 teams got beat in Atlanta on Saturday. We had been hoping they would play for the championship tonight. But Indiana and Maryland are on missions. And the Oklahoma gals stayed right with U Conn, but U Conn could probably beat some men's teams. They are awesome! March Madness is almost over.

By ViAnn Stange, member of the Wayne Master Gardeners

That is the resounding message Spring life is feeling. The spring bulbs and plants in the ground and anxious gardener in the house all share this urge.

Yet let's not get too anxious to uncover outdoor plants and beds lest the little sprouts get frost bit. As long as the flower buds are still underground they won't be damaged even though some of the foliage may have frozen by emerging from the ground too soon during those warm January days.

Gardeners are talking a lot about climate zones. So if your 2001 perennial shrubs and plants do not survive our winter, maybe it just was not hardy for our zone. We have to work with nature; but degrees. Because we can already grow all the plants hardy to zone one we want to create a warmer microclimate suitable for zone five by utilizing elements which include hill or lowland sites, windbreaks, mulches, and directional locations. Walk around your area and take note of potential "hot spots." These These may be improved with reflective windbreaks or a water feature. Temperatures will be cooler for gardens that are in shade, plant is hardy in your zone, plant it next to your house, which is always a warm microclimate.

The lay of the land at my home is a hill. The east top of the hill will allow full exposure to climate. The west bottom of the hill is exposed to roadway and salts. The south walk is a five foot by 25 foot windswept garden bed at the base of a 10 foot to 15 foot high white permanent sided garage. Here is where I plan to create a micro climate by utilizing reflective heat, man-made windbreaks, mulch and well-placed shrubs for winter protection. Then cool it down in summer by removing the man-made windbreaks and adding a water feature to cool summer air movement. Good luck to us all in our 2002 gardens.

Tailgate party planned for Cattlemen's Ball The Honky Tonk Tailgate Party

Tour, a package concert tour featuring three country music artists, will be featured at the fifth annual Cattlemen's Ball of Nebraska. The ball will be held Saturday, June 1 at the Benes Cattle Company located 25 miles northwest of Lincoln near Highway 79 and the town of Valparaiso.

The Honky Tonk Tailgate Tour is made up three solo artists with very different styles. Daryle Singletary has deep country roots and sings traditional country tunes. Rhett Akins specializes in rowdy, up-tempo country music with a Southern rock flair. Wade Hayes has a talent for heartfelt country ballads. Each artist will perform for 30 minutes and then conclude the performance together.

including the upcoming Nebraska Team Penning Event to be held April 6 in Lincoln at the Lancaster Event Center. Team penning is a timed sport in which three people herd three designated cattle in a pen. They hope to raise more than $2,000 for the Cattlemen's Ball and the UNMC Eppley Cancer Center at this event.

The Cattlemen's Ball is held each year to showcase rural Nebraska, promote beef in a healthy diet and to raise money for health care research. The UNMC Eppley Cancer Center in Omaha is the primary recipient of this fund raising effort with 90 percent of the proceeds going toward cancer research programs at Eppley. The remaining 10 percent of the funds raised stay in the local area and are used for health care activities. The UNMC Eppley Cancer Center received $133,000 for cancer research from the 2001 Cattlemen's Ball held at the Thacher Cattle Company near Valentine.

Invitations are not sent, as the event is completely open to the public. At the 2002 Cattlemen's Ball, Top Hand ticket holders ($60) may attend Saturday afternoon and evening activities beginning at 1 p.m.. Trailboss ticket holders ($250) receive a champagne reception, commemorative gift, Trailboss brunch and preferred seating for the evening dinner and concert.

Tickets are limited. For tickets, call 1-800-666-8071 or send a check to P.O. Box 181, Valparaiso, Neb. 68065.

we can manipulate it just a little. First let's explain what we mean by6 climate zone.

The North American continental map is divided into 10 USDA Hardiness zones. Number one is northern Canada while number ten is the Florida peninsula. These zones represent a range of cold temperatures degrees. they're based on distance from the equator and latitude and topography. the higher your topography in you area, the colder or lower number of your climate zone. Terrace gardens above the ninth floor drop a whole climate zone.

In this area we live at the bottom or warm side of zone four.

If you live in zone six and your plant reads "Hardy to Zone 3" where average annual minimum temperatures are -30 to -40 degrees, yes, the plant will be hardy and survive he temperatures in you zone. A plant listed as "Hardy in zones 3-7" tells us that the plant will survive the cold in the cold of zone three to the heat of zone seven in the south.This also means that the plant cannot grow in zone 8-10 and may require a dormant period and some cold in order to survive.

We can manipulate our given zones a bit to stretch our plant choices, this is called creating microclimates. The biggest influences creating microclimates are topography, water, reflected light and heat. Local topography such as banks, small hills, exposed flatlands, and bodies of water can cause temperatures to be cooler or warmer by as much as five with northern exposures or closer to hills and water (streams, lakes and so on).

Warmer areas are places exposed to southern and western sun, areas that are protected from winds and areas that receive reflective light. The reflected light and heat off a building may create a warm microclimate. Because it will be warmer here, a plant that may not be as hardy out in an open unprotected bed may survive the winter if protected by the warmth of the building and the reflected light and heat it provides.

For windbreaks, plant screens or hedges if you want to reduce but not eliminate harshness of the windspeed, temperature and humidity. Solid windbreaks like tall fences or buildings do not slow the wind but deflect it to race into an adjacent area. Screens for reduction, solidbreaks for deflection.

If you are uncertain whether a

Nominations being sought

The Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben Foundation and the Nebraska Association of Fair Managers announced that nominations for the 47th annual Nebraska Pioneer Farm Awards are being accepted. The program honors farm families in Nebraska whose land has been owned by members of the same family for 100 years or more.

To-date, nearly 6,000 families in 93 Nebraska counties have been honored at various county fairs. Each honoree receives an engraved plaque and gatepost marker as permanent recognition of this milestone.

Nomination forms can be obtained from the local County Fair Board Office or by writing the Ak-Sar-Ben Pioneer Farm Awards, 6800 Mercy Road, Suite 206, Omaha, NE 68106. All nominations must be received by the county fair board office in which the land is found no later than May 1, 2002.

Interested persons with land in Wayne County may contact Kelly Grone at 375-4635 for more information. Completed forms can be mailed to P.O. Box 133, Wayne, Neb. 68787.

This program is just one of those supported by the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben Foundation which was founded in 1895 "to build a more prosperous Heartland, where communities can flourish and every child can succeed."

Event activities include an art show, live auction, cowboy poetry and celebrity team penning. Staff members from the University of Nebraska Medical Center Eppley Cancer Center with the help of nurses from Nebraska Health System and the UNMC College of Nursing will provide free screening for prostate and skin cancer.

The hosts of the 2002 Cattlemen's Ball include Ermin and Delores Benes, Dan and Kathy Benes and their families. Chairpersons for the 2002 event are Dr. Elliott and Lynne Rustad of Lincoln.

Nearly the entire Valparaiso community has been involved with the ball planning, said Dan Benes, as cancer is a disease that touches just about every family. The Benes family is no exception. Kathy's parënts are both cancer survivors. Dan's grandfather suffered and died with lung cancer and his cousin passed away last fall with a brain tumor. In addition, 31-year old Lyle Bouc of Valparaiso, a patient at the UNMC Eppley Cancer Center, lost his battle with lýmphoma earlier this year.

"Planning the Cattlemen's Ball has been a lot more work than we anticipated, but we have had tremendous community support," Dan Benes said. "If the Cattlemen's Ball can save just one life because of our fund raising efforts, it will have been well worth the time spent."

The Benes Family and the 2002 Cattlemen's Ball Planning Committee are already at work with pre-ball fund raising efforts

Art Center to host John Berry

Beginning March 29, the Norfolk Arts Center will host a retrospective exhibit of artist John Berry. This show will run through April 29.

From April 4- April 30, the area parochial schools will display their artwork that is the result of their studies throughout the school year. An artist reception will be held for both exhibits on April 7 from 1-3 p.m. Berry will give a gallery talk at 1:30 p.m.

Berry is currently a resident of Wayne where he has been an adjunct instructor at Wayne State College (WSC) since 2000. Berry's use of media is versatile.

"Currently my media is mainly acrylic paints," Berry said. "I also create pencil drawings and watercolor studies. Throughout the years, I have worked with oil paints, latex house paints and charcoal."

His life has been just as versatile as exhibited in his use of media. He has taught at colleges from Oakland and Arcata, Calif. to Maryland to Las Vegas and finally twice at WSC.

Berry's work has been on display since 1949 when he was part of a regional show at the Oakland Art Gallery in Oakland, Calif. Since then he has been a part of one-, two-, and three-man sows and invitationals nearly every year. Berry describes his work. "I visualize images on canvas that interest me. I am not concerned with composing political, religious or otherwise social statements," Berry said in his artist's state-
