Dr. Tom Cook to share China insights in WSC classroom

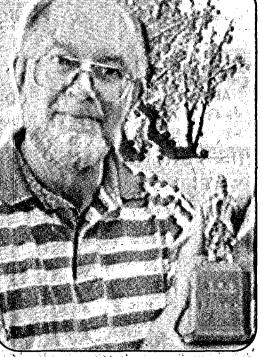

Wayne State College professor Dr. Tom Cook will begin this school year with more than a few additions to display in his office. Although an award certificate and statue of Confucius are welcome gifts, they represent more. The two items were awarded for his accomplishment as an educator during a sabbatical trip to China.

Selected from among foreign teachers teaching within the province, Cook received the annual Lotus Award. Cook taught at Hunan University in Changsha, the capital of southeast China's Hunan Province, with a population of 3 million. In late May Cook was nominated for the award by Professor Wang of the University's English department,

An instructor who has been a part of Wayne State's campus community for 12 years, Cook offers to share insights from his trip with anyone who may be interested and tentatively plans to teach a class on China through the Wayne State Department of Sociology, Psychology, and Criminal Justice in the spring 2003. In addition to his recent sabbatical trip to China last January, Cook took a previous trip in 1998-99.

Although Cook formed many bonds with individuals within the university community and still receives email from many, the award was a surprise to him.

"I thought nothing more of this until right before I left Changsha. Then I was unexpectedly notified that I had won the award, which was presented to me by Mr. Zuo of the International Programs Office the night before we left town," Cook said. "This was a fitting conclusion to a busy but transcendently satisfying year."

Cook chose Hunan University in Changsha as the site for his sabbatical after considering invitations from 10 other Chinese universities.

"The choice was quite difficult," Cook said. "Hunan University was not the most famous university on my list, and Changsha was not the most attractive city. But between the university and the city they provided an authentic experience of the 'real China,' with all its problems and opportunities, which would have been hard to duplicate in other places where I might have gone such as Shanghai or Beijing. Changsha was also a very convenient site from which to visit many other places, mostly by train. I have now visited almost all the major cities of China. These experiences should be especially useful when I teach the course on Chinese history and culture at Wayne State."

Cook arrived more than a month before his classes began. This permitted a trip to southwestern China, a region with the largest population of minority groups as well as some of the most beautiful scenery.

"In September I began teaching. My main assignment in the fall was to teach oral English to the 197 sopho-

Support for remains strong

By Governor Mike Johanns

Dear Nebraska Neighbors:

We've faced a difficult task over the course of the last year. Thanks to a host of factors, a national recession, extreme drought and the terrorist attacks of last September 11, Nebraska tax receipts have lagged considerably.

In fact, we've carved out a little piece of history. Perhaps at no other time in the history of our state have tax receipts not only been less than the previous year, they were less than either of the previous two years. To use real numbers, tax revenues totaled $2.40 billion for the state in fiscal year 2000, $2.46 billion in 2001 and $2.37 billion in 2002.

Thanks to these lackluster tax receipts and unusual times, we've been forced to make some rather difficult decisions. Our task will be no different this special legislative session.

In my effort to solve the budget shortfall, I've put forth a plan to the Nebraska Legislature. My plan sets priorities, requires no tax increase and solves the problem. It has been met in some quarters with understanding and acceptance. Other areas, however, have not been as receptive, namely some in higher education.

I'd like to take a moment to share some facts and figures on exactly how higher education is being treated under my plan. To begin, I am asking the Legislature to freeze state funding to the University of Nebraska and state colleges at last year's levels for fiscal year 2003. My plan also reduces the planned increase in funding to community colleges by half.

In real dollars, that means $20.4 million less for the University, $2.9 million less for state colleges and close to $1 million less for community colleges. Keep in mind that these figures put the University and state colleges at a funding rate equal to that of fiscal year 2002 and put community colleges at a $1 million increase over fiscal year 2002.

Campus leaders will need to make some tough choices this year to deal with less than expected state funding. But there is another side to this coin.

Allow me to explain.

Nebraska has a biennial budget. That means the Legislature approves spending by state government for two-year increments. If you compare this biennium's higher education budget with the previous, the facts speak for themselves.

The numbers show that the University, state colleges and community colleges are continuing to receive more funding than the last biennium even with my proposal - 7.3 percent more, to be exact. These numbers clearly show funding increasing from one budget cycle to the next. This is not insignificant, especially considering our revenue shortfall with tax receipts less than the prior two years.

Let's compare our university system with those of our neighboring states. The states of Iowa and Missouri are not merely freezing funding to their universities; they're cutting funding. Iowa has cut funding by 10.1 percent, Missouri by 8.8 percent.

I don't point these figures out to diminish the difficult decisions higher education leaders in Nebraska will have to make to deal with less state funding. Up to this point, higher education has been protected from the full impact of budget reductions, while most state agencies have faced much larger percentages of cuts in funding. Higher education leaders are now experiencing what state agency heads have been dealing with for the last year.

Don't get me wrong, I have been a strong supporter of higher education in Nebraska. The numbers prove my point. Funding for the University, for example, increased an average of 4.6 percent during he first three years of my administration. In fact, those ears were the best three consecutive years of state support for the University in a decade.

Capital View Budget cuts affect everyone

By Ed Howard

The Wayne

lerald

Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association It was unusually quiet when Gov.

Mike Johanns finished his welcoming speech to the Legislature. The governor had received the usual rowdy howdy from lawmakers when he walked into the chamber to speak to the just-convened special session of the Unicameral.

Johanns had called legislators to Lincoln to make further reductions in the state's current spending plan. His speech was a long one, as greetings from a chief executive go. It ran some 15 minutes. The governor talked about the thrust of his proposals for managing a money shortage that reaches into the neighborhood of $255 million. And he noted that further difficult decisions would await senators in 2003.

Johanns didn't criticize anyone. He just talked business, and said he looked forward to working with the senators.

Then the governor and his wife and their escorts left the chamber in near total silence.

It might have reminded you of a scene from a movie, where a general had told a bunch of troops: "Well, gang. This is a rotten war. You've got a rotten job to do. So, it's time to jump into this latest, rotten situation and do what we were sent here to do!"

The citizen lawmakers reacted like a bunch of citizen soldiers who knew that the gratitude for this job would be underwhelming, and that the criticism probably would be endless - no matter how they handled the battle. And it was going to be difficult, and no fun whatsoever. Johanns tried to put Nebraska's fiscal dilemma in perspective. Most of the nation has the budgetary blues, he noted.

Importantly, Johanns noted the things that are at the core of Nebraska's budget. As the session continues, it could be useful to interested citizens to keep them in mind:

"Four programs account for 93 percent of the spending growth in ' this year's budget. Those programs are Medicaid, higher education, state aid to K-12 public schools, and Corrections.

"In fact, 42 percent of the growth is in just one program, Medicaid. "Without change and based upon its historical average annual growth of 13 percent, the Medicaid portion of the state budget will double every 5 1/2 years."

Johanns reiterated the basics of his plan to revise the state budget. It involves revising some Medicaid rules to cut benefits to those at higher income levels, freezing spending on higher education and looking into proposals for "alternatives to incarceration for non-violent offenders." It would also delay some payments of aid to school districts.

Those are all important programs that touch the lives of virtually every Nebraskan in some context. How the state does those things has a lot to do with the kind of place Nebraska is, and will be. And the way the state does them could change dramatically in the next couple of years.

Water Supply

In July we pumped 55 million gallons of water for use in Wayne. Typical usage per month is about one million gallons a day. The water department is monitoring the static water levels in the city's wells and they are stable.

. The static water level is the level of the water in the well casing when the well is shut off. The static water levels typically drop 2-3 feet from winter to summer in our wells. The largest drop in any of our wells this year has been seven feet and not significant.

Our well fields and pumping systems are more than adequate to supply the current usage of Wayne. New Fire Hall reduce the budget. Since April of 2001, the revenue taken in by the State of Nebraska has been drastically less than what was projected. The Economic Forecasting Advisory Board has lowered their revenue projections several times during this time period. Although the economy is showing signs of improvement, it is not growing at the pace experienced in the 1990's. The July 18, 2002 forecast of the Forecasting Board revised the revenue intake for fiscal year 2002-03, further reducing the forecast by $130 million. This is in addition to the $125.5 million shortfall in actual tax receipts for fiscal year 2001-02. These estimates show a projected balance at the end of fiscal year 2002-03 that is $233 million below the minimum 3 percent reserve, growing to $779 million by the next biennium ending June 30, 2005.

The Fiscal Year 2001-02 actual receipts were $91 million below the prior year, meaning that the state experienced a revenue growth of -3 percent in FY02. The 22-year historical average growth rate is 5.4 percent and if FY01 and FY02 had grown by this average, receipts for FY02 would have been $330 million higher.

During the special session last fall, the Legislature made $171 million in budget cuts and reallocation of funds. During the 2002 regular legislative session, the Legislature made approximately $124 million of additional budget cuts and cash transfers and voted to increase taxes by $116 million. During the special session that has recommendations would have a $342 million cumulative affect over the three year period ending June 30, 2005. This would put us about half-way towards the projected shortfall of $779 million at the end of the next biennium.

The Governor's propos includes no tax increases. I am strong support of his stance. At th time when the economy is hurtin and the farmers are experiencing drought, we cannot add to the bu den of Nebraska taxpayers h increasing their taxes,

The proposal set forth by th Governor protects several area from budget cuts. They include nursing home and assisted livin facility residents on Medicai Veteran's Homes, 24-hour car at their previous year's appropriations, which will reduce the appropriation for the University of Nebraska by $20 million.

Four programs account for 93 percent of the spending growth in the state's budget. These programs include Medicaid, higher education, state aid to K-12 schools and Corrections. Forty-two percent of the growth is attributable to just one program - Medicaid. The Governor has proposed $30 million in cuts in the Medicaid program. Without any changes, the Medicaid portion of the budget would double every 5* years.

The Governor's plan for Medicaid reform would eliminate an eligibility loophole called stacking, which allowed some families with higher incomes to qualify for Medicaid; change the 20 percent income disregard back to the federal minimum requirement of $90 per month; reduce transitional medical assistance for people in the welfare-to-work program from 24 months to 12 months; and require an income review of Kids senators who have their own ideas for cutting the state budget, but the bills may not fall under the Governor's call. Additionally, one constitutional amendment was introduced to allow the people to vote on the casino gambling issue. This is clearly outside the Governor's call and in order for it to be considered, the Governor, would have to amend his call, which he has indicated he will not do at this time, or 33 of the 49 senators would have to vote in support of calling a special session, something that has never been done before and may be constitutionally suspect.

As always, I encourage you to voice your opinions on what is happening during this special session. Only with your input, will I be able to truly represent the residents in my legislative district. Main Street holds training Nebraska Lied Main Street recently held a Summer 2002 Quarterly Training in Wayne on Aug. 1-2. Fourteen full-time or associate members attended the training held on the campus of Wayne State College.

On Thursday Joan Burney, a counselor, award winning columnist and author, spoke on the importance of maintaining a positive attitude in business and life in general. The entertaining Burney gave examples of how to deal with negative people. The highlight Thursday evening was a visit and catered meal at the Cuthills Winery in Pierce. Since many of the attendees do not get to northeast Nebraska, the Nebraska Lied Main Street Deputy J.L. Schmidt and the Assistant Director Elizabeth Chase felt it would be a "great opportunity" for those people to see one of the four wineries in Nebraska.

On Friday Don Macke, the codirector of the Center for Rural Entrepreneurship in Nebraska, spoke to the group about the business market and the ways in which the Main Street managers can

Having enjoyed her stay in Wayne, Margaret (as her family calls her or Margie as she's known ' by her friends) Watson, 16, recently left for her home in Dunmore,

In Ireland, besides going to school, Margie has a job working in the deli at a supermarket. She's anxious to save her money and come back to Wayne next summer. Before leaving, Margie spoke about her stay in Wayne, "I really

This is not the first time Margie has been in Wayne. She was here a couple of years ago for three weeks and liked it so much she decided to come back.

Ireland. Since May 31, Margie had like it here. I had a really good time; everyone is so friendly. I've met a lot of people this summer.". She noted some similarities and differences between Wayne and Ireland. One difference is the temperature. It's hot here compared to Ireland.

"It rains a lot in Ireland," Margie said. "Its been wet there since May. It's too hot here for me; I can't handle it a lot of the time. When it's so hot, I have to stay inside and that's not much fun."

Another difference is the grades in school and exams that have to be taken. Here she would probably be a junior in high school; there she will begin her fifth year which she said will be a tough one.

"I just finished my fourth year (transition year) which was an optional year of performing at work experience with computers and typing; it was fun," she said.

Education in Ireland is divided into two parts; National and Secondary school. A student spends eight years in National and five to six years (fourth year is optional) in Secondary. There are two exams they have to take; one at age 15 to get their Junior Certificate and one at the age of around 17 or 18 to get their Leaving Certificate. The length of the school year, though, is the same; from September to May. Different too is the fact there are so many religions here and social activities related to church around here. "Ninety percent or more are Catholic in Ireland," Margie said.

"There's only one church in Dunmore and it's Catholic. At home, church is attended on Sunday and religious education is taught in school."

What amazes her about this area is the size of the farms. She lives in a rural area but the farms are little and beef and sheep are mostly raised but there are not very many crops.

As for the size of Ireland compared to Nebraska, it's a little smaller. "It only takes about five hours to travel east to west and about eight hours to go north to south in Ireland," she said. Also, the roads are not the same as here and the highways are not as wide. Also different is how many young people drive here as compared to those around her home. A lot of kids drive here at 15 and 16years-old where in Ireland they can't drive until they're 17. Plus, the insurance is so expensive that many young people don't drive very

A neighbor and close friend, Sandra Emry, also noted a difference between Ireland and here. "What I think is really unusual is that parents get a lot of time off when they have a new baby. The mother gets 18 weeks off and gets paid from her job to be home with the infant." Another difference is people in Ireland get three to four weeks off per year for paid vacations; even those starting new jobs.

Similarities between Ireland and Wayne is that English is the main language spoken. "We have to learn Irish in school," Margie said. "We have to know Irish in order to get into college." She notes everyone around her home speaks English but there's an area nearby her in west Ireland, the Gaelteach, where Irish is spoken fluently in some homes.

Also similar is the food. "We pretty much have the same fast food restaurants as here," Margie said. "Except for Dairy Queen which I am going to miss."

Music, too, is the same. She notes a lot of young people go to nightclubs on the weekends and listen to music.

Another similarity is the use of her mom and dad work. She noted, cell phones or mobiles as Margie "My mom, Liz Watson, is a nurse puts it. "Everyone has a mobile and and my dad, Brian Watson works can send text messages." She said in a shelter for homeless men. I am it probably only costs about 10 the eldest of four. I have a brother, more English majors. This is the most crucial time for Chinese English majors to have a good foreign teacher, because they must pass a big national English exam the following semester."

At Hunan University the sophomore majors also have key roles in the Oral English Association, Cook became involved in this group by serving as a teacher on an average of three times per week for its English Corners for the Chinese to practice their English.

"I considered the sessions an extremely important part of my 'cultural ambassador' role, and I took that role very seriously," Cook said.

Hunan University has about 15-20 foreign teachers each semester.

Most live in the same building. As the first one who arrived, Cook was asked by the International Programs Office to become the "head teacher" and serve as a liaison between the university and the foreign faculty.

"This was a bigger assignment than I expected it to be. But I'm glad I did it because I learned a lot about the inner workings of a Chinese university and made some great friends among the other teachers, who were mostly from several different English-speaking countries not just the U.S., and included a few from places like

Credit system

Wayne High School uses the semester-hour credit system. For example, a class that meets five hours each week for a semester is called a five-semester class and grants five semester hours of credît.

To graduate from Wayne High School, an individual student must have successfully completed 210 semester-hours of study, of which 145 are required and 65 hours are elective (selected by the student). Under normal circumstances, each student is required to enroll for at least 35 hours of course work each semester. In certain cases, a student may be enrolled for a minimum of 20 hours of coursework due to work experience, college classes, etc. Assistance is given in planning a study program best suited to a student's needs, capabilities and plans. English - 40 hours required - college prep or basic; Mathematics - 30 hours required \prec variety of course selections, (Algebra A, Algebra I or Transition Math required at Grade 9); Science - 20 hours - physical science and biology; Social Science - 30 hours required - U.S. History, American Government and one choice; Physical Education — 10 hours required - physical education/ health class; Fine Arts - 10 hours required - may include vocal or instrumental music, art, speech, journalism, foreign language (required to enter some colleges - check entrance requirements); Business - five hours required - keyboarding; Electives -65 hours required - including technology, family and consumer sciences, psychology, business, creative writing, foreign language, music, etc. Total - 210 hours.

Change in School Noon Hour Driving Policy

Wayne High School students who have received written permission from parents to drive home for lunch will not be allowed to have passengers in their vehicles unless it is a brother or sister.

School staff will monitor the parking lots to enforce the policy, Violation will result in a warning for the first instance; on the second warning, loss of the privilege to drive home. Contact the High School Principal's Office should there be ques-

Japan and Germany," Cook said.

Between semesters Cook did some traveling and textbook editing. He was the editor or co-editor of seven volumes, six of which were English texts (every Chinese college student must take four semesters of English and pass a national test). The editing involved some traveling to Beijing and Guangzhou, where the publisher and some of the other authors were located.

The second semester his main assignment was to teach oral English to all 146 freshman English majors. During the second semester Cook made a trip to Xian (site of the famous Terra Cotta warriors) as a chaperone of the sophomore majors, who were rewarded with a field trip after their big national exam.

"The sabbatical clearly lived up to all its expectations, and much more. It was far more fulfilling and enlightening than my trip to Hangzhou in 1998-99, partly because I had become enough of an 'old China hand' to manage the sit-' uation to maximal advantage. Secondly, it proved that teaching is a great way to learn, and that one learns as much from teaching younger students as older ones."

"Travel, of course, is always one of the best ways to learn, so I'm especially glad we got to make so many side trips from Changsha," Cook said. "One of them was to a remote mountain village, and another was to the hometown of a newly married couple whose wedding party sat next to our group in a restaurant. Twice we visited the hometown of our student tour guide, a senior English major recommended to us by the International Programs Office. We also visited a national forest, a tropical botanical garden, a famous Buddhist mountain, a famous Taoist mountain, Mao Zedong's hometown, and many museums and galleries."

Cook earned his bachelor's' degree from Carleton College, his master's degree from Princeton, his Ph.D. from the University of Pittsburgh and his master's degree in criminal justice from the University of South Carolina.

Wakefield Seniors win state title

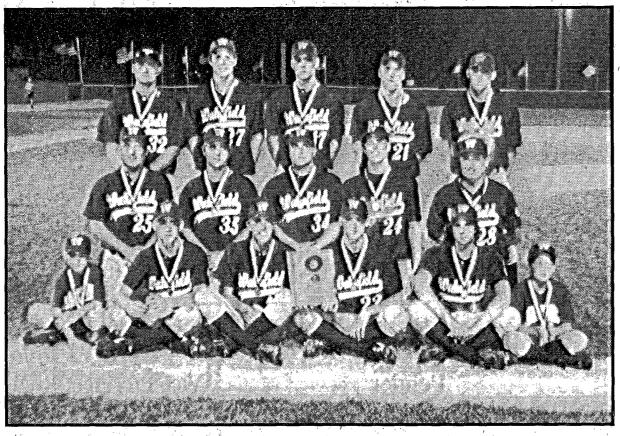

by Mike Grosz Of the Herald

The Wakefield Senior Legion baseball team capped an exciting Class C State Tournament in Crofton Tuesday evening with a 5-4 win over Bennington in the championship game. It was Wakefield's sixth state crown in the Senior Division since 1990 and sends Wakefield to the State Champion Senior Playoff Tournament in Central City this weekend.

7 Wakefield used a mix of playing fundamental baseball along with exceptional pitching from Joe Brown to win four straight games in the loser's bracket and come home with a state crown.

Brown pitched 20 and twothirds scoreless innings at state, appearing in five of the six games. He tossed a three-hit shutout Friday in a 5-0 win over Creighton. Brown was one out away from a no-hitter in blanking Bennington Monday night 4-0. He pitched an inning and twothirds, retiring all five batters, in Saturday's 5-3 loss to Friend, tossed four and one-third innings in Tuesday's 4-1 win over Palmer-Wolbach-Greeley and made two appearances, recording one out each in clutch situations, to help Wakefield beat Bennington in the championship game.

Banholzer pitched the first two and two-thirds innings, giving up one run on two hits. Brown then came in and pitched the final four and one-third innings, giving up three hits and no runs while striking out four.

The championship game went down to the wire with Wakefield winning in dramatic fashion 5-4. Wakefield would build a two-run lead on several occasions, only to see Bennington score a run and cut the lead down to one.

Wakefield held a 5-4 lead entering the bottom of the seventh inning. Bennington's leadoff batter was hit by the pitch and reached third base with only one out. Bennington then tried a suicide squeeze and Wakefield was ready for it, calling a pitch out and picking off the runner between third and home, ending Bennington's scoring threat and giving Wakefield the State crown.

The game was plagued by errors on both teams. Wakefield commited four with Bennington making eight errors.

Wakefield had six hits in the game. Dolen had an RBI double two-run double. Nate Nicholson, Soderberg, Banholzer and Beacom had a single apiece.

After the game, Wakefield coach Paul Eaton said, "Baseball is a game of luck and we had some of that tonight. We were fortunate to win the PWG game, we got some walks and a couple of bloop hits that went our way. In the Bennington game, we guessed right on the pitch out and got a lucky break.'

Eaton also had high praise for pitcher Joe Brown.

"Joe has worked really hard the past two years to become a good pitcher. We've had some great pitchers over the years and not many could top Joe's performance at state."

Wakefield will take a 37-17 record to Central City this weekend for the Senior Playoff at Kernel Field. The Class C State Champs face Class B winner Nebraska City Friday evening at 6 pm with the winner facing Class A Runner-up P.I. Midwest(Creighton Prep) Saturday at noon. The winner advances to the Region 4 Tournament in Blue Springs, Missouri. Eaton said, "We will be the underdog, but will give it our best shot.'

Wakefield Juniors win two games at state

by Mike Grosz Of the Herald

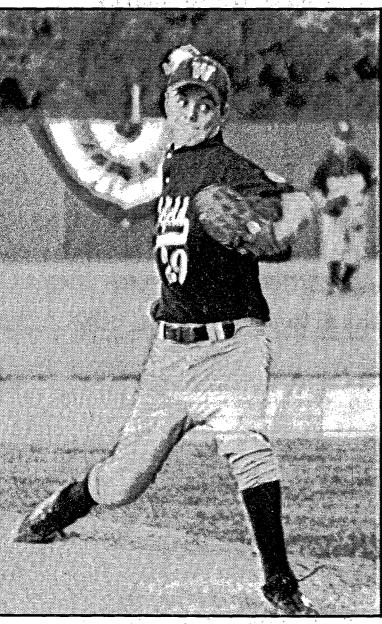

A young Wakefield Junior Legion baseball team competed well at the Class C State Tournament in Wakefield this week, going 2-2 and placing third. The 15-man roster from Wakefield had five Pony players. Wakefield started the tournament with a 16-6 loss to Lawrence-Nelson. Wakefield led early 5-1, but L-N scored eight runs in the fifth inning and added three more in the sixth to pull away from the locals for the win. Wakefield also helped Lawrence-Nelson by commiting nine errors. Taylor Peters led Wakefield's offense with two singles. Scott Blohm had an RBI triple, Kyle Gardner an RBI single and Tanner Soderberg added a single. Taylor Peters was the losing pitcher.

Saturday, Wakefield had to work extra innings, 13 to be exact, to beat Elsie 4-3. Elsie scored a run in the seventh inning to tie the game at three and it stayed that way until the bottom of the 13th when Scott Blohm delivered a two-out single to score Max Greve with the winning run.

Wakefield was out hit in the game 13-4. Besides Blohm's heroic hit, Aaron Klein, Peters and Soderberg each had a single. Zach Sherer started the game, on the mound, working one and two-thirds innings. Taylor Peters then pitched the next 10 and onethird innings with Max Greve pitching the 13th and final inning to get credit for the win.

Offensively, Brett Beyler had two singles, Blohm had a double, with Eric Husen, Klein and Greve each adding singles.

Monday evening, Wakefield pushed eventual champion Dannebrog-Cairo-Boelus right to the end before falling 7-6 in nine innings.

The game saw a wild seventh inning with D-C-B scoring two runs in the top of the inning to take a 6-3 lead. Wakefield countered with three runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to tie the game at six, only to see D-C-B score in the ninth inning to win. Wakefield did threaten in the bottom of the ninth, leaving the bases loaded.

Blohm had three hits to lead Wakefield. Peters, Beyler and Peters had a single apiece. Gardner started the game on the mound and pitched the first six and two-thirds innings with Greve tossing the final two and one-third innings.

Wakefield ends the season with a respectable 32-15 record.

Dannebrog-Cairo-Boelus won the State Junior championship game, beating Crofton 9-0.

First baseman Scott Blohm had a hot bat for the Wakefield Juniors at the State Tournament, recording at least one hit in every game and seven hits total.

Fishing gear is showcased at ICAST

The 2002 ICAST Show is the place that manufacturers want to be to highlight their newest products.

The show, which attracts thousands of buyers and manufacturers from through out the U.S. and the world.

One of the largest group of items introduced at the show were fishing line.

Berkley of Spirit Lake, Iowa was one of the many companies that were on hand with several new line introductions.

Berkley's IronSilk, a Reinforced Polymer Matrix can be compared to the using rebar in concrete.

IronSilk is the first fishing line ever made using this technique. The new line is advertised as being as tough as iron, IronSilk is 200%-300% more abrasion resistance than any other of the tough lines. Which means that Iron silk resists nicks, cuts and line wear. Unlike some other tough lines, knots can be tied easily and unlike other tough lines, these knots will have tremendous holding power.

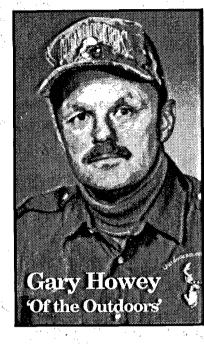

IronSilk casts smooth as silk, not because of some slick coating of silicone or fluorocarbon. IronSilk's smooth feel comes from the reinforcing polymer mixture that is used to create the new line. With IronSilk, you won't end up with those annoying curls in your line (memory), IronSilk casts very smoothly, giving the angler better control over your bait whether your using bait casting or spinning tackle.

A filler spool of IronSilk will run you around $10.50 for 4-6 or 8 pound test. Ten pound and larger will cost you around $12.19.

Berkley, introduced Sensation monofilament line at last years show. This year they came out with two new line colors, Solar and Photochromic.

Berkley introduced these two new colors to meet the demands of anglers that who wanted to be able to see their line better as well as those anglers that fish during low light conditions.

Sensation gives the angler 30% greater sensitivity than competitive monofilaments, is 24% stronger and up to 70% more flexible.

Sensation features low stretch, small diameter and super strength. It also has less memory. increased castability and is one of the strongest monofilaments in the Trilene line.

Sensation's new colors have optical additives that are unique to Berkley. Photochromic appears gold on the spool. But beneath the surface, the line is clear. This is a big advantage in clear water or areas where you find line shy fish.

The new solar color is one of the most visible colors to the human eye, even more visible than hunters orange. The solar line will fluoresce in sunlight or under a black light if you're using it for night fishing. If you are a line watcher, you'll love the solar line. Sensation will cost around $8.50 per spool up to 8 pound test and around $10 for 10 pound test or Eligibility Requirements for Inter-school activities Eligibility for competing in inter-school activities is dependent upon maintaining an adequate citizenship and scholastic standing. The school, in cooperation with the Nebraska School Activities Association, has established the following standards of eligibility.

In order for a student to represent Wayne High School in scheduled inter-school competition or school activity, the student must have received passing grades in at least four subjects (20 credit hours) the previous semester. Each school week teachers will turn in a failing list upon which they will indicate students doing unsatisfactory work up to that point in the semester. Any student doing unsatisfactory work in four or more classes are are ineligible to participate in any co-curricular activity for that week. Should the next failing list not include the student's name he/she is then eligible to compete. The student must be enrolled and in good standing; a student suspended from school may not participate in nor attend an inter-school contest or activity during the period of suspension.

All extra-curricular participants must be in attendance at school the immediate one-half day prior to the contest or practice. Before school practices require a student's attendance immediately following the before school practice. A student failing to report attendance following a before school practice will incur an unexcused absence. All participants must be in school during the a.m. following a weeknight activity to attend practice that day.

All persons participating in athletics, cheerleading or dance squad must be examined by a physician prior to participation in any sport. A doctor's examination card and a parental permission slip must be filed with the coach before the opening day of practice. Students must be covered by athletic insurance or must sign an insurance waiver to free the school of liability due to injury, etc.

Fun is over for another year

The Wayne County Fair came to a close on Sunday night. Fair goers will have to wait until next summer to enjoy the many activities provided each year for them by the fair board. Above, people line up for rides on the midway.

A review of the skills needed, collection of market information to examine the feasibility of a new business concept and sources of capital are also included in the class.

Another three-credit class, Real Estate Principles and Practices, with course number BSAD 1600 or HawkNET Call #10299, meets on ... Wednesdays, from, 6-8:45, p.m., in ...the Maclay Building, Room 133, Keith Johnson is the instructor.

This introduction to real estate class includes the study of estates in land, acquisition of title, legal instruments in real estate transactions, and real estate markets. Ownership, interests, contracts, closing transfers, financing brokerage, appraising, developing, and government influences in real estate will also be reviewed.

Principles of Banking, with course number BSAD 2140 or HawkNET Call #11482, meets on Mondays from 6-8:45 p.m. in Maclay, Room 133. Jane Parker is the instructor of this three-credit class.

This course will give entry-level bankers information about effective customer service. How banks affect the economy, why they are in business, banking services and how banks provide those services will also be reviewed. Students will also be given a basic understanding of the interdepartmental relationships within a bank.

Cost of each class is $160.50. To register, call Northeast at 402-844-7265.

58 tons of tires collected

"Results of the Scrap Tire Collection are in," according to Sandy Patton, AmeriCorps member with the Northeast Nebraska RC&D in Plainview. "Vehicles were lined up at 8:15 Monday morning patiently waiting to get tires counted and unloaded."

Monday, Aug. 5 was a busier than normal day at the Pierce County Maintenance Shop near Osmond. Several volunteers were on hand that morning to help with a one-time scrap tire collection being held there.

Thanks to a grant of $6,282.50 funded by the Nebraska Department of Environmental Quality (NDEQ), 46 tons of tires were to be collected. With the Lower Elkhorn NRD adding $1000 to the grant amount and the Northeast Nebraska RC&D adding an additional $540, a total of 58 tons of tires were collected.

"It was quite a day," said Patton. By 10 a.m. we had two huge piles of tires and streams of cars and . trucks bringing in more; and we weren't scheduled to start collecting until 10. Everyone worked great together. People bringing in the tires were very excited about the collection. Most claimed they could have easily brought in more than the ten tires they were limited to." One gentleman from Pierce was heard to say, "It's nice to have something like this. Sure cleans up the place". Champlin Tire & Recycling was on site loading tires on their semis to transport them to Concordia, Kan. to be recycled into numerous products. By 3:30 Monday afternoon, three semi-trailers had been loaded with tires. The last two trailers were loaded on Tuesday morning. "It's great to get those tires out of here", said Patton. "Not only are we helping to clean up our area, we're also getting rid of a lot of breeding spots for mosquitoes. I'm sure we've all heard about how close the West Nile Virus is getting to us."

Nebraska State Bar The Association recently released results of its 2002 Judicial Performance Evaluation. Lawyers responding to the poll recommended that 141 of 145 of the judges evaluated (97 percent), be retained to the bench.

"While not an absolute measure, the poll gives practicing attorneys the opportunity to evaluate judges on a variety of important criteria." Robert E. O'Connor, Jr., president of the NSBA, said.

Nearly one-half of the judges evaluated were given a 90 percent or higher retention approval. Fifty-three judges received an 80-89 percent retention approval. Fourteen judges were approved 70-79 percent.

Wayne's District Court Judge, Robert B. Ensz, received a 91.74

Unless agreed to by the judge, judges with less than a year on the bench were not included in the poll and judges who are retiring within this calendar year were not evaluated. Lawyers were instructed to evaluate judges on the basis of recent, first-hand professional experience.

The purpose of the Judicial Performance Evaluation is to provide each judge with a continuing assessment of his or her strengths and weaknesses. The poll allows the public to better understand Nebraska's merit system for the selection and retention of judges by providing information in making an informed decision about judges standing for retention.

The Judicial Performance Evaluation does not present scientifically accurate conclusions, nor does the poll constitute an official NSBA opinion or position. It is a collection of individual opinions gathered and tabulated solely for informational value.

4-H seeking input for 21st century

Are · you interested in University of Nebraska 4-H? Have you ever wondered what 4-H might look like in the next five years?

Section C

Even if you haven't considered these questions before now, the 4-H centennial year is a great time to do so. 4-H is looking to strengthen program direction that will capitalize even more on youth power, energy and commitment to society. A plan called "4-H Visions: A Road Map for the 21st Century" already is in the works. This plan is based in part on the state and local centennial Conversations on youth development that attracted nearly 2,200 youth and adult participants. From these conversations, five themes emerged and will be the guiding principles to plan, implement and evaluate all 4-H youth programming in Nebraska. These themes focus on mentoring, youth empowerment, Community networking and collaboration and community service. The public is invited to read theme summary descriptions and answer feedback questions posted at 4h.unl.edu. The questions focus on what 4-H needs to be or look like to work for young people in the 21st century, 4-H'ers, parents, volunteers, as well as individuals not currently involved with 4-H, are invited to submit comments. The State 4-H Office will review the comments and use them to further revise the plan, which is due to be unveiled during National 4-H Week Oct. 6-12.

 Develop out-of-school and summer programs that attract youth and adults from a variety of backgrounds and provide learning and service opportunities.

• Strengthen 4-H through marketing plans that involve potential members, staff and financial supporters of diverse backgrounds.

• Recognize youth and adults for their positive accomplishments and contributions to their communities.

• Create and encourage intergenerational mentoring programs providing even more opportunities for youth and adults to learn from one another.

Nebraska 4-H, long noted for teaching life skills to young people, already is a powerful tradition in' many families and communities. That mission will not change; rather through participatory planning and defined direction, youth will be able to contribute in even greater ways to communities, create positive change, and envision new possibilities and directions. the Garden of Gods before heading on to Rainbow Trail. After the week of backpacking the group spent an afternoon river rafting on the Arkansas River.

The youth who attended are ninth graders (2002-2003) and will begin a year-long mentor program this fall before Confirmation in October of 2003.

On Wednesday of the trip, the backpackers had Peak Day where they climbed a peak challenging them to get as far as they could. The group had lunch and worship at 12,000 feet. Those who made it to the top were at 13,500 feet.

Mission group leaves for Tanzania

Five members of Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne will leave Saturday, Aug. 10 for Tanzania.

Pastor Kevin Ruffcorn, Senior Pastor of the church, Dreama Anderson, Darrel and Byron Heier and Debbie Peschel will be traveling as part of a tour arranged by the Nebraska Lutheran Outdoor Ministries, Nebraska Synod.

The purpose of the trip is to strengthen ties with the synod's companion synod, the Northern Diocese of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in Tanzania and Our Savior's companion congregation in Kotela. For four years, Our Savior has shared a relationship with Kotela Lutheran Parish on the lower slopes of Mount Kilimanjaro. While in Tanzania, the mission group will join with members of the Kotela congregation in installing a roof, laying a foundation for an educational building and will do some fencing. They will also have an opportunity to visit the Agape Lutheran Seminary, the Angaza Women Center, be given an overview of the Ngarony Youth Camp Project and meet with leaders of the Northern Diocese of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in Tanzania.

The congregation of Our Savior has been involved in helping the mission group gather numerous items to be shared with members of the Kotela parish. The women of Our Savior donated receiving blankets, cloth diapers, sleepers, tshirts, baby lotion and soap to make layettes that will be given as a gift from Our Savior to new mothers in Tanzania.

During Day Camp/VBS, the children of Our Savior brought school supplies to be shared with the children of Tanzania.

One half of the children's Sunday School offering for 2001-2002 was shared with the Kotela Kindergarten and the Children & Youth Ministry program at Kotela. Also helping with this endeavor was the Our Savior Foundation. Proceeds from the Quilt Raffle this past spring, Lenten Suppers and individual gifts have been shared with the Kotela parish for building construction and renovation.

NEW SIGNS GREET GUESTS New signs were erected recently at the south and east entrances of Graves Park, The identical signs welcome guests plus list rules and services available at the park.

The signs also direct visitors to city hall for information or to reserve shelter houses or camping pads.

The signs also boast Wakefield as Baseball Capitol as the community prepares to host the class c state baseball tournament.

Other improvements at the park include new lighting along Lefty Olson Drive and elsewhere in the park and new board fence along the east boundary along the batting cages.

The new restroom and shower facility is scheduled to be ready for the tournament; plus numerous tasks are being performed to Eaton Field like a fresh coat of paint on the outfield fence and new sod where it has been worn down with use.

During the spring and summer, the buildings in the park have received a new coat of tan paint and roofed with hunter green steel which ties in with the new playground equipment installed a year ago.

All the improvements are making Wakefield's City Park a very rain. It's overcast this morning, but I've long since learned not to count on that. When I water the spruce trees, the grasshoppers are dancing in front of me. They have stripped the lilac bush!

I have half a dozen potted plants near the back door. They had started eating them, but Sevin seems to have dissuaded them. One of the plants is a tiki plant, I brought home the seed from Hawaii and stuck it in a pot. Nothing seems to kill the thing. It just starts shooting up again. That's my kind of plant!

Two years ago, I decided we should have a "Cousin Camp," when all the grandchildren could be at Grandma's house without their parents. I was envisioning a week, but wiser heads convinced

We still have had very little me that three days would be long enough.

I remembered my Mom taking all our four for a week once, and bringing them back, saying, "Never again."

So, we settled on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday after Memorial Day. The weather, turned beastly hot. The two youngest were two-year-olds, barely out of diapers. There was an awfully lot of time spent watching videos.

The next year went better, but the weather was damp and cool. Which meant they still played in the house a lot. The office/family room was so full of games and toys we could barely walk through it. Meal times were a problem. because Grandma expected them to clean up their plates!

This year, Grandpa was still recuperating from his hip surgery when the time came for camp. So it was postponed. Then, we tried to set a date. Either we had reservations, or there were softball games, or football camp, soccer camp, dance camp.

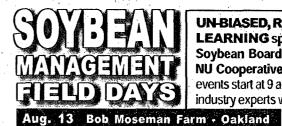

Finally, Aug. 1, 2, 3 were decided on. Then a family from Kansas City wanted to take all the rooms on the first, so it was set back a day

Now, however, we have the new room in the basement. The toys and games could be spread out down there, No one really needed naps anymore. I changed my menus to sandwiches and macaroni and cheese.

And the Gods smiled on us on Friday when we visited Safari, the drive-through wild animal refuge. It was cool and pleasant. The elk were grazing. We had a picnic lunch near wolf canyon. There was a huge wolf canyon. There was a huge wolf pack. The bears were sunning themselves. The next day was hot and muggy again. We checked out the aquarium at Schramm and hurried home.

There were the usual squabbles and disagreements. The boys like to tease the girls, as boys have done since the beginning of time. But they hugged as they said their good byes on Sunday. And Grandma and Grandpa took naps! We survived another one. Next year, we might even invite the baby; who was really happy to see his brother and sister again.

Will Davis Sav-Mor Pharmacy Walnuts May Help Lower Cholesterol

The traditional Mediterranean diet includes plenty of fruits and vegetables and olive oil known to lower cholesterol, but few meats and dairy products. Researchers in Spain now report that cholesterol can be lowered even more by adding walnuts to the diet.

Walnuts, rich in polyunsaturated fats, have been shown to reduce harmful LDL cholesterol. Dr. Daniel Zambon of the Hospital Clinic Provincial in Barcelona conducted a study comparing the cholesterol-lowering effects of a normal Mediterranean diet and a diet in which 8 to 11 walnuts a day were substituted for olive oil and other fatty foods. The walnuts composed about 18% of total calories and 25% of fat calories. Forty-nine men and women with high LDL'cholesterol levels were on the diet for six weeks.

According to a report in the Annals of Internal Medicine, the average LDL cholesterol declined by 11.2% with the walnut diet and 5.6% with the control diet. Researchers conclude that replacing some fats in the western diet with walnuts might provide many benefits.

PROCEEDINGS WAYNE BOARD OF EDUCATION SPECIAL MEETING

July 25, 2002 A special meeting of the Wayne Public Schools Board of Education was held in room 202 at the High school on Thursday, July 25, 2002 at 12:00 p.m. Notice of the meeting and place of agenda was published in the Wayne Herald. The purpose for the meeting was to have a budget workshop and to discuss and act on the bond resolution.

The following board members answered roll call: Jean Blomenkamp, Bill Dickey, Sue Gilmore, Dennis Lipp and Kaye Morris. Absent: John Dunning. Adoption of Agenda: Motion to adopt the agenda. Motion carried. Informational Items or Reports:

Bond Resolution- Al Eveland presented the board with information on the bond resolution. The reason for the bond resolution is due to complications that arose during renovation of the Middle School, which added to the building cost, Wayne Public Schools will be adding $385,000 of the $500,000 unused Bond Budget Authority. In terms of payments, the school will see an increase of approximately $20,597 a year. Motion to approve the resolution authorizing the issuance of General obligation School Building Bonds, Series 2002, of the Wayne County School District 017 (Wayne Community Schools) in the State of Nebraska. in the aggregate principal amount of Three Eighty-five Thousand Dollars Hundred ($385,000). Motion carried.

Budget Workshop for 2002-2003- Dr. Reinert presented the board with the preliminary budget information. Wayne Community Schools are facing a $150,000 loss in state aid this year. With reduction in staff, we were able to stay in line with available spending this year as far as fringe benefits and salaries. However, insurance for 2003-2004 may have to be looked at more closely. Money was implemented into the budget for technology (computer upkeep), the addition of a SPED van, a track payment, athletics, and kitchen maintenance. Dr. Reinert also voiced his concerns with the preliminary budget. With the budget as tight as it is, there is no room for any major expenses or even foreseeable items such as replacing the older vans and repairing or replacing the root of the High School. The hope is that some of the loss in state aid can be recouped by taxes. The board will approve the final budget in September.

Adjournment: Motion to adjourn the meeting. Motion carried. Unanimous vote. The next regular meeting of the Wayne Community Schools Board of Education will be held on Monday, August 12, 2002 at 7:00 p.m. at the Wayne High School.
