Van asks the court for new trial

By Mike Grosz
 Of the Herald

Former Wayne floral shop owner Roger Van is asking for a new trial.

Monday, Van's attorney, James McGough of Norfolk, filed an amended motion for a new trial in Wayne County District Court.

Van is scheduled to appear in Wayne County District Court next Wednesday, Sept. 4, for sentencing after a jury found him guilty on five charges relating to the sexual torturing of a Texas man in the basement of his flower shop last December.

Court documents filed this week allege there were irregularities in the proceedings of the court by which Van was prevented from having a fair trial. The motion also states alleged misconduct by prosecuting attorney Chris Connolly and that Jonathan Cooper, who was held in Wayne by Van, had not been truthful in his testimony during the trial.

The newest development in this case involves a new witness from the defense.

William Brockman, age 60, of Laguna Beach, Calif. met Cooper over the internet in the spring of 1996 and the two had a relationship, living together in Houston from 1997 to 1999. Brockman said that when working out details in their relationship, Cooper planned to stage his disappearance, staging a drowning, a name change and new identity, a similar plot that Cooper testified to about coming to Wayne to meet Van.

Brockman went on to say, "my opinion of Mr. Cooper is based not only upon my personal observations and dealings, but upon his own statements to me regarding his propensity and ability to lie, his inclination to manipulate individuals and that he is a good con artist."

I believe my testimony would be very enlightening and important for the jury to hear."

Through a friend, Brockman found out about the Van/Cooper case in Wayne after reading an article on a website detailing facts of the case. Brockman's first contact with McGough came on the morning of Aug. 6.

Van was found guilty on July 16 of first-degree sexual assault, first and second-degree assault, false imprisonment and terroristic threats. He faces a minimum of two years with a maximum of 85 years in prison and/or fines of up to $55,000 on the five charges.

Local company ships windows to Israel airport

By Lynn Sievers
 Of the Herald

D.V. Fyre Tec of Wayne has completed a window sale totaling $250,000 for the Ben Gurion Airport in Tel Aviv, Israel.

The sale was initiated in November, 2000 by Cuhadaroglu Construction Firm, a contractor in Turkey who through D. V. Fyre Tec's website and through an architect who specified the Wayne company, contacted Steve Suhr, project manager at D.V. Fyre Tec.

The architect knew of the Wayne-based facility through the many mailings they do each year. This sale is the largest single dollar amount with traditional house sale D.V. Fyre Tec has ever made. And, it was the first sale negotiated through the Wayne office with any business overseas. Other overseas sales have been made through brokers.

Steve Suhr, project manager at D.V. Fyre Tec, has been working on this sale for two years which was spent mainly on paperwork. They didn't actually start making the windows until June 3, 2002. When finished, the windows were taken to Houston, Texas by truck, then went on board a vessel to be delivered to Haifa, Israel where they were trucked to Tel Aviv.

Senior golf outings held on Mondays

By Mike Grosz
 Of the Herald

Monday, to most, is the worst day of the week. You have to go back to work or start another week of school. And we have all heard the phrase, "I hate Mondays!!!!"

But from late April to early October, an ever-growing group of area senior men believe Monday is a great day. That's because they gather at area golf courses for their annual Men's Senior Golf Outing. What started out as a couple of guys getting together on a Monday morning more than 10 years ago has mushroomed to five area golf courses with over 60 golfers playing every Monday morning.

Adolph Hingst of Wayne, one of the senior golf organizers, says "we wouldn't know what to do on Mondays."

Val Kienast of Wayne said, "it's better than sitting at home and listening to the wife."

Senior golf outings began in the Wayne area back in 1991. Hingst said, "it started with Lyle Garvin, Dale Gutshall and Roy Coryell gathering some old

The annual men's senior golf outing held every Monday morning draws a large number of golfers from the area. Pictured above are some of the 59 golfers who played at the Wayne Country Club on Aug. 12. The average senior golf outing draws between 60-70 golfers.

Cat finds its way home

Dear Editor,

Would you like to hear a very heart-warming, true story? I have one I would like to share.

In the year 1995 my son, Dan, and I drove to Schuyler, Neb. to see a baby kitten we hoped to purchase. We fell in love with one and immediately took her home with us. We named her Fluffy as she was a little ball of fur with a bushy tail.

We grew very tight but in 1998 we moved into an apartment and didn't know until much later that pets were not allowed. With sad hearts, a friend took her to a family in Norfolk. We missed her so much.

Now the year is 2002 and we saw an ad in the Shopper that the Humane Society in Wayne had an adult female cat. We looked at her and brought her home. Soon it became very apparent she looked and acted so much like Fluffy. Dan and I were shocked beyond belief.

The good lady at the Humane Society told us they had gotten her from the Laurel Vet Clinic. We were so surprised to learn she was a stray and had been impounded.

Full circle and here we are reunited with our very own Fluffy. It was easy to recognize her as the coloring and markings are the same. Eye color was the same. So here we are, the three of us together again. Even the way she moves her front paws is the same. Our last recognition was that we had had her front claws removed - this too was the same.

United again and so very, very happy. She is much older and we can't help but wonder how long she will live. We are indeed two very thankful people that God saw fit to bring us together again for whatever time we may have.

Gratefully,
Louise and Daniel Gates,

This is a bit of a repeat, but... Saturday, Sept. 14 is the Wayne State College Band Day. It's also our Fourth Annual "Wake Up With Wayne" promotion. You will be receiving in the mail after Labor Day information about our promotion and how you can get involved. First of all, we handle the non-band parade entries that you can be a part of. Secondly, we invite you to have a food, craft or information booth available on the sidewalk as part of our "Wake Up With Wayne" event. It's a community celebration and we would enjoy having you as a participant. There will also be a small farmers' market. Participate in and/or enjoy the Wayne State College Band Day, Sept. 14. The downtown events get underway at 8 a.m., including egg in a basket done by Chef George Holm of K&G Cleaners.

Come join us and enjoy the music of the Wayne State College Band, Wayne High School and Middle School Bands as well as other area bands.

Coming up on Oct. 2-4 is the Annual Main Street State Conference to be held in Beatrice. On Thursday, Oct. 3 is the Annual Banquet and Awards Program. The events and banquet are open to the public. It's a great chance to hear some great speakers and learn more about the Main Street Programs in the state. Contact me if you need more details or registration forms.

Debate continues over auditor's authority

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

When Kate Witek became State Auditor it was predicted from this corner that she would bump heads with lots of folk.

Such a view was not an altogether uncommon one in the Capitol. During her tenure as a state senator from Omaha, Witek made it clear that she believed that "her way" and "the right way" were the same thing.

In the realm of the Legislature she took more beatings than the New York Mets. Unlike the Mets, though, Witek was never embarrassed. When it came to legislative debate, she was a monument to strike outs and bean balls.

Didn't bother her a bit, either. Witek, then as now, was strictly a "keep on keepin' on" kind of player.

The truth is that it has taken longer than many expected for the conservative Republican to get into a major league dust up.

It shouldn't surprise anyone that the fight is with Republican Gov. Mike Johanns and equally Republican Attorney Gen. Don Stenberg.

The fact is that Witek wants to expand the authority of her office, to do what are called "performance audits" of state agencies. That means she doesn't just want to make sure the books are in order. She wants to look at how things are done, how the office works, etc., and issue findings and recommendations.

Stenberg has yet to issue an official opinion, but Johanns and the attorney general have made it clear that such business would overstep the auditor's authority.

In some states, where the state auditor is under the legislative branch (instead of being an elected official of the executive branch) the auditor has such authority. In Nebraska, a dispassionate reading of statutes and the Constitution seem to make it clear that Witek is trying to exceed her specified authority.

So, we have the potential for a dandy courtroom fight. Witek has virtually promised that she will sue if Stenberg and Johanns don't go along with her wishes.

This might not augur well for Republicans, if Nebraska were a state where the Democratic Party was something other than a rumor. As things stand, the political risks are negligible to nonexistent.

This venture won't enhance Witek's popularity among fellow Republicans or among lawmakers, either.

Tell that to Witek and the odds are good that the response will be: "Who?"

Vaccinations, federal law mark the start of school year

By Doug Christensen

The number of phone calls and e-mails coming to the Nebraska Department of Education has picked up. That's typical for early August. It's a signal that a new school year is fast approaching. This year the questions have focused on a host of issues, some old and some new.

A reported shortage of vaccine for students has gotten the attention of parents and school officials. Some folks are concerned that the rules and laws on school vaccinations may have changed. That is not true. The rules are the same, and the vaccine needed for entering school is available. The shortage

Nebraska Schools ...
By Education Commissioner Doug Christensen

was resolved earlier this summer.

Another topic of interest is a new federal law called "No Child Left Behind." I will tell you what I know at this time, but I cannot answer all the questions since we have not yet received the federal rules and regulations for the new law.

Nebraska's goal is to fit the law into what we already have - an assessment system that works for us and a system that focuses on some of the goals of the new law: Reading, writing and mathematics achievement, teacher quality and equity.

We believe that: No child should be left behind. We welcomed a federal initiative that focuses on the education of ALL children, better assuring that ALL students have the same educational opportunities. We also welcome the increased focus on reading, writing and mathematics achievement as well as teacher equity. You cannot separate student learning from effective teaching. That's why Nebraska made teacher equity the core of its system - a system that truly is teacher-led and classroom-based.

The bottom line is Nebraska's assessment and reporting system is working for us. We are not a New York, a Texas or a California where large urban school systems are failing. The new federal law was created to address those problems, not our schools. We are fortunate to have strong public schools, not a crumbling system. Our system fits us. We won't compromise its effectiveness. That's why our goal is to fit the new federal law into what we have. We have invested our teachers' time, our resources and our energies in a system that the evidence shows is working, a system that is demonstrating increased student learning and higher student scores on national standardized tests. I'll write about that evidence later or you can read it for yourself in the May 22 edition of Education Week, a national publication that is available at www.edweek.org.

Because Nebraska's goals and purposes meet the intent of the federal law, we believe we can fit their system into our own.

Our assessment system has received the federal government's initial approval. In 2005-06, the federal government will begin requiring states to report student achievement in reading and math in the 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th grades. That is one of the primary differences in the two systems. Our system requires schools to report student achievement in the 4th, 8th and 11th grades. I plan to work hard to assure that the federal government provides us the flexibility needed to keep our reporting system so we do not have to set specific standards for grades 3, 5, 6 and 7. We know that teachers don't wait until 4th grade or 8th grade or the 11th grade to start teaching to the reading and the math standards.

The standards have been aligned to the school curriculum kindergarten through high school so benchmarking or assessing at specific grade levels can tell us how well students meet standards. We also know, informally, that a large, if not overwhelming, number of our school districts set learning expectations for students at each grade level when they aligned their curriculum to the state standards. There is no need to repeat that exercise.

What consequences could Nebraska schools face if we don't assess and report student achievement at all those grade levels by 2005?

The quick answer is none. We won't allow that to happen. Yes, the schools could lose federal funds if it went that far, but it won't. We will not jeopardize federal funding for schools. However, we will continue to work to assure that the federal government provides the flexibility needed to keep our standards and assessment system whole and sound. There is a lot at stake for our students and their future. I promise you we will continue to work on behalf of our schools and students to assure the best outcome in this environment of change.

You may contact me at the Nebraska Department of Education, Commissioner Doug Christensen, 301 Centennial Mall South, Lincoln, NE 68509-4987 or at 402-471-5020 or doug_ch@nde.state.ne.us.

Against Morningside

WSC football team opens at home

by Mike Grosz
Of the Herald

Wayne State College opens the 2002 college football season at home tonight (Thursday) against Morningside College. Kickoff is set for 7:00pm at Cunningham Field.

The Wildcats return 13 starters, seven on offense and six more on defense, from last year's team that was 4-7 overall and 3-6 in the Northern Sun Conference. Third-year Head Coach Scott Hoffman says despite returning 13 starters, the team is still young with just five seniors. Hoffman said "we need the young kids to have success early." The talent level is here, the kids need to see themselves as winners.

The Wildcats return a number of skill position players from one year ago, including its top two quarterbacks. Senior Justin Burhoop of Seward started seven games, throwing for a team-high 1,350 yards and nine touchdowns. Sophomore Brett Edwards of Vinton, Iowa started the final three games last season and threw for 724 yards.

In the backfield, the Wildcats return starter Bryce Teager, a junior from South Sioux City. He led the team in rushing last season with 586 yards.

At wide receiver, sophomore Josh Hopwood and junior Ryan Kuester will have to carry much of the load after the graduation of big-time playmaker Tavaris Johnson. Hopwood had 32 catches last season for 384 yards.

Four of the five starters on the offensive line graduated last year. The lone returning starter is junior Ryan Klinetobe from Battle Creek.

Defensively, the Wildcats are expected to be strong with six returning starters, led by NSIC Newcomer of the Year linebacker Adam Long. The sophomore from Bennington was second on the team in tackles last year with 82 and had 11 tackles for losses. Top returners in the secondary include last year's leading tackler, junior strong safety Kyle Lingenfelter of Plainview along with sophomore Jeremy Neill, who led the team in interceptions with five.

The defensive line returns three starters from last year. Juniors Mat Schappveld, Nick Wemhoff and Tim Rexius all gained valuable experience one year ago and are expected to contribute even more

Kyle Lingenfelter

this year. Senior Nate Hale is the placekicker for the Wildcats. He was 16 for 21 on PAT's last year and 2 of 9 on field goals. Punting chores are expected to be handled by sophomore Alex Grief and freshman Brett Walker of Norfolk.

The Wildcats' home opener against Morningside tonight has Coach Hoffman concerned. He said, "I don't know what to expect from Morningside. This is the first game in the new era of Mustang football, they are very hungry. Last year playing a JV schedule, they were unbeaten." The Mustangs are making the transition from NCAA Division II to NAIA status and are playing as an independent this year.

Following tonight's game, the Wildcats play at Nebraska-Kearney on Saturday, Sept. 7, at 6 pm. Wayne State opens the NSIC schedule at home on Sept. 21 against Northern State at 7 p.m.

Wildcat volleyball team opens in Hawaii

by Mike Grosz
Of the Herald

After being snubbed by the NCAA Regional Committee last year, the Wayne State volleyball wants to show that its first ever NSIC championship and 24-9 record was no fluke.

The Wildcats do return four starters from last year's team, but have two big holes to fill, losing Lindsey Koch and Jessie Erwin to graduation. That, coupled with two key early season injuries, has veteran coach Sharon Vanis concerned about the start of the 2002 season.

Vanis said, "Heather Schuller, a junior from Central City, has a bad ankle sprain and will be out up to four weeks and Linsey Boehm, a top reserve from last year, has a bad back. That forces us to use a couple of new players right away."

The Wildcats have five seniors on this year's roster, anchored by three-time All-NSIC performer Rayna Nelsen. The senior from Homer was second on the team last year in kills (368) and blocks (100). Other senior returning starters are Kasey Meyer of Wisner at setter. She is the school's all-time leader with 2,944 assists, and Janel Moody, a defensive specialist from Sioux City-Heelan.

Off the bench, the Wildcats will bring in senior middle hitter Laurie Schroeder from Laurel-Concord, who led the team last year in blocks with 101, and outside hitter Kyla Batten, who missed most of last season with a leg injury.

With injuries to two veteran players already, Coach Vanis will look at two new players for early season contributions. Junior college transfer Kristin Linderman, a 5'10 junior from North Platte, and freshman Julie Jacobsen, a 5'9 outside hitter from Winside, will earn starts this weekend at the season-opening Hawaiian Classic.

The Wildcats have been picked as the team to beat this year in the Northern Sun Conference in the pre-season coaches poll. Vanis said, "we are flattered to be picked number one, but the league is very balanced this year. Any one of the top four or five teams could win it."

Wayne State plays its first home match of the season on Sept. 17, hosting Nebraska-Omaha at 7 pm. The NSIC schedule begins Sept. 24 and Southwest State. The Wildcats and Mustangs shared the NSIC title last year with 16-2 league marks.

Area teams to play in Gator Volleyball Classic

The Wisner-Pilger Gator Volleyball Classic will be played Sept. 5 and 7 at Wisner and Beemer.

Pool play at Wisner on Thursday, Sept. 5, has Wakefield playing Wisner-Pilger at 5:30pm, followed by Allen vs. North Bend, Wakefield vs. North Bend and Wisner-Pilger vs. Allen.

Pool play at Beemer on Thursday, Sept. 5, finds Lutheran High NE facing Fremont Bergan at 5:30pm, then Wayne vs. Scribner-Snyder, Wayne vs. Fremont Bergan and Scribner-Snyder vs. Lutheran NE.

Pool play resumes Saturday, Sept. 7, at 8:30am in Wisner with Wisner-Pilger facing North Bend and Allen meeting Wakefield.

Pool play in Beemer Saturday morning at 8:30am has Wayne playing Lutheran NE followed by Fremont Bergan against Scribner-Snyder.

The championship tournament bracket will be played in Wisner with the top two teams from pool play advancing while the bottom seeds from pool play at each site will play in the consolation tournament in Beemer.

The Allen Summer Recreation Department held their second annual Mud Volleyball Tournament on Aug. 10 with six teams entered. Teams that played were Eunie's Girls, Lariat, Mud Dogs, Sugar Plums, Summer Rec Board and the Wayne Herald Warriors!

WSC women's soccer begins season with new coach

by Mike Grosz
Of the Herald

A new coach, a new offense and 14 letterwinners from last year all add up to big expectations for the 2002 Wayne State women's soccer program this year.

Rollie Bullock replaces Justin Cole after spending the past two years as an assistant at Northern State. Before that, Bullock was a successful high school coach in Fargo, N.D. and helped build soccer at Minnesota State Moorhead.

The Wildcats were 14-9 last year and have six returning starters back, but will have to fill the shoes of Sarah Herrick, the school's all-time leading scorer, who graduated.

Head Coach Bullock says the players are adjusting to a new system. "The girls are having to learn a lot of new things and are picking things up quickly."

This year's roster has just two seniors, Mary McDaniel and Becky Woelfel. McDaniel, a 5'6 forward from York, scored nine goals last year and was second on the team with 11 assists.

Rollie Bullock

The Wildcats have experience in goal with juniors Kalle Wamsat of Valley and Erika Mather from Norfolk. Mather started 15 games last year and was 11-7 while Wamsat started the other eight games and was 3-2.

Another top scorer returning from last year is sophomore Tanya Mitchell. The 5'2 forward from Wisconsin Rapids, Wisc. scored 11 goals, third best on the team, while starting 17 games. Forward Amanda Keller, a junior from Fredonia, Wisc., has battled injuries the past two seasons but is expected to contribute this year.

Defensively, the Wildcats should be strong with returnees Amanda Ferguson, Sarah Lepak and Brea Rath.

Bullock's first recruiting class of six new players should add some depth to this year's team. He also landed a former player of his from Northern State. Kelly Peterson, a sophomore from Vermillion, S.D., will redshirt this season and have three years of eligibility with the Wildcats. She was the NSIC Newcomer of the Year in 2001 at Northern State.

The Wildcats open their season at home Friday against South Dakota State at 4pm and then host Northwest Missouri State on Sunday at 1 pm. Wayne State and North Dakota State.

Bullock said, "our first six games are real competitive. I would be happy with a 3-3 record."

Erika Mather

then plays four games on the road at Rocky Mountain, Montana State-Billings, Nebraska-Omaha

Tanya Mitchell

Wayne State was picked to finish fourth in the NSIC pre-season coaches poll.

Winside State Bank receives recognition

BauerFinancial, Inc., the nation's leading Independent bank research firm, has announced it has awarded its top five-star Superior rating to Winside State Bank in Winside.

This marks the 54th consecutive time Winside State Bank has earned the prestigious award, securing its position as one of the strongest banks in the country.

Banks that have achieved the highest BauerFinancial™ five-star Superior rating for a minimum of 40 consecutive quarters additional qualify for BauerFinancial's Exceptional Performance Rating. This is a distinction claimed by only 18 percent of the nation's banks, including Winside State Bank.

"What makes community banks, like Winside State Bank, stand out is their commitment to their customers and communities," said Karen L. Dorway, president of the research firm. "The latest buzzword we're hearing these days is 'customer-centric.' It means centering the way you do business around the customer. Well, it may be new jargon, but it's not a new concept for community banks, like Winside State Bank, which has Always operated that way. They call it good, old-fashioned banking."

Established in 1936, Winside State Bank has provided banking services to its neighbors and friends in Wayne County for over 66 years through its conveniently located office on Main Street Winside.

Rested and ready routines

School has started again. For some teens, it may be hard to adjust to the school routine after a long break. How can you ease your child back into the swing of things? Here are some ways to help teens start each day refreshed and ready to do their best.

Sleep for Success

Teenagers need a lot of sleep — an average of eight to nine hours a night. To make sure your teen gets enough sleep, encourage her to keep a regular bedtime. With plenty of sleep, it will be easier for her to wake up to an energetic start the next day.

Fill Up the Tank

Studies show that kids who eat breakfast pay attention and absorb new information better than kids who skip a morning meal. Have your teen fuel up each morning with nutritious, brain-boosting breakfast choices like fruit, yogurt or whole-grain cereal.

Make Room for Homework

It's important for your teenager to have a place to do his homework, like a desk or table in a quiet, well-lit part of the house. To help him stay organized, try to give him drawers or shelf space nearby where he can store books and papers.

Fredrick Zydek scheduled to appear as visiting writer

Fredrick Zydek will open the Visiting Writers Series this fall at Northeast Community College in Norfolk.

He is scheduled to conduct a writing workshop Tuesday, Sept. 24, at 11 a.m. in the Cox Activities Center Theater. He will give a reading of his works that evening at 7 p.m. in the Lifelong Learning Center, Suites I and J.

Zydek is the author of five collections of poetry, including the Conception Abbey Poems. His work has appeared in the Antioch Review, The Hollins Critic, Michigan Quarterly Review, Poetry, Poetry Northwest, and other journals. T'Kopechuck: the Buckley Poems will be released by Winthrop Press later this year.

Formerly a professor of creative writing and theology at the University of Nebraska and later at the College of St. Mary, he has published more than 800 poems. He is now the editor of Lone Willow Press. Also a gentleman farmer, he divides his time between a home in Omaha and a country place near Brunswick.

Degrees are earned by two local students

Nebraska Methodist College, an affiliate of Methodist Health System, granted degrees and certificates to 56 students during the summer graduation ceremonies.

Jodi Rae Miller of Wayne was among those earning a degree. Miller was awarded a Bachelor of Science in Nursing.

Shanon K. Boston of Wakefield was awarded a certificate in surgical technology.

The ceremonies were held on Aug. 9 at Faith-Westwood United Methodist Church in Omaha.

Outstanding scholar

Adam Wert, center, is congratulated by John McClarnen, Middle School Principal, left, and Joan Sudman, Counselor at Wayne Middle School. Wert was the recipient of a Presidential Education Award, which is awarded to eighth grade students who have a grade point average of 3.5 and score in the 85th percentile or higher on a standardized test. Wert was inadvertently left off the list of students who received the award last spring.

Thompson is national award winner

Brittany Thompson of Laurel has been named a United States National Award Winner in Band.

This award is a prestigious honor which few students can ever hope to attain. The Academy recognizes fewer than 10 percent of all American High School students.

Brittany, who attends Laurel-Concord High School, was nominated for this national award by Mrs. Mary Kay Hasemann, a teacher at the school.

Her name will appear in the All-American Scholar Yearbook, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly, winners of the All-American Scholar Awards should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USAA upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors or other qualified sponsors. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Brittany is the daughter of Doug and Lisa Thompson of Laurel. Her grandparents are Harold and Joyce Thompson of Laurel and Kenneth and Mary Hansen of Allen.

Herbs for Health

Pepper Extract for Pain: Capsaicin

Many people use capsaicin for chronic pain but do not realize it is an herbal extract. Capsaicin is the active component of Capsicum annuum - the common cayenne pepper. In the tropics the plant can grow as a bush to a height of 3 feet. The pepper it produces technically is a berry. Capsaicin causes the Capsicum berry to be "hot," pungent, and irritating.

Typically applied capsaicin has been studied in many types of pain, including post-herpetic neuralgia (shingles), trigeminal neuralgia (tic douloureux), rheumatoid and osteoarthritis, and psoriasis. Typically, creams containing less than 1 part per 1,000 capsaicin are applied to the skin up to 4 times a day.

Capsaicin may relieve pain by directly affecting pain fibers. A chemical called substance P is responsible for transmitting pain impulses to the brain from the periphery (e.g., skin or joints). Capsaicin first stimulates pain fibers and then depletes them of substance P. As a result, pain "messages" cannot be sent to the brain where they otherwise would be sensed.

College credit exams offer savings

Wayne State College is offering tests for college credit to college-bound high school seniors, current students and working adults who want to continue their education.

The examinations cover a number of subject areas in a variety of disciplines. Students and prospective students may demonstrate their knowledge by receiving satisfactory test scores and earn college credit.

The exams are offered nationwide through the computer-based College-Level Examination

Program (CLEP).

Upcoming exams are 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. from September to April. Test dates and deadlines are:

Date of Exam: Registration Deadlines: Sept. 9, 2002; Sept. 2, 2002; Sept. 23, 2002; Sept. 16, 2002; Oct. 14, 2002; Oct. 7, 2002; Oct. 28, 2002; Oct. 21, 2002; Nov. 11, 2002; Nov. 4, 2002; Nov. 25, 2002; Nov. 18, 2002; Dec. 2, 2002; Nov. 25, 2002; Jan. 13, 2003; Jan. 6, 2003; Feb. 3, 2003;

Jan. 27, 2003;

Feb. 17, 2003; Feb. 10, 2003; March 3, 2003; Feb. 24, 2003; March 24, 2003; March 17, 2003; April 14, 2003; April 7, 2003; April 28, 2003; April 21, 2003; **May 19, 2003 ExamTime: May 12, 2003 (1:30-3:30 p.m.)

Many students with average grades can benefit from CLEP. If a person passes one CLEP exam, that would equal $315.75 at Wayne State College (resident, undergraduate tuition; Fall 2002). This helps students to complete a degree in less time and get a job or promotion by accelerating education through CLEP, a national credit-by-examination program designed to help students of any age earn credit for what they know.

"CLEP is great for working adults who can turn what they know into credit toward a degree," said Orlando Toro, national director of CLEP at the College Board. "They can reduce the number of courses they need to graduate, save money, or get into more specialized courses." According to Toro, each college sets its own policy about the scores required to earn credit and how much credit by examination a student can receive.

For example, at Wayne State College, no limit is placed on the maximum number of credit hours earned through CLEP that are taken before the senior year.

No more than six CLEP credit hours of the student's last 30 semester hours before graduation will be recognized for credit.

Tests will be administered at the Wayne State College Student Center.

Sign-up deadline is one week prior to testing. CLEP tests take 90 minutes each and cost $65 each. Essay/lab tests require two times. Students may take one test a day. While there are examination fees for the CLEP test, Wayne State College does not charge tuition fees for credit hours earned through CLEP.

Examinations are administered by computer and scored instantly. Wayne State College has study guides that describe each examination, followed by several sample questions. Students may check out this guide for help deciding if they have enough knowledge about particular academic areas to attempt each CLEP examination.

Information about the tests may also be viewed at www.collegeboard.com/clep.

Four million people and more have taken CLEP examinations since the program began. Approximately 2,900 colleges and universities participate in CLEP. The College-Level Examination Program is a program of the College Board.

KMEG and schools work to protect lives and property

KMEG-TV announced that it is working with nine area schools as part of a new national homeland security program unveiled recently by the National Weather Service (NWS) and AWS Convergence Technologies (AWS).

Among the schools participating in the new program is Wayne Middle School.

The program is designed to protect lives and property in Siouxland as well as in other major cities across the United States.

If a homeland security incident occurs, the NWS will now have access to real-time weather data from KMEG's network of nine school weather stations to provide precise forecast models that government agencies, the military and emergency managers can use to make critical decisions.

Nearly 100 broadcasters and 6,000 schools around the country that have AWS monitoring stations are participating in the national program.

"We are pleased to be working with the National Weather Service and the AWS WeatherNet Network on this important initiative. The unique value and quality of highly localized, up-to-the-second weather information provided by our weather station is critical for homeland security and emergency response applications. We are proud to support and be involved in this effort," said Brian McDonough, KMEG General Manager.

KMEG will play a key role in protecting the lives and property throughout Siouxland, where the station has a high concentration of weather monitoring stations, dubbed "KMEG WeatherLab."

In a homeland security event, such as a bio-terrorist or chemical attack, the National Weather Service will now be prepared to more quickly and more precisely assess local weather conditions, such as surface wind speeds and temperatures, which could spread airborne hazardous materials and affect nearby communities.

'Every Woman Matters' celebrates

Every Woman Matters (EWM), a breast and cervical cancer screening program, has something to celebrate this year. On September 3, EWM will have been screening Nebraska women for 10 years.

According to Nebraska Health and Human Services (NHHS) Every Woman Matters office in Lincoln, the office started paying for breast and cervical cancer screenings in 1992. Since that time, the program has grown to offer many services and screens over 8,000 women yearly.

In the 10 years EWM has provided Nebraska women 61,000 Pap smears and 41,000 mammograms. So far 33,000 individual women have been screened and as a result, 267 breast cancers have been detected. Two-thirds of those cancers have been diagnosed in an early stage when the cancer is the most treatable. A total 19 cervical cancers and 2,450 cervical pre-cancers have also been diagnosed.

According to the NHHS Every Woman Matters, the changes made from 1992 have played a significant role in the screening, diagnosing and treatment of breast and cervical cancers. The changes have also implemented additional screening programs to EWM.

In September of 1992, office visits were reimbursed at a rate of $30 per visit; office visits are reimbursed at a rate of $80 today, beginning July 1, 2002. By the end of 1992, only six providers were working with EWM; today there are more than 600 providers including 470 clinics.

In the beginning, EWM could not provide reimbursement for breast ultrasound or breast biopsy; now, EWM pays almost all exams related to the diagnosis of breast or cervical cancer, including breast ultrasound and breast biopsy and also pays for cardiovascular and diabetes screenings.

A total of 118 women were screened in the last four months of 1992; EWM now regularly screens 800-9000 women annually. Women throughout Nebraska have also received education about the need for early breast and cervical cancer detection through providers and local outreach workers.

The local outreach worker for this area is Karen Wesche. She works through a grant provided by NHHS Every Woman Matters and is employed by Goldenrod Hills Community Services in Wisner. The area that she reaches are the counties of Antelope, Burt, Cedar, Cuming, Dakota, Dixon, Dodge, Knox, Madison, Pierce, Stanton, Thurston, Washington and Wayne.

Anyone interested in learning more about Every Woman Matters program can contact Karen Wesche at 402-529-3513, Ext. 293 or 1-800-445-2505, EXT 293.

Lynette Krie receives recognition

Lynette Krie, Financial Associate for Thrivent Financial for Lutherans, was cited for outstanding life insurance service at the 52nd Annual Convention of the National Association of Fraternal Insurance Counsellors which met recently at the Memphis Marriott East in Memphis, Tenn.

A Certificate for two years of Quality Business and two million of Production based on 2001 production was presented to Mrs. Krie.

As a Fraternal Insurance Counsellor, she was required to complete an extensive basic and advanced training course; pass three comprehensive examinations and meet established requirements.

Lynette has been a representative in this area since 1997.

IN LEAGUE WORLD SERIES
Joel Nixon was invited to play on a Nebraska All-Star team. The team was organized of area players by Coach Doak Wegner of Bancroft.

The Nebraskans played in the "Hap" Dumont World Series for 12 and under teams at Bandits Yard in Greenfield, Ind. The 16-Team Tournament took place from July 25-Aug. 1.

The first two days was pool play. The Nebraska Team defeated Kentucky 8-1 then lost to Indiana 8-0 and edged by the Tennessee team 7-6.

In the first round of tournament play the Nebraska team was again nipped by a 7-6 scored by a squad from Iowa, then won over a team from Ohio by a score of 7-6 and bowed out by the action with a 10-2 loss to Indiana.

In addition to the ball games there were a number of other events and activities for the young athletes. Joel teamed up with Scott Melik, Mychal McLure and Jacob Kreikmeier to place second in the base running skills contest.

Other events included a banquet, open ceremonies and parade, hog roast, a night with the Indianapolis Indians, a Triple A Affiliate of the Milwaukee Brewers and a swim party.

Joel, the 12-year-old son of Rod and Ginger Nixon, was 9/14 at the plate in the six tournament games he played in. He also pitched in the games against Iowa and Ohio.

NORFOLK GOLDEN GIRLS
Alissa Bressler kept busy this summer playing softball with the Norfolk Golden Girls 14 and under team and attending sports camps.

The Golden Girls played in weekend tournaments from late April through July and the 14 and under team placed fifth in the class A state tournament at North Platte and played in the class A regionals in Wichita, Kan. where they won their first game and they lost to the number one seeded team from Kansas City metro area and to a Des Moines squad.

In the eight tournaments, the Golden Girls finished second in two and third in two others.

League play was in Lincoln on Tuesdays where the teams played doubleheaders. The Golden Girls finished the season with a 33-31 record. Players on the team will be returning in 2003 to play in the same age bracket.

Alissa did some pitching, played first base and also in the outfield.

CAMPS
At the Briar Cliff Volleyball Camp in late July, under the direction of Mary Schroeder, Alissa was named to the all-camp team and also was selected the most valuable player at the camp.

She also received co-mvp honors at a volleyball camp for 7th, 8th, and 9th graders at Northeast Community College in May. She worked on her basketball skills too at another camp at Northeast Community College.

JOHN BACHMANN, MANAGING PARTNER, EDWARD JONES
VIEWS ON CURRENT MARKET CONDITIONS

The recent stock market's upswings and downturns can be nerve-racking for even the most seasoned investor. But ours is a cyclical business, heavily influenced by business cycles and investor sentiment. Many of us have been through similar markets and we know this temporary down-turn is part of a normal cycle. What follows are my personal views. And while I believe strongly in what I've written, remember no one has a patent on right answers.

1. The market periodically goes through a cleansing process. When markets reach unusually high levels, as the "new economy" securities did, some event invariably triggers a sudden slide. In 1987, it was program trading. This time, the trigger was a loss of confidence financial reporting.
2. The current market will probably end with a day or two of free fall. That will be a very scary time. Historically, there has been a pattern to these cycles. The market slides steadily, but then we see a few periodic rallies which suggest we have reached the bottom. Before it truly bottoms, however, it drops sharply for several days in a row. One day, it opens significantly lower on huge volume, which scares the last shares out of weak hands. Absent some subsequent political event which is unforeseen, that represents the bottom.
3. There will be a fight to quality. It has already begun, as evidenced by the flow of investable dollars into fixed income. Here again, one must be careful. Fixed-income investments should be diversified by maturity date or investors will suffer when interest rates rise. Individuals should also continue to buy good stocks.
4. Investors by share, not the market. Some great companies have already reached their lows, so waiting doesn't guarantee a better price. Since almost no one buys at the low (it is statistically impossible), investors should focus on selection of companies rather than timing.
5. Bargains will abound. Good investments drop along with poor ones. Companies that have traditionally had strong prospects now sell at favorable prices. If the share go lower, investors can average down by buying more.
6. Lazy investors will buy crummy companies just because they are cheap, expecting them to rebound with the rest of the market. Just remember, dropping a tennis ball on the sidewalk produces a different reaction than dropping an egg. Not everything bounces back.
7. Markets reflect both economics and psychology. In the current situation, the economy is recovering from recession, but psychology is focused on the quality of financial reporting. History tells us that at market highs, when psychology is wonderful, there are few bargains. However, when markets fall and psychology is poor, bargains abound.
8. Serious long-term buyers love markets like these. Not only can they buy at prices they never expected to see, they can switch from companies or industries judged to be less promising, into new investments that are priced attractively.
9. The strength of our overall economy is remarkable. We have lived through September 11 and a brief recession, but the economy has begun moving up again. Once corporations get their accounting issues settled, many of the attractive prices we see on individual stocks today will be just a memory.

More than anything else, discipline and patience determine investment success. We cannot predict the future. Absent the ability to predict the future, we must prepare for it.

John W. Bachmann is managing partner of Edward Jones, the only major financial-service firm that serves individual investors exclusively. Bachmann served two terms as chairman of the Securities Industry Association in 1987 and 1988, at time of great turbulence because of the October 1987 stock market crash. He was active on the U.S. Steering Committee for the Group of 30, an international group that examined global financial issues, and chaired a task force for the implementation of clearance and settlement reform in the U.S. securities markets. This effort included shortening the settlement cycle from five days to three days, significantly reducing the window of investment risk. Bachmann has been a member of the board of governors of the Chicago Stock Exchange and has served on the Regional Firms Advisory Board of the New York Stock Exchange. He also has served as chairman of district 4 for the National Association of Securities Dealers. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the NASD.

Red Wine and The French Paradox

Researchers believe they've discovered the reason the French can eat lots of rich foods, cheeses and buttery sauces, yet suffer less heart disease than Americans. A study in Nature suggests that red wine, especially that made from cabernet sauvignon grapes, is high in polyphenols which lower endothelin-1, a peptide that contributes to hardening of the arteries. Obviously, too much wine can have serious side effects, but in moderation it may be kind to your heart.

children born to the Rev. Douglas L. and Lillian (Hart) Folsom, Sr. Rev. Folsom was a member of the Alabama Methodist Conference and served in parishes across Alabama and north Florida so the family frequently moved.

Doug made friends easily and was always happy wherever his family lived. He graduated from high school in Pine Hill, Ala., and from Auburn University with a degree as a teacher and school administrator.

He originally married Sarah Blanton and they both taught school in Alabama. Doug also served as a Principal in several schools. He enlisted in the U.S. Navy as a Lt. (j.g.) in July 1943 and served until February 1946. After his discharge from the Navy his family moved to Tucson where Doug became affiliated with the U.S. Veterans Administration.

After living one year in Tucson he was transferred to the V.A. Hospital in Prescott where he stayed until his retirement in 1979. He held several positions before being appointed Chief of Domiciliary Services in 1968.

After Sarah Folsom passed away, Doug married his long-time friend Gail Goodell in November 1969. Doug and Gail enjoyed 33 years together traveling, entertaining and visiting with friends and family across the U.S.

Doug was an avid sports fan, supporting youth sports and professional events alike. If it was played with a ball, he loved it, especially football. Much of the Folsom's social life revolved around which team was playing on TV and Doug's favorites were University of Alabama, Auburn University and Nebraska's "Big Red".

After retiring from the V.A. Administration, Doug and Gail purchased a second home in Allen, NE where they had the chance to relive much of Gail's childhood and spend time with family and friends. Doug became a community leader in Allen and a local sports enthusiast, even serving as the "play by play" announcer for the Allen Eagles high school football team.

Doug also devoted his life to supporting the local Prescott Community, serving as a member of BPOE, Loyal Order of Moose, VFW and American Legion. He was especially supportive of Little League Baseball, cheering his boys to many victories. He was a loving husband, father, grandfather, uncle, brother, and friend. He was known for his ready smile, sweet personality, and his desire to serve his fellow man, and will be greatly missed by family and friends.

Doug is survived by his loving wife of 33 years, Gail, sons Dr. Larry Folsom (Eloisa) of Tracy, CA; Jim Folsom (Laurie) of Phoenix, AZ; Rex Goodell (Joan) of Las Vegas, NV; Neil Goodell (Annie) of Prescott, and daughter Jill Goodell Hale (Richard) of Prescott; also grandchildren Justin and Ben Folsom of Phoenix; Bill and Doug Folsom of California;

Complicated process

Employees at Wayne Municipal Airport work with Doug Nelson of Wayne last week. The group augured rye seed into a spray plane. The rye was then spread over more than 700 acres of standing corn owned by Nelson and several of his neighbors. The rye will be used in the future for hay, grain and as a cover crop this winter.

Oswald receives scholarship to Wayne State

Kyle Oswald, Allen, has received a Milton G. Waldbaum Scholarship to attend Wayne State College this fall.

The Milton G. Waldbaum

Scholarship was established in 1988 by the Milton G. Waldbaum Family Foundation in honor of the late Milton G. Waldbaum, founder of the M.G. Waldbaum Co. in Wakefield. These scholarships benefit children and grandchildren of Waldbaum Company employees attending Wayne State College.

Oswald, the son of Dwayne and Barb Oswald, is a 2002 graduate of Allen Consolidated Schools.

While in high school, he was a member of National Honor Society, band, choir, the school musical and one-act play casts and the football, basketball and wrestling teams. He played "Taps" for the Floyd Gleason Post 131 American Legion on numerous occasions.

Relatives gathered in Wakefield recently at the city park for the Habrock family reunion which is held bi-ennially.

Family reunion held in Wakefield

The Habrock family reunion was held Aug. 18 at the Wakefield City Park. The reunions of the descendants of Bernard and Lena Habrock are held bi-ennially. Hostesses were Arlene Dolph of Wakefield and Lynelle Sievers of Wayne.

A pot-luck meal was held at noon with visiting and reminiscing in the afternoon. Those attending came from Arkansas and Colorado. In Nebraska from Pender, Wakefield, Emerson, Wayne, Omaha, Norfolk, Dalton, and Kearney. Nearly 50 people were in attendance. Oldest was Darlene Dolph of Wayne and youngest was Jamie Dolph, 19-month-old daughter of Kraig and Jane Dolph of Wakefield.

Among family happenings in the past two years documented at the reunion: there were four high school graduations and four college graduations, two 25th anniversaries, one wedding, three births, and two deaths in the family.

The next reunion will be held the third Sunday of August, 2004 at the Pender City Park with Verdel and Agnes Habrock of Pender, Roger and Sally Habrock and Merlin Habrock, all of Omaha hosting the event.

Most Nebraskans volunteer to community

Most rural Nebraskans consider community involvement important to their town's future. And nearly all back that belief with their time and money, the seventh annual Nebraska Rural Poll shows.

The University of Nebraska poll found that 87 percent of rural Nebraskans donated money to community improvement efforts in the past year, 84 percent belonged to community groups and 74 percent volunteered time to local groups or organizations. Additionally, 43 percent had leadership roles in organizations and 15 percent held public office or served on a board or committee.

"The volunteer time and money people have given are the assets that keep these communities alive," said John Allen, the NU Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources rural sociologist who heads the scientific poll. "In rural areas, there's a strong tradition and expectation that you'll give something back to your community."

Among this year's respondents from Nebraska's 87 rural counties, 95 percent said that volunteerism and more residents taking leadership roles in the community are important to their community's future. Eighty percent said financial contributions from residents are important.

However, few rural Nebraskans intend to leave assets to community organizations or causes in their estate plans. Only 4 percent already include a community cause in their will, 8 percent said they plan to, 48 percent aren't sure and 27 percent said they would not.

The low percentage surprised Allen. "We have a well-educated rural population in Nebraska that is very committed to their communities so I think it may be a lack of knowledge or understanding about how to structure their estates to benefit community as well as their families," he said.

The 43 percent undecided is the most promising figure, he said. It represents the opportunity to educate people about how best to keep their wealth at work locally while caring for their families.

"Rural residents already invest time and money in their communities," Allen said. "We're not asking them to do something out of their norm. We just need to help educate them so they know how to do this."

Keeping assets in rural communities is a pressing concern, he said. While much is said about the rural brain drain, rural Nebraska also faces a financial drain.

"We're talking about the potential for millions of dollars leaving these rural communities" as long-time residents die and estates are settled, he said.

When farms, ranches and businesses are sold after their owners die, the money typically is left to family members who often no longer live in the community.

"The community loses that wealth. But if we are able to recycle some of it through a local community foundation, then local people get to use it on issues important to the community," he said. "It's an opportunity to get some capital recirculating back in that community."

Allen said the Nebraska Community Foundation plays an important role in helping communities establish local nonprofit community foundations so Nebraska towns have the structure in place to accept donations.

This was the first year the poll included specific questions about estate planning. Poll organizers recognize that such questions are personal, Allen said, but decided they needed to ask for this information because it's so important to rural Nebraska's financial future.

The poll also showed rural Nebraskans remain positive about their communities. Twenty-four percent of respondents said their community has changed for the better in the past year, down from 28 percent last year; 54 percent said it remained the same, up from 53 percent in 2001; 22 percent think it changed for the worse, up from 19 percent in 2001.

Over the poll's seven years, the number of people who think their community has changed for the better has declined from 38 percent in 1996 to 24 percent this year. The number believing it has stayed the same grew from 38 percent in 1996 to 54 percent this year.

The number of people who think their community has changed for the worse has remained steady over the past seven years, averaging 20 percent.

"That's a positive thing," said Becky Vogt, the poll's manager. "Given all the obstacles, it takes more effort locally for these communities to hold their own."

Most poll respondents also said they would encourage others to move to or remain in their community. Specifically, more than two-thirds of respondents said they would encourage the following groups to move to or stay in their community: their children, relatives, close friends, elderly people, people from other parts of the state, young adults and young families, and out-of-state residents.

"They're positive enough to see their communities as places where they would want their children, family and friends to live," Allen said. This indicates rural residents believe there's a future for their communities.

This year's poll also shows rural residents are more open to newcomers in their communities, another positive indicator, Allen said. Rural residents continue to view their towns as friendly, trusting and supportive. Those percentages all increased this year with 75 percent rating their community as friendly; 65 percent saying it's trusting and 68 percent saying it's supportive.

Most rural Nebraskans also say they plan to stay put. Seventy-four percent say they plan to live in their community in five years; 3 percent said they definitely plan to move; 7 percent said they probably would move and 16 percent were undecided.

Each year, the survey also asks about respondents' satisfaction with various local services and amenities. The lists have remained fairly constant over the poll's seven years. Rural residents are most satisfied with library services, K-12 education, basic medical services, parks and recreation, senior centers and waste, sewage and water disposal. They are most dissatisfied with transportation, entertainment, local government and retail shopping.

The scientific survey is mailed in March to randomly selected rural residents. This year's results are based on 2,841 responses.

The Nebraska Rural Poll is the largest annual survey of rural Nebraskans' perceptions on quality of life and policy issues. It provides a rural perspective to policy and decision makers. This year's response rate was 44 percent. The margin of error is plus or minus 3 percent.

Complete poll results are available online at <http://cari.unl.edu/ruralpoll.htm>.

The annual poll is conducted by IANR's Center for Applied Rural Innovation with funding from the Partnership for Rural Nebraska and IANR's Cooperative Extension Division and Agricultural Research Division.

Blood Bank introduces new technology

The Siouxland Community Blood Bank will be using new blood services technology called 'Double Red Cell Collection Systems' at its blood drive in Wakefield on Wednesday, Sept. 4th.

The blood drive is at the Legion Hall from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. The new technology is an automated process that allows the blood bank to double the amount of red blood cells that can be collected from a donor.

This new technology allows the blood bank to collect a donor's red blood cells while returning the remaining components of the blood back to the donor. This automated procedure is similar to an apheresis process but only takes 20 minutes longer than the traditional whole blood donation.

According to Janette Twait, blood bank executive director, "the blood bank is dedicated to providing a safe and adequate blood supply to our twenty-six partnership hospitals and the many communities they serve. By offering this new technology on our mobile units, we demonstrate our commitment to the volunteer blood donors and the healthcare providers in our region."

The new double red cell collection process will not replace the traditional whole blood donation procedure, but will give the blood bank an enhanced service. The new technology will benefit both the donor and healthcare providers. Double red cell donors are only eligible to give blood every 112 days rather than every 56 days which benefits those blood donors with busy schedules. In addition, the process doubles the collection of critical blood types used in medical care facilities.

To be an eligible double red cell donor you must meet the following criteria: 1) be at least 17 years old, 2) be in good general health, 3) females must weigh at least 150 pounds and be 5'5" or taller, 4) males must weigh at least 130 pounds and be 5'1" or taller, and 5) donors must meet a higher hemogoblin standard.

For more information, you may contact the Siouxland Community

Blood Bank at (712) 252-4208, 1-800-798-4208, or at their website www.siuoxlandbloodbank.org.

Gets water improvement funds

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Rural Development provided $151,000 in grant funds and $346,000 in loan funds to the Village of Hoskins.

The 283 residents of Hoskins will benefit from this water project. Arlan Sellin, Village Board Chairperson, was notified of the funding approval.

Robert Prochaska, Rural Development, stated, "the existing municipal water system storage facility is 85 years of age and in need of extensive improvements in order to serve the users in the future. Replacement of this existing legged, riveted-type water tank will correct this deficiency."

The USDA funded water improvement project includes the installation of water meters, construction of an elevated water storage facility, and demolition of the existing elevated water storage facility.

The loan and grant funds were provided through the USDA Rural Development Water and Waste Disposal Loan and Grant program. The loan will be repaid over 40 years at an interest rate of 4.75 percent.

Genealogy Society plans speaker

The Wayne County Genealogy Society is planning to have Jody Boyd give a presentation at the group's Thursday, Sept. 19 meeting. She will speak on tombstones and witching graves.

The group is making an attempt to go to the Madison county Museum for its Thursday, Oct. 17 meeting. They plan to hear about the Orphan Train. However, plans are still being made and nothing is definite at this time.

The Wayne County Genealogy Society has Wayne County Cemetery Books available at a cost of $26.50 if picked up or $32 to be mailed. Also available are Maureen Lee books, "Abstracts from the Paper" taken between 1876 and 1899. Cost for this book is $30 if picked up or $32 to have the book sent.

Anyone interested in learning more about the Genealogical Society or wishing to come to a meeting is asked to contact Nancy Sutton, President at 375-1684 or by email, moonshin@bloomnet.com

Meetings are held the third Thursday of each month, usually at Our Savior Lutheran Church,

Nominations are sought

Employee of the Quarter nominations are now being accepted at Providence Medical Center Human Resources Department.

Members of the community are encouraged to submit their nominations to the Human Resources Department at PMC by Tuesday, Sept. 10.

Patients, staff and community members now have an opportunity to nominate a PMC employee for this honor.

Last quarter's recipient was Ed Simpson, Chief of Operations Officer, an 18-year employee of the hospital.

Nomination forms contain specific criteria for nomination and may be picked up at the Providence Medical Center Business Office.

For more information, contact the Human Resources Department at PMC at (402) 375-3800.

Enjoying the atmosphere

Area residents were on hand last week during the grand re-opening of Carhart Lumber Company. The event was an opportunity for the business to showcase a number of new products, the new layout of the store and a new attitude throughout the facility. Those attending were able to enjoy sandwiches, chips and pop and register for a number of prizes that were given away.

Thompson is All-American Scholar

Brittany Thompson of Laurel has been named an All-American Scholar by the United States Achievement Academy.

The USAA has established the All-American Scholar Award Program to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in the academic disciplines. The All-American Scholars must earn a 3.3 or higher grade point average.

Brittany attends Laurel-Concord High School. Her name will appear in the All-American Scholar Yearbook, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly, winners of the All-American Scholar Awards should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

Brittany is the daughter of Doug and Lisa Thompson of Laurel. Her grandparents are Harold and Joyce Thompson of Laurel and Kenneth and Mary Hansen of Allen.

Black & Gold season begins

Wayne State College announces the 2002-03 Black and Gold fine arts performance series, featuring four events that have been assembled to appeal to audiences of diverse interests and tastes.

Performances include "Behind the Broken Words" on Monday, Sept. 23 in Ley Theatre; "Dusk to Dawn" on Tuesday, Nov. 26 in Ley Theatre; "The Second Hand" on Wednesday, Jan. 29 in Ramsey Theatre; and the finale performance with violinist Eric Grossman and pianist Michele Grossman on Monday, April 7 in Ramsey Theatre. Each event will take place on campus at 8 p.m.

The Black and Gold season will open with "Behind the Broken Words" performed by Emmy Award-winning actors Roscoe Lee Browne and Anthony Zerbe.

Browne and Zerbe have been praised by The New York Times as "two-part harmony" in this delightful performance of poetry and drama. Since its reprise in 1996, the production has played in over 100 venues throughout the United States.

The series will continue with sitar virtuoso Partha Bose and tabla performer Gourisankar in a performance entitled "Dusk to Dawn." Performing music from India on authentic instruments, Partha Bose and Gourisankar will provide an evening of Classical music from another culture.

Celebrated sitar performer Partha Bose has performed throughout America as well as in Canada, Germany, France, Belgium, Germany Luxembourg, Austria, Holland, Madagascar and Balgadesh. He was honored by the Government of India when he was selected to lead a cultural delegation to African countries on the historic occasion of the Golden Jubilee Celebrations of India's Independence.

Gourisankar is acknowledged as a leading tabla-player of his generation in India, and for more than a decade has earned critical acclaim throughout the U.S., the United Kingdom, Europe and Africa.

The third performance of the season will feature "The Second Hand" in an evening of dance, acrobatics, comedy, and audience participation.

Winner of the Critics' Choice Award at the Edinburgh (Scotland) Festival, this show has entertained audiences at festivals in Ireland, Jerusalem, France, Korea, Germany, and at New York City's Lincoln Center. A portion of this performance has appeared on The Late Show with David Letterman, and on television broadcasts in Spain, Japan, England, Belgium, and other television shows worldwide.

Closing the 2002-03 season will be a musical performance by violinist Eric Grossman and pianist Michele Grossman. A Norfolk native, Eric Grossman is a graduate of The Juilliard School, where he studied with Dorothy DeLay, and has been praised in The New York Times for his "superb performance" as a "fiercely brilliant soloist." He has appeared with Zubin Mehta at Avery Fisher Hall and in additional venues throughout the world, and his 2001-02 season was highlighted by concerts in Havana, Cuba, including a performance with the Orquesta Sinfónica Nacional that was broadcast live throughout Cuba and Miami.

Other recent engagements include his fifth concert tour of Korea, his European recital debut at the Arco Festival in France and a performance of the Tchaikovsky Violin Concerto with the Lima Symphony that was hailed by The Lima News as "astounding."

Seating capacity is limited, and tickets are required for performances. General admission tickets cost $5 and can be purchased in advance or at the door one hour before each performance. Tickets are available in the Wayne State business office in the Hahn Administration Building or by calling 402-375-7517.

Sitar virtuoso Partha Bose will appear at Wayne State College during a performance titled, "Dusk to Dawn" on Tuesday Nov. 26 in Ley Theatre at 8 p.m. during the second featured performance of the Black and Gold Season.

RC&D meeting is held

Bob Lingenfelter, President conducted the August RC & D council meeting. The speaker was unable to attend so the group proceeded with the regular order of business.

Janet Eckmann provided the Corps of Discovery Welcome Center report. Educational activities, IMAX motorcoach tours and visitations are going well there. The Highway 14 Tourism Promotion group is co-chaired by Doug & Darla Russell of Broken Arrow Wilderness in Fullerton. Steering committee members represent communities along the corridor and the next meeting is September 25th.

The Council officially approved the elderhostel project, proposals have been submitted and are under consideration. Approval was given to the Santee Cultural Center/ Corps of Discovery Welcome Center project that links those facilities in providing information to the public. Ag related projects accepted were St. James Marketplace and Main Bow Farms.

Sandy Patton, AmeriCorps member reported that the scrap tire collection brought in 58 tons of tires. Interest was high and if grant dollars are available another collection will be considered. Used oil collection and reuse is being well received in the counties and the project will officially conclude Dec. 31, 2002. Donna Christiansen asked for assistance to select a local stream and volunteers for the monitoring project. Volunteers are also needed for a household hazardous waste collection Oct. 4th in Niobrara.

State association meeting attendance, award nominations, and the annual meeting were discussed. The RC&D Council will host the Oct. 15th USDA Farm Bill meeting in Norfolk.

Announcements covered Congressman Osborne's meeting in Columbus August 29th, Green Space and Community Enhancement Program landscape and grant training in Pierce Sept. 18th, Lewis & Clark Autumn Outings space available for Saturday, Sept. 21st and Nebraska Tourism planning meeting Oct. 3 in Norfolk.

Contact the RC&D office at 582-4866 for more information on any of these activities.

Canned fruits, vegetables can make the taste of summer last year-round

Canned fruits and vegetables can make the taste of summer last year-round. Ensure food safety and quality with good harvest, canning and storage practices.

The best time to can fresh fruits and vegetables at peak quality is six to 12 hours after harvest. Only pick or buy the amount for fruits and vegetables that can be preserved in one day.

Proper canning procedures are critical to safety. Pressure canning is the only recommended method of canning low-acid, such as vegetables, which must be processed at the correct time and pressure to destroy Clostridium botulinum, a bacterium that can exist as spores or vegetative cells. Spores can survive in soil and water for many years and can produce vegetative cells which multiply and produce a deadly toxin within three to four days. Boiling food 10 minutes at altitudes below 1,000 feet destroys the toxin. Add one minute to boiling time for every additional 1,000 feet.

Water boils at lower temperatures at higher elevations, thus taking longer to cook foods. As pressure increases, the boiling temperature of water also increases. So, to safely can foods, use more pressure as altitude increases. So, to safely can foods, use more pressure as altitude increases. Lengthen processing time for boiling-water canning methods above sea level for fruits.

The recommended pressures for dial-gauge canners are 11 pounds of pressure for altitudes up to 2,000 feet, 12 pounds for 2,001 to 4,000 feet and 13 pounds for 4,001 to 6,000 feet. For weighted-gauge canners, recommended pressures are 10 pounds for altitudes up to 1,000 feet and 15 pounds of pressure for altitudes above 1,000 feet. Canning vegetables with salt adds seasoning, but is not necessary for safety. Add 1/2 teaspoon of canning salt to pint jars and one teaspoon of canning salt to quart jars. Do not use salt substitutes.

Fruit can be canned with sugar or syrup to help retain flavor, color and shape. However, sugar and syrup will not prevent spoilage. Boil water and sugar and pour over raw fruits in jars. For hot packs, boil water and sugar, add fruit, boil and fill jars immediately. Other sweeteners such as light corn syrups or mild-flavored honey may be used to replace up to half the sugar required.

To can without sugar or syrup, use water or regular unsweetened fruit juices. Juice from the fruit being canned is best, but blends of unsweetened apple, pineapple and white grape juice are good syrup replacements. However, color, flavor and textures may be different than for fruit canned with sugar or syrup.

Some fruits such as apples, apricots, nectarines, peaches and pears will turn an undesirable color during preparation. To maintain natural colors, place prepared pieces of fruit in water containing ascorbic acid, which can be obtained in pure form, as vitamin C tablets or as commercially prepared mixes. Add one teaspoon pure ascorbic acid or six crushed 500-milligram vitamin C tablets to one gallon of cold water. Once fruits and vegetables have been canned, it's important to consider storage requirements to maintain food quality and safety. When properly sterilized, canned food will not spoil if lids are properly sealed and jars are stored below 95 degrees.

For more information on canning fruits and vegetables, consult NU Cooperative Extension publications EC 90-434, Let's Preserve: Canning Basics; EC90-435, Let's Preserve: Vegetables and Vegetable Products; and EC90-436, Let's Preserve: Fruit and Fruit Products, available at local extension offices and on the Web at www.ianr.unl.edu/pubs/foods/under "Preservation."

Eagles Club coordinating

Bike-a-thon to be held

The "Wheels for Life" Bike-A-Thon will be held on Sept. 13 at 5 p.m. as announced by St. Jude Children's Research Hospital.

Coordinating this year's event is the Wayne Eagles Club who encourage all residents and businesses to support this community effort.

The increase in the overall survival rate of children with cancer from 30 percent to 70 percent has been made possible through research. The funds from events like the Wayne Bike-a-Thon make that research possible.

The citizens of Wayne work hand-in-hand with the researchers, technicians and doctors at St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital to provide treatments and cures for children of catastrophic diseases. Due to the overwhelming importance of the research conducted at the hospital, St. Jude freely shares its new treatments and research findings with doctors and hospitals around the world including those in Nebraska.

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital in Memphis, Tenn. was founded by the late entertainer Danny Thomas. The hospital is an internationally recognized biomedical research center dedicated to finding cures for catastrophic diseases of childhood.

This year's event will be held at the Wayne High School North Parking Lot. Due to the small space, an obstacle course will be provided.

Following the event supper will be furnished for riders and parents.

Contact Jan Gamble (375-2417) or Cec Vandernick (375-4603) for pledge sheets or information.

Couple exchange wedding vows at Omaha church on June 14

Alecia Susan Hollman of Omaha and Justin Jay Lovegrove of Geneva exchanged vows June 14, 2002 at Rockbrook United Methodist Church in Omaha.

Pastor Tyler Schenzel performed the 6 p.m. double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Rick and Susan Hollman of Omaha and John and Patrice Lovegrove of Fairmont. Grandparents are Edmond and Laverne Heithold, Dwane and Doris Hollman, Robert Dean and Shirley Lovegrove and Wayne and Loryne Moore.

Carol Daasch provided organ music and Curtis Pelster played the trumpet. Vocalist was Nicole Carpenter, friend of the bride. Musical selections include "All I Ask of You," "I Will Be Here" and "Shout to the Lord."

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a one piece, strapless gown in diamond white with silver accents. Swarovski crystals and beadwork in a floral bouquet design enhanced the bodice and side panel of the gown. A lace up back and side wrap gave an elegant finish to the matte satin gown.

Her headpiece was a tiara crown accented with rhinestones. The multi-layer veil was cathedral length.

Maid of honor was Christina Hollman, sister of the bride.

Bridesmaids were Heidi Hinz, friend of the couple, Lisa Finkner, sister of the groom, Angela Boehmke, Sara Schmidt and Krissy Lee, friends of the bride.

The women wore satin strapless gowns in orchid. The two-piece gowns had an asymmetrical overlay on the fully beaded bodice. An A-line skirt finished the garment.

The bride's personal attendants were Melissa Rogers and Jennifer Greve, both cousins of the bride.

Kaitlyn Pfannenstiel, cousin of the bride was flower girl. Jesse Heithold, cousin of the bride, served as ring bearer.

Candlelighters were Ashley Lovegrove and Lindsey Moore, cousins of the groom.

The Best Man was Nate Benson, friend of the groom. Serving as groomsmen were Scott Rickert, friend of the groom, John Finkner, brother-in-law of the groom, Drew Jensen, friend of the groom and Nate Hollman, brother of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyegrove

Ushers were Tim Peterson and Brian Bertsch, friends of the groom and Brandon Lovegrove, cousin of the groom.

The groom wore a black Brentwood taitcoat with black pants and ivory wing tip shirt. He wore a black candlelight vest and black satin tie.

The groomsmen and ushers wore black Brentwood coats, black pants, ivory shirts and silver candlelight vests with black Saint Regis ties.

Attending the guest book was Maggie Heithold and Megan Jensen, cousins of the bride. Heidi Ricenbaw and Heather Kimble, cousins of the groom, handed out the programs. Michael, Jonathan and Stacia Howell, cousins of the bride, attended to the bubbles.

Vicki Lovegrove, aunt of the groom, served as wedding coordinator.

The reception, dinner and dance were held at the D.C. Centre in Omaha. Rodney and Lorie Haglund, uncle and aunt of the bride and Jim and Paula Lovegrove, uncle and aunt of the groom, were hosts and hostesses.

The bride is a 2000 graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University with a bachelor's degree in biology. She is currently a third year medical student at the University of Nebraska Medical Center.

The groom graduated from Nebraska Wesleyan University with a bachelor's degree in business administration. He is currently farming with his family in Geneva.

The couple honeymooned in St. Lucia, are currently residing in Geneva and will be moving to Omaha in late October.

Hoskins News

Hildegard Fenske
402-565-4577

RELATIVES VISIT

Cheryl Curley, daughter of Katie Fletcher, and her daughters Alia and Dierdre of Alturas, Calif. arrived in Hoskins on Aug. 6 to visit Bob and Katie Fletcher. There was a surprise birthday party/family reunion for Katie's birthday on Aug. 11 at Stu's Bar and Grill. Fifty three were in attendance. The Curleys returned to California on Aug. 13.

PULS REUNION

The Puls reunion was held on Aug. 4 at Peace United Church of Christ, rural Norfolk. Clara Miller of Sioux City, Iowa was the oldest in attendance and Dylan Puls, son of Russell and Traci Puls, was the youngest. Jerry Bauermeister was president for this year's reunion.

ATTEND PARTY

Bill and Hildegard Fenske were among guests at Westy Grace's 5th birthday party at Sortino's in Omaha. Westy is the Fenske's great-granddaughter.

BRIESE-HENSELEIT REUNION

The Briese-Henseleit reunion was held on Aug. 18 in St. John's Lutheran Church Fellowship Hall in Battle Creek.

After dinner, Pastor Irvin Briese from Lincoln spoke about the 2001 trip he and his wife took to Germany where he found information about great grandfather Briese and visited the town from which he and his family emigrated in 1874 to come to the United States. McCloda Maas also did some reminiscing with the group.

Co-hosts this year were Ardith Borgelt and Pete and Normajeon Wilber. Those attending from Hoskins were Charles and McCloda Maas and Bill and Hildegard Fenske.

GARDEN CLUB MEETS

The Hoskins Garden Club met at the home of Lorraine Wesley on Aug. 22. All seven members were present.

President Shirley Mann opened the meeting with the poem "Friendship." Then she read the article "Our Heritage," following with the pledge to the flag. Christine Lueker selected the poem "Are You Home-Grown?" to read. Roll call was answered by naming a bird that starts with your initial.

Secretary Esther Rechtermann read the minutes from the previous meetings and tours. They were approved. She also read the correspondence. The group discussed what LaVitsef events they would like to take in as a group. It will take place in Norfolk from Sept. 27 to 28. Hildegard Fenske had the lesson. She chose the following articles to share: "Hundreds Flock to See and Smell the Rare Corpse Flower in California," "Tips on Planting Tulips," and "The Gift of Trees 2002."

A dessert luncheon was served. The members enjoyed seeing Lorraine's flowers in her yard.

The watchword for August was: "When someone hurts your feelings, it's unimportant unless you persist in remembering it."

SENIOR CITIZENS MEET

Hoskins Senior Citizens met at the community center on the afternoon of Aug. 20. Winners at pitch-playing were Vera Brogie, Mary Jochens, and Lucille Krause. A cooperative lunch was enjoyed. The next get-together will be on Sept. 3.

COMMUNITY CALENDAR

Tuesday, Sept. 3: Hoskins seniors meet at the community center, 1:30 p.m.

Thursday, Sept. 5: Dorcas Society of Peace United Church of Christ meets, 1:30 p.m.; Zion Lutheran Ladies Aid meets, 1:30 p.m.

P.P.S. - See page 4 for more news.

4-H Cyber fair impresses Nebraska state fair-goers

Pushing 4-H into its next 100 years, the Nebraska 4-H Cyber Fair at the 2002 Nebraska State Fair is showing visitors just what the power of youth and technology can do.

In its second year, the Cyber Fair greets visitors with 30 state-of-the-art computers equipped with high-speed Internet access which allow visitors to learn about Nebraska 4-H and technology.

Once logged on, visitors have access to more than 70 state, national and educational Web sites on subjects from animals and crop production to the environment and science. The Cyber Fair runs from 10 a.m.-9 p.m. in the Morton Building.

"People are pleasantly surprised" by the exhibit, said Patricia Fairchild, University of Nebraska 4-H Youth Development curriculum specialist.

Visitor Hallie Miles of Dallas, Texas, does tech support for a living and found the Cyber Fair "really impressive."

"I am glad they want to show people what it's all about," she said. "I am glad we're pushing forward."

"It's pretty neat and it's free," said Will Hutchinson, 14, of Lincoln. He said he also attended last year's Cyber Fair and wanted to come back this year because of the good computers, graphics and games.

Thien, Kiev, 15, of Lincoln agreed. "This is pretty cool and something to do," he said.

Teachers planning a field trip to the Nebraska State Fair can schedule half-hour blocks of time at <http://4h.unl.edu/cyberfair/> and be part of "Nebraska's Largest Classroom" from 9 a.m.-1:30 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Fairchild said.

Groups of any age can work on the computers and learn from hands-on demonstrations. Also, several new curricula are featured at this year's Cyber Fair: Nebraska Educational Television Network Web sites, Spanish-language curriculum and Web sites and interactive demonstrations of mechanical and digital technology.

And this isn't a one-time event, Fairchild said. The 2002 Cyber Fair will be available online sometime in September at <http://4h.unl.edu/cyberfair/>.

For more information visit 4h.unl.edu. For more information about the Nebraska State Fair and a complete schedule of events, visit <http://www.statefair.org/>.

Calcium Supplements May Not Strengthen Nails

Calcium supplements help fight osteoporosis, and many physicians recommend calcium to be taken by women throughout adult life. Nails contain some calcium - about 1/800 as much as bones - and some persons assume that taking calcium supplements will cause the nails to become stronger or less brittle. However calcium supplements do not appear to benefit nail quality.

According to a report in New England Journal of Medicine, researchers in New Zealand asked 683 women if their nails had become stronger or more brittle during the past year. Some of the women had been taking calcium supplements, and some had been taking a look-alike placebo. About 60% of the women in each group said that there had been no change; 29% indicated that there had been an improvement, regardless of whether or not they were taking the calcium supplement.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Brady Hahn would like to thank relatives, neighbors & friends for their sympathy shown to us at the loss of our loved one, for cards, phone calls, prayers, plants, flowers, memorials, food bought to our homes and church hall. Special thanks to Father McCuskey for a beautiful service, and the ladies of St. Mary's Parish of Wayne for preparing and serving the lunch. Also thanks to Scott and the entire staff at Schumacher-Hasemann Funeral Home for all the assistance and caring respect they gave us. Our memories and love for Brady will last forever. God bless all.

Brady's Family

I WISH to express my sincere thanks to all who helped me celebrate my 100th birthday. The cards, flowers, gifts and visits helped make it a special day. Thank you to Pastor Kevin and Pastor Bill for their visits. God Bless you all. Christena Grimm
