Flags flying for freedom

The Board of Directors of the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce made a decision on March 12 to proceed with the plan to display American flags throughout the community on specific patriotic holidays in 2003.

In the event that America might be propelled into a conflict scenario in Iraq, it was further decided that American flags would be displayed in support of the troops in that region at the time that a conflict might begin.

"The American flag is a symbol of freedom recognized around the world. American troops conducting a military operation in defense of our national security and in the cause of freedom anywhere in the world is reason enough to show support for the men and women engaged in that operation," stated Jack Hausmann, Chamber Board of Directors Chair.

Also, the Chamber plans to acquire and display Welcome to Wayne flags on other days when major events are underway in the community. Further, the board decided to endorse the Flag Committee's plans for conducting a community-wide fundraising effort for the Welcome to Wayne flags.

Quiz Bowl team attends competition

By Lynn Sievers Of the Herald

Returning Sunday from Regional competition in Savannah, Mo., were Wayne High Quiz Bowl team members Britni Bethune, captain, Brady Garvin, Elysia Mann, Charity Kroeker, Sara Stauffer and their coach Richard Metteer.

Competing against 16 teams in their division, the local team finished ranking eighth in the competition. Teams were from high schools in Missouri, South Dakota, Iowa and Nebraska.

Leaving Friday afternoon, the group first traveled to Omaha to the Old Market and then to St. Joseph. Mo. to spend the night, Saturday morning they went to Savannah High School where the competition was held until the afternoon.

In every quiz bowl competition, there are four rounds with 20 questions in the first round, each worth 10 points; 10 questions worth 10 points each in the second round; five toss up questions worth 10 points each in the third round; and 20 toss up questions worth 20 points each in the fourth round.

Drawing their competing team's name from a hat, Wayne High ended up going against Wisner-Pilger High School who they defeated 230-140 points in the Budget cuts could hurt University

By Ed Howard Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

The University of Nebraska is a nice place to visit, but would you want your kid to go there? That's the question that NU leaders are raising in the face of the budget reductions the university is getting ready to implement. There is an old saying in academia about getting rid of a university's tenured faculty: "Dynamite won't do it."

That which dynamite cannot do. a lousy economy can do. Chancellor Harvey Pearlman, honcho at the Lincoln campus, says tenured heads could get crushed in the cash register drawer if the picture does. n't improve, Canning tenured faculty is one of the things that really can hurt a university in the long term. So can inflated tuition costs.

NU's most vocal supporters, on its campuses, in the media and among the alums, are making impassioned pleas. They are arguing and hoping for something . even higher taxes - to save the budget from hardcore reductions.

The reality is that this isn't like previous budget years in which the state faced tough times. This year is among the toughest of times.

A week ago someone asked me why the state's newspapers seem to report so much on the budget fight this year. Sen. Chris Beutler of Lincoln put it very well during a recent debate. He said the Unicameral is up against "the largest (budget) crises we have had in the lifetime of anyone in this

The thing is, lots of businesses and individuals are up against the worst personal budget crises of their lifetimes, too. And war still looms, along with growing federal budget deficits that are beyond the scope of most folks' imaginations.

How much can rural Nebraskans worry about the university when they are confronted with problems very much closer to home? How much can wage earners be expected to think about the professional future of a PhD, when they are wondering if the job market might be better in Mississippi?

Beutler's comment came as he fought a proposal that would have the public pay 90 percent of costs for regulating livestock waste lagoons. Beutler said the plan was outrageous, and that the tab should be picked up by the agricultural sector, one way or another.

That argument brought predictable howls from some lawmakers who hail from country where bovine excreta ain't a joke - it's a by product. That's how tough it is right now. Policymakers are ready to go to war over who should pay to keep track of how manure is maintained.

Whew!

Legislative update presented

The Legislature last week debat ed a bill that attempts to give a financial boost to University of Nebraska-Lincoln football players LB 688, introduced by Sen. Ernie Chambers of Omaha, would allow the university the discretion to pay party which included green beer, Leprechaun fizzes and stipends to football players. The bill was given first-round approval March 11 on a vote of 26-0.

The bill was amended to allow all UNL athletes, not just football players, to get stipends. The bill also was amended to give the university the option of reducing practice hours instead of paying stipends.

The bill would only become operative if four other states with universities in the Big 12 Conference pass similar laws. The bill is a symbolic gesture because it is doubtful UNL will ever make use of its pro-

Sen. Chambers' goal is to pressure the NCAA to start giving football players more financial aid. College football generates millions of dollars, but football players do not get enough financial support to cover their living costs, according to Sen. Chambers.

I support the bill because of the motives behind the measure, mainly to get a message to the NCAA that it needs to take an in-depth look at how athletes are treated. I personally don't think that we should pay athletes to play, which might take away their amateur standing.

The bill must undergo two more rounds of legislative consideration, Gov. Mike Johanns says he supports the measure. Another bill of interest that was debated was LB 209, which would streamline the administrative process by the Department of Motor Vehicles of revoking drivers' licenses for suspected drunk driving, reckless driving or other offenses,

As the bill was originally written, drivers would not be allowed to keep their licenses during an appeal process unless granted permission by a district court.

Sen. Chambers opposed this provision, saying a driver arrested for drunk driving should not be punished until the court system makes. a determination. He offered an amendment that would allow drivers to keep their licenses until the court considering the appeal has ruled on the matter, thus leaving the law unchanged in this regard.

On March 17, we voted to adopt the Chambers amendment for the purpose of later discussion. The bill was then given first-round priority bill.

approval on a vote of 38-0. Last week I selected LB 17 as my priority bill for the 2003 session. The bill, introduced by Sen. Kermit Brashear Omaha, would provide protection from sexual abuse for people in the care of the state Health and Human Services System.

The bill would make it a felony criminal offense for an employee or agent of the system to participate in sexual activity with a person in the system's care, even if the activity is consensual.

There has been abuse in our facilities. Workers who abuse their authority should face serious consequences, and we need to take strong steps to protect vulnerable individuals. For these reasons, I'm pleased to be able to make this my

Each senator is allowed to give priority status to one bill, a procedure that improves the chances that the bill will be debated by the Legislature.

On the budget front, the Appropriations Committee, on which I serve, has been holding hearings with the state agencies on their budgets. The budget situation remains dire.

If there is anything I can do for you, please do not hesitate to contact me at my Lincoln office: Sen. Pat Engel, District 17, State Capitol, P.O. Box 94604, Lincoln,

The Wisner Care Center in Wisner, has recently received, for the fourth consecutive year, a deficiency free survey from the Nebraska State Department of Health and Human Services. Wisner Care Center is a 38 bed skilled nursing facility with a 16 bed adjoring Assisted Living Unit. The Department of Health and Human Services on an annual basis surveys every nursing facility in Nebraska. In March 2002, staff from WCC received a grant from the Alzheimer's Association to attend a workshop in Bethany, Mo.

The workshop was given by Eric Haider, founder of the Person Centered Care Model/Ideal Nursing Home project which has been supported by the Centers for Medicare Services and the Alzheimer's Association alike

The Quality of Life Initiative focuses on empowering residents in nursing facilities to make their own choices regarding all aspects of daily living.

The four main components of the Ideal Nursing Home project include: team approach nusing care, buffet meals, individualized room decorating and a dramatic increase in resident chosen activities. Wisner Care Center is the only facility in Nebraska that has successfully implemented all four concepts and received a deficiency free state survey.

Wayne bank robbers plead guilty before trial starts

Two men charged with last November's robbery of the State National Bank drive-in location in Wayne have pleaded guilty in a plea bargain agreement.

Pierce County Attorney Verlyn Luebbe, special prosecutor in the case, said that 19-year-old Delante Delano of Omaha and 18-year-old Jasper Falkner of Lincoln reached a plea bargain last week in a pre trial conference in Wayne County District Court.

The two men were scheduled to appear for trial starting Monday. March 24, after pleading not guilty in Wayne County District Court. They were accused of robbing the State National Bank drive-in location at 10th and Main shortly before closing time on Nov. 22, 2002. Delano and Falkner were arrested four days later at a motel in Fremont.

As part of the plea bargain, Luebbe said the state will recommend a sentence of six to 10 years in prison. Both men face a robbery charge, a Class II felony, which carries a minimum of one year and a maximum of 50 years in prison. Delano had also faced a charge of use of a weapon to commit a felony, also a Class II felony. But the charge was dropped as part of the plea agreement.

Luebbe said his job in this case was made easier thanks to the Blue Devils end season with school record 24-2 mark

Wayne pushes Wahoo Neumann in C-1 semi-finals

by Mike Grosz Of the Herald

The Wayne boys basketball team proved last weekend in Lincoln why it has been one of the top Class C-1 programs in the state over the past two seasons.

The Blue Devils fended off Pierce, for a fourth time in five weeks, in Thursday's first round game Pershing Auditorium, then gaye defending state champion Wahoo Neumann its toughest challenge at state in Friday's semi-final at the Devaney Sports Center without senior point guard Ric Volk, who suffered a torn ACL in the fourth quarter of Thursday's game with Pierce.

Wayne finished the season with a 24-2 mark, a school record for wins in a season, and a second consecutive appearance in the Class C-1 semi finals. Only Wahoo Neumann, back-to-back state champions, can say they accomplished more in the last two seasons than the Blue Devils.

"It was a history making season," said head coach Rocky Ruhl. "We took everybody's best shot and won alot of close games."

He added that this group defined the word team.

"Every player knew their roles on this team. Alot of people didn't think they could accomplish what they did."

Wayne started the state tournament with a familiar foe, the Pierce Bluejays, It was the fourth time the two teams would meet this season with Wayne winning son, Wayne would find a way to come back in the fourth quarter and escape with a first round win.

"Their defense was alot tougher this time," stated Ruhl. 'They weren't going to let us do what we wanted to do, so we had to make some adjustments and spread the floor more on offense."

The two teams battled back and forth in the first quarter, exchanging several ties and lead changes before settling for a 12-12 tie. The same would take place in the second quarter, but a 6-0 run by Pierce to end the half would put the Bluejays up 26-23 at halftime.

Pierce would build a five point lead twice in the third quarter, but baskets by Travis Luhr and Brady Heithold to end the quarter would cut the Bluejay lead down to one after three quarters, 36-35.

Neither team would hold more than a three point cushion in the fourth quarter. With Wayne leading 53-51 with 20 seconds left, Pierce had the ball and a chance to tie the game. A Ryan Schmeits steal, and subsequent foul, would send him to the line with 8.7 seconds left. The senior canned both free throws allowing Wayne to hang on for the 55-51 win.

"When we got behind I was concerned," Ruhl commented, "because we didn't respond well in Thursday's meeting at Pershing same situation. But the guys stepped up like they have all season and came away with a win."

Jon Ehrhardt led three double figure scorers for Wayne with 12 But as in most games this sea- points. Travis Luhr and Brady Heithold followed with 10 points each. Andy Martin added seven, Ric Volk six while Ryan Schmeits and Bryan Fink finished with five points each.

> Wayne hit 17 of 41 shots in the game (41.5 percent) compared to Pierce's 15 of 37 for 40.5 percent. The Blue Devils made 21 of 28 free throws, including 14 of 19 in the fourth quarter, while Pierce connected on 17 of 24 charity tosses.

The Blue Devils won the rebounding battle 23-18. Schmeits and Martin pulled down six boards each for Wayne. Schmeits also handed out a team-high nine assists in the win.

In Friday's semi-final against Wahoo Neumann, the Blue Devils got off to a slow start, Wayne struggled with the Cavaliers' full-court press early and trailed 10-2. But Wayne came back and took a 14-13 lead after one quarter.

"To come out of that quarter with a lead was a miracle," said Ruhl. 'The way we started, we could've quit right away but did-

The two teams would trade leads in the second quarter with Neumann holding a 26-25 halftime lead.

But the Cavaliers would come out firing in the third quarter, outscoring Wayne 17-5 to take a 43-30 lead entering the fourth

Wayne would put together a big run in the fourth quarter to make it a close game again. Thanks to 11 points in the quarter from Bryan Fink and 10 more from Jon Ehrhardt, the Blue Devils would get as close as three, 53-50, with 3:58 left. But Wahoo Neumann would score four quick points in less than 15 seconds to go back up by seven and regain momentum and hang on for a 67-57 win.

"I wish I had the last four minutes of the game back," said Ruhl. "We had them on the line." He added," Our guys scored 27 points in the last quarter on a great team."

Sophomore Bryan Fink, starting in place of injured guard Ric Volk, led Wayne in scoring with 19 points. Jon Ehrhardt added 11 and Ryan Schmeits followed with

"Ryan Schmeits did a great job of handling their pressure," said Ruhl. "He had to do alot of things on his own."

Andy Martin followed with nine points and Travis Luhr finished with eight.

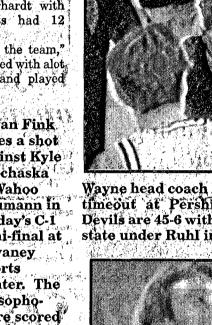

Wayne shot 44.7 percent in the game, hitting 21 of 47 shots. Wahoo Neumann made 51 percent on 23 of 45. From the foul line, Wayne was 10 of 15 with Neumann hitting 18 of 25.

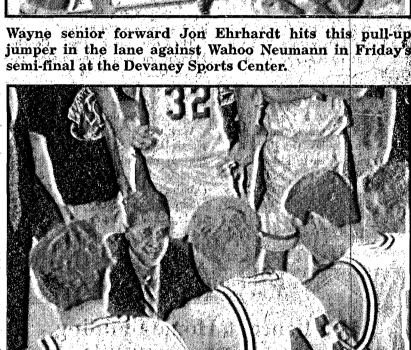

Wahoo Neumann held a 23-16 ebounding advantage over Wayne. Luhr hauled in five caroms, followed by Ehrhardt with four. Ryan Schmeits had 12 assists in the game.

"I'm really proud of the team," added Ruhl, "They played with alot of heart, never quit and played until the final buzzer,"

About Fatigue & Drowsiness

There are many reasons why people get drowsy and sometimes suffer from bouts of fatigue. Pushing a deadline or studying for an exam is just one of many potential causes. Anytime the body experiences an infection it draws on various energy stores to fuel itself. In such cases the immune system may require extra energy which can leave a person feeling fatigued. Some medicines cause drowsiness as a side effect. Poor nutrition and dehydration are common causes of weakness and tiredness. Other health problems could be the Self correction of known causes of fatigue, such as staying up late or working extra hours, is a suggested first step. moderate amounts of caffeine from coffee or tea or from over-the-counter products such as No-Doz or Vivarin may improve concentration and increase energy. However, when contemplating the use of nonprescription stimulants, consult with a physician first to make sure there are no underlying medical problems that need to be addressed.

"You Can Tell They Really Care About Their Patients."

"I had extremely poor vision before I had LASIK surgery. I was having a lot of problems with contacts in general. I am fairly active so I didn't want to wear glasses. Both Dr. Feidlers offered me a lot of information, details, and were very specific about LASIK

I knew exactly what to expect; and was convinced I wanted

LASIK. I wasn't nervous of worried at all, there were no surprises. The procedure was actually very easy, no discomfort and very quick. It only took a few minutes and the next day I had 20/20 vision! I had always needed glasses or contacts to see before. There is so much freedom not having to worry about glasses or contacts!" Charissa Kinney

Hot sheets are wanted

The Nebraska Division of Travel & Tourism sponsors the Nebraska Vacation Guide Program each year. Trained Vacation Guides are stationed at visitor centers across I-80 to influence unplanned stops to Nebraska communities.

While the staff is quite knowledgeable about the state, they often need current information on. what is going on in the state. That's where the Hot Sheet comes

Any Nebraska business, community, event planner or facility, who cater to the traveling public, can submit a one-page (can be back-to-back) Hot Sheets on current activities, special events, traveling exhibits etc. for the 2003 summer and fall months.

K Star Technologies

These Hot Sheets will be placed in a notebook for each visitor center to be used as a reference for the staff. Last year the Hot Sheet notebook for used on a daily basis for reference only - they are not distributed. It's an inexpensive way of reaching the public.

If you are interested in having a Hot Sheet available to the visitor center staff, please send 15 copies (three-hole punched) by May 6th to: Todd Kirshenbaum, Nebraska Tourism-Central Office, 1306 W 3rd #127, Grand Island NE 68802

The Health Benefits of Coenzyme Q-10

A supplement called Coenzyme Q-10 is described as vitamin-like substance produced naturally in small amounts by the body. It also can be found in meats and seafood.

Several disease states have been described as having low levels of coenzyme Q-10. This has led to studies which could hall means and seafood. help us better understand this naturally occurring compound and the possible value of supplementation. For example, a recent study in persons with Parkinson's disease found that those who got coenzyme Q-10 faired better than did those on dummy (placebo) pills. It has been suggested that coenzyme Q-10 also may be effective in congestive heart disease, angina, and asthma. Finally, researchers have found that coenzyme Q-10 could be beneficial to persons who have high blood pressure.

Future research may show that supplementation with coenzyme Q-10 might allow for a reduction in the number and/or size of treatment industry focused on improving the aesthetic characteristics or nuisance concerns of household water. Treatment generally was limited to removing particulate matter or hardness minerals, correcting staining, odor or taste problems, and occasionally disinfecting water sys-

Reports of water contamination have raised consumer awareness and concern about the safety of all water sources, both public and private. Manufacturers and dealers of home water treatment equipment are responding to the perception of unsafe water. An increasing number of manufacturers offer an ever-expanding array of products that promise to make water safe, or "pure." The consumer is left to sift through the claims and supporting data when selecting treatment methods and products.

Public water suppliers, such as cities, villages or rural water districts, must meet federal and state sale drinking water criteria, and must notify consumers if a ; seek appropriate tests. It is wise contaminant affecting health is to confine tests to contaminants found to exceed the standard. In some cases, the supplier may be those found locally, or other contarequired to provide an alternate minants you believe may be in the water supply to a light to the Private water supplies, on the other hand, are not regulated or tested. Individuals with private wells are responsible for protecting the water supply from contamination, testing to be sure of its safety, and selecting treatment when needed.

What should treatment equipment remove from water?

There is no single device or method that removes everything or solves every water problem, regardless of the claims. In any case, it is generally not necessary to remove everything.

used in the vicinity of the supply, water, The Nebraska Department of Health's Division of Drinking Water and Environmental Sanitation can provide advice on what tests might be desirable in a given situation.

Public water supplies are tested regularly, and test results should be available from the supplier. These tests are excellent sources of information because they are repeated regularly. For private water supplies, the owner or user is responsible for water testing. Owners are advised to verify all tests used for selecting and sizing equipment by having a second test What water tests should be from another qualified laboratory one to evaluate the need for Selecting a laboratory certified for reatment? Does this water quality problem require whole house or only singletap treatment?

Most nuisance problems such as iron, manganese, hardness, pH, odor, suggest whole house or pointof-entry solutions. Some contaminants that affect health, such as nitrate and lead, are a concern only for water used for drinking or cooking, so point-of-use equipment at a separate tap that treats a few gallons daily is adequate.

Other contaminants such as bacteria and some organic contaminants will require point-of-entry equipment to prevent exposure during bathing or other water uses.

What is involved in operating and maintaining treatment equip-

Virtually all water treatment equipment requires maintenance and service. The more treatment equipment you have, the greater the responsibility. In recent years, manufacturers have been offering more automated and self-monitoring features to help the busy owner with the responsibility of operating and maintaining the equipment. Unless you are unusually dedicated, the automated and self-monitoring features or dealer's service agreement are recommended to ensure good operation. Many systems require periodic cleaning or replacement of components,

The purchase of water treatment equipment is a decision that must be carefully considered. Whether the purchase is being made to improve the aesthetic characteris tics of the water or to address health considerations, many factors must be determined.

The following are some key steps to use in selecting equipment.

1. Correctly identify the problem to be addressed using appropriate

2. Identify options for correcting the problem, 3. Decide whether whole house or single-tap treatment is needed. 4. Select a reputable dealer. 5. Obtain second opinions. 6. Check to see if proposed equipment has been tested or validated by independent organizations such as the National Sanitation Foundation of Water Quality Association. 7. Talk with others who have the same equipment you may purchase, 8. Be sure to know all the costs of the equipment: purchase price,

Almonds and Lower

Cholesterol

According to a recent Canadian study, almonds can help lower blood cholesterol. Participants with high cholesterol who ate one ounce of almonds a day lowered their LDL ("bad") cholesterol by about 4%. If they are two ounces, it went down 9%. In addition, their HDL

("good") cholesterol increased a little. Almonds have about 165 calories per ounce so, if you don't wish to gain weight, eat the nuts in place of other foods instead of simply adding them to what you are already eating.

NASB National Affiliate Membership:

esented Motion carried. Gifts: None. Bids and Contracts:

Motion to approve the NASB National Affiliate Membership, Motion carried. Copier Lease Bid - Motion to approve the copier bid proposal from Midwest Office Automation's. We are half way into the current lease we have with Midwest Office. Entering this six-year lease agreement would entail moving some of the existing copiers around and bringing some newer models in. There would be a substantial cost savings in doing so. Motion carried. Pre-Scheduled Communications from the Public: None Communications from the Public on Agenda Item: None. Informational Items or Reports: Faculty -

Administration 🖎 Dr. Zeiss - Dr. Zeiss reported on the Drivers Education Program. Schools can now become certified. This means that schools can give the written part of the driving exam. In order to become certified the school must meet several guidelines. Wayne Community School received certification, which is good until 2005. Wisher students will be joining Wayne students this summer in driver's education. Or Zeiss proposed that both the resi dent and non-resident charges for the course be raised by $10.00. This increase will cover the rising cost in gasoline and increase in Motion to approve the increase of $10.00 to both the resident and non-resident charges for driver's education. Motion carried.

Mr. Lutt - Reading assessments are being made again this year. This is primarily due to the fact that the State did not get the result they were looking for. There are 6 criterions that have to be met and these are based upon certain scoring techniques. Mr. Lutt also reported that the penguin parade held in the gym was a great success.

Mr. McClarnen - Mr. McClarnen reported on the Web group meeting they attended the same evening. The goal is to get parents as well as the community more involved in the education of students. Mr. Lofquist- Mr. Lofquist gave PowerPoint presentation on Special Ed Funding. He touched on the four areas of funding, which include Transportation, Early Childhood, School Age, and Other and al what rate these areas are reimbursable by the state. If schools maintain effort in Special Ed Programs, they will have another 1.4 billion (nationally) in added funds. Funds would be distributed based on the financial criteria of each school.

Mr. Ruhl - Mr. Ruhl reported on details of the track. The discuss cage is in and runway mats are on order. Once the frost is out of the ground, the fencing project can begin. The hope is to have everything ready by our April 8th invite, Practice for the spring season has, already begun, Mr. Mitchell - Mr. Mitchell presented the board with a budget worksheet on maintenance projects. The worksheet listed maintenance projects and upgrades by priority. Some of these items included new doors of the East and West sides of the High School refinishing the gym floor at the High School sound proofing the Middle School gym, and the purchase of a snow blade. Items on the list would be gradually handled based on avail ability of funds. Superintendent Report: Budget reductions - Dr. Reinert present the Board with a list of possible reductions for the 2003-2004 school year. The Board has time to look through the list and will act on the reductions at the next board meeting. Class Scheduling - Principals had com piled a list for the board regarding class sched uling. The schedules listed class or subject times, teachers, and the number of students i Enrollment - Dr. Reinert presented ti Board with an updated breakdown of enrol ment in the School district. Last week th School district enrolled another ten students This brings the total enrollment up to 896 students with 314 students in the Elementary, 265 students in the Middle School, and 307 stu dents in the High School.

Board Committees:

Facility - Have not met. The committee was waiting to see Mr. Mitchell's list of mainte nance projects. Foundation - Motion to approve the nar ing of the track after the Kern family. Motion carried. The Foundation will meet again or Tuesday, March 11, 2003 at 7:00 p.m. in the Wayne High School Legislative - Sue presented the board wit information from her last meeting, with the Senators. It is still unknown as to the exact amounts we are going to be cut. There are still several bills on the table that will affect school systems. The best thing to do at this point is to assume the worst-case scenario.

Negotiations - The committee met and discussed items such as Insurance packages cafeteria plans, Section 125, early leav incentive plans, and salary packages.

Policy - Committee met and revised Policy 1403-Board Operating Procedures - Use o Public Funds, Policy 5301 - Students Suspension of Students, Policy 5302 Students - Expulsion, Policy 5303 - Students Student Due Process Rights, and Policy 5304 - Students - Smoking-Drinking-Drugs. Thes policies will have there 1st reading at the Apr 14th meeting. The Board will also look at Administrative Regulation 3301 - Sunday Activities, Planning - Have not met, Community Relations - Committee me and reviewed key communicator letters and newsletters. They also looked at more ways to get active in the community.

Finance - In making cuts for next year, the board will have to assume the worst case scenario and then if things aren't as bad as pro jected pull back. Technology - Have not met. Reported that computers for each teacher's desk have been ordered, along with two servers. They should be arriving in the near future and will be ready for use by the next school year. Americanism - Have not met. Old Business:

Ag curriculum - Dr. Zeiss reported that we currently have 14 students taking part in an Ag related class. There is a sign up sheet in the office for students interested in further Ag classes next school year. As of now, Laurel is not offering any Ag classes over distance education. Mead is offering both Intro to Ag and Small Animal care. Tekamah is offering Animal Science. All three of these classes meet the 10-12 grade level needed for next year.

Cooperative Education with Wisner/Pilger - The school is looking at hav ing an Interlocal agreement with Wisner/Pilger for cooperative education. The interlocal would be similar to those with Wakefield and Laurel. The board will look at the Interloca Agreement at the next meeting.

New Business: Area School Meeting - The Wakefield Board of Education has invited area schools to join them in a "study group" to attempt to address the impending funding shortfall and the obvious desire of the Nebraska state government to limit or reduce the number of schools. They feel it is important to begin working together now, rather than to wait for the states to impose mandates. Dr. Reinert Bill Dickey, Sue Gilmore, and Carolyn Linstei volunteered to represent the Wayne School District at the Area meeting on Monday, March 17, 2003.

Communications from the Public on Agenda Items: None Boardsmanship:

Each month, the Board of Education will visit one of their goals. Goal three is as follows: We will insure community/parent involvement: a. to maintain high academic achieve. ient/excellence;

We all need 'blankies' not come out until it's all over. I waffle between the protesters and the folks who say we need to "go in there and get it over with."

The photo on the front page of the paper this morning shows Marines in Kuwait at 4 a.m., listening to the president on a small portable radio. Yesterday's showed the sandstorms in Kuwait, which must be awful; and will worsen as the heat increases. Through it all, I marvel at the sophistication of today's military. They must be very well-trained, well-fed and well-supported. I look at their boots, combat fatigues, and equipment, and images of Washington and his troops at Valley Forge come to mind. Supposedly, they left bloody footprints in the snow because they had no shoes.

During the Civil War, troops brought their own muskets and food; and I read lately in some farm magazine that the North won partly because the farmers kept them supplied with corn products. Now they have MRE's, meals ready to eat.

Do you haye a "blankie?" I realized last week that I do now. A couple of years ago, my Mom had some left over fabric in blue and rose and plum. She added some cream colored stripes and put together a lovely blanket, lined

This is a day I would like to pull. with a soft flannel and tied. It my "blankie" over my head and hangs on the quilt rack in our bedroom and on the rare occasion that I get a nap, I wrap myself in it. It

I learned early on the value of these warm, fuzzy objects when our kids were babies. I don't remember that Sue had a favorite, she was not a fussy infant, so it wasn't an issue. But Jon had a cotton mesh type in yellow that is still in the cedar chest, washed very thin, and kept for sentimental purposes only.

Kay became attached to one with satin binding very early, and it was a Godsend when she was hospitalized with meningitis at the age of six months. I could lay it over her so that the satin touched her face, and she would relax and sleep.

Grandson Myles has a ratty looking piece of quilt that is the remnant of one that Great-Grandma made him when he was a newborn. His mother also has a quilt from Grandma, for watching T.V. or curling up on the couch, Jacey and Jaxson got used to a fabric diaper, thereby eliminating the problem of leaving it somewhere. They have several of these, even if the disposable kind are typically used for the real purpose.

I have a hunch we are all going to need these kinds of comfort objects in the coming weeks. I wish I could send some to the troops. After Sept. 11, I read of many women's groups that made quilts and delivered them to New York. There are others who make them for children's hospitals. And tons of quilts have been pieced together and tied by church ladies who donate them to World Relief.

I'm thinking the quilts bring a measure of comfort to those who make them because of the need to "do something," as well as to the receivers. There is even a pattern, out there for a blanket that fits inside a pillow cover and these have been delivered to homeless shelters. Whenever they go, I feel sure that blessings go with them. Maybe we can send quilted prayers this week. Amen.

Fruit tree spraying advice shared

By Del Hemsath, Extension Educator

Fruit trees are a good tree selection for a backyard, shelter belt or windbreak and provide the benefits for wildlife and fresh homegrown fruit for the homeowner.

Plant hardiness zones and horticulture regions are two important criteria to properly select a fruit tree cultivar for Nebraska. Contact the local extension office for a copy of the NebGuide entitled, "Fruit Tree Cultivars for Nebraska."

One major problem of trying to produce fruit is control of the insects or diseases of the fruit the pesticide spray program is timed to the growth periods of the tree as indicated below. A suggested combination of chemicals is also shown to help control both insects and diseases. A more complete guide is available in the NebGuide, "Home Fruit Spray Schedules" available at the local extension office.

Always READ and follow the pesticide label instructions for any pesticide being used.

Following are the time to spray with the chemicals to use in parenthesis:

Dormant spray in March, (dormant oil); pre-pink flower buds (Zineb); pink-separated clusters (Zineb); petal fall (Diazinon and Zineb); First cover spray - one week after petal fall (Diazinon and Zineb); Second cover spray two weeks after petal fall (Diazinon and Zineb); cover sprays every 10 days until Sept. 1 (Diazinon and Zineb).

Directions for Diazinon: two teaspoons per gallon of water; Zineb: two tablespoons per gallon of water.

Spraying needs to be timely because insects lay their eggs on the flowers as they develop and also regular during the growing season. Spraying programs need to follow the 10-14 day span during the entire growing season: The number of sprayings during the season will range from eight to 10 applications.

Missing a critical time for spraying will allow the introduction of a pest into the fruit and diminish the objective the object tive of pest free fruit.

If spraying is not permitted or an acceptable choice for pest problems, fruit will still develop on trees, but the fruit may have insect or disease damage which can be trimmed to remove the unusable portion of the fruit. The outside appearance on the fruit is not a direct indication of the quality of the fruit for eating or can-

Personal preference and choice determines the need for pest prevention on fruit. There are other alternatives for pest control instead of pesticides that include sticky traps, selection of resistant varieties, bait traps and sanitation. An integrated pest management program for fruit trees is the best approach for home fruit production.

Weather conditions have a direct mals at influence on the amount of fruit the fair, production because the fruit in they need 2003 was determined last year, to attend the Quality Assurance 2002, by the amount and time of workshops scheduled for March rainfall. Periods of drought and 17, 18 and 20. stress will reduce the amount of flower buds and lead to a smaller amount of crop production. Late spring frost or hail can reduce or prevent any fruit tree crop.

Farm program changes made

Producers who fed all or part of their grain production directly to their livestock and cannot verify yields may benefit from a change in Farm Service Agency procedure that allows county committees to assign yields for a specific

"Livestock producers who grow grain and feed it directly to their livestock may not have the records necessary to verify their yields," said Debra J. Pieper, executive director of the Wayne County FArm Service Agency, "This change allows our county committee to set a yield for the farm-based on the production of three similar farms in the area."

Under the new provision, farmers must submit written certification to the Farm Service Agency county committee that all or part of the production from the farm was used as livestock feed that year.

"When the producers has no record - such as marketing assistance loans or loan deficiency payments - to show the production was fed, the county committee can use the simple average of the actual production from three similar farms for the applicable crop year to assign a yield for the farm," Pieper said.

The yield assigned by the county committee cannot exceed the county's average yield for the crop, for the applicable year. However, if the assigned yield is less than 75 percent of the county average yield, the yield will be set at 75 percent of the county average yield,

According to Pieper, the county committee must be satisfied that the farmer produced livestock during the year in question and cannot submit acceptable production evidence. Producers may be required to submit evidence to? verify that they produced livestock during the period in question.

The deadline for producers to update their base and yield for the Direct and Counter-cyclical Program is April 1. Pieper said producers who have not contacted the Farm Service Agency county. office should do so as soon as possible. (1) 100 / 11 / 11 / 12
