Centers fulfill military request

America's Blood Centers, a network of community blood centers that collects nearly half of the nation's blood supply, is fulfilling a request for blood from the United States Department of Defense to supplement the military's blood supply as our troops battle in Iraq. The Siouxland Community Blood Bank is a member of America's Blood Centers.

On Friday, March 28, the military requested blood from America's Blood Centers' national office in Washington, who then alerted the pre-assigned member "hub centers" centers (BloodSource/Sacramento, Blood Systems/Phoenix, Belle Bonfils/Denver, Carter BloodCare/Dallas, Florida Blood Services/Tampa and Mississippi Valley Regional Blood Center/Davenport, IA).

These centers are sending the blood to a designated military location. Other support centers are currently shipping replacement blood to the hubs in readiness for further requests for blood.

This process for blood shipment was pre-determined in a January agreement between America's Blood Centers and the U.S. Department of Defense to assure all blood needs would be met. While the military collects its own blood and relies foremost on that blood for its troops, America's Blood Centers' members were prepared to fulfill part of the military blood needs not met by those sources.

"At this point, America's Blood Centers' national office is not issuing a request for additional blood," said Jim MacPherson, CEO of America's Blood Centers.

"However, in some areas, our participating members may be asking for an increase in donations to fulfill this recent military request, and to help prepare for future requests and to meet the needs of their local communities. We ask that people all over the country listen to and follow the desires of their local blood center. Our centers will make sure their supplies are adequate to meet all needs, but they also must not have too much blood at once."

Red blood cells have a 42-day shelf life and platelets only 5 days, so the supply must constantly be replaced. People can donate blood every 56 days,

Former Morning Shopper owner dies March 26

William "Bill" Richardson, former owner of the Morning Shopper and long-time employee of the Wayne Herald, died Wednesday, March 26 at a Sioux City, Iowa hospital.

Richardson, who was born in Des Moines, Iowa, dropped out of school and spent part of his youth riding hobo trains across the country in an attempt to find a job to help support his family.

In 1940 he enlisted in the U.S. Army and spent the next five years in various locations including Italy and Africa. During this time he had an audience with Pope Pious XII and was also shot at more than once.

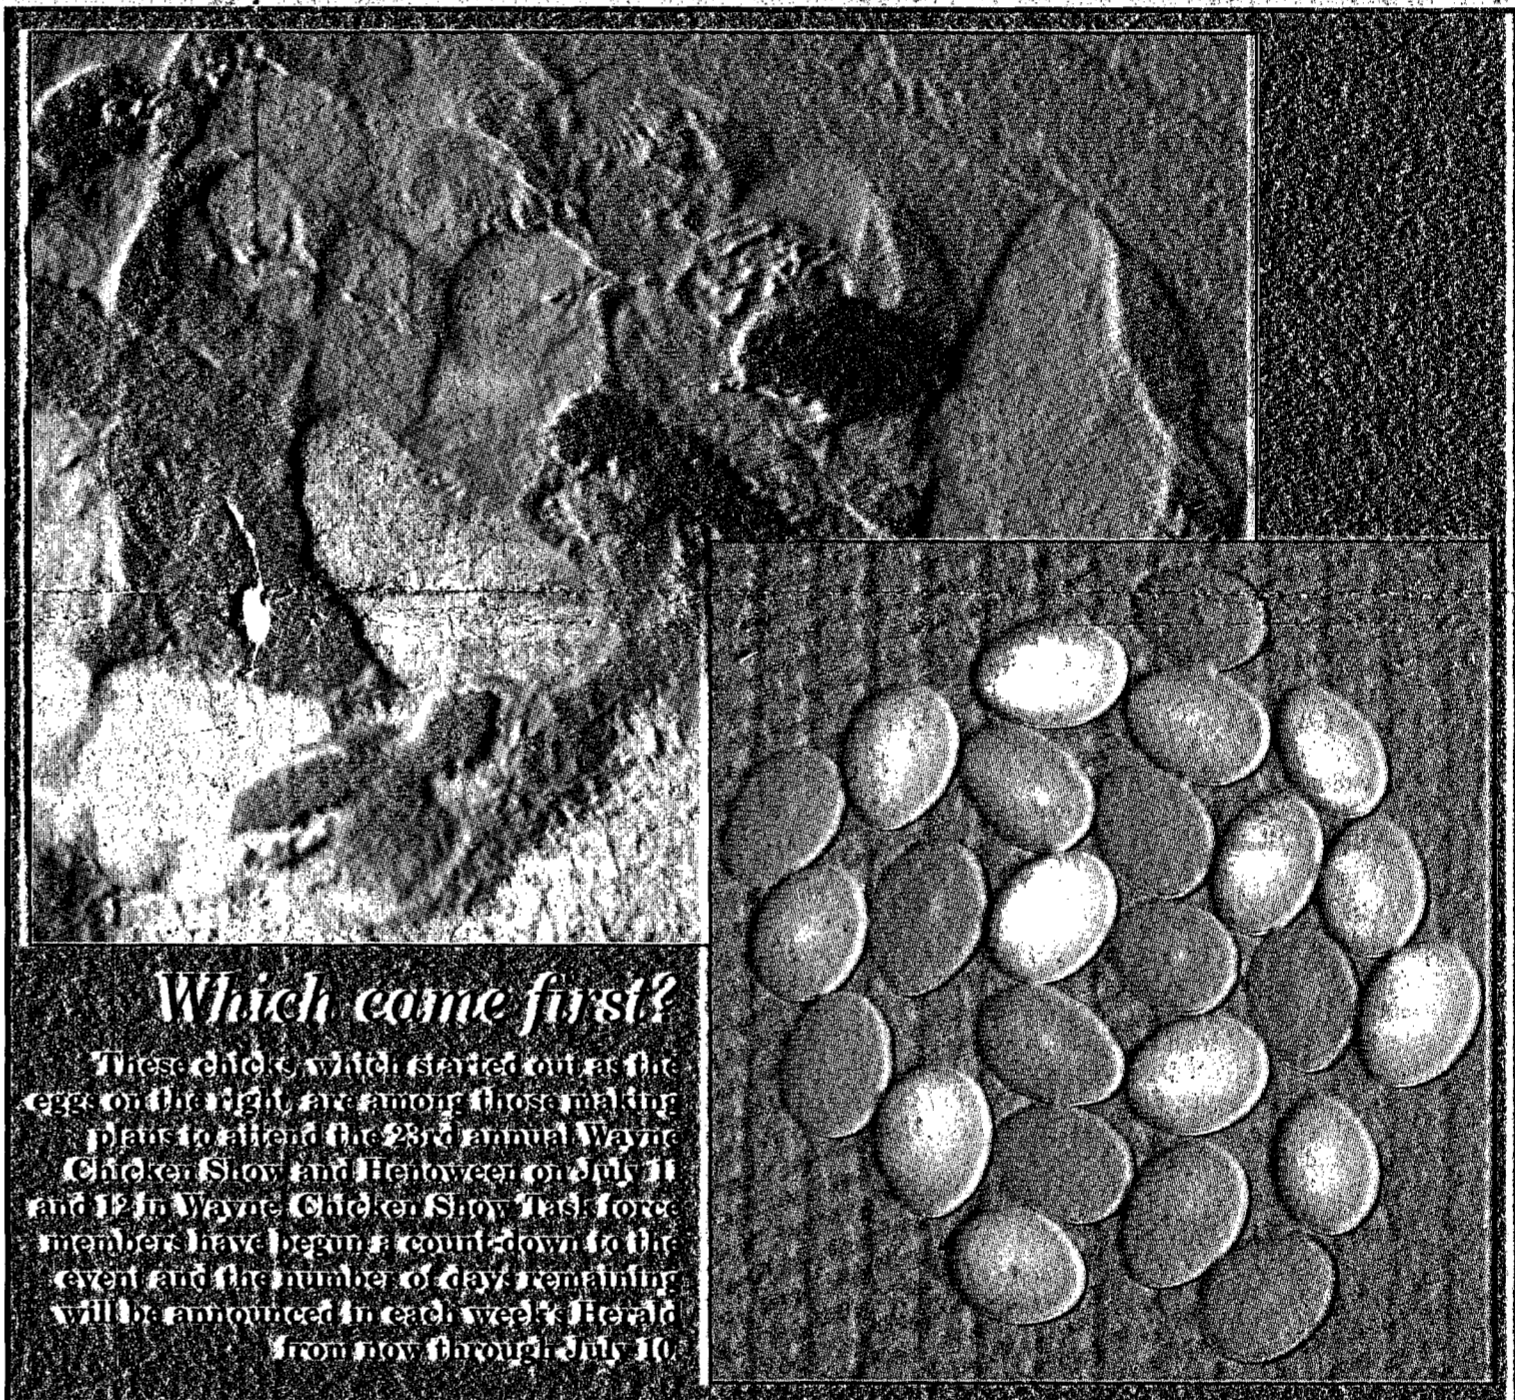

In January of 1942 he married Mildred Bullington in Bethany, Mo. She was able to be with her husband while he was stationed at Ft. Benning, Ga. but when Bill went overseas, she returned to Iowa to be with family.

After the war, Bill returned to Iowa and was able to finish high school at age 29 through a special program for veterans.

While in the army, he was on the staff of the army newspaper and acquired knowledge of the newspaper business. With that knowledge, he enrolled at Drake University and earned a bachelor of arts degree in journalism in 1950.

He worked at newspapers in Iowa until moving to Wayne in 1953 where

Auditorium renovation underway

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

From car shows in the 1930's, to dances in the 1970's and auctions in the 1990's, the Wayne City Auditorium has provided a space for countless community functions.

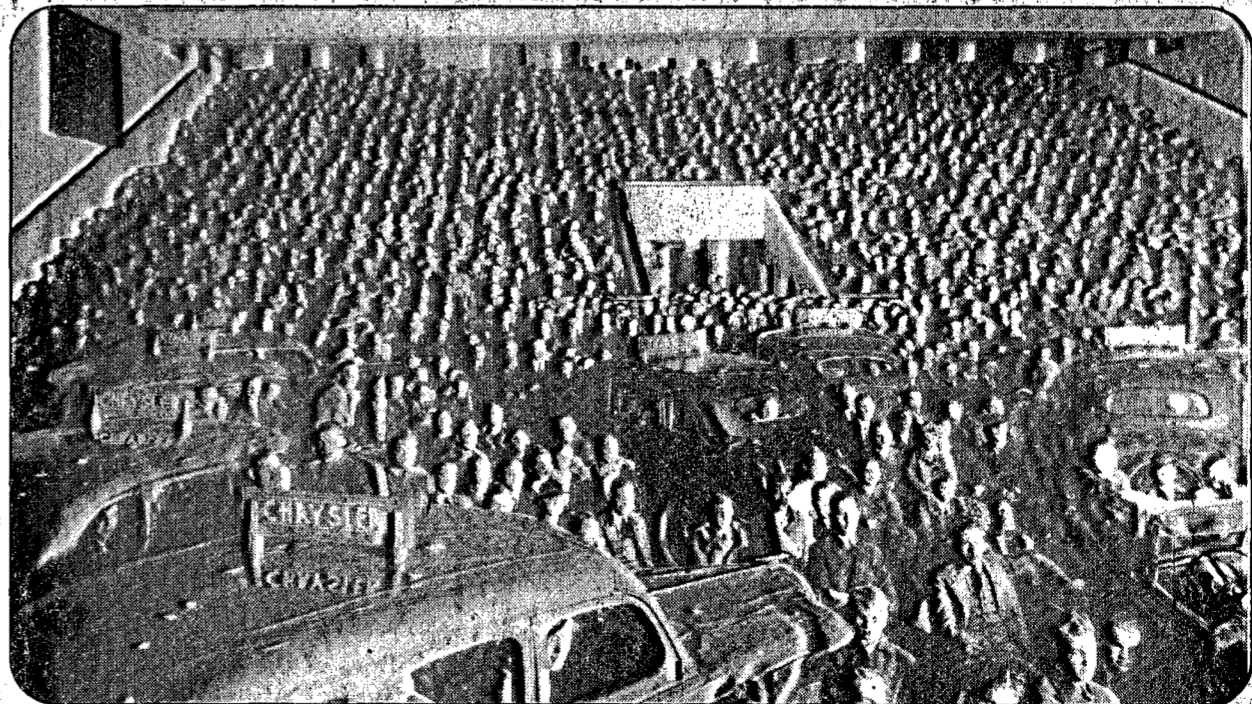

At the present time, the building is undergoing its first major renovation since its construction in 1935 as part of a Worker's Progress Administration (WPA) project. A plaque in the entry way of the building lists the auditorium as project #2581 and dedicates it to use by the community.

Through money generated by a city sales tax, a number of improvements and changes are being made to the building which was recently named to the National Historic Register of Places.

The entire building will be getting a new ceiling and new lighting.

The heating system, including the original boiler, is being replaced.

Dean Newton, who serves as head custodian for the city, said that the original boiler was in use from

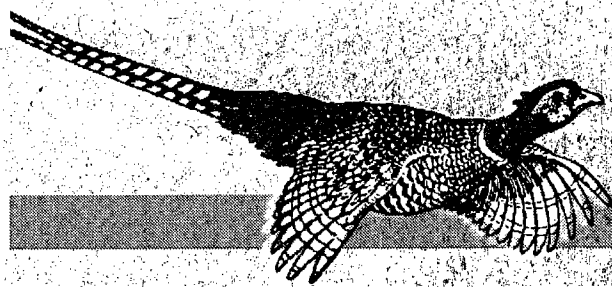

A negative of this photo was found during the renovation of the City Auditorium. It was labeled "Finn Motors 1936" and apparently shows a car show which was held in the auditorium at that time.

Letters

Drivers, please use caution

Dear Editor,
It is with great concern that I felt this letter has needed to be written.
I have had kids in the Elementary School now for five years.
This is the first year that I have had to enter the parking lot to drop off and pick up kids. I have become appalled at the speed of the cars coming and going from the parking lot. If a child were to run out into the parking lot from between two cars, there would be no way you could stop in time.

This is a parking lot at an Elementary School, for heaven's sake. Please use your head.
And, to the young lady I did talk to last Wednesday morning, March 26, your hand gesture was so grown up.

Ribbons honor those in service

A phone call by Mabel Sommerfield to the Main Street Program office started a chain reaction that led to the tying of yellow ribbons below the American flags along Main Street and Highway 35.
The American Legion Post #43, the VFW Post #5291, the DAV Post #28, the AmVets Post #22, the Auxiliary for the American Legion, the VFW, the DAV, volunteers from the AmVets, along with many other community volunteers met in the Vets Club on Lois Hall of the Wayne Greenhouse donated all the ribbon and pipe cleaners to make the bows.

Many other people in the community have taken to tying yellow ribbons on their door, trees and fences as well.

The costs of humanitarian aid

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

America has stressed its humanitarian intentions in the war with Iraq.

The message to Iraqis has been, in part, that the U.S. is there to get Saddam out of their lives and to put food on their plates.

While humanitarian efforts are worthwhile, Nebraska Sen. Ben Nelson has expressed concern in regard to how America would divvy up public dollars for the war.

Nelson said that charity, so to speak, should begin at home - especially when it comes to keeping people safe.

He noted the Bush administration proposed spending more than $7.8 billion for humanitarian relief, reconstruction and foreign aid. Meanwhile, proposed spending for homeland security was $4.24 billion.

Nelson looked at the disparity in those proposals and said two words. "I'm appalled."

"If I'm not safe in my hometown, I'm not safe anywhere," Nelson told reporters.

Help from the feds is particularly important considering Nebraska's current economic environment. It's no secret that there are no funds languishing in the state treasury. Local governments aren't rolling in spare change, either.

Public officials at every level have acknowledged that keeping America safe from any and every sort of terrorist malevolence is impossible. In the wide-open spaces of the Great Plains, for example, the ability to react to terrorism is at least as important as any effort to prevent it. Crops and cattle take up a lot of space that can't be covered by 24-hour surveillance cameras.

Nelson also offered another common-sense analysis on the war to rid the world of Saddam Hussein: The fact is that the costs of war have traditionally been underestimated (at least publicly) at budget time. Nelson said the same thing might be happening this time around.

President Bush asked for about $75 billion for the war effort. Nelson, well-known for keeping close track of where every dollar goes, said the estimate is far too low.

The tab will likely be closer to $100 billion, he said, and that sum might not be sufficient.

Chamber director discusses 'new beginnings'

By Bill Trick,
Chamber Executive Director

For my first article in the Wayne Herald, I cannot think of a more appropriate focus, since this series is entitled NEW BEGINNINGS, than to report on some of the new activities that are being pursued by your chamber of commerce to help make this community more prosperous. I say "help" because your chamber staff does not and cannot do it alone. We are very fortunate to have fabulous volunteers for board and committee members.

2003 began with a new board chairman, Jack Hausmann, a long-time New York Life Insurance professional who brings enthusiasm and re-new-ed leadership to one of the finest organizations to have served the Wayne area.

Beginning new board of directorships this year are Phyllis Spethman (Spethman Plumbing), Corby Schweers (Farmers & Merchants State Bank) and Jason Barelmar (Wayne State College). These three new volunteers are sharing their valuable experience and counsel to better the community.

So far this year, seven (7) new investors in the business community have launched their trust in the Chamber of Commerce. Through me, the new Executive Director, the organization has begun a new generation of energy and new ideas that hopefully will spur more progress to which this community has become accustomed.

For the next few weeks, I would like to keep you informed about what is happening with Chicken Show 2003, our 23rd event.

Oh, what a legacy to preserve! Today is actually the 100th day until this year's event scheduled for July 12. To help keep this day in mind we have created a new 100-day Countdown Calendar, a document that we believe all homes and offices in this community should keep on the fridge or bulletin boards, for several reasons.

One, we hope you will be planning to stay at home for the Big Event or, better yet, invite your out-of-town relatives and friends to visit.

Two, many organizations or individuals are sponsoring specific days and, on those days, offering special incentives.

Here is a list of some of the upcoming sponsored days and the incentives offered, (days 100 through 89):

- April 3 - Wayne Public Library, Amnesty;
- April 4 - Magic Wok, 2 Chicken meals, $7.95;
- April 5 and 6 - Chamber of Commerce, Phone Contests for t-shirt.
- April 7 - McDonald's, $1 egg or sausage and egg;
- April 8 - Heritage Express, $2.99 for two chicken tacos and 16 oz. drink;

April 9 - Dairy Queen, free medium drink with chicken strip basket;

April 10 - McDonald's, $1 egg or sausage and egg;

April 11 - Pizza Hut, two large, one topping pizzas, first $10 and second $6;

April 12 - Heritage Express, $2.99 for two chicken tacos and 16 oz. drink;

April 14 - Godfather's Pizza, $5.50 buffet and drink.

Here are the rules for the Chamber's phone contests.

If you know the answer to "In what year did the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce begin?", be the first correct caller to reach the Chamber office on Saturday, April 5 to win a 2003 Chicken Show t-shirt. The first caller on Sunday, April 6 with the correct answer to "Who was the first Treasurer for the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce?" will also win a t-shirt. Be sure to leave your name and phone number along with your answer.

Winners will be announced at 9 a.m. on the KTCH View from Wayne America on Monday, April 7. You can pick up a Calendar at the Chamber office any time, or look around town at your favorite retailer.

Hope to see you at the Show!

Second reminder - City Clean up Weekend May 2-4

Looking Ahead in Wayne...
By Lowell Johnson
City Administrator

If you are a Wayne resident or college student and you are planning to clean up the back yard, alley or garage this spring, you can dump those things free on the first weekend in May at the Wayne Transfer Station at 110 South Windom.
City residents can dump garbage, debris, old lumber, furniture, appliances, dried paint and old tires from the city for free on all three days.
The Transfer Station will be open regular hours on Friday and Saturday and from 2 to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Commercial businesses are not included in this project.

Why should you be a part of this? We are working hard to find and destroy the habitat for mosquitoes and other vectors. West Nile virus is projected to be nation-wide this year and prevention is the first line of defense.

The second benefit of clean-up weekend is for community appearance.

Numbers
Nine - the number of full-time certified police officers in the Wayne police department.
$4 million - the total operating income from electricity charged by the City of Wayne last year.
$7,500 per month - The average extra monthly surcharge Wayne pays to NPPD every month of the year for the extra peak power we used during the hottest hour of the hottest day of the last summer.

All cities pay some extra amount for peak electrical use on hot days. Wayne pays about average.
How can we reduce this? 1) load control switches on residential central air conditioners; 2) more shade trees to lower afternoon temperatures. Call Joel Hansen or Gene Hansen for information.

Questions
Phone Lowell D. Johnson, City Administrator at 375-1733 or e-mail cityadmin@cityofwayne.org.

1935 until being shut off on March 16 of this year.

The boiler, which was originally powered by coal, was later converted to natural gas. In addition, a fuel oil back-up was part of the system. In the early days of natural gas use, the gas company would contact the city during times of high gas usage and ask that fuel oil be used instead.

The boiler will be replaced by seven large heating/air conditioning units on the roof of the building. Two heat pumps located in the apartment on the second floor of the building will heat the Women's Club Room and the new restrooms being installed.

New men's and women's restrooms are being constructed in an area that was once home to a public rest room accessible from the south side of the building that was used by the general public.

The restrooms will be considerably larger and will be handicapped accessible.

New electrical panels, new transformers and new electrical service are being put into the building.

A number of rows of seats along the east wall are being removed to help comply with the state fire marshal's regulations. An upgraded fire alarm system will also be installed as will steel door frames and fire proof doors. An additional exit from the north side of the Women's Club will be constructed.

The City Recreation office, which was located on the north side of the stage and storage space on the south side of the stage are being removed. Fire rated walls will be installed to make the stage area comply with fire regulations.

The building was constructed very well. It has a main supporting wall on the stage as part of what holds the building together. There are also four huge steel I-beams for support and the exterior walls are made up of approximately 14-inches of brick and concrete," Newton said.

Otte Construction is serving as the general contractor for the renovation. In addition, Zach Propane is installing the heating and cooling system; Wood Plumbing is in charge of the plumbing work being done and the dismantling and removal of the boiler. Renz Electric of Bancroft is the electrical contractor for the project.

Completion date for the renovation is June 15

The new heating and cooling units on the roof of the City Auditorium are visible from the City building across the street.

The boiler in the City Auditorium served as the heating system since the building was built in 1935.

Queen Aggravain works on a plan to test Princess Winnifred as Prince Dauntless the Drab, Sir Harry and the Wizard look on during a dress rehearsal for "Once Upon a mattress" at Wayne High School.

Wayne High to stage musical

"Once Upon a Mattress" will be presented at Wayne High School on Friday and Saturday, April 4-5.

The play begins at 7:30 p.m. each evening. Prior to the play on Friday, a dinner theatre will be served at an additional cost from 5 to 7 p.m.

"Once Upon a Mattress" is the story of the "Princess and the Pea." The kingdom is ruled by the dominating Queen Aggravain (Emily Brady) and King Sextimus (Chad Jensen) who is speechless because of the spell cast on the kingdom years before that stated "the king may not talk until the mouse devours the hawk!"

The rule of the land is that no one may wed until the Queen's son, Prince Dauntless the Drab (Jeff Meyer) is married. Of course, the Queen deems no one good enough for her "sweet little baby boy."

The plot thickens when Lady Larken (Amy Kemp) realizes that she is in a "family way" due to the charms of Sir Harry (John Jensen).

So it is very important that a princess be found immediately.

Sir Harry gets permission from the Queen to find a true princess. He sets out on a journey and finds the lovely, but tom-boyish Princess Winnifred (Elysia Mann).

When he brings her back to the kingdom, Prince Dauntless falls immediately in love with her. But the Queen, not really wanting him to marry, devises a test to see if she is a true princess.

With the help of her sidekick, the Wizzard (Tyler Anderson), she comes up with the idea of the pea being put under 20 mattresses. If the Princess sleeps through the night without feeling the pea, the Queen can prove she is not a real princess.

"You will have to see the show to find out the ending," said Director Kaki Ley.

The story is narrated by the Minstrel (Ray Olson). The comic relief is provided by the Jester (Sean Peterson).

The music and coreography are topnotch. You will love this play," Mrs. Ley added.

The orchestral is composed of Wayne High students and Deneil Parker is the accompanist.

"Once Upon a Mattress" will be Mrs. Ley's 17th and final musical production.

For more information, or to purchase tickets, contact Kaki Ley at the High School at 375-3150. Tickets may also be purchased from any cast member.

Siren tests first Monday every month

The Wayne Police Department communications personnel test out emergency management warning sirens on the first Monday of each month at 10 a.m.

The Wayne warning sirens are nearly 20 years of age so it is very important to make sure they are in proper working order. In addition to the monthly tests, personnel from the Wayne Electrical Production Department routinely check and service the siren equipment.

The siren sounds most likely to be heard by the citizens of Wayne are the Fire Department Alert Siren which is a rising and falling tone commonly called a wail siren. The Tornado Alert Siren is a continuous pitch tone.

When the Tornado Alert Siren is sounded, residents should take cover. This siren is used to warn of an imminent strike by a tornado on the city.

For more information on what to do in a tornado alert you can go to the City of Wayne web page www.waynecity.org/public\_safety and click on the emergency management box.

Police investigate burglary

The Wayne Police Department was called to investigate an early morning burglary at Popo's II on Monday.

The investigation revealed that an unknown person or persons used force to gain entry into the business sometime between 8:30 p.m. Sunday night and 5:30 a.m. Monday morning.

The suspect(s) stole a small amount of money and did no damage inside the business. Officer Brain Swanson is investigating this burglary and at this time has no suspects. If anyone has any information about this burglary they are urged to contact Officer Swanson at the Wayne Police Department, 375-2626 or by email, bswanson@cityofwayne.org.

Wayne Police Chief Lance Webster said this case points to a growing trend in Wayne. He said there have been eight reported burglaries so far this year in Wayne. Webster said businesses need to follow proper crime prevention techniques, most importantly using good dead bolts to secure doors. Webster said in the past year there have been burglaries where the suspects entered from rooftops. He cautioned business owners about leaving unsecured ladders outside or stacking crates or boxes in such a way that a person can climb onto the roof.

In an unrelated incident Sgt. Marlen Chinn investigated a residential burglary reported Tuesday at 216 Fairgrounds, #13. This burglary happened during the daytime hours. A canvas of the neighborhood did not provide any new information.

Concerns voiced at school board

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

Many concerned teachers, staff, and students attended a special Wayne Community Schools Board of Education meeting Tuesday afternoon. Supt. Joe Reinert sent out a letter to teachers and staff notifying them of the agenda which included the issue of whether the Board should discontinue, reduce or change any of the subject areas or programs or staff positions presently offered by this school district.

Included in the list of possible cuts for the 2003-04 school year are: supply budgets, education programs with low student enrollment, benefit reductions, extra-curricular/activity programs, programs with non-endorsed teaching staff, reduction of support staff.

Because of possible low state funding, Bill Dickey, board president, noted they are looking at cutting around $435,000 from the school's budget.

Several teachers, students and community members voiced their opinions at the meeting. Bill Wilson, Industrial Technology teacher, explained why his class is important in today's global society. He noted how his class, with hands-on experience, prepares students for further training so they can be competitive in today's job market.

Juniors Dan Reinhardt and Brent Jones, noted how important Wilson's classes are to them and others who plan to go into auto/body/mechanics careers.

Jill Pickinpaugh, fifth and sixth grade teacher, requested the board not cut the Language Arts half-time position Leah Agler holds. She noted Agler's work is important to both the children and to the other teachers and removing Agler would place a burden on both.

Peg Lutt and Lori Ruskamp, fourth grade teachers, told the board they would like them to consider replacing fellow teacher Sharon Olson, who recently retired. They noted 60 students next year for two teachers will be difficult.

Wayne State faculty members Jeff Meyer, sports management instructor, and Ron White, professor in Arts and Humanity, gave their concerns. Meyer spoke in support of keeping extra-curricular activities and noted his son benefited from band, speech, German, music and drama. These were part of the reasons his family moved back here. With WSC, too, having to make budget reductions, he realizes there are tough choices for the board but feels cutting these activities would be wrong.

Tim Powell, a concerned resident of Wayne, voiced similar concerns as Meyer in cutting arts and other programs as he feels it will hurt students in the long run.

White noted support of the school system is necessary and has concerns with losing the foreign language class (German). With German ancestry here, he feels it benefits the school and the community to keep it in place.

Wayne High student Elysia Mann gave her reasons why taking German and having Edith Zahniser, the German teacher, was beneficial to her. Because she took German class, she's learned the German culture, the language, was able to go to Germany through a test she took, and brought back a number of awards from competitions.

Cal Kroeker, pastor of Calvary Bible Evangelical Free Church in Wayne, said their family is satisfied with the well-rounded education their children have received in the Wayne schools system. He hopes the board will allow the community to respond so they can step up and show support before cuts are made.

Keith Kopperud, band director at the Middle School, asked the board to try to balance the cuts so more are not made in the lower grades than in the high school.

President Dickey thanked the speakers and everyone for attending. He said they will have to rely on groups more in the future to assist the school. He spoke of recent help from the Wayne Kiwanis Club who provided fees to help send students to a Quiz Bowl competition and of Wayne Education Boosters who purchased around 240 tickets so students could attend the Childrens Play at WSC.

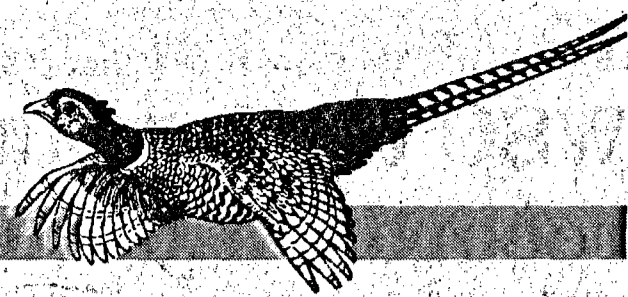

Board members assured attendees they have students' best interest at hand in this difficult task.

The board went into executive session to discuss collective bargaining.

Budget decisions will be made at the next school board meeting set for Monday, April 14 at 7 p.m. at the high school in Wayne.

The Wayne State baseball team opened Northern Sun Conference play at home Sunday and Monday by pouncing Minnesota-Crookston in a pair of double-headers.

The Wildcats outscored the Golden Eagles in the four-game series 70-9 with 65 hits in the two days.

"Overall, we played very well," said head coach John Manganaro. "We got the opportunity to play everyone, we pitched very well and our hitting speaks for itself."

Wayne State defeated the Golden Eagles on Monday by scores of 25-2 and 20-3.

Brian Foy had two of Wayne State's seven hits in the game. Joe Wall was the winning pitcher in relief of starter Damien Heckelsmiller, who allowed just one run on two hits over five and one-third innings. Wall recorded the final five outs, improving his record to 2-2.

Last Wednesday, the Wildcats edged Nebraska-Omaha 9-8 at the WSC baseball field.

Wayne State trailed 8-4 after six and a half innings, but scored four runs in the bottom of the seventh with the game winning run coming in the bottom of the ninth inning for the win. Ryan Radtke's sacrifice fly to centerfield scored pinch-runner Mike Sorensen with one out to bring in the winning run.

Brian Disch and Brian Foy each produced three hits to lead Wayne State's 11 hit attack. Radtke followed with two hits.

Reliever Joe Wall (1-2) was credited with the win. Mark Bignell and Travis McCarter also worked on the hill for the Wildcats.

Manganaro said the win against UNO was a big one.

"We needed to win against a good regional opponent. I rank this win next to our regional win in Missouri two years ago."

Wayne State improves to 14-5 overall and 4-0 in the NSIC. The Wildcats, ranked 29th in the latest Collegiate Baseball Magazine NCAA Division II poll, were scheduled to play at South Dakota Wednesday afternoon.

Wayne State rugby teams dominate at March Madness Tournament in Wayne

28 rugby teams took part in the Riley's/Melodee Lanes March Madness Tournament in Wayne last weekend.

The Wayne State men and women were dominating on the field. The two teams went a combined 6-0 and outscored their opponents 160-6.

The men's team blanked Chadron State 29-0 and North Dakota State 38-0 on Saturday, then won a physical game over Sioux City 12-6.

Sophomore running backs Preston Parker and Marshall Touchberry led the WSC men's team on offense.

"The success of winning the tournament final was the scrum totally dominated the scrum-downs winning over 80 percent of the possessions," said head coach Darrin Barner.

The Wayne State men have won nine games in a row after their loss to Oklahoma in the first week of the season. The Wildcats have this weekend off before their Rugby Conference opener at South Dakota State next weekend. Barner says SDSU has dominated the Great Plains Rugby Conference over the years.

Led by the powerful running game of running backs Anglea

Matthews and Sara Zimmer, the Wayne State women rolled to three easy wins.

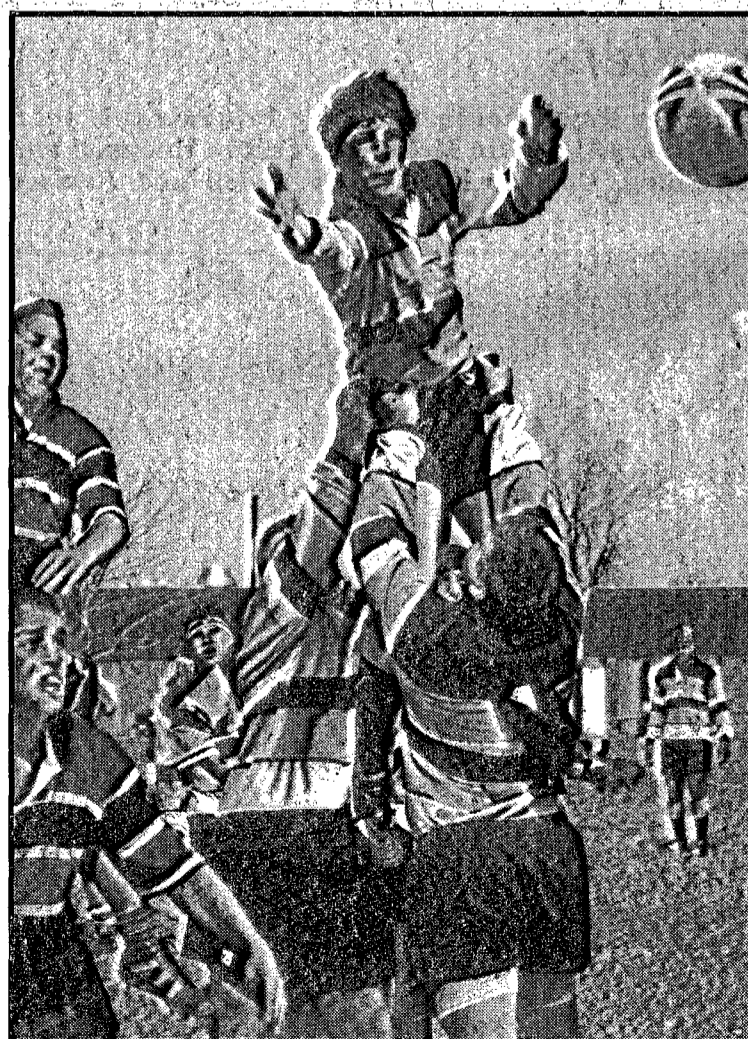

The Wildcats blanked Des Moines 28-0, Wartburg College of Iowa 24-0 and North Dakota State in the championship game 48-0.

Coach Barner said that Melissa Fluett, a senior from Wayne, played a key role in the scrum on defense shutting out all three teams.

Barner also praised the play of Liz Loftis of Oakland, who loosened up the backfield with several long runs and a score off of the base of the scrum to pull the defensive backfield over to help stop the short yardage plays by the WSC pack and give the backfield much more open space for Zimmer and Matthews.

The WSC women have won five games in a row after their loss to Oklahoma in the first week of the season. Wayne State will play their first rugby conference game this weekend with Great Plains Union action at Northern State in South Dakota.

Brian Kaiser of the WSC men's rugby team reaches for the ball during a line out when the ball is inbound during Saturday's game with Chadron State.

WSC women's rugby star Angela Matthews scampers for a big gain against the Des Moines team in Saturday's game at the WSC March Madness Rugby Tournament.

Linne Ourada and Liz Loftis team up to slow down the Des Moines women's rugby team. WSC won 28-0.

Wayne State softball sweeps Concordia

The Wayne State softball team won two games in their home opener on Sunday at the WSC softball field, beating Concordia University from Seward 8-0 and 5-2.

The first game saw freshman Mindy Guenin of North Platte toss a no-hitter. She struck out three batters while improving her record to 7-4. The game was shortened to five innings due to the eight-run mercy rule.

Wayne State had seven hits in the game, led by Amber Johnson and Sara Cappel with two hits apiece. Mackenzie Knoell, Katie Johnson and Guenin each added a single.

In the second game, the Wildcats rallied from an early 2-1 deficit to post a 5-2 win. Whitney Wilczynski was the winning pitcher, allowing just three hits and two runs over six innings. Guenin worked the seventh inning to earn her second save of the season.

Sara Cappel, junior first baseman from McCook, had a double and single to spark Wayne State at the plate. Knoell, Guenin and Lisa Stewart each singled.

"That was as complete of a doubleheader as we have put together all season," said head coach Jon Misfeldt. "The girls were ready to play at home and I think that is why we played so well."

Last Thursday, Wayne State traveled to 15th-ranked Nebraska-Omaha with the host Mavericks winning 11-0 and 7-5.

Wayne State had just one hit in the first game, a single by Theresa Garlow. Wilczynski took the loss.

The Wildcats battled with the Mavericks in the second game before falling 7-5. UNO out-hit Wayne State 11-8.

Stefanie Brewster's two singles led the Wildcats at the plate. Knoell added a double and single, Cappel had a double while Jessica Hinde, Amber Johnson and Garlow added singles. Guenin was tagged with the loss.

Last Wednesday, Wayne State split a doubleheader at South Dakota, losing 10-0 and winning 5-3.

The host Coyotes scored nine runs in the sixth inning to break open a close game and win 10-0. Wayne State had just two hits in the game, singles from Katie Johnson and Hinde. Wilczynski was the losing pitcher.

The Wildcats bounced back in the second game with a 5-3 win, scoring three runs in the first inning and two more in the sixth. It was Wayne State's first win in Vermillion under Coach Misfeldt.

Garlow had a home run and a single to lead Wayne State's six hit attack. Knoell, Amber Johnson, Hinde and Guenin also had hits. Guenin was also the winning pitcher.

"The team responded well after getting thumped in the first game," stated Misfeldt.

Wayne State, now 10-11, was scheduled to play at Augustana Wednesday afternoon. The Wildcats will open Northern Sun Conference play at home this weekend, entertaining Southwest State Saturday (1pm) and Northern State Sunday (12 pm).

WSC track teams set three new school records at outdoor opener in Seward

The Wayne State College track and field teams opened the outdoor season last Saturday at the Polar Dog Invitational at Concordia University in Seward. The Wildcats competed with a partial squad and picked up five first-place finishes.

"I was very pleased with our results, especially given the cold and windy conditions," stated head coach Marlon Brink. "It should be a sign of even better performances to come from our athletes in the upcoming season."

Leading the Wildcats was junior Eric Havranek, of Ainsworth, who won two events. He won the long jump with a mark of 22'5" and also won the 100 meter dash in a time of 10.8 seconds.

Also winning an event for the men's team was freshman Matt Schaffer of Nebraska City, taking first in the 400 meter dash with a personal best time of 50.23 seconds. "Matt ran especially well considering he went into the meet with a slight hamstring strain," said Brink.

Other highlights of the meet for the men's team included a new school record in the javelin, set by Adam Meier with a throw of 168'4". The freshman from Omaha, a former WSC baseball player, placed second in the event. "Adam looks to be a very pleasant surprise in the javelin," Brink said. "He has a very good arm and should be competitive in most of our meets." Jason Kneif also earned a second place finish by clearing 6'4" in the high jump.

The Wayne State women were led by sophomore Jodi Rhodig (Republican City). She won the 100 meter dash (12.50) and placed second in the 200 meter dash in a time of 27.32 seconds.

Freshman Brenna Pribil (Atkinson) won the triple jump with a mark of 33'7". She also placed second in the long jump with a leap of 16'5".

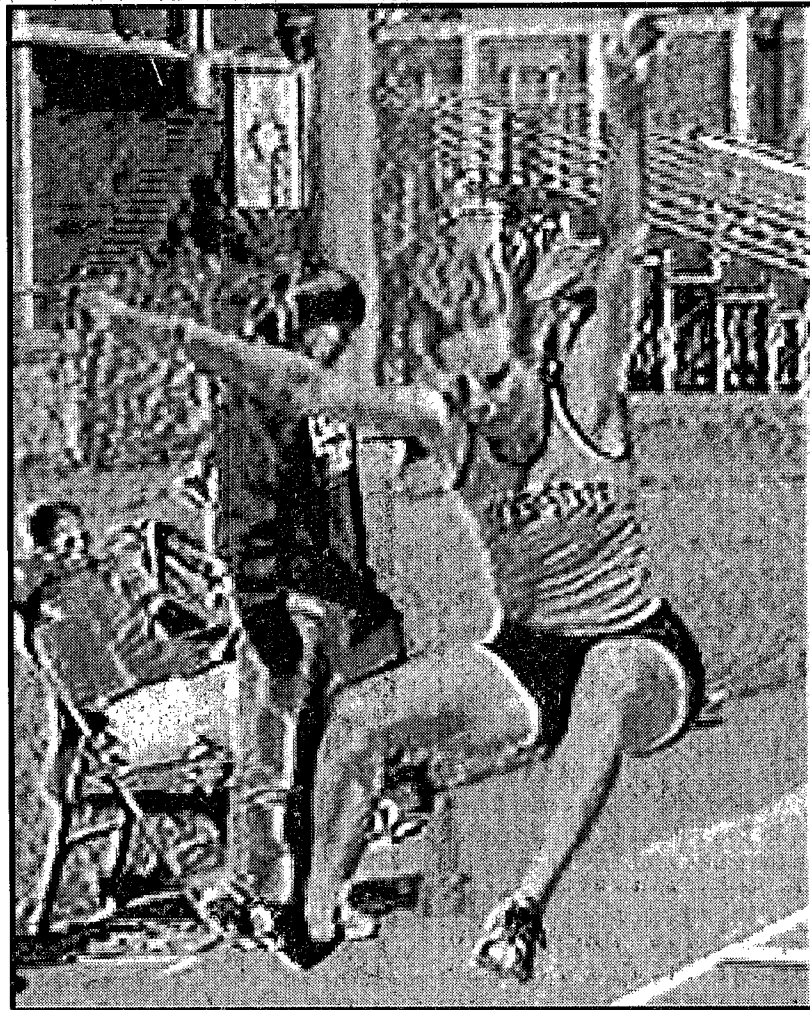

Another freshman, Katie Malander (Fullerton), set a new school record in the pole vault. Malander's mark of 9'5" earned her a time for second place. "Katie picked up where she left off in the indoor season," stated Brink. She now holds both the indoor and outdoor school records in the pole vault.

Lindsey Stockwell, a freshman from Geneva, competed well in the throwing events. She placed third in the discus (127'5") and third in the javelin with a new school record throw of 110 feet. Stockwell also picked up a fourth-place medal in the hammer throw with a mark of 95'0". "Lindsey showed her versatility as a thrower," Brink said. "She had a couple of throws in the discus that were better than her 127 throw didn't count due to fouls."

Wayne State will travel to Emporia, Kansas this Saturday, April 5, for the Emporia State Relays.

Brenna Pribil, a freshman from Atkinson, led the Wayne State women's team by placing first in the triple jump and second in the long jump at Saturday's meet in Seward.

Wayne State's James Bruhn, a senior from Charter Oak, Iowa, clears a hurdle in Saturday's 400 meter hurdle event at the Polar Dog Invitational Track Meet in Seward.

The Health Benefits of Coenzyme Q-10:

A supplement called Coenzyme Q-10 is described as a vitamin-like substance produced naturally in small amounts by the body. It also can be found in meats and seafood.

Several disease states have been described as having low levels of coenzyme Q-10. This has led to studies which could help us better understand this naturally occurring compound and the possible value of supplementation. For example, a recent study in persons with Parkinson's disease found that those who got coenzyme Q-10 fared better than did those on dummy (placebo) pills. It has been suggested that coenzyme Q-10 also may be effective in congestive heart disease, angina, and asthma. Finally, researchers have found that coenzyme Q-10 could be beneficial to persons who have high blood pressure. Future research may show that supplementation with coenzyme Q-10 might allow for a reduction in the number and/or size of doses of some high blood pressure medicine.

American Red Cross provides needed support during war

As the war escalates in Iraq, the American Red Cross is offering the public several ways to contribute to the Armed Forces Emergency Services Fund, as well as an international fund that responds to people's needs around the globe. Donors may contribute to either fund on-line, over the phone, through the mail, or locally, through the Wayne Chapter.

"The American Red Cross is not a government agency," stresses Wayne County Chapter Manager Lori Carollo. "It relies on the assistance of supporters to deliver critical services. Donors can support U.S. military members and their families through the American Red Cross as it provides assistance and comfort. Monetary gifts will support the nationally-coordinated Red Cross services provided to military families across the country, and to American service men and women located throughout the world.

Persons wishing to make a financial donation to Armed Forces Emergency Services can call 1-800-HELP NOW or 1-800-257-7575 (Spanish). Contributions may be sent to the American Red Cross Armed Forces Emergency Services, P.O. Box 91820, Washington, D.C., 20090. Indicate on your check that the donation is intended for the AFES Fund. Internet users can make a secure online contribution by visiting www.redcross.org.

The American Red Cross needs the financial support of the public to help it respond to the increased needs of thousands of military families. More than 30 Red Cross workers currently accompany U.S. military members in the Persian Gulf region. The Red Cross is providing outreach to National Guard, Reserve members and their families as these community-based military are activated in record numbers. The Red Cross is also helping to meet the emergency financial needs of military families with no other resources available to them.

Around the clock and around the globe, the American Red Cross keeps the American people in touch with their family members serving in the United States Military. Every day, Armed Forces Emergency Services connects an average of 1,100 military families who are dealing with emergencies at home. AFES employees and volunteers deliver health and safety training, disaster preparedness training and response, and provide volunteers to support many aspects of military community life, particularly in military hospitals and clinics.

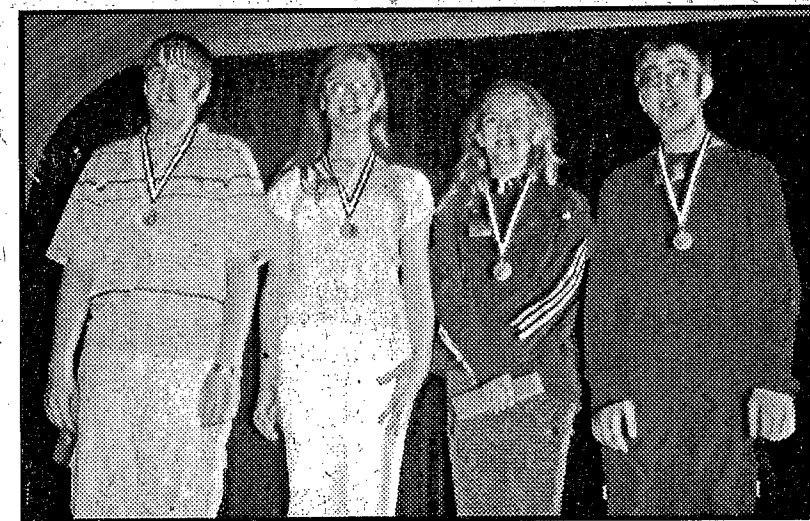

The public can also help those affected by the Iraq crisis and countless others around the world each year by making a financial gift to the American Red Cross International Response Fund (IRF), which will provide immediate relief and long-term support through supplies, technical assistance and other support to help those in need. The IRF enables the American Red Cross to respond to sudden disasters, conflict situations, long-term humanitarian crises affecting health, sanitation, displacement of people, and the availability of safe and adequate supplies of food and water.

To make a gift to the American International Response Fund; call 1-800-HELP NOW, or 1-800-257-7575 (Spanish). Contributions may be sent to the American Red Cross International Response Fund, P.O. Box 37243, Washington, DC 20013. Indicate on your check that the donation is intended for the IRF Fund. Internet users can make a secure online contribution by visiting www.redcross.org.

As in all conflicts, the Red Cross will provide appropriate humanitarian assistance in collaboration with the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC), as lead agency. As part of the ICRC and Red Crescent Movement, the American Red Cross works together with the International Federation of the Red Cross and Red Crescent and other national societies to support the provision of humanitarian relief to war victims during an armed conflict. The Red Cross will offer assistance to civilians affected by the conflict, including tracing and message services on behalf of prisoners of war and separated civilians.

Reign as third time national champs

Wayne State College technology education students earned their third straight national title in the Technology Education Collegiate Association (TECA) quiz bowl competition during the 65th Annual International Technology Education Association (ITEA) conference at the Nashville Convention Center in Nashville, Tenn., March 12-15.

David Shabram of Orchard was recognized as the outstanding undergraduate technology education major in the nation. Other team members included: Wil Sanger, Crofton; Jesse Zweep, Sjoux Falls, S.D.; Brett Forsman, Aurora; Zeb Noyd, Osceola; Eric Sieh, Avoca, Iowa; Tony Cantrell, Fairmont; Dana Janssen, Grefna; Dohnie Butler, St. Wisner; and Greg Worner, Wayne.

"This type of success is unusual at this level of competition. Our students are fortunate to continue to have the right knowledge and skills through hard work and classwork preparation. This was a very successful conference for WSC and for our technology education students who did well in all of their competitive efforts," said Dr. Larry Claussen, department chair of technology and applied sciences and professor of industrial technology.

Technology students from across the country competed in several competitions and 22 TECA chapters comprised one of the largest and most competitive contests ever held by the association. Claussen emphasized the competitive nature of the contest as 15 of the 22 colleges and universities participating placed first through fourth in various competitions.

"Wayne State's technology education program has a long tradition of attracting, retaining and providing, top quality students the opportunity to excel in their chosen major beyond the local level," said Greg Vander Weil, WSC assistant professor of industrial technology.

First place technology challenge quiz bowl team members included Janssen, Butler, Sanger and Worner. WSC-TECA also placed third in the nation in the manufacturing competition, a four-hour contest that requires the team to design, build and utilize jigs and fixtures to produce an assigned product. This year each team was required to produce five wooden model airplanes to specifications as quickly and as safely as possible.

Team members included

Janssen, Noyd, Cantrell, Zweep and Forsman.

Other contests included transportation, problem solving and technical presentation with WSC teams finishing in the top half just out of the top four places awarded. Transportation members included Forsman, Zweep, Cantrell and Sieh. Problem solving members included Sieh, Forsman, Cantrell, Zweep and Janssen. Technical presentation members included Butler and Worner.

"Beyond the various competitions, WSC industrial technology majors had the opportunity to attend special interest sessions on a wide range of technology topics and a vendor trade show," Vander Weil said. "Students also enjoyed a little free time during the trip to take in the sights and sounds of the country music capital city."

For more information on the Wayne State technology teacher education program, call Greg Vander Weil at (402) 375-7283.

John Sinniger, Manager of the WSC Chartwells Food Service, promoted 'Have a Heart' Day at the college recently and is shown presenting a cash donation of almost $160 to Lori Carollo, Manager of the Wayne Red Cross.

WSC shows they 'have a heart'

On Feb. 13, in honor of Valentine's Day, Wayne State College students, faculty and staff responded in a big way to the "Have a Heart" campaign which benefitted the Wayne County Chapter of the American Red Cross and the Wayne Food Pantry.

The one-day campaign, co-sponsored by Chartwells and Roberts Dairy Co., resulted in a total of $159.87 donated to the American Red Cross and over 200 non-perishable food items that were collected for the Wayne Food Pantry. For every donation of $1 or a non-perishable food item, Roberts Dairy donated a free ice cream treat. Donation sites were set up near the main cafeteria as well as in the lower food court in the WSC Student Center.

"This is the second year that we've done this promotion," said John Sinniger, manager of the Wayne State Chartwells food service. "We were overwhelmed with the response from the students, staff and faculty. I want to thank Roberts Dairy for agreeing to provide the ice cream treats to those donating to the 'Have a Heart' campaign. This was our second year and we hope to continue to make this an annual event."

Lori Carollo, Chapter Manager of the Wayne Red Cross, added "We are extremely grateful also to Troy Test with Roberts Dairy for helping with this event, but especially to John Sinniger for coming up with this idea and promoting it so well. He called us last year after they held the event and we were overwhelmed with what they collected for our chapter."

Carollo went on to say, "This year, I was able to be up there during the day and the kids were just great. Not only with their financial donations for the Red Cross, but also with the food items for the Food Pantry. WSC students, faculty and staff really do 'have a heart' and it was a fun day!"

Cardinal Key fundraiser ongoing

Cardinal Key National Honor Society of Wayne State College will be raising money for the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation (JDRF) from March 31 to April 16.

On April 7 and 10, members will be going out to the Wayne businesses asking for donations to support JDRF.

Cardinal Key is an organization committed to service and leadership. It is proud to be a dedicated part of the fundraising process for JDRF every spring semester.

Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation is the world's leading nonprofit, nongovernmental funder of diabetes research. Its mission is to find a cure for diabetes and its complications through the support of research. Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation was founded in 1970 by the parents of children with juvenile diabetes - a disease that strikes children suddenly, makes them insulin dependent for life, and carries the constant threat of devastating complications. JDRF structures its research to ensure that resources are spent most effectively to accelerate progress toward finding a cure.

Internationally, JDRF has awarded more than $600 million in direct funding to diabetes research.

If you would like to donate to JDRF and have not been contacted, please call Cardinal Key Vice President Lisa Lange at 375-6760.

Library Week activities scheduled

National Library Week is April 1-8. The theme this year is @your library.

Wayne Middle School will celebrate at Wayne Middle School in a variety of ways during April 7-11. "National Library Week is a perfect time to think about the importance of literature in our lives," said Jeaneen Kindschuh, Middle School Media Specialist.

A Scholastic Book Fair at Wayne Middle School Library will be held through Tuesday, April 8. Teachers and classes will have the ability to schedule times to visit the book fair.

A number of activities have been planned in conjunction with National Library Week.

Monday, April 7 is Library Student Helpers Appreciation Day. All Library helpers for the semester will receive a special treat.

Teacher Appreciation Day is scheduled for Wednesday, April 9 to thank the teachers for their encouragement of students using the Middle School Library.

All student book fines paid on Thursday, April 10 will be cut in half. This is a one time offer.

Proceeds from the book fair will go toward the purchase of books for the Middle School Library.

Alexander to present lecture

Dr. Andrew Alexander is the recipient of the Balsley Whitmore Excellence in Teaching Award, presented annually to a tenured member of the Wayne State College English faculty. Alexander will present a lecture titled, "Castaways Old and New: Cinematic Versions of Robinson Crusoe," on April 8 at 3:30 in the Elkhorn Room of the student center on campus.

The public is welcome to attend the presentation. There is no admission charge.

Alexander will examine the various ways Daniel Defoe's classic novel Robinson Crusoe has been altered and adapted to the very different medium of film over the years, from some of the early silent movie versions of the story up to its latest incarnation in the recent Tom Hanks movie "Cast Away."

Alexander received his B.A. from the University of Wisconsin, an M.A. from South Dakota State University and a Ph.D. from the University of Toronto. Prior to coming to WSC in 1993, Alexander taught at Iowa State University, Massachusetts College of Pharmacy, Suffolk University and Rhode Island College. At Wayne State College, Alexander teaches a variety of courses on British literature, composition, logic and ethics.

The Balsley Whitmore award is given to the faculty member who exemplifies the teaching mission of WSC by engaging in innovative and challenging classroom teaching; enhancing critical thinking; promoting independent learning and contributing to the intellectual life of the campus community.

The award is funded by the Balsley Whitmore Endowment, honoring the late Howard and Irol (Whitmore) Balsley, a 1933 WSC graduate. Both of the Balsleys were educators and authors. A portion of the annual award is provided as cash, with the balance used to support the WSC teaching mission by funding travel, materials and books, release time or other endeavors or activities.

Art show, campus events set

The public is invited to arrive early to take advantage of concurrent events on April 7 that begin with an opening/reception for an exhibit by Wayne State art faculty from 6:30 to 8 p.m. in the Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery, located in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Building on campus.

Other events that evening in the same building include the "Yesterday's Tomorrows: Past Visions of the American Future," a traveling exhibition from the Smithsonian on display in the foyer and the final Black and Gold fine arts series performance in recently renovated Ramsey Theatre.

The Wayne State College art faculty will be displaying works until April 25. There is no admission charge for the opening or to view the exhibits. Artists and work included are: Wayne Anderson, prints; Judith Berry, ceramic sculpture; Dr. Pearl Hansen, tempera paintings; Marlene Mueller, paintings and ceramics; Ray Replogle, sculpture and Vie Reynolds, encaustic and digital prints.

Safety class is planned for Laurel

Farm safety for youth is the focus of a training and certification course being coordinated by the University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension in Dakota, Dixon and Thurston counties. It has been scheduled for Saturday, April 26 at the Laurel-Concord High School in Laurel from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The training is not a how-to tractor driving course but teaches safety and tractor maintenance while allowing those 14 and 15-year olds who successfully complete it to operate over horsepower tractors for someone other than their parents or guardians. Youth working on their parents' farm are not subject to the Hazardous Occupation Child Labor Orders, but are encouraged to attend.

Participants successfully completing this training will receive a certificate showing they completed the tractor safety course, the written and driving tests, allowing them to apply for a Farm Husbandry Permit which authorizes the operation of implements on farm husbandry. Farm husbandry equipment is defined as off-road vehicles designed for agricultural, horticultural or livestock-raising operations or for lifting or carrying an implement of husbandry.

Permits are obtained from the local Driver's License Examiner and subject to fee.

Youth who turn 14 in 2003 may take this course, but will not receive their certificate until their 14th birthday. Tractor Safety test results from this training are valid until the applicant's 16th birthday.

Pre-registration is required by April 22 to the Thurston County Extension Office. Contact the Wayne County Extension Office at (402) 375-3310 for more information or registration forms.

Janet Eckmann shows slides at March RC&D meeting

President Bob Lingenfelter led the Northeast Nebraska Resource Conservation & Development (RC&D) Council meeting March 24 with 23 people present.

Janet Eckmann showed slides of her recent LEAD travel seminar to Uruguay, Argentina and Chile. Due to the climate there farmers can grow 2 1/2 crops to one raised in the U.S. Currently there's lots of distrust of government and banking in those countries, the money system is in chaos, and as a result bartering is used a lot.

Following the regular order of business committees reported, Duane Fanta and Bob Lingenfelter talked about the new efforts to direct market meat to consumers. Sandy Patton explained her AmeriCorps work on community gardens, farmer's markets and more local use by citizens and institutions of locally grown foods.

Don Meadows recommended the Council join the Highway 14 Association because of their new effort to promote tourism.

The Council voted to secure a Nebraska Humanities speaker for a Lavitset program with proceeds going to the Corps of Discovery Welcome Center and to purchase a membership at the Center for displaying a brochure. Gary Hgwey, Janet Eckmann and staff have presented Lewis & Clark programs around the region to educate citizens on local history and the importance of welcoming travelers during the Bicentennial.

The Council will write a support letter of the need to maintain the Nebraska Forest Service. Ashfall will lose 38 percent of their funding due to budget cuts. A Lewis & Clark Lake watershed assessment project was approved designed to identify sites in South Dakota and Nebraska contributing sediment to the lake.

Tenth anniversary celebration ideas were discussed. The Byway 12 conference is Saturday, April 12 in Crofton at the Argo Hotel. Upper Missouri United Chamber of Commerce will reorganize during their meeting at 6:30 p.m. There will be a meeting, Thursday, March 27, at Drover's Steakhouse in Creighton. Lindy's 75th Jubilee will be July 5.

The next meeting of the RC&D Council is Monday, April 28, 7:30 p.m. at the office. Sandy Patton will be speaking about her recent visit to Heifer International and Angelle Organics community supported agriculture farm near Chicago. All are welcome to attend.
