Bloodbank to screen for West Nile virus

The Siouxland Community Blood Bank in Sioux City and other blood centers across the United States will start the screening of blood donations for West Nile virus on July 1 using a new genetic test. This is the first time that a test for the virus has been available for blood donations.

West Nile virus is transmitted to humans mainly through the bites of infected mosquitoes. In rare cases, the germ also can be spread through blood transfusions, organ transplants, breast milk, and in utero. More than 20 cases of transfusion-acquired West Nile virus were reported in the United States last year. With funding from the federal government, companies raced to find a rapid and accurate test to screen donated blood.

Genetic tests for the virus have been developed by Roche Diagnostic, and Gen-Probe, Last month, both companies received Food and Drug Administration approval to screen newly donated blood. The tests are considered 'investigational' and are not fully licensed by the FDA.

"We anticipate that there will probably be cases of West Nile this year in the Midwest, and we want to provide the safest blood products possible for our community," said Jan Twait, CEO of the blood bank. "The blood bank has already begun taking steps to identify donors with West Nile symptoms." In the blood donor screening process, new questions relating to symptoms of the West Nile infection are now being included.

For more information you can contact the Siouxland Community Blood Bank at 712-252-4208, 1-800-798-4208 or visit their website www.siouxlandbloodbank.org.

Steps offered for a sun-safe community

The American Cancer Society wants to remind everyone that important sun protection methods include effective use of sunscreen, hats, protective clothing, sunglasses and avoidance of the sun when UV (ultra violet) rays are most dangerous, generally between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Skin cancer is the most common form of cancer, but also one of the most preventable. The American Cancer Society is promoting sun safety to raise awareness and to remind everyone that if sun protection measure are started at an early age, there is less risk of developing skin cancer later in life.

According to statistics more than one million Americans will be diagnosed with skin cancer in 2003. Because of the possible link between severe sunburns in childhood and greatly increase risk of melanoma and other skin cancers in later life, children, in particular, should be protected from the sun.

Most people do not realize sun damage not only happens in the spring and summer - the sun's effects can be just as damaging in the fall and winter as well. We need to protect ourselves from the harmful effects of the sun year-round, no matter what our age or skin color. By reducing our skin cancer risk, we can live longer, healthier lives.

- Remember Slip - on a shirt, slop - on some sunscreen, slap - on a hat, and wrap - on some shades (sunglasses).

- Slip! Slip on a shirt. Wear a long-sleeved shirt for best protection.

- Slop! on sunscreen. Wear sunscreen with a SPF (sun protection factor) of 15 or higher on any exposed skin. Apply sunscreen 15-20 minutes before going outdoors and be sure to reapply as necessary, especially after swimming, perspiring heavily or toweling off.

- Slap! Slap on a hat. Wear a wide-brimmed hat that shades the face, neck and ears.

- Wrap! Wrap on shades. Wear 99-100 percent UV absorption sunglasses as protection of the eyes.

For information about cancer, call toll-free any time day or night, 1-800-ACS-2345 or visit the American Cancer Society Web site at www.cancer.org

The magic of Frank Morrison

By Ed Howard

Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association
It was a beautiful day in McCook as former Gov. Frank Morrison sat before an audience at the Buffalo Commons Storytelling Festival.

Morrison, now 98, served three terms (two years each, back then) in the Statehouse. A fervent Democrat by choice and a stem-winding speaker by golly, Morrison wowed the crowd. They had come to hear him, along with some far less qualified types, tell political stories.

Naturally, lots of the stories were about Morrison.

The session had a little magic about it. It seemed that Frank Brenner Morrison still had it in him to steal the show - even though it was his show to begin with.

In a scene reflecting the stuff legends are made of, the folks who had come to hear some old stories about Morrison actually witnessed the birth of a new one. And it was a dandy.

Morrison, who was sitting to my right, began talking about a fellow who years and years ago had given him a black hat. The guy said Morrison (whose trademarks include white Stetsons) was pretty much a bad guy, undeserving of the white hat which is symbolic of good guys.

Well, Morrison said, he had waited many and many a year for an occasion just such as this, so he could throw away that black hat. So, he said he was gonna' do it. Right then. And with that, he whipped his Stetson off his head and sailed it like a Frisbee toward the audience - an audience which was already aware of what Morrison announced in a genuinely surprised voice: "Oh, m'gosh! That's a white one!"

It was, too.

The applause only seemed to subside when the hometown admirers had to stop hand-banging long enough to wipe tears of laughter from their cheeks.

The storytelling ran overtime, a situation not uncommon whenever Morrison has had access to an audience over the past 70 or so years.

When the laughter subsided, Morrison eloquently paid tribute to those who teach, saying it was the most important of all professions. He lectured, with the love of an elder, on the importance of an informed citizenry that could watch, understand and participate in its government. He also told the crowd, almost off-handedly, that he was being treated for cancer of the esophagus, and that he felt up to the fight.

He wasn't bluffing, either.

A bit earlier, someone noted Morrison and his beloved wife, Maxine, recently moved into a new home in McCook. The previous owner lived to be 105. Someone suggested to Morrison that perhaps some of that longevity would rub off on him.

"Hmmm?" Morrison said, as he obviously contemplated the 105 years. "Might be. But, you know, I'd like to maybe see if I can do a little better than that."

It shouldn't surprise anyone if he does.

In conclusion, a story Morrison told on himself:

In his first bid for public office (for some local board) Morrison was nominated by the Democrats and the Republicans. He figured he had it sewed up, obviously. Ready? He was beaten by a write-in candidate!

Perhaps that beginning contributed to his dauntless determination throughout a life of public service.

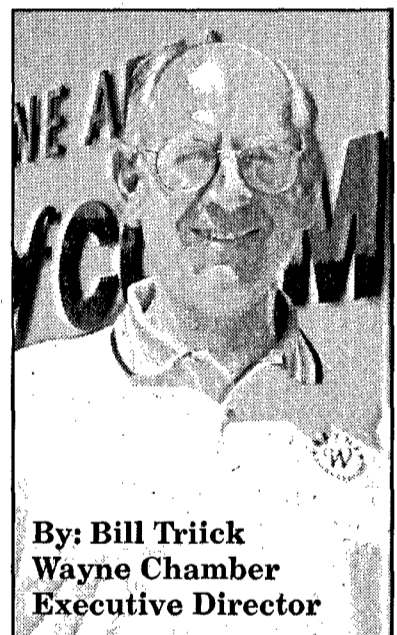

NEW BEGINNINGS!

The next three weeks at the Chamber will be very busy finalizing the details for the Wayne Chicken Show. As everyone knows, the Chicken Show Committee is a community-wide committee that meets at the Chamber office and whose preparations and activities are coordinated by the Chamber staff and the festival leadership. Friday's Henoween and Saturday's Chicken Show are rolled into one big festival that needs coordination and cooperation especially for promotion and vendor participation.

The 23rd annual event will be quite an extravaganza. In addition to the musical highlights previously announced, we are pleased to share with everyone that Ronald McDonald is expected to make an appearance on Saturday. While no details are available at present, plan to stick around on the 11th and 12th and share your civic pride and enthusiasm with the 5,000-10,000 visitors we are expecting. Also, the times and sequences for some of the activities have changed since the publication of the brochure, so be sure to visit the committee booth at the Show to view an updated schedule for Saturday.

A special general membership meeting was held last week at which our bylaws were amended to allow the process for electing new directors to our board to proceed one month earlier. The result of this change will allow new directors to participate in the board planning session each fall.

Hal and I have had to make," Stearns said. "Being president at Wayne State has been a great job and Wayne is one of the warmest communities we've been part of. The job in Montana, though, is appealing as well; especially since we have family there."

As for goals as Commissioner of Higher Education, "The budget environment is the same as here," Stearns said. "All states are in the same boat with declining state revenues. I want to meet objectives such as affordability for education for students as well as quality of education which is a struggle."

Wayne Mayor Sheryl Lindau, who is chairman of the Trustees

The Wayne State College budget reduction plan for the 2004 fiscal year beginning July 1 is very close to being finalized. The budget reductions total $1,400,000, which are in addition to more than a $1,000,000 reduction mandated in the fall of 2002 as a result of the state's budget shortfall.

Following a series of campus forums this week, Wayne State president Sheila Stearns announced the following cuts: $1,000,000 in personnel, and $400,000 in non-personal services, including equipment and travel. She explained that these levels of cuts are necessary even with a 14.1 percent tuition increase approved by the Nebraska State College Board of Trustees at its June meeting.

"This has been a very difficult decision, one that impacts the lives of a number of people," Stearns said. "We are pleased that the legislature provided some lessening of the 10 percent budget reductions that the governor proposed in his budget plan. In February, with the governor's plan Wayne State would have lost 27 full-time equivalent (FTE) positions. With the budget plan that was passed by the legislature in May, the number of FTE positions we are losing has been reduced to 17."

Of those 17, some positions are being reduced to less than full-time, and six took advantage of Nebraska State College System's voluntary retirement program. As a result, seven Wayne State employees are subject to reduction-in-force effective July 1: six staff members including two administrators, and one faculty member. An additional three faculty members will be laid off effective July 1, 2004.

No programs have been eliminated as a result of the budget reductions, although some have been reduced or reconfigured. "Our top priority is our students and preserving the core educational programs and services Wayne State offers," Stearns said. "With a loss of more than $2,400,000 in our operating budget over the past year, it would be impossible not to affect our programs and people.

"Much credit must be given to our employees, including support and professional staff and faculty members. I believe the campus community has come through a trying time with a united goal of doing what is best for our students. I am very proud of them."

Tuition raised at state colleges in Nebraska

Because of state funding cuts, tuition will increase 14.1 percent this fall at the three state colleges in Nebraska. State colleges funding for next year was cut by legislature $1.9 million.

The 14.1 percent increase was approved by the State Colleges

Board of Trustees at their June meeting.

In-state students at Wayne, Peru, or Chadron State Colleges will be paying $87 per credit hour instead of the current $76.25. For in-state resident graduates, it is $96 per credit hour, for 2003-04 it will be $110. Undergraduates, nonresident, pay $152.50, for 2003-04, it will be $174. Graduate student, nonresident, prices this year are $192 but it will be $220.

Tuition is also being increased 15 percent at all four University of Nebraska campuses.

Nebraska State College Board, said they are very sorry to see her go but that it is a nice opportunity for her to go to Montana to be with her family and it is a nice position for her.

"We will start the process of appointing an interim president," Lindau said. "but it could be a year before a permanent replacement is found."

Stan Carpenter, executive director of the Nebraska State Colleges System, plans to meet with Stearns, Lindau, and leaders on campus the end of this week and the first of next week for their input in the appointment process.

Carpenter noted they have time to think of an interim president as Stearns won't be leaving for a couple of months.

"I'm hopeful that once the search begins, someone will be named before the end of the year," Carpenter said. "But, we want to conduct a thorough nationwide search."

Stearns served as the Chancellor at University of Montana-Western from 1993-99. Prior to that, she held positions as Vice President of University Relations and Director of Alumni Affairs at the University of Montana-Missoula. She is a Glendive, Montana, native and attended the University of Montana-Missoula for her bachelor's, master's and doctoral degrees. School board receives WEB update on playground renovation

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

Representing WEB (Wayne Elementary Boosters), Laura Gamble and Jodi Pulfer were present at the meeting of the Wayne Community Schools Board of Education Monday night. They gave the board an update on the revamping planned for the elementary school playground. They noted parents felt some of the equipment was getting old and unsafe and that prompted them to begin the project.

Gamble said they have received $10,000 and are in the process of working with three grants; one with Gardner Foundation, one with Aquila, and one with Pamida. Making this a community project, other businesses, individuals, and organizations are signing on to help.

The estimate cost of the project is around $40,000. Anyone wanting to make a donation, volunteer labor, or ask questions can call Laura at 402-375-5622.

Also present to address the board was Darla Munson. She asked them to reconsider the proposed budget reduction loss of health insurance for her class of employee, secretary to the principal (elementary school). She noted there are three secretaries to the principals, one in each building, and that they should all have the same benefits and same status.

The board told her they would consider the matter but were going to wait for legislation to be final and also see what Mutual of Omaha Insurance Company does on raising insurance costs.

The board approved with regrets a number of staff resignations: Melissa Urbanec who was a technology trainer, Sarah Surber who worked in the cafeteria, Janice Mitchell, cafeteria, Robin Marlowe, Spanish teacher, and Patti Grashorn, cafeteria.

With the resignation of the Spanish teacher, the board is looking at getting a replacement. Tracy Coover will be filling in the position this fall. She will be graduating from Wayne State College in December with a BA in education and endorsements in Spanish and speech.

The board approved the updated 2003-04 school calendar. Teachers will start back to school with an inservice on Aug. 18 and 19, and

There will also be an increase in health insurance and salary due to advancement on the salary schedule. The last Legislative session resulted in an additional lid of 1.29 percent of the general fund budget which will curtail additional spending for the school district.

Wayne Seniors place second at Crete Tournament

The Wayne Senior Legion baseball team faced some of the state's top Class B teams at the Blue River Classic Tournament in Crete last weekend.

Wayne opened pool play Friday evening with a 6-5 loss to Beatrice. The locals could not overcome seven walks and five errors, leaving the tying run on third base in the final inning.

Adam Hoffman's two doubles led a balanced 10-hit attack for Wayne. Brad Hochstein added two singles, Matt Roeber had a double with Aaron Jorgensen, Andy Baker, Adam McGuire, Josh Sharer and Eric Sturm each contributing a single.

Hochstein (1-2) suffered the loss on the mound, giving up seven hits over six innings. He walked seven and struck out four. Only two of the six runs scored by Beatrice were earned.

Wayne rebounded with a 13-1 thumping of Waverly on Saturday. Mike Sturm (1-2) earned the win, allowing just one run on three hits over five innings. He struck out seven and walked five.

Sturm also led Wayne in hitting with two doubles. Hochstein had a double and single, Jorgensen doubled with McGuire, Sharer and Roeber adding singles.

The next game saw Wayne edge defending state champion Nebraska City 3-2.

"That was probably the best baseball game I've ever been a part of in the years I've been coaching," stated head coach Chad Metzler.

McGuire (5-2) pitched a complete game to get the win, allowing three hits and two runs over seven innings. He struck out five and walked three.

Eric Sturm had two hits and scored twice to lead Wayne in the win. Roeber delivered an RBI triple in the fourth inning with two outs to tie the game at 2-2. Jorgensen had a double with Mike Sturm, Baker and Jorgensen each producing a single to round out Wayne's hitting.

Wayne preserved the win when Hochstein made a leaping catch of a line-drive to end the game with the tying run on third base.

In the championship game on Sunday, Wayne dropped a 10-1 decision to Auburn.

Hoffman's leadoff double was Wayne's only hit of the game. Sharer was the losing pitcher.

"We came out extremely flat after an emotionally draining win against Nebraska City," said Metzler.

McGuire and Eric Sturm were chosen to the Blue River Classic All-Tournament Team for Wayne.

In non-league play Monday evening, Wayne outlasted Oakland/Lyons 13-9. A six-run first inning helped Wayne jump out early, but nine errors and sloppy play allowed Oakland to keep the game close.

Mike Sturm laced a double, triple and home run to pace Wayne in hitting. He drove in three runs and also scored three times. Sharer had three singles, McGuire added two hits with Kris Roberts, Jon Ehrhardt, Chris Nissen, Jorgensen and Hoffman each producing one hit.

Hoffman (3-0) was the winning pitcher with McGuire earning the save. Hoffman pitched five and two-thirds innings, allowing seven hits, nine runs (two were earned) to go with seven strikeouts and three walks.

McGuire pitched the final one and one-third innings, striking out three batters.

Pierce topped Wayne in Ralph Bishop League play last Wednesday evening 3-1 at Overin Field.

McGuire and Josh Beltz of Pierce staged a pitching duel, allowing a combined five hits in the game. McGuire (4-2) suffered the loss, giving up just three hits and three runs (two earned). He struck out six and walked two.

Late inning losses continue to haunt Wayne Juniors

The Wayne Junior Legion baseball team suffered two more heart-breaking losses in the past week. Oakland/Lyons and Pierce used big final inning rallies to top Wayne at Overin Field.

A three-run sixth inning helped Oakland/Lyons edge Wayne Monday evening 7-6. Blake Lyon had two hits (double and single) to go with three RBIs to lead Wayne at the plate. Nate Finkey had a double to go with two stolen bases and two runs scored. Wade Jarvi had the other hit, a single.

Finkey was the losing pitcher in relief of starter Nathan Milander. Milander worked five innings, striking out 10 while giving up just one run on three hits. Finkey tossed the final inning, allowing three runs on two hits and one walk. He struck out four.

Said head coach Jeff Zeiss, "We just can't find a way to get that final out. Costly errors have hurt us in all of our games, but we will continue to work and play hard."

Last Wednesday, Pierce plated 11 runs in the fifth inning to rally for a 15-10 win at Overin Field.

Wayne lost the game despite banging out 12 hits. Lyon and Matt Sharer each connected for three singles. Jarvi followed with two singles while Milander, Joe Meyer, Derek Carroll and Nathan Summerfield each had one single.

Finkey worked four and one-third innings, striking out nine batters while allowing three hits and six walks. Jarvi tossed the final two-thirds of an inning and was tagged with the loss, giving up four hits and two walks.

Wayne was eliminated from the tournament following a 10-0 loss to Prague. Paulson was the losing pitcher and had one of three hits for Wayne. Ball and Jarvi also singled.

Jenny Raveling's two singles led Wayne in hitting. Kiley Luhr added a double and Dawn Jensen had a single. Ashley Carroll was the losing pitcher despite giving up just three hits.

The next game saw Wayne edge Logan View 4-3. Carroll earned the win, allowing five hits.

a single. Kelly's of Norfolk knocked Wayne out of the tournament with a 7-0 loss.

Jessica Thomsen and Pieper each singled, the only hits for Wayne in the game. Micaela Weber was the losing pitcher.

Starting catcher Dawn Jensen strained her back in the first inning of the game, forcing Wayne to finish the game with just eight players.

"We are playing very good softball right now," said coach Munson. "If we can eliminate our errors, we will have a good shot at state in three weeks."

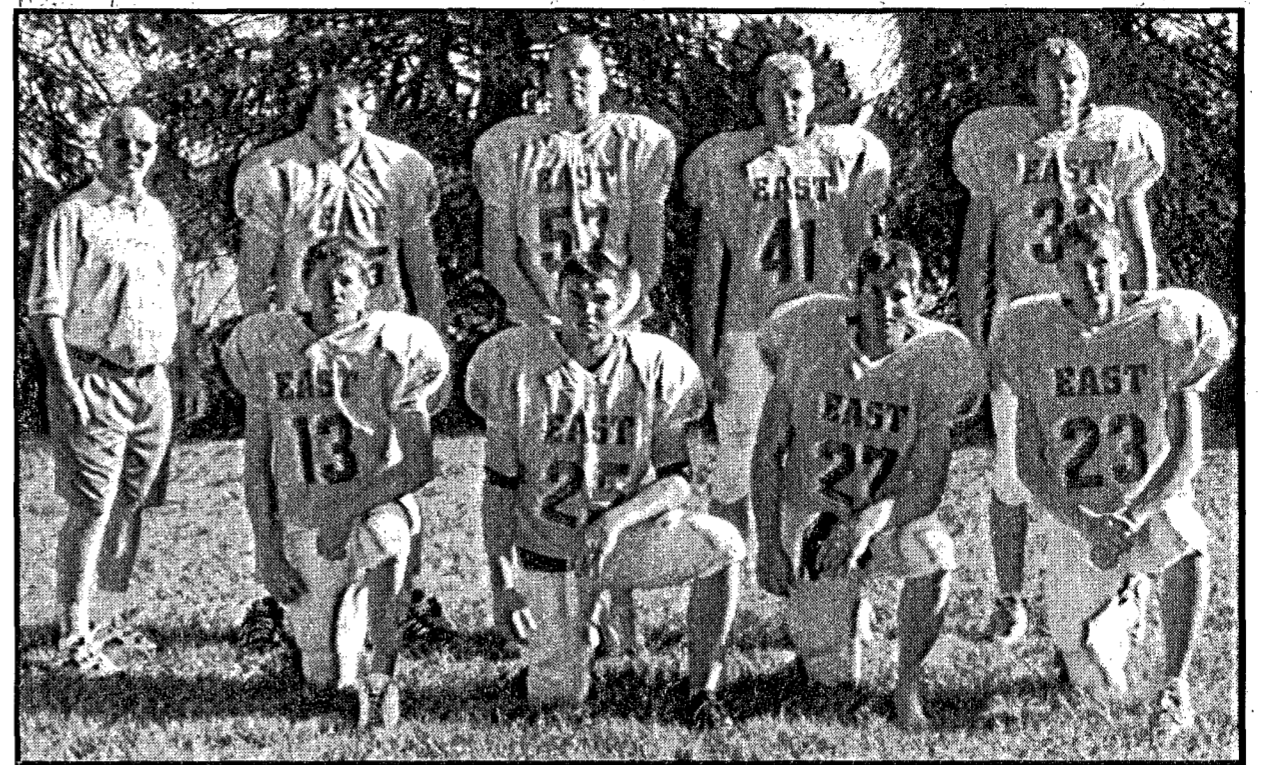

The 16-under team will compete at the State Tournament in Hastings July 4-6.

In league play last Thursday, Wayne defeated Tyson's of West Point 11-4.

RC&D update presented

Corps of Discovery Welcome Center - The Welcome Center is getting busy these nice days now that travelers are on the move. The State Historical Society panels look wonderful after being refurbished at Butch's Body Shop in Royal. Educational information and workshops continue to be held. Board members, the manager and the volunteers are always trying to come up with new ways to draw more people and more memberships to the Center. Contact Shana James, Manager at 402-667-6557 for more information or to volunteer.

Heartland Experience - Agritourism is fairly new to many farm and ranch families in this part of the state, but ten producers are going to give it a try. They want to draw travelers off the roadways and out to see what rural life is really like. This project is working mainly through the Corps of Discovery Welcome Center. Most of the tours will be booked at the Center and hopefully through a web site in the future. The focus is to bring more income to the families involved while educating and entertaining the traveling public. Look for more agritourism activities.

Sustainable Farming and Food Initiative/AmeriCorps - Two community gardens, several farmers' markets, direct meat marketing efforts, and developing ideas for workshops about "Understanding the Promise of Local Foods" have kept Sandy Patton busy lately. Next week she's going to have an opportunity to learn more about Heifer International programs in several states as well as local initiatives they're involved in. She's still interested in water quality and gets involved in that as time permits as well as recycling efforts. Unfortunately the grant request to do another waste tire collection was not funded for this summer.

East Branch Verdigre Creek Watershed - Another Watershed Advisory Council meeting takes place tonight in Royal. They are planning to do some assessment work in the area that will give them a starting point of what's really being done on the land. At each meeting they're learning about a different issue that is or could affect the watershed. The final product resulting from the work of this grassroots group will be a Watershed Management Plan. This comprehensive problem-solving document will strive to sustain and improve environmental health through natural resources management that integrates local initiatives.

Local Artists - Chests, Boxes & Birdhouses' all made from Nebraska wood are on display in June and July. Tom and Sylvia Schindler of Elgin are the creators of these fine pieces. The Schindlers have made some very serviceable footstools and book shelves. They also have birdhouses, jewelry boxes, a small trunk and one cutout made to look like a panther. The items are made of cedar, walnut, ash, Chinese elm, birch and oak.

Experience Works (formerly Green Thumb) Is Back - Clo Ann Shambles is with us in the office again for at least one more year! We're happy as clams about that. She provides clerical assistance to all of us in the office, assists the Council with many project efforts, and helps out with anything else that might come along. They provide her approximately 20 hours per week.

If you're interested in learning more about Experience Works contact Dee Doty, Field Operations Coordinator, POB 662, O'Neill, NE 68763, 800-624-7899. The program serves those at least 55 years of age and meeting certain income guidelines.

Nebraska Grazing Conference - This third annual event is coming up in Kearney on August 11-12. The RC&D Council is one of the sponsors of this event. Tentative speaker topics include low-cost grazing strategies, matching genetics to resources, winter grazing & supplementation of cows, building localized producer-based coalitions, the stewardship of grazing & biodiversity, learned grazing behaviors, drought issues, and irrigated pastures.

More specific information will be available soon. Details can be found at:

www.grassland.unl.edu/grazeconf.htm
Shannon Trail - The Promoters and the Nebraska Humanities Council proudly present "A Tale of the Trail", a musical comedy with a cast of 24 that will delight you with sensational acting, dancing & singing. See it in Verdigre, ZCJB Hall, 7:30 p.m. July 17-20 and again in Crofton at the auditorium, 7:30 p.m. July 24-27. There's a $5 donation per person, kids 12 & under are free. All proceeds go to support this project.

Winside men win $100,000

After finishing a round of golf on June 1, Thomas Koll and Bob Bowers of Winside decided to stop at Pronto in Randolph to buy Nebraska Lottery Scratch tickets using money that they had previously won playing the Lottery. The pair bought 14 Casino Riches Tickets and won $100,000.

After buying the tickets, the two, who are both farmers, went to a meeting for work where they began to scratch their tickets. Bowers commented to Koll that they "had a good one." Koll thought to himself that they probably won "about $100," but when he learned they had actually won $100,000, he said he "couldn't believe it." Koll and Bowers told Nebraska Lottery officials that they put the winning ticket in a safe until they could reach the Nebraska Lottery claim center in Lincoln.

Koll and Bowers selected Casino Riches, which they had never played before, because the store was currently out of their favorite game, Red Hot 7's. Koll and Bowers told Nebraska Lottery officials that Casino Riches was now their favorite game.

Although Koll had previously won $50 and Bowers had won $77 playing the Nebraska Lottery, this was their first big win, they said. Plans for the prize, which they split 50/50, include paying bills, saving some of it, and perhaps buying some more Nebraska Lottery tickets.

The odds of winning $100,000 playing the $5 Casino Riches game are one in 360,000 while the overall odds of winning something playing the game are one in 3.46.

Higher U.S. wholesale natural gas prices expected to affect Aquila customer bills

Significantly higher U.S. wholesale natural gas prices are expected to cause Aquila's gas customers in Nebraska to experience higher bills, a company official said recently.

"Based on current market conditions, we expect our natural gas customers to experience higher prices this year and through the winter heating season," said Steve Pella, operating vice president for Aquila in Nebraska. "As a result, we are encouraging our customers to take steps for home and business weatherization and conservation to help control their costs."

U.S. market prices for natural gas currently are about $6 per Mcf (one thousand cubic feet) compared to approximately $3.50 a year ago. Aquila provides gas to its customers at the same price it is able to purchase its gas supplies.

An example of the effect of high gas prices on Aquila customers is the adjustment being made in July to the company's StreamLINE® level-payment plan. The plan allows participating customers to have the same payment each month, based on their past gas usage and the projected gas price. Aquila has about 44,660 customers on StreamLINE in Nebraska and approximately 450 in Wayne.

With the sharp rise in wholesale gas costs, the average StreamLINE customer in Nebraska will experience an increase from the current monthly payment of about $34.68 to a monthly payment of approximately $63.39.

"By making this adjustment in July we are helping our customers avoid very large account balances that would have to be reconciled on an annual basis," Pella said.

Pella stated that the key factors currently influencing U.S. gas prices include:

"U.S. gas storage levels are about 40 percent below the same time last year, and about 30 percent below the five-year average."

"U.S. natural gas production is currently at about the same level as last year. The combination of low gas storage levels with no increase in gas production means that less gas supply is available to meet consumer demand."

To help mitigate the effect of higher gas prices this winter, Aquila is using a portfolio approach in purchasing gas for the heating season when consumer demand is highest. In Nebraska, Aquila is purchasing a mixture of gas supplies in fixed-price contracts; gas placed in storage; options contracts, and gas purchased at market prices.

On average, gas commodity costs comprise 60 percent of the customer's bill. Transportation of gas from the wellhead where it is produced comprises about 20 percent of the bill. Another 20 percent of the customer's bill is for the distribution of gas into local communities, and includes such services as meter reading and system maintenance. Transportation and distribution costs are regulated by federal and state agencies.

To help offset the effects of higher natural gas prices on customer bills, Pella recommended customers consider the following energy conservation measures:

"During the winter, adjust the thermostat during the day and night. Set the thermostat at 68 degrees during the day, and lower it a few degrees at night."

"Lower the water heater temperature a few degrees.

*Use cold water whenever possible. Many laundry detergents are effective in cold water.

Check furnace filters monthly and clean or replace as needed.

*Don't block heating vents with furniture or clutter.

*Caulk and seal around windows and doors.

*Add insulation in the home's attic.

*Install a setback thermostat that will automatically lower temperature settings at night and at other designated times.

Aquila serves approximately 1,990 natural gas customers in Wayne and about 188,000 customers in Nebraska. The company's state headquarters is in Lincoln.

Farm Bureau holds picnic

The annual Wayne County Farm Bureau picnic was held June 16 at Bressler Park in Wayne.

Approximately 40 Farm Bureau members and guests were in attendance, including a number of district and state representatives. Following the meal, Keith R. Olsen of Grant, President of the Nebraska Farm Bureau spoke briefly on his recent involvement with the Governor's Ag Conference to Japan.

Olsen was among a group of 40 Nebraskans who traveled to Japan on a trade mission. The group was composed of both those involved in agricultural and those involved with medicine.

Olsen told his audience Japan imports 60 percent of its food. However, the family size, and consequently, the need for food is going down. He also noted that the Japanese population has the impression that the United States takes food production casually.

Following Olsen's presentation, Jeffery Gatzke of Hitchcock, S.D., chair of the National Young Farmer and Rancher Committee of the Farm Bureau spoke to the group.

He noted that Farm Bureau is currently celebrating agriculture and that young farmers and ranchers are important to the Farm Bureau.

Gatzke said the Farm Bureau recognizes the changes taking place in the agricultural industry and challenges the young farmers and ranchers to develop a positive attitude toward these changes. Don Liedman of Carroll, past

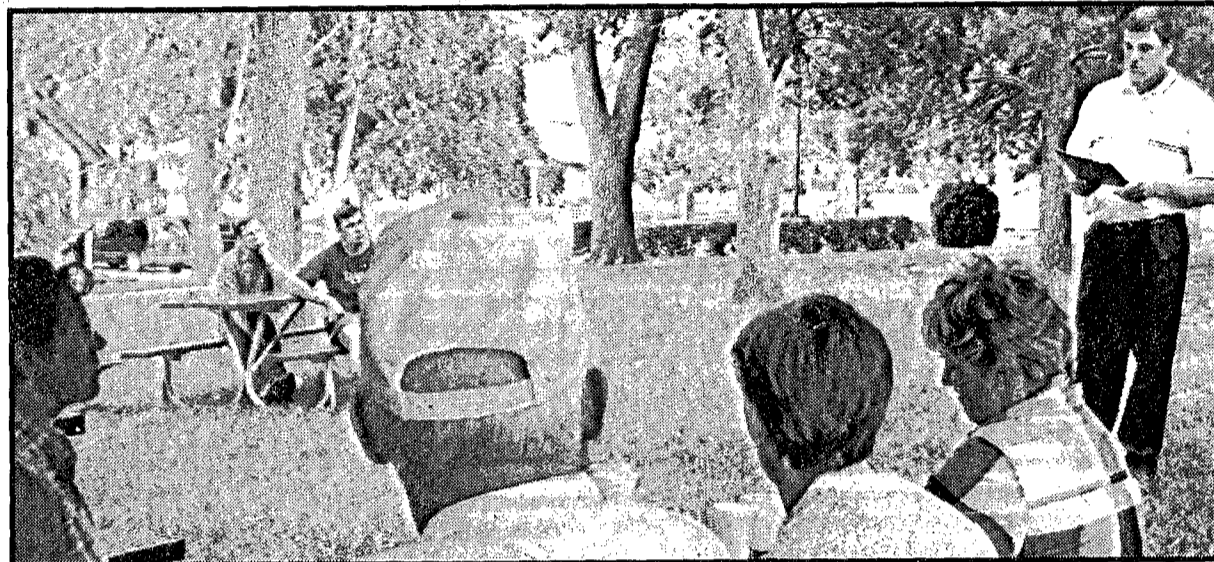

State Farm Bureau member, also spoke and encouraged those in attendance to take an active roll in the Farm Bureau, noting that all of the organization's policy comes from the local level. He noted that during the past year, the group worked to discourage the diagonal bi-section of farm ground and that recommendation has now become policy. The Wayne County Farm Bureau currently has 330 family members and welcomes new members.

Oil from Two Herbs Used in Aromatherapy

Research has shown that specific odors, when connected to past events, can affect behavior. For example, a burning smell or the smell of hospital disinfectants can cause feelings of anxiety in some persons. That is the concept behind a relatively new approach to healthcare called aromatherapy. Most often specific aromas are used to produce a calming effect. Aromatherapists use essential oils of different herbs to produce the desired outcome.

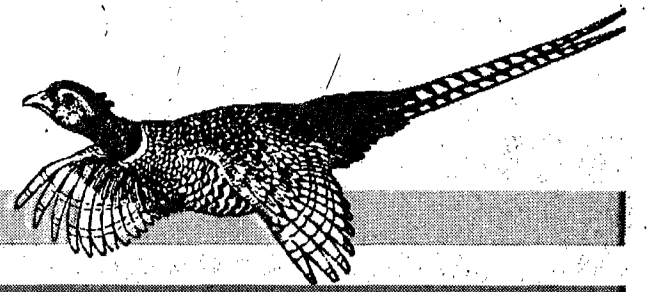

Three recent studies indicate that the scent from the oils of lemongrass and lavender when inhaled or applied to the skin, significantly benefited elderly persons with existing behavior problems such as dementia and agitation. The oils were either steamed into the room air or were applied as a hand lotion. In each study no side effects were noted and all participants were able to complete the designated treatment. The significance of these studies is that an improvement in agitation eventually could lead to decreased need for prescription-calming drugs, in some cases.

Testing for radon? Your family will breathe a lot easier

We recently hosted a Radon meeting with participation from the State Health Department. Their test information from Northeast Nebraska confirmed that radon is a concern for most families in this area.

In fact, some of the more recent results had some counties in Northeast Nebraska with some of the highest in the state. In Dixon County 85 percent of homes tested were over the 4 picocuries per liter of air (pCi/L) rating considered safe. Wayne County had 81 percent of the homes tested were considered high. Cedar County had 79 percent of the homes tested that rated high. Radon is impossible to see, smell or taste.

Radon is the second leading cause of lung cancer in the U.S. - only cigarette smoking causes more lung cancer deaths. In fact, the Environmental Protection Agency and the Surgeon General have strongly recommended that all residences (except those above the second floor in multi-level buildings) be tested for radon. The Nebraska State Health Department is also recommending that all homes and schools be tested.

Radon detection kits are available free of charge from the Dixon County Extension Office, call 402-584-2234, and from the Department of Health and Human Services by calling 800-334-9491. You can also purchase a kit at your local hardware store or other retail outlets. Your family's risk of developing lung cancer from radon depends on the average annual level of radon in your home and the amount of time you spend there. The longer your exposure to radon, the greater the risk. The risk is much greater for smokers. Current estimates are that 14,000 deaths occur annually in the United States due to radon exposure. This is second only to smoking. It seeps into your home from the surrounding soil.

Luckily, radon is easy and inexpensive to detect. And homes with high levels can be fixed. But it's up to you to find out whether radon is a problem in your home. After you've completed testing your home you simply mail the entire kit to the manufacturer for analysis (analysis is often included in the price of the kit). Short-term testing is the quickest way to determine if a potential radon problem exists.

Short-term testing takes anywhere from a few days to several months to complete. The most common testing devices on the market right now are charcoal packages, electret ion detectors and alpha track detectors. Short-term testing should be conducted in the lowest living area of your home, with the doors and windows shut.

Long-term testing can take up to a full year. Alpha track detectors and electret ion detectors are the most common long term testing devices. They are generally recommended when the test is between 4 and 10. If over 10, a second short term test is recommended to confirm the first test, then taking corrective action.

Also available for check out from the Dixon County Extension Office is a reference book on what to do if your level of radon is high. The book contains step by step directions on what to do to reduce radon in your home.

Radon is something you also want to think about if you are building a new home. Radon resistant techniques can be included in new construction for lower costs than adding to existing construction.

MYTHS ABOUT SMALLPOX & ITS VACCINE
 Given the media coverage, a climate of uncertainty, and fears of more terrorist attacks, it may sound smart to receive the smallpox vaccine. Medical experts, however, claim that even the possibility of a major bioterrorist attack in a highly populated area does not warrant a mass public vaccination now. Conventional methods of containing the smallpox disease, which involve isolating the ill and vaccinating close contacts, work well, and the vaccine can produce serious side effects. Even if exposure occurs, receiving the vaccine within a few days can prevent infection. Smallpox patients cannot infect others until a couple of weeks after infection. Bottom line: we have time and plenty of vaccine available should the worst-case scenario become a reality.

Individuals who choose preventative health care are to some degree able to control their own fate in today's vulnerable world. At WAYNE CONVENIENT CLINIC, we are happy to help you maintain your health by offering experienced advice, current information, and dependable service. For more information on this topic or if you would like to schedule an examination, call our office. Located at 114 W. 3rd Street, we are taking new patients. Please call (402) 375-1383 to set up an appointment. Walk-ins are always welcome as well.

Several trained as peer ministers at Our Savior Lutheran Church

Ashley and Brittany Burke, Tiffany Frerichs, Brady Garvin and Debbie and Jason Peschel of Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne have just completed the 14-week Level One Training in Peer Ministry.

Larry Wilson, Director of Youth & Family Ministry at Our Savior was the facilitator. A commissioning took place on June 1 at the 10:30 a.m. worship service and at the Sunday "7" Service.

A Peer Minister is a person trained in caring skills, committed to serving others, with a strong and growing relationship with Jesus Christ. Peer Ministry is a way of life! It is a habitual practice of doing unto the least of these my brothers; to the glory of God and service to the people we meet in every circumstance of our lives.

Christ spent his life ministering to others - healing the sick, comforting the grieving, providing food to the hungry, calming the fears of those who were anxious and welcoming the outcasts of society. He also invited and granted to all who call themselves Christians, the privilege of being ministers in continuing the work He did as He encountered people in need.

"I think it is great that we have youth and adults who are willing to be trained in Peer Ministry and share their gifts with those they come in contact with in their daily lives. I believe this will be a benefit to our congregation, the schools and the community. I hope that every confirmed youth in our congregation will take this training," said Larry Wilson, Director of Youth & Family Ministry. As Peer Ministers at Our Savior, the group will be available to talk to anyone who may need someone to talk with concerning things going on in their life. They will take a leadership role in the youth and family ministry program at Our Savior and the group plans to initiate some youth-led Bible studies.

The Peer Ministry Level One Training comes from the Youth & Family Institute of Augsburg College in Minneapolis, Minnesota and was created by Barbara B. Varenhorst, Ph.D.

For additional information concerning the ministries of Our Savior, contact the church office at (402) 375-2899. The church is located at the corner of Fifth and Main Streets in Wayne.

New classes begin at Calvary Bible Evangelical Free Church

Pastor Cal Kroeker of Calvary Bible Evangelical Free Church has announced the start of two new Adult classes being offered at the church on Sunday mornings at 9:30 a.m.

These classes are meant to help build up believers in their faith and service. The classes include:

1. An introductory class on dealing with false teaching or cults. This will be a video presentation on how to recognize a cult and how to help people steer clear of them.

2. Pastor Cal Kroeker will be teaching a class on "How to Study the Bible." This will be an in-depth study of Bible Study techniques. The class will equip a person to learn how to deeply study the Bible for his/her own personal benefit or for preparation of teaching or preaching of the Bible.

Objectives of the class include:

- a) learn the three-step inductive approach to Bible Study as it relates to understanding the author's intended meaning and purpose;
- b) learn what synthetic and analytic Bible Study methods are;
- c) Practice the discipline of observation by examining the background, genre and text of Philippians 2:1-11.
- d) Practice the discipline of interpreting the results of our observations of Philippians 2:1-11 to declare the original meaning intended by the author.
- e) Practice applying the results of our observation and interpretation for practical applications from the biblical principles gleaned from study of Philippians 2:1-11.

For questions about either of these classes, contact the church at (402) 375-4946. A person may attend the class at any time. Anyone wanting materials for the class should call for registration.

She received her certification on May 30 as part of the Nebraska Synod Assembly/ Festival, which was held at the Cornhusker Hotel in Lincoln May 29-31.

The Parish Ministry Associate Program was begun in 1993 as a program to identify and equip persons serving in congregational settings where full-time pastoral services are not available where ministry exceed the resources of the present leadership.

To be certified as a Parish Ministry Associate, candidates must complete an intentional three-year course of study. Many Parish Ministry Associates are providing ministry in the areas of teaching confirmation, leading Bible studies, working with youth and Christian education, helping with visitation and providing pulpit supply.

"The need for such persons as Parish Ministry Associates is especially great in rural areas where there are few pastors available to serve in interim or pulpit situations or where financial circumstances make it impossible to call an ordained pastor," said Pastor Bill Koeber of Our Savior.

"We give thanks to God for Susan and ask God's blessing upon her as she serves as a Parish Ministry Associate," Pastor Koeber added.

Susan is leading worship at Faith Lutheran Church in Maskell and will continue to serve that congregation as a Parish Ministry Associate. She will also continue as Special Services Coordinator and Resource Teacher with the Pender Public School system.

First Church of Christ to host New Way Singers

The New Way Singers will present a concert at the First Church of Christ on Saturday, June 21 at 7:30 p.m. at the church.

Nebraska Christian College is sponsoring the 32nd annual tour of the New Way Singers. Presenting "IN," a compilation of hymns and contemporary Christian music, the North Tour of the New Way Singers will be in Wayne on Saturday.

Tim Snyder, alumnus of NCC, from Grand Island, is the director of the North Tour.

Janelle Mach, alumnus of NCC, from Elizabeth, Colo. is the accompanist for the group and will be present at the concert to answer any questions prospective students or their parents may have about the college.

The New Way Singers program was initiated in 1972 by bringing in high school students who had completed their sophomore, junior and senior year. They rehearsed for four and one-half days then went on a 10-day, 12-concert tour of contemporary Christian music. The program quickly grew to three touring groups involving over 100 students.

The group now includes students who have completed their freshman, sophomore, junior and senior year and all of the students auditioned in January for this year's New Way Singers.

Participating in the program this year are 125 high school students in three groups, which tour simultaneously. The New Way Singers have toured extensively throughout Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas, Colorado, Montana, Wyoming, North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin and have performed over 700 concerts in the group's history.

Following the group's presentation at First Church of Christ, refreshments will be served and there will be a time for fellowship.

New Blood Test Diagnoses Heart Failure

A new blood test has been developed which measures a hormone released when the heart is not pumping properly. The test is inexpensive and only takes about 15 minutes to administer and read.

Dr. Joseph Feldman of Hackensack University Medical Center says, "Many elderly patients who come to the emergency room with shortness of breath have both chronic lung disease and heart disease...it (the test) helps prevent the wrong diagnosis..."

Weekend full of activity

It was what Channel 6 called a "chamber of commerce weekend." And if there had been one more thing going on, I don't know what it could have been. I just wish we had a dozen rooms when it comes to the college World Series; they all wanted three nights, too. Draft

Apparently, everything for a 50 mile radius of Omaha was booked. I especially felt sorry for the guy who called from western Kansas on Thursday eve; his son was being commissioned at Offut on Saturday morning, and as he put it, "college world series wasn't on my radar screen."

There was also a Renaissance Faire in Council Bluffs. That particular activity perplexes me. Why do grown-ups want to prance around in the 17th century? I kind of understand Civil War reenactment, but the Renaissance? And there was some kind of car race in the Bluffs, too, because we had a call for rooms from someone attending that.

Papillon had Papillon Days. The local bar at South Bend was having its annual Rocky Mountain Oyster feed. And, way out in Comstock, there was a windmill festival! Kenny Rogers was supposed to be there! If I hadn't had so much going on here, I would have gone. Or I might have opted for "Little House on the Prairie" days in Kansas. There were soccer tournaments all over. And, BRAN, Bicycle Ride Across Nebraska, finished up in Ashland on Saturday morning.

By: Pat Meierhenry

Of course, it was Father's Day. Our local father gets much the same thing from his daughters. Sue and Monte take him to the flea market at Walnut, Iowa, on Friday of that weekend. Of course, they appreciate his dealer's discount. And Kay and Ann help him chop thistles.

He even got me out mowing weeds in the rows of trees he planted 10 years ago. I don't want to know how many man hours have been spent out there. But he hates weeds. So we all have to make the effort to get rid of them.

I did get him a gift that pleased him, though. For years, now, he has been complaining about the digital clock at the bedside because he can't always make out the numbers without his glasses. I found one with two-inch lighted numbers. Heavens, it almost keeps me awake! But he thinks it's great. "Little things mean a lot."

We really don't need a night light anymore. Besides the new alarm clock, I have the old one on my side of the bed. The Bipap machine he uses at night has a green light on it. If I happen to go into the kitchen, there is a green light on the stove clock, one on the microwave, and a third one on the coffee maker. It's quite a green glow.

Kay and Allan broke in their new picnic table Saturday eve, too. There were lots of folks, and lots of kids, there for supper and visiting. All in all, we had a pleasant weekend. And, of course, the guests! They were from Arkansas, originally from South Dakota, and like to eat early. Grin.

Time to turn out the lights now and let the green lights take over. We could use some rain again.

Caution urged when pruning trees damaged by storms

The wind storms from last week caused severe damage to many trees in parks, windbreaks and landscape trees across counties in eastern Nebraska.

The key to taking care of those damaged trees is to have patience. The tree needs to be cared for by removing the damaged branches in a timely and proper method. One of the best methods to use for removal is to cut the damaged branch off at the point of attachment at the next largest branch. This is commonly called "drop crotch" pruning. The damaged branches should be removed as soon as possible, but there is no immediate need to remove the damaged portion of the tree, however, it should be done during this summer period to prevent infestation of rotting disease and some time to start the healing process before winter.

An evaluation of the tree needs to be done to determine if the tree has too much damage and perhaps needs to be removed entirely. There are some general guidelines to determine removal and it is generally based on an individual situation. If a significant portion of the tree crown has been damaged and the main stem torn out, it may be best to start over. "It is hard to make general recommendations for all trees in this kind of storm situation, it is best to have the tree looked at and individual decisions be made based upon the specific situation," indicated Del Hemsath, extension educator for Dakota, Dixon and Thurston counties.

The tree needs to be evaluated for other possible damage such as cracked or twisted branches which can cause problems later in the life of the tree. Hemsath said that the older trees in the parks and communities took the greatest amount of damage from the storms as some of the trees were either weakened from previous storms or had other types of internal damage making them more susceptible to damage. "It is critical for the tree to be pruned properly after a storm of such magnitude to help insure a healthy tree in the future. It is also critical to get help from qualified tree services especially those who are certified arborists. They know how to best treat and prune damaged trees. Avoid the opportunists who come into areas and claim that they know what they are doing with trees when in fact, all they want is the business. Be sure to ask for references and licenses before approving someone to work on a tree," said Hemsath.

Contact the local extension office for more information.

Warehouse removed from grain storage list

Caution When Using Supplements & OTCs

The use of nutritional supplements and over-the-counter (OTC) drugs is increasing dramatically in the United States. In 2000 alone over $19 billion was spent for OTC medicines. Caution should always be exercised when using such products. While warnings are required on all commercial medicine labels, many people don't read them. Further, the FDA does not require rigorous safety testing of health supplements. And not enough is known about potential interactions between supplements and non-prescription drugs.

We do know, however, that taking aspirin with ginkgo can cause ocular hemorrhage. Body building supplements containing ephedra have been known to cause dizziness, anxiety, and heart palpitations when taken with decongestants such as pseudoephedrine (Sudafed). Supplements containing calcium and magnesium each have been known to interact with many different prescription drugs. Always ask your pharmacist if you have questions related to the safety of any of these products.

County extension offices have new WebPages

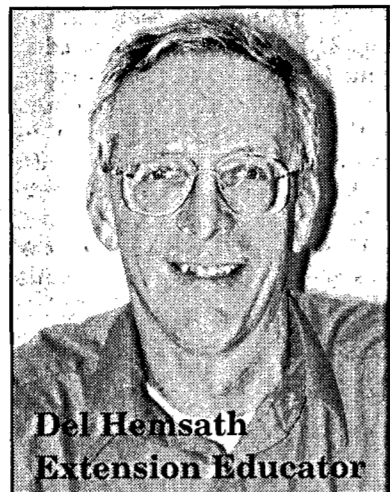

If you have access to a computer and the Internet, you must check out the sources of information available for the public off the county extension site," said Del Hemsath, extension educator for Dakota, Dixon and Thurston counties.

"Technology is changing rapidly and getting useful information to the public is getting easier to do, but it is still a challenge," Hemsath said. "I put items on the Dakota, Dixon and Thurston county websites each week that are timely for the season of the year or that address key situations."

It is easy to find a particular county, just search on the web with your county name and you will find the new webpage. If you want the Dixon county site, type in "Dixon extension" and the site should be one of the first ones listed.

All of the webpages for all the county offices in Nebraska are standardized to look the same in order to make it easier to find information as one goes to different counties.

Del Hemsath
Extension Educator

"Anyone can look at another county's site by entering the county name and the word extension. There are no pass words, secret codes or fees to pay to access the sites. It is a great way to find current and relevant information," Hemsath said.
