Final touches

Hundreds of volunteers were on hand Monday at the Wayne County Fairgrounds to make final preparations for this week's Wayne County Fair. Storms earlier this year did considerable damage to certain parts of the fairgrounds so more work than usual was required. Above, workers from St. Mary's Church worked to finish up repair work. Above right, 4-Hers helped clean out the 4-H Building. At right, saw dust was placed in all the animal barns at the fairgrounds. The fair continues through Sunday.

Local residents 'horsing' around

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

Frank Wood became tired of being the 'go-fer' when his granddaughter competed in American Quarter Horse Association (AQHA) activities.

So the Wayne resident decided he would become involved with the halter portion of the competition. And, after just two years, he has qualified to be a part of the AQHA World Show to be held in Oklahoma City, Okla. in November.

Meanwhile, his granddaughter, Ashton Lakes, 15, of Sioux City, Iowa has qualified for the AQHA Youth World Show to be held in Fort Worth, Texas on Aug. 9.

The two work with Justa Tee Jay Jaguar (J.J.), a four-year old quarter horse.

J.J. was taken to a trainer in Yankton, S.D. who worked with her for 30 days. Since that time, Frank and Ashton work with her at least 10 minutes each day and Ashton spends additional time with the horse several days each week.

During each show, the horse is judged on confirmation and how it travels. Frank notes that it is important for the person showing the horse to move

Ashton Lakes, left, and her grandfather Frank Wood, pose with J.J., their four-year old quarter horse which has qualified for national and world competition.

ESL classes help prepare students with limited English skills for college

They come from different corners of the world to a corner building on the Northeast Community College campus in Norfolk.

The students enrolled in Northeast's English As A Second Language (ESL) program have a singular goal of improving their English skills enough to take college-level courses. With the help, encouragement and instruction of Susan Allyn, some 20 students have enrolled in at least one of the college-credit classes since they began last October.

According to Donna Niemyer, division dean of humanities, arts and social sciences at Northeast, the curriculum was developed to meet the needs of the growing non-English-speaking population of northeast Nebraska.

"The English As A Second Language Bridge program was developed to make it possible for this group of learners to improve language skills enough to take college-level classes," Niemyer said. "The goal is to transition students with limited English proficiency skills from our existing Adult Basic Education Program to English skills necessary for college."

Thus far, Allyn has taught some 20 students from Korea, China, Sudan, Nicaragua, Syria, Brazil, and Mexico. The students are enrolled in six different grammar level and four speaking level classes. Each level takes eight weeks to complete. Students earn from two to four college credits for each class. Individual starting points are determined by placement testing.

Allyn said that the students enrolled in the first grammar level have the approximate English skill level of a fourth grader; those enrolled in the third grammar level are at about an eighth grade level, and those in the fifth level have the English skills of about a junior in high school. Levels two, four and six are continuations of the previous study levels.

The four speaking level classes include extensive pronunciation and conversation studies.

Juval Mendoza, now of Norfolk but formerly of Nicaragua, said he spoke very little English when he enrolled in classes last October. "I feel more confident now," he said. "Our teacher, Susan Allyn, is a very good teacher and has taught me so much."

Mendoza devotes about five hours in the classroom and five hours to at-home study each week to the program. He took math classes at Northeast last spring and will take some credit classes this fall. He hopes to someday be admitted to Northeast's associate degree nursing program.

Mendoza is married to Madison High School graduate Liz Mendoza, who is the student housing coordinator at Northeast.

Another student, Ezza Pedra, of Randolph and originally from Syria, also credits instructor Allyn for helping her progress rapidly through the program. Pedra has advanced to level five in grammar and level three in conversation in just two months.

"My improvement depends on my teacher and me," she said. "And Susan is helping me reach my goals."

Pedra, who holds a four-year biology degree from a Syrian university, hopes to take college-level computer classes.

"My teacher also tells me I am a good writer," she said, "so maybe some day I can be a writer."

Pedra has lived in the United States for five and a half years. She is married to Dr. Alfrhan Almuhammad, who practices at the Osmond Community Hospital and Randolph Family Practice Clinic. He has been in the United States for 11 years. They have a small son and daughter.

English As A Second Language credit classes will be offered at Northeast this fall semester from Aug. 18-Oct. 10. Another session is scheduled for Oct. 13-Dec. 17.

"We are pleased that we are able to offer our limited English speaking public another tool to improve its English skills," Niemyer said. "College can be more than a dream for the these individuals in northeast Nebraska. College dreams can come true with our college-credit ESL program."

For more information, contact Niemyer at (402)844-7351.

Box Tops for Education are being collected

Although school is out for the summer, The Wayne Education Boosters are still collecting Box Tops for Education.

Box Tops collection boxes are located at Quality Food Center and Pac 'N' Save in Wayne.

Money raised from the grocery store collections will be divided between the Elementary and Middle Schools. Each Box Top is worth 10 cents, which, according to organizers, "doesn't sound like much until you consider that both schools raised $1,376 during the 2002-03 school year."

Since the Wayne schools began participating in the program, over $7,000 has been raised.

Box Tops for Education are found on General Mills products, including cereals, snacks and flour; Betty Crocker mixes, Bisquick, Pillsbury rolls and biscuits; waffles and other frozen items and on Green Giant frozen vegetables and side dishes.

Those wishing to participate are asked to submit the Box Tops logos only, not the Betty Crocker coupons.

Interested persons can also visit the Box Tops for Education web site at www.boxtops4education.com for more information the program.

Musicians participate in all-star marching band

Six area students were among 237 high school students from across Nebraska who were members of the Ninth Annual Masonic All-Star Marching Band, which performed July 19 during Shrine Bowl festivities in Lincoln.

Participating from Wayne High School were Jordan Elfers, son of Ruth and Eddie Elfers; Chad Jensen, son of Gwen and Alan Jensen; Austin Leighty, son of Vince and Diane Leighty and Jeffrey Meyer, son of Jeffrey and Wendie Meyer and from Winside High School, Kassius Holdorf, son of Tamara and Josh Sterling III and Joshua Sok, son of Paul and Kim Sok.

The band members were hosted by the Masons of Nebraska and were directed by Brad Weber, Dan Sodomka and Dave Bohner, band directors from Wayne High School, Aurora High School and Wayne State College.

Elfers and Jensen each received a scholarship from Wayne Masonic Lodge No. 120; Meyer and Sok each received a scholarship from Wayne Chapter No. 194, Order of the Eastern Star; Holdorf received a scholarship from Lancaster Masonic Lodge No. 54, Lincoln and Leighty received a scholarship from Columbia Chapter No. 275, Order of the Eastern Star, Lincoln. The scholarships covered the costs of the camp.

"We witnessed tremendous growth in the students during the many hours of practice," Weber said. "It was a very demanding schedule but also a great learning experience for the students. They worked extremely hard and the band proved during their performances that they are among the best band students in Nebraska."

Coupled with hard work, the members also participated in a pool party, picnic, dance and a chance to 'just hang out.' Many are looking forward to the opportunity to use the instruction provided by the hand directors when they return to their respective high school bands.

"Not only did members of the band make great music during the four days, but they also leave Lincoln with great memories of performing at Memorial Stadium and with increased marching skills," said Kenneth D. Beebe, Grand Master of Masons of Nebraska, who as a student at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln was a member of the Cornhusker Marching Band. "They also helped to support the Shrine Hospital charity and its service to special needs children and their families."

Beebe said the Master Masons of Nebraska individually and collectively exemplify their motto: Nebraska Masons - Men putting ethics into practice. An organization devoted to universally accepted virtues including morality, belief in God and tolerance, Beebe said Masons also champion patriotism, freedom of religion and freedom of political persuasion. He said the combined philanthropic efforts of Masonic-related organizations contribute in excess of $2 million a day.

Project donation

John Melena, right, representing the Nebraska Knights of Columbus, presented a check for $4,000 to Laura Gambel, President of the Wayne Education Boosters. The money represents a portion of the money earned this spring in the Knights annual Toostie Roll Drive. Each year, the Knights of Columbus contribute to a number of projects state-wide that benefit those individuals who are retarded. In Wayne the money will go toward the purchase of playground equipment to help make the playground handicap accessible.

Carolyn Linster participates in national institute project

Dr. Carolyn Linster, Wayne State College Professor, has been selected to participate in the intensive Institute offered through the Natural Allies project.

Based at "Frank Porter Graham Child Development Institute" at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Natural Allies is a project of national significance funded by the U.S. Department of Education.

The Natural Allies Institute is designed to support teams of campus, community, family and state agency partners in preparing personnel to work with infants, toddlers, young children and families, including those with special needs, in diverse community settings.

Linster is one of only 15-team members selected by the state of Nebraska, where she is participating in the five-day institute in Cary, N.C. Linster and the other travel team members will serve as a resource in improving state systems for preparing individuals to work with infants, toddlers, young children and families.

Selection of state team members was based on professional expertise, knowledge about early childhood and early intervention, and willingness to serve as a state personnel preparation resource. Through Linster's efforts, valuable information related to early intervention will be disseminated to others in the state and region.

Others attending from northeast Nebraska include Susan Strahm from the Northeast Early Childhood Training Partnership; Dr. Betty Redleaf from Little Priest Tribal College; Sharyn Thomas from Northeast Community College and Sherri Bosse from Nebraska Indian Community College.

Passing of an old friend

Today we mourn the passing of a beloved old friend by the name of Common Sense who has been with us for many years. No one knows for sure how old he was since his birth records were long ago lost in bureaucratic red tape. He will be remembered as having cultivated such valued lessons as knowing when to come in out of the rain, why the early bird gets the worm and that life isn't always fair.

Common Sense lived by simple, sound financial policies (don't spend more than you earn) and reliable parenting strategies (adults, not kids, are in charge). His health began to rapidly deteriorate when well intentioned but overbearing regulations were set in place.

Reports of a six-year-old boy charged with sexual harassment for kissing a classmate, teens suspended from school for using mouthwash after lunch, and a teacher fired for reprimanding an unruly student only worsened his condition. He declined even further when schools were required to get parental consent to administer aspirin to a student but could not inform the parents when a student became pregnant and wanted to have an abortion.

Finally, Common Sense lost the will to live as the Ten Commandments became contraband, churches became businesses and criminals received better treatment than their victims. Common Sense finally gave up the ghost after a woman failed to realize that a steaming cup of coffee was hot, spilled a bit in her lap, and was awarded a huge settlement.

Common Sense was preceded in death by his parents, Truth and Trust; his wife, Discretion; his daughter, Responsibility; and his son, Reason. He is survived by two step-brothers, My Rights and I'm a Whiner.

Not many attended his funeral because so few realized he was gone.

If you still know him pass this on, if not you can give him a second death.

The truth hurts sometimes. Maybe it's time to take a second look at our old friend and see if we can still remember his old, tried and true methods and turn things around.

Budget woes affect university

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

A few years ago it would have seemed a virtual impossibility.

The budget for the athletic department at the University of Nebraska has been cut by some $960,000 this year.

Any longtime, red-blooded NU football fan might think: "Wait a minute. They must have misplaced a comma, or something!" But they didn't. The state's fiscal woes have been as much a problem for new NU Athletic Director Steve Pederson as they have for other government administrators. Pederson recently announced the latest in a series of job cuts within the department.

And those cuts aren't the only reflection of hard times around the NU campus. Imagine this: With the '03 season just around the corner, there are unsold season tickets in the student section!

What's happening? Have higher tuition costs forced some students to forego the pleasures of the raucous revelries for which the student section is renowned? That's the view of NU administrators, who nix the idea that last year's dismal (by NU standards) season could have anything to do with it. For the most part, the word among the faithful on the Lincoln campus is that the tickets will be snatched up before the first kickoff.

Think about it. Nebraska holds a continuing record for sellouts at home games. If things don't improve at the gate, the traditional full house at Memorial Stadium could become a memory.

Have you ever noticed that there is a certain irony in the way state legislatures provide financial help to public universities? When economic times are good, government is inclined to provide more money for higher education. That's nice, but since it comes when the economy is up, it also means it comes when fewer families will need it.

When the economy hits the skids, a legislature is inclined to bring aid to higher education down, while tuition and other costs go up. The sad irony is that, when times are bad for government they are also going to be bad for a lot of students and their parents. So, just when increased aid is most needed, it is most likely to be reduced.

There are days when the Capitol can match a TV soap opera when it comes to milling rumors. Among those making the rounds during the dog days of summer: A couple of state senators are thinking of leaving the Unicameral to run for Congress.

Not surprisingly, there is the usual talk of those who might like to run against Rep. Doug Bereuter of Lincoln in the 1st District, or Rep. Lee Terry in the Omaha-dominated 2nd District. Both are Republicans.

Equally not surprising: No one is even thinking about lining up against Rep. Tom Osborne in the sprawling 3rd District. Running against the former Husker football coach is generally regarded as something a person might do in good faith - with the understanding that they would also be free of the risk of actually being sent to Washington.

Door to Door Vendors

In Wayne, all door-to-door vendors selling products must register first with the Wayne police department.

The only way we have of knowing someone is selling in town is to observe out-of-town cars making calls or having residents call the police department non-emergency number at 375-2626. There are a lot of out-of-town cars in Wayne, so observation is not always reliable but phone calls from residents are reliable. Thanks for your input. Although registration of door-to-door services is not yet required, the council is considering it. The purpose of registering these folks is to know who they are, who they represent and know where they are from.

Wayne Recreation Trail

Bids were opened for construction of the 2.9 mile concrete trail from Wayne State College south around the softball complex, west along Logan Creek and into Henry Victor Park. Six bids were received and the low bidder is R&W Construction from Wayne.

R&W Construction plans to begin work at the west end under the Highway 15 bridge this fall and complete the work by May of 2004. The cost of the project is $453,000 plus engineering fees and the council has secured 90 percent cost sharing from the Nebraska Department of Roads and the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District to design and build the trail.

NEW BEGINNINGS!

As we speak, the Chamber's AgriBusiness Taskforce is supporting the Wayne County Fair with the Taskforce's annual Hay Bale Maze. While this walking puzzle, might be fun for "children of all ages," it is an opportunity for the Chamber to offer educational information about the contributions of agriculture to our local economy.

Agriculture is the largest sector of the Nebraska economy and less than three percent of the population is engaged. Some would consider this fact as a clear demonstration of the productivity of this sector. So, if you are planning to attend the Wayne County Fair this year, please make a trip through the Maze one of your stops. We will give a cold bottle of water to all who successfully complete the trip.

The nominating process for electing three new members to the Board of Directors, each to serve three-year terms, is underway. In accordance with the bylaws, a slate of candidates has been determined and will be distributed to chamber members on Aug. 1. Voting will conclude on Sept. 3 and new board members will be identified at the Board meeting on Sept. 10.

October during which the goals and strategies for 2004 will be formulated. This is one of the most important administrative functions of the Chamber.

Commercial gas customers take note! Each of us should be receiving in the mail a solicitation from Cornerstone Energy to contract for the next two years beginning Oct. 1, 2003, for the supply of natural gas at a fixed rate. While this is not a new or novel approach in the Wayne area (Aquila has done this in the past), those who are concerned about the prospective high energy costs this winter might want to take a close look at this option. If you have any special issues, concerns, or comments about this option, I would like to hear from you at the chamber at 375-2240.

Finally, I hope the summer vacation period has not slipped by this year without your making time to get away with your family for some well earned R & R. Taking time away from work is not only relaxing but therapeutic and healthy. Your staff need you to be alert and rested; Your customers expect the same. So, if you don't do it for yourself, do it for others.

Hope to see you at the Wayne County Fair!

with the judge which can be difficult at times, because sometimes there are two judges judging an event and it is difficult to know where to be at any given time. At each competition, points are earned and for Frank's category, they accumulated from Aug. 1, 2002 to July 31, 2003. It was during this time period that he earned more than enough points to qualify for national competition. Points are earned by the number of entries in each class.

At the present time, both Frank and Ashton are ranked first in Nebraska in their respective categories.

When the family first started showing horses they traveled throughout Nebraska and as far south as Columbia, Mo. and as far north as Valley City, N.D. However, this year, they have limited their travels to Nebraska and have competed in shows in Lincoln several times, Fremont and Grand Island.

Frank will be traveling to Grand Island this weekend for competition in what is known as "Last Chance" competition.

"Because this is the last chance for a horse to earn points before the July 31 deadline, people will be there from long distances away," he said.

Each show includes between one and 13 horses and lasts from five to 20 minutes. If the horse is judged best in its class, it returns to the ring for the chance to be chosen as the Grand or Reserve Champion. Frank has earned four Amateur Championships and one Open Class Championship.

Ashton has been working with horses for approximately eight years and shows a horse she and her grandfather own together in 4-H competition. She will be competing next week in her local county fair before going to Texas for competition.

Earlier this year, when Ashton was not with the Woods, Frank's wife, Jean, took part in shows in Broken Bow and Fort Robinson.

She enjoyed the experience and hopes to become more involved in the future.

"We have fun doing this and we meet so many people our age who are doing the same thing. I used to ride horses years ago and I enjoy being able to work with them again," Jean said.

The family hopes to travel to Texas during the evening hours when temperatures are cooler and plan to be in Texas several days before competition begins so the horses can re-adjust to the weather conditions there.

Recognizing success

On July 15, leaders in Wayne recognized and honored Rod and Loreta Tompkins for their first quarter century of success with Heritage Homes of Nebraska, Inc. Making congratulatory remarks to the Tompkins were Mayor Sheryl Lindau, City Administrator Lowell Johnson, Wayne Industries President Marty Summerfield, and Chamber Chair Elect Galen Wiser. Mayor Lindau read a special letter of congratulations from State Senator Pat Engel.

Rotary youth exchange turns out to be enriching experience

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

Rotary Youth Exchange student, David Hsiung, recently returned to his home in Taiwan after being in Wayne for nearly a year. Anyone who met David will remember his friendly nature and ready smile. Before leaving, he offered a few comments on his experience of being here.

He mentioned how coming here changed his life for the better as he wasn't sure what he wanted to do but has decided he wants to attend college and go into public relations. "Staying here was the most important year for me," David said. "I had a wonderful time and being in a different culture with different families helped me to learn more about myself. It was a year with lots of change."

While David was here, his speaking of the English language improved a lot. He noted that lately when he talked to his family members on the telephone, he sometimes had trouble remembering Chinese words but would think of English words instead.

Once he's back home and listens to the Chinese language again, it will come back to him but he's afraid he will forget how to speak English. "I will try to be around the English teacher as much as possible so I can keep talking,"

David said. Thinking of the Rotary Youth Exchange program, David thought being here was a good experience because staying with different families teaches about the differences in lifestyles. Even though Taiwan is a 24 hour air flight away from here, "I will come back for sure," David said, "and I want my family to come here in the future to visit."

Wayne Rotary Club President Carrol Baier gave David Hsiung a Rotary banner at a recent meeting. It is customary to exchange district banners with members of other Rotary Clubs.

Carroll Tractor Pull

A huge crowd was on hand July 19 for the annual Carroll Tractor Pull. The annual event draws pullers and spectators from several states and has been named "Best Pull of the Year" by the Iowa Tractor Pulling Association several times in recent years.

Rose tells of experience in Taiwan as part of Rotary Youth Exchange

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

Marisa Rose of Wayne returned home recently from spending close to a year in Taiwan as part of the Rotary Youth Exchange program.

While she was overseas, David Hsiung of Taiwan, also in the exchange program, was living in Wayne with Marisa's parents, Dan and Kyle Rose, later with Dan and Della Pries, and then with John and Lori Carroll.

Scheduled to stay in Taiwan from August, 2002 to July, 2003, Marisa's stay was cut short a couple of months because of the SARS epidemic. Marisa returned to Wayne in May.

Thinking of the disease, Marisa remembers that starting March 1, a mask had to be worn or you couldn't ride the subway. Every day you had to take your temperature and parents had to sign forms in order for the children to continue to go to school. People were told to stay away from closed environments such as going to the movies or shopping in department stores.

"What was bad was before anyone could go to the hospital, they had to stay home for 10 days and by that time, family members could catch it too," Marisa said. "As for doctors and nurses, they were exhausted as they had to stay at the hospital around the clock as there wasn't enough help."

From August to November, 2002, Marisa lived with David's parents, Eric and Stacy Hsiung. Their house was on a mountain and she had to take a shuttle bus 40 minutes to get to school.

From November until when she went home, she stayed with two more families who lived in an apartment complex nearby to each other. All of the host families lived in the capitol city of Taipei and that is where Marisa went to school.

Taipei is located in a beautiful setting, surrounded by mountains. The city is huge and people travel around on subways, buses, and mopeds (motorcycles).

School, Marisa said, was more like a college campus. Students stayed in their classroom and teachers came to them. Also, students ate their lunches there after cooking the food on a steamer that stays in the room.

A familiar sight to Marisa was all the fast food businesses that are over there such as Burger King, McDonalds, Wendy's, 7-11, etc. But as for what was served in the home, plain rice is the staple which is served with chicken, fish, vegetables, etc. on a lazy Susan and you help yourself to what you want. Soup with chicken or fish in it accompanies the meal.

Most everything is cooked, even the lettuce. Sometimes dip is served with the food. When served at home, the food is pretty bland but in a restaurant, it's more spicy. Fresh fruit is served for dessert.

Eating fast foods occasionally and also shopping gave Marisa the chance to use Taiwan currency. As compared to U.S. currency, one American dollar was the same as language lessons of the exchange students (there were others besides Marisa) so they had them attend the university there. Those lessons helped and Marisa won second place in a speech contest held there. When asked about continuing studying Chinese here, Marisa said she will see if there are any Chinese speaking college students in Wayne so she can continue to speak the language.

As for the English language, stu-

33 or 34 NT, (Taiwan money). Thirty-three U.S. dollars is about 1,000 NT there. Metal coins are in ones, fives, tens, twenties, and fifties. Paper money is in denominations of 100, 500, 1,000 and 2,000.

Difficult to learn, Marisa said, was the official language of Mandarin Chinese, which the majority of people speak. Many of the elderly know the languages of Taiwan and Japan. College students often study the Japanese language in school.

For Marisa, learning the written characters of the Chinese language (which there are over 10,000 of them) was easier than speaking it. There are four tones and a sentence can become something other than what was intended by using the wrong tone. Towards the end of her stay in Taiwan, the Rotary Club she attended was not happy with the progression of the language in Taiwan are required to learn English because of its importance in business dealings around the world.

Religion in Taiwan is mainly Buddhism and Confucianism. Practicing Buddhists have a room or a corner in their home where a statue of Buddha sits and incense is burned and fruit and food offerings are given. August is "Ghost Month" and paper money is burned instead of the usual food offerings.

"Christianity is not real big there," Marisa said. "There are a few places to go to church but not many. Christmas is not celebrated but they decorate in red and green. During the Chinese New Year, older relatives give children red envelopes with money in them. I got a few envelopes too."

While in Taiwan, Marisa did a little sightseeing. A tourist attraction in Taipei is Chiang Kai Shek's residence which is home to the largest collection of Chinese artifacts in Taiwan. And, she went to the Yang Ming National Park nearby that is a nature get-away from city life. Other times she went on hikes and drives in the mountains; sometimes with the Rotary Club there and sometimes with friends.

The Rotary Club Marisa attended was an all male club which she said made her uncomfortable at first but she got used to it. The meetings are more formal than here, are geared towards the wealthy, and last for two hours (one hour in the meeting and one hour is lunch) instead of one hour as it is here.

Looking back at the experience, Marisa feels it was a good one. She said she never felt out of place and always felt welcome. She misses the people she met and hopes to be able to see some of them again.

Blood Bank gives report

On June 29, the Siouxland Community Blood Bank in Sioux City and other blood centers across the United States began testing blood donations for the West Nile virus.

Although some areas of the country have found the West Nile virus in their blood supply, "we are pleased to report that thus far our community blood supply has remained free of the West Nile virus," says Jan Twait, CEO of the Siouxland Community Blood Bank. "No blood donations from the Siouxland, tri-state region have tested positive for the virus."

West Nile virus is transmitted to humans mainly through the bites of infected mosquitoes. In rare cases, the germ also can be spread through blood transfusions, organ transplants, breast milk, and in utero. More than 20 cases of transfusion-acquired West Nile virus were reported in the United States last year. With funding from the federal government, companies raced to find a rapid and accurate test to screen donated blood.

The Siouxland Community Blood Bank began asking donor questions about the West Nile virus in May, says Jan Twait. "Symptoms are flu-like, and may include headache, fever, swollen lymph glands, and often a rash."

As a precaution, donors with these symptoms are excluded from giving blood for 28 days.

Wayne Seniors suffer heartbreaking loss to Omaha Roncalli at area tournament

The Wayne American Legion Senior baseball team will have to battle through the loser's bracket to earn a trip to the state tournament next weekend.

Omaha Roncalli handed Wayne a heartbreaking 1-0 loss in Friday's semi-finals, sending Wayne to the loser's bracket. Wayne posted wins over Tekamah Sunday and Madison Monday to advance to the loser's bracket final against Blair Wednesday evening. The winner would then meet Roncalli in the championship game set for tonight (Thursday) at Overin Field at 8pm with a second, if necessary, game scheduled for Friday evening at 8pm.

Wayne opened the tournament last Thursday evening with a 12-2 win over Arlington. The Seniors got off to a quick start, scoring five runs in the first inning to set the tone early, then put the game away in the fifth inning by scoring six runs.

Brad Hochstein (5-2) was the winning pitcher, tossing a complete game. He allowed three hits and two runs, striking out 10 while walking just one batter in five innings. Hochstein also had two hits, scored two runs and had three RBIs.

Josh Sharer added two hits in the win and Mike Sturm connected for a solo home run, his seventh of the season. Adam Hoffman, Andy Baker, Chris Nissen and Adam McGuire each contributed singles.

A single run in the first inning by Roncalli would hold up for a 1-0 win over Wayne on Friday evening in the winner's bracket semi-finals.

McGuire (12-2) was tagged with the loss, despite giving up just three hits in the game. He walked one and struck out seven batters to give him 100 strikeouts for the season.

Wayne had just two hits in the game, singles by Nissen and Mike Sturm.

"Another great game against an outstanding team," stated head coach Chad Metzler. "We did everything we needed to do defensively, but we just couldn't get it done offensively when we had the chance."

Wayne rebounded from the loss Sunday evening with a 16-12 victory over Tekamah.

An eight-run first inning helped Wayne build a 14-2 lead, but Tekamah made the game interesting by scoring six runs in the fifth and three in the seventh.

Nissen had three hits (triple, double and single) to lead Wayne's 12-hit attack. Sharer added a triple and single, Andy Baker contributed a double and single and Eric Sturm chipped in with two singles. Nissen, Baker and Hoffman each scored three runs.

Mike Sturm (4-2) pitched the first four and two-third innings to get the win. He allowed nine runs on nine hits, striking out eight while walking five. Hochstein pitched one-third of an inning (strikeout) with Hoffman working the final two innings, giving up three runs and two hits with three strikeouts and one walk.

Another big first inning helped Wayne eliminate Madison on Monday evening 10-0.

The Seniors scored all 10 runs in the first inning on 10 consecutive hits to start the game. Big hits in the inning included back-to-back RBI triples by Hoffman and Matt Roeber.

Eric Sturm and Hoffman each produced a triple and double to lead Wayne in hitting. Sharer followed with two singles while McGuire, Hochstein, Mike Sturm, Baker and Nissen each added singles.

Hochstein (6-2) was the winning pitcher, allowing five hits over five innings with six strikeouts and three walks.

Wayne takes a 28-7 record into Wednesday's scheduled game with Blair.

Brad Hochstein pitched a complete game five-hit shutout for the Wayne Seniors in Monday's 10-0 win over Madison at the Class B Area 3 Tournament in Wayne.

In the semi-finals, Wayne would be held to just one hit, a single by Finkey, as Blair coasted to the 16-0 win to end Wayne's season.

Goforth promoted to major

Kathy K. Goforth has been promoted to the rank of major in the U.S. Air Force.

In addition, she recently received a regular commission in the Air Force.

Goforth is a maintenance operations officer assigned to the 9th Maintenance Squadron at Beale Air Force Base, Marysville, Calif.

She is the daughter of Norma Tietz of Hillcrest Drive in Wayne, and sister of Mark Tietz of Carroll.

Her husband, Dwight, is the son

The major graduated in 1981 from Wayne-Carroll High School, Wayne, and received a bachelor's degree in 1992 from St. Leo College through the military extension program at Shaw Air Force Base, Sumter, S.C. In 1996, she earned a master's degree from Central Michigan University through the extension program at Minot Air Force Base, N.D.

distinguished excellence with choral groups at Wayne State and for sending many music graduates into positions of excellence throughout the state.

At Wayne State College from 1970-1995, Runestad began the Elizabethan Christmas Dinners and groups under his direction toured Europe eight times from 1980 to 1995. Runestad's last performance with Wayne State groups was in Carnegie Hall in May, 1995.

Runestad receives award

At its annual convention at Doane College recently, Cornell Runestad was given an award for his service to choral music in Nebraska.

Cruising into Wayne

Members of the Tri-State Drive-In Cruisers made a stop at McDonald's in Wayne on Saturday afternoon giving area residents a chance to see cars of all kinds. Some of the cars people were able to see were antiques, classics, Corvettes, street rods, collectors, pro-streets, and muscle cars. Every other week, the group travels to towns in the three state region to show off their vehicles. The group stops at food establishments, giving both drivers and spectators a chance to get away and reminisce. The next time they will be in this area is Wednesday, Oct. 1 at McDonald's in N. Sioux City, SD.

New test to screen blood for West Nile is working

Since the Red Cross began testing donated blood for West Nile Virus on June 29, nine Nebraska residents have tested positive for West Nile virus by preliminary screening tests, according to the Nebraska Health and Human Services System (HHSS). Additional confirmatory tests are being run, with results expected to be positive because of high titers for nucleic acid on the screening tests.

"The new test of Red Cross blood supplies is working. It's another tool to ensure the safety of our blood supply, and in addition, is a new way to help us monitor West Nile virus activity," said Dr. Richard Raymond, Chief Medical Officer with HHSS.

Raymond encouraged Nebraskans to continue donating blood. Donating blood saves lives. It is safe because new needles are used for each donor. The screening can reassure recipients that the blood they receive through the Red Cross does not contain West Nile virus.

The Red Cross had tested 6,735 blood donor samples from Nebraska since June 29, 2003. The positive results all occurred in the lower third of the state, near or around the Platte River.

*Chase County- four positive tests out of 102 donors
*Dawson County- one out of 106 donors

*Hall County- one out of 124 donors

*Harlan County- one out of 22 donors

*Lincoln County- one out of 21 donors

*Saunders County- one out of 148 donors

Having this newly identified level of West Nile virus activity does mean that residents should continue to take extra precautions to protect themselves against West Nile.

Those precautions include using insect repellent containing DEET, eliminating any standing water, wear long sleeves and pants, using larvicide in water tanks or lakes, and being especially careful at dawn and dusk, when mosquito activity is most active.

"At this testing of the blood supply illustrates, most individuals who have West Nile virus will have no symptoms, and a small percentage will have mild symptoms," Raymond said. "However, the Red Cross will notify blood donors whose blood tests positive and can provide follow-up testing at no charge."

Other monitoring methods include testing of sentinel chickens, dead birds, mosquito pools, horses and human cases.

For more information on West Nile virus go to www.hhs.state.ne.us/wnv this national level program in 14 categories. Kristen won District, then State competition to advance to the National level.

Kristen, who will be a senior at Laurel-Concord High School and is the daughter of Mark and Sue Koch, received a Gold medal. Her medal was presented at a recognition session honoring all participants at the Pennsylvania Convention Center on July 10. Gold is the highest ranking possible.

Kristen was a participant in the Job Interview event. She used Family and Consumer Sciences occupation skills to develop a portfolio, participate in an interview, and communicate a personal understanding of job requirements and the ability to perform them.

"Doing the job interview category taught me how to prepare myself for an interview. I also know how to prepare a thorough portfolio to showcase my abilities and knowledge gained in school, work and activities. In the past two years I've gone through seven interviews. Each interview was with a panel of three interviewers, Kristen said. "This will be invaluable."

Mary Mohl of Wayne, a teacher at Wisner-Pilger High School, attended a workshop at South Dakota State University July 7 through 11 that featured three national presenters from the Flinn Foundation, a non-profit science education group based in Chicago, Ill.

The trio of master teachers instructed 38 elementary through high school teachers from across the country on chemical demonstrations.

"Essentially, it's about developing instructional techniques such as laboratories and demonstrations for the secondary classroom," said Matt Miller, on-site coordinator and SDSU chemistry professor.

The week included opportunities for participants to perform dozens of hands-on chemical laboratory activities and make-and-take activities to improve classroom instruction. Each participant also demonstrated their favorite lab experiment and provided written instructions, so everyone left with 37 other experiments they can use in the classroom.

Instructors for the SDSU workshop were Penney Sconzo, a chemistry and biology teacher from Westminster Schools in Atlanta, Ga., Bob Becker, a teacher from Kirkwood High School in St. Louis, Mo., and Ed Brogie from Laurel Public Schools; four from South Dakota, four from Nebraska, four from Kansas

Rural Conservation and Development gives update

The RC & D recently gave an update on activities in the area. The list includes:

Corps of Discovery Welcome Center - Visitation is up from last year, 118 businesses and attractions are members and have their brochures or information displayed, and educational workshops continue.

If you've never met Shana James, the Center's Manager, then your opportunity is coming up at the July 28 anniversary meeting.

For more information or to volunteer at the Welcome Center call 402-667-6557.

Shannon Trail - The Promoters and the Nebraska Humanities Council present "A Tale of the Trail", a musical comedy. See it in Crofton at the auditorium, 7:30 p.m. July 24-27.

There's a $5 donation per person, kids 12 and under are free. All proceeds go to support this project.

Outlaw Trail Scenic Byway - Stories about outlaws are still being accepted so send them to Anna Stamp, 86649 498th Ave, Inman, NE 68742.

The April meeting featured the White Horse Ranch at Naper made famous by Cal and Ruth Thomson. Their White Horse Troop performed all over the United States from the early 1940's until the end of the 1970's when Cal passed away.

The June meeting in Lynch featured Sarah Kahler of AAA Home and Away magazine; Bernie Hunoff and Chris Amundson from the Nebraska Life magazine and Les Labahn speaking on the Lewis and Clark watershed Assessment.

The next meeting is Tuesday, July 15, at St. James. All are welcome!

Stream Monitoring - Barb Hayford, WSO professor will be starting her work in the late summer with volunteers to monitor local streams. This project is designed to establish a network of environmental education. It will study the past and present land use practices of watersheds in Northeast Nebraska.

Niman Ranch Request - Gary Huber from the Practical Farmers Organization put out a message last week saying that Niman Ranch needs more pigs that meet their requirements for both short and long term. Their long term projections are that Niman's markets will continue to grow so they see a need to add up to 200 additional farmers to their supply network.

For more information contact Paul Willis, Lori Lyon or Phillip Kramer at 515-998-2683 or email Lori at lorij@nimanranch.com.

Youth & Community Special Forestry Plantings - Hazelnuts, fruit trees, red and yellow dogwoods have been planted at several sites in the area.

Sandy Patton has developed plantings with Chad Knecht the FFA instructor at Plainview, Curt Arens at Crofton Courts Arboretum in Crofton, Gary Zimmer at Gilman Park Arboretum in Pierce, and with Alpine Nursing Home in Verdigris. These will give young people and local citizens an opportunity to see how these types of forestry plants do in the region and what they might offer as far as income generating possibilities.

Roving Computer Lab - An effort was made to get grant funds from the Beaumont Foundation for new computers, but notification last week said the grant was not awarded. As always there was lots of competition for those funds. The existing lab is still functioning, there are opportunities to assist with instructor costs, and for setting up specific courses.

Contact Barb Hoffart at the RC&D office for more information and assistance.

10th Anniversary of RC&D - Celebrating the successes of 150 projects and thousands of volunteer hours, come and share in the fun by joining them for cake and ice cream at the meeting on July 28.

Seat belt use up in Nebraska

Fred Zwonechek, Administrator of the Nebraska Office of Highway Safety, announced that the state's annual observation survey of safety belt use rate for drivers and front seat passengers has reached 76 percent.

The observation survey utilizes a scientific method, approved by the U.S. Department of Transportation, of selecting a combination of 208 different urban and rural roadway sites that will accurately determine the statewide safety belt use rate.

"We are pleased to report that 76 percent of Nebraska drivers and front seat passengers are using safety belts, an increase of six percent from the 70 percent observed in 2002," Zwonechek said. "That means that over 100,000 more Nebraskans are using safety belts now compared to last year."

Observations were conducted in 19 different counties. The observations were conducted between May 20 and June 17 of 2003. The following counties were included in the sample: Adams, Box Butte, Buffalo, Cass, Dawson, Douglas, Gage, Hall, Holt, Jefferson, Lancaster, Otoe, Phelps, Platte, Saline, Sarpy, Saunders, Scotts Bluff and Washington.

"All the counties where the observations were conducted saw significant increases, except one. In Sarpy County, the rate decreased from 72 to 71 percent and Saline County demonstrated the highest use rate of 78 percent, up from 53 percent in 2002. This can all be attributed to the combination of Nebraska community organizations working together with their local law enforcement agencies to stress the importance of safety belt use and compliance with our laws," Zwonechek said.

During the past two national Operation America Buckles Up Children (ABC) Mobilizations in November of 2002 and May of 2003, a total of 217 Nebraska law enforcement agencies participated in both of the campaigns.

Motorcycle helmet use was also determined during this survey at 95 percent, down from the 99 percent use observed in 2002.

Tips are offered for pet care

This summer, remember to protect your animal friends by taking some special yet precautionary measures:

1. Help prevent heat stress by:
  - providing fresh water at all times;
  - providing adequate ventilation and shade;
  - Never leaving pets in parked vehicles;
  - avoiding exercise during hot, humid weather.
2. Heartworms are carried by mosquitoes so have your pet tested for heartworms by your veterinarian and ask about available heartworm preventatives.

California, Arizona, North Dakota, Ohio, Virginia, Wisconsin and Tennessee were also represented.

"On a social note, they get to associate with a lot of other teachers from across the country ... but there's also a large number of regional teachers," Miller said. "They gained techniques they can take back and use. From the knowledge gained in chemistry to the knowledge gained about the actual act of instruction, all of that was really improved here."

The Flinn Foundation was established by Chicago-based science supply company Flinn Scientific, Inc., and sponsors several summer chemistry workshops throughout the country. The workshop is worth two optional graduate credits for participants.

Local people are honored following tornados

Robert "Bob" Hamilton spotted the tornado that hit Coleridge on June 23, and because of his quick response of calling in its location, Steven Schurr awarded him with a Public Service Award thanking him for possibly saving a countless number of lives.

Steven D. Schurr is Meteorologist in Charge at the National Weather Service in Valley.

Bob Hamilton of Hartington is one of the Cedar County Emergency Management Deputies. Roby Bowman of Hartington, is the other. Kevin Garvin of Dixon, is the Cedar County Emergency Management Director. Garvin is also a dispatcher for the Cedar County 911 system and calls on the spotters when the weather looks bad.

Hamilton and Bowman have spotted several funnel clouds over the years and tornadoes also. Bob spotted this one two miles before it first touched down at the Duane and Leona Heithold residence giving the weather service a little bit of time to get the warning posted before it hit.

Schurr stated that "without good spotters like we have in Cedar County and other areas in the state, we couldn't do our job as well as we do."

"Tornadoes all travel at different rates and directions. Even though the weather service says that a tornado should hit a certain area at a certain time isn't a guarantee that you're safe until that time or safe because you don't think you are in the direct path of it," said Brian Smith, meteorologist on duty at Valley the night of the tornado.

Bowman, Garvin and George R. Hefner were also awarded certificates as representatives of some very well trained emergency crews in Coleridge and the Cedar County area.

3. Treat your pets to prevent disease carrying external parasites such as fleas and ticks.
4. Properly store lawn and garden chemicals to prevent accidental exposure or ingestion. Be sure to post the number for the National Animal Poison Control Center in an easily accessible location. The number if 1-900-443-0000. This is not a toll-free number.
5. When planning your vacation, decide if you will leave your pet at home or take him with you, and then make appropriate and pet-safe arrangements. Your veterinarian can advise you as to what is best in your situation.

This information was provided by the Nebraska Veterinary Medical Association.

Edward Jones is strong advocate for customers

Edward Jones is among the best advocates for its customers, according to a recently released national research study of U.S. financial-services firms.

Edward Jones, the highest-ranking brokerage named on the list, placed second in the customer advocacy ranking released July 9 by Forrester Research, an independent research company that identifies and analyzes trends in technology and their impact on business.

The "Winning the Changing Financial Consumer" study found that "customer advocacy was touted as the primary attribute in driving retention and satisfaction of financial consumers." In the report, customer advocacy is defined as offering products and services "that are best for the customer, not just for the firm's bottom line."

"Doing what's right for the customer is our guiding principle," said John W. Bachmann, managing partner of Edward Jones. "We deliver one-on-one service to serious, long-term, individual investors to help them achieve their financial goals."

Edward Jones does not offer aggressive investment products like options, commodities or penny stocks, nor does the firm sell its own line of proprietary products. The report praises Edward Jones for imposing "strict discipline on transactions like margin and options trading."

Forrester Research since 1997 surveyed one million U.S. consumers to identify their primary provider of investment products and then asked a variety of questions to assess how well they trusted their firm.

Three factors distinguish the financial-services firms that fall into the leader category, according to the report. "A cohesive company culture plays an important role in how a firm is graded on the customer advocacy scale. Firms that have grown organically, rather than through acquisitions, are better able to maintain a unified culture and are thus seen as more effective customer advocates."

Tracing its roots to 1871, Edward Jones is a private partnership owned by its associates. Its more than 9,000 investment representatives in the U.S., and through its affiliates in Canada and the United Kingdom, provide face-to-face personal service by discussing their client's individual investment needs on a one-on-one basis. The firm's strong culture and values of putting the client first, respecting history, values and culture and working in partnership to achieve results enable its associates to focus clearly on its objective of serving the individual investor.

"Secondly, firms that do business with many consumers directly receive higher marks for customer advocacy," the report continues. "Those firms that rely on brokers and agents should invest heavily in training, so that customers are offered products and guidance that serves their best interests."

Firms that rely on technology to serve their clients' best interests score high on the customer advocacy scale as well, the report said.

Recognized by Training Magazine for its extensive training program, Edward Jones spends three percent of its payroll on associate training. "Edward Jones, for example, spends more on training its investment reps than any other firm in the industry," the Forrester report said. The firm invests between $75,000 and $100,000 in training its new investment representatives. Additionally, Computer magazine for the last two years identified Edward Jones as one of the Best Places to Work for Information Technology professionals. And for the second consecutive year, Edward Jones received the No. 1 ranking by FORTUNE magazine in its annual listing of the "100 Best Companies to Work For" in U.S.

The Wayne Edward Jones investment representatives are Reggie Yates and Ken Marra, located at 300 Main Street.

Teresa and Eric Brodsky recently moved to Winside and opened Teri's Treasures, featuring many unique items.

New business opens in Winside

Teri's Treasures, a new boutique, has recently opened at 608 East Crawford Street in Winside.

The business has many unique treasures to offer. The shop is owned and operated by Teresa and Eric Brodsky whose residence adjoins the boutique.

"I've always wanted to have my own shop," Teresa Hartmann Brodsky said. "Eric and I had so many collectibles and are trained in so many services, opening our own boutique is the perfect solution."

Mrs. Brodsky is originally from Winside and has family here. She and Eric recently moved to Winside from Colorado.

"We have a variety of collectible items such as Avon and porcelain dolls, angels, natural and cut gem stones, crystals, jewelry, collectible books such as complete leather bound sets of Metropolitan Museum of Art and Louis L'Amour westerns and other books. Eric is the author of a trilogy of books entitled "Poetry of Angels," which he also has transferred to CD and are great gifts for the seeing impaired. Eric will be available to personalize and autograph copies purchased during our grand opening."

Teri's Treasures has other CD's available on meditation, many of which Teresa and Eric have produced themselves. The shop has a unique line of DVD's such as "Star Gaze" (Hubble's View of the Universe), "Native American Dance" and the entire King James Version of the New Testament Bible.

"We have distributors from all over the world we can contact for stock," Teresa said.

"We can get just about any product you might be interested in. Eric and I also do Digital Photographic Restorations of old pictures as well as create Word Art Photography with inspirational messages. Just bring in your old photos and we can discuss the many possibilities. Other lines of Art Work in oils and prints, created by Teresa and Eric, are available as well from other artists we know, artists that can create a specific painting personalized to your specific interests."

A line of BeautiControl skin care and makeup products will be available at the boutique. Teresa has had past experience as a personal beauty consultant and will be offering personal care in this line and spa and relaxation consultations at your home.

Both of the Brodskys are ordained ministers through the Universal Life Church in California.

"We can perform marriages as well as other ministerial services. We have even sung duets at weddings. Our ministry is combined with our Reiki Mastery Training and we are offering Reiki Massages at the boutique. While we lived in Colorado, we held many Reiki and other workshops, as well as having many personal clients. Anyone interested in these services can stop by the shop or give us a call at (402) 286-7777 or check out our websites for more information at www.angelanderr.com; www.universalone.com; www.poetryoftheangels.com or www.beautipage/teristreasures.com

Risk of dehydration increases with rise in heat and humidity

When heat and humidity rise, people are more susceptible to excessive water loss or dehydration during increased outdoor activities.

When playing or working outside during the hot days of summer, it is essential to replenish fluids lost through perspiration — the body's natural cooling system.

Symptoms of dehydration range from dizziness, light-headedness, headache and nausea to heat stroke and even death when the body loses too much water.

Water, a natural component of the human body, is the best replacement for fluids lost during perspiration. For every pound of water lost, replace it with two cups of cool water.

Juicy vegetables and fruits and dairy beverages are also the sources of fluid but aren't good sources of fluid replacement when the body really needs it.

During heightened outdoor activities, sport drinks can be helpful to prevent water loss. Properly formulated, they help to replace lost electrolytes and constitute a reservoir of energy.

Haglund to note 80th birthday

Norman Haglund of Wakefield will observe his 80th birthday on Saturday, Aug. 2.

An open house will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Wakefield Senior Center.

Hosting the celebration will be his children, Rod and Lorie Haglund and Leslie Haglund, all of Wakefield; Glenda and Ralph Beiermann and Gerald and Kim Haglund, all of Wayne and Ed and Toni Haglund of Wakefield. He also has 12 grandchildren.

Norman Haglund was born Aug. 1, 1923, on a farm near Wakefield.

fluid replacement. Caffeinated beverages, such as coffee, tea and some carbonated drinks act as a diuretic and stimulate fluid loss. Guard against drinking too many of them during hot weather.

Children are particularly susceptible to dehydration. They are likely to skip water breaks because they are preoccupied with activities. Parents should monitor their children's fluid losses and see that their children take water breaks.

Be sure children take a sip of water before, during and after playing outside. Also set a time limit on staying outside, especially during the hottest parts of the day. Parents also must remain alert to any symptoms of dehydration such as tipsiness, confusion or unexpected responses to questions.

It is equally important for adults to develop healthy drinking habits. Drinking between meals, before actually feeling thirsty should become a routine.

One of the easiest indicators if the body's well-hydrated is the color of urine. Dark, yellow urine with a strong odor is a sign of not getting enough fluids. Urine is pale yellow when the body is properly hydrated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a white satin gown with a fitted bodice overlay of satin and pearls extending down into a V at the waist line, over a long, flowing satin skirt. The back bodice included a lattice work of satin and bow, flowing into a chapel train. Inter-woven into her hair were tiny diamond corsages. She carried a bouquet of silk

Class of 1953 holds reunion

The Wayne High School class of 1953 held its 50th class reunion on July 11-12, along with the Wayne Chicken Show.

A number of members of the class met at the Main Street Park on Friday evening for Henoween and enjoyed visiting with people in the downtown area. The group decorated a 50th anniversary float for the Chicken Days Parade. Twenty-five class members and some spouses rode on the float in the parade on Saturday morning.

Various Chicken Day activities were enjoyed the rest of the day. In the afternoon the class met at the newly renovated Middle School, which, in 1953, was the Wayne High School, where David Lutt gave a tour of the building.

Following that, the group stopped at the Wayne County Museum where JoAnn Proett informed class members of the various points of interest. She then invited the group to her backyard for the rest of the afternoon.

Riley's Convention Center was the setting for the Saturday evening banquet. A total of 49 people attended, with 30 classmates present.

Dr. and Mrs. Lyle Seymour were invited as he was the class sponsor. He was presented with one of the 50th Anniversary Books, which were compiled by Donna and Don Bresemann. The invocation was given by Albert L. Nelson, a class member. A moment of silence was observed for the six members of the class who are deceased. Delvin Mikkelsen welcomed the guests, and he was accompanied by Larry Johnson in a humorous rendition of "Are You Lonesome Tonight."

Classmates attending the Golden Anniversary were: Doris (Skehan) Little, Wichita, Kan.; Jack Korff, Omaha; Donna

Marjorie (Matthes) Victor, Lincoln; Marilyn (Matthes) Gadeken, Lincoln; James B. Davis, Palm Harbor, Fla.; Victor Mann, Norfolk; Clarence Hedrick, Naperville, Ill.; Bill Palmer, Palm Springs, Calif.; Jim Henegar, Lakeland, Fla.; Albert L. Nelson, Wakefield; Lavern (Pospishil) Hamm, Winside; Paul Leonard, Carlos, Minn. and Janice (Vahlkamp) Schortinghuis, Indianapolis, Ind.

Those attending from Wayne were Jim Atkins, Gary Jeffrey, Lorraine (Saul) Johnson, Mildred (Korn) Weak, Evan Bennett, Donna (Lage) Hansen, JoAnn (Powers) Proett, Mardelle (Fleer) and Delvin Mikkelsen and Shirley (Kingston) Fletcher.

The majority of the class voted to hold the next reunion on Chicken Days in two years.

Hoskins native

Pastor Wendt speaks on Siberia

On July 16 members and guests of Trinity Lutheran Church in Hoskins heard of the mission work being done in Novosibirsk, Russia by a native of Hoskins.

Pastor Ted Wendt, son of Bill and Edna Wendt of rural Hoskins was the guest speaker at Trinity's annual Mission Festival.

Pastor Wendt grew up on a farm located northwest of Hoskins, attended grade school at Immanuel Lutheran in Hadar, high school at Northwestern Lutheran Academy in Moberge, S.D. and graduated from Wisconsin Lutheran Seminary.

In 1995 Pastor Wendt went to the town of Novosibirsk, Russia to continue mission work that began in the city in 1993.

In his presentation, Pastor Wendt spoke of the history of the Lutheran Church in Russia. He stated that 100 years ago, the Lutheran Church was the second largest church in Russia with the Russian Orthodox Church being the largest. With World War I, followed by the beginning of the Communist Government in 1917, by 1936 there were no Lutheran churches remaining in Russia with pastors and leaders of the churches sent to the concentration camps.

For a period of time under the Communist rule, it was illegal to have a church in Russia.

With the fall of Communism, the door to Mission work was again opened and the Lutheran churches have again been established. This year the church in Novosibirsk will be celebrating its 10th anniversary with 400 members.

Pastor Wendt talked about the city of Novosibirsk, the third largest city in Russia, located in the area of Siberia. The area of Siberia is associated with punishment when government officials would send individuals to this area of Russia to work in the factories to pay back their debt to the government.

Temperatures are cold there. The lowest temperature Pastor Wendt experienced was 53 degrees below zero. He stated that when it is that cold, it is usually clear and still so that wind chill does not factor in, but the cold is severe and it is cold everywhere.

He said the last two winters were not so bad in that it only got to 40 degrees below zero.

In 1998 Pastor Wendt married Tamara, a native of Russia. When he came back to the United States earlier this year, his wife and 20 year old step-daughter were unable to come along because their passport documents were expiring. Tamara is in the process of obtaining her documents and will hopefully get them sometime in August. According to Pastor Wendt, families separated by miles is not unheard of in Russia as work and education often keep families apart for one to two years at a time.

A chicken dinner was served prior to Pastor Wendt's presentation with ice cream sundaes following.

Pastor Wendt is currently staying with his parents in rural Hoskins and will preach again at Trinity Lutheran Church in Hoskins at the 10 a.m. service on Sunday, Aug. 3.

Pastor Ted Wendt, left, spoke at Trinity Lutheran Church. With him is Pastor Rodney Rixe.

Setting the record straight

Me culpa! I completely mispoke two weeks ago when I said that the stuff in the Joyful Noiseletter (published for the Fellowship of Merry Christians) is not copyrighted. A letter to the editor last week corrected me; and in case you missed it because of all the fun stuff about Chicken Days, the policy is really just for printing in church publications.

In these, the jokes and/or cartoons can be used without further permission, with credit, of course, to the Joyful Noiseletter or cited source or cartoonist. I thank the writer, I certainly do NOT want to contribute to the delinquency of readers of this paper.

This morning is the first time since the first day of this month I actually have a couple of windows open. We welcome the break in the heat; and we keep praying for rain. We haven't had to mow the lawn for two weeks and it's brown in a lot of places.

Speaking of the Joyful Noiseletter reminds me of a joke I have used many times in the past few months. I don't remember if it has been printed in that worthy paper or not, because it has definitely been in the "public domain." I first saw it in the World Herald, in an article titled "Holy Hilarity." The article delineated some of the same things I wrote about: that Christians can tell jokes, and the good ones are about themselves.

By: Pat Meierhenry

It seems that the local Methodist, Presbyterian, and Lutheran pastors were having coffee together at the town cafe. They found that they all were having problems with the same thing; bats in the belfry! So, they exchanged ideas on the best way to deal with them.

The Methodist reported trapping them humanely and releasing them in the country. The Presbyterian believed that they were predestined to be there, so they just left them alone. The Lutheran commented that all he had to do was baptize them and confirm them, and he never saw them again!

Since the first of the year, I've seen that same story in various forms, with various denominations represented, and even different pests found in churches. And we sort of laugh ruefully, because we know about the problem.

But last week, I even saw it in the Mitford book I was rereading. There is a character in Mitford named Billy Wilson who collects jokes, especially ones he can tell Father Tim. And this was one he told.

I stopped at the Barnes & Noble store to buy another book authored by Jan Karon. This one is simply favorite quotes collected by Father Tim. The saleslady turned out to be another Mitford fan. We had a wonderful time chuckling about the characters in this town. She summed it up by saying, "I want to live in Mitford, and I want Father Tim to be my minister." To that I say, "Amen."

Advice offered on dealing with storm damaged trees

Several weeks have past since major storms hit small communities and farms, damaging crops, buildings and trees.

Of these, trees are often passed over until the last for treatment and care. Trees can handle that lack of attention temporarily but proper pruning and care is needed before this fall.

Damaged branches need to be pruned properly to allow the tree to grow over those wounds and produce new growth. Proper pruning means to cut the branch off at the point of attachment which is usually the crotch of branching. Many times, a fast job of pruning results in branches being lopped off where the broken part is found. That is not proper pruning and in the long term, does not help the tree recover.

If the tree is damaged severely enough, removal of the entire tree is better as that allows for replacement with another species of tree to offer variety and diversity.

Del Hemsath
Extension Educator

Be sure to use a tree service who has certified arborists to do the work of tree care. In storm cleanup situations, opportunists will offer good deals that later turn out to be a poor choice. A reputable tree care service will offer references and contacts so their workmanship can be evaluated. Cheaper is not better in this case. There is no need to fertilize damaged trees. Fertilizing a damaged tree can actually cause greater harm than the storm. The best treatment is removal of damaged branches to improve overall health of the tree.

It is not easy to start over under these stressful disasters but a common sense approach to proper tree care is essential for long term enjoyment of trees.

Haying and grazing allowed

Cutting hay and grazing livestock on land enrolled in the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Conservation Reserve Program, in the absence of a weather-related emergency, is now an option for producers due to changes brought about by the 2002 Farm Bill.

Brian Wolford, State Executive Director of the Nebraska Farm Service Agency, announced that managed haying and grazing would be allowed on CRP lands in the state beginning July 16. The starting date is tied to the end of the primary nesting and brood rearing season in the state. No ending date was announced.

Prior to the 2002 Farm Bill, commercial use of CRP land was generally prohibited except for weather-related emergencies such as droughts.

To take advantage of the new option, producers must modify existing conservation plans for the CRP acreage to include managed haying and grazing practices. The plans must be developed in conjunction with USDA's Natural Resources Conservation Service or one of its technical service providers.

Producers must also agree to serve stipulations including signing an agreement to re-establish, at the producer's own cost, any cover destroyed or damaged as a result of haying or grazing and to remove all hay within 10 days of being notified that the managed haying and grazing season has ended.

Annual rental payments producers receive for enrolling land into CRP will be reduced by 25 percent for acreage that is hayed or grazed.

Under the program, producers can cut hay or graze livestock on a given acre no more than once every three years after the vegetative cover is fully established. An area hayed or grazed this year, for example, may not be hayed or grazed again until 2006. CRP participants can choose to hay or graze their entire CRP acreage in year one or only hay or graze a portion of their CRP acreage each year. Producers may not harvest hay and graze livestock on the same land in the same year.

WATER CONSERVATION TIPS FOR LAWN AND GARDEN

- Courtesy of Don Wilhite, UN-L School of Natural Resource Sciences

Most of the water used in towns and cities in the summer goes to lawn and other thirsty plants. By watering efficiently in the landscape, you can help keep water use within your system's capacity and reduce your water bill. Water during the cool of the day to reduce evaporation. The best time is early morning. Deep-water shrubs in evening hours.

Lawns seldom need to be watered during April. In most instances, start watering in mid-May to early June. A healthy, growing bluegrass lawn will require about one-half an inch of water per week until June and one to two inches per week during the mid-summer months. Adjust watering to include rainfall.

Measure sprinkler output by planting three or more cans throughout the sprinkler patten. The average depth of water in the cans will tell you how much water the sprinkler has applied over the time you ran it. Water just the lawn, not concrete or asphalt. Reduce the volume from the sprinkler heads close to the street. Avoid watering on windy days. Adjust automatic sprinkler systems to accommodate changes in seasonal water demand. Remember, they require periodic checks throughout the summer. If you have an automatic system, adjust the clock as the temperature changes to give your plants only the water they need to stay healthy. If you have a manual system, watch a clock or set a timer.

Know your soils. When water runs off your lawn, it often means the soil can't absorb water as fast as it is being applied. Clay soils require slow watering; they dry out slowly and need infrequent watering. Sandy soils dry out quickly and require more frequent watering. Loam soils are a combination of clay, sand and silt.

Water deeply once or twice a week, allowing the moisture to soak down to the roots (6-8 inches). Frequent light watering encourages shallow root growth, which is not tolerant to drought. If your soil type will not allow you to deep-soak your lawn, split your watering times into two or more blocks to allow the soil to absorb the water. Aeration loosens soil and reduces compaction. After aeration, more water will reach the roots, resulting in less run-off. Aerate your lawn once or twice a year.

Don't water every day. Stick a screwdriver into the soil. If it offers little resistance to a depth of six inches, the soil has adequate moisture. Another simple test is to step on the grass. Grass will lie flat if the moisture is low. If it bounces back quickly, wait a day or two to water. Pay attention to the color of your lawn. When it is under stress, it will change color, becoming more blue-green.

You can save water outdoors by planting a water-conserving landscape. There are hundreds of low-water-use/drought-tolerant plants, including turf grasses. Call your local cooperative Extension office for information. Many nurseries also have this information.

Note: These water conservation tips are appropriate for lawns that are predominately Kentucky bluegrass. If you have another lawn type (such as fescue or zoysia) consult your nursery or call your local Cooperative Extension office for advice.
