Transportation meeting to be in Wayne

The Governor's Transportation Task Force will begin the first of 12 statewide public hearings in Wayne at the Community Activity Center at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 7.

All hearings are open to the public. Governor Johanns stated that "transportation is a key element to this state's economic vitality and growth."

"With 532 cities and villages, many urban and rural transit systems, 95,000 miles of roads, 3,650 miles of railway and 83 municipal airports, transportation is the engine that powers Nebraska's economy. Taken separately, these are individual systems that fit their respective needs. But taken collectively, they represent a strong, concerted plan for Nebraska's future," Governor Johanns said.

Governor's Johanns' charge to the 35-member Task Force is to conduct an infrastructure needs assessment of highways, aviation, public transit, rail and railways. This will include a comprehensive review of Nebraska's current transportation funding structure and an analysis of the funding that would be required to meet the transportation infrastructure needs assessment.

Among the task force members is Wayne Mayor Sheryl Lindau. The Task Force is chaired by former Lancaster County Commissioner Kathy Campbell of Lincoln and Jim Hawks, Director of Public Works and Utilities for the City of North Platte.

"In order to adequately assess the state's transportation needs, the Task Force will be holding Public Hearings across the state in August, September and October. The Task Force members would encourage individuals, community leaders, community organizations and regional groups to testify at each public hearing in order for the Task Force to have a good understanding of the significant community and regional transportation needs. We anticipate a picture emerging of the comprehensive transportation needs across the state, Campbell said.

"With the current funding situation, now is the time to make sure that we optimize all of our resources and establish a plan for our transportation infrastructure that will lead us into the

Fair weather

If you don't like the weather in Nebraska just wait 24 hours. Fair goes in the area can affect to that. Temperatures near 100 degrees on Saturday gave way to more than two inches of rain and temperatures in the 70s on Sunday at the Wayne County Fairgrounds. Several activities were canceled and moved due to the rain. At night, Jy Burd and friends talk with members of the Wayne County Fairboard before moving the concert indoors. Meanwhile at the Dixon County Fairgrounds, fair goers enjoyed ideal temperatures for the Top the Master Concert at the grounds and in Concord.

Marine shares his experiences in Iraq

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

Marine Cpl. Matthew Benson is back in Wayne after serving in Iraq. He is in the 2nd Marine Division and has been at Camp Lejeune, N.C. Benson has been in the Marines for almost four years. He has a wife, Jessica, and an 8-year-old stepson, James. Benson's parents are Vaughn and Julie Benson of Wayne.

The order to go to war was given on March 20 but Benson's division was ordered to board the ship, U.S.S. Saipan, on Jan. 15 and head out for Kuwait. Benson said the men weren't sure what was in store for them but they were ready to go. From Kuwait, they were sent north along the border of Iraq and then into Basra.

Their first introduction to combat came at An Nasiriyah, where they met up with intense fighting for a week and a half. Benson's division was sent there to assist members of the Army-3rd infantry.

After sustaining casualties, the Marines took a bridge at An Nasiriyah around March 24. Benson's division had been sent on this mission to assist division 1 and 2 who had attempted to secure the bridge. Three trucks were blown up there and 31 Marines were hurt in friendly fire. Benson was on one of the trucks and was standing on sand bags that were pierced by ammo.

While in Iraq, not only did the soldiers have to fight in combat but they also had to weather the elements as Iraq is mostly desert and temperatures are often unbearable. While they were there, an unusual two and a half inch rain cooled them down and gave them the opportunity to make their beds in the sand, which Benson thought was pretty comfortable.

As for chemical warfare, the soldiers were told the smell is like fresh cut alfalfa. Benson thought it was good that he was from an agricultural area as he would know that smell. They were told, though, that by the time they would smell it, it would be too late!

U.S. soldiers had some sophisticated equipment to help them. One example was the night goggles they used which gave them an advantage over the enemy as fighting can continue at night. Smiling, Benson said he thought the goggles would be good for coin hunting.

Benson remembered the hardest time for him was when seven of his fellow Marines were killed and he

Arboretum is celebrating anniversary

The Nebraska Statewide Arboretum is celebrating its 25th anniversary with a "Back to Our Roots" tour this fall after a "near-death experience" that nearly resulted in elimination of half its funding.

"It's kind of like the Husker Nation Tour; only it's about plants, not football," said NSA Director Jim Locklear. "We're a statewide organization, so we wanted to have a statewide celebration."

The Back to Our Roots Tour will consist of a string of "garden parties" across Nebraska celebrating the arboretum's accomplishments, beginning Aug. 9 in Brownville.

The celebration comes at a welcome time for the arboretum. Earlier this year, University of Nebraska-Lincoln Chancellor Harvey Perlman proposed eliminating UNL support of the arboretum, which accounts for half its budget, as part of a package of budget cuts.

Ultimately, the cut in the university's budget ended up smaller than anticipated, so the university restored funding to the arboretum. It was a "near-death experience," Locklear said.

"We were bracing ourselves for the cut, and had made contingency plans for operating solely as a private nonprofit," he added, "but we are thrilled to continue our 25-year relationship with the university."

"It's been a difficult year, but a gratifying one in many ways. We're especially thankful for the concern and support expressed by the members and friends of NSA," Locklear said.

Founded in 1978, NSA is now a network of 70 public gardens (arboretums, botanical gardens and historic landscapes) in over 40 communities across Nebraska. NSA also has played a significant role in the beautification of Nebraska communities, having provided more than $6 million in grants for over 500 public landscaping projects.

For more information about the Brownville event or other tour stops, contact the NSA office at (402)472-2971.

SMART USE OF PAINKILLERS

Many Americans are taking excessive amounts of painkillers and say they do not worry about side effects, according to a recent survey. Researchers from the National Consumers League asked 4,200 U.S. adults about their medication habits and found that 44% take higher-than-recommended doses. Respondents also showed little concern for the potentially serious side effects of nonprescription painkillers, which can include stomach bleeding. Only 16% of respondents reported reading the entire label of a medication before taking it. To help protect against complications, consumers should read precautions and directions of every medication. Tell your doctor about all medications you are taking because many should not be combined. Be aware of possible side effects, and take note if you experience any.

If you are in pain, working with your provider to figure out the root of the pain is a better long-term solution than covering it up with painkillers, or taking them for a longer period of time than necessary. Located at 114 W. 3rd Street, WAYNE CONVENIENT CLINIC is here to keep you healthy. For more information on this topic or if you would like to schedule an examination, call (402) 375-1383. We are open from 12 pm - 8 pm, 7 days a week, and walk-ins are welcome. At Wayne Convenient Clinic, we take pride in treating you like family.

Letters

Parents have concerns

Dear Editor,
This letter is in regards to the school board meeting held on July 14.
Parents of the Laurel-Concord freshmen want to explain to the public why we didn't attend the "handbook" meeting on April 8. We had no reason to attend the handbook meeting. In the school newsletter, it was just stated that there was a handbook meeting scheduled. If the newsletter had stated that they were thinking about doing away with freshman study hall, we guarantee parents would have been there to voice concern.

Incoming freshmen pre-registered for fall classes in February and March with the choice of study hall as an elective.

Then the last week of school, their schedules were changed quite hastily and kids put into classes they didn't choose. Guess an elective class has a new meaning.

Now we have a problem. We parents have major questions about make-up school work, safety nets for kids who aren't able to keep up and more. We've had three meetings with school administration and the board and have gotten no answers. We've been told that by taking away study hall, it will decrease the failure rate. We have a hard time believing that taking away study hall and adding a class, reduces failure. Laurel-Concord freshmen have successfully used study hall for many years.

We need your help to make the board and administration act on our concerns. Graduates, students and parents — help us give the choice of a study hall back to our freshmen! We were advised to keep the number of people in attendance at our meetings to a minimum, because large groups would only hurt the cause.

Well, they haven't heard us anyway, so our next step is to let the numbers speak!

Arguing the value of Initiative 300

Two decades ago voters slapped a sort-of ban on what is usually thought of as "corporate" farming, and most figured it would benefit what is usually thought of as the "family" farm.

Debate over the constitutional provision adopted in 1982 never ceases.

Corporations have been accused of circumventing it. The provision itself has been blamed for allegedly hampering agribusiness development.

Now, Gov. Mike Johanns and some lawmakers agree that it is time to review the value of the constitutional provision known as Initiative 300.

Supporters and opponents can be counted upon to man clearly defined battle lines. Some will argue that Initiative 300 is outdated, unworkable and a detriment to economic progress. Others will contend that greedy corporations just want a free hand to further limit competition and to exert greater economic control over grain and livestock operations.

The state charter came to include its current rules on non-family corporate farming via the people. Nebraskans can use the initiative process to propose laws and changes in the state charter. Thus, the public policy on corporate farming has always been known by the nomenclature assigned to it on the ballot: "Initiative 300."

It came about in the 1980s because of concerns that the practices of big agribusiness would put comparatively small family farms out of existence. The latter were disappearing in wholesale lots via the black hole of a recession, among other things, and Initiative 300 enjoyed ample support in town and country. The ideas behind it obviously had not enjoyed equal popularity in the Legislature. It was a lack of action by the Unicameral that led to the successful initiative effort.

The fact that rural Nebraskans would generally support any kind of government edict on farm operations was proof that times were tough — and getting tougher.

There were fears that ever-larger ag operations would mean the demise of small towns, their retail businesses, and the de-population of rural counties.

To say that rural areas have seen difficult times in the past 21 years, regardless of Initiative 300, would be an understatement approximately worthy of Herbert Hoover.

The question, for some, is whether policies such as those intended within Initiative 300 can help to preserve and protect small and medium-sized operations. Has changing economic reality mandated change in the cultural and social landscape? Are those continuing changes simply inevitable?

Any study ordered by the Legislature is certain to generate heart-felt debate, some hard feelings and virtually no effect on the economic realities that confront producers.

A recent Omaha visit by Vice President Cheney netted some $400,000 for the Republicans.

Does to show you that times ain't tough all over.

By Leo Ahmann

Whew!!! It was a good thing that July wasn't a busy activity month here in Wayne.

From the Fourth of July celebration, to Henoween/ Chicken Show, to the Wayne County Fair.

I think all of the organizations that sponsored those events are all probably breathing a huge sigh of relief.

We played a part in all of those, some small parts and some huge parts and it's nice to sit back and get back to other projects and events on our schedule.

Next up is the buzz and excitement of the students returning to the college and all the local schools getting geared up for another academic year. And the summer of '03 went where...???

We have picked a date for our bi-annual "Holidayzle" event near the Christmas holiday season, that includes our 'Festival of Wreaths.' The date we have chosen is Saturday, Nov. 29. We have moved the event to an earlier date for a number of reasons. 'Holidayzle' will be held in the City Auditorium and plans are already underway.

We have also chosen Thursday, Dec. 11 as our night for the "Christmas on the Main" extravaganza... Parade of Lights, Living Windows, Santa's visit and more. After a few of the hot days we've had recently, it's nice to think about cooler weather. So far away, but just around the corner!!!!

Our congratulations go out to Mr. Curt Frye on his appointment as interim President of Wayne State College. We wish him the best of success as he handles the transition period for Wayne State College.

I had put out an earlier plea in our newsletter a couple of weeks ago and would like to repeat it here in this column. We have started to take the first baby steps in a project involving the old railroad depot, just south of Godfather's. There is so very much to do and it will take as much time lining everything up, as it will probably take to complete the project. As the work continues behind the scenes, I am in need of any and all pictures or copies of pictures that anyone is willing to share. I have a couple of exterior pictures, but would like to have more. Should we be fortunate enough, I definitely need INTERIOR pictures. They would obviously be very helpful. Again, I want to remind you that this is going to be a turtle-pace project but one that stirs the excitement waters in our stream of projects.

We have a shuttle meeting scheduled for next Tuesday, Aug. 5, at the Main Street Office. This is an open meeting and anyone who would like to have input is most welcome to attend. The brown bag lunch meeting will begin at noon at the Main Street Office. If you have comments or suggestions and can't attend the meeting, just give me a call and I will relay your comments.

The Wayne State College Band Day is coming up on Saturday, Sept. 13 and that's also our "Wake Up with Wayne" promotion. More on that later.

If you have any suggestions, give us a call at 375-5062, e-mail us at mainstreetwayne@nebraska.com or mail us at Box 43 or stop by our office at 208 North Main.

Until next time...

Continue building on welfare reform success

By U.S. Senator Ben Nelson

The first round of welfare reform in 1996 was the right step in moving families from welfare to work. These reforms gave states more opportunities to be innovative and that innovation sparked some great success stories.

During my time as governor, Nebraska developed programs like Employment First and Families First that not only provided much needed assistance to low-income families, but also helped them find a way to leave the cycle of welfare dependency. The average time a family spent on welfare fell nearly two thirds and Nebraska taxpayers saved $14 million because of this innovative approach that demanded work.

Students encouraged to participate

U.S. Senator Chuck Hagel of Nebraska has encouraged Nebraska's middle and high school students to participate in the Team America Rocketry Challenge. The Challenge is a non-profit national model rocket contest for high school and middle school students and is sponsored by the Aerospace Industries Association and the National Association of Rocketry.

"The Rocketry Challenge is a fun way for Nebraska's students to learn about physics. Hopefully some of Nebraska's future rocket scientists will participate and take the prize," Hagel said.

Students participating in the Team America Rocket Challenge are required to design, build, and fly a model rocket carrying two raw eggs as close as possible to a specific altitude. The 100 best teams in the nation will compete in a fly-off at Great Meadow, The Plains, Virginia, on May 15, 2004.

The winning student teams will share a total prize worth over $50,000. Information about the 2003 event is located at www.rocketcntest.org.

Detailed information about the 2004 competition, including the rules and an application, will be available on Sept. 2, 2003.

NECC to host part-time job fair

Northeast Community College students looking for a part-time job for the fall semester can visit with prospective employers at the 16th Annual Part-Time Job Fair on Tuesday, August 26th, from 3-5:30 p.m. in the Lifelong Learning Center on the Northeast campus.

Co-sponsored by the Nebraska Workforce Development and NECC, up to 45-50 Norfolk employers will participate and visit with Northeast students about part-time employment possibilities. There is no charge to employers.

Kim Neesen from Workforce Development will be on hand to visit with students who want to register with Workforce Development. Representatives from some organizations who have service learning opportunities will be present to visit with students interested in volunteer work too.

Employers are encouraged to register for the event by calling Rose Ann Rogers, coordinator of Student Employment Services, at (402)844-7263.

"This is a good way for employers to spend a few hours visiting with students and finding good people to hire for their businesses," Rogers said. "It is a win-win situation for both the student and potential employers."

Employers may also contact Rogers for additional information.

future, good infrastructure is important to Nebraska. This is the focus of the task force: to assess the needs of our state and then to submit recommendations on how these needs might be addressed as our communities continue to grow," Hawks said.

At the conclusion of the public hearings, the task force will report their findings to the Governor and the Legislature, in doing so, provide a blueprint for a comprehensive integrated transportation infrastructure program.

Frye

State Colleges Stan Carpenter's recommendation of Frye will be forwarded to the NSC board of trustees for approval.

"Curt has been an integral part of Wayne State College for more than 18 years," said Carpenter. "His leadership and background made him the top choice to serve as interim president. He understands the mission of the Nebraska State Colleges, and specifically, Wayne State, from the inside out, and he will serve the college well during the search for a new president."

Frye has been at Wayne State since 1985, serving as associate dean of students, dean of students, and in 1993 was named vice president and dean of students. A native of Elk City, Frye holds a bachelor of science in education from Midland Lutheran College in Fremont and a master of science in education from Chadron State College.

Prior to coming to Wayne State,

Frye was a teacher and coach at Cody/Kilgore and a guidance counselor in Neligh and Wayne. He and his wife, Dianne, have two children and two grandchildren.

"I am very much looking forward to the rewards and challenges of working with students, faculty and staff in this new position," Frye said. "Wayne State has been and will continue to be an excellent place to attend school. Our intention and hope is that we can move the agenda forward in this interim period."

had to say a prayer over his friend before they sent him back to the States.

One mission Benson and his unit had was pulling security for reconnaissance forces sent in to rescue Pfc. Jessica Lynch. During the rescue, Delta Force came in while the Marines were covering them and carried Pfc. Lynch out. Marines are usually sent in first in risky situations.

Accompanying his division was Kerry Sanders, NBC correspondent. Benson said Sanders reported the truth and that's what they wanted him to do.

The 3rd. infantry division was also sent into Baghdad where they were met by Iraqi people who were glad to see them. Now, soldiers are greeted with bullets.

While in Al Kut, an Iraqi lady told Marines that the Baath party was hiding ammunition in her home. When they checked it out, all her closets and under her bed were full of ammo.

As for what is going on in Iraq, Benson feels soldiers may be getting complacent the longer they are there. He notes there was a lot of interaction with the people when he was there but soldiers were told not to let them get closer than 10 feet from them.

Many street vendors, Benson said, belong to the Baath party. Around 10 percent of the people are sympathetic to the Baath party, 10 percent tolerate the Americans but wish they'd leave, and 80 percent are glad they're there.

While home, Benson has a big decision to make, he has to decide if he is going to stay in the Marines. If he decides to stay in, he needs to leave for North Carolina by Aug. 2.

If he stays in, his next duty would be to take one of three positions: marksmanship instructor, infantry school instructor, or survival school instructor. Survivor instructor is the position he wants but is not sure he would get. Part of the duties of a survival instructor is to teach Marines how to survive in the mountains, a job Benson said he would like. If he decides not to re-enlist, he will be out by April 17, 2004.

In March at An Nasiriyah, Iraq, Marines came under attack from Iraqi forces and "friendly fire." Cpl. Benson's truck was destroyed during the attack.

In April at Al Kut, Iraq, weapon caches were collected from homes, schools, and hospitals. All collected ammunition was brought to a secured area and destroyed.

'Egg Man' makes Chicken Show a yearly tradition

Lloyd Mobley III is affectionately known as the "Egg Man."

When the Egg Man is not eating, catching or singing about eggs, he can be found at the University Hospital in Omaha where he is finishing his last year as Chief Resident Neuro-Surgeon.

He and his wife Melinda have lived in Omaha the past 5 years.

That is where Mobley's connection with the Wayne Chicken Show started. A few years ago at the hospital in Omaha, Lloyd noticed someone wearing a Chicken Show t-shirt and asked that person, "What is this Chicken Show?" and the rest is history.

Lloyd and his following have been attending the event every year since. He won the egg eating contest for the past three years and this year exceeded his own record by eating 14 hard boiled eggs in two minutes.

Lloyd Mobley III and his father, Lloyd Mobley, Jr.

He has also won the song contest for the past two years. Lloyd has a large following of friends and family that attend the event wearing the "Egg Man" t-shirt and cheering him on during competition. The group is increasing year to year.

Lloyd absolutely loves and looks forward to the Chicken Show event each year and puts his heart and soul into his efforts," said his father, Lloyd Mobley, Jr. of Berthoud, Colo.

Since Lloyd III has become involved with the Chicken Show, his family has also joined in the festivities. Lloyd, Jr. won the Chicken Shoe Chucking Contest last year and entered several of the contests this year.

"Our family would like to compliment the Chicken Show event staff for putting on a great show each year..We love it..and look forward to seeing you next year," Lloyd III said.

Council awards bid for trail project

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

Work could begin soon on the first phase of the Trail Project for the city of Wayne following the acceptance of a bid at Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

A bid from R&W Construction for $456,724.62 was accepted for the 2.9 mile project. Bids were opened earlier this month and reviewed by the Nebraska Department of Roads and the engineer for the project. This bid allows for a portion of the trail to be constructed at a width of eight feet and the remainder at a width of 10 feet. The trail will begin at the Logan Creek just south of Wayne and proceed northeast past the Softball Complex, across Highway 35 and north to Wayne State College.

It is estimated that this portion of the project will be complete by May 1, 2004.

The council voted to increase the suggested contribution for using the Handi-Van from 75¢ to $1 per one-way trip.

Funding for the Handi-Van comes from three sources - fees, state funding and the city's contribution with each of these contributing approximately one-third of the cost to maintain the program.

Approval was given on the proposed design for a golf cart underpass.

Estimated cost of the project is $182,000 and will be necessary as the Country Club Road is scheduled to be paved. Several suggestions were made as to how to be sure golf cart drivers use the underpass and do not attempt to cross the road.

Ordinance 2003-12 received first round approval. The ordinance would allow for stop signs to be placed on the east and west sides of Eighth and Pearl Streets.

Considerable debate was held during the meeting on a request by Paul Campbell to close an alley next to property he owns.

Campbell said he has been dealing with the issue for some time and has followed the process required by the city. He told the council that he was willing to give the city the required easements and that he would be responsible for maintaining the alley and providing snow removal.

He also noted that historically, the purpose for alleys has passed and that there is only one other east/west alley in Ward I.

The issue began when Campbell began a remodeling project on the house on the property. Property lines were not clearly defined and a portion of a deck built on to the house extends on to city property.

Council member Dennis Linster said that while both the city and Campbell were partially responsible for the confusion, the contractor Campbell hired to do the remodeling project should have known the process and worked to clarify property lines before the project began.

City Administrator Lowell Johnson said he felt the city should not give up land as no one knows what the future will bring.

Following discussion, the council voted 4-2 to not close the alley.

Police Chief Lance Webster presented information on the city's involvement with the federal COPS Grant to pay for additional police officers for the city. Originally, it was anticipated that 2.5 full-time positions would be added. However, at this time, the city has added only 1.5 full-time officers.

The grant will pay for 75 percent of the cost of these officers for the first year of the program; 50 percent the second year and 25 percent the third year. Following that time period, the city is obligated to keep the officers for an additional three years.

These officers have already been added to the department and due to the resignation of another officer, bring the total to nine full-time positions and some part-time positions for the department.

Ordinance 2003-17 was passed on first reading. The ordinance will amend the city code to clarify language in regard to peddlers and hawkers.

On a similar topic, approval was given to Resolution 2003-36 which will allow for the charging of an annual fee to those vendors who conduct regular routes in the city. At the present time, these vendors do not pay fees. The resolution will allow for the charging of a $100 fee.

The council went on record as favoring a south route for the Highway 35 Expressway Alignment past Wayne. It was noted that the north route would not allow highway users to see the city and therefore be less beneficial to the city.

Several members of the audience were present to voice opinions on the topic of the expressway and noted that studies indicate four-lane highways cause an increase in the chance that nuclear waste and illegal drugs would be transported over the highway.

Mayor Sheryl Lindau made a number of appointments during the meeting. They include Darrel Miller, Marty Summerfeld, Don Endicott and Kyle Nelson to the Planning Commission. Vicki Pick was re-appointed to the commission and will also serve on the Board of Adjustments, as will Bill Reeg. Mike Grosz was appointed to the Recreation-Leisure Service Commission.

The council's next meeting will be Tuesday, Aug. 12 at 7:30 p.m. at the Council Chambers.

Grant presented to city of Wayne

The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District (LENRD) recently presented the City of Wayne with a check for $30,000 to be used for the Public Recreation Trail scheduled to be built this fall.

Merlin Frevert, a member of the Board of Directors for the LENRD, congratulated the city for the work that is being done and noted that the purpose of the project is to provide residents of Wayne and visitors with a safe way to travel in the community including walking, biking, jogging and roller-blading.

The trail is also designed to enhance the economic development of the area as well as increase the recreational opportunities.

The LENRD celebrated its 31st anniversary this year. The group works closely with people in the 15-county district, providing funding for a wide variety of projects. Cost-share programs are available for road structures, flood control levees, tree planting projects, abandoned well sealing, soil conservation, water quality, recreation and wildlife.

ing your future goals and look forward to working with you again in the future," Frevert said.

Merlin Frevert, center, of the LENRD, presented a check to Dr. Will Wiseman and Mayor Sheryl Lindau.

"We hope your project meets all of your expectations and will be enjoyed by your community for many years. Thank you for your interest in our Urban Recreation Area Development Program. We wish you the best of luck in reach-

The grant will be used in conjunction with money received from the state for the project which will be a part of the 20 percent of the funding the city is required to provide for the completion of the project.

Adam McGuire (12-3) suffered the loss on the mound, pitching a complete game. In seven innings, he allowed eight hits, seven runs (three were earned) to go with nine strikeouts and two walks.

Seven players from the team competed in their final Legion game. They include Andy Baker, Jon Ehrhardt, Adam Hoffman, Brad Hochstein, Adam McGuire, Eric Sturm and Mike Sturm.

Omaha Roncalli won the Area 3 Tournament title, topping Blair 5-2 in eight innings last Thursday to earn a berth to the state tournament in Blair starting Friday. Blair also earned a berth to state as the host team.

The Wakefield Seniors blanked Pender 2-0 Monday evening in the championship game. Joe Brown pitched a complete game six-hitter, striking out eight while walking only one batter.

Wakefield had only four hits in the game, but used them in timely fashion to score their two runs. A Luke Hoffman RBI single in the first inning scored Kyle Beacom, who singled earlier. In the sixth inning, Joe Brown singled to start the inning and scored on Zach Dolen's RBI single.

In the winner's bracket final played last Thursday (July 24), Wakefield rolled to a 12-2 win over Pender.

Wakefield scored four runs in the third inning to take a 4-0 lead, then put the game away with seven runs in the fifth.

Kyle Gardner was the winning pitcher. Taylor Peters, Luke Henderson, Eric Husen, Yancey Sherer and Tanner Soderberg each had hits in the win.

Coach Paul Eaton reported that the combined records of the two Wakefield teams, 74-15, is the best ever in team history.

Despite suffering a season-ending loss to Blair last Wednesday at the Class B Area 3 Tournament in Wayne, Senior Legion pitcher Adam McGuire's 12-3 record was one of the best in the state.

Brushing Is Good For Your Heart
According to a University of Minnesota study, brushing your teeth does more than prevent tooth decay and bad breath. Research showed that it could also help reduce the risk of heart attacks, strokes and blood clots. If you don't brush regularly, bacteria can accumulate in your mouth. This bacteria can get into your blood stream and help form blood clots. The study doesn't prove that poor dental hygiene causes heart attacks, but it appears to be a risk factor just like high cholesterol, high blood pressure or being overweight.

Remembering Bob Hope

The crops in Cass County are "hangin' in there," but last Friday and Saturday's heat and wind were really hard on them. We had only a sprinkle on Sunday morning, while Norfolk recorded one and a half inches. The cool weather on Sunday was certainly welcome, though; and even today, with the forecast for 88, doesn't sound nearly as bad as 98.

The Big Farmer is watering all the spruce trees; and we are watering only a part of the lawn. I'm sad about some of the rest; it's done for, after two years of drought.

One guest, from Tucson, owns farm ground here and he showed me an ear of corn yesterday that was all filled out. So there will be a crop, even if it is short. And the reports of a record wheat crop in Kansas and western Nebraska are heartening.

The Bed & Breakfast business is still keeping us busy. There were two couples from St. Joe last weekend, one from Lincoln whose parents gave all their children gift certificates for Christmas, and the couple from Arizona, here for a family reunion. Next weekend, only three reservations so far; folks from Chadron who reported 110 degrees when they called last week.

In the midst of all the towel and sheet washing, I worked my one afternoon a month at the Aldrich house. I took some reading material, thinking I'd get a little relaxation time. Ha! We had 15 visitors,

The Farmer's Wife
By: Pat Meierhenry

and two more when I left.

Since it was closing time, the ground keeper volunteered to let them walk through. Six of the women who toured were from Utah. Their mother had read "Lantern in Her Hand" and now they had read it to their daughters. They all wanted to see the museum also, so I had to call a back-up docent. But we don't mind; we want everyone in the world to appreciate Bess! The visitor from Tucson knew her personally, and shared some stories at the breakfast table.

On Saturday evening, I treated myself to an hour in the Platte River Park pool, and on Sunday eve, I got to the last performance of "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers" at the Loft. As usual, a wonderful show.

And, because my neighbor raises wonderful sweet corn, when they called on Saturday morning, and said the corn was ready, I had that to do, too. When it's ready, it's ready. Yesterday, I overdid the corn, blueberries, and zucchini!

On the way to Brainard to do an insurance assessment, I listened to a Bob Hope tribute on NPR. I was surprised at how many classic composers have written dances for clowns. It closed with a military salute, and I found myself in tears. They came again this morning, as the "Today Show" highlighted those Christmas shows.

For 14 years, those shows were THE most-watched television shows. Think of that. He was a living example of my credo: nothing is too sad, or too sacred, that we can't find something humorous in it. His jokes were clean, too, and didn't go into bodily functions. He will be missed.

Koepke earns merit award

Dawn Koepke of Hoskins received the American Junior Simmental Association (AJSA) $750 Silver Merit Award at the 2003 National Junior Simmental Classic on July 18 in Kearney.

The Silver Merit Award is the second highest scholarship award presented to the AJSA members and must be used for post-secondary school education.

The recipients must meet the strict criteria set by the American Simmental Association Foundation. The award recognizes the recipient's scholarship, leadership, community interest and beef industry involvement. In 2003, only 10 junior members received the scholarship.

Koepke has been actively involved with the AJSA for the last nine years. She has an enviable record of involvement with cattle organizations and was recently chosen as a Student Ambassador with the Northeast Community College.

The American Simmental Association maintains the breed registries for the Simmental and Simbrah breeds of cattle. The organization has a membership of over 11,000, including over 5,000 juniors.

Wakefield receives funds to upgrade park

U.S. Senator Chuck Hagel (R-NE) announced that Wakefield has been awarded $66,000 from the National Park Service Land and Water Conservation Fund (LWCF).

The money will be used to make improvements to a city park.

"It is important for our communities to have quality outdoor recreation areas and open space. This grant money will make our public parks more enjoyable to people of all ages," Hagel said.

LWCF state-side grants help state and local governments acquire, develop, improve, and maintain high quality outdoor recreation areas and open space. The funding will allow Wakefield to develop an existing city-owned park by providing sports fields and playgrounds along with support facilities.

Soybean disease problems discussed

This has been an ideal spring and early summer for the development of soybean seedling diseases. "There are disease causing organisms naturally present in the soil and those carried by insects to cause potential problems in soybean fields every year selection of a variety that is resistant to the seedling diseases. The most common diseases are phytophthora root and stem rot, seedling blight and rhizoctonia root rot.

The disease is also more likely in those fields where reduced tillage has been used for several years and areas where there has not been an extended time of no soybeans. Rotation between corn and soybeans do not allow enough time between cropping years to reduce the disease causing organisms. The best system would include at least three crops in the rotation system which would allow at least 3 or more years between the same crop. Including alfalfa would extend the time between crops and help reduce the changes of disease problems.

Now is the time to begin planning for next year's crop.

Loberg earns FFA scholarship

The National FFA Organization has awarded a $1,000 Cargill Community Scholarship Program scholarship to Ashley Loberg, a recent graduate of Wayne High School.

The Cargill Community Scholarship Program, as a special project of the National FFA Foundation, Inc., sponsors the scholarship.

Ashley plans to use the funds to pursue a degree at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

She is the daughter of Dan and Kris Loberg of Carroll. Her grandparents are John and Marilyn Anderson.

While in high school, she was involved in volleyball, basketball, track and field, softball, band, jazz band, choir, jazz choir, W-Club, FBLA, FRIENDS, Wayne Ambassadors and Student Council.

Ashley was also active in St. Mary's Catholic Church's Youth Group, WINGS and was very involved in 4-H.

This scholarship is one of 1,926 awarded through the National FFA Scholarship Program this year. Currently, 153 corporate sponsors generously contribute more than $2 million to support this program. This is the 19th year that scholarships have been made available through the National FFA Foundation by business and industry sponsors to reward and encourage excellence and enable students to pursue their educational goals.

Scholarship recipients were selected from 5,927 applicants from across the country. Selections were based on the applicant's academic record, FFA and other school and community activities, supervised agricultural experience, program in agricultural education, career plans and financial need.

Ashley Loberg

FFA is a national youth organization of over 400,000 student members preparing for leadership and careers in the science, business and technology of agriculture with more than 8,000 local chapters in all 50 states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. FFA strives to make a positive difference in the lives of students by developing their potential for premier leadership, personal growth and career success through agricultural education.

but this year has been very unusual, said Del Hemsath, extension educator for Dakota, Dixon and Thurston counties.

"I have looked at several fields and most show visual evidence of having seedling diseases," said Del. "Especially if the fields seem to be rather slow in growth or have a reduced population."

The most common diseases are those that infect the seed, root or emerging shoot and cause death of the roots, stem and eventually the entire plant. Young plants in the field will suddenly die for no apparent reason but if the plant is dug out of the soil, there will not be any roots and probably a discolored stem. The plants that do survive will be stunted and slow growing, produce less flowers and thus less grain. Field symptoms include patches of shorter plants in the field and just a general poor appearance of the plants.

There is nothing that can be done once the soybean has been planted to prevent the disease. The treatment must occur before planting by treating the seed with a fungicide before planting or

Northeast students participating in internships

As summer nears an end, many Northeast Community College students are completing their participation in Northeast's cooperative internship education program.

Cooperative education, a partnership between the student, business and industry, and education, provides on-the-job training for students in a position related to their major field of study and career goals.

Students are not relegated to just summer internships and businesses in Norfolk. They can work throughout the year with any employer wishing to participate in the program. Northeast students are currently interning with employers throughout Nebraska and in other states.

Internships are usually done after a student's first year of college. Several benefits are available to employers who hire cooperative education interns. It gives employers an opportunity to preview candidates for permanent employment, train potential employees, reduce their costs of recruiting and training employees, create closer ties between the business world and the educational community, and increase their company's visibility in the community.

Students receive on-the-job experience prior to graduation, exposure to employers in their field of study and career alternatives before graduation, access to facilities and equipment not available on campus, college credit, and a salary while learning. Students are usually paid at a wage rate corresponding with their training and experience.

The cooperative internships are a requirement for Northeast's technical programs. When it's possible, summer cooperative education students work 40 hours per week. However, arrangements can be made for fewer hours if necessary. Students who do their on-the-job training during the fall and winter semesters must work a minimum of 10 hours per week. These students are participating in Northeast's cooperative internship program:

Michelle Pilger of Carroll, Apex Therapy Services in Norfolk; Aimee Buresh, Norfolk Livestock Market in Norfolk; Jim Fuchs, Faith Regional Health Services in Norfolk; Levi Trautman, Vulcraft Division of NUCOR in Norfolk, (all of Hoskins);

John Freeman, Bon Homme Yankton Electric Association in Tabor, S.D.; Kayla Macklin, Providence Medical Center in Wayne, (both of Laurel);

Eric Klein, Klein Electric in Wakefield; James Felt, Roberts Simmetals in Wakefield; Jason Roeder, Paus Motor Sales in West Point; Jason Simpson, Simpson Construction in Wakefield, (all are of Wakefield); Chris Woehler, R&W Construction in Wayne; Dan Nolte, Simpson Construction in Wakefield, (both are of Wayne).
