Council listens to proposal on housing development

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

Housing in Wayne was the topic of several agenda items during Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

Councilman Dennis Linster made a power point presentation on past, present and future housing needs in the community of Wayne.

He noted that while a number of new jobs have been created in the community in the last 30 years, the majority of the people with these jobs do not live in Wayne.

"We need start up homes for those in the low-to-moderate income level. Great Dane is looking to add 500 new jobs in the next five years, and with the high national unemployment rate, this will present a great opportunity for people to move to Wayne," Linster said.

He also noted that with more people in the community, more children would be added to the school system, resulting in additional state tax revenue for the schools.

He said that the city needs to contact potential developers and provide some type of incentives for building the houses.

"We also need to communicate with various groups in town, including the Chamber, Main Street, Wayne Industries, the School Board, Wayne State College, service groups and the Community Housing Development Corporation (CHDO)," Linster added.

In a related issue, the council gave approval for the mayor to request Community Development Block Grant Funds for a Planning Grant. The grant is for $9,000. An additional $3,000 for the study will come from CHDO.

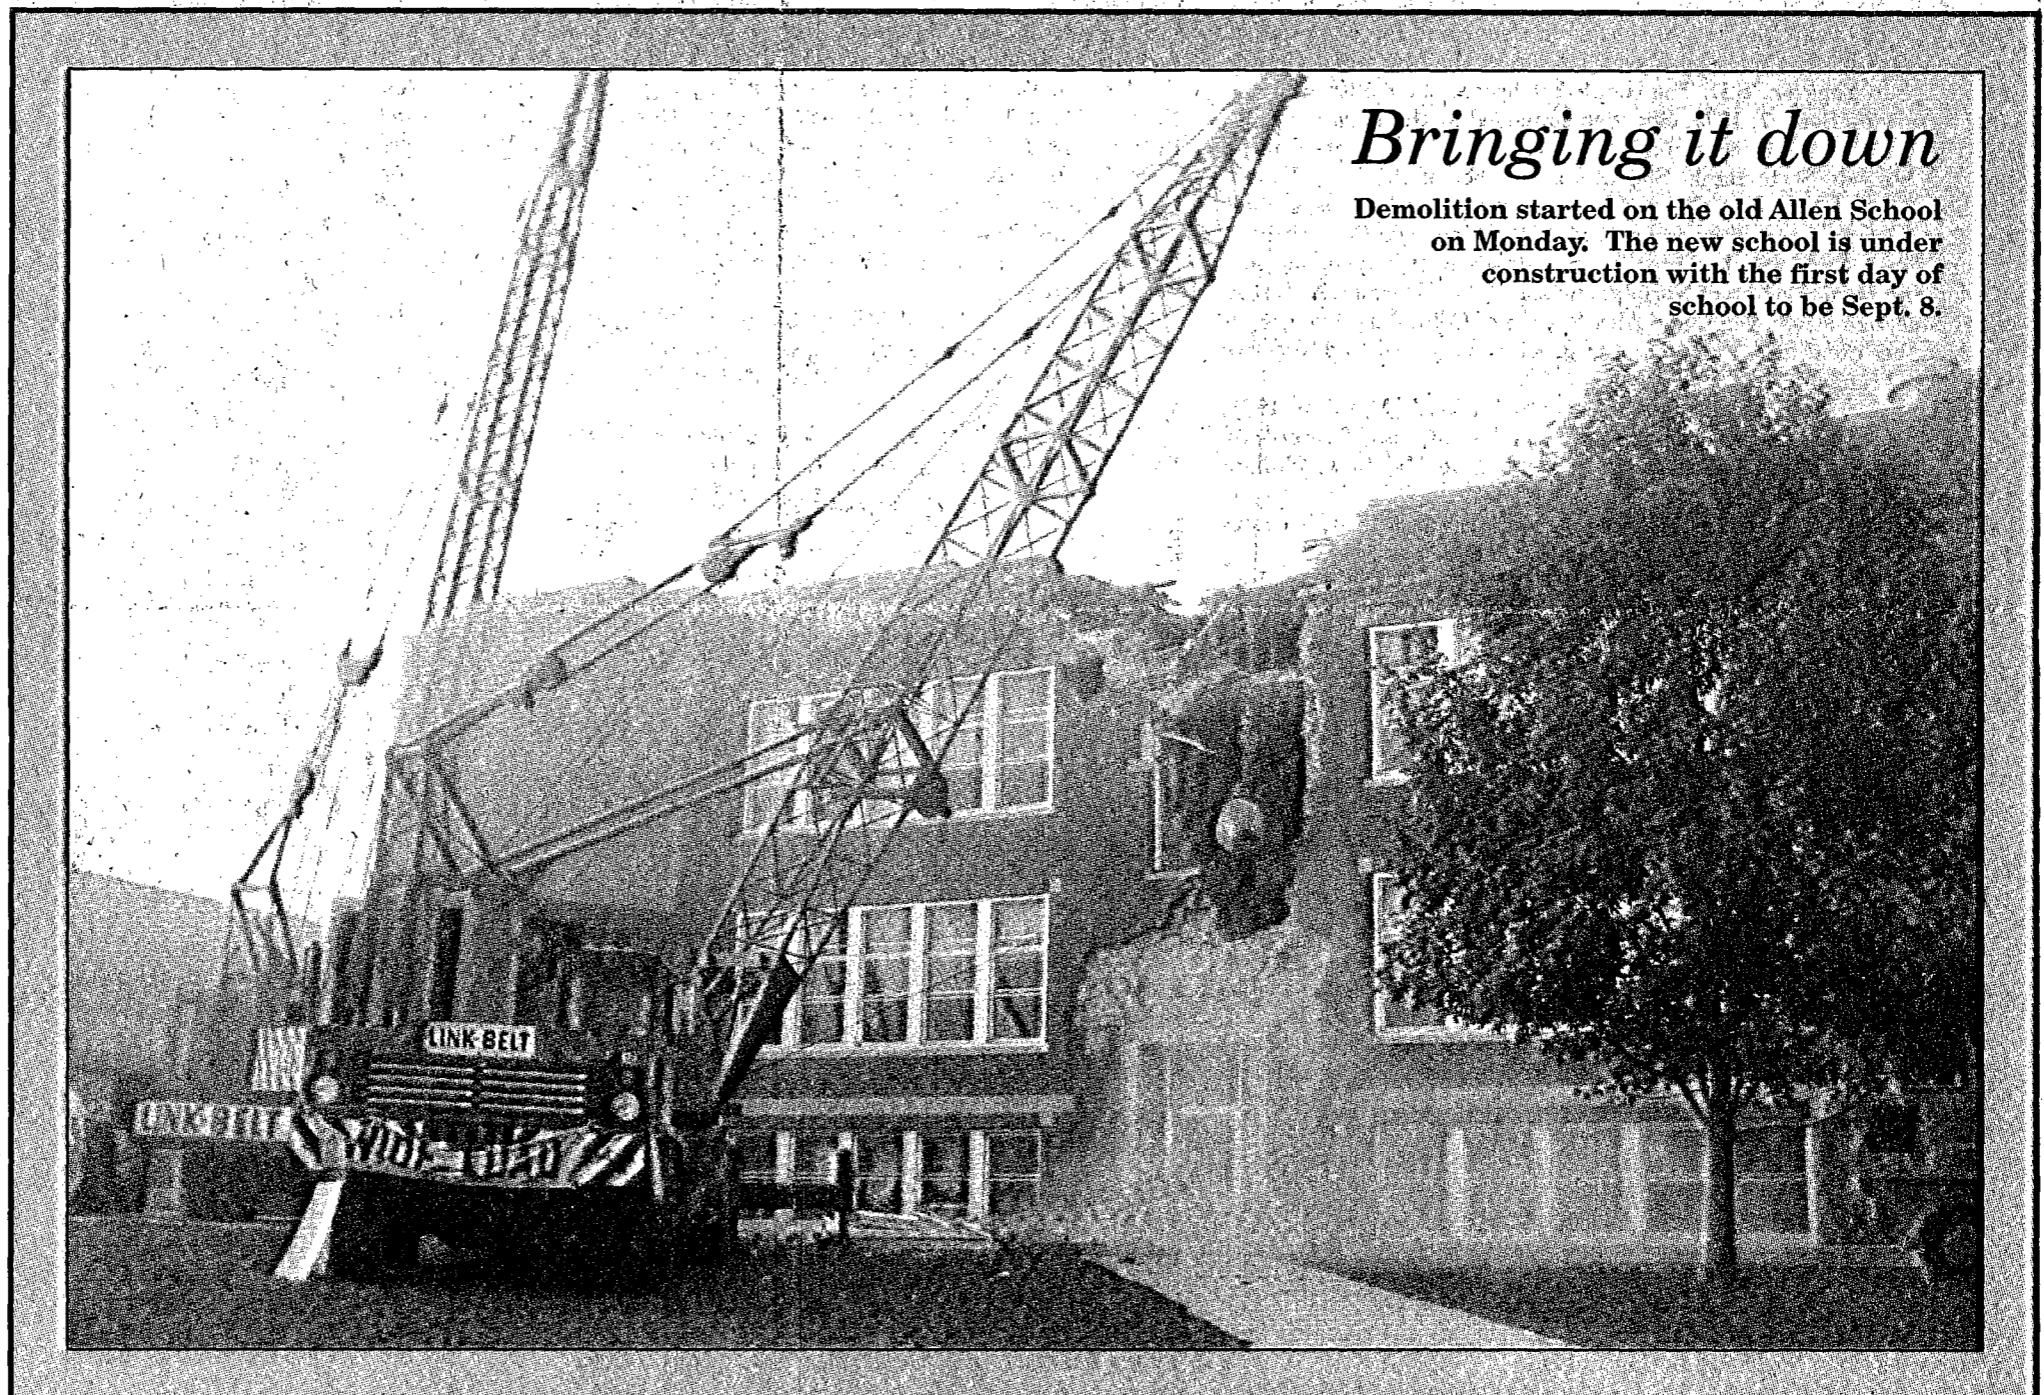

Jeff Christensen with the Northeast Nebraska Development District

answered a number of questions from the council on what type of funding may be available for the community to use for the development of housing.

Nate Shapiro appeared before the council and presented his proposal for the Library Centennial Plaza he is building at the Wayne Public Library as part of his Eagle Scout Project.

The project will be constructed on the north side of the library and will include benches, a sidewalk and one of the "books" constructed for the library.

Football player speaks to kids about Nigeria

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

Celebrating International Week at Rainbow World Preschool and Childcare Center at 1110 East 14th Street in Wayne last week, children were able to make crafts and taste foods from around the world. They also listened to speakers from other countries. One speaker was Segun Adebayo from Nigeria, Africa.

Adebayo is attending Wayne State College where he is a football player and plans to major in Sports Management. At 14, he moved to Houston, Texas, with his father. His mother is still in Nigeria.

He started by telling the children that when he went to school in Nigeria, they had to wear uniforms which were white shirts, khaki pants, and leather sandals, which his parents ordered from the school. He said the teacher was in charge and children could be spanked if they were naughty.

Asked why he could speak English so well, Adebayo told them Nigeria was part of the British Commonwealth so English was spoken there and taught in school. He noted there are some words

Give fond farewell

Many community residents, co-workers, and friends came to Wayne State last week to say goodbye to WSC President Dr. Sheila Stearns who has taken the position of Commissioner of Higher Education for Montana University System.

Several of Jerry Dorcey's grandsons stand among the corn in the maze that has been constructed in Dorcey's field just west of Wayne.

Corn maze to open soon

Jerry Dorcey has been planning to construct a maze in his corn field for nearly four years.

However, this season, he moved forward on those plans and Dorcey Corn Maze will open Friday, Aug. 15.

The maze is located at the Dorcey farm, 57459 Grainland Road, one-half mile west, one half mile south and one-half mile west of Wayne.

Dorcey said that early in June he mapped out the area which was to become the maze. When the corn was knee-high he used a lawn mower to mow a path.

He has had the help of a number of his grandchildren, who have offered a number of suggestions for the project.

This past week, the family has gone through the maze and stripped leaves off the corn, widening the path for users.

The maze includes a large circle with a cross in the center. There is also a smaller circle which curls in a pinwheel.

"It takes about an hour to go completely through the maze. Kids can also play Fox and Goose or tag when going through it," Dorcey said. "It is four acres of a-mazing fun."

In addition to the maze, Dorcey plans to offer "Chicken Rides" in the barrel train for young children visiting the maze.

Those visiting the maze are encouraged to wear bug repellent.

The maze will be open on weekends. Hours will be Friday, 4 p.m. to dark and Saturday and Sunday, 11 a.m. to dark. An admission fee will be charged and group rates are available.

The location is marked with signs from several directions.

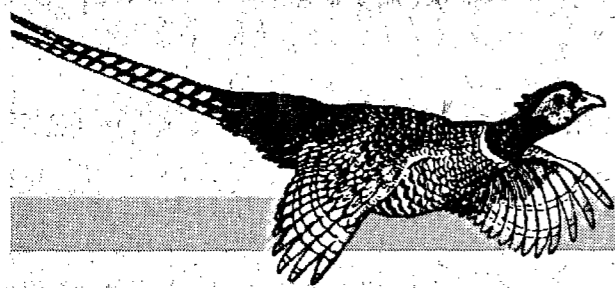

Driver is sentenced in death of couple

Vernon Zоргdrager, 56, of Dakota City was sentenced in Stanton County Court on Tuesday to one year in prison following his conviction for Motor Vehicle Homicide.

Zоргdrager was driving a semi-tractor trailer when he struck a car on May 27 north of Pilger on Highway 15 and killed John and Prudence Thiel of Wayne, who were both killed instantly in the collision.

Zоргdrager was also fined $200 for Careless Driving and Failure to Obey a Traffic Control Device. The accident occurred in a construction zone where the Thiel's had stopped for a flagman and were struck from behind.

Zоргdrager was also ordered to pay more than $17,000 in funeral expenses. Sentencing was done by Judge Philip Riley.

Antidotes of life

Recently, I have been under a lot of stress. The cause of this is like every other persons, life is getting more complicated each and everyday. So, to help alleviate the problems I am having, I sent out a distress message to all the few friends I have and asked them to send me an antidote about life. Here is what I came up with from a few close friends.

- 1) Life isn't like a box of chocolates, it's more like a jar of jalapenos you never know what's going to burn your fanny.
 - 2) I love deadlines. I especially like the whooshing sound they make as they go flying by.
 - 3) Tell me what you need, and I'll tell you how to get along without it.
 - 4) Needing someone is like needing a parachute. If they aren't there the first time, chances are you won't be needing them again.
 - 5) I don't have an attitude problem, you have a perception problem.
 - 6) Last night I lay in bed looking up at the stars in the sky and I thought to myself, where in the world is the ceiling?
 - 7) My reality check bounced.
 - 8) On the keyboard of life, always keep one finger on the escape key.
 - 9) I don't suffer from stress. I am a carrier!!!
 - 10) You are slower than a herd of turtles stampeding through peanut butter.
 - 11) Everyone is someone else's weirdo.
 - 12) Never argue with an idiot. They drag you down to their level then beat you with experience.
 - 13) Be careful... a pat on the back is only a few centimeters from a kick in the rear end.
 - 14) Don't be irreplaceable --- if you can't be replaced, you won't be promoted.
 - 15) The more BS you put up with, the more BS you are going to get.
 - 16) You can go anywhere you want if you look serious and carry a clipboard.
 - 17) So this isn't Home Sweet Home... Adjust!
 - 18) Ring bell for maid service. If no answer, do it yourself!
 - 19) I came, I saw, I decided to order take out. Ask Ralph about this.
 - 20) Blessed are they who can laugh at themselves for they shall never cease to be amused.
 - 21) I'd love to live life in the fast lane, but I am destined to live on a beer budget.
- After compiling these words of wisdom, I feel I have a chance to live another day. Humor is a wonderful cure.

Capitol View Getting taxpayers to raise taxes

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

It would be a dream come true for opponents of taxation.

It would be a nightmare for state and local government.

Yet another initiative petition is circulating in Nebraska. This one would bar the Legislature and local governments from raising taxes unless the higher levies are first approved by voters.

All those in favor of raising their own state sales or income tax rates, say "aye."

That's what I thought. Nebraskans have often voted to boost their own local property taxes. The additional funds have usually been earmarked for education.

Getting voters to contribute more to government for some local project is one thing. Getting them to do it so that a bunch of folks in the Statehouse can send it to wherever is quite another thing.

If this latest effort by the Nebraska Taxpayers Association should get onto the 2004 ballot, look for state and community governments to clamor for its rejection. The consequences of putting such a provision in the state constitution would be immediate and devastating - depending on how you define "devastating."

Drought. West Nile. Budget woes.

What next? Well, NU's fall gridiron campaign is at hand.

How would you like to be among the top Nebraska football coaches this season?

Okay. Maybe you think you would like it. But you also should think about the pressure those guys face this time around. We're talking job security here.

Nebraska usually provides plenty of material for a columnist, but some goings on in South Dakota caught our attention recently.

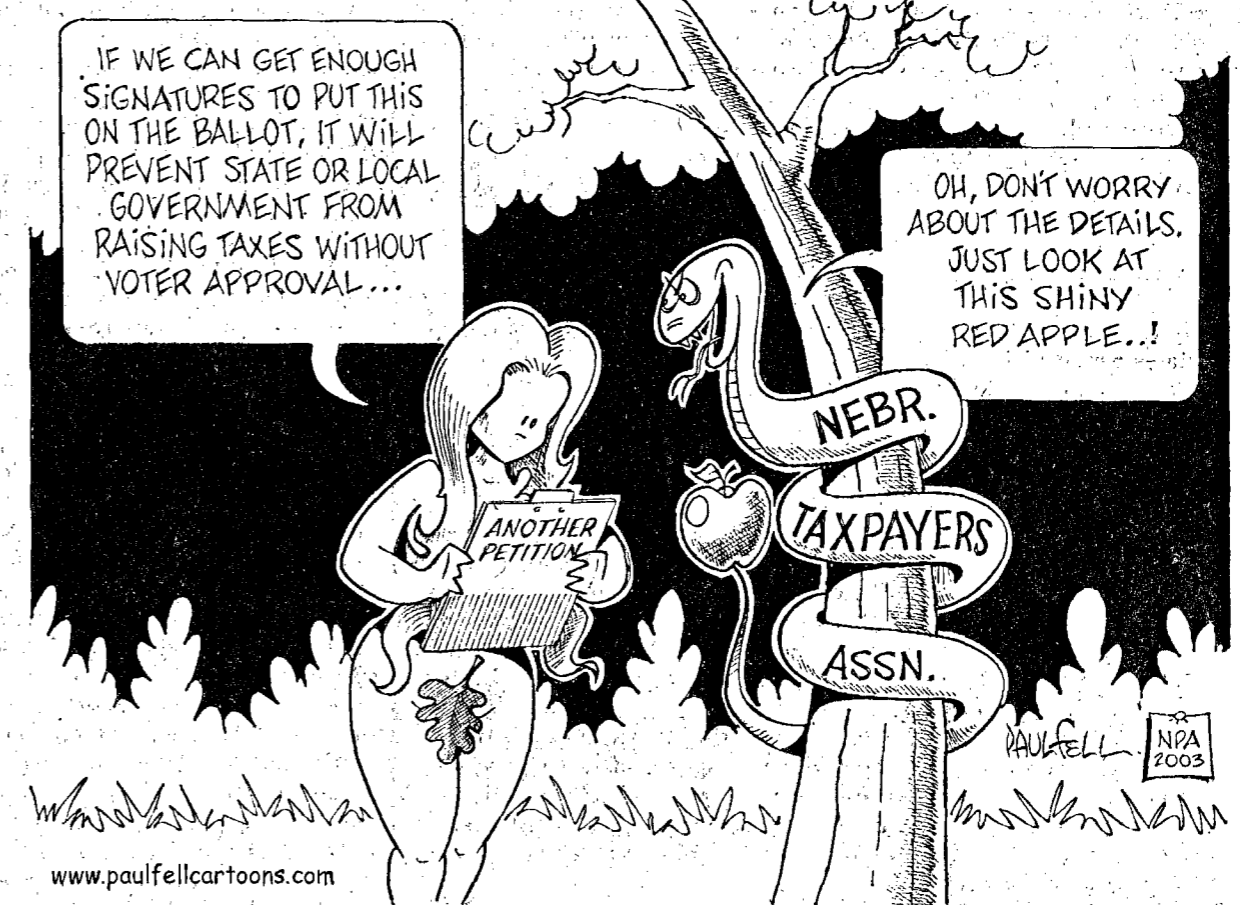

Question: What in blazes was

Gov. Mike Rounds thinking about when he proclaimed Aug. 7 as "G. Gordon Liddy Day" in that state? Remember Liddy? The kookie Watergate burglar? The guy purported to have offered to kill a couple of aides in Nixon's White House? The convicted felon who did years in prison for his part in a sad chapter of American history? The guy who wanted to kidnap and drug anti-war protesters until after the '72 Republican convention? Forgiveness is one thing, although I don't think Liddy ever sought it. The guy did the crime and then the time, so let him write his books and do his goofy talk-radio gig.

But declaring a special day in his honor?

Next thing you know, some voters' organization will give Bill Clinton a "truth in advertising" award.

NEW BEGINNINGS!

Economic Development. What really is it? How does the Wayne area benefit? Since the chamber supports this activity, Wayne Industries is the main instrument for ED, and it is not so well understood, I thought I'd dedicate an issue of this column to this topic.

Economic Development is the process of managing and supporting the growth and expansion of the economic base of a community or region. The economic base is the mixture of employers that provides jobs and wages. Looked at this way, it is clear that ED is critical for the economic health and viability of a community. New employers represent options for employees both already in the community as well as those looking to relocate.

Good job prospects will keep new graduates from high schools and colleges in the community. This means more purchases of goods and services and more tax revenues to governments that provide essential services. Larger numbers of new residents help keep property values increasing and, eventually, lead to growing schools that result in more programs and better teachers, coaches, and counselors. Fixed costs of utilities and other services (libraries, safety personnel, etc) can be spread over a larger number of customers, helping to hold down costs.

Wayne Chamber
Executive Director

Community ED efforts need to support both existing businesses and the attraction of new businesses. Managing the proper mix of effort is not an exact science, and ED strategies need to be prepared to act upon opportunities as they occur. An example of supporting existing businesses would be withholding incentives from new companies that are looking at Wayne when there are already ample or a surplus number of competitors in the community that might be seriously threatened by another entrant. In this case, the local ED staff needs to merely provide information upon request to those looking to locate their operations to this community. When someone is considering locating a business to a community that is not already served by a similar firm, then a more aggressive response is appropriate. In either case, it is important to estimate both the short term and long term impact on the market, especially with respect to new businesses.

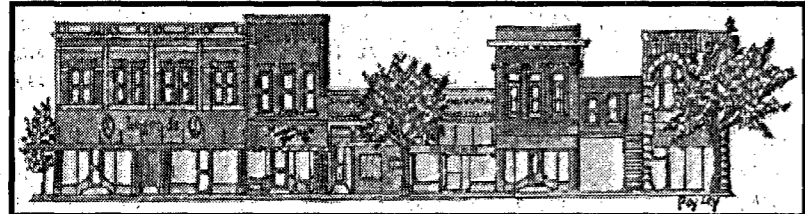

In the short term, a new business might represent new job opportunities; on the other hand, deeper research discloses that the new jobs might be part-time with limited if any benefits, not necessarily an improvement over what is already available to workers.

One more consideration that ED professionals examine is the "integrational-ability" of a new business into a community. It other words, how does a new business over time fit into and improve the economic base? Successful businesses in the Wayne community typically support local projects and institutions and act like good corporate citizens. Will a prospective new business fit this model or introduce tension. Will they bank locally thus allowing sales dollars to be reinvested through loans thereby helping other enterprises grow and prosper?

This short discourse on ED or economic development is not intended to fully cover the topic. Hopefully, it has introduced in some way a measure of understanding to a concept mentioned often but not always understood by everyone. Since the chamber and Wayne Industries are very involved in this area, I thought it might be helpful to understand it better.

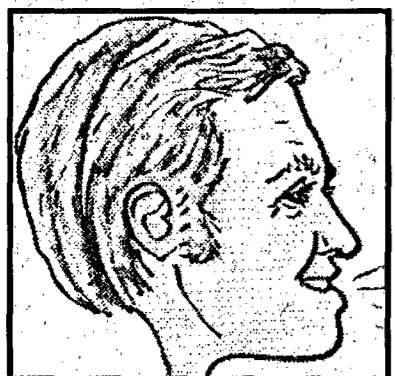

If there is anything that the chamber or Wayne Industries can do for you, please call us.

NEEDED Vendors and parade entrants for Wayne State College Band Day, Saturday, Sept. 13. Hopefully by Monday of next week, vendors and parade entry forms will be in the hands of the people that participated last year. However, if you do not receive a vendor and/or parade entry form in the mail, it does not exclude you from participating!!!! Just contact this office and I will hand deliver to you, a vendor and/or parade entry form. Call me at 375-5062 and if I am not here, leave a message please, on the answering machine.

A quick reminder, the Annual Fall Nebraska Lied Main Street Conference, will be held in Scottsbluff on Thursday and Friday, Sept. 11-12. Registration forms are due by Aug. 22. In conjunction with the fall conference, state Main Street Awards will be presented. There are two categories of awards, Honorable Recognition and Awards of Excellence. Three educational sessions will focus on business recruitment, retention and expansion, specifically in Main Street commercial areas. Another session will deal with the vast array of opportunities and resources available from the National Trust of Historic Preservation.

Area community tours and three building rehabilitation projects in Scottsbluff will also be included. There will be more information coming soon. If you have questions, call me.

An important Shuttle Bus meeting was held Wednesday at noon, but because of press deadlines, I won't have that information for you until the next column. I can tell you that it will be running a schedule again this year, beginning Monday, Aug. 25.

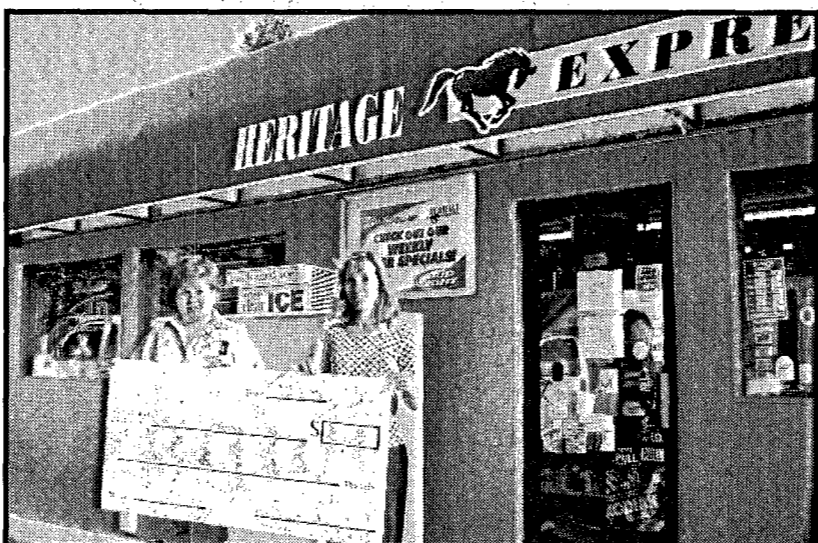

We are looking forward to meeting the new students at Wayne State College during orientation next week. Wow... where did this summer go?

I have mentioned it before, but I want to mention it again. Our bi-annual Christmas "Holidazzle" will be held this year on Saturday, Nov. 29 in the newly restored/renovated City Auditorium. We will also be having our Festival of Wreaths' this year. We have gone to an every-other-year schedule with that event as well.

Each Tuesday, at 8 a.m. in the Main Street Office, we have our regular 'All Hands Meeting.' They are open to the public and you are encouraged to attend. On Wednesday, also at 8 a.m., our Promotions committee meets. That meeting is open to the public and we'd love to have you in attendance.

If you have any questions or comments about the Main Street Program, call us at 375-5062, drop us a line to box 43 or e-mail us at mainstreetwayne@nebraska.com

We'd love to hear from you - after all, it's your program... we're working for Wayne.

Connie Dangberg, Manager of Heritage Express, left, presents a check to Della Pries, a member of the Wayne Chicken Show. The money represents a portion of the receipts from the day of the Chicken Show.

Chicken Show receives check

The Chicken Show Committee has announced the receipt of a $300 check from Ho Chunk Inc. to help defray the expenses of producing the Wayne Chicken Show in 2003.

Ho Chunk Inc owns and operates Heritage Express-Wayne, a Wayne convenience store and gasoline retailer.

"Ho Chunk Inc is a proud participant in the Wayne Chicken Show festival and wanted to contribute a portion of the proceeds that it received from its vendor activities this year," said Connie Dangberg, Heritage Express-Wayne manager.

"In making this donation, Ho Chunk Inc, of Winnebago, is recognized as a significant contributor to the ongoing success of the Wayne Chicken Show," added Chicken Show Vice Chair Della Pries, "and it is received with the gratitude of the entire community of Wayne."

which British use that we do not. For example, a garbage can is a bin and a porch is a veranda.

Nigeria is the size of California and there are three main tribes with over 250 dialects of language. Nigeria is the most populated country in Africa with around 100 million people.

He also told them they should be glad they live here and attend school here because they can have fun. In Nigeria, conditions are poor and children have to help put food on the table any way they can.

Nigeria is by the coast and Adebayo told the children he was at the beach a lot, often riding horses there.

The children asked him what kind of food they eat in Nigeria. "Rice," he said, "and lots of it! Also, seafood, beef, yams (which grow four to five feet long), and fruits that are native to Nigeria, such as papaya and coconuts. To get the coconuts down from the trees, monkeys are trained to climb up and throw them down."

What is the weather like in Nigeria was another question the children asked. "Hot," Adebayo said, "but it doesn't feel as humid as here. There is a tropical rain forest on the southern edge of Nigeria and a desert on the northern side where cattle are raised, the Sahara Desert is slowly expanding into Nigeria. There are only two seasons; rainy and dry."

"I never saw snow until I came here," Adebayo laughed, "I have sat in my room in the winter and asked myself what I was thinking of when I decided to come here."

Still full of questions, the little ones wondered if there are telephones or televisions in Nigeria. He told them he talks to his mother on a cell phone every Sunday. When he used to watch television in Nigeria, there were British cartoons he watched and also the Care Bears and Ninja Turtles.

Next, they asked if there are bugs, toys and animals there. He assured them there are and that mosquitoes are pretty bad. He also told them no one is supposed to drink the water there as it's so polluted and can make you sick. There aren't the cleaning systems in place as there are in the United States as people can not afford sophisticated equipment like that. Instead, there are filters that families put in the water they bring into their homes which purifies it so they can safely drink it.

As for toys, they are similar to here. He had a Super Nintendo.

Wild game animals, he said, are on game reserves and you can see them there. They do not run through the streets as shown on television, at least not in the cities.

The children wanted to know about grocery stores in Nigeria. "Yes," Adebayo said, "there are open markets in Nigeria where food is brought and not pre-packaged as here. For example, meat is chosen and the animal you want has its head chopped off right there and you leave with the rest of it. It is very fresh!!"

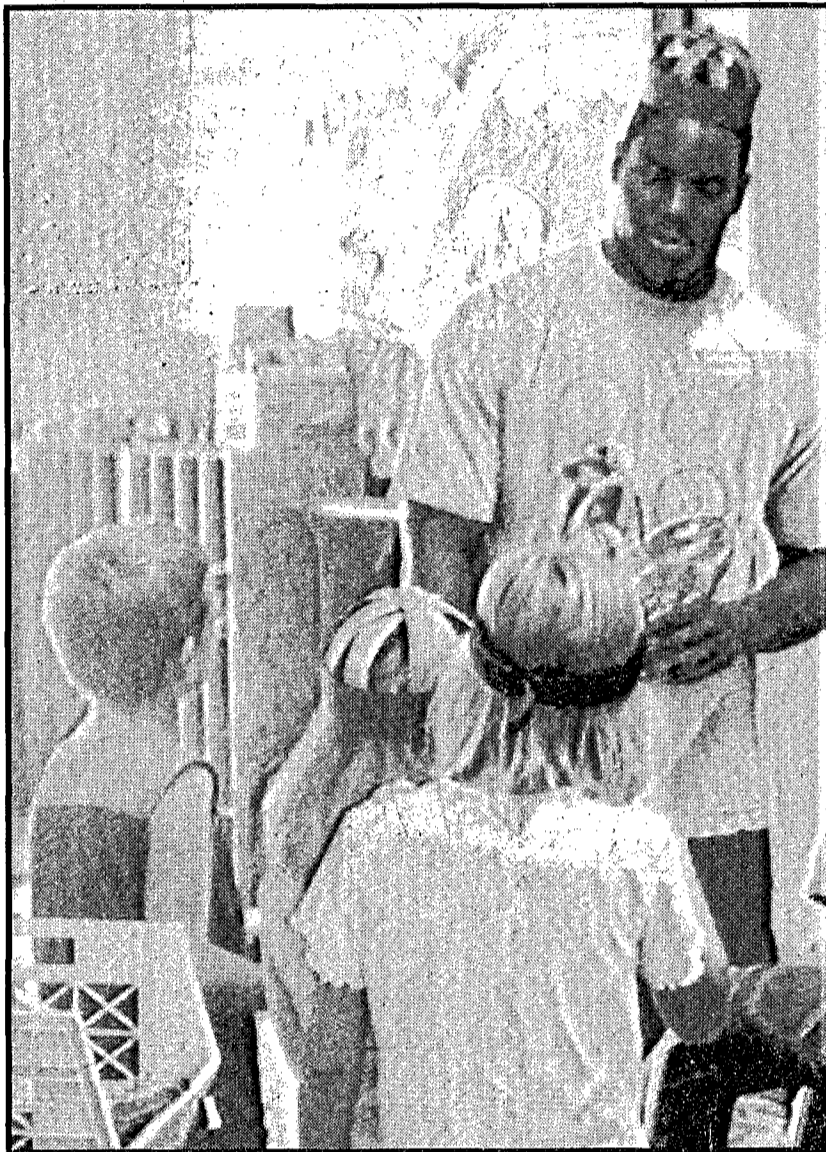

Their next question: are there bikes and cars in Nigeria? He told them he was fortunate to have an uncle who would get him another bicycle when he would wreck his. As for cars, steering wheels are on the opposite side as here and cars are driven on the opposite side of the road as here. So, when he learned to drive here, it was confusing.

How about holidays, the children asked, are they the same as here? "One they have," Adebayo said, "is to scare away evil spirits. Someone dressed in white walks on stilts and carries a cane. Anyone who is on the street gets hit so everyone runs inside. As for other holidays, some are similar to here, such as Christmas when they have Santa Claus but they call him Father Christmas. One child asked if they have the Chicken Show there? Adebayo smiled and said, "No."

What are jobs like there? Adebayo told them jobs are hard work and there's no insurance. If someone gets sick, they know they have to pay for the doctor themselves. And, there's no social security like here. People must work until they're really old. There are factories there where some of the people work.

Another question, what kind of games are played there? "Soccer," Adebayo said. "Soccer is a big deal in Nigeria and when the world cup was won, that was all that was on television. Also, there's tennis, swimming, tether ball, dodge ball, and volleyball."

Ending his question and answer session with the children, Adebayo asked them to tell their parents to come to Wayne State this fall and watch them play football because they're going to be good during last year's community art project. Shapiro hopes to have the project completed within the next few weeks.

A request was granted for a Block Party on Sunday, Aug. 17 on Lawndale Drive. Residents of this area indicated that they had done the same thing last year and were willing to put up and take down baracades is necessary.

Shawn Howard was named the newest member of the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department. She comes to the department with a number of fire/rescue certificates. Fire Chief Robert Woehler noted that the addition of Howard to the department does not increase its numbers as several other members have left the department to become full-time fire fighters.

Curt Frye, Interim President of Wayne State College and Bob Berry, Athletic Director at WSC, spoke to the council on a possible inter-local agreement between the city and the college in regard to Memorial Field on the campus.

The college is currently re-doing the track and hopes to install Field Turf on the football field. Partners are being sought to help with the funding of the project.

Berry noted that Field Turf is being used by the University of Nebraska-Lincoln and is much more durable than grass, allowing for more use of the field, by the college and city.

"We think this is a great opportunity and are looking for partners," he said.

The complex could be a magnet for northeast Nebraska. The college is a great asset and it is time we shared facilities with others," Frye said.

Council members debated having a second Community-Wide Clean Up Day.

A memo was presented from the Public Works Department on suggestions, following the first clean up.

Rather than have a specific clean-up time, Wayne residents would use their November utility bills as a "ticket" to dump two pickup loads of any items regularly accepted at the Transfer Station without charge. The "ticket" could be used at any time throughout the year, eliminating a large amount of traffic and customers at one time.

The November ticket will be printed with information regarding the free dumping of trash and would need to be presented each time it is used.

Ordinance 2003-23 was given first round approval. It relates to air pollution/commercial smokers and cookers. Several changes in the original ordinance were made following suggestions at the council's last meeting.

Several council members spoke on the state of the city's skate park and noted that several abuses have been noted in recent weeks. They indicated that those using it are not wearing protective gear, are playing loud music and have moved picnic tables into the area.

Following discussion, City Administrator Lowell Johnson said he would request that police officers patrolling Wayne State College during night hours close the park each night.

Council gave unanimous approval to side the bottom of the library to match the work being done on the top portion of the building. It is estimated that the siding will last 50 years and will be less expensive than to re-varnish the building every three years. The estimated $15,000 cost of the siding will be taken from sales tax funds which were not used in the auditorium renovation project.

Mayor Sheryl Lindau re-appointed Dale Alexander to the Recreation-Leisure Services Commission.

The council will be involved in a budget workshop on Friday, Aug. 15. The next regular meeting will be Tuesday, Aug. 26 at 7:30 p.m.

Heithold joins staff at Midwest Land Company

The Midwest Land Company is proud to announce the addition of Nancy Heithold to its staff as Residential Sales Associate. Heithold recently earned a sales license through the Nebraska Real Estate Commission.

Heithold has a long history of sales experience in the Wayne area and a tradition of community involvement. She is an active member of the Wayne Rotary and Grace Lutheran Church as well as the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce, serving on the Chicken Show Committee and Ambassadors Committee.

Governor's transportation task force has first meeting in Wayne

Fourteen members of Gov. Mike Johanns' 35 member transportation task force were in Wayne last week at the Community Activity Center for the first of 12 forums that will be held across the state. Wayne Mayor Sheryl Lindau is part of the task force. The group was formed to gather a needs assessment of transportation in Nebraska.

Jim Hawks, co-chair of the task force, welcomed everyone to the meeting, invited speakers to give their presentations and gave them a time limit. Speaking first was Wayne City Administrator Lowell Johnson, who noted a top priority is creating an expressway on Highway 35 from Norfolk to the Nebraska/Iowa border.

Johnson said 70 miles of two-lane highway in the middle of several thousand miles of four-lane doesn't make sense. The added lanes, he feels, would bring more people, tourism, and jobs.

He also said the direct connection from the bridge over the Missouri River at Vermillion is important to this area. The viability of the city is dependent on the roads.

Tracy Keating, manager of the Wayne Senior Center and Handi-van spoke. Six thousand one-way passengers were transported in the Handi-van in the last fiscal year. She asked the task force to remember them when funding as the Handi-van is used a lot by seniors and children.

Also speaking was Nancy Braden, representing the Wayne Airport Authority. She spoke on the Wayne Municipal Airport which, she noted, has a Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) approved Airport Layout Plan (ALP). Funding is a priority in order to maintain and continually improve the airport. A goal of any airport, she said, is to be self-sustaining but this is not always possible.

Braden noted the airport is valuable and air transportation to local businesses such as Great Dane Trailers, Heritage Homes, Providence Medical Center, Wayne State College, Michaels Foods in Wakefield, etc. is provided. Another goal is safety to pilots and to the public. To assist in improving safety, added automatic weather observing systems are in the plans for the airport.

Speaking, too, was Georgia Janssen, executive director of the Nebraska Association of Transportation Providers (NATP). She told the task force that NATP supports a safe, efficient, affordable and coordinated statewide transportation system. She noted all Nebraska citizens need access to medical, employment, business, social and support services; this includes the disabled, elderly, and those of medical need - it keeps Nebraskans independent and productive.

Lance Hedquist, representing the citizens of South Sioux City, gave an update on new projects in his area (there are 32 planned in the next six years). He noted around 26 percent of Iowa/Nebraska traffic comes through South Sioux City. He feels the Highway 35 Expressway from Norfolk to South Sioux City is the missing link and that if it's placed, it will give alternative route and alleviate Omaha traffic.

Tom Goulette, city administrator of West Point, Cuming County, feels their priority is Expressway 275, Norfolk to Omaha.

Also, important to them is the widening of Highway 32 from West Point to Oakland. Leona Meier, also speaking on Cuming County echoed DeWitt on Highway 32 and also noted there are 66 bridges under 50 percent sufficiency rating in their county. With many feed lots in that county, there is an extreme amount of travel on the roads. She reminded the task force it's important funding be done in a fair way.

Jon Bailey, city trustee in Bancroft, also asked the task force not to forget small communities when funding.

He called their attention to a dangerous situation in Bancroft where the main street intersects with Highway 51 on a hill south of town. He noted vehicles can not see traffic on the highway and there are near misses on a daily basis. He asked that the hill be cut so sight is better and that a turn lane be provided. With the Neihardt Center there, the road situation could be stopping some tourists from stopping there.

LeLene Bates of Stanton County, also feels Expressway 275 and Highway 35 are important, without them, Nebraska is threatened economically.

Brian McDonald, representing Antelope and Pierce Counties, said their main concern is that between the two counties there are 300 bridges and one third of them are at 50 percent deficiency.

Art May, chairman of the village board for Winnebago, gave concerns on pedestrian traffic in their town.

Ninety-five percent of the businesses in Winnebago are on the west side of the village and most of the people live on the east side. With increased transportation coming from South Sioux City, and the population of the town growing, there is need for change. He said a four lane through town is impossible but a underpass or overpass would sure help alleviate the problem.

Also, in the audience was Senator Doug Cunningham. He voiced concerns on several issues which are four miles of road from Hadar to Norfolk, Highway 59 west of Highway 14 to O'Neill, and Highway 81 to Laurel. Also, St. Helena to Highway 81 (which is a bottom land road that's in bad shape). Some St. Helena residents feel people from Yankton may move to around St. Helena and commute to Yankton if this road was fixed.

Skip Meisner of SIMPROJ said he supports three projects: the Highway 35 Expressway, an interchange by South Sioux City, and the Newcastle/Vermillion Bridge.

Brian McDonald, highway superintendent of Antelope County, noted Norfolk is the hub for truck traffic and from Oakdale to Highway 14 there's an increase in traffic as 200-250 trucks travel there daily. This situation gives rise to accidents in this area.

Jason Hefner, Bloomfield city administrator, noted Highway 81 Expressway north of Bloomfield to Yankton would be good for their town as it would give people opportunity to live there and work in Yankton.

Glen Steffensmeier of Stanton County, asked the task force to create a corridor but to consider how the expressways will intersect by Norfolk; there are new homes built there.

Faye Mann, a rural Wayne resident, ended the evening by saying she heard from all groups on their highway needs but there's a group of local rural residents and land owners who will be saddened if the expressways cut through sections.

She reminded the task force when the first transcontinental highway went through Nebraska, it was planned and built to stay on section lines. She asked them to consider this when making new road plans.

United Way donates money for generator

Wayne United Way recently donated $1,500 as a special allocation to the Wayne County American Red Cross. This donation was in response to a request by the Wayne Chapter of the American Red Cross to replace the generator in their ERV (Emergency Response Vehicle).

This vehicle has been used in disasters such as fires, the tornadoes in Jackson and Coleridge, and also to support various community events.

The generator was used extensively during the time the Wayne County American Red Cross was in Jackson several years ago, after a tornado went through the town. Electricity was provided through the night, until the generator gave out. When the Chapter was called to Coleridge earlier this summer, a generator provided by Bill Claybaugh was used to provide electricity.

"It is during times like this that our vehicle is crucial for a supply of electricity - for both warmth and for providing coffee or heated food to emergency workers and affected families," said Lori Carollo, Chapter Manager.

Several people have donated time and labor to remove the old generator, put the new one in and do all the hook-ups and wiring necessary to make it usable.

The generator will allow the vehicle to have a power source to provide heat, light, and power for other appliances such as a microwave and coffee maker. This need is critical in disasters where no power is available.

Wayne United Way had a successful campaign for 2002-2003 and was able to meet their goal. October is United Way campaign month and the United Way will again be soliciting funds to be distributed to agencies in need.

Wayne United Way currently supports 21 area agencies. In 2003, Wayne United Way has distributed $35,500 to these agencies.

"Your continued support of the 2003-2004 campaign is greatly appreciated," said Mike Bentjen, President of Wayne United Way.

The mission statement of Wayne United Way is "Helping meet the human service needs of the community through the solicitation and distribution of donated resources."

Boehle, Krugman claim Junior titles at Wayne Country Club

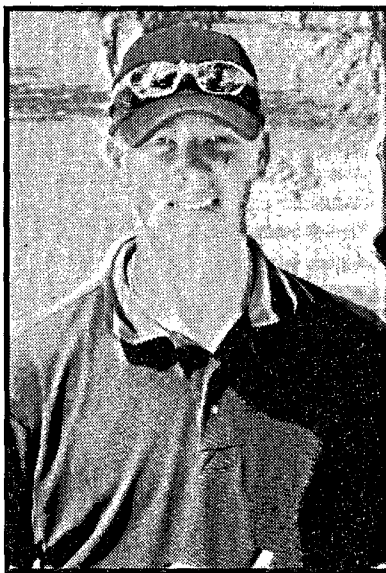

Seniors Mary Boehle and Trevor Krugman of Wayne earned wins in the high school division at the annual Junior Club Tournament at the Wayne Country Club Tuesday morning.

Krugman fired an 83 to top Kyle Kwapnioski by 10 strokes to win the high school boys championship while Mary Boehle carded a 96 to capture the high school girls title. Amy Hypse placed second with a 111 and Jenny Nolte was third at 112.

The other two divisions needed playoffs to determine a champion.

In the 13-14 year-old boys division, Tyler McCartney topped Cory Harm on the second playoff hole to take first place. Both players shot 47. Shaun Kardell followed in third with a 50.

Joe Whitt defeated Colin Jeffries on the first hole of a sudden death playoff to win the 11-12 year-old boys division after both players posted 52 over nine holes. Taylor Martin was two strokes back in third with a 54.

Fair Person of the Year

Reuben Meyer of Wayne was nominated for his years of service in helping take care of the camping and boating units that are stored at the fairgrounds during the year. He is also known as the "fairgrounds police" as he drives through the fairgrounds nearly everyday and checks on things. Meyer has been involved with the Wayne County and Dixon County Fair for a number of years. Although his family was made aware of his selection as Fair Person of the Year, the honoree was surprised with the award following the annual barbecue at this year's fair. Kelly Grone made the presentation.

Still going strong

Alfred Mangels of rural Winside, was recognized as the Oldest Active Farmer in Wayne County at this year's Wayne County Fair. The 88-year old works with his son, John, (at right) and has a passion for cutting and spraying weeds as well as tending to a large potato patch. Making the presentation was Shari Dunklau with the Wayne County Farm Bureau.

The Ed and Dorothy Grone farm, located three miles south and one and one-half mile west of Wayne received the Ak-Sar-Ben Pioneer Farm Award at this year's Wayne County Fair. Ed and Dorothy and several members of their family were on hand to receive the award from Kelly Grone, far right. Ed's father, Bernhard M. Grone, purchased the building site of 80 acres in 1903.

Pioneer farm family

The Loberg farm, located north of Carroll received an Ak-Sar-Ben Pioneer Farm Family Award at this year's fair. The Loberg name was originally spelled Lohberg but was changed during World War I due to anti-German sentiment. The land is currently the home of Dan and Kris Loberg and their family, who purchased it in 1994. A number of family members were on hand for the presentation.

Round Robin Showmanship conducted at this year's Wayne County Fair

The Leroy Sievers Memorial Round Robin Trophy was awarded to Jara Settles, daughter of Jerome and Joan Settles of Hoskins.

Reserve Champion honors went to Justin Nathan, also of Hoskins. He is the son of Stan and Cindy Nathan.

The Round Robin Showmanship Contest was held on July 27. It provided an opportunity for the Champion and Reserve senior showman from the 4-H divisions of beef, dairy, sheep and swine to compete for the best all-around showman honors at the fair. Each individual rotates from station to station while being judged on their showmanship skills with each species.

The winner is determined by the overall score.

Serving as judges were Wayne County 4-H alumni. In the beef area, Kent Roberts of Wakefield was the judge. In the dairy area, Julie Hansen of Winside was the judge. In sheep, Karlene Woslager of Carroll served as the judge and the swine judge was Kelly Meyer of Wayne.

Individual results include: Purple — Kyle Schmale, Carroll. Blue — Brooke Anderson and Todd Poehlman, both of Wayne; Jamie Sellin, Hoskins and Brent Svoboda, Pender.

Lambert graduates

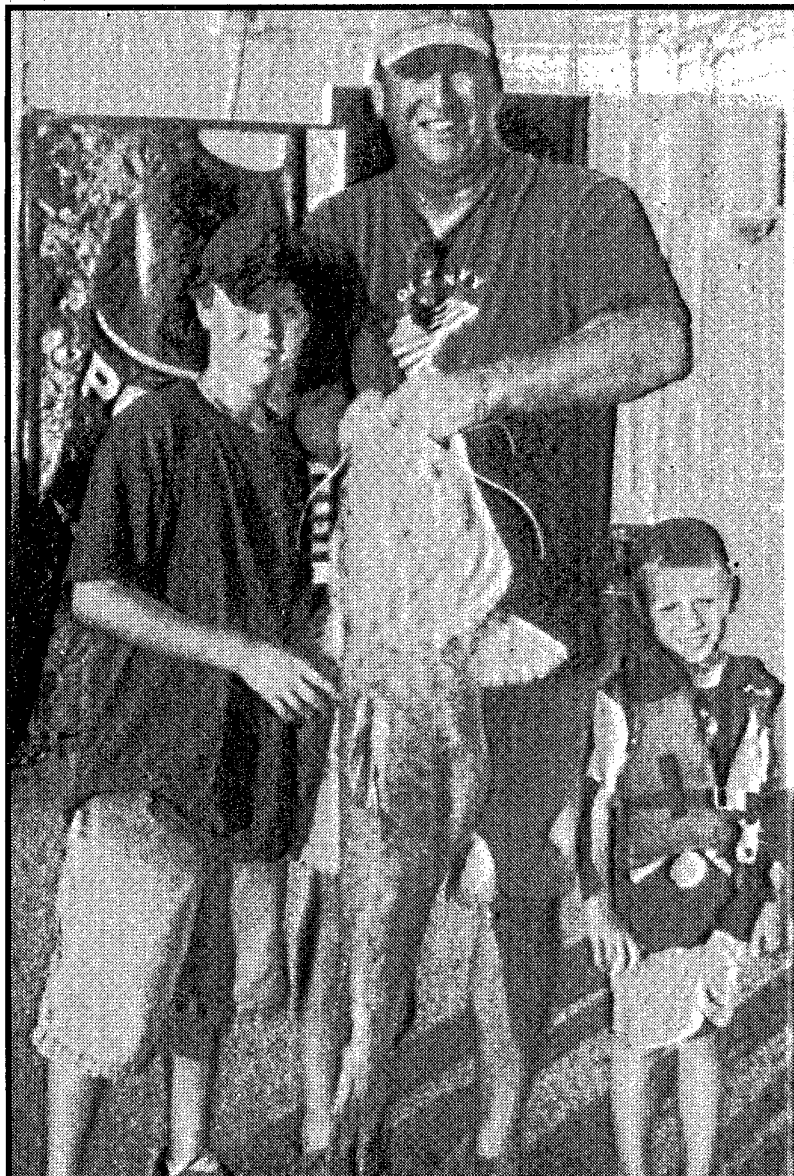

Heather Lambert, daughter of Tom Lambert and step-daughter of Anne (Liska) Lambert of Wayne, recently graduated with honors from Holdrege High School.

In addition to being the reigning Holdrege High School Homecoming Queen, Heather has been involved with many school and community activities. Some of these include having been a member of the cheerleading and dance squads, Student Council member, Girls State candidate, National Honor Society and National Youth Congress. She has taught dance and gymnastics classes and recently won Reserve Champion Market Steer in 4-H at the Phelps County Fair.

Heather plans to attend the University of Nebraska-Lincoln this fall and will major in psychology.

Quite a catch

Matt Schwartz, 10, son of Dave Schwartz of Aurora, caught this 41 lb. flathead catfish while trolling for walleyes at Sherman Reservoir near Loup City on Aug. 3. It took about 20 minutes to land the fish. He earned a Master Angler Award for his efforts. Matt is the grandson of Don and Dee Goeden of Wayne. With him and his father is Matt's friend, Hunter.

Hot lunch program

Students in grades 9-12 should review the following guidelines concerning the hot lunch program at Wayne High School. They are as follows:

1. All deposits for lunch money must be made before school each day (8 a.m.). No deposits will be made after 9 a.m.
2. All lunch must be eaten in the lunchroom area. No food may be taken out of the lunchroom. (Includes lunch brought from home.)
3. No outside food or drinks brought into school during the hours of 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.
4. No books in the lunch room area.
5. Lunch hour: 11:27 a.m. to 12:44 p.m.
6. Student meal price: $1.65.

Parents and students should be aware of the latest policies regarding school lunch programs and competition with that program from outside sources.

The Competitive Foods Policy reads as follows: "Foods sold in competition with National School Lunch and School Breakfast Programs are subject to all federal regulations. Such foods shall not be sold on school premises during the period for breakfast and/ or lunch and lasting until one-half hour after the serving of breakfast and/ or lunch. State and Federal reimbursements may be withheld from schools found in violation of this policy."

This policy does prohibit foods such as pizza, hamburgers, etc. from being brought to school during meal service times (11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at Wayne High School.)

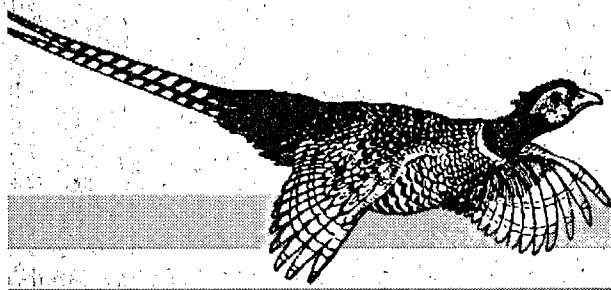

In effect, this policy prohibits any food or drinks brought to school from outside sources during the hours of 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. each school day or use of pop machines at school during these hours. Students may bring a sack lunch from home. Contact the high school principal's office for additional information.

Use caution, weigh benefits when considering nutritional supplements

Some dietary supplements are known to have health benefits. For example, research has shown that folic acid decreases the risk of spinal cord defects in developing fetuses. The benefits of iron and calcium supplements also are well documented.

However, labeling a product as a dietary supplement may also be a way to avoid the Food and Drug Administration's rigorous safety testing. Some claim that supplements can cure everything from asthma to arthritis to attention deficit disorder.

Some supplements, however, can interfere with medication and lab tests or even harm one's health. In general, if the manufacturer of a dietary supplement is making claims that seem to good to be true, they probably are.

Thousands of new dietary supplements come on the market

every year, which makes it difficult to be sure they're all compl-

Sandy Preston
Dixon County

ing with the law. In addition, individuals now sell many supplements out of their home, making it even more difficult to monitor individual claims.

Customer awareness is the best way to make sure over-the-counter supplements are used properly. Fortunately, daily food intake contains most of the recommended amounts of essential nutrients. If considering taking a supplement, consult a doctor, pharmacist or registered dietician first. However, even a doctor may not know the side effects of all the supplements on the market.

In addition, if someone is saying how much money he or she can earn by selling a dietary supplement, the nutritional health of others probably isn't the highest priority. SOURCE: Wanda Koszewski, Ph.D., nutrition specialist, NU/IANR

WHAT IS SARS?

Severe acute respiratory syndrome (SARS) is a serious and potentially fatal respiratory illness. Believed to be caused by a newly recognized strain of the coronavirus, SARS is highly contagious if infected individuals have close personal contact with others. Recognized strains of the coronavirus cause the common cold and upper respiratory tract infections. The World Health Organization issued an emergency global travel advisory in March to alert travelers in response to a rapidly growing number of cases. Symptoms of SARS include high fever, cough, shortness of breath, and a general feeling of illness. Individuals with these symptoms who have also been in close contact with a SARS patient or who have recently traveled to Asia are more likely to have SARS.

What is Hot Stone Therapy?

Hot Stone Therapy is a wonderful way to increase the relaxation and benefits of massage. Hot Stones have a soothing effect on tired and aching muscles. Hot stones can improve lymphatic drainage, poor circulation and greatly reduces stress. The stones are actual stones from the ocean and are heated in a large roaster to a perfect temperature. These stones are then placed on the body for a wonderful and relaxing massage experience.

Walking For Health
In a world of exotic exercise equipment, one of the safest and most effective aerobic workouts is a simple brisk walk. Walking for 40 minutes four times a week can help you lose weight, improve blood sugar control and lower your risk of heart disease and diabetes. Parking on the far side of the lot at the store, taking the stairs instead of the elevator or mowing your lawn can all help you squeeze your workout into your busy schedule.

The group of youth and adults from Our Savior Lutheran Church who traveled to Atlanta, Ga. posed for this photo outside the church before leaving on their trip.

Lutheran youth gather in Atlanta

Youth and adults came from all over the world to do 'ubuntu' to do life at the ELCA Youth Gathering in Atlanta in July. The National Youth Gathering is held every three years and this year the event was held July 16-20 and July 23-27. The two events brought together some 40,000 high school-age and adult Lutherans to participate in worship, community service, Bible study and fun.

Our Savior Youth and their sponsors attended the Gathering July 16-20. Those youth attending included Scott Baier, Dustin Bargholz, Sean Buckles, Ashley Burke, Brittany Burke, Kyle Christensen, Jesse Dunklau, Bryan Fink, Tiffany Frerichs, Brady Garvin, Tyler Johnson, Allyson Karel, Adam Lutt, Lisa Miller, Brian Minzer, Ben Mohl, Brian Mohl, Joel Polhamus, Justin Polhamus, Josh Rasmussen, Keely Reinert, Clinton Roberts, Kim Stenwall, Alex Wieland and their sponsors John Dunning, Debbie and Jason Peschel and Larry Wilson. The theme for the Gathering, "Ubuntu" "I am because we are. We are because Christ is!" Ubuntu is from the Bantu language of sub-Saharan Africa. Roughly translated it means "humanity" and carries with it the concept that to be fully human, one must be in "community" with others.

Barbara K. Lundblad, Bible study leader for the Gathering urged the participants to make real the theme for the Gathering, "Do Life! Ubuntu." In her Bible study, Lundblad asked, "How do we get Ubuntu off of our t-shirts and under our skin?" "How do we get it into our hearts, into our hands and into our feet?" Rev. Mark S. Hanson, presiding bishop of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America addressed the Gathering during the opening ceremony. The opening keynote speaker was Craig Kielburger, Thornhill, Ontario, founder of Free the Children, an international organization that speaks out for children's rights. Participants were entertained and inspired by musical talents such as Lost and Found, Peder Eide and others. Ken Medema was the featured music leader of the Gathering.

Each day was comprised of two mass gatherings (morning and evening) in the Georgia Dome, learning events, the interaction center, hotel life (dances, lounges, fun centers and concerts) and some sight-seeing.

The Our Savior group also attended the Atlanta Braves/ New York Mets game on the July 20. The group visited the CNN Center, but did not tour.

The next National Youth Gathering will be in 2006 and will be held in San Antonio, Texas. The Youth thank the congregation for their support in helping them raise the money to make the trip to Atlanta possible. Over $18,000 was raised by the youth, their parents and sponsors, allowing the youth to take an offering to the Gathering of $1,800.

Each participant also took $20 in quarters that were used to fill a large globe. A total of $667,000 in quarters was collected in the Youth Gathering's "Quarters for Hunger" project during the two events.

"It was a wonderful event. It is great for our youth to see so many other Lutheran youth from across the country and world. It gives them a greater sense of knowing they are not in this alone. There are Lutherans other than just in Nebraska. It is amazing to worship with 23,000 other screaming people who are excited to praise God," said Larry Wilson, Director of Youth & Family Ministry at Our Savior.

Bethany Presbyterian Church to observe 115th anniversary

Bethany Presbyterian Church of rural Carroll will observe its 115th anniversary on Sunday, Aug. 17. Worship services will begin at 9 a.m. Following the service, coffee will be served during fellowship time.

Guests are welcome to attend the celebration.

Bethany Presbyterian Church is located four miles west and one and one-fourth miles north of the junction of Highways 57 and 98.

Youth attend Confirmation Camp

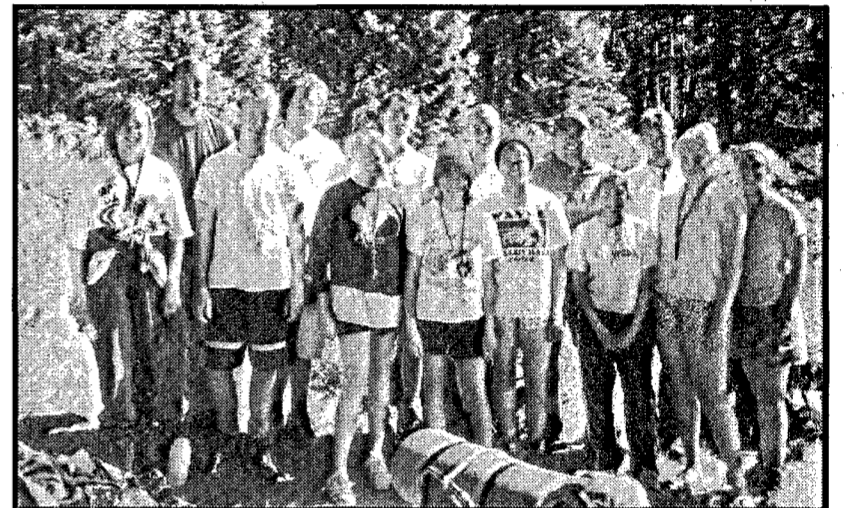

Eleven confirmation students and one adult sponsor from Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne spent a week attending confirmation camp at Rainbow Trail Lutheran Camp near Hillside, Colo.

The week included Christian growth and learning, backpacking in the Rocky Mountains and whitewater rafting down the Arkansas River. Those involved included Emily Ramold, Jacob Nissen, Shannon Connolly, Leslie Backstrom, Amber Lutt, Anna Bondhus, Elizabeth Baier, Phil Anderson, Josh Fink, Sara Frerichs and Brandon Karel. They were accompanied by Larry Wilson.

Camp Guides Maren Bush and Chris Hershey assisted the students.

The youth and sponsors also climbed Spread Eagle Peak while on the trip.

Youth from Our Savior Lutheran Church traveled to Colorado for a Confirmation Camp.

RIVERSIDE MEMORIAL PARK

The City of Hoskins is in the process of starting up a new city park on the north edge of town. The property was donated to the city by Larry Severson and his family in memory of his late wife and their mother, Rosemary Severson. Rosemary's wish was that the city have a park on the north end of town.

Work was started in the fall of 2002 with the planting of a few small trees and shrubs. In the spring of 2003, the old trees and plum thickets were removed from the adjoining county road ditch and a new shelterbelt was planted. Electricity for the picnic shelter was brought in and the structural steel for the 16' x 36' picnic shelter has been donated. Some trees from memorials have already been planted.

The city is setting up a memorial and donation program to supply trees, shrubs, park benches, picnic tables and other items needed for the completion of the park.

If anyone would be interested in setting up a memorial for a deceased loved one or would just like to make a donation, please contact Bruce Kathol, 107 Riverside Drive, Box 233, Hoskins, NE. 68740. Or, he can be reached at 402-565-4852.

RELATIVES VISIT

Shelley and Brett Serven and children, Bryce and Brooke, of Ft. Worth, Texas, came to visit her parents, Jim and Lynn Henzler, from July 26 until Aug. 3. They helped Jim celebrate his birthday on July 27.

While here, they visited Brett's grandmother, Agnes Serven, in Dixon; met Brett's mother, Sherry Serven, from Minnesota in Norfolk; visited Lynn's parents, Delbert and Margaret Zautke, of Pierce; and several other relatives, and attended two county fairs.

ZION LADIES AID AND LWML
Zion Lutheran Ladies Aid and LWML met on Aug. 7 with seven members present.

DEMOLITION BEGINS

The cranes that had been parked in front of the school began their demolition on Monday morning. They are knocking down the 1918 Allen Consolidated School building. Several people and news crews were lined up to see the first bricks fall. The new school is still under construction with the first day of school to be Sept. 8.

SECURITY NATIONAL BANK

Over 1200 people came to celebrate Security National Bank's 75th Anniversary. The Picnic in the park was held at the Laurel City Park on Thursday, Aug. 7.

Along with enjoying the free meal of roast beef, baked beans, chips, ice cream and popcorn, the crowd were entertained by Free For All, a Laurel band. Security National Bank staff members were on hand to serve their guests.

Drawings were held throughout the evening for 10 - $75 savings bonds. Winners were: Carol Chase, Janelle Emert, Alicia Gregerson, Julie Hartung, Susan Kvol, Garrett Longe, Derald Rice, Whitney Smith, Kathy Tideman, and Walt Urwiler.

Local event: The Allen Branch will hold an Open House on Friday, August 15 from 9 am - 12 pm. Stop in and enjoy the refreshments and help celebrate 75 years!

COMMUNITY POTLUCK

Everyone, both town and country Allen residents, are invited to the Allen Community Potluck Picnic, sponsored by the Allen Community Club, on Aug. 18 at 6:30 in the Fire and Rescue Building. A special speaker and entertainment are being planned.

The Community Club will supply the paper products and drinks. Please bring a potluck item.

MUD VOLLEYBALL

The Summer Rec. will be hosting their 3rd Annual Mud Volleyball Tournament on Saturday, Sept. 6. The event will take place at 401 S. Lincoln Street in Allen.

Participants are to sign up by 10:30 am and games will begin at 11 am. The teams will be co-ed with 6 members each. Half of the proceeds will go to the Allen Band for their Sugar Bowl trip. If you have any questions, please call 402-635-2552.

SENIOR CENTER

Friday, Aug. 15: Roast pork, creamed potatoes/peas, sauerkraut, cranberry sauce, banana/orange sections, and pudding.

Monday, Aug. 18: Hamburger,

Christian Growth Chairman Ione Fahrenholz read the articles "Use It or Lose It," "The Weaving" and "No Contributions Here."

President Inez Freeman opened the meeting. Roll call was to contribute 10 cents to the penny pot if you had gone or were going on vacation, and five cents if you were not.

Two visitor's cards and four cheer cards had been sent. President Freeman and Pastor Riege had attended the LWML Board meeting on July 8. The LWML Zone Fall Rally will be on Oct. 14 at Trinity Lutheran Church at Madison.

Reminders for August are: Altar Guild: Ione Fahrenholz, Kristi Luebbe, Inez Freeman, and Kerry

Luebbe. Flowers will be taken care of by Joyce Saegbarth.

The hostess for the Sept. 4 meeting will be LaVerda Kruger. The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer and table prayer.

The birthday song was sung for Elaine Ehlers and Joyce Saegbarth.

Septic tank saga continues

The 10 years ago today column in the local paper says that 10 years ago there was a record rainfall of 15.80 inches I remember it well. One day the interstate was closed and all the traffic came by Church Road. This year, we've had a total of one inch in July.

But, I'll remember the summer of '03 as the summer of the septic system saga. And, it hasn't been "pretty."

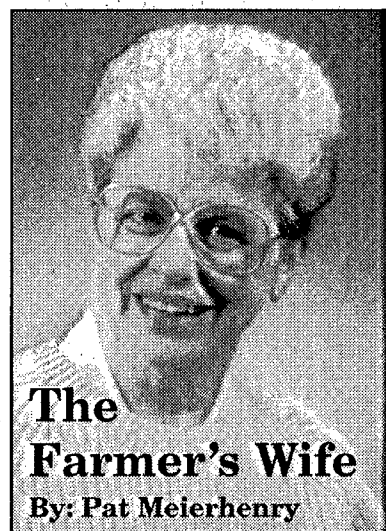

It actually started last summer. We heard water running in the shelter belt. The trees in that area are beautiful. We finally identified it as sewage that had found its way to an old drainage pipe. We realized we needed to do some investigating. We had no idea where the septic tank was. One plumber came over, dug around, and informed us the line had collapsed. But, he didn't replace drain fields.

We called a septic specialist who came over, looked, and said it would be a few weeks. This spring, we called him and asked if we were still on his list. He assured us we were.

Meanwhile, a neighbor had come over to "witch" the lines and hopefully, find the tank. It didn't happen. Neither did the guy who said we were on his list.

Next, we called a fellow from Weeping Water who was recommended by another neighbor. He came over in mid-June. Then, we didn't see him or hear from him.

The Farmer's Wife
By: Pat Meierhenry

One day we came home and found red paint and red flags marking where the phone lines are buried. Then a fellow from Iowa came at 6 p.m. on a Saturday to do a "percolation" study.

More time passed. Some sand was delivered. At the end of July, some plastic drain devices came. We were leaving on vacation on Aug. 10.

On the 4th, Mike's patience was wearing thin. He left a message. The guy showed up the next day! With a bobcat and a back hoe.

First, he had to locate that tank. That was some project. Finally, he decided it had to be at the northeast corner of the flower bed. I dug up the iris I had just planted, and transplanted the peonies and coral bells.

Sure enough, that's where it was. Next, he dug trenches west of the evergreen trees where I have been mowing weeds (and corn stalks) all summer, waiting for this dude.

Then, he put in the sand and the drain pipes, and pumped the septic tank. Thank goodness we hadn't done the landscaping we need yet. It was bad enough to rescue those plants.

Hopefully, when we get home on Friday, the dirt will have been replaced. But, there have been many days the past year when I was homesick for Clarence Hoeman!

Women In Agriculture Conference to be held in Kearney, Sept. 11 - 12

The 19th annual University of Nebraska Women in Agriculture: The Critical Difference conference will be Sept. 11-12 at the Kearney Holiday Inn.

The conference is an opportunity for agricultural women to enhance their farm and ranch management and marketing skills.

The conference will continue this year, despite the death of the conference's developer and long-time coordinator, Deb Rood, in a car accident on Aug. 1.

During its first 18 years, the conference has been instrumental in helping thousands of Nebraska women understand how they fit into their farming operation and how to manage family relationships and responsibilities.

One of the program's key elements is that it connects the interpersonal relationships associated with family farming to farm business management, accounting and marketing.

Keynote speakers at this year's conference are Ron Hanson, Neal E. Harlon Professor of Agribusiness at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln; Kendra Smiley, motivational speaker from Illinois; and Lynette Brown, extension associate in Harlan County.

Nineteen breakout workshops will be held on a variety of topics including: record keeping, marketing, income tax management, ag tourism, estate planning, water issues and farm family relationships.

Workshop presenters include specialists in NU's Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources and industry professionals.

For more information or to register, contact Beth Eberspacher at (800) 535-3456, fax (402) 472-0776, or e-mail beberspacher3@unl.edu.

Registration, meals and materials are $65 before Sept. 5 and $75 after.

The conference is sponsored by Cooperative Extension in NU's Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

Beware of door-to-door salesmen

Door-to-door salespersons are usually prevalent this time of year. If you are home during the day, you are more likely to encounter people who wish to sell you things at your door. While some are legitimate, it's important to protect yourself from being ripped off by con artists.

Door-to-door con artists are usually charming and friendly. They are successful because they appear so trusting. Be suspicious if a salesperson greets you by name, approaches you while you are outside your home, or demands cash as payment for their product or service.

Always ask to see the person's credentials and call the company they are representing to verify them. You do not have to make any purchase immediately. You can ask the person to return after you have had time to check out their legitimacy, if you wish to purchase their product. You can also try to check out the company with the Better Business Bureau of the Heartland at 402-391-7612 or at www.heartlandbbb.org.

Don't ever let anyone you don't know into your home!

These tips are brought to you by the Better Business Bureau of the Heartland.

Local artists display products at RC&D office in Plainview

Nebraska Made and Grown Products will be showcased at the Northeast Nebraska RC&D, in Plainview, through the month of August. Stop in the office to see not only local county artists and producers, but some from throughout the great state of Nebraska.

AmeriCorps member, Sandy Patton, has been working to help promote Nebraska products. "The variety of talents and ingenuity in our state is awesome," said Patton. We have so many wonderful and healthy products right here, we don't have to rely on products trucked hundreds of miles. We can help support our own communities by buying local and keeping the dollars close to home.

Everything a person could need or want in the way of healthy foods is available in Nebraska. A person can choose farm-fresh eggs, milk, beef, pork, buffalo, goat, sheep or poultry that can be bought straight off the farm or at a farmers' market. Many stores are now carrying local products.

There are wonderful sauces, salsas, relishes, jams and jellies made all season long. Fresh produce, usually picked that morning, is available at the local farmers' market or from your neighborhood community garden.

As far as gifts, the list is endless. Just in the RC&D office visitors will see soy candles and diamond willow lamps from Oakdale, sheep milk soap from Anselmo, stained glass and mosaic artwork from Page.

There are hand loomed rugs from Center, sauces and fishing lures from Royal, willow baskets from Osmond, paper twirling from Clearwater, relish from Pierce and seasonings from Gretna. Items and names are continually being added to the list.

"More and more people are diversifying their businesses to be able to stay on the family farm, or as a way to offer youth the choice of being able to survive in our smaller communities," said Patton. "I'm continually looking for people and products of Nebraska to promote."

Be sure to stop by the RC&D office to see the Nebraska products on display, or call Sandy at 402-582-4866, if you have a product of your own you would like promoted or want further information.

A TRADITION OF LEADERSHIP

Ladies auxiliary gathers at Eveline Thompson's on Aug. 4

The Irwin L. Sears Auxiliary #43 met Aug. 4 at the Eveline Thompson residence for a patio picnic supper.

President Fauneil Hoffman called the meeting to order following the supper, with colors in place. The POW/MIA flag was placed on the empty chair.

Bernita Sherbahn, Chaplain pro-tem gave the opening prayer for peace followed by the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag and the singing of one verse of the "Star Spangled Banner." and the reading of the Unit Citation Preamble to the Constitution of the American Legion Auxiliary.

The Treasurer's report was read by Treasurer Eveline Thompson.

A letter was read from the District 3 President. Also read was a report from Jackie O'Neill on the Annual Department Convention held at Kearney on June 26-29.

Department President Lynne Wild sent a letter. Her theme this year is "Justice, Freedom and Democracy" with an emphasis on "Freedom."

The 83rd National Convention of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held at St. Louis, Mo. Aug.

22-28. The Leadership and Information Conference will be held during the month of September.

The Leadership School will be held Saturday, Sept. 13 at Winside from 1 to 4 p.m. It will be held in the Elementary School multi-purpose room with a free will donation. Each person attending is asked bring $1 worth of nickels and $1 worth of dimes for a "5" and "10" board. All donations will be given to the Auxiliary programs.

The draping of the Charter service was held for Donna Schumacher and the memorial service was held for her by President Fauneil Hoffman, Memorial Chairman Eveline Thompson and Chaplain pro-tem Bernita Sherbahn.

Membership Chairman Eveline Thompson reported that there are 24 paid up members for the 2004 year.

Chaplain pro-tem Bernita Sherbahn gave the prayer followed by one stanza of "America." The group had the Little Red School March.

The meeting closed to re-open on Monday, Sept. 1 at 2 p.m. at the Eveline Thompson residence.

Safety Council classes to be held

Northeast Community College in Norfolk and the Nebraska Safety Council will co-sponsor three day-long courses in September.

They include:

PERSONAL PROTECTIVE EQUIPMENT AND MEDICAL SURVEILLANCE RELATIONSHIP SCENE. With course number SAF 0108-01, this class meets Tuesday, Sept. 9, from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. in the Lifelong Learning Center, Suite J.

Students in this class will discover the best approach for developing both a Personal Protective Equipment Program and a Medical Surveillance Program and how they relate. This program will cover the PPE (14) and Medical Program (17) elements.

Cost of this class is $99.

Another class, HOW DO INCIDENTS AND ACCIDENTS RELATE?, with course number HAZ 0104-01, meets Wednesday, Sept. 10, from 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. in the Lifelong Learning Center, Suite J.

Essential elements necessary to conduct an effective investigation of an accident or incident involves skilled techniques. Documentation is also a major factor in any investigation. Participants will learn appropriate ways to conduct interviews, assess data, and document the outcomes to develop a trend analysis. Trend-analysis finding can be incorporated to prevent the recurrence of the same issues.

Cost of this class is also $99.

Another class, Hazwoper Refresher 8-HOUR, with course number HAZ 0104-02, meets Thursday, September 11th, from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. in the Lifelong Learning Center, Suite J.

This course fulfills the annual training requirements in the OSHA 1910-120 Emergency Response Standard. Topics will include: PPE/respirator update, OSHA PEL Standard, chemical protective clothing, spill controls, and containment assessment. The course will also review the incident command system and regulatory updates.

Cost of this one-day session is $145.

To register for any of these one-day classes, call the Nebraska Safety Council at 888-704-7233.

Sixty-ninth class completes studies

Twenty-two students were honored at a special pinning ceremony at Northeast Community College in Norfolk for completing the licensed practical nursing program.

Among those pinned was Trudy Eberhardt of Wayne

The students are now eligible to take the National Council of Licensure Examination (NCLEX-RN).

The licensed practical nurse gives nursing care under the supervision of a registered nurse or licensed physician, dentist, or osteopath in a variety of nursing fields. Licensed practical nurses are employed in hospitals, nursing homes, doctor's offices, home health agencies, and other health agencies.

Piano students take annual tour

Several piano students of Mrs. Marcile Uken went on the annual summer field trip on Aug. 7.

The group visited Chesterman Bottling Co. in Sioux City, Iowa where Coca Cola® and other pops and bottled water are made. The group learned various things about the bottling company and watched while Coke® was put in bottles and cans.

The second stop on the trip was Vermillion, S.D. where the group toured the Shrine Music Museum. The National Museum was founded in 1973. The museum is the only place in the world where one can find two 18th century pianos with the type of action conceived by the piano's inventor, Bartolomeo Cristofori.

One was built in 1767 by Manuel Antunes, a Portuguese maker and the other was built in 1781 by Louis Bas, the earliest extant French Grand piano. Other extraordinary keyboards included a Neapolitan Virginal 1520 and many 17 and 18th century harpichords and clavichords. The museum has eight galleries with many other instruments.

The next stop was the W.H. Over Museum in Vermillion. Founded in 1883, the museum began as a collection of natural sciences at what is now the University of South Dakota. This is the state's largest collection of natural and cultural history. The students toured the museum and spent some time in the discovery room doing hands on activities.

The group then went to Prentiss Park in Vermillion to eat a sack lunch. From there, they traveled to Sioux Falls, S.D. to Washington Pavilion of Science & Art. The Pavilion has more than 80 hands on science exhibits to explore and seven art galleries featuring Native American works, regional and national exhibitions. A science demonstration was given for the group. They then went to the CineDome to watch a movie.

The last stop was at the Royal Fork Buffet where the group enjoyed their evening meal and then returned to Wayne.

Students on the tour were Jared Anderson, Bethany Barelman, Ann Brandow (Laurel), Erica Brandow (Laurel), Ben Bruflat, Emily Bruflat, Kaitlyn Centrone, Courtney Davie, Caitlin Fehringer (Winnebago), Carissa Fehringer (Winnebago), Carly Fehringer (Winnebago), Genelle Gardner, Christopher Gardner, Bailey Honold (Wakefield), Rebecca Jaixen, Stephanie Klein

Parents going on the trip included Jana Anderson, Laura Barelman, Susan Brandow (Laurel), Alan and Madge Bruflat, Shelly Fehringer (Winnebago), Kathey Ellerton, Shannon Honold (Wakefield), Sara Jaixen, Pam Matthes, Jeryl and Rochelle Nelson, Kris Robinson, Diane Roeber, Terri Sampson (Wakefield), Cheryl Waddington and Larry and Kim Wilson.

SCHOOL'S OPEN, DRIVE SAFELY

Blank Children's Hospital and the Iowa SAFE KIDS Coalition recommend the following safety tips to help children and their families kick-off the school year on the right foot.

School Bus Safety

- While waiting for the bus, children should remember these tips:
 - * Stay out of the street and avoid horseplay.
 - * Wait for parents on the same side of the street as the school bus loading/unloading zone.
 - * Cross the street at least 10 feet (or 10 giant steps) in front of the bus.
- When boarding and leaving the bus, children should always:
 - * Walk in a single file line.
 - * Use the handrail to avoid falls.
 - * Wait until the bus comes to a complete stop before getting off.
 - * Exit from the front of the bus.
- On the bus, children should observe the following safety rules:
 - * Remain seated at all times.
 - * Do not throw objects.
 - * Do not shout or distract the driver unnecessarily.
 - * Keep heads and arms inside the bus at all times.

Walking To School

- When children are walking to school, follow these safety guidelines:
 - * Choose the safest route and walk it with children.
 - * Teach children to recognize and obey all traffic signals and markings.
 - * Make sure children look in all directions before crossing the street.
 - * Teach children not to enter the street from between parked cars or from behind bushes or shrubs.
 - * Teach children to cross the street at a corner or crosswalk.
 - * Warn children to be extra alert in bad weather when visibility might be poor.
 - * Demonstrate proper pedestrian safety by being a good role model.
 - * Children younger than 10 should not be permitted to walk to school alone.

Riding Bikes To School

- In order for children to stay safe while riding, they should follow these tips:
 - * Wear bike helmets at all times when bicycling.
 - * Follow the rules of the road.
 - * Never allow children to ride on the road without direct adult supervision until they are at least age 10.
 - * Plan a safe cycling route with children and ride it with them.
 - * Do not ride at night.
 - * Make sure schools provide cyclists with "safe areas," away from motor vehicles and pedestrians.

After school: What parents should know

Learning doesn't end when the final school bell rings. What happens outside the classroom greatly affects a child's success in school. With their parents' help, children can spend after-school hours doing activities that can enhance learning and creativity.

Before you think about kid's activities, however, remember to fulfill basic needs. If kids are home alone, it's your responsibility to make sure they know the rules about chores, activities and snacks. Also, make sure children have a firm grasp on emergency procedures.

Here are some suggestions of what children can do during those hours:

- * Create a diary or scrapbook about their lives and their dreams for the future.
- * Prepare a snack that parents have approved.
- * Begin their homework and be prepared to share or review it later with their parents. Be sure your child has a quiet, well-lighted study area that is free of distractions.
- * Watch agreed-upon television programs and discuss them at dinner.
- * Develop a pen-pal relationship.
- * Complete a list of chores appropriate to their age.
- * Develop a hobby. Parents can help by supplying necessary materials.
- * Participate in projects with other children. Such activities improve children's social skills and teach them to cooperate.

After-school jobs

When older children work after school, it's important for parents to ensure that the job does not interfere with school work. The following are tips for making school a top priority:

- * Establish rules for work before your child accepts the job.
- * Help your child develop a schedule that focuses on school.
- * Limit the hours your child may work based on grades, sufficient rest and recreation.
- * Get to know your child's employer.
- * Continue to discuss and monitor your child's progress in school. Students must understand that any decline in grades or attendance means giving up the job.
- * Expect your child to participate in extracurricular activities at school.
- * Talk to your child about the stress of work and school. Also, maintain open communication with your child's teachers, counselors and principal.

These tips are brought to you by the Missouri State Teachers Association because MSTTA and its 42,000 members care about student success.

New school jitters

Children all over are starting school. Some are bright and eager to begin, and some children are nervous and scared to begin a new school. How can parents help children fight the "new school jitters?"

- * Acknowledge the fact that your child is nervous.
- * Talk about his fears - ask him what he is nervous about.
- * Work together to reduce those fears - help him gain control over them.
- * Take him to visit the school before the first day - talk with the principal and counselor.
- * Revive those school-year routines ahead of schedule - earlier bedtime, lay clothes out the night before, etc.
- What about those first few days?
 - * Organize carefully so that the morning is calm:
 - Make a list of things to do
 - Lay clothes out and pack a lunch the night before
 - Put him to sleep the night before with good thoughts
 - Wake him gently and thoughtfully
 - * Keep non-school activities low-key, so the environment is calm.
 - * Be a good role model: Stay positive.
 - What about the older child - the teenager who doesn't "fit in" right?
 - * Help her find clothes and a hairstyle she likes during the summer.
 - * Show her how to start a conversation
 - * Encourage her to make at least one friend the first week. Offer to drive them to a movie or to the mall. Be friendly and supportive, without getting too involved.
 - * Have her check out sports, clubs and activities at school so she can meet people outside of classes.
 - What if the child just can't adjust and/or refuses to go to school?
 - * That's a more serious problem.
 - * Talk to the school counselor - he or she will advise if professional help is appropriate.

Norfolk's No. 1 Eye Care Practice • Complete Family Eye Care • New Patients Welcome

"I Owe My Quality Of Life To Dr. Feidler."

"I was having blurry vision. It kept getting worse and worse. I told my wife I didn't have a doctor here in Norfolk. She said, 'If you can't see, you should go to Dr. Feidler.' I managed to get to Feidler Eye Clinic; how I don't know. They took me immediately in to see Dr. Feidler. He called a doctor for me and told me I was going across the street to the hospital, immediately.
 The doctor at the hospital said I was in the process of having a stroke. I had a totally blocked carotid artery. I would have had a stroke or died if I went home. I owe the whole success of my survival to Dr. Feidler.
 I wrote Dr. Feidler a personal note to thank him."
