Frye welcomes challenge as interim president

By Mike Grosz
Of the Herald

The new school year begins Monday at Wayne State College with a new president.

Curt Frye, Vice President and Dean of Students at Wayne State College since 1993, was chosen by the Nebraska State College Board of Trustees to serve as interim president after Dr. Sheila Stearns accepted the position of Commissioner of Higher Education for the Montana university system earlier this summer.

Frye has been at Wayne State since 1985 and looks at the interim position as a challenge.

"At first, it didn't occur to me that I might be considered. The more I thought about it, the more I saw this as a challenge, a sweet challenge. I feel like I can contribute to the success of Wayne State College," said Frye.

Frye will serve as the school's interim president for the 2003-2004 school year and said he can not apply for the president's position.

He said a search committee has already been formed in the process of looking for a new president. The school will advertise nationally with hopes of interviewing candidates in January and a replacement possibly being named in February with hopes of starting July 1.

Projected enrollment figures for the fall show Wayne State will have approximately 130 more students than last year, an increase of around five percent.

"Those numbers are very pleasing," said Frye. "It shows confidence in our institution."

Linc Morris, dean of admissions at Wayne State College, says around 3,400 students will be attending classes this fall with a freshman class slightly above 600 students in his latest report. He added an official census count is taken after the first 10 days of class.

Tuition at Wayne State College is up 16 percent this year after the state legislature reduced funding to all state colleges by five percent.

Frye said money is an issue and the school went through a traumatic time last year, but he hopes that is "behind us". He added, "we may be financially

Winside Fire Department receives $37,266 from FEMA

Senator Chuck Hagel has announced that the Winside Volunteer Fire Department will receive $37,266 from the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA).

The funds can be used for training, wellness and fitness, firefighting equipment, personal protective equipment, and modifications to fire stations and facilities.

"Volunteer firefighters play an essential role in protecting our communities. These funds will go to support the purchase of new equipment that will help our firefighters combat fires and serve the Winside area," Hagel said.

As part of its Fiscal Year 2003 appropriations process, Congress funded the Assistance to Firefighters Program under FEMA. The program provides grants to local fire departments for firefighter safety, prevention, emergency medical training and equipment.

As specified under the Program, the Winside Volunteer Fire Department will provide a 10 percent match for the cost of the project.

Back to the books

Ready or not, students throughout the area headed back to school this week. Temperatures did not cooperate, as highs near 100 degrees were common, causing Wayne High School to dismiss early on the first day of school. Above, students at Wayne Elementary School greet one another as they got off the bus Wednesday morning.

Wish for a bike comes true for Ande

By Amy Renz,
Special to the Herald

A wish to ride a bike along side her friends and family will soon be a reality for six year old, Ande Schulz.

Ande is a first grader this fall and is the daughter of Terry and Leslie Schulz of Wayne.

"Ande was born with Spina Bifida," said Leslie Schulz. "She is paralyzed from the waist down."

Spina Bifida or "divided spine" is a birth defect in which there is defective closure of the vertebral column during prenatal development. Approximately, 830 babies are born with Spina Bifida in the United States each year. Surgical treatment is required for all S.B., except the mildest cases. In young Ande's case she is for the majority confined to a wheelchair and has undergone several operations since birth.

After hearing about Ande's wish for a handicapped bike, Cec Vandersnick, Auxiliary President of the Wayne Eagles Club decided something needed to be done to get Ande a bike. In conjunction with Bill Melena, President of the Aerie, they came up with an idea to have a children's benefit.

"With Ande wanting this specialized bike and the

The American Democracy Project: Civic Engagement, Higher Education, and the 21st Century. The following is reprinted with AASCU permission.

I know of no safe depository of the ultimate powers of the society but the people themselves; and if we think them not enlightened enough to exercise their control with a wholesome discretion, the remedy is not to take it from them, but to inform their discretion. --Thomas Jefferson (1820).

The American Democracy Project is a multi-campus initiative that seeks to create an intellectual and experiential understanding of civic engagement in the United States in the 21st century. The project targets undergraduates enrolled at institutions that are members of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU). The project grows out of a concern about decreasing rates of participation in the civic life of America in voting, in advocacy, in volunteerism in local grassroots associations, and in other forms of civic engagement that are necessary for the vitality of our democracy. The goals of the project are:

1. To increase the number of undergraduate students who understand and are committed to engaging in meaningful civic actions by asking participating institutions to review and restructure academic programs and processes, extracurricular programs and activities, and the institutional culture; and

2. To focus the attention of policy makers and opinion leaders on the civic value of the college experience. This project uses the definition of civic engagement proposed by Thomas Ehrlich and his colleagues in Civic Responsibility and Higher Education: "Civic engagement means working to make a difference in the civic life of our communities and developing the combination of knowledge, skills, values and motivation to make that difference. It means promoting the quality of life in a community, through both political and non-political processes." (Preface, page VI).

"A morally and civically responsible individual recognizes himself or herself as a member of a larger social fabric and therefore considers social problems to be at least partly his or her own; such an individual is willing to see the moral and civic dimensions of issues, to make and justify informed moral and civic judgments, and to take action when appropriate." (Introduction, page xxvi).

The project seeks to 1.) Create a national conversation among many campuses about the theory and practice of civic engagement; 2.) Develop institutional commitment by involving senior administrators, faculty, staff and students; by addressing core institutional mission and purpose; and by focusing on civic engagement as a learning outcome for undergraduates; 3.) Initiate new projects, courses and teaching strategies, extracurricular programs, and other programs to increase civic engagement, supported by the national project office; 4.) Measure the civic engagement outcomes of undergraduates on participating campuses, and assess the impact of this project in contributing to greater civic engagement outcomes; and; 5.) Disseminate the models that result to a wide audience of higher education institutions, individuals, and policy makers.

The project initially will involve 130 member campuses of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU) to participate, ultimately involving 130 presidents and chancellors, 130 chief academic officers, a minimum of 2600 faculty and staff, and more than 100,000 students. The national project structure will include co-directors from the American Association of State Colleges and Universities and The New York Times, advice from a group of presidents and chancellors, operational guidance from a group of chief academic officers, and collaborative assistance from a number of colleague groups that work in the field of civic engagement.

The basic concept of the project is a four-part approach to civic engagement, which includes initial project design and planning, a national conversation among participating campuses, implementation of a variety of civic engagement projects on each of the campuses, and a process of dissemination of best practices that will include media events and publications.

The project is designed in such a way that campuses can join the first year or delay entry, allowing cohorts of institutions to move through the process. This strategy recognizes that some institutions are farther along than others, and honors the unique context and culture of each campus. The phased approach also allows institutions further along to assist campuses that are not at the same stage in their development. Project planning has been underway for more than a year, as the co-directors have met with presidents and chancellors who serve on AASCU's Committee on the Undergraduate Experience, a select group of AASCU chief academic officers, and individuals and groups in the field of civic engagement.

Editor's note: Our young people today are our leaders of the future. Getting them energized is the best way of developing leadership that this country will need in the years to come. With over 850 campuses presently getting involved, your support is invaluable in keeping his "grass root" effort from failing. Encourage our young adults to get involved and have say in what our future will be like. This is a very worthwhile project and I hope you will consider getting involved.

Who has the leading candidate for California's governorship turned to for help with that state's biggest problem? A guy in Nebraska.

Republican moderate Arnold Schwarzenegger got a ton of positive headlines for bringing Democrat Warren Buffett on board. Buffett is a living legend in national and international business.

California is one sophisticated place. All that cutting edge fashion, and hotsy-totsy cuisine, and movie stars. It is a truly multi-cultural society blessed with oceans and mountains and deserts and forests.

It is also populated with voters and politicians known for frequent and sustained lapses in sense, common or otherwise. Nothing reflects this more than the calamity known as California's budget. More than one California business person has been quoted recently as saying that no one represents common-sense business thinking more than billionaire Buffett. Goes to show you that some of 'em still have a grasp of reality.

In turn, the fellow known as the Oracle of Omaha has expressed confidence in Schwarzenegger's own ability to think realistically. Like the best of policymakers, Buffett didn't give a hoot about party labels in deciding to lend a hand to a troubled California.

In contrast, the Legislature in the Sunshine State is at least as goofy as most. It has been plagued of late with a lot of doctrinaire silliness. The silliness includes a deficit guesstimated at some $39 billion.

Schwarzenegger has thus far billed himself as the common sense candidate when it comes to budget matters. He has stressed his personal independence and integrity. Remember that whopping big scandal on Wall Street? To whom did the company then known as Solomon Brothers turn when its credibility was headed south? It turned to Buffett.

Naturally enough the right-wing element in California has criticized both men. Buffett's brand of conservative thinking endorses enormous inheritance taxes, and abandoning tax giveaways for the rich. He thought, and said, that the tax breaks sponsored by President Bush and enacted by Congress were wrong-headed.

Schwarzenegger's supporters are betting that California is ready for a dose of common sense and honest arithmetic, Buffett's specialty.

The fiscal fiasco in Sacramento has pretty much shown that if you attach the left wing and the right wing to a policy vehicle, it won't fly. In fact, it is more likely to crash and burn.

NEW BEGINNINGS!

I would be remiss if I didn't recognize another organization in Wayne that contributed substantially to the success of the Chicken Show. Wayne Eagles for years has organized and managed the parade that has been a source of pride and enjoyment for the community and her visitors on that second Saturday in July.

Now numbering over 100 entries strong, this parade is one of the largest of its kind in the Midwest, and putting this together is not an easy task. Mylet Bargholz and her committee deserve Wayne's most heartfelt appreciation. Wayne Eagles also holds a pitch tournament during the same weekend. Maybe even more laudatory than the parade and pitch tournament for Wayne, is "something huge" that Wayne Eagles has carried out with little notoriety and fanfare, because that seems to be their style. It is my understanding that Wayne Eagles over the last 10 plus years has raised more than $20,000 for charitable purposes. Ask any Eagles member and I'll bet they, in humbling fashion, will tell you to which causes these funds have been distributed. So, thank you Wayne Eagles for what you do for the Chicken Show and what you do for the community.

While you will be hearing more about this next topic in a few weeks, I will share some preliminary information about a very exciting upcoming opportunity for the business professionals and organizations in the area. Your Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce has decided to partner with Dale Carnegie Programs to sponsor a customer service seminar on Tuesday, Oct. 21. This is an excellent opportunity to assist in the fulfillment of the chamber's mission to provide growth opportunities for its members, and Dale Carnegie Courses are respected and popular around the world.

For those of you who like reminders, the ballot box for election of new members to the board of directors will remain open until Sept. 3. Many have submitted their ballots that were distributed a few weeks ago; some have not. This administrative activity of the chamber is a very important one because it contributes directly to the future leadership of the chamber and indirectly to the community.

At the last board meeting, the directors decided to take some initiative in assisting the Wayne community to prepare for and work through the demolishing and upgrading of Highway 15 through Wayne. Many of our members and certainly the entire community will be affected by this improvement to one of the major thoroughfares into and out of Wayne.

Wayne retailers and other organizations serve the needs of people in and out of town, and no one desires to see these needs being served elsewhere even during the transition. The chamber intends to work with all impacted and interested organizations so as not to duplicate efforts. There will be more information about this initiative in the future.

Until next time, remember, if there is anything that the chamber or Wayne Industries can do for you, please call us.

First, the rumor. Rumor has it that there are no longer any burning permits issued for farmers in the Wayne area. Fact: Fire Chief Bob Woehler will issue burn permits outside City of Wayne for burning brush.

This rumor caused a meeting between Chief Woehler, Lowell Johnson (City Administrator) and me. About one and a half hours later, I had a much better idea of the problems and solutions for burning.

The problems stem from burning things that are no longer legal to burn such as tires, plastic, galvanized tin, shingles and so forth. Manufactured lumber (such as plywood and other glued up products) is also not permitted. Burning in an unauthorized pit is also not legal. One of the common problems (one of those things "everybody" does) has been to get a permit to burn brush, and then when the fire is lit, throw everything else on the fire "because when it is gone, who is gonna know?" and then the neighbor sees black smoke from the tires, etc. and calls the fire department.

Department of Environmental Quality authorities and fire marshal personnel going around the country sometimes see this evidence by themselves without a complaint being called in. They have the authority to issue a citation on the spot (which can be several hundred dollars).

Until very recently, a person living in the country could get a burn permit by going to the local police station and state the reason for the burn and be issued a permit. Because of the number of complaints and violations, Chief Woehler decided to change the procedure and the police can no longer issue a burn permit.

Other facts: The DEQ has a statewide ban on open burning but the enforcement is done by local authorities and varies from area to area. DEQ can issue special permits for burning but several factors come into play in order to get the permit. For example, suppose you want to tear down an old building and burn it and then bury what remains. There are many restrictions on what can be done and the Norfolk office of DEQ can answer those questions.

As it is currently, farmers can go directly to Chief Woehler and get a permit to burn brush. He has as much as told me that if there are continued flagrant violations of this privilege he may be forced to not allow even this. No one has a good solution for what happens to all the brush if it ever gets to that, but adherence to the current burn permit process would help insure that we do not have to solve that problem.

Thanks donors for contributions

Dear Editor,
Goodwill Industries of Sioux City wishes to take this opportunity to thank the many donors who contributed to the recent Ambassador drive in Wayne. The businesses, families, organizations and individuals who provided donated materials will help Goodwill to meet its goals for this year.

During our last Ambassador drive, community Ambassador volunteers helped to collect 17,500 pounds of donated materials which will be distributed to any or all of our 16 Goodwill regional store locations. These donations will enable Goodwill to provide services to more than 200 program participants in a variety of locations.

Your donations also help to provide jobs to 400 Goodwill employees in four states.

Your next Ambassador trailer will arrive on Oct. 20, 2003. The trailer will be open daily to accept donations from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Please bring all sellable donations to the trailer location near Pac 'N Save parking lot, northwest corner of lot.

We remind you that Goodwill cannot accept washers, dryers, baby furniture, non-working small appliances and large household furniture, as Goodwill cannot sell many of those items and must pay to have them hauled away.

Please do not leave donated materials at the trailer location if the trailer doors are closed. We have found that donated materials set outside the Goodwill trailer are often subject to vandalism or theft.

Again, we thank your community for its generosity of spirit in helping Goodwill achieve its mission. We look forward to serving you soon.

Please feel free to contact me at the number below with any questions or concerns regarding the Ambassador donation drives. If you or a group from your community would be interested in a tour of the Goodwill Central Administrative Offices and store in Sioux City at 877-608-7777 and ask for Georjean Bailey.

Sincerely,
Jenny Lindgren,
Ambassador Assistant.

better this year due to enrollment." Despite the budget reductions, Wayne State College has been able to move forward with several projects on campus thanks to grants and funding from LB 309, the Task Force for Building Renewal.

Air conditioning was put in at Rice Auditorium this summer. Frye said, "It's a great improvement because the exterior of the building was starting to show wear due to the heat and humidity in the summer." Frye added the new power plant expansion done last summer allowed for the improvements this summer to the Rice building. New entrances were also put in at Rice Auditorium.

The first phase of the WSC stadium project is nearing completion. A new running track was poured recently at Cunningham Field, along with new lights installed for the football field. The stadium entrance plaza, featuring new restrooms and handicapped accessibility, should be done by the Sept. 6 home football opener against Nebraska-Kearney.

"The plaza concept enhances the availability and makes the stadium more accessible to the public," stated Frye. "The track has needed upgrading for some time and will be a great improvement."

Other phases of the project include new visiting bleachers and upgrades to the press box. Renovation work on Neihardt Hall is slightly behind schedule, but Frye said, "it will be worth the wait." Work on remodeling the 180-bed facility began in January. Frye middle school in Wayne, needing new playground equipment, we thought having a children's fundraiser would go great together," said Vandersnick.

In late July, Vandersnick and Melena grilled several hot-dogs and hamburgers to feed several people eager to donate towards Ande's bike and the playground.

"The turnout of the community, surpassed our expectations," said Vandersnick. "We raised nearly $2,000."

According to Leslie Schulz, the bike that Ande will use is specifically designed to fit her and her body. "Because Ande has no use of her legs, the bike is hand propelled," said Schulz. "Her arms will do all the pedaling."

Just this past week Ande was given the doctor's approval and the bike was ordered.

"Ande is so excited about getting her bike" said Leslie. "All she talks about is riding her new bike with her cousins."

"Ande is hopeful that the new bike will be here before the St. Jude's Bike-a-thon in September," said Vandersnick. "In past years she has always used her wheel chair for laps, this year it might be different."

The Wayne Eagles Club is a non profit organization. All money goes back to the community in various ways. "Our motto is people helping people," said Vandersnick "we are just that."

Ride benefits Muscular Dystrophy research

A number of local residents left Wayne, Saturday, on the annual motorcycle ride to benefit Muscular Dystrophy research. This year a little over $2,700 was collected in donations. The local group rode to Norfolk and registered at Elworth's Harley Davidson and then left with area riders who had joined them. One hundred or more cycles were driven in this year's event. There were 220 actual registrations. During the ride, the group stopped at five locations on a Poker Run. Prizes were given away by Elworth's with Darcy Gansbom of Norfolk receiving first prize of a $100 gift certificate to their establishment. The event is hosted each year by Elworth's Harley Davidson. Among donations given were food and beverages provided by a number of businesses (mostly Norfolk). This year, the event was held in conjunction with the celebration of the 100th Anniversary of Harley Davidson motorcycles. Present, back row, left to right, Dean and Sue Nelson of Wakefield, Glen Kietzmann and Tami Kubo of Carroll, Dennis Linster of Wayne, Randy Lutt of Wayne, Dennis and Carmen Rodby of Wakefield, Dennis and Roberta Engstedt of Crofton, Jeff Luschen of Norfolk and Brian Zach of Wayne. Front row, Bill Swinney of Wayne, Jack Lutt of Wayne, Randy and Joni Holdorf of Carroll, Jim and Connie Granquist and daughter of Wayne, Dave and Jan Doescher of Wayne, and Larry and Betty Mitchell of Wayne.

School board approves exceeding basic allowable growth rate

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

A public hearing was held prior to the regular meeting of the Wayne Community Schools Board of Education Monday night. The board approved exceeding the basic allowable growth rate by one percent. This allows the school district to spend 1.29 percent over what was spent on last year's general fund budget.

Additional growth in spending could come from increased valuation in the school district.

During the regular meeting, the resignation of Christopher Looft was approved. Looft accepted a position with the University of Maryland, College Park as the Director of Academic Development for the University's Athletic Department.

Also approved was the resignation of Rebecca Onderstal.

Approved was the hiring of several people: Gary Redden as High School Special Education teacher. He replaces Looft. Maureen Kingston was hired as an Elementary paraprofessional and Kendra Brasher as Middle School paraprofessional.

Elementary School Principal David Lutt gave the board an update on the playground that's being re-done by W.E.B.B. Work continues on the project which he noted will be a nice asset to the school district. He said the group applied for money from the Gardner Foundation and from the Peter Kiewit Foundation and were turned down from both. They did get a $1,000 check from Walmart, though.

Middle School Principal John McClarnen gave an update on the Middle School. One project, soundproofing the gym, is done and people should see quite an improvement.

Athletic Director Rocky Ruhl also gave an update. He noted there will be a scrimmage for football and volleyball on Aug. 29. As for the new track, people walking on it have reported they can see their footsteps which may indicate a drainage problem. Ruhl wants this fixed before the weather turns cold. He's talking to Fischer Track Company about the problem.

Superintendent Joe Reinert reminded board members of a retreat they're taking this Thursday at Taco's & More in Wayne. He also noted the State informed them adult lunch prices must be raised five cents per day.

He also spoke on budget considerations noting that their preliminary estimates show that the valuation of property (both city and rural) increased between 5.77 and 6 percent. School district taxes are based on a levy on the district's valuation. More valuation with the same levy generates more dollars for the school district.

Wayne State Student Wins 'Siouxland Idol' Competition

Erik Diessner, a Wayne State sophomore from Columbus, is heading to New York City next week. As the winner of the "Siouxland Idol" competition first at the Wayne Chicken Show and then at WinnaVegas earlier this month, Diessner will go to New York City on Aug. 25 to compete with other "American Idol" hopefuls in national competition.

"They've told me that literally thousands of people will be there to audition," Diessner said. "But, because I've won regional competition, I'll get to go to the front of the line." His goal is to advance to the final competition and to win a spot on next season's "American Idol" show that has become a national phenomenon for the FOX TV network. The regional competition was sponsored by KPTH-FOX 44.

But, first things first. In New York, Diessner will perform "I Believe" by Blessed Union of Soul, one of the songs he sang at the "Siouxland Idol" competition. "At the competition in WinnaVegas, I sang 'It Hurts to Let You Know,' a song that I wrote," he said. "I also sang 'Sailing' by Christopher Cross. But in New York, I will get 20 seconds to sing, so I have to choose just one and give it my best shot."

He will have from four to six days in New York City. "If I do well in competition there, they'll let me come back to Wayne State for the semester," said Diessner, a human services counseling major. "Then, I'll go on to the next level of competition and will hopefully be one of the finalists on TV."

Diessner gives credit to Peggy Holloway, WSC assistant professor of music, for giving him the confidence to do his best when performing. "She taught me so many things that have made a huge difference in my singing."

I'd also like to thank Mike Barry (associate director of athletics at Wayne State) and the rec center staff for cheering me on."

While Diessner admits to being a bit nervous about his audition in terflies in my stomach," he said. "Going to New York is probably the

Wayne State College participates in American Democracy Project

Wayne State College is among 145 colleges and universities nationwide participating in the American Democracy Project for Civic Engagement, an initiative of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities. The purpose of the project is to promote awareness and build understanding of contemporary events and issues among the higher education community--administrators, faculty and students, and to nurture meaningful civic or community actions.

The project will provide opportunities for students to understand and participate in activities designed to increase their commitment to civic engagement. The goal of the national program is to contribute to the development of an informed and contributing citizenry for the United States in the 21st century.

The three-year project will involve nearly one-and-one-half million students across 42 states. Wayne State is one of only three colleges and universities in Nebraska participating in the program.

During the first year of the project (Fall 2003 - Spring 2004), the focus will be on campus and national conversation, said Dr. James Knotwell, WSC assistant professor of geography and campus coordinator of the project.

"At Wayne State, the conversation will be centered around the appropriateness of this role for the college and the ability of our college to fulfill this role," he said. "We will also discuss the example that the college sets as a democratic institution."

"I am pleased that Wayne State College is a member of the American Democracy Project for Civic Engagement," said Dr. David Fuller, WSC vice president for academic affairs and committee member. "The project carries forward the college's goal and vision for civic engagement and involvement at Wayne State College."

Other members of the campus committee include Drs. Chuck Parker, Jean Karlen and Cheryl Waddington.

For more information about the project, contact Knotwell at 402-375-7299. Information can also be found on the Web at www.aascu.org; click on the American Democracy Project logo at the bottom of the page.

Scott Hoffman begins fourth season with Wildcats

Wayne State football team opens at Division I-AA Western Illinois

by Mike Grosz
Of the Herald

Wayne State College is due for a winning season in football, right. You have to go back to 1995 when WSC was 6-4 to find a winning campaign on the gridiron.

But the 2003 version of the Wildcats will have to overcome two things—a tough early season schedule and themselves—to finish above the .500 mark this season.

Scott Hoffman begins his fourth season as head coach of the Wildcats. After starting 0-5 last season, Wayne State won three of their final six games to finish 3-3 overall and 3-6 in the improving Northern Sun Conference.

But costly turnovers and special teams mistakes hurt the Wildcats in many games last season, including three losses by eight points or less.

Hoffman feels the team has gained plenty of experience and is ready to go this season.

"The talent is there," he said. "If we go out and take care of business and don't beat ourselves, we will win some games."

Wayne State faces a tough schedule again this season, especially early.

The Wildcats open next Thursday evening at Division I-AA Western Illinois. The Leathernecks were 11-2 last year and are ranked in many pre-season polls this year in the top five. Wayne State then faces in-state rival Nebraska-Kearney, a Division II playoff team last year, in the home opener on Sept. 6, then hosts Winona State, the NSIC representative in the Mineral Water Bowl last year, in the conference opener at Cunningham Field on Sept. 20.

"The odds are against us," said Hoffman on the Western Illinois game. "But we have told our kids to play their hardest, do things right and see what happens. Hoffman added his team will find out what it's like to play at a different level against a top Division I-AA team like Western Illinois.

Hoffman says the attitude of the kids is positive in fall drills, but adds "it's time to go hit somebody else."

On paper, the Wildcats should be improved on offense.

Brett Edwards returns as the starting quarterback. The junior from Vinton, Iowa threw for 1,744 yards and 12 TD's last season with only four interceptions. Hoffman said Edwards is a solid leader who had an outstanding spring and looks for Edwards to have a breakout season in 2003.

The Wildcats return all of their top receivers, led by former quarterback Eric Kjar, who led the team with 44 catches last season for 647 yards and seven touchdowns. Also returning are junior Josh Hopwood (38 receptions for 515 yards) and senior Ryan Kuester (22 catches for 452 yards).

The offensive line should be much-improved this year, led by sophomores Clyde Soappman, Colt Meyer and senior transfer Brant Winter from Dakota State. Other potential starters include Brad Hoensing, sophomore from Laurel Concord, Jack Moeller, Mike Wendt, Dustin Carter, Colby Herron and Justin Mohr, a transfer from Iowa Central Community College.

Zach Molacek heads a group of young, talented running backs. The sophomore from Stanton was the starter last season until suffering a broken jaw in the third game of the season. Hoffman said Molacek was outstanding in spring drills and established himself as the main guy in the running game. The Wildcats will also look to Tyler Chambers and Mell Holliday, pleasant surprises as freshmen last season, to contribute also.

Norfolk sophomore Brett Walker and redshirt freshman Dustin Fouch of Missouri Valley, Iowa will contend for the placekicking duties.

The defense was solid last year for the Wildcats (third in the NSIC) and this year should be no different.

Four-year starter Kyle Lingenfelter of Plainview, a second-team All-NSIC pick last season, headlines an experienced secondary. Jeremy Neill, a junior from Missouri Valley, Iowa, is the other returning starter at safety. Senior Robert Sellers and sophomore Teddy Young are the returning starters at cornerback. Dakota State transfer Fester Huot, a starter at cornerback last fall, and Stephen Turner, a transfer from Orange Coast Junior College in California, will also contend for playing time in the secondary.

Senior Bump Christensen leads a talented group of linebackers. The senior from Onawa, Iowa was second on the team in tackles last season with 96. Aaron Rodgers, a transfer from Dakota State, impressed coaches in the spring and will have to take the place of All-NSIC linebacker Adam Long, who transferred to Northwest Missouri State. Vahn Schumacher, a transfer from Iowa Central, and redshirt freshman Andrew Spanjers will also vie for playing time.

The defensive line is anchored by senior Nick Wemhoff of Humphrey St. Francis, a three-year starter. Senior Segun Adebayo is another returning starter at defensive end. Junior college transfers Albert and Arthur Robinson, brothers from Santa Rosa College in California, are expected to contribute immediately along with Matt Schaapveld, who missed all of last season with an injury.

Two areas Hoffman feels the team will be better at this year is more aggressive play from the offensive line and more team speed on defense.

He said the top goal for the team this season is to win games.

"We need to get the kids to believe that we can win. If we play hard, play sound and don't beat ourselves, then we will win games."

The Wildcat coaching staff has several new faces this year.

Bob Majeski is the new quarterbacks coach and offensive coordinator. Majeski spent the past three seasons as the head coach at Black Hills State University in Spearfish, S.D.

Ted Hall is a new coach helping with the offensive line, Ruben Burbach is the new defensive line coach and former Wildcat player Tyler Maas is a student assistant helping with the wide receivers. Returning coaches include Monty Roe (defensive coordinator and secondary coach), Curran White (offensive line) and Vance Winter (linebackers).

Program on methamphetamine to be held in Wisner on August 25

Educational Service Unit #2, with assistance from the Wisner-Pilger Public School and the Midwest HIDTA (High Intensity Drug Trafficking Area Program) are hosting a free meal and program addressing the subject of methamphetamine.

The program will be held Monday, Aug. 25 beginning with dinner at 5:30 p.m. at the Wisner-Pilger High School Auditorium and will be followed by introductions, a program and time for questions and answers.

U.S. Attorney Mike Heavican will give the opening comments and the presentation will be given by Nancy Martinez, the State Program Coordinator for Midwest HIDTA.

This program is targeted for an adult audience (over 18 years old) to receive information concerning methamphetamine. The program will cover the topics of What, Where, and How of Meth.

Attendance is encouraged to learn about meth's impact on the family, the community, employers, law enforcement, health care and treatment.

According to those organizing the event, "methamphetamine has arrived. As a community, we can no longer be thankful that 'meth is not in my town.' It is in your town. Meth use continues to rise and the manufacturing of methamphetamine continues to harm our environment."

Following the presentation, a panel of area law enforcement officials will hold a question and answer session.

The complimentary dinner is provided by the Wisner Care Center.

Resource tables will be available providing drug and public safety information.

Those attending will be able to learn about Project Safe Neighborhoods (PSN) and other community programs.

Helping find the way

A presentation was made this week to fire and rescue departments in Wayne County. The Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department, which serves Cedar, Dixon, Thurston and Wayne Counties, has made available Global Positioning Units (GPS) to help EMS volunteers locate their destinations and help Life Flights find landing areas to pick up patients who may be ill or injured. The GPS units are also used for West Nile Virus surveillance including bird pick up, mosquito traps, directions to find dead birds to be picked up. Those involved with the (GPS) presentation were, left to right, Tom Mitzel (Wayne), Dennis Spangler (Providence Medical Center) and Loren Park, Health and Safety Coordinator for Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department. Back row, Don Skokan (Winside), Rick Austin (Hoskins) and Robert Woehler (Wayne). Dennis Spangler also serves on the Board of the Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department.

Two deaths in Nebraska possibly attributed to West Nile virus

Nebraska has two more deaths possibly attributable to the West Nile virus.

A woman from the central part of the state and a woman from the north-central part who were both in the age range of 65 years and older have died. Both deaths appear to be consistent with West Nile virus, according to Dr. Richard Raymond, Chief Medical Officer for the Nebraska Health and Human Services System. The cases have not been confirmed by the federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention at this time.

West Nile is transmitted through the bite of a mosquito that has picked up the virus by feeding on an infected bird. Mosquitoes pass the virus to humans.

"A death serves to add emphasis to the necessity of taking precautions against mosquitoes," Dr. Raymond said. "It's important that everyone, regardless of age, apply mosquito repellent containing DEET, wear long-sleeved shirts and pants to protect themselves against bites, and limit exposure at dawn and dusk, which is when mosquitoes are most active."

So far, 104 cases of confirmed/probable West Nile virus have been found in Nebraska. In addition, 56 blood donors have tested positive.

For more information on West

Nile, visit the Health and Human Services System's www.hhs.state.ne.us/wnv or the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's site at www.cdc.gov/ncidod/dvbid/west-nile/index.htm

TEMPERATURES
A large ridge of high pressure will dominate the weather across the Rockies, Plains and Midwest, providing dry, and above-average temperatures. ## New blood donor bus added to blood bank operation

The Siouxland Community Blood Bank in Sioux City announced the addition of a new blood donor bus. The new bus will be put into operation in September, and was purchased through a community fundraising campaign.

According to Jan Twait, CEO of the blood bank, "because of the increase in demand for blood, and the expansion of our blood service territory, it was important that we add another mobile collection bus." The blood bank now serves twenty-eight regional hospitals, an increase of sixty percent over the past two years.

In addition, the blood bank conducts blood drives in over one-hundred and twenty communities in Iowa, Nebraska, and South Dakota which increased from seventy communities just a few years ago.

A campaign to fund the new blood donor bus began a year ago, and was led by Bob Peterson. "I have been a life-long blood donor, and when the blood bank asked me to be the campaign chairperson I accepted," said Bob Peterson. "Donating blood is truly a lifesaving effort, that is why it is important the blood bank has the necessary equipment to continue providing an adequate and safe blood supply to our area."

"Through the generosity of area hospitals, businesses, foundations, individuals, and blood donors our campaign raised $190,000 to purchase and equip the bus," said Bob. "Because of the success of the campaign the blood bank can equip the new bus with the new double-red cell technology."

The new blood bank bus will serve our region for many years, "and will collect enough blood to save thousands of lives," said Jan Twait. "This mobile collection operation will help us ensure we have enough blood products to help those affected by cancer, accidents, surgery, and disease."

The new mobile collection bus has two medical screening booths, and beds for five blood donors.

The blood services bus was designed to allow for the new double red cell technology, as well as, the traditional whole blood donation. "Many communities appreciate the blood collection buses because they are convenient, contained, and provide a professional setting for the blood donors," said Ms. Twait.

The new bus will be added to the already existing fleet of two buses, and two van/trailer units.

Siefken receives degree from UN-L

Richard Siefken of Wayne was among nearly 800 graduates receiving degrees at Aug. 16 University of Nebraska-Lincoln commencement.

Siefken received his Master of Science degree through Graduate College at UNL.

Chancellor Harvey Perlman presided over the ceremony, which included graduates from 37 states, 30 countries, and Puerto Rico.

Princess Diana. It has been determined through entering information into a computer program that had she been wearing her seat belt, she likely would have lived.

The Mercedes she was riding in was traveling around 70 miles per hour when it struck a pillar in an underpass. From the hit at that speed, her internal organs were ripped away and she bled to death.

Other real life examples were given which included a mother's nightmare. Her young daughter was buckled in her car seat in her grandmother's car. While driving, the girl started fussing and grandma took her out of her car seat and placed her on her lap. A car ran a stop sign at an intersection and ran into grandma's car. The child flew and grandma ended up crushing her. Her granddaughter died 45 minutes later at a nearby hospital.

Another example, two brothers left in a jeep after having several alcoholic beverages. The driver

Dan Rose shows fellow Rotarians an air bag that was taken out of a car.

Importance of seat belts and air bags is emphasized

Speaking recently at the weekly Wayne Rotary meeting, Rotarian Dan Rose of Tom's Body Shop in Wayne, gave a reminder of the importance of seat belts and air bags when driving.

A safety video was shown highlighting the accident that killed buckled up, and the other who usually did buckle up, didn't because alcohol made him make a poor choice. While traveling down a road, a car started driving towards them in their lane so the brother swerved to avoid it and lost control of the jeep. The brother who was driving received only a few cuts and bruises but the other brother received neck injuries and is a quadriplegic.

Rose showed the group two air bags that were taken out of a car; one on the driver's side and one from the passenger's side. He told of the importance of air bags and how they save lives.

As for seat belts, he noted anyone under 12 should be buckled into the back seat as air bags can do damage to a child. For children under the age of six, it is the law they should be in car seats. It is also the law that children under the age of 16 are to be buckled in.

Tests have proved that people not wearing seat belts are four times more likely to die if thrown from vehicles than those wearing them.

Another Rotarian, Wayne Chief-of-Police Lance Webster added from police department observation, about 30 percent of drivers in Wayne use seat belts. He noted that air bags are generally deployed at 10 miles per hour. He said that the air bag sensors in a vehicle are located in the bumper so if the hit is above that, the bag doesn't go off.

Anyone with questions can contact Rose at 375-4555.

Northeast Nebraska RC & D update is given

Corps of Discovery Welcome Center - "Great job, wonderful place to work, greatest state to tell people about" were some of Shana James' comments about the Center where she's manager. Visitors say it's the perfect place at the perfect time.

Since Memorial Day 2001 they've welcomed over 40,000 visitors from all 50 states and 49 foreign countries, hosted more than 50 programs, and had 25 different informational displays. Workers at the Center have included one paid staff, four Experience Works members, 86 volunteers, prisoners from the Yankton facility and juveniles doing community service.

Shannon Trail - "A Tale of the Trail" was a wonderful story of Lewis & Clark with music and comedy added that made it just delightful. The group is already preparing for next year's performances in Verdigr, Crofton and Cedar County.

Promotion continues through magazine ads, newspaper articles, with brochures, at geocaching sites, festivals, county fairs and more.

Outlaw Trail Scenic Byway - A cooperative marketing partnership with South Dakota and Nebraska businesses and Nebraska Life Magazine is being explored. A fundraiser is planned for Aug. 30 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at CDWC and folders will be assembled of corridor information for visitors to Niobrara and Ponca State Parks.

Two federal highway grants have been submitted - "Legends and Lore" booklet & a Traveling Mural, which involves two-semester trailers with Shannon Trail and Outlaw Trail logos on them. The group meets Sept. 10 in Butte. All are welcome!

Elderhostel - Dinner at the Argo Hotel in Crofton on Aug. 5 was a treat when six Council members and two staff people got acquainted with the group of 17 visiting from California, Illinois, Tennessee, Mississippi, Kansas, Texas, Florida, and Missouri. They were learning about Lewis & Clark in Nebraska thanks to the RC&D partnership with Horizon Tours of Fremont. The next day Janet Eckmann spoke to them in Lindy about the town, Devils Nest, Pvt. Shannon, and the Outlaw Trail Scenic Byway 12. These folks were interested in farming practices, livestock, small towns, and more.

RC&D Web Site - EZ Net Solutions of Tekamah was chosen as the new webmaster for the Council's site. To date student volunteers have developed and provided changes to the site with updating being done by Barb Hoffart, Program Support Assistant.

Bob Porter and Barb will be meeting the webmaster this week to begin on the improvements. Watch for the updated version soon at www.northeastrcd.org (best viewed with Internet Explorer).

AmeriCorps Local Foods project - Last week notification was received that year two of the AmeriCorps project will not be funded through the Nebraska Volunteer Service Commission. 90 percent of the funding was lost for the state!

Sandy Patton will be completing her term in September, but she's done a great job of increasing awareness and promoting the purchase of local foods. This effort needs to be continued. Grant funds may be available and any suggestions that might help maintain this work are welcome.

Enterprise Facilitation Demonstration - The National RC&D Council and the Sirolli Institute are looking for six communities/regions across the U.S. to conduct a three-year demonstration designed to use the Enterprise Facilitation approach and to test its effectiveness compared to other economic development models.

The Sirolli Institute is convinced that the future of every community lies in capturing the passion and intelligence of its people. Should the RC&D Council apply? The workshop at the National RC&D conference made it seem worthwhile.

(Staff Comments - The meeting and activities last month was a great tribute to the 10 years of successes of this Council. Jim Farnik and Art Anderson shared memories of starting this venture in 1991. It's truly been a wonderful 10 years of growing together! Congratulations to the Sandhills RC&D for being one of seven new Councils federally authorized making Nebraska now fully covered. Look for great things to continue with RC&D in the state).

Chief medical officer urges precautions for West Nile

Mosquito repellents can save lives, according to the state's Chief Medical Officer. "Play it safe - fight the bite," is the message the health official wants Nebraskans to hear to combat West Nile Virus.

"West Nile virus is all over the state, in humans, birds, horses, and mosquitoes," said Dr. Richard Raymond, with the Nebraska Health and Human Services System. "We need to do the things that can prevent and avoid mosquito bites, like wearing mosquito repellents, covering arms and legs with clothing, and taking extra precautions at dusk and dawn, which is when mosquitoes are most active."

"People shouldn't wait until a human case has been confirmed in their county before they take precautions," he said. "The virus is already in their neighborhood."

August and September constitute the height of the West Nile virus season, which lasts until the first frost.

Raymond said the message is especially important at this time of the year because Nebraskans are involved with many outdoor activities, including haying, harvesting, and attending fairs and rodeos, and soon evening high school football games.

"I'm concerned that people who are participating in these activities will think they don't need to take precautions or will just forget about them. They need to remember to take mosquito repellent containing DEET with them and spray all exposed skin and even apply it to their clothing," he said.

The Federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention reports a tripling of cases since last week and expects the total will exceed last year's cases.

People can "Fight the Bite" to reduce their risk of West Nile Virus by:

*Using a mosquito repellent that contains DEET. (DEET should not be applied to children under two months of age. It's safe over two months of age. Parents should avoid children's hands and faces when applying it.)

*Wearing long-sleeved shirts, long pants, shoes and socks.

*Taking extra precautions or not going outdoors at dawn and dusk when mosquitoes are most active.

*Getting rid of standing water. *Adding larvicides, which can be purchased at most hardware stores, to animal drinking troughs, water gardens, ornamental fountains, ditches and ponds.

*Keeping window screens in good repair.

West Nile is transmitted through the bite of a mosquito that has picked up the virus by feeding on an infected bird.

"Most people who are infected by a mosquito have no symptoms or only mild flu-like symptoms. Less than one out of one hundred people who get bitten by an infected mosquito and become infected will get seriously ill," Dr.

Raymond said. But he warns that people should not become complacent because those who become ill can become very ill."

People over 50 and those with weak immune systems are especially vulnerable to the disease, he said. However, the median age in Nebraska is now 43 years, compared to 45 years nationally.

"Young and healthy people are becoming ill this year," Dr. Raymond said. "This development was unexpected. West Nile is affecting all ages and all ages need to fight the bite."

West Nile fever includes flu-like symptoms such as fever and muscle weakness. Symptoms of West Nile encephalitis include inflammation of the brain, disorientation, convulsions, and paralysis.

For more information on West Nile, visit the Health and Human Services System www.hhs.state.ne.us/wnv or the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's site at www.cdc.gov/ncidod/dvbid/west-nile/index.htm

Siouxland Blood Bank asks Wayne community for help in raising blood supply inventory

The Siouxland Community Blood Bank is asking citizens in the Wayne area to help overcome low blood supply inventories.

Summer is traditionally a difficult time for the blood bank because there are fewer donations, while the demand for blood products increases because of accidents. This summer is no different. With blood levels low going into the Labor Day holiday, the blood bank is asking people to donate blood.

"We are working hard to get the word out that we need blood donors to step forward now," said Jan Twait, CEO of the blood bank. "With summer ending and our blood supply lower than expected, we have to make sure we are not only prepared for accidents and emergencies, but also for the daily healthcare needs of patients who are having surgery or battling life-threatening diseases such as cancer."

The weeks preceding and following the Labor Day holiday will be important for blood collections in raising the blood supply level.

The blood bank is conducting a blood drive in Wayne on Aug. 27 at Great Dane Trailers from 10:00 a.m. to 5 p.m., and on Aug. 28 at the Providence Medical Center from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

"We need to collect over 1,000 units of blood each week," says Jan Twait, "so we hope people in the Wayne area will take the time to donate and help us ensure that blood is available for friends, family, and neighbors." To be eligible to donate blood, you must be at least 17 years of age, in general good health, and have not donated blood in the past 56 days.

For more information about donating blood and blood drives, contact the Siouxland Community Blood Bank at (712) 252-4208, (800) 798-4208, or visit www.siouxlandbloodbank.org.

Eagles Club awards grant to Providence Medical Center Foundation

Members of the Wayne Eagles Club Auxiliary recently donated a $1,500 grant to the Providence Medical Center Foundation.

According to Sandra Bartling, Foundation President, this grant award will be used to assist Providence Medical Center in purchasing Automatic External Defibrillators for the immediate service area, through the development of a "Community Partnership."

Over 220,000 people die each year from sudden cardiac arrest. That's more than 600 deaths a day. About 75-80 percent of these events occur outside a hospital.

More people can survive sudden cardiac arrest when a certain sequence of events happens as quickly as possible. Early CPR means starting cardio-pulmonary resuscitation promptly. When CPR is performed, ventilations and chest compressions circulate oxygen-rich blood to vital organs. This buys time for the victim until defibrillation can be given.

Today, a new generation of defibrillators, called automated external defibrillators (AEDs) make it possible for trained lay rescuers to deliver defibrillators. The new AEDs are safe, effective, lightweight, and are low maintenance.

"Our Community Partnership is composed of the Wayne City Schools, Wayne Sheriff's Department, The Oaks, Wayne County Courthouse, Wayne Public Library, City of Wayne Power Plant, Wayne City Power Supervisor, the City of Wayne Plant and the First National Bank Service Center," said Bartling. "The Community Partnership plans to use all awarded grant funds to eventually obtain sixteen AEDs."

It is the goal of the "Community Partnership" to place AEDs in public and/or private settings where large numbers of people are found or where people generally considered at high risk for heart attacks live and are found.

"Providence Medical Center staff will be working with each member of the Partnership to train and oversee the program in the most cost effective way possible," said Bartling.

Free rides in big rigs first weekend of Nebraska State Fair, Aug. 23-24

The Nebraska Trucking Association is offering a State Fair tradition, free rides.

The opening weekend of National Truck Driver Appreciation Week also happens to be the opening weekend of the Nebraska State Fair. To celebrate both, the Nebraska Trucking Association is inviting fair-goers to a Big Rig Adventure in the grandstand, Aug. 23-24 in Lincoln.

Part trucker fun and part public outreach, the weekend schedule includes free truck rides for kids and their parents, along with free balloons for those who take the ride. There's also a truck safety display that puts fairgoers in the driver's seat of an 18-wheeler to see what professional truck drivers can and can't see.

For fair goers who enjoy the cool mornings, there are pancake feeds on both Saturday and Sunday, with the first 250 commercial driver's license holders getting their breakfast for free.

The Principal's Office

by Dr. Don Zeiss, Wayne High Principal

Guidelines for noon hour driving for lunch

School policy requires all motor vehicles to remain parked in the proper areas during school hours, unless permission to move the vehicle is obtained from the principal or superintendent.

Hot lunch is served daily at the cafeteria. Students are encouraged to utilize the hot lunch program or to bring a sack lunch.

Should circumstances require a student to use a vehicle to drive home for lunch, the following guidelines must be met:

1. No passengers (other than brothers or sisters) may be transported.
2. Driving only to a parent or guardian residence. (Aunt or uncle, older brother or sister and grandparents do not qualify!)
3. All permission for use of a vehicle at noon hour must be gained through the principal's office.
4. Students requesting use of a vehicle to drive home for lunch.
5. Parents will be notified of the decision regarding permission to drive home for lunch.
6. Driving to downtown eateries for lunch is not allowed.
7. Violation of any of the above guidelines will result in:
  - a. First violation — warning, letter to parents.
  - b. Second violation — "In School" suspension, letter to parents.
  - c. Third violation — "In School" or "Out of School" suspension (three days), letter to parents and loss of parking privileges at school.
8. Direct questions to the High School principal's office.

Awards program held at Library for Summer Reading Program

The final Awards Party for Session II of the Wayne Public Library's 2003 Summer Reading Program "Exploring the Past, Present and Future" was held at the Wayne Senior Center on Aug. 6.

A total of 38 participants and 28 adults attended.

The 292 registered members of the Summer Reading Program read 3,833 books. Attendance at the programs totaled 646 children.

The program for the event was the recognition of our volunteers and benefactors and the awarding of prizes to the participants.

The children's names were entered in a drawing for each book read and each program attended. A total of 35 special prizes were given.

In addition, each participant received a certificate of participation, a paperback book, a small prize and various items and coupons from area businesses and groups. Afterward, everyone enjoyed cupcakes and juice.

Area businesses and groups showed their support for the Summer Reading program with donations which went toward supplies for activities and rewards for our participants and volunteers.

"We at the Library would like to express our gratitude to this year's donors: 1st Realty, BankFirst, First Source Title & Escrow Co., Godfather's Pizza, Heritage Homes, HunTel Cablevision, Pac 'N Save, Pamida, Pizza Hut, Property Exchange Partners, Quality Food Center, Schroeder Law Office, Schumacher-Hasemann Funeral Home, Trio Travel, Udder Delights, Vakoc Builders Resource, Wayne Lions Club, Wayne State College and Wayne United Way," said Peg Nelson, who assisted with Session II of the Reading Program.

"We would like to thank our many volunteers, including the school-aged volunteers who helped with registrations, activities and book shelving, as well as our volunteer story readers," Nelson said.

Public television service to be interrupted

The Nebraska ETV Network's analog channel (KXNE channel 19) has been scheduled to be off the air beginning Aug. 12, for approximately two weeks.

The digital channel (KXNE-DT channel-16) and the Nebraska Public Radio Network's (NPRN) channel 89.3 FM in the Norfolk area will operate at reduced power during this time. The change in reception is due to some technical alterations to the antenna according to Michael Beach, assistant general manager for technology at Nebraska Educational Telecommunications (NET). The KXNE channel 19 signal will off the air until approximately Aug. 26 while the tower crew alters some transmission lines for improvements to NETV's digital television signal. Once that phase of work is complete, the crew will then have to make additional adjustments to the tower resulting in a loss of NPRN reception and digital television service and intermittent interruption of the analog television service.

The second phase is expected to begin Aug. 26, and should conclude Sept. 5. While crews will be working swiftly to make the necessary alterations and restore power, listeners and viewers are reminded that weather, wind or other eventualities can always slow down the anticipated progress.

Crews have been working since late July to make the needed improvements.

"We regret the loss of service, but are completing this process as quickly as possible," Beach said. "We appreciate our viewers' and listeners' patience during this transition. This work will make way for digital television implementation, which will ultimately benefit viewers in Norfolk and the surrounding area."

Some cable television systems may lose reception of Nebraska ETV if they receive the Network signal from the KXNE television transmitter. Viewers who receive KXNE from the Cable One or Huntel Cable systems will not lose service. NETV2, the cable television service of NET, will not be affected.

Nebraska ETV, NETV2 and NPRN are services of NET. For complete television schedules and other information, log onto NETV's web site (mynptv.org) or NPRN's Web site (nprn.org).

Conservation workshop scheduled to assist farmers and landowners

Farmers, ranchers and landowners will be shown how to obtain the financial rewards of the new Conservation Security Program (CSP) at a presentation coming to Plainview.

The workshop will be held at the Plainview RC&D Office, 702 East Park Avenue from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 27.

The Center for Rural Affairs is sponsoring a one-day session that will guide interested parties through the process of participating in the voluntary conservation program. Joy Johnson from the Center for Rural Affairs is the organizer of the Aug. 27 event and says it has a clear purpose.

"By attending and using the materials that will be provided, participants will be able to properly document stewardship practices and how they benefit the environment," Johnson said. "And the ability to appropriately demonstrate good conservation practices results in CSP financial rewards."

CSP was passed as part of the 2002 farm bill and is on target to be operational in 2004, according to Bruce Knight, Chief of USDA's Natural Resource Conservation Service, the agency that will oversee the program.

While the exact rules have not yet been finalized, the basic structure of CSP includes three payment tiers. Tier I would get annual payments of $20,000 in cost-sharing and a base payment of about five percent in the rental value of the area. Tier II would offer a maximum of $35,000, including a 10 percent rate on the base payment. Tier III is capped at $45,000 with a 15 percent base payment rate.

Johnson notes that because of the different levels of conservation planning required to qualify for each of the tiers, those interested in participating in CSP will benefit by doing the preparation work now.

"The whole farm planning that will be a focus of this workshop will allow producers to tie their conservation plans to their financial, marketing and production plans and goals for feasibility," Johnson said. "In this way, workshop participants will be able to ensure their needs and objectives are met when visiting the NRCS office."

Ag Men Fraternity to celebrate anniversary

Alumni, actives and friends of Ag Men/ Alpha Gamma Nu Fraternity will gather in Lincoln on the weekend of Sept. 12-14 to celebrate the 50th anniversary of its organization as an independent living unit at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Local alumni of the fraternity include Larry Skokan of Wayne.

From its predecessor, Ag Men's Social Club, which met weekly on East Campus, Ag Men Fraternity was incorporated and, in September of 1953, became an independent living unit when it moved into its first residence at 3259 Holdrege. Within a year, it had moved to its current location at 3248 Starr.

Originally a member of the Inter-Cooperative Council, Ag Men joined the Inter-Fraternity Council in 1976 and subsequently, in 1998, changed the chapter name to Alpha Gamma Nu. Over 700 men have made the fraternity their home over the past 50 years.

Weekend activities include a Welcome Reception Friday evening at the East Campus Student Union, a "Celebration Dinner" at noon on Saturday featuring a keynote address by Congressman Tom Osborne at the Downtown Student Union, a "Tailgate Buffet" preceding that evening's Nebraska-Penn State football game and Sunday's Farewell Luncheon at "The House."

Fraternity members come primarily from small Nebraska communities and bring with them the values and attitudes which make it easier from true brotherhood to develop. This cooperation fosters development of the personal growth and leadership opportunities its members will use lifelong.

Pledging inquiries may be directed to recruiting chairmen Schuyler Risk or Ben Maas at (402) 435-6344.

These happy readers in the first through third grade age were on hand to receive their prizes at the Final Awards Program at the Wayne Public Library. Prizes included umbrellas, fun packs and dinosaurs.

These readers in the fourth through sixth grade age group were on hand at the Final Awards Program for the Wayne Public Library's Summer Reading Program and were awarded prizes.

Identifying priorities is a key to managing work and personal life

In our fast-paced society, it is very easy to fall in a trap of being so busy we feel overwhelmed.

To find balance in handling work and personal life, it is crucial to determine values and identify priorities.

Values may change depending on what stage of the life development cycle you are experiencing. We may modify our values when we get married, raise children or change location. Priorities are determined by values that are most important to us.

In the process of decluttering our lives, we should focus on doing things that we consider priorities. It is important to change the things that stand in our way such as unnecessary conflicts, unmanageable stress or unrealistic expectations. Identifying what interferes with our priorities is the initial step to find some sort of equilibrium in life.

However, many frustrations stem from striving for perfectionism. Failure to achieve an ideal goal often leads to procrastination as we fall into a habit of putting things off that cannot be easily achieved. Although we should recognize the expectations of ourselves and others, some tasks do not need as much attention as we may think. Other tasks can be delegated to others or even left undone. By setting priorities, we can fulfill our responsibilities and do the most important tasks.

In order to successfully manage time and enjoy both work and personal life, we must evaluate our habits and concentrate on priorities.

Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Convention held in Wisconsin

North America outreach was established as the top priority for the Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod at its recent convention held at Luther Preparatory School in Watertown, Wisconsin. The convention called for evangelism to be made a priority and a strategy in all WELS churches.

President Karl R. Gurgel was reelected for a four-year term to lead the Wisconsin Ev. Lutheran Synod. A budget of over $64 million was adopted for each of the years of the biennium, 2003-05. Already in the past year, WELS cut 11 world missionaries, six mission pastors, 18 full time professors and instructors in ministerial educa-

Education meeting, 7:30 p.m.; Bible Study, 8:30.

TRINITY LUTHERAN (PMA Glenn Kietzmann)
Sunday: Worship, 10:30 a.m.

UNITED METHODIST (Carol Jean Stapleton, pastor)
Sunday: Parish worship service at Winside Park, 10:30 a.m.; followed by potluck lunch, official welcome to Nick Kindred and family to the parish assistant position, a friendly attendance contest; District Celebration of Ministry at Plainview, 4 p.m. Tuesday: Newsletter Deadline; United Methodist Women, 2 p.m. Thursday: Pastors retreat at Niobrara, 10 a.m.

tion 8 full time positions in administration, and 12 positions in parish services. Still it was noted that without an increase in funding, areas of ministry will likely face further cuts in the second year of the current biennium.

WELS, characterized as theologically conservative, is the third largest Lutheran church body in the United States. WELS includes 1,250 congregations serving 403,345 members in North America. Trinity Ev. Lutheran Church in Hoskins is a member of the Wisconsin Ev. Lutheran Synod. Pastor Rodney Rixe and Mr. Orville Broekemeier of Hoskins attended the July 29th to August 1st Convention.

Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid holds August meeting

President Mary Janke called the annual Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid and LWML 9 a.m. brunch meeting to order on Aug. 13.

Pastor Pasche led the ladies in the common table prayer. Hostesses Ellen Heinemann and Delores Utecht served juice, various tasty muffins, coffee cake and rolls.

Vice President Delores Utecht, introduced guest speakers, Molly Mitchell and Melissa Temme. These girls, with other youth, college students, Bob Meyer, and Pastor Pasche traveled with another group to go and serve our Lord and practice our faith with the people of the Ysleta Mission and the people of the Anapra, Mexico.

Melissa noted the living conditions were an eye-opener and unbelievably bad. Their food is much different from the Mexican food we have here. She said she would go again.

Molly stated that the group had no trouble crossing the border, but they did see some in hand cuffs walking across the border. She helped paint and sheet rock a house. Her favorite memory was seeing the children so happy. Molly, herself, was happy to be home and to be an American.

President Mary Janke thanked the girls. Vice President Delores Utecht opened with prayer.

Pastor said the campus ministry would be starting and asked the ladies to donate food for the Sunday evening meals.

Roll call was answered by 27 members, Pastor Pasche and guests Molly Mitchell and Melissa Temme. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The treasurer's report was given and filed for review.

President Janke presented Betty Wittig a gold cross and card in honor of her 50th wedding anniversary.

She also informed the group that the Ladies Aid will be hosting the Fall Rally on Oct. 14 and asked members to sign up for various duties for the morning brunch. Pastor Pasche will speak on China and Mexico.

Esther Baker reported that her group had visited Premier Estates on July 25, played bingo and served cup cakes.

Esther Brader also noted that the Sewing Committee is selecting quilts to be donated to the Norfolk Beef Blast on Sept. 7. At the present time she has one quilt for the auction and three or four for the silent auction.

Mary Janke stated she had sent cheer cards. Arlene Nelson noted eight ladies had enjoyed St. John's Guest Day on Aug. 7 and enjoyed Marge Holland's genealogy presentation.

The tabled matter of the funeral committee was again discussed. After some discussion, it was concluded that the Aid leave it stand as is.

Correspondence was read and the mite box collection was taken. Hostesses for the Sept. 10 meeting will be KimBerly Hansen and Esther Hansen.

Laverne Heithold, Joann Temme, Maria Ritze and Betty Wittig were sung birthday wishes.

Vitamin B12 And Memory
Over 20% of people over 60 years of age cannot readily metabolize Vitamin B12 from foods. This vitamin is essential for memory functions. Supplements may be easier to digest and can provide the necessary B12. Ask your pharmacist or doctor about B12 supplement and the dosage that is right for you. In addition, keep your mind busy by engaging in new hobbies, learning a musical instrument, reading and socializing as these activities may help reduce the risk of Alzheimer's. Watching a lot of television may increase your risk of Alzheimer's.

Carroll Ladies Aid meets

The Carroll Ladies Aid and LWML met Aug. 13 with six members present.

Due to the absence of the pastor, the group was privileged to listen to a tape of a speech by Kay Orr which she presented at the convention in Oklahoma City, Okla. She spoke on the topic of "Our Nation," and noted that "our nation has lost its way. It is adrift in materialism. The modesty (or immodesty) expressed by our youth in wearing apparel. We, as parents, must be in control. Christians are not to be conformists - but must teach purity and courage."

The President called the meeting to order. Edith Cook sent a get well card to Sharon Junck, a former member of the church. She is recovering from a staph infection for a third time in her left knee. The group wished her well. A card was also sent to Dora Stolz who recently fell at Premier Estates.

Nancy Junck attended the Wayne Zone LWML Executive Board meeting held at the Lutheran Student Center in Wayne.

The Fall Rally will be held at Grace Lutheran in Wayne on Tuesday, Oct. 14, beginning with a 9 a.m. brunch. The alternate date is Oct. 28. The speaker will be Pastor John Pasche of Wayne on his missions to China and Mexico. The Spring Workshop will be at Trinity in Martinsburg.

The birthday song was sung for Gerry Buresh. She will be observing her birthday on Aug. 21.

The Christian Life Leader shared with the group "ANNAS I Have Known" from the Quarterly. Nancy Junck read "Do Something," by Ruth Bell Graham.

The meeting closed with the Lord's prayer and common table prayer.

Quilt auction raises funds

A record-breaking 333 quilts were sold at the 15th annual Carol Joy Holling Camp Quilt Auction near Ashland.

More than 800 people came on Aug. 2 to enjoy the weather, beautiful quilts, fellowship and camp activities. Many of those guests left with tired bidding arms and a trunk full of quilts.

Our Savior Lutheran Church Sewing Group in Wayne donated six of the 333 quilts that were sold at the auction. The six quilts brought a total of $930.

Larsen & Associates Auctioneers of Cordova, Neb. auctioned 248 quilts and 85 more were sold on a silent auction. Total proceeds from the auction, lunch and concessions set another record of more than $93,000.

Quilts, donated by church organizations, quilters' groups and individuals from across Nebraska and neighboring states, sold from $25 to $4,200. The auction also featured the sale of a handcrafted nativity scene and cedar chest. The nativity scene was sold for $4,400 and the cedar chest for $2,200.

Proceeds from the auction help provide the staff and programming for the summer camp sessions at Carol Joy Holling. Those attending don't just come out to buy quilts, they come to support a life-changing ministry. The Carol Joy Holling Quilt Auction is held annually on the first Saturday in August. The 2004 quilt auction will take place Aug. 7.

Don't Dry Out Your Local Economy

Our local economy is a fragile environment and needs constant replenishment. Shopping locally is an important factor in keeping the services that we all enjoy. Why desert your home town to spend your money in the big city when dollars spent locally help enhance the community in which we live, work and play?

Let's all keep our heads out of the sand and realize the best bargains are right here at home.

Recent rain is a blessing

Rain! It's a beautiful thing. We had about an inch last night. (It's hard to be accurate with the rain gauge because we keep having bugs in it). And, the temperature is down from 100 to 70.

I was the speaker in Syracuse last night at the state FCE convention and we were in the wonderful new Kimmel building. It must be metal because it sounded like we were being attacked when it poured for awhile. Ninety percent of the attendees were farmer's wives, and they just smiled happily and listened.

We were at the Lake of the Ozarks with all the kids and grandkids last week. There are areas around Kansas City that look just awful: corn totally dry.

It's become an annual tradition for Jon and Kristi to host the Meierhenrys for a few days of fun in the water and we all look forward to it. For me, it was great to get away from the phone, the pager, and the internet. However, some of the group brought their phones, pagers, and laptops with them. I'm glad I don't have to do that.

Everybody takes turns cooking and we all ate too much. Some of the very bravest got up on skis. I even ventured into the tube behind the boat. It was fun, though a bit bumpy. Jaxson rode on the jet ski with his dad with a look of rapture on his face.

One evening was spent at the funplex at Osage Beach. I hadn't been in a go kart for about 20 years, but I think they're a kick. When we took off, Alex announced, "See you at the finish line, Grandma" and took off. I never did catch him, but did come in second.

When we arrived home, the news was all about the blackout. Once again, New Yorkers proved their mettle. I could especially relate to time spent underground on the subway-- and shivered.

We had taken a cab from the hotel near the airport downtown to get the grey line tour last fall. It cost $50. The meter just keeps ticking even when stuck in traffic. So, we decided to take the subway back. Everyone was very helpful, telling us which one to get on and which one to get off. But we giggled as we visited with a fellow who had a friend who had just moved to Omaha. We knew that if Kay could see us then, she would have had a heart attack. And the thought of being stranded on one, with no air and no lights, gave me the goose bumps.

Very little looting, no riots; maybe we have all learned something since 9/11, as our guest this morning suggested. A hard way to learn but a worthwhile lesson. But it did remind me to stock up on more water and buy a few batteries. We are so dependent on electricity, and I believe, so vulnerable.

It's back to school time. I have to meet with the Lincoln school nurses tomorrow. I'm not ready for this. But summer is officially over, in spite of the heat. State Fair is beginning; and the first football game is next week! Unbelievable. Be careful, and safe.

Planning for 2004 lawn care

The year 2004 might seem too far away to plan lawn care, but planning a few management techniques this fall will reap benefits next year.

Weed Control - perennial weeds such as dandelions, plantain, bindweed and ground ivy are best controlled if sprayed in November to allow the herbicide to work on the roots during the winter. A regular program of fall spraying will diminish the weed population. Preemergence herbicides in the fall will control henbit, cheat grass, pennycress and other winter annuals.

Del Hemsath
Extension Educator

Insects - always check for grubs in the those "dry-looking" areas of lawns. Grubs feed on the roots, reducing the ability of the plant to get enough water during the hot weather. Treatment in August and September is best for timing.

Disease - look for brown spots or yellow, dying grass this August into September. These areas could be caused by various type of disease organisms. Preventative treatments in spring and summer will keep the lawn green and lush. Corrective controls after the disease has infected the grass is possible but not as effective.

Watering - monitor the grass growth for proper water coverage especially with automatic sprinklers. Proper coverage will produce uniform growth, adjustment might be needed to get full coverage on the irrigated areas.

Aeration - one of the overall management tools that help with all the previously mentioned conditions is aerating the lawn in the fall. Coring the lawn helps reduce thatch accumulation, provides better water intake, stimulates grass thickness and actually helps in weed control. Aeration should be done in the fall and in the spring.

Mowing - mowing frequency and cutting height needs to be monitored all year but evaluation on the mowing management should be done this fall. Cutting height should be short in spring, long in the summer and shorter again this fall beginning September and October. One should remove about an inch of new growth with each mowing which may require mowing every 3-5 days based upon fertilizing rates.

Fertilizer - fall application of Nitrogen and Phosphorus in October-November will provide good root development for the following year. One pound of nitrogen per 1,000 sq. ft. is an adequate rate.

Free water testing to be offered at fair

Fairgoers can have their drinking water tested for nitrates during the Nebraska State Fair in Lincoln Aug. 23 to Sept. 1.

Individuals who get their drinking water from domestic wells can bring a cup-size sample to Agricultural Hall (Booth #12) on the Fairgrounds between 10 a.m. and 9 p.m. except Sept. 1 when the booth will be opened between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. Results will be available while you wait.

There is no charge for the test.

Nitrates are a health concern for infants under six months of age and pregnant women. High levels of nitrates interfere with the blood's ability to carry oxygen and can cause "blue baby" syndrome.

Water testing is sponsored by the Department of Regulation and Licensure in the Nebraska Health and Human Services System.

For more information, contact the Environmental Health Services Section at (402) 471-2541.

The HHS System will also provide information about the state's bio-terrorism efforts from Booth #13 adjoining the water-testing booth in Agricultural Hall.

Change grazing management during drought

Drought-damaged pastures in parts of Nebraska are limiting livestock feed, but producers can graze, chop or bale crops to salvage value and feed hungry cattle, University of Nebraska specialists said.

Stressed corn can be green chopped and fed to livestock to use a crop that won't produce grain due to drought conditions, said Rick Rasby, an Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources beef specialist. The feed will be lower in energy without the grain, but it will still be close to meeting the energy requirements of a lactating beef cow, Rasby said.

Nitrates can concentrate in the bottom part of corn stalks, potentially leading to toxicity problems for cattle. Avoid the bottom 6 to 8 inches of the stalks and cut only enough feed for one day's feeding, he said.

"In green chop corn that's sitting around, nitrates are converted to nitrites, which are more toxic to the animal than nitrates," he said.

Fill up cattle with hay or other forages before the first feeding of green chop or before grazing a corn field for the first time, Rasby said. This helps prevent hungry livestock from consuming nitrates in green chop or corn stalks.

If producers choose to graze corn fields, Rasby said they could limit access with fences.

As the upper parts of corn plants are removed, producers should move the fence to allow access to fresh stalks and prevent cattle from consuming nitrates in the lower parts of stalks, Rasby said.

Cane hay also is a viable feed option during drought, said Bruce Anderson, NU forage specialist. Producers can use pearl millet and summer annuals such as sudangrass, sorghum-sudangrass hybrids and forage sorghum to make cane hay to feed now or store for winter, he said.

Anderson said producers should cut plants higher on the stalk. This also helps plants regrow more rapidly and holds the cut hay off the ground to accelerate drying, he said.

Anderson also recommended crimping, or breaking open stalks, to help hay dry faster. Crimping helps moisture escape and allows more air movement through the cut plant.

To avoid nitrate problems,

Anderson also recommended crimping, or breaking open stalks, to help hay dry faster. Crimping helps moisture escape and allows more air movement through the cut plant.

"Crimping is going to aid us in getting that hay up faster and put up in better quality so it doesn't heat or mold on us," he said.

Pampered Chef helps fight world hunger

According to the U.S. Census Bureau, an estimated 33 million Americans do not know where their next meal will come from. And, according to America's Second Harvest, the nation's largest hunger relief charity, 70.6 percent of households are reported as food insecure.

Because of this need, The Pampered Chef has announced it is expanding its Round-Up from the Heart charitable giving campaign from a six month program to a year-long campaign.

"The fact is, hunger in America is on the rise. This means that more and more families need the important assistance food banks offer and our new extended program can help feed the hungry all year long," said Julie Christopher, manager, Corporate and Consumer Relations. "Funds raised through The Pampered Chef's Round-Up from the Heart directly support America's Second Harvest and its network of local food banks, enabling them to help families put a meal on the table."

From Aug. 1, 2003 to July 31, 2004, customers can contribute to the campaign in several ways. They can round-up their purchase totals at in-home cooking demonstrations to the nearest dollar or more. All funds then are sent to America's Second Harvest food banks in the region where the donations originate, making this a national campaign with local impact.

Pampered Chef customers also can purchase four limited edition collectible Stoneware cookie molds themed Seasons of the Heart. Every three months, a new Season of the Heart cookie mold will be introduced and available all year for $8.50. For each cookie mold purchased, The Pampered Chef will donate $1 to the national office of America's Second Harvest. The third way to support the campaign is through the purchase of a Stoneware Mold Holder costing $20, $2 of which will be donated to America's Second Harvest. The Holder can be used as a decorative wall display for the new season's cookie molds or past season's commemorative molds.

"We're seeing more and more Americans who are struggling to feed their families," said Robert Forney, president and CEO, America's Second Harvest. "We're grateful to our good friends at The Pampered Chef for expanding the Round-Up from the Heart campaign to help in the fight against hunger."

Thanks to the efforts of The Pampered Chef's 70,000 independent Kitchen Consultants and millions of customers, nearly $825,000 was raised through the Round-Up from the Heart program last year. More than $7 million has been donated to America's Second Harvest since the campaign's inception in 1991. In the 2001-2002 issues of Forbes magazine, America's Second Harvest was given a charitable commitment rating of 99 percent. This means 99 percent of all product and monetary donations received go directly toward feeding the hungry.

To schedule a Kitchen Show, find a Kitchen Consultant in the area and learn more about the Round-Up from the Heart campaign, contact Peg Webster, Independent Kitchen Consultant for The Pampered Chef at (402) 375-1438.

America's Second Harvest is the nation's largest domestic hunger-relief organization with a national network of more than 200 regional food banks and food-rescue programs, serving all 50 states and Puerto Rico. It distributes 18 billion pounds of donated food and grocery products annually. America's Second Harvest's network supports approximately 50,000 local charitable agencies, operating more than 94,000 food programs, including food pantries, soup kitchens, women's shelters, Kids Cafes and Community Kitchens. These local organizations provide emergency food assistance to 23.3 million hungry Americans, including more than nine million children and almost three million seniors each year.

For more information, please visit www.secondharvest.org

The Pampered Chef, founded in 1980 by Doris K. Christopher and now part of the Berkshire Hathaway family of businesses, is the premier direct seller of high-quality kitchen tools.

LEGAL NOTICE

Notification of Rights under FERPA for Elementary and Secondary Institutions
The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) affords parents and students over 18 years of age ("eligible students") certain rights with respect to the student's education records. They are:

1. The right to inspect and review the student's education records within 45 days of the day the District receives a request for access.
Parents or eligible students should submit the school principal (or appropriate school official) a written request that identifies the record(s) they wish to inspect. The principal will make arrangements for access and notify the parent or eligible student of the time and place where the records may be inspected.

2. The right to request the amendment of the student's education records that the parent or eligible student believes are inaccurate or misleading.

Parents or eligible students may ask Alpha School District to amend a record that they believe is inaccurate or misleading. They should write the school principal, clearly identify the part of the record they want changed, and specify why it is inaccurate or misleading.

If the District decides not to amend the record as requested by the parent or eligible student, the District will notify the parent or eligible student of the decision and advise them of their right to a hearing regarding the request for amendment. Additional information regarding the hearing procedures will be provided to the parent or eligible student when notified of the right to a hearing.

3. The right to consent to disclosures of personally identifiable information contained in the student's education records, except to the extent that FERPA authorizes disclosure without consent.

One exemption which permits disclosure without consent is disclosure to school officials with legitimate educational interests. A school official is a person employed by the District as an administrator, supervisor, instructor, or support staff member (including health or medical staff and law enforcement unit personnel); a person serving on the School Board; a person or company with whom the District has contracted to perform a special task (such as an attorney, auditor, medical consultant, or therapist); or parent or student serving on an official committee.
