Wayne Red Cross looking for more sponsors

The Wayne County American Red Cross is asking business people, as well as individuals, in Wayne County if they would like to "step up" and become a partnering Sponsor of the Wayne Red Cross. They have been distributing packets and talking to some people about their current financial situation. They started this program two years ago and last year had 92 sponsors. What they are facing this year, though, is losing the income that they have been receiving from Knox county. Knox county joined with them about four years ago and paid 40 percent of the administrative costs. This amounted to between $12,000 - $15,000 per year. Knox fundraising has dropped off significantly and therefore, they are looking at closing their chapter by Dec. 31 and this will be a substantial loss of income to the local chapter. Nebraska lost four more chapters this past year. This is mainly due to financial reasons. Wayne county has a strong chapter and their strength is in their great volunteers who are willing to go out and help others in time of need. They have a disaster response team where two people are on call at a time.

This is covered 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year. Loren Park is the Disaster Services Director, a volunteer position. They recently have a new volunteer as their Health & Safety Director, Lu Carter. Lu is a registered nurse and has already started teaching many of the first aid and CPR classes. They are implementing a new program this year where they are going to offer classes EVERY Monday night. Adult CPR will be the first Monday of every month; Infant & Child CPR will be the second Monday of every month; and First Aid will be the third Monday of every month. They are also considering offering reviews and renewals then on the fourth Mondays. These classes are open to and available for anyone who would like to register and the cost is $25. They are hoping that this will not only be a great public service to the community, but also generate some income for the local chapter. The United Way of Wayne has been very generous to the Red Cross for many years. They have provided them

Adams sentenced to probation for part in Van case

Wayne businessman Keith Adams was sentenced to probation in Wayne County District Court Wednesday morning on charges he helped former Wayne flower shop owner Roger Van elude authorities.

Wayne County District Court Judge Robert Ensz handed down a sentence of 24 months probation for the 47-year-old Adams and fined him $2,000. He will also serve 90 days in jail, 30 days immediately and the other 60 at the end of the probation period, along with performing 200 hours of community service.

Adams was also ordered to pay court costs and make restitution costs of $3,620 to help cover expenses in the case. Of this, $2,500 will go to the City of Wayne with the remaining $1,120 going to Wayne County.

Adams reached a plea bargain with attorneys in July and pleaded no contest to reduced charges of attempted accessory to a felony and making a false statement under oath, Class I misdemeanors.

In other district court news Wednesday, 34-year-old Thomas Rott of Carroll was sentenced to five to eight years in prison on charges he sexually assaulted a child.

Rott pled not guilty in April to two felony counts of first-degree sexual assault and one felony count of sexual assault of a child. He will be listed as a registered sex offender for 10 years following his release from prison.

Venture Crew travels to Black Hills

Eight people set out from Laurel on Aug. 9 to backpack through the Black Hills in South Dakota.

The Venture Crew, which is a branch of the Boy Scouts, included Dwayne Freeman, Michael Freeman, Mark Lute, Erica and Arik Diediker, Lou Wiltse, Judy Eidson and Justin Nelson.

"We began our first hike up to Harney Peak by way of 'Little Devil's Tower' trail," Wiltse said.

She said nearly all the trails in the Black Hills are well-marked and easy to follow. A compass, however is a must.

The first hour of this trail was difficult as it was quite steep, with many rocks to step over. The trail was much easier after it connected to other trails to take the group to the top.

The top of Harney Peak holds a lot of history, with a stone-walled lookout tower at the top for fire spotters to live. It is no longer used for that purpose.

Harney Peak is the highest peak (elevation 7,242 feet) east of the Rocky Mountains until reaching the Swiss Alps.

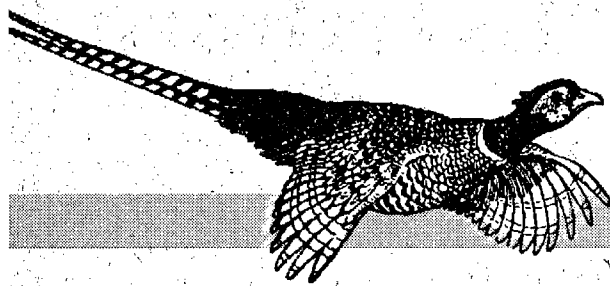

"After a well-deserved rest at the top, we hiked back down the trail until we met up with Grizzly Creek Trail. The trail took us to where we camped

Editorials
Talking Southerense

Someone once noted that a Southerner can get away with the most awful kind of insult just as long as it's prefaced with the words, "Bless her heart" or "Bless his heart." As in, "Bless his heart, if they put his brain on the head of a pin, it'd roll around like a BB on a six lane highway. "Or, "Bless her heart, she's so bucktoothed, she could eat an apple through a picket fence."

There are also the sneakier ones: "You know, it's amazing that even though she had that baby 7 months after they were married, bless her heart, it weighed 10 pounds."

As long as the heart is sufficiently blessed, the insult can't be all that bad.

I was thinking about this the other day when a friend was telling about her new transplanted Northern friend who was upset because her toddler is just beginning to talk and he has a Southern accent. My friend, who is very kind and, bless her heart, cannot do a thing about those thighs of hers, was justifiably miffed about this. After all, this woman had CHOSEN to move to the South a couple of years ago. "Can you believe it?" said her friend. "A child of mine is going to be "taaaalllllkin lii-ike thiiiiissss.."

Now, don't get me wrong. Some of my best friends are from the North, bless their hearts. I welcome their perspective and their friendships.

I've even gotten past their endless complaints that you can't find good bread down here. And the heathens, bless their hearts, don't like cornbread! If they say they do you'll find out that they're talkin' about sweet yellow corn meal muffins.

The ones that really gore my ox are the native Southerners who have begun to act almost embarrassed about their speech. We've already lost too much. I was raised to say "swanee," not swear, but you hardly ever hear anyone say that much any more, I swanee you don't.

And I've caught myself thinking twice before saying something is "right much," "right close," or "right good" because non-natives think this is right funny indeed.

I have a friend from Bawston who thinks it's hilarious when I say I've got to "carry" my daughter to the doctor or "cut off" the light. She also gets a giggle every time I am "fixin'" to do something. And, bless their hearts, they don't even know where "over yonder" is or what "I reckon" means!

My personal favorite was my aunt saying, "Bless her heart, she can't help being ugly, but she could've stayed home."

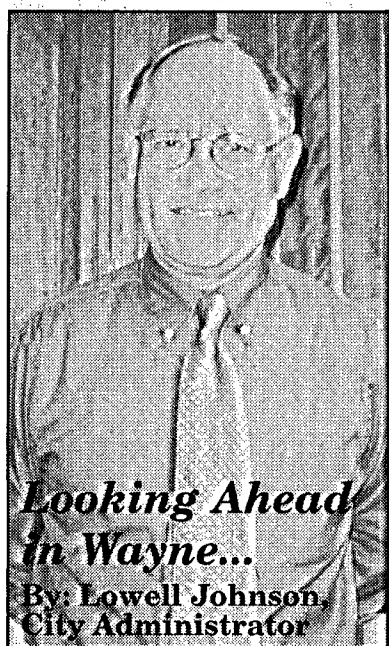

To those of you who're still a little embarrassed by your a dose of sausage gravy 'n' grits and call me in the morning, bless your heart!

And to those of you who are still having a hard time understanding all this Southern stuff, bless your hearts, I hear they're fixin' to have classes on Southernese as a second language at WSC!

Ya come back now, ya hear!

participation in area services and community development programs.

The mayor and council have a budget ready that brings projected costs in line with projected revenues for next year, but further cost-cutting may be needed as state revenues and state assistance to counties, schools and cities are reduced further.

Burn Permits
We are living in a new time with Nebraska Department of Environmental Control being more present in northeast Nebraska and more attentive. The rising smoke of fires was a common site in the country side 20 years ago, but since Congress passed the Clean Air Act in the 1970's, the EPA has organized itself and is leaning heavily on state agencies like NDEQ to enforce laws.

Fines are now substantial for burning unlawful materials like painted lumber, trash, galvanized steel, rubber, electrical wiring and shingles.

The only things really allowed now are tree brush or tree piles with nothing else thrown in.

Burn permits are still required from local fire chiefs but they can't protect someone who is burning a prohibited material and gets reported or the smoke is spotted. All prohibited materials are required to be taken to a licensed landfill.

Just remember, these are the good old days we will be talking about in 20 years.

Should big business get tax breaks?

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

The coming tussle over the future of the state's huge tax incentive program for business will include two elements.

• Each side will present its arguments for or against the tax breaks for big business contained in LB775. Those breaks cost taxpayers some $100 million annually.

• Each side will publicly accuse the other of misleading the public. Privately, the folk on one side will call the folk on the other side a bunch of bald-faced liars.

What approach will business take in opposing the recently announced petition drive, aimed at letting voters decide whether to repeal LB775? It's likely that defense of the scheme will center on two assertions.

One will be that, without LB775, big businesses that benefit from it will take their marbles (or whatever) and go elsewhere. It obviously implies that jobs would go with them.

Another will be that LB775 has in fact contributed to economic development by creating jobs.

Those favoring repeal will offer equally obvious arguments.

• Too many of the jobs attributed to the LB775 program are pretty much lousy jobs with crummy pay, critics say. They don't create a tax base that justifies the tax giveaway to business. And the influx of immigrants into some communities has created costly social problems - in education and other services - to which businesses contribute virtually nothing.

• There is too much secrecy surrounding who gets what and who is owed what under LB775, and the Legislature has failed to make such information accessible. This, at a time when the state faces revenue shortfalls that have led to all manner of spending for education and other services financed in full or in part by state tax revenues.

Look for business to suggest that Nebraska will turn into an economic wasteland if it doesn't get to keep all of its tax goodies. Business has always, and understandably, asserted or hinted that anything that will cost it anything will initiate the end of the free enterprise system.

Look for those who favor repeal of LB775 to argue that Nebraska would be better off without it because it isn't worth what it costs.

It has been the classic example of the folly that stems from paying business to do business, without demanding sufficient contributions from corporate citizens, they will argue.

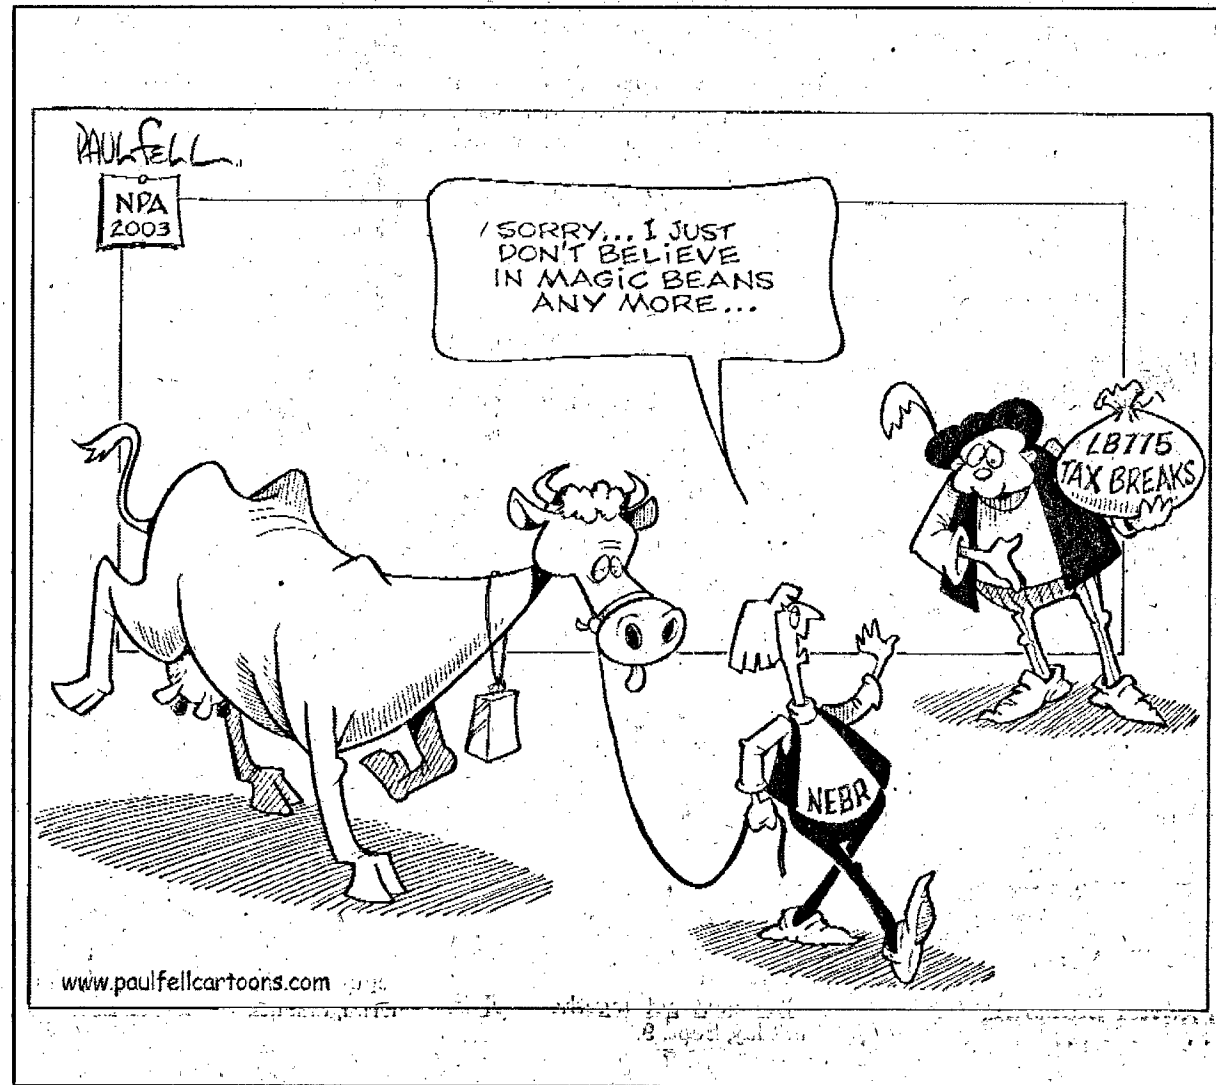

If the petition drive succeeds and the issue goes to the ballot, those who pay the tab for LB775 will decide whether they want to keep paying for it.

Business set the stage for this situation when it decided to tell the Legislature not to unveil more information about the costs of LB775, or to do anything else, for that matter.

The situation is somewhat comparable to that which led to the successful petition drive that led to Nebraska's constitutional ban on non-family corporate farming. Lawmakers dithered while critics of growing corporate farm interests grew louder and more numerous. Of course, debate continues over how effective the so-called ban has been and whether it has been properly enforced.

The same will be true of LB775. Regardless of whether it stays or goes, debate over its propriety and usefulness will rage on.

Business owners expresses concerns

Among the agenda items the Wayne City Council will deal with at the Tuesday, Sept. 9 meeting will be air pollution/commercial smokers and smokers.

The ordinance, which was first brought before the council this spring, has received approval on two rounds and, if given approval at Tuesday's meeting, will become law.

Cornell Lowery, the Barbecue Thief, is concerned that the ordinance is targeted at his business.

Interns through Cooperative Education

Erin Milander of Wayne completed a summer internship with the Mid-Step Services, Inc. in Sioux City, Iowa.

The Cooperative Education Program at WSC provides undergraduates with work experience that relates to their classroom learning. Milander earned valuable experience in the field that will enhance her undergraduate education.

A criminal justice and psychology major, Milander has been serving as an in-home assistant providing care that focuses on specific skills that are necessary for individuals based on their identified developmental needs and learning opportunities within the individual's home and community.

She is the daughter of Dean and Karen Milander and a 2000 Wayne High School graduate.

"When I opened my business in October of 2002, there was no ordinance in place dealing with smoke. I feel like this ordinance is just targeting me," Lowery said.

He noted that a complaint was received about the smoke, prompting the council to develop the language now in the ordinance.

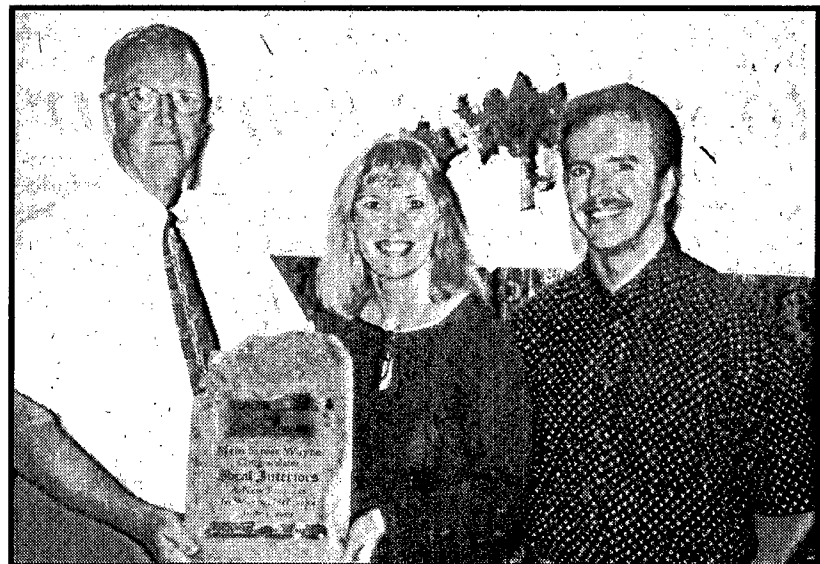

If the ordinance becomes law,

Lowery will have to build a smoke stack that goes on the side of his building on Third Street and five feet above the building or install a smoke stack to his portable smoker.

"A smoke stack could cost between $500 and $1,000 because it needs to be made specifically to fit my mobile smoker and has to be able to be removed," Lowery said. He noted that he uses the smoker an average of three days a week, for five to six hours at a time.

"I have found that when I smoke meat, my business goes up 25 percent. People smell the smoke and then decide they want to eat barbecue," he said.

Pop and pretzels
Main Street Wayne kicked off their "Pop and Pretzel" recognition on Aug. 21 at Ideal Interiors. Leo Ahmann is shown presenting the Main Street slate shingle plaque to Wendy and Matt Vawser, owners of Ideal Interiors. Held on designated Thursday evenings at 5 p.m., Main Street Wayne's Pop and Pretzel get-togethers were created to offer special Main Street recognition of new businesses in Wayne.

Update given on Diessner

According to FOX-44, Eric Diessner who has been advancing in American Idol competition was eliminated last Friday morning, but he did make it to the next-to-the-last round of 120 contestants that was trimmed down to 30. There were 11,000 contestants to begin with.

Wayne girls golfers begin with two wins

The Wayne High girls golf team started the season last week on a positive note, earning wins at the Wayne Early Bird triangular Thursday and at the Wakefield Invitational Friday.

Wayne posted a team score of 412 at the Wayne Country Club in Thursday's Early Bird meet, topping Humphrey St. Francis (431) and South Sioux City (458).

"I was a little more surprised as to how Humphrey St. Francis and South Sioux City played than I was as to how we played," said head coach Dave Hix.

Karissa Dorcey led Wayne with a 95, equalling Stacie Kosch of Humphrey St. Francis for medalist honors. Mary Boehle followed with a 98, Jenny Nolte shot 105, Amy Hyspe finished with 114 and Keely Reinert had a 118.

Hix stated that all of the players had season-opening jitters, but added "that is why we play 18 holes on the first day."

He also praised his team for showing respect and understanding the integrity of the game of golf.

"I feel a lot better about my team now that I have seen what other teams are dealing with," stated Hix. "No one has ever withdrawn due to disgust on a Wayne High golf team. We understand the rules and we follow them. It will be a very long season for some other teams." South

Sioux City standout Amy Robinette withdrew from the tournament after nine holes despite shooting a 45.

At the Wakefield Invitational Friday, Wayne used balanced scoring and had four players earn medals to win the tournament.

The Blue Devils' team score of 383 was 16 shots better than Hartington Cedar Catholic. Pender placed third in the 11-team tournament with a 406. Host Wakefield finished eighth at 463.

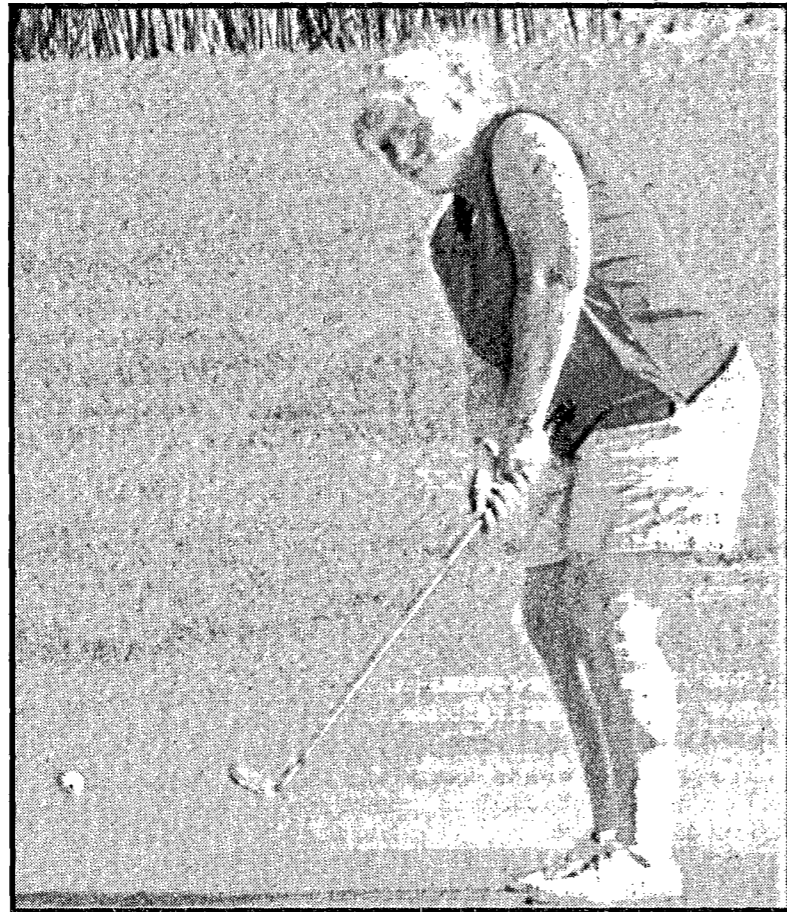

Coach Hix said winning the Wakefield tournament was quite a surprise.

"I was not expecting us to turn things around so quickly," commented Hix. "The girls are getting to be competitors. Just another goal to reach now."

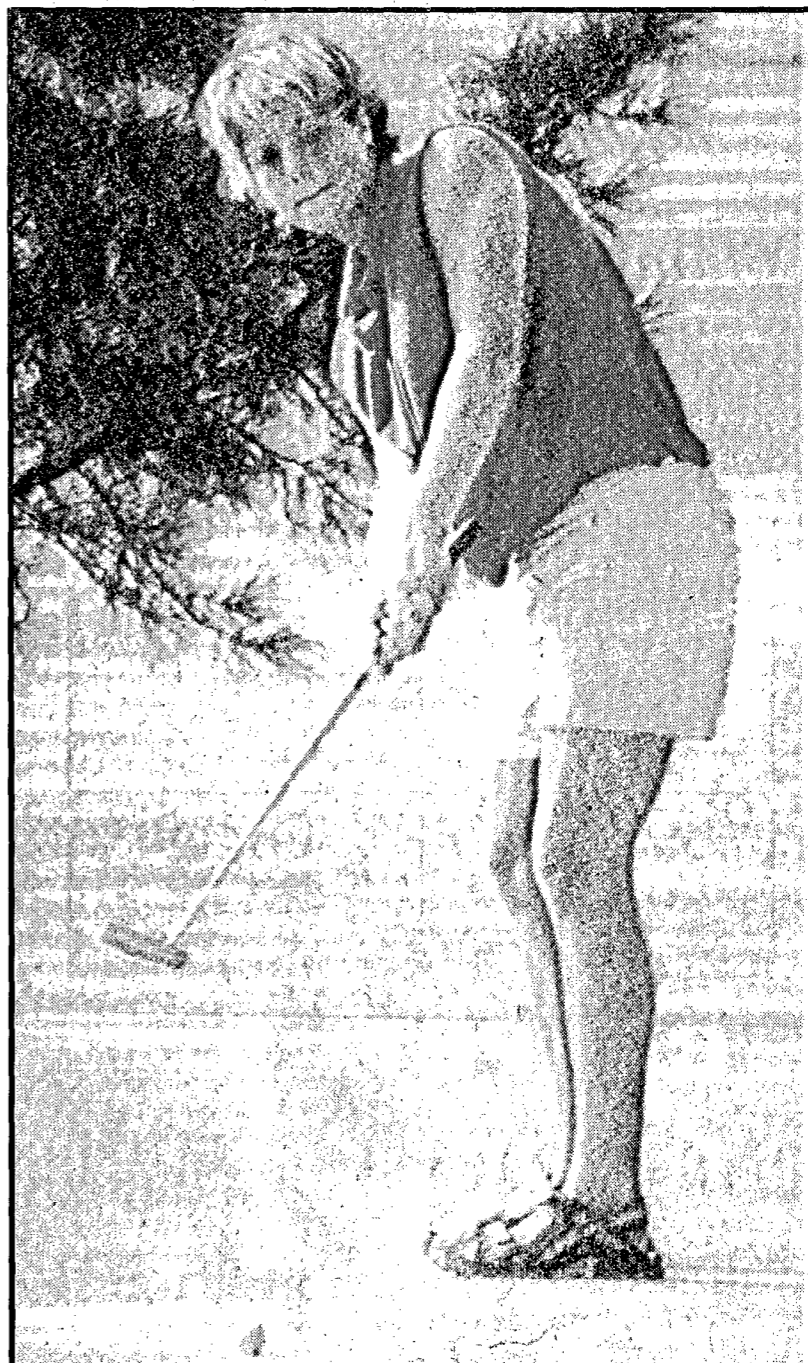

Karissa Dorcey paced Wayne with an 89 to earn the fourth place medal. Mary Boehle finished sixth with a 92, Amy Hyspe was 12th with a 99, Jenny Nolte ended 20th at 103 and Kourtney Schmale fired a 118.

"Karissa handled the course really well and played better than her score," said Hix. "Mary bettered her score by six strokes, Amy played a lot better and improved by 15 strokes and Jenny's 103 gave us the fourth score to keep us in first place."

Wayne was scheduled to host Norfolk High today (Thursday) at 4:30pm at the Wayne Country Club. The Blue Devils will also compete in the Mid States Conference Tournament at Pierce on Saturday, then host Battle Creek and Columbus Lakeview in a triangular Tuesday afternoon at 4:30pm.

Wayne senior Karissa Dorcey watches a chip shot land on the 12th green during the Wayne Early Bird Tournament played last Thursday at the Wayne Country Club.

Blue Devil softball team goes 4-1 in opening week

It's been a busy opening week for the Wayne High girls softball team, playing five games to start the season.

Wayne blanked Twin River 10-0 in six innings in last Thursday's home opener at the Wayne Softball Complex.

Returning all-state pitcher Molly Hill tossed a no-hitter, striking out 16 of the 18 batters she faced.

Offensively, Wayne had 13 hits in the game with eight of the nine starters getting at least one hit.

Jean Pieper's double and two singles fueled the balanced attack. Hill added a triple and double while Ashley Carroll and Kayla Hochstein each accounted for two singles. Jenny Raveling added a double with Rachel Robins, Danica Carroll and Dawn Jensen each producing a single. Raveling and Hill each had two RBIs.

In the JV game, Ashley Carroll (three innings) and Danica Carroll (two innings) combined to no-hit Twin River 8-0 in five innings.

Brooke Anderson and Hochstein delivered two singles each to lead Wayne in hitting. Samantha Denklau, Pieper, Raveling and Danica Carroll added one single apiece.

Wayne traveled to Lincoln Saturday to play in the 24-team Lincoln Public Schools Tournament.

Kearney edged Wayne in the first game by a 3-2 score. After trailing 3-0, the Blue Devils plated single runs in the sixth and seventh innings to fall one run short.

Wayne lost the game despite holding an 8-4 advantage in hits over the Bearcats. Raveling's three singles led Wayne at the plate, followed by two singles from Hill and one each from Jessica Jammer, Ashley Carroll and Jensen.

Hill was the losing pitcher despite allowing just four hits and two runs over seven innings. She had 12 strikeouts and walked four batters.

The next game saw Wayne erupt for eight runs in the first inning to post a 9-1 win over Lincoln East.

The Blue Devils had 13 hits in the game, paced by Jensen's double and two singles. She also had three RBIs. Raveling contributed two doubles with Hochstein, Ashley Carroll and Jammer adding two singles apiece. Hill had a double and Robins finished with a single.

Hill was the winning pitcher, yielding just one run on two hits. She struck out 12 and walked three.

The final game was the most exciting for Wayne as the Blue Devils trimmed Waverly 2-1 in eight innings to claim first place in pool play.

The two teams battled to a scoreless tie after seven innings, forcing the extra frame. In the eighth, Pieper's single scored Hochstein with the game's first run. Pieper later scored on a throwing error for the other run.

Wayne out-hit Waverly in the game 7-3. Pieper and Raveling each produced two singles in the win. Hochstein, Jammer and Ashley Carroll also singled.

The Blue Devils recorded a 4-0 win at West Point Central Catholic Tuesday evening.

Hill pitched a no-hitter for Wayne, striking out 15 batters. Only two runners reached base for WPCC, one on a hit batsman and the other on a Wayne error.

Pieper and Hill had two singles each to lead Wayne's eight hit attack. Ashley Carroll, Robins, Jammer and Jensen also singled.

Wayne lost the JV game against West Point Central Catholic 6-0. The Blue Devils were limited to just four hits in the game, singles by Jessica Thomsen, Hochstein, Anderson and Jammer.

Wayne will take a 4-1 record to the Boone Central Invitational in Albion Saturday, then host Lakeview on Tuesday and travel to Tekamah-Herman on Thursday, Sept. 11.

Returning all-state pitcher Molly Hill fires a strike during last Thursday's home opener against Twin River. Hill tossed a no-hitter with 16 strikeouts in the 10-0 win.

Men's golf league playoff field down to final four

The quarter-finals in the Wayne Men's Golf League playoffs were held last Wednesday (Aug. 27) at the Wayne Country Club.

Team 10 (Jay Fink, Randy Gamble and Rocky Ruhl) edged Team 21 (Phil Griess, Doug Mohl and Ron Hammer) 3.5-2.5 and Team 6 (Jim Nelson, Bill McQuistan and Ken Loberg) nipped Team 4 (Ken Dahl, Paul Roberts and Glen Nichols) 3.5-2.5 in the top half of the bracket.

How to manage college debt

By Sandy Preston
Dixon County Extension

Did you know that students at public four-year colleges are graduating with an average student loan debt of over $17,000 and credit card debt of over $3,000?

Dealing with over $20,000 in debt can drastically affect how a student can live after graduation. They may find that the starting salary in a new career is not enough to pay expenses when you add in student loan and credit card payments.

Here are some tips on how to avoid excessive college debt:

1. Set up a budget, even before going to college. Consider tuition, housing, books and fees, transportation, food

2. Don't borrow more in student loans than you need. Use the money only for educational purposes. If there is extra loan money, return it.
3. Get a part-time job when in college. This will help to make extra money and have less time to spend it. Work-Study is a good option if for those eligible.
4. Use the meal plan. When you add up that daily bagel and coffee from the student union, lunch at a fast food joint and dinner at a restaurant with friends, you'll find you're spending over $4,000 each school year with nothing to show for it.

5. Don't get a credit card! If you (or your student) has one, use it only for emergencies and pay off the balance each month.
6. Apply for financial aid each year. It's called the Renewal FASFA.
7. Apply for scholarships after the freshman year. They're not as plentiful, but they are out there. Check with the financial aid office.

The Winside United Methodist Youth group and their sponsors pose with the two men from Africa who taught them to make bricks during the Youth 2003 International Conference in Knoxville, Tenn.

Winside youth attend conference

Winside United Methodist Youth and sponsors traveled to Knoxville, Tenn. for the Youth 2003 International Conference.

The conference, which is held every four years, was on the University of Tennessee campus. There were approximately 9,000 in attendance from around the world.

The theme for this year's conference was "Reach Higher, Deeper, Further."

Winside UMYF attended morning and evening worship programs as well as workshops in the afternoon. Between workshops and evening programs there were four activity centers called "Destinations" for the youth to participate in various activities.

One of the Destinations the group visited was called "Further." This Destination was one of the many highlights of the conference. Two gentlemen from Africa taught the youth how to make a brick from dirt. The Winside UMYF was the first group of all youth groups at the conference to make a brick. All bricks made during the conference were then used as the altar for the final worship service before heading home. Winside UMYF had the privilege of taking their brick home.

Winside UMYF members who attended the conference were Nicole Jensen, Josie Longnecker, Korrine Stubbs and Carrie Hansen.

Sponsors who attended were Russell Longnecker, Jeanine Longnecker, Tim Stubbs and Karol Stubbs, the group's leader.

Cooler weather brings sigh of relief

Finally, a break in the weather! Wasn't it wonderful to open all the windows and turn off the AC? I think I even slept better. We only got a few drops of moisture, but didn't like the story we heard about flash flooding on 135 at Emporia, Kan.

My neighbors have pear trees that are loaded and they think I should help. I actually canned some during the game on Saturday. I was like all the rest at the end of the first half; it looked too much like last year. So, I didn't watch. Cutting up wormy pears gave me something else to concentrate on. Yesterday, I started on a lug of peaches. I had to smile as I went to the check-out counter behind a gentleman with a lug. He was buying sugar and jars; I was buying Crisco. My goal is a bunch of pies in the freezer; I did two yesterday. And, I tried a recipe for banana cake that was delicious. It's fun to bake when the kitchen isn't so hot.

I also stripped all the guest bedding and washed it and hung it on the line. Sheets smell so much better when dried that way. We have had non-stop visitors and are now experiencing a lull. So, the idea is to take advantage.

One couple was from New Jersey, here to visit relatives. Their names were Gunter and Christine and they were very interesting. They were originally from Hamburg, Germany, and lived through the war. In fact, one distant cousin did a three-hour video of their memories while they were here. Christine had lived in East Prussia and had to flee the Russians. She and her mother and a grandmother lived on a farm for a year and survived on potatoes. The soldiers had taken all the livestock, so there was no meat.

Anyway, in 1957, Mobil Oil recruited Gunter, who is a chemist, to come to the U.S. and work in research. They visited Nebraska in 1959 to meet the relatives who had befriended them with care packages in the 40s, and have visited many times since. Coincidentally, one of the guests on Labor Day weekend had a similar story. Katharina's father was a physicist and came to New Jersey about the same time that Gunter did. So, she was born in America. But when she was 14, her parents decided to move back to Germany. She attended high school and university there. She is an Occupational Therapist and job opportunities were better here. An agency placed her in Hastings and she met her husband there. We enjoyed them, also. And they must have enjoyed us, because they are coming back and bringing her Mom when she comes to visit.

One of my nurse friends who works in an oncologist's office and I get together for lunch about every quarter. She had never been to Art Chicks, so we went there on Friday. After the lunch and the fun, Gloria announced that their annual Famous Woman Art Fair would be on Saturday. I was curious, so when the Big Farmer announced he needed to go to the antique store for a short time, I rode along.

Goodness! There must have been 30 vendors. Everything from hand-made jewelry and handbags to art work, painted china and plastic, T-shirts, blankets, and candles. And women! All ages, all sizes, and all having a good time. Besides the taco salad served at Art Chicks, there was a cheesecake factory set up in the village office; 15 kinds! These gals know how to put on an event.

Today, it's iris planting. And weeding. The fox tail are trying to take over. They are aptly named. And they don't see to mind the drought. Of course, the grasshoppers love it. And, apparently, so do the crickets. I know I mention them every year about this time, but they seem worse this year. And they jump higher! Or else I'm not as swift as I used to be, which could certainly be the problem.

I was a little disappointed to hear the weather forecast for 87 degrees today; I quickly reminded myself it was better than 97.

Fall garden and landscape activities discussed

September is here and believe it or not, it is time to make some plans for fall activities to take care of garden/flower areas and begin to garden area until about a foot deep and let undisturbed until planting season next spring. You will be amazed at how the soil will benefit from the insect activity and improvements in the soil surface. Prune out the old canes in raspberries that produced fruit this year and remove the diseased canes.

Lawns - prepare the areas for new seeding of bluegrass or fescue. Cleanup the dead grass areas by raking off the dead material, buy seed that has a mixture of different types of grass to give some variety to the lawn and allow adaptation of the grass to the area. Plan for a late fertilizing in November to create good roots for next year. Use a fertilizer high in phosphorus. Survey the lawn for weed problem areas and make decisions for what to do next spring. Perennials weeds can be controlled this fall as late as November, plan accordingly.

Trees and shrubs - make sure to remove any dead or diseased vegetation, mulch the area around each plant, water to insure adequate moisture for the plant during the winter.

DO NOT PRUNE any tree at this time of year, this is the worst time of year to remove any living tissue. One can mark those branches to remove and do that in the winter or early spring.

Del Hemsath
Extension Educator

make preparations for next year.

Flowers - make plans to transplant perennials after the first frost. Transplanting can be done in the fall or in the spring. Remove the above ground vegetation after the first frost on most types of flowers in the planting. Diseased vegetation should be removed and discarded or burned. It should not go on the compost pile as the disease organism may not be destroyed completely. Mark locations of the perennials in order to not damage them next spring.

Order your spring flowering bulbs and prepare the planting site for planting this fall. After the first frost, lift the tender bulbs from cannas or gladiolas, place in a brown paper bag and store in a cool but fairly humid area. Dig and pot the hardy spring bulbs, like anemone, crocus, daffodil, or hyacinth, place in a cool garage, keep moist and bring out in December to force bloom.

Gardens - remove the vines of cucumbers, melons and squash and destroy the vegetation for disease and insect prevention. Tomato plants should be destroyed as they are very easily infested with disease from residues left on the soil surface. Collect as many tree leaves as possible and pile on the
