Update given on flu vaccination for children and women

Pregnant women and healthy children between six and 23 months of age should get flu vaccinations, according to Dr. Richard Raymond, Chief Medical Officer with the Nebraska Health and Human Services System.

"We've always recommended that adults over 65 and those with chronic health conditions get the flu vaccine," Dr. Raymond said. "Now we're also recommending flu vaccine for women who are more than three months pregnant during flu season and for young children over six months of age."

Flu season usually takes place from November through March.

Influenza is the number one vaccine-preventable cause of hospitalization and death in children under two years of age. Influenza vaccine can prevent up to 70 percent of hospitalizations and 85 percent of deaths from influenzarelated pneumonia, according to the Centers for Disease Prevention and Control (CDC).

Raymond noted that children under six months of age are too young to develop an immune response and should not receive the flu vaccine. The best way for parents to protect their infants is to get immunized themselves.

"Getting a flu vaccination prevents flu-related death and severe illness and protects you, your children, other family members and caregivers," Raymond said. "October and November are the best times to get immunized, but it's not too late in December or even later."

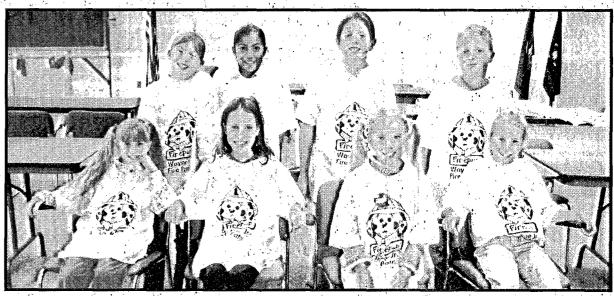

New CDC recommendations, have also lowered the age for adults who should get an annual flu shot from 65 years of age to 50 years. Others who should be immunized include residents of long-term care facilities and health care workers.

City Council

The next city council meeting will be Tuesday, Nov. 11 at 7:30 p.m. when the council will meet in regular session in the city council room at 306 Pearl Street. Main Street Traffic Signals

As part of the new design proposal for repaying of Main Street 2006, the Nebraska Department of Roads is proposing that the traffic signals at Second and Main and Third and Main Streets be eliminated. They would be replaced by stop signs stopping the traffic on Second and Third Streets.

The Department of Roads is conducting a public hearing regarding this paving project on Monday, Nov. 17 at 7:30 p.m. in the Wayne City Auditorium.

In preparation for this hearing, we are working with the Department of Roads to set the two traffic signals at Second and Third Streets on continuous flashing mode for two weeks to simulate the proposed stop sign design.

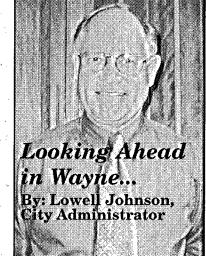

The traffic on Main will see continuous orange flashing signals and that traffic will not stop. The traffic on Second and Third will see continuous red flashing signals requiring traffic on these streets to stop and wait for traffic on Main to pass. The signals will not stop traffic on Main for pedestrians.

This is planned for a two week trial period.

Comments are welcome at the city office, Main Street office or the Chamber office.

Capitol View

High profile people get in trouble

By Ed Howard Statehouse Correspondent

The Nebraska Press Association

What has become a too-common scenario in government shenanigans is playing itself out in the Capitol.

People in high places and the people around them get into trouble when they aren't candid during one investigation or another. We tend to associate behavior with the White House because of Watergate and Irangate and Monicagate. When presidents and/ or the people around them goof, the whole world hears about it.

Sadly enough, the same thing happens elsewhere around and about the country. The scripts don't vary much from one locale to another. Someone does something wrong. Someone blows the whistle. Someone investigates. The heat is on. And then, someone either lies or tries to mislead the constabulary to protect himself or someone else. Bingo!

Even if what's being investigated doesn't turn up a crime, impeding a legal investigation usually stands on its own as a violation of law.

Attorney General Jon Bruning said last week that it appears such a situation developed during the investigation of State Treasurer Lorelee Byrd.

The issue is whether Byrd improperly wrote state checks, never intended to be cashed, to protect her budget from lawmakers who were cutting back funding all over the place. Byrd denies it.

Bruning, however, said the State Patrol investigator found that some of Byrd's subordinates might have been "playing hide the ball" during the probe.

Odd, isn't it? Given the fact that Americans watch so much television, you would think most would know that obstruction of justice can put your clothes in a wringer. With you in them.

Bruning doesn't have a reputation as a hard guy, looking to bust someone's chops at the drop of a misstatement. But anyone in his position needs to cast a hard eye in the direction of those who impede law enforcement's legitimate work.

Failing to do something when someone is caught trying to corrupt or thwart an investigation can send a very bad message. It's up to people like Bruning to decide if someone just needs a lecture that will scare them into a more serious view of citizenship, or if they need to sample a courtroom environment and the possibility of a fine, or slam time.

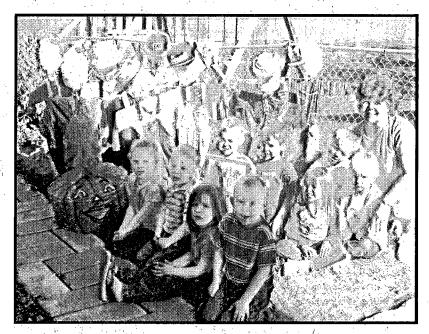

Meanwhile, on Byrd's side of the fence, the most serious charge that might confront her is malfeasance. It's a misdemeanor. That situation is entirely separate from the possibility that the Legislature should take action to remove her from office. If impeached by the Legislature, her case would go to the state Supreme Court.

Happy Fall

Students at Diane Gentrup's New "Bee" ginnings Preschool recently completed a fall project. The students worked to create scarecrows representing children from around the world during a Halloween unit. The scarecrows were made with the students' clothes and milk jug faces. # Council refinances bonds

By Clara Osten Of the Herald

A savings of more than $200,000 can be realized following action at Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

The council passed Ordinance 2003-27 which authorizes the issuance of Electric Revenue Refunding Bonds. These bonds will be issued at a lower interest rate than the original bonds, purchased in 1999.

Also during the meeting, a portion of the public building sales tax revenue bonds were also called for pre-payment. This action involves sales tax revenue for the Community Activity Center and will save the city approximately $9,000 per year and result in the city paying off the bonds earlier than originally anticipated.

The council also passed Resolution 2003-60 which approved the preliminary plat for Donner Second Subdivision.

City Planner George Ellyson told the council that drainage issues on the property had been addressed through an engineer's study and that the Planning Commission recommended than having representatives come approval of the seven lots scheduled to be built south of the homes in the Donner First Subdivision.

Discussion was held at Tuesday's meeting regarding the donation of a parcel of land for an animal shelter in Wayne.

Several options were presented, including land just south of Hank Overin Field, the city's tree farm and the brush pile. Accessibility in the winter and the availability of utilities were among the concerns expressed. Members of the Humane Society were encouraged to visit the proposed sites and determine which would best serve their needs.

The council approved an extension to a property owner on Pearl Street to complete renovation work. It was noted that progress has been made in siding the home and installing windows and that additional time would be granted to complete the work.

Approval was given on a request from Olson Associates for additional funds to rebid the trail project. Council members did indicate that the bids would be reviewed from the firm's Omaha office rather the City Hall.

to Wayne. This will save a considerable amount of money as the city is charged a per hour rate for the work that is done.

Jeannia Bressler with R-Way spoke to the council on the possibility of a partnership with the city in regard to a housing project for those who are low to extremely low income with serious mental illnesses. She presented information concerning the projected number of persons in the Wayne and Cedar County areas who will need housing within the next five years.

City Administrator Lowell Johnson and City Clerk Betty McGuire will attend the next meeting of the Statewide Mental Health housing Coalition which the inclúdes Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services and the Nebraska Department of Economic Development. The goal of the Housing Coalition is to improve the availability of housing for people who are extremely low income with serious mental illness.

The council's next meeting will be Tuesday, Nov. 11 at 7:30 p.m. at

Wayne State downs Minn.-Crookston

Of the Herald

Calling it the most complete game of the year, Scott Hoffman's Wayne State football team topped Minn.-Crookston 30-18 on a chilly Saturday afternoon Cunningham Field in Wayne.

It was the second straight win for the 3-5 Wildcats, 2-3 in the NSIC, marking the first time since 1999 season that Wayne State won back-to-back games.

"It's nice to get two wins in a row and send the seniors out with a win." remarked coach Hoffman. "I thought we really shut them down and took them out of their game plan.

The Wildcats held the Golden Eagles to just one first down in the first half.

Wayne State got on the board first with 8:17 remaining in the first quarter when quarterback Brett Edwards found running back Zach Molacek on an eightyard pass play to cap an eightplay, 48 yard drive to give Wayne State a 7-0 lead after the first Early in the second period, senior strong safety Kyle Lingenfelter tackled Crookston running back Luon Spearman in the end zone for a safety to put the Wildcats ahead 9-0. The Wildcats added another touchdown with 7:15 left in the first half when Edwards hit Eric Kjar with a 15yard pass, giving Wayne State a 16-0 halftime lead.

Jason Simmons would generate some offense for the Golden Eagles in the second half. He scampered 12 yards for a score with 8:17 remaining in the third quarter to make the score 16-6, but Wayne State countered on the ensuing drive when Kjar hauled in a 34-yard strike from Edwards to make the score 23-6. The touchdown capped an eight play, 75-yard drive by the Wildcats. In the fourth quarter, Golden Eagle quarterback David Drexler recovered his own fumble in the end zone for a touchdown to pull the Golden Eagles within 23-12 with 12:41 left in the game.

Moments later, Wayne State would put the game away when running back Tyler Chambers sprinted 67 yards for a touchdown, giving the Wildcats a comfortable 30-12 edge with 7:02

Crookston would score on the final play of the game when Simmons ran 11 yards to the end zone to make the final score 30-18.

Coach Hoffman said he was especially pleased with the play of the 'Cats defense. "I thought our defense had a game they are capable of playing," said Hoffman. "We just dominated them in the first half and held them to under 25 yards of total offense."

Wayne State outgained Minn.-Cróokston 373-255. The Wildcats gained 283 yards on the ground and 90 through the air.

led by Chambers with 111 yards on just 13 attempts and one score. Molacek added 97 yards on 16 carries while Edwards ran 18 times for 28 yards.

Throwing the ball, Edwards was 8 of 17 for 90 yards and three touchdowns. His favorite target was Molacek with three catches for 31 yards. Kjar had two receptions, both touchdowns, for 49 yards.

Defensively, senior safety Kyle Lingenfelter finished with 12 tackles and was named the Incredible Edible Egg Bowl Most Valuable Player for Wayne State. He also intercepted a pass, was credited with a safety and had three tackles for a loss. Jeremy Neill also contributed 12 tackles while sophomore linebacker Aaron Roger's made 11 stops. Senior linebacker Bump Christensen added two interceptions.

Herron's All-Conference finish leads Wildcat runners at NSIC meet

The Wayne State College cross country teams traveled to Carlton, Minn. last weekend where the Wildcats competed at the NSIC Cross Country Championships, hosted by Minn.-Duluth.

Wayne State's men finished in third place out of six teams with a score of 85 points. Minn.-Duluth won the team title for the 11th consecutive year with 16 points while Northern State placed second with

The Wildcat women's team came in sixth place out of seven teams with a score of 126 points. Minn.-Duluth captured the women's team title with 31 points for their 12th consecutive team crown with Winona State second at 64.

"Overall, we had a very good meet," commented head coach Marlon Brink. "All of the runners had either a season or personal best time for their race. I think that shows that they were focused and peaked physically at the right time of the season."

Freshman Jeremiah Herron of McCook earned NSIC All-Conference honors by placing ninth to lead the men's team with a season-best time of 26:27.5 over the 8,000-meter course.

"Jeremiah had an outstanding race," stated Brink. "He went out hard from the start and got himself in a good position in the front pack and raced hard to maintain his finish in the top ten. It's an outstanding accomplishment for a freshman to earn All-Conference hon-

Other finishers for the Wildcats were: Ben Crabtree (soph.), 17th in 27:27; Nick Hansen (sr.), 21st at 27:39; David Obermeyer (fresh.), 25th in 28:12; Korey Kriz (fresh.), 31st in 28:57; Nate McIntire (fresh.), 38th at 30:27; Brain Franzone (fresh.) 39th in 30:41 and Troy Schaaf (fresh.), 40th at 30:50.

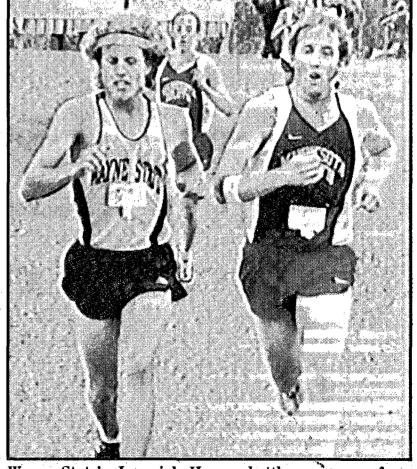

The women's team was paced by freshman Ashley Smith of Pender, who finished 16th over the 6,000 meter course (3.75 miles) in a season best time of 24:53.8.

Other finishers included Nicole McCoy (soph.), 29th in 25:36; Angie Kraus (fresh.), 32nd at 25:47; Erin Norenberg (soph.), 34th in 25:52; Haley Reeves (fresh.), 38th at 26:09 and Erin Oswald (fresh.), 47th in 27:02.

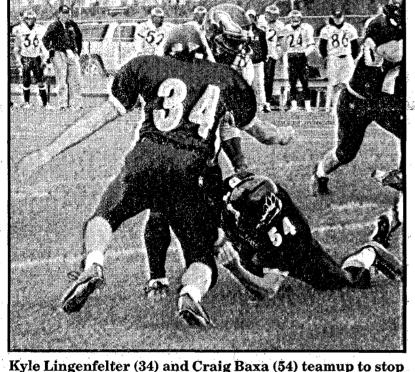

"Our women's team had their best race of the season," said coach Brink, whose team was just four points out of fifth place and 13 shy from third.

He added, "Considering that we were running two sophomores and four first-year runners, I am very optimistic about the future for these young ladies. They made some tremendous improvements as a group over the season and should be proud of their progress."

The Wildcats will compete in the North Central Regional Championships on Saturday, Nov. 8, which will be held at Wayne State College. The women's race begins at 10 am followed by the men at 11:15 am.

Wayne State's Jeremiah Herron battles a runner from Minn.-Duluth for position at the NSIC Cross Country Championships held in Carlton, Minn. Saturday. Herron, a freshman from McCook, placed ninth with a season-best time of 26:27 to earn All-Conference honors.

Minn.-Crookston running back Luon Spearman. Lingenfelter was named the Egg Bowl MVP for Wayne State after recording 12 tackles, a safety and an interception in the Wildcats' 30-18 win over the Golden Eagles.

WSC women's soccer team earns tie at Minn.-Morris

A pair of late rallies denied what appeared to be two wins last weekend for the Wayne State women's soccer team in games played at Southwest State Saturday and Minn.-Morris Sunday.

Southwest State scored two goals in a span of 90 seconds late in the second period to post a 2-1 win over the Wildcats Saturday afternoon, then Minn.-Morris scored with just under three minutes left in regulation on a questionable goal to forge a 1-1 tie in double overtime against the 'Cats Sunday in Morris.

"We can not catch a break at all," stated a frustrated Rollie Bulock, head coach for Wayne State College. "We need to put together a complete game and we haven't done that lately." Bulock stated that Sunday's game at Morris was the most frustrating game he has ever experienced as a

In Saturday's match at Southwest State, senior forward Anne Paulsen scored at the 6:10 mark of the first period to give the Wildcats an early 1-0 lead. Tanya Mitchell assisted on the goal.

Wayne State would maintain that lead until the 70th minute when Noelle Bergman scored for the Mustangs to even the score at 1-1. Just 90 seconds later, Liz Schiesl notched her first career goal for the Mustangs to give Southwest State the 2-1 win.

"We played a great match except for a five-minute stretch when they scored their two goals," commented Bulock.

Southwest State outshot Wayne State 17-10. Wildcat netminder Erika Mather recorded five saves in the match, which was played in 30-degree weather with windy conditions.

Sunday's contest at Morris saw the Wildcats strike first again as senior forward Amanda Keller scored at the 28:44 mark of the first period to put Wayne State up early 1-0.

The score would not change until Erin Mahoney of Morris found the net on a questionable call at 87:15 to tie the game at 1-

"Their goal shouldn't have counted," added Bulock. "The officials didn't have control of the game."

Minn.-Morris (15-3-1) attempted 28 shots in the game to Wayne State's 15. Mishaline LeRoy, a freshman from Seattle, Wash., registered 15 saves for the Wildcats in her first career start at goalkeeper. "Mishaline looked comfortable in goal," said coach Bulock. "She's the main reason why we got a tie, she made some outstanding saves."

Wayne State, now 3-12-2 overall and 1-5 in the NSIC, hosts Minn.-Crookston Friday and Bemidji State Saturday with games starting at 1 pm both days. The Wildcats need to win at least one game to have a chance of qualifying for the NSIC Post-Season Tournament, scheduled to start on Tuesday, Nov. 4.

Fink captures second at state cross country

by Mike Grosz Of the Herald

Last year, it was snow and cold. This year, it was the wind that runners had to deal with at the Cross Championships held in Kearney last Friday.

A young Wayne girls team gained needed experience by placing 12th in Class C while Bryan Fink brought home the silver medal in Class C boys for the second consecutive year.

Wayne had 166 points to finish in 12th position in the Class C team race, which was won by Central City with 41 points, three better than runner-up Columbus

"Our goal for the girls team was to get into the top ten," said head coach Rocky Ruhl. "If we would have run a little better, we could have achieved that goal."

Senior Sara Stauffer had the best time for Wayne, running a 17:34 on the 4,000-meter course to finish in 36th place overall. She was followed by freshman Jordyn Doescher, who was 59th in Kearney Friday afternoon.

Summer Bethune, a junior, was 67th at 18:48; sophomore Renee Theobald came in 78th with a time of 19:28; freshman Regan Ruhl ended 80th in 19:36 and Cali Broders, a senior, was 83rd at 19:55.

"I thought the weather (wind), course difficulty and atmosphere (crowd) had a lot to do with our performance," added Ruhl. Five of the girls had never competed at a state meet before.

Ruhl remarked that the girls team accomplished a big goal in qualifying for state.

"Now we will see if we can take it a step further next year. Offseason training will be a major part of how much we will improve," stated coach Ruhl.

Wayne had two individual qualifiers compete in the boys race with Bryan Fink and Chris Nissen.

Fink, who placed second last year as a sophomore, settled for another second place finish this year with a time of 16:55 while Nissen, a senior, placed 45th with a time of 18:33.

Coach Ruhl said the boys race was exciting.

"Bryan ran a great race avenging the loss to last year's state champion, (Blayne Tanner of Centennial) yet coming up just under four seconds of an individual championship," commented Ruhl.

Josh Peavy of Wahoo claimed the individual championship with a time of 16:51.

Ruhl said Fink got boxed in early in the race and had to use extra energy to get back into the front group.

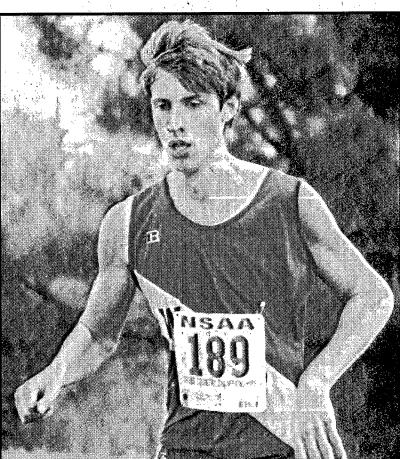

"Bryan did everything we talked about in terms of strategy for the race," added Ruhl. "It was a great finish even though Bryan came up about five meters short."

The second place finish was Fink's only loss to a Class C runner all season. He defeated 643 runners during the season and lost to just seven. Five of the losses came at Lincoln Pius to Class A and B runners.

Ruhl also praised the effort of Nissen at state.

"Chris ran a good race," Ruhl said. "I think if the whole team had been there you would have seen him run even better."

Wahoo won the Class C boys team title with 66 points, followed by Centennial (77), Boone Central (77) and Norfolk Catholic (78).

Junior Bryan Fink of Wayne captured runner-up honors in Class C Boys for the second year in a row at the State Cross Country Meet in Kearney last Friday with a time of 16:55.

Six Wayne softball players earn all-state honors

Six players from the Wayne softball team have received post-season honors for the their play this.

new single season record. It is believed that Hill is the first athlete in school history to be named honorary captain of an All-Nebraska Team.

Sophomore Jean Pieper was also named to the Class C First Team after hitting .318 this season. She was the team's leadoff batter and played rightfield and shortstop.

Named to the Class C Second Team was third baseman Ashley Carroll. The junior had a .284 batting average and was the team's backup pitcher, recording a 2-0 record.

Wayne had three other players receive honorable mention allstate honors. They included junior catcher Dawn Jensen, junior first baseman Jenny Raveling and sophomore leftfielder Kayla Hochstein.

The Blue Devils finished the season with a 36-2 record and won the Class C State Championship.

American Legion launches way to thank troops, veterans on Veterans Day

With thousands of troops deployed overseas and thousands more readying for deployment, The American Legion has relaunched a free, easy way to thank them for their service on the eve of Veteran's Day, Nov. 11.

The electronic greeting cards are also ideal to thank all veterans, of all generations, who have served in the U.S. armed forces.

"Veterans and those serving in the military services today need to see that there are friends and family members who are proud of their sacrifices for America," John Brieden, national commander of The American Legion said.

Anyone who has an e-mail account can receive the special cards. Creating the card is quick at The American Legion's website, www.legion.org. "Our troops serving overseas often have access to e-mail and they look forward to the cards that do not take up a lot of bandwidth," Brieden said.

The American Legion site offers e-mail cards representing each military service along with the service song that plays when the card is opened. Each card provides plenty of space to compose a personal message.

The free service is being offered for the fifth consecutive year. Cards may be sent now through

First partial 2003 crop counter-cyclical payments are now available to producers

Counter-cyclical payments for the 2003 crop year wheat, corn and sorghum are available to county producers participating in the Direct and Counter-cyclical Program, according to the head of the head of the Wayne County Farm Service Agency.

Debra J. Pieper, executive director for the Wayne County FSA, said the counter-cyclical payments were written in to the 2002 Farm Bill to provide a safety net for producers. "Countercyclical payments kick in when USDA projects that the effective price for a covered commodity will be less then the commodity target price established in the farm bill," she said.

Producers may elect to receive the counter-cyclical payments in three installments: one in October, a second in February and the final at the end of the marketing year for each crop. The decision to receive advance counter-cyclical payments was made by producers during the 2003 sign-up.

Producers who declined advance counter-cyclical payments may request the first advance through Oct. 31, 2003 and the second advance through February 2004.

The projected annual payment rates and the first partial payment rates, which is equal to 35 percent of the annual amount, are:

Commodity - wheat; unit bushel; total projected rate . . dollars per unit -0.0900; first partial projected rate -0.0315. Commodity - corn; unit - bushel; total projected rate.

dollars per unit - 0.2200; first projected rate -0.0770. Commodity — sorghum; unit bushel; total projected rate . . . dollars per unit -0.0400; first partial projected rate - 0.0140. A second partial counter-cyclical payment may be issued to producers in February. These payments may be up to 70 percent of the proiected counter-cyclical payment, less any payments already received. Final counter-cyclical payments will be determined at the end of the marketing year for each crop. The end of the 2003-04 marketing year for each commodity is wheat, barley and oats - May 31, 2004; corn, grain's orghum and soybeans - Aug. 31, 2004.

If the market price for a commodity increases from the current projected level, producers will have to repay part or all of their advance counter-cyclical payments.

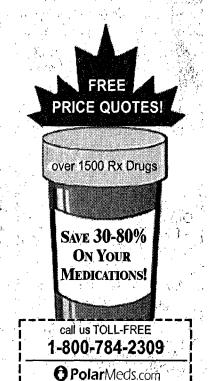

Counter-cyclical payments are not currently available for barley, oats, soybeans and other oilseeds because their projected effective prices exceed their respective target prices.

and support their children as they learn to enjoy healthy foods.

Organizing sit-down family dinners is a critical step to providing a supporting and caring environment for children to learn such habits. Turn off the television and other potential distractions and focus on the food and family time.

Children watch what their parents do. Parents should model eating healthy foods. If children see their parents enjoying vegetables and fruits, children will be more likely to enjoy vegetables and fruits as well.

Parents also should let children explore and discover new foods. Together, parents and children can learn about where the food item is grown and how it is prepared. It's a good idea to introduce one new food at a time and include familiar foods children already enjoy. Continue to re-introduce the food since repeated exposure helps children accept the new food, even if they don't like it the first time.

Avoid rewarding children with sweet foods for eating healthy foods. For instance, if a child eats his or her broccoli, don't reward

Sue Stanley of Dixon, has completed the requirements for his Eagle Scout Award, according to Scout Master Tim Urwiler.

For his Eagle Scout Project, Stanley constructed 4 picnic tables for the Lions Club Park. The project took 93 hours to complete with the help of the scoutmaster, other scouts, and parents.

He is a 2002 graduate of Laurel-Concord High School and is currently enrolled in the Building Construction Program Northeast Community College, hoping to someday own his own construction business. During high school he was an honor roll student and participated in FFA for four years, earning many awards during that time. He was a three-year letter winner in football and a member of the 2000 State Championship team.

He is involved with Teens Encounter Christ (TEC) and in Laurel.

Stanley also volunteers at his church, helped with the relief project after the Jackson tornado, and helped with the Habitat for Humanity Blitz Build in Wayne last year.

His scouting career began when he joined Cub Scouts in 1992 while he was in second grade. He earned the Arrow of Light as a Webelo and bridged to Boy Scouts in 1996. He was a member of the junior shooting team, received the God and County Award, and served as senior patrol leader, scribe and chaplain's assistant for Troop 176. He participated in two high adventure trips--one to Yellowstone and the other to the Black Hills as part of his scouting experience.

A ceremony was conducted Oct. 26 by Boy Scout Troop 176, at which time Stanley received his Eagle Scout Award. The event was held at the United Methodist Church.

Adoption conference to increase awareness of special needs adoption

During November, National Adoption Month, the Nebraska Foster and and Adoptive Parent Association (NFAPA) is sponsoring an adoption conference to increase awareness about adoption, recruit families to adopt children who need homes and to support adoptive families through education.

This year's conference "Circle of Healing" is scheduled for Friday-Saturday, Nov. 7-8 and over 100 people are scheduled to attend.

"NFAPA is dedicated to promoting safety, permanence and wellbeing for Nebraska's children and youth," said Rex Burt, NFAPA President. "We hope that this conference in conjunction with Adoption Awareness Month will afford us an outlet to reach an increased number of parents and to help recruit families for children in need of loving homes."

Children with special needs range in age from infancy to 18 years. They include teens, children of color and children with physical, emotional, behavioral or learning challenges. Every child deserves the chance to grow up in a loving, stable family. Unfortunately, many children in Nebraska will never get this chance unless Nebraskans get involved. Organizers of the conference are confident that increased awareness will eventually lead to a decrease in the number of children waiting to be adopt-

During a ceremony at the Holiday Inn in Kearney at 5:30 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 7, an Adoption Proclamation will be presented by Governor Mike Johanns.

Ron Ross, Director of Health and Human Services and Chris Hanus, Deputy Protection and Safety Administrator, will also attend the ceremony to show their support for adoptive parents and express the need for families to adopt the children in foster care who desperately need permanent homes.

Because the public is often unaware of these children and their needs, special attention is being drawn to waiting children during Adoption Awareness Month in the hope that we can unite many of these boys and girls with permanent, adoptive parents.

Those thinking about adoption should know that adoption has changed significantly over the past 30 years. Those wanting to adopt do not have to be married, childless, under 40, rich or own a house to adopt. They do have to provide a stable, loving home and be able to help their child work through issues raised by his or her past.

To learn more about becoming a foster or adoptive parent or the Adoption Conference, contact NFAPA at 877-257-0176.

Stroke Risk and Fruit A recent Danish study in the American Journal of Clinical Nutrition revealed a connection between eating fruit and fewer strokes. The study found that participants that ate the most fruit, about a pound a day, were 40% less likely to have an ischemic stroke than those who ate little fruit. Citrus fruits were found to be the most beneficial. Researchers believe this is because of the vitamin C and flavonoid pigments in these fruits. They are also high in antioxidants and phytochemicals.

Proper grain storage is critical grain include: 1) making sure that the grain going into storage is dry, clean and in good condition, 2) inspection of the grain for temperature, moisture and insect damage and 3) aerating the grain to maintain uniform temperature and moisture conditions.

Aeration systems should not be confused with higher airflow systems designed for natural air drying. Stored grain is aerated primarily to control grain temperature. Relatively low air flow rates, typically between 0.10 and 0.20 cubic feet of air per minute per bushel (cfm/bu) are adequate for this purpose.

The moisture content at which grain should be stored to maintain quality depends on the type of grain, the length of storage and grain temperature. The moisture content should be 15.5 percent for corn marketed by June, 14 percent if held up to one year, and 13 percent if held over one year and Halloween hit Allen early this year when over 100 children and adults took the haunted Halloween hayrack ride. Starting at the propane tanks south of town, the riders went down Old Joe's road. The younger children listened to a story of Old Joe's problems with growing pumpkins. They stopped at the place where Old Joe's mummy neighbors appeared, where he tried to saw the vines, where he tried to bury them, where he tried to put them on the train track so the train would crush them, and finally where the witches made them into pumpkin stew.

Along the way they also saw Old in 10 to 20 degrees of the average outside air temperature. A cooling or warming zone moves through the stored grain at a rate directly related to the total volume on air moved through the grain. In the fall and spring, run the fan continuously until the cooling zone, or warming zone in the spring, has been completely through the grain. through the grain as soon as temperatures are above freezing. If grain is to be held until July or August, move one warming zone per month through the grain until it is uniformly warmed to 60 degrees.

Summer-consider operating the fan one night per week through June to help maintain grain temperatures at 60 degrees. Otherwise, cover fan openings during June, July and August to prevent air flowing back into the grain and causing moisture problems.

Grain temperatures change about 50 times faster than the moisture content, so the air's relative humidity is of little concern during grain cooling in actually changing the moisture content of the grain.

Good aeration management can keep grains in quality condition for better returns in the end.

For more information, ask at your local Cooperative Extension office for Aeration of Stroed Grain, (G692) and Holding Wet Corn with Aeration, (G862).

Farmers have had good weather

It looks as if the warm weather is leaving us. But we've been very fortunate this month. Neighbor Ross got done harvesting yesterday; so that's a relief, too, Around Waco on Sunday there was a lot of corn still in the field, but they finally had a good frost Saturday night. One of my shirttail relatives says his irrigated corn is making 240 bushels to the acre! I'm amazed, with all the heat it experienced.

We were at St. John's church in rural Waco for the 100th anniversary of their church building, a true architectural beauty. And, as someone pointed out after the service, it would be prohibitive to try to duplicate it today because of the cost. The preacher for the service was John Hafermann, who used to serve us at St. Paul's, Winside. He has gained a little weight (haven't we all?) but otherwise, looks and sounds great. Folks around Winside will remember his wife, Gay Lea, who is one of the warmest and fun preacher's wives we have ever encountered. As Jim Halferty used to say, "She's the only person who can say 'God bless you' and it doesn't offend me!"

After the service, which lasted TWO hours, we hurried back to take advantage of the soup being served at Trinity, down Church road to the west of us. The Big Farmer went home to read the paper and take a nap; I went back to Lincoln for choir practice. I stayed in town to attend the Nebraska Choral Director's Society concert at Nebraska Wesleyan, Wow! What music! No admission fee and two more hours of beautiful choral singing. I slept great that night; I think it was the "Mozart Effect".

I was surprised to see that one of the directors was Dr. Rhonda Fuelberth. When we knew Rhonda, she was a student at Wayne State and directed our church choir for one year. We hired directors from WSC for several years; they were all clones of Cornell Runestad, so we didn't have great variances in style! And what a great person to emulate. Last Friday was the annual visit to Vala's pumpkin patch at Gretna. I believe they call it "agritainment". Farmers are doing all kinds of things to make a living. For five weeks every fall, this farmer hosts thousands of kids and parents, with everything from a haunted house to a petting zoo and pig races, to straw stacks for sliding down into. He must make a mint. But there is a lot of overhead, too. And as the guy in Kansas who turned his ranch into a barbecue/Western concert place says, "It beats pulling calves!"

' I notice on highway 92 west of Wahoo there is a miniature golf, and driving range; I believe it's called Country acres, or something like that. Then there are those of us who have opened bed and breakfasts; there are some in this state that are on working farms and provide trail rides and all kinds of like experiences.

Business at the Farm House is finally slowing down; there were four occupied nights last week and no reservations now until Nov. 7. Even our weekly boarder will be moving on. Time to do some painting and cleaning. We're ready for a break.

Incidentally, we saw some young folks with Pope John on their sweatshirts at Vala's. I asked them if they were from Elgin and they said they were. They had left at 7:30 that morning and had to get home for the football game that night. I asked if Mark Koch was still coaching wrestling and he is. And then they informed me that Mark's dad had just had coronary bypass surgery. You never know where you are going to glean information. Good luck, Leon; get well

The Siouxland Community Blood Bank is erring on the side of safety to prevent anyone from unknowingly donating infected blood. Since 2002, military officials have reported 22 cases of the disease, the majority of which have been reported this year. The parasite that causes the disease has been shown to survive up to 25 days in blood products stored under normal conditions. Donors found to actually have the disease

Currently, the Siouxland Community Blood Bank provides blood services to 28 hospitals in Iowa, Nebraska, and South Dakota. The blood bank conducts blood drives in over 120 communities from the tri-state region. More than 1000 units of blood need to be collected each week to meet patient requirements. # Manure application via center pivot the focus of next 'Market Journal'

A study at the University of Nebraska's Haskell Agricultural Laboratory near Concord offers new insights into the role of salt in manure application and in row Study results will be discussed on the next edition of NU Cooperative Extension's "Market Journal" program, to be broadcast Oct. 31-Nov. 2.

"Market Journal," a half-hour television program dedicated to agricultural risk management, production, and marketing issues, is making its debut on Nebraska Educational Television, in addition to its already existing venues.

In a series of field experiments last summer, extension specialists used a center pivot irrigation system to apply measured amounts of liquid manure to growing corn and soybean plots. Even before this fall's harvest, some of the test results were obvious, said Charles Shapiro, NU soils specialist.

"On soybeans, with the very high rates (of salts), we killed the crop. On the lesser amounts we did some damage and with the much lower amounts we did hardly any damage," Shapiro said. "We are beginning to narrow in on what we want to find out."

Shapiro and other researchers also want to learn more about the fole of application timing.

"We're trying to figure out what the safe application level would be at any given state of crop development," Shapiro said.
"We've had reports from producers who may have put on too much (manure) at certain times and our hypothesis is that it's the salt from the manure that's causing the crop damage." Previous studies have focused only on the effect of salt on soil. This is the first study of salt's effect on crops as they develop. The NU experiments also will add to what is known about using center pivot irrigation equipment to apply liquid manure. The technique's popularity with farmers is likely to grow, Shapiro said.

"There are definite advantages in labor savings because there's not a person going up and down the field in a wagon applying the manure," Shapiro said. "From a crop nutrient point of view, putting nutrients on when the crop needs it is better than either putting it on in the fall and letting it sit over winter or putting it on in the spring when it can erode or leach away."

In another part of the study, Bill Kranz, NU irrigation specialist, has been looking at some of the engineering issues associated with using center pivot equipment to apply liquid manure.

"These systems are designed to be used with just fresh water, and now, when you start to run manure through them, you have other things to contend with," Kranz said.

Those "other things" include salt, which can eat away at equipment, and particulate matter, which can clog some nozzles, especially newer, more high-tech nozzles.

"The ones that tend to work best are the old-style high pressure impact nozzles because they have a large opening," Kranz said. "Things will pass through a lot easier."

Even before that, there's the problem of getting the material from the pit or lagoon out to the Various logistics were discussed; no commitment was given. Scott Hasemann of Schumacher-Hasemann Funeral Home asked the board the consider
