Wayne Schools participate in GIS project

This school year students from Wayne Community Schools are participating in a GIS project with the Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department.

Student researchers working on this project include Maddie Jager, Jessica Kranz, Kaitlyn Centrone, Heidi Garvin, Elisabeth Lofgren and Jenny Holm, eighth graders at Wayne Middle School; Sam Wilken and Tim Schaefer, freshmen at Wayne High School; Mrs. Lee Brogie, science teacher at Wayne Middle School and Nick Whitney, a Wayne State College biology student intern with the Health Department.

Their project involves learning about radio waves (RW) and electromagnetic fields (EMF).

Using this information to identify potential danger spots, the students are traveling around Wayne recording location data (using a GPS), radio waves (using a HF Detektor-II gauge) and electromagnetic radiation (using an electromagnetic field tester). This data is then downloaded to the GIS at the Health Department.

Geographical Information Systems (GIS) is a computer system capable of capturing, storing, analyzing and displaying geographically referenced information.

"In other words, it is a system that identifies data according to location. Using a GPS (Global Positioning System) device, exact locations can be recorded and then downloaded into a computer," said Lee Brogie, Wayne

Hunter's rage ???

Dear Editor,

It is the only description I can fathom.

Two of our pets have been shot by hunters.

The most recent, our black cat named Jasmine.

She was very friendly and enjoyed her 80 acre home. She was shot in her safe haven, her home.

She doesn't have a white stripe down her back, so no mistaking her for a skunk!

She doesn't remotely resemble a raccoon, possum, rabbit, squirrel, deer or pheasant for that matter.

So why do hunters shoot family pets??? Maybe one of YOU HUNTERS out there has an answer.

As for our family, we pray that no other family pets or YOURS for that matter, are ever taken from you in this inhumane manner.

Trespassers will be shot. (Seems fair from our venue).

Bits and pieces of Nebraska news

by Ed Howard

Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Time flies when you're busy. If that's true, the 2004 legislative session might strike state senators as no more than a blink of the eye.

The budget situation still stinks. The governor wants to close regional centers in Norfolk and Hastings.

And State Treasurer Lorelee Byrd indicates that she will hold onto her office, even if it means her almost certain impeachment.

Let's talk about Byrd.

She agreed last week to plead guilty to official misconduct. The misdemeanor charge has to do with her use of creative bookkeeping to squirrel away some money to protect her budget from a Legislature that was cutting expenditures.

A misdemeanor conviction doesn't force a state constitutional officer to resign, but Byrd has other problems.

Actually, she has more than 30 of them. They are the lawmakers who recently said they think Byrd should resign. They are the same lawmakers who would participate in any move to impeach her, and such a move is all but certain if she doesn't bail out. If impeached, she would face trial in the state Supreme Court.

Despite her reputation as a Republican uber loyalist, Byrd didn't hesitate to let Gov. Mike Johanns know what he could do with his holiday turkey when the governor said she should resign.

It was Johanns who appointed Byrd to the Treasurer's office. She then ran for election and secured the job in her own right. Both are Republicans.

The problem for the GOP is that the longer Byrd hangs around, the longer Democrats can point to her. Impeachment proceedings take time. Much of that time would be spent noting that Byrd was first appointed by Johanns, and that both are Republicans. These are not what GOP insiders regard as happy thoughts.

Here's a heads up in regards to the case of Jose Sandoval, the man convicted of five counts of first-degree murder stemming from last year's deadly bank robbery in Norfolk.

Sandoval committed the crime after the U.S. Supreme Court said juries had to be involved in sentencing in cases where a death penalty was possible. But the crime was committed before Nebraska changed its law to include jurors.

Sandoval's attorney is arguing that Nebraska knew its death penalty statute was no good, and that's why the governor called a special legislative session to revise the law. Sandoval's lawyer says Nebraska had no valid death penalty when the bank robbery occurred - so his client can only be sentenced to life in prison.

The question is virtually certain to find its way through Sandoval's state appeals and through the federal courts.

NEW BEGINNINGS!

This week begins the last month of chamber board experience for three individuals who have given generously of their time, experience, and wisdom. Lori Carollo (Wayne American Red Cross), Coleen Jeffries (Copy Write/Keepsake Videos), and Jill Sweetland (First National Bank of Omaha-Bankard Center) complete their terms as members of the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce board of directors.

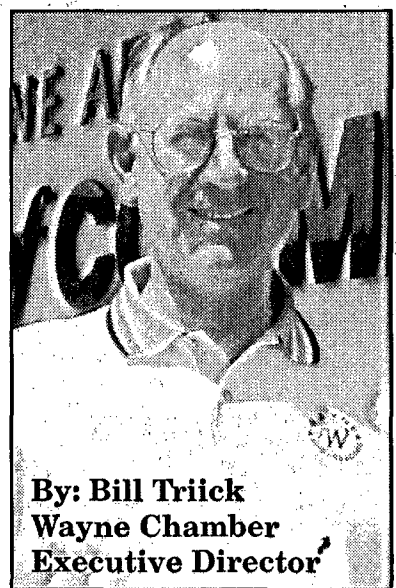

We cannot thank them enough for their contributions to this community through their boardship and wish them well. It has clearly been a successful voyage having you aboard, ladies!

The chamber is organizing a Bowl-A-Thon for Sunday, Dec. 28, at Melodee Lanes as a contribution to the holiday festivities this year. James Neel, a junior at Winside Public School, has volunteered to help promote and conduct this event; and we thank him in advance for his hard work and effort. We can accommodate up to 120 bowlers, youth 7-18 and adult 19 and over, over two sessions - the first at 1 p.m. and the second at 4:30 p.m. The cost for each youth bowler is $10 and for each adult $12 which includes three games. More information is available at the chamber and Melodee Lanes (where you can also sign up).

Those who sign up by December 19 will be entered into a drawing for a gift certificate. This will be fun for the whole family and help you work off all those calories.

There are still some opportunities to get that free Microsoft office applications training made possible through a grant awarded to the chamber by 1 Staff Training and Development. Although the training has to be accomplished at 1 Staff's training facility in Norfolk, the daily instruction in Word, Excel, Outlook, PowerPoint, Front Page, and Access is a tremendous return on the investment that area businesses make in the chamber. The retail value of one day's training is $159 per participant. Since any chamber member can get two complimentary slots, the $318 value can return all or just about all of the investment that member businesses make on an annual basis.

By: Bill Triick
Wayne Chamber
Executive Director

And we just learned that 1 Staff has added some additional sessions in January for those who may have had scheduling difficulties in November or December. Call the chamber for the dates and topics for these additional days. We will be announcing the details on the radio on Mondays and at coffees on Fridays. At this time, every application will be offered again in January except for Front Page.

The special events committee has already begun the planning for the chamber's annual meeting that is booked at Wayne State College for the evening of Sunday, Feb. 8. You will be getting more information as it becomes available, but we hope that everyone will reserve this date on his or her calendar. This year's event will be a very special one.

In the REMINDERS department, don't forget that chamber bucks, the "checks that do not bounce", are available at the office in denominations of $5, $10, $20, and $25 and make a perfect gift for anyone. They are redeemable as cash at just about every chamber member retail business in the Wayne area and are good for about 6-9 months.

Also, Fantasy Forest is this, the first, weekend in December at the city auditorium. The "Forest" this year is now the full responsibility of the Wayne Rotary Club who has prepared in the past and will continue to offer their traditional soup and pie dinner on Thursday evening, that's tonight!

And finally, the following businesses are participating in the chamber's holiday storefront window display contest to help make your shopping experiences more enjoyable. See the displays and shop the Wayne area retailers.

Descriptions and photos of two of the homes are in this issue and the other homes were featured in the past two issues of the Wayne Herald.

Rod and Christin Lutt, 1607 Claycomb Road

The Lutts replicated the design of their home after a beautiful Colonial in Atlanta, Georgia. The interior is enhanced by heirloom pieces. The various painted faux techniques give the traditional style a bit of flair. The house features three bedrooms plus a master suite, four bathrooms, a great room with fireplace, and a two-level veranda with magnificent views of Wayne.

As you enter the two-story foyer of cherry wood and granite, you will be greeted by a 14-foot pencil tree decorated to compliment the adjoining rooms. The dining room was designed around an antique mahogany set given to Christin by her paternal grandmother. The table is set with a classic Greek Key china which was a wedding gift to her grandmother from her grandfather. The living room is filled with a crystal collection and several rocking chairs built by her great-grandfather from Czechoslovakia.

Pictures of several generations of family members adorn the wall of the second floor. A Christmas tree has been placed in each room to add holiday cheer.

The Lutts and their two children really enjoy the Christmas season. It is the one special time of the year when their family members from around the country have an opportunity to come together.

Dr. Ken and Jan Liska, 57479 854th Road (two miles South of Wayne and one and one-fourth West)

In 1899, the Wallace family from Illinois built this farmhouse and planted the acorns that became the burr oak trees behind the house. The Wallaces raised hogs. They had no children.

In 1940 their nephew, Wayne Gilliland and his new bride, Elma, moved here from Iowa and took ownership of the farm. Wayne and Elma planted the pin oaks that border the road and house front. They named the farm "Oakshadows" for the dozens of oak trees on the farmstead. Wayne built the barn which came to be the first Grade A dairy in Wayne County. The Gillilands raised two daughters here.

In 1973, brothers Dr. Ken Liska and the late Dr. J.J. Liska bought the farm and used it as a base for their Angus herd. The Gillilands lived in the house until 1999 when they moved to Stanton. Wayne and Elma Gilliland were long-time active members of the Historical Society.

In 2001, the Liskas had the home completely refurbished to its present condition. The center, or two-story portion, (accented by the original eave brackets) is the original house. Porches, extended kitchen, garage, extended great room and master suite are new construction. A fireplace has replaced the fuel oil stove. The mantel is made of the support beams from a summer kitchen that once stood north of the house. Wood floors and woodwork are in original condition and were removed and reinstalled. Windows, geothermal heating and cooling, cabinetry, electrical circuitry, and floor coverings are new.

Ken and Jan love entertaining, especially at Christmas and have enjoyed decorating with the acorn and oak theme whenever they find pieces they can incorporate. Most of the antiques are family pieces. Of special interest is the west wall of the dining-living room where pictures of Oakshadows from 1900-2002 are displayed.

Make plans to see the homes and help in the fundraiser for the upkeep of the Wayne Museum. Time is running out so be sure to get your tickets to the Christmas Tour of Homes in Wayne.

Rod and Christin Lutt's home at 1607 Claycomb Road in Wayne is part of the Christmas Tour of Homes.

Dr. Ken and Jan Liska's home at 57479 854th Road, two miles south and one and one fourth miles west of Wayne, is among the homes featured in the tour.

Middle School Science Instructor.

"The location data, along with the information collected from that site is then stored in the GIS. The GIS can then be used to retrieve data based on location or other data. The power of a GIS comes from its ability to relate different information in a spatial context and to reach a conclusion about this relationship," Mrs. Brogie added.

Waves in the electromagnetic spectrum vary in size from very long radio waves the size of buildings to very short gamma-rays, smaller than the size of the nucleus of an atom. The complete electromagnetic spectrum includes radio waves, microwaves, infrared, visible light, ultraviolet, x-rays and gamma rays.

Radio waves have the longest wavelengths in the electromagnetic spectrum. These waves can be longer than a football field or as short as a football. Radio waves do more than bring music to a radio. They also carry signals for televisions and cellular phones.

The transmission of electrical energy through wires, the broadcasting of radio signals and the phenomenon of visible light are examples of electromagnetic fields (EMF). EMFs always consist of both an electrical field and a magnetic field. It occurs in a wide range of frequencies, spanning what is called the electromagnetic spectrum.

Funding for the GIS project was from a grant from Area Health Education Center (AHEC).

Additional projects have developed as a result of working with the Health Department.

Heidi Garvin is now collecting data concerning the amount of radiation that is being emitted from household appliances. Jenny Holm is investigating the strength of electromagnetic fields in classrooms. Kaitlyn Centrene is collecting information about Radon levels in building throughout Wayne.

For additional information about these projects or to obtain a Radon detector for your home, contact Lee A. Brogie, Wayne Middle School (402) 375-2230 or lbrogie@zaphod.wayne.edu or Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department, 117 West Third Street, (402) 375-2200 or nnpdh@hntel.net

The parade will begin at 7 p.m. and run from the corner of First and a picture upon request in the sleigh.

Entries are still being accepted for these events. Contact the Main Street Office at 375-5062 for more information.

Celebrity designers???

Tips offered for safe use of supplemental heat

With the return to colder weather, the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department has offered the following tips on the safe use of supplemental heat.

1. Read all manufacturer's instructions and warning labels.
2. Keep flammable materials away from the heater.
3. Unless heater is designed for use outdoor or in bathrooms, do not use in these areas.
4. Check occasionally for secure plug/outlet fit. If loose, replace.

5. Unplug heater when not in use by pulling straight out from the outlet, not by pulling at an angle, or by pulling on the cord alone.
6. Keep heater at least three feet away from curtains, bedding, furniture, etc. Don't block intake or exhaust.
7. Don't put heater on furniture, place only on a flat level surface.
8. Heaters must be kept away from children and not put in children's rooms without supervision.

9. String out cords on top of rugs and/or mats, never under them.
10. Extension cords should not be used for heaters. If necessary, make certain cords are heavy enough to carry the electrical load.

These tips apply to most heaters, regardless of the fuel used.

Accident claims life of Carroll man

The Wayne County Sheriff's Office was called at 3 a.m. to investigate a one-vehicle weather-related fatality accident six miles north of Hoskins on County Road 562.

It was determined that 21-year old Joseph Paustian of rural Carroll was thrown from his vehicle and was later pronounced dead at Faith Regional Hospital in Norfolk a short time later.

Seatbelt restraints were not in use.

The Hoskins Fire and Rescue unit assisted the Wayne County Sheriff's Office at the scene.

The investigation continues and no further information was available at press time.

Grant money available for transporting elderly and persons with disabilities

The Nebraska Department of Roads has announced funds are now available to private nonprofit organizations for transportation needs of elderly persons and persons with disabilities for whom mass transportation services are unavailable, insufficient or inappropriate.

Only private nonprofit organizations incorporated within the state are eligible to apply for this assistance.

Public agencies, governmental bodies and private individuals are not eligible for this program.

The Federal Transit Administration's Section 5310 program is the Federal Capital Grant program managed by the Department of Roads and designed to provide assistance for purchase of vehicles and related equipment for transportation needs of elderly and disabled persons. The funding is 60 percent federal and 40 percent local match.

The Department of Roads is distributing information on this program to private nonprofit organizations such as nursing homes and hospitals, as well as coordinating agencies such as area agencies on aging.

For further information and to request application forms, contact Wayne Masek at (402) 479-4369 or Jerry Wray at (402) 479-4694, Rail and Public Transportation Division, P.O. Box 94759, Lincoln, Neb. 68509-4759. Requests for application forms must be received by 4:30 p.m. on Friday, Jan. 16, 2004.

Services available to those in need

Two services, the Wayne Food Pantry and the Coat Closet, located at the Presbyterian Church, have been helping those in need throughout the community.

MaryAnn Oetken, who has been involved with both groups for a number of years, said that approximately 100 families have received assistance this year. In addition, approximately 260 coats have been distributed since July 1 of this year.

"We would like to thank all the churches, organizations and individuals who have contributed to the Food Pantry in recent weeks. Earlier this fall, our shelves were looking pretty bare. Now, they are much better and we are able to serve those who need us," Mrs. Oetken said.

She did note that cereal is always in demand and canned or boxed meals such as stew, chicken and dumplings, Spaghettios and Ravioli are needed.

In the Coat Closet area, Mrs. Oetken said that while there is a good selection of coats available, donations of mittens would be appreciated.

For more information on either the Food Pantry or the Coat Closet, contact First Presbyterian Church at 375-2669 or Mrs. Oetken at 375-2069.

Wildcats post big wins over York, Chadron State

Nebraska-Kearney men edge Wayne State 90-86

The Wayne State men's basketball team dropped a hard fought 90-86 contest to Nebraska-Kearney at Rice Auditorium in Wayne Tuesday evening.

The game featured 13 ties with neither team holding more than a five point lead for much of the contest.

WSC Head Coach Rico Burkett said the loss is tough to swallow, but added he was proud of his team's effort.

"We played well, they played a little better. This was probably the most gratifying effort I've ever been associated with at Wayne State. It was a war, a great game."

It was the second straight tough loss for the Wildcats, who fell on a last-second shot at St. Cloud State Sunday evening.

"These guys deserve a better record than 3-4. We're very close to being a 6-1 team. I told the guys after the game that only good things will happen if they continue to play like that," said Burkett.

Junior center Brett Cain burned the Lopers for a career-high 30 points and 12 rebounds to lead Wayne State. Dusty Smith added 18 points with Derek Archer scoring 16.

WSC hit 32 of 63 shots (50.8 percent) while holding UNK to 44 percent shooting on 30 of 67.

UNK canned 22 of 24 free throws with Wayne State making 11 of 12 attempts.

The Lopers held a slim edge in rebounding 36-33. Following Cain's 12 caroms, Archer and Tim Gesell pulled down five boards each.

Wayne State dropped a heart-breaking 72-71 decision at St. Cloud State in Minnesota Sunday evening. Senior forward Todd Klosterman did not play in the game due to a hamstring injury.

The Wildcats used a 19-0 run late in the first half to grab a 32-29 halftime advantage, then led by as many as nine points in the second half before the host Huskies rallied for the win, canning a three-pointer with 1.1 seconds left in the game.

"I was very happy with our performance at St. Cloud," stated Burkett. "We adjusted well to adversity after trailing in the first half, it's just a shame we had to lose on a last-second shot against the defending NCC champions."

Cain paced the Wildcats in scoring with 18 points. He also grabbed a team-high 13 rebounds. Sophomore guard Dusty Smith chipped in 15 points, Derek Archer drained four three-pointers for 12 points and Brett Watson added 10 along with eight assists.

The Wildcats connected on 27 of 54 shots (50 percent) in the game while St. Cloud made 28 of 57 shots for 49 percent.

Wayne State dominated the rebounding battle, 38-21. Following Cain's 13 boards, Tim Gesell pulled down six.

Last Wednesday evening, the Wildcats avenged an earlier loss to Chadron State by blasting the Eagles in Wayne 87-60.

Wayne State dominated from the start, racing out to a 49-25 halftime lead.

"It was our best 40-minute effort of the season to date," stated Burkett. "The guys were focused and played well."

Archer led a balanced scoring attack for the 'Cats with 16 points. Cain added 13, Dallas Hodges produced 11 points and Watson finished with 10. Three other players had nine points each.

The Wildcats shot 55 percent in the game (32 of 58) compared to Chadron State's 23 of 59 for 39 percent.

Wayne State outrebounded the Eagles 38-29 with Watson pulling down a team-high eight caroms. Colin Tague added six boards.

The Wildcats had a season-high 20 assists in the game with Smith, Hodges and Klosterman each recording five assists.

Wayne State reached the century mark for the first time since 2000 in a 101-85 win over York College last Tuesday evening at Rice Auditorium.

The Wildcats held a 46-40 lead at halftime, but needed a big run in the second half to polish off the pesky Panthers.

Both teams shot the ball well with Wayne State hitting 35 of 60 shots (58.3 percent) and York draining 34 of 58 shots for 58.6 percent.

Watson produced a career-high 26 points to lead Wayne State in scoring. Cain added a career-high 21 and Archer also hit a career-high with 20 points. Smith also hit double figures with 12 points.

The Wildcats outrebounded York 32-24 with Cain grabbing nine boards for Wayne State.

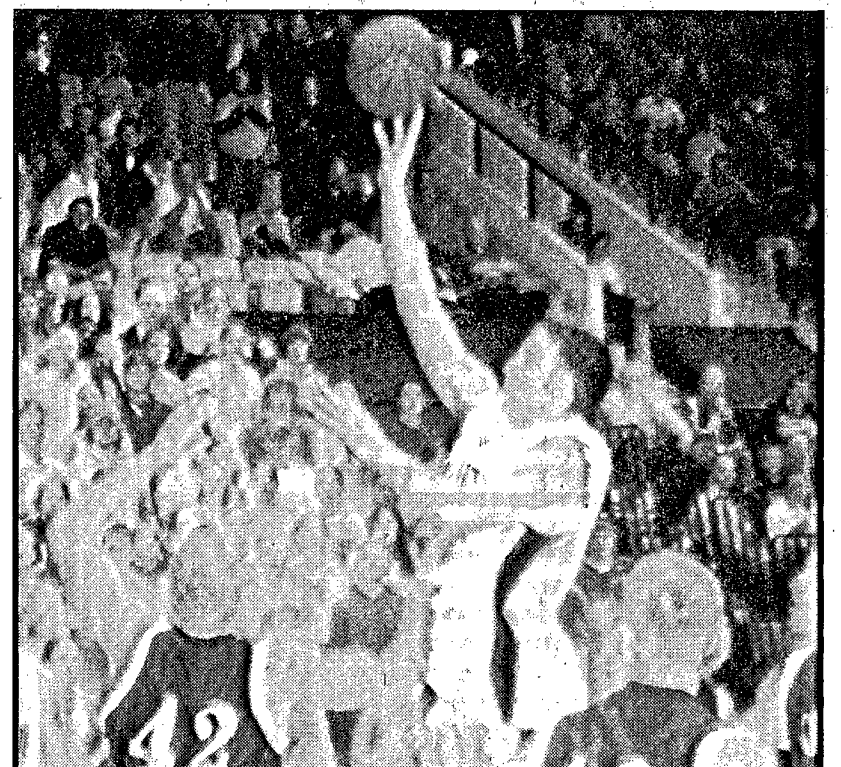

Wayne State, now 3-4, will host Nebraska Christian College Saturday at 7:30 pm, then entertain Nebraska-Omaha on Thursday, Dec. 11 at 8 pm.

Big second half lifts UNK women over WSC

Nebraska-Kearney used a big second half to down Wayne State in women's college basketball Tuesday evening at Rice Auditorium 71-50.

Wayne State trailed by just three points at halftime, 29-26, but UNK started the second half with an 11-0 run and held the Wildcats without a basket for more than 7:30 to take control of the game.

"I was really pleased with our effort in the first half, but they extended their defensive pressure in the second half and took us out of our offense," commented WSC Head Coach Ryan Williams.

Junior center Kari Belak paced Wayne State in scoring with 13 points. Freshman guard Allison Steffen also reached double figures with 10 points.

UNK shot 46 percent from the field (27-58) while holding Wayne State to just 34 percent shooting on 19 of 55.

The Lopers held a big rebounding advantage over Wayne State 47-25. Kristin Humphries had five rebounds for the 'Cats.

The Wildcats hosted Presentation College Saturday evening and posted an 83-60 win.

The visiting Saints held the lead for much of the first half, but Wayne State used hot shooting from sophomore guard Ashley Arndorfer during a 20-4 run late in the first half to take control of the game, leading 36-24 at halftime.

Arndorfer scored 18 of the 20 points during the run in a span of 5:13, including four three-pointers. She finished the game with 24 points on 8 of 12 shooting, including 6 of 9 from the three-point arc.

Kari Belak, playing in her first game since suffering a shoulder injury in pre-season, added 10 points along with freshman guard Allison Steffen.

"I thought we responded well after starting slow and making some defensive adjustments," said Coach Williams. "Once we relaxed, our offense played better and it was nice to have Kari Belak back in the lineup."

Wayne State shot 52.4 percent for the game (33 of 63), including 55.9 percent in the second half (19 of 34). Presentation made 19 of 46 field goal attempts for 41 percent.

Presentation held a 35-26 advantage in rebounding over the Wildcats. Freshman Erin McCormick grabbed a team-high five rebounds for Wayne State.

Local rescue departments receive pediatric trauma kits

Gary Hastings, the Northeast Regional Emergency Medical Services Coordinator and Norfolk Morning Kiwanis members Ron Skill and Fred Aufdembrink recently presented the Winside and Carroll Volunteer Rescue Squads with a pediatric trauma kits.

The Norfolk Morning and noon Kiwanis Clubs have donated half the funds to purchase this equipment and the Nebraska-Iowa Kiwanis District Foundation donated the other half.

The value of the backboard is $240 and the pediatric kit is valued at $350. The EMS Program agreed to provide pediatric training for those services.

When children are involved in trauma, having emergency responders with access to the essential equipment designed specifically for children can make a big difference in treatment and recovery.

"Originally, a collaboration and partnership with Emergency Medical Services for Children, the Kiwanis Foundation and the local Kiwanis Clubs was to provide 24 kits and boards between Nebraska and Iowa, Aufdembrink said. "We determined there was a much greater need because of the costs and the bad economic times for rural volunteer communities. To date in Nebraska, 167 kits and boards have been distributed by the various Kiwanis organizations. We don't know what the number in Iowa has been. Our Norfolk Morning Kiwanis group has helped with 23 kits and boards."

The Kiwanis organization and the Nebraska EMS Program is committed to saving the lives of Nebraska's children — the state's most valuable resource.

Local seniors recognized as distinguished scholars

Several local high school seniors were recently recognized as distinguished scholars by the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. Brady Garvin and Michelle Murray, both of Wayne High School; Kristen Koch and Ashley Patefield, both of Laurel-Concord High School; Anthony Staub of Hoskins (who attends high school in Norfolk) were among students who were honored.

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln recognized top Nebraska high school seniors for their academic excellence at the 2003 Omaha World-Herald Recognition Dinner on Nov. 4. These distinguished scholars have demonstrated a high level of ability and a strong commitment to superior performance in academics as indicated by their class ranking, combined with their ACT or SAT test scores. All Nebraska National Merit semifinalists, National Hispanic Scholars and National Achievement Scholars were also recognized.

In addition to sponsoring the recognition dinner, the World-Herald announced the recipients of the prestigious World-Herald Honors Scholarships. John Gottschalk, chairman and CEO of the World-Herald, presented Britni Bethune (a Wayne High School graduate) and Daniel Larsen (a Westside High School graduate) with this year's award of World-Herald Honors Scholars. Both are UN-L freshmen.

Bethune is a National Merit Scholar. She is active as a senator on the Neihardt Council, a member of the Chancellor's Leadership Class, a volunteer tour guide for the admissions office, a member of intramural mud volleyball, intramural basketball, and four-on-four volleyball teams, and is an alto in the all-collegiate choir.

The World-Herald Recognition Dinner culminated an entire day of events for the distinguished scholars. Distinguished Scholars Day gives students the opportunity to learn more about the academic programs offered at Nebraska through the University Honors Program. Students and parents also join in on a "Creation of Knowledge Tour" where they get a glimpse of research and other academic opportunities for undergraduate students. They learned about music, journalism, and engineering. All students interacted in small seminar classes on subjects including ethics in business, history, language and images, philosophy, photojournalism, biotechnology, political science, management, and chemistry.

Winter safety should be a priority

After the recent snow, it is hard not to remind everyone the importance of winter safety. Winter seemed to come on very quickly this year, and it was easy not to be prepared. Take time now to get prepared.

*Winter Survival Kit in the car. The following items should be included in your winter weather survival kit: extra clothing (hats, gloves, insulated coveralls, etc.); sleeping bags or blankets for everyone; shovel; first aid kit; non-perishable food, such as granola bars and peanuts; flashlight with extra batteries; candles and matches; tire chains; battery-operated radio with batteries; empty coffee can to be used to burn the candles or to melt snow for water; booster cables; cell phone with fully charged batteries.

* Keeping Warm in a Cold House. After a storm, you may not have either natural gas or electric heat for your home, you can keep warm by closing off rooms you don't need and use only safe sources of heat, like wood and other fuel-burning stoves. Dress in several layers of lightweight clothing, and wear a cap -- most of your body heat is lost through your head. Eat well-balanced meals and quick energy foods so your body can produce its own heat.

* Fire Safety Tips -- Before you start a fire in a wood burning stove or fireplace, make sure there are no obvious cracks in the flue and the chimney is structurally sound. It's important that your heating source has been checked. Make sure there is plenty of ventilation. Use only the fuel designed for your heater. Do not use charcoal to warm your house - the fumes may cause carbon monoxide. Never use gasoline or other flammable liquids to start or quicken a fire. Always keep a screen around an open flame and don't close the damper while ashes are still hot.

* Physical Exertion -- More people die in winter cold waves than in any other weather phenomena. Cold weather itself -- without any exercise -- puts an extra strain on your heart. Heavy exertion -- like shoveling snow, pushing a car, or even walking fast in cold weather increases your chances for a heart attack or stroke. In cold weather, also watch for signs of hypothermia, especially in elderly people.

WELCA CHRISTMAS DINNER
Saturday, Dec. 13 from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. or until all cookies are sold. The event will be held at the Lutheran Campus Center at the corner of 10th and Logan Streets. Those attending are asked to enter the north door of the Campus Center where many different kinds of cookies will be for sale. A helper will be present to assist with the selection of cookies. Homemade Christmas cookies will be for sale including spritz, gingerbread men, pfeffermuesse, decorated sugar cookies and many more varieties. Early arrival ensures the best selection. The first Cookie Walk was held in 1992 following a church service. In 1995 it was opened to the public. The event is now held every year on a Saturday and continues to grow in participation. The proceeds have gone to the Grace Building Fund, new chairs for the basement, new window treatments for the basement, landscaping, remodeling and the Orphan Grain Train. This year's proceeds will be used toward new carpet in the church. Congregational Matching Funds have been applied for through Thrivent.

Former students gather

The annual reunion of Immanuel Lutheran Parochial School mates from northwest of Wayne met for a noon meal at the Wayne Senior Center recently. The afternoon was spent playing cards. Dessert and coffee prepared by hostesses Bernadine Backstrom and Ada Bartels were served at the Center ladies. Next year's hostesses will be Gloria Vogle and Bonnadell Koch.

Thanksgiving made special for many

Because of one person's dream to share Thanksgiving dinner with people who would be alone, a small group of people from Our Savior Lutheran Church, St. Mary's Catholic Church, First Church of Christ, First Presbyterian Church and United Methodist Church joined forces to collect contributions, spread the invitations and prepare and serve the meal.

The targeted guests were people living and eating alone, people who live too far from families to share the holiday and people who may lack resources for a Thanksgiving feast.

"We borrowed Yankton's credo -- if someone comes, they have a need," said Jim Hummel, one of those who was responsible for organizing the event.

Hummel noted that "with thankful hearts, people began arriving at 11:30 for the noon meal on Thanksgiving. Fellowship was obvious when conversation and laughter filled the dining room."

Nearly 160 meals were served to those who shared in the fellowship and to a limited number of people who normally would receive Meals on Wheels.

"The food, prepared by volunteers, was delicious and made even better because of the fellowship. Telephone calls and notes of appreciation from guests confirmed the importance of the event for those who came," Hummel said.

He added that Thanksgiving, Fellowship and Food was an appropriate name for the event.

This year the left-over food was donated to the Norfolk Gospel Mission and served many beyond the boundaries of the local churches.

Hummel offered thanks to all the individuals who contributed cash and energy toward serving others.

"Special thanks go to Arnie Ford Mercury, KTCH and Mark Ahmann, Quality Food Center, Pac 'N' Save, the Wayne Herald, Vel's Bakery and AAL for their contributions to the day's success," Hummel said.

Over 150 people left Our Savior Lutheran Church on Thanksgiving Day enriched by this fellowship. Many left the event with the intention of becoming a volunteer for the next community dinner.

"In the days following Thanksgiving, community interest in the event was apparent. People inquired in order to share the day by hearing the story. Thanksgiving was a special day in a special way as we celebrated this community meal together," Hummel said.

Ephedra - A Known Killer

Sixty four percent of all herb-related reports to poison control centers involve ephedra. This herbal stimulant is found in countless diet and weight-loss supplements. It is related to ephedrine which doctors quit prescribing 20 years ago because of its dangerous effects on blood pressure and the heart. Though there is no clinical evidence that ephedra produces long-term weight loss, it has been shown to cause serious reactions and even deaths in apparently healthy young people. If you're thinking of taking weightless supplements, be sure to consult with your doctor or pharmacist first.

With the 2003 pheasant hunting season currently underway, hunters in Dixon and Stanton counties should be noticing improved pheasant nesting habitat thanks to the Focus on Pheasants project.

The Focus on Pheasants project was developed last year by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA), Nebraska Game and Parks Commission (NGPC) and Pheasants Forever. The goal of this project was to demonstrate how to improve pheasant habitat and increase the number of pheasants statewide.

Biologists with NGPC identified Dixon and Stanton counties as a good area to implement the Focus on Pheasants project. These counties were chosen because they have a large number of acres enrolled into USDA's Conservation Reserve Program (CRP).

CRP offers landowners an incentive payment to take highly erodible cropland out of production and plant grasses, legumes and forbs. When fields were first converted from cropland to CRP, the diverse stand of vegetation planted created many new acres of pheasant habitat.

However, after a period of about five years the plant diversity within the CRP field decreased dramatically, due to competition between plant species, resulting in a decrease in quality pheasant habitat.

To help improve this situation "focus areas" within Dixon and Stanton counties were identified. The NGPC met with the Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS), Farm Service Agency (FSA), county weed superintendents and landowners to identify ways to improve pheasant habitat on CRP lands.

To improve diversity, landowners in the focus area were asked to lightly disc one-third or less of their CRP fields. The disking area was then seeded with a mixture of one-half alfalfa, one-fourth sweet clover and one-fourth red clover at a rate of six pounds per acre.

All landowners taking part in the Focus on Pheasants initiative were volunteers. The NGPC and Pheasants Forever provided the seed and contracted local landowners to do the disking.

Disking was done last fall and this past spring. These areas have already experienced a dramatic increase in plant diversity. This has resulted in better cover for nesting birds and has attracted more insects creating a broader food source for pheasants and other grassland birds.

For each field disking a CRP plan modification was developed by NRCS and then approved by the County Committee. According to Clayton Stalling, district manager with NGPC, this is a very necessary and important step in getting the CRP fields improved.

"The USDA field offices in Dixon and Stanton counties were wonderful to work with. They had the working relationship with the landowners, which was critical to making this program a success," Stalling said.

Stalling gave specific credit to NRCS District Conservationist Steve Grube. Grube developed a CRP contract modification agreement that helped streamline the paperwork.

"Without NRCS' desire for success and positive attitude we would have hit a brick wall with this program in a hurry," Stalling said.

According to Stalling, pheasant numbers are expected to improve within the focus area by next year. He said that pheasants are not only the species that have benefited from this program. He has seen male prairie chickens "displaying" on the newly disked areas within the CRP fields.

"We're hoping that our efforts will not only improve the number of pheasants in the area, but many other grassland species will benefit as well," Stalling said.

Farmers should start now for year-end tax planning

Fall is a good time for year-end tax planning and assessing drought-related income issues, the University of Nebraska Farm Business Association director said.

This year, farmers in the 81 counties declared disaster areas may want to consider selling their 2003 calf crop now -- even if they already sold the 2002 cattle crop this year, said Tina Barrett, Nebraska Farm Business Association director here.

This year's drought creates opportunities for farmers in these counties to defer income from livestock sales to next year, she said. This means if farmers had to sell last year's and this year's cattle crops in 2003, they can defer partial income to the 2004 tax year. This situation only is due to drought conditions and applies to cattle that couldn't be fed or were sold due to drought.

"With high cattle prices, producers have extra incentive for selling now instead of holding until later this year or into January," she said.

Producers should visit with a tax advisor since it can be complicated to calculate how much income can be deferred to next year, Barrett said.

"Even if you didn't make any money this year, it's important to do tax planning. It's more important now than in a high income year," she said.

Producers who show a loss in farm income could miss opportunities to offset that loss with next year's income to obtain a zero balance, Barrett said. This will minimize self-employment taxes. It's important to manage tax brackets to pay the lowest amount of tax during the life of the business.

Farmers also may be concerned about taxes on conservation reserve program acres. For active producers, CRP is treated as regular income, which is subject to self-employment tax, instead of rental income, Barrett said.

Active farmers earn self-employed income, which is subject to self-employment taxes. However, retired farmers can use CRP income to replace rental income, which is not subject to these taxes, Barrett said.

"It's taxable income for both farmers, but the addition is the self-employment taxes, which are significant," she said.

It is important to minimize self-employment taxes since they amount to about 15 percent of farmers' income. Self-employment taxes include Social Security and Medicare taxes. Normally, employers pay these taxes, but since farmers are self-employed, they must pay both taxes.

Farmers and ranchers may want to refer to the 2003 Farmers' Tax Guides for more information. To request a guide, contact Gary Nickels at (402) 472-9713 or e-mail gnickels1@unl.edu.

Anthony Wilmes received a Blue Ribbon and State Alternate for his Extemporaneous speech. Kelli Rastede, who placed second, earned a Purple Ribbon and a spot at State Competition with her Natural Resources speech about the Ring-neck Pheasant. Samantha Bock won the Cooperative Speaking Contest and received a Purple Ribbon and a Plaque. She too will also be competing at State competition at a later date.

Mr. Wilmes was really pleased with the results and the number of participants this year. He hopes for this number to increase in the next few years. The Allen FFA would like to thank all who helped make this competition a success. -- Diana Diediker, Reporter

Reflecting on the holidays, Nebraska football and more

It's Saturday afternoon, sunny but with a cold wind, and I'm trying to clean up my e-mail. The box was full because I've only been opening important stuff this week. I just finished looking at a Thanksgiving card I must have received from half a dozen people that features "Turkey in the Straw" and some darling graphics. I always wonder how they do these amazing things on my computer screen.

For the first time in many years, or maybe ever, I went immediately to Christmas from Halloween without observing Thanksgiving; at least with getting out decorations. Kay hosted everyone and since she only lives three miles away, I had all Thursday morning to do whatever I wanted to. So, I watched the Macy's parade, and caught the Heartland Hoedowners from Elkhorn, and addressed my Christmas letter envelopes. Now, all I have to do is write the letter and get it printed. (Grin).

On Friday, I worked for Hospice in Lincoln and tried to keep track of the football game on the radio.

I did stop at my Mom's just before half-time and had to call her from my car phone to ask her to open her front door because she had the TV on so loud she couldn't hear the doorbell. She answered the phone with "Go Big Red"! She is one true, loyal fan.

By: Pat Meierhenry

Finally, we were all back in the office, charting, when the hospice administrator came in and announced, "It's over. We won!" There was a general cheer and sighs of relief. A co-worker from Seward told us of her son's cub scout money-making project that involved plywood cutouts of buffalo fashioned by the scoutmaster. Each had a collar that said CU.

You've heard of the flamingoes on lawns? Well, these scouts put buffaloes on lawns. And, for only a buck apiece, you could get it off your lawn and onto someone else's. It sounds as if they had a lot of fun with it, and raised money for camp, too. One guy called my friend and asked if he had the rendering plant. She replied, "What?" and he announced he had just shot a buffalo on his lawn and he wanted them to pick it up.

The whole Solich controversy was put into perspective by this week's e-mail to the Huskers from Capt. Chris Ferdico, in Mosul, Iraq. He says that when they were able to watch Nebraska football, they were able to leave Iraq. And "while winning and losing seemed so important in Lincoln, here I have learned to just appreciate the game. Being able to watch football brought me back to a place I have been longing to go."

Two for the price of one?

Many corn producers have long awaited the release of the corn hybrids that will have both traits of resistance to corn borers and to the corn rootworm.

It has come true! Monsanto has received approval for their YieldGard Plus corn hybrid to be released. This is great news for those corn producers who have both insects on their crop. For those who grow corn for more than one year on the same field, commonly end up with corn rootworm problems developing because the longer the corn is grown in the same field, the higher the population of the insect. This new release will probably reduce the amount of chemical application required to control the rootworm problem.

But wait! Let's think about this a little bit. Crop rotation of corn-soybeans has been a recommended practice for many years as a method of keeping the corn rootworms under control, and it has worked for the most part. There is some corn rootworm diapause in states to the east of Nebraska, where the eggs of the rootworm remain in the soil for at least two years and hatch when the rotation

Del Hemsath
Extension Educator

brings the corn plant into the field again.

In Nebraska, there has not been any confirmed occurrence of such adaptation. Farmers in Northeast Nebraska have switched to a corn-soybean rotation and have had no serious problem with rootworms.

So, if a corn-soybean rotation is practiced and works, is there a need to use the YieldGard Plus corn? No. This new variety offers new control practices for those who need the protection. There is no reason to buy the Cadillac when the Ford will get the job done (no promotion of vehicle models intended).

For producers who do not rotate out of corn, but grow corn on a continuous basis, YieldGard Plus does offer a good alternative for rootworm control. Use of the GMO crops does carry with it more responsibility for guarding against pest resistance by closely following the refuge guidelines in planting. Failure to follow the guidelines will put these new tools in jeopardy of being approved in the future for use in the U.S. or approval by the European countries. Strict enforcement of the guidelines on refuges will be enforced in the coming years as adoption of the GMO corn becomes a prominent feature of all corn varieties.

Even with the new technology, there is no two for the price of one, corn that has the two resistant genes are going to cost more to purchase. Either way you pay.

Producers required to sign contracts annually

Producers who are interested in getting advance direct payments in December under the Direct and Counter-cyclical Program (DCP) must sign their 2004 DCP contracts before the end of the year, according to the head of the Wayne County Farm Service Agency.

"The 2001 Farm Bill introduced the Direct and Counter-cyclical Program, which requires producers to sign a new contract every year," said Debra J. Pieper, executive director of the Wayne County FSA. "That's a change from the old Production Flexibility Contracts, which were good for seven years."

The Director and Counter-cyclical Program offers participating farmers and ranchers direct cash payments based on acres and yields established for each farm.

Producers can elect to receive their direct payments as a lump sum in October or as two partial payments — an advance payment of up to 50 percent of the total and a final payment for the remainder.

When electing to receive two partial payments, Pieper said, the producer also selects the month in which to receive the advance payment. And, that's when timing is critical," she said.

"Producers who — for tax or other purposes — want to receive the advance payment in December 2003, have to sign their 2004 DCP contracts in the next few weeks so the advance direct payments can be issued by Dec. 31."

Regardless of which month a producer selects for the advance direct payment, final payments are made in October, following the end of the fiscal year.

The Direct and Counter-cyclical Program is designed to help stabilize U.S. agriculture by providing payment yields that have been established for each individual farm. Direct payment rates are constant. Counter-cyclical payment rates vary with the average price of program commodities each marketing year. When crop values are high, counter-cyclical payments are zero.

Producers wanting more income in 2003 are encouraged to call the Wayne County Farm Service Agency office to book an appointment with the staff.

BOYS AND GIRLS BASKETBALL

The boys and girls basketball teams started practicing the week of Nov. 17. Both teams are coming back from a very successful 2002-2003 season.

The boys basketball team return all 10 of their varsity players from a record season last year, in which they posted a school record 16-5 mark. Returning letter winners include six Seniors, three Juniors and one Sophomore. The guys are hoping to get to make the trip to Lincoln to play in the state tournament this year, a trip that hasn't been made since 1921. The guys are coached by Dave Uldrich and assisted by Matt Hingst.

A loss to Banner County at the state tournament last year ended a very rewarding basketball season for the girls basketball team. This year, they too are looking to Lincoln at the season end! The Lady Eagles are returning eight letter winners after losing two seniors last year. The team this year is made up of four Seniors, three Juniors, seven Sophomores, and three Freshman. The girls are coached by Lori Koester and new assistant coach Christy (Philbrick) Taylor.

The first game of the season for both squads will be Friday, Dec. 5 at Coleridge with all teams playing (JVG/JVB/VG/VB) starting at 4 pm. The teams will then play Saturday night here at Allen versus Homer with games beginning at 4 pm.

SANTA'S COMING TO TOWN
Santa will arrive in town on Dec. 20 at 1 p.m. at the Mini Mall. He'll be on hand to hear what the children would like for Christmas and to hand out a bag of treats. The Town Christmas drawing will be held at 2 p.m. Any businesses wishing to give pre-drawn prizes should give that information to Jerry Schroeder by Dec. 13.

HOLIDAY TOUR OF HOMES

The Dec. 7 Holiday Tour of Homes will be a real treat. You'll get to see seven of Allen's homes decorated for the season. Plan to register, purchase $5 tickets, and enjoy holiday, food, and music at the Methodist Church Fellowship Hall between 2 and 7 p.m. and then take the tour of homes.

FIRST LUTHERAN CHURCH

On Dec. 7, First Lutheran Church members along with Concordia members are invited to attend the Advent Dinner (turkey and all the trimmings) at First Lutheran Church at 12:30 pm. Following dinner, each congregation will go to their respective churches to decorate for the holidays.

Other Advent activities: Sunday School program on Sunday, Dec. 14 during worship. Caroling at Hillcrest in Laurel and at Wakefield Care Center on Sunday, Dec. 20 at 4 pm - gather in Allen and return there following for soup/dessert and more singing. All ages are invited to participate.

MUSIC BOOSTERS

Need an idea for a Christmas present? Now is the time to order a personalized brick from the 1913 school building. Orders may be picked up at various Allen businesses and sent to Joy Bock. It takes two weeks to process an order so don't wait until it's too late to get your brick as a Christmas present.

Raffle tickets are being sold for the Allen quilt currently being displayed at the bank. The raffle will continue until Dec. 16 when a winner will be drawn at the Allen vs. Hartington basketball game. There will also be a waffle/scrambled egg/sausage supper served from 4 to 7 p.m. at the game.

The family of Walter Jager wish to say "Thank you" to so many dear people. Two small words to show our gratitude, at this time. Calls, visits, cards, food, "brought in and to the church", beautiful flowers, memorials, hugs, and comforting words, your presence at his service all so deeply appreciated, a big thank you. To Dr. David Felber for all his concern and care for Walter, to Pastor Koeber for his care and beautiful services. A special thanks to Eric for his solos, and Bonnie for accompanying him. To the Ladies at the church and the Jolly sewing club for the lunch and big thank you to the Schumacher Hasemann Funeral Home, you made it easier for us to say good-bye. To our son Huck for his "Footsteps of our Dad", to Larry and Dennis for helping with the chores, and to many others, "thank you".
From Leone, David, Jon, Huck and Chris, Gregg and Pam and our grandchildren

WE WISH we could thank each of you personally for the love and support you have shown our family since Melissa died. We have been blessed beyond measure. Each thought, prayer, phone call, card and hug have given us strength. We were overwhelmed that so many family members and friends attended Melissa's prayer service and funeral - some who were unable to even get inside the church - we felt the strength you gave us. Your kindness will never be forgotten. Tom & Ceil Mau; Tony, Donna and Jarod Mau; Doug & Mary Renky and family; Mabel Haberer, Dorothy Mau
