'Campus Showcase' to feature 'Pirates of Penzance' preview

The Wayne State College 'Campus Showcase' program, formerly known as 'First Fridays,' will be held on Friday, Feb. 6, beginning at 9 a.m. in the Elkhorn Room of the WSC Student Center.

The February 'Campus Showcase' program will feature Dr. Ronald Lofgren, associate professor of music, and Dr. Gwen Jensen, instructor of theater, who will present an entertaining and educational introduction and overview of "The Pirates of Penzance," the Gilbert and Sullivan popular comedic musical opera.

"The Pirates of Penzance" will be performed on Monday, Feb. 23, in Ramsey Theatre by the renowned touring company, Opera A La Carte, as part of the WSC Black and Gold performing arts series.

Because parking on campus is limited, a free shuttle service from the Wayne Senior Citizens Center/Public Library at 410 Pearl Street will be provided by the college before and after the 'Campus Showcase' event. The shuttle will depart from the Senior Citizens Center/Public Library at approximately 8:45 a.m. and will return immediately following the program. Those wishing to ride the shuttle are asked to park near the south end of the Senior Citizens Center.

Although designed for senior citizen appeal, all ages are invited and encouraged to attend 'Campus Showcase' programs. There is no admission charge. 'Campus Showcase' is sponsored by Wayne State as part of the school's mission of community and regional outreach.

For more information, please call Judy Johnson, director of college relations, at 402-375-7325.

Wildlife Federation and Nebraska Sustainable Agriculture Society' will take place Monday, Feb. 9, beginning at 9 a.m. and lasting until noon. The event will be held at Wayne State College in the Student Center's Frey Conference Suite.

The Conservation Security Program was created in the 2002 farm bill to provide financial assistance and incentives to farmers and ranchers who are addressing natural resource and environmental problems with their agricultural practices.

Traci Bruckner, an organizer of the event and policy analyst at the Center for Rural Affairs, says the program offers levels of financial assistance based on the degree of conservation practices employed on a farm.

"The Conservation Security Program is designed to support farmers and ranchers who are already engaged in strong conservation systems to protect soil, water, air and wildlife," said Bruckner, "as well as to help farmers and ranchers who agree to start implementing such practices."

The workshop will examine all aspects of the program:

Blood donors share gift of life

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

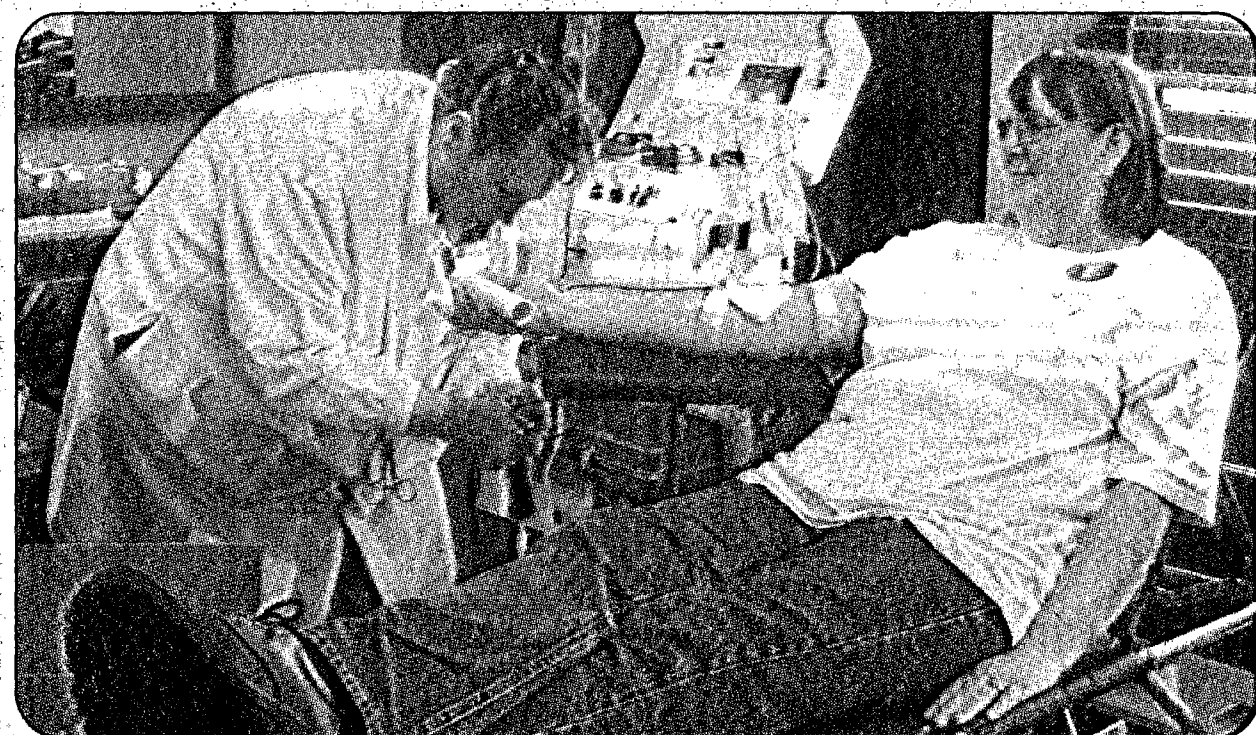

Since 1974 the Siouxland Community Blood Bank has been making regular visits to Providence Medical Center.

At last Thursday's visit, a proclamation was signed declaring January to be "National Volunteer Blood Donor Month." The proclamation launches the "Give Blood . . . The Gift of Life" campaign which highlights the need for continual and consistent volunteer blood donations to maintain local community blood supplies.

Among the regular donors is Candy Frerichs, who said she has been donating on a regular basis for approximately six years.

"I started donating after my father became ill and needed blood," she said.

"Often times, having an immediate family member need blood is the driving force behind someone becoming a donor. These are the people who know first hand about how important blood donation is and know there is no substitute for human donations," said Pam Masching, Director of Community Relations with the Siouxland Community Blood

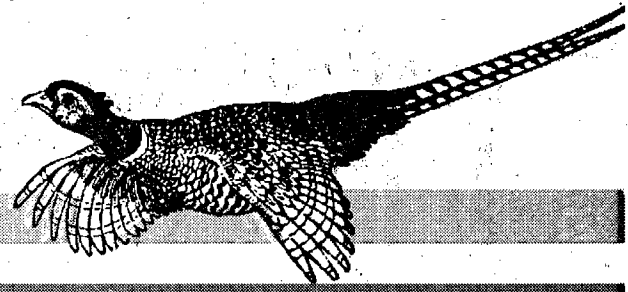

Candy Frerichs, rights, relaxes during her 29th donation at the Siouxland Community Blood Bank. Checking on her progress is Elena Oslin, RN, with the Blood Bank.

NEW BEGINNINGS!

February is traditionally recognized as Chamber of Commerce Month in Nebraska.

By: Bill Triick
Wayne Chamber
Executive Director

"It takes a combination of dedicated staff and active volunteers to accomplish the tasks that so many people take for granted," said Nebraska State Chamber President Barry Kennedy.

In Barry's January 2004 issue of the state chamber's monthly publication "Executive," he highlights the Wayne community when he writes, "that over 10,000 people come from over 20 different states to participate in a Chicken Show, (and) the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce continues to take the best advantage possible of a local commodity to attract national attention to their

Storms, cold weather call for extra precautions

Winter's frigid conditions and snow require extra precautions around the home, a University of Nebraska housing and environment specialist said.

"Faulty heaters, blocked chimneys and pipes, or the improper use of wood and other non-electric stoves and heaters can cause lethal buildups of carbon monoxide and other gases in the home," said Shirley Niemeyer, a housing and environment specialist in the university's Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

"People can die in this kind of weather due to carbon monoxide or frozen vent pipes that send gasses into the home," Niemeyer said. "People's furnaces fail and they may use backup heating sources that can be dangerous if they have not been maintained and serviced."

Any heating system or appliance that burns gas, oil, wood, propane or kerosene is a potential source of carbon monoxide, she said.

Carbon monoxide kills between 200 and 300 people each year in the United States. Children, pregnant women, the elderly and people with lung disease are at high risk for carbon monoxide poisoning, but anyone can be overcome by this odorless, tasteless and colorless gas, Niemeyer said.

Carbon monoxide reduces the blood's ability to carry oxygen, causing headaches, dizziness, confusion, nausea, unconsciousness and ultimately death.

"It can occur from a brief exposure to very high levels or long-term exposure from low levels," Niemeyer said. "That's why it's important to have functioning carbon monoxide alarms on each floor of the home."

If a carbon monoxide alarm sounds, a window should be opened quickly and everyone should immediately go outside to fresh air or to a nearby home. The local fire department and utility company should be notified.

Homeowners and landlords should make sure furnaces, stoves and fireplaces are inspected for cracks, gaps, rust, corrosion or debris. Gas or oil-fired appliances should be serviced annually, she said.

In addition to carbon monoxide poisoning, sewer gases also can be dangerous, Niemeyer said.

"If areas of your home are beginning to smell like a sewer, it may mean something isn't working," she said. "Toxic gases and fumes can present a serious hazard when sewer vents become plugged with ice. A heavy buildup of sewer gas can even be explosive." Basement floor drains often are area."

With 76 chambers to consider in featuring statewide chamber activities, it is a real tribute to the community of Wayne to be singled out with this recognition. As Barry points out further in his comments, "the proceeds that are realized (from the chicken show) are then used very effectively to accomplish many other legislative advocacy and community improvement goals."

Recently, the Retail Taskforce met to plan its major activities for the year which will include continuing professional education for business owners and leaders, helping businesses prepare for the repaving of Highway 15/ Main Street in 2006, conducting another December holiday season window decorating contest and shop at home campaign, expanding the Red Carpet Program for visitors to our community, and expanding the Chamber Bucks program. Obviously we will have more to say about these initiatives in future articles.

Last week the Wayne Ambassadors held their first quarterly meeting for 2004 to finalize plans for the year. President Joe Reinert will be leading this organization throughout the year in addition to serving the chamber as its Treasurer.

Until next time, remember, if there is anything that the Chamber or Wayne Industries can do for you, please call us.

Some government decisions unwise

By Ed Howard

Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Some stories about government are just too sweet to be passed over. Take the case of Frank Brooks of Lincoln and his hybrid, fuel-efficient and environment-friendly Toyota Prius.

The car runs on gasoline and electricity. The feds are so high on such vehicles that they provide buyers with a $2,000 tax credit.

What does the State of Nebraska do?

It sends them a bill for $75.

Why? The state is billing them for taxes they didn't pay, on gasoline they didn't use!

What can you say? Banks said he was upset. How's that for civility in the face of madness? He should get another tax credit just for not blowing a gasket.

It seems the state apparently didn't mean for the current law to put the bite on people like Brooks. It just worked out that way because of the way the statute is written. There is a bill pending to change the law.

Okay. Fine. But what about Brooks? What about his $75?

I don't know Frank Brooks. Don't know if he's a working man or if he's in the same tax bracket as A-Rod.

You know what? I don't care, either.

The state should return the guy's $75.

Of course, getting that done might require a study by a legislative committee, a special session of the Legislature, an opinion from the attorney general and eventual enactment of yet another statute.

No state can return money with the efficiency it musters when collecting it.

One anecdotal note: It could have been worse.

Take the case of my friend of 40-something years, Ken Rowlett. He lives in Ohio.

In Ohio, the state mails your license plates to you.

The state screwed up and didn't send Ken his tags on time. He got a ticket. Officials refused to let him have temporary tags until he received his previously paid for tags from the state, which caused this mess.

Ken had to buy a set of plates on the spot in order to use his car. Later, his plates arrived from the state.

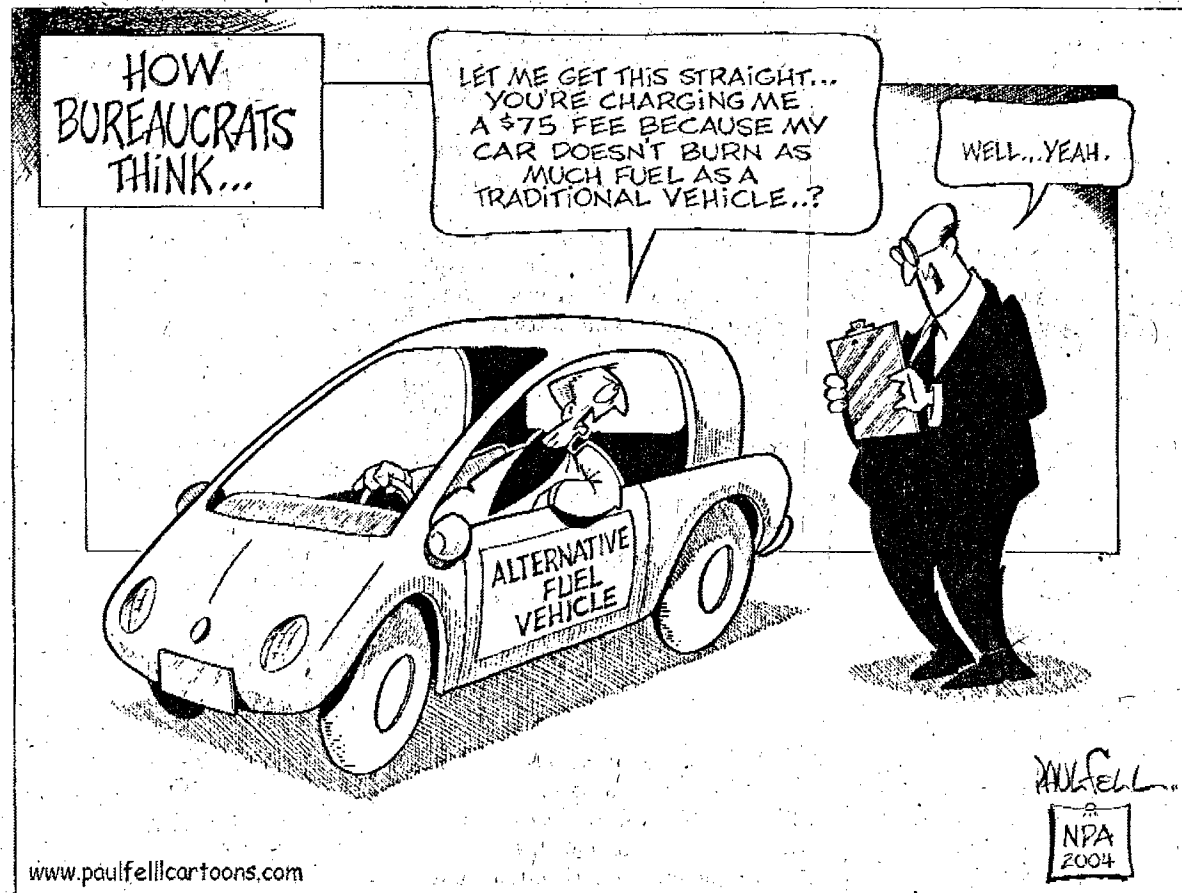

Meanwhile, he paid his fine.

Thus, Ken Rowlett is out the cost of the fine. And he is probably the only guy in Ohio with two sets of license plates - both paid for - that go with one vehicle. The whole deal cost him more than $200.

Worse still (from a reporter's view) he went to his local newspaper with this phantasmagoric affair. Someone told him it was "a non-story."

And worse than that: As a teenager, I once worked for that stupid newspaper. And I would have given a tooth, at least, for a story like the one Rowlett lived through.

Debate continues on controversial issues

The fourth week of the 2004 legislative session was shortened for the second week in a row. Friday was a recess day, meaning the legislature didn't convene for debate, and there were no committee hearings. This allows us time to spend a long weekend with our families.

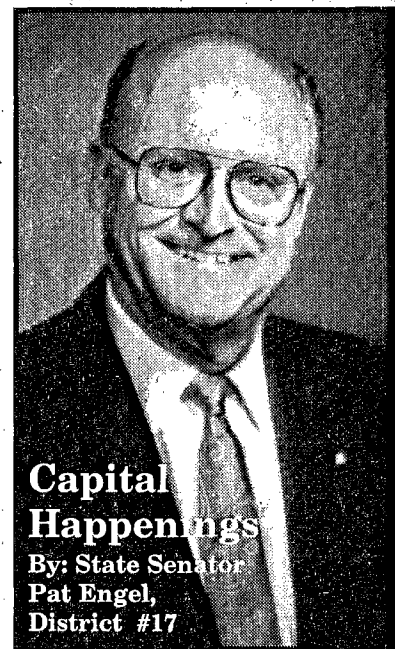

We're still concentrating our floor debate on carryover bills from last session, while the newly introduced bills are being heard in the various committees.

LB 139 is a bill that would add to the list of criminals required to submit to DNA testing. Currently, sexual and violent offenders are on the list; this bill would add burglary and robbery offenders. The experience of law enforcement shows a 50 percent likelihood that those offenders also may commit sexual and violence crimes.

The bill right now has been advanced to the next round of debate. If it advances through that final debate, we will join 44 other states that include robbery offenders in their DNA sampling, and 41 other states that include burglary offenders. I am in full support of this bill, and think it's an important issue that needs to be addressed.

We also debated LB 32, which deals with an important topic in our district. The federal government requires certain cities to deal with pollution carried into streams and lakes by rainwater. In Nebraska, the affected cities are

Capital Happenings
By: State Senator
Pat Engel,
District #17

Omaha, Lincoln, and South Sioux City.

LB 32, in its amended form, allows those cities, counties, and natural resource districts to raise tax levies to pay for the unfunded federal mandate. The bill is currently postponed for the drafting of this amendment, and should be put back on the agenda soon.

Upon final debate, this bill needs to be in an equitable form that assigns taxes or fees as fairly as possible.

LB 559 is a bill that would change provisions of the Motor Vehicle Operator's License Act.

Among other things, it would decrease the requirement of I.D. when applying for a driver's license. Only one form of I.D. would be needed under this bill.

The bill also provides the authority to enhance the security and reliability of the issuance process for drivers' licenses and identification cards. LB 559 has been advanced for the next round of debate.

The bill to repeal the Campaign Finance Limitation Act, LB 762, has also been up for discussion this week. As the bill stands, it would remove the act that limits the funds a candidate can spend on their campaign.

At that point, we would be left with no limits on campaign spending. Several senators had an issue with this point; they may not be in favor of the current Act, but they would like to see some type of limits in place. I don't think that this will come up again this session, however.

Thursday was dominated with the second round of debate on LB 172, the bill to eliminate a requirement for school districts to provide information about abortion options and judicial bypass.

I am in support of this bill. I have received letters from schools letting me know how burdensome it is for them to have to comply with this law every school year.

I think this is a matter between students and their parents, and should be discussed in the home, without requiring schools to provide this information to all students.

The bill is obviously an extremely contentious one on the floor, with several senators standing to voice their opinions. Nothing was decided on Thursday, so it will be at the top of the agenda on Monday.

I'm sure the floor debate will continue to be controversial next week, and I will be sure to keep you updated.

It's going to be a very challenging session, and I will keep you updated as the issues unfold.

If there is anything I can do for you, please do not hesitate to contact me at my Lincoln office: Sen. Pat Engel, District 17, State Capitol, P.O. Box 94604, Lincoln, NE 68509; (402) 471-2716; or lengel@unicam.state.ne.us.

Bank.
 The blood collected is used to help supply 28 communities in Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota with blood supplies.
 At PMC, 30 units of blood are kept on inventory at the hospital and exchanged every three weeks because certain blood products have a short shelf life.
 In addition, blood is available from the Siouxland Community Blood Bank in times of an emergency 24 hours a day, seven days a week if needed.

 Regulations regarding donations also change from time to time and someone who has been deferred in the past should be re-evaluated to see if they are now eligible.
 Among the more common questions potential donors have include:
 Allergies — OK to donate.
 Medication or shots OK.
 Most Antibiotics — The donor will be accepted 24 hours after completion of therapy.
 Blood pressure — Must be within acceptable limits. Most medications are acceptable, but must be reviewed by collection staff.
 Cancer — Melanoma, leukemia, lymphoma are permanent deferrals. All other forms of cancer are deferred for five years (Basal Cell Skin Cancer - no deferral).
 Diabetes — If well controlled by oral medication or insulin, are allowed to donate.
 Medications — Aspirin, birth control pills, antihistamines and thyroid medications will not disqualify the donor. Most medications are not a problem. Staff members will need to document the exact name of the medications on the donor card each time a donation is given.
 Tattoos/ Piercing — The donor needs to wait one year after they have received their tattoo. Ear and body piercings are allowed to donate if performed professionally with one-time-use sterile equipment set up.
 Travel Outside the U.S. — Need to be able to list areas of travel and dates. Each will be evaluated due to location and restrictions that apply. Some specific areas that need to be evaluated are the United Kingdom, European countries and Mexico.
 Vaccinations — Hepatitis - one day wait; chicken pox - two week wait; MMR - four week wait; flu shot - no wait; oral polio - two week wait.
 "Volunteer donors keep blood available in the community. Without their donations, we would not be able to save the lives of the hundreds of people we do each year," Ms. Masching said.

gency 24 hours a day, seven days a week if needed.

The Siouxland Community Blood Bank has been making regular visits to Wayne since 1974.

"We appreciate the support volunteer blood donors have shown to their community blood supply, knowing that each donation can help save up to three lives," said Janette Twait, CEO of the Siouxland Community Blood Bank. "Those medically able, can give up to six times a year. About 60 percent of people over the age of 17 are eligible to give but only about five percent do."

The Siouxland Community Blood Bank needs to collect over 1,000 units of blood each week to maintain proper inventory for the 28 community hospitals they service. National Volunteer Blood Donor month encourages current donors to give as often as they are allowed and first time donors to consider how important it is to give the gift of life.

To be eligible to donate whole blood, individuals must be at least 17 years of age; however, there is no upper age limit as long as the donor is in good health.

In addition, donors need to weigh over 110 pounds, have a hematocrit level of 38 percent and have not donated whole blood in the past 56 days. A photo I.D. is required at the time of registration.

To be eligible to make a Double Red Cell donation, males need to be at least 5 feet, 6 inches tall and weigh at least 150 pounds. Females need to be at least 5 feet 1 inch tall and weigh at least 130 pounds.

In addition to these requirements, hemoglobin needs to be tested at 13.3 and hematocrit levels need to be 40 percent for both male and female donors.

Double Red Cell donation can occur every 112 days.

To be eligible to donate platelets through automated technology, a donor must be between the ages of 18 and 76. The platelet count needs to be at least 150,000 and hemat-

Long chosen as People-to-People Ambassador

Zachary Long, a seventh grade student at Wayne Middle School, has been accepted to participate in the People to People Student Ambassador Program to Australia this summer.

This is an 18-day program which will consist of meetings with government officials, interaction with other students his own age from throughout the area and other parts of the country, educational activities and home visits with host families.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower founded People to People in 1956 in the belief that if people from different cultures could come together in peace and friendship, so eventually would countries. Eisenhower felt that ordinary citizens of different nations would solve their problems and find a way to live harmoniously with one another.

Since 1963 the Student Ambassador Program has taken thousands of American young people across international boundaries. In 2003, over 23,000 Student Ambassadors traveled all over the world.

Eisenhower's granddaughter, Mary Eisenhower is now carrying on her grandfather's vision and serves as CEO of People to People International.

Long has been an active member of the Wayne community. He is a member of the local Boy Scout which gives him opportunities for volunteer work. He participates in several school sports and band and choir. He is also a member of the summer swim team.

Zachary is an active member of the United Methodist Church of Wayne where he is an acolyte and participates in the Junior High Youth Group.

"I am looking forward to representing our community in Australia as I learn about their culture. I will be sharing the knowledge I gain in Australia with students at school as well as with members of the community when I return," Long said.

Long has been working to collect the money needed for the trip through jobs, collecting cans and sales. He is still short of his goal and is seeking financial sponsors for help. Program tuition is due by April 1.

Checks may be made payable to People to People Student Ambassador Program or to Long and sent to him at 1031 Lincoln, Wayne, Neb. 68787.

Rings are featured in magazine

Merle and Donna Ring of rural Wayne were recently featured in a story in the February/March issue of Farm & Ranch Living magazine. LaRayne Meyer of Pilger wrote the story.

This is the second time a story has been written about the Rings' and their farm. The first one appeared in the magazine 20 years ago and noted that the Rings have always enjoyed having community and church groups at their farm.

Meyer's story points out the changes at the farm since the Rings have retired; their land is rented out and their cattle are gone.

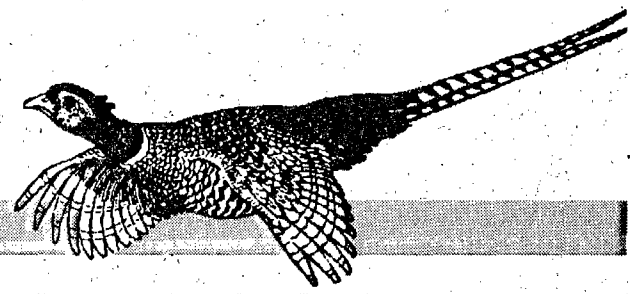

Also, their remodeled barn that was in the story years ago has been remodeled again so people can come and listen to entertainment. Some of the entertainment includes sing-alongs with Merle and Donna (Merle plays the organ and Donna plays the piano), a local gospel quartet, "For the Master," and other groups putting on concerts for fundraisers or for fun. The Rings do not charge for the use of their barn.

Meyer ends with focusing on what hasn't changed and that is that their farm is still a pretty place.

The Fred G. Dale Planetarium located at the south entrance of the Carhart Science Building on the WSC campus. There is no admission charge. Special showings for school groups and other organizations may be arranged by contacting the planetarium at 402-375-7343.

Big second half rally lifts Wayne State men over MSU-Moorhead

Saturday night's basketball game between the Wayne State men and MSU-Moorhead was a rarity for several reasons. Take your pick.

1-The Wildcats rallied from a 30-16 halftime deficit and an 18-point deficit in the second half to down the Dragons 69-58.

2-Wayne State scored more points from the free throw line (37) than from the field (32).

3-MSU-Moorhead held the lead for 36 of the game's 40 minutes.

It was that kind of a night at Rice Auditorium.

"Our backs were against the wall and yet we still found a way to win the game," said WSC head coach Rico Burkett.

The Wildcats struggled against MSU-Moorhead's 3-2 zone defense in the first half and hit just 5 of 21 shots from the field (23 percent).

But a more aggressive attack and a different offense in the second half helped the Wildcats come back in the second half.

"In the second half, we went with four perimeter players and one inside on offense to try and attack the zone better and it worked. We were more aggressive and it got us some opportunities to score," added Burkett.

WSC used a big advantage from the free throw line to win the game as the Wildcats canned 37 of 43 attempts, including 32 of 36 in the second half. MSU-Moorhead was 13 of 22 at the stripe.

Brett Cain paced the Wildcats in scoring with 24 points. Derek Archer contributed 15 points and Dallas Hodges had 14.

The Wildcats suffered through their worst shooting night of the season, hitting just 15 of 46 shots from the field for 32.6 percent. MSU-Moorhead was 21 of 47 for 44 percent.

Wayne State held a 39-28 edge in rebounding over the Dragons. Cain and Archer each hauled in 12 caroms for the 'Cats. Hodges dished out a team-high five assists.

Friday evening, the Wildcats suffered a disappointing 87-73 loss at Rice Auditorium to Northern State. The Wolves controlled much of the game, taking a 47-35 lead at halftime. Northern State enjoyed a 27-point lead at one point in the second half before finishing with the 87-73 win.

Coach Burkett said he was very disappointed in his team's effort considering the importance of the game.

"We were flat. We didn't have that competitive fight in a big game situation and that was disappointing," stated Burkett. "But give Northern credit, they exploited our weaknesses and took it to us."

Brett Watson had 17 points to lead Wayne State in scoring. Dusty Smith added 14 and Hodges finished with 12.

Northern State shot a sizzling 70 percent from the field on 34 of 48, including 7 of 12 from the three point line. WSC was 23 of 55 from the field (41.8 percent) and just 6 of 20 from the three point line.

The Wildcats were nearly perfect at the free throw line, connecting on 21 of 22 shots (95 percent). Northern St. was 12 of 21.

Wayne State was out rebounded in the game 31-22. Tim Gesell led the Wildcats with five boards.

The Wildcats, now 13-8 overall, and 7-3 in the NSIC, will travel to Minnesota-Duluth Saturday for a 3 pm game. Bemidji State leads the NSIC with an 8-1 mark with Northern State second at 8-2.

Wayne State is third in the league with a 7-3 NSIC record.

Blue Devils with Garvin adding six caroms.

Wayne traveled to West Point last Friday evening and brought home a 55-43 victory.

The Blue Devils got off to a slow start, trailing 11-4 in the first quarter. Wayne then switched to a box-in-one defense to shut down West Point star Sean Blocher and the Blue Devils played well after that according to Coach Ruhl.

Wayne trailed 12-11 after one quarter, but outscored the host Cadets 18-11 in the second quarter to take a 29-23 halftime lead. The Blue Devils led 42-35 after three quarters and held a 13-8 scoring edge in the fourth quarter to make the final score 55-43.

"We knew we would get their best shot and I thought our team responded well," said Coach Ruhl. "I thought we played well after we switched defenses in the first quarter."

Fink poured in a game-high 24 points to pace Wayne in scoring, including 12 points in the second quarter alone. Dicks and Garvin also reached double figures with 10 points each. Rounding out the scoring were Nissen with six, Munter three and Wade Jarvi with two.

The Blue Devils connected on 22 of 42 shots from the field (52.4 percent) while holding West Point to 34 percent shooting on 16 of 47. Wayne was 10 of 17 at the foul line with West Point hitting just 5 of 16 free throws.

Thanks to 12 rebounds by Dicks, Wayne won the rebounding battle 32-20. Fink added nine caroms with Garvin hauling in seven boards. Nissen handed out eight of Wayne's 18 assists in the game.

The Wayne JV team improved to 11-2 with an easy 44-19 win over the West Point Cadets.

Eleven players scored in the win, led by Brian Mohl's nine points. Wade Jarvi had seven, Ben Mohl six, Cale Giese had five, John Whitt four, Jared Jöhle and Scott Baier three each, Josh Ruwe, Tyler Johnson and Josh Rasmussen scored two apiece and Dustin Bargholz finished with one.

Wayne, now sporting a 14-2 mark, will face Pierce in the semi-finals of the Mid States Tournament Friday evening at Northeast Community College in Norfolk with tipoff set for around 7:45 pm. The consolation and championship games will be played Saturday at 4 and 8 pm respectively at Northeast CC.

WSC track teams win four events at Dordt Invite

The Wayne State College indoor track and field teams picked up four wins and set one new school record at the Dordt College Invitational in Sioux Center, Iowa Saturday.

The men's team collected three wins with two of them coming from a pair of seniors.

Eric Havranek (Ainsworth) made a stellar debut in his first meet of the season by winning the 55 meter dash in a time of 6.62 seconds. He narrowly edged out teammate Zach Molacek by one one-hundredth of a second. Havranek sat out previous meets due to a lower leg injury.

"I was happy to see Eric Havranek back in action and looking very strong," stated WSC head track coach Marlon Brink. "He will be important to having success for our team at the NSIC Championships."

Brian Dixon (Raymond) also won his specialty event, the 55-meter hurdles, in a time of 7.88 seconds.

"Brian continues to look very strong in the hurdles," remarked Coach Brink. "He had a couple of good races in both the prelim and the finals."

The men's 4 x 800 meter relay team picked up the third gold medal on the day by winning the race in a time of 8:06.79. Runners included Eric Klein, Nate McIntire, Korey Kriz and Matt Schaffer.

Other top performances for the men included Jeremy Eickman, second in the shot put at 45'10" and the 4 x 400 meter relay team, second at 3:27.79. Runners included Dixon, Kriz, Ryan Leriger and Schaffer.

The women's team collected one win with freshman Tanna Walford (York) collecting first place in the high jump with a mark of 5'4". She has a season best mark of 5'7" and is currently ranked third in the nation in the event.

"Tanna is looking good again with her jumping," said Coach Brink. "I think her confidence is growing as we near the big meets of the season, which is especially helpful to her."

The women's 4 x 800 meter relay team set a new school record and were narrowly edged out of first place. The quartet of Angie Kraus, Jodi Rhodig, Erin Oswald and Ashley Smith ran a time of 9:45.08 to shatter the record the same foursome previously set this season at 10:01.91.

"The relay team had an outstanding race," remarked Brink. "All four of those girls have been working hard this season and are seeing some great results in return."

Tiffany Schacher finished second in the 55-meter hurdles in 8.84 seconds and the 4 x 400 meter relay team of Kraus, Smith, Rhodig and Oswald placed second with a time of 4:10.05.

"Tiffany is regaining her form from two years ago," added Coach Brink. "This is her best time since she won the NSIC Championship in 2002."

The Wildcats will travel to Aberdeen, S.D. on Friday to compete in the Northern State University Quadrangular. Wayne State will welcome 12 teams to Wayne for the Wildcat Open on Saturday, Feb. 14.

seconds which they set earlier this season with a time of 9:45.08. The time also ranks first in the NSIC by over one minute.

Allen boys sink Pirates

The Allen boys basketball team clinched a share of their second consecutive Lewis Division regular season crown Friday evening by sinking the Emerson-Hubbard Pirates 71-32 in Emerson. The win moves the Eagles record to 14-0 overall and 5-0 in the Lewis and Clark Conference.

The host Pirates challenged Allen early in the game by playing a gimmick defense. The Eagles held a slim 18-14 lead after one quarter.

Allen adjusted their defensive scheme in the second quarter and seized control of the game, outscoring Emerson-Hubbard 20-8 to take a 38-22 halftime lead.

The Eagles really clamped down on the Pirates in the third period, limiting E-H to just three points. Meanwhile, Allen had six different players score 18 points and the margin ballooned to 56-25 at the end of the third quarter.

The final period was a time for reserves of both squads as the Eagles outscored the Pirates by a 15-7 count to bring the final score to 71-32.

"We played with a lot of intensity after the first period," remarked Allen head coach Dave Uldrich. "Emerson-Hubbard played exceptionally well and also with a lot of spirit in the first half."

Four Allen players hit double digits in the game, led by Duane Rahn with 15 points. Brett Koester posted 14 while Corey Uldrich and Bart Sachau added 13 points each. Other scorers included Andrew Sachau with eight points, Aaron Smith five, Derick Nice two and Nathan Sturges one.

"This was a quality win for us and we need to stay focused on one game at a time," added Coach Uldrich. "We will have to continue to fine tune our game if we want a chance to win in the conference tournament."

Next action for the Eagles will be at Emerson-Hubbard in the Lewis and Clark Tournament tonight (Thursday). Allen will face Winnebago at 6:15 pm. The divisional final will be played Friday evening at 8 pm with the Lewis and Clark Finals scheduled for Monday in Laurel at 8 pm.

WSC women sneak by Northern State, lose to MSU-Moorhead

The Wayne State women's basketball team began the second half of the NSIC schedule at home last weekend.

The Wildcats earned a split, knocking off Northern State Friday evening 62-60, but falling to MSU-Moorhead on Saturday 68-47.

Friday's game with Northern State was close throughout. The biggest lead in the game for either team was five points, which occurred just three times. WSC held a 31-29 lead at halftime and went up 62-57 with :11 left before hanging on for the 62-60 win.

"Our effort was outstanding," stated WSC Head Coach Ryan Williams. "It was nice to finish a game and we did it with some big plays."

Junior guard Kim Hefner scored a career-high 17 points to lead the Wildcats.

"Kim Hefner was outstanding," added Coach Williams. "She hit some big three's and free throws down the stretch."

Freshman forward Erin McCormick added 14 points and a team-leading eight rebounds.

Kristin Humphries also hit double figures with 10 points.

"I thought another key to the game was our defensive effort, especially in the last five minutes of the game," stated Williams.

Wayne State won the game despite hitting just 34.5 percent from the field (20 of 58). Northern State made 20 of 44 shots for 45 percent.

Both teams shot well at the charity stripe. WSC was 14 of 17 while Northern State hit 18 of 24 free throws. The Wildcats were outbounded in the game 36-30. WSC had just nine turnovers compared to NSU's 20.

Saturday's game with MSU-Moorhead didn't turn out as well with the visiting Dragons downing Wayne State 68-47.

The game was tied 26-26 at halftime, but MSU-Moorhead pulled away in the second half by doubling up the Wildcats offensively 42-21.

"Moorhead was physical and did a great job of defending us," said Williams. "We didn't establish an inside game and could never get anything going."

Freshman guard Lauren Gustafson was the only player to reach double figures for the Wildcats, scoring 11 points. WSC struggled from the field, making just 26 percent on 16 of 61 field goal shooting. Meanwhile, MSU-Moorhead made 25 of 46 shots for 54 percent. The Dragons also held a commanding 45-26 rebounding advantage. Ashley Arndorfer led WSC with four caroms.

Winside wrestlers earn second place finish at Ainsworth Invitational

The Winside wrestling team traveled to the Ainsworth Invitational Saturday and brought home a second place finish. The tournament featured 39 state-ranked wrestlers from Nebraska and South Dakota.

Cozad won the 12-team tournament with 165 points with Winside second at 135. Burke/Gregory S.D. placed third with 115.5 points, followed by Rushville (113), Valentine (92), Amherst (85.5), Sargent (80.5), Ainsworth (66), Sandhills (26), Gordon (24), Bayard (24) and Rock County (0).

Veteran Wildcat coach Paul Sok said he felt pretty good about his team's second place effort at Ainsworth.

"There was a good mixture of Class B, C and D schools in the meet and it has always been a tough tournament for us," said Sok. "It has been a few years since we came away with a trophy, so it was great to snag one this year."

Winside had eight wrestlers earn medals, including a tournament-leading three individual champions.

Bo Brummels returned from a two-week layoff due to injury and went 3-0 to win the 125 pound title. Josh Sok won the 160 pound division with a 3-1 overtime win over Cort Scheer from Sandhills and Bryce Roberts won all three of his matches by pin to win the 215 pound category.

Two other Winside grapplers, Jesse Thies at 103 and Josh Staub at 112, reached the finals but settled for second place medals. Thies reached the finals by topping Class C fourth-ranked Adam Quinn of Ainsworth 6-3, avenging a 15-8 loss to Quinn in the finals of the Winside Tournament on Jan. 10. Staub reached the finals by blanking Tarrell Bauld of Gregory, S.D. 5-0. Bauld is ranked fourth in South Dakota.

Andrew Sok (119) and Eric Morris (171) both placed third for the Wildcats with Nathan Stevens bringing home a fourth place medal at 130 pounds to round out Winside's medal winners.

"I feel this was a good way to go into the final part of the season," remarked Coach Sok. "The meet at Clearwater on Friday will definitely set the tone for districts the next week with nine Class D teams participating."

Winside had two wrestlers compete in the reserve tournament with Chris Thies placing first at 103 and James Neel finishing second at 130.

The Wildcats close out the regular season at the Clearwater Invitational Friday evening.

Wayne wrestlers finish dual season with win

The Wayne High wrestling team completed the dual schedule Tuesday evening with a 39-36 win over Columbus Lakeview at the Wayne High gym.

Wayne won six of the eight matches that were wrestled, but Lakeview kept the score close thanks to four forfeits (24 points). "The Lakeview dual was a great way to conclude the dual season," said Wayne head coach Kevin Finkey. "We needed to score pins to make up points for the five open weight classes and the seniors led the way through their last home dual at Wayne High School."

Matt Nelson stayed unbeaten on the season (26-0) with a first period pin at 140 pounds. Also winning by pin in the first period were Dan Reinhardt, at 171 pounds and Dana Schuett at 215.

Jacob Kay notched a pin late in the third period (5:56) in his match at 145 pounds.

Josh Widner won by technical fall (16-0) at 112 pounds while Matt Roeber posted a 16-2 major decision victory at 152 pounds to close out the Wayne wins.

Wayne finished the dual season with a 4-3 record.

The Blue Devils traveled to Albion Saturday for the Boone Central Invitational.

Wayne finished ninth out of 12 teams with 90.5 points. The Blue Devils sent just seven wrestlers to the tournament, but six of the seven came home with medals.

Host Boone Central captured the tournament with 200 points. David City High was second at 163 and David City Aquinas third with 153 points.

Madison came in fourth with 123 points, followed by Platteview (116.5), Kearney (111.5), Lexington (99.5), York (93), Wayne, Neligh-Oakdale (71.5), O'Neill (67.5) and Elkhorn Valley (57) to round out the team scoring.

"Saturday's tourney was the toughest we have been to all season," remarked Finkey. "The 140 pound weight class had the top three wrestlers in Class B and the finals between Matt Nelson and Trevor Spiegel was outstanding. Dana Schuett also had a challenging weight class at 189."

Leading the way for Wayne was senior Matt Nelson, who escaped with an exciting win in the 140 pound championship match.

Nelson trailed Trevor Spiegel of Boone Central 11-6 late in the match, but scored five points in the final 15 seconds to force overtime, where he scored a takedown to post a dramatic 13-11 win to keep a perfect slate on the season. The two wrestlers could face each other again this Saturday in the Mid States Conference Tournament at Norfolk.

Dana Schuett also reached the championship match at 189 pounds, but fell to unbeaten and top-ranked Eric Dolezal of Platteview by pin in the first period.

Seniors Matt Roeber and Dan Reinhardt each earned fourth place medals at 152 and 160 pounds respectively while Josh Widner (112) and Jacob Kay (145) both finished in sixth place for the Blue Devils.

Wayne will compete at the Mid States Conference Tournament in Norfolk on Saturday, then prepare for the Class B-2 District Tournament at Platteview High School in Springfield on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 13 and 14.

Dan Reinhardt of Wayne works the arm of Columbus Lakeview's Luis Zaenz during Tuesday's dual in Wayne.

Take field trip

For a January field trip, Wayne Head Start walked to McDonald's. Sheila Johnson gave the tour to the preschoolers, letting them take cookies back to the center to have with their lunches. The children were very excited about seeing behind the counters of the place they love to eat at. In the pictures, (top), Johnson let Mackenzi Edwards try on the head set while another employee talked to them in the speakers just like they hear from the drive through. Bottom, Sheila also let Avery Hilsinger try on the headset. The children went in the freezers and saw where the food is stored and then they watched how the food was cooked.

Carbon monoxide is a concern in cold weather

During winter months, the number of deaths and injuries from carbon monoxide poisoning increases with about 80 percent of deaths happening in the home. Consumers can take action to help prevent carbon monoxide poisoning.

Carbon monoxide is a colorless, odorless gas produced by burning fossil fuel. Each year, a qualified professional should check all fuel-burning appliances for potential carbon monoxide problems. Furnaces, water heaters and stoves that burn natural or propane gas, heating oil, wood, or other fuel should be checked for potential carbon monoxide leaks.

Chimneys and flues should be checked for leakage and creosote or debris blockage. Also be aware of ice or other weather problems that could cause blockage in chimneys and flues.

Loose or disconnected vents from furnaces, water heaters, boilers, or vented space heaters also should be corrected. High temperature plastic venting pipes should be inspected for any separation or cracks — especially on gas-fired mid-efficiency furnaces or boilers installed between 1987-1990.

Professionals should also check for the potential of downdrafting or spillage. Downdrafting can occur when other exhaust fans are in use and the natural drifting of a fuel-fired appliance is overpowered and the air in the home is at a lower pressure than outside. Downdrafts result when air flow reverses in a vent of a chimney pulling air and combustion gases back into the house.

Anything that moves air out of a home and depressurizes the house can potentially downdraft the chimney. This includes exhaust fans, other vented appliances, fireplaces and holes in the ceiling. Tight homes can result in air to air heat exchanger. In addition annual inspections, carbon monoxide alarms should be installed that meet Underwriters Laboratories requirements. Battery powered, AC current or a combination are available. Due to potential electrical outages or forgetting to check or replace batteries, a combination carbon monoxide alarm is recommended.

It is also important to never use charcoal grills in enclosed spaces, such as a home, garage, vehicle, tent or partially enclosed patio. Avoid using ranges and ovens to heat the home.

It is very important to have appliances and items inspected before they are used. Know the operating and safety procedures that must be followed. Generators, especially, require a complete understanding of how they are to be safely used.

downdrafting when insufficient air is available for ample combustion. Consult an owner's manual for recommendations.

Heating systems may have poor combustion or poor venting. Defective installation of a vent, such as it being too small or large, insufficient height, too many elbows or improper location, can cause venting problems and contribute to carbon monoxide problems.

To reduce the risk of carbon monoxide poisoning, natural draft heating appliances can be replaced with sealed combustion units specifically designed to operate in tighter homes. The units are sealed pipes with outside combustion air supplied directly to the burner chamber. Also consider an

Bev Peterson will not seek re-election to State Board of Education

Bev Peterson of Oakland has announced that she will not seek re-election to the State Board of Education's District 3 seat, which represents northeast Nebraska. Peterson, who now serves as State Board of Education vice president, said the decision was difficult.

"I've enjoyed the challenge of working with the State Board of Education," she said. "I have worked on education initiatives that will benefit students and schools across our state in the areas of standards, assessment and essential education, her grandchildren and be an active member of the State Board of Education during the remainder of her term, which ends January of 2005. Peterson was first elected to the State Board of Education in 1996. She served as president and vice president during her tenure. She also is on the Board of Directors of the National Association of State Boards of Education.

Being Positive May Help Your Immune System
There may be something to the idea that there is a connection between positive thinking and good health. In a recent study, scientists measure responses to the common flu vaccine. They found that activation of the brain regions associated with negative emotions weakened a person's immune response. In contrast, activation of the area of the brain that's linked to more positive emotions led to a strong immune response to the vaccine. Study author, Dr. Richard Davidson says, "stress appears to interfere with the brain's ability to communicate with certain types of immune cells." Don't worry, be healthy!

AMERICAN LEGION
 (Meeting news from January 9th that was inadvertently missed, sorry!) President Phyllis O'Brien called the regular January meeting to order. Chaplain, Norma Smith led everyone in prayer and observed a moment of silence for the dead. "The Star Spangled Banner" was sang and the "Pledge to the Flag" was recited.

Roll call was answered by "What would be your favorite activity if there was a snowstorm or a blizzard?" Answers ranged from napping to quilting, embroidering, reading, puzzles, games and just keeping warm.

Chairmen of the membership committee reported two new members making a total of 78.

Communications Chairman, Donna Stalling, will attempt to locate the correct address of Kurt Jensen who is serving in the service in Iraq. (He is the son of Schoolteacher, Warren Jensen.) Norma made a motion that each member should bring an item to make up a care package to send to him.

Donna made a motion to change the dues from $15.50 to $16.00 and from $3.50 to $4.00 for junior members.

District Convention will be in Oakland on the 21st of March. Members will be asked to furnish cookies.

Phyllis is constructing a publicity notebook. The M.I.A. Flag is displayed along with the state and national ones at each meeting.

Treasurer books will be audited when Gail returns: Joanne Rahn will check out the coffee pots to explore the need of placing one in the firehall.

Donna compiled the serving lists for serving at our meetings and for the Bloodmobile lunch.

The Legion Pancake Breakfast is tentatively set for March 21. Joanne Rahn and Carol Werner served lunch. Servers for February will be Jean Morgan and Wanda Novak.

The meeting was closed with a prayer by the Chaplain.

Students write reactions to trip

Editor's note: The following is the first in a series of articles written by students at Allen Schools about their reactions to a trip to the Sugar Bowl in early January.

Eighth grade students enjoyed many new experiences while on the band trip to the Sugar Bowl. Following are samples of their writing describing these experiences.

Jenny Warner
 When I was in New Orleans, I saw and met many of the Louisiana State University football players repeatedly because they were in the same hotel as we were. Many of the football players towered over the Allen band members. They were muscular and had a husky look to them. When they talked to me, they had deep voices, many with southern accents. They were very polite and always replied with "Yes, Ma'am."

Since the LSU football players were staying at our hotel, there was a mighty crowd to greet and cheer them. Whenever the players came into or left the hotel, there were police, rope barriers, guards, and escorts for the players. The crowd roared LSU, LSU and jammed the hotel lobby.

When we got to the game and the three tiers of seats were filled, the yellow and purple of LSU dominated but there was lots of red for Oklahoma there also. The noise was deafening as the fans cheered on their teams.

I enjoyed meeting the LSU players in our hotel and seeing them at the game.

Whitney Smith
 The streets of downtown New Orleans were very narrow. They were mostly made of cement and bricks that formed patterns. The buildings looked very old, but there were a few new buildings also.

When the day was getting late, there were mobs of crowds walking whichever way possible. Since the streets were so packed, we didn't even see the donkeys pulling carriages and other vehicles coming until they were right in front of us. At the time when we were in the streets, we could hear all the people laughing, talking, screaming, and yelling.

On the day of the big game, we could hear the LSU and Oklahoma fans cheering back and forth about which team was going to win. We heard this especially because we were amongst LSU fans.

The stores and markets had great foods like sauces, breads, chips, pastries, and drinks. Canal Street, on which our hotel, the Marriot, was located, had an area in the middle where trolleys traveled during the day and police cars and motorcycles traveled at night. Every two blocks there were big cross streets where buses could turn around. Most streets in New Orleans were narrow with lots of trash on the ground, but they were still enjoyable to walk through.

Luke Woodward

The Audubon Zoo in New Orleans was a great place to visit. At the entrance was a huge elephant statue with a fountain of water shooting out of its trunk. The rest of the zoo had 10 different sections of animals. It was so large we didn't get to see the whole thing; we only made it to four areas in the allotted 2 1/2 hours. I enjoyed the primate area with monkeys and chimps and the Asian Dominion which had elephants and tigers.

The Louisiana Swamp area had alligators, reptiles, snakes, and turtles. In the reptile section, a zookeeper let us touch a small, black snake. His back was cool and scaly. The Audubon Zoo was one of the best places we visited.

Feeling like winter will never end

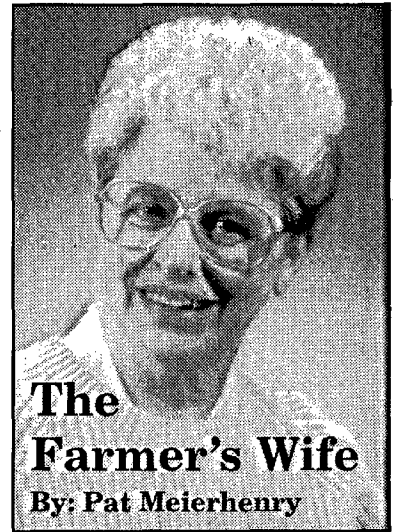

I'm pretty sure the ground hog saw his shadow today, and I don't know if I can take six more weeks of winter. We have about eight more inches of "winter" on top of the 12 from last week. Here in Lincoln, they don't know where to go with it.

I say "here in Lincoln" because I'm staying at my Mom's. Of all times for the hospice coordinator to go on vacation, I had to work today and tomorrow. I got nervous on Sunday with a forecast for wind and more snow, so came on into town.

Of course, Grandma is delighted to have someone to cook for, but I left the Big Farmer with a guest; and he's no cook! Actually, she stays one week of every month, and she can just make herself at home, so I wasn't too worried.

She's an animal nutritionist and is one interesting lady. Raised in a small town in Iowa, with a veterinarian father, she attended Iowa State. Then she did post-graduate work at Cornell, lived in Germany, met and married a German, worked for years at the Bronx Zoo, and has travelled all over the world, consulting. That's what she does here: consults with Ox Bow Pet Products.

By: Pat Meierhenry

They are even getting into turtles and koi. If you have rabbits, hamsters, or guinea pigs, Ox Bow has a nutrition plan for them.

I've never met Lynn Sievers at the Herald, but I consider her my guardian angel. She's always warning me when the deadline is early, or when I space it off completely. My computer has been locked up and it's in the shop the second time, so I've been sending them in long hand. My hand writing has deteriorated after years of charting. Last week, she had to call to ask me to translate Xenon.

Then, on Friday, she told Mike the last two words of my treatise on spas got cut off. Sure enough. The last sentence should say "it was hard to get back to my Noxzema routine."

I say that, of course, with tongue in cheek. You should be able to tell that I don't spend much time on makeup. My co-workers used to say that they could tell it was an important day if I had on blush and eye shadow.

A nurse I worked with once told us she used five different products on her hair every morning. I guess I like to sleep too well for that.

I once saw a documentary about a product that would kill the worms that blinds African children. That same product appears to minimize facial lines when used in cosmetics. Guess what the company is making. That's obscene.

The lines on my face are normal. I'm not getting younger. And, there are far more important priorities in life. End of sermon.

Liska attends convention

Dr. Ken Liska of Wayne attended the 108th Annual Convention of Nebraska Veterinary Medical Association at the Embassy Suites Hotel in Lincoln Jan. 14-17.

Nationally known speakers presented sessions for "Small/companion animal" and "large/ food animal" veterinarians.

Highlighting the social events was the Annual Banquet on Friday evening. Entertainment was provided by Dr. Joe Jeffrey of Lexington. A licensed veterinarian and owner operator of Robb Ranch, Dr. Jeffrey provided universal comedy that touched everyone in attendance.

Numerous auxiliary activities were also held during the Convention.

The sessions are accredited toward mandatory continuing education requirements for license renewal.
