The next city council meeting will be Tuesday, April 27 at 7:30 p.m. when the council will meet in the city council room at 306 Pearl Street. Planning Commission meeting about rental property May 3 at 7 p.m. The Wayne Planning Commission is meeting in regular session on Monday, May 3 in the city) council room to continue review and discussion of amendments to the city code to change the regulation of single family and duplex type rental property in Wayne. The proposed ordinance would establish a schedule to phase in the following requirements for these rental properties over a 24-month period.

1) would require that one offstreet paved parking stall be provided per bedroom or occupant capacity of the rental property. 2) would require that the parking stalls be located only in front of a garage (limit of two) on a paved driveway or in the side or back yard of the rental house.

3) would prohibit parking in front yards and on grass anywhere.

4) would require the buyer or owner of a single family to register it as a rental property before converting any portion of it from an owner-occupied residence to rental property.

Permit before renting out a portion of the home he/she is living in. 6) would require these rental properties to have: smoke alarms in bedrooms; egress windows in bedrooms; lighted stairways; hand rails for stairways; grounded outlets in kitchens and bathrooms. 7) the limit of four unrelated persons per single family residence remains in place.

Adequate rental property is important to Wayne and the meeting on May 3 is open to the public. If you are a property owner or a neighbor, be a part of the discussion. You can get a copy of the proposed changes during business hours at the utility office or from Chanelle in the planning office on the second floor in the city hall. The planning commission members and mayor and council are having an open and on-going discussion regarding the above ideas.

Noise ordinance

The council has passed an Ordinance, on first reading, that would establish limits on volume and length of time that excessive noises would be allowed. Under this proposal, if a noise complaint were received, a decibel meter would be used to measure the volume at the property line of the creator of the noise and if the volume exceeds the established level, the creator of the noise would be warned or cited for a violation. Does this sound nitpicky?

Citations for noise complaints can't be enforced in the court unless legal limits are established ahead of time and the volume and duration are measured by a calibrated decibel meter at the time of occurrence.

Will we use this very often? Probably not, but we can't enforce complaints with our current noise ordinance.

Ideas on recruiting violations

Dear Editor,

I'm sure everybody all over the country has heard about the recruiting violations that the Colorado Buffaloes have committed. Violations such as gifts of clothing to recruits, contacts with athletics representatives, excessive reimbursement of travel expenses for recruits and improprieties involving entertainment expenses have shamed the University of Colorado and college football. I really find it hard to believe that Coach Gary Barnett had no idea that these allegations were going since his presence with the University of Colorado. A month into the investigation, the athletic directors in the Big 12 formed a panel committee to look into their recruiting programs as well. Instead of the Big 12 Conference having an investigation on their teams' recruiting, the NCAA should force all the conferences to perform a thorough process to determine that all the schools are following the rules and procedures when it comes to recruiting. This process should be performed on all the schools at least once every two or three years, so we don't have a repeat of what happened in Boulder,

Capitol View Voters to decide on gambling issue

By Ed Howard Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

The power inherent in the right of Nebraskans to bypass the Legislature was self-evident on the eve of the final day of the 2004 session.

A constitutional amendment that could bring casino gambling to the state will be submitted to the voters at the November 2 general election.

The Unicameral voted to put the issue on the ballot in the face of a powerful initiative petition effort supported by gambling interests in Las Vegas, among others.

Lawmakers have consistently balked at proposals to amend the constitution to allow expanded gambling in the state. Why the change of heart?

First, in recent years senators have seen two initiative petitions on this subject gather more than enough signatures to qualify for the ballot. The state Supreme Court eventually declared that each was fatally flawed. You know what they say about the third time being a charm. Lawmakers were confronted this year by a well-financed petition effort that would allow casino gambling and also place up to 4,900 slot machines around the state.

petition effort will fail. They also hope that, if it should get to the ballot, voters will opt for the more modest proposal offered by the Legislature.

Have no doubt: If the petition drive weren't seen as having a very real chance of getting onto the ballot, and possibly winning approval, no plan for expanded gambling would have made it through the Legislature this year.

Our form of representative government centers on the people electing someone to participate in policymaking.

When Nebraskans feel that the judgment of their representative(s) conflicts with the will of the people, they have a couple of potential solutions.

One is to resort to the petition process. The other is to vote another candidate into office the next time around.

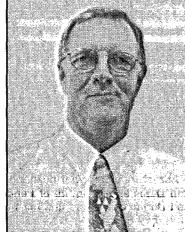

Nebraska is a state that allows the people to propose enactment of laws and amendments to the state constitution by gathering sufficient signatures in support of a petition to put an issue on the bal-

A good many lawmakers concluded this year that voters want to decide the matter. So, it didn't make sense to have only the gambling interests' proposal in front of them.

Voila! An issue that could hardly come within spitting of the ballot in past years is suddenly able to win approval from the Legislature. The voice of the people was heard.

Customer Appreciation Night in June. There has been dialogue that perhaps the evening needed a new focus or direction. It was the consensus of those who met that the format will change.

As a valuable customer to a Wayne retailer or service business, you are recognized or thanked throughout the year in different ways by each business. Although that is an on-going endeavor, they felt they did want to target their customers and say thank you at a special community event. Therefore, the week of June 14 will be designated CUS-TOMER APPRECIATION DAYS! It may be just one day in a business, multiple days or the entire week. That decision will be made by each business that decides to participate.

Each business will decide how they want to recognize their valuable customers that week. A letter will go out in advance to the merchants with any specific details that they will need to know. There will also be advertising opportunities made available to each participating business through the Wayne Herald/ Morning Shopper and KTCH radio.

Again, an informational letter will be sent to you in advance of this event. If you have any questions, please call me at 375-5062. It will be a fun week to see what

There is a SERIOUS move afoot to restrict or ban truck parking in Wayne. This could develop into restricted parking on streets and alleys or could be expanded to restrictions on parking on private property as well.

This could easily involve vehicles with gross vehicle weight over 10,000 pounds (this includes 'the truck plus contents). ³⁹ Other cities have ordinances in ¹ this regard and are being studied ^oat this time. ^{ci} This situation has come up because of some complaints ⁹ received at City of Wayne from residents whose neighbors have ^ctrucks on or near their property. ² Nearly all the complaints so far have been based on the noise the trucks make.

When the City gets complaints of most any kind, the ideal solution would be to get the problem resolved between the two property owners. Failing that (or several complaints of the same kind) then passing new ordinances (laws) to restrict the source of the problems is considered,

We are considering new ordinances dealing with noise for instance as this goes to press.

If you have a truck 10,000 pounds or heavier (i.e. one ton pickup or larger, route truck, delivery van, pickup with work box, etc) and have concerns about how you might be affected by any new ordinance restricting the Club for the Nebraska Women's Amateur Golf Association State Stroke Play Championships June 14-16. The event will bring 96 of the state's top female players to Wayne.

"We have had several state junior events and hosted the Women's Eastern stroke play tournament in 2001, so we have been working our way up the ladder," stated Harder. "Being a member of the PGA will definitely help us to get more state events," he added.

Harder sees hosting state events such as the women's state stroke play tournament as having a big impact on Wayne and the Wayne Country Club.

"It's awesome advertising for the course and the community. People are going to think if it's good enough to host state, then maybe we should go play it," commented Harder.

Harder added that becoming a member of the PGA is very beneficial in a number of ways.

"You learn so much about the business, the game of golf. You pick up a lot of ideas from other people," he mentioned.

Now that he is a member of the PGA, Harder can attend any professional golf tournament for free. He recently spent three days at the Mașters Golf Tournament in Augusta, Georgia. "That was a dream trip," recalled Harder. "It is so different when you see it in person. The course is hillier than what you think and the fairways are wider than what they look like on TV." While on his trip to Georgia, Harder played in Atlanta on the Sugarloaf Course, which hosted a PGA event just one week before the Masters. "It's easier to get on nationallyknown courses now that I'm a part of the PGA," Harder stated.

Harder oversees the Wayne Country Club that has 225 family memberships, along with other memberships for college students, singles and junior players.

"We make sure that we put money back into the course and make improvements each year." said Harder.

Harder believes the Wayne Country Club is an affordable, well-manicured course thanks to the work of longtime groundskeeper Ken Dahl and his staff along with help from the City of Wayne. "Mostly any day, you can step on our course and play a round of golf in less than four hours," remarked Harder.

Harder added that he wouldn't have been able to achieve his PGA status without the help and support of his wife Shelly and two daughters over the years.

Wayne State's Korey Kriz named MVP at Sioux City Relays

The Wayne State College track and field teams had five first place finishes and many other strong performances in the 40th annual Sioux City Relays last weekend at Roberts Stadium in Sioux City.

Leading the way for the Wildcats was middle distance runner Korey Kriz. Kriz took first place in the 800 with a time of 1:53.76, just shy of his school record time of 1:53.25 set earlier this spring. He anchored the winning 4×800 meter relay team in a time of 7:50.90 and ran the final leg of the distance medley relay team that crossed the line first with a time of 3:30.67. Other members of the 4 x 800 relay team included Eric Klein, Nate McIntire and Matt Schaffer. The other runners on the winning distance medley team included Eric Havranek, Mark Cozad and Schaffer.

"Katie is getting very close to clearing 11 feet in the pole vault," commented Coach Brink. "She has the confidence that she can do it, now it's just a matter of making it happen in competition."

Freshman Tanna Walford placed second in the high jump by clearing 5-7. Her mark is a provisional national qualifying mark and currently ties her for seventh place in NCAA Division II.

"Tanna jumped extremely well," id Brink. "She did not have miss before 5-6 and then looked good at 5-7 and had a couple good attempts at 5-8." Erin Norenberg placed second in the 3,000 meter steeplechase with a time of 13:00.98 and Tiffany Schacher finished second in the 100 meter hurdles with a seasonbest time of 15.39 seconds. Sophomore Brenna Pribil placed in two field events, taking third in the long jump (17-0.25) and fourth in the triple jump with a mark of 34-10.75. Three Wildcat relay teams also earned top six finishes. The 4 x 800 team of Audrey Emanuel. Ashley Smith, Jodi Rhodig and Erin Oswald placed third with a time of 9:44.46, just missing a school record. The sprint medley relay team of Schacher, Oswald, Rhodig and Smith finished fourth with a time of 4:29.09 and the distance medley foursome of Smith, Rhodig, Oswald and Emanuel came in fourth at 13:00.36. Wayne State will have a busy schedule this week as the squad travels to three different competitions. The men's sprint medley and women's 4 x 800 meter relay teams will compete in the Drake Relays on Friday and Saturday in Des Moines, Iowa. The majority of the squad will participate in the Northwestern College Invite on Saturday in Orange City, Iowa while Brenna Pribil, Tiffany Schacher and Eric Klein will comin the NSIC pete Heptathlon/Decathlon on Sunday and Monday in Aberdeen, S.D.

Optimist event held to celebrate the arts and honor academic achievement

The Wayne Optimist Club recently honored a number of students from area schools, as well as teachers and/or administration, para-professionals and/or volunteers in the school systems. The event was held to celebrate the arts and honor academic' achievement.

The club plans on making this an annual event. Club members feel that students who excel in art, drama, speech, creative writing, and/or music do not receive enough recognition for their achievements.

Schools invited to participate were Allen Consolidated Schools, Emerson-Hubbard Community Schools, Laurel- Concord Community Schools, St. Mary's Catholic School in Wayne, Winside Public Schools. Several did not participate.

One student in each category (K-4, 5-8, and 9-12) was chosen from each school that participated. Principals, with the help of their fine arts teachers, submitted letters of recommendation for students worthy to receive the award.

Also, as part of Optimist International's commitment to bringing out the best in kids, the local club annually presents the Achievement in Education Award to an individual who is making a difference in the lives of young people through education.

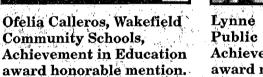

Individuals who work with children in each grade category (K-4, 5-8, and 9-12) were chosen from each participating school. School administrators nominated outstanding individuals.

Any questions about the Optimist Club can be directed to Wayne Optimist Club member Cindy Von Fange at 375-2569.

Wayne Rotary Club book fundraiser being held to benefit Polio Plus program

The Wayne Rotary Club is selling the book "Anyway," by Kent M. Keith as a fundraiser for their Polio Plus program. The book of paradoxical commandments helps find personal meaning in a crazy world and would be a good gift for a graduate.

The 10 principles were first articulated by Keith as a student at Harvard in the 1960s. He did not realize it but were used by people in all walks of life around the world. Finding this out, Keith put his commandments, their philosophy and stories that bring them to life into this book.

The commandments do not focus on popular symbols of success but instead on the meaning you get from loving others, honesty, volunteering and giving the best you have. Noted in the magazine were the total confirmed cases in countries in 2003: Egypt, 1; Afghanistan, 7; Niger, 19; Pakistan, 95; India, 209; Nigeria, 286. Red Cross Disaster Training class scheduled

The Wayne County Red Cross is offering a disaster training class entitled "Mass Care" on Tuesday, April 27 at their office in the Mineshaft Mall in Wayne. The class will start at 6:30 pm and lasts 3-4 hours. There is no cost to attend - All disaster relief and training is offered free.

Take a look at the American Red Cross Mission: to provide relief to victims of disasters and help people prevent, prepare for, and respond to emergencies. In a sense, this view divides the population into two fluid groups—people who need help—and people who want to help. The Red Cross is privileged to serve as a link between the two.

At the Wayne chapter, they recognize the work of the a number of volunteers who have made it possible for the Red Cross to assist, the people who have needed help throughout northeast Nebraska for the past 87 years. If you want to help others and become part of this great organization, this is a great time to volunteer.

The Wayne Red Cross is cu

groups – which around here mostly involves meal serving to people following a large disaster such as a tornado or severe storm.

Since it is becoming that time of year again, the Red Cross is making sure they are adequately prepared to respond and have enough trained responders to assist. According to chapter manager, Lori Carollo, "I think you will find volunteering for the Red Cross a rewarding experience."

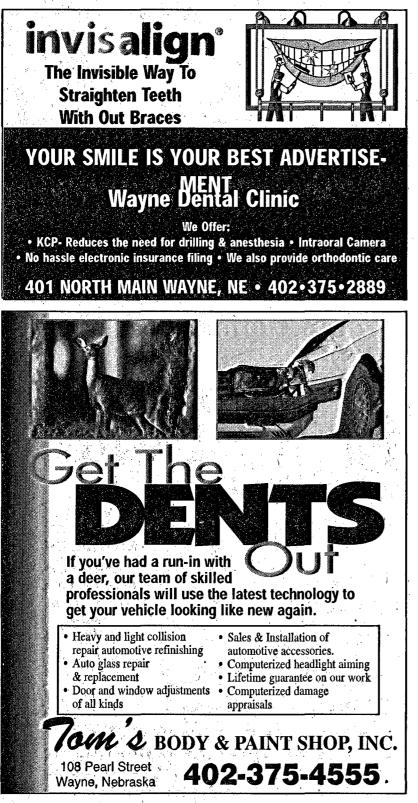

In a recent survey, 97 percent of Red Cross volunteers agreed that the Red Cross is an excellent place to volunteer and that their involvement gives them a sense of accomplishment; 98 percent said they'd recommend the Red Cross to their friends.

Again, the training course "Mass Care" will be offered on Tuesday, April 27 at 6:30 pm at the Red Cross office at 112 East 2nd Street. Please call the office at 375-5209 if you plan to attend so that they are sure to have enough materials on hand; there is no cost for attendance though – only your time and enthusiasm.

Lewis and Clark workshops offered this summer

To commemorate the Lewis and Clark bicentennial, three Lewis and Clark workshops are being offered by Wayne State College this summer.

Dr. Hal Stearns, a nationallyrecognized researcher, historian and guide will conduct two of the workshops. The first, EDU 568-8D Tales of Lewis & Clark and the Mid-Missouri, is a two-day workshop at the Visitors Center located near Gavins Point Dam south of Yankton, S.D. on June 7 and 8 from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day. Appropriate for teachers and others interested in the history of Lewis and Clark, the workshop will consist of one day of presentations and a one-day field trip by motor coach to points of interest along the actual Lewis & Clark Trail.

The workshop may be taken for one graduate hour of credit or for non-credit (if space is available); there is a charge of $55 for those taking it for non-credit. Those interested in camping at Lewis & Clark Lake during this time may call 605-668-2985. The workshop is limited to 40 participants.

Stearns will also lead a second workshop. EDU 568-8E Journeys: From Lewis & Clark to the Steamboat Era, will be held June 10 and 11 at DeSoto National Wildlife Refuge near Blair.

The workshop will include two morning presentations by Stearns at the DeSoto National Wildlife Refuge Visitor's Center, and two afternoon tours--one within the refuge that includes a program related to the excavated steamboat BERTRAND, and a second tour of Fort Atkinson at Fort Calhoun. The workshop may be taken for one hour of graduate credit or for non-credit (if space is available).

There is a charge of $55 for those taking it for non-credit.

A third Lewis and Clark workshop, HIS 568-90 Lewis & Clark Voyage of Rediscovery Workshop, will be held from July 6-9. Taught by Rae Brown, award-winning educator from Pender, the workshop will include a four-day journey retracing a portion of the Lewis & Clark Expedition, one of the most dramatic and significant periods in U.S. history.

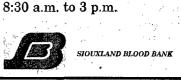

Participants will visit, study and camp along the Lewis & Clark Trail from Council Bluffs, Iowa to Chamberlain, S.D. Everything, including food, will be provided. Participants will need to bring a sleeping bag.

The workshop may be taken for three hours of graduate credit or for non-credit. Cost is graduate credit plus a $200 fee to cover expenses for food, camping equipment, and transportation. Enrollment is limited; preference will be given to for-credit applications; non-credit applicants will be placed on a waiting list. The noncredit fee is $165.00 plus the $200 fee to cover food, camping and transportation. Enrollment dead-

Septic tanks must be pumped by professionals

As of Jan. 1, 2004 it is illegal for • requirement for certification anyone to pump septic tanks, including homeowners pumping their own tank, unless they are certified by the Nebraska Department of Environmental Quality (NDEQ).

Homeowner pumping of septic tanks and land-application of the septage has become a common practice in rural Nebraska areas.

The new law makes it illegal without proper certification. Septage that is improperly handled and applied can be a public health hazard due to pathogens it contains, and can be harmful to the environment if pathogens, organic matter or nutrients enterlakes, streams or groundwater. There are also Federal regulations and recordkeeping requirements for the proper disposal, including land application of septage.

The Private On-site Wastewater Treatment System Contractors Certification and \mathbf{System} Registration Act requires anyone who works on a septic system to apply to NDEQ to become certified to perform the work. The

Elizabeth Baier named All-American

The United States Achievementa Academy has announced that Elizabeth Baier of Wayne has been námed an All-American Scholar.

The USAA has established the All-American Scholar Award includes pre-installation tasks such as doing a site evaluation, a soil evaluation or a percolation test. It also covers all aspects of working on a system including designing, installing, inspecting, repairing or altering. And, it includes pumping and disposal of the septage.

If a homeowner wants to pump a tank, including his or her own, he or she must be certified. To apply for a temporary provisional certificate to pump septic tanks, an individual must submit an application on a form prescribed by NDEQ and pay a $300 certification application fee to NDEQ. The application must include a signed affidavit certifying the individual has been engaged in the pumping of septic tanks for at least 12 months prior to Aug. 31, 2003. This temporary provisional certificate is valid through Dec. 31, 2005. By then, NDEQ will have a more comprehensive certification program developed which will likely include requirements for continuing education and examination for competency. According to NDEQ staff, individuals pumping a tank without proper certification would be in violation of NDEQ regulations and subject to enforcement action including potential fines. Hiring a certified professional to pump a septic tank is the best option available for most homeowners.

Over 500 individuals throughout the state are currently certified to engage in work related to on-site systems in Nebraska, including over 200 certified to do septic tank pumping. NDEQ has, posted a list of certified professionals on their web site at http://www.deq.state.ne.us/

The Wayne Herald, Thursday, April 22, 2004 Wayne to host walk

The Nebraska Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation has announced that Wayne will be the location for GREAT STRIDES 2004 to raise money and awareness toward a cure for cystic fibrosis (CF).

The walk will be Friday, April 30 at Wayne State College. Checkin begins at 4 p.m. with the walk at 4:30 from the Willow Bowl on campus.

GREAT STRIDES, nationally sponsored by American Airlines® and Solvay, takes place in more than 500 locations around the country during the month of May and beyond.

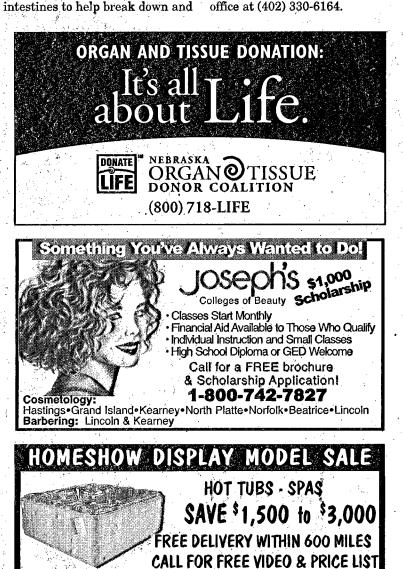

CF is a complex, genetic disease that affects about 30,000 children and adults in the United States. It causes the body to produce an abnormally thick, sticky mucus, due to the faulty transport of sodium and chloride (salt) within cells lining organs such as the lungs and pancreas. This abnormal mucus clogs the lungs, leading to life-threatening lung infections. The thick CF mucus also obstructs the pancreas, preventing enzymes from reaching the digest food.

Participants in GREAT STRIDES are encouraged to raise a minimum of $150 through prepaid sponsorships that are then used to fund research and care for new drugs to treat the disease and for the development of a cure. Nearly 90 cents of every dollar raised goes directly to CF research and treatment programs.

"Our excitement for GREAT STRIDES season builds all year long because we are part of a national effort to raise $23 million for CF research and care," said Shannon Lee, executive director of the Nebraska Chapter of the CF Foundation. "In addition, GREAT STRIDES is a great way for coworkers, families and friends to come together to do something positive in their communities while exercising and having a good time. I hope that this year we can count on more walkers than ever to help us defeat this lifethreatening disease."

Participants can register to participate in GREAT STRIDES on the CF Foundation's Web site at www.cff or by calling the Omaha office at (402) 330-6164.

Mosquitoes making presence known

Mosquitoes are already making their presence known in Nebraska.

Section C

Besides being pests and leaving uncomfortable bites, the West Nile virus is a major concern.

A number of mosquitoes are already being tested this spring to detect the disease. Extension Educator Dr. Barb Ogg, has released information about using insect repellents safely and effectively. She reminds us that the most effective repellents on the market today contain DEET, which stands for the active ingredient diethyl toluamide. DEET repellents can be found in many brand labels and formulas, such as lotions, gels, creams of varying strengths, and may range from 5 to 95 percent. Dr. Ogg states that the more concentrated products repel insects for a longer period of time.

For casual use, a product containing 10 to 30 percent DEET is adequate. For use with children it is best to be conservative and use a concentration of 10 percent or less.

To use DEET safely, Dr. Ogg recommends the following tips: • Apply lightly, only to exposed

It is important to read and follow skin and clothes, not under clothdirections for using DEET proding • Keep away from eyes and ucts. mouth.

• Do not apply over cuts, wounds or irritated skin.

• Do not apply to hands of young children. • Do not reapply or saturate the skin • Wash treated skin with soap and water after returning indoors. The Environmental Protect Agency estimates that 50 to 100 million people use DEET repel- able exclusively through the Avon' lents each year, but report only 10 Corporation as Skin-So-Soft Bug Guard Plus IR3535. Some studies show that IR3535 provides four to? six hours of protection, but other studies show that solutions containing 25 percent IR3535 are ten to one hundred times less effective > than DEET. Soybean oil, geranium oil and coconut oil have been formulated into a product called Blocker. In some studies, this natural repellent provided complete protection against mosquitoes for as long as three and a half hours.

Researchers are looking at new types of insect repellents, so in the future there may be even better, and safer repellents. Peperdine, found in trace amounts of black pepper, is found to have repellent properties. An advantage of peperdine-based repellents is they will not dissolve plastics. Researchers also have found that nepetalactone, an essential aromatic oil in catnip, is about 10 times more effective at repelling mosquitoes than DEET. A component in tomatoes called IBI-246 is also shown to be more effect tive and safer than DEET.

Information on effective ingredi ents can be confusing but it is very important to use a repellent whenever you are outside, even for a short period of time. Read labels before you purchase a product to be sure you have an effective ingredient and are using it correctly.

If you have questions or need more information, please contact your local University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service Office. University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension "Pioneering. New Frontiers"

There was a huge three day conference in Lincoln last week that involved doctors, nurses," social workers, and hospice volunteers, sponsored by the Nebraska Hospice and Palliative Care Association and the Nebraska Coalition for Compassionate Care. These two organizations share an executive director and have collaborated on a couple of other such programs.

There were some "big gun" presenters on end of life issues. One positive thing out of the situation was the federal law that mandates that anyone entering a health care facility be asked if they have advanced directives. Lately, the Terri Schiavo case in Florida has focused attention on this issue again.
