Kay remains cancer-free for 20 years

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

Lila Kay of Wayne is living proof that cancer is not a death sentence.

Lila has been a cancer survivor for 20 years and continues to enjoy each day.

In 1984, at age 45, she noticed a lump in her breast but did not tell anyone.

"I probably had it for three months, but kept thinking it would go away. When I finally told my John (her husband), I was in the doctor's office the same day," Mrs. Kay said.

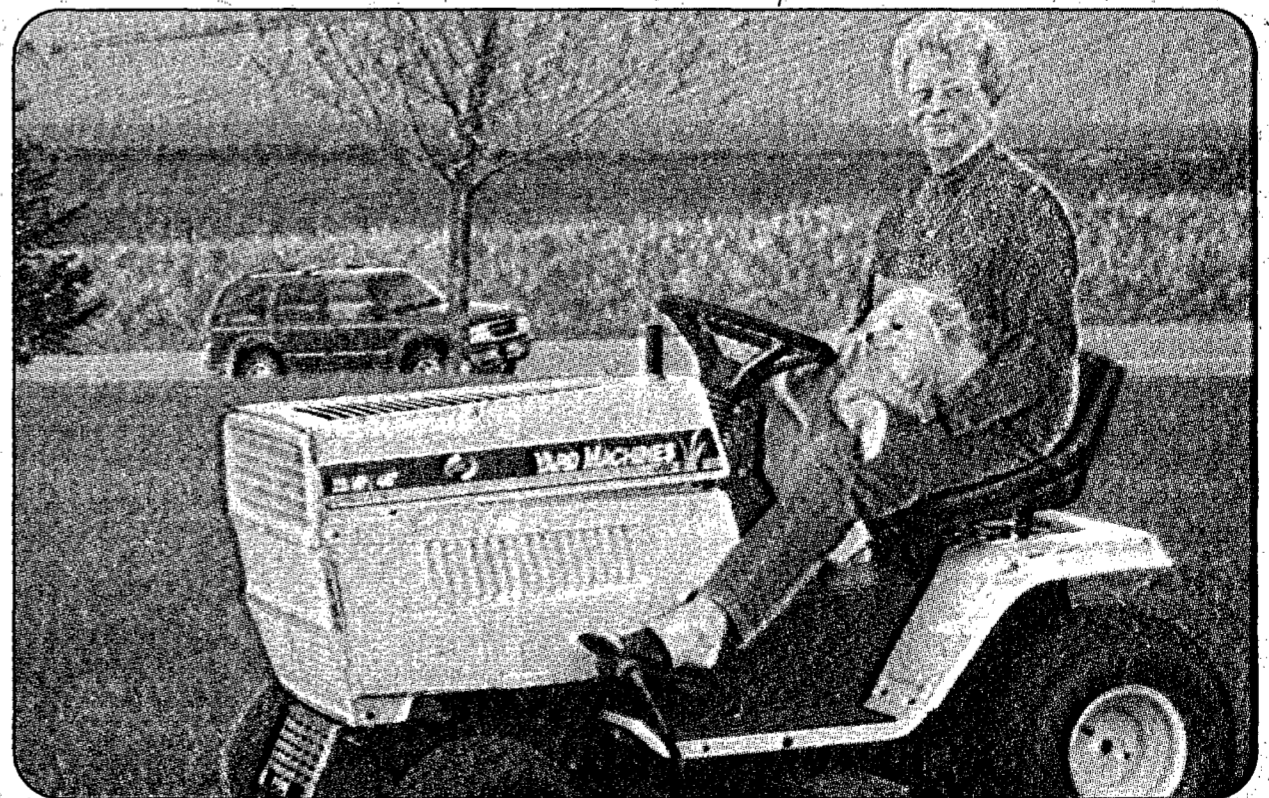

Dr. Bob Benthack scheduled removal of the lump but did not think it was malignant.

On June 26, 1984 a specialist from Norfolk performed the surgery which involved removal of the lump and a number of lymph nodes. It was determined that the lump was malignant but no treatments were required. After a week's hospitalization, Mrs. Kay was able to return home.

She remembers thinking that "it can't be me - it must be somebody else. I had no symptoms and thought the lump would go away."

"I have been very lucky. I have had no re-occur-

City receives notice of drinking water violation during April

In accordance with the National Drinking Water Regulations, the city of Wayne has made a public announcement of the violation of drinking water microbiological standards.

The violation consists of three total coliform samples testing positive during the month of April. The standard is that no more than one sample per month may be positive for total coliforms for systems that collect fewer than 40 samples per month.

Harold Reynolds, Water/Wastewater Superintendent stressed that the water in Wayne is safe to drink and the violations resulted from collection techniques rather than problems with water.

The monthly routine following the violation was negative for both fecal coliform and e-coli.

Residents do not need to boil water or take other corrective actions. Anyone with specific health concerns is asked to consult a doctor.

People with severely compromised immune systems, infants and some elderly may be at increased risk. These people should seek advice about drinking water from health care providers.

This is not an emergency. Coliform bacteria are generally not harmful themselves. Coliforms are bacteria which are naturally present in the environment and are used as an indicator that other potentially-harmful bacteria may be present.

Coliforms are a sign that there could be a problem with the treatment or distribution system pipes. Whenever coliform bacteria is detected in any sample, follow-up testing is done to see if any other bacteria of greater concern, such as fecal coliform or E. coli are present. Neither of these were found in the Wayne samples.

The city of Wayne public water system is continuing to test and is working with the Drinking Water Program to identify the source of the problem and return the water supply to compliance.

For more information on this notice, contact Harold Reynolds at 375-5250.

Rental property issues are discussed by Wayne planning commission

Next City Council Meeting: May 11th, at 7:30 p.m. the council will meet in the city council room at 306 Pearl St.

Planning Commission Meeting About Rental Property May 3

The Wayne Planning Commission met in regular session with a good sized audience of interested people to continue discussion of amendments to the city code to change the regulation of single family and duplex type rental property in Wayne. Some questions and comments:

1) Why is this an issue now? The number of complaints from neighboring property owners has increased in the last 18 months. Wayne has had a limit of four unrelated persons living in rental houses since 1997. The purpose is to maintain the single family residential nature and intent of Wayne's residential neighborhoods.

Multiple cars parked around single family houses or lined up along the street in front of neighboring homes for most hours of the day can devalue neighborhood housing values and can take away from convenience and room to enjoy neighboring homes. The democratic process allows cities in Nebraska to create zoning restrictions to limit certain types of uses of property. Zoning restrictions more closely represent a community's intent for the general use areas rather than a determination of right vs wrong.

2) If you live in town vs in the country you have to expect more congestion and noise. When people build houses six steps from each other, their activities affect the neighboring properties. The purpose of the planning commission and council actions is to find a middle ground that allows reasonable use and protection of neighboring property values.

3) Why should rental property be required to provide on site parking other than in the front yard? In almost all communities rental property is intended to be a self contained operation on the site where it stands to avoid conflict with abutting property. Parking on grass in the front yard area is generally considered not desirable and can be restricted through the democratic process.

4) Why should rental property be held to a higher standard of paved parking than owner occupied homes? The amendment as drafted adds paved parking as a rental requirement to help direct the parking patterns on rental property and improve the appearance of property being owned for profit. The draft proposal is part of the democratic decision process and continues to be open for discussion.

5) Doesn't the city want rental property owners? With the college and industry in the community, rental housing is a vital entity in meeting housing needs. What the proposed changes does is establish a system for more oversight of safety issues and number of people per rental house, require hard surfaced parking for tenants and limit the number that park in front yards.

Draft #8 of this proposal will be available by the end of this week on the city website at wayne.org. All proposals to amend the Wayne zoning ordinances are required to be presented at public hearing before being forwarded to the city council. All proposed amendments to the Wayne zoning ordinances are required to be presented at a public hearing before action by the city council.

Not seeking re-election

Dear Editor,
I have decided not to seek re-election to the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District. I would like to thank you for your support the past 12 years. I still feel that quality and quantity of water are our most valuable resources. Don't forget to vote for the person whose ideas you most agree with.

Minority vs Majority

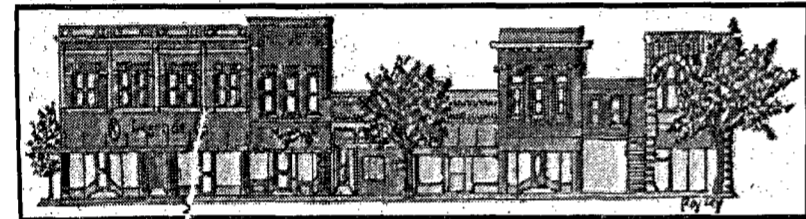

Next Tuesday, May 11, everyone who has registered to vote will have a chance to express his or her opinion at the polls. May the best candidate win. It is your God given right under the US Constitution to go to the polls and vote. Don't waste it. We have fought wars all over this earth defending our right to choose our way of life and when you don't go and vote you are surrendering to people's opinions that may differ from yours.

So if you don't go to the polls and vote, don't complain. You had your chance and did not take advantage of this wonderful right we have. If you do vote, thank you.

Remember on Tuesday to go to the polls and express your belief. If you don't, the minority will tell the majority what to do.

Shooting spurs debate on handguns

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

The fight over whether to legalize the carrying of concealed handguns in Nebraska has been going on for years. The next time it heats up, there is a good chance that, at some point, opponents will invoke the name and the memory of Jenna Cooper.

Cooper, 21, was a star player on the University of Nebraska women's soccer team. She was majoring in mechanical engineering, and doing well.

She was standing outside her home, visiting with friends, when she was mortally wounded by a bullet intended for someone else. The bullet, fired from a derringer, ricocheted off the head of its intended target and struck Cooper in the throat.

It was the sort of incident that makes people cringe - on both sides of the concealed weapons issues.

It was a quintessential example of what opponents warn of when they oppose proposed laws that would allow Nebraskans who qualify to obtain "carry permits." Those who would allow private citizens to arm themselves certainly deplore and condemn incidents such as the one that claimed Cooper's life. One of the arguments by those who support a law legalizing concealed weapons: Bad guys are going to carry guns, anyway. Society will not be spared the horror of senseless death and injury, they contend, by denying good people the privilege of carrying a concealed weapon.

Opponents will argue, through a variety of examples, that handguns among the masses every day will do more harm than good.

The fellow who fired the shot that killed Jenna Cooper was, at this writing, held on $1 million bail, facing a charge of second-degree murder.

He told police that he felt threatened when he was, he said, confronted by several people outside Cooper's home in the early morning hours. They accused him of stealing some shot glasses. He said someone shoved him. He drew his gun, he said, and intended only to fire a warning shot.

Doug Bereuter

Gordon Godfrey

U.S. Congressman Doug Bereuter will receive the Wayne State College Distinguished Service Award at the WSC commencement. He will also deliver the commencement address.

Elected to Congress in November 1978, Bereuter has served in the U.S. House of Representatives longer than any other Nebraskan, representing the 24-county First District which includes Wayne. He has announced his retirement from Congress this year.

"Congressman Bereuter has been a good friend to Wayne State College," said Interim President Curt Frye. "In 2001, he was instrumental in obtaining funding for the Wayne State College Laptop Computer Initiative. The grant, which totaled $691,000, was used to help provide the infrastructure necessary to connect residence halls and academic buildings to the campus computer network, as well as a pilot wireless laptop computer project."

As a member of the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure, Congressman Bereuter has actively promoted collaboration between governmental agencies. "Throughout his years in office, Congressman Bereuter has represented the diverse interests of his constituency while being involved in establishing national priorities and international policy. He has been an outstanding example of what representative democracy is meant to be," Frye said.

A native of Utica, Bereuter is a graduate of Harvard University with a Master of Public Administration (1973) and a Master of City Planning (1966). In 1961, he received a Bachelor of Arts from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

"While the state of Nebraska and the U.S. government will be losing a dedicated public servant with Congressman Bereuter's retirement from Congress this year, we are grateful for the many years he has served his district, state, and nation with distinction," said Frye. "We are confident that Doug Bereuter will continue to excel when he becomes head of the Asia Foundation, and we wish him well in his new endeavor."

AVISORS to perform at The Barn on Fourth of July weekend

Fourth of July weekend plans at "The Barn" include four patriotic shows honoring Veterans of all branches of the Service by the AVISORS, eight-member musical group from Omaha. The AVISORS, the only group of its kind in the region, dress in WWII Army Air Corps costumes. They perform a 1940's era USO style show dubbed "Tribute to the Greatest Generation."

In March, the group was invited by the Smithsonian Institution to perform for the Dedication Ceremonies of the WWII Memorial in Washington DC along with The Ink Spots, The Artie Shaw Orchestra, and top military bands this coming Memorial weekend.

According to Dr. Nancy Groce, Music Curator for the Smithsonian Center for Folklife and Cultural Heritage, the Omaha based group was chosen for its quality, content, mission, geographic location, popularity in the region and the avid support of its fans.

May is Osteoporosis Month

Wayne Mercy Medical Clinic is observing May as Osteoporosis Month and has offered the following information on prevention of osteoporosis.

Bone densitometry is a type of imaging examination that measures a patient's bone mineral density, which is a sign of bone strength. Bones that are not very dense become brittle and weak and are more likely to break.

A number of conditions cause a loss of bone mass, such as osteoporosis, some inherited diseases or treatments for chronic diseases.

Osteoporosis is of increasing importance to the medical community. This "silent" disease affects more than 25 million Americans,

Wayne State wins NSIC regular season baseball title

The Wayne State College baseball team won five of six games in the last week of the regular season to clinch the Northern Sun Conference regular season championship.

The Wildcats notched a convincing road sweep at Southwest State last Wednesday, then won three out of four games at home on Saturday and Sunday over Concordia-St. Paul to edge Winona State by one-half game for the conference title.

Wayne State opened the busy week with a 24-2 and 8-2 sweep at Southwest State.

"That might be the best I've ever seen a team play since I've been coaching here at Wayne State," said veteran WSC Baseball Coach John Manganaro on the doubleheader sweep. "We did everything right that day—our pitching was excellent, we played solid defense and we hit the ball well."

The Wildcats roughed up Mustang pitching for 20 hits in the first game, including six home runs. Tim Richt led the hitting onslaught with two homers in the game. The senior first baseman finished the game 3 for 4 with seven RBIs. Brian Disch, Chris Pedroza, Matt Fjelland and Kyle Hansen also homered for the Wildcats.

Pedroza and Hansen each had three hits in the game while Dustin Jones, Justin Conley and Aaron Ligocki contributed two hits apiece.

Starting pitcher Nate Miller received plenty of run support to get another win. The senior left-hander improved to 8-1 by tossing five strong innings. He allowed six hits, two runs while walking two and striking out two batters. Ryan Wetterberg and Dustin Niljus each worked one inning of perfect relief for the 'Cats.

A seven-run sixth inning broke open a close game in the nightcap as the Wildcats posted an 8-2 win over the Mustangs.

Disch and Hansen recorded two hits each for the Wildcats in the win. Disch homered and drove in four runs for WSC.

Senior left-hander Damien Heckelsmiller (6-1) tossed five innings of shutout ball to get the win. He allowed just two hits, walked five and struck out one. Nick Schumacher tossed the final two innings for WSC, allowing two unearned runs on three hits with one strikeout.

Concordia-St. Paul stunned Wayne State in the opening game of Saturday's series at the WSC Baseball Complex as the Golden Bears scored six runs in the top of the seventh inning to upend the Wildcats 10-7.

"We played as poorly as a team could play," stated Coach Manganaro. "I don't know what happened, but we just didn't play well in that game."

Senior relief pitcher Joe Wall (1-4) was tagged with the loss, giving up four runs on three hits without retiring a batter. B. J. Wierzbicki was the starting pitcher and worked the first four innings, allowing four runs on six hits with four walks and three strikeouts. Nathan Gettler worked two innings of relief, allowing one run without a hit. He walked one and struck out four. Niljus came in for Wall in the seventh and allowed one run on one hit in one full inning of work.

Conley had two hits, scored twice and drove in two runs to lead Wayne State offensively. Nine other players had one hit each for the Wildcats.

Wayne State rebounded in the second game Saturday with a 12-4 win over the Golden Bears.

Freshman starting pitcher Nick Schumacher (5-2) tossed six strong innings to get the win for WSC. He allowed four runs on nine hits with five strikeouts and one walk.

Jones had two doubles and a single to lead a balanced, 13-hit attack for Wayne State. Hansen, Dan Bengé and Conley contributed two hits each and Ligocki tripled.

Miller and Heckelsmiller provided two more quality starts on Sunday to help Wayne State sweep the Golden Bears 7-1 and 9-1.

Miller tossed a complete game four-hitter to lift Wayne State in the 7-1 win. He struck out four and walked four to finish the regular season with a 9-1 record.

Offensively, Richt and Conley had two hits each for the Wildcats. Pedroza added a double to help the eight-hit attack.

Heckelsmiller pitched a complete game five-hitter to propel Wayne State in the nightcap, a 9-1 win over Concordia-St. Paul. He struck out four and walked two to finish with a 7-1 regular season mark.

Hansen produced a double and single to lead Wayne State at the plate. Jones and Disch added doubles.

Wayne State finished the regular season with a 39-16 overall record, including a 19-8 mark in the Northern Sun Conference to finish one-half game ahead of Winona State. The Warriors dropped three of four games at Southwest State on the final weekend to help WSC clinch the regular season crown.

"After we lost that first game to Concordia, our players were determined to win the next three games, and we did that," added Coach Manganaro. "We executed very well offensively and our last three pitchers were outstanding."

The 39 wins by the Wildcats this year establishes a new school record for wins in a season.

WSC freshman outfielder Dustin Jones puts down a bunt during the Wildcats' 7-1 win over Concordia-St. Paul Sunday afternoon at the WSC Baseball Complex.

Nate Miller is named as NSIC Pitcher of the Week

Wayne State College left-hander Nate Miller was named the Northern Sun Conference Pitcher of the Week Monday afternoon.

The senior from Washington, Iowa went 2-0 for the Wildcats last week, improving his season record to 9-1.

Miller worked five strong innings in a 24-2 win at Southwest State last Wednesday. He gave up just six hits, struck out two and walked two.

Against Concordia-St. Paul on Sunday, Miller tossed a complete game, allowing one run on four hits in a 7-1 win. He struck out four and walked four.

Mike Barry named interim athletic director at WSC

Mike Barry, associate athletic director and director of sports and recreation facilities at Wayne State College, has been named interim athletic director effective May 15.

Barry replaces Todd Barry, who has been named the head men's basketball coach at Briar Cliff University in Sioux City.

"Mike is a very competent administrator who has served Wayne State College well in the past in this capacity," said Interim WSC President Curt Frye. "I look forward to working with him as interim director of athletics. He'll do a fine job."

Mike Barry has been at Wayne State since 1989. He was the women's basketball coach from 1989-96 and has served as director of sports and recreation facilities since 1996.

WSC hosting 2004 NSIC Baseball Championships

The Wayne State College baseball team will host the 2004 NSIC Baseball Championships this weekend at the WSC Baseball Complex.

The Wildcats earned home field honors after clinching the NSIC regular season championship with a 19-8 league mark, 39-16 overall.

WSC Baseball Coach John Manganaro says his team will not have a home field advantage this weekend.

"Look at what has happened in previous years of this tournament," said Manganaro. "There is no home field advantage for us."

Manganaro appears to be right if you look at previous history of the NSIC Tournament.

Last year in Duluth, Concordia-St. Paul and Wayne State were named co-champions after rain cancelled the tournament. In 2002 at Bemidji, Southwest State edged Wayne State for the title and in 2001 at Winona, Wayne State topped the host Warriors for the post-season title.

The NSIC Baseball Tournament

has a double-elimination format. Here is the schedule of games:

Thursday May 6

Game 1: 12 pm—#2 seed Winona State (31-20-1, 18-8) vs. #3 seed Minn.-Duluth (24-13, 17-8)

Game 2: 3 pm—#1 seed Wayne State (39-16, 19-8) vs. #4 seed Southwest State (29-20, 17-11)

Friday May 7

Game 3: 10 am—Loser of Game 1 vs. Loser of Game 2

Game 4: 1 pm—Winner of Game 1 vs. Winner of Game 2

Game 5: 4 pm—Winner of Game 3

vs. Loser of Game 4

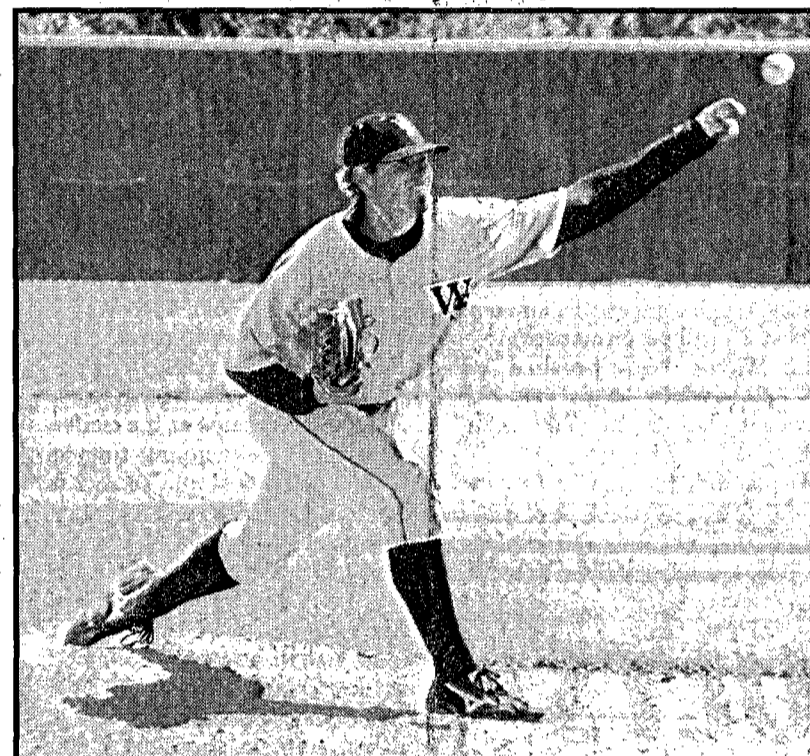

Saturday May 8

Game 6: 12 pm—Winner of Game 4 vs. Winner of Game 5

Game 7: 3 pm—If Needed

Manganaro added that the key for his team in the NSIC Tournament is to be relaxed.

"I don't want them putting too much pressure on themselves because we're playing at home," Manganaro said. "The team with the best defense and pitching will likely win the tournament."

Wayne State senior left-hander Nate Miller tossed a complete game four-hitter Sunday to lead the Wildcats over Concordia-St. Paul 7-1.

Wakefield boys win third straight Lewis and Clark Conference track title, Allen girls finish third

The Wakefield boys and Bancroft-Rosalie girls repeated as team champions at the Lewis and Clark Conference Track Meet held Saturday on the new track at Wayne State College.

Rounding out the medal winners were Taylor Peters, third in the 3200 meter run (10:58.30); Luke Henderson was fifth in the 3200 meter run at 11:20; Aaron Klein took fifth in the 400 meter dash (57.19) and Kayle Anderson finished sixth in the 400 meters at 57.34 seconds.

Fink claims two golds at Mid States Track Meet, Garvin wins discus

Wayne track coach Dale Hochstein had mixed reaction to his team's performance at the Mid States Conference Track Meet held in Pierce on Saturday.

"It was kind of a frustrating day," he said. "We had some personal bests, but also battled some injuries, tough competition and not our best overall performance."

The Wayne boys finished in fourth place while the girls settled for seventh place in the eight-team field.

"We just didn't seem to get ready to compete against the type of competition that not only our conference has, but what will be present in our district as well," remarked Coach Hochstein. "We are hoping it's just tired bodies from a couple pretty long weeks of school activities that have been going on."

Norfolk Catholic racked up 167 points to win the boys division. Boone Central edged Pierce for second place, 87-85.5, with Wayne coming in fourth at 49 points.

For the second straight year, Bryan Fink of Wayne won the 1600 and 3200 meter runs at the conference meet. His winning time in the 1600 was 4:50.4 and 10:23.2 in the 3200. Caleb Garvin took first in the discus with a throw of 170-6 and finished second in the shot put at 49-10.5.

The Blue Devils' 400 meter relay team of Nate Finkey, Garvin, Roeber and Schuett finished fifth in 47.6 seconds while the 1600 meter foursome of Finkey, Jared Jehle, Roeber and Schuett took sixth with a time of 3:49.8.

Pierce captured the girls team title with 148.5 points, well ahead of runnerup West Point Central Catholic's 81 points. Wayne finished in seventh place with 34 points.

The Wayne girls were led by a pair of second place finishes from Karissa Hochstein in the shot put (36-9) and the 3200 meter relay team of Brooke Anderson, Jordyn Doescher, Kayla Hochstein and Renee Theobald (10:31.6).

Jean Pieper brought home two medals, taking fourth in the 200 meter dash (27.4) and fifth in the 100 meters at 12.7 seconds. Mandy Nevala took sixth in the 300 hurdles (51.9) and Angie Ahrenholtz was sixth in the long jump with a mark of 15-6.

The Wayne 400 meter relay team of Ahrenholtz, Nevala, Pieper and Theobald finished third in 54.2 seconds and the 1600 meter team of Doescher, Nevala, Pieper and Theobald took fourth at 4:28.5.

Wayne was scheduled to close out the regular season today (Thursday) at the Battle Creek Invitational before preparing for the Class B-4 District Meet in Pierce on Thursday, May 13.

"The Battle Creek meet will be a true test of how competitive we want to be and how much we want to improve before districts," commented Coach Hochstein.

Wayne State baseball team signs three recruits

Wayne State College Baseball Coach John Manganaro has announced the signings of three players to national letters of intent.

Ian Delaet was a three-sport athlete at Ralston High School, lettering in football, basketball and baseball. He was an All-Conference outfielder in 2003 and was named honorable mention All-State by the Omaha World Herald after hitting .368 with four home runs. He is currently hitting .384 this spring with three home runs, two doubles and 23 RBIs.

Delaet also earned All-District honors as a punter and was an honorable mention All-State pick in basketball as a senior this year.

"Ian is an outstanding all-around athlete who will have a positive impact on our baseball program," said Coach Manganaro. "He is a great person, comes from a fine family and is a product of Coach Curt Shockey and Ralston baseball, which has provided a solid foundation for his college baseball career. I have no doubt that Ian will be a big part of the Wildcat baseball program over the next four years."

J.D. Whitmarsh comes to Wayne State from Iowa Western Community College, where he earned one varsity letter. Whitmarsh currently holds a 3.83 earned run average and has tallied 19 strikeouts and five walks on the year.

Whitmarsh attended Millard West High School where he was a four-year starter. He earned honorable mention all-state honors as a senior and was the winning pitcher in the Collin-Orcutt All-Star Game. Whitmarsh pitched 36 innings and tallied a 5-1 record as a senior.

"J.D. is a big strong left-hander with good command of his pitches and has excellent velocity," said Coach Manganaro. "I am hoping J.D. can come in and perform as expected to be one of our top pitchers. J.D. has had excellent coaching at Iowa Western and possesses tremendous ability."

Colton Peterson was a two sport standout at Blair High School, competing in baseball and basketball.

Peterson helped lead his team to three state baseball tournament appearances and one state title. He also helped Blair's basketball team to two state tournament appearances as well.

"Colton has a great pitcher's body at 6-5," stated Coach Manganaro. "Colton will be a big part of our program over the next four years and he has the potential to continue the fine pitching tradition at Wayne State."

The Wayne State baseball team finished the 2004 regular season with a 39-16 overall record, including a 19-9 mark in the Northern Sun Conference to win the regular season championship.

Please Vote for Dave Bloomfield Legislature 17th Dist.

- Property Owner • Tax Payer • Longtime resident of the district
- Former School Board Member • American Legion Member • Vietnam Veteran
- 58 Year Old Father of Four and Grandfather of Eight

I am a candidate for the office of Legislature in the 17th district because there are things that I feel need to be changed. If elected to office, I can not promise that all will be wonderful, only that I will work toward these and other conservative ideals.

- 1. PROPERTY TAX RELIEF: We MUST find some way to stop the constant increase in property taxes.
- 2. BALANCE OF POWER: I think that over the past twenty or thirty years, too much political power has come to rest in our large cities. This has happened at the price of a clear voice for our small towns, our farmers, and small business owners. We need to find a way to assure rural Nebraskans and their small town neighbors a voice in Lincoln.
- 3. TERM LIMITS: I am a firm believer in term limits. The people of Nebraska voted for term limits. Ever since then, there has been an ongoing effort to over turn the wishes of the voters. I will have no part in this effort.
- 4. RIGHT TO LIFE: I believe that life begins at conception, is sacred, and should not be ended by the hand of man except to save the life of the mother.
- 5. JUDGES: I believe that judges should be elected by the people, not appointed for life by the Governor.

Bryan Fink of Wayne passed two runners on the backstretch of the final lap to win the 1600 meter run in a time of 4:46.09. Fink, who had the top area time in the 3200 meter run, had to skip the event after aggravating a foot injury toward the end of the 1600 meter race.

"I was happy to see several athletes reach personal best marks," said WSC Head Coach Marlon Brink. "We are trying to peak at the NSIC Championship Meet, so this was a good indicator that we are right on track."

Omaha Bryan track standout signs with Wayne State

The Wayne State College track team has signed Ben Jansen from Omaha to a national letter of intent.

Jansen was a four-year letterwinner in track and a one-year letterwinner in cross country at Bryan High School in Omaha. He was the 2003 district champion in the 800 meter run at 1:54.10; the 4 x 800 meter men's relay team of Eric Klein, Nate McIntire, Matt Schaffer and Kriz finished third in 7:56.10; Tanna Walford placed fifth in the high jump clearing 5-4; Katie Malander captured fifth in the pole vault with a mark of 10-0; Erin Oswald placed sixth in the women's 400 meter dash (59.4) and the 4 x 100 women's relay team of Tiffany Schacher, Brenna Pribil, Oswald and Jodi Rhodig took sixth with a time of 50.0 seconds.

"If everyone has a really good meet, I think that is possible. The women's team will be trying to equal their fourth place finish at the Indoor Championships. Plus, we have several athletes that will be in contention to win individual championships."

He also helped his cross country team to a seventh place finish in the Nebraska State Meet last fall and was part of the 4 x 800 meter relay team that qualified for the State Track Meet in 2003.

Wayne golfers win Columbus Lakeview Tournament

The Wayne boys golf team won their second tournament of the season last Thursday, taking first place at the Lakeview Invitational played at the Elks Country Club in Columbus.

The Blue Devils team score of 334 was nine strokes better than the Norfolk JV team to top the 12-team field. "It was a good team effort on a great golf course," remarked Wayne Head Coach Terry Munson.

Ben Mohl fired a 79 to place second overall to lead the Blue Devils stellar effort. "Ben is playing very well right now," stated Coach Munson.

Trevor Krugman carded an 83 to place ninth, Brian Mohl was 12th with an 85, John Whitt fired an 87 and Tyler Johnson had a 91.

Wildcat softball team places fourth at NSIC Tournament

For the third straight year, the Wayne State softball team placed fourth at the NSIC Softball Tournament held in Moorhead, Minn. last weekend. The Wildcats opened the double-elimination tournament Friday morning with a 2-0 loss to eventual champion Concordia-St. Paul. WSC bounced back with an 8-0 win over Northern State.

Wayne State started the second day of the tournament with a 6-2 win over top-seeded Southwest State, then dropped a 1-0 contest in eight innings to MSU-Moorhead to finish the tournament 2-2.

"I believe we played our best ball of the season over the weekend," stated WSC Head Coach Jon Misfeldt. "Giving up only five runs in four games showed that our pitchers were outstanding and that our defense was solid."

In Friday's opener, Concordia-St. Paul scored two runs in the bottom of the sixth inning, then held off a Wildcat rally in the top of the seventh for a 2-0 win. WSC had runners on second and third with one out in the seventh, but could not capitalize.

Freshman Breann Parks had the only hit for Wayne State. Whitney Wilczynski pitched well in defeat for the Wildcats, allowing just two runs on five hits with six strikeouts and two walks.

The next game saw sophomore Midy Guenin toss a complete game, two-hit shutout to lead Wayne State over Northern State 8-0. She struck out eight and did not walk a batter in the win.

Offensively, the Wildcats came up with five hits. Katie Johnson had a double and single while Theresa Garlow added two singles. Kristina Walker chipped in with a single.

The Wildcats downed top-seeded Southwest State 6-2 in Saturday's opener thanks to a big game at the plate by Johnson. The junior centerfielder laced a two-run double to highlight a three-run third inning, then connected on a two-run homer to key a three-run fifth inning.

Lisa Stewart and Parks added two singles apiece while Mackenzie Knoell and Garlow added singles to round out Wayne State's eight-hit attack.

Guenin picked up her second straight win on the mound, tossing five innings of three hit ball. She allowed six walks and had five strikeouts. Freshman Karen Hain pitched the final two innings and did not allow a hit while striking out one.

Wayne State was eliminated from the tournament by MSU-Moorhead, falling in a heartbreaker 1-0 in eight innings. Wilczynski was tagged with the loss despite giving up just one run on four hits with five strikeouts and two walks in seven and two-thirds innings. The Wildcats had three hits in the game. Johnson tripled while Garlow and Walker each contributed a single.

"Twice against Moorhead, we had a runner at third base, but couldn't get a hit to score a run," commented Misfeldt.

Wayne State finished the tournament with a 2-2 record and ended the season 21-23 overall. Concordia-St. Paul won the NSIC Tournament with a 4-3 win over Minn.-Duluth. MSU-Moorhead finished in third place with Wayne State fourth.

"Finishing fourth in the conference tournament is nothing to jump cartwheels about, but two more timely hits and we could have been in the championship game just as easily as Concordia," added Coach Misfeldt.

The Wildcats had two players named to the 2004 NSIC All-Tournament Team. They were senior second baseman Mackenzie Knoell (Elkhorn) and junior centerfielder Katie Johnson (Wells, Minn.).

Sok wins division at wrestling meet

Andrew Sok of Winside competed last weekend at the USA State Wrestling Tournament held at Kearney High School. Sok, a sophomore, finished first in the Junior Division of Greco-Roman at 125 pounds and placed second in the Junior Division of Freestyle at 125 pounds.

WSC women's rugby team dominates Nebraska

The Wayne State women's rugby team closed out the spring schedule last Thursday evening with a convincing 51-5 win over Nebraska under the lights at Cunningham Field.

An estimated crowd of 250 spectators witnessed the game played on a chilly evening in 45 degree weather.

WSC Rugby Coach Darrin Barner said he was pleased with the crowd despite the chilly conditions.

"It was a nice crowd due to the 45 degree drop in weather from the day before. I know we would have had a lot more people if we had the warmer weather," remarked Coach Barner. "We were certainly the talk of the town the next morning, and who knows, maybe this can be a tradition playing the Huskers in the stadium every year."

Wayne State scored three times in the first half to take a 17-0 half-time lead, then exploded for five additional touchdowns in the second half to complete the rout.

The Wildcats opened the scoring with a 50-yard scoring run by Steph Binder. Mikayla Parr and Shanda Weiler also added touchdowns in the first half.

Angela Matthews came off the bench in the second half and scored three times to lead the Wildcat scoring barrage. Amber Groteluschen and Shannon Corkle also contributed scoring runs for Wayne State.

With the win, the Wayne State women finish the first half of the Great Plains Rugby Conference season in first place. The Wildcats graduate only two seniors off a team that has won 28 of their last 30 games.

The Wayne State men concluded their spring schedule Saturday with a 22-14 win at South Dakota State. The men also lead the Great Plains Rugby Conference at the halfway point of the season. The second half of the conference schedule will played in the fall.

Barner added that the second phase of the Tompkins Rugby Park will begin next week when improvements will be made on the land just north of the Wayne Softball Complex. Four full-size rugby fields will be ready for play in September with a full digital scoreboard, giving Barner and Wayne State a tremendous recruiting tool to get top quality players to come play for the Cats.

Samantha Scharton runs with the ball as several Wildcat players follow on the play for an option pitch during Wayne State's rugby game with Nebraska last Thursday.

Grandson runs in marathon

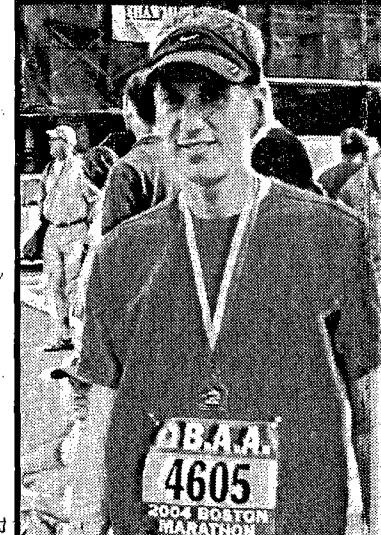

Matt Martindale, age 30, from Omaha, son of Jim and Linda Martindale of York and grandson of Gail Martindale of Concord, competed in the 108th running of the Boston Marathon on April 19.

He finished the race in 1,931st place from a field of 17,950 runners. His time on the 26.2 mile course was three hours, 28 minutes and 35 seconds, a pace of seven minutes and 58 seconds per mile.

Martindale said the spectators during the race were terrific as they encouraged and cheered for the runners. Many churches, youth organizations, sponsors and individuals handed out water, Gatorade and other energy products along the entire race course. Some residents also used water hoses to provide relief for the runners due to the heat as temperatures reached 87 degrees during the race.

The Boston Marathon was the third 26.2-mile run that Martindale has competed in, along with running several 5 kilometer and 10 kilometer races. Martindale, who began running as a hobby six years ago, said he would like to compete in the Boston Marathon again.

George talks about food in Peru

Editor's note: This is another in a series of articles written by Laurel native Lyle George on his experiences in Peru.

The lid was stuck on a jar of honey. So I turned to the kitchen sink to run hot water over it to loosen it up. But, wait, I'm in Peru. There is no hot water in the kitchen unless I boil it. The sink has only one faucet. Twice I've filled my glass with water from the sink and stopped just in time as I brought it to my lips. None of the locals drink the tap water without boiling or filtering it and neither should I.

I've maintained a very rigorous regimen of kitchen hygiene at home. Washing dishes in cold soapy water and then rinsing with boiling water from a tea kettle. This house has one of the few dishwashers in the city. That helps sterilize a lot of things too. In Peru it is especially important to keep food safety in mind at all times.

I've been on this adventure for a month now. I was beginning to believe that I had built up some sort of immunity to Peruvian microbes. My last trip here, almost 4 years ago, I was sick twice in a 3 week period. But alas it turns out that I still possess a wimpy North American immune system. I just returned from a 4 day vacation with a Peruvian family and ate what they ate. They ate in places that if I were there by myself, I would take one look and go hungry. But I was getting a little cocky.

Thirty hours after my return from the vacation, the hideous manifestations of a bad dining choice made in the prior two days revealed themselves. I was going to wait it out and stay home by the toilet. I called the University to see if my class had enough students to start yet. I had 17 students who signed up. That means I had to teach a class. It would be bad form for the professor to skip the first day.

A friend brought by some type of fern and told me that I should make a tea out of it. I wasn't sure where he found the ferns and so I took them and made a tea but never drank it. I also knew that I had Levaquin available and didn't want to mix medications.

I realized that I had a class starting in a few hours and I didn't want to be dancing in front of the room. So I decided I had go for plan B and take a Levaquin pill and get it over with. One pill is all it takes. Within a half an hour all of the intestinal violence I was experiencing stopped. Amazing stuff. I made myself some french fries out of the variegated purple and white Periano potatoes and headed off to teach.

If I were to over simplify my description of Peruvian food, it would be summed up by the phrase, murky fluids and potatoes. These things seem to always be present. I should say that I am in only one part of Peru. Other parts of Peru have their own regional specialties. It would be like eating food in Seattle and then saying this is what a typical Nebraskan eats.

A lot of restaurants here feature a lunch "menu". The menu is sort of a fixed price limited selection deal. The price could be 75 cents to maybe $2.50. The menu always starts with soup with a potato in it and maybe some meat and vegetables. Being a Catholic country, there is Friday soup which has no meat or may have seafood. Then next course may have beef or chicken, rice, choclo (giant kernel corn) and big surprise, potatoes. You can find this in most restaurants. I'm convinced the prevalence of soups is due to the expandability of the soup stock with water should more people show up.

Cerviche is raw marinated fish. They use vinegar, lemon, ginger, onions and hot peppers to make it. You're not supposed to eat it more than 20 miles from the coast. I had it in Cuzco which is a long ways from the coast. I was persuaded to eat it by the Peruvian family I was with because they said it was flown in. It was good. I didn't die.

You can buy milk in aseptic packaging or you can buy it in a bucket. There is a dairy cooperative store nearby. I take my bucket and get it filled with milk. One detail is that the milk is not pasteurized. Using a double boiler you can heat milk to the point necessary to kill any microbe that might be lurking there in.

You can buy oranges and make your own juice. One extra step for fruits and vegetables in Peru. You need soak them in an iodine solution to kill stuff before you use them. Apples should then be peeled before eating.

People here have more time than money. You can hire an empleada quite cheaply to do all the mundane house hold chores. All that extra heating, peeling and washing really can consume a day.

Peruvians love to eat guinea pigs (cuy). For a girl's Quinceanera (15th birthday) it would be the perfect thing to serve. For anybody's birthday, who would want anything else. When the Spanish conquered the Inca's they used native artisans to portray Catholic art. In the Cuzco cathedral there is a painting of the Last Supper. It features Jesus and all the disciples with Inca features. (Not white like the Mel Gibson film.) At the center of the table is a cuy. Of course, surrounded by potatoes. What would Jesus eat? Only the best, of course.

To dispatch a cuy they break it's neck. Cuy's are then scalded and the hair pulled off and then gutted. They are cooked with the skin on. I've usually seen them deep fried. I was watching a Peruvian cooking show the other day. They had a big bowl of whole cuy's marinating in something. Truly something disgusting to look at. They put the cuy's on skewers and then slid them into a big clay oven. Cuy's are cooked with the head on, (the cheek meat is the best part in my humble opinion)

It takes a certain amount of mind control for an American to eat a cuy. I was at a University celebration a while back. They were serving cuy's. I still have this vision of a very happy looking Peruvian with his cuy on a to-go plate. It looked just like what I would imagine a fried rat would look like. Hideous. For me to eat one involves a struggle to overcome revulsion. For a Peruvian, it's a good thing

Cuy's are everywhere. You see people walking around with bundles of alfalfa. They are taking alfalfa home to feed to their cuy's.

Celebrate Arbor Day
Wayne Head Start celebrated Arbor Day with the Holt County Natural Resources District (NRD) donating 20 trees to the center. Each child was able to take a tree home to plant. The children learned about how trees are cut down and the fact that Arbor Day is a day to make up for all the trees that are cut down. The students also learned how to take care of trees and what is important to keep them alive. The children were very excited to take their trees home to plant them.

Powell receives recognition for accomplishments

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Megan Powell of Wayne has been named a United States Award Winner in Foreign Language.

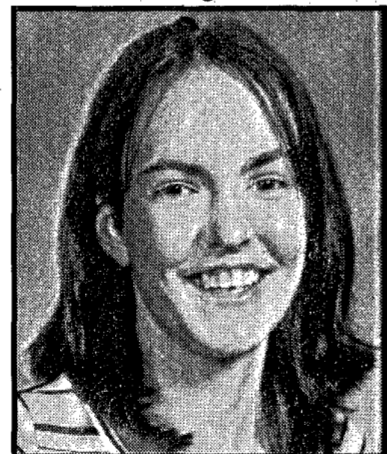

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. The Academy recognizes fewer than 10 percent of all American high school students.

Megan, who attends Wayne High School, was nominated for this national award by Traci Coover, Spanish teacher at the school.

Her name will now appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history.

Certainly, United States Achievement Academy winners should be congratulated and

appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said

Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors and other qualified sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Megan is the daughter of Tim and Marie Powell of Wayne. Her grandparents are Bob and Kay Ewald of Reno, Nev.

Eagles present check to the Wakefield Health Care Center

A check for $1,500 was presented to the Wakefield Health Care Center by the Wayne Eagles Auxiliary #3757.

The money was obtained through the Eagles Art Ehrmann Cancer Fund and will aid in the purchase of a pressure relieving air mattress. The mattress will be used by terminally ill and elderly patients to provide comfort and prevent skin irritations through the control of air flow.

The Wayne Eagles Aerie and Auxiliary #3757 were organized in 1978 with the motto "People Helping People." Monies raised through various fund raisers are sent into charities including the Art Ehrmann Cancer Fund, Jimmy Durante Children's Fund, Max Baer Heart Fund, Kidney, Diabetes and Alzheimer's Fund and the City of Hope.

From these funds, the Auxiliary is able to request grants to be used locally.

Know Symptoms of Diabetes

Symptoms of diabetes include excessive thirst, constant hunger, fatigue, frequent urination, blurred vision, numbness or tingling in hands and feet and slow healing of wounds. Some women will have recurring yeast or urinary tract infections. Symptoms usually develop slowly over time; however, many people with diabetes have no symptoms at all. It's recommended that everyone over 45 have a blood test for diabetes every 3 years. Obese people or those with a family history should start at 30 years of age with more frequent screening.

Personal finance class learns about insurance

The Wayne Community Schools Personal Finance classes have been studying insurance and as part of the unit have been discussing risks young people encounter.

It was decided to create a campaign for wearing seatbelts to help other students become more aware of the risks involved when not wearing seat belt. The class spent several days researching statistics, brainstorming ideas, making posters, creating brochures and flyers and designing their group's campaign to be distributed to the rest of the school.

One of the important statistics students researched included: "Teens ages 16-20 have the highest fatality rate in motor vehicle crashes than any other age group."

DOTHS809 578 March 2003.
An example from the trivia contest including asking which group has the lowest seat belt wearing rate? Answer - males ages 17-25.

The Personal Finance classes watched a video concerning seat-belt safety. Then locker posters were placed on students' lockers, posters and flyers were put up throughout the school, a trivia contest was held with winners receiving gift certificates to the school store and special announcements were made concerning seatbelt use.

The students were also outside one morning to give a treat to the students who wore their seatbelts, and a warning ticket to those students not wearing their seatbelts.

Arbor Day celebration

Fourth grade students at Wayne Elementary School took part in Arbor Day activities last Friday. The students first listened to Steve Rasmussen, District Forester, talk about the origins of Arbor Day and the importance of planting trees. Arbor Day originated in Nebraska when J. Sterling Morton began the tree planting effort in 1872. Joel Hansen, Public Works Superintendent, also spoke with the students about the fact that the city of Wayne has received a Tree City designation for 13 years in a row. Following the presentation, the group watched as city employees planted a Hackberry tree north of the school.

Jacobs travels to Honduras

After riding through large fincas or farms of bananas and palm trees, we pulled up to a small, isolated roadside wooden shack that housed the immigration office for Guatemala. A smile, a one-dollar exit tax, and a stamp in my passport sent us across more frontiers to the immigration office in Corinto Honduras.

Corinto was a tiny outpost that consisted of a restaurant and a few houses. When I say restaurant, this usually means three to four white plastic tables and chairs under a tin roof that appears more like a front porch converted to a food stand.

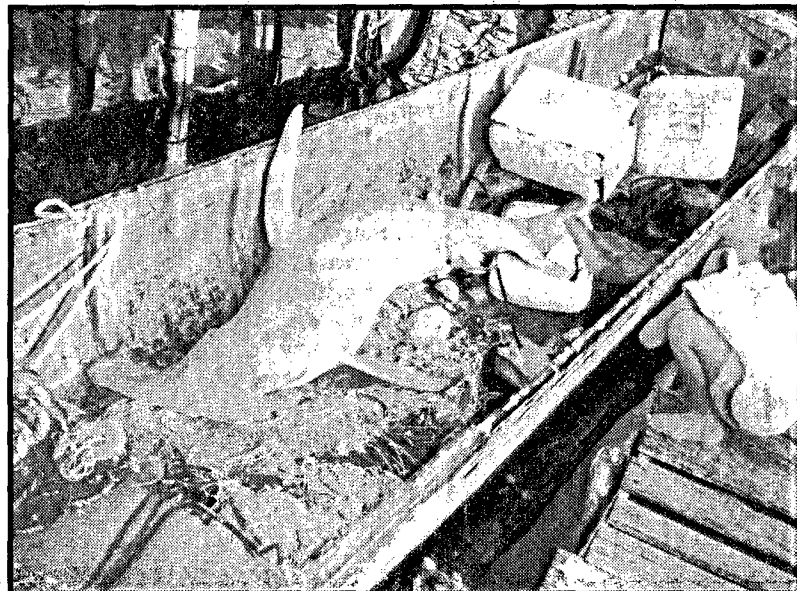

Eating on travel days often presents a challenge. You are always balancing food for survival with the lack of adequate bathroom facilities. To catch a 6 AM bus means you purchase a small cupcake or cookie the night before, for your breakfast. Lunch is generally some banana chips and a Coke that you negotiate through the window as the bus stops to drop off a passenger, a transaction that wastes no time. I'm convinced my stomach shrinks on these days. It is impossible to sleep and barely tolerable to ride, as I sit partially sideways just so my legs won't smash into the metal backing of the seat in front of me. Even with all these obstacles, I sit with my face pressed against the window, waving at young children, watching colorful birds and observing everyday life with the awe of a small child.

Honduras in many ways looks like Guatemala at first, but soon you notice that gone are the Mayan Indians, replaced completely by mixed Spanish and a small amount of African decedents. We made a direct line to the Bay Islands, which lay off the coast of Honduras. They have a reputation for being the cheapest place to learn how to dive in the western hemisphere. I wasn't sure if this was good or bad, considering your life might depend on the people and equipment of a place that brags of being "cheap."

After spending a night in Le Cebia, we caught a taxi (to catch a taxi you always haggle and agree on the price ahead of time or you will be charged double, even triple the price) to the boat that ferried us one hour out to the island of Utilia. Here, we jumped aboard a small boat for 45 minutes to Pigeon and Jewel Caye's, two tiny connected islands that you can walk from one end to the other in ten minutes.

A sidewalk served as the main artery that connected the two small Caye's. Only a year ago did they get 24-hour electricity, a fact they are quite proud of, something that I take for granted back home. All fresh water is captured off of rooftops and stored in large cisterns and used later for showers and cooking. All houses, stores, churches (there were seven on the island for 500 people) and the two restaurants were perched on concrete stilts. It was the type of place where everyone knows your business, often even before you do.

No cars, no engines, no loud music, only an occasional whiff of someone baking cinnamon rolls during the day and the sound of wind and waves at night. This was our home for six days. It was the first time in a while that I actually slept. Generally, I wake up throughout the night, something I attribute to noise and constant change of locations. In the mornings, I dove; in the afternoons, I napped. A good life for a few days and well above my intended budget. But at $30 a day for room, board and diving, that still isn't bad.

Additionally, they spoke English on the Caye's as a first language, which allowed me to engage with people more easily. Diving in the clear warm waters of the Caribbean is a special thing as you enter a foreign world of colorful fish and corals. To go below the surface for 50 minutes is almost like a meditation. When you come back to the surface you are different; you smile more.

On Jewel Caye, I met Shelia. Shelia ran the green store. It was called the green store because it was painted green and had no storefront sign. It had been the family store for 23 years, her father operated it the first seven,

It was he who first painted it green. Inside the green store, there was a pile of crackers on the main counter labeled "Club Social," appropriate for a place that is much more than a store.

Shelia had this to share in her Creole accent, "I wish more of you would come down from the states. I don't speak Spanish, that would be much easier for me." She also chatted about her frustration. They have family in New Orleans and just to apply for a U.S. visa cost $100.00. You lose that fee if you are denied the visa. "It's not really fair. You can come here, but I can't go there," she said, "but what can you do?" I could only listen and feel a little guilty.

As we left the Caye's, a fisherman came to me to show me what he had caught. Inside his small wooden boat was a full grown Hammerhead shark, at least 10 feet long. In the office of the dive shop, I talked about the impressive shark, and felt remorse. I hadn't seen one shark diving. The owner of the dive shop responded, "It's not really fair, but that's life." And so it is, on land and on sea.

Next, we are heading for Nicaragua. DEAN JACOBS is a freelance writer and photographer traveling through Central and South America. He can be reached at deanjbs4@yahoo.com, www.travel4life.org.

Garwood is candidate for Board of Education

Rodney Garwood is one of three candidates for the District 3 seat on the Nebraska State Board of Education.

Two of the three candidates on the ballot will advance from the Tuesday, May 11 primary to the November general election.

Garwood has served as the administrator of Educational Service Unit in Wakefield for 22 years and is retiring this summer. Previously, he was a teacher, principal and superintendent. In all he has spent 38 years in education.

A graduate of Red Cloud Public School, he earned his bachelor's degree from the University of Northern Colorado and master's degrees from the University of South Dakota and Chadron State College.

Rodney Garwood

Garwood said he has attended school all of his life and there is no aspect of education in which he has not been involved.

"Education has always been both a vocation and avocation," he said.

He added that one of society's greatest duties is to educate children, saying he could do just that because of his experience.

"I have the passion and the financial experience to accomplish needed tasks in a reasonable manner," he said. "I have extensive knowledge in curriculum, assessment and instruction."

He said the most pressing issues in education are funding, declining student enrollment and requirements or expectations put upon schools.

Garwood and his wife, Deb, and son, Rodney, live in Wayne.

He and Jim Scheer and Jim Halferty, both of Norfolk, are seeking the position being vacated by the retiring Bev Peterson of Oakland.

Facts are given on thunderstorms

The typical thunderstorm is 15 miles in diameter and last an average of 30 minutes. Nearly 1,800 thunderstorms are occurring at any moment around the world — that is 16 million a year! Despite their small size, all thunderstorms are dangerous.

Every thunderstorm produced lightning, which kills more people each year than tornadoes. Heavy rain from thunderstorms can lead to flooding. Strong winds, hail and tornadoes are also dangers associated with some thunderstorms.

Of the estimated 100,000 thunderstorms that occur each year in the U.S., only about 10 percent are classified as severe! The National Weather Service considers a thunderstorm severe if it produces hail at least 3/4-inch in diameter, wind 58 mph or higher, or tornadoes.

To prepare for a thunderstorm stay attuned to weather-related announcements. Take shelter inside a building and stay away from electrical items and water. If outside, stay away from trees, fences or poles.

Check presented to WSC arboretum

Following the 2004 Arbor Day celebration on the Wayne State College campus, April 30, Merlin Frevert of the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District presented a check to Pat Meehan, campus arboretum and landscape manager, for a grant of $3,512.80 awarded to WSC in 2003.

Also, involved was Dr. Charles Maier, a local Nebraska Community Forestry Council award winner with more than 30 years of service to forestry in the state and to the development of the WSC arboretum. The community forestry grant was for tree planting on the east side of the student center on campus, extending from the building entrance to Walnut Street. Trees were planted as part of the renovation project for this area.

Planting was accomplished by volunteer labor from campus classes, AQIP projects and other efforts to allow the project to be finished by the Arbor Day 2003 celebration. The trees continue to thrive one year later.

Youth participate in Money Camp

What is it like for seventh grade youth to function in the real world? The 2004 Money Camp gave 120 youth an opportunity to learn about "Real World" Money decisions as part of the University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension Money Camp.

The camp was held at the Lifelong Learning Center in Norfolk. Youth participated from: Allen, Elgin (Public and Pope John), Humphrey (St. Francis), Madison (Trinity Lutheran and Christ is King), Newcastle; Winside and Wisner-Pilger.

The interactive financial program was designed to help 7th Grade Youth become better prepared to financial decisions as young adults. They experienced a variety of activities including a real life simulation where they learn about managing in the "Real World."

The camp was coordinated by Sandy Preston and Myrna DuBois, Extension Educators with the University of Nebraska in Dixon and Stanton Counties.

the salary for that occupation.

Before they could start managing their money, these young people needed to figure how much money was available. They needed to subtract taxes and possibly insurance from their salary and make a deposit in the bank. Chance cards like a flat tire or a car break down added to the realism of the simulation. Some of the young people felt like they made good choices by purchasing a used car or finding the free entertainment.

Although the households that had a child in them were randomly selected in this simulation, a couple identified as their bad decision, "Getting stuck with a kid and running out of money." Another young person wrote, "I learned that it takes a lot of time and thought to handle bills and get all your supplies."

Other programs for the day included an in-depth look at credit, and different ways people use and view money. Extension personnel assisting with the program included: Kathy Prochaska-Cue (Family Economic Specialist), Debra Schroeder, Melann Wiechman, Kathleen Sauser, Mary Loftis, Jane Armstrong, Ruth Vonderohe, Lee Sherry, Jim Mueller, Kim Bearnes, Amy Topp, and Vickie Greve (4-H Youth Development Specialist.)

Ashley Gentrup

Gentrup receives recognition for accomplishments

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Ashley Gentrup of Wayne has been named a United States Award Winner in Band.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. The Academy recognizes fewer than 10 percent of all American high school students.

Ashley, who attends Wayne High School, was nominated for this national award by Brad Weber, band teacher at the school.

Her name will now appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly, United States Achievement Academy winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors and other qualified sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Ashley is the daughter of Ron and Diane Gentrup of Wayne. Her grandparents are Rudy and Mary Grovjohn of Dodge and Rose and the late Ignatius Gentrup of West Point.

Signs of spring are everywhere

There are a bunch of signs of spring along Church Road: Redbud trees and lilac bushes, irises and spirea bushes. Corn is coming up in the field across the road; huge tractors and planters moving slowly on the road, and really, really slow over bridges. New black calves are all up and down the road.

Also, graduation announcements in the mail, asparagus and rhubarb in the mailbox, courtesy of Wanda in the O Pioneers house; geraniums in planters, shorts and halter tops, even when temps are still low! And Daylight Savings Time.

I baked a big batch of chocolate chip cookies this morning. I hadn't made any for a long time, and I have to take cookies to a meeting tomorrow. There is something very special about chocolate chip cookies, I'm finding out.

When we visited St. John school in Seward for Grandparent's day

By: Pat Meierhenry

last Friday, the dessert for the school lunch was a chocolate chip cookie. Plus, one of Alex's classmates brought them as treats for their room.

When you fly Midwest Express, you aren't even in the air very long when you smell cookies baking. (There's that aroma business again.) Eventually, the stewardess comes by with a tray fresh out of the oven and uses a spatula to place a couple on your napkin! What a great "treat in the sky".

We've had a frequent guest this year who was reading a book about successful businesses when she was here last month. It seems that Marriott Hotels were experiencing a slump until they began offering fresh chocolate chip cookies when folks check in. They claim they went from 3000 calls a day to 10,000! That's pretty good, if the only change they made was the cookie.

The frequent guest is an interesting lady in her own right. She is an animal nutritionist who is on staff at the St. Louis Zoo. She is an expert in what zoo animals eat, having spent 17 years at the Bronx Zoo. When they discovered the animals at the Kabul Zoo, she was consulted regarding their diet.

She comes to the Farm House because she also consults for the Oxbow Pet Products, our local success story. They make pellets for rabbits, guinea pigs, hamsters, etc. all over the world. They are now venturing into turtles and Ellen is helping with the research. She has done training all over the world; in fact, she won't be here in May because she has to go to London (poor thing). Anyway, we have some interesting dinner table conversations, you can imagine.

That's our weekly update. Don't forget the National Day of Prayer on Thursday. If ever our nation needed prayer, it is now!

Garden planting tips shared

By Delroy Hemsath
Extension Educator

This is the time of the year that all of the cool-season crops should be in the ground and growing.

This includes those vegetables of broccoli, cabbage, lettuce, onions, radishes, peas, beets, kohlrabi, Irish potatoes, spinach, carrots and sweetcorn. In fact, some lettuce and spinach could have already been harvested. It isn't too late to get those crops in the soil, but it needs to be planted very soon.

These crops prefer those cool temperatures and will grow rapidly as the sun begins to shine for longer hours approaching summer. The lettuce and spinach will begin to taste bitter as the days become warmer and will soon begin to bolt for production of seed heads. The radishes will become hot to the taste rather than the mild flavor earlier in the cool weather period.

Warm season crops need to wait until the danger of frost is past, which is towards the end of May, or earlier if one wants to provide light covering to protect the plant. These warm season crops include, tomato, snap beans, squash, cucumbers, watermelon, gourds, peppers and sweet potatoes.

The warm season crops prefer warm weather, especially those warm summer nights. The warm season crops will commonly take up to 90 or more days to produce a crop, so these will be harvested in the late summer or early fall. Adequate watering is critical for the warm season crops, as any water stress will cause abnormal growth in the produce.

Careful planning will allow a gardener to direct plant the seed of the cool season crops again for a fall harvest in the early part of July. It is possible to get two crops of some vegetables in Nebraska. Examples are broccoli, spinach and lettuce.

Another practice worth trying is to plant snap beans, Irish potatoes or carrots around July 1 to avoid some of the insect and disease problems encountered with the spring planting. If conditions are right, a good fall harvest will result.

Buy some extra seed and give some thought of doing something different this year.

Contact the local extension office for more information.

Soybean producers can request check-off

The U.S. Department of Agriculture will offer soybean producers the opportunity to request a referendum on the Soybean Promotion and Research Order, better known as the Soybean Checkoff Program, to decide whether the program should continue.

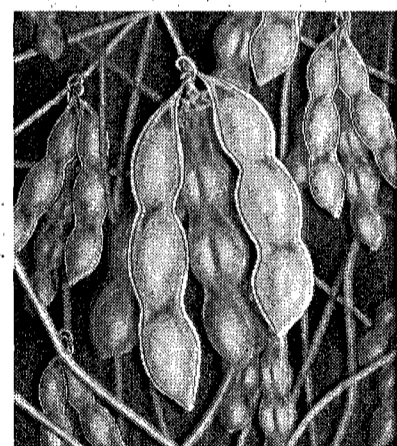

Debra J. Pieper, county executive director of the Wayne County Farm Service Agency said the request for referendum will be conducted at FSA county offices. To be eligible to participate, producers must certify and provide documentation showing they produced soybeans and paid an assessment during the period of Jan. 1, 2002 through Dec. 31, 2003, Pieper said.

Only those producers who desire a referendum on the order will participate.

From May 3 through May 28, producers may obtain a form to request a referendum from the Wayne county FSA office staff either in person or by sending a request by mail or fax. Forms may also be obtained online at <http://www.ams.usda.gov/lsg/mpb/rp-soy.htm>

Individual producers and other producer entities may request a referendum at the county office where their administrative farm records are maintained. For the producer not participating in FSA programs, the opportunity to request a referendum will be provided at the FSA county office where the producer owns or rents land.

Mail in requests must be postmarked by May 28, 2004 and received in the county office by June 7, 2004. All other requests made by fax or in person must be received in the county office by May 28, 2004.

USDA will conduct a referendum on the order if at least 10 percent of the 663,880 soybean producers request a referendum, provided that no more than one-fifth of the producers come from one state.

The Soybean Checkoff Program was authorized by the Soybean Promotion, Research and Consumer Information Act to maintain and expand existing markets and develop new markets for soybeans and soybean products. It is funded by a mandatory assessment of 0.5 of one percent of the net market price of soybeans. All producers marketing soybeans must pay the assessment.

Wayne Rotary Club holding fundraiser for 'Polio Plus'

The Wayne Rotary Club is selling the book "Anyway," by Kent M. Keith as a fundraiser for their Polio Plus program. The book of paradoxical commandments helps find personal meaning in a crazy world and would be a good gift for a graduate.

Eradication of polio, as stated in the February, 2004, issue of The Rotarian magazine by Dr. David Heymann, will rank among the world's most important public health victories.

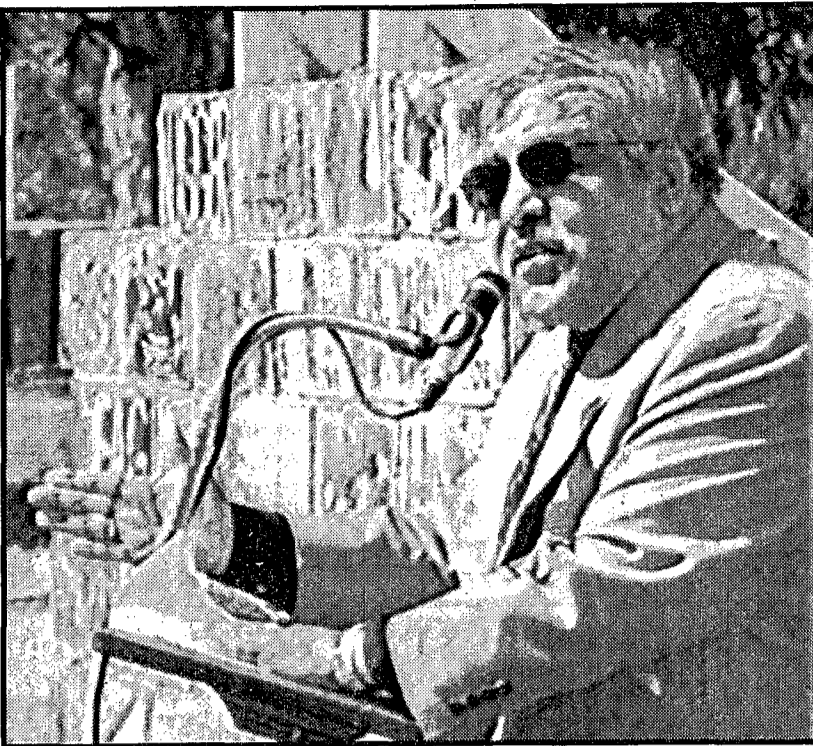

The cases of polio in the world is clear down but we must all be steadfast in efforts to completely eradicate it.

Also noted in the magazine was the total confirmed cases in countries in 2003 were Egypt, 1; Afghanistan, 7; Niger, 19; Pakistan, 95; India, 209; Nigeria, 286. Kano state in Nigeria has half of all polio cases. An outbreak there has spread to several other countries putting 15 million children at risk and could reverse much of the progress made.

The commandments do not focus on popular symbols of success but instead on the meaning you get from loving others, honesty, volunteering and giving the best you have. When you live the paradoxical life, you find personal meaning in a crazy world.

For more on Anyway, visit www.paradoxicalcommandments.com.

Anyone interested in finding out more about the book or in purchasing one can call Wayne Rotary Club member George Holm at K & G Cleaners, 375-1327, or stop by 214 Main Street in Wayne.

Dr. Marty Ramirez

Dr. Marty Ramirez speaks at Wayne State

Vietnam veteran and Purple Heart award winner Dr. Marty Ramirez served as guest speaker at the Wayne State College office of residence life presented the finale of "Tearing Down the Wall," a project aimed at taking a strike at eliminating the discrimination and shame caused by oppressive stereotypes that hinder people across the world.

Cinder blocks were decorated by students to represent moments in history or terms that oppress people. The wall representing oppression was knocked down by individuals with sledge hammers on May 3, after Ramirez, a counseling psychologist and assistant professor at UNL, spoke to an audience gathered on campus.

"We've all had blessings and we've also had words that we don't want to hear," Ramirez said. "Everyone can discriminate. Despite what experiences we have had in history, things are changing. This is a brick wall that is oppression....With empowerment, two things we can do are control our thinking and our behavior for change to happen. No longer are we going to be ashamed of who we are. We are regaining a sense of dignity and a sense of self respect, but it has to be a collaborative effort. Wayne State College has proven a sincere commitment here."
