Legitimate Law enforcement telemarketers announced

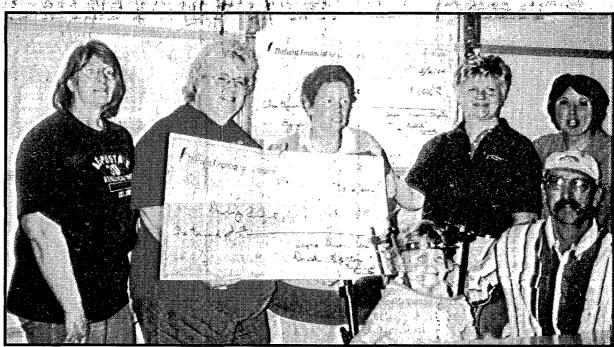

May seems to be the time of year when telemarketers start making calls asking you to support their law enforcement cause.

According to Wayne Police Chief Lance Webster, "many of these outfits are scam artists just trying to separate you from your hard earned money."

The Wayne Police Department recognizes four law enforcement organizations that do perform telemarketing within the State of Nebraska. These are the Police (POAN), the Fraternal Order of Police Nebraska Lodge, the Nebraska Sheriff's Association, and the State Troopers Association of Nebraska. All four of these organizations raise money in the State and all support local law enforcement, sheriff's departments and the Nebraska State Patrol in our efforts to provide better training and service.

Wayne Police Chief Lance Webster said that any of these organizations will send information upon request when you are called. He said if a telemarketer pushes for an immediate decision and won't agree to send solicitation information then you should hang up. All of these organizations are reputable and all want to hear about any problems with their telemarketer employees.

Anyone with questions or concerns can call Chief Webster at the Wayne Police Department, 375-2626 or Sheriff Leroy Janssen at the Wayne County Sheriff's Office, 375-1911.

Vandalismsoccur at Arnie's

Between March and May 10 of this year, there have been three vandalisms reported at Arnie's Ford Lincoln Mercury, in Wayne.

On March 30, two vehicles suffered almost $1,500 damage between them. On May 7 a Ford van had the driver's side window broken out and on May 10 the police department took a report of vandalism to windows on the alley side of the Arnie's building.

It appears that these incidents are unrelated but it is possible one or more persons are conducting a pattern of vandalism incidents. The total loss to Arnie's Ford to date has been over $2,000.

In an effort to help identify and apprehend the suspects Arnie's Ford Lincoln Mercury is offering a $500 reward for information that leads to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for any or all of these criminal

Please be kind to animals

Dear Editor,

Last week was Be Kind to founded in 1915 by The American Humane Association to celebrate the unique bond between humans and animals. Most of the time during this week, we talk about how wonderful humans are to animals but this was recently not the Recently, the Northeast Nebraska Humane Society was contacted concerning 12 dogs that were abandoned, left in a house. There were three adult dogs and 9 puppies.

Of the two females, one had six 10 week old puppies and one was pregnant. The puppies were around 10-12 weeks old. NNHS was contacted because there was no place for these dogs to go. Renters had left the house with the animals locked inside a room. The door to the room was destroyed on the inside because of the dogs' futile attempt to get out. They all were malnourished, sickly, and full of worms.

The puppies were so malnourished that their stomachs were distended. They were living in their own filth. How long the dog's had been left uncared for is anyone's guess, but long enough to Savior Lutheran Church at 7:00. cause serious health problems

At the time of the call The Northeast Nebraska Humane Society was full and could not take the dogs. They looked for Animals Week, This week was alternatives, maybe taking them to another shelter, foster homes, a rescue, and thought a resolution had been found, Upon returning the call, it was found that the animals had been euthanised by an area Veterinarian who determined that the dogs' health problems were too serious to treat.

After I was told of the call, I knew that my resolve to get a shelter built was stronger than ever. This is an extreme case, granted, but similar cases happened all the time and that is what a shelter hopes to prevent. Having a shelter maybe would have given these people a place to take their dogs.

The Northeast Nebraska Humane Society is getting steps closer than they have ever been to building a shelter. Plans are drawn up, two different possibilities on land and more animal lovers attending meetings. Now starts the process of fundraising. The small, but dedicated members are enthusiastic about working towards the goal.

Ramblings on political activities

A candidate for the Republican nomination to the House in the 1st District caught some flak recently for making a joke about Democrats. The candidate said he had been told that there were so few Democrats in part of the state that local residents "sprayed for them."

Well, geez. It's politics, right? It's supposed to be a tad adversarial, while stopping short of the mean spirited.

The chicken is home

A chicken that was 'injured' at the Henoween Cement Chicken auction has recently returned home to roost. The bird was purchased by Clara Osten, right, who was very relieved to have the chicken back in her possession. Making the delivery were Wayne Police Officer Brian Swanson and Leo Ahmann, Executive Director of Main Street, who was responsible for restoring the chicken to health. More chickens will be auctioned this year.

The decision to build east of town and not at Wayne Greenhouse, 215 East 10th, was made because there was no where to build at that location. Lou Hall-Wiltse, manager of the Plant Market noted, "Dad said, don't spend any more money fixing the old greenhouse. Build new." Lou said it was a difficult decision because her great-grandfather, Dervie Hall, started the greenhouse in 1921. Later in 1950, her grandparents, Wilbur and Hattie Hall, sold the greenhouse to her dad and mom, Kent and Lois Hall.

Once the decision was made to build the Plant Market, they strived to have an ultra-modern greenhouse. The roof was made in Israel because at that time, that was the only place that material was being made, and because it wouldn't break and wouldn't burn, thus making it safer for customers. And, instead of having a boiler for heat as the old greenhouse did, the Plant Market is heated with four gas house furnaces which are very efficient and very clean. The furnaces are only used during March and April.

By 1990, more room was needed so three more greenhouses were added. One has its own furnace and a tent in it which is used to concentrate heat for specific plants or to speed up growth for new seedlings.

"About six years ago, we grew 18,000 poinsettias every year from cuttings," Lou said. "We quit that but grow a lot of our plants from seeds, plugs, and cuttings. Other plants come from all over the world. Many plants are American grown but tested in Australia, Egypt, and Guatemala and then sent to growers in the U.S."

Lou said the inventory has changed through the years, for example, they sell less geraniums than they used to. "We keep track and try to provide what people want so it changes each year."

While it seems the Plant Market is only open for a short time, there is work going on all year. At the end of the season, around July, Lou starts getting ready for the next year. She goes through workers' notes to see what people want or don't want and what plants they ran out of. In August, she places orders for plants through brokers to make sure they find the best plants at the best prices. By December, she get confirmation on the orders. The tags used on plants have to be ordered in January. By the end of January, the first plants, which are geraniums for hanging pots, start arriving. The end of February, workers open the Plant Market to get the heat turned on and this is when repairs are made on pipes, furnaces, etc. The first week of March, while it is often snowing outside, the plants are arriving inside.

"It's snowing outside and it's spring inside," Lou said. "We give a lof of tours in April and our really. busy times are May and June. By then it is usually safe from frost."

By the first of July, they are usu. The addition of the two men ally finished selling plants. That is when pipes are drained and Louworks on notes again.

Some of the features inside the Plant Market greenhouse include a black cloth system above the plants which acts as a blanket to trap the heat in at night. There is also a cooling shade system that opens and expands to filter the light so customers can see better inside. The shade system is used primarily in May.

There is also a cooling wall to the west side that runs on a thermostat. When it gets hot outside, cool water trickles through vents. There are fans on the opposite wall that suck the cool air through the building and lowers the temperature.

Another feature is a fertilizer injector system through which plants can be watered at certain times each day.

Lou said "I have almost always worked in a greenhouse. For a short time; I did have a couple other jobs and lived in the city but it's not like living in a small town. When raising my family, I decided I wanted to come back. I love visiting with people. Grandma Hall always said the same thing, that customers are like family and they are your friends.

She notes she does a lot of planning in the business but her girls run the show. "They do the work of sowing seeds, transplanting, and more and do a fantastic job of pro- ship. ducing and working with customers," Lou said.

There are eight women working at the Plant Market this year and some have been there several

Council approves noise ordinance

By Clara Osten

Of the Herald

With no objections and only a few questions, the ordinance establishing guidelines for regulating noise passed on third reading at Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

Several changes have been made in the ordinance since the second reading, including an increase in the allowable levels of noise. The city will be purchasing equipment to monitor the noise levels. Chief Lance Webster noted that the ordinance will make enforcement more objective.

The council also approved a new fire chief and two member members to the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department during the meeting.

After serving as chief for several years, Robert Woehler is stepping down. He will be replaced by Tom Mitzel, who has served as assistant chief. His appointment to the position was unanimously approved, as were the applications of Brent Doring and Jess Hartlett.

brings the department to 42 members, four short of the maximumallowed.

No one spoke during a public hearing regarding the replacement of the city's Handi-Van.

The purchase price of a new van is $28,573, of which Nebraska Public Transportation Act Funds will pay 83 percent and allow the: city to retain ownership of the current van. This leaves $4,857 for the city to pay.

Police Chief Lance Webster presented information to the council on his acceptance to the FBI National Academy. Webster noted that he was nominated for acceptance in 1998 and has worked his way through the process.

"I am privileged to attend this academy which will provide cutting edge training and result in the city of Wayne having a better trained police chief." The only cost to the city for Webster's training will be his salary. He is a primary candidate for the session that begins in January of 2005 and runs for 11

Wayne State captures NSIC Baseball Tournament

by Mike Grosz Of the Herald

The Wayne State College baseball team captured the 2004 Northern Sun Conference Baseball Tournament title last weekend with a perfect 3-0 record at the WSC Baseball Complex, earning a berth to this weekend's NCAA Central Regional Tournament in Warrensburg, Missouri.

The Wildcats opened the tournament last Thursday with a 5-1 win over Southwest State, edged Winona State in a 12-inning marathon Friday afternoon 3-2, then rallied from a 6-1 deficit in the eighth inning to top Winona State in the championship game Saturday afternoon 8-6.

"These kids believe that they can win," said WSC Baseball Coach John Manganaro. "They're a bunch of blue collar kids who practice harder than any team I've ever coached, and it shows on the field."

Wayne State opened the tournament with a 5-1 win over Southwest State. The Wildcats received stellar pitching from freshman Nick Schumacher and several outstanding plays defensively from rightfielder Justin Conley and second baseman Aaron Ligocki to win the game.

and two-third innings for WSC to get the win. He gave up just one run on five hits with four strikeouts and five walks. Wierzbicki and Ryan Wetterberg came on in relief and did not allow another hit the rest of the game. Wierbicki retired four batters and allowed three walks while Wetterberg walked one and struck out one in one inning of work.

WSC scored two runs in the second, one in the sixth and two more in the eighth inning. Justin Conley and Dustin Jones delivered run-scoring singles in the second, Conley had an RBI double in the sixth and Kyle Hansen produced a two-run homer in the eighth.

Jones had three of Wayne State's nine hits in the game. Conley and Matt Fjelland contributed two hits apiece.

"We had timely hitting, some oustanding defense and excellent pitching," added Manganaro.

Wayne State advanced to the NSIC Tournament championship game with a memorable, 3-2 win in 12 innings over Winona State on Friday. Senior lefthander Nate Miller (10-1) worked all 12 innings on the mound to get the win for the Wildcats.

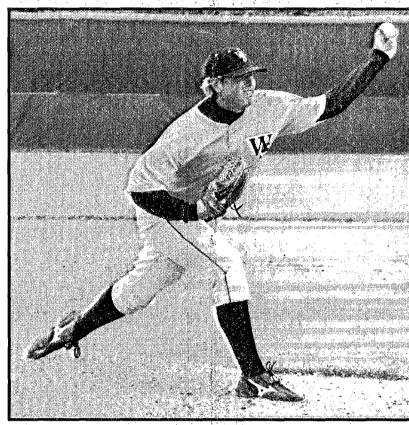

"That was a gutty performance by a senior who has had champi-Schumacher (6-2) worked six onship experience," commented Manganaro on Miller's effort. Miller allowed nine hits and two runs, striking out seven and walking none.

WSC scored single runs in the fourth, sixth and 12th innings. Hansen bashed a solo homer in the The Wildcats tied the fourth.

game in the sixth (2-2) when Tim Richt scored on a throwing error following Chris Pedroza's sacrifice bunt. Wayne State used a similar play to score the game-winning run in the bottom of the 12th.

Hansen led off the inning with a double. Travis Oosthoek came in to pinch run for Hansen and scored Wayne State senior lefthander Nate Miller pitched 12 innings last Friday to help the Wildcats edge Winona State 3-2 in the NSIC Tournament winner's bracket final.

Wildcat senior outfielder Justin Conley makes a sliding catch to save Wayne State two runs during last Thursday's 5-1 win over Southwest State.

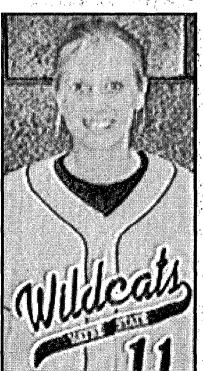

Johnson, Knoell receive All NSIC softball honors

Katie Johnson and Mackenzie Knoell represent Wayne State College on the NSIC All-Softball Team Conference announced last week. The All-Conference Team is selected by the league's nine head coaches.

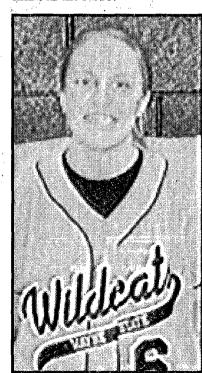

Johnson, a senior from Wells, Minn., posted a .479 in conference games this season, the second best average in the NSIC. She tied for the league-lead in hits with 23, scored 10 runs and had nine RBI's to go with a slugging percentage of .667. She finished the season with a team-leading .357 average, going 50 for 140 at the plate with three homers and 23 RBI's. Knoell, a senior from Elkhorn, was named All-NSIC for the second straight season after hitting .400 in league play this year. She led the NSIC in stolen bases (15-15), was second in runs scored (16) and third in hits with 22. Overall, Knoell was 29 of 30 on stolen bases this season, finishing with a .294 average.

The Wildcat softball team finished the 2004 season with a 21-23 overall record, including an 8-8 mark in the NSIC.

when Dan Benge's sacrifice bunt was thrown away at first base, allowing Oosthoek to score the game winning run.

"I thought we did an excellent job of executing our small game (bunting) and forcing them to make plays," remarked Coach Manganaro.

Hansen was the top hitter for Wayne State in the win, going 3 for 4 with a home run and double. Aaron Ligocki doubled while Pedroza, Fjelland and Benge each added a single at the plate.

Wayne State clinched the NSIC Tournament title with Saturday's come-from-behind 8-6 win over Winona State. The Wildcats trailed 6-1 after seven innings, but plated three runs in the eighth and added four more in the ninth to rally for the victory.

"Nine inning games are a lot different than seven inning games." said Manganaro. "We were dead in the water early, but got the home field crowd behind us late in the game and that really gave us an advantage. It was the most opportune time to make a come-

Senior leftfielder Brian Disch of Norfolk fueled the late rally for the Wildcats, blasting a three-run homer in the eighth and delivering a bases-loaded single in the ninth. "Those were great at bats by a fifth-year senior," commented Manganaro on Disch's big hits.

Another Norfolk product, Ryan Wetterberg, was stellar in relief of starting pitcher Damien Heckelsmiller and picked up the pitching victory.

Wetterberg, 2-0, gave up just two hits in five innings of relief, striking out three. Heckelsmiller gave up six runs on seven hits over the first four innings, walking two and striking out one.

Wayne State had 10 hits in the game, led by Benge's three singles. Disch went 2 for 5 with five RBI's. Ligocki had a double and single to go with two RBI's while Jones added two hits.

Disch was named the Most Valuable Player of the NSIC Tournament while Nate Miller received the tournament's Most Valuable Pitcher Award. Dustin Jones, Kyle Hansen, Aaron Ligocki, Tim Richt and Chris Pedroza were also named to the NSIC All-Tournament Team.

The men's team collected four wins over the weekend, led by the double-gold medal performance by freshman Korey Kriz.

Kriz anchored the 3200 meter relay team to a win on Friday evening, along with teammates Nate McIntire, Matt Schaffer and Eric Klein. The team's winning time was 8:11.79. On Saturday, Kriz captured the gold medal in the 800 meter run in 1:53.39.

"Korev again awed people with his outstanding kick to win the 800 meter run," remarked Coach

The Wildcats also collected wins in the long and triple jumps by a pair of seniors. Eric Havranek used an early mark of 22-8 to take the long jump on Friday while Dave Dooley came from behind on his final jump to win the triple jump Saturday with a leap of 45-

"It was nice to see both jumpers go out on top as seniors," said Brink. "Dave showed his competitveness by coming up with his best mark on the last jump and Eric got back to his winning ways in the NSIC after losing his long jump title at the indoor championships."

Two other athletes earned NSIC All-Conference honors at the Freshman Jeremiah mèet. Herron raced to a new school record in the 3,000 meter steeplechase (9:41.35) to finish second while senior Brian Dixon captured second place twice, the first coming in the 110 meter hurdles (14.73) with the second coming in the 400 meter hurdles with a personal best time of 55.67 seconds.

The WSC men had two other athletes pick up NSIC Honorable Mention honors after placing third in their respective events.

Sophomore Ben Crabtree earned third place with a personal best time of 32:32.83 in the 10,000 meter run on Friday evening, then came back to place third in the 5,000 meter run on Saturday with a time of 15:41.65. Freshman Phil Esslinger also took NSIC Honorable Mention honors with a third place finish in the pole vault, clearing 13-11, a personal best.

Other top six finishers for the men included: 1600 meter relay (Schaffer, McIntire, Mark Cozad, Kriz), fourth at 3:22; Havranek, fifth in triple jump (44-1) and fifth in the 100 meters (11.13); Schaffer, fifth in the 400' (49.73); Herron, fifth in the 5,000 meters (15:49.69); meter relay (Travis Woockman, Zach Molacek, Cozad, Havranek), fifth at 43.23; Heath Grone, fifth in high jump (6-1); Christian Ohl, sixth in discus (139-8) and Tony Matthes, sixth in shot put (48-0).

The Wayne State women's team was led by a suprising, gold medal performance from junior Kari Torgerson in the discus. She recorded a personal best throw of 135-0 to win the competition.

"Kari got a huge personal best by almost 14 feet to win the discus," commented Brink. "It was a little bit of a surprise, but she was determined to do well after not making the shot put finals."

Teammate Lindsey Stockwell earned NSIC Honorable Mention honors in the shot put, placing third with a personal best mark of 41-0. She also placed fourth in the hammer throw with a WSC school record toss 139-0 and was fifth in the discus (125-5) and fifth in the javelin throw (117-1).

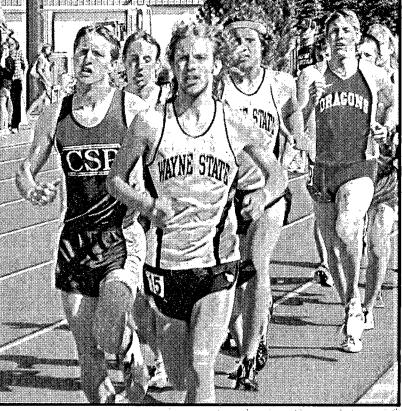

"Lindsey really had a great allaround weekend by placing well in all four throwing events," stated Brink. "She sest personal bests in the shot put and hammer, two events where she wasn't ranked in the top ten going in."

Freshman Tanna Walford also received NSIC Honorable Mention honors after placing third in the high jump, clearing 5-3.

Other finishers in the top six for the WSC women included: Katie Malander, fourth in the pole vault (10-6); Nicole McCoy, fifth in the 10,000 metér run (41:30.49); 400 meter relay (Tiffany Schacher, Brenna Pribil, Erin Oswald, Jodi Rhodig), fifth at 50.14; 1600 meter relay (Angie Kraus, Ashley Smith, Rhodig, Oswald), fifth at 4:03.99; 3200 meter relay (Smith, Erin Norenberg, Haley Reeves, Pribil), sixth at 11:07.12; Pribil, sixth in the long jump (16-2) and sixth in triple jump (34-9); Rhodig, sixth in 400 meters (58.85) and Kraus, sixth in 400 hurdles (1:10.36).

"Overall, this has been a great season for the WSC track and field teams," remarked Coach Brink, "We have had some of our best finishes in NSIC history both indoors and outdoors. They have broken numerous school records and have achieved some national qualifying marks. The future looks very bright for WSC track and field."

Wayne State will send several athletes to the Concordia Last Chance Meet in Seward on Friday and the Emporia State Last Chance Meet on Saturday in Emporia, Kansas.

Wayne teacher loses challenge, runs in Lincoln Half-Marathon

Elementary Physical Education teacher Rob Sweetland made a little bet with his fourth grade

He challenged the group by saying if they totalled one million steps in the pedometer challenge, he would run in the Lincoln Half-Marathon. The fourth graders met their goal and Sweetland fulfilled his end of the deal by running in the Lincoln Marathon on May 2.

Sweetland was one of five runners from Wayne who competed in Earlier this year, Wayne the Lincoln Half-Marathon (13.1 miles). He finished in 338th place out of 2,205 runners with a time of one hour, 43 minutes and nine seconds. That equals to a pace of seven minutes and 53 seconds per

> Other runners from Wayne who participated were: Brad Jones, 859th with a time of one hour, 57 minutes and 26 seconds; Becky Sprouls, 1,461st in two hours, 12 minutes and 59 seconds; Doug Pieper, 1,462nd in two hours, 12 minutes and 59 seconds and Josh Murtaugh, 1,465th in two hours, 13 minutes and three seconds. "It is quite an accomplishment to be able to complete that race," commented Sweetland.

Coach Sweetland said the third and fourth graders did a great job running their mile tests and set goals to improve their times.

"The number of students who improved were great," said Sweetland. "The third graders had 57 out of 64 improve on their time while the fourth graders had 41 out of 50 improve from the beginning of the year."

Sweetland said the students have been using pedometers all year during their runs to see if they can improve the amount they

He said the average time for third graders was 11 minutes and 19 seconds with a low time of seven minutes and 38 seconds by Martha Mitiku (new third grade girls record) and seven minutes and 34 seconds by Danny Melena.

The average time for the fourth grade was 10 minutes and 40 seconds with the low for girls set by Katie Hoskins at seven minutes and 28 seconds and the low for boys run by Tyler Tyrrell in seven minutes and two seconds.

GRADUATION CEREMONY

2004Graduation Ceremony will be held Sunday, May 16 at the Allen School Gym. There are 17 students in this year's graduating class- 11 boys and 6 girls.

As far as accomplishments go, this year's senior class has been involved in a lot of success for the Allen School. From building a new school, traveling to Louisiana for the Sugar Bowl in the Allen band, to playing in state volleyball, football and basketball tournaments along with many activities in between, this has been a great year for Allen Consolidated School.

PRESCHOOL GRADUATION

Allen Preschool Graduation will be held Monday, May 17 at the Allen school commons area at 7 pm. This year's Preschool class was made up of 17 three and four-year-olds.

Of those 17, nine will graduate on Monday and will be in Kindergarten next fall. Those graduating are Theresa Ahlers, Joel Beacom, Chase Johnson, Alex Sullivan, Keaton Johnson, Kumm, Tayler McCorkindale, Manuel Grimaldo, and Garrett Brentlinger. Those not old enough to graduate this year are Katey Sowards, Laney Sowards, Brittney Bathke, Anna Roth, Oscar Roth, Devin Twohig, Heidi Johnson, and Hailie Brentlinger. This group will be back for preschool next fall.

FFA BANQUET SUCCESSFUL

On Friday, April 30, the annual FFA banquet was held in the Allen gym at 6:30 pm. Diana Diediker opened up the night with a poem for Mr. Wilmes and an invocation. The Allen Annual Staff served the drinks.

Green hand Degrees were handed out to: Jennifer Fahrenholz, Alicia Gregerson, Ross Rastede, Kyle Sperry, and Brooke Stewart. Alicia also received the STAR Green hand

Chapter Degrees were handed out to: Samantha Bock, Andrew Chase, Alissa Koester, Carie O'Quinn, Carla Rastede, Kvle Sperry, Kayla Stallbaum, and Erin Stewart. Andrew received the STAR Agribusiness man. Samantha received the STAR in Ag. Placement and Carie received the STAR in Ag. Science.

Appreciation Awards were given out to numerous people who have ensured the chapter's progress throughout the year. Kelli Rastede, Carla Rastede, Samantha Bock, Diana Diediker, Anthony Wilmes and Alycia Stewart gave their speeches or explained the events they did in contest. Jessica Warner gave a presentation entitled "Where do I go from here?" Also, the seniors gave a slide show on the years activities.

The officers for 2004-2005 are: President - Diana Diediker, Vice President - Brandon Sands, Secretary – Carla Rastede, Treasurer – Erin Stewart, Reporter - Samantha Bock, and Parliamentarian - Alicia Gregerson. These officers plan to attend the COLT conference sometime in late May or early June.

MUSIC BOOSTERS

The Allen Music Boosters met May 5 prior to the concert/awards night. The treasurer's report was given and it was decided that future fundraisers would be held to earn money to purchase some new instruments. Many instruments currently used are nearly beyond repair. They will also look into obtaining grant money for this project.

It was decided to have the following fundraisers for the upcoming year: serve lunch at the alumni tours of the new building on July 3, WSC Band Day bake sale, pancake breakfast on Sept. 12 in conjunction with Isom's fall swap meet, a Christmas Tour of Homes, and Christmas concert bake sales. Bricks are still available to order from Joy Bock.

The new officers are Amy Stewart and Kathy Wilmes cochairmen, Lori Miscke - secretary, and Joy Bock - treasurer.

PLEASURE & PROFIT 4-H CLUB The Pleasure and Profit 4-H Club met April 17 in the Allen School at 9:00. The meeting was called to order by Pres. Kelli Rastede. The Quality Assurance video was reviewed using group discussion and worksheet activities. Roll call was "What did you do yesterday?" Whitney Smith was elected as treasurer to replace Eric Beldin. Other officers were Kelli Rastede

- President: Michael Krusemark - Vice President; Carla Rastede -Secretary/News Reporter; and Michael Krusemark - Historian. Members will soon receive a list of projects they are enrolled in from the 4-H office. They are to check it carefully and notify the office of any changes.

Later, the members then went out the Hwy. 9 and picked up litter. Following this, they returned to the school for a lunch of pizza, The next meeting will be May 22 at 8:30 am.

COMMUNITY CLUB The Allen Community Club met on April 19. Preceding the meal and meeting, members took down the decorations from the gazebo. The meeting was called to order by President Mary Johnson. Members are urged to submit their dues of $25 for individual or couple, $35 for a small business, or $50 for a larger business to Treasurer Ronnie Gotch.

It was decided to donate to the Summer Recreation program. A report was given of the cold but successful Easter Egg Hunt. Community Cleanup Day will be May 12 and volunteers with pickups and trailers are needed. Meet at the school parking lot at 1:00 for help.

The Allen Community Club will supply the refreshments on May 18 as Dr. Rudy Daniels will be a guest speaker at the museum telling of railroad history.

TO SPEAK AT THE MUSEUM On May 18, Dr. Rudy Daniels

will be a guest speaker at the museum. Dr. Daniels is an expert on railroad history and has written books on the subject. The presentation will start at 7:30 p.m. The Community Club will serve refreshments.

ALLEN CHEERLEADERS ing some fundraisers to help defray the cost of cheerleading camp and uniforms. They are selling 3# tubs of gourmet cookie dough in 10 different flavors. The dough keeps 3 months refrigerated or one year frozen. This gourmet cookie dough will be available through May 16.

Please contact one of the cheerleaders to place an order- Lindsay Swetnam, Carla Rastede, Erin Stewart, Amber Rastede, Amanda Marshall, Brittney Isom, Codi Hingst or Laura Staum. Fit For Life, developed and implemented by Madonna ! Lincoln, is designed to help residents of The Oaks work toward their health and fitness goals and independence. Susan Epps, director of Community Services at Madonna congratulated the many who have participated in the program. Like brushing our teeth, exercise must become an expectation that we complete every day said Epps. We must make it part of our daily routine. Not because we enjoy it, because we know it's vital to our health.

At The Oaks, the Fit For Life services focus on wellness and meeting people at their individual ability. One year later, those who have been in the daily exercise class say they notice a marked difference. As the class time · increased, and weights were added, they had no difficulty keeping up. Walking greater distances, increased energy during the day and less aches were all mentioned as benefits of participating.

An added bonus they say is the camaraderie they enjoy as they get together to exercise. Wellness isn't just about exercise. Fit For Rehabilitation -- Hospital -- in -- Life addresses many areas including nutrition and emotional Informational programs are scheduled the second Tuesday of each month. Besides Epps, others from Madonna visiting The Oaks include physical therapists, and staff from the neuropsychology department.

In addition, Madonna assists The Oaks with staff inservices on wellness - knowing that healthy staff improves moral and services to residents.

Starting this second year, The Oaks would like to take this opportunity to extend an invitation to anyone in the community age 55 and older, who would like to attend any of the Fit For Life exercise classes or monthly programs. Breast cushion makes mammograms more comfortable

Patricia Yoch used to dread her annual mammograms. "I would rather go have a baby delivered than go for a mammogram," is how the 52-year-old Norfolk resident described her past feelings about the proce-

She was especially apprehensive as she awaited her mammogram last August, because her breasts were still sore from surgery performed in May 2002.

Yoch began feeling more hopeful when her doctor told her about a new foam cushion that makes mammograms more comfortable. The cushion, called MammoPad, is used at Faith Regional Health Services in Norfolk, where Yoch receives her mammograms.

When Yoch went in for her appointment, she couldn't believe the difference. "The pain was completely gone," she said. "They can compress your breasts to almost nothing and there's no

Many women regard the breast compression procedure, in which the patient's breasts are placed between two plates on the mammography device, as uncomfortable or even painful, said Leanne Brodersen, Faith Regional's lead radiologic technologist. Significant compression is required to get a detailed Xray image that can detect breast cancer, if any is present, Brodersen noted.

Women commonly complain about the cold, hard surfaces and edges of the mammography device, as well, said Brodersen. One way the breast cushion addresses women's concerns about mammography discomfort is by covering the parts of the device that touch the body, which creates a softer, warmer surface experience. Yoch's previous mammograms were rarely a routine affair. On three earlier occasions, she had noncancerous lumps removed from her breasts following her

She said the MammoPad creates an emotional comfort that is almost as important as the physical relief: "If you think you might have cancer, your emotions are running high anyway. If there's any amount of pain, it can push you past the breaking point because you're already on that emotional edge."

When the mammography technologist at Faith Regional showed Yoch the breast cushion, it started her mammogram appointment on the right note by making her feel cared for, Yoch said. After the technologist placed Yoch's breast on the cushion, she felt enveloped in warmth and softness. "You're so involved in the warmth and comfort of the pad that you almost forget about the procedure being done," she said.

Faith Regional Health Services began using MammoPad in August 2003. Like all breast imaging facilities, Faith Regional was concerned about the pain issue and its effect on patients' compliance with recommended mammograms. It is the only mammography service in the area offering the MammoPad.

The questionnaire that women complete after their mammograms suggests that the cushion has made a major difference in the comfort women feel during the procedure.

Studies show that mammography discomfort discourages many women from getting mammograms, even though experts recommend annual mammograms for all women 40 and older. Regular mammograms are generally regarded as the best way to detect cancer at its earliest, most treatable stage.

MammoPad was developed by breast surgeon Gail Lebovic, M.D., now at the University of Southern California's Lee Breast Center. Dr. Lebovic hoped that her invention would encourage more women to get regular mammograms.

Numerous studies, including one by the internationally prominent mammographer Professor László Tabár, M.D., of Sweden, show that MammoPad significantly reduces pain for the majority of women.

Yoch had her first mammogram when she was 38. Her history of lumps and infections has motivated her to get exams regularly. She has a message for women who have let fear of pain keep them out of the examining room. "Don't hesitate." she said.

"Mammograms are so different with this cushion. The cushion is so comfortable, like a blanket that just came out of the dryer."

The week of May 9-15 has been designated as National Women's Health Week and the following information has been provided in conjunction with the event.

Heart disease, cancer and many other leading causes of death among women can be successfully prevented or treated if the warning signs are caught early enough.

The week's aim is to raise awareness of easy steps women can take to improve their health. The breast center at Faith Regional will be handing out free educational materials from OWH about the various steps women of different ages should take to protect their

Lyle George talks about things to fear in Peru

Editor's note - This is another in a series of articles written by native Nebraskan Lyle George about his experiences in Peru.

I was walking home one night after power had been restored from a blackout. First one dog saw me and commenced howling. Then another. Soon three large aggressive dogs were advancing on me.

Just my luck. I was on the only clean street in the city. Nothing to throw. I took a run at them. That backed them off a bit but they raised my bluff and started advancing again. I feigned picking up a rock. That backed them off again, but they saw through my rouse and continued closing in on me. They were baying at me. The howls of each dog driving the others further into the madness that is a dog pack.

The milk of human kindness towards animals, which normally courses freely through my veins, was curdled by the terror I was feeling. The little short hairs on top of my head were bristling. I pulled off my daypack to use as a shield between me and my canine protagonists. I continued my quest for home, crabbing backwards and sideways along the sidewalk, as the hounds continued their pursuit of me.

I stepped around a column and there was a pile of the most beautiful chunks of baseball sized broken concrete I had ever seen. I dropped my pack and came up with concrete missiles in each hand. I've never thrown with greater purpose or intention. I threw hard, fast and straight. At the speed I was throwing, the dogs could hear the approaching object and dodge it. The dogs fled. My short hair still stood on end. I walked the rest of the way home with pieces of concrete in my hands. I locked the house gate, went inside, locked the door, sat down and just stared at the dark house for awhile.

Breaking my leg.

Probably my number one fear while walking around town would be stepping into a hole or something and breaking my leg. There are holes in the streets and sidewalks. There are occasionally missing manhole covers. Missing utility covers. Sidewalks with a four to eight foot unfenced drop off on one side. Steps that appear as a surprise in a sidewalk. They don't bury most of their storm drains here. That means there is frequently a one to two foot deep trench between the sidewalk and the street. You have to have constant awareness of where you are putting your feet.

Tico Taxis The Tico taxi is manufactured by the Korean corporation. Daewoo. They are cheap to operate, but they are little rolling death traps. They have virtually no occupant protection. They are really too small for a Gringo to fit into, though a driver will certainly try to persuade you to enter. They are banned in all other Latin American countries because of their safety issues.

Ticos are legal in Perú, and the only reason that makes sense is that Daewoo paid bribes to the right Peruvian officials. Most Gringos I know, refuse to ride in a Tico and will wait for a bigger car typically a Toyota Corolla station wagon to come by.

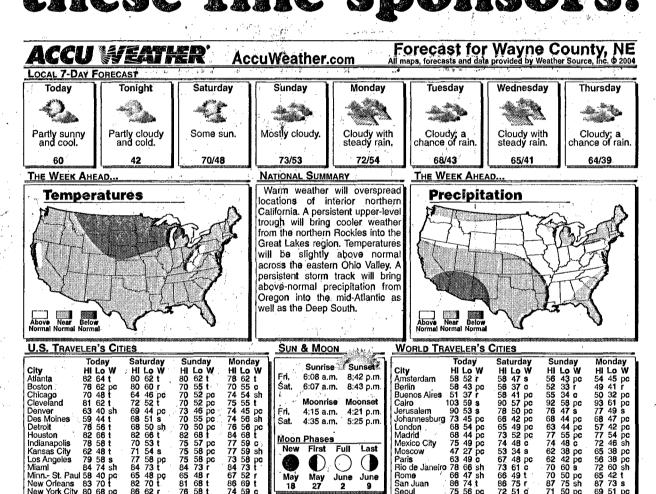

Taxis In the USA we are conditioned to look left before crossing a street. In England people are conditioned to look to the right. In Perú, one would do well to look both ways before crossing the street. That line that is sometimes painted down the middle of the road is really only a driver suggestion in Perú. In Lima, one should keep in mind that the sidewalk is regarded as a valid passing lane by many people and one should occasionally look over ones shoulder. Generally, riding in a taxi is ok. Power Outages

People scream and dogs howl when this happens. Apparently this was due to terrorism in the past. I stay where I'm at when the power goes out. After all, I don't want to step in a hole in the dark and break my leg.

To be continued next week!!!

Vitamin B is in the news again

Vitamin B is in the news again. One of the B-family vitamins, folate, has been found to have even more benefits than were known before. Folate was mentioned in the April issue of the USDA Agriculture Research as well as the University of Nebraska TopHealth newsletter.

We have known for years the importance of the B vitamins for healthy nervous and digestive systems. Higher levels of folate have now been shown to reduce the rate of birth defects including spina bifida.

The U.S. government has required food processors to add folate to grain products since 1998. Since that time, birth defects have dropped by 25 percent, saving over 4,000 children from birth defects. Folate is also credited with helping pregnant women maintain healthy blood pressure levels.

Evidence also shows higher folate levels in the diet reduces risk of heart disease and stroke. Additionally, folate has shown a tendency to reduce the risk of certain cancers, including colon and cervical cancers.

According to Agriculture Research magazine, a study of over 3,000 people aged 15 to 39 years was conducted by Martha Savaria Morris to learn about the connection of low levels of folate with the occurrence of depression. A very high correlation was found between low folate levels and those suffering with moderate to severe depression. At this point it is unclear whether the low folate causes the depression or if the depression causes low absorption of the folate. Researchers suggest those experiencing depression should check their level of folate to see if supplementation is needed.

Everyone can obtain folate and other B-vitamins by including whole grain cereals, beans, peas, dark green leafy vegetables, peanuts and oranges in their diets on a regular basis.

Wade Jarvi is named All-American Scholar

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Wade Jarvi of Wayne has been named an All-American Scholar.

The USAA has established the All-American Scholar Award Program to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in academic disciplines.

The All-American Scholars must earn a 3.3 or higher, grade point average. Only scholars selected by a school instructor, counselor or other qualified sponsor are accepted. These scholars are now eligible for other awards given by the USAA

· Wade, who attends Wayne High School, was nominated for this national award by Brad Weber and Rocky Ruhl, teachers at the school. His name will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly, United States Achievement Academy winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects All, American Scholars upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers. coaches, counselors and other qualified sponsors. Once awarded the students may be recognized by the USAA for other honors.

Wade is the son of Keith and Mary Jarvi of Wayne. His grand, mother is Zelma Juhlin of Wayne.

"Selecting the best school for you is as individual as finding a good-fitting shoe," says Daphne Hall of EducationQuest Foundation. "You have to try it on, walk around, and feel like you're getting a good value."

Hall suggests students schedule visits with their top three or four college choices. And, while summer can be a great time for visits, keep in mind that most campuses are, relatively quiet during the summer months. To get the true flavor of the school, students should schedule visits when regular classes are in session and include a guided tour and an overnight stay in the residence halls if possible. Also, students should plan to attend a freshmenlevel class while visiting and to

To schedule a campus visit, EducationQuest recommends contacting the admissions office at least two weeks prior to a visit. In addition to a tour and any appointments, students should allow enough time to really look around and to ask questions of current students and professors. Doing so will help give them an accurate view of the school and will go a long way to helping them choose the right college.

In Nebraska, the month of May heralds the hallmarks of spring, the possibilities of new beginnings and the promise of life.

Some might consider it fitting, then that May - the same month in which we observe Mother's Day and Memorial Day - be a time for remembering and honoring the special women in our lives through the celebration of Women's Health Month.

Matters, a program that pays for annual health exams for women over 40, is encouraging families, friends, businesses and faithbased organizations throughout Nebraska to display and wear pink ribbons during the month of May. People are wearing pink ribbons to remind all women to call and schedule their yearly health exams and to honor those whose lives have been affected by breast or cervical cancer.

In conjunction with Women's Health Month, Every Woman Matters and several other organizations nationwide will also be observing National Women's Health Week (May 11-17) and National Women's Checkup Day (May 12).

As part of the celebration, Every Woman Matters and several faithbased organizations throughout the state will highlight the importance of annual health exams, a healthful diet, moderate exercise and limited use of tobacco products as the best means of preventing and eliminating the health risks associated with breast and cervical cancer, heart disease, diabetes and other illnesses.

Breast cancer is Nebraska's second leading cause of cancer-related deaths in women. It can happen to anyone. Although the cause is currently unknown, there are two known predominant risk factors: 1. older - risk factors that cannot be avoided. However, studies have shown that, when detected early, a woman has a 96 percent chance of surviving the disease.

To help ensure a healthy lifestyle, Every Woman Matters recommends that women over 40 perform monthly breast selfexams, have a yearly clinical breast exam by a health care provider, have a mammogram every one to two years and be routinely screened for heart disease and diabetes.

Since Every Woman Matters began in 1992, the program has helped women get more than 45,000 mammograms. Today, the number of women over age 50 who participate in Every Woman Matters is larger than ever nearly 10,000 women took advantage of the free or low-cost health screenings in 2002.

Celebrating Nurses' Week

It's Thursday, May 6, and the thermometer shows 90 degrees outside. I haven't really been out except to get the mail. And I won't be going out until after supper. Hopefully, it will have cooled off by then.

I celebrated Nurses' Day by taking a nap. At least it's a holiday I no longer have to work. Although there are a lot of them who are working today. I'm writing early because we won't be home next Monday and Tuesday. I'll be celebrating Nurses' Week with old and new friends at the hospitals in Norfolk and Wayne. The Big Farmer is going along, hoping to burn some cedar trees out of pas-

International Nurses' Day on May 12, Florence Nightingale's birthday. The latest edition of Guideposts goes a step further and declares the whole month of May as Nurse Appreciation Month.

They are asking for stories of nurses who have positively affected our lives. And Hyundai will donate a new car to the two winners: the writer and the nurse. I can think of a lot of nurses who could use a new car; yours truly included. My blue Ford Taurus has 193,000 miles and is still going strong. But I know its days are numbered.

One of the items I plan to share with a lot of nurses next week is called "Reflections on the Hands of a Nurse" by Mark Darby.

Let us take a moment to remember our hands. For these are no ordinary hands. These are the hands of a nurse. These are the hands that feel the first breath of a new born child. These are the hands that feel the last breath of a

These are the hands that bind the wounds that contain odor and puss. These are the hands that insert tubes that bring healing to the body. These are the hands that touch a forehead and tell, within a degree, normal or febrile. These are the hands that feel a pulse and know fast or slow, weak or strong, effective or for naught. These are the hands that restrain the angry from self-harm.

These are the hands that clean unspeakable places on another person's body but do so with dignity and respect which allow that person to feel like a human being.

These are the hands that wipe away a tear when there is so much emotion inside we cannot hold it. These are also the hands of different people not just black or white, brown or yellow but all. These are not the hands of male or female but both. And when the hands are joined they make a difference.

Other hands may build buildings or write books. Some hands may even pull the trigger or plunge the knife but these are the hands of life. These are the hands that take up the task passed down from so long ago-to bring healing to the sick, comfort to the afflicted, hope to the hopeless.

But these are not the hands of timid maidens who look for direction outside themselves. These are also the hands that can be clenched because sometimes some thing has got to change. These are the hands of a nurse.

These are the hands that have the privilege of being at the bedside. That have the honor to care and receive the joy of making a difference. For these are the hands of a nurse. The hands of a person that does a job that not everyone can do. These are the hands of a

May is Vulnerable Adult Abuse

$Prevention\ Month$

Gov. Mike Johanns has proclaimed May as Vulnerable Adult Abuse Prevention Month.

More than 2,400 elderly and adults with disabilities were reported as being victims of abuse, neglect, or exploitation in Nebraska last year, according to Carol Lieske, Adult Protective Services Program Specialist in the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services Office of Aging and Disability Services.

"Many of these citizens are dependent on others for their care, and this makes them susceptible to abusive or neglectful treatment," Lieske said. "Three out of four cases that we see involve neglect, usually self-neglect. The person might live in unsanitary conditions or without heat or running water, while some individuals need assistance with meals, medical needs and other activities of daily living." for Adult Caseworkers Protective Services try to arrange and coordinate services to reduce or eliminate the abusive or neglectful situation. Competent adults have the right to refuse services but caseworkers can seek a court order to protect personal health and safety of citizens who are in danger or don't have the suspected abuse or neglect of an older adult or person with a disability by calling the abuse hotline at 1-800-652-1999, or by calling the local HHSS office and asking for Adult Protective Services. "You don't have to be certain that a situation is abusive or neglectful. We'll look into it and find out," she said. "Good faith reports are exempt from liability and names of those reporting are kept confiden-

"It was interesting to me that the students didn't know that roosters are not a part of an egg operation," she said.

Mona said she learned from the students as well, for example, how much they learn in kindergarten.

In addition to letters, Mona sent the students snap shots and a book and received chicken pictures, Valentines and letters from the students.

"We have enjoyed telling these city kids about life on our farm and the importance of agriculture. Kids don't always realize where eggs come from. Eggs are a business. Hens make up the eggs. Which came first, the chicken or the egg?"

These worms feed on the emerging young corn plant for about a week after emergence. If the corn is emerging without any problems, one must still monitor the crop and watch closely for any cutworm feeding activities. Reduced tillage practices often are a more favorable environment for insects as well as continuous corn or rotating corn into alfalfa.

Prediction of cutworm problems is difficult because the weather can have a big influence on the populations of the cutworm.

Entomologists monitor the population of cutworms through light traps and issue alerts if the populations are expected to become critical. However, the best scouting method is to watch the cornfield for feeding signs. Cutworms are named for their feeding activities which is to cut the corn plant off at the soil surface or slightly below the soil surface killing the plant. Scouting needs to be on a daily basis during the first week of corn emergence as the level of treatment is considered to be at the five percent level, this is one plant out of 20 plants. Rescue treatments are the best approach for control of the cutworms. Application of the insecticide with other pesticide applications is not considered a good investment as the chemical needs to be present when the cutworms are actually a problem or while they are feeding. This is why scouting for damage is so important, the size of the cutworm should be one inch or less and damage at the 5 percent level to justify application of an insecti-

Best All-around Round Balers

Case IH RBX Round Balers

Simplify your haying season by trusting eliable RBX Round Balers to pack dense, uniform bales with ease. To best protect your valuable crop, an RBX-built bale starts with a solid core and ends with a weather-resistant outer shell. And to save the nutrition-packed leaves, gentle tines carefully lift crop into the extra-wide pickup. Better bale formation is the result of superior density control from hydraulic belt-tensioning and steel forming rolls for consistently dense square shouldered bales.

Choose from five models to build 4X4m 4X5,4X6 or 5X6 foot bales. A special silage version builds 4x5-foot bales at up to 65 percent moisture for high-protein feed, Optional on the two larger models, an exclusive electronic auto-controlled twine/mesh-wrap system lets you switch back and forth with just the push of a butfon. LESSON ON ELECTRICITY

Winside elementary students received an education and entertaining lesson on electrical energy by Ron Brown of Edgerton Explorit Center in Aurora. Brown demonstrated static electricity by using a balloon and hair while asking questions and discussing the cause and effects of the energy. A Vande Graff generator was used to demonstrate sparks and showed how holding hands can carry current from one person to another.

Participants learned the difference between volts and amps while taking part in simple experiments; some even "shocking" and some "hair-raising" events.

The Edgerton Explorit Center is located two miles north of I 80, ext. 332, in Aurora and is open year round for visitors. Their purpose is to instill and nurture in all people the joy of scientific discovery and exploration through hands-on learning experiences. It's located in Doctor Harold E. Edgerton's home town, the EEC strives to perpetuate the inspiration that Doc himself sparked through his invention of the strobe light and many more discoveries.

WSC TRUST Coalition holds workshops in Wayne

A couple of workshops sponsored by the Wayne State College TRUST coalition (Toward Responsible Use of Substances Today) were held in Wayne on April 28. Three members of the NU Directions in Lincoln were on hand to give insight on its campus-community coalition which is responsible for helping reduce drinking among UNL students. Present were Linda Major, NU Directions project director, Joy Citta of the Lincoln Police Department, and Bob Jergensen, owner of P.O. Pears in Lincoln. (He is also head of the Responsible Hospitality Council which involves local bar and restaurant owners and law enforcement in Lincoln).

Major spoke on how the coalition's work with law enforcement and bar owners has proved to be effective by working together towards the same goals. Some of the community policing in Lincoln involves wild party details (door hangers, meetings with students, with landlords, etc.); providing current information to licensed bar and restaurant establishments (such as the Bar Hot Sheet which helps deal with fake IDs and notifies owners of names of people from recent bar arrests who were causing problems); training (the Council helps train employees dis-

checks, management training, and providing information such as GIS that the UNL binge drinking rate (Harvard CAS data) is down from 62 percent to 47 percent in 2003. Also, there are reduced numbers in student drinking to get drunk, drinking or riding with a driver pensing beverages. Also, ID who is high or drunk (credit: ASUN's NU on Wheels); and a noted drop in UNL students experiencing certain problems due to another students' drinking. Officer Citta told how the coalition builds good working relations between the police department and the college and with bar/restaurant owners. With 403 bars with liquor licenses in Lincoln, soon 106 in her district which is close to campus, they need to work together.

Wayne-Dixon Thrivent has two groups who will be posted on the Web Site to qualify for one of 20 awards valued at $1,000 because they actually did complete their event on May 1.

Our Savior Lutheran Church of Wayne ninth grade confirmands and mentors have been part of an on-going volunteer program which? began in March with members going to Orphan Grain Train and City Slickers and Country volunteering to sort items to be sent out to less fortunate and then on May 1 they purchased items, which, along with items donated by church members, were delivered to the Food Pantry in Wayne. Following the delivery of the items, the group had snack time, at the Front Porch.

The second group to be posted on the web will be the youth and adult sponsors of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Winside. The group cleaned a two mile stretch of ditches south of Winside on Highway 35.

Following the work session, they enjoyed a Pizza Party.

Elizabeth Baier receives recognition

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Elizabeth Baier of Wayne has been named a United States Award Winner in Foreign Language.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. The Academy recognizes fewer than 10 percent of all American high school students. Elizabeth, who attends Wayne High School, was nominated for this national award by Traci Coover, Spanish teacher at the

Her name will now appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. United Certainly, States Achievement Academy winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches,

Tamara Schardt inducted into National Society

Tamara Schardt of Wayne accepted membership in The National Society of Collegiate Scholars and will be honored during a campus ceremony this fall at Fort Hays State University.

The National Society of Collegiate Scholars (NSCS) is a highly selective, national, nonprofit honors organization. Founded in 1994, NSCS recognizes first and second year undergraduates who excel academically.

The Society was established on the principle that with scholarship comes a responsibility to develop leadership and a duty to perform service.

NSCS provides the opportunity for students, like Tamara, to be recognized for their outstanding academic accomplishments early in their college experience," said Steve Loflin, NSCS Executive Director. "Tamara will also have the opportunity to join other high achieving college students in developing leadership skills and a sense of civic responsibility."

Tamara has also been acc into SPURS (Service Patriotism Understanding Responsibility and Sacrifice), which is a sophomore honorary for students with high academic character and a desire to provide service. Students are nominated by faculty and then fill out an application on high school success in academics, athletics, community service and leadership positions. After an interview process, 22 students were selected for membership.

Tamara is a 2003 graduate of Wayne High School and the daughter of Lowell and Karen Schardt.

Cataracts affect over 80% of our senior citizens. In fact over one million cataract surgeries are performed annually in the U.S. alone.

New technological developments in implants, ultrasonic equipment, lasers, diagnostic testing, and surgical techniques have made cataract surgery one of the most effective procedures today. Currently, over 98% of cataract patients experience significant improvements in vision, without major complications.

Until now, the high cost of this new technology for cataract surgery was only available in the larger surgical facilities. This meant that you would have to travel for a complete eye examination and surgery. Not any longer.

Complete eye care and cataract surgery is now available at Providence Medical Center in Wayne. You don't have to travel outside of your community to have your vision tested for cataracts. With Dr. Willcockson, Dr. Koeber and Dr. Magnuson offering comprehensive diagnostic and surgical services, you now have the most advanced eye care available right here

Call Dr. Koeber or Dr. Magnuson for a screening today. If you would like more information on cataracts for yourself or someone you know who may be experiencing loss of vision, call today for a free informational brochure.
