Council debates truck parking, windows

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

Truck parking, where to park and not to park, and windows were among the topics discussed at Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

Council member Don Buryanek was unable to be at the meeting but did provide the council with information on the restriction of large commercial trucks in residential areas. The council then discussed how to arrive at a definition of what a truck is and noted that this is a continuing topic of discussion.

Police Chief Lance Webster told the council that listing types of vehicles that are not allowed in residential areas would be more effective than setting weight limits for approved vehicles. He suggested prohibiting chassis cab, step van and semi-trucks in residential areas.

Council member Dennis Linster said that when attempting to arrive at a definition of what is allowed and not allowed, the council should keep in mind zoning regulations already in place throughout the city.

"The R-1, R-2, R-3 and R-4 zones are different and the people that live in each of these zones should be considered when decisions are made," Linster said.

Council member Will Wiseman said that the council should ask for public input before making any decisions and that consideration needs to be made for boats, trailers, motor homes, etc. that may be larger than limits.

The council will discuss the issue again at its next meeting.

Resolution 2004-32 was unanimously passed. It will allow city employees who serve on the Volunteer Fire Department to attend fire, rescue or EMT training without having to use vacation, holiday or personal leave time. They will instead be paid as though they were at work.

Following discussion, the council voted 5-1 to purchase 16 replacement windows for the upper portion of the Wayne City Auditorium.

The cost of each window is $119. In addition, wooden decorative muntins, which are removable for maintenance and painting, will be installed at a cost of $93 per window.

Council members discussed whether windows with vinyl, internal decorative muntins between the glass would last as long and whether or not they would match the other windows in the building.

The council also approved an agreement with the Nebraska Game and Parks for cost share on Phase II of the Trail Project.

Wayne has been approved for a $40,000 grant to build Phase II of the project and the agreement was necessary to accept the funding.

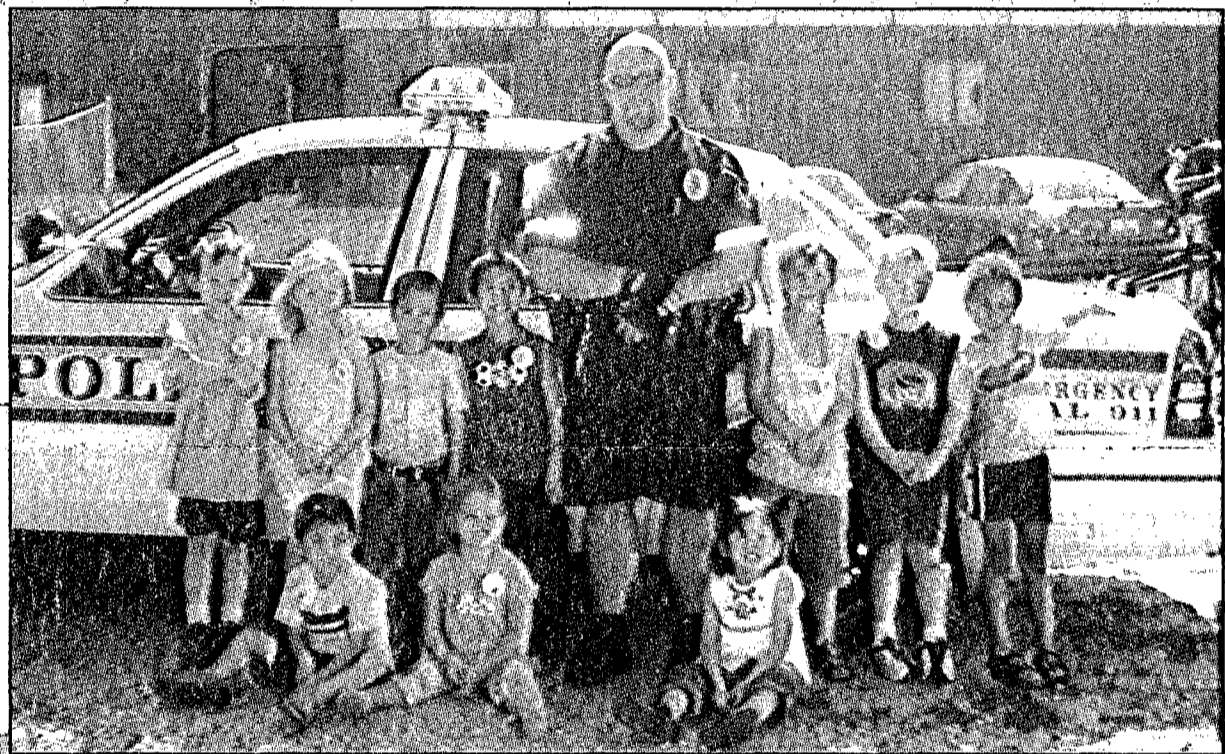

The city will also submit an application for $60,000 in cost share assistance from the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resource District for the project.

The council set the dates for upcoming budget work sessions. The group will meet before the Tuesday, July 27 council meeting and again on Thursday, July 29. If necessary, the council will meet again Tuesday, Aug. 3.

In other action, the council approved Mayor Sheryl Lindau's re-appointment of Mary Carstens to the Wayne Library Board.

The council will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, July 13 at 7:30 p.m.

Children learn at Wayne Head Start

Each week a new topic is discussed at Wayne Head Start with speakers and activities chosen to help children learn about the topics. Recently, they talked about bees and bugs. Shelli Roeder of Laurel, teacher aide at Wayne Head Start, spoke to the children about Roeder Honeyfarms. She brought equipment, pictures and a live honeycomb with bees to class to share with the children. Mrs. Roeder, left, showed a picture of bees explaining about the difference between female and male bees. Cynthia Kaune and Christian Rogers, above left, wore equipment that is worn to collect honey from a bee hive. Another week, Officer Brian Swanson, above, came to the class room at Wayne Head Start to talk about his job and bicycle safety. He brought the car and bicycle and talked about the importance of watching for cars as well as keeping away from strangers.

Career comes to an end

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

As of today, July 1, Dr. Don Zeiss is retired after 40 years in the teaching profession.

Don Zeiss was born in Lincoln and lived in several locations before moving to Crete when he was in seventh grade.

It was while he was there he met his future wife, Janice. He said the two often walked to school together and have been together since that time.

After graduating from Crete High School in 1960, Zeiss attended the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, graduating in 1964 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Education.

He completed work on a Master of Education degree in 1969, an Education Specialist degree in 1972 and a Doctorate of Education degree in 1978, all from UN-L.

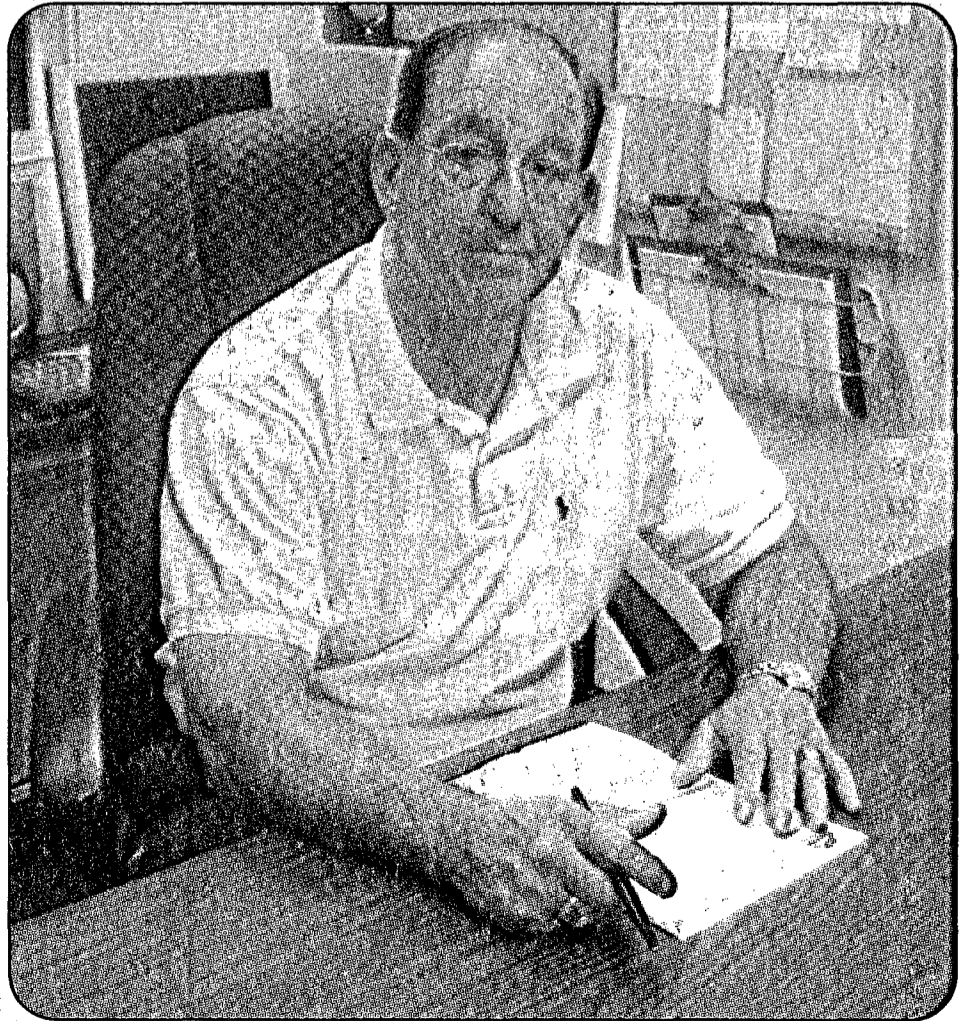

Dr. Zeiss spent six years in the classroom as a Biological Science, Physical Education and Driver's Education instructor.

"I taught at Alliance, Adams and Wilbur before going into Administration. I then spent two years at Weeping Water and two years at Tecumseh. I had already signed a contract to continue working at Tecumseh when I was approached about the position here in Wayne," Dr. Zeiss said.

He noted that he had heard about the academic and athletic records at Wayne and felt more pressure to produce top quality students when he came to Wayne.

"Education is a priority in this community. Wayne has always had a graduation rate that is higher than the national average and higher than the state average. We also have a high percentage of students who go on to two- and four-year schools after high school graduation," he said.

When Dr. Zeiss began his tenure at Wayne High School, most of the cur-

A special thank you to start the column this week ... goes to Mike Lutt of Country Nursery. A tremendous donation was made to the Main Street Park. All of the decorative mulch that can be seen around the entire perimeter, the rose bushes and trees, the wonderful plantings in front of the white fencing, the re-plantings done to enhance the park, were done by Mike Lutt's Country Nursery. We thank Mike and I'm sure the community appreciates the addition to the downtown. We have now had nine people make donations and contributions to the park.

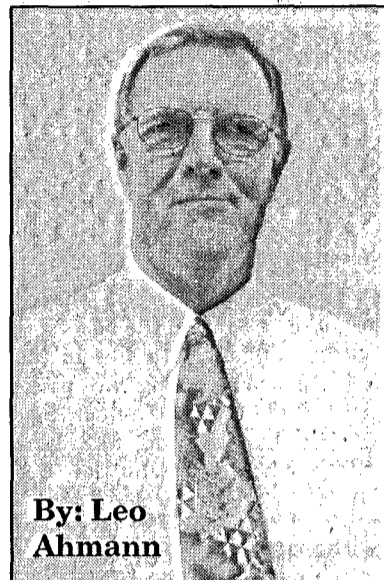

Dr. Richard Collings, the new President of Wayne State College, and his wife Marilyn were our guests at our weekly "All Hands" on Tuesday. The Main Street Wayne Program continues to work with Wayne State on a number of fronts, and we were pleased to give Dr. Collings and his wife Marilyn a taste of what we do.

The Chickens need to come home to roost!!! Those individuals that checked-out a cement chicken to paint, you have until next Wednesday to get them back to us. If something will delay the return date, please call us, 375-5062.

The T.E.A.M.-15 highway task-force met last Tuesday. A community town hall meeting has been tentatively set for Monday, Sept. 13 at 7 p.m. at the city auditorium. At that time, there will be information shared about where the project is right now, and what people can look forward to during the reconstruction of Highway 15 in 2006. The group as a whole believes the community needs to be kept up to date, as well informed about decisions that have already been made. You can look for reminders as the date draws nearer.

Everything seems ... seems being the operative word, to be in place for Henoween. "Henoween Headquarters" is the Main Street Office. Fun for the kids, the adolescents, the middle age and our special senior citizens ... the entire family can enjoy Henoween. It's a great time to see old classmates or friends back in Wayne, and just enjoy yourself. We have great entertainment lined up, and there's always good food to enjoy. Plan on attending Henoween, and help 'bust the seams' of downtown Wayne. Our special thanks again to the Wayne County Convention and Visitors Bureau for their assistance with Henoween, and also the Wayne County Ag Society and Fair Board for their assistance as well. Community events like Henoween happen and are successful because of volunteers and programs stepping to the plate and pitching in. Now, all we need, is for YOU to attend ... the fun part will take care of itself!

I will be out of the office about one day a month attending the Lied Main Street Management Team Meetings in Lincoln. I was recently re-elected to represent the other Main Street Managers throughout the state. Lied Main Street and the Main Street Programs in the communities are important, needed by the communities they serve, and quite frankly, enjoy working for the betterment of their communities ... it's a labor of love, as they say. We're happy to be serving you, Wayne, and all its citizens. We pledge to work very hard so you will continue to be proud of the job we're doing. Thanks always for your support. Until next time...

Who should pay for Cheney's visit?

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Who pays when the political tall dogs come to town?

Mayor Coleen Seng said she wanted the GOP, or Fortenberry, or the feds, or someone, to pony up the $32,000 cost incurred by the city during the VP's visit.

Some Republicans said it was an honor to have Cheney in Lincoln, the home of his birth, and the city should pick up the tab.

Some other Republicans, and lots and lots of Democrats, said that when a political candidate gives a dance, the candidate, and not the taxpayers, should pay the band.

Federal law makes clear that the cost of fuel etc., for Air Force I or Air Force II, are to be paid from political funds when the president or vice president show up somewhere for a political gig.

Cities often incur additional costs that stem mostly from providing enhanced security.

Whatever the political party of the federal officeholder visiting town, the loyal opposition always wants to make sure that the taxpayers aren't bearing any of the burden for a political foray.

At this writing, the Cheney brouhaha remained unsettled.

Every year, a state district court judge holds a hearing to determine the fate of mass murderer Erwin Charles Simants.

Simants killed six members of the Henry Kellie family near Sutherland in 1975. He was convicted of murder in Lincoln County and sentenced to death. When it was learned that the then-sheriff had improper contact with the jury, a retrial was ordered. It was held in Lincoln, in Lancaster County.

The second jury found Simants "innocent by reason of insanity." (The law was subsequently changed. Defendants can now be found "not responsible" by reason of insanity, but they don't get a "not guilty" verdict).

Simants was confined to the Lincoln Regional Center as a person who was "mentally ill and dangerous."

Under the law, he is to be confinned there until the courts are convinced that he is no longer mentally ill and dangerous.

Question: What will the public reaction be if the courts eventually accept the recommendation of psychiatrists who say Simants is okay, and deserving of his right to be free?

Attorneys for Simants might eventually go to federal court if convinced that no state judge or judges will consider releasing Simants, regardless of what any army of psychiatrists might say.

Something to keep in mind: Attorneys, court appointed or otherwise, have a duty to represent their clients. The fact that an attorney represents Simants, or anyone else, doesn't mean that the attorney has any personal sympathy with the client.

When Americans are subject to court proceedings, the constitution guarantees their right to adequate representation. Attorneys have many responsibilities. One of them is to insist that the law be strictly applied when it is in the best interest of a client. It doesn't have anything to do with being "on the side of criminals." It has to do with what our system of government requires.

NEW BEGINNINGS!

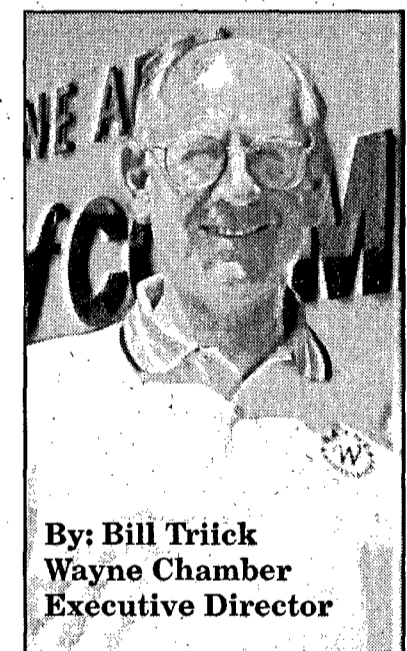

CHICKEN SHOW UPDATE: We're now down to less than two weeks until the Chicken Show. The volunteer community-wide task-force has done a tremendous job of looking after the huge amount of detail that it takes to put on a party for our visitors.

There is no doubt that Wayne residents should extend a great big thank you to the steering committee and subcommittees who have and are still putting in enormous energies as we head into the final stretch. Della Pries stepped into the chair position a few weeks ago and hasn't backed off one minute.

Rural Business Enterprise Grant is approved

Northeast Nebraska Resource Conservation & Development (RC&D) Council in Plainview, recently applied for, and received, a Rural Business Enterprise

Grant from USDA Rural Development.

The funding, in the amount of $40,300, with a match of $19,100, will be used to complete feasibility studies and business plans for the possible expansion of at least one rural retail storefront and the creation of an online store that would feature locally grown and produced products. The project will be looking at five possible locations in the Northeast Nebraska RC&D six county area for at least one rural storefront.

More and more farmers and ranchers are developing food products desired by the general public and niche markets. Getting those products to the customer is a challenge for many of them. Both the rural and the online store would be designed to reach those new markets through sales, promotions and marketing of local products.

When considering starting a business a person wants to be sure that the business will be a success. Feasibility studies and business plans act as the map and compass to help chart a course in that direction. Feasibility studies show the most likely route to success and business plans lay out the details of how to get there.

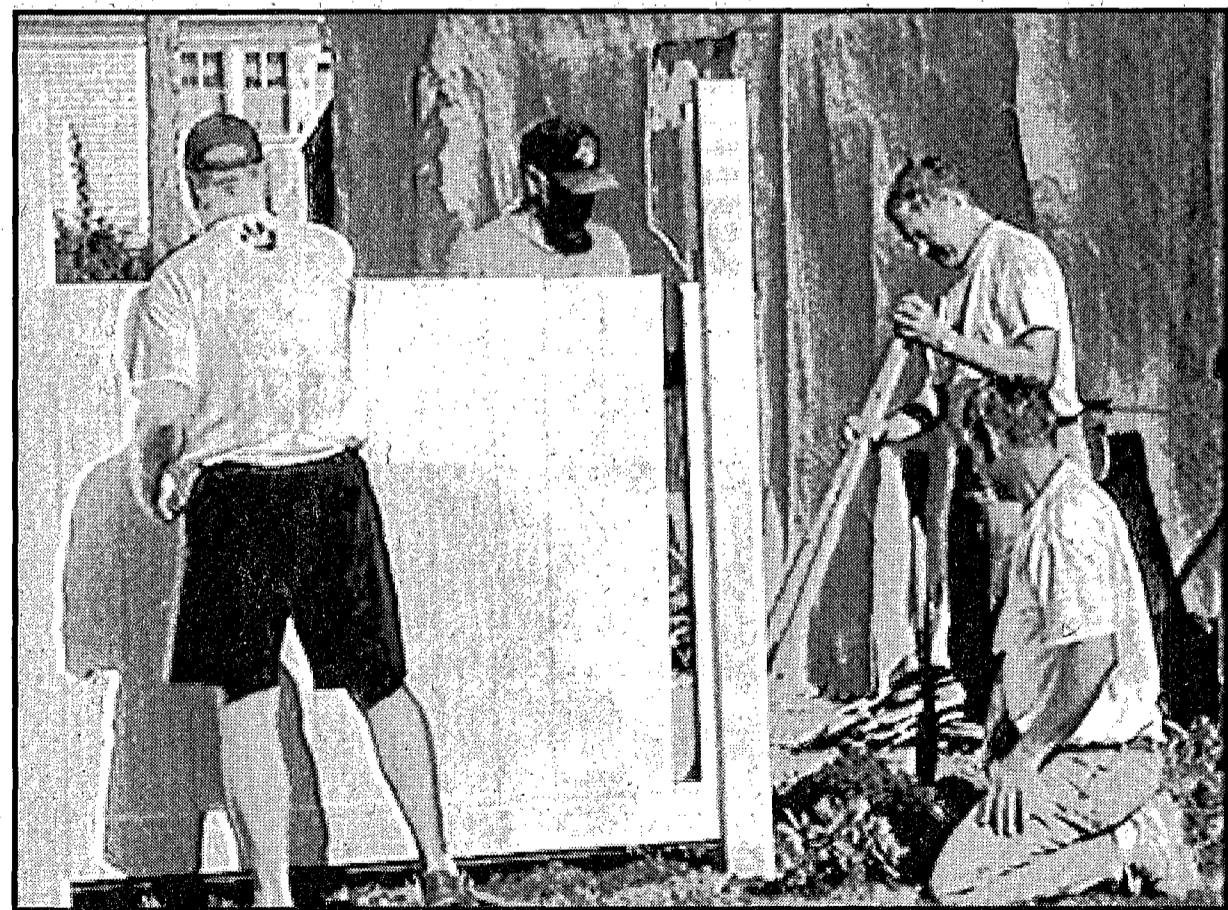

Partners in the project that will provide technical and production expertise, include Nebraska Sustainable Agriculture Society, Knox County Extension, Center for Rural Affairs and Nebraska Business Development Center along with several local farmer and rancher producers wanting to market their products.

College of St. Mary's in Omaha has, prior to funding of the project, prepared the feasibility study for the online storefront.

For further information on this project contact Sandy Patton, project manager, at 402-582-4866.

Members of Wayne Main Street spent most of a recent Saturday morning erecting privacy fencing in the Main Street Park, located between Edward Jones and Doescher's Appliance in the 300 Block of Main Street.

The fencing, which was donated by Vicki Pick and her family, provides a backdrop to the park area. Main Street Park is now ready for additional plantings.

"We hope to have the park in tip-top shape within the next few weeks," said Leo Ahmann, Main Street Executive Director. "A number of individuals have contributed funds, time and energy toward this area."

Those volunteers responsible for the project included Jeff Morlok, Otto Construction; Leo Ahmann; Reggie Yates, Edward Jones and Gary VanMeter, Mines Jewelers.

riculum consisted of required classes, with only a few electives in the areas of art, music and shop classes.

"Since that time we have added lots of upper level classes such as Advanced Calculus and diversified the art and music programs. Technology has also made our students more sophisticated. They ask more questions and want to express their views," he said.

Other changes during the past 30 years are the move toward more distance education and the increase in popularity of high school students taking college level classes.

"We changed our policy in regard to college classes and now allow more students to take these classes. They go to the Wayne State campus for the classes. Our students want credits beyond high school," he said.

"In Wayne, there is an unwritten expectation for students to go on beyond high school," he added.

Zeiss noted that during the 1974-75 school year, Wayne High School had 415 students in grades 9-12.

"The largest class of graduates I've had in the last 30 years is 110 students and the smallest was 47 students," he said.

"Our society has changed since I came to Wayne. Everything seems to be accelerated and schools have to adjust. We need to prepare students and help teach them responsibility they will need in the workforce," Zeiss said.

In 1994, he was chosen as Nebraska Principal of the Year by the Nebraska State Association of Secondary Principals and in 2001 he was selected as Administrator of the Year by the Nebraska State Bandmasters Association.

In the 30 years Dr. Zeiss has been at Wayne High School, he has worked with three superintendents, Dr. Francis Haun, Dr. Dennis Jensen and Dr. Joe Reinert.

He also noted that during his time at Wayne High School, there has been a relatively low turnover rate of teachers. He said that there was a period of six years where no teachers were hired at the school. In fact, Duane Blomenkamp was teaching at Wayne High when Dr. Zeiss came to Wayne and continues to be part of the staff.

Don and Janice, who is an elementary guidance counselor at Emerson-Hubbard, have three children, all of whom have graduated from Wayne High School, Jeff in 1980; Jill in 1982 and Jess in 1989. They also have six grandchildren. Jeff now lives in Wayne; Jill in Lincoln and Jess in Omaha.

Dr. Zeiss plans to spend time golfing in his retirement. He said he is not a good golfer, but "loves to golf."

"I don't plan to do anything related to education for at least a year. I have lots of projects, both inside and outside the house that have been put off that I intend to complete. I want to be able to attend my grandchildren's activities," he said.

Dr. Zeiss listed several aspects of his job that he will not miss during retirement - finding substitute teachers, supervising nighttime activities - "I have never watched a Wayne High School football game from the stands," dealing with phone calls and visits from salesmen and sorting junk mail.

However, he will miss working with dedicated professionals, the students and "the uncertainty of the job - it was never dull."

Sue Temme

Temme is named 'employee of the quarter' at PMC

Sue Temme of Wayne was announced as Providence Medical Center's employee of the quarter at a coffee held at PMC last Thursday morning. An employee of the hospital since 1997, Temme works in the Medical Records Department.

A fellow employee who, in the nomination form, stated, "Sue has the most happy and positive attitude," nominated Temme. The nomination form went on to state "she always has a smile on her face and is very hard working. She is friendly and courteous to everyone no matter who they are."

If you would like to nominate a Providence Medical Center employee for this award, please give Sonja Hunke, Human Resources Director, a call at 375-3800. Nominations from the general public as well as PMC employees are encouraged.

Speaks at Rotary banquet

Gary Shore, meteorologist at KCAU Channel 9, was speaker at the Wayne Rotary Club banquet held at The Barn on June 18. Above, outgoing president Carrol Baier gives Shore several Chicken Show mementos in appreciation for his visit.

Sgt. Tim Zach, of Wayne, above, is stationed just outside of Fallujah. He is among those who have been receiving packages sent by the Wayne AmVets to servicemen. The group continues to seek additional names of service persons to send the packages to and is accepting donations of items to send to the troops.

Care packages sent from home receive warm welcome in Iraq

Military personnel from this area who have received care packages provided by Wayne AmVets Post #22 have been highly appreciative of the efforts put forth by the community.

Among those who have been receiving the packages on a regular basis is Sgt. Tim Zach, a 1999 graduate of Wayne High School. Zach is a member of the Marine Reserve who serves as a refrigeration mechanic with a maintenance unit from Omaha. He is currently stationed at a base near Fallujah.

Zach has indicated his appreciation for the packages and the fact that the community is offering its support of the troops. He noted that the packages are always shared with other troops on the base.

Other soldiers with ties to the area who are receiving care packages include Chad O'Connor, Sgt. Tim Van Langingham, Sk2 Jane Kellogg, Spc John Schuttler, Spc Seth Wiesen, Sgt. Nicolas Brand.

Anyone with names of others who are deserving of the packages is asked to contact a member of the AmVets Post.

Bud Neel, who is among those organizing the sending of the packages, noted that exact addresses of the service persons are not being released to the public due to the concern that negative war propaganda may be distributed to them.

The local veterans organizations are in charge of packing the boxes each week individually so they are aware of what goes into each package.

The AmVets are still accepting donations, especially monetary donations to help offset the cost of mailing the packages each week.

Money collection canisters have been placed at Zach Oil, Bar M and at each of the registers at Pamida.

Any business wishing to become a collection point for donations or monetary contributions is asked to contact Bud Neel

Shapiro receives Eagle Scout

Nathan Shapiro, son of Charles and Joan Sudmann Shapiro, received his Eagle Scout rank at a ceremony at The Oaks Retirement Community recently.

Wayne man is arraigned on child pornography and weapons charges

Bradley Erdmann, age 28 of Wayne, was arraigned in Wayne County Court on Monday, June 28, 2004 and charged with three counts of Possession of Child Pornography and one count of Possession of a Short Shotgun. All of the charges are Class IV felonies.

The Wayne Police Department began their investigation on May 5, 2004 after receiving a tip from a Norfolk citizen. A search warrant, served on May 26, 2004, resulted in the seizure of computers and computer data storage discs. An alleged sawed off shotgun was also found during the search.

Erdmann, who was arrested on May 26 for the weapons violation, had his bond continued. No date has been set for a Preliminary Hearing in this case.

Assistant Scoutmaster Greg VanderWeil was the Master of Ceremonies. Bren VanderWeil, Senior Patrol Leader, led the honor guard. Troop Committee Chair Charles Shapiro gave the opening words.

Carolyn Harder sang the opening song, "Still Fighting It" by Ben Folds, accompanied by Joan Sudmann Shapiro on the piano.

Scoutmaster Mark Klassen gave the Eagle Challenge. He pointed out that Nathan was the only remaining Scout from his beginning Tiger Cub group. He has been the sole member of his Patrol for the last two years.

Klassen challenged Nathan to live up to the Scout Law and Oath and help younger Scouts grow and become productive citizens.

Nathan passed his Eagle Board of Review on April 13.

He started his scouting career in Cub Scout Pack 174 as a Tiger Cub. He joined Boy Scout Troop 174 in May of 1998 after achieving the Webelos rank and earning the Arrow of Light Award in Cub Scouts.

He has participated in the many camps and service projects in which Troop 174 participates.

For his Eagle Project, Nathan helped design and build the outdoor reading area on the north side of the Wayne Public Library. Many people helped with the project and Nathan gave them recognition in his response to the Eagle Challenge.

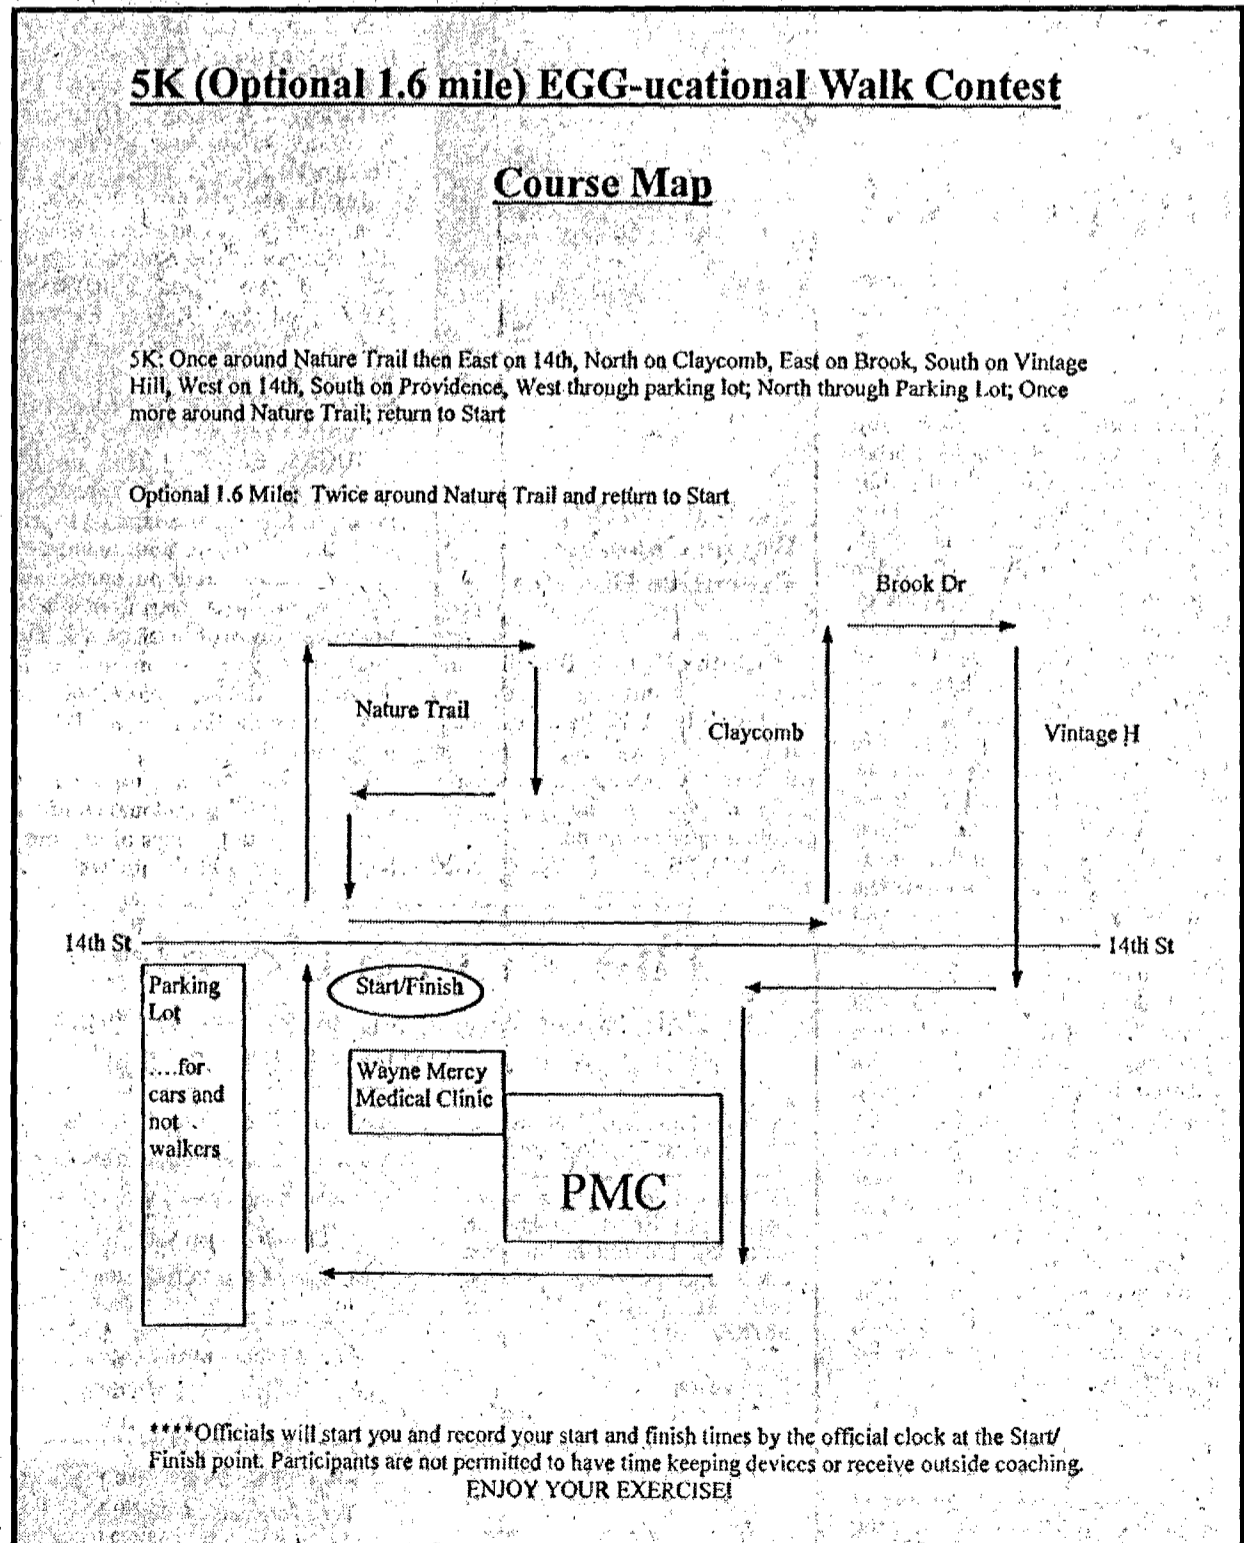

Special appreciation goes to Mrs. Lauren Lofgren and the Library Board, Joel Hansen, Troop 174, Doug Carroll and Gerhold Concrete and the City of Wayne.

The Shapiro family also extended thanks to Kays Morris and the staff at The Oaks for their help with the Eagle ceremony.

Nathan Shapiro is the 122nd Eagle Scout from Wayne and the third Eagle in 2004.

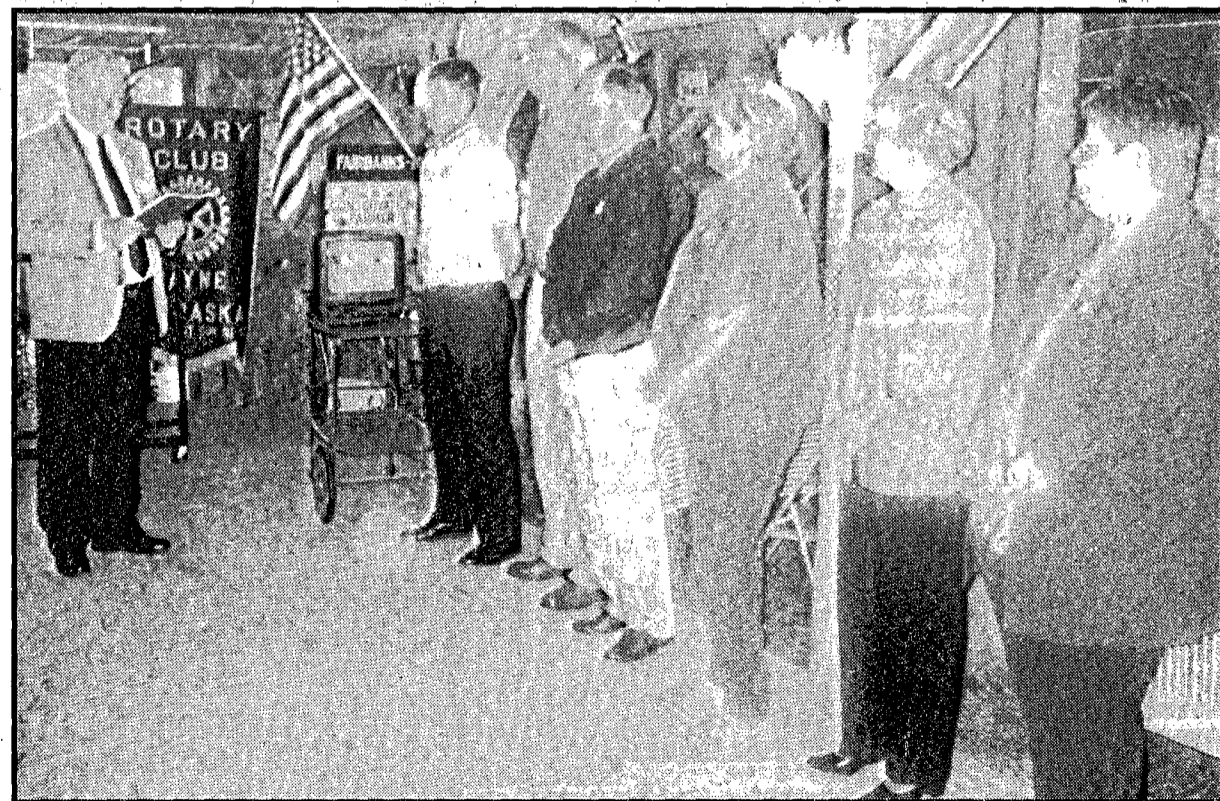

Troop 174 is tied for the oldest scout troop in Nebraska.

A plaque is in place in the Community Activity Center recognizing all the Wayne Eagle Scouts. The many Eagle projects from this group continue to provide benefit to the Wayne community.

Local businesses show support for Wayne youth programs

Over 200 youth baseball and softball players in Wayne (ages 5-10) received team shirts this summer thanks to the generosity of many Wayne businesses and the determination of one local volunteer coach. Due to recent budget cuts, the Wayne City Recreation Department was not able to provide team shirts for 5-10 year old players this summer. However, John Sinniger, a five-year volunteer coach who serves as Director of Food Service for Chartwells at Wayne State College, was determined to get shirts for the youngsters after finding out on the day of summer recreation sign up that shirts would not be provided this year. "I know how important the shirts are to the kids," remarked Sinniger. "The shirts give the kids a real sense of team unity." Sinniger raised over $1,000 from many local businesses to make sure that 206 young boys and girls playing baseball and softball this summer would be getting a shirt. "I was moved by how supportive local businesses were when I approached them and asked for donations," commented Sinniger. "Everyone I approached was most willing to sponsor the kids without hesitation." Local businesses that contributed to the shirt fund included: Chartwells at Wayne State College, Wayne Herald/Morning Shopper, Godfather's Pizza, Farmers and Merchants State Bank, Captain Video, Quality Foods, Trio Travel/Quality One Graphics, State National Bank, Pamida, George and Jennifer Phelps, Stadium Sports, Pizza Hut, Northeast Nebraska Insurance, First National Bank and Pac-N-Save. The Wayne Summer Recreation Youth Programs were supplied with six different colored shirts for three age groups in boys baseball and girls softball (5-6, 7-8 and 9-10) thanks to the local donations.

Brummels finished the tournament with an 11-3 overall record. He is just the fifth Winside wrestler to ever compete on the Nebraska team in Florida. Brummels is a two-time state champion and will be a senior this fall at Winside High School. Andrew Sok was a member of the Northeast Nebraska All-Star Team that competed against the Maine All-Stars in a dual at Creighton High School on June 22. Sok defeated Shawn Collins of Camden Hills, Maine by decision 5-2. Collins was a three-time state finalist and two-time state champion from Maine. Andrew Sok was just the second Winside wrestler to participate in the All-Star dual that dates back 20 years. He will be a junior at Winside High School this fall. Josh Sok wrestled on the East All-Star Team at the Nebraska Scholastic Wrestling Coaches Association Classic held in Bridgeport on June 19. The dual featured some of the top graduated seniors from the state of Nebraska. Sok lost his match to Joey Majerus of Boone Central 5-1. Josh was the seventh Winside wrestler to compete in the All-Star event. He will attend Northeast Community College in Norfolk this fall.

Rakin' in the dough

Several parents along with many members of the Wayne High School and Middle School football teams recently sold 1,031 pizzas for a fundraising project. Last Thursday, the team made the pizzas, boxed and delivered them to local residents. WHS Football Coach Kevin Finkey says money raised from the project will help the football team purchase a new digital editing system.

Skateboard legends visits Wayne

Professional skateboarding legend Mike Valley of California stopped in Wayne last week (June 24), much to the surprise of local skateboarders.

Valley found out about Wayne's skatepark on several skateboarding websites. He said his main reason for wanting to visit the Wayne skatepark was the unique ramps built by local kids, including one made out of an ATM kiosk that was donated by Heritage Industries of Wayne.

Accompanying Valley on the trip were several cameramen and a producer for Drive TV. They are shooting moves and stunts done by Valley for a TV show that will appear on RUSH HD on the VOOM Satellite Network.

Valley's tour with Drive TV has gone from California to South Africa with plans of making it to the Mall of America in Minneapolis. He spent about four hours at the Wayne skatepark and signed autographs for everyone at the park. He also performed many stunts and moves for those in attendance.

"I want to make a difference because I care about young people," stated Valley. "I believe anything that interests kids is worth fighting for. Skateboarding saved my life...it gave me a creative outlook."

Valley is known as one of the best street skaters in the world and has his own line of merchandise. He also has a website-www.mikevalley.com. Valley commented on the nice cement surface at the Wayne skate park and said he was impressed with the story of the park getting built in Wayne.

16-under team goes 0-4

It was a rough weekend for the Wayne 16-under girls softball team, dropping four games at tournaments in Yutan and Norfolk.

Erin Bird suffered the loss on the mound despite tossing a no-hitter. She allowed six runs on seven walks over five innings, striking out four batters.

Yutan scored 11 runs in the first inning to defeat Wayne 11-0. Denkla doubled and Owens added a single to lead Wayne in hitting.

At the Norfolk Kelly's Tournament on Sunday, Wayne lost to Kelly's of Norfolk 11-5. Kara Hoeman had the lone hit for Wayne, a single. She also scored two runs. Bird and Mirisa Carroll pitched in the game.

Wayne's second game was a 14-0 loss to Plainview. Jean Pieper had the only hit of the game for Wayne. Bird and Carroll shared pitching duties in the game.

The Wayne 16-under team, now 11-13-1 on the season, will play in the Class B State Tournament in Lincoln this weekend (July 2-4).

Wayne 12-under team nears .500 mark with four wins

The Wayne 12-under girls softball team improved to 9-10 recently by winning four of six games played.

Wayne swept Norfolk Kelly's in a doubleheader played at the Wayne Softball Complex Monday evening 7-6 and 11-3.

Bayli Ellis was the winning pitcher in the first game, striking out four batters. Jessica Calhoon had two hits to lead the Wayne offense. Shannon Jarvi struck out eight batters to get the pitching win in the second game for Wayne. Halsey Lutt had two hits, including a double to top Wayne in hitting.

Wayne split four games at the 12-under District Tournament played in Fremont last week.

The opening game saw Arlington take advantage of 13 walks from Wayne pitchers in a 14-7 win over the locals. Calhoon had two hits to pace Wayne at the plate while Riley Hoffart and Jarvi each added doubles.

Wayne blasted Dodge 18-7 in a game played last Friday evening. Jarvi earned the pitching win with 10 strikeouts. Ashley Soden had two hits in the win. The next game on Saturday saw Wayne defeat Oakland 11-3 thanks to two hits by Lutt. Ellis was the winning pitcher with six strikeouts.

Wayne's final game was a heart-breaking 6-5 loss to Valparaiso. Wayne left the bases loaded in the fourth and fifth innings to fall one run short. Jarvi suffered the pitching loss despite striking out nine batters.

The Wayne 12-under team is now 9-10 on the season and will host Stanton tonight (Thursday) at 6:30 pm in the final game of the season.

The event, which involved 143 participants and family members, was held at the Wayne Senior Center.

The 206 registered participants of Session I of the Summer Reading Program read 3,221 books for the program's final goal of 4,000 books. The map "Follow the Trail" outside the Library's front door shows Seaman's paw prints following the trail. Each paw print equals 100 books read or 200 miles traveled on the expedition.

The program for the event was the recognition of the participants, volunteers, benefactors and staff and the awarding of prizes to the participants.

The children's names were entered in a drawing for each book they read. A total of 28 prizes were given. In addition, each participant received a certificate of participation, a paperback book, a newspaper print, a bookmark, a small prize and various items and coupons from area businesses.

Following the awards presentations, cupcakes and lemonade were served.

Grandson participates in D-Day observance

U.S. Army paratrooper Chad Schreiner, a native of Rapid City, S.D., was selected as one of the 18th Airborne Corps from Fort Bragg, N.C. to participate in the 60th anniversary of the D-Day Invasion at Normandy, France.

The 21-year old is the grandson of Evelyn Herbolsheimer and the late Edgar Schreiner.

Chad was one of 700 paratroopers to drift down over the town of St. Mere Englise, inland from Omaha Beach.

Another group jumped at the actual Normandy drop zone. The event was to commemorate the brutal and historic June 6, 1944 assault, including the particularly bloody first wave at Omaha Beach.

While in France, Chad had the opportunity to visit with veterans who had returned there for the event.

He has also been chosen for the color guard of the 82nd Airborne Division and was chosen in June as "The Soldier of the Month."

This third grade group participated in the Wayne Optimist Club "Respect for Law" poster contest recently.

July 7 set for scrap tire collection

Recently a Scrap Tire Grant of $11,050 was received by the Lower Elkhorn NRD for the Northeast Nebraska RC&D area from the Nebraska Department of Environmental Quality (NDEQ). Eighty-two tons of scrap tires will be accepted from within the RC&D's six counties of Antelope, Cedar, Dixon, Knox, Pierce and Wayne.

The collection date is set for Wednesday, July 7 at the Pierce County Shop yard located three miles east of Osmond at the junction of Hwy 20/Hwy 121.

Tires will be accepted from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on that day or until the 82 ton limit has been reached. At that time the collection will stop! No tires are to be brought in prior to 10 a.m. that morning and no tires will be accepted after 3 p.m. that afternoon. Inner tubes will also be accepted at the site that day by area FFA chapters, as this is a fundraising project for them. Champlin Tire Recycling, Inc. will transport the tires from Osmond to their facility in Concordia, Kan. for processing into various recycled products.

For this collection, retailers are not eligible to bring in tires. Rims and floater tires will not be accepted.

A recent change has been made setting a per person limit of 100 car/pickup tires and a limit of four tractor tires.

Any questions about the collection or for alternative disposal options for larger quantities of tires, please call the RC&D office prior to July 7 at 402-582-4866.

SCHOOL REUNION ON JULY 3

The Hoskins School Reunion will be held on July 3 at 2:30 p.m. at the Hoskins Community Center. All former students are welcome.

HOSKINS GARDEN CLUB

Hoskins Garden Club met on June 24 at the Hildegarde Fenske home.

President Marcia Prussa welcomed the ladies and opened the meeting.

April and May minutes and treasurer's reports were read and approved.

There was some discussion about getting the rest of the sign up by the flower garden. Marcia volunteered to call Larry Heberer about it.

Lorraine Wesely reported that the flower garden contains 27 perennials and six annuals.

Seven members answered roll call by telling their favorite patriotic song.

Marilyn Hill reported on the Hoskins Memorial Park. She brought a diagram illustrating the tree, bush and flower plantings that are there and additions that are planned.

She visited with Bruce Kathol about the project. The Club decided to work at planting a perennial flower bed there within the next few months. Bruce told Marilyn that he would like the park to be more community-based.

Marilyn read "Enjoy Last Week of Delicious June" from a book written by Ruth Thone.

There was discussion regarding whether to have an entry in the July 3 parade in Hoskins. It was decided to do so in honor of the Hoskins Garden Club's 50th anniversary. The ladies will meet at Carl and Shirley Mann's shop on Thursday, July 1 at 7 p.m. to put the entry together.

Marcia Prussa will check on the quilt show at Tilden, the Red Cross Garden tour, and the Open House at Perennial Gardens and the Wayne Greenhouse as possibilities for tours and will notify the members about them.

The watering and maintaining of the village flowers schedule was set up through Aug. 22.

Shirley Mann told about historic trees and gave a lesson on bats, including the different species, their habits, diet, etc.

Christine Lueker read several poems about the little blue "Forget-Me-Not" flower.

The watchword for June was: "We may run, walk, stumble, drive, or fly, but let us never lose sight of the reason for the journey, or miss a chance to see a rainbow on the way." - G. Gaither.

A dessert luncheon was served at the close of the meeting.

Lifestyle

Have a safe Independence Day celebration

As Fourth of July celebrations begin across the nation, we bring out our lighters and matchbooks, anticipating the fun of fireworks and grilling steaks, burgers and hot dogs.

What we may not anticipate are the injuries that can accompany fireworks and grilling. So be safe this year.

When working with fireworks, the best advice is to exercise caution from the very beginning. Start by purchasing only legal fireworks from reliable sources. Then store your purchases in cool, dry places away from anything flammable.

When the big day finally arrives, be sure to have adults present at all times assisting any children who might be involved. The best place to light fireworks is outdoors in a large, open space away from power lines, buildings and flammable materials.

Consider wind direction and velocity. Don't set off fireworks upwind of buildings, animals or people. Prevent small and large animals from being injured or frightened by fireworks. Never use alcohol when working with fireworks. Follow directions on the packages and have a metal bucket of water ready to extinguish duds and punks, to cool off metal sparklers and to guard against fires.

Don't experiment with fireworks or put them in closed containers, especially plastic, glass or metal ones. Trapped pressure can cause the container to explode, resulting in a bomb effect and sharp shrapnel. In addition, never carry fireworks in pockets or point them at other people. Anyone shooting fireworks should wear eye protection and be careful not to have any parts of their bodies over the fireworks.

If a firework does not go off, wait several minutes before approaching it because it might still explode. After waiting, take the bucket and douse the dud firework. Do not relight it.

Punks and sparklers are a particular threat to children. Sparklers with wire handles can get hot. When finished with them, stick them in a metal bucket of water to make sure they are out and cool. Do the same with used fireworks before throwing them away.

Be sure to review these safety practices with all who will handle the fireworks.

Grilling can also involve accidents with matches and flammable materials. Possible threats of gas explosions and carbon monoxide poisoning make it imperative that anyone using a grill exercise caution and common sense. Set grills on level surfaces that are not flammable, like cement, and keep them a safe distance away from buildings and items that could catch fire. In addition, don't allow other open flames near grills and keep the lid open when lighting.

When firing up the grill, be sure to check that all equipment on the grill is in working order and is clean. Check hoses for brittleness or leaks. Make sure the hoses and burners aren't clogged. Never grill indoors unless a hooded vent to the outside is available. All grills may produce harmful amounts of carbon monoxide and can cause indoor objects to catch fire. Review your instruction manual to be sure you are sufficiently preheating your grill. Generally, gas grills have temperature controls that signal when they are ready and charcoal briquettes should be white-hot. Do not use gasoline on charcoal briquettes.

You may also want to wear gloves to avoid burns and get tongs and other tools that are long enough to keep hands a safe distance from the flames. When finished grilling, be sure to turn off the grill right away. Be sure charcoal briquettes are completely out by soaking them with water before discarding them.

In addition, be sure to follow the same food-handling practices advised for indoors. Do not allow raw meat to be out of the refrigerator or ice for more than one hour, especially in warmer summer temperatures. Uncooked meats should be stored at 40 degrees. After meats are cooked, they should be kept hot and served right away. Within two hours, leftovers need to be stored in a refrigerator or cooler.

Meats need to be cooked to varying internal temperatures so they are safe to eat. Poultry needs to be at least 180 degrees; roasts and steaks, 145 degrees; pork and ground meat, 160 degrees; fish, until opaque and flaky.

Never put cooked meat on the same plate it was on before being grilled unless the plate has been washed. Keep a spray bottle with a soap or sanitizing solution handy to clean tables, dishes hands and other things quickly, effectively and easily.

Following all safety rules and using caution will help you have a safe and enjoyable holiday celebration. For more information, please contact your local county office of the University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service.

Missionary League holds Convention

A number of women from this area were among those attending the 32nd Biennial Convention held recently at the New World Inn in Columbus.

Those attending were Nila Schuttler, Beverly Ruwe, Darlene Bowers, Rhonda Sebade, Lanora Sorenson, Clara Heineman, Evelyn Linemann, Gertrude Vahlkamp, Gertrude Ohlquist, Darlene Schroeder, Delores Buss, Wilma Bartels, Esther Brader, Patti Mattes, Carol Rethwisch, Monica Ebmeier, Dorothy Kihne, Arlene Blohm and Pastor William Engbreksen, Zone Counselor.

These were among over 300 women, men and children in attendance. They came from all over Northeast Nebraska. They came to progress in God's power and to serve and praise Him as stated in their convention theme "God's Power . . . our Progress" and based on Ephesians 3:20, "Now to Him who is able to do immeasurably more than all we ask or imagine, according to His power that is at work within us." LWML is a mission-based organization of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. As such, the women chose mission grants to "Serve the Lord with gladness!" Their mission grant total goal for the 2004-06 biennium is $61,500. The goal is reached through the prayers of the LWML and mite giving. Mites are the pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters (and dollars) the LWML gathers and dedicates to God's service.

Some of the Nebraska-based mission grants include:

- Assisting John Deang, a Sudanese student, with his learning so he may teach God's word ($13,001).
- Supporting Lutheran Family Service in their mission of Bridge Prison Aftercare ($8,000).
- Training Asian missionaries to reach and teach the 75,000 Asians in Nebraska through the Center for Asian Missions and Evangelism ($10,000).

• Providing tuition assistance for children attending Jesus Our Savior Lutheran Preschool at Winnebago.

Mission grants also include $15,000 scholarships for future church workers in the Nebraska District North who are attending Synod colleges and universities throughout the United States and in Lutheran Schools in Haiti with a mission grant of $3,359 to help provide tin roofs for five of their schools. Offerings gathered during the convention will go towards the mission grant goal, the scholarship program and to Lutherans for Life.

Young Women Representatives (YWR) is a program of the LWML to encourage, mentor and teach the young women of The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod to continue in their walk with God and to serve Him with gladness. There were 14 YWR's in attendance and they chose their own mission grant. The group chose as their mission grant $2,004 for camperships at Camp Luther in Schuyler. Camperships are given to assist children with tuition who would not otherwise be able to attend a summer camp program.

Elections were also part of the convention business. Elected to four-year terms were:

- Katy Gifford of Wausa, Vice President of Human Care;
- Yvonne Greene of Valentine, Vice President of Communications; Rhonda Sebade of Wayne, Vice President of Communication; Julie Groh of North Bend, Recording secretary; Patti Mattes of Allen, Financial secretary; Rev. Frank "Chip" Winter of Norfolk, Counselor.

Elected to the Nominating Committee for two year terms were Jacque Collison of Pierce; Lana Erickson of Omaha; Marilyn Flesner of Pierce; Barbara Sjuts of Humphrey and Kathy Skinner of Bellevue.

LWML women collected "Gifts from the Heart." These gifts included food, linens, hygiene products, cleaning products, diapers, office supplies, household utensils, school supplies and gift cards to HyVee, Wal Mart and Super Saver in Columbus. "Gifts from the Heart" items were donated to Harbor of Hope and Center for Survivors, both in Columbus.

The Lutheran Women's Missionary League, with a membership of over 250,000 is the official women's organization of The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. The LWML focuses on affirming each woman in her relationship with Christ to enable her to be in ministry among the people of the world. For over 60 years the organization has been encouraging and equipping women to live out their Christian lives in active mission ministries and to financially support global missions.

Our Savior to hold worship in the park

Independence Day is a day of celebration! Families typically gather around a picnic table or fireworks display to celebrate the birth of our nation and observe the many freedoms won for our country.

Since July 4th falls on Sunday this year, Our Savior Lutheran Church will celebrate the birthday of our Christian nation with Worship in the Park. The community is invited to join Our Savior members in worship at 10:30 a.m. at the Bressler Park Bandstand in Wayne.

Pastor Bill Koerber and the Sunday Seven Praise Team will be leading worship with the Word of God and many patriotic praise songs.

The rite of Holy Communion and the Rite of Baptism will also be celebrated.

A potluck dinner will take place following the worship service, followed by lots of fellowship and fun with family friends.

"We invite everyone in the community to take time to give thanks to God for the many freedoms you hold dear to your heart and to join us in worship," said Pastor Koerber.

Some seating will be provided, but feel free to bring a blanket or lawn chair with you.

In case of inclement weather, worship will be held at 10:30 a.m. in the Sanctuary at Our Savior Lutheran Church located at 5th and Main in Wayne.

For additional information concerning this event or any other ministries at Our Savior contact the church office at (402) 375-2899.

Farm Bureau members listen as Steve Anderegg, right, discusses his Iowa farming operation and the benefits he has received by being involved with Farm Bureau.

Farm Bureau holds picnic

The Wayne County Farm Bureau Chapter held a picnic at Bressler Park in Wayne on June 21.

Among those in attendance were Steve Anderegg, Chairman of the American Farm Bureau Federation Young Farmers and Ranchers Committee.

Anderegg, who farms near Mason City, Iowa, told those in attendance that through his travels he has learned young farmers have the same issues throughout the area. He also highlighted the benefits he has received from being involved with Farm Bureau and said producers need to learn how to be politically effective.

Also speaking to those in attendance was Keith Olson, President of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation. He told his audience that he is excited for the young people involved in agriculture and noted that these people "need to learn by making mistakes in order to succeed."

Bob Dickey of Laurel, who was among those traveling with Governor Mike Johanns on the Governor's Trade Mission to China, told the Farm Bureau members that China "has a lot of potential." He also described some of the farming techniques used in China.

Attending the annual picnic were a number of officers of the Wayne County Farm Bureau and several members of the Dixon County Farm Bureau.

Helping with 'little' projects!

Is it just farmers, or all men? They have a way of roping their wives into projects without really telling them what the project will entail. Or is it just the Big Farmer?

This used to happen on the farm periodically: a little help, loading cattle, or walking beans, or chopping thistles. And it would turn out to take all day.

Last Saturday, Mike announced that there was an old tire collection in Elmwood and he would be cleaning up the ones that were laying south of the garage. I even asked if he needed help, and he said he didn't think so. About 11 a.m., he said that he could probably use a little assistance, if I wasn't too busy! Since we had just had a week of guests, I did have things to do: like clean bathrooms and wash sheets and towels.

But, like the good wife that I am, I strolled out to where he had backed the pickup. I did have my better tennis and my khaki pants on; it was just for a few minutes, after all.

After I had the first five or six on the back of the pickup, he said, "Boy, there are a lot more here than I remembered." This sounded very familiar. Then, the ones he was digging out were full of old rain water and I was soon getting very dirty. So, it was back to the house to put on old jeans, old shoes, and some gloves. Thirty minutes later, the tires were all loaded and he headed to Elmwood.

I had committed to being at the hospice memorial service in Wayne on Sunday and it was on the calendar, where all such things are recorded. Apparently, he had noticed it several days earlier. So, when I asked if he was going along, he said he was, but that we would have to take the pickup.

I should have been suspicious then. But I knew there were a couple of old iron wheels he had been wanting to bring back and he said they were too heavy for the back of the pickup; which has air conditioning and doesn't handle too badly.

After the service, for which I wore a nice pant suit and shoes, we headed for the farm north of Hoskins. He asked if I had brought any other clothes. Well, yes, I had planned to wear some older slacks going back. Then we were at a wire gate and I knew we were headed for CRP acres. But I was sure we weren't going to find any thistles, so I endured the bumpy ride and enjoyed the scenery.

But, what to our wondering eyes should appear, but "some of those thorny old weeds we had come to despise". So, I changed clothes (there weren't any onlookers in the middle of that field) and put on those better tennis shoes and got out of the pickup. Would you believe he had a spade in the back just for me?

The good news is there were only about 50 or so. But that shot another hour. And the next morning was almost worse. We stopped at Dick's place and cleaned out one of his sheds. I hadn't planned on this activity either. And, it's still like I said; "Why do men keep every piece of haler wire, every electric fence insulator, and every empty plastic container?" This will be an on-going project, I fear.

Heat may damage hay that has been baled wet

Did you bale hay a little tough due to high humidity and frequent rain showers? If so, your hay could mold, spoil, or suffer heat damage.

Bruce Anderson, UNL

Del Hemsath
Extension Educator

Extension, Forage Specialist shares some ideas on the effects of baling hay when too moist.

Heat damage causes hay to be less digestible, especially the protein. Heat damaged hay often turns a brownish color and has a caramel odor. Cattle often eat this hay readily, but because of the heat damage, its nutritional value might be low.

Heat produced by a bale basically comes from two sources. Some heat is produced by biochemical reactions from the plants themselves as hay cures. This heating is relatively minor and rarely causes hay temperature to rise above 110 degrees. Very little damage occurs to hay that gets no warmer than 110 degrees.

Most heat in hay, though, is caused by the metabolic activity of microorganisms. Millions of these microbes exist in all hay and they thrive when extra moisture is abundant.

As the metabolic activity of these microbes increases, the temperature of your hay rises. Hay with only a little excess moisture probably will get no warmer than 120 degrees. Wetter hay, though, quickly can get as warm as 150 degrees. Hay that gets this warm nearly always becomes discolored, and nutritional value can be very low. If hay temperatures rise above 170 degrees, chemical reactions can begin to occur that produce enough heat to quickly raise temperatures over 400 degrees and cause fires.

We all bale hay a little too wet from time to time. Be wary of the fire danger with wet hay and store it away from buildings and other hay just in case. Also, remember the lower feed value that is caused by heat damage in wet hay. Get a thorough forage test and then use this hay accordingly.

older slacks going back. Then we were at a wire gate and I knew we were headed for CRP acres. But I was sure we weren't going to find any thistles, so I endured the bumpy ride and enjoyed the scenery.

I hadn't planned on this activity either. And, it's still like I said; "Why do men keep every piece of haler wire, every electric fence insulator, and every empty plastic container?" This will be an on-going project, I fear.

We eventually made it back home, but I do believe some things never change, even in retirement.

Integrated insect management is needed

Control of insect pests takes more than just chemicals. Integrated management strategies combine many control techniques into one strategy.

Examples of control techniques are biological, cultural, physical, and chemical. Biological control of insects is basically use of one insect against another, for example asian lady beetles eat aphids. Cultural controls might include how a barn or feedlot is set up to resist insect infestation. Physical control includes such things as screens or other physical barriers. Chemical control is a popular and effective control, but one that has high cost and must be managed carefully.

The use or consideration of each method as a pest control strategy is integrated insect management. Ron Seymour, UNL extension educator in Adams County recommends multiple control methods to control insects in feedlots and dairies.

F. John Seymour
Extension Educator

Stable and house flies are the most serious pests that can be in confined livestock facilities during the summer. These pests can be controlled with proper feedlot and dairy management practices.

Stable fly development primarily occurs in animal waste mixed with soil, straw, hay, silage or haylage and grain. Depending on fly numbers, economic losses result in decreased weight gain from 0.1 pound to 0.43 pound per head per day.

House flies also can develop in animal waste. They feed on waste, decomposing feed and other liquified organic matter. House flies can transmit many animal or human diseases. Also, high numbers of house flies around feed bunks reduces the frequency of cattle feedings.

Proper animal waste management and good feedlot sanitation must be included in a fly control program. Feedlots and dairy facili-

Important Information for 'Self Read - Self Bill' Customers of the Northeast Nebraska PPD

The NePPD has some of the lowest electric rates in Northeast Nebraska.* One reason costs can be lower is that rural customers read their own meter and figure their own bill. This system works well, except when customers send their bills in late. When the Power District gets a late payment or doesn't get a reading, then the bill must be estimated and our records won't be accurate. Late payments are also subject to a penalty, which customers could avoid. A late payment will result in the customer receiving a notice of disconnection based on an estimated usage. Full payment must be received each month before the disconnect date listed below to avoid a disconnected service.*

As a reminder, here is the billing schedule for the remainder of 2004:

- July 12 - Late payment penalty date and disconnect notices out on estimated bills
- July 19 - Disconnection date for non-payment
- Aug 11 - Late payment penalty date and disconnect notices out on estimated bills
- Aug 18 - Disconnection date for non-payment
- Sep 13 - Late payment penalty date and disconnect notices out on estimated bills
- Sep 20 - Disconnection date for non-payment
- Oct 11 - Late payment penalty date and disconnect notices out on estimated bills
- Oct 18 - Disconnection date for non-payment
- Nov 11 - Late payment penalty date and disconnect notices out on estimated bills
- Nov 17 - Disconnection date for non-payment
- Dec 13 - Late payment penalty date and disconnect notices out on estimated bills
- Dec 20 - Disconnection date for non-payment

Get Smart About Fireworks!

Fireworks are a big part of Fourth of July celebrations, lighting up the sky and showing our patriotism for miles. While they may be grand and spectacular, fireworks are also very dangerous. Keep in mind the following safety tips when conducting your own fireworks display:

- 1 First and foremost, find out what fireworks are legal in your state.
- 2 Always read and follow label directions.
- 3 Never give fireworks to small children.
- 4 Use fireworks outdoors only.
- 5 Always have water handy.
- 6 Never throw or point fireworks at other people.

The night of July 4 is one of cheer, so don't let careless handling of fireworks turn it into a night of disaster. Have a safe and happy celebration!
