Teachers retire from Wayne School system

Editors note: This is the first of a series of articles on the teachers who retired from the Wayne Schools system this spring.

Two teachers retiring recently from Wayne Community Schools were Nadine Fredrickson and Bill Wilson.

Fredrickson, who taught second grade for a number of years in the Wayne School system, finished her teaching career with 26 years at Wayne.

Graduating from Laurel High School, Mrs. Fredrickson attended Wayne State College receiving a BA in Education. She continued her education by attaining additional hours in elementary education.

She taught in the Randolph School system for six years before coming to Wayne.

On a personal note, family is very important to Fredrickson and she looks forward to being a "professional grandmother."

She and her husband, Jim, have five children: Darin Lubberstedt of Pender, Darci Roberts of Allen, Jamie Fredrickson of Ceresco, Chris Fredrickson of Lincoln, and Nicole Nitz, who lives in Texas. They also have five grandchildren; three girls and two boys.

Looking back on her teaching career, "I will miss the children and other teachers," Fredrickson said. "I will also miss the friendliness of the faculty and staff, as well as the joy of the children."

Nadine Fredrickson

As for Wilson, industrial technologist, he started teaching at Wayne Community Schools in 1967. He graduated from Meadow Grove High School and later from Norfolk Junior College with an A.A. degree. He pursued further education by attending the University of Nebraska for one year. He then entered the United States Air Force where he served four years. During his military service, he took many courses at Riverside City College at Riverside, Calif.

Upon completion of his military service, he worked at Autonetics, a division of North American Aviation in Anaheim, Calif.

Deciding to pursue an educational career and wanting to return to the Midwest, he enrolled at Wayne State College where during his senior year he was the first student from the Industrial Arts area to be in the Honors Colloquium and graduated Magna Cum Laude with a B.A.

Further education followed by attending Colorado State University in Fort Collins, Colo. where he graduated with a Master's Degree in Education. Education became a continuous process and summers were spent at Colorado State University, Grand Island, Omaha, Lincoln, Kearney, and other places for conferences and workshops.

Wilson is a life member of the International Technological Education Association and has been an annual member of the Nebraska Industrial Technological Association. He attended all of the yearly conferences except two, served as trustee for a few terms and was selected by his peers as Teacher of the Year in 1970. He was so honored by the Wayne Chamber of Commerce recently.

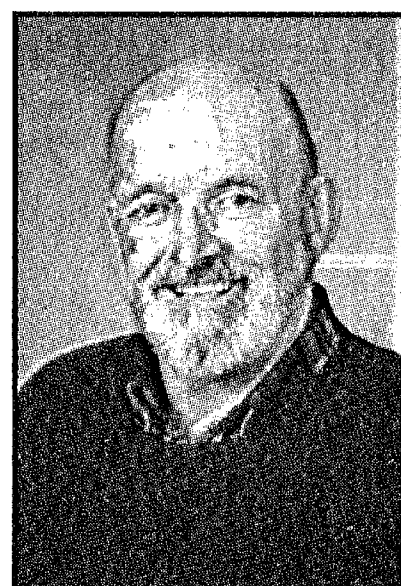

He has an intense interest in hunting and the shooting sports and is a life member of the National Rifle Association.

When the Nebraska Game and Parks took over the Hunter Safety program, he became an instructor for that organization and was honored this past February by them with a 30-year award. It was noted he had taught over 700 students.

He is married to Rebecca and they have two sons who graduated from Wayne Community Schools. Ben, lives in California and Sam, lives in Lincoln.

Wilson has enjoyed living in Wayne and thanks those who supported vocational education. He notes he will miss the students and their success stories after further education. He will also miss the faculty and staff.

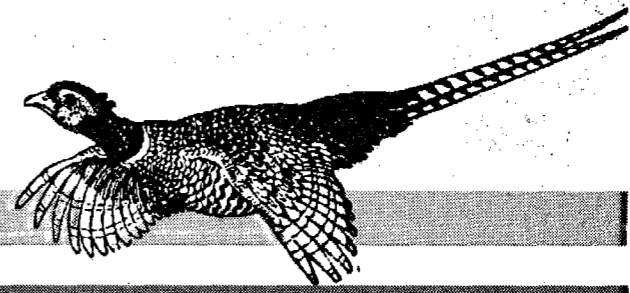

He notes he is busy painting houses as he has done many summers and later plans to get more work done at home.

Heat-related illnesses can be prevented

Nebraskans not accustomed to summer's warmer weather are at a higher risk for heat-related illnesses, a University of Nebraska agriculture systems specialist said.

Warmer than usual weather can trigger heat-related problems, said Bill Campbell, Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources agriculture systems specialist.

"If weather forecasters talk about a day that will be especially uncomfortable with high heat indexes, people should be careful," Campbell said. "People who haven't conditioned themselves to hot weather and try to exert themselves find that their bodies are not ready to work in high temperature conditions."

For example, people who work in air conditioned offices for months on end and then try to do yard work on a hot weekend are vulnerable to heat-related problems. The elderly also are vulnerable to heat-related illnesses, as are those recovering or recently suffering from an illness, he said.

Prevention of heat-related illnesses is key, Campbell said.

"Once affected by a heat-related illness, the body will remember how it responded to heat stress, and if put in the same situation will revert to the same response pattern to try to protect itself," he said.

Heat-related illness can be prevented by becoming gradually conditioned to hot weather, he said.

"People need to pay attention to how they are feeling and take breaks when they are over exerting themselves in high temperatures," he said.

Wearing light, loose-fitting clothing, getting an adequate amount of rest and drinking plenty of fluids also are part of prevention.

"If a person is not using the restroom often enough, they are not consuming enough fluids," Campbell said.

The days to be especially cautious of heat-related illness are those just after several days of cool, nice weather, when the body is not conditioned to heat.

It is important to do strenuous activities during the morning hours, he said.

"Try to stay away from mid- to late afternoon or early evening hours, or windless times of the day," Campbell said.

There are four types of heat-related illnesses. The first stage of heat-related illnesses are cramps, caused by overexertion in hot weather, poor physical condition or dehydration.

The second stage is fainting, caused by overexertion or a drop in blood pressure.

The third stage is heat exhaustion, caused by excessive heat or dehydration. Symptoms are pale-ness, dizziness, nausea, fainting, a moderately increased body temperature, sweating and cool, clammy skin.

Heat stroke is the most dangerous stage of heat-related illness, caused by exposure to high temperatures. Symptoms of heat stroke include warm skin and no sweating.

Treat heat-related illnesses by finding a cool place to rest, cooling down the body with a wet cloth and drinking fluids, he said.

"When recovering from heat, the individual can determine how fast to intake water," he said. "If they do not want to drink, they will need to be encouraged. If enough water is not consumed, the body will go back into shut down."

If a person is not treated quickly, it will take longer for him or her to recover. Heat-related illnesses can result in death if treatments aren't followed and the person is not put in an environment where he or she can cool down, he said.

"If treatments are not working, if the person's temperature continues to rise and the person stops sweating, the heat is too much for the body to cool itself down and medical care will need to be sought," Campbell said.

Nebraskans urged to attend county fairs

By Jane Armstrong, Extension Educator

Now, I think I would expect you would all reply that you had heard about your local county fair. Many of you would even say you have attended a county fair at some point.

You might also know that you can find 4-H exhibits at the county fair. But many of you have NOT been to a county fair recently or perhaps not at all.

Today I would like you to plan to attend your county fair to see what our young people are doing with their 4-H projects. And I have lots of reasons why you would want to go see those exhibits and activities.

My first reason is simply that there is so very much to see. Some people think 4-H is limited to livestock, cooking and sewing. And while there are many things to see and learn from those areas, there is also an abundance of other project areas. Did you know you can see rockets, small engines and beautiful photography displays? You can find exhibits on wildlife, conservation, computers and software, entrepreneurship, fishing and forestry. You may see heirloom treasures restored and displayed as well as entomology, engineering, welding and weed management displays. I could go on and on; the list is almost endless.

In addition to learning a great deal from all the variety of exhibits displayed, you can also get some great gift ideas, craft ideas, and woodworking project ideas. You can get a good handle on what youth ages five to nineteen are interested in doing and creating. I can assure you our 4-H members are interested in much more than videogames and MTV. Come and see what they are learning. I know you will be amazed as you see the growth that occurs between the youngest youth, whether it be in the Bucket, Calf event or making a simple pin-cushion, and progresses to the top levels as seniors show their prize-winning cattle for the very last time or model their formal gowns or business suits for their last Style Revue.

I have another reason for urging you to attend your county fair. You may have heard recent public service announcements from Senator Chuck Hagel and Representative Tom Osborne, both of whom strongly support the 4-H programs in Nebraska. They have good reason to support this important program for our young people.

Through their 4-H projects and activities our youth learn about important life skills and subject matter areas that interest them most. They also learn responsibility and learn that there are consequences and outcomes connected with their actions and work. They gain satisfaction in their work and that is the very best way to build self-confidence. They meet other youth from the county, the area and around the state. They form friendships with other 4-H members some of which will continue through their college years and beyond. And they have fun...lots of fun, whether it is working together on a community service project, going to meetings, participating in a camp or taking a canoe trip.

So if Senator Hagel and Representative Osborne provide such strong support for the 4-H youth, you can, too. Perhaps you don't have the time to be a leader or volunteer but you can go see the exhibits, watch them show the animals they have worked with for so many hours, or support their food stands. I know you will be impressed with the youth and you will also be able to show your support for them.

I have just a few more reasons for attending your county fair: lots of good food and a variety of other unique activities.

I hope to see you at our Cedar County Fair which will be held from July 29 to Aug. 1. The Wayne County Fair is also held on the same days. If you are in the Dakota or Thurston County areas, your fair will be from July 21 until the 25th. The Dixon County Fair will be Aug. 1 through the 4th while Knox and Cuming Counties are a little later, Aug. 12th to the 15th.

So please treat yourself to a great time learning about new areas, getting great ideas, eating good food and enjoying a variety of activities.

As Chris LaDioux says, there is nothing like the county fair!

Team helps out local man

Dear Editor,
I just want to say what a great thing Holdorf Racing 21 softball team did this weekend.
They were up here from Omaha to play in the Chicken Show tournament (they got second place in the upper division, by the way!).
I think everyone in Wayne knows Tim Friese. He goes to all the men's league softball games during the week in the summer and plays for the White Dog team. He rode his bike out to the softball complex Sunday morning at 9 a.m. to watch the softball games.
When all the games were over and he was ready to head home, his bike was gone. Someone stole it.

The Holdorf Racing 21 team was all out there yet and heard about his bike so they all passed a hat and ended up with about $150 to buy Tim a new bike. To top it off, Bob Sherman, who was the tournament director and plays for Sherman Construction softball team, took Tim home and made plans with Tim to get him to Pamida the next day to buy him his new bike.
What a great group of people!!!

Husker Nation thanks area

To all of Husker Nation:
A sincere Big Red Thank You to all of you who took the time to come join us on the Husker Nation Tour.
As we returned to Lincoln from each of the 26 cities we visited, each and every one of our coaches, players and staff on tour were filled with heartwarming stories about the greatest fans in collegiate athletics.
So many of you have called and e-mailed to thank us for coming, but we just want to thank you for this unique opportunity to come visit with you personally. Our new coaches have been overwhelmed by the warm reception from the Husker Nation.

It's hard to top the welcome extended by more than 61,000 fans who attended the spring game, but the Tour on June 25, attended by some 16,000-plus Husker Nation fans wearing red, was an even greater reinforcement of the fact that there truly is no place like Nebraska.
We look forward to proudly displaying the flags signed by each of the fans attending each tour stop at the Husker Nation Pavilion this fall.
Thank you for coming and we look forward to meeting many more of you in the future.
Go Big Red!
Steve Pederson and Coach Callahan

Texas should do something nice for Nebraska

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

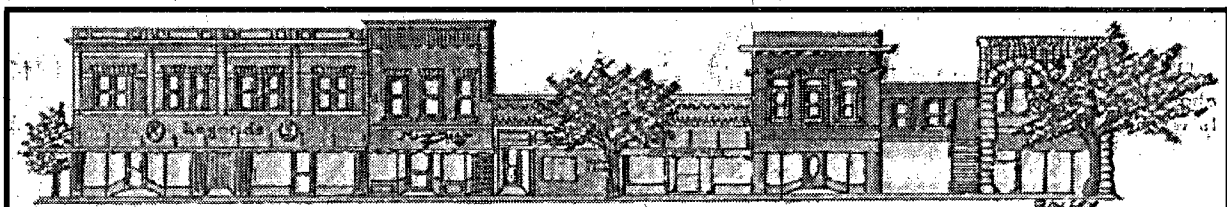

It's only fair that Texas do something for Nebraska.
There was talk last week about the Lone Star state and the Cornhusker state maybe making a deal. It would have Texas accept the low-level nuclear gunk generated by Nebraska and the four states in the Central States Low-Level Nuclear Waste Compact.
For reasons that will be explained, it's the least Texas can do.

In the first place, Nebraska might pay Texas about $50 million for the service. Pretty good, when you consider that Texas is planning on building a nuclear toilet, anyway.
Such an arrangement might help Nebraska save a great deal of money via settling a case successfully brought against the state by those guys in that ridiculous compact. The federal courts say Nebraska owes them $151 million, plus interest, because the state wouldn't license a nuclear potty in Boyd County.
Okay, then. Why should Texas do a nice thing for Nebraska?
Because Nebraska has done a bunch of nice stuff for Texas, that's why!
Nebraska voters support the favorite son of the Lone Star state (that would be the president) in a big, big way.
Mrs. Bush stops in Omaha for lunch. She leaves with $659,000 in the old campaign wallet. Dick Cheney stopped in Omaha last month, and he collected $600,000. And Texas is not what you would call charming lunch company, either!

Furthermore, it isn't just a matter of Nebraska being nice to Texans in terms of money and votes for Republicans from down there.
Remember Lyndon Johnson? He was a Democrat. He also was from Texas. What happened? In 1964 Nebraska went for Johnson in the presidential election. It was the first time a Democratic presidential candidate had carried Nebraska since FDR - and even he only carried Nebraska the first time he ran.

Texas is fond of all those cattle that get fed between Oklahoma and Old Mexico. Where do they get all that corn and corn-based feed? You know darn well where it comes from!
Plus, Nebraska gave up its annual football classic with Oklahoma, just so Texas could have its own way when the Big 12 was formed.

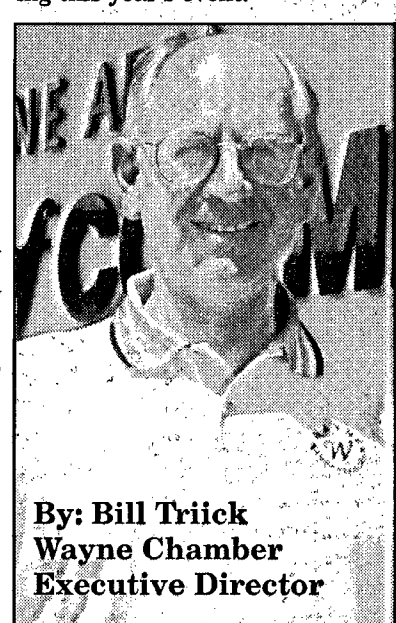

Heck, there are areas in Texas where a nuclear vault could be burglarized by Father Time, and the result could be a cleaner environment.
Those Texas teams come to Omaha and play in one of the best ball parks in America during the College World Series. Heck, Nebraska teams don't even get to do that!
It's definitely time for Texas to do something nice for Nebraska.

NEW BEGINNINGS!

CHICKEN SHOW: The one entity that I would like to singularly congratulate at this time is the citizenry of Wayne for the manner in which they collectively welcomed our visitors to the Chicken Show this year. I have been told several times that the Chicken Show is really a party put on by all of Wayne for her guests. This to me means that locals put our visitors first; in lines, on the parade route, seating at events, and in the vendor areas. I thought it was especially evident on north Main Street where we set up a special space for our elderly guests that came by bus from Lincoln. Thank you residents for giving up one of your special viewing spots to these folks. Also, a very special recognition goes to the Chicken Show Chair Della Pries for the very professional, thorough and "cool" way in which she directed all the activities leading up to and implementing this year's event.

"Only 350 some days left until Henoween . . ." he said jokingly.
It was a great Henoween and there are so many people to thank. There is always a danger in forgetting some, but with that in mind, here I go.
Special thanks goes to the Main Street Promotions Committee and Chairperson Irene Fletcher and all include Beatrice, Fremont, Gothenburg, Lexington, Ogallala and Plattsmouth. If you are in those communities, check out what their Main Street Programs are doing. It is always enlightening to go to other Main Street communities and see what projects they have going on or on-going. Some of the most informative sessions we have at our conferences is when the managers share the positives and the struggles they may be encountering. So how does Wayne stack up? Easy answer. It's my home and I'm glad I'm in Wayne. Take pride folks, we have lots to offer and avenues to help make Wayne an even better place to work, live, shop and have fun. Being positive is contagious . . . and negativism is deadly . . . avoid it at all costs.

We meet every Tuesday from 8 to 9 a.m. We would be most pleased to have you as our guest. Join in . . . it's your program . . . we'd love to have your ideas, comments and suggestions. Give us a call at 375-5062.

Amanda Hoff wins residence hall waiver at Chicken Show

Amanda Hoff, a recent graduate of Norfolk Senior High School and an incoming freshman at Wayne State College was the winner of a drawing for a one-semester residence hall room waiver at the Wayne Chicken Show on July 10.

As the winner of the drawing, Hoff will receive a one-semester Wayne State College residence hall room fee waiver, valued at $1,000 for the coming semester. This fee waiver will be applied to her first semester of enrollment as a full-time student at Wayne State.

Amanda, who was attending a church camp on Saturday, said she was happy her mother, Donna Hoff, came to the Wayne Chicken Show and entered her name in the drawing. Immediate family members, including parents, siblings and grandparents, could enter the drawing on behalf of the prospective student.

The certificate must be redeemed before May 1, 2009.

"This is great," said Amanda, who plans to major in elementary education at Wayne State. "Mom filled out the registration at 11 a.m. at the Chicken Show," she said. "At first, she didn't know if she would be there until the drawing at 3 p.m. (the winner had to be present to win), but she decided to stay. I'm sure glad she did. I appreciate this very much!"

Amanda will be a member of the flag team for the WSC marching band in the fall and will play clarinet in the concert band.

A second drawing for a one-semester WSC residence hall room waiver for full-time new students will be held at the Wayne County Fair from July 29 - Aug. 1.

Northeast RC&D Week being observed

The Northeast Nebraska Resource Conservation and Development Council (RC&D) is observing National RC&D Week through July 17.

Wayne Mayor Sheryl Lindau recently signed a proclamation recognizing this week as a time to recognize the fact that during this week, across the nation, Resource and Conservation and Development Councils are performing community service projects to improve their communities.

Mayor Lindau congratulated the RC&D for its continued success in brightening the future of the community by bringing together diverse groups of local volunteers to strengthen the spirit of community service to the city throughout the year.

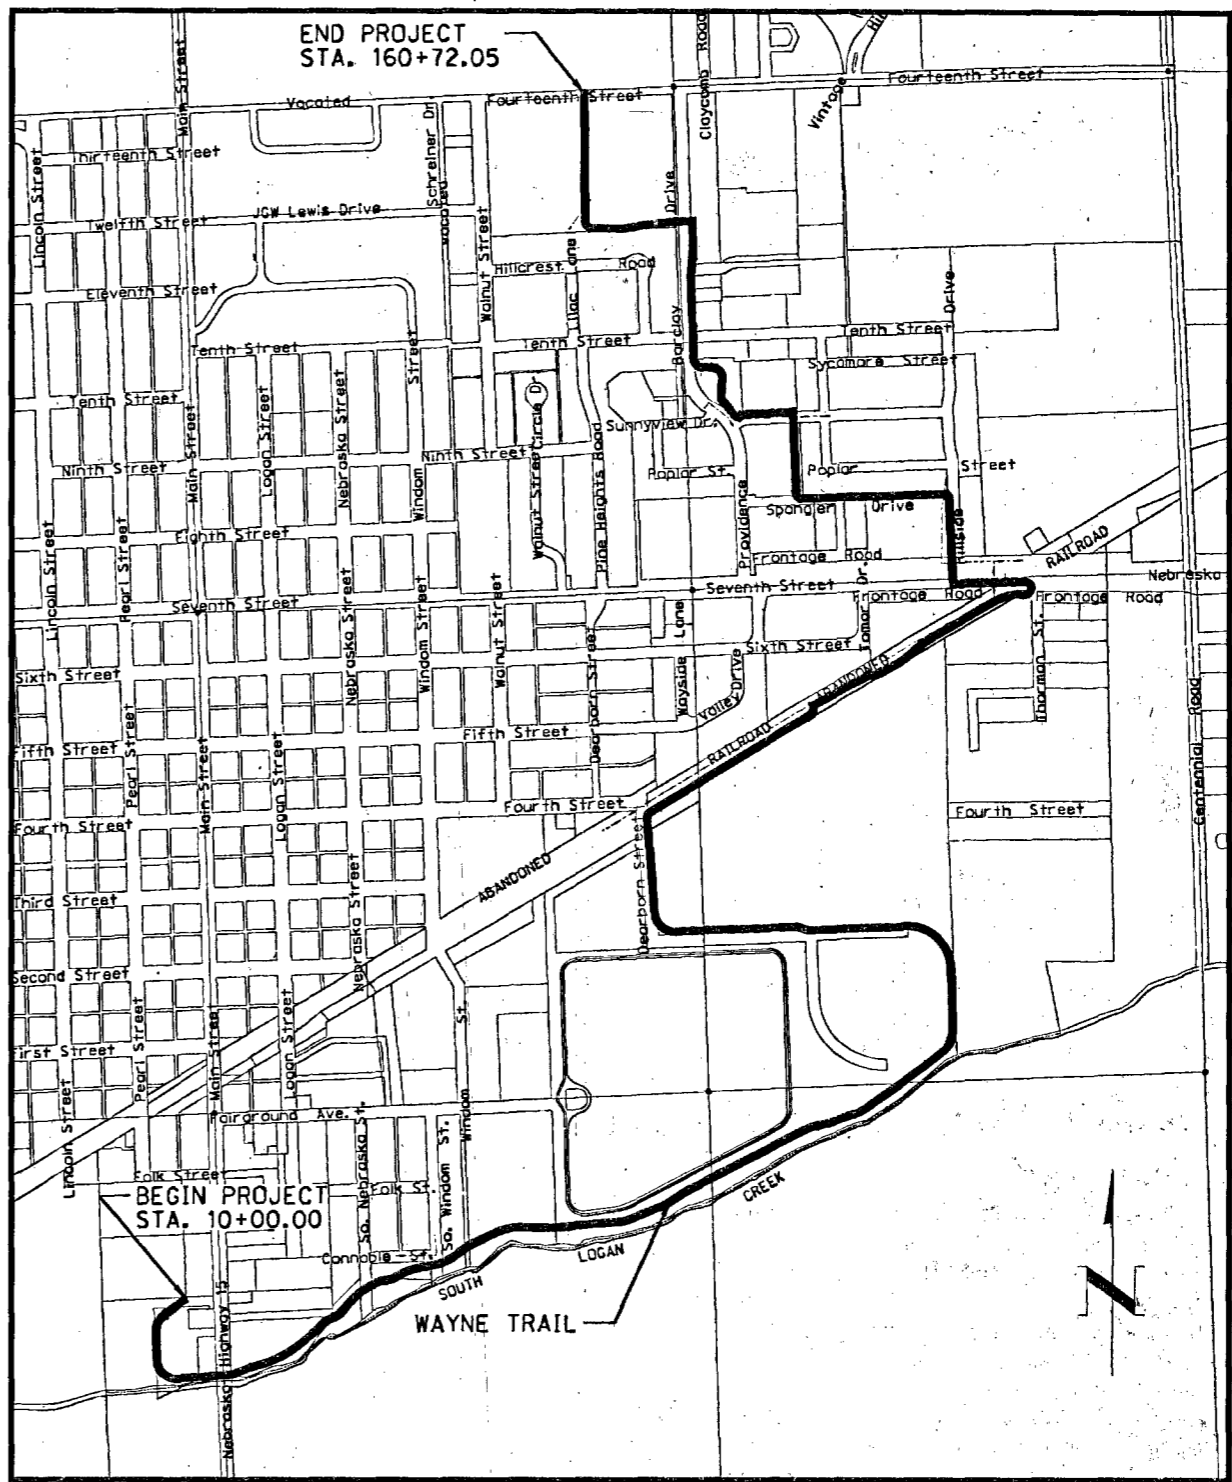

The RC&D councils throughout the nation have contributed countless hours of community service to help people care for and protect their natural resources in a way that will improve the area's economy, environment and living standards since its inception in 1964.

Among the ways the Northeast RC&D can provide assistance are the fact that a regional focus involves many partners; the council provides an extensive local network; because of a non-profit 501(c)(3) status, opportunities are available; most RC&D efforts are primarily project specific and during the past 10 years a total of 160 projects have been implemented.

At the present time, Bob Porter of Wayne serves as the president of the Northeast RC&D which is headquartered in Plainville.

For more information on services available, contact the office at (402) 582-4866 or (402) 582-3799.

Trail route

The map above shows the route the Wayne Recreation Trail will take. Construction crews are currently working to complete what will be Phase I of the project. This portion begins at the south edge of Wayne, goes under Logan Creek and continues in a northeasterly direction. It will cross Highway 35 near the Wayne Veterinary Clinic and proceed northwest to Fourteenth Street. The project is being funded with Surface Transportation Funds, money from the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District and the city of Wayne. It is anticipated that Phase II of the trail which will run northwest from the Logan Creek bridge can begin soon.

Council learns of benefits of tax-increment financing

By Clara Osten
 Of the Herald

Tax increment financing (TIF) and the benefits to cities taking advantage of it were presented to council members during Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

Mike Bacon, City Attorney for Gothenburg, made a power point presentation to the council and audience. He noted that the process is used to eliminate blight in a community and listed the hurdles a city needs to go through before a project can be completed.

These include determining a blighted area within the city. Only 35 percent of an area can be classified as blighted. The project seeking funds must not be feasible without TIF funds and the approval must be given by a city's zoning board, community re-development agency and the city council.

Several council members asked questions of Bacon, who told of various projects he has been involved with both in Gothenburg and throughout the state of Nebraska.

The results of the Wayne Community Housing Study was presented by Renay Robison-Scheer, Executive Director of the Northeast Nebraska Economic Development District and Michela Keeler-Strom, Community Coordinator for the District.

She told the council that a number of statistics revealed from the survey were unique to the city of Wayne, in part due to the large population in the 18-24 year old age range.

The population of the city has risen by 400 since the 1990 census. Robison-Scheer said there is a market in Wayne for affordable housing and noted that with the projections from the study, there is a demand of 95 additional housing units by the year 2010.

She also encouraged the city to investigate the use of TIF funds to help address the housing needs of the community.

Also discussed during the meeting was Ordinance 2004-06 which would amend the Wayne Municipal Code to prohibit truck use on designated streets in the city.

After considerable debate and discussion, including input from truck owner Rodney Hefti, the council agreed to postpone any action until its next meeting.

Hefti questioned whether the ordinance, as written, would prohibit him from stopping at his home with his truck to have lunch or for short periods of time during the day. He also asked whether there was a problem with trucks in the city and whether an ordinance was necessary.

Council member Will Wiseman noted that the council has been debating the issue for some time and was primarily dealing with two concerns - noise and the looks of trucks in the residential neighborhoods.

The council agreed to postpone any action on the ordinance and encouraged Hefti and any other citizens who might be affected by the passage of such an ordinance to contact a council member before the next meeting.

The application of Kevin Kay to the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department was approved at the meeting.

The council also listened to the annual report of the Wayne Public Library.

Postal customers helping U.S. soldiers phone home

More than 1,700 U.S. soldiers serving overseas will receive free telephone calls home thanks to the generosity of postal customers in Nebraska, Kansas and southwest Iowa who have donated USPS First-Class Phone Cards through the Postal Service's "Phone Cards for Troops Program."

This week the Postal Service delivered the phone cards, ranging from 100 to 400 minutes in size, to the Family Support Center at Offutt AFB, Neb. and Fort Riley, Kan. The cards are then shared with local readiness group leaders who send them to active Nebraska, Iowa and Kansas reserve units serving overseas.

"When the Postal Service approached us with the program, we didn't realize how many people would be willing to support it," said Barry Wilkinson, Team Leader/Community Readiness Consultant in the Family Support Center at Offutt AFB. "I've been around the world and I've never seen community support like here in the Midwest. We really appreciate what the Postal Service and the communities are doing for our troops."

The Central Plains District of the Postal Service, which includes

Director noted that patron use of the library was up in all categories. She also expressed a "thank you" to the council for their support of the library and its programs.

No one spoke during a public hearing for an application of a Class A Liquor License for Renee M. Jacobsen, doing business as Snakey Jake's Italian Pizza and Subs. The council then gave unanimous approval to the request.

In other action, the council approved a change order for work on the trail construction project. There is no cost involved to the city with the change.

The council set Tuesday, July 27 at 7:35 p.m. as the time for a public hearing for a use by exception application of David Hinsley, architect for State National Bank.

The council's next meeting will be Tuesday, July 27 and will begin with a budget work session at 6 p.m., followed by the regular meeting at 7:30.

Nebraska, most of Kansas and southwestern Iowa, began the "Phone Cards for Troops" campaign on June 1 to help support U.S. Troops overseas.

"We were planning to run the program through June, but the response has been so overwhelming that we have extended it and added more locations," said Joleen Baxa, Central Plains District Manager. The phone cards are currently sold in 157 locations throughout the district, including all Post Offices in Omaha, Lincoln, Wichita and Topeka.

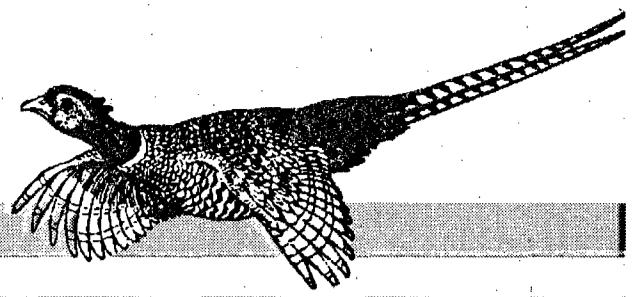

"The program is just underway here, but we expect many phone cards to be donated as word of the program spreads throughout the community, said Kerwin Lueshen, postmaster of Wayne.

The Phone cards are available in denominations of $10, $20 and $30. Throughout July and August, customers who purchase two or more phone cards at their Post Office can send away for a three-five foot U.S. Flag.

"The Postal Service is proud to be a sponsor of such a worthy program," Lueshen said. "Our troops are sacrificing so much on our behalf; it feels good to be able to give something back. Go U.S.A."

HOLD REUNION

Alumni Day began with graduates and friends gathered at the Allen school, July 3, for student led tours from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Videos of the destruction and construction of the building shot by Darlene Fahrenholz were shown along with a video tour of the former school rooms by Gloria Oberg. Flowers were provided by Betty Chapman. The guest book in the school commons area recorded 185 signatures. A sandwich lunch, available as a fundraiser for the band, netted over $600.

Festivities continued at an evening banquet at the Marina Inn in South Sioux City attended by 264. Treasurer Doug Koester noted that graduates attending represented 23 different states and all four corners of the country. States included NE, CO, IA, CA, OR, MN, WA, SD, PA, FL, MD, NV, NC, NM, LA, KS, AZ, IN, MO, TX, OH, ME, and UT.

Alumni President Sandra Jones Driskell presided. Elayne Williams read the minutes from three years ago. The program included dinner music by Darcy Swanson Oman, songs by Myron Armour, and a review of the 50-year classes, 1952, '53, '54, by Brian Linafelter and Gary Troth. Service in the armed forces was recognized with a musical tribute. A monetary collection taken to defer mailing expenses for the Allen Update newsletter netted $701. Kathy Boswell noted that a new alumni directory is for sale. The committee would like to thank those who attended and assisted as we celebrated "Footprints in the Sands of Time."

CLASS OF '54
Allen Consolidated School Class of 1954 came together on July 2, 2004 for an evening of celebrating their 50 year reunion. Twenty-one of the 29 graduates attended. States represented were: California, Colorado, Iowa, South Dakota, Washington, Kansas, Maine and Nebraska.

The group met in the Fire Hall in Allen and enjoyed a meal together with talking and reminiscing. They were especially pleased that Coach Dedrickson came and spent the evening with the class. Northeast Nebraska RC&D helps community projects succeed; facilitating community progress, improving viability and enhancing the quality of life.

The RC&D works regionally with many partners, has an extensive local network, provides access to 501 (c) (3) opportunities, is project oriented, and offers USDA support to locally led efforts.

RC&D helps by:
 •Regional focus involves many partners - it takes many strategic alliances and partnerships to make things happen. On average during a year the Council may work with up to 80 different groups and organizations to accomplish projects.
 •An extensive local network - the RC&D Council is made up of 24 board members representing communities, counties, and tribes across the six-county area. Other interested and concerned citizens also take part in meetings, projects, activities and events.

•A non-profit 501 (c) (3) status brings opportunities - grant writing assistance and knowledge of available grants is provided through the RC&D office. Local Council members learn about these opportunities and pass that information on to their communities. Numerous applications for various grants have been developed: tourism marketing, private foundations, USDA and DEQ, etc.

•Efforts are primarily project specific - most RC&D activities take the form of a specific project. Throughout their 10-year history they have implemented 160 projects in a variety of areas and with a variety of financial and technical resources.

•Offers USDA support to locally led efforts - the Natural Resource Conservation Service provides RC&D Council assistance through a full-time coordinator, a program support assistant, office rent, office supplies, and a vehicle. This type of support for an all-volunteer organization is key to making things happen.

Agricultural economics - supporting economic development through agriculturally based grants. Husker Ag LLC was awarded a $226,850 USDA Value-Added Ag Grant. RC&D assisted with the grant writing. The project increases jobs and provides more value for farmers crops.

•Environmental protection - assisting with the conservation and improvement of local environmental resources. Stream bank erosion was the reason for installing two demonstration sites designed to slow cutting, improve aquatic habitat, save cropland, and make good use of waste cedar trees.

Community development - vibrant healthy communities offer a quality of life desired by many. Plainview's Klown Doll Museum has over 230 clown dolls and related pieces in this one-of-a-kind collection that is truly unique for Nebraska. They want to expand the facility to better display the items they have and to improve.

Tourism promotion - raising the awareness of travelers and local citizens to the attractions and experiences of the region. Working to promote the Lewis & Clark Trail while creating opportunities to attract tourists to local towns has been part of many projects over the last several years.

Northeast Nebraska RC&D Council, Inc. is located in Plainview. Council officer from Wayne is Robert Porter, president.

Caring for our children

Separation: It is hard to say goodbye

By Jean Grove, director, Northeast Nebraska Child Care Resource & Referral Agency

Separation Anxiety is the official term for crying and clinging that children do when they don't want to be left by their parents. Mastering separation feelings is a life-long process, it can be sad and painful, it can cause anger and fear, and even bedtime feels like a separation. Any change in experience (new baby, moving, illness, starting school or day care) awakens separation feelings.

What can you do? Once your child is old enough to communicate, •Talk to your child about the changes as they occur and the feelings of sadness, anger, and fear.

•Encourage your child to put feelings into words.

•Say things like "I know this is a hard time" or "I'll miss you too."

•Having a get-acquainted visit is essential.

•Assure your child that you will return, as "I'll be back after lunch/nap."

•Avoid telling your child "Don't cry" or "Be good."

•Be confident when saying goodbye.

•Give your child hope and say, "We'll feel better."

When leaving a child at day care or school, say "goodbye" while you are at home or in the car. Give and get your hug and kiss and talk about what the child will be doing today while you are away. Talk about what you will do when you pick him/her up and be positive during your conversation.

When you and your child get out of the car, very casually walk in and say "Have a good day," and talk to the caregiver or teacher while the child gets into the day's routine. Remember that loving attachments lay the foundation for growing independence and talking about separation helps the pain. Having strong feelings are healthy, including anger and sadness. "It is all right to miss mommy/daddy." "It is all right to be angry."

Two cases of Rocky Mountain spotted fever have been identified in Jefferson County, the first cases this year. Both of the individuals are under 19 years of age.

Rocky Mountain spotted fever (RMSF) is caused by a rickettsia, a microbe that differs from bacteria and virus. It is spread by the bite of an infected tick. In Nebraska the American dog tick, which is mottled brown in color, is the most common carrier. The people most at risk are those who have exposure to tick-infested habitats, such as wooded and grassy areas.

"With summer here, people will be outdoors more, doing activities like camping, fishing, hunting, and picnicking," said Dr. Richard Raymond, the state's Chief Medical Officer, from the Nebraska Health and Human Services System. "That places them at risk of being bit by ticks. Having two cases so early this year, when we usually only have three to six cases per year, is worrisome."

Symptoms usually appear within two weeks of the bite of an infected tick. They include the sudden onset of a moderate to high fever (which can last for two or three weeks), severe headache, fatigue, deep muscle pain, chills, and rash. Antibiotics can treat the disease.

When in tick-infested areas, special precautions can be taken to prevent tick bites such as: using insect repellent containing DEET for the skin or the insecticide permethrin for clothing, wearing light-colored clothing (for easy tick discovery), and tucking pants into socks and shirt into pants. Thoroughly check children and self for ticks after outdoor exposure. A tick needs to be attached for more than four hours in order for transmission of the disease to occur. The longer the duration of attachment, the more likelihood that infection will occur.

"Wearing mosquito repellent containing DEET or insecticide containing permethrin are vitally important, both because we are facing Rocky Mountain spotted fever and also West Nile virus," said Dr. Raymond. West Nile is passed by the bite of a mosquito. Mosquitoes can also carry Western equine encephalitis and St. Louis encephalitis.

Ticks should be removed by using tweezers, placing them as close as possible to the area of the bite and pulling on the mouth parts, being careful not to squeeze or crush the body of the tick. After removing the tick, thoroughly wash the site and hands with soap and water. Don't attempt to remove a tick by using petroleum jelly, lit cigarettes, or other home remedies, which increase the chance of contracting a tick-borne disease.

Ticks can also transmit Lyme disease, tularemia and ehrlichiosis, all potentially serious diseases.

Excellence Awards ceremony was held in conjunction with the PASE (Premier Animal Science Event) /Life Challenge program sponsored also by NIFA in cooperation with the Nebraska 4-H Foundation and the Nebraska 4-H Youth Development Program. This program provided over 600 4-Hers the opportunity to expand their decision making and communication skills as they relate to animal science and family and consumer science subject matter. While on campus for the two-day event, 4-Hers were also involved with educational experiences within the departments of the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources and the College of Education and Human Sciences.

NIFA provides a broad range of financial resources for agricultural, residential, manufacturing, medical and community development endeavors and has been working in conjunction with the Nebraska 4-H Foundation since 1997. The NIFA sponsorships continue to improve the quality of the 4-H agricultural education programs and also help prepare young people for careers in agriculture.

The 25 winning 4-H Clubs are in: Arthur, Boone, Buffalo, Cedar, Fillmore, Franklin, Furnas, Gage, Garden, Harlan, Hitchcock, Lincoln, Platte, Polk, Saline, Saunders, Scotts Bluff, Seward, Thurston and Wayne Counties. From Wayne County, the City Slickers and Country Mixers 4-H Club have a plan to raise $1000 to complete their project of epoxy painting the floor in the 4-H building on their country fairgrounds. They hope to have the project completed before the 2005 Wayne County fair. This cleaner, attractive facility will be more welcoming to showcase the 4-H exhibits and club members will benefit from the experience of volunteering and working together to accomplish goals.

Reduce your West Nile risk

West Nile virus is transmitted through the bite of a mosquito that has picked up the virus by feeding on an infected bird. In turn, the mosquito can pass the virus to humans.

Last year, 2,496 cases of WNV were reported in Nebraska, with twenty-nine deaths. In previous years, the virus has been found in all 93 of the state's counties, in mosquito, bird, horse and human populations. The first human case in Nebraska for the 2004 season was announced by the Lincoln/Lancaster County Health Department on June 15th.

Protecting Your Home: Mosquitoes can develop in any standing water that lasts more than four days. To reduce the mosquito population around your home and property, reduce or eliminate all standing water and debris.

Dispose of tin cans, plastic containers, ceramic pots or similar water-holding containers.

Clear brush from around your home:

Remove all discarded tires on your property. Used tires have become the most common mosquito breeding site in the country. Drill holes in the bottoms of recycling containers that are kept outdoors.

Clean vegetation and debris from the edges of ponds.

Clean and chlorinate swimming pools, outdoor saunas and hot tubs.

Use landscaping to eliminate stagnant water that collects on your property.

Protecting Yourself: Most mosquitoes in Nebraska do not transmit disease. Unless you are at high risk for infection, it is not necessary to limit any outdoor activities. Those who are at highest risk of becoming seriously ill from West Nile infection are the elderly and persons with damaged immune systems. Persons who are at highest risk should avoid mosquito bites.

Avoid being outdoors at dusk and dawn, the times when mosquitoes are most active.

Wear shoes and socks, long pants and a long-sleeved shirt when outdoors for long periods of time.

Consider the use of mosquito repellent, according to directions, when it is necessary to be outdoors.

Make sure all windows and doors in your home have screens, and that all screens are in good repair.

Use an insect repellent containing DEET.

Proper Use of DEET: DEET - the chemical N, N-diethyl-m-toluamide - is an insect repellent that can reduce the risk of mosquito bites but must be used with caution. Be aware of the possible adverse health effects when making decisions about DEET. Products containing DEET have been occasionally associated with some health problems (skin reactions, including rash, swelling and itching; eye irritation; and, less frequently, slurred speech, confusion and seizures). Frequent application or saturation may not be necessary. Use as little as you need for your situation. In addition, HHS recommends the following precautions when using repellents containing DEET:

People can and should use both sunscreen and DEET when they are outdoors to protect their health. Follow the instructions on the package for proper application of each product. Since they are not applied on the same schedule, it is better to use separate products and not a combined product. Apply sunscreen first, followed by repellent containing DEET.

Store out of the reach of children and read all instructions on the label before applying.

Do NOT allow young children to apply DEET themselves.

Do NOT apply DEET directly to children. Apply to your own hands and then put it on the child. (According to the American Academy of Pediatrics, repellents used on children should contain no more than 10 percent DEET).

When applying DEET, avoid the child's face and hands.

Avoid prolonged and excessive use of DEET. Use sparingly to cover exposed skin; do NOT treat unexposed skin.

Do NOT apply repellents in enclosed areas.

Do NOT apply directly to your face.

DEET can be applied to clothing, but may damage some synthetic fabrics and plastics.

Wash all treated skin and clothing after returning indoors.

If you believe you or a child is having an adverse reaction to a repellent containing DEET, wash the treated area immediately and call your health care provider or local poison control center.

Benefits of Strength Training
Strength training involves lifting free weights, working out on weight machines or using resistance devices like elastic bands. Research shows that strength training reduces blood pressure, lowers blood cholesterol levels and aids weight control. It not only builds strong muscles, but it also increases bone density (a factor in preventing osteoporosis.) Just two to three 15-20 minute sessions a week can produce results. As with starting any exercise program, consult with your doctor before you begin.

Eveline Thompson hosts Legion auxiliary

Irvin L. Sears Auxiliary #43 met July 5 at the home of Eveline Thompson.

President Fauneil Hoffman opened the meeting with colors in place. The POW/MIA flag was placed on the empty chair. Chaplain Bernita Sherbahn gave the opening prayer for peace which was followed by the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag. The group sang one verse of "The Star Spangled Banner." The unit citation to the constitution of the American Legion Auxiliary was recited.

Minutes were read and approved. The treasurer's report was given.

A letter from the Steering Committee for Candidate Carol Van Kirk for National President for the year 2005-06 was read. Installing officers for the upcoming year was Past District 3 President Eveline Thompson. They include: Fauneil Hoffman, president; Dorothea Schwanke, senior vice president; Eveline Thompson, secretary-treasurer; Bernita Sherbahn, chaplain; Neva Lorenzen, historian; and Betty Lessmann, Sergeant-at-Arms.

The state convention was held in Columbus June 25-27. Delegate Eveline Thompson attended the meeting. The auxiliary received a certificate of appreciation for providing music to veterans and others in care centers and hospitals. It includes the following saying, "thank you for bringing justice, freedom and democracy to others through the venue of music."

Home Service awards were presented for volunteer hours of service working for veterans. Certificates were awarded to Fauneil Hoffman, 300 hours; Eveline Thompson, 300 hours and Sons of the American Legion member Harold E. Thompson, Jr., 300 hours.

The National Convention will be held at Nashville, Tenn. Aug. 27 through Sept. 2 at Gaylord Opryland Convention Center.

Membership Chairman Eveline Thompson reported eight paid up members for 2005. Membership dues are now due. They should be mailed in as soon as possible.

The closing prayer was given, followed by the singing of one verse of "America." The group had the Little Red Schoolhouse March.

The meeting was closed, to reopen on Aug. 2 with a patio picnic at 6 p.m. at the Eveline Thompson home.

Following the meeting, Bernita Sherbahn served lunch.

Providing music for the "Music and Muffins at Our Savior Lutheran Church this Sunday will be, left to right, Cornell Runestad, Alan Bruflat and Ray Peterson.

Our Savior to host 'Music and Muffins'

Everyone loves music and food! In light of that, Our Savior Lutheran Church will host a new event entitled "Music and Muffins" on Sunday, July 18 at 3 p.m.

Pastor Bill Koeber introduced the idea to the Our Savior Worship and Music Committee. He related that one of his former congregations had great success with a similar event. He added that the Wayne community is blessed with much musical talent and that this event will "allow people to use their talents and others to hear good music."

Stepping in to emcee "Music and Muffins" will be Wayne City Administrator Lowell Johnson. Like Pastor Koeber, he feels that this is a wonderful opportunity for Wayne to spotlight many musically gifted people.

Featured for Sunday's event will be three Wayne men whose musical selections span many generations and genres.

Opening the program will be Cornell Runestad. Although best known as longtime choral director (retired) at Wayne State College, Runestad describes himself as a "closet pianist" and is looking forward to sharing his love for classical music. He has chosen to perform "Prelude in C Major" by J.S. Bach and "Prelude in C Minor" by Chopin and will explain how these pieces are related though composed nearly a century apart.

The program will then feature the musical stylings of Alan Bruflat, Professor of Spanish and Chair of the Department of Language and Literature at Wayne State College. Bruflat offers an eclectic blend of folk, pop and gospel on guitar and vocals. He has enjoyed utilizing his abilities within his church and for numerous area social events.

Music and Muffins will conclude with the familiar sounds of Ray Peterson and his accordion. Peterson, retired from the Northeast Nebraska Public Power District, frequently performs for senior centers and nursing homes throughout northeast Nebraska. Although unable to read music, he learned to play familiar tunes from his youth, especially from the 1930's and 1940's. His audience may enjoy such songs as "You Are My Sunshine" and "Mockingbird Hill" among many others.

Following the free, hour-long concert, there will be refreshments and fellowship in the church lobby.

Everyone is invited to attend this afternoon of music. Anyone with questions or interest in performing at a future date is asked to contact the Our Savior Church Office at 375-2899.

Hoskins Trinity members attend annual gathering

A group of five members of Trinity Lutheran Church in Hoskins joined over 1,400 others at the 2004 Lutheran Women's Missionary Society (LWMS) annual convention at the Sioux Falls Convention Center in Sioux Falls, S.D.

Members from over 900 Wisconsin Evangelical Synod congregations meet annually for spiritual renewal, motivation and fellowship.

The weekend convention, June 24-27, using the theme "Fields Ripe for Harvest," provided opportunities to meet missionaries and hear first-hand about the work being done in Africa, Canada, Arizona, Texas, California and South Dakota. These exciting varieties of missions in the southwestern states reach out to include Hispanic and Apache cultures.

Other highlights of the convention included Bible studies, the presentation of over $70,000 to the WELS Home and World mission projects and a variety of mission displays.

The group enjoyed visiting with several former Hoskins women, Lynnette (Gnirk) Hupman, Maita (Menk) Mueller and Geri Bruss, as well as friends from across the states. Ed and Arlene Gnirk celebrated their 49th wedding anniversary on June 26 while they were at the convention.

The purpose of the LWMS is to increase interest in and to support mission endeavors of the WELS through prayers, offerings and project support. Plans are being made to attend the 2005 convention which will be held in Minneapolis, Minn.

The ice cream social will be held Thursday evening, July 22, from 5 to 8:30 p.m. Volunteers are needed to work and to provide pies, cakes or bars. All money raised from this event goes for missions.

The group worked at the Orphan Grain Train on July 7 from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. sorting and packing clothes and loading boxes on the semi-truck.

Cyril and Beverly Hansen told of the Mission Trip with the church group to the Ysleta Mission at El Paso, Texas and building a small home for a family of seven in Anapra, Mexico.

Field Days and soybean cyst nematodes discussed

Soybean Cyst Nematode is currently the most serious pest of soybeans in the United States. Spreading through eastern Nebraska Soybean Cyst Nematodes have become a major concern. Testing is important because up to 30 percent yield losses can occur without obvious symptoms in the fields.

Recent University of Nebraska trials conducted on positive fields in the northern Missouri and Platte river bottoms have shown yield losses up to 35 percent without visible symptoms and losses to 50 percent with symptoms apparent in the field. It points out the importance of farmers testing their fields and selecting varieties and rotation plans according to the presence or absence of the cyst nematode.

Nematodes have been found in nearly every county in Northeast Nebraska. This spring I was talking with Roger Fuoss who farms in northern Wayne county and he voiced concerns of reduced soybean yields with little or no explanation. After testing four sites on the Fuoss farm, two were positive

You Don't Need An Invitation To Shop Locally ... But, In Case You Were Waiting

Your Invitation to Shop at Home

You know that it doesn't require a written invitation to shop at your local merchant's place of business. However, many people seem to be waiting for one. The truth is that the prices and selection speak for themselves. Chances are your local merchants have lived in your community for many years, so they know your wants and needs. They have in stock the items for which you are looking. If they don't have an item, they can probably get it ... or at least refer you to the local business that does.

The summer months see an increase in traffic activity with vacation road trips and weekend trips to the lake. While cruising the open road is one of summer's great pleasures, that pleasure can turn tragic.

SUMMER DRIVING SAFETY TIPS:

1. Wear safety belts. Safety belts reduce the risk of fatalities to front seat passengers by 45%.
2. Keep children safe. The back seat is the safest place for children to ride, and all children must be restrained with the correct safety equipment.
3. Summer means road construction. Be alert to road conditions and the added activity of workers and machines.
4. Increased activity in the summer, combine with later daylight hours, often means that we're cheating ourselves on sleep. If driving long distances, plan frequent breaks & share the driving.

Reading occupies time

Oh, my gosh, it's Tuesday morning and I'm reading a book instead of getting this written. This past month, I've gotten hooked on the Elm Creek Quilt series. They are all about women and friendships and quilting as an art form.

They are kind of like the Mitford books, in that they claim a starting point in a small town, and they have a couple of strong protagonists. But the heroine is an elderly woman instead of a middle-aged Episcopal priest. But both get married late in life, so there is romance in both. This latest one is about the Underground Railroad and the way in which quilting figured in it. It's exciting, and sad, because it's about a bad time in our history.

It makes me realize again there have been many bad times in our history. And, somehow, we have survived. And people are still risking death and imprisonment to come here. We need to appreciate it more.

I can read a book because we are between bunches of guests. The family reunion last week was a real pleasure. There were four couples here, all parochial school teachers who met at Concordia Teachers College in Seward.

The Farmer's Wife
By: Pat Meierhenry

Three live in Milwaukee, the fourth in Minneapolis; they were visiting two brothers in Lincoln. You should have heard them sing the Doxology before breakfast, in four part harmony. Reminded me of Garrison Keillor's treatise on the Singing Lutherans.

I knew that President Bush had spoken at the graduation ceremony at Concordia, Mequon, Wis. These folks knew of some of the security measures that had to be dealt with. I would say it was almost not worth it. A $500,000 air-conditioning system was installed in the field house the week prior to the day, the building was cooled way down and then the system was shut down.

The students had to be in place, and properly identified, by 9 am and the actual ceremony was at 2 p.m. Then, they had to stay in place, with their families, until the president was gone. It makes me think of the measures taking place in Athens for the Olympics. What an awful responsibility.

It's been interesting to see some of the Olympic trials. We are so proud of NU's two wrestlers: Rulon Gardner and Brad Vering. One of our volleyball players also made the team USA. The whole thing will be great to watch, with all the history involved.

Now, I must quit reading and start washing windows. Until next Tuesday; be safe.

Participants in the LEAP grant include, from Wakefield, Liliana Casillas, Nicole Kramer, and Karissa Meyer, also pictured are Land O'Lakes, Bonnie Bassett and National 4-H Council, Sally Miske, along with the individuals from Hartington, Stromsburg and Hayes Center.

National Grant contributors visit Wakefield

The National 4-H Council awarded Nebraska 4-H an annual grant of $9,250 funded by Land O'Lakes Foundation. The grants were awarded to organizations that involve youth who are taking leadership roles and working with adult volunteer leaders in their communities. Youth were actively involved in the grant.

This grant served four sites in Nebraska including: Hayes Center, Hartington, Stromsburg, and Wakefield. Groups began working with the grant after January 2004.

In Wakefield youth volunteered to be a part of this group which later became known as LEAP (Leaders Energizing Activities in Partnerships).

The group in Wakefield consisted of Liliana Casillas, Teresa Foote, Sophia Johnson Nicole Kramer, and Karissa Meyer. They were able to work with Ms. Widner and Ms. McIntire and the afterschool program to present one after school session.

Their community project then became the Summer Reading Program at Graves Public Library. They planned and facilitated the activities each week and worked with Nancy Fredrickson, librarian, and volunteers in the community to carry out the program.

On July 7, Sally Miske from National 4-H Council and Bonnie Bassett of Land O'Lakes visited the final day of the Summer Reading Program. They observed the LEAP members in action and had an opportunity to visit with them about what they felt they learned by working with the program.

LEAP and the National donors then traveled to Hartington to meet the three other communities who had participated in the grant. Each of the LEAP groups gave a power point presentation on their projects. They were then able to visit the East Park in Hartington, in which Hartington LEAP made improvements too.

The mission of National 4-H Council is "to advance the 4-H youth development movement, building a world in which youth and adults learn, grow, and work together as catalysts for positive change."

Field days

A University of Nebraska Variety Test for cyst nematode has been planted on the Fuoss farm 7 miles north of Wayne on Highway 15 and then 3.3 miles west on County Road 863. A field day is planned for Friday, Aug. 20, at 1:00 pm. All interested persons are welcome.

Another soybean management field day is the University of Nebraska Soybean Management Field Day, which will be held on the Randy and Larry Sueper Farm 1/2 mile east of St. Bernard. The Field Day is set to begin at 9:00 am on Friday, August 13th.

You can test your soil for SCN anytime of year with the best time being after planting. Take 15 to 20 soil cores from around the roots or near where roots were last year to a depth of 6 to 18 inches deep, mix samples and submit a composite sample to the University of Nebraska Plant and Pest Diagnostic Clinic; 448 Plant Sciences Hall; P.O. Box 830722; Lincoln, Neb. 68583-0722 or to a commercial diagnostic lab that does nematode analysis.

For further information contact John Hay by calling (402) 329-4821 or e-mail: jhay2@unl.edu

Upland sites were less prone to have nematode infestations even when the same farmer was farming both the bottoms and the upland fields. Of the 4 sites tested at the Fuoss farm, the two sites higher on hillsides and hill tops were negative.

NEBRASKA STATEWIDE THANK YOU

As children, we can't comprehend or fully realize The meaning of our mother's love, how tender and how wise, The patience and forgiveness that are part of every day, The unexpected "little things" she does in her own way. Years go by before we can look back on life and see Through older eyes and wiser hearts her love and loyalty, And yet it's these and other special things we'll hold so dear, For memories of her steadfast love will keep her ever near.

The family of Mary Dorcey would like to thank everyone for their kindness and concern shown to us during the time of our mother's illness and death. We sincerely appreciate the phone calls, visits, food, flowers, memorials and cards. Special thanks to Dr. Felber, PMC hospital staff, Terri Munter R.N. and Fr. Mark. Also for St. Mary's parishoners who served dinner following the funeral service. We are very grateful to Scott Hasemann and his staff for their compassionate work.

Norfolk's No. 1 Eye Care Practice • Complete Family Eye Care • New Patients Welcome

"Dr. Ann Is Very Nice. She Says It is Getting Better."

"If I take off my glasses it's kind of fuzzy. Every time I come here I have to have that test that puffs air at your eye. The first time they did it it was kind of a shock; today I'm not afraid of it.

I have a lazy right eye. It kept getting worse and worse. Dr. Ann had me put drops in my other eye to make it blurry. That makes my right eye work better. My vision is good with glasses now.

Dr. Ann says it is getting better. Dr. Klein checks my eyes, too. I picked out my glasses all by myself. They are Flexons because I get them out of shape a lot. I put them in my back pocket and went down the slide at school. Not good."
