Council discusses cats, parking, computers

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

Discussion at Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council ranged from how many cats a person could have to how much a new computer system will cost the city. After considerable discussion and several amendments, Ordinance 2004-7 received first round approval.

City Administrator Lowell Johnson listed a number of changes that were made in the ordinance since the first draft was presented at the last meeting. These including increasing the amount of time before kittens need to be weaned, prohibiting unauthorized feeding and trapping and making language equal to that of the dog ordinance.

During the meeting, several council members and several members of the audience offered opinions on additional changes.

Wayne Anderson told the council he has lived in Wayne for 23 years and noted that cats in his neighborhood have not been a problem. Rather, they have been an asset in reducing the number of rodents.

"It is a ridiculous notion that all cats should be locked up. What we need is responsible pet owners and have an ordinance that addresses the neuter/spay issue. There must be some type of middle ground in this issue," Anderson said.

Council member Dennis Linster said this was "not a cat issue. It is a people issue. People have the right not to be bothered by other people's pets on their property."

Cindy Meyer presented the council with copies of cat ordinances from Sioux City, Iowa, South Sioux City and Norfolk and said her concern was with cat feces and diseases caused by the feces. She said she felt that cats need to be kept in their owners' yards just like dogs.

Several people questioned wording in the ordinance dealing with confinement of cats in secure cages. It was the consensus of the council that the original wording should be changed before the ordinance is read at the next meeting.

Considerable discussion was also held on the purchase of a new utility/budget/payroll operating system.

City Treasurer Nancy Braden told the council that the present system is 18 years old. Several members of her office have looked at other systems which would be able to perform more than one function within the city offices.

She noted that money has been set aside in the budget for several years and that the new system would be more efficient and be able to be used by various departments.

It is anticipated that specific numbers will be available at the next council meeting for further discussion.

On a 4-2 vote, Ordinance 2004-6 failed on third reading. A majority of

New substation to be built near Wakefield

The Board of Directors of the Northeast Nebraska Public Power District voted to approve a new substation project at their regular meeting on Aug. 24.

The new substation will be built approximately four miles north and five miles west of Wakefield.

"This new station will connect lines from Sholes, Wayne and Emerson to give us more options in restoring power in the event of an outage," said Mark Shults, General Manager of the NeNPPD. Shults added that the project is needed to reduce electrical line losses, shorten the long existing feeder lines into this area, which will improve reliability and relieve some overloading on two of the District's existing substations.

"A longer term benefit is the opportunity to provide the Village of Wakefield with an additional feed to maintain good voltage and reliability in the coming years," Shults said.

The scope of the project will include new three-phase tie-lines between existing feeders from the Sholes sub and the Allen sub and about nine miles of the new 69,000 volt transmission lines. The estimated cost is around $1.7 million without the new line to Wakefield, which is still under study. The project is estimated to be complete in late summer of 2005.

Shults said the District invites questions and comments. To encourage people's input, an advertisement indicating the proposed route of new electric lines is being published in area newspapers.

Practice makes perfect

Members of the Wayne State College Marching Band have been taking advantage of the recent pleasant weather to perfect their marching skills. Wayne State College will host Band Day for area middle and high school students on Saturday, Sept. 11.

Beautiful Tower Garden is a labor of love

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

The Tower Garden located on north Main Street in Wayne has been a labor of love for Wayne residents Elizabeth Anderson and Gloria Leseberg, as well as a number of volunteers, since its beginning in 1989. The garden originated as a START garden and there were four of them in Wayne. The Tower Garden is on the old water tower site.

The START gardens project originated with Gail Korn as coordinator. The city of Wayne gave the lots to be used for the gardens and city workers have been helpful throughout the years. Among the help the gardeners received was from former street superintendent Vern Schulz who had brick placed around the garden hydrant so volunteers wouldn't get so muddy.

The Tower Garden was the largest of the four gardens which were planned to beautify Wayne and give visitors a chance to enjoy the lovely flowers planted in them. All of the funding for the gardens has always come from contributions which are still needed for upkeep.

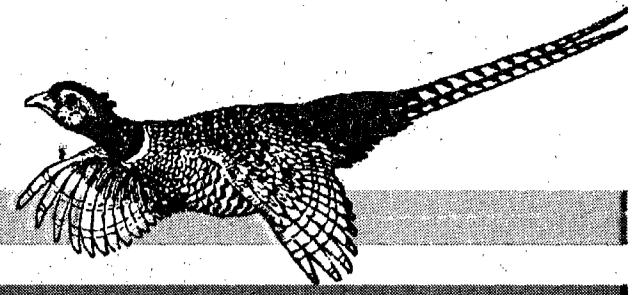

People are invited to stop and take a stroll through the garden. There are approximately 40 perennials and 10 annuals with different flowers blooming throughout the growing season. There is visitor parking behind the garden to the east for an east entrance.

School store opens

The Entrepreneurship class at Wayne High School will again be sponsoring a small school store called the Emporium.

The Emporium sells apparel, school supplies and snacks during study halls.

The 1998-99 Entrepreneurship class built the store. Future classes assumed the duties of stocking, selling, advertising, recordkeeping and all other aspects of managing a small business. The students set up a work schedule and hours of operation. The store is open during the first 10 minutes of each study hall, except during lunch. They write a business plan and many guest speakers and field trips are part of learning about managing a business.

The Emporium provides for an experiential learning experience for Wayne High School juniors and seniors.

The class is currently taking orders for shirts.

"We appreciate all who help in supporting this venture," said Annette Rasmussen, instructor of the class.

Students will be selling shirts and taking orders at the first home football game. Those interested in ordering a shirt may contact Sean Draper, Katie Echtenkamp, Jenny Brummond, Beth Wurdeinan, Katie Heggemeyer or Annette Rasmussen for more information.

Heithold gives back

What are two of the most important things in a person's life? Could it be your health and your home?

Nancy Heithold has served the Wayne community's health needs for more than 20 years and is now celebrating her first anniversary in Real Estate. She is an Independent Real Estate specialist at Midwest Land Company. She is responsible for the housing department and strives to help area residents achieve their housing needs.

One of the questions Nancy asked herself when she became a Real Estate agent was "How can I make the Wayne area a better place to live?"

After some time in the business she found that answer.

When a homeowner or buyer asks Nancy to assist in selling or buying a home, she asks that person to share with her their first choice of any local non-profit organization.

Upon the sale of the home,

Nancy will personally make a $100 contribution in honor of the sellers and the individual(s) who purchased the home (buyer).

"I am an active volunteer in the community and feel strongly about giving back. So, when you are looking to make a move in this community, think of what you may possibly be able to give to others, too," she said.

Nancy recently presented checks to two organizations - the Wayne County Red Cross and the Wayne Area Jaycees.

In presenting $250 to the American Red Cross, Lori Carrollo, Chapter Manager, said, "What you are giving back to the community through your business is what small-town living is all about - small town have people with BIG hearts!"

Dawn Navrkal, President of the Jaycees was also appreciative of the donation.

"This $100 donation will definitely help us celebrate our 2005 Fourth of July," she said.

The summer months see an increase in traffic activity with vacation road trips and weekend trips to the lake. While cruising the open road is one of summer's great pleasures, that pleasure can turn tragic.

SUMMER DRIVING SAFETY TIPS:

1. Wear safety belts. Safety belts reduce the risk of fatalities to front seat passengers by 45%.
2. Keep children safe. The back seat is the safest place for children to ride, and all children must be restrained with the correct safety equipment.
3. Summer means road construction. Be alert to road conditions and the added activity of workers and machines.
4. Increased activity in the summer, combine with later daylight hours, often means that we're cheating ourselves on sleep. If driving long distances, plan frequent breaks & share the driving.

Wakefield school selected as charter member of League of Small Democratic Schools

John I. Goodlad and his Seattle-based Institute for Educational Inquiry (IEI) have announced the selection of Wakefield Community Elementary and Secondary Schools as charter members of the League of Small Democratic Schools.

The Wakefield Schools became eligible to participate in the League because of their commitment to preparing students to be productive members of the democratic society.

The activities for the League will begin in the fall of 2004 with a leadership seminar Sept. 23-26 at the Institute for Educational Inquiry. During the year IEI staff will visit Wakefield to provide support to the faculty and administration. In the spring there will be an additional seminar in Seattle and a regional meeting for teams from selected schools. Each of the schools will be provided with books and other reading materials to help educators in the school increase their understanding of the Agenda for Education in a Democracy.

Initially the League consists of 14 schools located in two geographic clusters: Northwest and Rocky Mountain/Plains. Charter members of the League include:

Eagle Rock High School and Professional Development Center in Estes Park, Colo.; Lab School for Creative Learning (K-6), Fort Collins, Colo.; Park County School District, No. 16 (K-12), Meeteetse, Wyo.; New Vista High School, Boulder, Colo.; Odyssey School (K-8), Denver, Colo.; University of Wyoming Lab School (Middle School), Laramie, Wyo.; Velma Linford Elementary (K-6), Laramie, Wyo.; Wakefield Community School (K-6), Wakefield and Wakefield Community School (7-12), Wakefield.

Other participating include Friday Harbor High School, Friday Harbor, Wash.; Lewis and Clark High School, Vancouver, Wash.; Lincoln Elementary, Olympia, Wash.; Westside Village Magnet School, Bend, Ore. and Whatcom Day Academy, Bellingham, Wash.

Eventually, the League hopes to add Northeast, Midwest, Southeast, Southwest and Pacific Rim clusters. The geographic clustering of the schools will enable regional as well as national activities for the League.

Wakefield Community Schools were selected because they share with other charter members, commitment to the following characteristics:

- Democratic purpose: Members of the school community believe the primary purpose of schooling is to develop in young people the knowledge, skills and dispositions that they require for successful participation in the nation's social and political democracy.

- Student achievement: Students in such schools are successful academically and socially.

- Ongoing professional development: All members of the school community engage in continuous learning.

- Approaches to learning: There are many opportunities for students to interact with each other and with adults in different roles.

- Small size: The school is small - small enough so that faculty members can gather as a group for dialogue.

- Governance: These schools operate relatively autonomously within the larger systems of which they are a part.

The Arthur Vining Davis Foundations have provided a modest grant to the Institute for Educational Inquiry (IEI) to support the creation of the League.

Homegrown tomatoes and sweet corn can lead to world peace

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

The NU football season is upon us.

The election is just down the road.

Hunting season has lots of folks feeling good.

None of these things are nearly so important, however, as that which generates so much joy around and about the land at this time of year.

Bacon and lettuce and homegrown tomatoes. And sweet corn, too.

One of America's greatest and least appreciated songwriters, Guy Clark, paid homage to homegrown tomatoes some years ago.

"Plant 'em in the Spring, eat 'em in the Summer,

"Winter without them's a culinary bummer

"I forget all about the sweatin' and diggin'

"Every time I go out and pick me a biggun!"

Put a BLT together with sweet corn and you might have one of the keys to world peace - or at least a ceasefire.

Even allowing for the fact that some people don't eat bacon, just the taste of a homegrown tomato on toast - with a little mayo and lettuce - and sweet corn on the side, can give a person a much kinder outlook on life.

Taken in combination, homegrown tomatoes and sweet corn can do more than any sort of music when it comes to soothing the savage beast in anyone. In fact, if homegrown tomatoes and sweet corn don't bring a smile to someone's face, that someone should be considered potentially dangerous to themselves and others. Someone who doesn't like homegrown tomatoes and sweet corn is clearly so out of balance that their disposition might well be a threat to homeland security.

Think about it. Would you want to sit next to them at a Husker home game? Would you want to talk politics with them? Would you want to go hunting with them? Of course not.

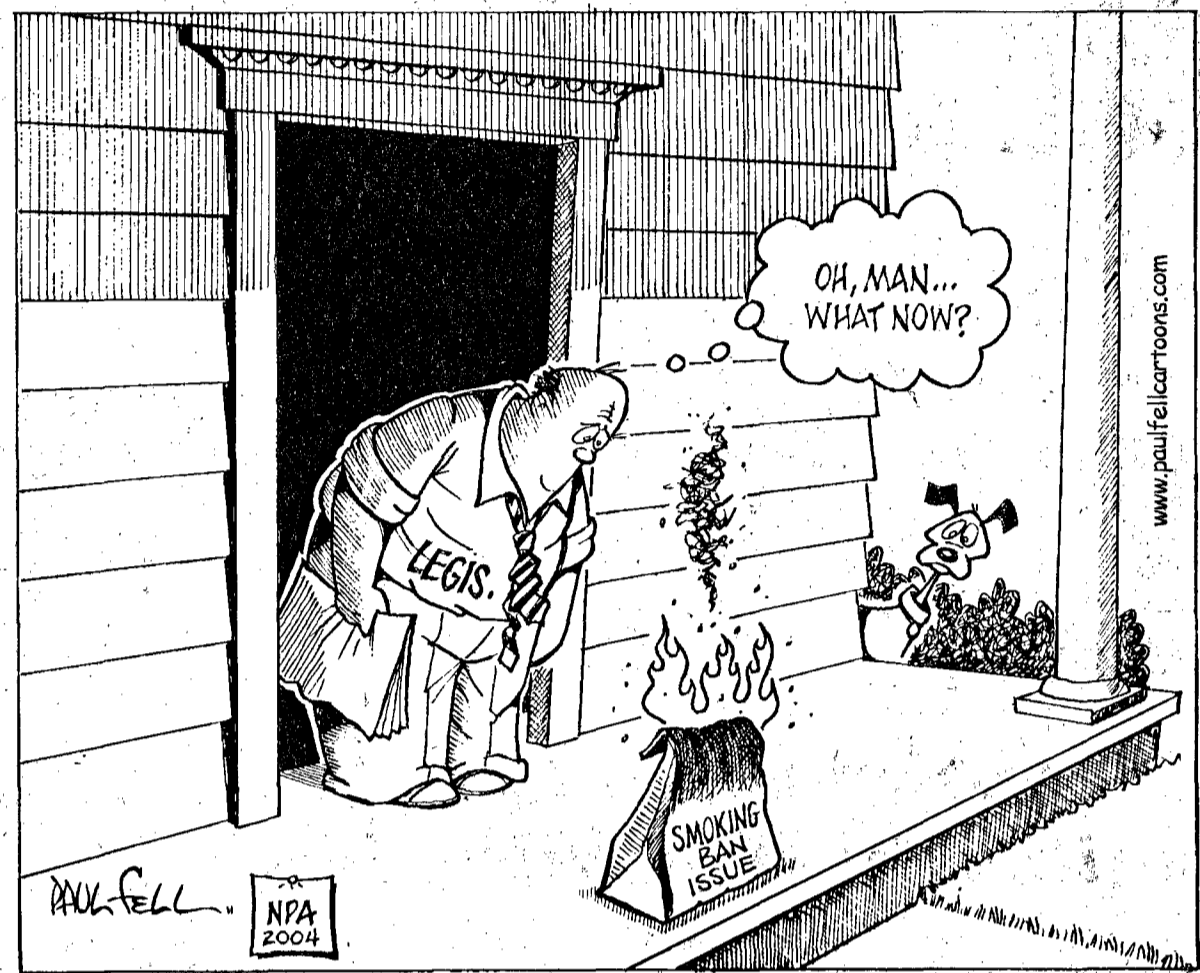

Sweet corn and homegrown tomatoes give right-thinking people something to look forward to each year. Something dependable.

Football teams have good years and bad. Neither politicians nor guns can be counted on to shoot straight.

But homegrown tomatoes and sweet corn?

They are like your children, or your horses.

You just naturally love them, even though you know they are going to make a mess.

Be safe, drive sober this Labor Day weekend

Drunk driving is Nebraska's most frequently committed violent crime and far too many people are dying on our roads because of it.

The statistics speak for themselves. Last year alone, there was one alcohol-related death recorded every three days in Nebraska and one person was seriously injured every three hours in an alcohol-related crash. Even more difficult to ignore are the 13,000 arrests that occur annually in our state.

What these numbers fail to represent, however, is the heartache left behind at the loss of a family member or friend due to a completely preventable tragedy like drunk driving. The devastation left in the wake of their passing can only be described as intolerable for their families and communities.

We are fortunate to have an organization in our state that is devoted to putting an end to this criminal offense, Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD). As your Attorney General, I proudly support MADD's mission to stop drunk driving, support victims of this violent crime and prevent underage drinking. I also want to voice my support for the 75 law enforcement agencies across our state that will

By: Attorney General Jon Bruning

- Be a safe party host by supplying non-alcoholic beverages and high protein snacks.

- Volunteer with your local MADD chapter and assist in their mission to stop drunk driving, support victims of this violent crime and prevent underage drinking. Those in need of victim services can call 1-800-444-6233 (MADD).

Remember, when impaired drivers take to the road, they not only put themselves and those on the road at risk, they put the public safety in jeopardy. In addition to the physical and emotional damage they inflict as a result of their careless behavior, impaired drivers place a financial burden on the community in the form of court costs, emergency services and repair to public property. That translates into a sizable amount of tax dollars.

As Mothers Against Drunk Driving and law enforcement work to put an end to drunk driving we can do our part by making the choice not to drink and drive, not to serve alcohol to anyone under 21 and to report suspected drunk drivers. If you observe a suspected drunk driver report them immediately using *55 on your cell phone or call 1-800-525-5555 to report this or any roadway emergency. Your call could help save a life.

Gale urges overseas voters to cast absentee ballots

Nebraska Secretary of State John Gale urged Nebraska residents living outside the United States, whether in the military or for other reasons, to participate in the Nov. 2 election by using absentee ballots.

Gale said he wanted to use Armed Forces Voters Week, the period of Sept. 3-11, to call attention to the voting mechanics for Nebraskans living in foreign countries.

"I want to make sure that Nebraskans, no matter where they are living, have the chance to vote," Gale said. "I want to make a special outreach effort to military personnel, considering the many deployments of Reserve and National Guard units.

"If you have relatives, friends or colleagues in foreign countries who are eligible to vote in Nebraska, I urge you to contact them and help them with the voting process."

He said an easy way for Nebraskans living in foreign countries to apply to vote is to fill out a Federal Post Card Application, which can be used for registering to vote and/or requesting an absentee ballot.

Absentee ballots are available from county election offices. There is a deadline of 4 p.m. Oct. 27 for a county election office to receive a written request to send an absentee ballot to a specific address. The request may be made by fax.

The 2004 Legislature enacted a bill that allows Nebraskans living outside the United States to receive an absentee ballot by fax. People need to request a faxed absentee ballot and include their fax number.

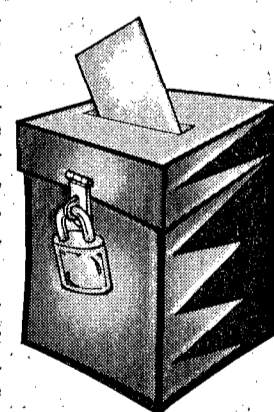

"This is a huge improvement adopted by the Legislature," Gale said. "Faxing the ballot cuts the total transmission time in half."

However, Nebraska law does not allow for voted absentee ballots to be returned by fax. Therefore, Gale urged Nebraskans living in foreign countries to allow plenty of time to return their ballots, which may be done by mail or any other delivery process.

A county election office must receive absentee ballots before the close of polls on Nov. 2 for the ballots to be counted.

"The strength of our American democracy comes from the voice of our citizens, which comes in many ways, from letters to their elected leaders to peaceful rallies, from political party activity to coffee-break discussions," Gale said. "However, the most effective voice of all comes at the ballot box."

Information on foreign voting, including a request form for an absentee ballot and addresses and phone numbers for county election offices, is available at www.sos.state.ne.us. The Federal Post Card Application is available at www.fvap.gov. Questions may be directed to the secretary of state's office at (402) 471-2555 or county election offices.

City budget explained

Next City Council Meeting: Sept. 14 at 7:30 p.m. the council will meet in the city council room at 306 Pearl Street.

City Budget: The mayor and council meet in January each year for a retreat style goal setting session. These goals are translated into the budget process in the spring when the city departments submit their operation budgets for the next fiscal year which starts in October. The mayor and council have met twice and have prepared a draft budget for 2004-2005. The budget has two parts:

1) the general fund which includes police, library, activity center, senior center, streets and parks, fire department, city recreation, swimming pool, etc.

2) utilities operations which include sewer, water, electricity and transfer station.

The '04-'05 Utilities Budgets look like this:

	Revenue	Personnel	Utilities	Landfill	Insurance	Debt
Transfer Station	$185,000	$28,000	$1,500	$101,000	$2,800	$28,000
Electric System	$5 million	$821,000	$7,800	$3.5 million	$49,000	$623,270
Water System	$346,000	$129,000	$33,000	$137,000	$8,700	$178,416
Sewer System	$383,000	$110,000	$36,000	$99,000	$7,000	$35,000

The budget as proposed increases the monthly water service fee by $2 and the monthly sewer service fee by $2. The reason the annual water department debt service is so high is to pay off bonds issued to build the well field north of town and the pipeline into town. The public hearing date for this budget is set for the Sept. 14 council meeting. The budget proposal is on the city web site.

Through the years, flowers were purchased with contributions and people also donated plants. "Edwards Orange," is a dailyly donated by the late Edward Nissen, which is still in the garden. Few of the original plants, from when the garden started, are left.

Anderson laughs as she remembered back to when they planted unwanted corn lilies from the garden on a hillside at the Wayne County fairgrounds. "Harry Leseberg worked so hard, we all did. It was all tilled and trenched first, then planted and watered; what a job, then the cars parked on them!"

Each year plants were added to the garden, and some which didn't do well were omitted.

"We have dug plants, divided and gave them away for contributions for upkeep on the garden," Anderson said. "Last fall, we gave away plants for one of the Relay for Life fundraisers."

Anderson added that the soil in the Tower Garden is very poor. They often add fertilizer, etc. so the plants do better.

Other volunteers at the Tower Garden through the years include Barb and Howard Greve, Marilyn and Lowell Rethwisch, Mary Jo Gross, Judy Peters, Harry Leseberg, and Morris Anderson, Elizabeth's right hand man. Also, there have been many one-time helpers.

As for Anderson's love of flowers, she grew up in a gardening family. Her mother gave flowers as a compliment to the customers when they bought vegetables from their garden farm at Kearney at that time.

Later, they lived on the Tri-County Experiment Farm near Axtell. Her father set up and taught gravity irrigation as part of the Tri County ditch irrigation system from Kingsley Dam at presentation by Dan Williams on the possibility of a city/county jail.

An application for Wayne Revolving Loan funds was approved for Kenneth Jorgensen.

Jorgensen has requested $100,000 in WRL funds for the construction of a strip mall on East Highway 35. Wayne Industries had earlier approved the request for funding. Construction is set to begin this fall.

The council also approved an application for Charles Haddad for Chuck's Pub and Grille, contingent on Haddad obtaining a deed to the former Riley's Pub and Grille property.

Several members of the Wayne Habitat for Humanity group were on hand to ask the city's assistance in obtaining property to build a home in 2005.

Dan Rose, Ann Witkowski, Becky Keidel and Jeff Carstens all spoke to the council on various aspects of Habitat for Humanity, including the selection process for obtaining an eligible family, the fund raising process, the benefits to the community and the fact that "Habitat for Humanity" does more than build

Library gears up for busy fall

"Oh, what a busy time of year. While you are getting your homework done and reorganizing the household, don't forget to come see us at the Wayne Public Library," said Julie Osnes, Children's Librarian.

The library's After School program begins Tuesday, Sept. 7. Occasional crafts and homework help is available. Volunteers are welcome to assist with the program.

All area residents are encouraged to eat at the Runza restaurant on Tuesday, Sept. 14. The restaurant will be donating 15 percent of the sales for that day to the Wayne Public Library to purchase children's books.

The Grandma-pa program is in need of readers as well. Those interested are encouraged to come read once a week, a few times each month or once in a while to children at day care or pre-school. The library is willing to work with individual schedules. Osnes noted that this program is "a great way to give to the youth of our community."

Osnes has also announced the beginning of Fall Story Time. Beginning Saturday, Sept. 11 at 10:30 a.m. the library will be welcoming the fall by harvesting some good books, making a craft and getting an up close view of a surprise from Northeast Equipment. Continuing on through the months of October and November, the library will be discovering new things about many topics. Included will be "Be Late for Something Day," "Good Neighbor Day," "Things that go BUMP in the night," "Clothes, Socks," "Thanksgiving," "Halloween" and "Talk Like a Pirate Day, Arrgg!!!"

"So remember, Saturdays, Sept. 11 through Nov. 20 for Fall Story Time, after school, to volunteer or to just get a good book - come join us for a bit of fun at the Wayne Public Library. I hope to see you there!" Osnes said.

houses, it builds family and brings people in the community together." The city did not offer the group a specific piece of land but plans to investigate options available and bring the item back to discussion at a future meeting.

The council passed Resolution 2004-44 which will provide for construction of speculative housing on Lots 2, 3, 4 and 5 owned by the city on East 10th Street. The lots will be offered for sale at a reduced rate on the condition that homes be built on them within one year and meet a number of specifications such as size and selling price.

The council set Sept. 24 as the deadline for submitting proposals for the lots. After that time, the council will look at the proposals to determine which, if any, best meet the goals set forth by the council.

The council accepted a purchase agreement for a lot on 12th Street from Harlan Brugger. Brugger plans to begin construction this fall and intends to follow the same criteria set forth in the sale of the lots on East 10th Street.

The council's next meeting is set for Tuesday, Sept. 14 at 7:30 p.m.

Gifts for everyone can be found at dianne's in Wayne

Something for everyone, that is what you will find at dianne's, in Wayne. dianne Leighty opened the shop in May, offering merchandise ranging from hunting and fishing supplies to Badash crystal and Royal Patrician tea sets. Customers can stop by Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.; Thursdays to 8 p.m. and Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. They are closed on Sunday.

Leighty noted that opening this shop has been a dream for 20 years. "I worked at Tilgner's Craft Store. That is when the vision for the shop really started. Tom and Carmen encouraged me to do this long ago, but the time wasn't right, until now. Wayne is a great place for people to come and spend time. I think the stores compliment each other and offer a variety that will attract shoppers to our town."

She added that the support she feels from other business owners has been tremendous. There is a great sense of community and she thinks the customers can sense, and enjoy, that. When a customer leaves the shop, Leighty suggests another place for them to visit. She said she hears from customers that other business owners are doing the same for them. She loves that about Wayne.

There are five employees to help customers find what they are looking for. Leighty and Deb Reinhardt are on hand daily. Nicole Hochstein, Teresa Schmeits, Megan Musil, and Deb Harn work part-time.

Besides having a full line of merchandise, classes are offered at dianne's. "We had our first beginning knitting class in August," Leighty said. "Kaki Ley taught the class. It was a great success. We hope to have one more before Christmas. We are also planning classes in beginning crochet and beginning embroidery. We would like to have the classes within the next two months, to allow people time to make gifts for Christmas." Leighty offers a nice variety of specialty yarn, needles, hooks, DMC embroidery floss and other needlework supplies. She is always happy to place special orders for needlework customers.

Everything in dianne's is beautifully displayed. She has Music of the Spheres wind chimes hanging on a display that her father, Dale Stoltenberg of Carroll, made for her. He has also made some gun racks from barn wood and horsehoes, which are displayed in the "dianne's for men" section of the shop.

"My brother, Verlyn Stoltenberg, owns the Sports Station in Carroll. (If you enjoy hunting and fishing and have never been there, you should definitely visit)," Leighty said. "He is responsible for the great variety of hunting and fishing supplies that we carry. I love it when men come in and discover that dianne's is not just for girls. I've learned more about ammunition and fishing lures than I ever thought I would know. The fact that I know the words Winchester, Rapala, and Hornady impresses (and surprises) a lot of people."

She carries three different lines of jewelry: Swarovski, Liz Claiborne, and Monet, which are displayed in an antique jewelry cabinet that came from Arndt's Fudgery in Hartington jewelry store. Gift books, fiction, self-help, sports and children's classics are tucked into a large bookcase that her husband, Vince, built. "Vince did so much work to get this space ready to display our merchandise," she added. "He built the bookcase and the beautiful crystal display piece in the center of the building. He took my dream and made it sp."

Over 75 companies are represented at dianne's. Some of the merchandise that she carries includes: Stetson home decor items, toys from Schylling Company, Radio Flyer, Dick and Jane books, dominoes, globes, gifts for baby by Bunnies, the Bay and Baby Boyds, Lang stationery items and Marian Heath greeting cards, quilted items such as pillows, throws and wall hangings, Rowallan jewelry keeps, mirrors, wall art, clocks, accent tables, kitchen items, paper napkins, cloth napkins, placemats and rugs, picnic baskets, grilling tools, salts and marinades, hats from San Diego Hat Company, and lots of music cd's.

New to the shop is a line of licensed Husker products. Leighty says it is her goal to keep the inventory continually changing, so customers will see something new every time they come into the shop. A sampling of sports cards are displayed for sale, in an antique cabinet, owned by Vince and dianne's son, Austin. She noted, "Austin's huge collection of basketball and baseball sports cards is so well organized that we can put our hands on almost any player you are looking for, within a day. It's a great gift idea for a fan with a favorite player."

Several artists are represented in the shop. Original art by local artists Carlos Frey and Joyce Harmeyer. Watercolor paintings by Glenda Dietrich of Lincoln and nature photography by Virginia Clark of North Platte. Writings and original art of many anne radmacher are displayed in the form of cards, posters, and signed prints. Unframed prints by D Morgan are also among her favorites.

The fudge cabinet displays several flavors of fudge, saltwater taffy, angel mints, brittles and caramels from Arndt's Fudgery in Illinois. Liquid honey and jars of flavored creme honey from the Valhalla Bee Farm in Lincoln are also available, as well as Pur Java liquid coffee concentrate from a company in Lincoln. "Everyone loves the Bakers Chocolates. I won't reveal the names of the daily visitors," Leighty promises. "We also have sugar free caramels and saltwater taffy, which are very popular."

There is a beautiful selection of silk flowers, available by the stem or Leighty will create custom arrangements for weddings, parties, homes and offices.

Gifts for all occasions can be found at dianne's. She offers free gift wrapping as well as free local delivery of gifts. She also has a gift registry, which anyone can use, for any occasion. "A friend asked if his wife could fill out a registry form so he would have ideas that he was sure would get him out of the doghouse," Leighty said. "That is where we got the idea for the 'doghouse registry.' We have a lot of Christmas, birthday and anniversary wish lists recorded at our shop."

Come spend a day in Wayne and take a stroll through dianne's, on Main. It's a fun place to visit.

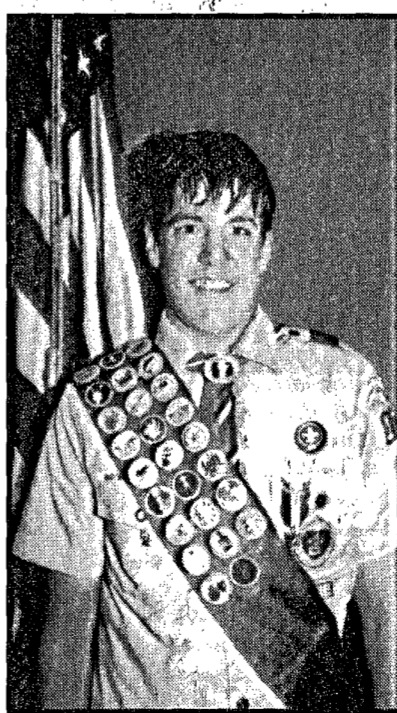

Left to right, Deb Reinhardt and dianne Leighty welcome everyone to stop in and take a look at the many items that are on display at dianne's, in Wayne.

the elected council is needed for an ordinance vote to pass. Because two council members, Betty Reeg and Darrel Fuelberth were absent, there were only six council members voting on the issue.

The ordinance would have prohibited truck parking on designated areas in R-1 and R-2 zoned portions of the city.

Rod Hefti spoke to the council before the vote, noting that he is not in favor of any type of ordinance, but should one be necessary, it should include all trucks and in all residentially zoned areas.

Among the other agenda items at Tuesday's lengthy meeting was a

Wayne couple featured in magazine

The old red barn at Merle and Donna Ring's place east of Wayne has stood for generations. Now, the Rings and their barn are featured in the September/October 2004 issue of Nebraska Life magazine. The issue is available at newsstands and by subscription.

After Merle Ring retired from farming several years ago, the barn sat empty until the Rings converted it for use as a music hall and community center two years ago. "The Barn" has become a popular site for concerts, receptions and other events.

The story, "New Life for an Old Barn," tells the story of the Rings and their newly-popular barn.

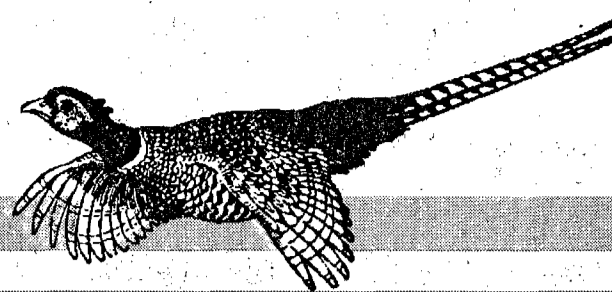

"People had been telling us we needed to visit the Barn in Wayne and meet the Rings," said Nebraska Life Managing Editor David Bristow, who wrote the story. "We're always looking for people who are doing unique things, so this was a good story for us."

Bristow said the goal of the magazine is to celebrate the people and places of Nebraska through high-quality stories and photography.

Nebraska Life magazine featured the community of Wayne and the Wayne Chicken Show in its July/August 2003 issue.

Differentiate between necessities and extras before using credit

Before deciding to use credit, essentially a type of debt, it is first important to examine why credit is being used in that particular situation.

Sometimes it is OK to use credit. Good debt pays for urgent necessities a person can't afford at the time, like a home, car or education.

A lot of credit that people use however is bad debt. People who live beyond their means, use credit to buy things they really can't afford, are getting themselves into bad debt.

Every time you make a purchase with credit, think about if you are creating "good debt, or bad debt."

When deciding whether to use credit to make a purchase, some things to consider are: * can the purchase be postponed, * what is the minimum amount of credit the purchase would require, * what is the interest rates, * are there additional fees (any added cost of purchasing something on credit), and * what must be sacrificed to pay off the credit debt.

Credit use should be limited to purchases that may increase in value, large and necessary purchases, true emergencies, purchases that can only be made with credit cards and purchases that can be paid off in full when the next credit card bill arrives.

Generally, total debt payments including mortgage payments should equal no more than 36 percent of monthly after-tax income.

However, each person is comfortable with a different amount of debt. This is called a personal credit limit. This limit often depends on stability of income sources, possible financial changes, upcoming expenses and other personal considerations. Some personalities tolerate a little higher or lower amount of debt. Late payments or stress about debt are signs of exceeding a personal credit limit.

Sometimes, special circumstances alter some decisions about credit and debt. For example, if interest earned by having money in savings is more than the cost of a loan, it may make sense to take out a loan.

Also, financial planners generally suggest that if there's a choice between saving for children's education and saving for retirement, choose retirement and borrow for the education. Students may be able to get better loans, and children would potentially have more income for loan repayment.

It's time for back to school vaccinations

Lots of children have headed back to school and parents will want to make sure their vaccinations are up to date. "Nebraska recently added the chickenpox vaccine to the list of required vaccinations for kids," said Dr. Richard Raymond, Chief Medical Officer for the Nebraska Health and Human Services System. "Students enrolled in Kindergarten or seventh grade and out-of-state transfer students must either receive the vaccine or provide documentation that they've had chicken pox." A child between the ages of one and 13 should receive one dose of the chickenpox vaccine. If the child is over 13, two doses are required. Children who have already had chickenpox don't need the vaccine. Parents, guardians, or healthcare providers can provide a written letter confirming the child had the disease and the documentation of the disease is required. Immunization requirements also changed for preschools and childcare facilities. Children enrolled in childcare or preschool now must be vaccinated against chickenpox and hepatitis B in addition to other required immunizations. A child should receive three hepatitis B shots before age 2. Parents must provide a current immunization record for hepatitis B. For chickenpox, an immunization record or documentation of the disease is required. Parents with children heading to college might want to consider a meningococcal vaccine. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, college freshmen, particularly those who live in dormitories, are at an increased risk for meningococcal disease relative to other persons their age. The vaccine can help prevent serious illnesses like bacterial meningitis. College freshmen and their parents should discuss the risks and benefits of vaccination with their health care providers.

"Back to school time can also serve as a reminder for adults to make sure their vaccinations are current," said Barbara Ludwig, manager of the HHS Immunization Program. "It's recommended for adults to have a tetanus shot every 10 years and if they're over 60, a pneumococcal bacteria can cause blood infections, pneumonia and meningitis. Also, this is a good time to start thinking about getting a flu shot; this year's vaccine will be available in a couple of months."

For more information, call the Health and Human Services Immunization Program at 402-471-6423. Immunization schedules for children and adults are also available on the HHS website, www.hhs.state.ne.us, search for "Immunizations."

Lyon sings national anthem at baseball game

Blake Lyon, a senior at Wayne High School, was recently selected to sing the National Anthem at a Sioux City Explorers baseball game.

Blake completed an application process, was selected and performed on Aug. 5 when the Explorers played the Schaumburg Flyers of Schaumburg, Ill. He was escorted out to home plate and sang the National Anthem acapella in front of approximately 2,500 Explorers fans.

At Wayne High School, Blake is a member of concert choir, jazz choir and boys glee. He plays trumpet in the concert, marching and jazz bands and he was double cast in the roles of "Maude" and a reporter in last spring's musical "Bye Bye Birdie."

He is also the videographer for the Wayne High boys' basketball team, plays outfield for the Wayne Senior Legion baseball team and sings and plays his trumpet for the Sunday Seven Band at Our Savior Lutheran Church.

Blake is the son of Gary Lyon and Carla Lyon.

Scholarship is awarded

Tyler Schroeder of Allen was awarded the Bookings Economic Development Corporation Scholarship in Manufacturing Engineering Technology for the 2004-05 school year at South Dakota State University.

Schroeder will be a junior manufacturing engineering major at SDSU this fall. He is the son of Shiela Schroeder of Allen and a 1999 graduate of Allen Consolidated Schools.

The Bookings Economic Development Corporation was created in January of 1996 to continue the efforts of industrial and economic growth in the Bookings area. A nine member board of directors was organized from community entities most actively involved in developing the Bookings area. The board governs the director in efforts to promote economic well-being and recruitment of appropriate industries.

This scholarship is currently funded through the Bookings Industrial Invitational Golf Tournament. Recipients are junior or senior manufacturing engineering technology majors, with preference given to students from Bookings and contiguous counties who are in good academic standing and demonstrate professional potential.

Olympics are over - waiting for football

Oh, dear, it's late on Tuesday morning and I don't have this e-mailed to Lynn yet! I've been distracted with e-mail messages and the time got away from me. I'm getting a lot of stuff regarding the convention this week. And I appreciate it, because I'm not watching it. I gave up watching political conventions long ago. I used to think they were so exciting; now I believe they are mostly hot air.

We are actually going through Olympic withdrawal today. I only caught snatches, but they were exciting snatches. Like the Moroccan who won the 1500 after trying twice before, and then taking the gold in the 5000, also. Like the bozo who accosted the fellow from Brazil in the marathon on Sunday afternoon who was in the lead when it happened. That fellow got the bronze, plus a good sportsmanship award.

I did get to see most of the closing ceremony, and was moved to tears by the children carrying the lights after the torch was extinguished. I think it had to do with the bombing of a school in Afghanistan earlier in the day that killed several children. Until every country cherishes its children, there will always be tears. Sometimes, it seems we are taking steps back for every one forward.

By: Pat Meierhenry

We are having temperatures in the 80s this week, and that is actually a good thing. The trees are confused by the early cool ones, and some have begun changing colors. The goldenrod and sunflowers seem to have popped overnight. Just so it doesn't mean an early winter; hopefully, we can enjoy autumn for several months. We had almost three inches of rain on Wednesday, which was most welcome. It should make a huge difference for the beans. Crops around here are almost exclusively dry land, and they look great compared to the last three years. I just wish western Nebraska could have shared some of the moisture. I've never seen the Platte so dry.

And, as usual, the whole state waits collectively for the first Big Red game! We were visiting with a couple from Texas who moved to Omaha recently. Because she is from Michigan, they are Packer fans. The mutual friend from Phoenix told them they would soon bleed red! Her daughter has been in Germany with Young Life, and one of her fellow staffers was from Norfolk. She has informed her mother that now she understands what Big Red stands for, and has seen first hand the fanaticism of its fans.

But it's like our guest from Colorado told us last month: it's all we have. There are six different pro teams in the Denver/Boulder area, and the only time they pay attention to Buffalo football is when Nebraska comes to town. That's okay, it's more fun our way!

Lawn bits, hints shared

This past summer of cool nights, dewy mornings and high humidity has set the stage for lawn diseases this fall.

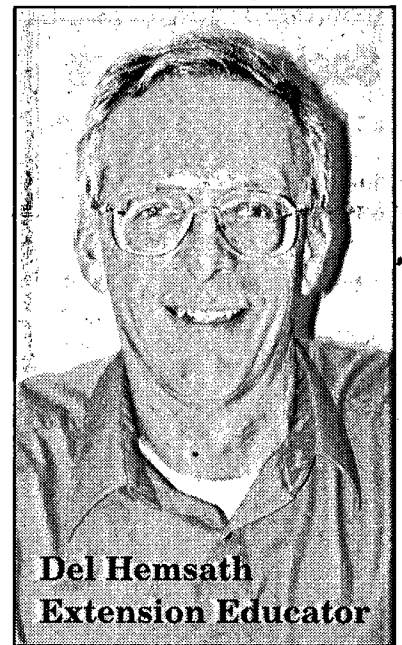

Rust is the common name for a stem and leaf disease that causes a rusty orange color on shoes, pants or lawn mowers after walking or working in the lawn. The disease can appear overnight when conditions allow and look rather serious. Most of the time, however, most lawns will recover with a low rate of nitrogen, proper watering and mowing. No fungicide application is required.

its growing season. Fungicides are available for control if the plants are going to be moved into the house for the winter.

Aeration time is approaching in September for the lawns, so rent that core aerator and give your yard a few pokes. This management practice will improve root and rhizome growth, reduce the thatch layer, improve water penetration and improve the health of the lawn. Lawns should be aerated every year for proper health.

September 15 is a good time to apply that fall application of nitrogen. A late fall or pre-winter nitrogen application can be applied in October at a 1 to 1 1/2 pound rate of nitrogen.

Powdery mildew is very common this year and can be found on all plants from flowers, to shrubs, to trees. The name basically describes disease signs of a white, powdery growth on the leaves of plants. The landscape plants that are planted in a crowded location and have little air movement, are commonly watered overhead and are in the shade, tend to develop the powdery mildew disease.

Since the disease occurs late in the season, control is not needed because the plant is at the end of

Along with help from the Wayne County Ag Society and members of Thrivent, the job was completed in time for the 2004 Wayne County Fair.

Odd shaped potato

Mike Mallette of Wayne had quite a surprise when he dug up the potato plants in his garden recently. One of his Republican Kennebec potatoes looked quite strange; there were numerous bumps on it. There were two regular small potatoes in the same hill. Other than being hard to peel, the odd-shaped potato should be just as good to eat as the rest. Mallette said it's been a great growing season for potatoes. Mallette lives on Wilcliff Drive in Wayne.

Important Information for 'Self Read - Self Bill' Customers of the Northeast Nebraska PPD

The NePPD has some of the lowest electric rates in Northeast Nebraska.* One reason costs can be lower is that rural customers read their own meter and figure their own bill. This system works well, except when customers send their bills in late. When the Power District gets a late payment or doesn't get a reading, then the bill must be estimated and our records won't be accurate. Late payments are also subject to a penalty, which customers could avoid. A late payment will result in the customer receiving a notice of disconnection based on an estimated usage. Full payment must be received each month before the disconnect date listed below to avoid a disconnected service.

As a reminder, here is the billing schedule for the remainder of 2004:

Sept 13 - Late payment penalty date and disconnect notices out on estimated bills
Sept 20 - Disconnection date for non-payment
Oct 11 - Late payment penalty date and disconnect notices out on estimated bills
Oct 18 - Disconnection date for non-payment
Nov 11 - Late payment penalty date and disconnect notices out on estimated bills
Nov 17 - Disconnection date for non-payment
Dec 13 - Late payment penalty date and disconnect notices out on estimated bills
Dec 20 - Disconnection date for non-payment

*Based on the results of the 2004 rate survey performed by the Nebraska Municipal Power Pool.
Some services are paid annually and do not require a monthly payment.

Wayne State College professor Meena Dalal talks with Meg Novak, an artist who is the director of the Babylon Art and Cultural Center in Minneapolis, Minn. during a reception with more than 120 attending. Novak presented a multimedia program introducing the traveling art show, "Art Across Borders," available for viewing by the public.

Artwork to be exhibited at WSC

The Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery and the Student Center at Wayne State College will jointly exhibit the artwork of Palestinian and Iraqi artists.

Featuring more than 70 contemporary artworks from Palestine and Iraq, the exhibit has become known as a very effective introduction to modern art in those countries. The exhibit includes a diversity of styles and subject matter ranging from experiments with symbols and texture to traditional Arabic calligraphy, watercolor paintings, acrylic paintings, and pen and ink drawings.

The exhibit was collected by Meg Novak and Flo Razowsky, an American of Jewish descent. The two spent time in Palestine and Iraq during August and September 2002 as part of a "Voices in the Wilderness"-sponsored delegation.

The curators delivered medical supplies and children's clothing, and hundreds of pounds of art supplies donated by American artists.

The works from Iraq in the resulting collection became the first exhibit of artwork from artists living in Iraq since before the Gulf War.

The exhibit at WSC is sponsored by the WSC School of Arts and Humanities and the WSC Counseling Center - International Student Services.

Partial support for this project has been provided by the U.S. Department of State through a grant from the Cooperative Grants Program of NAFSA: Association of International Educators.

After exhibiting at Wayne State College, the show will travel to Ithaca, New York.

The exhibit will run now through Sept. 23, and will be available for viewing at the Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery from 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and daily in the WSC Student Center from 8 a.m. - 9 p.m.

Small time away sets stage for fall season

In the Press Box by David W. Carstens

We all need to recharge our batteries sometime. I spend way too much time recharging my cell phone and digital camera batteries, so much to the point that I sometimes forget about the energy that we all need to maintain our well-being needs to be recharged as well.

I have a great hobby of photography that has allowed me to work with a band I have long admired.

Last week, I packed up my camera, a few clothes and headed west to the beach. The national band that I take pictures for played a rare, two-night engagement at a casino along the Pacific Coast in Oregon.

With that recharging goal in mind, I spent an hour alone on the beach Saturday as the cool sea breeze hit my face and the even/cooler ocean water splashed my toes.

It was a great feeling and definitely was the boost I needed.

It was fun being a temporary Oregon Ducks fan anyway.

While out there, I picked up a few sports papers to get a few ideas for things we could implement on the sports page, mostly in terms of design.

I didn't get a chance to watch a lot of sports over the weekend, just a few highlights on ESPN.

I was kind of sad to see the Olympics come to an end, as they've been fun to watch the past few weeks.

Some of the gymnastics judging was a bit confusing, but overall I found many emotional moments that sports can bring out.

Switching gears a bit, it's finally time for fall sports season and this week's season preview in the Wayne Herald will officially kick it off.

A tip of the hat goes to Lee Koch, Karen Knudsen, and Missy Sullivan for contributions, as well as the cooperation of many coaches and teams.

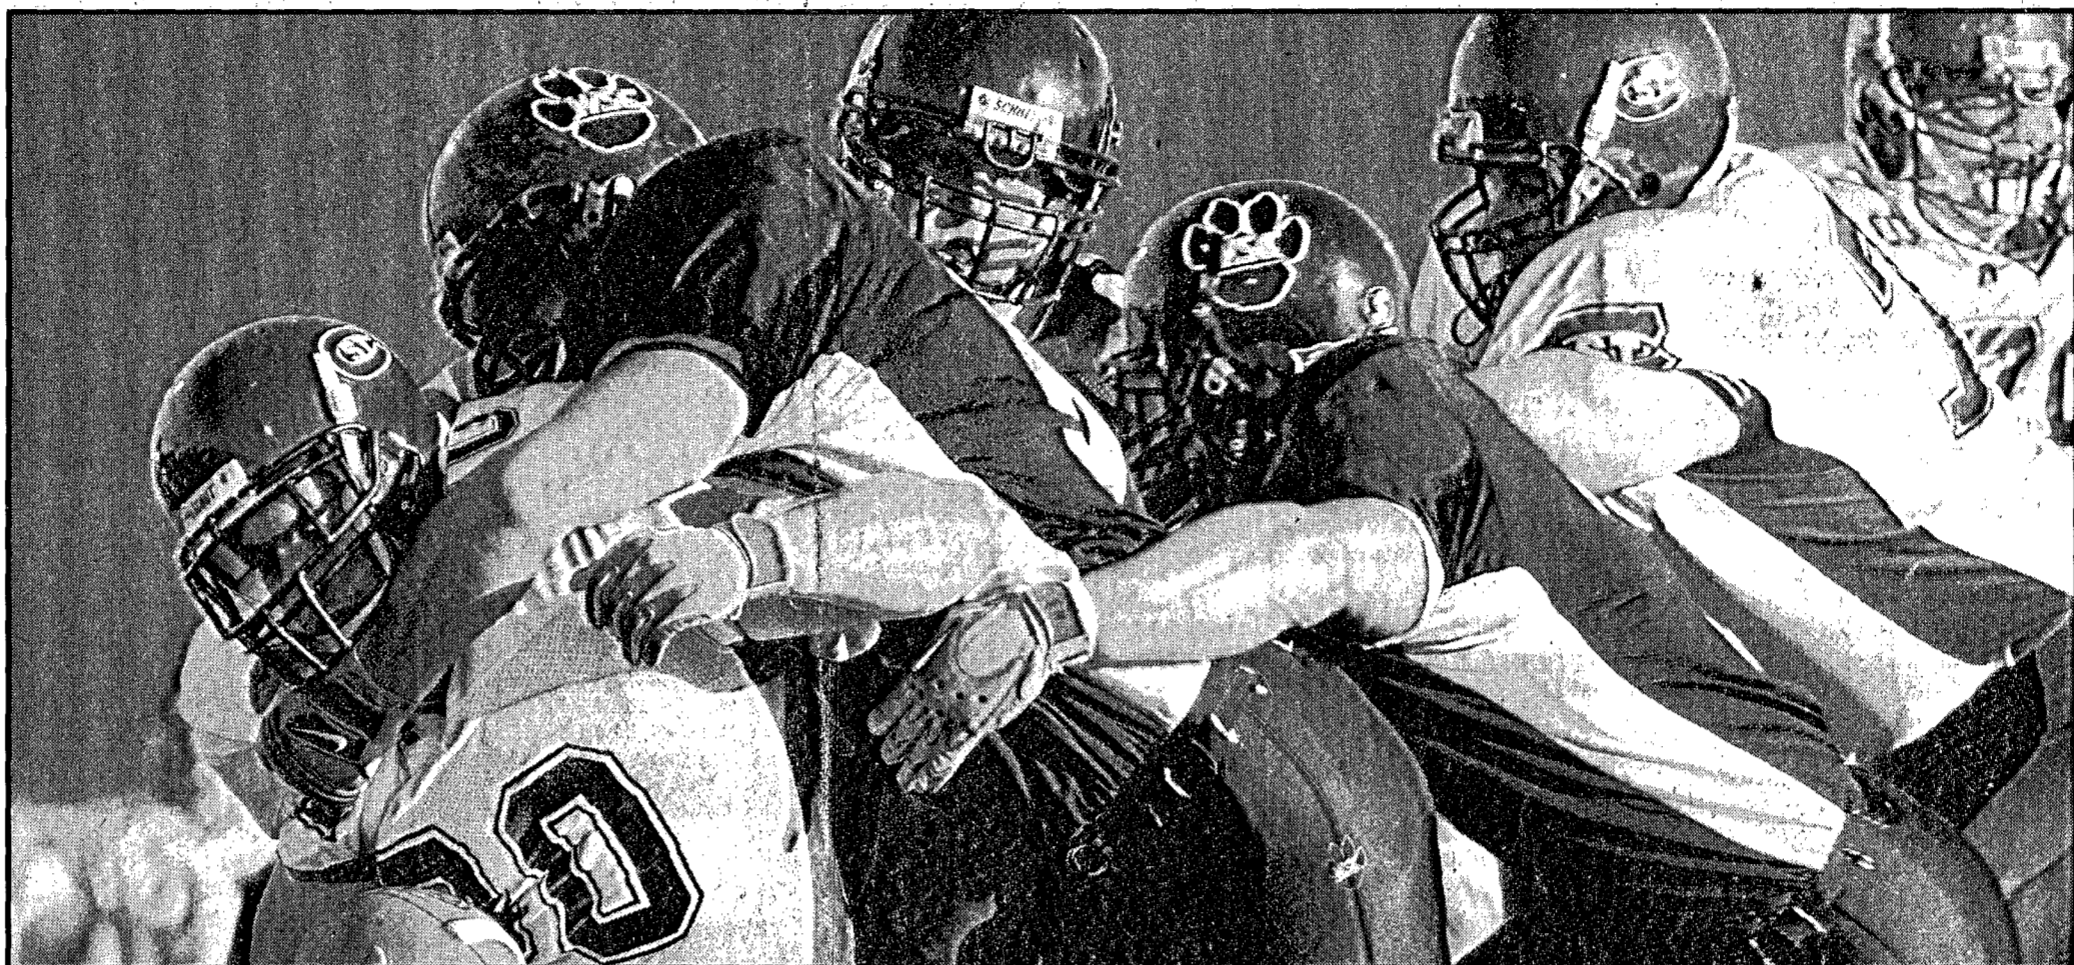

It all came together in time for me to take the weekend trip out west and not think about it.

We certainly appreciate everyone's efforts and are looking forward to the upcoming season.

Just a quick note to say thanks for all the kind words and phone calls that have been directed my way in recent weeks. It's made me feel welcome and encouraged.

The next few weeks will be challenging, to say the least, but that support is going to help it all come together.

St. Cloud's scoring burst drowns Wildcats

When St. Cloud State started to roll, Wayne State had to look for an answer.

Unfortunately, the solution was nowhere to be found as the St. Cloud Huskies scored 28 unanswered points in a 45-14 season opening win against the Wildcats in Wayne last Thursday evening. St. Cloud found success against the Wildcats in both the air and on the ground as the Huskies put up 254 yards passing and 283 rushing compared to 129 rushing and 183 yards passing for Wayne State.

St. Cloud opened the scoring in the first quarter on a 37-yard field goal by Shawn Braunagel to take a 3-0 lead.

The Wildcats answered on the next drive when Brett Edwards hit Jake Robinson on a 13-yard pass to give the Wildcats a 7-3 lead with 6:17 left in the first quarter.

Edwards finished his passing game 17 of 33 for 183 yards with two touchdowns and one interception.

The Huskies took control of the lead in the second quarter on a four-yard pass from Daniel Kaczor to Ryan Koch to hold a 10-7 lead.

The hits kept coming as a 53-yard run by Dan Kamin extended the margin to 17-7.

Wayne State answered the call to narrow the lead to 17-14 when a 14-yard pass from Edwards to Tony Manning set up another Wildcat score with 6:38 left in the half.

The complexion of the game took on a different twist on the next offensive play as St. Cloud's Ed DeShazer raced 72 yards after catching a pass from Kaczor to put the Huskies up 24-14 at halftime.

Scoring in the third quarter by St. Cloud State was done by junior running back Matt Birkel on a seven-yard run and Kamin followed with a five-yard jaunt to make the score 33-17 after three quarters.

Birkel added a 17-yard run in the fourth quarter for the final score of the game.

The Huskies finished the game with 543 yards of total offense, while WSC ended with 312. Birkel ended the game with 164 yards rushing on 27 carries and two scores to pace the Huskies ground attack. Through the air, Kaczor was 18-of-34 for 254 yards.

Top receiver for the Wildcats was Josh Hopwood with four catches for 39 yards, while the top rusher was Zach Molacek with 11 attempts for 59 yards.

Defensively, senior Jeremy Neill paced Wayne State with 17 tackles, including 11 solo stops.

Wayne State, now 0-1, travels to Nebraska-Kearney next Saturday.

Wayne High off and running to defend state softball title

The reigning girls state softball champions began the 2004 campaign in the same dominating fashion from last year with a five victories already on the still young season.

Here are summaries from the past week's games, including an impressive showing at the Lincoln East Tournament last weekend:

Wayne 4, Genoa Twin River 0

Wayne pitcher Molly Hill came close to a perfect game with 20 strikeouts, no hits or walks and Dawn Jensen had a pair of runs in the home opener for the Blue Devils on Aug. 26, as Wayne shutout Genoa Twin River 4-0.

Wayne took advantage of seven Twin River errors, but could only muster offensive hits by Hill, Ashley Carroll and Jenny Raveling. Hill was also credited with an RBI in the win.

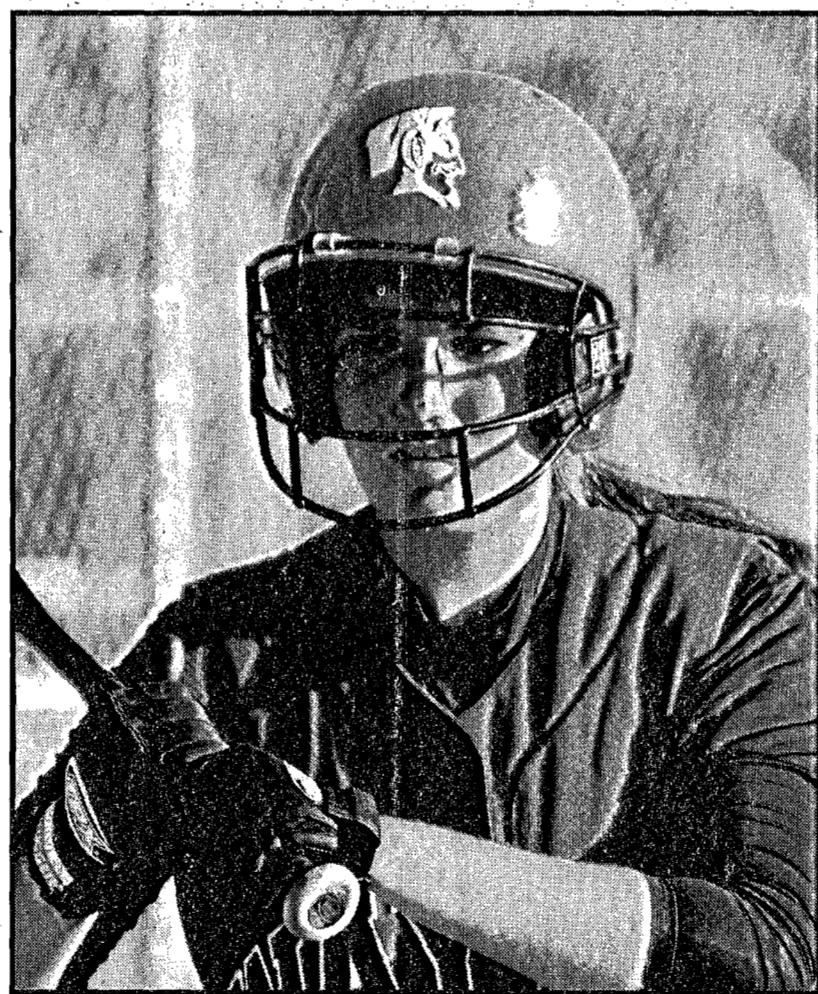

"Our offensive execution was stale," Wayne coach Rob Sweetland said. "We needed to get the cobwebs out."

Wayne scored a pair of runs in the opening inning and added one each in the fourth and sixth.

Wayne 5, Milford 0

Wayne High swept three games to win the Lincoln East Tourney

WSC soccer squad drops its opener to Missouri Southern

The Wayne State women's soccer team fell to Missouri Southern 2-1 in its season home opener Saturday afternoon.

After a scoreless first half, the Lions from Missouri Southern struck twice in three minutes at 58:00 and 61:00, respectively.

The lone goal for the Wildcats came in the 80th minute as Michaela Blaylock ripped a free kick by Lions goalkeeper Kaney Tyler, but the Wildcats ran out of time and lost the game 2-1.

The first goal for Missouri Southern came from Jessica Buhman off a free kick as it slipped through the goalkeepers' hands.

The eventual game winning goal came from Elisa Bryant, as she lobbed the ball over WSC goalkeeper Mishaline LeRoy from about 10 yards out.

The Wildcats were to play in a road contest with Dordt College on Tuesday.

Sports Briefs

Neill tabbed as top defensive player

WAYNE — Wayne State senior football player Jeremy Neill was honored Monday with the first Nebraska Division II defensive player of the week award for the 2004 season.

Neill recorded 17 tackles, including 11 solo stops in last week's home loss to St. Cloud State. He was also credited with a pair of pass breakups.

WSC basketball team receives honor

WAYNE — The Wayne State College women's basketball team was recently named to the Women's Basketball Coaches Association Academic Top 25 Honor Roll for NCAA Division II schools.

The award is given to schools earning the highest team grade point averages for the 2003-04 season based on coach nominations.

Wayne State ranked 23rd on the list with an overall team GPA of 3.365, and it's the third time the Wildcats have achieved the honor in the six years that Ryan Williams has coached the Wildcats.

Recent hole-in-one shot at WCC

WAYNE — Shawn Dowse, an intern at Wayne State College, originally from Comstock, Neb., recorded an ace on Hole No. 3 at the Wayne Country Club on Aug. 22, using an 8-iron. Witnessing the event was his wife, Krystal Dowse.

Player correction noted

WAYNE — A recent preview story for the Wayne State volleyball team incorrectly listed Winside-native setter Julie Jacobsen as a senior player. She is actually a junior on the 2004 Wildcat team.

Back to school - time to check for head lice

Now that school has started, parents are encouraged to check children for head lice as part of their family's regular routine, according to Wayne Kramer, state medical entomologist for the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services Regulation and Licensure.

"We want families to make checking for lice as basic an activity as brushing their teeth or washing their hands," said Dr. Kramer. "Head lice are common among elementary school students because young children have a lot of contact with their classmates."

Lice are reddish-brown wingless insects; lice eggs, or nits, are grayish-white, always oval shaped and are attached at an angle to the side of the hair shaft.

The most-used insecticidal louse shampoos or creme rinse products contain pyrethrins or permethrin and are available as over-the-counter products. Lindane, a prescription medication, is no longer recommended for treating head lice.

A prescription product called Ovide, which contains Malathion, is also a product that can address head lice, Dr. Kramer said. This product is useful for families who have tried other products but had difficulty in controlling lice. No matter what product is used, label instructions should be carefully followed to maximize effectiveness.

Dr. Kramer offered these tips in combating head lice:

- Check children and watch for signs of head lice, such as frequent head scratching;
 - Remove all nits with a comb or fingernails to assure total lice treatment;
 - Use a medicated shampoo, lotion or creme rinse, but remember that all lice-killing products are pesticides and label directions should be followed;
 - Check with your physician before using lice treatment pesticides if the child has allergies, asthma or epilepsy;
 - Wash bedding and clothing in hot water and dry in a hot dryer.

UNL students from area are members of Marching Band

Austin Leighty and Jessica Leighty, both of Wayne, are members of the Cornhusker Marching Band which will make its 2004 debut Sept. 4 at Memorial Stadium. On the 4th, the band will have pregame and halftime performances at Nebraska's football season-opener against Western Illinois. The University of Nebraska-Lincoln's Cornhusker Marching Band has 290 members. At UN-L, Austin is a freshman and Jessica is a senior. Both play alto saxophone. Their parents are Vince and Dianne Leighty of Wayne.

Founded in 1879 as an ROTC unit, the band began playing at Nebraska home football games with the inauguration of the sport at NU in 1890. Its many honors in its 125-year history include a Distinguished Recognition Trophy from John Philip Sousa in 1927 and the John Philip Sousa Foundation Sudler Trophy in 1996.

The Marching Red performed in a Kennedy Center Honors ceremony for Nebraska alum Johnny Carson in 1993, was featured performer in the St. Patrick's Day parade in Dublin, Ireland, in 1996 and 2000 and was the first collegiate ensemble to perform at all the major football games (Rose, Orange, Fiesta, Sugar and Cotton). Each band member passed two auditions to gain admittance to the group. Rehearsals for the 2004 season began Aug. 12. This year's band includes representatives from nearly every region of the country, but more than 80 percent of the students are from Nebraska. Less than 20 percent are music or music education majors, and the majority are studying physical or health sciences, education, business or engineering.

Anthony M. Falcone, associate director of bands in the UNL School of Music, is in his fourth year as director of the Cornhusker Marching Band. Douglas W. Bush is in his third year as assistant director of band and assistant marching band director. Carolyn Barber, associate professor of music, is director of bands. Other band staff members are graduate teaching assistants Brian Alber, Jared Rawling, Jeff Richmond, and Christopher Werner; drum line instructor Nate Campbell; color guard instructor Lindsey Richmond; Rose Johnson, administrative assistant; Jan Deaton, secretary; and announcer Nolan Schmit.

Tyler Hottovy of Lincoln is head drum major. The assistant drum majors are Jenny Johannes of Columbus and Sarah Stratton of Brookings, SD. Brooke Walter of Lakewood, Calif. is the twirler.
