Council debates several issues

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

Parking, the building of a jail and insurance were among the topics covered at Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

Council member Lois Shelton brought the issue of truck parking to the council following the defeat of an ordinance restricting truck parking at an earlier meeting.

Shelton, who voted against the ordinance earlier, said she felt several changes needed to be made to the original ordinance. These included applying equally to all residential areas and all classes of vehicles.

On a 5-2 vote, with Mayor Sheryl Lindau voting yes, the ordinance received first reading approval. It will be read again at the next council meeting.

The council voted for the spending of money for a jail feasibility study for the Wayne community.

The study, which will cost $20,000 will determine what type of jail, if any, would be beneficial in Wayne. It will determine the best way to handle prisoners in Wayne County. It is anticipated that the cost will be split between the city and the county.

Following considerable discussion, the council voted 4-2 to accept a proposal from Silverstone to provide short term/ long term disability and life insurance coverage for city employees.

The coverage will be provided by Standard Company and save the city $12,888 annually.

During the debate, Council member Dennis Linster questioned the process used to obtain the bids. He said a policy for obtaining bids should be set and the city not waiver from it.

Gary Boehle, representing First National Agency, said he had no problems with the way bids were obtained but indicated that there were differences in coverage with several of the proposals, resulting in differences in price quotes.

No one spoke during either of the public hearings at Tuesday's meeting.

The first dealt with the annexation of Beckenhauer Estates. It involves 10 lots on the south side of Grainland Road. The Planning Commission has already recommended the annexation.

The second hearing was for the purpose of granting a Class D Liquor License for Pamida, Inc.

Dan Wibben, Manager of Pamida, told the council that selling liquor would be a convenience for customers and the idea is being tried in a number of other Pamida stores.

The council unanimously passed Resolution 2004-51 and Ordinance 2004-11. The two authorize and direct the sale of a 100 x 100 foot lot on the south side of 10th Street to John Vakoc.

The council also approved the sale of four lots on East 10th for the purpose of construction of affordable housing for the city.

Lots 2 and 3 were sold to Sharpe Construction and Lots 4 and 5 were sold to Cox Development Corporation.

Nick Hochstein of Sharpe Construction and Philip Cox of Cox Development Corporation were present at the meeting to talk about plans to build houses on the property to meet the specifications set up by the council and stay within the price range

Wayne State redshirt freshman football player Tyler Brown of Vermillion, S.D. had a unique way of popping the question at last Saturday's WSC home football game. Brown recruited his teammates to wear t-shirts that spelled out an engagement proposal to his girlfriend, Laci Namken of Hayti, S.D. The proposal said, "Laci-Will You Marry Me?" and each player wore a separate letter to spell out the sentence. After members of the team were introduced at the game, they removed their jerseys to reveal the proposal. Namken saw the proposal from the grandstand and accepted on the track in front of the football game crowd. They have selected May 20, 2006 as their wedding day.

Firefighters Plaza to be dedicated

On Friday, Oct. 8, the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department will be dedicating the newly constructed Wayne Volunteer Firefighter's Plaza.

The event will be held in conjunction with the weekly Chamber Coffee, held traditionally during Fire Prevention Week. The program will begin at 10 a.m.

The idea for the plaza was initiated by several firefighters who felt that an outdoor area to showcase a flagpole was needed after the construction of the new fire station.

Other members of the department expressed interest in remembering deceased firefighters who had served in the Wayne area for several years. As discussions proceeded, the plaza became the area to house both the names of the firefighters and a place to raise and honor the United States and Nebraska state flags.

A Plaza Committee was formed to give direction to the project. An ad hoc committee was formed to organize fundraising events to support the plan.

After funding had been secured, the next task was to determine the length of time firefighters had been members of the department. Records of these people date back to 1900. Based on the information provided, the Plaza Committee decided that firefighters who had served the department for 10 or more years

Members of the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department spent a recent Saturday morning putting the final touches on the Firefighters Plaza located just east of the fire hall.

Humane Society continues to serve community

The Northeast Nebraska Humane Society has been providing services to the Wayne area since 1995.

New officers were recently installed as the group begins a new year.

They include Lois Shelton, president; Heather Wacker and Toni Hytrek, vice presidents; Lisa Leseberg and Bonnie Langenfeld, co-secretaries and Laurie Hartlett, treasurer. The group is also in the process of putting together a board of directors.

The Humane Society presently has 10-15 active members and welcomes any new members who would like to be involved with the group.

A total of 12 dogs are currently being housed at the Peg Schaffer home south of Wayne. Several other dogs are in foster care throughout the community. Cats are accepted on a foster care basis only as no facility is available for housing them.

The Northeast Nebraska

Humane Society is state licensed and receives funds from donations, fundraisers and adoption fees. In addition, funding has been provided by the Wayne United Way.

The Society put in concrete pads and new kennels last year at the location just south of Wayne where the dogs are currently housed. Animals have been received at the shelter from throughout the area as there are no other facilities in the immediate area.

The group is currently looking for a site to build a permanent facility. Tours of other facilities have been made to gather ideas for the project. Don Buryanek of Wayne State College presented the group with several designs for buildings put together by members of a Wayne State class.

Mrs. Shelton noted that two to three acres are needed as close to town as possible. A portion of the funding needed to construct the facility has already been raised.

When a permanent facility is constructed, paid employees would be needed to staff the facility.

Meetings are held the second Thursday of each month at 7 p.m. at Our Savior Lutheran Church.

Volunteers are also needed in several capacities, including walking dogs housed by the Humane Society.

For more information, to volunteer to walk dogs or to make a donation to the Humane Society, contact Lois Shelton at 375-1278 or Peg Schaffer at 375-3784 during the days or 375-2249 in the evenings.

'Portraits of Nebraska,' statewide book to offer trivia and facts on Nebraska towns

In what Nebraska community in the mid-1800s was the town's cemetery bigger than the town itself?

What Nebraska community boasted 5,000 residents in the winter of 1866, only to have 100 residents by the spring of 1867?

What Nebraska town, with its reputation as a "wide-open town" was named "Little Chicago" and was notorious for bootlegging, gambling and other vices?

Do you know the answer to all three questions? They are just three of hundreds of interesting tidbits of history readers will discover in the new, soon-to-be-published statewide book about Nebraska communities.

A sneak peek inside the book, Portraits of Nebraska: Pride in Our Hometowns, that focuses on more than 20 select Nebraska cities including Wayne, reveals what many Nebraskans already know: Nebraska is a state built on a rich historic heritage and filled with fun things to do. Like the stories about the oversized cemetery, the notorious wide-open town, and the dramatic shift in population, the book is a compilation of trivia and fact.

But it's not the fun things to do, nor is it their historic achievements, that makes these Nebraska communities so special. It is, rather, as the book projects, time after time, in story after story, the people of the communities - both those who formed the communities and those who continue to build upon their success - that are the real story. These are people who have always been determined to make their communities better and, in doing so, have made their hometowns some of the finest places in all of America to live and raise a family.

According to Jon Leu, senior editor for the book's publisher, Nonpareil Publishing, Portraits of Nebraska is an entertaining and informative collection of specifics

On Sept. 27 officers investigated the theft of an orange 2004 Kawasaki KFX 400 ATV and the blue two wheeled flatbed trailer it was on. would have their names engraved on bricks as a token of appreciation and remembrance.

The Plaza has several features of note. These include a surface of engraved bricks bearing the names of the firefighters who have served the department for 10 or more years; two seating benches; a walkway leading to the flagpole with both a U.S. and Nebraska flag and three concrete Dalmatians standing guard.

An engraved dedication marker is seated in the concrete surface just below the flagpole. Lighting is provided from above the canopy.

The bell from the former fire hall, as part of the architectural construction for the new building, was relocated to the current fire station. An engraved marker referencing the bell will be placed to the north of the open air corridor which leads to the building after a time capsule has been positioned beneath.

Following the Oct. 8 Chamber of Commerce agenda, a ceremony will take place including remarks from fire personnel, city officials, Senator Pat Engel and the raising/saluting of the flags.

Coffee and cake will be served after the outdoor activities have been concluded. The public is welcome to attend these activities.

Members of the Plaza committee have extended special thanks to the following people for their contributions to the Plaza - Jeff Morlok for his plaza design; Don Buryanek for his computer-generated realization of the design; the firefighters who participated in three fundraising activities over a two-year period; the plaza and fundraising committees and the businesses, industries and community citizens who supported our fundraising efforts.

Recognition has also been extended to Robert Woehler and Dave Zach for providing materials, labor and equipment in the construction of the Plaza.

Bricks honoring those who served on the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department make up part of the Fireman's Plaza which will be dedicated next week.

required. Both indicated they would be content with two lots rather than the four in the entire project and that they plan to be somewhat flexible in the building of the homes.

Resolution 2004-54 and Ordinance 2004-14 were also passed at Tuesday's meeting. They will allow for the sale of land to Habitat for Humanity for a planned 2005 build. The sale is contingent on whether the land is acceptable for building.

Police Chief Lance Webster presented a timeline and procedures for licensing cats in Wayne.

He told the council that registration of cats will be at no cost to pet owners if the animal is licensed between Oct. 15 and Nov. 30. The first 250 cats owner who register will receive a free Cat Stretch Collar. The tags will expire in May of 2005, the same time dog licenses are due.

After Nov. 30, cat owners who license a cat will be required to pay the same late fee as dog owners - $20.

Webster also outlined his plan to deal with stray cats. He noted that his department is closely following the animal control plan used in the city of Lincoln.

During the meeting the council also debated whether or not to use Surface Transportation Program (STP) funds to finance street enhancement during the Main Street project in 2006.

City Administrator Lowell Johnson said he had found two other options for obtaining the STP funds that would allow them to be used for the enhancements on the projects.

Several council members questioned whether there other street projects more deserving of the funds. Instead, they felt business owners could absorb the costs.

Mayor Lindau said the improvements would not be personal property improvements, but would instead benefit everyone. She also indicated the need to discuss what needs to be done, especially with sidewalks, on either side of Main Street.

The council's next meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 12 and will begin at 6:30 p.m. with a committee-of-the-whole meeting for the purpose of discussing STP funding for Main Street enhancements and the council's assistance with a Main Street Chamber merger. The regular meeting begins at 7:30 p.m.

The Silent Witness Exhibit was officially launched on Feb. 18, 1991. More than 200 women met at a church across from the Minnesota State Capitol when the display was formed and

Golden Eagles lay goose egg on Wildcats

By David W. Carstens
Of the Herald

It was one of those games coaches, players and fans would sooner forget.

It's been four years since Wayne State suffered a shutout loss at home.

Saturday's 24-0 loss to Northern Sun conference foe Minnesota-Crookston (1-3) wasn't an easy pill to swallow.

"I'm disappointed more than anything," WSC coach Scott Hoffman said. "We prepared exactly for what we saw from them on the field, but we just didn't execute."

The last time the Wildcats were dealt a shutout at Cunningham Field was in early October, 2000 when Minnesota-Moorhead took a 10-0 win from WSC.

Hoffman said there were few highlights in the game as the Golden Eagles limited Wayne to only six first downs and 139 yards of total offense.

It's rare that a single player can change the outcome of a team sport, but Alaska native Frederick Rollins was a one-man wrecking crew against the Wildcats.

Rollins racked up 146 yards on 22 carries with a pair of touchdowns and kicked a 26-yard field goal. He also kicked three-for-three of Crookston's extra point attempts.

Rollins first scored on a 67-yard footrace with four minutes in the first quarter to put Crookston up 7-0.

Rollins let his foot do the talking with a 26-yard field goal with 11:45 in the second quarter.

With six minutes left in the first half, Rollins took the ball in from five yards out to give the Golden Eagles a 17-0 halftime lead.

Rollins' performance against Wayne earned him the Northern Sun offensive player of the week earlier this week.

The only scoring by both teams in the second half was Guy Rodrigue's catch from Crookston quarterback Jason Simmons with 3:19 remaining in the game.

Minnesota-Crookston, a team that conference coaches picked to finish last in the Northern Sun in preseason polls, finished the game with 338 yards, well above its

Looking forward to a first this fall

In the Press Box by David W. Carstens

I'm sure we all have things that have managed to be on the perpetual "things I would like to do, but never got around to doing them" list.

I've had the opportunity to pack quite a bit of excitement in my 38 years of life, but there are still a few things on that list.

Among them, (and I'm not sure if I really want to put this in print) I've never bagged a pheasant.

Okay, Pheasants Forever folks you can start heading for the door now. I'm sorry I've let you down.

I admit it. My name is David and I've never got to do one of Northeast Nebraska's best annual fall rituals.

But this fall, my goal Numero Uno is to experience that thrill.

I'm really excited about this chance to check off something from my list and hope some of you kind folks who patronize my weekly rambling here will reflect back on that time you got your first bird.

Part of the inspiration came from spending some time recently with one of our nation's most outspoken hunter advocates, Ted Nugent.

I told him about my desire and he was genuinely excited that I was genuinely excited.

Like Ted or hate Ted, you can't help but see that I didn't come away motivated.

So now the time has come and the stage is set.

I've talked to some folks who are ready to help me get started on the adventure and I will report back to all of you on what's shaping up to be a great adventure.

Once again, as I write about my experience, please look back at some of your first hunting recollections.

It should be a fun ride and I will be pleased to take you along in this column.

A nice note landed on the sports desk from the folks at the Northeast Nebraska Pullers Association this week.

You folks are certainly welcome, and it was fun covering your pulls this past season.

Motor sports are big everywhere now, and pulls are something Northeast Nebraska can offer as a response to that national trend.

I don't know if it's a record year, but has anyone else noticed how many Wayne State athletes have been named for weekly honors this season?

I think it's a reflection on the coaching staffs and players and the overall good vibe being felt up at the college now.

Blue Devils experience first defeat

The third quarter hasn't been exactly friendly to the Wayne High football team this season.

Last Friday, the second half wasn't very nice, either.

Wayne dropped its first game of the season last Friday after taking a 14-0 halftime lead on the road against Crofton, only to watch it unravel in the second half as the Warriors put 33 unanswered points on the scoreboard.

"In the first half we rushed for well over 100 yards and held Crofton to less than 25 yards," he said. "But we just emotionally did not come out in the third period."

Wayne's two first half scores came on short runs by Wade Jarvi and Todd Poehlman, in the first and second quarters, respectively.

From there, it was Crofton's game as the Blue Devils were only able to muster 162 yards on the night.

Dana Schuett lead the way with 66 yards rushing, while quarterback Kevin Finkey rushed for 52 more.

Wayne (3-1) will face another challenging task on Friday when Pierce visits Wayne for a game with a 7 p.m. kickoff at Cunningham Field at Wayne State College.

WHS volleyball team chalks up more victories

The Wayne High volleyball team made sure its observance of Parent's Night would be a performance to be proud of.

The Blue Devils swept Crofton at home in a straight-set victory, 25-18, 25-19 and 25-11 last Thursday.

Twin senior sisters Sarah and Rachel Jensen combined for 26 kills to pace Wayne. Rachel also sparked the team with five ace serves, while Jessica Dickey delivered four from the service line.

Sarah Jensen led the squad with seven digs, followed by Emlyn Mann with six and Rachel Jensen with five.

Senior teammate Micaela Weber finished the game with 40 set assists.

"I was pleased at the way we played," Wayne coach Joyce Hoskins said. "They had a height advantage, but our multiple offense and quickness helped us."

Wayne won the JV game 25-9, 25-13. The Wayne C team lost to Crofton here last night: 22-25, 18-25.

Leading scorers for Wayne were Justine Carroll with seven points and Megan Loberg with five.

Wisner-Pilger Invite

Wayne picked up two wins in last Saturday's Wisner-Pilger Invite, but fell to the host team in straight sets.

Wayne, who battled through the tourney with several ill players, fell to Wisner-Pilger 25-10 and 25-14 but downed Pierce and Madison in other tourney games.

The Blue Devils bounced back from a first-game loss to defeat Madison 23-25, 26-24 and 25-16 as Rachel Jensen hammered 15 kills to pace Wayne.

Weber also had a great showing from the net as she added 32 set assists for the Blue Devil victory.

Fraham helped control Madison's scoring ability as she contributed a game-leading eight digs for Wayne.

"I was really proud of how they stepped up, and especially how they came from behind against Madison," Hoskins said.

Wayne also played another three-set match against Pierce that saw the Blue Devils overcome a second game loss, 25-15, 16-25 and 25-11.

Angie Arenholtz slammed down 10 kills, with Rachel and Sarah Jensen each hitting eight to lead Wayne.

Fraham once again topped the charts in digs with 10, while Weber added 32 more set assists for the Blue Devils. Dickey recorded three ace serves for Wayne.

Wisner-Pilger has emerged as one of this season's top area teams and Wayne fell in two sets to the Gators, 10-25 and 14-25.

Fink again tops at area meet

A hilly course and tough competition proved to be a valuable experience for the Wayne High boys and girls cross country teams last Thursday.

The WHS harriers traveled to the Crofton Invitational and encountered a challenging course and tough competition against team champion, Norfolk Catholic.

The meet's boy division race saw Wayne High senior Bryan Fink take medalist honors with his finish of 17:32. He topped two Norfolk Catholic runners, A.J. Pruss (18:01) and Britton Deuel (18:18) who he defeated in last week's Wayne Invitational.

Fink's teammate, Joe Mrsny, ran to a fourth-place finish with his time of 18:28.

"The course was the most hilly one that we have run this year," Wayne High coach Rocky Ruhl said. "I think it came at the right time for our training."

Wayne was edged by Norfolk Catholic in team standings 21-17 to place second.

Josh Rasmussen placed eighth with a 19:16 time, while other Blue Devil runners Derek Carroll (19:33) and Max Stedniz (19:44) placed eighth and fourteenth, respectively. Justin Modrell finished in 18th place with 20:29.

In the girls division, Jordyn Doescher ran for an eighth-place finish with her time of 17:49, which Ruhl said was one of four personal best goal times set by the team this season.

Regan Ruhl also was a medalist with her 13th place finish time of 18:16. Kattie Heggemeyer (20:55) and Becca Dowling (21:15) placed 22nd and 23rd, respectively, and each set personal best times for the season.

The Blue Devils took fourth in the team standings with 56, behind Norfolk Catholic (14), Crofton (47) and Plainview (51).

Wayne's boy JV team finished second behind Norfolk Catholic with 45 points.

Medalists for the Blue Devils were Reggie Ruhl (21:05) in seventh place and Taylor Nelson (21:16) in eighth.

Bill Smith ran for a 14-place finish in 21:56, with three Wayne runners, Eric Carstens (23:32), Max Wyrick (23:54) and Max Sharer (24:26) finishing the race in 16th-18th place.

Other finishes for the JV team were: Adam Munter (29) with 28:32 and Shaun Kardell (30) with 27:31.

WHS softball wins home tourney, still unbeaten

Kayla Hochstein scores a run in Saturday's game against Tekamah-Herman.

Hill adds another perfect game to career record; and pitches 51 strikeouts in the Wayne Invite Wayne posted three shutout games in home, tournament action played last Saturday.

The Blue Devils were sparked by three no-hitters by pitcher Molly Hill, who finished the tourney with 51 strikeouts.

Hill pitched a perfect game with no strikeouts, while Ashley Carroll went 2-for-4 and had a single, triple and an RBI in the tourney's 7-0 opening victory against Tekamah-Herman.

It was Hill's fourth perfect game of the season and extended her own all-class career state record for perfect games to eight during her Blue Devil pitching career.

Hill accomplished the feat while battling a sinus infection and quickly retreated to a warm blanket between her trips to the mound.

"Molly had a great day," Coach Rob Sweetland said. "She was not feeling the best, but it didn't show today."

Wayne scored a pair of runs in the third and five more in the fourth inning, while taking advantage of several Tekamah miscues.

Carroll, Jenny Raveling, Dawn Jensen, Brooke Anderson, Danica Carroll, Sarah Frerichs and Kayla Hochstein all scored runs for the Blue Devils.

Wayne 2, West Point CC 0

Hill had 19 strikeouts and Ashley Carroll went two-for-three with an RBI double and scored a run for the Blue Devils as Wayne stopped West Point CC 2-0 in the tourney's second game.

Raveling added Wayne's second run, with Hill, Frerichs, Anderson and Danica Carroll adding singles in the winning effort.

Wayne 4, North Bend Central 0

Hill matched her season high state record with 21 strikeouts and Frerichs went two-for-three with two runs as Wayne disposed of North Bend Central 4-0 in the championship game.

"I thought everyone contributed today," Sweetland said after the game. "It was nice to see Ashley Carroll have a good day hitting the ball hard and getting some extra base hits."

Other runs for Wayne were recorded by Hochstein and Jean Pieper, who also was credited with a stolen base for the Blue Devils.

Other scores from the tourney were: North Bend Central 2, West Point CC 1 and Tekamah-Herman 4, North Bend Central 3.

Johnna Olson placed top among Wayne State's golfers in last weekend's Southwest State University Invitational.

WSC golfers play in recent invites

A trio of Wayne State women golfers played in the two-day Mustang Invitational at Southwest State University last weekend.

With only three golfers, WSC didn't place in team rankings, so only individual scores were posted for the Wildcats.

Broken Bow sophomore Johnna Olson carded Wayne State's top score with a 199 to place 69th among the tournament's 85 golfers.

Jessi Jensen placed 75th with a two-day 209 and Keri Barelts took 80th with 217.

On Tuesday, the Wildcats traveled to Fremont to play in the 11-team Midland Lutheran Invitational at the Fremont Country Club.

Jensen golfed her season high with a 90 to finish in eighth in the individual standings.

WSC tallied a 403 to take sixth place, while Dakota Wesleyan took the team title with a 352.

Wayne's Monica Novak carded a 93 at the tournament while Olson and Barelts shot a 107 and 113, respectively.

The Wildcats travel to Lincoln Sunday and Monday for the Nebraska Wesleyan Invitational.

The Blue Devils came to life after a solo home run by Hochstein in the top of the seventh inning put Wayne on the scoreboard for the winning run.

Hochstein finished 2-of-3 at the plate, while Hill added another hit and struck out 19 Logan View batters.

"Logan View has been up and down this year," Sweetland said. "I knew they would be up for us. Kayla came up with another clutch hit and it seems like she has done it all year in close games."

Rebecca Meyer

Marathon champion has local relatives

A woman with ties to the Wayne community finished as champion of the Omaha Marathon last Sunday.

Rebecca Meyer of Fort Calhoun won the women's marathon title on the 26.2-mile course with a finish time of 3:18:04.

Meyer, 23, who is a radiologist in Omaha, was the first Nebraska woman to finish in the Boston Marathon and spent two years as a runner at Midland Lutheran College in Fremont.

Last year, Meyer competed in the Twin Cities Marathon in Minneapolis.

Meyer is the daughter of former Wayne residents Jim and Gloria Meyer, who both attended Wayne State College. Her father also graduated from Wayne High School.

Meyer's grandparents, Alvin and Viola Meyer, reside in Wayne, as do two of her uncles and aunts, Terry and Doris Meyer and Roger and Barbara Meyer.

Winside defeated in three

The Winside volleyball team suffered a three set 16-25, 8-25, 17-25 loss to Newcastle Thursday night bringing their season record to three wins and 11 losses.

Melyssa Deck led the Wildcat offensive effort with a pair of ace serves, three kills and a block.

Jamie Sellin also contributed to the Winside effort with two ace serves and a kill.

Jessica Hansen added two set assists and a pair of kills to the Wildcat scoring on the evening.

AHS falls to Dodge Pirates

It was a Pirate ambush in every sense of the word.

The Allen Eagles fell to 2-2 after a 45-0 shutout against Dodge on Friday night.

In the one-sided road contest, Coach Dave Uldrich said Allen was dominated in every facet of the game. He said Dodge used its size, speed and strength to defeat the Eagles.

The Eagles had little success passing or running the ball as the Pirates limited Allen to just 22 yards of total offense.

Dodge cranked out 208 offensive yards, but the biggest portion of the Pirate's yards came off kick-off returns, punts and interceptions with 280 total yards and three touchdowns.

Luke Sachau was credited with 10 yards to account for almost half of Allen's offensive output. Josh Malcom had four tackles to lead the Eagle defense, while Brandon Sands picked up a Dodge fumble.

Allen returns for a home game against Bloomfield at 7 p.m. on Saturday.

Wakefield dominates Winnebago

Wakefield improved to 4-0 with a 64-0 shutout of Winnebago in home action last Friday.

Taylor Peters started the scoring onslaught for the Trojans with touchdown runs of 51 and 31 yards in the first quarter.

Wakefield quarterback Aaron Klein connected with Brady Nicholson for a 13-yard touchdown reception to kick off what would be 25 more points for the Trojans in the second period.

Klein put two more touchdowns on the board for Wakefield with two runs from 48 and 9 yards out to add to Winnebago's woes.

Cody Miller punished the Winnebago offense when he picked off a pass and rambled 43 yards for another second quarter score for Wakefield.

Nicholson ran in for his next TD in the second half with a 40 yard dash to the endzone.

Joel Nixon also assisted in the Wakefield scoring frenzy with a pair of short runs in the third and fourth quarters.

Next up for the Trojans will be Laurel-Concord who will travel to Wakefield for Friday night's contest.

Now playing out West

Residents of The Oaks Retirement Community were entertained on Sept. 12 by Dick Clyde and his dog guide, Monroe. The Wayne Lions Club sponsored Clyde's program. Dick spoke on the benefits of having a service dog, the training and time that goes into each dog as well as the people who receive them. There are specific breeds of dogs, mostly Labs and German Shepherds. There are only a few schools in the United States that train the dogs. Clyde received his dog from a school in Washington. Young pups are specifically bred for this use and begin training at six months. Volunteers and 4-H'ers work with them until their formal training begins. After the dogs are trained, the visually impaired people who have applied for them and been accepted go to school with the dogs. All of the dogs are free and paid for by donations from individuals and organizations such as the Lions Club.

Elliott's work is featured at WSC

Work of Steven Elliott, Wayne State College assistant professor of art, is on display until Oct. 15 in the Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery on the Wayne State College campus.

The exhibit was inspired by Elliott's interest in military technology, satellite imagery, and the presentation of new media through digital photography.

Elliott teaches sculpture, design and drawing at Wayne State College. A native of Quantico, Va., he served in the U.S. Marine Corps and traveled extensively in more than 20 countries. He has a bachelor of fine arts degree in sculpture from the University of Kansas and a master of fine arts degree from the University of Maryland, College Park, where he taught sculpture, drawing and design.

His work has been recently exhibited in the Zone Gallery in Kansas City, Mo; the Delaware Center for Contemporary Art in Wilmington, Del.; the 38th Annual National Sculpture Show in Corpus Christi, Texas; the Lawrence Art Center in Lawrence, Kan., and Washington Square in Washington, D.C.

Dick Clyde and his guide dog, Monroe, were at The Oaks recently to provide a demonstration and information on what guide dogs are capable of doing. The event was sponsored by the Wayne Lions Club.

Winning the chore war

By Ruth Vonderohe,
Extension Educator
Cedar / Knox Counties

How many times do I have to remind you to clear the table after meals?

Sound familiar? Household jobs are a part of every family's daily life, yet they can create ongoing conflict. Give yourself a pat on the back if you assign your children chores. It helps them learn responsibility and create healthy homes.

Here's a few pointers for making the household chores easier on everyone.

Have a plan. It's best if kids have routine chores that they do at regular times.

For instance, clearing the table is done right after eating. The more you develop these routines the less reminding you will have to do. A poster, chart or job board can help kids stay focused.

Train and encourage your child as you give them a new job. First, you do the job, narrating as you work, while the child watches. Second, do the job together. Third, the child does the job while you watch, coach and encourage. Forth, the child is ready to go it alone.

Follow through. Once you decide on a plan, do your best to stick to it every day. If you allow excuses and delays then you will find yourself fighting with your child. If your child fights the routine, establish a consequence for failure to complete chores and follow through without anger or threats.

Here's a list of ideas to get you thinking about what your kids can do.

- Ages 2-3 - Put away toys. Help set the table.
- Ages 4-5 - Get the mail. Help make their bed. Feed pets.
- Ages 6-7 - Clear the table after meals. Pour their own drinks and get snacks. Empty wastebaskets.
- Ages 8-9 - Sweep or mop the floor. Load and run the dishwasher. Dust furniture.

Webster attends Outreach meeting for ELCA in Chicago

Lance Webster of Wayne recently returned from Chicago where he attended the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America's Board for the Division for Outreach meeting. Webster, who was elected to the Division for Outreach Board three years ago, was recently elected to the Board's Executive Committee. He is a member of Our Savior Lutheran in Wayne and is also on the E.L.C.A. Nebraska Synod Outreach Committee. He said his involvement with the Churchwide, synodical and congregational levels of the E.L.C.A. has given him a much broader perspective of the issues facing the church as a whole. The Division for Outreach Board spent the majority of their meeting discussing the proposed re-organizational plan for the E.L.C.A. Webster said the plan, as proposed would streamline the Churchwide structure and would facilitate information sharing between divisions. As with any large organization Webster said there is bureaucracy within the E.L.C.A. that hinders its function. He is hopeful that the new re-organization will address two concerns, reduced congregational attendance and reduced giving. Anyone can review the plan and offer comments by logging on to www.elca.org/planning

Life Chain to be held in Wayne

The eighth annual Life Chain will be held in Wayne on Sunday, Oct. 3 from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. The Tri-County Right to Life group is encouraging people from all walks of life to stand on the sidewalks of Wayne to be a pro-life witness. Fifty-three communities in Nebraska are planning to participate by praying and holding signs that read "Adoption: The Loving Option," "Jesus Forgives and Heals" and "Abortion Kills Children." Many do not realize that by the sixth week of pregnancy, brain waves are detectable and every organ is in place by the eighth week. Anyone interested in joining this peaceful, pro-life stand can pick up their signs at D&N Station in the southwest corner of Seventh and Main Streets in Wayne by 2:15 p.m. For more information, call (402) 287-2161 or 375-2469.

Briefly Speaking

Acme Club conducts meeting

AREA— All members of the Acme Club traveled to Laurel on Sept. 23 to have lunch at Mattie's Cafe. They then returned to Grace Lutheran Church for a business meeting. The minutes were read and approved and the treasurer's report was given and filed for review. Yearly dues were collected from each member. Birthday wishes were sung for Marj Summers, Delores Utecht and Mary Doescher. The next meeting will be Monday, Oct. 4 at 2 p.m. with Verdelle Reeg in her home. Yearbooks were previewed and will be presented at the next meeting.

Historian Hollis Freese read the Minerva constitution. The next meeting will be Monday, Oct. 11 at the home of Hallie Sherry. The club's theme this year is "Historical Highlights." Lutt part of cast in Augustana College Theatre production

Emily Lutt of Wayne is among the cast of students in Augustana College Theatre's production of "Antigone," one of the world's most popular Greek tragedies. Performances are Sept. 23-25, Sept. 30-Oct. 2. All performances begin at 7:30 p.m. on the main stage of Edith Mortenson Center. Tickets are $7 for adults, $5 for seniors and non-Augustana students/children, and $1 with a valid Augustana ID. The box office is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. Tickets can be reserved by calling 274-5320. Director Julia Bennett updates Sophocles' timeless classic about honor, courage and patriotism. Inside the beltway of modern Washington, D.C., the sons of Oedipus battle for power. When both brothers die in combat, the new ruler, Creon, denies burial to one of them, an enemy of the state. Their sister, Antigone, must decide if she will rebel against Creon's edict at the cost of her life, or turn her back on her family, the gods, and her honor. "I think it's particularly important at this time in our country's history to examine what it means to be a citizen in a democracy," Bennett said. "How should citizens participate in the democratic processes? Can one be said to be a patriot and yet disobey the law? And what is the difference between just a ruler and a tyrant?" The cast has spent time researching American politics, current events, and legislative policies

Weekly Health Tip
Lycopene and Women
 For years men have been informed of the role of lycopene (found in tomatoes and tomato products) in regard to lowering their risk of prostate cancer. New research indicates that women may derive health benefits from the nutrient as well. A recent study found that women with a diet rich in lycopene were 33% less likely to develop cardiovascular disease. The lycopene may combine with other components in the tomatoes to produce these results, therefore, getting the lycopene from food may be better than taking lycopene supplements.
