Winter driving safety tips shared

The Nebraska Department of Roads' crews are prepared for their annual battle with snow and ice and the will be out in full force when winter weather strikes.

However, there are several things that motorists can do to make winter travel safer on the roadways.

When traveling outside a business or residential district, it is unlawful to follow a highway maintenance vehicle (snowplow, truck or grader) more closely than 100 feet when it is plowing snow, spreading salt or sand or displaying a flashing amber or blue light. If conditions permit, however, drivers may pass a maintenance vehicle.

When following a maintenance vehicle:

- Maintain your distance to avoid collisions and damage from flying sand and salt.
- Move your vehicle to the left of your lane so the equipment operator can see you in the mirror.

- Snowplows cause soft snow to swirl, making it difficult to see the plow and for the plow operator to see you.
- Turn on your headlights and windshield wipers for additional visibility.
- Snow removal equipment may have to slow down, stop or back up. Beware!
- Do not pass until the snowplow reaches a clear area.
- Plowing snow on a multi-lane roadway is often done in tandem (more than snow plow at a time). Give them plenty of room. Do not pass on the right side and stay where the operator can see you.

Icy roads make it difficult to steer and stop. Drive at reduced speeds, giving yourself plenty of time and distance to react to the traffic around you. Slow down gradually when approaching curves and stops. Beware of icy spots, especially on bridges and in sheltered areas.

- Slick spots can form in places you least expect. Do not drive in wet or snowy weather with your cruise control on. That may prove extremely dangerous.
- It is always wise to keep headlights on, particularly during inclement weather. Make sure your headlights, tail lights and windows are clean so you can see and be seen.
- Motorists may use studded snow tires in Nebraska from Nov. 1 to April 1. School buses, emergency vehicles and mail carrier vehicles may use them anytime during the year.

Use well-traveled routes and allow plenty of time for arrival. Make sure your vehicle is in good working order and filled with fuel. Let someone know where you are going, when you are leaving and when you expect to return. Check often for current weather reports through the various media sources before you travel. Then, keep the radio on. Weather conditions change rapidly. So do the road conditions.

Keep a winter survival kit in your vehicle with some basic items, including an emergency first-aid kit; a shovel and small bag of sand; a three-pound coffee can, matches and candles; a snow brush, ice scraper and can of de-icer; blankets and dehydrated foods; signal flares, flashlights and extra batteries; battery-operated radio; spare tire and booster cables.

Giving thanks

In preparation for the Thanksgiving holiday, area students and others have taken time to remember those who first settled this country. At left and below, kindergarten students and their fourth grade pals had the traditional Thanksgiving meal at Wayne Elementary School. Bottom left, a cornucopia adorned the altar at St. Mary's Catholic Church for the annual Ecumenical Thanksgiving Service sponsored by the Wayne Ministerial Association. Pastor John Gradwohl presented the message at the service and told his audience his is thankful that the members of the community can work together peacefully.

Tour of Homes in Wakefield to be held Dec. 5

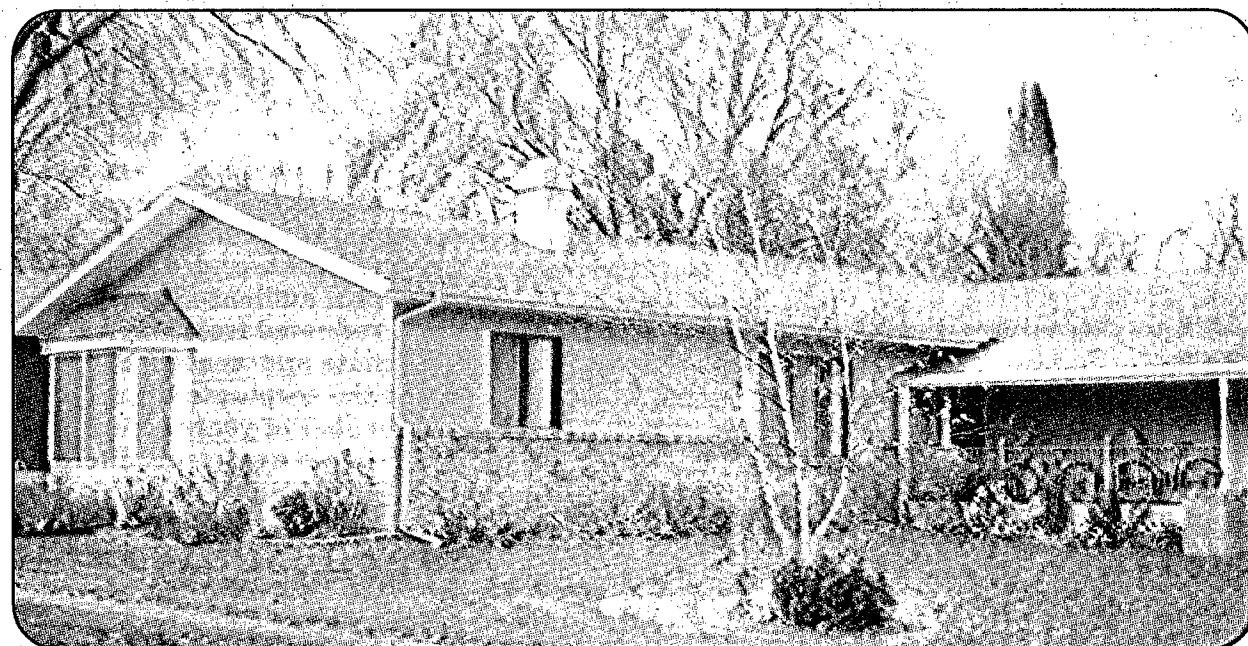

Wakefield Music Boosters will be offering a Holiday Tour of Homes on Sunday, Dec. 5 from 1 to 5 p.m. Six homes, including the Gardner Senior Center, will be featured. Special Wakefield High School musical small groups will share their talents.

Police break up fight

Shortly after 1 am on Friday, Nov. 19 the Wayne Police Department received a call from Riley's about a large fight in the parking lot. When officers arrived they discovered several people yelling at each other. The investigation revealed that a fight had allegedly occurred between Shea

Minor, 18, of Council Bluffs, IA and Casey Ide, 20, of Wayne. A third person, 18 year old Dane Petersen of Council Bluffs, IA allegedly became involved to help his friend, Shea Minor. All three of these persons were arrested for 3rd Degree Assault and Minor in Possession of Alcohol.

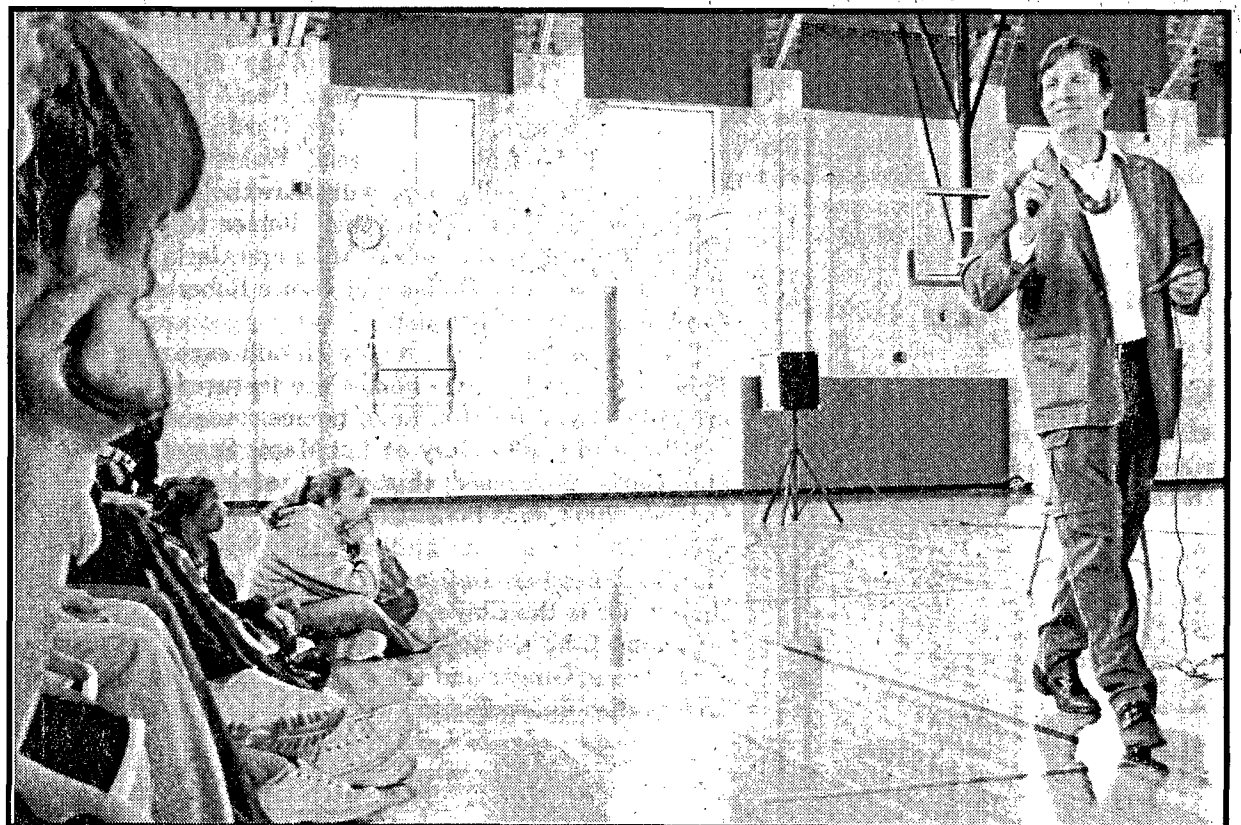

Charges of Public Indecency may also be filed against Shea Minor for an incident that happened at the Wayne Police Department after his arrest.

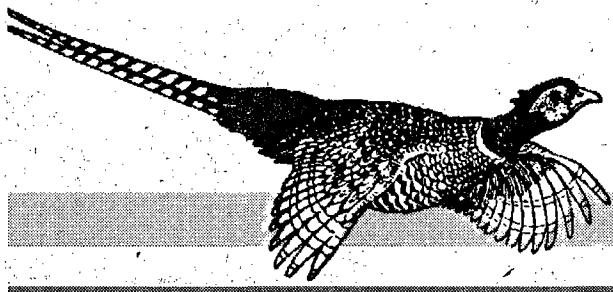

Casey Ide was cited and released. Minor, Petersen, Campfield, Carruthers and Downing were all held in the Thurston County Jail because they were from out of state with no ties to the Wayne area. All have posted bond and have been released.

Formal charges are pending in Wayne County Court.

Living a dream

Dean Jacobs, right, spoke to students at Wayne Middle School last week about his 22-month trip around the world. Jacobs told his audience that he graduated from Wayne State and that he had lived the corporate life for a number of years before deciding to experience life in other parts of the world. He told of his travels while living on $10 to $15 per day, often times through the generosity of those he met on the way. His presentation was part of the Living Above the Line program at the school.

Thanks to donors

Dear Editor,
We want to thank the 47 donors who registered Nov. 9 at Grace Lutheran Church. Forty units of whole blood were collected with two new donors.
The following donors reached the gallon mark at this drive:
Brooks Widner, 13 gallons; Leslie Allemann, eight gallons; Rhonda Sebade, seven gallons; Larry Sievers, four gallons; Mary Rose, two gallons; and Carl Lilienkamp and Adam Petersen, one gallon.
We also want to thank the ladies who brought the snacks.

Thanks for giving

Dear Editor,
Approximately six months ago, the Veterans organizations in Wayne decided they wanted to be active in Veterans serving Veterans. With that in mind, the Wayne AmVets initiated a campaign to provide care packages to area military personnel serving in Iraq.
The campaign has been so blessed with community support and individuals that the AmVets have been able to send out care packages each week. They currently have 10 servicemen they provide for. Sending packages to five one week and five the next week. Each Saturday morning at 9 a.m. you can catch these Veterans pouring over the goodies donated and selecting items for shipping.
Their most recent request for caps received great response. Word is from the fields of Iraq that the Iraqi children just love the caps. Donors to this portion have included Garst Seeds, White Dog Pub, Baier Auction, Farmers Mutual Insurance of Nebraska, Dennis and Nancy Junck. They are still seeking these caps as there are many children still without.

It is only appropriate during the season of Thanksgiving that we extend a heartfelt thank you to these Veterans serving Veterans and to the public for its support. From the kids of Blue Ribbon Winners 4-H Club, to Pamida, Heritage Express, Wayne Eagles, Winside American Legion Auxiliary, Bar M, and countless others who have dropped off items and/or cash to see that this program continues. The Wayne Herald for providing copies of the weekly paper for each box. It has worked out that we can send two papers per week since they provide 10 papers each week and we ship only five per week. So we have the current week and the previous week's issues we are sure the troops enjoy.
In mid-January, a fundraiser is being planned to build up the cash reserves as it does cost from $55 to $65 weekly to ship the packages. The snack items have been a big hit and will continue to be so. These include hard candy (wrapped individually), corn nuts, peanuts, mixed nuts, Pringles preferred (containers protect from crushing), beef jerky, Twizzlers, chewing gum, sunflower seeds, animal crackers (frosted), pretzels, salted peanuts in the shell, Tootsie Roll pops and candy. Not many toiletries are needed except toilet paper and a 4-roll pack is in each box each week.

Thank you to the Veterans who give a couple hours each Saturday to provide the care packages. Thank you to the public for your support throughout this campaign. Thank you to the businesses who offer discounts for items being shipped to the troops. More importantly, thank you to the fine young men and women who are in service to our Country and are doing everything possible to secure a safe and bright future for our children here at home but also for the Iraqi children. There is never enough thanks that will ever repay the sacrifices our troops endure so you and I can rest here at home. Thank you Troops and God Bless America.

Thanks for help

Dear Editor,
A big THANK-YOU to all the parents who assisted their child with reading during Children's Book Week, Nov. 15-19 at Wayne Elementary School.

Special thanks to Mr. Lutt and the great teachers and staff who helped make the week a great success. Thanks to Judy Poehlman, Barb Lutt and all the fourth graders for their help with the red, white and blue cupcakes.
Also, thank-you to Mrs. Jenkins' Kindergarten class for their red, white and blue song and to Mrs. Hansen's third grade for their choral reading about books performed during the Reading Assembly.

Very special thanks to McDonald's, Runza, and Taco's and More for the free coupons they provided for several students. It was a great week of reading!

Thanks again,

Thanks for helping

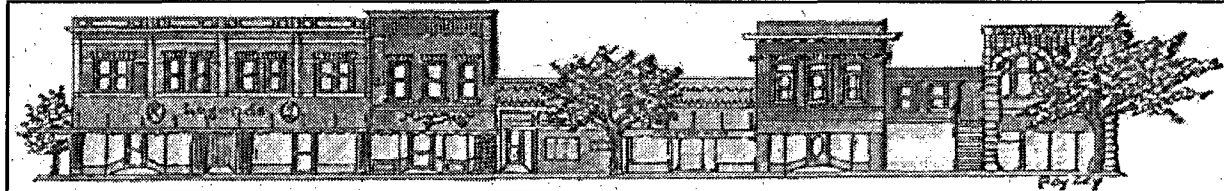

Dear Editor,
Siouxland Community Blood Bank wishes to thank those involved in the Grace Lutheran Church Blood Drive held Nov. 9. The donors and volunteers who contributed to the success of this blood drive deserve our gratitude. We would also like to thank you for the use of your facility and for your hospitality.
At your drive, we had 47 people register to donate with 40 units and whole blood collected. We also had two new donors! The following people need to be recognized for reaching a gallon mark at this drive.

- Brooks Widner 13 gallons
- Leslie Allemann 8 gallons
- Rhonda Sebade 7 gallons
- Larry Sievers 4 gallons
- Mary Bose 2 gallons
- Carl Lilienkamp 1 gallon
- Adam Petersen 1 gallon

We would like to thank everyone who donated for his or her commitment to giving the gift of life.

Siouxland Community Blood Bank exists to make a difference in people's lives by providing a safe and adequate supply of blood components and related services to 32 area hospitals. We could never accomplish our mission without the continued help and enthusiasm of communities like Wayne. Thank you to donors and volunteers for your assistance and support in saving lives right here in our community.

Sincerely,

Main Street Focus

The most frequently raised question heard by us since Leo Ahmann has left his position at Main Street Wayne to assume the Executive Director's position at the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce is to the effect of "how are things going at Main Street Wayne?" Main Street Wayne is "alive and well!"
Many people have stepped up to assume a greater role and more tasks in the organization. From our perspective we see a rekindled energy and enthusiasm and a sense of mission among the members of Main Street. We believe that this has come about as a realization that is necessary for more people to step up to share in the work load so that the Main Street can remain an effective and dynamic organization in the community.

It can best be described in this way: "Cooperation to achieve goals that benefit all... commitment to ensuring our future by preservation of the past... hard work... a strong volunteer... these are the hallmarks of the Main Street Program."

As the weeks go on, and if we are allowed, we will explain the various facets of Main Street Wayne in this column so that all could have a better feel for the importance of Main Street to the community of Wayne. However, time, space and urgency don't allow us to start today.

Will Nelson get appointment?

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

People involved in Nebraska politics paid close attention last week when there was speculation about the chances of U.S. Sen. Ben Nelson being named Secretary of Agriculture.

By the time you sit down with your local newspaper and give this piece a read, the issue might well have been decided.

When CNN reported that the top aide to President Bush had talked with Democrat Nelson about taking charge of the USDA, it jostled memories in this corner of something that happened last July.

Undersecretary of Defense Paul Wolfowitz was talking to a Chamber of Commerce confab in Omaha. You will recall that Wolfowitz is the king of the necons, and an architect of the war in Iraq. During his Omaha appearance, Wolfowitz said the war was worth fighting, even if weapons of mass destruction were not found.

Then, with Republican Gov. Mike Johanns and other GOP types within touching distance, Wolfowitz complimented Nelson for the "great fairness, great judgment and great bipartisanship" he had displayed as a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

He turned to Nelson and said: "Thank you, Ben."

For a moment it seemed that Wolfowitz might pin a good conduct medal on Nelson's lapel.

When speculation about Nelson joining the Bush cabinet surfaced, the homage from Wolfowitz came to mind.

A Nelson cabinet appointment would allow appointment of a Republican to take his place, increasing the GOP majority by one. It would reflect a Bush effort to "reach out" to Democrats in the wake of a mean-spirited election season. It would put a former farm-state governor at the USDA. And, it would indicate that the president is courteous to those who have been courteous to him.

The following assessment was included in a report published by the University of Nebraska concerning various aspects of the state's economy.

The observations are sound, and people interested in government, and especially in government spending, should be aware of them.

"Despite several attempts to curb the expansion of local government employment in Nebraska, growth has continued. The expansion of local government jobs roughly mirrors population growth. It is likely that this relation will continue in the long-term.

The State government has had to respond to growing demands in programs mandated to the states by the federal government. For example, the rising cost of health care is reflected in the rising state budgets for Medicare and Medicaid. Demands for state support of its university system will continue to rise as the cost of education continues to mount."

The realities reflected in the above observation should be kept in mind.

News and Notes from the Wayne Chamber and Industries:

This is my first column as the Interim Executive Director of the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce, Wayne Industries.

What can you look forward to? Information, thank yous, requests and a little personal 'stuff'.

I want this to be a column you enjoy reading and at the same time, get solid information on what the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce and Wayne Industries are doing and what is going on in the community.

The first of the collaboration/consolidation meetings was held on Wednesday, Nov. 17. It was attended by 46 people, representing the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce, Wayne Industries and the Main Street Wayne Program.

Deb Bacon of Gothenburg spoke first on the consolidation process that took place in Gothenburg.

Mary Plettner, NPPD Economic Development Consultant, facilitated the second portion of the meeting regarding goal setting for the three entities. A second meeting is scheduled for Dec. 10. At that meeting, three representatives of each group and a city representative will meet to discuss structure, financing and other issues facing this process.

Chamber promotes local shopping

Can't decide or maybe have no idea what to get someone on your holiday gift list? Don't want to drive all over town seeking ideas for the "hard to please"?

Your worries are over!

The Retail Taskforce of your Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce has recently established a "Holiday Hotline" to help shoppers find holiday gifts in Wayne. As part of the "SHOP WAYNE" promotion to encourage local shopping during the holiday season the chamber has compiled a list of specialty gifts, hard to find gifts and gift ideas for the hard to please with the help of participating merchants.

Interim Director for the chamber, Leo Ahmann says "the list of items available in Wayne is extensive and highlights the fact that you can find what you want" in our community. Our home town retailers provide candles, handmade wooden farm toys, doll furniture, power tools, gourmet coffees, personalized calendars, wine baskets, unique designed jewelry, unique cookbooks, pet grooming and boarding gift certificates, pay-per-view movie coupons, cell phone hands-free kits, mirrors, mantle clocks, collectible toys, custom food gift baskets, decorated cakes, holiday decorations, specially seasoned pork roasts, fashion scarves, novelty handbags, video rentals, bird houses, fresh flowers, plants, yearbooks, car wash tokens, and gift certificates for car clean-up...and this is just a small portion of available gift items!"

To take advantage of this promotion, shoppers are encouraged to call the Chamber at 375-2240; Monday through Friday, 8 am to 12 pm and 1 pm to 5 pm. Staff members will help refer you to a participating merchant (identified by a storefront sign) who carries an item you are looking for.

Participating merchants include: Antiques on Main, Braun Toys, Carhart Lumber, The Coffee Shoppe, Copy Write/Keepsake Video & Framing, Diamond Center / Flowers & Wine, The Final Touch, Four Paws Grooming & Boarding, HunTel CableVision/HunTel Cellular, Ideal Interiors, Northeast Equipment Company, Pac 'N' Save, Pamida, Rain Tree Drive-In Liquor, St. Mary's School, Snakey Jakes, Swans Apparel, Twin Theatre/Hollywood Video, The Wayne Greenhouse, Wayne High School and WHS Store, Wayne Veterinary Clinic and Winning Finish.

The Chamber will have a few extra lists of gift items available for interested shoppers. Feel free to stop at the office, 103 W. 3rd Street to review the list and remember to "SHOP WAYNE"!

State Patrol gets $750,000 to combat meth, respond to emergencies

Methamphetamine dealers and other criminals will have a tougher go of it in Nebraska after the State Patrol receives $750,000 to beef up its efforts to combat the meth problem and update its dispatch system, Nebraska's Senator Ben Nelson said today.

"There is never a lull in the fight against meth in Nebraska and the State Patrol is about to get some help," said Senator Nelson. "We are providing funds to enhance the State Patrol's ability to fight meth and improve its system of dispatching officers to respond to emergencies."

The fiscal year 2005 Omnibus Appropriations Conference Report passed by the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives over the weekend includes $500,000 for the State Patrol's anti-meth efforts and $250,000 to implement their Computer Aided Dispatch System.

Nebraska continues to face a growing methamphetamine problem and the State Patrol is pursuing an intense, multi-faceted effort to address the presence of clandestine methamphetamine labs, distribution of methamphetamine and the need for treatment of methamphetamine abusers. The $500,000 will be used to:

- a) enhance methamphetamine enforcement and response in the form of personal protective gear and updated surveillance vehicles,
- b) enable lab enhancements through the purchase of improved lab instruments, and

c) support drug court operations by funding counseling services, short-term participant housing and after care treatment.

The State Patrol will use the $250,000 to implement the Computer Aided Dispatch (CAD) System. The CAD system provides the ability to integrate and exchange data between agencies along with a records management system to track incident calls, officer assignment, etc. All of which will enhance the Nebraska State Patrol's ability to respond to emergency, homeland security and transportation issues.

Police are called to underage drinking party

On Saturday night, Nov. 20, the Wayne Police Department received two citizen reports of an underage drinking party in the 200 block of Blaine Street. When officers responded shortly before 11:00 pm they found 31 minors, ranging in age from 15 to 18, drinking at the party. All 31 minors will be formally charged with Minor in Possession/Consumption of Alcohol in the near future. A 21 year old, Dylan Rhode has been arrested for Procuring Alcohol for Minors, for allegedly providing the keg of beer at the party. Formal charges against Mr. Rhode are pending in Wayne County Court. Wayne Police Chief Lance Webster said he expects a further Procuring Alcohol for Minors charge and a Sale of Alcohol at Retail; Prohibited charge will be filed against the hostess of the party. Officers confiscated one beer keg and tap and over two cases of canned beer.

Ribbon cutting of the new walking trail in Wayne was held Nov. 19. The first phase of the project runs from Henry Victor Park on South Main Street, under the bridge over Logan Creek and along the east side of Wayne up to Wayne State College.

Looking back, the city council received $487,000 in federal gas tax funds through the Transportation Enhancement Program of the Nebraska Department of Roads (Trail program) and $59,000 from the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District for the trail. The city was required to pay 10 percent of the cost of the design and construction of the trail. In 2002, the council postponed their annual $40,000 budget allocation for residential sidewalk districts for five years to build a couple of segments of trail while state funding is available.

According to Jim Pearson of the Nebraska Department of Roads and program administrator for several federal programs, (the Transportation Enhancement Program is one of them), the city of Wayne will receive another $500,000 for Phase II of the walking trail project. When the project is finished, the trail will encircle the city.

Thinking about pedestrian trails, they started becoming popular in the U.S. in the '70s and '80s when the Library/Senior Center, the day care center, and the city auditorium renovation projects also were proposed," said Lowell Johnson, Wayne city administrator. "Pedestrian trails are also part of the 1992 Wayne Comprehensive Plan. The council was discussing trail projects when I began working for the city in 2000."

As for the trail in Wayne, the mayor and council sponsored a series of town hall meetings in the council room and let interested people propose ideas for possible routes. The council appointed a trail committee to organize those ideas and consolidated them into a master plan. The council asked the committee to have as much of the trail on public property as possible with as little inconvenience as possible and to go to interesting places.

In the summer of 2002, the council submitted an application for Department of Roads cost share funding to build a segment of trail from the master plan and proposed a route that closely matches Phase I on the master plan. The Department of Roads approved that route for funding.

Johnson said that for the segments of the trail that were on private property, they contacted the owners and asked for donation of a permanent easement to build the trail and property owners were very generous in their support.

There are numerous benefits to having a walking trail. The trails program is one of the newer forms of recreation available to the public. Walking and bicycling have health benefits and the trails enable users to access interesting, educational, relaxing places that haven't had much previous access.

According to Pearson, who has been involved in seeing that federal gas tax funds are distributed to walking trails and other projects across Nebraska, there is increased property value for residents nearby a trail.

Both the Department of Roads and the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District have also helped other cities with funding for recreational needs. Several of those local cities include Wakefield, Laurel, Norfolk and Pierce.

Questions about the walking trail in Wayne can be directed to the city offices at 375-1733.

Marissa Roney, left, expresses her frustration with the person who is planning to jump off the tower in the Wayne High School production of 'Help.' A public performance is scheduled for Monday, Nov. 29 at the school.

Wayne High to present 'Help'

The Wayne High School One-Act team will perform the selection "Help" by David G. Grote on Monday, Nov. 29 in the F.R. Haun Lecture Hall at the high school.

Open to the public, the performance will begin at 7 p.m.

Later that same week, the team will be participating in the B-4 District One-Act Contest at Wayne State College's Ramsey Theater. Performance time is set for Friday, Dec. 3 at 11:30 a.m.

WSC women open season with wins

The Wayne State women's basketball team upped its season record to 3-0 with a pair of wins at the Colorado School of Mines Classic last weekend and a victory against Peru State in the Wildcat's home opener on Nov. 17.

WSC 88, Peru State 55

Nicole Gruntorad was one of two new Wildcat team members that was expected to make an immediate impact on this season's team.

The Nebraska-Kearney transfer led WSC with 19 points in an 88-55 rout of Peru State in Wayne State's season opener at home on Nov. 17.

The junior hit 6-of-10 shots from the field, including five-of-eight three pointers to pace the Wildcats. All 12 of WSC's players tallied scores in a game that saw the squad take a commanding 21-6 lead with 7:14 seconds left in the first half.

"I thought we had some moments, defensively, where we were pretty intense and that's something we pride ourselves on," coach Ryan Williams said. We showed signs of being a pretty good defensive team tonight."

WSC took a 35-20 halftime lead and dominated the Bobcats 53-35 after intermission en route to the 88-55 victory.

Erin McCormick and Kristen Humphries also scored in double figures with 11 and 10 points, respectively.

McCormick was WSC's leading rebounder with seven, while Amanda Covington pulled down six for the Wildcats.

Allison Steffen added 13 points and paced the team with eight rebounds and two blocks.

The Wildcats trailed by three after a shaky first half but chipped away in the second half to hold on for the win.

"We seemed as if we lost our composure in the first half but I was proud of the girls and how they bounced back," Williams said following the game. "It is always difficult to win on the road and especially in a place like this."

WSC 77, Colorado Christian 48

Ryan Williams became the second most winningest women's basketball coach in Wayne State coaching victories last Saturday as the WSC women downed Colorado Christian 77-48 in the Colorado School of Mines Classic.

Williams currently posts a 97-71 record as head coach at WSC.

The Wildcats claimed the win with impressive play from the bench who stepped up to add 12 treys and 55 points to spark the WSC victory.

Lauren Gustafson, a sophomore, came into the game to score 20 points, including four-of-seven three-pointers to lead the Wildcats.

Another backup player, Ashley Arndorfer contributed 17 points on her five treys and freshman center Amanda Covington added 10 points for the Wildcats.

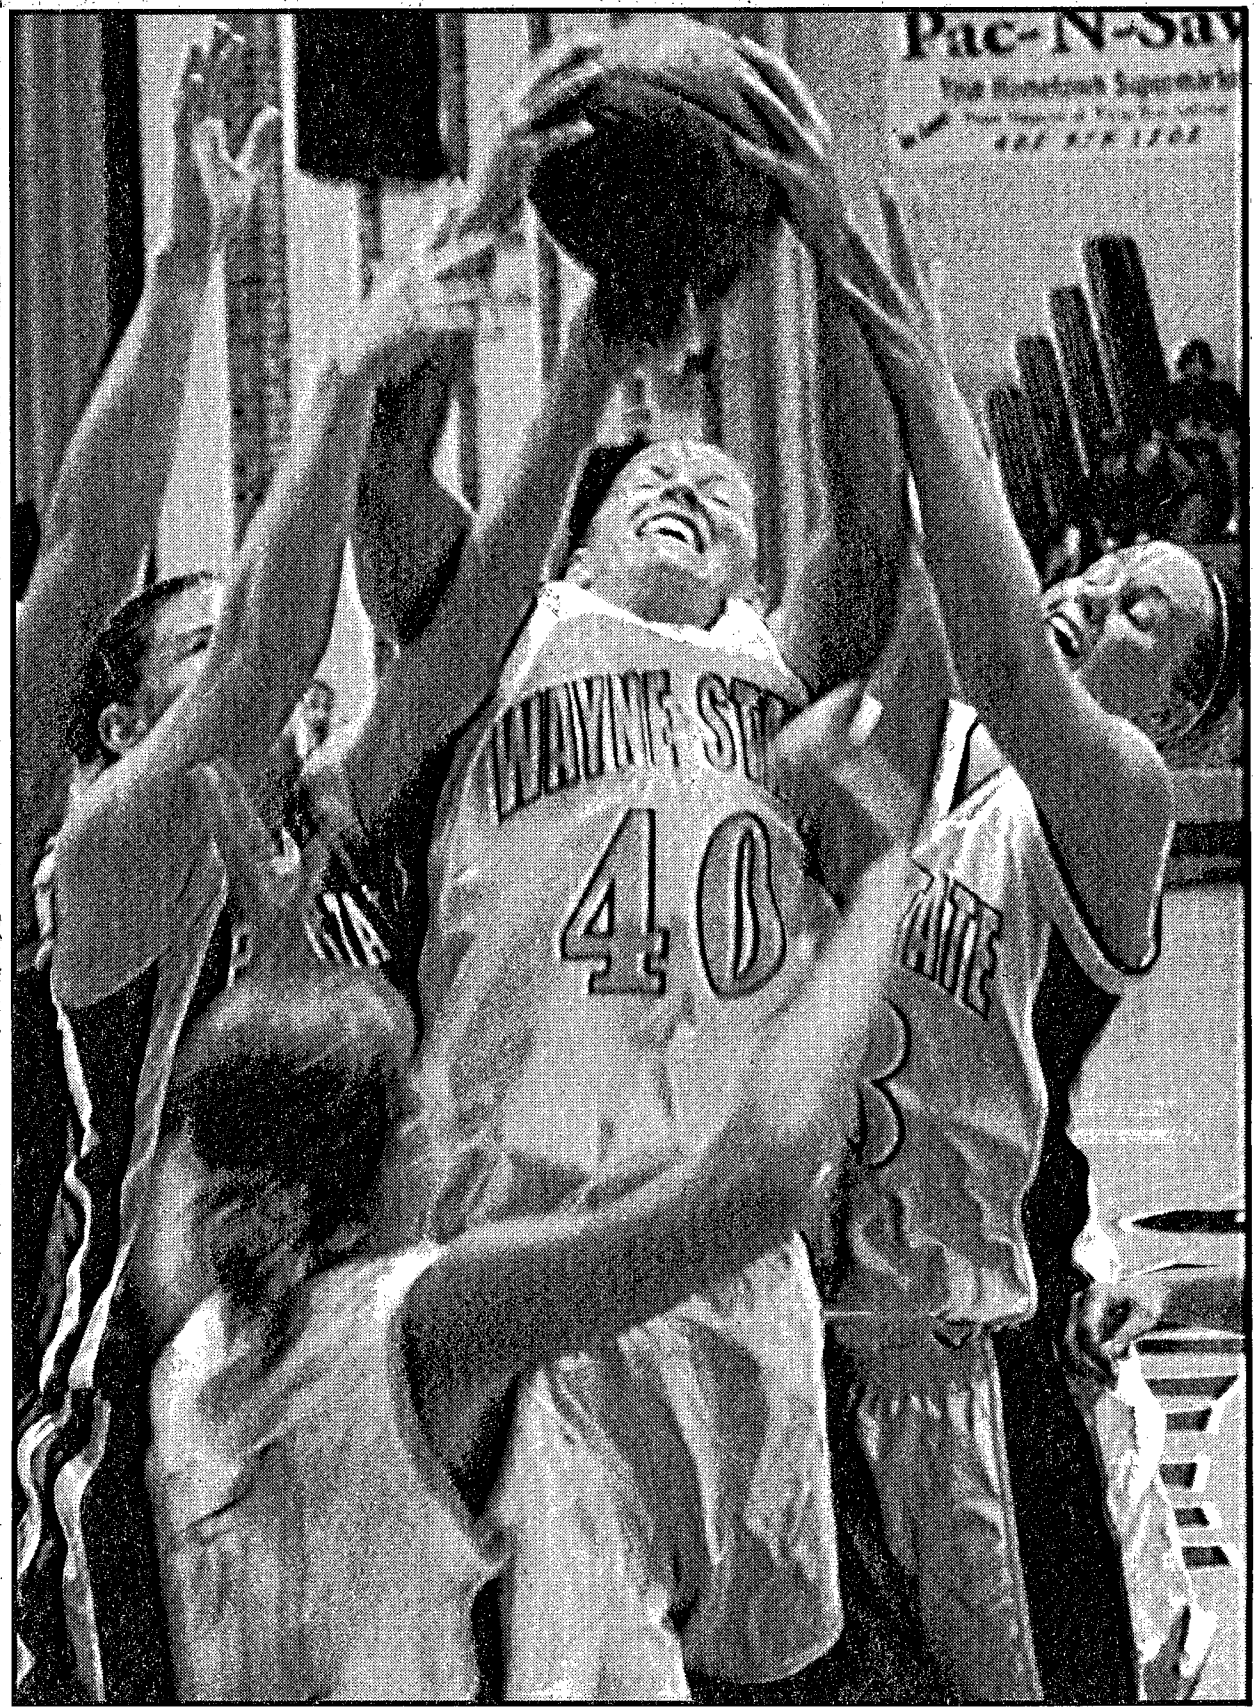

Wayne State was a perfect 15-of-15 from the free throw line.

The Wildcats were scheduled to host York College earlier this week.

WSC professor pens Iowa basketball book

By David W. Carstens
Of the Herald

Winter sports are just about ready to enter a new season and soon gyms across the nation will be filled with the sights and sounds that make high school basketball an American legend.

The timing for release about a book concerning girls' basketball couldn't be better.

After all, it's been a decade since Wayne State College assistant professor Dr. Max McElwain began research on the history of six-player girls' basketball in Iowa.

His research about the sport that saw its demise in the early 1990s originally was to be part of his doctorate dissertation at the University of Kansas.

McElwain's original study was embodied in a 480-page thesis that examined almost every possible angle of the unique sport.

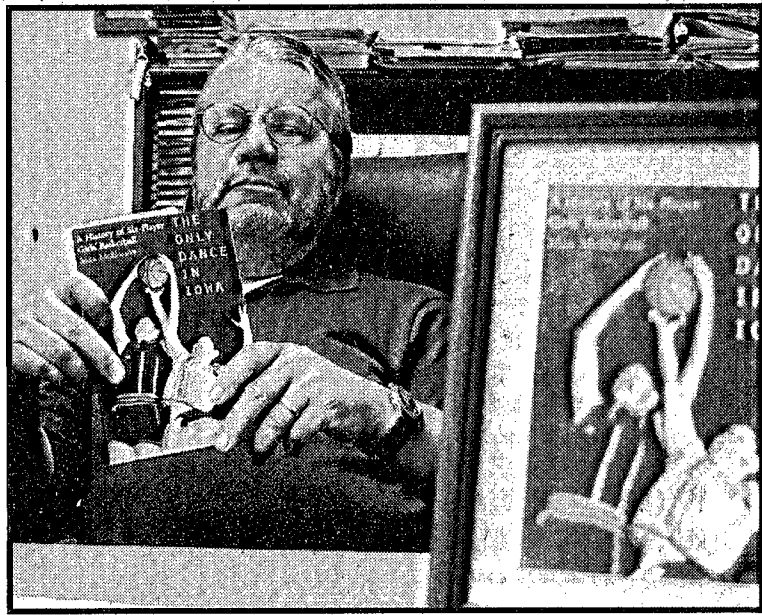

It was from that work that the idea to write book about the sport that existed in the Hawkeye State for nearly a century, McElwain said.

His completed book, "The Only Dance in Iowa, released by the University of Nebraska Press, offers readers a 192-page glimpse into what once involved more than 70-percent of girls in Iowa's high schools. "The thing that was so memorable about this game was that it was such a prolific part of these women's lives," McElwain said. "In the life of Iowans, it was really a big event."

His work on the book consisted of interviews, newspaper accounts and other research that took almost a decade from start to finish.

The grand scale of the sport was evidenced in the girls' four-day state tournament played at Veterans Auditorium in Des Moines.

McElwain said 15,000 fans per session would regularly make the tournament a sellout and even would eclipse the attendance at the boys' tournament games.

Wayne State associate professor Max McElwain recently released a new book about the history of six-player girls' basketball in Iowa.

The author said he will be the first to admit that his book was written to challenge the reader as it seeks to provide more than an historical rundown of events. He examines the social and political avenues, as well.

The passage of the Educational Act of 1972, commonly referred to as Title IX, was one of the factors contributing to the sport's demise, he said.

Title IX legislation required schools benefitting from federal aid to provide equal opportunities for both boys and girls sports.

That challenge, combined with the eventual cry for schools to establish five-player squads, like those at the collegiate level, drained the life out of six-player ball.

McElwain's book also goes back to the early days of the sport when a conservative America found girls' athletics to be inappropriate.

"In the early days, educators and politicians said they didn't want girls playing sports," he said. "Years later, it was the same kind of people that wanted girls to play with five-players to be equal with the guys. The irony is that these were the same kind of people that were trying to do away with it."

In the sunset of the sport that featured three forwards and three guards, the smaller schools tried to preserve six-player, but eventually the five-player game won out.

"In six-player rules, the guards couldn't shoot," McElwain explained. "There was no way a girl playing guard could get a scholarship because she had never shot the ball before."

The author conducted a special book signing at Wayne State College earlier this week.

"Since we are close to the Iowa border, there are a lot of people in this area that are curious about six-player ball," he said. "I'm pleased to be in a position to talk about it."

Wayne State drops first two contests of season

Wayne State's men's basketball team went 0-2 in season opening road games against North Dakota and Northern Iowa last week.

North Dakota 81, WSC 76

The Wildcats couldn't overcome a five-point halftime deficit and overtake the University of North Dakota in a 81-76 road last Thursday.

WSC shot 43.5-percent from the field and were led by Brett Cain who scored 20 points and was credited with nine rebounds for the Wildcats.

"Our kids played really hard and were in the game during the closing minutes," WSC coach Rico Burkett said. "They battled back and I commend them for their efforts. Unfortunately we couldn't hit the buckets when we needed them."

Dusty Smith and Brett Watson each drained three treys and had 13 points for WSC, while Watson pulled down nine grabs to tie Cain in rebounds.

Smith also tallied 4 assists for the Wildcats.

Other scoring for Wayne State included Todd Klostermann with 10 points and Derek Archer and Dallas Hodges each connecting for nine.

The Wildcats were 8-of-13 from the free throw line for 61.5-percent on the night.

The game marked the first regular season game played at the school's new Betty Engelstad Sioux Center.

Northern Iowa 84, WSC 66

Wayne State trailed by nine at halftime but Northern Iowa pulled ahead in the second period to notch a 84-66 win against the Wildcats in action at the UNI Dome in Cedar Falls, Iowa on Sunday.

The Wildcats competed against the NCAA Division I Panthers who are coached by former Wayne State head coach, Greg McDermott.

WSC took an early 7-1 lead in the opening minutes of the contest and exchanged leads throughout the first period, before the Panthers started to pull away.

UNI put together a run just before intermission to extend its lead.

WSC was able to shorten the gap 45-39 with 15:40 left in the contest, but a 16-6 run sealed the win for the Panthers.

Watson led the Wildcats with 15 points, while Klostermann added 12 and Cain, Archer and Hodges each finished with nine points.

The Wildcats were scheduled to play the home opener this Tuesday against York College, with game results delayed for publication until next week's Herald because of the early holiday deadline.

Wayne State College places 32 athletes on All-Academic team

Wayne State College placed 32 student athletes on the Northern Sun Conference Fall All-Academic Team announced last week.

WSC placed the second highest number of students from one school named to the team, trailing only Winona State's 39 selections.

All seven fall sports at Wayne State College had at least three student-athletes chosen for the award.

To be eligible for the team, a student-athlete must be a member of the varsity/traveling team and have a cumulative grade point average of 3.20 or better.

Honorees also must have reached sophomore academic and athletic standing at the institution represented with one full year completed at that particular school.

The following is a listing of Wayne State fall athletes selected for the NSIC Fall All-Academic Team.

Football team members named were: Jake Moritz,

Zach Molacek, J.J. Nelson, Adam Peterson, Andrew Pohlmeier, Jake Robinson, J.R. Rother and Eric Wells.

Women's golf honorees were: Keri Barels, Jessi Jensen and Monica Novak.

Those representing the WSC mens' golf team were: Kyle Lindstrom, Jason Love and Mike Varley.

Named to the volleyball team were: Michelle Eckhardt, Libby Nelson, Lani Recob, Chelse Schultz and Jacey Kuck Schwarz.

Athletes from the women's cross country team were: Angie Kraus, Nicole McCoy, Erin Norenberg and Haley Reeves.

Women's soccer team members on the team were: Melissa Benson, Michaela Blaylock, Andrea Haig, Tanya Mitchell, Kelly Peterson and Lindsay Wood.

Those named from the men's cross country team were: Ben Crabtree, Jeremiah Herron and Troy Schaaf.

Junior High teams start season

The Wayne Junior High girls seventh and eighth grade teams picked up wins in the first game of the season against Schuyler on Nov. 18. Riley Hoffart scored five points and pulled down six rebounds to lead the seventh grade team to an 18-16 win. Others scoring for the team were: Jessica Calhoun 4, Shannon Jarvi 3, Kayla Grone 2 and Tess Moser 2.

"The team played really hard and had some good looks, but just didn't get some shots to fall," coach Brad Hoskins said.

Wayne's eighth grade team also won its contest 26-24. Nicole Rauner scored nine points, while Megan Nissen added eight.

Other Wayne scorers included Morgan Campbell with seven points and Alesha Finkey with two. Campbell and Finkey paced the team with nine and five rebounds, respectively.

"The team played hard, stayed under control, and did a nice job of making adjustments as the game progressed," coach Dale Hochstein said.

Next action for the teams will be at Cedar Catholic on Nov. 30.

Heather Rabe

Rabe leads Lancer team in volleyball

Heather Rabe, a 5-5 senior from Winside and current starter with the Mount Marty Lancer volleyball team in Yankton, S.D., recently was named libero of the week for the Great Plains Athletic Conference.

Rabe recorded 515 of the Lancers' 2,251 total digs this season and currently holds the school's record for total career digs.

She was also recently named to the GPAC honorable-mention team for this past season, which Mount Marty finished 10-20 and 4-12 in conference play.

During her school career, Rabe has been named to the school's Deans List for the past 3 1/2 years and will graduate in May 2005 with a degree in English and History.

Rabe is the daughter of Jerry and Susie Rabe, granddaughter of Arthur and Arlene Rabe, all of Winside, and LeRoy Hammer and the late Evelyn Hammer of Wakefield.

Junior High wrestlers begin meets

The Wayne Junior High winter wrestling season is now under way. Three returning wrestlers, Trent Doescher, Zach Long and Ryan Pieper will return to the team this season.

Other members of the squad that's coached by Gary Redden, include: Daniel Foster, Nate Hanson, Levi Kenny, Jarred Klassen and Logen Owens.

In triangular action in Plainview on Nov. 11, Doescher placed second to lead Wayne, while Kenny placed third and Owens and Pieper each finished in fourth place.

Redden said the team features mostly lightweight classes this season with the average team weight at 112 pounds.

The team competed at Howells last weekend and took sixth out of eight squads.

Pieper claimed first placed, with Long taking second.

Third-place finishers were Doescher, Hanson, Kenny and Owens.

Klassen and Foster also competed last weekend, but fell short to qualify for the consolation round.

"Overall the team wrestled well," Redden said. "They are starting to catch on and realize that practice is where they improve their skills."

The team was scheduled to travel to Norfolk Catholic this week.

Despite the "rumors" you have probably heard, Frank Wood is not retiring. In the future, you will see some new faces (and one old one), but our overall plan for our company has not changed. That plan is to continue providing you, the customer, with the same professional and quality service that we have for the past 27 years.
We look forward to doing business with you in the future and wish you and your families a happy holiday season.
Sincerely,
WOOD PLUMBING & HEATING
Frank & Jean Wood

Fall Concert

The instrumental departments of Wayne High School and Wayne Middle School presented their annual Fall Concert last week. Among the groups performing were the Varsity and Cadet Bands from Wayne High School, the sixth grade band and the seventh and eighth grade band from Wayne Middle School. Above, the combined Varsity and Cadet Bands perform music from this fall's marching competition. The students are under the direction of Brad Weber and Keith Kopperud.

Christmas Fair on Dec. 4 adds carnival

A wide assortment of items to complete your holiday gift giving will be offered to area residents at this year's First United Methodist Church Christmas Fair at 6th and Main in Wayne. New to the fair are carnival games for young shoppers. Hours for the fair on Saturday, Dec. 4 will be from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Shoppers are asked to use the north door of the church.

In addition to various booths, the fair will once again feature a hot turkey dinner that will be served at the church from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. For those that shop early and want a meal to go, they may be purchased at the church and taken home. The dinner may also be delivered to your home or office free of charge.

This year's menu includes a hot turkey sandwich, mashed potatoes and gravy for $4.50; half portions for $3; cold turkey sandwiches for $2.50; pie for $1.50; and coffee or milk for 50 cents. Those wishing to have their food delivered may place orders as early as 9 a.m. with delivery beginning at 11 a.m. Call the Methodist Church at 375-2231 after 9 a.m. that Saturday morning to place your order.

For those dining at the church, live music will fill the halls of the Methodist Church as performers of all ages provide a little shopping music and dinner entertainment.

This year's fair will feature the following booths: Silent Auction: Many items that have been donated are in this booth. Shoppers are assigned a number and can bid on the items they want to purchase. Bidding begins at the sound of the bell, 10 a.m. sharp and concludes promptly at 2 p.m. You may come back and check your bid and rebid as many times as you like during that time.

Christmas Cake Walk: Have a little of fashion fun and buy a chance to win a decorated cake or Christmas goodie.

The Taste of Christmas: Shoppers may purchase homemade pies, cakes, breads, rolls, cookies, candies, eggs, canned goods, jellies and jams.

Homespun crafts: Sewn, crocheted, and knitted items, embroidery, cross-stitch and other needlework will be featured, along with wood work and decorator items.

The Attic: Fantastic gently used treasures of every kind may be purchased at the Attic.

Sugar & Spice: For a small fee, sugar cookies may be decorated by individuals of all ages. There will be a limited number of plates of decorated cookies for sale the day of the fair, but they will be available if you'd like to place an order.

Mission Corsages: A $1 donation to missions will entitle the shopper to a bright, colorful ribbon corsage. This is a special way to say "Thanks," "I Love You," or "I'm Glad We're Friends."

A Sharp Idea: A wide assortment of knives will be on display and available for purchase. If you're looking for a compliment to any gift, you will find a variety of boxed cards to purchase as well.

Carnival Games: For those young shoppers, we've added carnival games to keep the little tykes busy while you are enjoying your Christmas Fair shopping.

The Christmas Fair proceeds go to the First United Methodist Women's Group for their local and world wide missions. If you'd like to bake for the cake walk or donate items for the Attic or Silent Auction, please contact Steph Schoh at 833-5331 and arrangements will be made to pick them up or get them delivered to the church.

Any questions may be directed to the church at 402-375-2231.

Klemme graduates from basic training

Army National Guard Pvt. Katie E. Klemme has graduated from basic combat training at Fort Jackson, Columbia, S.C.

During the nine weeks of training, the soldier studied the Army mission, history, tradition and core values, physical fitness, and received instruction and practice in basic combat skills, military weapons, chemical warfare and bayonet training, drill and ceremony, marching, rifle marksmanship, armed and unarmed combat, map reading, field tactics, military courtesy, military justice system, basic first aid, foot marches, and field training exercises.

Klemme is the daughter of Anne Berns of Highland St., Wakefield.

She is a 2004 graduate of Wakefield Community High School.

'Star of Christmas' Planetarium Show to be shown at Wayne State

A holiday planetarium show, "Star of Christmas," is set to be shown at Wayne State College on Dec. 5, 12 and 19. The show begins with a view of the evening skies of December, containing some of the brightest stars of any season.

"After looking at the modern skies, the show takes the audience back two thousand years to explore the astronomical and historical events surrounding the 'Star of Christmas,'" said Carl Rump, director of the Fred G. Dale Planetarium at Wayne State College.

All shows will be held on Sunday afternoons at 3:30 p.m. in the planetarium located at the south entrance of the Carhart Science Building on the Wayne State campus. There is no admission charge. Special showings for school groups and other organizations may be arranged by contacting the planetarium at 402-375-7343.

A little help from their friends

Head Start students have been learning about the five senses this week. Their fifth grade friends from Wayne Middle School helped them listen and write sounds down that they heard outside.

Campus Showcase to feature holiday traditions

A special holiday program is planned for "Campus Showcase" at Wayne State College on Friday, Dec. 3.

The program, which will begin at 9 a.m., will be held in Anderson Hall lobby, located across the street south of Rice Auditorium on the Wayne State campus.

The December program will have an international flair, featuring Wayne State students from Russia, Nepal, Venezuela, and Mexico who will share their countries' holiday customs and traditions.

In addition, the program will include a holiday reading, music, birthday and holiday drawings, as well as refreshments.

Because parking on campus is limited, a free shuttle service from the Wayne Senior Citizens Center/Public Library at 410 Pearl Street will be provided by the college before and after the event.

The shuttle will depart from the Senior Citizens Center/Public Library at approximately 8:45 a.m. and will return immediately following the program. Those wishing to ride the shuttle are asked to park near the south end of the Senior Citizens Center.

Although designed for senior citizen appeal, all ages are invited and encouraged to attend "Campus Showcase" programs. There is no admission charge.

"Campus Showcase" is sponsored by Wayne State as part of the school's mission of community and regional outreach.

For more information, please call Judy Johnson, director of college relations, at 402-375-7325.

VOCAL CLINIC

Winside Public School hosted the annual Clark Conference Vocal Clinic with approximately 140 students participating on Nov. 16.

Clinician for the day was Cheri Helmer-Reinsche from Papillion-LaVista South High School. Mrs. Reinsche was selected as Teacher of the Year in 1990 and 2000. She received the Alice E. Buffet award for Teaching Excellence, Wayne State Fine Arts Department Outstanding Alumni Award and previously taught at Randolph, Seward and Benson.

Her accompanist for the day-long clinic was Colleen Jeffries of Wayne, a past vocal director for 13 years at Winside.

Students participated from Bloomfield, Coleridge, Hartington, Newcastle, Osmond, Wausa, Winside and Wynot. An evening concert was performed for the general public.

Of the students participating, the following were selected for an All State Honor Choir: Spencer Lee, Wynot (three-year member); Amanda Holcomb, Coleridge; Beau Flemming (three year member), Maddie Bromwich and Aaron Kuchta, all of Hartington; Shawn Vinsor, Osmond and Helge Meyer, Wausa.

Each school performed a special selection during the evening concert.

High school directors and their accompanists included: Andrew Brase, director with Lois Seadore, accompanist, of Bloomfield; Claudia Dvorak of Coleridge; Doyle Anderson of Hartington; Pat Sedivy, director and Janet Manz, accompanist, of Newcastle; Harold Scott of Osmond; Bob Garrard, director and Jo Ellen Wamberg, accompanist of Wausa; LeNell Quinn of Winside and Kim Conlin of Wynot.

Members of the Winside Fine

Arts Boosters and Winside parents provided supper for all the students.

Students from the Clinic who were selected for the Conference Honor Choir included:

Sopranos: Jackie Filips of Hartington; Molly Hefner and Hailey Russel of Coleridge; Calyn Schramm of Osmond and Alexa Steiner of Hartington.

Altos: Maddie Bromwich of Hartington; Corie Bruckner of Osmond; Melyssa Deck of Winside; Megan Finnegan of Newcastle; Kari Loecker of Hartington and Sheila Pinkelman of Coleridge.

Tenors: Bo Brummels and Kass Holdorf of Winside; Craig Koehler of Osmond; Aaron Kuchta of Hartington; Nicholas Schultze of Osmond and Josh Wolfe of Coleridge.

Basses: Beau Fleming of Hartington; Spencer Lee of Wynot; Mitchell Schultz and Shawn Vinsor of Osmond; Justin Tullberg of Winside and Zach Wemhoff of Coleridge.

TOWN AND COUNTRY

Bonnie Frevert hosted the Nov. 9 Town and Country club with Gloria Evans as a guest.

Bonnie's birthday was observed by club members. Pitch was played with all receiving a prize.

The next meeting will be a December (date to be announced) gathering for a 6:30 p.m. Christmas supper at Geno's in Wayne. Cards will follow at Lorraine Prince's. They will have a gift exchange.

MODERN MRS.

Lou Deck of Hoskins hosted the Nov. 16 Modern Mrs. Club.

Bridge was played with prizes going to Bev Voss, Jackie Koll and Mary Ann Soden. The next gathering will be Tuesday, Dec. 14 for a noon dinner at Prenger's in Norfolk.

BUSY BEES

Ruby Ritze hosted the Nov. 17

Busy Bees Club.

The Flag Salute and Club Collect were said. Roll call was "Your Thanksgiving Plans."

The secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and approved. Members discussed the Christmas dinner plans for Dec. 15.

Rack-O was played with Irene Fork receiving high and all members receiving a prize.

BIRTHDAY OBSERVED

Bonnie Frevert was honored for her 75th birthday on two occasions.

On Nov. 5 her son and daughter-in-law, Tyler and Sue Frevert of Wayne hosted a supper for her and husband, Glen and Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Harris of Howells. Norbert was also celebrating a birthday.

On Nov. 7 (her actual birthday), a carry-in afternoon meal at her home was furnished by all four of her children and their families. Also present were her brother and sister-in-law, Albert and Janelle Nelson of Wakefield.

Wayne State student organization, advisor earn national awards

The National Communication Association and its honorary student society, Lambda Pi Eta, have named the Mu Gamma chapter at Wayne State College as national "Chapter of the Year" for 2004.

Dr. Deborah Whitt, WSC chapter advisor, was also selected as the Lambda Pi Eta "Advisor of the Year." Nominations for both honors were received from among the 420 Lambda Pi Eta chapters located at colleges and universities world-wide. The awards were presented at the association's national convention in Chicago on Nov. 12.

Local students are inducted into the National Honor Roll

Three students from the area qualified for induction into the Spring 2004 National Honor Roll. Those students are: Charles R. Holm of Wayne, Wayne High School; Makayla Hansen and Kayla Linn, both of Laurel, Laurel-Concord High School.

The National Honor Roll recognizes high-achieving high school and middle school students. There are several benefits to induction which can contribute to the success of its student members. For students in the 2003/04 school year, National Honor Roll set aside $100,000 to be shared among 100 of its qualifying inductees.

All members were entitled to compete for one of these National Honor Roll Awards for Academic Achievement, which were awarded in September. National Honor Roll's College Admissions Notification Service notifies the admissions offices of as many schools as the inductees designate that they have been accepted into the National Honor Roll and that they are interested in obtaining information about these colleges. (A copy of the student's biography is sent to the colleges along with notification).

For more information, visit www.nationalhonorroll.org.

Everyone should be thankful

Lynn called tonight to say that Thanksgiving had "sneaked up" on her and she wanted to remind me that publishing would be early this week. It's sneaking up on me, too! But what really bugs me is that it seems to be getting skipped. There are all kinds of Christmas decorations and lights already up; I saw the first ones the first Monday in November. A house in Louisville had candles in absolutely every window. And it's a three-story house.

The six o'clock news featured some grade school kids making colorful turkeys for the troops and writing what they were thankful for on the tails. They were so cute, and the expressions of gratitude were right on.

I thought of an article I had read last week in the New Horizons magazine I picked up at the local senior center after I had cut toenails. It's a column written by a licensed social worker and he states that "gratitude research is beginning to prove what some have long-believed: an attitude of gratitude can actually benefit a person's mental health."

A professor of psychology at UC-Davis states that feelings of thankfulness have tremendous positive value in helping people cope with daily problems, especially stress, and to achieve a positive sense of the self.

People who describe themselves

By: Pat Meierhenry

as grateful have higher vitality and more optimism and have fewer episodes of clinical depression than the population as a whole. In one study, college students were asked to keep a gratitude journal of things for which they were grateful. A similar group of students with the same overall levels of health, optimism, and exercise was chosen as a control group that did not keep a record. The journal-keeping group described themselves as happier than the students in the control group and they achieved better physical health.

Some folks find it beneficial to be thankful even for negative events and look on them as challenges to be met. The professor adds, "To say we are grateful is not to say that everything in our lives is great, it just means we are aware of our blessings."

When we are thankful for our "higher power" we acknowledge we are not in control of everything. That can be a freeing realization, enabling us to lay our burdens on larger shoulders and know they are cared for there.

What the writer is encouraging is that this be a daily task, not just an annual one. But I think it is still fitting that we have one holiday that does not call for lots of cards and gifts, or even very many decorations, but just family and friends gathering to appreciate each other and our many, many blessings.

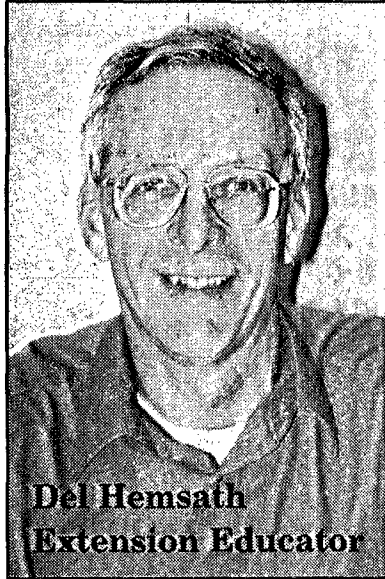

I'm even thankful today for the fact that Iowa State gets to meet Oklahoma in the Big 12 championship game. It's about time Dan McCarney has some success. But I'd still like to beat Colorado!

To be held in Norfolk

Master Gardener class being planned

Plans are made to offer a Master Gardener class for the northeast area of Nebraska including the counties of Dakota, Thurston, Dixon, Cedar, Wayne, Madison, Pierce, Stanton and Cuming.

John Hay and Del Hemsath, extension educators for the area,

Del Hemsath
Extension Educator

are coordinating the Master Gardener class. The first meeting date will be Thursday, Jan. 20, 2005 at 6:30 pm at the Lifelong Learning Center in Norfolk.

"The main purpose of the first meeting is to answer questions about becoming a master gardener, explanation of the program, deciding on whether or not you are really dedicated for the program and to recruit more participants if necessary", Hemsath said.

The Master Gardener program was redefined and upgraded in 2004 with a new curriculum in order for the program to be consistent across the many counties in Nebraska. The class will be for both initial and returning master gardeners. Fees for the program depend upon being new or returning to the program for additional education.

Initial master gardeners will need 40 hours of classroom hours plus 40 hours of volunteer time during the year to be officially certified as a Master Gardener. Returning Master Gardeners are required to have 10 hours of classroom instruction and 20 hours of volunteer hours.

New Master Gardeners need to apply for the program and be accepted before they can officially enroll in the program and that part of the application process will be completed in January at the first meeting.

Anyone interested in the program who has not contacted the local extension office, is asked to call the local extension office or the Dixon county extension office at 402-584-2234 or Pierce county extension office at 402-329-6417 and indicate an interest in the program either as a new master gardener or returning master gardener.

Don't forget small town business

By Dewey Teel
Extension Educator
UN-L Rural Initiative

Very soon we will be into that busy shopping season of the year when the shoppers hit the streets and stores. Between Thanksgiving and Christmas there is always a big rush to get out and find just the right gift for everyone. It is the biggest shopping time of the year as shoppers spend their evenings, weekends, and days off to hit the stores and malls.

We will soon see in the headlines the lines of shoppers at the big shopping centers and super stores. We will hear about their sales as people flock to them to make their purchases.

It is always interesting how we never seem to hear about the stores and shops in our smaller rural communities. For some reason they don't make the headlines and receive the attention like that of the bigger shopping centers and communities.

Yet, they offer unique items and most communities have special events and attractions that go along with hometown shopping. A wide array of ideas for presents can be found in the smaller stores and shops in rural communities as well. Shopping the stores up and down small town main streets is always a fun and relaxing experience.

Also, in rural areas all kinds of specialty items can be found that are made or grown right in the area. The number of "home-based" businesses and products they are producing is rapidly increasing. They are another growing market that offers a multitude of unique gifts. Most people are surprised at the ingenuity of these items and the talents that are portrayed in the items they are producing.

For those shoppers looking for unique items and particularly those that are made here in Nebraska, these entrepreneurs have much to offer. For a catalog and where to find many of these items, shoppers can go to: www.growneb.com. Other information about these items can be gotten from local chambers of commerce, tourist centers, or by searching on the web.

Many people forget about some of the advantages of shopping locally.

For this shopper, not having to deal with crowds, shopping cart crashes, and long lines at the checkout counter are a very good reason to shop locally. Parking closer to the storefronts is also an advantage.

Rural communities always have neat Christmas decorations and scenes for people to enjoy as they go there to do their shopping. With the music and decorations, there is always something special about main street shopping during the holidays, especially in the wintry evenings.

So as people begin their shopping sprees, they are encouraged to not forget their local stores and local communities as a place to shop. These businesses are the ones we depend on year round and want to keep in rural areas. Spending dollars at home will help them be there in the future.

It is always a good feeling to have found something in a local store and be able to brag about "finding it right here in one of our local stores." Don't forget about shopping locally and supporting your local businesses and community. You will be glad you did!

NEBRASKA'S FIRST RECREATIONAL TRAIL

The nation's longest rail to trail conversion and Nebraska's first state recreational trail, was accepted as a donation from the Rails To Trails Conservancy on December 5, 1994. Acceptance of the gift was authorized by law through the Nebraska State Legislature under the provisions of Federal Railbanking Statutes.

The historic Chicago and Northwestern Railroad right-a-way, now the Cowboy Recreation and Nature Trail, passes through spectacular Nebraska scenery as it travels from Norfolk west through the Elkhorn River Valley with its companion route U.S. 275. Farmsteads, cropland, and timber-covered riverbanks dot the landscape.

West from O'Neill the trail parallels U.S. 20, where ranching, hay and native prairie become the dominant feature of the land. At Long Pine, the trail enters Nebraska's unique and renowned Sandhill country. Except for an oasis containing a quarter mile-long bridge crossing the Niobrara River Valley at Valentine, one of the nation's top 10 canoeing rivers, these vast grass-covered dunes border the trail enroute to western Nebraska, where the corridor enters the Pine Ridge country near Chadron.

When finished this hiking, biking, and equestrian trail will stretch 321 miles across Nebraska, making it the longest rail-to-trail conversion in the nation. The trail will pass over 221 bridges and through 29 communities nicely spaced about 10-15 miles apart. Partnerships with these communities will provide Cowboy Trail users with camping, restroom and shower facilities.

Although 250 miles of trail have various stages of development in progress, only 47 miles of trail have been opened to public use. This includes a 34-mile segment from Norfolk and Neligh, 8 miles east of O'Neill, and a 5 mile section east of Valentine. Plans call for opening an additional 14 miles of trail by fall of 2000.

Future plans for development and openings depend a great deal on federal funding. As with many trails across the nation, ISTEAs, and the new TEA 21 funding will continue to be very important to the future development of the Cowboy Trail.

Capturing holiday history

Over the years, most families pass down their own special holiday traditions. Some of these traditions have evolved fairly recently, but what about the ones that go

Amy Topp
Extension Educator
4-H & Youth

way back? Wouldn't it be great to sit down with older relatives and find out what the holidays were like for them when they were growing up?

Many older persons have very clear memories of the past and would love to share them with interested listeners. These recollections and the stories they evoke are unique treasures, but they will slip away forever if we do not draw them forth from our older friends and relatives. As author Alex Haley once said, "If a family elder is permitted to die before someone in that family can interview them, it's like a library that has burned down."

One way to keep these wonderfully valuable memories alive is to record your older relatives as you ask them to tell you about their past holiday experiences.

Decide which relatives you'd like to talk with. You could interview older parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles, or even long-lived family friends. Decide whether you'd like to talk with individuals or several people together. You could conduct a joint interview with a married couple or set of siblings or you could talk to each of them separately. There are advantages either way. Sometimes, if more than one person is the subject of the interview, the combination can spur memories that would not otherwise come up.

Next, decide how you'd like to record the interview. Audiotapes are simple to create and easy to play back and store. Video recordings, on the other hand, capture facial expressions and gestures that are lost on audiotape. Use whichever feels right and is most convenient, but make sure you are comfortable with the technology - a lot of pauses to make sure the equipment is running properly will interrupt the speaker's flow. Also, try to use high-quality equipment and materials. You are creating a valuable keepsake that cannot be replaced and you want it to last so other generations can enjoy it and learn from it.

The best professional interviewers have an arsenal of techniques that they use to relax their subjects and stimulate interesting answers. You can adopt some of them to get the most out of your informal interviews.

- Ask specific but open-ended questions that might jog the subject's memory and will allow for expansive answers. You don't want a lot of "yes-no" questions, although they might be necessary at some points.

- Allow the interviewee time to answer. If he or she pauses to think, don't feel like you have to fill the empty space with words. Let the person speak for himself or herself. Think of the session as a story your relative is telling you, not a conversation.

- Be sensitive, but don't necessarily shy away from sad or painful memories. They can be an important part of someone's holiday memories and they can teach us a great deal. Often families were separated or went through hard times such as the Great Depression, the Holocaust or World War II.

- Background information is helpful. Try to have at least some knowledge of the history of the times and places you will be talking about with your elder relative. This will make it easier for you to understand and ask good follow-up questions.

- Plan a questioning strategy - don't just ask questions willy-nilly. You might want to start with the subject's earliest memories and work forward or do it the other way around. Here are some examples of open-ended questions:

- What are your earliest holiday memories?

- What are your happiest holiday memories?

- Can you remember any funny things that happened at holiday times?

- What kinds of foods did you or your family prepare and eat during the holidays?

- Are there special holiday decorations that you remember from your earlier years?

- What other relatives and friends participated in your family's holiday celebration?

- Were there any unique ways that the town you grew up in celebrated the holidays as a community?

- What was shopping and gift-giving like when you were growing up?

- How are the holidays today different than they were years ago?

- Are there spiritually-related memories you'd like to share?

Capturing holiday history through informal interviews can be quite interesting, informative and enjoyable - both for you and your older relatives. Perhaps even more importantly, it will help you better understand who your relatives are and, in so doing, you'll better understand who you are. Remember that your relatives, for better or for worse, are part of who you are. They make up your cultural heritage and your roots.

DECEMBER CALENDAR
Dec. 24 - 31: Office Closed.

Briefly Speaking

Arlene Allemann hosts Merry Mixers

AREA - The Merry Mixers Club met Nov. 9 at the home of Arlene Allemann.

Mrs. Allemann called the meeting to order. Six members answered roll call with a "Grade School Teacher you remembered."

The group sang "Blest Be the Tie that Binds."

Plans for next year were made. The afternoon was spent playing pitch.

The next meeting will be Tuesday, Dec. 14 with husbands invited for dinner at the Senior Center.

Gertrude Vahlkamp, Social Leader, will be in charge of the afternoon cards.

Acme Club meets at Senior Center

WAYNE - The Acme Club met Nov. 15 at the Senior Center for lunch with nine members present.

President Verdelle Reeg called the meeting to order and thanked Betty Wittig for hosting. Roll call was answered by sharing Thanksgiving Day plans.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The treasurer's report was read and filed for review.

Thanksgiving Day hospital tray favors were made by Marj Summers and Zita Jenkins.

A gift of $10 was sent to the Nebraska Children's Home.

A Christmas gift will be given to a Premier Estates resident.

The group voted to have a gift exchange at the next meeting.

Following the meeting, Elinor Jensen presented the program, "Love Letters."

Engagements

Petersen - Blohm

Ashley Petersen of Hooper and Michael Blohm of Allen are planning a Dec. 18, 2004 wedding at Redeemer Lutheran Church in Hooper.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Bradley and MaryAnn Petersen of Hooper. She is a 2001 graduate of Logan View Jr.-Sr. High School and will graduate from Wayne State College in December of 2004 with a major in Speech Communications and a minor in Human Resource Management. She is employed at Wells Fargo Financial in Rancho Cucamonga, Calif. as a credit manager.

Her fiancé is the son of Neil Blohm of Allen and Diane Bertrand of rural Concord. He is a 1997 graduate of Allen Consolidated High School and will graduate in December of 2004 from Wayne State College with a major in Sports Management and a coaching endorsement. He is employed as the Assistant Manager of Footlocker at Ontario Mills in Ontario, Calif.

Ladies Auxiliary meets in Wayne

The Llewellyn B. Whitmore Post #5291 Ladies Auxiliary met Nov. 8 at the Sunnyview Drive Community Room.

Past President Darlene Helgren called the meeting to order. It was a regular meeting and was opened in accordance to ritual.

The opening ceremonies were held after which the minutes were read and approved. The treasurer's report was read by Treasurer Evelyn Thompson.

Excerpts from "Angels News" were read as was a poem, "Be Happy with What You Got."

Americanism Chairman Darlene Helen told the group that when they think of freedom and independence, they may think of the Liberty Bell and how it rang for freedom. The American flag is a magnificent history of all Americans who have lived before us - our own ancestors - a nation of free people. She noted that "children, immigrants and new citizens must be made aware of the freedoms we have today - given to us by the sacrifices of veterans who fought under the American flag."

Membership chairman Evelyn Thompson reported that the auxiliary has met some of its goals, but "the big ones are ahead of us."

The group needs to be at 85 percent by Dec. 31. The Department Treasurer needs the transmittals, in by Dec. 15 so she can send the transmittals to National before Dec. 31, 2004. A reminder was given that after Jan. 1, an extra $1 will be added to the dues. No notices will be sent to members from National.

Pillow Cleaning Day was Oct. 29 at the Evelyn Thompson residence. There were 146 pillows cleaned that day. The Pillow Cleaning project has been a project of the Auxiliary for 38 years.

Gold Star Members Arlene Lundahl and Evelyn Thompson each received gifts and thanked the auxiliary for them.

The auxiliary gave a donation to Camp-A-Vet, Health & Happiness Fund and the Christmas and Hospital Fund.

Closing ceremonies were conducted in accordance with ritual. Chaplain Fauneil Hoffman gave the closing prayer.

The next meeting will be at the Sunnyview Community Room on Monday, Dec. 13. It will be preceded by a Christmas Luncheon at Tacos & More at 12:30 p.m. with a $3 gift exchange.

Serving lunch was Fauneil Hoffman.

Ehrhardt receives scholarship

Our Savior Lutheran Church Foundation presented a $1,000 scholarship to Melissa Ehrhardt when she was visiting her home congregation this past summer.

Melissa is a second year Master of Divinity student at Trinity Lutheran Seminary in Columbus, Ohio.

This past summer, Melissa experienced her Clinical Pastoral Education in Boise, Idaho where she was a Chaplain Intern in a general hospital. Melissa shared that her experience was quite enlightening for herself as well as the other members of her intern group.

As well as taking 14 credit hours this semester, Melissa is a second year Ministry in Context student at the Eastminster Presbyterian Church. Along with her studies and work at the church, she has been granted 10 work study hours that give her the opportunity to work for the faculty and staff at the seminary.

Melissa will be completing her Internship during the 2004-05 academic year. The Internship is a year-long program where she will be assigned by the Seminary and her advisor to experience parish ministry.

Melissa is a graduate of Wayne High School and Midland Lutheran College in Fremont. She is the daughter of Lonnie and Diane Ehrhardt and a member of Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne.

SENIOR CITIZENS MEET

The Hoskins Senior Citizens met at the Community Center on Nov. 16. Prize winners were Virginia Kleensang, Ramona Puls, and Betty Anderson. The next get-together will be in two weeks.

NE student honored for saving mother's life

Ashley Vollbracht's skills have earned her many letters. Not the letters you earn through athletic prowess, Ashley's skills helped save her mother's life last spring. For that she has received many congratulatory letters and a special certificate and medals from the American Red Cross.

The freshman criminal justice major at Northeast Community College in Norfolk and a graduate of Columbus High School was having Chinese food with her mother, Lynn, last March. Her mother suddenly choked on a piece of broccoli. Ashley, who was a lifeguard at Columbus Family Aquatic Center for two and a half years, noticed her mother's distress and asked her if she was choking.

When she nodded yes, Ashley applied the Heimlich maneuver she had learned for her lifeguarding job from the Prairie Valley Chapter of the American Red Cross. After a few thrusts, the broccoli was dislodged. "I didn't even think about it," Ashley said. "I just did it. But I got scared after it was all over."

For her lifesaving efforts, Ashley was awarded the American Red Cross Certificate of Merit recently. This is the highest award given by the American Red Cross to an individual or team of individuals who save or sustain life with skills and knowledge learned through the Red Cross Health and Safety Services courses. The award reads "for selfless and humane action in saving a life" and is signed by President George W. Bush.

It's been more than five years since someone has received that honor in Columbus. In addition to the award, the Northeast Community College student has

Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid welcomes new minister

President Millie Thomsen called the meeting of Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid and LWML to order with a special welcome to Pastor and Darlene Lilienkamp.

Devotions were given by Delores Utecht about Thanksgiving and being thankful. It was followed by a hymn sing with Bonnadell Koch accompanying. Twenty-four members answered roll call.

The secretary's report was read and approved. The treasurer's report was read and filed for review.

Bonnadell Koch gave the Care Center report and reported visiting The Oaks and helping with the serving of ice cream and refreshments.

There was no Historian or Membership report.

Esther Brader, Sewing Chair person, reported that the group met Oct. 28 with 13 present. The ladies decided to start in January with the next sewing project.

The Visiting Committee report indicated that the ladies have been busy and also visited Premier Estates and had sent many cards.

President Thomsen read a letter from the Seminary student, Andre, who wrote of how thankful he is of the ladies' continued support and prayers.

The Cookie Walk will be Saturday, Dec. 11 from 9 a.m. to noon. Ladies may take their cookies to the Campus Ministry on Friday, Dec. 10 from 4 to 6 p.m. so they can be arranged and made ready for the Cookie Walk. Cookies will be available for $3.50 per dozen.

The Fall Rally report was given. Joann Temme reported that there were a total of 51 people present. Pastor Poppy from Lincoln spoke and Beverly Hansen reported on their trip to Ysleta.

The Pastors' Conference dinner had nine pastors present.

The Bible Institute was held Nov. 7 with 41 people in attendance.

Election of officers was held by ballot. The new officers will be Ellen Heinemann as first vice-president, Betty Wittig, second vice-president and LaVonne Biermann as treasurer.

The group voted to reimburse the church for the food from the last several funerals.

Pastor Lilienkamp shared with the ladies four special words for the congregation "healthy," "intentionality," "relational" and "missional." These words are important to each and every one of us as Christians and the church.

Mely Meyer will write to the Seminary student this month.

Correspondence was read and mites were collected.

President Thomsen said the Telephone Tree would be started to inform the ladies of the Christmas luncheon.

The meeting was adjourned and the Lesson was presented by Delores Utecht on naming someone to whom we were thankful for and why.

RECEIVES NATIONAL DEGREE
Jessica Warner received the American FFA Degree at the 77th National FFA Convention in Louisville, Ky., on Oct. 30, 2004. It is the highest degree awarded by the National FFA Organization and recognizes Jessica's demonstrated leadership abilities and outstanding achievements in agricultural business, production, and processing and service programs.

Less than one in 165 FFA members advance through their local chapter and state FFA degree programs to earn this national degree. Jessica, the daughter of Jack and Rhonda Warner, is currently a junior at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. She is a member of the Allen FFA Chapter and Legion Convention was hosted by the Floyd Gleason Post no. 131 at Allen. The Auxiliary ladies met at the Allen Senior Center. Lois Stapleton and Paulette Kumm greeted guests at 4 pm. Thirty five members and guests attended. Coffee and bars were served.

Phyllis O'Brien opened the meeting in usual form.

Jackie O'Neill asked them to purchase tickets on a drawing for a beautiful afghan. Monies will be used to purchase a DVD player for the Vet's Home. She presented awards to units for volunteer work and services. They are to bring publicity, prayer and history books to be judged at District Convention.

Diana Diediker talked about her recent trip to Australia. Must have been a very interesting experience. Carol Uldrich, District Chaplain, urged them to read their monthly paper, and especially note the prayers.

Beverly Neal, District Leadership Officer, talked about Leadership School.

A report of County Government Day was given.

The door prize was won by Cozeta Rohan. Five unit presidents gave yearly reports. Interesting things are going on in Dixon County.

Officers elected for 2005 are: President Nancy Mackling; and Vice President Vernice Kingsbury. Emerson will host the 2005 Dixon County Convention.

Meeting was adjourned and they proceeded to the Allen Fire Hall for the Legion Banquet.

On December 4th, 2004 Zeb Noyd from Shelby will turn 30 years old.
Unlike many 30th Birthdays, this birthday will not be celebrated with family and friends or with a wild night on the town. Instead, Zeb will wake up on his birthday, put on a uniform, and go to work as a truck driver with the 1075th Transport Company currently deployed in the deserts of the Middle East. In honor of our friend's birthday, we ask all of you to take some time and send him a card or a short note wishing him a safe and happy birthday and thanking him and his comrades for their hard work and sacrifice in such a dangerous place at a dangerous time.
Please send your cards to this address:

Drama Day held at WSC
Dr. Gwen Jensen, Wayne State College theatre instructor, works with area high school students during drama day on campus. Pender students McKenzie Minert and Jill Lander were among approximately 15 students taking part in an acting workshop, one of 12 unique workshops offered Nov. 3. Students met WSC theatre students and participated in workshops on set construction, costumes, make-up, lights and sound, various stage and acting topics, children's theatre and improvisation. Approximately 140 students attended from Pender, Hartington Cedar Catholic, Wynot, Plainview, Wayne, Neligh-Oakdale, Winnebago and Laurel.

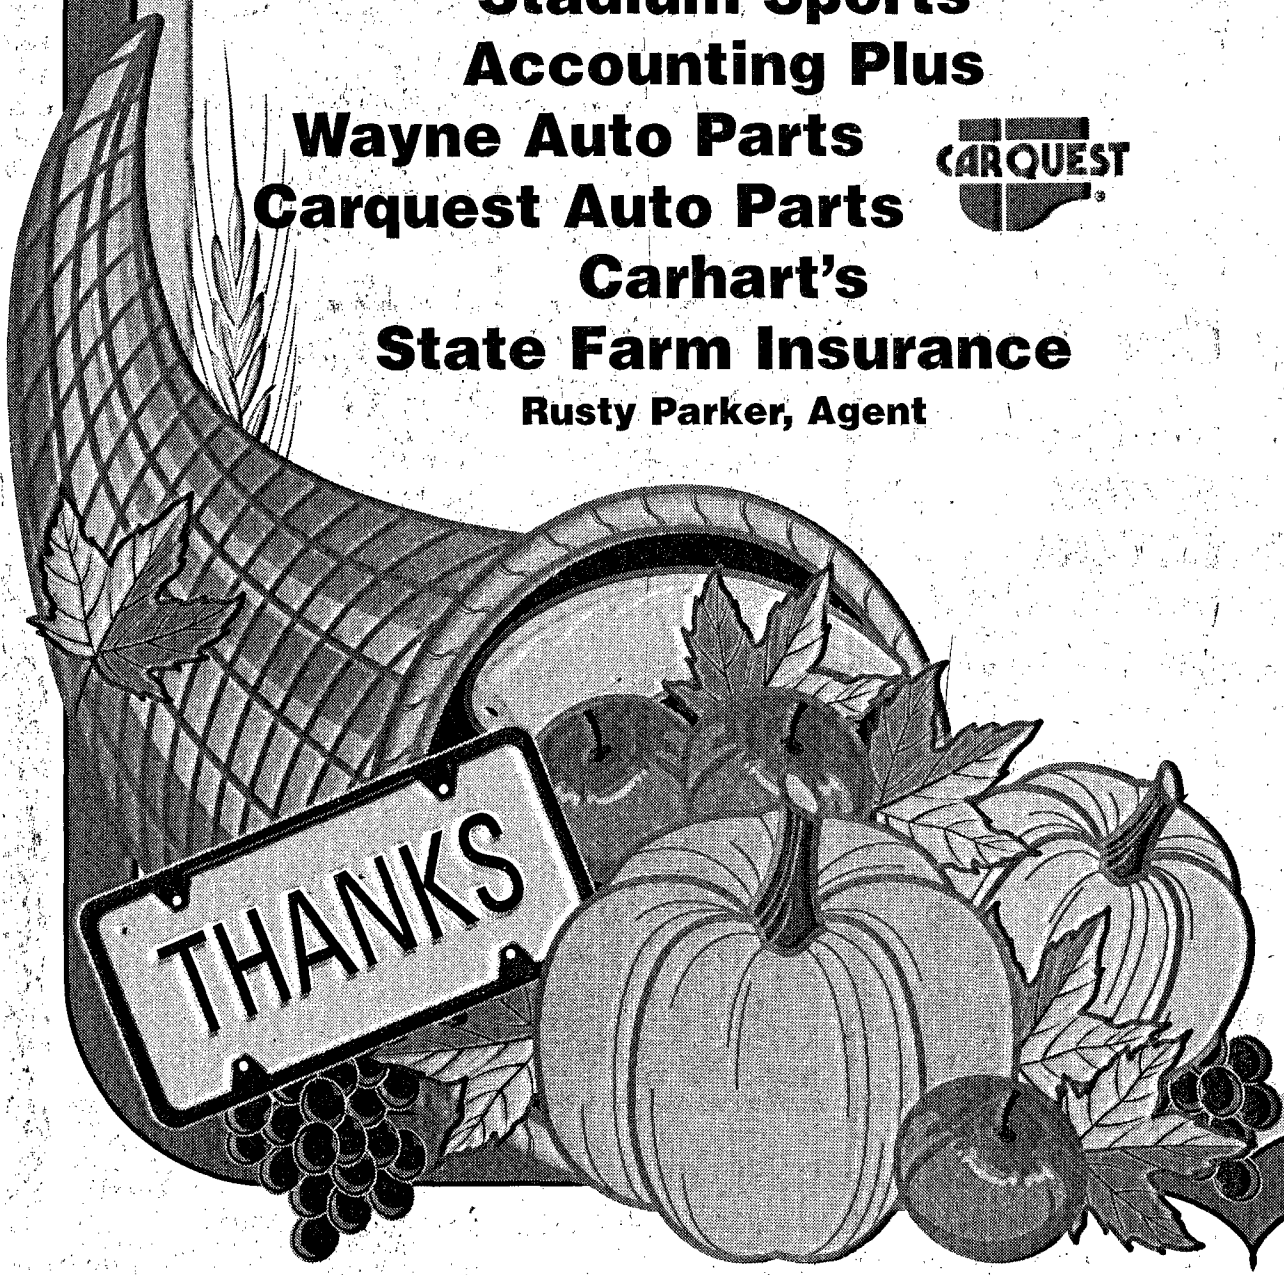

SECOND ANNUAL WAYNE RESIDENTIAL COMMUNITY CLEAN-UP PROGRAM
City of Wayne utility customers may, again, use their December 1st utility receipt stub to dispose of two pickup loads or less of items which are described below at the Transfer Station at 110 South Windom from December 1, 2004 through December 1, 2005. City residents can dispose of the following items at no charge:
• Tires • Batteries • Furniture & Appliances
• Metal • Mattresses • Mowers & Bikes
Copies of the December utility receipt will not be accepted. The original receipt must be presented.
Other items not listed above (e.g. garbage, construction material, shingles, lawn & garden waste) will not be accepted.
College students, with proper I.D., may take furniture and appliances to the transfer station, at no charge, throughout the year.
