Calendars feature photos of men and women from the area

By Lynn Sievers Of the Herald

Amber Lutt, 15, of Wayne takes her love of photography and turns it into a calendar every year, So far, with the help of Copy Write Publishing in Wayne, three calendars have been made featuring great photographs.

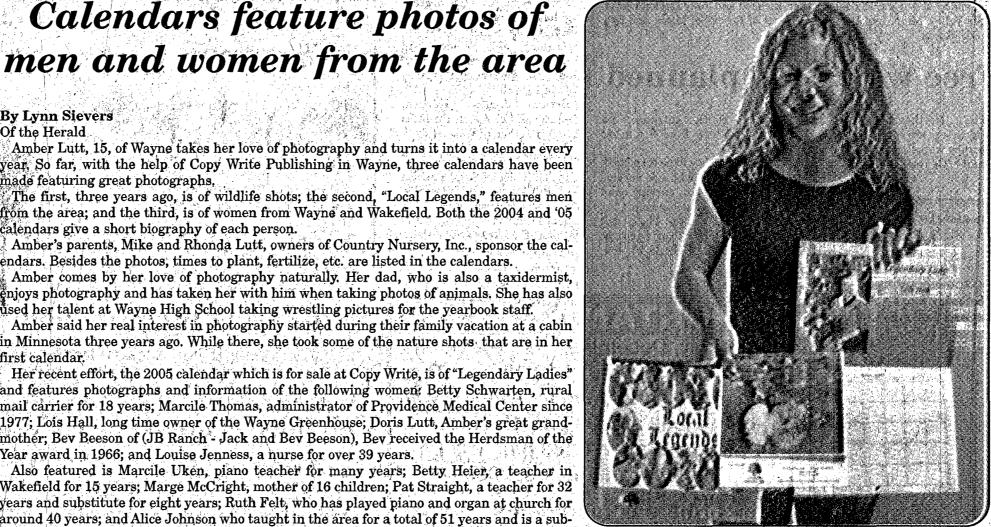

The first, three years ago, is of wildlife shots; the second, "Local Legends," features men from the area; and the third, is of women from Wayne and Wakefield. Both the 2004 and '05 calendars give a short biography of each person.

Amber's parents, Mike and Rhonda Lutt, owners of Country Nursery, Inc., sponsor the calendars. Besides the photos, times to plant, fertilize, etc. are listed in the calendars.

Amber comes by her love of photography naturally. Her dad, who is also a taxidermist, enjoys photography and has taken her with him when taking photos of animals. She has also used her talent at Wayne High School taking wrestling pictures for the yearbook staff. Amber said her real interest in photography started during their family vacation at a cabin

Her recent effort, the 2005 calendar which is for sale at Copy Write, is of "Legendary Ladies" and features photographs and information of the following women: Betty Schwarten, rural mail carrier for 18 years; Marcile Thomas, administrator of Providence Medical Center since 1977; Lois Hall, long time owner of the Wayne Greenhouse; Doris Lutt, Amber's great grandmother; Bev Beeson of (JB Ranch - Jack and Bev Beeson), Bev received the Herdsman of the Year award in 1966; and Louise Jenness, a nurse for over 39 years.

Also featured is Marcile Uken, piano teacher for many years; Betty Heier, a teacher in Wakefield for 15 years; Marge McCright, mother of 16 children; Pat Straight, a teacher for 32 years and substitute for eight years; Ruth Felt, who has played piano and organ at church for around 40 years; and Alice Johnson who taught in the area for a total of 51 years and is a substitute teacher occasionally. She helps in the Wakefield community and was instrumental in Great Dane Trailers fined for violations of air quality permit

Great Dane Trailers, Inc. has reached a settlement with the Nebraska Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) and the Nebraska Attorney General's Office in a case involving violations of requirements contained in an air quality permit. Great Dane Trailers did not admit to the violations, but has agreed to pay a civil penalty of $6,000 to settle the case.

Great Dane Trailers manufactures semi-truck trailers? at a facility located in Wayne." The company paints parts and uses solvents as a regular part of day. to-day operations. Due to the painting operations and solvent use, Great Dane Trailers was required to obtain an air quality permit from DEQ that contains record keeping requirements, and restrictions intended to control emissions of air pollutants.

On Oct, 2, 2002, DEQ Air Quality Division inspectors visited the Great Dane Trailers facility and found several violations of the company's air quality permit. The inspectors found that the company did not properly maintain and operate a paint booth filter system, and did not follow proper record-keeping requirements related to maintenance, products and hazardous materials.

In a Consent Decree filed in the District Court of Wayne County, Great Dane Trailers agreed to pay the $6000 civil penalty, which will be distributed to schools in Wayne County according to state law.

Encore performances of concerts to be presented

Beginning in mid-January 'Nebraska Concerts,' the weekly concert series recorded before audiences across Nebraska, will move to a new day and time as part of a new schedule line up on NET Radio (formerly known as the Nebraska Public Radio Network).

The 2004 Meadowlark Music Festival -- a family-friendly summer concert series in and around Lincoln -- featured performances from the up-and-coming Chiara String Quartet and renowned Canadian pianist Angela Cheng. The combination of Cheng and the Chiara String Quartet performing the Piano Quintet in E flat major by Robert Schumann provided a memorable festival moment that can be heard on the Friday, Jan. 7, broadcast at 7 p.m. CT (6 MT).

Also part of this broadcast is Cheng's presentation of the Piano Sonata in D minor by Sergei

On Friday, Jan. 14, at 7 p.m. CT (6, MT) University of Nebraska-Lincoln (UNL) School of Music faculty member Becky Gann proves the saxophone is a classical musical instrument in this September 2003-recorded chamber music recital for saxophone. Gann performs compositions by Ida Gotkovsky, Amy Quate and Paule Maurice. Pianist Ann Chang-Barnes and cellist Karen Becker provide accompaniment in this recital from UNL's Kimball Recital Hall. As an added bonus, the Dallas Brass performs music by Johannes Brahms, Dmitri Kabalevsky and others from a March 2004 concert recorded at Omaha's Presbyterian Church of the Cross.

Tune in to NET Radio on Monday, Jan. 17, at 8 p.m. CT (7 MT) for the first day of the new day and time broadcast as UNL School of Music faculty members flutist John Bailey, cellist Karen Becker and pianist Mark Clinton perform music of Carl Maria von Weber, Bohuslav Mrtine and Ned Rorem in this February 2004 performance of Omaha's Organ Vesper Series at Dundee Presbyterian Church in Omaha.

In November 2003, the Ames Piano Quartet from Iowa State University performed the world premiere of The Piano Quartet by John Link at UNL's Sheldon Memorial Art Gallery auditorium, and 'Nebraska Concerts' was there to record this concert event. On Monday, Jan. 24, at 8 p.m. CT (7 MT), hear a broadcast of this Lincoln Friends of Chamber Music-commissioned work. The Piano Quartet in E flat major by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart and the Piano Quartet in E flat major by Antonin Dvorak can also be heard on this broadcast.

Nebraska Concerts' is broadcast on NET Radio with Jerry Johnston as producer, host and scriptwriter.

On Monday night, at the request of landlords concerned about discrimination against rental property with the proposed parking restrictions, we are proposing a less restrictive and broader based parking regulation. This proposal would not allow regular parking of cars on the grass in front yards of all residenrequire parking in front of houses to be paved, and would limit the amount of front yard paved for parking to 50 percent of the front yard, including the terrace.

The remaining draft of rental regulations still establishes a schedule for inspection of single family home rental property for existing fire escape and other safety requirements and existing occupancy code requirements limiting the number of unrelated renters in a household to four or less.

Public hearings are open to all so plan to attend or call with questions or comments. What are the new local property tax rates?

1, The 2005 consolidated real estate tax on a $100,000 home in Wayne is about $60 less than last year if the valuation has not changed. The consolidated tax rate in the Wayne city limits is $2.34692279 per $100 valuation. 2. The tax requests this fall from the school district, the county and the city were all slightly reduced from last fall. 3. Wayne consolidated tax dropped four places from our last year's position at first or second place of Nebraska first class cities in 2004. Not a lot yet, but the right direction. 4. The 2005 tax on a $100,000 home in Wayne is distributed as $476 to the city; $1,263 to the school; $415 to the county. The remainder is to other smaller entities.

Capitol View

Jobs at stake in Legislature

By Ed Howard Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

No NU bowl gamel That means denizens of the Capitol will have more time to talk, about possible changes in legislative leadership roles and other matters related to the Unicameral For decades, the Capitol has been like most other places around and about the New Year. There was the understandable chatter about who was going to the bowl game; and how they could do it and still make a timely return to the Tower on the Plains without missing any (or not too much) work while the Legislature was in session.

There is more to be discussed these days than just rumors and speculation about this or that senator seeking this or that committee chairmanship.

There are jobs at stake, The employees of a state senator serve at the pleasure of the senator. When new lawmakers take office, they sometimes bring on board trusted workers from their legislative districts, When they do, it means that some current staffer(s) must find other work.

Longtime legislative staff often are snapped up, by new or incumbent senators, because of the knowhow and institutional memory they bring with them. This includes yeteran clerks, aides and attorneys, Some of them can give senators a tremendous edge in getting things done, because of what they know and who they know.

Still, the season sometimes has an element of urgency and scraman bling. How would you like it ifg every few years, your job was up for grabs regardless of your expertise and accomplishments?

There is always a bit of "So-andso and so-and-so haven't been picked up yet. Whaddya! think they're gonna' do?"

So much speculation can be heard in Capitol halls about soonto-be Gov. Dave Heineman's choice for lieutenant governor that folks are just plain tired of it.

Will it be a man? A woman? A state senator? Someone from the private sector? A Republican loyalist? Someone that already works somewhere in state government?

Someone from an ethnic minority? Your uncle Merle?

During a recent Christmas-season party for GOP regulars. Heineman was said to have quipped: "I understand that half of you in this room are candidates for lieutenant governor!"

When Gov. Mike Johanns becomes U.S. Secretary of Agriculture he will most certainly find his positions as a Nebraska politician to be at odds with Bush. administration policy.

President Bush has overseen trade agreements that have many American food producers feeling as though other countries have received the best of those deals.

Nebraska Farmers Union President John Hansen says that the United States could become a net importer of food next year. He also has argued that Bush is pushing for reduction or eliminating of farm subsidies, without addressing conditions that farmers say make them necessary.

Make a New Year's resolution that could save your life

Each January, many Americans make an important decision to quit smoking cigarettes. Making this decision is the first step on the road to a tobacco free life, but how can people really quit smoking, considering that nicotine is highly addictive?

"The most important ingredient in successful smoking cessation is for the individual smoker to make a personal decision to stop smoking in order to avoid the risks to future health," says Frederic Grannis, M.D., a lung cancer specialist at City of Hope Cancer Center in Los Angeles.

"Having said that, it must be understood that it is very hard to stop smoking. The smoker is addicted to nicotine and also has a complex behavior pattern and habit of smoking. Although some people can quit 'cold turkey', without any help, most people fail on their own and need additional help."

When people quit smoking, the body reacts to the absence of nicotine, resulting in withdrawal symptoms that can include depression, feelings of frustration or anger, irritability, difficulty sleeping, restlessness, headaches, tiredness and increased appetite.

Prospective randomized clinical research trials have shown that the three most effective methods for smoking cessation are:

• Medical prescription - A drug called bupropion (Zyban) has been shown to be effective in increasing the chance that a smoker will be successful in smoking cessation. Counseling - Either individual

An interesting new approach for counseling is via the Internet. Individuals interested in attempting smoking cessation can seek help at the following web www.cancer.org www.tobaccofree.org/quitting.html When people fail to quit smoking after trying one or two of the above methods, it may be best to combine all three approaches.

Once the physical symptoms of quitting are under control, it is time to focus on the psychological challenges. For many people, smoking is strongly linked to daily, activities such as waking up, eating a meal, watching TV or drinking coffee. To cope with cravings that come at these moments, it is necessary to alter your behavior. "For example, if you usually have a cigarette when you drink coffee, try taking a brisk walk instead of a coffee break, or consider drinking water or juice instead of coffee," suggests Dr. Grannis. Other tips:

• Get rid of smoking related items such as lighters and ash-

 Let your friends and family know you are quitting so that you have a strong support system, or consider attending a smoking cessation class.

• Avoid people and places where you are tempted to smoke until you are more confident about your ability to avoid the temptation, • Alter habits to perform activities that you don't associate with smoking,

• Try alternatives such as chewing gum, hard candy or sunflower • Find ways to keep your hands busy to distract you from the urge to smoke. Quitting smoking is difficult, but 46 million Americans have successfully quit. For more information about lung cancer research Tuesday's survivors.

The girls and boys teams from each school claimed hard-fought victories in first round action at the Great Northeast Nebraska Shootout played at Rice Auditorium on the Wayne State College campus. As of press time Wednesday, Wakefield's boys and girls squads will seek to regroup in the consolation bracket games in the tournament that runs through championship games on Thursday evening.

Highlights of Tuesday's opening round games in the girls division were:

Wayne 51, Emerson-Hubbard 44

Wayne improved to 3-3 and handed Emerson-Hubbard its first loss of the season, thanks to a six-point scoring explosion off three Pirate miscues in a span of about 30 seconds.

Sarah Frerichs paced the Blue Devils with 16 career-high points, while Renee Theobald hit four free throws late in the game to solidify the 51-44 Wayne victory.

Theobald and senior Jenny Raveling both grabbed steals with about four minutes left in the game to put Wayne in a position to win the game at the Raveling recorded nine points on the night and Rachel Jensen added six more for the Blue Devils,

"This was a big win for us," Wayne coach Matt Schaub said. "We talked about picking up the intensity and boards at the half and came out and did it."

The win advanced Wayne to the winners bracket game with Valentine on Wednesday.

A key assist by Angie Peters to Makayla Hansen in the remaining three seconds of regulation gave Laurel-Concord a 29-28 win over previously unbeaten Wakefield in the first game of the tournament on Tuesday morning.

Hansen finished with four points on Tuesday but her biggest basket of the season came in the closing seconds of the low-scoring, defensive battle against Wakefield.

We sort of did what we had to for a win," Laurel-Concord coach Nate Sims said. "Late in the game, we picked up the intensity and played with a sense of urgency."

The Bears effectively shutdown Wakefield's inside threat and outscored the Trojans 12-6 in the final Wakefield was paced by Alissa Bressler with nine points, while Gina Dutcher added seven.

The win moved Laurel-Concord to Wednesday's championship bracket game with Hartington Cedar Catholic. who downed Omaha-Mercy 40-33 in other opening round action, while Wakefield was slated to take on Omaha-Mercy in the consolation bracket contest.

Senior Micaela Weber closed out her high school career with 1,497 set assists to claim Wayne High's school record.

By David W. Carstens

The accomplishments on the volleyball court of Wayne High senior Micaela Weber will go down in the record books.

In fact, five records for Weber will cap a career that started when she watched her sister, Melissa play volleyball for the Blue Devils. The daughter of Brad and Deb Weber said she knew her time would come as a senior, but said she had no idea how big her senior season would play out. "It just kind of happened," she said. "I knew it was my senior year and just went out there," Regarded by many area coaches and volleyball fans as one of Northeast Nebraska's top set assist leaders, Weber racked up some impressive numbers this season. This past campaign, playing for WHS coach Joyce Hoskins, Weber broke her junior-year record for set assists with 785, and upped her school record with 1,497 assists as a Blue

Her best game this season saw Weber record 49 in a single contest.

She also lays claim to records for ace serves "That's something I will always remember."

from the service line with 54 this past season and 144 during her career.

"I think Micaela's one of the best in Northeast Nebraska," coach Hoskins said. "She was born with athletic ability, but her work ethic and competitiveness have made it even better."

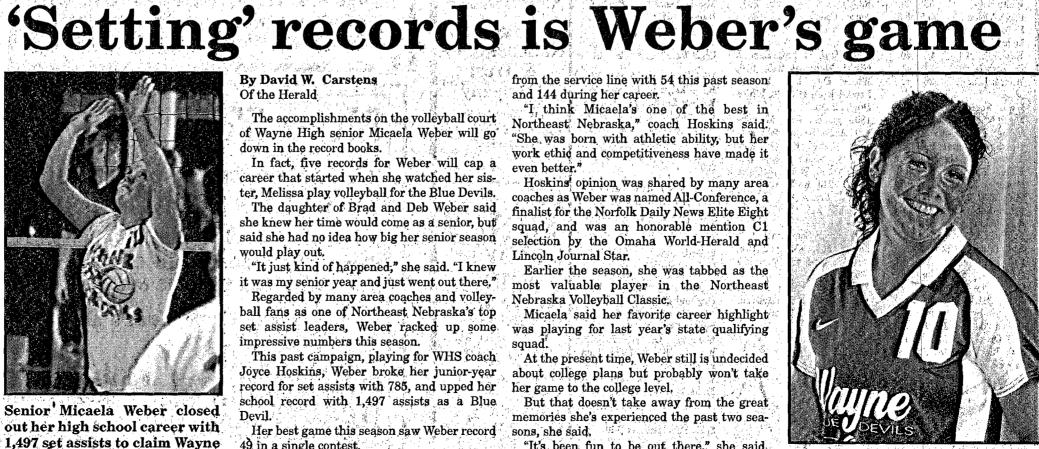

Hoskins opinion was shared by many area coaches as Weber was named All-Conference, a finalist for the Norfolk Daily News Elite Eight squad, and was an honorable mention C1 selection by the Omaha World-Herald and Lincoln Journal Star.

Earlier the season, she was tabbed as the most valuable player in the Northeast Nebraska Volleyball Classic

Micaela said her favorite career highlight was playing for last year's state qualifying

At the present time, Weber still is undecided about college plans but probably won't take her game to the college level, But that doesn't take away from the great memories she's experienced the past two seasons, she said. "It's been fun to be out there," she said.

WSC earns victory at S.D. State

The Wayne State men improved to 4-5 after a defeat of South Dakota State at the Burger King Holiday Classic in Brookings, SD, on Tuesday night.

The Wildcats jumped out from a 32-30 lead at intermission and shot 60-percent from the field and 14-of-17 from the charity stripe to outscore the Jackrabbits 50-26 in the second half.

For the game, Wayne was 22-of-24 at the line and hit 10-of-19 three-point

The Jackrabbits (2-9) were kept in check by WSC and shot just 36 percent for the game.

Todd Klostermann led the Wildcats with 22 points including a perfect 12for 12 at the free throw line. He also pulled down a team-high six rebounds. His teammate, Brett Cain hit 7-of-10 field goal attempts and finished with 19 points, while Dusty Smith was 4-for-6 on three-point shots as he scored 14.

Wednesday's second round action was scheduled to have a rematch for the Wildcats against Nebraska-Omaha, a team that downed WSC ear-

4-H teaches youth life skills to be involved with this winter, they should look into 4-H.

January is a good time to enroll kids in the 4-H program, as clubs begin gearing up for a new year. 4-H offers a wide range of programs for 8 to 18 year-olds that teach life skills to be used beyond their 4-H involvement, Adult volunteers, often parents or close friends of the youth, can also be involved with 4-H by serving as club leaders.

In Nebraska, 4-H is the youth development program of the University of Nebraska. 4-H uti: lizes the knowledge and research of this land-grant university to develop its curriculum. This means 4-H can be considered the first class youth take through the university.

4-H gives the kids the opportunity to learn about themselves and to develop their interests and talents. There are more than 150 projects

Loud Music & Hearing Loss

It has long been known that loud noises can cause hearing loss. Health Canada reports that even moderate sound (70-85 dBA) can cause harm if listened to longer than 8 hours a day. Their major concern was personal listening devices with "top ten" music. The early signs Phil Griess R.P. of hearing loss may include difficulty, when trying to now and grows

COLLECT 361 BOOKS

Allen's fourth Grade class along with their teacher, Mrs. Jacobsen, decided in November that they'd like to do a community project. As they were brainstorming, one of the students came up with the idea of raising money for our local

The group began to plan on how to accomplish goals the class had set up. The first part of the plan was to have the students and Mrs. Jacobsen raise funds for buying new books for the Allen library.

There were two parts to this first goal: Mrs. Jacobsen would put in a dollar everyday all the students brought in their completed homework and the students. and Mrs. Jacobsen would collect spare change. The money raised will be counted and given to the Library. The students will be giving the check to the Library when they return from Christmas break. Their goal was to raise $200, so we look forward to seeing how much was raised.

The second part of the plan was that the students and Mrs. Jacobsen would collect books for their book drive. They asked students in grade K - 12 to donate their good used books. The students spent a morning cleaning up the books to make sure they were in the best possible condigirls develop skills they will use throughout their lives.

Through this annual activity, girls ages 5-17 learn how to work together as a team, set goals and develop plans for reaching them. Additionally, they cultivate a sense of business ethics, public speaking and interpersonal communication skills and acquire knowledge in marketing, money management and customer service. The Girl Scout Cookie Program has truly evolved into the nation's premier financial literacy and entrepreneurship program.

"Each and every year I know we are training girls to fill all sorts of roles in the future. They may become the manager of a local bank branch, owner of local business or the CEO of a major corporation," said Vicki Hanus, Director of Cookie Program for Girl Scouts, Prairie Hills Council of Nebraska, Inc. "How many tasty products can you buy that have character building, teamwork and leadership baked right inside?" Throughout the council's 19county jurisdiction in northeast Nebraska, girls will start selling Girl Scout cookies on Friday, Jan.

For nearly 90 years, the Girl 7 and continue through Monday, Scout Cookie Program has helped Jan. 24. The cookies will be delivered in early March. All proceeds

"Our annual Girl Scout Cookie Program activity helps us make the Girl Scouting experience available to any girl who wants to participate," Hanus said. "Last year's revenue was used by the council for items such as leadership training, educational programs, camp development, financial assistance and scholarships."

Now in its 92-year, Girl Scouting cultivates values, social conscience and self-esteem in girls while teaching them critical life skills to succeed as adults. In Girl Scouting, girls discover the fun, friendship and power of girls together.

Regional Cancer Center announces major donation

The Siouxland Regional Cancer Center recently announced that Mark and Mary Ellen Nylen of Sioux City, Iowa are donating. $1,000,000 to the center. The donation will be used to help purchase a new Linear Accelerator, a stateof-the-art piece of equipment that will change the way the Cancer Center will treat various forms of cancer. In conjunction with the announcement, the Siouxland Regional Cancer Center has announced that it's board of directors voted to change its name to the June E. Nylen Cancer Center, in honor of Mark Nylen's mother, a nurse who succumbed to cancer over 20 years ago.

Karen Van De Steeg, Executive Director of the June E. Nylen Cancer Center, said "This wonderful gift from Mark and Mary Ellen will offer hope for patients of the Cancer Center. This donation will help us get that much closer to purchasing the new Linear Accelerator. We feel strongly that through additional fundraising efforts, this cutting-edge technology will be part of the June E.

Nylen Cancer Center by fall of added, "I'm surprised, and

The new Linear Accelerator uses a technique called Intensity-Modulated Radiation Therapy (IMRT), which allows patients to be treated with increased levels of radiation with fewer side effects compared to current radiation therapy. It is the latest development in the treatment of cancers of the prostate, head and neck, breast, thyroid, and lung.

"When my mother died of lung cancer it changed the face of our family and changed our lives forever," said Mark Nylen, "Our mother was such a giving person. She taught us kids to always help others when we could and to always do what's right when we can or are able to...we hope this donation will allow for better treatment for cancer patients and their families. I also hope this gift inspires other people to donate to worthy organizations like the pleased, that the Board of Directors of the Cancer Center voted to rename their facility after our mother. I'm proud that they would think to honor her memory in that way."

June Nylen was born June 8, 1925 in rural Sibley, Iowa, She attended the University of Iowa and the Lutheran School of Nursing in Sioux City, Iowa. June worked as a Registered Nurse at St. Joseph's Hospital in Sioux City from 1965 until 1973 when she was diagnosed with lung cancer. June battled lung cancer for many years until she succumbed to the disease on Aug. 7, 1980. June is survived by four children: Nancy, Jon, Scott, and Mark.

The June E. Nylen Cancer Center is a not-for-profit healthcare provider that serves patients and their families in a four-state region - Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota and Minnesota. The physicians of the Cancer Center provide expert medical oncology care and chemotherapy to an additional 18 satellite clinics throughout the four state region.

computer. So, I'll make this snappy. It's cold in here!

We spent Christmas Eve as usual: we attended an early service with my Mom after having soup at her town home; then drove to Seward for the children's program at Sue's church.

We both always get goose bumps at this one: the huge vaulted ceiling, the giant tree trimmed only in lights, an organ that shakes the timbers; and many, many students, wearing white stoles and carrying glass-enclosed candles.

There was a real baby, accompanied by a real mother and father, and all the traditional carols, plus, some new ones.

Our guests were from Missouri and visiting relatives in Bellevue, There were three little boys who were typical little boys, with lots of squeals and laughter as they opened gifts.

We ate at Mahoney's buffet, the very first time in my life I've ever eaten out on Christmas. And I think it will be the last, as we waited 50 minutes for a table. I, found they expressed my beliefs think folks don't cook at home rather correctly and I share them

Northeast Equipment to host John Deere Days

Northeast Equipment of Wayne will hold its annual John Deere Day celebration on Tuesday, Jan. 4 from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the dealership on East Highway 35.

Dave Olson, Manager of Northeast Equipment, says this? event will highlight incredible product advancements and change.

"We have an entirely new lineup of equipment for large farms, acreages and residential use," Olson said. "We want to show folks how we can provide the right solutions for their operations and homes. Hosting a John Deere Day gives us this opportunity, and lets, us bring people to share ideas as well as show our appreciation."

Each year John Deere Day at Northeast Equipment gives area producers and their families the chance to see old friends, meet new neighbors, learn about the latest agricultural techniques and ideas, and get a good look at the new equipment being offered by John Deere.

"This year we will be showcasing the new John Deere 1770NT CCS planter and the John deere 8000 20 series tractor. We're also having a John Deere Ag Management Solutions (AMS) meeting at 2 p.m. to show current and future operators how to make this system more profitable. Along with representatives from John Deere Company, there will be specialists on hand from Sioux Steel, Reinke Irrigation and others to talk about new prod-"ucts and updates to current prod-

"The University of Nebraska Research Station from Concord will have a booth to answer any weeds and insects to next year's crops, Our showroom will be packed with new Lawn and Garden equipment to make your farms, acreages and homes look their best. You can see everything from trimmers to ATV's. It a oneof-a-kind showroom," Olson said.

John Deere is the world's premiere producer of agricultural equipment and a leading manufacturer of construction, forestry, commercial and consumer equipment and a business leader in parts, engines, financial services and special technologies.

Organic foods increase in popularity

With consumers' focus increasingly turned toward health and food safety, organic food production is growing in popularity with the potential to become increasingly profitable in coming years. In the United States, organic food production makes up less than two percent of today's market. That niche, however, is worth about $7 billion and has been growing yearly by 20 percent for the last 20 years.

In order to be advertised as organic foods, products must meet national standards dictated in November 2002 by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Some of these standards are more difficult to meet than others. For example, though specific regulations exist about inputs for crops, many animal producers already meet most organic requirements, particularly if their animals graze on free range.

Many large food companies are showing an interest in organic production because of health and safety consumer priorities. Food safety issues such as mad cow disease have been catalysts in turning the consumer's focus more toward organic foods, especially in European meat markets. Other consumers seek organically grown foods in an effort to avoid foods containing pesticides. To meet consumer demands, increasing numbers of supermarkets are adding organic sections. Booths at farmers' markets often advertise if they produce pesticide-free foods.

If you are interested in organic certification look at www.OCIA.org. Organic production can lead to better prices for crops and livestock but management to ensure yield and health is very important. With any pest threat the best method of control is multifaceted and known as integrated pest management. Use of multiple control methods including physical; cultural, and maybe even chemical controls. Chemicals are used much less in organic productions and thus more of an emphasis is put on the other control options.

Comprehensive studies show traces of pesticides in 40 percent to 50 percent of foods from conventional supermarkets, while pesticides appear in 10 percent to 15 percent of organic foods,

N-Lighten Nebraska wellness program is being planned

Did you indulge a bit during the holidays? Did you stray from your good nutrition and exercise habits or are you ready to begin a program and focus on a "new you"? Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department (NNPHD), Wayne State College Exercise Science, Department, 4 and CHI UNL Cooperative Extension offices are working in conjunction with the Nebraska Sports Council to promote the "N-Lighten Nebraska" wellness program in Cedar, Dixon, Thurston and Wayne counties.

N-Lighten officials are expecting more than 7,500 entrants for the four-month program that helps participants adopt healthy nutrition and physical activity habits. Last year, a record 5,799 N-Lighten Nebraska entrants logged 1.77 million activity miles and lost more than eight tons of unwanted weight.

To enter, participants form teams of 2-10 people, register online or submit an entry form and follow the weekly tips. Depending on the division entered, team captains periodically submit team weight or accumulated activity miles and can check their team's progress on a real-time leaderboard posted on the N-Lighten Nebraska website: The information is updated immediately and teams can check on their competition! The program begins Feb. 1, but teams are urged to enter by Jan. 14 to receive materials by the start date.

Cost is $15 per person or $13 for online entrants, and besides the weekly nutrition and exercise tips, all entrants receive a free T-shirt and free entry in the 2005 Cornhusker State Games volkswalk. Shipping of team boxes is free. Team captains will each also receive a free multi-function pedometer. Pedometers may be purchased at a discount by team members upon registration. However, Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department is offering a free pedometer to the first 75 people in our district who register. Call the NNPHD office in Wayne (402-375-2200) for details.

Officials also announced the development of N-Lighten Kids, designed to help increase physical activity among school-age children, N-Lighten Kids offers a threemonth program and/or a schoolwide activity day on May 11. Both options are free, and participating schools that meet minimum standards will be eligible for one of ten

"This is an excellent opportunity for our communities to come together for a fun, healthy event Students can participate as a class, families can participate as a team, teams can be organized at work, or just get a group of friends together for a regular walk-n-talk time. It's great that everyone will be involved in the same program statewide and can track their progress immediately. It would be exciting to see all individuals, schools, businesses, and community organizations uniting to improve the health of our communities." said Kelly Heithold of NNPHD.

Entry forms and information are available at www.n-lightennebraska.com or by calling the Nebraska Sports Council at 1-800-30-GAMES.

N-Lighten Nebraska is sponsored by Healthy Choice, a ConAgra Foods brand headquartered in Omaha. Contributing organizations and businesses include: Nebraska Health & Human Services, University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension, Tiger Coaching and Personal Training, Nebraska YMCA's, Nebraska On The Move, Walk Nebraska and Lincoln Orthopedic

Telephone companies to eliminate last zone charges in Nebraska

Some rural telephone customers in 86 Nebraska exchanges will see lower telephone bills effective Jan,

Five local exchange telephone companies have notified the Nebraska Public Service Commission that they will eliminate zone charges for rural customers who have been paying an additional monthly fee from $1.25 to $5.75 over the basic line charge to reimburse the companies in high cost service areas.

Officials of Qwest, Nebraska Central, Great Plains, Consolidated, and Arapahoe filed the new rates by a Dec. 22 deadline for the zone charges to be eliminated on Jan. 1.

to In return, the companies will be reimbursed through the Nebraska Universal Service Fund (NUSF), administered by the Commission. The NUSF is funded by a 6.95 percent monthly surcharge on most telephone services. Commission Chairman Jerry Vap of McCook said one of the missions of the NUSF is to help telephone users in high cost service areas.

"The commission has worked for some time with companies that have added zone charges to some customer bills due to the high costs of providing service. In 2003, United/Sprint eliminated zone charges in its Panhandle exchanges and then successfully applied to the Public Service Commission for financial support from the Nebraska Universal Service Fund," Vap said.

Among the programs supported by the NUSF is the Nebraska Telephone Assistance Program (NTAP) and Tele-Health, which provides a linkup between medical centers and providers throughout the state.

The exchanges affected by the new rates of the companies are the last in the state to apply zone charges. Not all exchanges operated by a company may have zone charges. Qwest, the state's largest local exchange provider, does not have zone charges in any of its Omaha exchanges, for example, but has had zone charges in all of its other exchanges.

The companies and local exchanges in which zone charges will be eliminated are:

Qwest (51) - Wayne, Wakefield, Laurel, Ainsworth, Alliance, Atkinson, Atlanta, Axtell, Big Springs, Bridgeport, Broken Bow, Cairo, Central City, Chadron, Clarkson, Crawford, Elkhorn/ Waterloo/ Bennington/Valley, Elm. On Dec. 18 President Brian Swanson of the Fraternal Order of Police Lodge #54 (FOP) and Tim Schaffer, owner of Citgo in Wayne, drew the winner of a Remington 870, 12 gauge shotgun.

The winner was Lyle Davis of Sioux City, Iowa. The shotgun was raffled off by members of the Wayne chapter of the FOP. When Davis picked up the shotgun, he was also given a $10 gift certificate and box of shotgun shells that were donated by Taylor's Great Outdoors in Laurel.

The Wayne Fraternal Order of Police is a non-profit organization that benefits law enforcement personnel and the community. A large portion of the funds received from events such as the raffle are donated back into the community through various contributions.
