Missionary trip is taken to Mexico

Five First United Methodist Church members spent a week at the "Give Ye Them to Eat" (Gytte) mission in Tlancualpican, Mexico from Jan. 8-16.

The five included Pastor Mary Browne, Rod Garwood, Kaki Ley, Deb Pieper and Stephanie Schoh. Meditation, reflection and training sessions were held each day. There were a total of 18 team members from throughout the state: five from Wayne, one from Hastings, two from Pleasanton, and 11 from Grant and Elsie church-

The week was spent in training and learning about the rural Mexican ways and becoming acquainted with many Mexican people.

The members of the team said that it was a week of very physical labor but very educational too. And they also shared that the food was excep-

Muriel Henderson and Terry Henderson, missionaries at "The Land" claimed they were tired of poor food at other missions they sponsored. They have many local cooks who have been with them for years and Muriel selects the menus. In that regard, the team said the food was better than any resort food.

The team ended the week with many bruises from hauling, digging, lifting and pulling anything from beams for a roof to trees or rocks. In spite of aches and pains they claim that they came away from the experience very enriched and blessed to have been able to be there and feel the land and learn of the needs of the native Mexican people. They express a deep gratitude to the church groups who supported the trip for them.

All on the team would like to go back and encourage others to try it.

'Campus Showcase' to feature 'Roots of Dance'

Wayne State College professor Catherine Rudin will present Roots of Dance: From Folk Dancing to Ailey II," at the upcoming Campus Showcase at Wayne State College. The event is scheduled for Friday, March 4, in the Elkhorn Room of the WSC student center beginning at 9 a.m.

Rudin, an avid international folk dance performer and teacher, will cover a broad range of dance styles in this entertaining and informative event for all ages. She has performed with and, in some cases, has choreographed for International or Balkan dance and/or singing ensembles at the University of Wisconsin, Universite Aix-Marseille, Indiana University, University of Illinois, and the Omaha International Dancers. She teaches linguistics, languages (French, Spanish, Russian, and Native American), writing, dance and related subjects at Wayne State College.

Refreshments will be provided and prize drawings will be held during the monthly 'Campus Showcase' program.

Because parking on campus is limited, a free shuttle service from the Wayne Senior Citizens Center/Public Library at 410 Pearl Street will be provided by the college before and after the event. The shuttle will depart from the Senior Citizens Center/Public Library at approximately 8:45 a.m. and will return immediately following the program. Those wishing to ride the shuttle are asked to park near the south end of the Senior Citizens Center.

Although designed for senior citizen appeal, all ages are invited and encouraged to attend 'Campus Showcase' programs. There is no admission charge.

'Campus Showcase' is sponsored by WSC as part of the school's mission of community and regional outreach. For more information, please call Judy Johnson, director of college relations at 402-375-

Thanking community for support

I would like to thank everyone who made the Feb. 17, 2005 soup supper a success. It meant so much to the residents to have all of you here. The residents were looking forward to this event all day.

This soup supper was a way to get everyone together to show you Dear Editor, how we all appreciate your support for Premier Estates. We are raising money for items in the facility that all of the residents will enjoy, a big screen TV for the Nebraska games, and a new piano that can also double as an organ. Just to let all of you know, we made $321 toward our goal of $3,600.

We do have enough money to purchase the big screen TV so in the next week or two I will be personally getting that item for our

Once again, I would like to thank everyone for the great night that we all enjoyed and look forward to many more to come.

I am confused about something. How does a play which glorifies, among other things, the sexual seduction of a young teen-aged girl by an older "experienced" lesbian promote the dignity of women?

Vagina Monologues is a "controversial" play and rightly so.

I'll just choose to continue donating to Haven House directly. I'm' sure that I can find better things to do with my time than subject my psyche to the pollution of V.M.

Trees are questioned

Next council meeting

The next council meeting will be Tuesday, March 8 at 7:30 p.m. in the council meeting room at 306 Pearl Street.

Sycamore Trees

We have a tough issue before us with the 2006 Nebraska. Department of Roads Highway 15 repaving project.

The Department of Roads plan is to remove and repave Main Street and its sidewalks from Sixth Street to Clark Street by the Power Plant.

As part of the project, three large sycamore trees on the terrace in front of the former city library are scheduled for removal to allow for a slightly wider street and installation of parallel parking and new underground storm sewer. I can see only bad choices here.

Can the parallel parking be eliminated to keep the trees? I think the department would consider that.

Can the underground storm sewer be relocated to keep the trees? I think that can be done. Can the street be paved past the trees and leave them in place? Trees are not poles but living and breathing organisms. The current paving has been in place for a long time while the roots slowly forced their way into areas under the street where air and moisture exist because of cracks in the paving.

The existing pavement will be torn out and the soil underneath whether parent, employer, child or will have to be excavated down farther and re-compacted to provide a solid base for the new pavement. That will destroy all roots supporting the east side of the trees to within about 18 inches of the

The first result will be a slow die back of the branches on the east half of the trees and branch drop. The second result will be from the structural loss of the roots on the east side that hold the trees in windy conditions.

At some point the trees will weaken to a point structurally where they may not stand up in a strong southeast or northeast wind.

The only way for trees of this stature to remain in a healthy survivable condition is to not do the project or leave that section of old paving intact, I don't believe those are options the Department can consider.

Can we mitigate the loss? Nothing can replace stately trees of this size in our lifetime, but we can plant trees for those to follow. Joel Hansen has purchased 25 young sycamore trees for planting next year.

For Wayne to continue its tradition of urban forest, we need to plant large shade trees at a faster rate than we currently are.

The main difference between the city and the prairie is the trees.

Legislative session includes compromises

The Session is 1/3 over this week, having reached Day 30 on Feb. 17. We discussed school consolidation for two mornings on the Legislative Floor before striking a compromise, which allowed the bill, LB 126, to move along to Select File on a 33-8 vote.

However, several points must be drafted as amendments and agreed upon by both sides of the issue before the Speaker will put it back on the agenda. The main points of the tentative deal made by opponents and supporters are: more protection for Class I schools from closing and a delay in consolidation until Class I supporters have a chance to be elected to the K-12 school board. This issue is far from over and I will keep you informed.

Another bill debated on the floor and moved to Select File was LB 150 by Senator Bob Kremer of Aurora. It would create a state beef check off similar to the national one that has been in place since 1985, which may be declared unconstitutional by the U.S. Supreme Court. Cattle producers have had to pay $1 per head to fund research into cow diseases and for ads to promote beef. Half the money of the $85 million raised per year goes to national groups and half to qualified state beef councils.

That law is in the United States Supreme Court after the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals, which includes Nebraska, said that beef producers do not have to pay the place if the Court strikes down the national check off fees. Kremer's bill mandates a $1 per head fee. but producers who do not care to participate could ask for a full or partial refund on a monthly basis. Nebraska is the top state in commercial cattle slaughter and most of the producers in the state support this bill.

Committee hearings had interesting topics this week. The Education Committee heard LB 627 by Senator Gwen Howard of Omaha. Senator Howard's bill would mandate that all schools have anitbullying policies in place. Several groups of students, parents, and teachers came forward to support the bill. A similar bill was introduced three years ago and the Department Nebraska Education has taken the reins with suggested policies for school boards and offering workshops and semi-The committee did not advance the bill that year and has taken no action on it this year.

Another bill heard in Education, LB 285, by Senator Stuthman of Platte Center, would ban junk food and sodas in school stores and vending machines. Stuthman said his bill is an attempt to slow the spread of childhood obesity, which affects one out of six Nebraska children in grades K-12. Nutrition experts came forward to testify for the bill while committee members and schools, marketers, and the soft drink industry all said it should be up to parents and educational programs to decide what kids should eat and drink.

A measure that has caused a lot of letters to be sent to my office is LB 185, which would require car dealers to close one day a week, presumed to be Sunday. Most of the testifiers came from small towns and independent dealers to tell government to back away and let them do their business. Motorcycle dealers would also come under the bill, introduced by Senator Pam Brown of Omaha on behalf of car dealers in her district. I appreciate the motives of the bill, but question whether we should determine when businesses should be open or closed. The bill was killed in committee so will not be a topic this year.

I introduced LB 762 in front of the Government, Military, and Veterans Affairs Committee on February 17th, The bill would allow county clerks to assign their mandatory fee. The Court said it deputy or another employee to one offered by Governor Heineman. violated producers' 1st amendment attend and take notes of county right of free speech. record the meetings, which often takes days when they deal with property assessment protests. The clerks say that the protests, which by law must be heard in June and July, run into their budget deadlines and possibly election preparations.

The Appropriations Committee started public hearings yesterday after setting a preliminary budget not that much different from the

The $62 million dollar difference, to fund higher salaries for Kremer wants to make sure that the board sits as the county board University of Nebraska faculty and rate increases for health and human services providers, is just 1 percent of the total $6 billion two year budget. The Governor's budget was made up before negotiations were complete and we added money to help fund salary increases for those serving the disabled and other needy Nebraskans. They had received very little or no raises in the past three years due to budget cuts. We also restored money to the University, state colleges, and community colleges. If we did not do this, tuition would have had to increase up to 24 percent, which would make higher education too expensive for many to attend.

The latest report on tax revenues shows money coming in 8.8 percent higher for the year than the Economic Forecasting Advisory Board predicted and January receipts are 19.1 percent higher. Net tax receipts for the first seven months of the fiscal year were $1.724 billion, or $140 million higher than projected last February. The Forecasting Board will meet again on Feb. 25 to update their estimate of the state's economy.

approval after being amended. The ordinance creates a handicapped parking stall on the east side of the Wayne City Auditorium on Pearl Street. Originally, the ordinance would have put the handicapped stall on the north side of the auditorium on Third Street but council members felt that due to the fact that the spot is located on the north side of the auditorium, it would remain icy and unsafe in the winter.

The libraries of Wayne County will receive funds from the county after the passage of Resolution 2005-12. This is a renewal of a previous agreement and will provide $5,000 for the Wayne Public Library, $3,500 for the Winside Public Library and $1,500 for the Carroll Public Library.

Also approved at Tuesday's meeting was Resolution 2005-14, the final plat for Westside Heights Subdivision.

The council discussed the creation of a parking ordinance after City Administrator Lowell Johnson's presentation on several properties where parking is an issue. He noted that a proposed ordinance would affect all properties in the city, whether owneroccupied or rental units. The council asked Johnson to check with Dave Ptak, attorney, for additional legal opinions on the ordinance.

In other action, Mayor Lois Shelton read a proclamation declaring Feb. 23 "Rotary Centennial Day" in observance of the service organization's 100th anniversary.

Following an executive session to discuss legal issues, the council accepted the resignation of Jim Shanks.

Shanks has served on the council for two years and will be leaving Wayne for Beatrice where he has accepted a position as publisher of the Beatrice Sun Times.

The council's next meeting will be Tuesday, March 8 at 7:30 p.m. in the council chambers.

They came up with the idea of a new meaning for C.P.R., "Children Practicing Respect." They learned that respect takes many forms, including respect for themselves, their parents and other authority figures, property, their country and each other. #### Tourney inspires, accolades planned

I'm just getting back in the swing of things after spending an exciting three-days at the Nebraska State wrestling Tournament in Lincoln.

It's definately one of those events where emotions run like a roller coaster and it's always one of my favorite events to have the opportunity to cover.

Even though it's a blast, I'm thinking it's time to change the venue and move the event to Omaha's new Qwest Center.

Much has been written about why this needs to happen and after experiencing the congestion that is the norm for this event, the common opinion among us mediatypes is it's time for a change.

Aside from the obvious reason of a larger arena, parking, more space for wrestlers, workers and the media can be found just down the road in Omaha.

Here's hoping that the Nebraska Sports Activity Association puts some consideration to the move.

We, along with the tremendous support from our advertisers, are planning to salute Winside and Wayne's efforts over the next two weeks.

This week, a special two-page photo spread will bring you some images from the 2005 state meet.

Next week, the state champion Winside Wildcats will be highlighted in an eight-page tabloid section called, "We are the Champions."

Our Winside sports correspondent, Lee Koch, myself, along with the support of several departments here at the Herald will be working extra this week to make it a special tribute to a special team.

Winside brings home Class D title

Brummels captures third consecutive gold medal, others gain team points

By Lee Koch Herald Correspondent

It's been a long time since Winside brought home a state championship in wrestling.

In fact, the last time the Wildcats won a wrestling team championship, none of this year's wrestlers were born and the majority of the parents of today's mat squad were either still in high school or not yet married.

The Wildcats - who now have three championship trophies in the show case — last won a team title in 1979 when present day assistant coaches Mark and Tom Koch wrestled for the Winside mat squad that wrapped up its team title after the Friday night semi-final Head coach Paul Sok was reminded that its taken him 28 years as wrestling coach to win his first team championship, a long wait for the Nebraska Wrestling Coaches Association and District D-2 coach of the year to win his first team title.

Sok, who has been the head coach at Winside for 24 years laughed then said, "It's finally nice to get one done. What else do you want me add to that."

Over the years Sok has built up a reputation for playing second fiddle at the Devaney Center in Lincoln bringing up the old wedding cliché "always a bridesmaid never a bride" rep-

Sok had coached six runner-up teams (three in the last four years) and wrestled for an Oakland-Craig team that also finished second.

The Wildcat's first team title came in 1975 with a follow up title in 1979 - 26 long years ago between the last time the wrestlers in pinstripes won a state title.

Sok attributed the success of the Winside mat squad to his assistant coaches and a successfull junior high program.

"We probably had more of a team concept than we have had in a long time." Sok said. "The kids stepped it up whenever they needed to, they knew what we needed down here and they heard a lot about Howells setting the pin record down here when they had 17 pins, and that made the difference in the team scores."

Bo Brummels at 135 pounds in an easy 14-7 victory over Levi Melcher of Lindsay Holy Family. While Brummels earned his third gold medal of his career becoming the first Wildcat to accomplish the feat Melcher became the first ever wrestler medal winner from Lindsay as a silver medal winner.

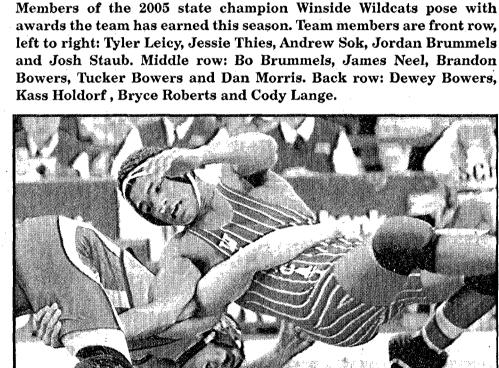

Kass Holdorf and Bryce Roberts also walked in the Parade of Champions to enter Saturday's finals meet.

Holdorf lost his gold medal match to Kyle Dinslage of Pope John, while Roberts lost for the fourth time this year to Michael Bayer of Every Winside wrestler won at least one match and contributed points to the team title. Jesse Thies and Andrew Sok earned thirdplace medals, while Dewey Bowers fifth and Cody Lange's sixth-place finish rounded out the Wildcat medal winners. Freshman Jordan Brummels tasted his first action at the state meet pinning his opponent in first round wrestle backs while senor Dan Morris, who may have wrestled his best tournament of the year was one win away from advancing to the medal round Saturday morn-

Bryce Roberts finished as state runner up when he lost for the fourth time this year to Michael Bayer of Howells in Saturday's finals match.

Bo Brummels picked up his third straight state title with a 14-7 victory over Levi Melcher of Lindsay Holy Family in Saturday's finals.

Schuett finishes second for Wayne High

By David W. Carstens Of the Herald

Dreams of a championship can change in an instant at the state wrestling meet.

No one knows that feeling better than Wayne High senior Dana Schuett.

After qualifying for his third straight year for state, Schuett's goal of taking a gold medal last Saturday fell short as the 189pounder took second in the championship match to Levi Wofford of Aurora after losing by a pin in Wayne High coach Kevin Finkey said he was proud of what Schuett has accomplished this season.

"I think when Dana looks back at his match and the season, he will be able to see there was only one wrestler better in his weight class in Class B," Finkey said. "That's quite an accomplishment right there."

Schuett took his first round match with a pin against Shane Halouska of Alliance in 5:44, and claimed back a 16-9 quarterfinal win against Josh Majerus of Boone Central in a rematch of the Mid-State conference meeting three weeks ago.

Schuett qualified for the finals with an impressive 7-1 defeat of Valentine's James Belville in

Friday evening's semifinal round. Finkey was equally impressed by Wayne High's other state qualifier. Josh Widner, who wrestled in the 103-pound weight class.

Dana Schuett avenged one of his regular season losses with a second round win against Josh Majerus of Boone Central.

Widner recorded a pin against Will Gronwold of Adams Central in 2:48 in the opening round, but dropped his second round match 4-0 to Kyle Kelly of Gering, a former student of Finkey's at his previous teaching assignment.

Widner lost a close 7-6 match to Matt Meresh of Central City in the elimination match.

"Josh's focus was to qualify to be here," Finkey said. "Although he lost a very emotional match at the end, he did a great job all year and he's going to be very proud of what he's done this year."

Josh Widner went 1-2 in matches at last weekend's state

The Wildcats dropped the first game 3-2 in nine innings before posting a 7-0 win in the nightcap.

WSC took a 2-0 lead in the first game when Kyle Hansen's RBI single in the eighth inning scored a run by Chris Pedroza.

Another run was tallied by pinch-runner Mike Sorensen on Scott Bidroski's fielders choice.

The Gorillas responded when T.J. Prentice hit a two-run homer to tie the game at 2-all in the bottom of the eighth.

A Pittsburg State single in the bottom of the ninth sealed the 3-2 win for the Gorillas.

The Wildcats outhit PSU 8-7 with three Pedroza singles, and

> The losing pitcher for the Wildcats was reliever Dustin Nilius, who allowed three hits and one run in one inning of work.

WSC's starting pitcher Nick Schumacher tossed seven scoreless innings for the Wildcats and allowed just two hits.

In the second game, WSC's Josh Anderson and Steve Walsh combined on a seven-hit shutout to propel the Wildcats to a 7-0 winover the Gorillas. The Wildcats exploded with five runs in the second inning and added solo runs in the fifth and sixth innings for the 7-0 win.

Van Driel went a perfect 4-for-4 with four singles to pace Wayne State's 12-hit attack.

Danny Benge, Dustin Jones and Ben Albury each contributed a pair of hits in the win.

Wayne State, ranked 21st in the Collegiate Baseball Newspaper Division II Top 30 poll, will visit Emporia State next Saturday to face North Dakota and Emporia

The Wildcats will also play a twinbill at Washburn University in Topeka, Kan., on Sunday.

Earlier this week, Pedroza was named the preseason All-Central Region catcher by the National Collegiate Baseball Writers Association.

The junior from Omaha Westside hit .321 last year with 10 homers and 47 RBIs with a .556 hitting percentage.

WSC was also ranked fourth in the Central Regional rankings.

Wildcats travel to UNK, athletes pick up honors

The Wayne State indoor track team fielded a partial squad to the UNK All-Comer Indoor Track and Field meet last Friday in Kearney as a majority of the squad skipped the meet to rest up for this weekend's Northern Sun Conference Indoor Championships at Bemidji, Minn.

> Carollo continued, "I was really surprised with the amount of this donation. What a great community service the scouts provide - not only with the curbside pick up and recycling, but then donating a portion of their proceeds to the Red Cross to help others in need.".

The Boy Scout paper drive is usually the third Saturday of every month and the community is encouraged to participate in this effort that is a win/win situation for everyone.

Mark Klassen, Scoutmaster, added that the donation and paperdrive fits in with the Boy Scout Oath of helping others in need at all times.

"The boys volunteered to donate these funds that normally go to camping equipment and camp fees," Klassen said. "This check represents more than one paperdrive but rather a month's worth of paper proceeds as the citizens of Wayne continue to bring us paper, etc. throughout the month."

Volunteers, donations needed at Haven House

This year marks the silver anniversary of Haven House in Wayne. Haven House is a non-profit agency designed to support and empower individuals who are suffering the effects of domestic violence and sexual assault. Staff and volunteers seek to offer alternatives to individuals who are involved in violent relationships.

Both volunteers and donations are an important part of Haven House. Volunteers and donations help the non-profit agency accomplish the goal of helping individuals who are suffering the effects of domestic violence and sexual assaults.

Volunteers are needed at Haven House. Some of the duties include client advocacy (weekends in the shelters), answering the crisis phone line, cleaning the shelters after clients leave, office work, cleaning offices, keeping donations in order, and a variety of tasks. art instructor Judith Berry was purchased by the University of South Dakota (USD), as a "Coyote Student Association Purchase Award." The piece, entitled Tools I, will hang permanently in the new USD student center, along with other work purchased by USD.

Berry is pursuing a master of fine arts degree from USD, while teaching full-time at Wayne State. Berry was born and raised in Southern California and received a B.A. degree in visual arts from California State University San Bernardino. She later earned a B.F.A.E. degree and her M.S.E. degree in art education from Wayne State College.

After teaching elementary art at Laurel-Concord Public Schools, she began employment as a K-5 art specialist in the Clark County School District (CCSD) of Nevada where she remained for six years. During her years as an art educator in Nevada, Berry was selected as "Teacher of the Year" for the southwest area of CCSD, nominated as "Elementary Art Educator of the Year" for the National Art Educators Association, and "National Teacher of the Year" for the State of Nevada.

The Nevada Department of Education appointed her to be part of the Arts Performance Standards Writing Team and as a member of the Praxis II Module Selection Panel. She also worked with the CCSD to develop a district art curriculum. With grants from various entities she was able to advocate learning through the arts and to "fast track" grant, and in the fall of 2001 WSC was awarded $10,000 to partner with Wayne Community Schools and the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce to create a permanent civic design project. The resulting ceramic mural and 27 sculptures were placed permanently in the downtown area of Wayne in 2002. A number of WSC students accompanied Berry to copresent the project at the 2003 National Association of Art Education Conference. Berry teaches art education, drawing, design, watercolor and art appreciation.

Tips offered to improve parenting skills

Our mind allows us to focus on mean to others. only one thing at a time. We might be reading and watching TV at the same time, but our mind is switching back and forth instead of focusing on both.

Children focus on what we tell them. Think about what your children focus on because of what you say, "You'll never be as good at math as your sister," "Look at this room. You're such a pig." "You're so mean to everyone." Which of your child's behaviors are you focusing on? What behaviors are the children exhibiting because of what is being said? In the above examples, a child would be discouraged and frustrated with math, live up to the

This week, become aware of what you are saying to your children might affect their behavior. Think about some of the values and qualities you can give your children by focusing on strengths. And instead of pointing out your children's weaknesses, focus on their stengths. "You should be so proud of this creative writing paper, it's terrific! I really like the way you described the sunset." "I bet you are the best bed maker in the whole world. Look at how you smoothed out the wrinkles!" "I noticed that you talked to the new kid in your class to help him feel welcome."

What are some things you can say to your child to focus on his/her strengths? Say them. What can you do so your children focus on strengths? Do them.

Life is truly a miracle!

cle? I heard a provocative sermon Kansas City. The speaker said the Native American word for "rain" is the word for miracle. I'm sure to them rain did seem like a miracle. Actually, it should to us, too.

Ever since, I've kept my eyes open for miracles. They are all around us, you know. Last week, I spoke to three recipients of mira-

Well, I didn't really speak to the first one; I just read about her in the paper. But four years ago, we all were praying for Emma Panowicz, newborn daughter of Kay's friend, Kristen, who had holes in her heart. After they were repaired and she finally went home, she had to go back to the hospital with an infection. That time, she "coded." But survived, and thrived, and will have a birthday on St. Patrick's Day. She was the princess of the Nebraska Heart Association Ball on the 12th, and we saw photos of her and the little prince in that Sunday's paper.

At the exact same time we were praying for Emma, we added petitions for our old friend, Duane. Duane was Mike's fraternity brother and good friend, and they were each other's best men. He retired transplant four years ago, at Duke Medical Center, and called to discuss the new recruits with the Big Farmer one evening last week.

And, on Thursday, I stopped to see old friend and neighbor, Chick Krajicek. I knew she was home and had talked to her on the phone, but wanted to see for myself. She greeted me at the door with a hug, personality. But Chick survived à "code" also, on the dance floor at'a grandson's wedding in October.

This was after open heart surgery. Two granddaughters did CPR until the EMTs got there; and they used the AED (automatic external defibrillator). The next few days were rocky; no verbal response, no swallow, no recognition of family mem-

Again, our prayers were offered up. From the hospital, she transferred to a care center for rehab. And now, she's home again, giving husband Art the usual grief! I admit her memory is coming back slowly; she knew me, but thought I still lived at Hoskins. She has to relearn her computer. But she can cook! And she looks good, and she's still here.

As I drove home that day, I reflected on the fact that medical technology is truly wonderful. But, at times like the above, and every day, medical emergency or not, it's best to remember who is still in charge. And thank Him for the gift of Life; truly a miracle.

PS: Congrats to the Winside wrestlers, a "miracle on the mats"! I know it involved a lot of hard work and determination, too. You

Dixon, Wayne, Dakota County leaders attend Nebraska Farm Bureau Legislative Conference

Randy Lassier, Larry Boswell, Courtland Roberts, Senator Pat Engel, Donald Leidman, members of the Dixon, Wayne, Dakota County Farm Bureaus, participated in the Nebraska Farm Bureau's 2005 Legislative Conference, held Feb. 1 and 2 in Lincoln.

The Dixon, Dakota, and Wayne County members hosted State Sen. Engel at an Appreciation Luncheon Feb. 1, which featured remarks by new Nebraska Gov. Dave Heineman. He told Farm Bureau members, "Every community and every citizen is important to me," and pledged to continue with international trade missions to help Nebraska farmers and ranchers.

Jay Lehr, a futurist and science director for the Heartland Institute "Environment and Climate News," told Farm Bureau members that, "The biggest problem in agriculture is that we have been silent for so many years that the environmental zealots have literally buried us" with misinformation about modern agricultural practices. "We haven't gotten out to tell how great agriculture is, but if not us, who?" he asked. He encouraged the farm and ranch audiences to take every opportunity - including chance encounters - to discuss agriculture with people who have no direct con- the 100th anniversary of the nection to agriculture.

"Every day is Earth Day" for farmers and ranchers, Lehr said, and they have a proud story to tell, including increasing use of conservation tillage and tripling of yields during the last 40 years while using less land. "If not for agriculture's productivity, more land would have been plowed down," he emphasized. "Agriculture is winning the battle of public acceptance of biotechnology, Lehr said, and he predicted that in 15 years, "Not a single seed will be planted in the state of Nebraska that has not been genetically modified." He predicted organic farmers will also accept biotechnology and the rules for what qualifies as organic will

Waste pesticide collection and disposal program is announced

Area residents are being encouraged to dispose of unwanted unused or waste pesticides that, may they have stored in their house, garage, or farm.

Materials will be accepted on Monday, March 21 from 8a.m. to noon at Precision Agronomy in Wayne (709 Centennial Rd), also Tuesday, March 22 from 8 a.m. to noon at the Madison County Weed Control in Norfolk (3203 S 12th St).

All types of pesticides are accepted, agricultural, livestock, home, lawn, garden, structural, and commercial, including those in aerosol containers. Also accepted are farmer supplied electrical transformers containing PCBs from renovated irrigation systems. Products not accepted are oils, antifreeze, paints, thinners, etc. Handle pesticide containers safely and if possi-

There are no costs or fees for disposal of pesticides under 1000 pounds. Anyone with more than 1000 pounds is asked to contact Rich Rieman at the NE Dept of Agriculture and make arrangements. WANTED: EXPERIENCED employee for grain and livestock farm. Laurel, 402-

I would like to thank all the people who thought of me while I was recovering from my accident and then again when I had surgery. Dr. Krugman, Dr. Martin and the nurses at Providence Medical Hospital were all very caring. My first ambulance ride was sure an experience. The driver could have unknowingly gone just a little bit faster and smoother toward the end. Thank you to the employees at Citgo for taking time to work and also skipping classes so my parents could stay with me at the hospitals in Sioux

The cards and gifts from people around town showed me that there are so many caring people in this community. Your thoughts and prayers helped me get through this scary time in my life.

Thank You, Danica Schaefer P.S. My mom and dad thank all of you also.

We wish to thank everyone who remembered us on our 50th Wedding Anniversary. Your thoughtfulness is greatly appreciated and made our "special day" very memorable. God

Bless! Ralph & LaVera Milliken

WAYNE COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

Wayne, Nebraska February 15, 2005

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners met in regular session at 9:00 a.m. on Tuesday, February 15, 2005 in the upstairs conference room of the Courthouse.

Roll call was answered by Chairman Wurdeman, Members Nissen and Miller, and Clerk Finn. Advance notice of this meeting was published in the Wayne Herald, a legal newspaper, on February 3, 2005.

The agenda was approved. The minutes of the February 1, 2005, meeting were approved as printed in the Commissioner's Record.

Lauren Lofgren and Joann Field reported on the usage of county tax funds by the Carroll, Wayne, and Winside libraries. The current interlocal agreement between the county, the county library association, the City of Wayne, and the villages expires on June 30, 2005. Motion by Nissen, second by Miller to approve extending the interlocal agreement for a period of five years subject to the approval of the other parties. Roll call vote: all ayes, no nays.

A building maintenance update was given by Bud Neel. Motion by Miller, second by Nissen to adopt Resolution No. 05-04. Roll call vote: all ayes,

Resolution No. 05-04: WHEREAS on October 3, 1989, the Board of County Commissioners of Wayne County, Nebraska, adopted a resolution requesting the Nebraska Department of Roads to program for construction a Federal Aid project to replace Bridge No. C009012415, located on 853rd Road, Mile 573; and

WHEREAS on December 5, 1990, the Nebraska Department of Roads notified said county that said request had been approved and that Federal Aid Bridge Replacement Project No. BRO-7090 (16), Wayne Southwest, had been programmed in response to said request; and WHEREAS said resolution did not request Federal Aid funds for the acquisition of right of way

WHEREAS it is now in the public interest for said county to request Federal Aid funds for the acquisition of right of way for said project; now therefore

BE IT RESOLVED by said Board that the Nebraska Department of Roads is hereby requested to allocate Federal Aid funds in the amount of $15,000 for the acquisition of right of way for said

Motion by Nissen, second by Miller to approve the sale of a 1951 LaCrosse trailer as surplus equipment. Roll call vote: all ayes, no nays.

Motion by Nissen, second by Miller to approve Computer Technology Purchase Applications 05-03 and 05-04. Roll call vote: all ayes, no nays. Motion by Miller, second by Nissen to approve a substitution of securities as submitted by

The Senior Center announced their 2005 Valentine's King and Queen. The 2005 King was Courtland Roberts. The 2005 Queen was Muriel Moseman. SWEETHEART ROYALTY

The 2005 Sweetheart Royalty was announced Saturday night at the coronation held Saturday at the Allen gym. The 2005 Sweetheart King and Queen are Derrick Nice and Diana Diediker. Derrick is the son of Derwin and Judy Nice. Diana is the daughter of Euni Diediker.

The junior attendants were Luke Logue and Alissa Koester. The sophomore attendants were Luke Sachau and Brittney Isom. Freshman attendants were Luke Woodward and Kelynn Cyr.

To be eligible for Sweetheart Royalty, the students must belong to FFA, sponsored by Thomas Wilmes, or Annual Staff, sponsored by Marcella Roeber.

SOUP SUPPER

The Annual Soup Supper will be Sunday, Feb. 27 at First Lutheran Church in Allen. Members will be serving chili, Chicken Noodle and Oyster soups, sandwiches and desserts from 5 - 7:30 pm. Everyone is invited to attend. AM. LEGION AUXILIARY

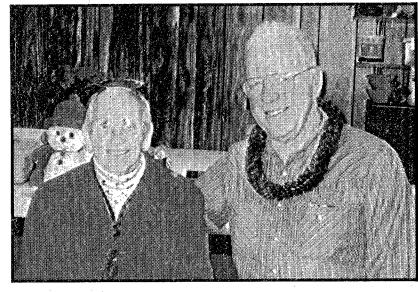

The American Legion Auxiliary met at the Senior Center on Feb. 14. President Phyllis O'Brien opened the meeting in regular form. Nine ladies answered roll call by telling of winter projects cleaning cupboards and closets, knitting, and quilting were among the answers.

The minutes from the January meeting were read and approved. The treasurer reported a balance of $665.22. Sharon Puckett purchased three baskets at a cost of $6. Donna Stalling made a motion to allow the bill; Pauline Karlberg seconded; the motion carried.

The baskets were purchased for the grocery raffle at the Legion Pancake Breakfast. President Phyllis announced that the breakfast has been postponed until April

End of an era

The building which was home to Laurel's first full-service gasoline station was recently demolished. The building was originally owned by August Weseloh and later purchased by Charles Ebmeier and then taken over by Ben Ebmeier. The Home Oil Company sold fuel, oil, kerosene, Skelgas stoves and heaters, auto parts and Case equipment. The business closed in 1978. At the present time, there are no plans for the property.

Students learn how to start a business from WSC organization

The Wayne State College Students In Free Enterprise (SIFE) student organization has teamed up with the University of South Dakota SIFE and Wells' Dairy on a project to provide Wayne Middle School students the opportunity to learn how to start a business, the reality of business competition, and the importance of appropriate ethical decision-making.

On Feb. 18 the Wayne Middle School students, doing business as the WMS Ice Homies, held their first day of sales for fellow students. The students set a price of 25 cents per scoop and sold over 300 scoops.

Money raised from sales will be used by the students on a school event and they have chosen to donate a percentage of sales to tsunami relief.

The final day of sales will be Friday, Feb. 25 in the school atrium beginning at 3:25 p.m. when school ends for the day. The public is welcome to attend and purchase ice cream from these entrepreneurial

Dean's List named at UN-K

The University of Nebraska at hours. Kearney today announced the names of students who have earned a place on the Deans' List for the fall semester.

To earn a place on the Deans' List, university students must complete 12 credit hours, or more, with a 3.5 or better overall average. At least 12 of the hours must be for quality points, i.e., 4.0 for an "A," 3.0 for a "B" and 2.0 for a "C." Courses taken on a credit/no credit basis do not earn quality points, and thus, cannot be included among the necessary 12 credit

Students who earned a 4.0 (all "A's") average are noted by an asterisk after their names. In recognition of their academic achievements, Deans' List students will receive a certificate from their respective deans.

Students from this area who have received recognition include:

Kari Hochstein of Carroll, Toan Nguyen* of Wakefield, Tyler Anderson, Emily Brady, Jeff Ensz; John Jensen, Amanda Maryott and Heather Stauffer, all of Wayne and Kayla Bowers of Winside.

Theatre has long history in Wayne

When thinking about the early years of Wayne, one can't forget about the March Twin Theatres (formerly Gay Theatre) now owned by Terry Johnson of Vermillion, S.D. The theatre was owned for many years by Jack March and has. been a thriving business in town for around 85 years. Elmer Gayley built the building (hence the name-Gay Theatre). March's grandfather, J.C. Shoeneman, and his father, Phil March, bought the theatre in 1933 from Gayley.

Jack March ran the local theatre as well as theatres in Vermillion, S.D., Spirit Lake and LeMars, Iowa for many years until retiring in 1997 when he sold the businesses to Johnson, who had been manager at the Vermillion Theatres since 1985. Johnson first started working for March in 1978 when he was attending Wayne State College, After graduating, March asked him to relocate to Vermillion and be manager.

This is how the theatre looked in the early years. Martin L. Ringer Insurance was located on the south side of the theatre and a barber shop was to the north.

March noted in 1990, the Wayne Theatre auditorium was divided into two 180 seat twin theatres and new automated screen equipment

The theatre, later, shows some changes to the front and sides of the business.

Johnson noted Jack's brother, Terry March, previously owned the LeMars theatre. He said both Jack and Terry helped get him to where he is today as they helped him be able to have confidence and take chances with promotions. Johnson named the Wayne theatre in honor of Jack and Terry March who gave the chance a projectionist usually never gets.

Some of the big films Johnson recalls in Wayne include Animal House, Ghandi, (which ran four weeks. He remembered that he projected five nights a week and really got sick of that movie), The Shining, Saturday Night Fever, Grease, Star Wars, Raiders of the Lost Arc, E.T., and all the animated Disney films. "I've seen 101 Dalmations in three different decades," Johnson said.

As for the background of recent and present owners, March graduated from UNL and spent two years in Korea. He returned and married Jane Jeffrey. His father and uncle offered him a job and he was hooked on movies. March moved to Florida 17 years ago where his sons, Jeff, Pete and Mike, live. He attends the theatre each week. He is still a booking agent for the circuit.

Most of the furs are sold to garment makers in the eastern United States and shipped over seas to Greece, China, Italy, Russia, etc. There, they are made into coats, hats, mittens, and other clothing.

The couple purchased the old fire station in Dixon and plan to make a store front out of it where they will sell hunting, trapping, and fishing supplies. They have put a slab of cement outside of one of their buildings for a walk-in freezer to help handle their volume.

"The biggest joy Rich gets is teaching young and old how to trap and handle their furs," Judy said."Our whole family loves to hunt, fish and be outdoors,"

The Wayne Chapter of Habitat denominational, Christian organiprovide safe, decent and affordable for Humanity is a non-profit, non-zation whose primary goal is to housing for families in need.

Members of the Wayne community from all walks of life were involved in the Blitz Build for Habitat for Humanity.

Habitat builds houses using volunteer labor and donated funds and materials and sells these houses with no profit or interest to families who would otherwise be unable to own a home.

Wayne Area Habitat for Humanity became an official chapter of the Wayne Affiliate of Habitat for Humanity in October of 2001 and completed construction of its first home in April of 2003.

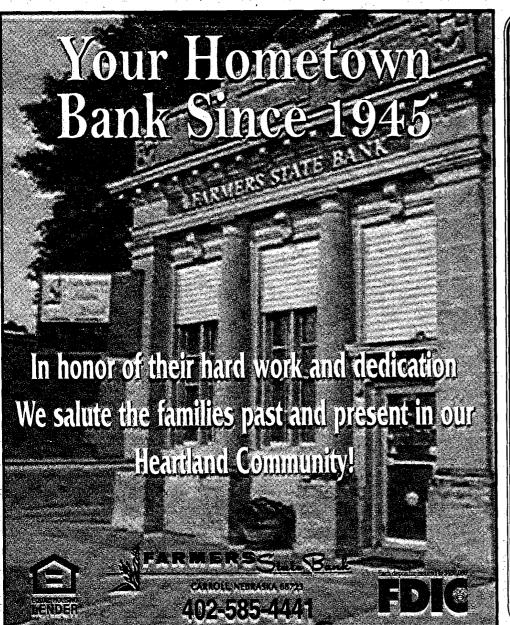

The home, located at the corner of Fairgrounds Avenue and South Nebraska Street, is now home to the Charles and Melissa McCoy family.

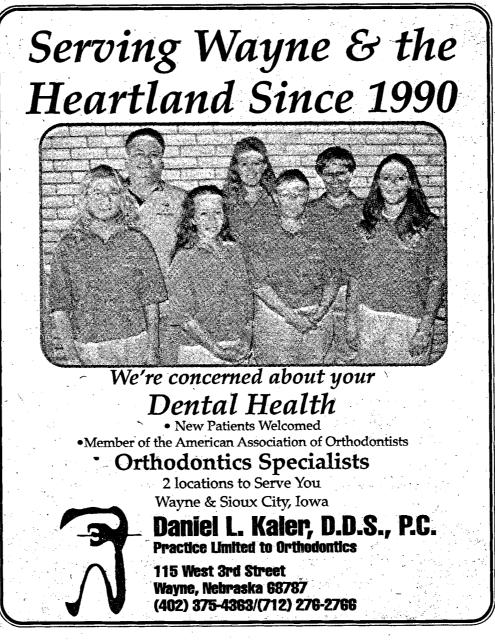

The chapter's second house will be built in 2005. The location of this house is yet to be determined. However, the Habitat for Humanity Selection team has already chosen the family which will receive the home.

Step by step, Wayne Area Habitat for Humanity will work alongside those in need to "provide affordable housing for all God's children."

Grandma got run over by a ???

Editor's note: The following story was written by Joan Huddleston of Laurel to a friend, relating her experiences at the 2004 Relay for Life event in Laurel.

The story was then submitted to the "Happiness" magazine and published in early December 2004.

Joan noted that she is very fortunate in being able to feel aches and pains from the incident, "because I could have been completely paralyzed and not feel a thing."

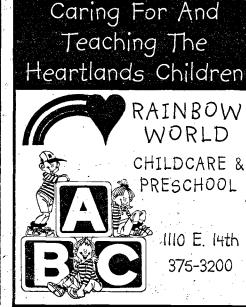

"Remember the crazy little Christmas song, 'Grandma Got Run Over by A Reindeer?' Well this Grandma got run over by a golf

Saturday night, June 5, 2004, was the Cedar County Cancer Relay for Life at the Laurel-Concord Sports Complex. The MC was reading off the cancer survivors and various volunteers were loading the older and weaker cancer patients into golf carts for the Joan Huddleston is able to laugh about her experience of being run over by a golf cart.

"Survivor's Lap."

One of the drivers had this threeyear-old grandson with him, and when he got out to help a very frail gentleman from his wheelchair and into his cart, he left the child in the cart with the motor running. As soon as Grandpa got out, the little boy decided to go for a ride by himself. (After all, Grandpa had taught him how to make it go when they went riding in it).

"It headed into the crowd standing on the infield, and when I saw it, it was right at my knees. The next thing I remember was being under it, flat on my back and being pushed headfirst over the rough ground. It finally hit some logs at one of the campsites and stopped. I heard, "OK, now. One Two. Three." And it was off of me."

At first I was certain my hip and knee were broken, but as soon as the cart was lifted from me, I realized they were not.

Of course, I lost my wig (you might call it my "Unveiling." I've always said I'd almost rather be seen without my clothes than without my wig, as everyone knows how fat I am, but not many are aware of how little hair I have).

The wind was knocked out of me and I could not open my eyes or say anything, but I could hear all these laps. (Also, by returning to the voices of people I've known forever Relay, everyone would know I wa said, "Who is she?" "I don't know." "I've never seen her before in my life." "I think Joan Huddleston had on a pink striped top and white pants." "No, I know Joan and that isn't Joan.'

This made me realize I had lost my wig and as soon as I could speak, I said, "Good grief, the darn thing scalped me!" With blood on my face and head and hair lying on the ground, some thought I had actually been scalped.

As soon as I spoke, someone said "That IS Joan." Everyone laughed when I said, "Boy, I'm sure glad that thing didn't hit an OLD person or a little kid!" After all, I've never considered myself 'old' at 71 although this week I do feel old.

Our family doctor was there and said he had better take me to the clinic and sew up my arm, which was cut to the bone. I hurt so badly in other places that I had not even noticed the arm was cut.

Paul and Jodie both thought they should go to the clinic with me, but I told Paul he was a cancer survivor and he HAD to walk the Survivors Lap.

After being sewn up and checked over, Jodie took me home to change clothes, as the others were ton and bloody, and we returned to the Relay. I told Paul and Jodie I was so sore that if I didn't do some more walking, I would be so stiff I never get out of bed in the morn ing, so we walked another three enough to eat, but as Paul was quick to point out, it didn't keep me from talking. Not being able to talk would have really been a catastrophe!

I'm really stiff and sore and black and blue from the top of my head to the top of my shoes, but nothing very serious. I told Paul I was going to sue for divorce while I had the bruises to prove spousal abuse, but he pointed out that about 1,000 people saw it happen. So I guess we'll have to put up with each other for another 50 years.

I must say that a Dex-a-Scan is a much less painful way to check bone strength! I still don't know how my glasses were so damaged without hurting my nose, as my nose protrudes much further than my glasses.

Many people have told me that when they saw that cart head into the crowd, they knew someone was going to be hurt, and they started praying. I'm convinced that is the only reason I was not seriously injured.

Seems like I've kept my Guardian Angel busy for 71 years. One of these days that Angel is going to tell me, "Okay, Joan, I've had it. I'm tired of rescuing you and I'm taking you home to Heaven so I can get some rest!"

Center is the administrative headquarters for a 28 county outreach program delivering research-based education to northeast Nebraska citizens around food production, family, nutrition and health and wellness, youth and community development, and distance education.

Haskell Agricultural Laboratory located near Concord is the key field research unit for the district. Local farmers and others benefit through the ag research conducted there because it is pertinent to the local region. Much of the extensive field research and demonstration efforts done at the facility focuses on water quality and/or water quantity.

"An example is our mile long riparian buffer strip project that is co-directed by our faculty and faculty from the Lincoln campus," said John Witkowski, Director of the Northeast Research and Extension Center District. "Other examples include our work in the development of a 'comprehensive nutrient management plan' to aid feedlot enterprises in managing livestock waste to, among other things, protect our ground and surface water; and our research efforts in developing best management practices' in cropping systems seeks to pin-point the lowest threshold for inputs of irrigation, fertility, and pesticide use. The purpose is to optimize net profit and yields and still protect and conserve our natural resources."

Witkowski added that the beef focus on how environment factors. such as temperature and humidity, impact animal performance. This work has led to a number of management recommendations that has significantly aided feedlot operators across the entire state on how they can effectively manage their operations. The swine research program is also comprehensive but centers on wean to finish nutrition, ventilation, and general housing management.

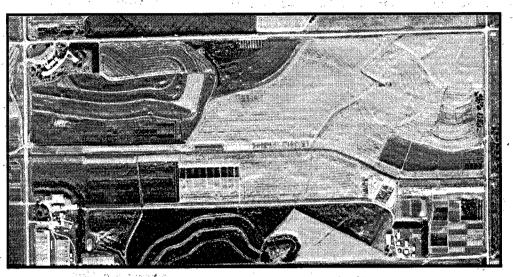

Thinking back to the early years of the Laboratory, many in northeast Nebraska felt isolated from the College of Agriculture in Lincoln. Farmers here felt the experimental work done in Lincoln and other research stations across the state, was not applicable to conditions in northeast Nebraska.

After several attempts to create an agricultural experiment station in northeast Nebraska, Northeast Nebraska Experiment Farm Association was formed in 1954. Rollie Ley, David Ley's grandfather, was one of those early visionaries who is credited with getting the idea moving. The first meeting was in West Point Nebraska with Albert Watson, Wayne, as Chairman, and consisted of 14 counties in northeast Nebraska. The Association today, consists of 17 counties in northeast Nebraska, and continues to advise and support research efforts at the Haskell Ag Laboratory.

In 1956, after the Association had raised about $40,000, Mr. And

In 1956, Dale Flowerday was hired as the first superintendent of the experimental station. The University took possession of the land in 1957, and with Flowerday already on board, began operations immediately. The station was called the Northeast Nebraska Experiment Station and has since gone through a number of name changes to it's current name as the Northeast Research and Extension Center - Haskell Agricultural Laboratory.

Dr. Kranz is a Biological Systems Engineering associate professor, specializing in irrigation research, particularly irrigation scheduling/management, sprinkler packages, etc. impacting efficient crop production.

Professor Shelton is a scientist is the Department of Biological Systems Engineering. His current research includes water quality management in local watersheds and he is the current lead researcher with the comprehensive riparian buffer strip research project at the Lab. They are looking at efficient usage of buffer strips for water quality and are also looking for ways to subsidize income with alternative plantings of woody florals, hazel nuts, etc.

Dr. Knezevic is a professor of Weed Science. Dr. Knezevic and his graduate students have a comprehensive research program on week management of weeds in row crops, pasture, and wetlands.

Professor Rasmussen is the Nebraska Forest Service, Forester. A part of his program is in direct seeding of trees, particularly nut The Nebraska Forest Service is, among other things, promoting the planting of nut trees by using seed rather than traditional seedling transplanting methods. Planting by seed results in less stress to the plant.

Vickie Greve is an associate professor in 4-H Youth Development. Her program focus is particularly with the 4-H program teaching youth life skills through a myriad of the something like 1300 various 4-H projects available to youth nine to nineteen years of age.

Vicky Jones is the Extended Education Coordinator, bringing UN-L credit courses to local people. She also facilitates bringing Lincoln campus based resources to clientele in northeast Nebraska.

Sue Lackey, a hydrogeologist with the School of Natural Resources, focuses her efforts on developing and interpreting subsurface data to assist landowners and state and local agencies in the development and management of ground water resources.

In addition to these faculty, there are Extension Educator faculty and staff located in each of the twenty eight counties representing our district. Del Hemsath and Sandy Preston, are both Extension Educators located at the Haskell Ag Lab. Extension Educators, Dewey Teel, Phil Steinkamp, Lee Sherry, Tim Lemmons, and John Hay, are located at the LifeLong Learning Center, Norfolk.

"We are the front door to the University of Nebraska developing new knowledge and delivering that knowledge to northeast Nebraska citizens." Witkowski said.

Through the research and Extension work done by the faculty and staff, and with the partnerships they have with county government, other educational and governmental agencies, other Educational institutions, and the private sector, their mission includes impacting and bettering the economic and social well being of all clientele in Nebraska, particularly serving northeast Nebraska, from the Jan. 28, 1915 issue of The Wayne Herald

Elwin Strong in "The Price She Paid"

That the people of Wayne will be surprised on Thursday, Feb. 4, is a positive certainty, for on that occasion the newest and most popular dramatized story entitled "The Price She Paid" will be brought to the opera house by the popular Elwin Strong company. No greater artistic triumph has ever toured the country than this wonderful dramatic play which has more thrills than "Fine Feathers," more gripping situations than "Within the Law," and more wonderful lines than the book itself by David Graham Phillips. A Cincinnati clergymen is quoted as saying of the play the following: "I am glad I saw "The Price she Paid. I am going to my congregation and tell them to see this wonderful play by all means. It will make all the men have a better opinion of women, and it will make all young girls realize what a priceless thing is their virtue."

In producing "The Price She Paid," Mr. Strong has put forth his most pretentious effort. He has given this play a most elaborate scenic mounting - in fact it is the exact duplicate of the New

Mrs. Elvira P. Roberts, class 1913, is now located at Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Superintendent Cress of the Winside schools has recently installed a wireless receiving station and now has wireless communication with the Wayne Normal. Professor Britell's congratulatory message to Superintendent Cress was the first wireless sent by this institution to a Nebraska high school.

The next number of the Golden rod will be a special Freshman class edition. An editorial staff has been selected of which Miss Clara Smothers is editor-in-chief and Lewis Craft associate editor.

One of the most successful basketball games that we have ever had in the Normal was that between the local institution and a team representing the Sioux City Journal, resulting in the success of the Normal by a score of 44 to 29.

Conditions at home made it impossible for Miss Kingsbury to return to her work before the opening of the summer session. President Conn filled the vacancy by the selection of Miss Marjorie Selleck of Lincoln, who reached Wayne Sunday afternoon and began work at the opening of the semester. Miss Selleck is the daughter of Hon. W. A. Selleck of Lincoln, who represented Lancaster county in the senate in 1909. She is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and comes very highly recommended by Professor Fossler.

Sioux City Fair

The Sioux City fair is in progress this week and special trains were run through here yesterday and today. Yesterday was called Nebraska day at the fair. The crowds going from this section have been smaller than last year, explained in part, anyway, but the fact that farmers are still busy threshing. Passenger traffic on the Bloomfield branch has not not been so great as last year. Yesterday there were 161 passengers on the branch compared to 340 on the same day a year ago. This morning 109 came down the branch. The following shows a comparison of sales of tickets at this point on the first four days of the fair this year and first four days last year:

Patrons oppose railway effort Proposal to take off trains on

Bloomfield and Crofton branches hotly contested

Loss is emphasized- But claim superintendent had based figures on lightest business months of year

A hearing was held in the city hall at Wayne Tuesday before H.G. Taylor of the state railway company to discontinue two passenger trains, one running between Wayne and Bloomfield and the other between Wakefield and Crofton. Different towns along the two branches largely represented by citizens who came to make vigorous protest against the action proposed. A.R. Davis was employed to take the lead against reduction of service, and he was assisted by C.W. Peasinger of he would see that it was provided.

Randolph. Robinson of Bloomfield, P.H. Peterson of Wausa, B. Ready of Hartington and a representative of the chamber of commerce of Sioux City. An Omaha attorney looked after the interests of the railway company. Superintendent Blondell and General Passenger Agent Schrearer were also present to support the railroad's application.

On the stand Superintendent Blondell gave figures to show that each train in question lost the company $8,000 last year, but it was contended by patrons that he had based his figures on a period of the year when business was the lightest. Mr. Blondell was asked to explain whether the entire business of each branch showed a loss, but he said he was unable to do so. He said if the railway commission desired the information,

Pierce and Carroll play Friday -Winside debaters meet Wayne here Saturday

The Wayne high school basketball team triumphed over the Pierce quintet in a hard game played at the State Normal Friday, the score being 18 to 11. At the close of the first half the score stood 11 to 7 in favor of Wayne. Kay and Philbin were careful in their guarding and the two forwards, Nuss and Lerner, with Dennis as center kept the ball moving. Lerner was high point man for Wayne, making four field goals. Dennis was second with two field goals and one free throw. Substitutions were: Jones for Nuss, Nuss for Jones, Andresen for Lerner and Lerner for Andresen. The Wayne girls played the Carroll girls the same evening and the local team won.

Wayne boys and girls basketball teams go to Wisner to play Friday of this week.

The second debating team defeated the first team in a practice debate at the high school auditorium Monday evening, the decision being two to one. The first team consisted of William Johnson, Myron Brockway and Esther Mae Ingham and the second team

October 16. It will require at least 250 cars of brick for the job according to the inspector and delay in getting these cars is the principal thing which will hold up the work.

The high test required by the Abel Construction company for brick used in any job contracted for by them is one reason why brick cannot be shipped here faster. Brick which is used by them is subjected to several tests and if more than twenty-two percent of a car is poor brick according to these tests the car is rejected. Many companies will accept cars in which twenty-four or twenty-five per cent of the brick is poor, according to the inspector of the Abel Construction company. Dramatic talent employed for the season, busy rehearsing for coming engagements

New men hold jobs - assistant manager and stage director have long records of successful experience

Stronger and better than ever, the Savidge Amusement Company will open its nineteenth season in Wayne next Saturday, and will stay here during the following week. Walter Savidge, founder and owner of the big enterprise, has been busy all winter and spring buying equipment and contracting for help. When the season opens he will have assembled talent of exceptional merit. Rehearing for the series of dramatic attractions has been going on for a week under the direction of Truman De Roame who, though a new man in this field, has had long and successful experience.

One large contributor to Mr. Savidge's success lies in the fact that he is able to exercise sound judgement in the selection of people who surround and help him. If perchance he a weakness in his plan, he is quick to detect the fault and make prompt correction. Therein lies much strength.

Mr. Savidge has a new assistant manager in in the person of Clark B. Felgar who is an old-timer in theatrical and carnival work. He is an actor and platform speaker. His experience which runs back thirty-five years, includes all branches of managerial service. He remembers when most actors lived from hand to mouth, and often had hard sledding in doing that. He says now usually they are educated, sober, industrious and frugal. Many drive automobiles and own homes as well as other property. The contrast is sharpened in the eyes of Mr. Felgar's long experience. He associated with actors when they wore spats and checkered clothes that could be seen a mile and carried canes to attract attention. He says they are like other folks in appearance and mannerisms and have the same lofty impulses and purposes that grip and lead other professions. Mr. Felgar says Mr. Savidge's firm determination to have only worthy people in his employ and only clean entertainments, meets with cooperation. He likes the Savidge way he got acquainted with Crater lake, of doing business. Mr. Felgar is accompanied by his wife, two daughters and Another leader in the Savidge group this year is Truman De Roame who is director of the dramatic performances. He is an ordained minister who preaches when he is not acting on the stage. Mr. De Roame attended the Moody institute in Chicago and was graduated from the Chicago university. In 1903 Mr. De Roame who had gone to Portland, Oregon, was persuaded to go to Klamath Falls, that state, to fill the charge in the Congregational church. It was about the time the editor of the Herald left Klamath Falls. Mr. De Roame was there ahead of the railroad and ahead of any great demand for religion. # Market report is given from Feb. 26, 1925

from the Feb. 26, 1925 issue of The Wayne Herald

Market report Furnished by Swanson, Gilmore & Walsh, Sioux City Stock Yards

Feb. 25 - The hog threatened contraction in the national long liquidation gave further indication this week of assuming definite form. Receipts at the leading markets of the country fell away with decided abruptness and a sudden list in prices was immediate response from packers. The $11.50 line on the river has been safely passed and the $12 poker looms just ahead. Moreover, all conditions surrounding the outlet are so buoyant that no probability of other then mildly temporary adversaries exists.

While big packers have been watching the supplies fade much the same as a cat watches a mouse, they have by no means been playing the game alone. The eastern shipper is fully aware of the fact that receipts are petering out and as the result is giving the big packer far more than the ordinary amount of competition, which is only another way of stating that the expected price advance will not come slower than the dwindling runs wartime is that the average weights are gradually getting heavier. The average here has worked upwards to over 220 pounds and in that connection it might be well to add that the excellent packer demand here for some weeks past, as compared to other leading centers. is traceable to this attraction.

Following sharp gains in the killing cattle market last week, the trade showed down this week, but did not really lose any ground. The check resulted from a 25,000 head increase the first half of the week at the 11 leading markets of the country, as compared to the same period last week. However, the ability of the trade to handle that increase without a real reaction shows a strong undertone to the market and indicates higher prices to come. On paper prices may look some better due to the fact that the advancing season is steadily improving the quality of feed lot offerings. Additional number of short feds to sell at $10 and over, are showing, while fewer of the trashy types are bing included at this time.

Stockers and feeders came in for rather dull treatment this week, except where the quality was exceedingly good. Some short fed feeders

A helpful factor to the trade at this were returned to the country as high the top on fat lambs rose to well over as $8.35 and light green steers again sold to $8, but for the rank and file of the arrivals, that earned between $6.25 and $7 going out of first hands, the deal dragged somewhat. However, the spring demands are opening up and added breadth to the trade can logically be anticipated from here on

> As was suggested last week, conditions governing the sheep and lamb trade proved too strong to permit values to continue down. From under $17

Christmas feature in new auditorium attracts crowd Sunday

Wayne's new auditorium was packed to capacity Sunday evening for presentation of "The Messiah," Handel's Christmas oratorio, by a robed chorus of more than 100, an orchestra of 43. pieces and soloists, for the community Christmas feature sponsored by the Wayne Business and Professional Women's Club. Sioux City, Norfolk, Wakefield, Carroll, Concord, Winside, Bancroft, Dixon, Meadow Grove, Battle Creek, Pierce, Wisner, Pilger, Laurel and Randolph were represented in the audience which was estimated at nearly 2,000. The auditorium seats 1,500. Additional chairs and people were required to stand.

The robed chorus, with the soloists and accompanist in front, sat on the spacious platform. At the back hung cream-colored curtains in the center of which in large silver letter were the words, "Noel Messiah," and at either side were three tall lighted imitation candles. A blue top curtain hung at the top. The orchestra sat on the main floor near the platform.

The soloists, chorus and orchestra brought the message of the birth of Christ, the saviour, in a most appealing manner. Prof. John R. Keith, conductor, Mrs. albert G. Boys of school may form group Capt. Lyle Seymour speaks to students on his visits in England

Plans are underway for organizing a Hi-Y society for boys of Wayne high school. If interest is sufficient, a chapter will be formed and affiliated with the national Hi-Y. All interested are asked to leave their names with Principal Frank Landreth.

Capt. Lyle E. Seymour spoke to English literature class Thursday afternoon. During his year's service in England he visited several historical them Canterbury, spots-among Westminster abbey, the towers of London and parts of the early Roman wall - which are the background of early England. He showed colored pictures on a screen to illustrate his talk.

New students enrolled last week are Don Hogan, who recently returned from service in the merchant marine and richard Carver who moved here from Kaysville, Utah.

Mrs. C.H. Lindahl took biology classes on nature hikes last week. Plants, flowers and leaves were studied.-

Representatives of ring companies showed samples to a committee of juniors Friday. Several were on display in the principal's office before final selection.

Junior High Notes

The newly organized club elected Bob Smith, president, Jim Sund, vice president, Jack Fischer, secretary and Carroll Thompson, treasurer. Student council members are Paul Einung, Maurice Proett and LaNita Woods.

Barbara Debus, Bob Carhart and Dick Canning received highest scores in English test Thursday.

Perfect scores were earned in spelling mastery test by Shirley Awiszus, Bell Burnham, Barbara Walter Debus, Gilbert,  $\mathbf{Don}$ Kollmorgen, David Meyer, and Alice Benthack.

The 6th grade boys challenged the 5th boys to a kittenball game to be played this week.

Mrs. Gertrude Phillips gave the room some tropical fish.

Maps were drawn in histography. Those of Bob Carhart, Bonnie Sorensen, and Alice Benthack were chosen for display on the bulletin board.

Fifth Grade Notes

Barbara Ellis, Mary Elizabeth Einung, Jackie Korff, Patty Jeffrey and Roman Jensen each earned a silver star on the spelling honor roll for the week.

Wild duck posters were made in art. A clown helps remind pupils of attendance. Each day the room has perfect attendance a red ball is added. Last week only one red ball was added.

"Further Adventures of Lad" is being read for opening exercises.

Fourth Grade Items

Larry Johnson, Virginia Proett, Evelyn Roberts, Marian Kugler and Jerry Korff are new inspectors chosen.

Each member wrote a letter to Paul Andersen who has been ill with pneumonia.

Gloria Alvers, Mary Driscoll, Joan Pawelski and Virginia Proett had perfect scores in spelling mastery test Friday.

Two baseball teams have been organized by 3rd and 4th grade boys. Bob Baller and Larry Johnson are captains. Names for the team will be chosen this week.

Geography class has studied the continents and oceans as map work and spelling.

From Third Grade

Third graders made sketches of trees that were observed on their Wednesday afternoon field trip. They collected leaves to be used in painting and making leaf prints. Several have learned to spell the names of trees being studied. A favorite game is placing the mounted leaves under the corbrought toys to share with the class.

Billy Jim Wagner read an interesting story on "Safety on the Street" for Friday Safe Way club meeting. Ted Schudlt played a piano solo. James Marsh, Bobby Sieckman and Paul Otte sang. Norrient Olson and Patsy Widoe twirled their batons. Kathryn Stammer has charge of the halls for the week and Steve Pawelski is room helper.

Each child has made individual flash cards in both addition and subtraction. The arithmetic class is divided into two groups with Kathryn Stammer and Ted Schuldt leaders. The groups are drilling on the facts and will be ready for diagnostic time tests in both processes Friday.

First Grade News

Gale Theo Bathke is growing a plant from lemon seeds brought from home.

Sally Kay brought flowers for the room.

streamlined modernistic Holostone structure will be erected by Al Bahe for his new Wayne bottling plant which will be located on west First street. Concrete footings for the foundation were placed Saturday.

The building will be 50 by 60 feet, two-story in front and one-story at the back. Long, straight lines, round corners and wide windows will be featured in the design.

At the front will be an office about 10 by 12 from which one may view the whole plant. Also at the front will be the bottling room which is 26 by 30. The second-story room at the front will be 26 by 30 and will be the syrup room. The back space on the first floor will be for storage.

With the modern equipment which Mr. Bahe plans to install the bottles for soda pop will not be touched by hand from the time the bottle starts in the soaker (cleaner) until it goes through the sterilizer, drier, filler and capper. Bottles are carried on a conveyor to the shaker and then to the back room where they are stored.

Plans promoted for big reunion Will honor veterans and may lay cornerstone for new stadium

Wayne State Teachers College alumni homecoming set for Friday, June 14, will honor returned veterans and commemorate the memory of those who gave their lives in service in World War II. Plans for the occasion were furthered Thursday evening when the alumni executive committee met at the grill. A speaker of national fame will be will be brought here for the occasion. A noon luncheon, patriotic program in the willow bowl in the afternoon, class dinner reunions and evening dance are included in tentative arrangements.

If the new Memorial stadium, which is to be constructed at the college, is advanced sufficiently, cornerstone will be laid at fitting ceremonies on the day of the reunion.

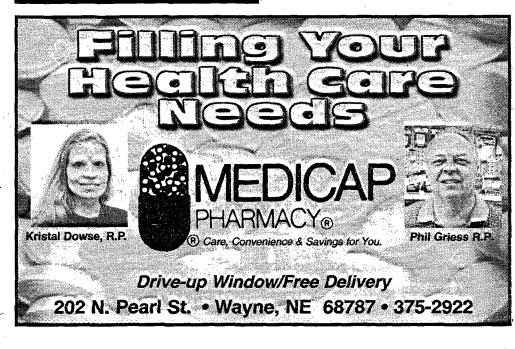

Supt. Hugh Linn of Laurel, president, appointed committees to work on plans for the alumni gathering. The committee will meet again the middle of January to hear reports.

A campaign for alumni association memberships and organization of Wayne alumni chapters in other towns are the two principal projects to be undertaken this winter. Dr. Bryan will have charge of these.

Supt. Linn, Miss Ruth Wagner of Pender, vice president, Dr. Anderson, Mrs. D.S. Wightman are members of the executive committee who met here Thursday. R.W. Ley, treasurer, was unable to be present as he was called to California. Miss Clara Smothers was invited to be with the group.

New street lights to extend past college

Council gives new street lighting OK; Sets paving lettering

The following story appeared in the Thursday, April 17, 1955 edition of the Wayne Herald.

Wayne city council approved plans and specifications for new street lights at a special meeting Monday afternoon.

The project calls for extension of the mercury vapor light system, now used in the downtown district, up Main Street from Fifth to Fourteenth Streets and Tenth street from Main to Nebraska.

Bids on the project will be opened April 26. Engineer J.M. Thoburn estimated the cost at $13,200. About $500 would be saved if round poles would be used.

When completed, 31 new poles will be added to the city system.

Controversy over a contemplated house-moving project also developed at the Monday meeting.

The council received a petition with eight signatures protesting the moving of a house from fifth and Main to Sixth and Dearborn by B.W. Wright.

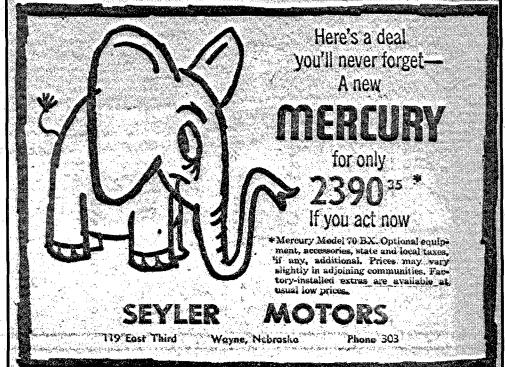

Speaking for the petitioners were Dallas Olson and Albert E. Davison. They said the move would result in decrease of value to surrounding property because the house is in poor condition.

They also said the 2 1/2 story house, which measures 36 by 42 feet is too big to place on the 48 by 100 foot lot.

Signing the petition were Olson, his wife, Davis, his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Smith and Blanche and Grace Banister.

Wright appeared before the council to settle details on the moving permit. councilmen were wary of issuing the permit when it was learned the same mover would hand the project as did the old St. Paul Lutheran church.

After considerable discussion, the permit wa granted with the provisions a $2,000 bond must be posted and the house must be moved within five days after it is in the street.

Route for the move will be north on Main to Sixth, then east to Dearborn and the lot.

The council will meet at 11 a.m. Monday to canvass results of Tuesday's city election. A regular meeting is scheduled Tuesday evening when bids will be operated for paving in Pine Heights and Hillcrest additions and from Main to the new municipal swimming pool.

Tornado damages five farms in Thursday evening storms Strikes farms near Wayne; No injuries

The following story was taken from the June 2, 1955 edition of the Wayne Herald.

The season's first tornado damaged several farms south and east of Wayne last Thursday, but injured no one.

Striking about 5:30 p.m., the twister first hit the Elmer Harrison farm operated by LeRoy Grim 3 1/2 miles southeast of Wayne, then wet to the Herman Luschen place a mile northeast.

After damaging buildings there, it continued its northeast path through the Mark Stringer, Harris Sorensen and Leland Herman farms northeast of Wayne.

At the Grimm farm, a garage was lifted from two cars and demolished without damage to the cars. Also destroyed were a brooder house, chicken house, machine shed and granary along with a porch and part of the roof.

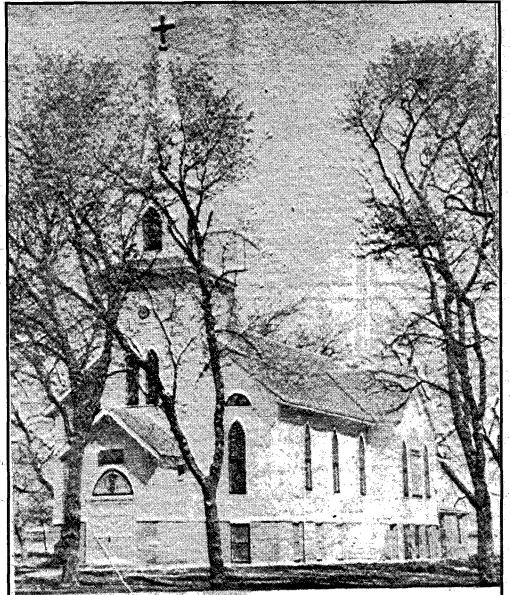

Mrs. Grimm was in the house and her husband and son, Vern, were in the barn when the storm struck.

Trees in the grove were topped and broken branches strewn about the place.

At the Luschen farm the house was damaged and windows blown out. A machine shed, garage, chicken house and hog house were destroyed. The roof on the barn was damaged and several pieces of wood were blown into the side of the building. A hog was killed and several others injured.

Mrs. Luschen was caring for her

No Draft Cards burned; County Boys Showing Up

The following article was taken from the Thursday, Oct. 28, 1965 edition of the Wayne Herald.

With all the publicity given nationally to those who would burn draft cards and seek ways to avoid the draft, the fact that most selective service boards are having no such trouble is overlooked. In Wayne county the boys are showing up on schedule for physicals and induction.

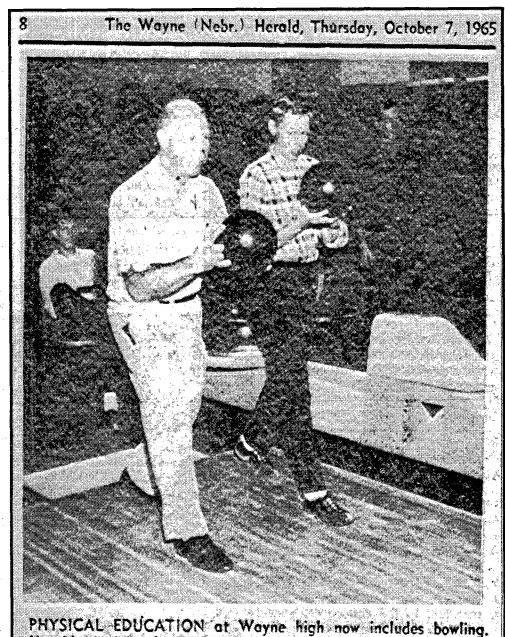

Mrs. Elda Jones of the selective service board sent six boys to Omaha Tuesday morning for physicals. Another youth was sent on the same bus for induction.

Daniel Lorenz, son of Mr. and Mrs. F.W. Lorenz, Hoskins, was the only inductee. It was not learned where he would be sent for his basic training.

Two others were scheduled to be called but they are farming for themselves and the board granted them deferment until December so they could get their crops in. Their names will not be released until are called.

According to Mrs. Jones, she will have to send seven married men for physicals in November. These will be men between the ages of 19 and 26 who are married but do not have children. All those who have turned 19 are now being called for physicals unless married before the deadline or attending school.

In addition, there will be three men inducted in November. None of these will be married men. No word on the quota for Demember has been niece and two nephews when the storm hit. They all took refuge in the storm cave and escaped injury.

The children, Kathy Ann, Gordon and Kenneth Jorgensen, were staying at the farm while their parents were in town.

The Mark Stringer farm, 2 1/2 miles east of Wayne, was next to feel the strength of the wind. Mark, Jr., 14, was getting in the cows when he saw the black funnel approaching. He lay down in the field and was not injured.

As it passed through farm buildings, the wind damaged a corn crib roof, wrecked a windmill, blew down fences and feed racks, broke windows in the barn and outbuildings and broke trees.

As it crossed the Harris Sorensen farm the tornado damaged a windmill and went on to the Leland Herman farm where it riddled trees and damaged a cattle shed and other buildings.

Heavy rains followed in the wake of the wind, ranging up to two inches in spots.

Early Friday morning, friends and neighbors arrived at the damaged farms and stared clean-up work and moving livestock to better barns and pens. By the weekend most of the debris had been cleaned up.

Rains help relieve dryland problems

Rains help relieve dryland problems

The following story was taken from the Thursday, July 24, 1975 issue of the Wayne Herald.

Rainfall Tuesday night gave some relief to heat-stricken corn crops in Wayne county but a general soaking rain of about two inches is needed, according to Wayne County agricultural agent Don Spitze.

"The shower Tuesday night gives us a little more breathing space," Spitze said. "And the cooler weather helps, but we still need a couple inches to really soak things up."

Wayne received .58 of an inch, according to the Norfolk weather office. Other amounts reported included Pilger, .66; Winside, 1.06; and Stanton, .75.

Northeast Nebraska missed the heavier rains received elsewhere. According to a weather service spokesman heavy rains fell mostly south of the Elkhorn River. West Point got 3.72 inches, the Crston-Howells area got between 2 and 2.5 inches and the weather service had an unofficial report of from 4 to 6 inches, nine miles south of Stanton. Arrasa titros of the Alices Rain-reported voversthe weekend included Wayne, 45; Winside, 1.06; Pilger, .76 and Stanton, 1.26.

Spitze said before the Tuesday night shower that dryland crops he had observed were generally under stress.

He said Wednesday morning that the shower helped but more moisture is needed. "We're entering the critical silking and tasseling period. corn can use from three to four hundreths of an inch per day."

time for dryland corn, Spitze said. "A couple of days with termperatures in the mid 90's and dry winds would really hurt."

Irrigated corn hasn't suffered as much this year as it did during last year's drought, according to Spitze. 'We haven't had the problem with farmers not being able to get over the field in time, like we did last year. I've even noticed some outfits shut-down."

Beans and grain sorghum are apparently holding up well for now. Spitze said the critical period for these crops will probably come in about mid-August.

Rainfall has actually been above average this year because of abnormally heavy showers in June. Wavne. weather observer Pat Gross recorded rainfall on 14 of the first 25 days in June, but from then until last weekend, only trace amounts were record-

Crops were starting to show stress. according to county ASCS director Ray Butts. He said Monday, after observing fields in the eastern half of Wayne County, that dryland corn was starting to look "white and droopy."

No figures for subsoil and topsoil moisture content wer available but Wayne Soil Conservation Service officer Arnold Marr said Tuesday morning that he had seen looked dry.

"There's still moisture in the sub-Cooler temperatures are also buying soil," he said. "But it's down far enough that plant roots can't use it quickly enough."

Start of winter is abrupt as blizzard strikes

The following story was taken from Monday, Nov. 24, 1975 issue of the Wayne Herald.

A howling winter storm ripped across portions of Nebraska Thursday, ending the unseasonably warm weather which had prevailed through the first half of November.

Snowfall in Wayne County was only about six to eight inches, but steady winds of 30 to 40 miles per hour, with gust as high as 78 miles per hour, caused severe drifting and made keeping roads open a losing battle for maintenance crews.

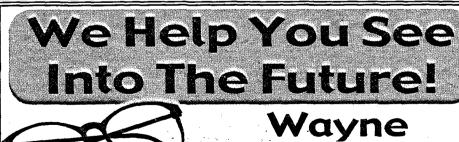

County Commissioner Merlin Biermann and road crewman Delmer Holdorf and Don Larsen were called

In Wayne, city street crews began trying early Thursday morning to clear streets, but were forced about 3:30 Thursday afternoon to postpone the effort until the storm subsided. Blowing snow drifted streets shut almost as fast as they were cleared, city administrator Fred Brink said.

Mabel Savidge celebrates 100 years

the Thursday, Jan. 10, 1985 issue of the Wayne Herald.

In the year of the Wayne Centennial, Mabel Savidge of Wayne - who now resides at the Wayne Care Centre had a 100 year celebration herself.

She turned 100 years old on Dec. 31 (New Year's Eve).

Most people have associated the Savidge Amusement Company, a company based in Wayne that toured throughout the country for 35 years before falling prey to the nation's Great Depression.

On Saturday afternoon, Mabel's' son, Walter Savidge, Jr. and grandson clark Savidge, both of Omaha, came to the Wayne Care Centre and presented by President Ronald Reagan as a tribute to her 100th birthday.

Mabel's talent was not limited to keeping the Savidge Amusement Company books and keeping tabs on the operation of the amusement business. Traveling the circuit was sometimes long and tedious, but Mabel always had her music to liven the atmosphere of the amusement shows.

Her parents, Frank and Elizabeth Griffith, homsteaded four miles north and one-half mile west of Wayne. She attended a country school and then went to the State Normal College in Wayne, where J. M. Pile was then serving as the college president. She finished the teachers' course in 1902,

He said the flames had moved into the area between the false ceilings in the old building by the time firefighters arrived and they weren't able to get at it from above or below.

"This was one of those no-win fires," said Sitzman. He said the structure of the building with multiple ceilings and multiple roofs created so many hidden voids in which the fire could move and feed on oxygen.

But Sitzman said he kept firemen off the roof of the building even after they thought they had it under control because he feared the blaze might still be burning in the hidden areas.

"It was not a safe situation, not knowing how long it had burned into the roof area," he explained. "I was afraid they (firemen on the roof) might hit a hot spot and we'd lose somebody."

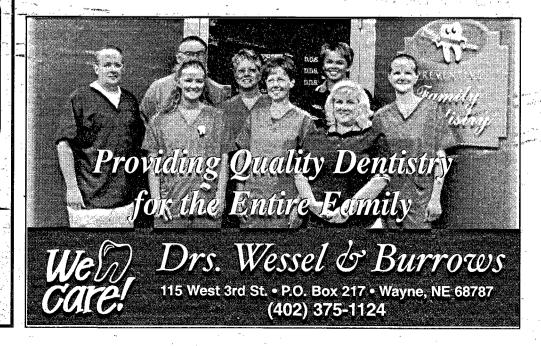

His fears became reality at about 2

Blood Testing

The American Association of Blood Banks (AABB) and its members, including the Siouxland Community Blood Bank, are committed to ensuring a safe and adequate blood supply for transfusion recipients.

Studies have shown that blood given by volunteers is much safer for transfusions than blood given by paid donors. Non-profit community blood centers, such as the Siouxland Community Blood Bank, use blood collected only from volunteer donors.

The blood supply is safer today than it ever has been. Strict screening practices in the selection of donors, as well as federal safety requirements for the testing, storage, and transportation of blood, make America's blood supply as safe as modern technology can make it.

After each unit of blood is drawn, small samples of blood are collected in tubes for the purpose of laboratory testing. Plus, blood left in the tubing which leads from the needle to the collection bag is divided into segments and left attached. These segments are used by the hospitals for additional testing in blood compatibility.

Each unit of donated blood goes through extensive testing to make sure that it is safe for transfusion. The following are some of the tests performed by the Siouxland Community Blood Bank on all donated blood:

- Blood Type and Rh Factor are determined.
- Hepatitis B Surface Antigen: Detects the presence of the Hepatitis B virus capsule.
- ALT: Screens individuals for liver inflammation.
- Hepatitis C Antibody: Detects the presence of antibodies against the Hepatitis C virus.
- Syphilis Test: Detects the presence of antibodies against syphilis.
- Anti HTLV I and II Test: Detects past exposure to a virus that can result in a rare form of leukemia and neurological disor-
- Anti HIV I and II Test: Detects the presence of antibodies against HIV (the agent that causes AIDS).
- HIV Antigen: Detects any HIV antigens in the blood within two weeks of exposure.
- Hepatitis B Core: Detects any past history of Hepatitis B.
- NAT HCV: Detects Hepatitis C virus RNA.
- NAT HIV: Detects HIV DNA.

There are yet to be determined future tests which may be mandated for a continually safe and healthy product.

While America's blood supply is very safe, blood transfusions are not risk-free. In almost every case, the life-saving benefits of receiving a needed blood transfusion outweigh the possible risk of contracting an infectious disease.

nderson family is full of veterans

The Anderson family has more than their share of veterans to thank for America's freedom.

Seven of the Anderson brothers, Wallace, Harlan, Alvin, Clayton, Kenneth, Curt and Earl, have served in the military. In addition, brother-in-law Larry Test and brother-in-law, LeRoy Koch have also served their country. In addition, two nephews, Kevin and Craig Anderson, have completed military service.

The Andersons, children of Arthur T. and Laura (Carlson) Anderson, were raised on a farm south of Concord and are now scattered throughout the country.

A brief history of their military service follows.

Wallace Anderson

Wallace Anderson was inducted into the Army on April 25, 1951 in Omaha at the age of 22. He received his basic training at Fort Leonardwood, Mo. and was sent to Fort Lewis, Wash. where he was deployed to South Korea.

He served in the 5th Army Area as an ammunition supply truck driver.

He returned to the United States in August of 1952 and later spent five years in the Army Reserves.

He and his wife Jeannine are the parents of four children, Melinda, David, Dwight and Dennis.

In 2001, just before his death, Wallace received a medal of appreciation from the South Korean Government.

Harlan Anderson entered the military on Aug. 2, 1952. After eight weeks of Basic Training and eight weeks of trucking school in

Harlin Anderson

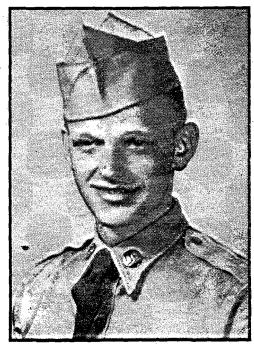

Ft. Riley, Kan., he reported to Camp Stoneman, Calif. He was loaded on a ship and after 15 days, landed in Yokahama, Japan.

He later took a ship to Korea and ended up in Seoul. He filled a 1st Base Post Office position where he spent 16 months handling and working with insured and registered mail, all air mail and parcel post mail.

After obtaining his orders to return to the U.S., Harlan was given an honorable discharge with the rank of Specialist E-4.

He returned to Nebraska and farmed on the same farm for more than 50 years. He and his wife, Verlyn, have three children, Steve, Kay and Dana.

Alvin Anderson entered the army from Dixon County on April 13, 1954 in Fort Omaha. He received his basic training at Ft.

and received another eight weeks of clerk typist training at the same camp. In October of 1954 he was sent to Patrick Air Force Base in Florida, which is now known as Cape Kennedy Space Center.

He was sent from there to the Bahamas as a company clerk for the 385th Engineer connected with the Air Force. He spent six months on Eleuthera and six months on San Salvador Islands. He returned to Patrick Air base in September of 1955. In October of that year he was sent to Beale Air Force Base in Maryville, Calif. and was discharged from the service on Feb. 16, 1956 with the rank of Specialist Fourth Class.

Alvin and his wife, Janet, live in Wayne. They have four children, Reed, Cinda, Janelle and Michael.

Clayton Anderson

Clayton Anderson drove to Ponca on Dec. 11, 1954 to volunteer for the draft. On Jan. 11, 1955 he traveled to Omaha to be inducted into the Army.

From there he went to Ft. Bliss, Texas and on to Ft. Ord, Calif. for eight weeks of Basic Training.

He was able to travel back to Nebraska for a short time before beginning another eight weeks of Advanced Infantry Training. On June 4, 1956 he flew to New York to prepare for a trip overseas. The Randall.

Sale barn has been part of Laurel community for nearly 100 years

In January of 1911, it was proposed to build a livestock pavilion in Laurel.

Nearly 100 years later, the Laurel Sales Company is still in business, serving the needs of the community.

A Stock Pavilion Association was formed in March of 1911 and funds were raised. In June of that year, the Association purchased a block from the Townsite Company for $400 and by the end of the year, the building was completed and ready for business.

During World War I and the early 1920's, the building was also used for public sporting events and the Chautauqua and Savidge Shows, which toured the area at the time.

In 1925 Tom Manley leased the barn for his business of buying and selling horses. Livestock auctions were not held on a weekly basis, but were held periodically throughout the year until 1933 when a group of interested men built yards and reorganized the company.

In March of 1934 the business was incorporated under the Laws of Nebraska as the Laurel Sales Company, Inc. It was at this time a scale was installed and a weekly sale date established.

The Laurel Sale Barn was under the management of Stewart, Ebmeier, Jarvis and Irene Cederquist for a number years. In 1955, Stewart acquired the stock of Jarvis. Eugene "Gene" Sohler was hired to establish a hog and cattle buying operation to work along side with the company.

In January of 1967 Sohler purchased the company. He operated it until 1979 when the sales and hog divisions were purchased by his son, LaMont Sohler. Gene continued to operate S. and S. Cattle Company until his death in 1981 and LaMont became the sole owner of the Sale Barn.

In October of 1984 LaMont sold his interests in the business to his brother, Chuck, who remains the owner of the business today.

2,000 head capacity was built onto the south end of the original building. In 1991, two computerized scales were installed. The scale on the east side of the barn is used for butcher hogs and the pavilion ring scale is used for weighing consigned livestock.

Through the years there have been many changes, as the farming community has changed.

"When my family first started in this business, there were a lot of small producers who brought in all categories of livestock. We had feeder pigs, hogs, boars, calves and once even a group of geese in the ring," Chuck said.

Sohler also said that during the 1980's and early 1990's, as many as 1,800 feeder pigs went through the sale barn on a weekly basis.

"In the 1990's, due to disease conrol and private treaty, this changed," Sohler said. "Cattle sales are huge now."

At this time, the majority of the butcher hogs are bought and sold directly to Hormel's in Sioux City, Iowa.

Horseracing was popular entertainment

Horseracing in Wayne?

Although it seems hard to imagine, for a number of years, horseracing was a popular form of entertainment both for those riding the horses and the spectators.

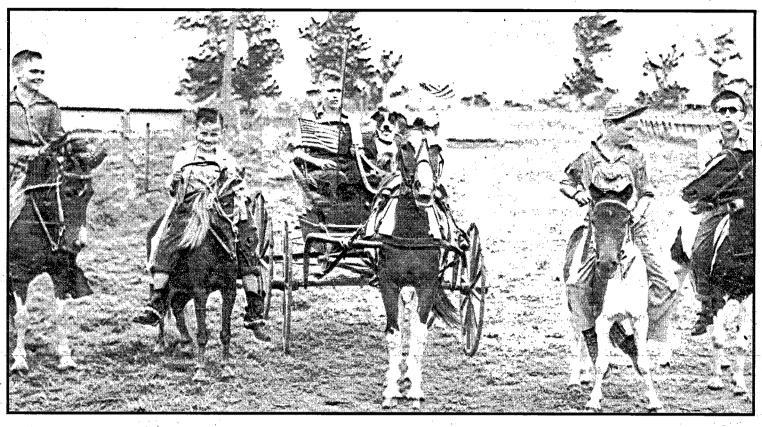

Shortly after the Wayne County Fair began in Wayne, the idea of grandstand horseracing was discussed.

At that time, the Wayne County Fair was held in late September or early October. The reason for this was that The Savage Amusements, who provided carnival entertainment, wintered in Wayne and made this their last stop.

The first recorded races took place in 1925. The September 3, 1925 Wayne Herald noted that there would be a mule race, Shetland pony race and boys' bicycle race on the first day of the fair, The second day's race was a free-for-all, "trot or pace and the purse is $100."

Prize money for the other races was $5 for first; $3 for second place and $2 for third place.

A grandstand was constructed at end of the tractor pulling track. The race track was north of the grandstand and basically ran east San Barrier Control and west.

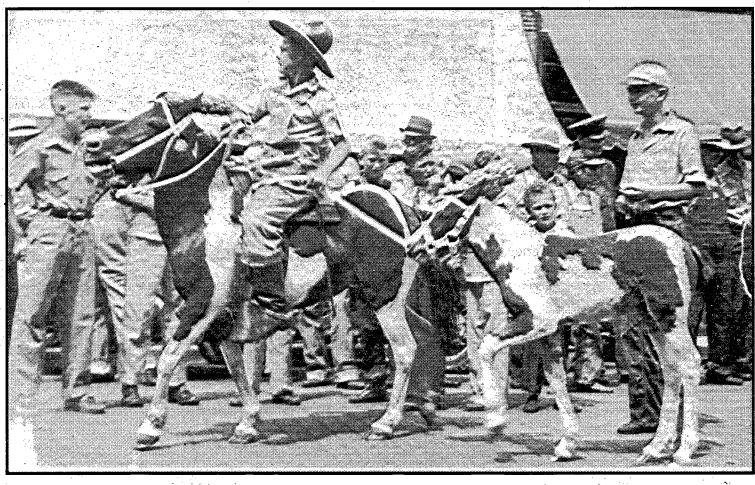

Ivar Anderson of Winside was among the leaders in thoroughbred horse racing.

Anderson's son, Irving, was among those riding the horses. His career took him throughout the area and to the Kentucky Derby.

In 1935 Irving went to work as a jockey for Calumet Farmers in Lexington, Ky. and continued there through October of 1940. He then rode for John Hay (Jock) Whitney at New York and Florida tracks until he was drafted in the fall of 1941. During his career he rode in the Kentucky Derby three times and finished third with Market Wise in 1941.

Irving's son, Wayne, also rode horses and his son, (Irving's grandson) has started riding, making four generations of racers in the Anderson family.

Among the other jockeys at that time were Lawrence Ring, Henry Foltz, Elmer Wilmar, Elmer Noakes, Clifford Francis, Everett Ring, James Ring, Wallace Ring,

He also noted that there were different classes of races including, Shetland, Welch, quarter horses and saddle horses. Mules were raced also, something Swede did not take part in.

"Different horses ran different lengths. Some ran one-eighth of a mile and others ran one-quarter," Fredrickson said.

Both boys and girls rode in the horse races.

Pat remembers riding bareback on the track at the fair in one race.

"We started the race on the north side of the track, went west and ended up in front of the grandstand on the south. There were several of us in this race, but the only one I remember was Ralph Beckenhauer on his white horse. He and I were neck and neck most of the race, but he won. I got second place and won enough money to buy myself a pair of cowboy boots," she said.

Another of the female racers was Janet Ramsey Anderson.

"Growing up on the farm, having a grandfather who was a horse trader and a father who loved horses, and being a tomboy, I was bound to grow up loving horses," Mrs. Anderson said.

When she was approximately 10 years old, she took her pony, Spot, to the fair to show. After the fair was finished, it was decided to have some races.

"It was such a thrill waiting at the starting line for the signal to start. I still get a knot in my stomach when I hear "Stars and Stripes in and we raced. Spot won," she was how I got started. The races Forever," which is what the band played while we were waiting for

> "There were 'match races' with big money bet on these horses. Those racing paraded up and down the finish lines and bets were made," he added.

> Thomas also raced horses at other county fairs, including the Dixon County Fair and the Pierce County Fair.

> He noted that the horses were generally raced until they were eight or nine years old.

Ellen (Beckman) Carlson raced her horse Dolly for a number of years in the late 1940's and early 1950's.,

"Dolly was very fast so my mother made me a red taffeta blouse and skirt and got me a pair of white boots and western hat. I entered the Wayne County Fair pony races. I won two or three years in a row and as I came across the finish line, there was a gentleman that always hollered at me to come over to the fence where he was, and he gave me a quarter," she said.

Carlson's racing career came to an end when Dolly died giving birth. She was buried on the family farm.

Hollis (Johnson) Frese received a Shetland pony from her father, Clifford Johnson. She and her younger brother, Larry, named her "Dina," short for "Dynamite."

At that time the family owned land on Third Street in Wayne, west of what is now Blaine Street.

Later, Hollis had a tall bay horse which her father purchased as a yearling colt from Hollis Beckenhauer. "Cinnamon" to ride and spent time practice racing with Pat (Hook) Straight in preparation for the fair.

However, Cinnamon did not want to turn on the bend of the track on race day. Hollis, who rode without a saddle, went flying over the horse's head when she didn't make the turn, went off the track and hit a pole.

The race was the last of Hollis' racing days.

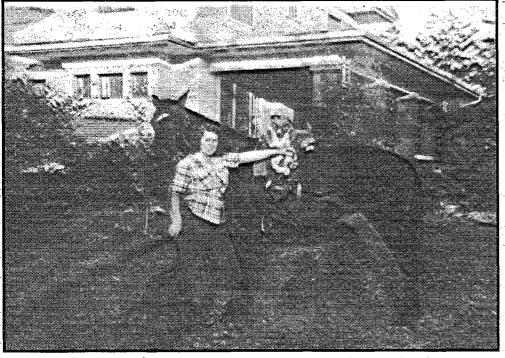

During the 1950's, horse racing was held in the afternoon and car racing took place on the same track in the evening. Jim Thomas was one of the horse racers and car racers, traveling throughout the area to compete.

However, eventually, horseracing gave way to car racing and daredevil acts at the fair.

Racing was held again briefly in the mid-1960's.

The Aug. 19, 1965 issue of the Wayne Herald reported, "some exciting horse races were reported Friday and Saturday at the Wayne County Fair.... Jerry Eulberg, who was in charge, said the purses totaled about $600 with entry fees added in a few cases. Butch Carlson's horse, "Off 'n Clear" won the thoroughbred A race Friday. Jim Robinson's "Foxy" won the Grand Prix race Saturday. There were 11 races Friday and 12 Saturday."

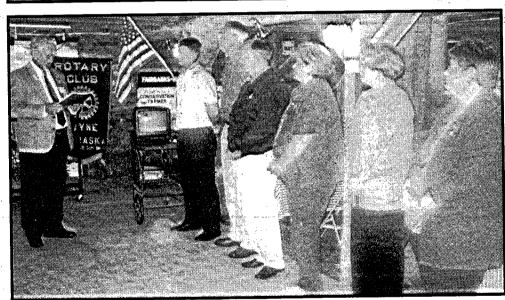

Dick Metteer of Wayne is currently putting together a book on horseracing. He would appreciate any additional information on the subject. He can be reached at (402) 375-2386. Information can also be sent to him at 210 West Sixth Street, Wayne, Neb. 68787.

Generations come together through Grandma-pa program

The Grandma-pa Storytime at the Wayne Public Library began in 1994 with the award of a children's services grant through the Nebraska Library Commission and is available at no cost to area daycares.

The program was designed to bring senior volunteers into home daycares to share reading and reading activities with pre-school children. Since its formation, the program has expanded into a mentoring program that has committed volunteers who range in age from 19 through 60.

There are several benefits for all involved. The program gives children a chance to build social skills and relationships with adults other than their daycare providers or family. It also gives the volunteers a chance for community outreach while being revitalized by the children's youthful energy.

The program also gives the library a forum to promote the enjoyment of books and reading to children at an early age. Not only can it help meet the national goal of reading readiness by school age, and help develop listening skills, but it can be a beginning of lifelong reading. This program provides a way to reach children who may not

Local community pulls together for auditorium renovation

The efforts of many long-time Carroll residents have resulted in the renovation of the kitchen in the community's 50-year old auditorium.

The Carroll Auditorium has been the location of many social events since it was built in 1953. Prior to that, the Carroll Pavilion, located at the north end of town, was home to many community gatherings. When the building was torn down, lumber from the old building was used in the construction of the new building.

Money for the present renovation has come from a number of sources.

In November of 2003, Tina Dowling and Jane Dolph, organizers of Christmas 'N' Carroll, presented a check to the village, representing the proceeds from the sale of blinking pins. This money was then turned over to the Carroll Community Foundation, which has been responsible for the renovation.

In addition, funds for the project were contributed by the Carroll Women's Club.

The Foundation and the Carroll Women's Club have worked together to make decisions on various items involved in the renovation.

The Stock Pavilion, built at the north edge of Carroll in 1907, was converted into a community hall in 1937. The original town hall, built in 1925, was leveled by a tornado. The Carroll Stock Pavilion was the major landmark in Carroll for many years. A new auditorium was built in 1953 — using lumber from the old stock pavilion.

"The Providence Medical Center filed its first Articles Incorporation in December of 1961.

Original board members included Mary Eining, Herman Lundberg, Willard Wiltse, Ralph Carhart, Adon Jeffrey and Kenneth M. Olds.

Gary Van Meter, who has been a member of of the Foundation Board for 27 years said the Foundation has been "bellwether for the support of the hospital, and through the efforts of everyone in the community working toward a common goal, we have a facility that is second to none."

Van Meter said he originally joined the board when the community was seeking addition physicians to serve the area.

He also noted that Foundation continues to work to provide quality health care to the entire region.

Other members of the Board who have served for a number of years are Bob Jordan and Phil Griess.

What is the American Cancer Society Relay For Life?

Relay For Life is the American Cancer Society's signature activity. It offers everyone in a community an opportunity to participate in the fight against cancer.

Teams of people camp out at a local high school, park, or fairground and take turns walking or running around a track or path. Each team is asked to have a representative on the track at all times during the event. Relays are an overnight event, up to 24 hours

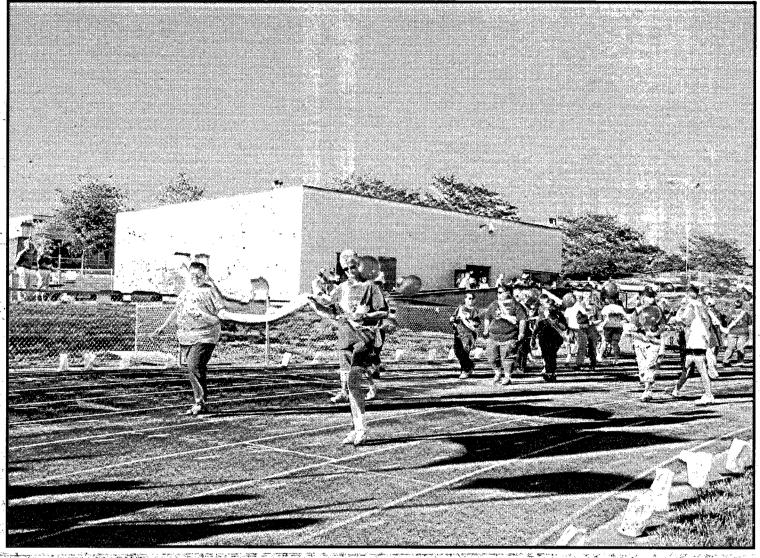

In Wayne, 2005 will mark the sixth year for the event which has attracted as many as 30 teams.

The dates for this year's event are Friday and Saturday, June 10-11. It will be held at Wayne State College on Cunningham Field.

One person can make a difference.

Nowhere is that more evident than with the story of the American Cancer Society Relay For Life, which began in Tacoma, Wash., as the City of Destiny Classic 24-Hour Run Against Cancer.

In the mid-1980s, Dr. Gordy Klatt, a Tacoma colorectal surgeon, wanted to enhance the income of his local American Cancer Society office. He decided to personally raise money for the fight by doing something he enjoyed - running marathons.

In May of 1985, Dr. Klatt spent a grueling 24 hours circling the track at Baker Stadium at the Tacoma for more than 83 miles. Throughout the night, friends paid $25 to run or walk 30 minutes with him. He raised $27,000 to fight cancer. That first year, nearly 300 of Dr. Klatt's friends, family, and patients watched as he ran and walked the course.

While he circled the track those 24 hours, he thought about how others could take part. He envisioned a 24-hour team relay event that could raise more money to fight cancer. Months later he pulled together a small committee to plan the first team relay event known as the City of Destiny Classic 24-Hour Run Against

In 1986, 19 teams took part in the first team relay event on the track at the colorful, historical Stadium Bowl and raised $33,000. An indescribable spirit prevailed at the track and in the tents that dotted the infield.

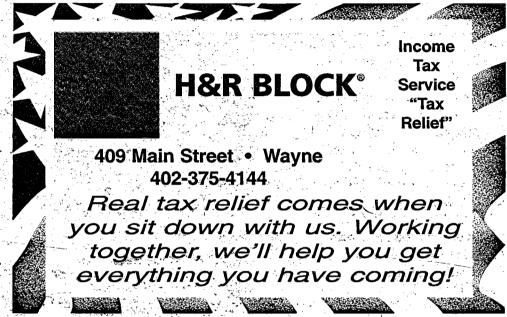

Relay is a moving celebration of cancer survivorship. The event usually begins with a survivor lap
