Before the year is over, the committee would like to develop sub-committees that could work with Main Street businesses on retention, expansion, improving the competitiveness of Main Street businesses and for the possibility of finding new owners for business people who desire to retire or other wise leave their business.

Three customer surveys have been completed by this committee since Main Street Wayne first organized. It is our hope now to take tees. Today, we will take a look at this information along with the info obtained in the new survey and with other secondary research collected and put it to use helping our Main Street Businesses become more successful--and also to use volunteers o help us obtain these goals and to help our business community grow and prosper. If you like challenges and want to help, please contact one of the committee members listed and make it a point to help us.

In addition, if you know of someone interested in starting a business in Wayne, direct them to us so we can help them find the right location and building for their business; and so that we can provide the necessary assistance to get their business off the ground in

Heineman avoiding political pitfalls

Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

Gov. Dave Heineman showed that his political savvy reaches far beyond his very short time in the state's top office. Heineman has been making more personal appearances than Condoleeza Rice, getting to know you and anyone else who wants to get to know him.

That's good public policy, as well as good politics.

More importantly, where public policy is concerned, Heineman has studiously avoided the "promise 'em anything" style that too many politicians have fallen into - to the disappointment and disillusionment of too many voters.

A good example of Heineman's cautious approach was given when he made his first appearance before the state Mexican American Commission.

Executive Director Cecilia Olivarez Huerta asked Heineman to pledge support to pending legislation favored by the commission, It would provide children of illegal immigrants the in-state tuition available to any other of Nebraska's prospective students.

That type of proposal can stir enough discussion to keep a room of world-class debaters going at it for a week. Minimum.

Heineman didn't stammer or stumble in declining to take a position on the bill, for or against. "If I say I support a bill early on, and it changes later, that doesn't do anyone any good," he said. "I want to watch and learn and listen and Might Heineman have political considerations in mind? Well, yeah! He is in politics. The important thing is that he didn't offer a blabberastic bag of piffle to the commission.

Sometimes, a politician leaves a room and people begin saying to one another: "Wait. Now, is he fer us, or agin' us. I'm not sure."

It would also be fair to say some-give (fill in the blank) some tax benefits, he would sure come out

So, what? When a policymaker knows what his policy is, and that it isn't likely to change, and that he/she wants the specific provisions in a specific bill, there's no harm in announcing it. Neither is there anything wrong with the old: "Everything is on the table," or "I won't budge from this position" with this bill, that's what I want to thing like: "Well, if it was a bill to lines, so long as they are spoken sincerely.

Being told "I'm certainly for you in principle" ought to bring a question from any constituent: "Okay, but are you for me in reality?! Are you going to push the green button when it's time to vote?'

"Darned if I know!" - which is what Heineman said in polite language - is always better for everyone concerned than swinging a verbal waffle iron in all directions.

Debate and discussion continue in Legislature

The eighth week of the from our statutes. Legislative Session is complete. Some standing committees have completed their hearings. Others down while day debate will begin the end of LB 716, which I introduced, had a hearing in front of the Banking, Commerce, and Insurance Committee on Feb. 22. The bill would create the Advantage Nebraska Workforce Training Institute in the state Department of Economic Development. The Institute would provide custom job training for employers using the resources of our post secondary schools such as tech schools, community colleges, and other educational institutions. Proponents testified from several state organizations including Chamber of Commerce, community colleges, and bankers. The committee took no action on the bill but hopefully they will advance it for legislative debate.

A second bill that I introduced, LB 205, was on General File this past week and moved along to Select File, the second round of debate on a vote of 32-0. The bill eliminates some obsolete language

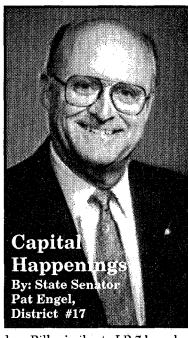

LB 205 says that if a developmental disability service provider goes out of business or is forced to close due to not following state Human Services System. Current law states that all equipment would be returned. However, service providers have drastically changed since the law was passed in 1991 and LB 205 is an effort to clarify what is happening now as far as services for people with dis-

The Region IV by-laws state that their equipment and buildings would go to a county or another non profit corporation if they dissolved and not to the state. Any state money received by the Regions is not allowed to be used for the purchase or renovation of real estate, according to Health & Human Services Systems rules and regulation so therefore such property should remain with those who paid or are paying for it.

Another bill debated the same day was LB 7 by Senator Dwite Pedersen of Elkhorn. LB 7 would allow towns and cities to decide whether or not charitable or community betterment groups can be permitted to raise funds on a roadway within their corporate bound- lowed due to concerns about state contributions from vehicles stopped at traffic lights or stop signs. I spoke in favor of this bill Appropriations is in the midst of guidelines, their equipment and since South Sioux City firemen and Friday morning, Feb. 25, over hearing from State Agencies in real estate will not be returned to other's have raised funds in this funding of the school employee order to complete the budget. Full the State Department of Health & way for many years for many retirement system. Senator Pat worthwhile causes.

Omaha firefighters had to step away from street corners in 2001 when the city council decided that the practice violated current state law. Bills similar to LB 7 have been introduced since 2002, but without success. The bill did not move on until an amendment was added saying that streets that are also state highways would be disal- any state matter.

aries. Groupst could only collect liability. I think it is important that these groups raising funds can once again do it legally.

An interesting debate was held Bourne added an amendment to LB 503, which would allow school systems and educational service units to ignore local property tax levy limits for two years to pump up teacher retirement funds. Bourne argued that not due to anyone's fault, invested retirement funds have all been through hard times due to their reliance on the stock market to maintain or increase in value. After much discussion, the amendment failed on a 16-23-6 vote. I voted against the amendment.

As you have already heard, the state revenue forecasting board met Feb. 25 and raised its predictions for each of the next three years. However, those of us who dealt with the budget the past few years know that we have to be fiscally responsible and build up reserves instead of appropriating anticipated revenues, especially for any new ongoing programs.

Lack of statistics makes job more difficult

Sports editors get their share of fan mail, both good and bad and I"ve received my share over the years.

I wanted to take a few minutes to respond to someone who wished to be known as "Enough Said" who took the time to write a letter, but forgot to sign his/her name.

"Enough's" gripe was over the lack of coverage of the final game of the 15-1 Wayne High freshmen boys basketball team, a 44-14 win over Pierce on Feb. 18.

Guess what? results for that freshman game weren't turned in to us for publication.

"Enough" was reading a story that talked about recent JV boys games, a different team that played games on the same night and was disappointed in the use of the headline that read, "WHS teams lose final season games."

The headline was correct, as the team that the story was about did drop those games.

If the results of the games had been submitted, the appropriate headline would have be en used, but those results weren't turned in for some reason or anoth-

It's hard to report on anything if no results are provided, and for the most part the majority of the coaches are good about providing these.

I'm not saying there is always a 100-percent cooperation and that's frustrating for me as well as readers, parents and fans.

The accomplishments of the Wayne High freshman team have been covered all season with brief stories and it's good to know that Coach Rocky Ruhl's basketball team cupboard should be fullystocked with talent next year.

"Enough's" letter expressed some valid points. However, as is often the case, the reality of this particular situation is quite different. I operate on the premise that having a 100-percent approval rating is impossible, but it's also unfair to call something an apple when it's a totally different fruit.

Wakefield advances to tourney

By David W. Carstens Of the Herald

The long wait for a trip to the state tournament is finally over.

The Wakefield Trojans dominated Neligh-Oakdale 52-30 in district C2-4 finals action at Norfolk High School on Monday night for a berth in the state tournament in Lincoln on March 10-12.

The Trojans (18-7) rode in on the same horse that got them through the subdisticts where they knocked off traditional NENAC powers Randolph and Laurel-Concord and Lewis and Clark counterpart Ponca.

Wakefield used a strong defensive effort to crush its subdistrict opponents and brought the same game into its meeting with the Warriors as Wakefield held Neligh-Oakdale to a 26.8 percent field goal percentage from the Warrior coach Greg Parr knew his team was in for a long evening when Wakefield got off to a quick 8-2 lead in the first four minutes of the contest.

Neligh-Oakdale was able to get back on track in the second quarter to only trail 22-14 at the half.

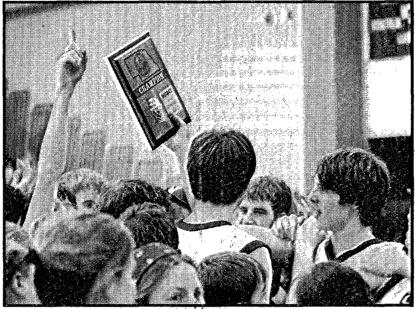

Cody Miller sparked Wakefield with some key shots from the field in the third to allow the Trojans to roll to a 16-6 advantage for the quarter.

Miller finished the game as the scoring leader with 15 points on the night, while Cory Gustafson and Taylor Peters also scored in double figures with 13 and 12 points, respectively.

"We are not an offensive powerhouse," Wakefield coach Mike Clay said. "If we can get off to a good start and then play defense and have good ball control, then I figure we have a shot"

Wakefield limited Neligh-Oakdale to 30 points, well below the 54 point per game average the Warriors have been cranking out this season.

"We are a bunch of baseball and football players and trackers," Wakefield players hold up the district championship plaque after Monday night's against win Neligh-Oakdale.

Clay added. "We're not going to get a lot of shots up, so we just do what we need to do to hold the points

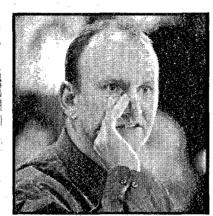

Wakefield was also solid at the line on Monday as the Warriors finished 69.9 percent on 16-of-23 attempts from the charity stripe.

The Trojans continued to dominate in the fourth quarter as Wakefield led by as many as 25 points before time expired to give the team the 52-30 win.

Clay said his team is looking forward to the challenges that await them in Lincoln next week and said the team's attitude now is nothing short of incredible, considering some of the rough spots the team faced during the middle of the season.

As of press time, the unofficial state pairings had No. 7-seed Wakefield facing No. 2 Bridgeport (21-0) at 1:30 p.m. Thursday, Mar. 4. 10 at Lincoln High.

Rotary International celebrates 100 years

On Feb. 23, 1905, Paul P. Harris, an attorney wished to recapture a professional club in the same friendly spirit he felt in the small towns of his youth, so he formed the first Rotary Club in Chicago, Ill. The name "Rotary" was derived from the early practice of rotating meetings among member's offices.

Rotary clubs spread throughout the United States in the decade that followed; clubs were chartered from San Francisco to New York. By 1921, Rotary clubs had been formed on six continents, and the organization adopted the name Rotary International a year later.

Rotary's mission expanded beyond serving the professional and social interests of club members. Rotarians began to pool their resources and contributing their talents to help serve communities in need. The organization's dedication to this ideal is best expressed in its principal motto: "Service embraced a code of ethics, called The Four-Way Test, that has been translated into hundreds of languages. It asks the following four questions:

1. Is it the TRUTH?

2. Is it FAIR to all concerned? 3. Will it build GOODWILL and BETTER FRIENDSHIPS?

4. Will it be BENEFICIAL to all concerned? In 1917, Rotary President Arch C. Klumph had proposed that an endowment be set up "for doing good in the world." In 1928, this endowment became a not-for-profit corporation known as the Rotary Foundation. Today, the Rotary Foundation has awarded more than $1.1 billion in humanitarian and educational grants, which are initiated and administered by local Rotary clubs and districts.

In 1985, Rotary made a historic commitment to immunize all of the world's children against polio. Rotary is the largest private-sector contributor in the global polio eradication campaign. Through its PolioPlus program, Rotary raised more than $240 million and will have contributed half a billion dollars to the cause by 2005.

The organization had been limited to male members and remained so officially until 1989, when Rotary's parliament, voted to eliminate the male-only provision, opening up membership to qualified women across the world. In the U.S., women Rotarians began to appear during the 1986-87 Rotary year. Today, there are approximately 145,000 women Rotarians worldwide, many of them serving in leadership roles.

Wayne Rotary began with an organizational meeting on Dec. 4, 1985. The original members of the Wayne Rotary were Gill Haase, Joe Lowe, Lyle Skov, Rod Tompkins, Clyde Flowers, Morris Anderson, Galen Wiser, Donald Hudman, Felix Dorcey, Donald Cleary, Cliff Peters, Bob Sheckler and Steve Schumacher. Gill Haase was elected as the first president in 1987, Ann Witkowski was the first

Creating a strong family-what is a strong family, anyway? well-being describes this concept, well-being describes this concept,

One question that has fascinated researches in the field of family study of 1,500 school children studies for many years is, "What asked, "What do you think makes a constitutes a strong family?" In essence, what are the qualities that make for success in families?

Finding an answer to this question is important, because with this foundation of knowledge we can help people learn about family strengths and give them the information necessary to create their own strong family.

Amazingly, when you ask people around the globe, "What makes your family strong?" the answers are remarkably similar from culture to culture. Our model of family strengths has six general quali-

• Appreciation and affection. People in strong families deeply care for one another, and they let each other know this on a regular basis. They are not afraid to express their love.

• Commitment. Members of strong families show a strong commitment to one another, investing time and energy in family activities and not letting their work or other priorities take too much time away from family interaction.

• Positive communication. Successful families are often taskoriented in their communication, identifying problems and discussing how to solve them together. Perhaps even more important than this, however, strong families also spend time talking with and listening to one another just to stay connected. Some of the most important talk occurs when no one is working at connection: open-ended, rambling conversations can reveal important information which helps smooth out the bumps of family liv-

HEALTH FACTS From your Local Homecare Nurses

Congestive Heart Failure affects millions of people everyday. A healthy heart can pump blood and oxygen to all parts of the body in a matter of seconds. The heart pumps oxygen and nutrients to the tissues and organs. When the heart can no longer pump forcefully enough to do this, a person has heart failure. Therefore not enough blood is circulating to your tissues and organs which can cause damage or failure. The blood may back up in the lungs and other parts of the body. Heart failure is a chronic condition which can progress.

With treatment the symptoms can be reduced and controlled. The ultimate goal is to maintain an adapted life-style without distress or complications.

"I'm limited in what I can do by my congestive heart failure, but I've been able to stay in my own home with the help & guidance of the Home Health Care staff." Joyce Huettman. Wisner, NE

Winter gives another blast!

But we were just getting used to temperatures in the 40s, and the wind and cold the last two days have seemed very cool.

The Big Farmer had the Academy Awards on, even though I was trying to read the Sunday paper. I had to admit I was curious to see if any of the Alexander Payne nominations would make it. You know, he's the director who was our guest at the Farm House in 1995, when he shot his first picture, some of which was done right here in Cass county. And I also am quick to admit that when we sawthe movie, Citizen Ruth, with Laura Dern, I didn't think the guy would ever have any success.

As the London paper reported, "Payne seems to like bleak characters." That's putting it mildly. We finally saw About Schmidt last fall. and even though I felt it was an accurate portrayal of male grieving, it was still full of bleak characters. I'm guessing Sideways is, too.

Anyway, he and his partner, Jim Taylor, captured the Oscar for adaptation to screen. And I thought they were very gracious, and I remarked to Mike, "Can you believe those two, plus Jim Glennon, who was involved in filming Star Wars, sat in our living room around the coffee table, plotting the next day's shoot?" That does feel unreal today. And we are very proud of him, even if he doesn't make optimistic movies.

By Feb. 13, 2006, all large CAFOs must apply for a National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System permit, said Rick Koelsch, livestock bioenvironmental engineer in the university's Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources. That includes large CAFOs that already have a current

Some mediumsized animal feeding operations with fewer animals may need a permit if there is a direct connection between the animal housing and surface water. Quest for state title is achieved

By Lee Koch Herald Correspondent

Sometimes reaching a lifetime goal seemingly takes forever.

In the case of Winside Wildcat coach Paul Sok, the quest for a State Wrestling Championship lasted over 30 years.

Sok, whose wrestling career started out at Oakland Craig as a two time state gold medal winner, was on a Knight team that finished as a state tournament runner-up team his senior year.

His search for the team title and finishes continued through coaching stints at Sandhills, then Harrison before coming to Winside in 1980.

Sok has spent 24 years at Winside taking the 1986-87 season off to coach at Hyde Prep School in Bath, Maine.

Since his return to Winside, Sok saw his Wildcat teams earn six more runner-up trophies to join the trophy his high school team missed by one half point in 1972.

His Winside team in 1982 also finished second best by a half point to Greeley High School.

Only Mullen, Gering and Sidney stand above Winside in the number of individual champions that started wrestling programs at about the same time as the Wildcats.

Sok has also coached the the continuation of second place Kansas/Nebraska and East/West All Star dual meet four times as well as coaching Midwest AAU exchange teams to Europe in 1980, Mexico/Venezuela in 1982 and Germany in 1983.

While Sok is extremely proud of the first to let everyone know that Bo Brummels, who became it takes talented athletes and good Winside's 32nd state champion in assistant coaches to maintain the 2005, put the Wildcats in 10th high level of success the Winside place for the number of gold medal wrestling program has had over the years.

"All nine members that represented Winside at the state meet won matches at Lincoln," Sok said. "Every member contributed at least three team points to the effort. As a team, they had 13 total pins and a couple of major decisions for 28 bonus points which is the equivalent of another wrestler winning a state title with three pins."

This year's Wildcats, who posted a 5-0 dual record, won tournament titles at Creighton, North Bend, Winside, Battle Creek, Clearwater, Districts, and State along with the Lewis and Clark duals meet.

Cozad, Valentine and Waverly.

The one thing that Sok stressed during the entire season was the coaching staff, who he said he feels is definitely the best small school staff in the state and should certainly be considered one of the best in Nebraska regardless of the size of the school.

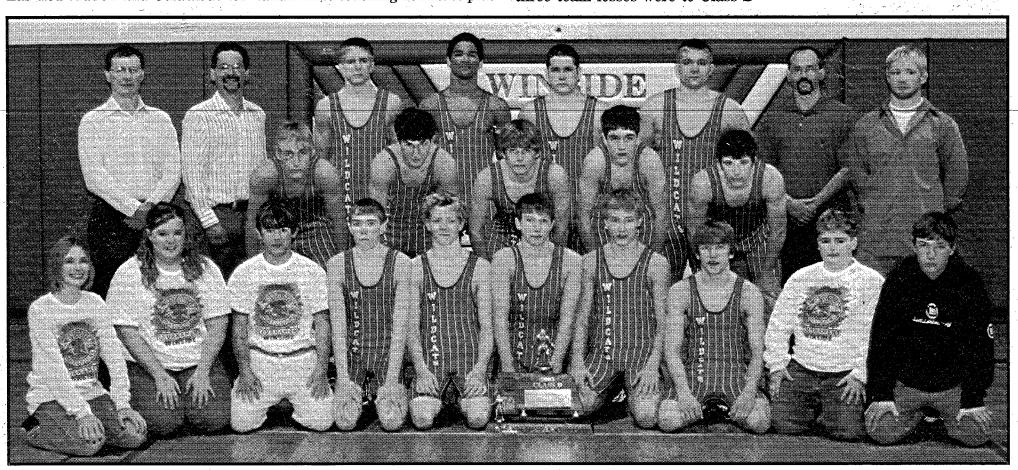

The coaching staff has 66 years of experience - Sok (28 years), assistant Mark Koch (17 years, including 12 years as head coach at Elgin Pope John), assistant Tom Koch (20 years) and Jordan Johnson (1 year).

"This was an excellent group of kids to work with. They always kept the team aspect of the sport at the front of their goals from start to finish," he said.

Sok wished to pass on his appreciation for the support of the Winside community.

"I want to thank the parents of the wrestlers, the Winside community and the school faculty and staff for all of their support throughout the years," he said.

"It was a very emotional feeling when we came into town on Saturday night with the crowd of students, parents, and community members that met at the school when we arrived in town."
