End of an era

The wooden grain elevator in Winside, which served the community for many years, was burned in a controlled burn on Sunday. Fire departments from Winside, Wayne, Carroll, Hoskins, Stanton and Norfolk assisted with the burning of the building. Metal grain bins located on both sides of the wooden structure were not damaged during the fire. It took only a short time for the elevator to burn to the ground and become a pile of rubble.

Among those Kenn Hallgren has become acquainted with in his travels to Romania are Regina Dragmoir, the queen of basket weaving in the small village of Sinca Veche, and her family. The woman second from the right is Irina Reit, who now does the buying of products Hallgren has in his shop and oversees the shipping and handling of containers to him.

Business is more than just products

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

For Kenn Hallgren, his newly opened business, RomArts, is about relationships developed with his artists.

Hallgren, who teaches marketing classes in the Department of Business and Economics at Wayne State College, has developed many personal relationships with the people he has met since he made his first trip to Romania in 1994.

"If you mention Transylvania, most Americans will think of flickering, black-and-white Hollywood movies depicting Count Dracula draining hapless victims. For me, Transylvania represented an opportunity to teach marketing and international business in 1994 as a Fulbright Fellow at the University of Transylvania," he said.

Since his first visit, he has been intrigued with the country, the crafts he saw being produced there, but most of all by the people he met. He has photographed the landscape and people while traveling the countryside for a deeper understanding in folklore, tradition and culture.

The majority of the artists Hallgren deals with work out of their homes or in neighborhood cooperatives.

"One village may specialize in baskets, while another specializes in rugs and yet another in painted eggs or ceramics," Kenn said.

In 1999 Hallgren returned to Romania through the Fulbright Commission for a second teaching session at the University of Transylvania. During this time he also continued to take pictures for a photographic documentary of rural and village life. With the help of his students at Wayne State College, he has developed a website - imagesofromania.com

This promotional page features an electronic gallery in which those viewing can also send pictures and text messages.

Among the art objects, available at RomArts are a number of painted eggs.

"Throughout Romania, especially in the Maramures and Moldavia areas, you find entire families painting eggs with traditional designs passed down from generation to generation. Money made from

Three killed in crash southeast of Wayne on Sunday

The office of the Wayne County Attorney announced that a one vehicle accident occurred early Sunday morning eight and a half miles south and three miles east of Wayne, resulting in three fatalities. The occupants of the car were ejected and pronounced dead at the scene.

The occupants were identified as Michael Konsel, age 21, Ryan Jabbonski, age 20, and Brandon Liebschwager, age 18. All three were from Columbus. Alcohol was found at the scene but it has not yet been determined if alcohol caused or contributed to the accident.

The Wayne County Sheriff's office continues to investigate this accident.

Representatives chosen for economic association

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

Don Buryanek and Dr. Will Wiseman will serve as representatives on the Governing Board of the Wayne Area Economic Development Association following action taken at Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

The council met as a committee-of-the-whole prior to the regular meeting to discuss representation to the governing board and a financial contribution to the association.

Several options were discussed and it was noted that it is not known at this time how the community will react to the creation of this association.

Council member Verdel Lutt questioned the need for an economic development director and asked his fellow council members what the city of Wayne wanted to become.

"Do we want to be a Norfolk or a Sioux Falls. If we have an economic development coordinator, what will the job of the executive assistant be?" Lutt asked.

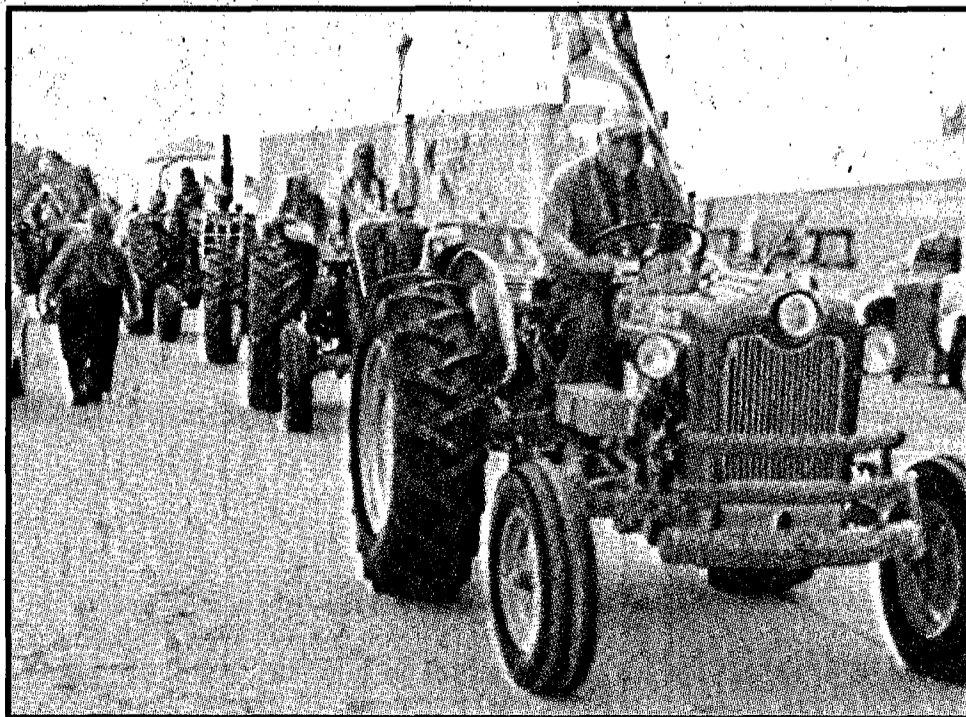

Council member Doug Sturm said he was concerned about the morale of the current city employees whose budgets have been cut in recent years if the funding was approved.

Several other council members said that the goal is not necessary to have the city of Wayne grow, but instead, retain what is presently here. It was noted that school enrollment has gone down in recent years and promoting economic development and bringing new families to Wayne would increase state aid to the school.

Following considerable discussion, the council voted 5-3 to fund the Wayne Area Economic Development Association in the amount of $76,600 and finance the contribution with a 1.6 percent increase in electrical rates. This amounts to a $1.60 increase per month in a $100 electrical bill.

During the council's regular meeting, the council listened to annual reports from Gene Hansen, Electric Production Superintendent and Betty McGuire, City

Tractor ride

More than 30 tractors, all at least 25 years old, stopped in Wayne on Friday on their way from Decatur to Norfolk. The tractors were part of the Great Nebraska Tractor Ride. The tractors spent the lunch hour at Northeast Equipment in Wayne where area residents were able to view them and eat a lunch provided as a fund-raiser by the Wayne County 4-H Council.

Weather system installed at Wayne Airport

An Automated Weather Observing System (AWOS) has been installed at the Wayne Municipal Airport. This system establishes an FAA approved weather source for the airport. AWOS enables charter aircraft operations during marginal weather conditions and will enhance the utilization of the airport.

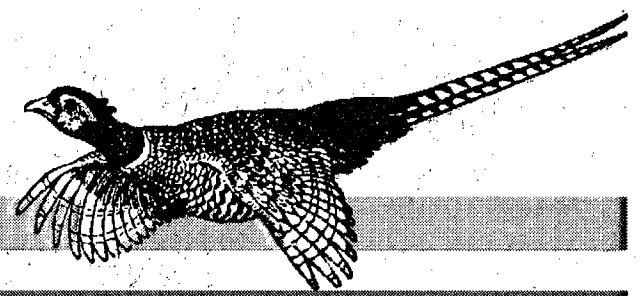

An AWOS III is a computer controlled system which reports temperature, dew point (humidity), wind speed and direction, altimeter setting (barometric pressure), sky condition (cloud height), visibility and density altitude. A present weather sensor is added to report precipitation occurrence, type, and intensity. Thunderstorms within 30 nautical miles of the airport are reported with the addition of a thunderstorm detector.

"This is a great improvement for the Wayne Airport," said Lyle Jacobsen, who is in charge of Navigation Aids Dept. of Aeronautics. "This equipment will provide for more corporate type and charter aircraft to use the airport."

Stray bikes fill police garage

The Wayne Police Department has a garage full of unclaimed bicycles.

Wayne Police Chief Lance Webster said many of these bikes were found or reported as abandoned and even though many are in excellent condition, they go unclaimed. One, a mountain bike, is virtually brand new.

The Police Department holds bikes for at least six months before turning them over for auction so Webster said if someone is missing a bike they should check with the police department to see if their bike is there.

Anyone coming to the police department to check on a bike needs to bring a detailed description of the bike, with serial numbers if possible, including brand, model and size. This will allow a dispatcher to query the property file for a matching bike.

Webster said bike owners can avoid having their bikes impounded and sold if they would just purchase a $3 bicycle license. The license is affixed to the bike and then, if found, the bike can be returned to the owner without any problem.

Wayne State residence hall room waiver drawing scheduled for Chicken Show

Wayne State College will be helping a new student to feather his or her nest on campus when they arrive at Wayne State if they have the winning entry at the Wayne Chicken Show on July 9 on the Wayne State campus.

The person holding the winning entry will receive a Wayne State College residence hall room fee waiver in the amount of $500, to be applied to the student's first semester of enrollment as a full-time student at Wayne State.

The certificate is transferable to an immediate family member, including a grandchild, and must be redeemed before May 1, 2010.

The drawing will be held during the Chicken Show contests in the Willow Bowl on Saturday afternoon, and the person submitting the entry must be present to win. Sign-up will be available at the Wayne State table at Henoween in downtown Wayne on Friday evening, July 8, as well as all day Saturday when the table will be located near the Willow Bowl.

Hagel gives statement on BSE test results

The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) announced the final tests from the Veterinary Laboratories Agency in Weybridge, England, confirming that a sample from an animal that was blocked from the food supply in November, 2004, has tested positive for Bovine Spongiform Encephalopathy (BSE). An initial screening test on the animal in November was inconclusive. U.S. Sen. Chuck Hagel released the following statement:

"The importance of the cattle industry to Nebraska can not be overstated. While this announcement is unfortunate, it is proof that the USDA's enhanced BSE surveillance program is working. The animal was blocked from getting into the food supply due to the increased safeguards that have been put into place since the first U.S. case of BSE was confirmed in December of 2003. The American people, Nebraskans, and global consumers can be confident that the United States has the finest food safety program in the world," Hagel said.

Nearly 1,000 animals per day are tested as part of the BSE surveillance program. For more information on the USDA's testing program

WEEKLY HEALTH TIP
Ingrown Toenails
 Ingrown toenails can be painful and are caused by wearing shoes that are too tight or improper trimming of the toenail. If you trim your toenails too short and round the corners, your toenail can grow into the skin. You can avoid developing an ingrown toenail by trimming your nails straight across level with the top of your toe. If an ingrown toenail becomes red and very sore, it may be infected. Treat the infected toenail by soaking your foot in warm, soapy water a few times a day. Your doctor may prescribe antibiotics if the infection is severe.

Wayne Industries
News & Notes from the Wayne Chamber of Commerce & Industries
 By: Leo Ahmann

Regarding the limited edition 25th Chicken Show commemorative eggs . . . egg number 25 . . . that's #25 will be AUCTIONED off at the Chicken Sow at approximately 2:30 to 3 p.m. . . at the conclusion of the Cluck-Off, while the judges are adding up the scores. Keep in mind there's $400 in prize money for two age categories in that cluck-off.

Also during this time period we are going to honor the three "originators" of the Chicken Show. There are a large number of people who have put in years and years of hard work on committees throughout the years.

WE THANK YOU!!!
 We also want to remind you that there's $400 in prize money for you to win in the hard boiled egg eating contest held on Saturday.

Unless your henhouse is outside the immediate area, you've been exposed to chickenitis. It's not a harmful malady though . . . it makes you a well-balanced person, that if in the confines of the city limits during the weekend of July 8 and 9, a person who likes to have fun, eat, watch a great parade, eat, listen to free entertainment, eat, visit the vendors, eat, what the silly contests, eat, try to catch a fresh egg dropped from a cherry-picker, eat and just loosen up and have some fun!!!

 Thanks to Ameritas for their great window decorations for the Chicken Show.

A note from Wayne Industries . . . thanks to the past presidents of Wayne Industries who were able to attend a lunch this week. It was an opportunity to share past successes in Wayne and what approaches were used to get our present industries to relocate or start here in Wayne. As with any economic-focused group, the most important items discussed were relocation and expansion. However, the most important word thought echoed by many in attendance was RETENTION! Retention of the great businesses we have here in Wayne is definitely a focus of the past presidents and the current Wayne Industries Board members.

I invite everyone to enjoy Henoween Friday night and please join in the celebration of the 25th Anniversary of the Wayne Chicken Show on Saturday. We'll appreciate your attendance!!!!
 Until next time . . .

Clock tickin' for the chicken

With just one week until the 25th annual Wayne Chicken Show, The Chicken appears to be somewhat nervous about getting his nest ready for the thousands of hens and roosters expected to flock to Wayne next weekend.

Gale urges support for military on July 4th holiday

Nebraska Secretary of State John Gale urged Nebraskans to take time on the July 4th holiday to reflect on the sacrifices of U.S. military personnel serving in Iraq and Afghanistan.

"Our military personnel continue their heroic efforts to bring democracy to Iraq and Afghanistan," said Gale, who serves as chief protocol officer for Nebraska.

"Let's never forget the extreme dangers they face and their valiant service for our country," he said. "Our thoughts and prayers are with them."

Gale said Nebraskans are making significant contributions to the military efforts in the two countries. As an example, he noted that some 700 Nebraska Army National Guard soldiers, or 21 percent of the total force, are currently serving in Iraq or Afghanistan.

"These brave Nebraskans embody the values we celebrate on the July 4th holiday," he said.

To show support for U.S. military personnel and pride in America, Gale encouraged Nebraskans to fly the U.S. Flag from their homes on July 4. "The U.S. Flag is the national symbol of freedom, liberty and democracy that America stands for," he said.

As a free public service, people may arrange with Gale's office to have U.S. and Nebraska flags flown atop the west wing of the State Capitol throughout the year in recognition of individuals, accomplishments and special occasions.

Democratic candidate needed

By Ed Howard
 Statehouse Correspondent
 The Nebraska Press Association

There is a decided lack of imagination in Nebraska politics these days.

Especially among Democrats.

Not one Democrat (at this writing) was a declared candidate for the party's nomination for governor.

Now, c'mon!

Try to imagine the bright side of being the Democratic nominee.

Just saying you would accept the nomination would make you a winner of sorts.

Your descendants would point to your photograph and say: "That was my great grandpa. When he tried to be governor, no one even wanted to run against him in the primary!"

It is true that a standard bearer for Nebraska's decidedly minority party would be in a tough spot when the general election rolls around.

Why worry about it?

A Democrat running for governor in 2006 could do what very few candidates get to do in any race, even in a lifetime of politics: He could tell the truth! Call 'em as he sees 'em!

The Republican candidate is likely to be either incumbent Gov. Dave Heineman, or the patron saint of the Husker Nation, Rep. Tom Osborne.

Could a Democrat stand a chance?

I am reminded of an observation by Damon Runyon.

The race is not always to the swift, nor the battle to the strong, but that's the way to bet.

Well, so what?

A Democrat facing a personage like Osborne or Heineman could swing for the fences, say whatever he wishes, yank the tails on sacred cows, afflict the comfortable and comfort the afflicted.

The view from here: A candidate might appeal to a larger-than-anticipated constituency with a slam-bang slogan that touches the hearts of Everyman. How about: "No more bull---t!"

That slogan might garner an extra 10,000 votes from people who admire the notion, but are too polite to say it with such directness. It would be a guaranteed "thing" in the print media; and imagine all that giggling by TV anchors. You can't buy that kind of publicity.

A free-wheeling candidate would occupy the place of one who maintained the honorable tradition of the electoral process. The loyal opposition, the fellow representing a choice.

The door would be open for imaginative proposals.

The nominee could take a cue from a guy who ran for governor of Kentucky in 1991. The latter had a thought for boosting tourism.

"You allow me to license and regulate marijuana, and I'll fill every hotel and motel room in the state!"

That would enliven a debate at the old State Fair.

Such a candidate would have the option of candor. Remember in 1990, when the first President Bush was asked what specific budget cuts he would propose?

"It's a very good question, very direct, and I'm not going to answer it!"

It was a rare thing, but a Democrat running uphill in Nebraska could do it every day - assuming the press would bother to ask him a question every day.

A political contest is like any other fight. No one wants to be overmatched and embarrassed.

In politics, however, defeat is categorized.

If Osborne thumped a neophyte Democratic candidate it would not be a "devastating loss." It would be nothing more than "Osborne's anticipated victory."

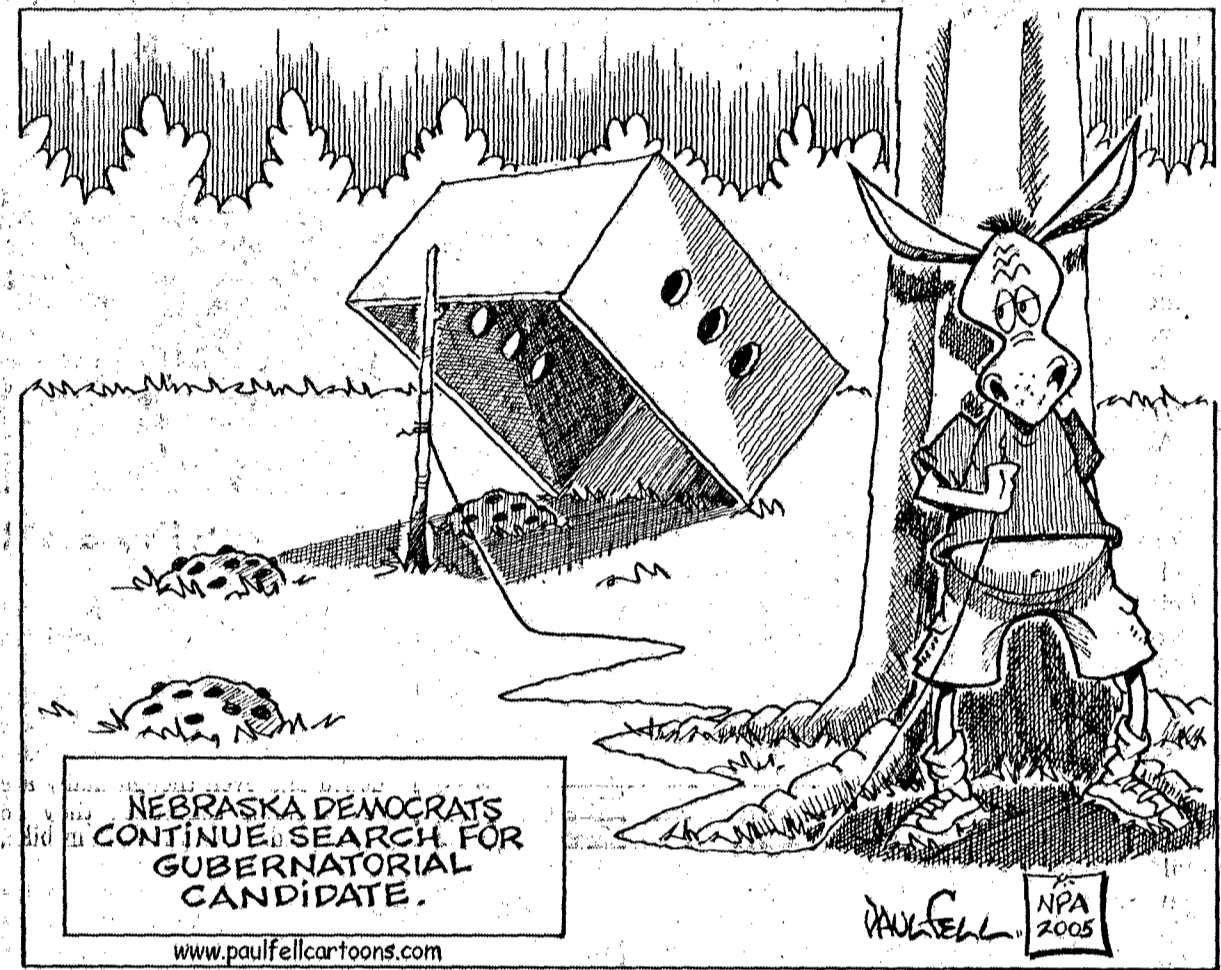

This is not to make light of the electoral process. It is to acknowledge certain realities, and suggest that the most be made of them.

It was Carlyle who said: "It is a vain hope to make people happy by politics."

If you cannot make them happy, why not try to make them think a little differently?

There is also the perspective, with more than a hint of legitimacy, offered by a Canadian who sought high party office some 20 years ago.

If I win, I win. And if I lose, I spare myself untold agony."

Turning the economic flywheel

Next council meeting

The next council meeting will be Tuesday, July 12 at 7:30 p.m. in regular session in the council meeting room at 306 Pearl Street.

$1.60 to turn the flywheel

After an hour of discussion at last night's city council meeting, council members, by a 5-3 vote, approved an increased funding request from the newly re-structured Wayne Economic Development Association. The group asked the council for an increase in allocation for economic development funding from $39,000 per year to $76,600.

The amount approved is restored to about the level of funding assistance in 2000.

The discussion centered around the purpose and goals.

Expressed Purpose:

- Much work is needed to maintain the school student population and community population;

- Jobs and housing are needed to maintain population or grow;

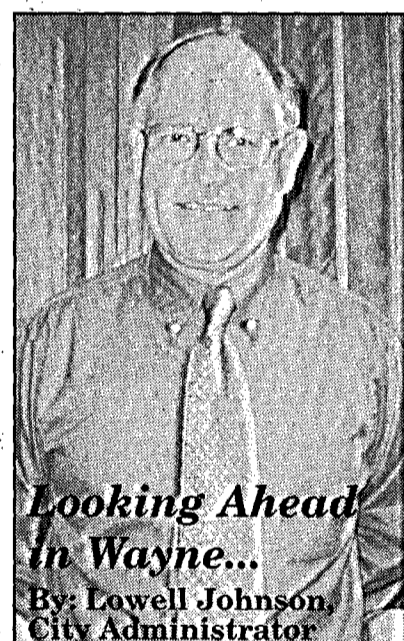

- Looking at a US map, Wayne is hard to find by manufacturers looking for a place to expand;

- We need more awareness of what encourages local entrepreneurs to grow business here;

- The funding is an investment in the community future economic viability.

Funding plan:

- To fund the request through a

1.6 percent addition ($1.60 per $100 monthly electric bill) to the retail electric rate for the next fiscal year beginning in October and list it on each monthly statement so it is visible and accountable to the rate payers.

Personal Comment from Me:

Every community economy is a flywheel with momentum that creates new wealth. Things that drag the flywheel down are - population loss, drought, lack of investment and low incomes. Things that speed the flywheel up are - business profits, growth in quality jobs and growing population.

What ever the level of public investment a community makes to help speed up the flywheel can and should be a part of a well-organized and focused effort.

painting eggs helps cover the cost of boarding and tuition for two daughters in one of the families I have been working with," Hallgren said.

Hallgren said the painted eggs are designed with holiday and nature themes. The process involves several steps and can take up to four hours to create each egg.

"With each being one-of-a-kind, this created a great opportunity to select the designs currently in our collection. We believe that the traditional designs offer a wonderful decorating opportunity for Easter since Romanian tradition recognizes the egg as the primordial source of life," Hallgren said.

He added that he tries to buy and sell the items he has available as directly as possible and works through a broker to get the merchandise shipped to the United States.

"Also part of our team is Irina Reit, who manages the buying, storage and shipping. She is also a folk artist, the first that I met in Romania. She makes folk dolls that are puppets and has a long relationship with many of the artisans, Hallgren said.

It has been a rewarding experience and a learning experience," Hallgren said.

Ginger Nixon is Employee of the Quarter

Marcie Thomas, Administrator of Providence Medical Center, Wayne, has announced that Ginger Nixon, LPN has been selected as the PMC Employee of the Quarter.

"At Providence Medical Center our employees are our most valuable asset, and this recognition is our opportunity to make public the outstanding contributions they make to our hospital," said Thomas. "Ginger has proven to us in a very short time that she is a dedicated nurse whose abilities are very much appreciated by her patients and their families. Numerous individuals nominated Ginger for this honor, all of whom were patients and/or family members who have been under her care at our hospital. She demonstrates professionalism at work and in the community. I am extremely proud to have her as an employee of Providence Medical Center."

Nixon, a member of the Nursing staff at Providence Medical Center, says that she "yearned to be in nursing for a long time, and is so pleased to be a member of the profeccion and an employee at PMC."

The public is encouraged to nominate PMC employees for the Employee of the Quarter Award. Nomination forms may be picked up at the Providence Medical Center Business Office or the PMC Foundation Office and returned to Sonja Hunke in the Human Resources Office. "I am overwhelmed by the number of nominations I receive from individuals who have been in our hospital and want to exercise their opportunity to nominate our employees. We are proud of all of the people working at our hospital, and we are extremely gratified with the example being set by our quarterly honorees," said Hunke.

NNTC makes donation to Winside Fire Department

Northeast Nebraska Telephone Company donated a $265 check to the Winside Voluntary Fire Department.

NNTC held a member drive from March 1 through April 30 promoting membership in the telephone cooperative. For each new membership application received, the company donated $5 to the Winside Fire Department with a $200 bonus when the community reached a 90 percent membership level. During the drive, the Winside membership rating increased from 18 to 32 percent.

NNTC began the member drive by sending a direct mailer to every nonmember, and solicited additional support by placing an ad regularly in the local newspapers.

"We wanted to see every department receive the most money possible, so we placed a lot of effort in attracting enthusiasm to this member drive. We recognize the sacrifices that the community volunteers make in order to provide essential safety services to Winside" (Ranae Schmid, NNTC Marketing and PR).

Although everyone who has dial-tone service through NNTC is already a customer, they must sign membership papers to actually become a member of the cooperative.

Membership is important to NNTC customers for many reasons. When customers sign membership papers, they actually become owners in their local telephone company. Ownership in NNTC allows members only to vote on election of board members and other pertinent issues that are brought before the membership at the annual meeting. Membership also allows for property rights in the event of dissolution.

"We feel strongly that customers who are members are more likely to take an active interest in the company's services. Understanding the importance of NNTC membership helps our customers see the value in their local telephone company," Schmid said. There is absolutely no cost to becoming a member of NNTC.

Schmid added that they appreciate teaming up with the local fire department to help raise their membership levels while helping them raise funds. Just like the volunteer fire department, NNTC is committed to community involvement and to great service to the residents of Winside.

Library hosts Marsh

David Marsh presented a program on the "Music of Ireland" on June 29 at the Wayne Public Library to kick off the July session of the Summer Reading Program, "Dragons, Dreams and Daring Deeds!"

The first program was presented to the four-year old through first grade group and the second program to the second through sixth grade group.

These programs were public performances and open to the entire community.

This presentation was made possible by the Nebraska Humanities Council (NHC) and The Wayne Public Library as part of the NHC Speakers Bureau. The NHC receives support from the National Endowment for the Humanities, the Nebraska State Legislature, the Nebraska Cultural Endowment and private donations.

Marsh presented musical styles of the Emerald Isle, using the accordion, penny whistle, Northumbrian pipes and bodhran (Irish drum) to perform jigs, reels, rebel songs and sing-a-longs.

He told stories of Irish legend, elves and fairies, historical events of famine and wars and the joys and sorrows of immigrating to a new land.

Music of Ireland is one of approximately 300 programs offered through the Nebraska Humanities Council Speakers Bureau.

NEBRASKA HUMANITIES COUNCIL

Resolution 2005-60 received unanimous approval. It will approve the Nebraska Department of Roads Agreement for the Highway 15 (Main Street) Paving Project. It states that the NDOR will be responsible for removing and repaving the streets and sidewalks from Cigo at Sixth Street to Clark Street and additional work south of that area.

The council also approved a request from Otte Construction to put temporary stop signs at the corner of Second and Main Streets for a period of 90 days during the construction of the new State National Bank Building. The stop signs would be on Second Street only.

No action was taken on a proposal to create a rock or concrete paved parking lot south of the Community Activity Center.

Discussion centered on the benefits and cost of rock, asphalt or concrete and the need for additional parking at the Activity Center.

Funding for the project would come from the $80,000 remaining from the original construction cost savings.

Council appointments during Tuesday's meeting included Jack Hausmann to the Board of Adjustment and Wayne Wessel to the Board of Health.

The council's next meeting will be Tuesday, July 12 at 7:30 p.m. in the council chambers

Weather

Many corporations, which operate their own aircraft, require terminal weather before they will fly into an airport during inclement weather. While the AWOS is primarily designed and installed to meet aviation needs, it will provide current weather conditions to the general public.

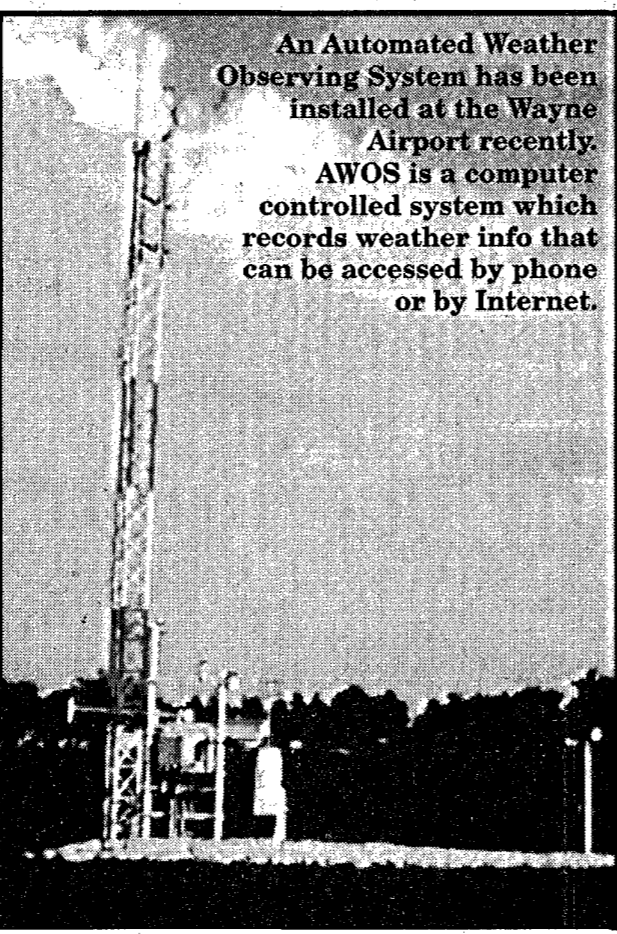

"This kind of puts Wayne on the map," said Mitch Nissen, airport board chairman. "Pilots can check the airport as to their approach 10 miles out opposed to waiting until entering their flight pattern. AWOS is valuable as weather is marginal and information gathered can mean a go or no go situation. AWOS is an important safety factor."

Nissen added that having this type of weather information available is very important to medical helicopter staff when flying into Wayne, especially in marginal weather. Being able to access AWOS gives them conditions at the Wayne Airport. In the past, pilots had to contact airports in Norfolk or Sioux City, Iowa, to get information.

"The AWOS is for aviation purposes and gives very detailed weather information but anyone interested in the weather can access the information," said Carl Rump, vice chairman of the Wayne Airport board. "With AWOS, pilots can get a GPS approach to the Wayne Airport with under 300 feet of cloud cover where before it was 700 feet."

The AWOS operates 24 hours a day

An Automated Weather Observing System has been installed at the Wayne Airport recently. AWOS is a computer controlled system which records weather info that can be accessed by phone or by Internet.

Demolition of this house on the WSC campus is one of the renovation projects taking place this summer.

Renovation, construction projects taking shape

Several campus renovation and construction projects have begun this summer at Wayne State College.

One of the most visible has been the removal of several houses on the east side of campus to make room for additional parking. "This is being done as a result of our campus commons project, which will eventually make the center street running through campus into a pedestrian walkway. The first phase is to provide parking to the peripheral areas of the campus," said Carolyn Murphy, vice president for administration and finance.

"The removal of four houses which the college owns is the first step in this process. Three were demolished and the fourth was sold and moved off campus. This summer's work includes construction of a new parking lot just east of Gardner Hall," she said. "Next summer (2006), the college plans to pave the lot east of Morey Residence Hall and extend it down to where the house that has been moved was located."

Other construction projects on campus beginning this summer include tuckpointing and masonry restoration of state buildings; an addition to Carhart Science which will include an elevator, stair tower, and ADA-compliant restrooms; a new roof on Morey Residence Hall; and the renovation of space for a physical therapy and athletic training facility in the recreation center.

unattended. The observations are converted to computer generated voice for transmission to the pilots over an assigned aviation frequency. The observations are also available via telephone. The AWOS observations are updated every minute, if conditions so warrant. At 20 minute intervals, an observation is transmitted to the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) and National Weather Service (NWS) through a satellite link.

The weather information is collected at a sensor site located along an airport's primary runway. The main computer then processes the information into a properly formatted weather observation for dissemination.

A Z-Link tm is the satellite communication system which allows input of the AWOS weather reports into the FAA and NWS national systems. The reports can then be obtained from any FAA Flight Service Station or Air Traffic Control Center in the United States. The reports are also used by the NWS in forecasting and are made available to the public through the NWS weather products.

The AWOS was funded in part by a Federal grant. It will be maintained through an agreement between the Wayne Airport Authority and the Nebraska Department of Aeronautics. Access to AWOS is available over the telephone by calling 402-375-0111. The information received will be in aviation format and temperatures will be in Celsius measurements. The information will also be available via the Internet within the next several weeks.

Grooming and boarding among services offered at Four Paws

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

From the time she was in third grade, Kim Sperry has been involved with boarding and grooming animals.

"I started grooming when I was 12 and apprenticed in Norfolk before getting a job at The Pet Spa in Dakota City. They are known for their quality and it was there I was able to hone my skills," Kim said.

In 1993 Kim opened her own business, Four Paws Grooming and Boarding in a building on Main Street in Wayne. In 1996 she moved to a newly built facility 6 1/8 miles west of Wayne on Highway 35. She grooms and boards both dogs and cats.

"According to the inspectors who visit our facility, we have one of the best kennels in Nebraska. We are inspected on a periodic basis through the State of Nebraska Department of Agriculture and evaluated on cleanliness, care of animals and record keeping," Kim said.

During her career, Kim has also been involved with showing and grooming standard poodles and currently travels throughout the area showing Italian Greyhounds.

"I work and train dogs for others and am working to add training and handling to the services offered at Four Paws," she said.

She said her education for training dogs comes from attending various dog shows where she has the opportunity to talk with people in the field and keep on on all aspects of the business.

Four Paws has 16 indoor/outdoor runs for dogs that are kenneled there.

"If the dogs are from the same family, we can put two large dogs or three small dogs in the same kennel," Kim said.

She said that while the dogs are kenneled, they are fed on the owner's instructions and customers are asked to bring the dog's food, toys and bedding to make their stay as comfortable as possible.

Four Paws also kennels dogs that require medication and work with as many area veterinarians as possible.

"The majority of our business is with dogs, but we do work with cats also. Our cat room is separate from the area where the dogs are kept," Kim said.

Animals groomed and kenneled at Four Paws come from many different locations, including Wayne, Norfolk, Fordyce, Crofton, Jackson, Randolph, Carroll, Wisner, Beemer and as far away as Kansas City.

"Some dogs we see as often as once a week, while others come in once every two weeks for a bath and brush and others come in every six weeks," Kim said.

In addition to the services Kim provides at Four Paws, she also has been working for approximately eight years with Wayne County 4-H'ers involved with dog projects.

"We meet each Monday night at the Wayne County Fairgrounds and work on obedience and showmanship skills with 4-H'ers of all ages," she said.

The facility is open Monday through Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. and offers flexible hours on Saturday.

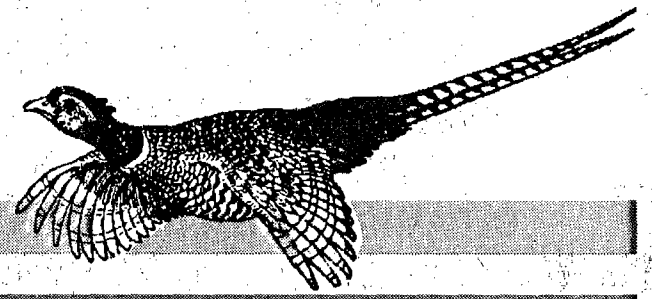

For more information on the services available at Four Paws, call 375-5411.

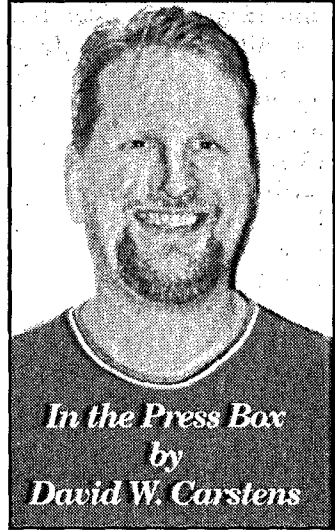

Kim and Jeff Sperry hold their dogs, Kyle, Tommy K. and Dave.

Learning from the camera's eye

In the Press Box by David W. Carstens

This spring I embarked upon something I've wanted to do for a few years now — I started teaching photography classes.

I don't really consider myself as an expert on it because compared to someone like local photographers Bill Jammer or Bob Berry, I still think I'm a beginner.

It's been said by a wise man once that we are always students in life and that's the approach I've taken with my hobby of photography.

Digital photography has opened up a lot of new opportunities to learn and share for many of us.

The ability to have immediate feedback and ease of transfer from camera to computer are two advantages that digital photography has allowed.

With three classes done and more in the planning stage, one question that keep reoccurring is about sports photography.

It seems many parents are taking the plunge and investing in quality digital cameras to capture moments from Johnny's or Susie's high school sports.

With that, I'm finding more people get frustrated when they don't get the quality of images they are expecting when they shell out about 1,000 bucks for a new camera.

I'm always advising them to make sure they have lenses capable of capturing the type of action they are looking for.

The camera is nice, but the lens is the necessity.

I'm also encouraging my students to develop composition skills, something that all photographers strive for.

I also try to have students leave class with a few other pointers, such as:

- Always look for an interesting angle, not the one you would normally see.
- Try to anticipate the activity, where and when it will be and then plan accordingly.
- If possible, make your pictures, tell a story or show emotion. It's not always possible, but it's a worthwhile goal.
- Always have your camera with you and since digital photography is cheap, take about 30 pictures a day. You can always erase the ones you don't want and learn and enjoy from the ones that you save.

Sports photography is a challenge, but I find there are many rewards once you respond to that challenge.

I'm always amazed by those who discover the photographer within themselves.

If I can do it, anyone that can read a number and watch a game can do it, too.

Among the many donations that have made Wayne's rugby park a reality has been this semi-trailer that serves as a multi-purpose piece of equipment at the complex.

Rugby field takes shape thanks to efforts of many Ground that once was a 10-acre field north of the Wayne City Softball complex has undergone a metamorphosis in the past year.

Thanks to the dedicated efforts of a group of local and area individuals the Wayne Rugby Park has taken shape.

Nicknamed the "House of Pain" due to the recent success of Wayne State's men's and women's rugby teams, the complex features three fields.

It's obvious that the improved facilities have fared the local teams well as the Wayne State College men and women are coming off incredible seasons.

The club, which is organized as such by the college, hosted a 43-team tournament last March with teams coming from 10 different states and Canada, along with a high school tournament last month.

Rugby coach Darrin Barner said credit for the creation for the complex goes to many local area individuals.

Rod Tompkins of Homestead Homes has made very generous financial donations to the club each season, and paid for the entire land development of the 10 acres.

Preparation of the project was donated by Terry Schulz, of Schulz Land Surveying.

Santa Fe Grill (Chuck Hadded and Gary and Darlene Appel) in Wayne has also been a key financial donor of the team and helps pay for equipment and travel expenses when the teams play out of state.

Volunteer service offerings from Keith Claussen of Claussen and Son Irrigation insured the team of quality grass playing surface.

Barner said Claussen took a few afternoons off from installing lawn systems, and volunteered his time and materials to put in a water pipe and hose outlets for the 600 foot fire hose system that runs the walking sprinkler system when the hot summer sun beats down on the new fields.

Bernie Wrede of ABC Container Storage from Pierce Nebraska, took to the liking of WSC rugby with its strong membership of Campus Church Crusade on the team's roster.

He donated a 50-foot semi-trailer container that's used for storage, a changing room and pre-game strategy on the north end of the main field.

With rugby being a non-varsity sport at Wayne State, players normally pay around $500 a year to pay for all the expenses for travel, Barner said.

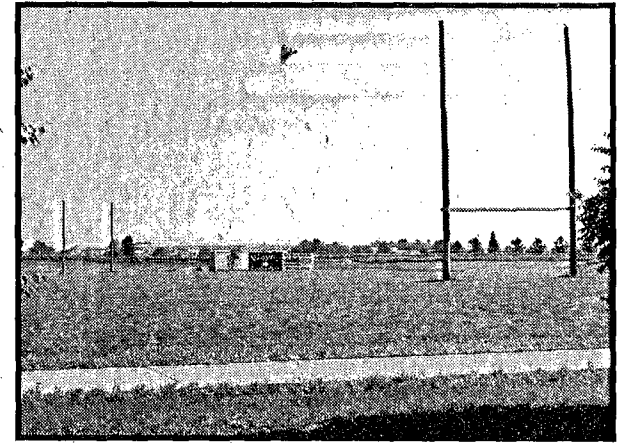

"Everyone's generosity helps keeps the team running at a non-varsity status, playing large division one schools," he said.

A fourth field will go under development in August with the volunteer services of Milo Meyer Construction.

Barner said the new development on the could then put up a bid to host the first round of the National Playoff system for D-1 and D-2 men and women and could bring rugby powerhouses such as Air Force, University of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico State and Arkansas for both men and women to Wayne.

It's hoped to have strong turf on the fourth field by late October so Wayne can put a bid for the National Playoff system for April 2006.

Future improvements are to hang the digital scoreboard, and some bleachers for the ever-increasing fans who attend these games.

Wayne's new hiking trail runs directly in front of the rugby park's main field.

GLOSSARY OF TERMS

VALANCE (Also referred to as "front air dam.") This is the panel that extends below the vehicle's front bumper. The relation of the bottom of the valance, or its ground clearance, affects the amount of front downforce the vehicle creates. Lowering the valance creates more front downforce.

VICTORY LANE Sometimes called the "winner's circle." The spot on each racetrack's infield where the race winner parks for the celebration.

WEDGE Refers to the relationship from corner-to-corner of the weight of the race vehicle. Increasing the weight on any corner of the vehicle affects the weight of the other three corners in direct proportion. Weight adjustments are made by turning "weight jacking screws" mounted on each corner with a ratchet. A typical adjustment for a "loose" car would be to increase the weight of the left rear corner of the vehicle, which decreases the weight of the left front and right rear corners and increases the weight of the right front. A typical adjustment for a "tight" vehicle would be to increase the weight of the right rear corner, which decreases the weight of the right front and left rear and increases the weight of the left front.

WEIGHT JACKING The practice of shifting a car's weight to favor certain wheels.

WIND TUNNEL A structure used by race teams to determine the aerodynamic efficiency of their vehicles, consisting of a platform on which the vehicle is fixed and a giant fan to create wind currents. Telemetry devices determine the airflow over the vehicle and its coefficient of drag and downforce.

115TH BIRTHDAY OF CHURCH
The Allen United Methodist Church will reach a milestone this year. It will be celebrating its 115th Birthday. In order to commemorate this historic event, members are planning "An Old Fashioned Pie in the Sky Picnic".

The event will be held on Monday, July 4 at the Church's parking lot. The festivities will begin at 5 p.m. with the traditional 4th of July summer dinner of fried chicken, salad, baked beans, rolls, drinks, and home-made ice cream.

At 7 p.m., there will be a Pie Auction with the proceeds, plus free will offering from the picnic supper, going to the Church budget. Following the Pie Auction, there will be an "Inspirational Patriotic Musical Program" under the direction of Ken Johnson, the church's Parish Music Director. At the close of the day's festivities, there will be an "Awesome Fireworks Display" at the southeast corner of the Church parking lot.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL
The 2005 Community Vacation Bible School will be held at the First Lutheran Church Thursday, July 21 through Saturday, July 23.

The theme for this year will be "Serengeti Trek - Where Kids are Wild about God". Registration will begin at 4:30 p.m. at First Lutheran Church and will go until 8 p.m.

On Friday, bible school will go from 4:45 pm - 8 pm and a light meal will be included. On Saturday, Bible School will go all day beginning at 8:45 am, lunch will be at the Allen Park, and the closing program at 5 pm at the church - public invited.

CLASSIC CLUB
Security National Bank's Classic Club members are invited for a WinnaVegas and Sioux City Excursion on Wednesday, July 13. Lunch will be a delicious buffet lunch, which is included, and plenty of time for gaming of your choice. Plans also include a brief stop at a local mall in Sioux City before heading home. Allen's interested members will be picked up at 9:45 am and will arrive home at 5:45 pm. Call today to reserve your spot as we travel to the casino at Sloan, IA.

COMMUNITY CLUB
The Allen Community Club met on June 20 at the trailer park for a work night on the caboose which looks much more complete with the decals now in place. A potluck meal and meeting followed.

John Werner brought the meeting to order. The secretary and treasurer's reports were read. Members are reminded to pay their dues to John Werner, treasurer. Motions were made to pay outstanding bills and a coffee for Ken and Doris Linafelter on June 25 as they are leaving the community.

The July meeting will be helping at the Dixon County Fair Bar-B-Que. Everyone is invited to the end-of-summer potluck picnic in the city park at 6:00 on August 15 and to then go to the museum to enjoy an evening with Daryl Draper portraying early Nebraska citizen Peter Sarpy.

Jared Roberts

Jared Roberts is named as award winner

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Jared Roberts of Carroll has been named an All-American Scholar.

The USAA has established the All-American Scholar Award Program to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in academic disciplines.

The All-American Scholars must earn a 3.3 or higher, grade point average. Only scholars selected by a school instructor, counselor or other qualified sponsor are accepted. These scholars are now eligible for other awards given by the USAA.

Jared, who attends Winside High School, was nominated for this national award by Jeff Messersmith, principal at the school.

His name will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly, United States Achievement Academy winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects All-American Scholars upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors and other qualified sponsors. Once awarded, the students may be recognized by the USAA for other honors.

Jared is the son of Paul and Brenda Roberts of Carroll. His grandparents are Larry and Jeanne Lindsay of Wayne and Ray and Lois Roberts of Carroll.

Wayne County official attends workshop

Karen McDonald, Wayne County Treasurer, completed a three-day workshop in North Platte June 15-17 for Nebraska county clerks, election commissioners, registers of deeds and treasurers.

The annual workshop, attended by approximately 180 county officials and employees, is part of a continuing education and leadership development series sponsored by the Nebraska Association of County Officials.

The workshop updated county officials on recent changes in state laws and provided extensive training on the responsibilities of their respective offices.

Local teams earn top three places at engineering competition at WSC

Three of nine teams from northeastern Nebraska high schools earned top places at the Wayne State College Tests of Engineering Aptitude, Mathematics, and Science (TEAMS) competition on Feb. 16 in the Frey Conference Suite in the WSC Student Center.

Top three teams included: First Place: Wayne - Coach: Duane Blomenkamp, Members: Megan Powell, Regan Ruhl, Emlyn Mann, Adam Wert, Kyle Kwapnioski, Adem Rudin, Eric Holt and Wade Jarvi.

Second Place: Wakefield - Coach: Terri Sampson, Members: Megan Barge, Eric Bodlak, Lane Clay, Dexter Driskell, Marion Miner, Titus Nelson, Dakota Roberts and Anthony Storm.

Third place: Schuyler Central - Coach: Jon Sayer, Members: Craig Reha, Cole Reha, Megan Kehrl, Jenn Kaup, Rita Cogdill, Julie Miratsky, Andrew Schmidt and Bill Sybota.

TEAMS is an academic program and competition that introduces high school students to the world of engineering.

Registered schools included:

Local students place nationally in TEAMS engineering competition

Three teams from northeast Nebraska high schools have placed nationally in Tests of Engineering Aptitude, Mathematics, and Science (TEAMS) competition that was held at Wayne State College this spring.

TEAMS is a dynamic academic program and competition that introduces high school students to the world of engineering.

Placing sixth nationally in Division 1 was the team from Wakefield Community Schools, coached by Terri Sampson. Team members were Megan Barge, Eric Bodlak, Lane Clay, Dexter Driskell, Marion Miner, Titus Nelson, Dakota Roberts, and Anthony Storm.

Wayne High School placed 14th nationally in Division 3. Members of the WHS team, coached by Duane Blomenkamp, were Megan Powell, Regan Ruhl, Emlyn Mann, Adam Wert, Kyle Kwapnioski, Adem Rudin, Eric Holt, and Wade Jarvi.

In Division 7, the Columbus High School team placed 20th nationally.

TEAMS involves over 20,000 high school students in this one-day event held annually. The aim of the program is to get students interested in engineering while in high school. TEAMS was hosted locally by Wayne State College, with South Dakota State University, South Dakota School of Mines and Technology, the Northeastern Chapter of the Nebr. Society of Professional Engineers, and Daktronics Corp. of Brookings, S.D. serving as sponsors. Event coordinator was Wayne State faculty member Jeffrey O. Bauer.

TEAMS is sponsored nationally by JETS, a national, non-profit organization promoting interest in engineering, science, mathematics and technology. More information about JETS can be found at the Web site: www.jets.org.

Dean's List announced at University of Nebraska-Kearney

The University of Nebraska at Kearney announced the names of students who have earned a place on the Deans' List for the spring semester.

To earn a place on the UNK Deans' List, students must complete 12 hours or more (for which quality points-4.0 for an "A," 3.0 for a "B" and 2.0 for a "C")-are awarded) with a grade point average of 3.5 or better on a 4.0 scale. Courses taken on a credit/no credit basis do not earn quality points.

In recognition of their academic achievements, Deans' List students will receive a certificate from their Bloomfield, Columbus, Madison, Schuyler Central, South Sioux City, Wakefield and Wayne high schools. Top-scoring teams in each division in each state will be eligible for national ranking, which will be determined by eligible teams performance on Part II of the two-part test. The top-scoring teams on Part I of the test will be eligible for local awards.

Speakers included engineer Joshua Henslin, a project manager at Daktronics Corp. of Brookings, S.D.; Roger Lescelius, a retired Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) electrical engineer and Kevin Largis, senior engineer with NPPD in Columbus.

TEAMS involves more than 20,000 high school students in a one-day annual event. TEAMS was hosted locally by Wayne State College with South Dakota State University, South Dakota School of Mines and Technology, the Northeastern Chapter of the Nebr. Society of Professional Engineers and Daktronics Corp. of Brookings,

S.D. The MathWorks Inc. and the WSC Bookstore donated prizes.

TEAMS is sponsored nationally by JETS, a national, non-profit organization promoting interest in engineering, science, mathematics and technology.

More information about JETS can be found at the Web site: www.jets.org.

Youth entrepreneurs, community improvement conference set

Youth ages 12-18 interested or already involved in entrepreneurship or farming -- as well as their parents, educators, community leaders or anyone else interested in improving northeast Nebraska through youth empowerment -- are invited to attend the Young Entrepreneurs Meeting Saturday, July 16, 2005. The conference will be held from 9:30 a.m.-4 p.m. at the United Methodist Church, 300 S. Sherman, Wausa.

Cost is $10 per person to cover lunch and refreshments, and is paid the morning of the conference. Participants are asked to pre-register by Friday, July 8, by calling the Northeast Nebraska RC&D at 402-583-4866, or visiting www.northeastrcd.org and clicking on "Rural Youth Connection" on the left sidebar.

The Young Entrepreneurs Meeting is featuring three breakout discussion sessions, during which the youth will talk about getting started in, managing, and marketing entrepreneurial and farm-related projects. The adults will brainstorm different ways of incorporating youth into leadership roles within their communities and the area.

In addition, all participants will have their choice between two general sessions. In "Mind Your Own Business," Jeff Reynolds of the Rural Enterprise Assistance Project will take participants through the rigors of starting up and owning their own businesses. In "Farming Focus," Hartington farmer Martin Kleinschmit of Center for Rural Affairs and Marion Beethe of the Nebraska Department of Agriculture will give participants tips to getting started in and succeeding in farming and ranching.

Nebraska senators Doug Cunningham and Michael Flood have also been invited to speak during lunch.

The Young Entrepreneurs Meeting is the kick-off of an exciting new youth project being developed by the Northeast Nebraska RC&D, Center for Rural Affairs, Dixon/Cedar/Knox County Farm Service Agency and University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension. Rural Youth Connection (RYC) will be available to youth ages 12-18 in Antelope, Cedar, Dixon, Knox, Pierce and Wayne counties.

Through activities such as local discussion groups, tours, grants and a traveling marketplace, members can pick and choose what business resources and marketing assistance they would like to use.

Annual membership fees are $10 per person, and existing youth organizations and school classes are encouraged to participate in RYC activities.

For more information on the Young Entrepreneurs Meeting or RYC, contact Rita Brhel, RYC coordinator, by calling 402-283-2554, e-mailing rbrhel@nntc.net or writing to 403 S. Pearl, Coleridge, NE 68727.

 Design and Decorating Inspiration

A brush with color...
 Lately... we have discussed how type and sheen of paint should be considered when planning a decorating project. The next big decision in choosing paint is color.

When... choosing a color scheme, finding a starting point can make the job easier. Begin by asking yourself a few questions.

How... long range will your color scheme be? Use bolder or trendy colors if you are considering changing in a few years. Use more conservative colors if you are planning to sell your home or business.

Which... of the existing colors in the room are remaining the same? Will the carpet change? What about furniture or window treatments?

We'll... continue our discussion of choosing color next time. As always feel free to call or stop in with your decorating questions... or we'll come to your home or business.

The Awards Program for Session I of the Wayne Public Library's 2005 Summer Reading Program, "Dragons, Dreams and Daring Deeds!" was held at the Wayne Senior Center on June 25.

There were approximately 40 participants and their family members in attendance.

The 184 registered participants of the Summer Reading Program have read 3,295 books.

"This was great work by everyone," said Children's Librarian Julie Osnes. "Outside the Library's front door, the dragon's treasure hoard grows each time 250 books are read. Let's see if we can pile on even more treasure next month."

The library averaged over 100 children through the doors each Wednesday afternoon between 12:30 and 4 p.m.

Saturday's program included a performance of "The Dragon Hunt," a short play performed by Samantha Long, Jenna Pieper, Garrett Vawser, Marisa Vawser and Megan Wherley of the fourth through sixth grade reading group.

The program continued by recognizing all the participants, volunteers, benefactors and staff and the awarding of prizes to the participants.

The children's names were entered in a drawing for each book they read. A total of 41 prizes were given.

In addition, each participant received a certificate of participation, a paperback book, a bookmark, a small prize and various items and coupons donated by area businesses. Afterwards, everyone enjoyed cupcakes and lemonade provided by the Friends of the Wayne Public Library group.

Special prizes awarded from the drawings included:

Read-to-Me-Group: T-shirts - Lindsey Roberts, Amanda Roach, Marta Pulfer, Brandon Brugger-Isom and Molly Hoskins; CD case - Matthew Frevert; Poster - Kiara Hochstein; Marker and Poster Set - Maggie Fehringer; Puzzle - Breanna Kallhoff; Unicorn - Grace Heithold; Princess Crown - Jacque Sherman; Crown - Seth Hochstein; Shield and Sword - Morgan Barner and Zane Jackson; Castle - Trevor DeBoer.

First through third grades: T-shirts - Jade Bottger and Brook Bowers; Book - Riley Nichols; Dragon necklace - Anna Kruger and Luke Pulfer; CD case - Tahlia Reynolds; Puzzle - Sabrina Hochstein; Fuzzy Poster/Marker set - Anna Loberg; Poster - Samantha Long; Unicorn - KaKenna Brugger-Isom; Castle - Casey Koenig; Magic Tricks - Zach Keating.

Fourth through sixth grades: t-shirts - Tanner Schopke and Burgandy Roberts; Poster - Colin Loberg; Puzzle - Megan Wherley; Dragon Necklace - Marivel Gutierrez, Sawyer Jager and Abigail Mitchell; Sculpture - Maritza Sotelo; Pen - Jenna Pieper; CD Case - Jordyn Swanson; Magic Tricks - Taylor Burke; Jester Hat and Juggling Set - Brenda Njue.

The winner of the Dragon Kite, chosen from all the participants, was Mckayleigh Polenske.

"We encourage the Summer Reading Program participants who were unable to attend this awards ceremony to come into the Library and pick up their gift packets and prizes by Aug. 31," Osnes said.

Area businesses, groups and residents showed their support for the Summer Reading Program with donations which went toward supplies for activities and rewards for the participants and volunteers.

"The library staff would like to express our gratitude to this year's donors," Osnes added.

They include: American Express Financial Advisors, Antiques on Main, BankFirst, The Central City Library, Copy Write/ Keepsake Video, Farmers & Merchants Bank, First National Agency, Inc., First Source Title and Escrow Co., Great Dane Trailers, Heartland Recovery, Hearitage Express, Heritage Homes of Nebraska, HunTel Cable Vison, Inc., John's Welding and Tool, Magnuson Eye Care, MPM Farmers, New York Life Insurance, Northeast Equipment, Otte Construction, The Omaha Royals, Pac 'N' Save, Pamida, Pizza Hut, Property Exchange Partners, Vivian Saunders, Schroeder Law Office, Schumacher-Hasemann Funeral Home, Spethman Plumbing, State Farm Insurance, State National Bank & Trust, Trio Travel, Udder Delights, Vakoc Construction Company/ Final Touch, Wayne Kiwanis, Wayne State College, WSC Madrigals/Dr. Ron Lofgren, Wayne United Way, Wessel & Burrows, DDS, and Zach Propane Service, Inc.

"We would also like to thank our many volunteers, including the sign painters, cupcake makers, the young adult volunteers who helped with registrations, activities and book shelving, our adult volunteer story readers, the Wayne Senior Center for sharing their space with us, as well as the Wayne Herald, KTCH Radio and the First National Bank Drive-Thru at Seventh and Main Street for their assistance in publicizing our programs," Osnes said.

Ready for dinner???

A number of cement chickens are all 'dressed' and ready to be auctioned at this year's Henoween activities on Friday, July 8. The chickens are decorated in a number of themes, including the t-shirt designs from past shows, a Wayne State Chicken and traditional chicken markings. They can be viewed in the window of the Main Street Wayne office until the auction.

RC&D has meeting

At the regular meeting of the Northeast Nebraska Resource Conservation & Development (RC&D) Council Steve Andrews, Nebraska State Recycling Association provided information on what his office offers.

Their technical assistance includes feasibility studies, equipment recommendations, maintaining a 'hot line' for marketing options, and more. He stressed that he has funds for small equipment grants which can be used to assist communities. See <http://recyclenebraska.org> for more information.

The Farm-to-Family project was approved. It will continue efforts to connect farmers doing direct marketing of farm products with consumers who want to purchase quality foods.

The Spring into Summer Fest was very successful and the Council's considering making it an annual event. Two grants were accepted: DEQ funding for waste computer collections and Nebraska Arts Council funds for the Shannon Trail's fall concerts.

Next month's meeting will be a tour of Wakefield businesses and attractions with the business meeting to follow at their golf course.

FIREWORKS SAFETY

From the first anniversary of American independence back in 1777, fireworks displays and Fourth of July celebrations have gone hand in hand. However, the history of fireworks dates back even further, most likely to the ancient Chinese. They often used fireworks in celebrations, believing the loud "bang" would scare off evil spirits. It wasn't until the 1800s when developers realized that by combining potassium chlorate and various metallic salts, they could create brilliant color displays in the air. Before then, displays were seen in black and white. Now wouldn't that be a sight?

Fireworks may look like fun, but they are also very dangerous. Follow these sponsored safety tips for a safe and fun Fourth of July!

Light fireworks outdoors in a clear area, far from houses or flammable materials.

Never point fireworks at anyone or anyone's property.

Light only one firecracker at a time.

Never hold fireworks in your hand while lighting them or after you've lit them!

Never carry fireworks in your pocket.

Always use protective eyewear around fireworks.

Never try to relight fireworks that are not fully functional.

Always thoroughly soak fireworks in water before disposing of them in the trash.

Do not lengthen or shorten a firework's fuse.

Never let any part of your body extend over a firework.

Any BODY is Some BODY Important

Engagements

People come in all shapes and sizes. It is important for your child to understand that there is not a "perfect" size or shape that they need to be. There is no time more important to send that message than during the ever changing years of puberty.

Most young teens are insecure enough about their shapes without the constant perceived pressure from magazines, the media, and the mall. Many spend more time worrying about what they see in the mirror instead of what others see of them at school or home.

It is important that you, as a parent, make sure to remind them that they are more than a "body" and more than what that "body" is wearing. Remind them often about what they accomplish instead of their appearance. They are not a pair of jeans, a good hair day or a tight little tee shirt, rather they are caring, friendly, musical, athletic, or funny.

It is also important to look at how you view yourself. Are you critical about how you look? Do you make statements about your own appearance? Children listen to what you say and may apply it to themselves, regardless of their own body size, wrongly assuming that what you are critical about your own appearance is also an issue for themselves. Try to be aware of the messages you send about your own body and what you say about others.

Ruth Vonderohe
Extension Educator

Do you use food as a reward or as a form of punishment? Food is meant to nourish and nurture, and is not supposed to be used as way to show successes or failures. Children should also not be worried about their weight. Discourage children from weighing themselves and getting caught up in a numbers game. Try to discourage the use of food or scales as a way to win or lose.

Remember, kids and adults come in all shapes and sizes. Celebrate who your child is instead of who you might wish they were. We all have special successes to celebrate, and there is room for everyone, every BODY, every shape.

This week look at the messages you send your children about food and body image. Are these messages what you want your children to learn? If not, think about changes you can make. Then go to unlfamilies.unl.edu, click on TIPS and let us know what messages you think you are sending and what changes, if any, you want to make.

IF JOHN SOULES IS DEAD, SAYS HE WASN'T NOTIFIED

In the Lincoln Journal of October 3, the column devoted to "Answers to Questions," reported by a Washington, D.C., authority, gave the names of men who had perished in trying to swim the rapids of Niagara Falls, and the name of John L. Soules of Wayne appears in the list. John denies that he is dead, and expresses surprise that historians have made the announcement without first consulting him. It is true that back in the early eighties, he braved the whirling waters of Niagara, but he did not go down, never to come up. On the contrary, with the applause of an onlooking multitude mingled with the mighty roar of the falls, John, buffeted about like a cork, surmounted the peril and landed safely on shore. Instead of finding an untimely grave in the murky depths of Niagara, John came west and located in Wayne where he has lived happily ever since.

Concert planned for the Willow Bowl

A free concert will be held Sunday, July 10 at the Willow Bowl on the Wayne State Campus.

The event will feature "Tenth Hour Calling," "Sunday Seven" from Our Savior Lutheran Church, "C.O.L." and "The Fuel Band."

The concert will include a variety of music from Christian Rock to Worship and is designed for all ages.

Those attending are asked to bring a blanket or chair to the event.

If weather conditions do not permit the concert to be held outside, it will be held at Praise Assembly of God Church at 1000 East 10th Street in Wayne.

For more information, call (402) 635-2816 or (402) 375-2727.

The Sunday Seven performs during a church service.

Nebraska safe kids promotes fireworks safety

Families across the nation will celebrate the Fourth of July with picnics, outings to the lake and neighborhood barbecues. Above all, fireworks displays will be the highlight of Fourth of July festivities and the Nebraska Health and Human Services System urges people to be careful.

Every year, nearly 4,300 children age 14 and under are treated in emergency rooms for fireworks-related injuries. In Nebraska, 102 children 0-19 were injured in 2004 due to fireworks. Males, especially age 10-14, are at the highest risk of fireworks-related injuries.

However, children age four and under are at the highest risk for sparkler-related injuries. Many parents and caregivers overestimate their children's ability to handle fireworks, creating a dangerous environment for everyone involved.

Family reunions

Pallas-Paulsen family

A pot luck dinner was held June 26 at the Emerson Housing Community Room in Emerson with 57 people attending.

Attending were members of the late Mary Paulsen Pallas and Fred and Julius Paulsen families.

Gary and Judy Caldwell of Lennox, S.D. were special guests.

Guests attended from Humboldt and Akron, Iowa; Lennox, Madison and Brookings, S.D.; and Lincoln, Omaha, Norfolk, Wisler, Winnebago, Wakefield, Emerson and Wayne in Nebraska.

The afternoon was spent visiting and playing games with children.

Fireworks-related injuries usually involve the hands and fingers, eyes or head and can sometimes result in amputations, blindings or even death.

"Fireworks can be the best part of a Fourth of July celebration for kids, yet each year many in Nebraska are burned or disfigured by fireworks," said Jeanne Bietz of the Nebraska Health and Human Services System's Safe Kids Program. "The safest way to enjoy fireworks is to watch them at a community celebration where professionals handle them."

To celebrate safety, follow these tips from the Consumer Product Safety Commission, the National Council on Fireworks Safety, and the Nebraska Health and Human Services System:

- Stay away from illegal or homemade fireworks, which can be deadly;
- Never allow children to play with or ignite fireworks;
- Fireworks are not toys. Even sparklers can cause burns;
- Have a garden hose and bucket filled with water handy in case of malfunction or fire;
- Never shoot fireworks off in metal or glass containers;
- Only light fireworks on a smooth, flat surface away from the house, dry leaves and flammable materials;
- Never try to relight a "dud." Let it sit for 15 minutes and then soak it in a bucket of water.

Nebraska Safe Kids is part of the National Safe Kids Campaign, the first and only national nonprofit organization dedicated solely to the prevention of unintentional childhood injury - the number one killer of children ages 14 and under. There are Safe Kids programs located throughout Nebraska in Lincoln, Grand Island, Hastings, O'Neill, Columbus, Superior, Gering, Seward, York, David City, Ogallala and Kearney.

The C.O.L Band will be part of the July 10 concert.

Tom Baier of Wayne was among approximately 4,463 Iowa State University students who have been recognized for outstanding academic achievement by being named to the 2005 spring semester Dean's List. Baier is enrolled in horticulture at Iowa State University.

Students named to the Dean's List must have earned a grade point average of at least 3.50 on a 4.00 scale while carrying a minimum of 12 credit hours of graded course work.

Breaking ground

Concord Evangelical Free Church in Concord recently broke ground for a 140' x 60' family center at the church. Those involved in the ground breaking ceremony included, left to right, Verlin Hanson, Bob Dickey, Tim Bloom, Arden Olson, Pastor Todd Thelen and Joel Lipp. It is anticipated that construction will be completed by the fall of 2005.

Northeast Nebraska RC&D is awarded grant

The Northeast Nebraska RC&D Council has been awarded a $9,103 grant from the Nebraska Department of Environmental Quality's Waste Reduction and Recycling Incentive Grants Program.

Altogether the state received 50 eligible applications with requests totaling approximately $4.6 million for integrated solid waste management facilities and projects.

Approximately $2.5 million was awarded for 34 projects throughout Nebraska.

The grant program provides funds annually for integrated waste management activities in Nebraska. The funds award to the RC&D will be used for two waste computer collection events - one in Hartington at the Cedar County fairgrounds and the other at the Pierce County fairgrounds. Collections will be scheduled in early August.

The RC&D is to be commended for their continued efforts to improve Nebraska's environment through responsible solid waste management activities.

Pictures to be returned must be accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Please make sure the picture will fit in the envelope.

'Worship in the Park' planned

The community is being encouraged to join Our Savior Lutheran Church for "Worship in the Park" Sunday, July 3 at 10:30 a.m. at Bressler Park.

Pastor Bill and Don and the Seven Praise Team will lead the worship service in the Bandstand area. Holy Communion will be celebrated.

Following worship, those in attendance are invited to an all-church picnic and games.

Worship goers are asked to bring a vegetable, salad or dessert to share and your own table setting. Broasted chicken, dinner rolls and beverages will be provided.

"This is a casual worship service with some seating will be provided, but feel free to bring a blanket or lawn chair with you!" Pastor Koeber said.

The 4-H Bicycle Rodeo in Allen had youth demonstrating both their riding skills and knowledge about bicycling.

Bicycle rodeo held June 23

The Dixon County 4-H Bicycle Rodeo was held at the Allen Methodist Church on June 23 at 6 pm. Those competing in the rodeo needed to demonstrate both their riding skill and knowledge through a variety of contests.

Participating were Sean O'Keefe and Kathryn O'Keefe.

Also, Kristyna Muller, Kevin O'Keefe, Patrick O'Keefe and Conner O'Keefe.

Teens assisting with the contest were: Michael and Samantha Bock, Kelli Rastede, Ashley Maxon, Heather Bearnes, Hanna Flores, Hillary and Drew Beldin.

Adults assisting were: Joy Bock,

Tom Wilmes, Joy Smith, Deb Bearnes, Del Hemsath and Sandy Preston.

Awards for the contest were sponsored by Brudigan Construction, Scheels Sports, Veteran's of Foreign Wars Gasser Post # 5435, Martinsburg and Albrecht Cycle Shop.

Dairy project rewarding

Editor's note: This is the second in a series of articles written by Wayne County 4-Hers who are members of the Teen Supremes.

Hi, my name is Brooke Anderson and I belong to the Combination Kids 4-H Club.

I am 17 years old and have been in 4-H for nine years. The projects I take to the fair include dairy, photography and scrapbook.

Dairy is the project I have the most fun doing because I like to work with animals. I got into showing dairy because my dad owns a dairy herd and I liked to watch the bigger kids' show when I was younger.

My most memorable experiences are getting to show in the Round Robin for the two years I have been in the senior division of showmanship. Round Robin showing is when you show your breed of animal and three other breeds (beef, sheep and swine) and the judges ask you questions about the breed.

Being involved in 4-H makes the County Fair fun, knowing I have projects there. I always learn something new because each judge is different. If you're age 8 or 18, 4-H is a great way to learn!

Moving is hard work but worth it

It's Tuesday morning, and thankfully, it's cloudy. I can't believe how hot it's been. I wasn't envying the folks with College World Series tickets. But I could hardly believe that the NBA championship series had been played and we had not seen a single game. That used to be a June ritual around here. I guess we've been distracted with other things.

Actually, that's putting it mildly. We are moved, that's for sure. From 10 rooms and an attic to six and a basement store room. I find, from having all those bedrooms, that I have an overabundance of sheets, blankets, and towels. We also still have to get rid of some furniture. Guess I should have done some measuring.

The company that moved us is from Greenwood and you could not ask for a nicer bunch. They are all one family, and their name is Servant, with a cross in their logo. Does that tell you something? So far, we have only one item broken; unfortunately, it's on an antique dresser valued at one thousand dollars. It's going to Phoenix in May, and I can't find the part that broke off!

That's been the story of these two weeks. I can't find stuff. I put things away in the kitchen immediately, but I still can't remember me feel I am accomplishing something. But I have to find a place for the stuff in the boxes! And I thought I had pared down getting ready for this move. I'm still taking stuff to Good Will, and I took a van load a month ago.

Now, when I hear about folks having to break up a parent's apartment, I shudder in sympathy. A lady who admitted her mother to hospice inpatient last week told me she could hardly walk into her house because of her mother's things.

The secretary in the medical director's office said it took her four years to do her father's house! She did have a single guy living there at the time, so she was getting rent and there was no hurry. But four years!

The grocery store is a mile away, the lawn gets mowed, the sprinklers come on during the night, and I'm 10 minutes from work instead of 45. It definitely is not all bad. I found the rest of my summer clothes yesterday; now I just have to iron them.

Have a wonderful Independence Day, and keep our troops in your prayers. Freedom is NOT free!

We are emptying boxes, slowly, and then I cut them up and take them to recycling. Each one makes

Tractor safety course completed

Tractor Safety was recently held at the Wayne County Fairgrounds. Students learned about safety around a variety of farm implements and tractors. Youth from as far away as O'Neill attended the training. As part of the course the students have to successfully drive a tractor with a two wheel trailer through a course and back the trailer into a mock shed.

The University of Nebraska Extension holds tractor safety trainings throughout the state in early summer. For information on when and where, contact the local Extension office.

4-H News

CITY SLICKERS & COUNTRY MIXERS 4-H CLUB

The City Slickers and Country Mixers 4-H Club met June 22. The meeting was called to order by President Jessica Kranz.

Heath Greve led the group in the flag salutes. The secretary's report and roll call were given by Riley Hoffart.

The minutes were approved from the last meeting. Those in attendance were Michelle, Wade and Shannon Jarvi, Martha Mitku, Riley Hoffart, Heath and Henry Greve, Jessica Kranz and Jaci Alexander. Leaders in attendance were Mary Jarvi, Vicki Greve and Jody Hoffart.

The treasurer's report was approved as read by Wade Jarvi.

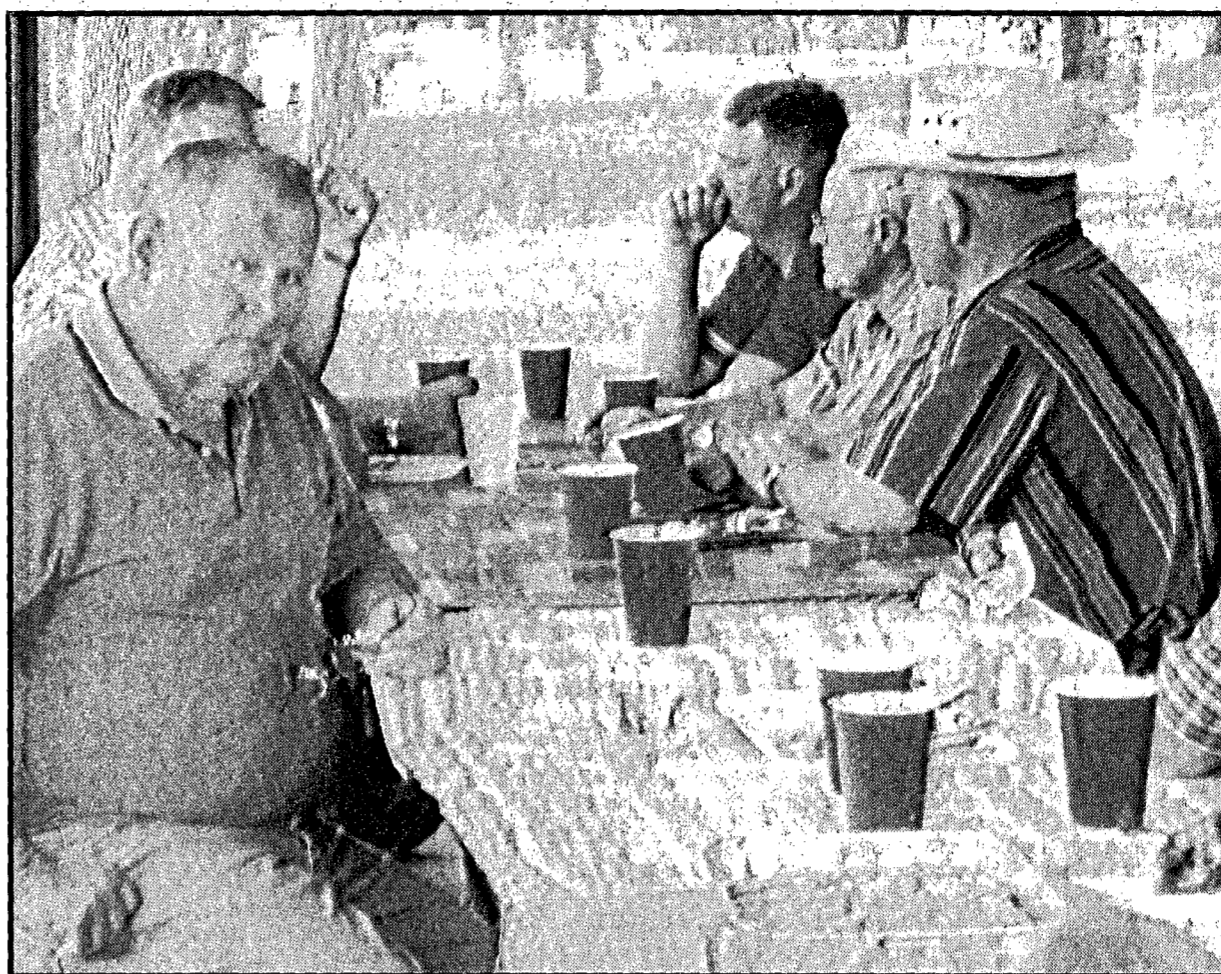

During the meeting, the group discussed purchasing a camera, creating kits for the Red Cross shelter, purchasing four, six-foot tables for the 4-H building, food stand working during the fair, help needed with fair projects and the fair entry deadline of July 5.

Presentations were given by Jaci Alexander and Riley Hoffart.

It was noted that Contest Day will be Wednesday, July 20.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, July 13 at Tacos & More at 5:45 p.m.

Riley Hoffart, News reporter

Farm Bureau picnic

The annual Wayne County Farm Bureau Picnic was held Monday at Bressler Park in Wayne. The group holds a picnic each summer and listens to speakers talk about the future of farming and other agriculture-related issues.

Area 4-H'ers are reminded of deadlines

The 2005 Wayne County Fair is coming.

The Wayne County Extension office has offered a reminder that on Tuesday, July 5 at 5 p.m., the following information is due to the UNL Extension Office in Wayne County:

the Fair, except floriculture and horticulture;

• Bonus auction forms;

• Bucket calf records;

• Shopping in Style/Attention Shoppers Fashion Show records;

• Stall reservations;

• Vaccination records for dogs and cats.

Anyone with questions is asked to call the Extension Office at (402) 375-3310.

Graduates from course

Army National Guard Pvt. Alyssa B. Uldrich has graduated from the Light-Wheeled Vehicle Mechanic Advanced Individual Training (AIT) course at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Aberdeen, Md.

The course is designed to train soldiers to perform unit maintenance and recovery operations on gasoline and diesel fueled light-wheeled vehicles, including prime movers designated as five-ton or less and their associated trailers, and associated items.

Soldiers were trained to perform maintenance and recovery operations on track and heavy-wheeled vehicles, and on material handling equipment; maintain power assisted brake systems, vehicle suspension systems, wheel/hub assemblies, mechanical steering systems, hydraulic power steering systems, and crane/hoist/winch assemblies.

Uldrich is the daughter of Dave R. Uldrich of Concord and Janet M. Jackson of Bronson, Iowa. She is a 2005 graduate of Allen High School.

Tsunami relief

This year one of the projects the Dixon Co. Junior Leaders 4-H Club participated in was the quarter drive to raise funds for the Orphan Grain Train of Norfolk to use to help victims of last December's tsunami. Members were asked to take and fill film canisters with quarters. They distributed the canisters to family members' places of business, churches and Sunday School classes, and their schools. This was done in the Wakefield, Ponca, Allen, Jackson and Laurel communities. A check for $2,200 was given to OGT and an additional $295 has been collected since that time.
