Alarm policy approved

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

"If all the action proposed is taken, the passage of this ordinance will have no effect on the college," said Council member Will Wiseman during Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

His comments were in regard to the passage of Ordinance 2005-29 and Resolution 2005-91 which amend the city code and establish a policy for charging $1,500 per occurrence for false fire alarms.

Carolyn Murphy told the council that the college has gone from approximately 100 fire alarms three years ago, to nearly 2,200 today. These alarms are connected to a central system. She said that starting in late August, the college has contacted the contractor who installed the system every time an alarm goes off.

"We are awaiting the re-wiring of Neihardt Hall and have replaced some of the smoke detectors with heat detectors which are less sensitive to dirt particles and other things that could set them off unnecessarily. We are continuing to take action on this situation," Murphy said.

Wayne Fire Chief Tom Mitzel said "it's great that the college is putting forth this effort. However, there is no easy fix for this problem. It is a complex issue. Since the last council meeting (two weeks ago), we (the fire department) have responded to three alarms at the college."

Mitzel said he is aware that some colleges screen fire alarms before the call is sent to the fire department.

City Attorney Mike Pieper told the council that the city has an arguable base to collect the fees from the college, even though it is a state institution.

In other action, the council voted unanimously to approve the change in electrical rates.

City Administrator Lowell Johnson presented a number of charts for council comparison and noted that the changes will not raise additional revenue for the city, but instead reflects the rates the city pays for electrical power received from NPPD. The city pays different rates for power in the summer and winter, based on the demand. The charge for electrical rates varies according to rate category and include those for residential customers, commercial, industrial and municipal service.

The average residential customer will see a slight decrease in their electrical rates in the winter and slightly higher rates in the summer months.

Resolution 2005-99 was approved, authorizing an agreement with JEO for services for the Main Street Lighting design.

City Administrator Johnson said that

The reigning Class C champion Wayne High girls softball team earned its fourth consecutive trip to the state tournament in Omaha after sweeping its district games in Wayne last week. After winning the district game last week, the team went to the Nebraska National Guard Armory in Wayne to take a special picture for those serving with the 189th Transportation Company. Wayne plays its first game at state today (Thursday) against Logan View.

Economic Development Director begins duties

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

"Wayne is such a beautiful community," said David Simonsen, who began his duties as the Executive Director of the Wayne Area Economic Development, Inc.

That was one of the reasons he and his wife, Maggie, cited for choosing to come to Wayne from Bloomfield, Iowa.

Simonsen graduated from high school in Emmetsburg, Iowa and earned an associate's degree from Iowa Lakes Community College and a bachelor's degree from the University of Northern Iowa at Cedar Falls.

Prior to coming to Wayne, Simonsen served as the Davis County Development Corporation Executive Director. He and his wife also owned two businesses, a sporting goods store and antique store.

He also worked at Iowa Lakes Community College in the Planning and Development Office as a grant writing specialist.

"I am drawn to rural areas and prefer small town America. We have so much to offer and we don't always market ourselves as we should," Simonsen said.

He also noted that Wayne has "so much to offer and the college was a big determining factor in our decision to apply for this position. Maggie has a degree in fine arts and Wayne is a place where she will have an opportunity to use her skills," he said.

Meth seminar scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 15

The Wayne State Education Association of Nebraska (WSEAN) will host a meth seminar in the Frey Conference Suite in the Wayne State College student center Saturday, Oct. 15, from 1-4:30 p.m.

State Senator Mike Flood will address his reform issues in the legislature and the problems he foresees with meth usage in the state of Nebraska. A Nebraska State Patrol representative will discuss meth and the use of meth among teens and adults. Refreshments will be provided.

Admission is free; the public is invited.

During October, WSEAN is also selling raffle tickets for a full-size red wagon filled with lots of goodies including new boxes of crayons, posters, games, computer CDs, reader rabbit, books, pens and pencils, Clifford the Big Red Dog, Snoopy books, bookmarks, and Harry Potter items (book marks) and more. The wagon is a full-size red Radio Flyer valued at over $50. Tickets are $1 or six for $5. The proceeds from this raffle will be used to buy books to send down to the Hurricane Ravished States to help rebuild libraries. "Last year, WSEAN bought over $500 in books and donated them to area schools. It's a project we enjoy doing," said Dawn Marie Stange, WSEAN president.

If you wish to purchase tickets, please contact Stange at dawnmariestange@yahoo.com or (402) 841-3363, or Megan Hughes at mehugh01@wsc.edu or (402) 519-0010.

German student visits

By Dianne Jaeger
Winside Correspondent

Jochen Schulze of Hamburg, Germany, is spending a few weeks in Winside renewing past acquaintances. Jochen was a 1997 Pac Academic Exchange Student at Winside High School and lived with Dean and Daisy Janke at that time.

In 1997, Jochen was a 17-year-old sophomore. Now at age 24, he is just 9 months away from having his Masters Degree. But Jochen's goals are a lot higher than that. He plans on getting a Ph.D. in genetics as well as a Post Doctoral.

Jochen is in the United States because he spent the past two months in St. Louis, Mo. at Washington University School of Medicine, Dept. of Internal Medicine Division of Infectious Disease working in the lab on Entamoeba histolytica under the direction of Dr. Samuel L. Stanley.

Upon completion of his studies there, Jochen received a letter of recognition from Dr. Stanley that stated, "Jochen did outstanding work while at Washington University and I am confident he will be co-author on at least one, and probably two manuscripts arising from his efforts this summer. He is a dedicated young man and will be an outstanding doctoral candidate. I would welcome him into my laboratory as a doctoral student or a post-doctoral candidate."

After Jochen finishes his master's degree, it will take approximately three more years to get his Ph.D. "I may come to the United States again after that for my Post-Doctoral but I haven't decided what University I would go to," says Jochen.

Before leaving St. Louis, Jochen was joined by a long time friend, Michael Dohmen, who is also visiting with the Janke's in Winside. While there, they have been visiting with the Janke's children and grandchildren, attending some Winside volleyball games, doing some target shooting, shopping and will be attending a Nebraska University Football game. If the weather permits, they will do some fishing before they leave Oct. 14 for Chicago.

Haven House holds candlelight vigil at Willow Bowl during National Domestic Violence Awareness month

In a moving ceremony, Haven House and Wayne State College S.A.V.E. (Students Against Violence Everywhere) organization worked together to put on a candlelight vigil at the Willow Bowl on the WSC campus, Sunday night. Around 70 people attended the ceremony to empower, celebrate, acknowledge and mourn victims of domestic violence in Nebraska as well as in the United States.

Mayor Lois Shelton spoke at the candlelight vigil held on the WSC campus. She stands by the Silent Witness display that was unveiled.

Wayne police investigates counterfeit money

The Wayne Police Department recently arrested 18 year old Robbie Sperry for First Degree Forgery in connection with a counterfeit money investigation.

Sperry is alleged to have used counterfeit money at a local business on or about Sept. 13, 2005.

Wayne Police Chief Lance Webster said his office cooperated with the United States Secret Service in this investigation. Webster said this investigation is still ongoing and may result in additional criminal charges against Sperry and others.

Sperry was arrested pursuant to a Wayne County arrest warrant and was held in the Pierce County Jail. He has been released on bond and is awaiting his first court appearance.

Kathy Fink, Prevention Specialist at Haven House in Wayne, welcomed everyone and gave some history on the Silent Witness program, which was started in Minnesota in 1990. The goal of the Silent Witness initiative is to have no domestic murders by the year 2010.

Silent Witness wooden cutouts, made on campus as a service learning project, were unveiled. Greg Vander Weil, Jeffrey Van Shelton and student volunteers worked on the cutouts. The cost of the project was covered in a grant from the SunBeam Foundation. Joy Saundra, Client Advocate at Haven House was instrumental in getting the program going.

Michelle Meyer, Director of the S.A.V.E. organization at WSC, read survivor poems. There were a number of volunteers who also read stories and poems by survivors of domestic abuse.

Wayne Mayor Lois Shelton made a proclamation that October is Domestic Violence Awareness Month.

Prayers were given by Sister Cynthia Hruby N.D., Catholic Newman minister at W.S.C. and Sandra Braasch, Lutheran campus minister at WSC.

Domestic violence is the leading cause of injury to women, more than muggings, rapes, and automobile accidents combined. Every nine seconds, a woman is battered in the U.S. Ninety-five percent of domestic violence victims are female.

Between 3.3 - 10 million children witness domestic violence every year in this country. Violence occurs in about one of every three relationships. It doesn't matter if couples are married, living together, or dating.

Domestic violence is not just a family matter; directly or indirectly, domestic violence affects our entire society. It is destroying individuals and families and costing communities in time lost on the job

Wayne football rebounds in nailbiter

WHS senior Cory Stoltenberg works around an O'Neill lineman in last Thursday's game.

By David W. Carstens
Of the Herald

Wayne High's 2005 football season has been one of comebacks and exciting finishes.

The Blue Devils' 7-6 win at O'Neill last Thursday was yet another chapter of the team that's now 4-2 on the season with home contests with Atkinson West Holt and Creighton remaining on the schedule and a possible return to continue in the post-season state playoffs.

Thursday's game remained deadlocked in the first half of O'Neill's homecoming game as each team had several opportunities inside the Red Zone.

George Sherry scored for Wayne at 7:35 in the third quarter on a 17-yard run.

Sherry finished the night with 29 yards on ground, just behind quarterback Nate Finkey, who picked up several nice option play gains to lead the Blue Devils with 44 yards.

Josh Fink also contributed to Wayne's 115 yards on the ground with 36 yards off his six carries.

O'Neill almost turned the corner against WHS when Heath Lichty caught a 13-yard pass from Randall Lihs with 11 seconds left in the game on a third and nine play to give the Eagles six points.

The latter two-point conversion failed on the right side when another Lihs-to-Lichty pass on the right side was batted down by Josh Fink.

O'Neill tried a last ditch effort to win the game with an onside kick but Fink provided more heroics as he fell on top of the onside kick, attempt.

Finkey threw 15-for-30 with a pair of interceptions for 179 yards, while backup Jesse Hill threw one pass for 22 yards.

Nathan Summerfield made nine grabs to lead all receivers with 131 yards.

The Blue Devils will attempt to add a fifth win on the campaign with a home contest with district foe West Holt at 7 p.m. on Friday at Cunningham Field at Wayne State College.

George Sherry rushes for a gain in Thursday's road win at O'Neill.

Mirisa Carroll uncorks a pitch in Thursday's district opener against Albion Boone Central. Carroll has guided the team to 19 wins from the mound this season.

Blue Devils earn trip to state tourney for fourth consecutive season

By David W. Carstens
Of the Herald

The yellow shoe laces define both a mission and a purpose.

The Wayne High softball team has been wearing those bright laces all season as a tribute to those serving with the local 189th Transportation Company who have been deployed with the Nebraska Army National Guard.

Now the mission is set as the team won three district games last week to advance to this Thursday's state softball tournament in Omaha in defense of its two-time state title.

It will be the fourth consecutive trip for the Blue Devils to the two-day tourney.

Wayne (21-5) downed Albion Boone Central 10-0 and West Point Central Catholic 3-1 at the C-1 district tournament last Thursday and disposed of Central Catholic 7-3 in a rematch in the Friday district final on Friday to secure a berth in the state tournament at Omaha's Seymour Smith Park.

Wayne High coach Rob Sweetland said with key losses to graduation last year, including All-State pitcher Molly Hill, many thought the Blue Devils would be down this year.

"We decided back in July that we wanted to prove the people wrong," Sweetland said. "We wanted to prove that this just wasn't a three-year run and they worked really hard. They dedicated themselves to getting back to the tournament."

Wayne enters the state tournament as the No. 5 seed and will face No. 4 seed Hooper Logan View at 3 p.m. on Thursday (today).

The tournament will also include familiar teams such as Ashland-Greenwood and Columbus Lakeview, who Wayne High competed favorably against this season, despite eventual losses to both squads.

"We want to use our experience at state and give those teams our best shot and then see what happens," Sweetland said.

In action last Thursday, Jean Pieper went 3-of-4 with three runs and a pair of RBIs, while Brooke Anderson went 2-of-3 at the plate and added a run to lead Wayne to a 10-0 shutout of Boone Central in the district C-1 opening game.

Mirisa Carroll scattered two hits en route to the pitching win.

Doubles by Pieper and Alesha Finkey got things rolling for Wayne in a 3-1 win against West Point Central Catholic in the second round game on Thursday evening.

Pieper also finished with two runs for the Blue Devils.

Wayne faced WPCC in a rematch in the district final and posted a 7-3 win in what was the fifth time WHS downed the Bluejays this season.

The Blue Devils took a 2-0 lead in the first inning as Pieper and Anderson scored off a pair of pitching errors.

Kayla Hochstein sparked the team in the next inning when she smacked a double and advanced to third off a steal. Sara Frerichs followed with a single to bring in Hochstein. A West Point pitching error allowed Frerichs to reach second.

Carroll then batted in a single to score Frerichs to give Wayne a 4-0 advantage.

A pair of Wayne errors in the fifth allowed the Bluejays to make a 3-run statement in the top of the sixth inning to narrow the Wayne High lead to 4-3.

A Top 10 finish in Class C.

That's been the goal all season long.

That goal became a reality after two days of play for the Wayne High girls golf team at the girls state golf tournament at Indianhead Golf Course in Grand Island on Monday and Tuesday.

Wayne tallied a team score of 856 to tie for eighth with Creek Valley after playing in rainy conditions on throughout the day on Tuesday.

The other two top teams in Wayne's district, Norfolk Catholic and Humphrey St. Francis finished first and sixth respectively, with 697 and 799.

"I've been very proud of the efforts of all the girls all season and this was a good way to finish," Wayne High coach Eric Henderson said.

Wayne High senior Jennifer Nolte fired a 95 on Monday and a 96 in Tuesday's 18-hole round to finish with a two-day 191 to finish in a tie for 21st place.

Nolte, a four-time state qualifier, finished just out of medalist contention last year when she placed 16th at the state meet.

"We are going to miss Jenny," Henderson added. "She's been a key ingredient to our success."

Norfolk Catholic's Heather Love (167) and Ali Fuchtmann (168) took the top two individual spots to guide the Knights to the team title.

Other Wayne scores included Sheree Kathol, who golfed a 103 and 110 for a two-day 213 score, and Kourtney Schmale, who was six strokes behind her teammate with a 219 (105-114).

Rounding out Wayne's team qualifiers were Elizabeth Baier (111, 122-233) and first-season team member Maddy Moser, who golfed her season's best 18-hole score on Monday to finish with a 264 (128-136).

Senior Jennifer Nolte smiles after taking a shot at Monday's state golf meet in Grand Island.

WSC teams take second at meet

The Wayne State College men's and women's cross country teams placed second to Creighton in both divisions at the Briar Cliff Invitational cross country meet held last Saturday at McCook Lake, S.D.

Creighton topped Wayne State in the men's division 38-49, followed by Morningside (88), University of Sioux Falls (115), Northwestern College (120), Dakota Wesleyan (126) and Midland Lutheran (159).

The women's team race saw Creighton better WSC 30-65 with Morningside in third at 83.

"I am happy with how both of our teams ran," WSC head coach Marlon Brink said. "This was a great meet for our final preparations for the NSIC Championships. We ran some fast times and gained some confidence, which were two of our main objectives for this week."

Wayne State had three of the top five finishers in the men's division as Jeremiah Herron was third at 26:19, Matt Schneider fourth at 26:23 and Ben Crabtree fifth in 26:27. Other WSC runners included: Nathaniel Bergen (15th-27:51); Stephen Lamas (35th-28:55) and Nate McIntire (49th-29:52).

"Our top three guys ran a strong race and ran well together," said Brink added. "They didn't go out too fast and were especially strong over the second half of the race."

In the women's race, junior Haley Reeves led Wayne State with a fourth place finish, covering the 5,000-meter course in a time of 19:15. Fremont senior Erin Norenberg was right behind in sixth place at 19:26. Nicole McCoy, a senior from Lincoln Pius, earned a ninth place finish in a time of 19:45. Other WSC finishers included Erin Oswald in 22nd place at 20:36; Ashley Smith was 34th at 21:21; Lisa Froistad 58th at 23:14 and Emily Urfer finished 68th in 24:48.

"Five of the seven women set personal best times for 5,000 meters and that's a good indication that we are getting close to peaking at the right time," Brink said. "Haley Reeves, Erin Norenberg and Nicole McCoy gave us a really good 1-2-3 punch and we will be trying to do the same thing at the NSIC meet."

The Wildcats will next compete in the NSIC Championships on Saturday, Oct. 22 in Moorhead, Minn.

WSC golf teams conclude season

The Wayne State men's and women's golf team wrapped up their respective fall seasons at the Northern Sun conference championships last weekend.

The WSC men's team placed fifth at the Northern Sun Conference Championships played at the Pebble Creek Golf Course in Becker, Minn., last Friday and Saturday.

The Wildcats shot rounds of 323 and 318 for a team score of 641.

Winona State won its fourth straight NSIC title with a 601 (302-299) with Bemidji State in second at 611 (303-308). Minnesota-Crookston placed third at 628 with Northern State fourth at 639. WSC was fifth, followed by Upper Iowa (646) and Concordia-St. Paul (674) in the team standings.

Jason Love, a senior from Norfolk Catholic, led WSC with rounds of 78 and 78 for a two-day score of 156.

Love missed All-NSIC honors by two strokes.

Scott Cudly, a sophomore from Columbus, shot 157 with rounds of 76 and 81.

Other WSC golfers included:

Colin Wilson (85-76 for 161); Jared Wetovick (84-83 for 167) and Brian Torpin (93-89) for a 182.

Three members of the Wayne State College women's golf team competed in the two-day Northern Sun Conference Championships at the Eagle Creek Golf Course in Willmar, Minn.

WSC did not field enough players to record a team score.

Southwest Minnesota State won a sixth straight NSIC title with a 54-hole score of 1020, 10 shots better than runner up Winona State.

Upper Iowa, not eligible for the league championship this season, was third at 1062, followed by MSU Moorhead (1171) and Concordia-St. Paul (1175).

Junior Johnna Olson posted the top score for Wayne State, placing 27th overall with rounds of 101-01-98 for a 54-hole total of 291.

Senior Keri Barels was 29th at 295 (106-91-98) and Lindsay Scranton of Plainview finished 35th with rounds of 113-105-112 for a 330.

WSC slips to ranked foes

The streak stopped at seven games.

The Wayne State volleyball team's seven-game win streak came to a halt last Wednesday as No. 24-ranked Southwest Minnesota State downed the Wildcats 30-23, 26-30, 36-34, 30-17.

The contest had conference placing implications as SMSU improved to 16-3 overall and 6-1 in Northern Sun league play, while WSC lost only for the fifth time this season.

The Wildcats came out strong in the second and third sets with a four-point victory in the second set and a close battle in the third.

WSC sophomore Emily Schroeder lead the Wildcats with 21 kills and 10 digs, while Jacey Kuck Schwarz contributed for 17 kills and 11 digs.

Libero Laura Dolezal finished with 26 digs for the Wildcat defense and Julie Jacobsen set up 45 assists for WSC's hitters.

The Wildcats dropped their next game on Tuesday, Oct. 11 as Nebraska-Omaha rallied from a two-game deficit to WSC in a five-set shootout in Omaha.

UNO, ranked third in the North Central Region, improves to 13-5 overall while Wayne State, ranked fifth in the North Central Region, falls to 18-6 overall.

The Mavericks defeated the Wildcats 26-30, 21-30, 30-19, 30-25 and 15-13.

Schroeder finished with 13 kills and 20 digs andy Kuck Schwarz accounted for 11 kills and 11 digs.

Dolezal recorded 19 digs with Julie Jacobsen notching 18 digs and 33 set assists.

WSC returns to Northern Sun conference play Friday evening, when they host sixth-ranked Concordia-St. Paul at Rice Auditorium in Wayne starting at 7:00 p.m.

WSC ranked in Division II

WSC's performance this season picked up some worthy recognition last week.

The Wildcats were ranked fifth in the first NCAA Division II North Central Regional rankings released on Oct. 6.

WSC holds a (9-4) record against region opponents, with those losses coming to top-ranked Minnesota-Duluth, No. 2 Concordia-St. Paul, No. 3, Nebraska-Omaha and fourth-ranked Southwest Minnesota State.

The top eight teams in the region rankings will advance to the North Central Region Tournament set for the third weekend in November.

Junior Michelle Eckhardt spikes the ball past a defender in Wayne State's last home NSIC matchup with Minnesota-Crookston. The team will host conference foe Concordia-St. Paul this Friday evening.

Wildcats host two NSIC contests

Anne-Marie Lind kicks the ball in Saturday's home game with Bemidji State.

The Wayne State soccer team split two home Northern Sun conference games last weekend.

Despite being outshot 23-4 during the game, Bemidji State scored a 2-1 double overtime win over Wayne State on Saturday morning.

The win put Bemidji in second place in the NSIC at 8-3-3 overall and 6-1-1 in the NSIC.

WSC opened the scoring in the 34th minute as freshman forward Anne-Marie Lind from Omaha scored her sixth goal of the season off an assist from Jenna Pendley to give the Wildcats a 1-0 lead.

Bemidji State tied the game in the 68th minute on a goal by Katie Meinhardt, her sixth of the season.

After a scoreless first overtime session, the Beavers found the net at the 2:31 mark of the second overtime when Kelly Hyvare scored her seventh goal of the season to give Bemidji State the come-from-behind win.

WSC held a 23-4 advantage in shots over the Beavers and a 7-3 advantage in corner kicks in the overtime loss.

Kelly O'Connor and Lind each scored a goal to shutout Minnesota-Crookston 2-0 in another Northern Sun conference game on Sunday afternoon.

The win improved Wayne to 6-7-2 overall and 4-4-1 in the NSIC, while UMC fell to 1-14 overall and 1-8 in league play.

The Wildcats put a goal on the board in the 21st minute when freshman Casie Beaman passed the ball from the right corner to in front of the goal area and was kicked in by senior midfielder O'Connor.

It was O'Connor's second goal of the season and Beaman's second assist.

In the second half, Lind put in her seventh goal of the season by kicking the ball through the legs of Minnesota-Crookston goalkeeper Aimie Theobalt in the 80th minute to give WSC a 2-0 advantage.

The Golden Eagles had some opportunities late in the game with some corner kicks, but failed to score.

WSC freshman goalkeeper Jamie Anderson improved to 4-4-1 on the season and was credited with five saves in the contest. The Wildcats outshot the Golden Eagles 10-8.

Wayne State will be on the road this Saturday and Sunday afternoon as they travel to Concordia-St. Paul and conference leader Winona State.

Get Real! at your library during Teen Read Week 2005

Area teens will be reading for the fun of it as the Wayne Public Library celebrates the eighth annual Teen Read Week, Oct. 16 - 22, 2005.

They join hundreds of other libraries, schools and bookstores across the country who are encouraging teens to celebrate this year's theme, "Get Real! @ your library®." Teen Read Week is the national adolescent literacy initiative of the Young Adult Library Services Association (YALSA), a division of the American Library Association. This year's theme encourages teens to explore the world of nonfiction books, such as biographies, self-help books, strange but true stories, and more.

Pam Spencer Holley, YALSA's president, feels that "today's teens seem to have less and less free time, and there are increasingly more activities to for them to take part in during what little leisure time they have. That is why it's important to encourage teens to set aside some time to read." Literacy is a topic of both local and national concern, and falling test scores and lower graduation rates among teens today are a serious issue.

Studies show a regular reading habit increases reading proficiency, and area Youth Services Librarian, Julie Osnes agrees. "One of the most important ways teens acquire the habit is by watching adults they respect" says Osnes. Being around adults who are avid readers can counteract the latest statistics from The Nation's Report Card (<http://nces.ed.gov/nationsreportcard/>), which indicate that in homes across America the number of different types of reading materials has decreased, and a smaller percentage of 17-year-olds saw adults reading in their homes.

Osnes hopes to increase teen literacy locally by offering a series of programs for teens during Teen Read Week.

1. All week long reading about a current event - or by reading a non-fiction, self-help, strange-but-true, or biographical book - will enter the teens into a drawing to be held on Saturday. One entry per day.

2. Monday 1 p.m. Free Movie, free popcorn, bring your own drink and big pillow.

3. Tuesday - Any teen, ages 13-18 who becomes a new cardholder and checks out a book gets a candy bar. Those who already have a card can receive a bite sized candy bar for visiting and checking out a book.

4. Wednesday 4 p.m. - Read What You Like - Enjoy some snacks, bring in books you have read and want to recommend to other area teens.

Parents of teens are encouraged to celebrate Teen Read Week at home. Osnes offers these ideas:

- Visit the local public or school library with your teen to attend a program or to check out books.
- Our online catalog can be accessed anytime at: <http://library.waynecol.org/7195/webopac/>

- Set aside time each night for the family to read.
- Give books or magazine subscriptions to your teen as a gift or reward.
- Share your favorite book with your teen.
- Surf the Internet with your teen to learn about new books or authors. A good place to start is www.ala.org/yalsa/booklists.
- Join a book discussion group at the school or public library.

Several birds in Wayne test positive for West Nile virus

The Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department has received confirmation that five birds received from Wayne have tested positive for West Nile Virus. Two were Blue Jays found Aug. 16 and Sept. 21, and three American Crows (one found Aug. 23 and two on Aug. 30). This is a reminder that precautions for humans are to:

- Remove standing water around your home and work places.
- Use insect repellent with DEET for ages 2 and above. (Follow directions on label.)
- Wear long sleeves and pants; light colored clothing if possible.
- Stay indoors at dawn and dusk, if possible.

Keep window and door screens repaired.

Consult your health-care provider if you think you may have symptoms of West Nile Virus. Symptoms of West Nile Virus range between mild (fever, headache, body aches, rash, swollen glands) to severe (high fever, severe headache, stiff neck, muscle weakness, confusion, tremors, convulsions, paralysis, coma, and possible death). If any symptoms appear, they generally show in 3 - 15 days.

(Note - Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department is done collecting in Wayne as the quota of five birds has been met).

189th Urban Operations Outside The Fence

Photos & Story by Jeremy Buss

Clockwise from above right: A member of the 189th stands guard at the corner of a building while a picture of one of the village leaders hangs nearby. Soldiers escort the village sheik to a local radio station for him to make a speech to local villagers. Considerable protection was needed as there was still a large number of insurgents in the area and the sheik feared for his life. A soldier lies in a ditch to cover the operation of the rest of the unit in the village. During the pre raid briefing a platoon leader takes notes on the upcoming raid. Members of the 189th receive a briefing on the upcoming operation with the help of a sand table with a mock up of the village, here the lieutenant indicates the building the village sheik is believed to be in. (bottom left) Two soldiers guard through the window of one of the village building, any opening is held as suspicious when insurgents are known to be in the area. (above) Soldiers run out of a building that has been cleared enroute to the next building.

Fort Riley, KS - Clear, Room Two Clear, Clear echoes through the building as soldiers of the 189th search a building for signs of insurgents.

The mission: locate the village sheik and persuade him to make an announcement on the local radio station in order to calm the local villagers.

The Sheik is finally located in the third building the unit searches. Persuading him to make an announcement turns out to be the most difficult part of the mission today as he is fearful of reprisals.

After much discussion he is convinced and the group forms a protective circle around him to move him to the building housing the radio station.

While this may seem like a relatively simple mission, when you factor in language barriers, insurgents, unfamiliar customs and unfamiliar territory.

With their departure for Iraq looming closer, the 189th training continues to escalate as evidenced by this drill.

After the morning "assault" the unit sits down for an after action review and receives mostly good reviews from the instructors on the assault. One point that is stressed, look at the person you are talking to, not the interpreter, do not ignore the person you are trying to communicate with.

In most conflicts and wars, soldiers have defined roles and duties. The 189th would normally be simply a transportation company. Iraq has blurred that distinction causing even a transportation company to prepare for urban activity.

While the likelihood of members of the 189th being called on to actively participate in this duty is slim, it remains a possibility. During the company's transportation duties the possibility of an ambush exists and it will be the 189th that has to deal with the immediate effects and that may include taking and holding buildings or other strong points in the vicinity until an infantry company can be dispatched to relieve them.

In a country where the entire countryside is the front line, it also remains possible the 189th could be called on to do urban activities simply for the lack of anyone else to do it.

While most of the 189th does not have a lot of experience in urban operations (some none since basic training) the instructors say they are one of the better groups to come through the training recently.

One example of this comes during the afternoon drills when a weapons cache is found through routine searching and securing of buildings without receiving any intelligence from "locals" or other sources.

Preparing for daily life as well as eternal life

It's a cloudy, gloomy day, and it looks as if it could rain. At least there is no snow in the forecast; yet, I understand it snowed in Kimball yesterday. We've had the first hard frost. I covered all the plants on the patio and they look great. But as I drove to work the next morning, I saw very few blankets in the neighborhood. I was guessing that in Hoskins and Winside and Murdock, there were all kind of coverings out. Why lose all that work for one night?

Our Saturday afternoon streak of luck in Memorial Stadium ran out, but we did redeem ourselves against Texas Tech. I try to forget last year in Lubbock; it seemed like a nightmare. It's becoming a strange football year, with Baylor winning on the road, Texas beating Oklahoma, and Steve Spurrier's team losing regularly. I don't regret the latter at all.

We are also following the girls' state softball tournament because old friend Gladys Peterson keeps sending news clippings of the Exeter-Fillmore Central team. The pairings look a lot like last year's, with Wayne and Ashland in the mix again. Of course, when we talk women's sports, we also have to mention the Husker volleyball players, unbeaten and unbowed. Have you seen any of their games? They are awesome athletes.

The morning paper added to the gloom today: thousands of lives ended in an earthquake, many Iraqi policemen and some American servicemen being bombed by more suicide bombers, floods and mudslides, and two Cass County teenagers in an auto accident in which the car burned and both bodies burned with it. It's very difficult to stay positive in the midst of all this.

One of the bright spots for us has become hearing our new young associate pastor preach! He definitely has the gift, although he looks like he may have just graduated from high school. From Virginia, he is fast becoming a Nebraska fan. In fact, he announced the score before beginning the sermon at Saturday evening's service. We weren't there; we were watching the game and went to church on Sunday at the late service. But my Mom has become a Saturday evening attendee, even though she is also a football fan. Tough choices!

I recently had an e-mail regarding another gifted preacher, Billy Graham. It seems that the city of Charlotte, North Carolina, planned a luncheon to honor him. He resisted, saying that the Parkinson's made it difficult for him to speak. They told him they wanted to honor him and did not expect a great speech.

After a flowery introduction, Dr. Graham got up and said that he was reminded of a story of Albert Einstein, traveling on a train from Princeton. He had lost his ticket and was looking everywhere for it when the conductor finally said, "Dr. Einstein, don't worry about it. I know who you are, and I know you would have bought a ticket."

He walked on up the aisle and looking back, saw the good doctor on his hands and knees, still looking for the ticket. He again said it was not necessary, as he knew who he was. Einstein responded, "Young man, I, too, know who I am. I don't know where I'm going!"

Billy Graham ended by saying, "I bought a new suit for this. I plan to be buried in this suit. Unlike Albert Einstein, I know who I am and I also know where I'm going." We all should be equally prepared.

It's not too late for lawn care

October is a good month to think about putting away the lawnmower, sprayer and fertilizer spreader and stop doing those lawn chores but wait, it is an ideal time for some management projects to prepare for 2006.

It's not too late to control dandelions, wild violets, creeping jenny, white clover and other broadleaf weeds in the lawn by spot treating with a liquid herbicide. As long as the plant is green and growing, the herbicide will be translocated into the roots. Weed and feed granular products are not recommended for fall weed control. The herbicide sold under the name of Trimec, is a good combination of post-emergent broadleaf herbicides to use.

The last application of fertilizer can be applied up to Thanksgiving time. It's much too early to stop watering, especially following our dry summer and warm fall. Plant roots continue to grow into the fall. It's important to keep the soil moist, especially for evergreen trees and shrubs that lose more moisture through green needles during winter than plants that drop leaves. Water should be added based upon the amount of recent rainfall received. Don't over-water the plants as that can cause damage to the plant. Check the soil for how wet it feels before watering, especially in those mulched areas of landscapes.

October is a good time to plant deciduous trees and shrubs, but it

Warner attends conference in St. Louis

Jessica Warner of Allen was recently invited to attend the White House Conference on Cooperative Conservation in St. Louis, Mo. Under the leadership of President George W. Bush, this is only the fourth conference to be held in the United States history. Past Presidents presiding over this conference were President Theodore Roosevelt, founder, President John F. Kennedy, and President Lyndon B. Johnson. The goal of the Conservator Conference is to bring leaders in conservation across the nation together.

Warner was selected and received a personal invitation from Washington D.C. to attend the Conservation Conference. She is currently serving as the International President of the Society for Range Management Student Conclave.

Warner, along with 1,200 invited guests from across the nation, attended receptions, banquets, and various sessions of guest speakers during the three-day event. Sec. of Defense Donald Rumsfeld, Sec. of Interior Gale Norton, and Sec. of Agriculture Mike Johanns were featured speakers discussing various aspects of Conservation programs.

Warner related to Sec. of Agriculture Johanns as his family ties are from Nebraska and growing up on a dairy farm.

Other topics included managing agriculture lands to improve wildlife habitats and conserve our natural resources. Sessions included nature wildlife endangered species and government policies regarding conservation practices. A panel of speakers discussing businesses and management ideas along with concerns involving conservation in their area of living was very informative.

An exhibit hall was on display throughout the conference depicting various wildlife species, nature grasses, and flowers, conservation is a little late for planting evergreens. Because they remain green all winter, evergreens are best planted in September so they have a chance to recover from transplant shock and establish some new roots before the soil freezes.

Remove the tops of the herbaceous plants after a hard freeze has killed the plants. Plant spring flowering bulbs during October and into November.

Late October to mid November is the best time to apply mulch to perennial beds, strawberries, roses or after the soil freezes or temperatures are consistently dropping into the 20's.

Here is the other side of being too late: It is too late to seed or overseed Kentucky bluegrass or tall fescue and get the grass established before winter. It is too late to apply insecticides and fungicides to control most insect pests and diseases. It is too late to prune any shrubs or trees. Growers need to wait until late November and into the winter.

Maintain grain quality with proper temperature, moisture and aeration

Controlling grain temperature and moisture are keys to maintaining quality of stored grain, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln agricultural engineer said.

Grain will spoil if the moisture content is too high. When grain will be stored for up to a year, moisture content should be no greater than 14 percent for corn and sorghum, 12 percent for soybeans and 13 percent for other small grains, said David Shelton, an Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources agricultural engineer at UNL's Haskell Agricultural Laboratory near Concord.

"Farmers also need to control the temperature in grain bins by using proper aeration," Shelton said. "This will help keep the grain cool and slow mold growth. In addition, properly aerated grain will last about four times longer than non-aerated grain." Aeration is the movement of air through the grain mass.

Grain that is not properly maintained will begin to feel damp or tacky at the surface and eventually a crust will develop. Correct moisture content and proper temperature control throughout the year will prevent this, Shelton said.

"It is especially critical to cool grain from warmer harvest or summer temperatures," he said. "Grain should be cooled early in the fall, held at 35 to 40 degrees through winter, warmed in the spring, and

Fall fire prevention tips are offered

The following fall fire prevention tips were offered from the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department. With the temperature going down but not cold enough for the furnace, we might think about alternative heating sources, namely space heaters.

- Always refuel space heaters outside, never in a building.
- Never refuel space heaters while they are hot, let them cool.
- Space heaters need at least three feet of space from any curtains or any other flammable material.
- Don't dry wet shoes or clothes on a space heater.
- Fireplaces also need space around them so keep newspapers and other burnables away from them.
- Keep a screen or glass doors in front of a fireplace to keep embers from getting on the floor and causing a fire.
- This is a good time to have your furnace inspected by a professional to see that it is in good working order for the long heating season ahead.

then held below 60 degrees as long as possible into the summer to help minimize insect activity."

Producers should routinely monitor grain conditions to achieve the proper temperature control. Shelton recommends inspecting grain at least once a month during winter and every two weeks at other times.

"Measure and record temperatures at several locations," he said. "Records are helpful in determining whether higher temperatures are caused by outside temperatures or by heating due to mold activity. Both wet grain and moldy grain will give off heat."

A grain probe can help locate moisture pockets where mold can develop rapidly as temperatures warm.

"However, when checking grain, be sure to use caution," Shelton said. "Use a safety harness, lifeline and grab rope and have a second person outside the bin in case of an emergency."

For grain stored longer than a year, moisture content should not be greater than 13 percent for corn and sorghum, 11 percent for soybeans and 13 percent for small grain. Moisture content should be reduced by another one percent to two percent for lower quality grain, such as drought-stressed, immature, insect-damaged, moldy or severely cracked or damaged grain.

Producers need to operate dryers at the lowest possible temperature to maintain good grain quality. High temperatures increase the susceptibility to breakage and cracking.

Drying at high temperatures should stop when grain moisture is about two percent above the desired final moisture content, Shelton said. Cooling will remove the remaining moisture.

"Grain should be cooled for about four to six hours," Shelton said. "Cooling grain too rapidly can cause cracking, while cooling grain over a long period encourages spoilage."

Natural air drying can minimize grain damage. This involves providing airflow to the grain for extended periods, depending on the weather and initial grain condition.

One critical aspect of natural air drying is that the initial drying front should be moved through the full depth of the grain without stopping, Shelton said. To accomplish this, the fans must be operated continually.

For more information on drying and storing grain, consult UNL Extension NebGuides G84-692, Aeration of Stored Grain, and G94-1199-A, Management to Maintain Stored Grain Quality. Both are available at local extension offices or on the Web at <http://ianrpubs.unl.edu/farmbuildings/g692.htm> and <http://ianrpubs.unl.edu/farmbuildings/g1199.htm>.

CORN HUSKING WINNERS

Times are changing in agriculture. Huge combines and tractors have replaced horses and wagons. However, one weekend a year, the crackle of corn stalks, the jingling of harnesses on horses and the thud of corn hitting the bang boards, are sounds that can be heard at the Nebraska State Corn Husking Contest.

Three entrants from Allen earned two first place and one second place awards. Kelli Rastede, daughter of Allan and Marcia Rastede, a first time picker won the novice class with a pick of 188.5 lbs. in 10 minutes. Marcia Rastede won the women's open class with a pick of 330 lbs. in 20 minutes. Alvin Christensen placed second in the men's open class with a pick of 515 lbs. in 30 minutes.

Marcia and Alvin earned the right of represent Nebraska in the National Handpicking Contest in

Reinert recognized for work with Disaster Preparedness Community

As part of Nebraska's Safe Schools Week, Dr. Joe Reinert, Superintendent of Wayne Schools, has received recognition for his exemplary cooperation and partnership with the disaster preparedness community.

Governor Dave Heineman declared the week of Oct. 2-8 as Nebraska Safe Schools Week. Activities include a Biosecurity Conference for School Administrators and a luncheon at the Governor's Mansion recognizing Reinert and four other honorees. The Center for Biopreparedness Education and the Nebraska Department of Education are sponsoring the conference and recognition luncheon.

Dr. Reinert was nominated by Loren Park, Emergency Response Coordinator for the Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department. "Dr. Reinert has been very cooperative and supportive from the beginning of the Mass Dispensing Clinic project," Park said. Reinert is an active member of various community collaborations addressing preparedness issues including those involving law enforcement, fire and rescue, public health and the hospital and college from Wayne County.

The role Nebraska's schools play in safety and emergency preparedness extends beyond the students, staff and facilities. In many communities, the school plays a key role in the local emergency response plans as well. Many of Nebraska's small towns will rely on the use of school facilities as mass vaccination clinics in the event of a public health emergency such as a small pox outbreak or worldwide flu epidemic. Emergency management agencies have included the use of school facilities as shelters or incident command centers in their disaster response plans.

Test for radon is available

Oct. 16-22 is National Radon Action Week. The Nebraska Health and Human Services System urges Nebraskans to test for radon in their homes.

"With cooler weather, people spend more time indoors, so now is a good time to test for radon," said Sara Morgan, Nebraska Radon Program manager. "Enclosed spaces, like homes and other buildings, trap radon inside."

Radon is a radioactive, invisible, odorless gas. Exposure to it is the second leading cause of lung cancer in the nation. The Environmental Protection Agency estimates that approximately 21,000 lung cancer deaths each year are radon-related.

Radon comes from the decay of naturally occurring uranium in the earth's soil and can accumulate indoors to dangerous levels. It can enter buildings through cracks or holes in the concrete floors or walls, sump pits, and drinking water from private wells. Once trapped inside an enclosed space, radon can accumulate.

One out of two homes in Nebraska has elevated levels of radon, Morgan said.

Simple, inexpensive radon test kits are available. The EPA recommends that houses with radon levels of four picocuries per liter of air or more of radon to be fixed to prevent accumulation of the gas indoors.

There are ways to successfully reduce high levels of radon in homes, Morgan said. A trained professional should determine which method would work best in each situation.

To learn more about radon, go to: www.epa.gov/radon or <http://test.hhs.state.ne.us/enh/radon/radon.htm> or call the Nebraska Radon Program at 1-888-242-1100 option 5 or 1-402-471-8320.

B12 May Reduce Osteoporosis Risk

Vitamin B12 may play a role in reducing the risk of osteoporosis. According to a study at Tufts University, participants with higher blood levels of B12 had higher bone mineral density than those with lower levels of the vitamin. As people age, it becomes more difficult to properly absorb adequate vitamin B12 from food due to less stomach acid. Researchers suggest that those over 50 eat fortified foods or take supplements containing B12. Check with your doctor or pharmacist as to the correct dosage before beginning supplementation.
