Commissioners accept low bid for remodeling

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

Wayne County Board of Commissioners met Tuesday at the courthouse in Wayne. The first order of business was acceptance and approval of the low bid by Otte Construction of $384,893, plus $2,221 for addition of an automatic opener in the remodeling of the County Court Services Building (the old Juvenile Detention Center-JDC). Plans are underway for Otte Construction to be finished with the project by June 1, 2006.

On the agenda was Wayne County Extension Educator Amy Topp requesting her department be allowed to be closed during Christmas break with her staff using their vacation time to be gone.

The next order of business was Kay Wagner of Winside requesting to purchase a strip of property from Wayne County near the county shed in Winside. She noted they wanted to buy the ground to square up their property. The commissioners informed her they must have a public hearing, advertise for bids, accept or reject, and then negotiate with individuals for fair market value before the piece of ground can be sold. That process would probably take about a month so she should come back to a meeting at that time.

Bud Neel, Wayne County employee, reported that 8,000 pounds of asbestos had been taken out of the old JDC building in preparation for the remodeling project. He also remarked on lights that are on in homes and businesses at night for the "Light the Way Home for Our Troops," a Chamber of Commerce project.

A resolution was passed to remove a short bridge and install a culvert on 570th Ave., Mile 848, 2.0 miles east and 3.25 miles south of Winside, on the east line of Sec. 14, Hancock Precinct, to the three year plan.

Commissioner Robert Nissen was reappointed to the Northeast Nebraska Area Agency on Aging Board of Directors.

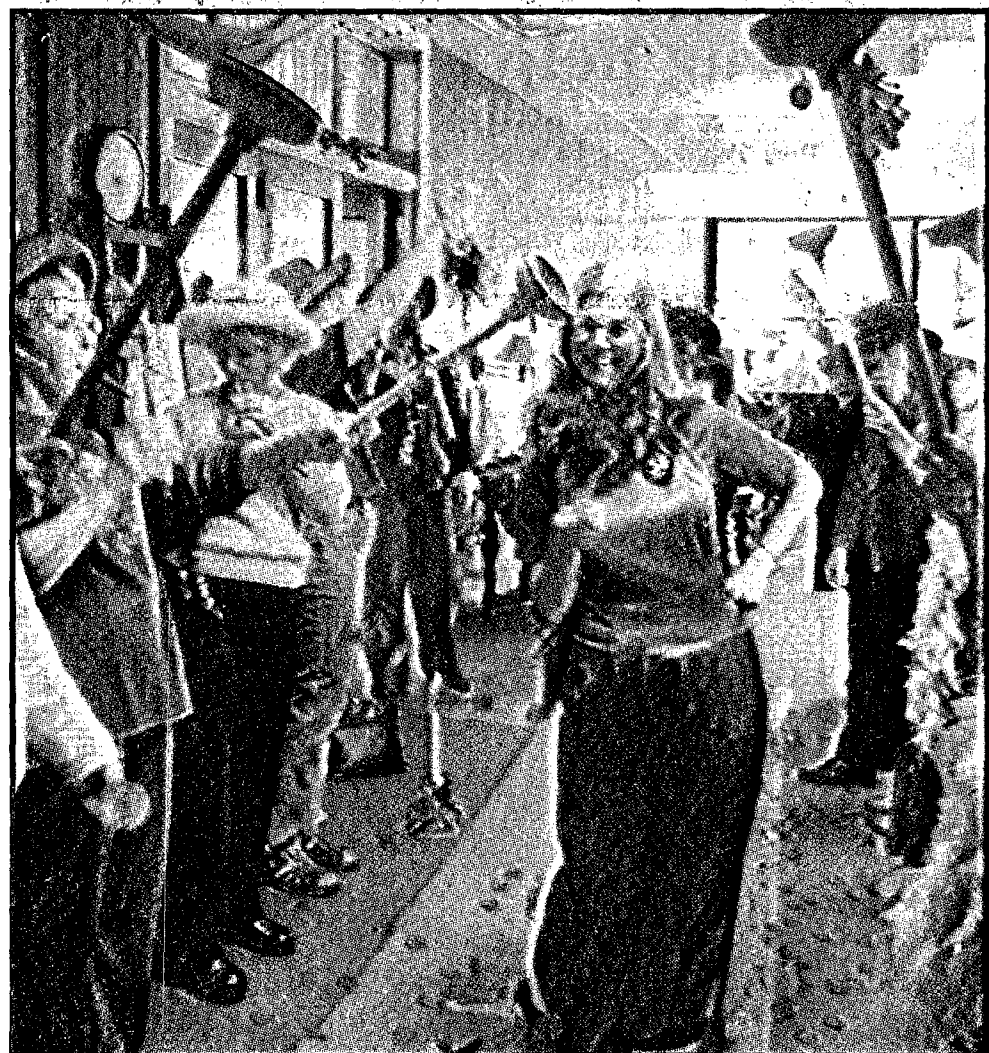

Commissioner Myron Miller was appointed alternate representative to

Steve Rasmussen takes part in change in duty station in Australia

This summer, Steve Rasmussen, District Forester with the Nebraska Forest Service, participated in a change in duty station that took him to Victoria, Australia. In addition, his wife, Annette; sons, Joshua age 19, and Zachary age 12 were able to join him after a month for an educational tour of Australia and the south island of New Zealand.

This opportunity began two years ago when a visiting forester from Australia spent several months working with the Nebraska Forest Service and the University of Nebraska - Lincoln. While here, he became friends with the Rasmussens and invited Steve to travel to Victoria, Australia see farm forestry projects "down under". Following up on this invite, the Rasmussens worked this into a chance for the entire family to experience Australia.

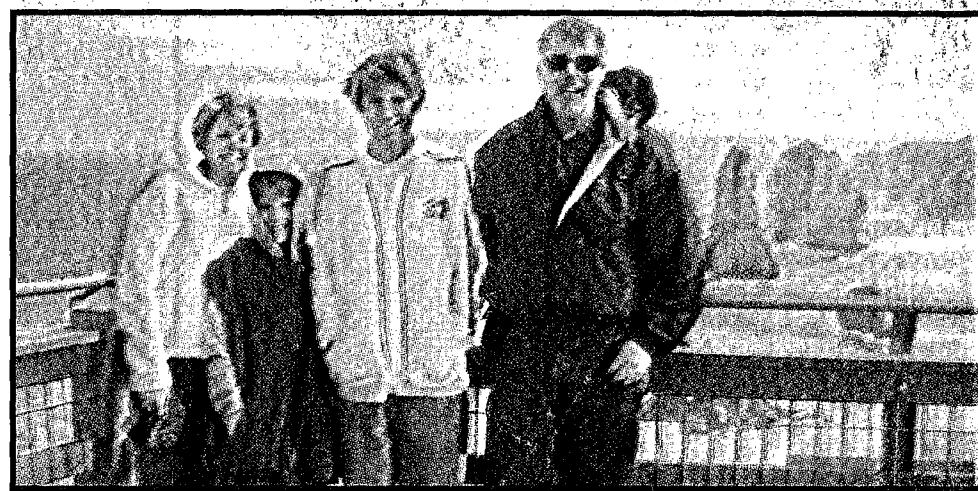

While in Australia, Rasmussen worked

Emergency management expert to speak at WSC

Gary Brown, emergency management expert from Sioux City, Iowa, will present "Prepare for Crash Landing!" at Wayne State College Tuesday, Nov. 8, at 10 a.m. in the Niobrara Room of the student center. The presentation is free and open to the public.

Brown heads one of the most-recognized and honored disaster and emergency agencies in the United States. The Federal Aviation Administration credited his level of preparedness with saving more than 40 lives after the crash of Flight #232 in Sioux City on July 19, 1989.

Brown's appearance at Wayne State is sponsored by the CJA 444 Emergency Management class and the Wayne State service-learning program. For more information, please contact Dr. Jason Karsky at 402-375-7139.

for a month with the Victorian Dept. of Primary Industries with an office based in Horsham, Victoria. This is an area of relatively level, rural farming and pasture dominated landscape. Rainfall amounts would be similar to central Nebraska.

Farm forestry work in Victoria around the Horsham area has some similarities to the conservation forestry that Rasmussen does in northeast Nebraska. Planting trees and shrubs for environmental uses for soil protection, wildlife habitat and bio-diversity is important. Some differences include planting trees and shrubs to help curb the salinity increase in local pastures and water systems.

Also, reforestation is important in many areas of Victoria with 50 to 60 percent of the original "bush land" having been cleared for farming or agriculture use.

Getting "back to the bush" is their goal and this is accomplished through Plant-out weekends, where over 10,000 trees may be handplanted in two days. Urban volunteers are bussed out from the larger cities and they coordinate with local rural tree planters to plant large tracts of trees using a pottipuchi, a hand held device, that allows for planting a small container grown seedling without bending over. At the end of the planting day, the volunteers are treated to a big evening meal and refreshments. A big party atmosphere.

The Australian people are very supportive of tree planting and reforestation. Many farmers also collect seeds from their own trees and contract local tree nurseries to grow the seedlings for planting. In addition, the state of Victoria is very aggressive in planting tree plantations for biomass and paper production.

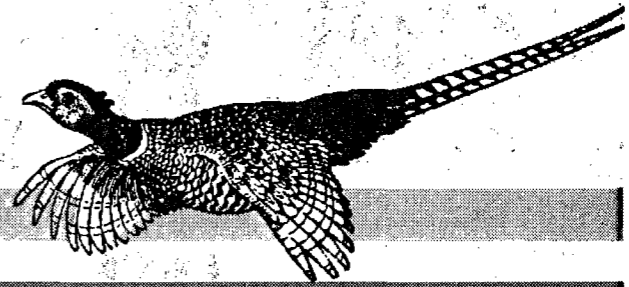

One issue of debate is the planting of large (160+ acres) of blue gum plantations. These trees can grow 15 feet tall in 12 months. Blue gum is not a native tree for the area and opponents argue that this is not good for the local native fauna. There are over 700 species of eucalyptus trees native to Australia and there is a strong effort to use locally native species where possible.

The state of Victoria is close to the same

National Lunch Week observed

Beginning at 6 a.m. each school day, Judy Poehlman, head cook at Wayne Public Schools, and four of her fellow cooks, begin preparing meals for the 700 to 800 students who eat school lunches each day.

The school observed National School Lunch Week recently and throughout the week, 310 parents, relatives and guests had the opportunity to eat with those at Wayne Elementary.

Poehlman has been preparing meals at Wayne Public Schools for 22 years and has served as head cook for 14 years.

"In that time there have been a number of changes in the food program, including the cutting back on fat and salt in the food we serve. Also, the number of servings of fruits, vegetables and whole grains have increased," Poehlman said.

"Another change is that the amount of prepared foods we serve has increased through the years. We do still make bread from scratch daily and make chili, chicken and noodles and spaghetti from scratch."

She noted that the favorite menu items are chicken nuggets and corn dogs, while pork steak and barbecue ribs ranked at the bottom of the list.

At the elementary and middle school, approximately 90 percent of the students eat the school-prepared lunch. That number drops to 50 to 60 percent at the high school.

In addition to providing lunch for students at Wayne Public School, Poehlman and her staff provide meals to Goldenrod Hills Head Start, St. Mary's Elementary and the Tower School.

The actual cooking facilities are located at the Wayne Elementary School and Poehlman said that that has always been the case.

Poehlman said she spends approximately 40 hours per month on paper work and plans the menu a month in advance.

The cooking staff includes nine cooks and one delivery person. Of that number, four come in at serving time and then three cooks serve meals in each of the three buildings.

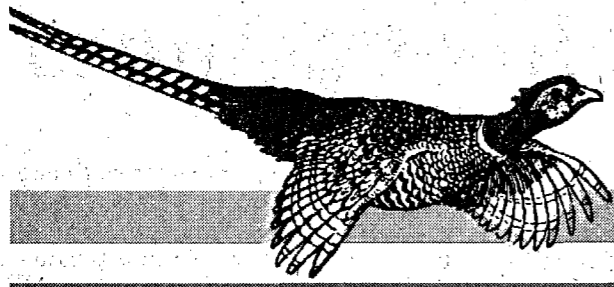

Poehlman earned her bachelor's degree from Wayne State College with a major in Home Economics and a minor in history. In addition, she is certified cook in the state of Nebraska and as such, has to have 45 hours of continuing education every three years.

"I love to cook and I love kids. I had good teachers before I became head cook and I was very lucky to have 'inherited' the staff I did and feel very fortunate to have the staff I do now," she said.

Letters

Thanks for the packages

Editor's note: The following is another letter received by Bud Neel of the Wayne AmVets post from one of the deployed soldiers who has been receiving care packages from this area.

Dear Bud,

Once again, I would like to thank you and everyone who has helped put these care packages together. All of my soldiers have something out of the care packages. I have enjoyed getting the newspapers also. I was able to stay informed about what was happening back home.

Well, on to the good news. My unit will be leaving soon to come home. So, please send my packages to one of the soldiers in the 189th so they can enjoy all of the things I did when I got the care packages. Layne Beza will hear from me as soon as I get to the states. I would like to be able to give more details, but OPSEC is a must.

Thanks again for the packages. Will be home soon.

Information on control of diabetes is available

We have come a long way since we first began working in the field of diabetes education. We now know that the complications associated with diabetes can be prevented or delayed. Our growing knowledge of various foods and their effect on blood sugar levels enables people with diabetes to eat food they like, choose when and how much to eat and still control blood sugar levels.

It is the best time in history to have diabetes, especially in light of the difficulties our parents and grandparents would have encountered had they been diagnosed decades ago.

Today people with diabetes can choose from a variety of non-nutritive sweeteners and can figure out how to fit sugar-containing foods into your meal plan. With carbohydrate information now readily available for most foods, diabetics can easily learn to count carbohydrates at each meal. This allows diabetics to fit virtually any food into their meal plan.

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension invites everyone to participate in a new diabetes education program.

The series of programs is being offered via the two-way interactive distance education facilities. Participants will learn about current issues related to diabetes from educators with over 16 years of team-teaching experience with the in-depth "Living with Diabetes" series.

The third of three programs in "Control Diabetes for Life" series will be presented Monday, Nov 7 and Tuesday, Nov. 8. Topics that will be addressed during the two-hour program include: Medicare Part D; And, To All a Good Night, Sleep; Participate in Your Med Decisions; Potpourri of Foods; and other helpful hints.

Participants will sample a new recipe for a diabetic appropriate food.

Team-teaching the program will be Phyllis Heimann, R.N. and Certified Diabetic Educator; Stacie Peterson, R.N., Mary Clare Stalp, R.D., of Franciscan Care Services in West Point and Debra E. Schroeder, Extension Educator in Cuming County.

Participants have the opportunity to attend the first program on Monday, Nov. 7 from 3-5 p.m. at Wisner-Pilger, Pierce, Pender high schools and ESU #2 Fremont. The same program will be repeated from 7-9 p.m. that evening at Scribner-Snyder, Howells, Laurel-Concord, and Wahoo Public high schools.

Thanks to funding from the Rural Health Opportunity Grant this program will be repeated on Tuesday, Nov. 8 from 3-5 p.m. at Madison, Lyons-Decatur, Neligh-Oakdale and Stanton high-schools. The final offering of the program

Court to decide referendum issue

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

A football team presumed to be a powerhouse is defeated by a bunch of dumplings.

What's to be said, after the nitwit element on the losing side has stopped swearing, and had their diapers changed?

Platitudes. Cliches.
"Well, that's why they play the games!"

The nice thing about that one is that it is true, but not nearly as vapid as so many others.

The situation is comparable, for purposes of furthering this column, to certain cases brought before the courts.

One or both sides might believe the outcome in a given case is a certainty.

The fact is that court cases are much harder to handicap than football games.

Consider the following. Supporters of a proposal to repeal a state law on school consolidation have gathered enough signatures to put the referendum on the general election ballot in November of 2006.

They now want the courts to delay implementation of the law, scheduled for June of next year, pending the outcome of the 2006 election.

Many referendum supporters figure their case is a slam dunk. The referendum will be on the ballot, so obviously the courts must intervene to make sure the vote means something. If the law took effect in June and mergers were forced, would not subsequent balloting be meaningless?

Enter opponents of the referendum. Many note that implementation of the law would automatically have been suspended if petitioners had gathered enough signatures - thousands more than the number required merely to put the law's future to a vote.

Their view:
The system automatically delays the effective date of a law when a specific number of signatures are gathered on referendum petitions. It follows that having enough signatures to put a referendum on the ballot - but not suspend its effectiveness - settles the question.

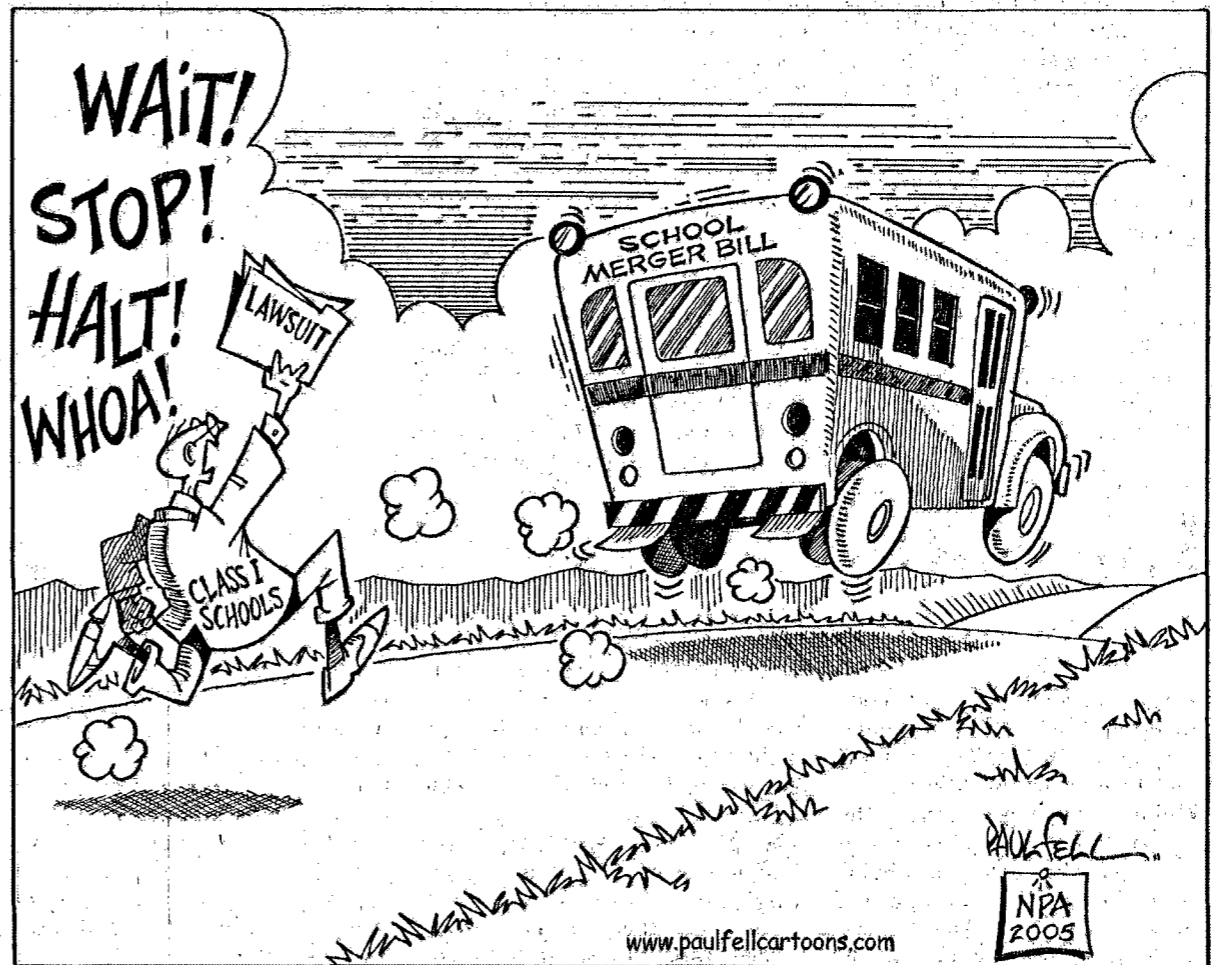

There you have it.

One side believes the courts surely will delay use of the law, ensuring that the 2006 election will allow voters to fully decide the issue.

The other side believes the courts must conclude that referendum supporters had their chance to suspend the effective date of the merger law - and failed to meet the required standard.

Which argument should prevail? That decision is up to the judges. That's why they hear the cases.

Wildcats drop final home contest to Winona State

Wakefield freshman Luke Hoffman tackles Winona State's Alex Wiese in last Saturday's annual Egg Bowl game at Wayne State College.

WSC set to wrap up fall campaign in Metrodome Classic

The annual Wayne State College Egg Bowl game was a springboard for a share of conference championship.

Visiting Winona State grabbed a share of its third straight Northern Sun Intercollegiate Conference football championship last Saturday afternoon with a 38-6 win against WSC in the 17th annual Egg Bowl played at Cunningham Field in Wayne.

The win was the seventh straight win for the Warriors, who improved to 8-2 overall and 6-0 in the league.

The loss dropped Wayne State's 3-7 overall and to 500 at 3-3 in league play.

"I was pretty pleased to what we were able to do on first downs, but we slipped into a habit of not making plays when we needed to," WSC defensive coordinator Clint Brown said.

Winona State opened the scoring with 7:26 left in the first quarter on a Derek Malone four-yard touchdown run, capping an 11 play, 78-yard drive, to put the Warriors in front 7-0.

Following a missed field goal by Wayne State, the Warriors used an 18-play, 80-yard drive that took 9:41 to take a 14-0 lead as Malone scored from one yard out.

The Warriors struck again just before halftime when quarterback Drew Aber found Brian Hynes on a 17-yard scoring strike with 1:20 remaining in the first half to make the score 21-0 at halftime.

Aber was later selected the Egg Bowl Most Valuable Player for Winona State, as he completed 14 of 27 passes for 194 yards and two touchdowns and rushed for another 94 yards on four carries and a 62-yard touchdown run.

In the third quarter, Winona State built a 28-0 lead on a seven-yard pass play from Aber to tight end Eric Lemcke at the 8:11 mark.

Following a Wayne State turnover at the Winona State 10-yard line, the Warriors scored again later in the third quarter when Aber scrambled 62 yards for a touchdown, making the score 35-0 with 2:09 left in the third quarter.

Wayne State responded moments later with their only points of the game when freshman quarterback Travis Dietz found wide receiver Josh Peterson on an 80-yard pass play. The extra point kick was blocked, making the score 35-6 after three quarters.

Peterson was voted as the Egg Bowl Most Valuable Player for Wayne State as he finished with five receptions for 144 yards and one touchdown.

Winona State added a 27-yard field goal by Mike Salerno with 1:29 left in the contest to close out the scoring at 38-6.

Winona State held a 539 to 324 yardage edge in total offense over Wayne State. Dietz completed 15 of 34 passes for 228 yards with one touchdown and one interception.

Defensively for Wayne State, linebacker Mitch Reeves and Luke Hoffman each accounted for 12 tackles.

Wayne State will close out the 2005 season this Saturday at the NSIC Merchants Bank Metrodome Classic in Minneapolis, Minn., as the Wildcats meet Bemidji State at 5 p.m.

Subdistrict showdowns begin

The trails leading to the state volleyball tournament opened this week as area teams started subdistrict play with hopes of earning a trip to the tourney on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 11-12.

All of the teams in the Wayne Herald coverage area participated in subdistrict action this week, with Wakefield and Laurel-Concord advancing to District final matches.

C1-7 at Norfolk

The Wayne High Blue Devils entered the C1-7 subdistrict as the No. 2 seed, behind Norfolk Catholic.

WHS faced a familiar foe in the first round of subdistricts on Tuesday as Pierce was the team's previous opponent in the Mid-State conference tourney last week.

The Bluejays eliminated Wayne in a close three set match 25-21, 25-23, 28-24 on Tuesday evening at Norfolk High School.

Wayne kept within striking distance the entire match, including several ties and a 13-11 lead in the third set and a 24-24 gridlock at the end of the stanza.

"I am very proud of this team," Wayne coach Joyce Hoskins said. "They played with a lot of heart and I think we finished up better than that people anticipated and our seniors have done a great job and their leadership will be missed next year."

Kara Hoeman led Wayne (19-11) with 11 kills, while Jessica Dickey dished out 27 set assists and Emlyn Mann provided 18 digs to lead the defensive effort.

C2-6 at Bancroft

Wakefield claimed the C2-6 subdistrict title and will advance to play in the district final on Friday.

The Trojans dominated Pender in Monday night's second round game with a three-set, 25-22, 25-12, 25-12 win.

Alissa Bressler paced Wakefield with 16 kills at the net, while Amanda Nelson nailed six ace serves and set up the Trojan hitting attack with 22 set assists.

Libero Anna Brownell contributed nine digs in the win and Becky Vraspir's six kills and four each from Lexi Nelson and Shay Tullberg helped propel the Trojans to Tuesday's championship.

The team dispatched Homer in Tuesday's final 25-9, 25-13, 25-14 to advance to the district final at Pender at 7 p.m. on Friday (tomorrow) against in West Point Central Catholic for a chance to play in the state tournament.

Bressler pounded 12 kills to lead the Trojans, while Amanda Nelson added 19 set assists and Brownell provided 13 digs.

"All the girls played well tonight," Wakefield coach Cheryl Greve said. "They really jelled as a team."

C2-7 at Randolph

Laurel-Concord rallied from a 12-0 deficit in the first set of the night to win matches against Randolph and No. 1-seed Hartington to advance to the C2-7 subdistrict final here on Tuesday night.

The Bears fell 12 points behind Randolph in the first set of Monday night's opening game before a late rally allowed Randolph to escape with a 25-15 win.

That would be the only set of the night that Laurel-Concord would lose as the Bears disposed of the Cardinals 25-22, 25-18 and 25-22.

"The team regrouped and played point-for-point with Randolph to finish out the first set and they continued to play with intensity to defeat the Cardinals for the third time this season," LCHS coach Patti Cunningham said.

A trio of players posted double-digit nights for kills as Brittany Thompson finished with 14 and Tarah Jelinek and Kari Schroeder added 11 apiece.

"Our defense kept us in the game and allowed us to be aggressive at the net," Cunningham said.

The aggressive play continued into the second game of the night as the Bears eliminated top-seed Hartington in straight sets, 25-19, 25-16, 25-14.

The team countered the Wildcats' explosive offense with aggressive serving as Nikki Lubberstedt was a perfect 15-of-15 from the service line, including three ace serves. Schroeder also was strong at the line and contributed a pair of aces.

Thompson and Jelinek each finished with eight kills for the Bear offensive effort and Jenny Schroeder provided 29 digs at libero.

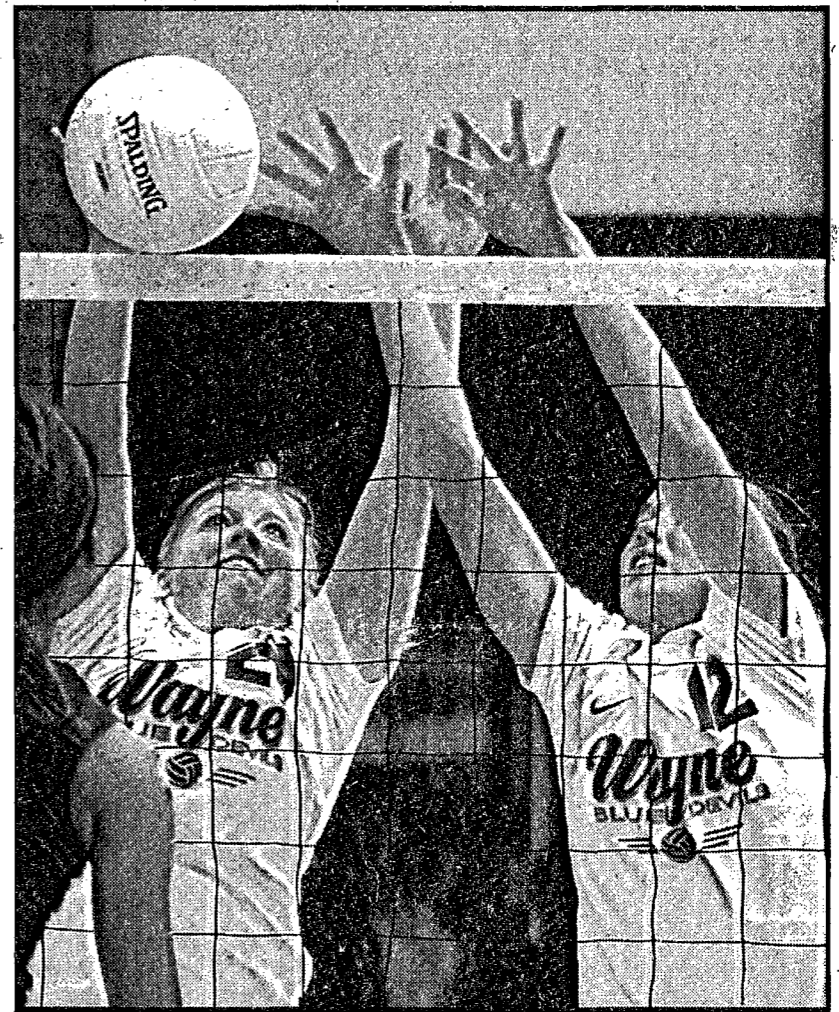

The Bears overcame adversity in the first set of the subdistrict final on Tuesday night to pick up set wins in the second, third and fifth frames to down Hartington Cedar Catholic 20-25, 25-19, 25-20, 17-25, 15-13.

The victory advanced the team to the district final against Neligh-Oakdale, which will be played at Norfolk Catholic at 7 p.m. Thursday (tonight).

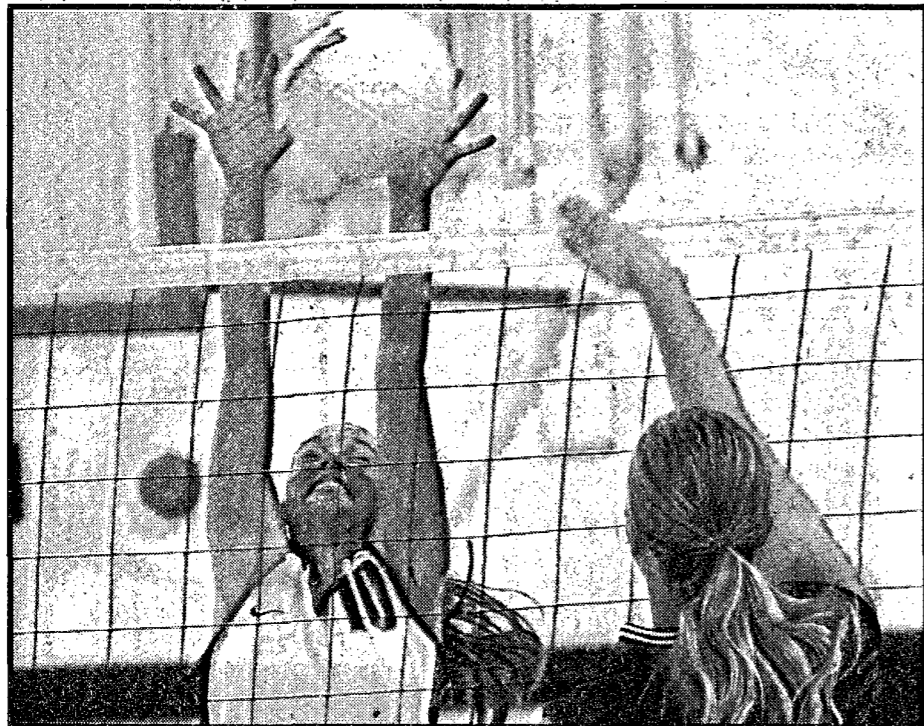

Thompson and Nikki Lubberstedt sparked the team with nine kills each.

"This was a pressure-filled match that featured many long rallies," Cunningham said. "We had

WSC volleyball adds road wins

The Wayne State volleyball team continues to roll along as the season winds to close with a pair of road victories, plus the team learned of exciting news regarding a transfer athlete.

The Wildcats picked up its first win of the weekend with a 3-1 (30-19, 25-30, 30-23, 30-21) victory at Minnesota Crookston.

Junior Michelle Eckhardt recorded a season-high 23 kills to lead Wayne State in hitting. She hit .568 for the match with just two hitting errors in 37 attacks. Jacey Kuck Schwarz added 21 kills, followed by Emily Schroeder with 15 and Brittany Van Beek with 11.

Sophomore libero Laura Dolezal paced the Wildcats on defense with 24 digs. Schroeder contributed 21 digs with Meredy Dubbs, Julie Jacobsen and Schwarz each accounted for 12. Jacobsen also had 64 set assists in the contest.

The team traveled over to Bemidji State on Saturday and improved to 24-8 on the season and 9-4 in league play as Schroeder tallied 19 kills to lead Wayne State in a three-game sweep.

The Wildcats topped the Beavers 30-22, 30-22 and 30-15.

Schroeder had just one hitting error in the match to go with her 19 kills, finishing with a .486 hitting percentage.

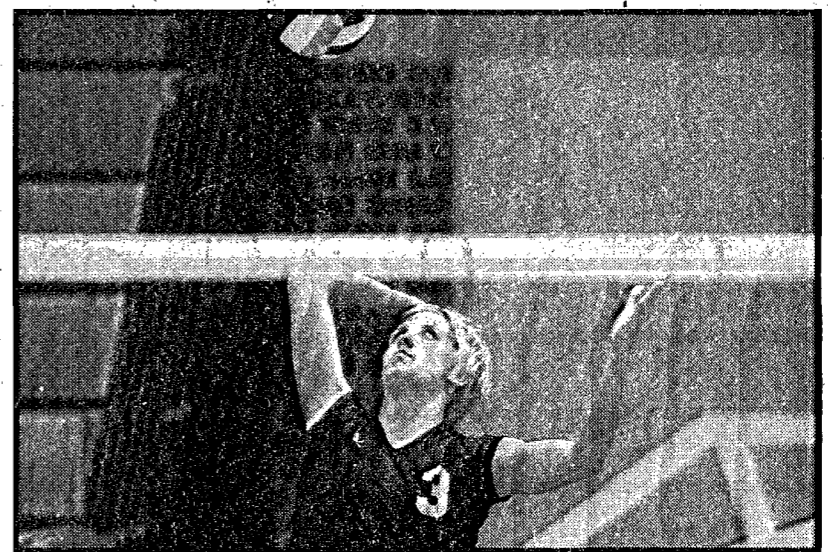

Kuck Schwarz added 11 kills and 15 digs and Dolezal added 15 digs, while Jacobsen handed out 36 set assists in the win.

Early last week, it was announced that Creighton University volleyball player Brittany Coleman will transfer to Wayne State and play her final year with the Wildcats next season. Coleman, a junior from Beatrice, left the Creighton volleyball program in late September.

She was leading the team in digs (4.58 dpg) at the time of her departure. In her first two seasons as setter at Creighton, she set the top two single-season assist marks at the school and earned Missouri Valley Conference All-Freshman Team honors in 2003 and was a Second Team All-Missouri Valley Conference selection in 2004.

Coleman is expected to play setter at Wayne State and will have one season of eligibility with the Wildcats.

WSC was scheduled to close out the regular season Wednesday evening when they were to host Southwest Minnesota State.

Wayne State outshot Southwest Minnesota State 9-7 and Wildcat freshman goalkeeper Jamie Anderson was credited with four saves and picked up her seventh win and fourth shutout of the season.

Anderson's play was honored on Monday as she was named the Northern Sun's co-defensive Player of the Week. It was the second time this season Anderson had been tabbed for the award.

The team picked up a first round win the the NSIC league tourney on Tuesday with another shutout win against SMSU as the Wildcats recorded a 4-0 win to advance to the semifinal round with a 10-3-3 season record.

Wayne State opened the scoring in the fifth minute when Sarah James put in a corner kick by Goss to put the Wildcats in front 1-0.

The Wildcats increased the lead to 2-0 in the 20th minute when Liebenritt put in a loose ball from nine yards out.

WSC added another goal in the 36th minute when a kicked ball by Gena Romano deflected off a Southwest Minnesota State player past the Mustang goalkeeper for a score to make it 3-0 at halftime.

In the second half, freshman Anne Marie-Lind scored from 18-yards out on a pass from Goss en route to the 4-0 final score.

Wayne State outshot SMSU in the contest 13-2, while Anderson notched her second straight shutout and fifth of the season.

Leigh 58, Winside 32

Winside spotted Leigh 20 points before the Wildcats got on the scoreboard in the opening round of the Class D-1 football playoffs at Leigh last Thursday.

The Wildcats closed the gap to 28-20 with seven seconds remaining in the half before Brad Drumheller returned the ensuing Wildcat kickoff 65 yards to extend a lead that WHS was unable to overcome.

Sophomore Jordan Brummels led the Wildcat attack gaining 117 yards on 20 carries, while scoring touchdowns on a pair of two yard runs and adding a 55 yard run to the end zone to his night's work.

Brummels, who was involved in all five of the Wildcat touchdowns, also hit Mark Hawkins for an 18 yard score and Dewey Bowers for a 15 yard trip to pay dirt.

Hawkins was on the receiving end of six Brummels aeriels good for 127 yards, while Dewey Bowers and Josh Staub snagged a pair of passes good for 25 yard each.

Brummels wound up his offensive night with 185 yards passing in addition to 42 yards of kickoff/punt returns to give him a total offensive production of 344 yards for the game.

Cody Lange contributed 17 tackles to the Winside defensive effort with Hawkins and JP Roberts being in on 11 stops apiece.

Roberts had three pass breakups each breaking up passing efforts by the Panthers. Tullberg added an 11-yard interception return to his defensive stats.

The Wildcats ended their season with a 6-3 record and their second consecutive playoff appearance under coach Mark Koch who bought his career coaching record to 96 wins and 28 losses.

Robison-Scheer accepts new position

Hank Thieman, Chairman for the Northeast Nebraska Economic Development District reported that Renay Robison-Scheer, Executive Director, has turned in her resignation.

"With deep regret the Board accepted her resignation so she can pursue a new position as the Senior Vice President of Economic Development with DavenportOne of Davenport, Iowa," Thieman said. "The northeast Nebraska area is losing a very professional, energetic person, but thanks to her leadership, she's leaving us with a very well qualified staff."

Renay Robison-Scheer began her service to the District 13 years ago as deputy director. For the past nine years she has been the executive director. Under her leadership, the organization has seen tremendous growth. The organization now offers business loan funds, housing rehabilitation loan funds, housing down payment assistance, lead-based paint abatement, comprehensive planning and business recruitment and retention services. Since 1992, the district's efforts have resulted in over $80 million dollars of grants and loans being awarded to district members for various community and economic development projects throughout the region.

Kelvin Wurdeman, Wayne County Commissioner, sits on the District's Board of Directors and said, "Renay will be missed greatly. Northeast Nebraska is losing a great leader in community and economic development and I wish her the best in her new position in Davenport, Iowa."

The Board of Directors named Tom Higginbotham as acting executive director until a comprehensive search has been completed to fill the vacancy.

IRS looking for more than 84,000 owners of undelivered refunds

The Internal Revenue Service is seeking 84,290 taxpayers whose income tax refund checks could not be delivered. Checks totaling approximately $73 million can be reissued as soon as taxpayers correct or update their addresses with the IRS.

In some cases, a taxpayer has more than one check waiting. The average amount owed to each taxpayer is $871.

In Nebraska, a total of more than $163,000 awaits taxpayers, with the average refund running just under $600. In neighboring Iowa, the total is nearly $240,000, with the largest single amount more than $8300.

"Our goal is to get this money back in the hands of the people it belongs to," IRS Commissioner Mark W. Everson said. "Visiting IRS.gov makes it easy for taxpayers to see if they've missed a refund."

The "Where's My Refund?" feature on the IRS.gov Web site provides taxpayers with information about their refunds. It is available from the home page. To use it, taxpayers enter their Social Security number, filing status (such as single or married filing jointly) and the refund amount shown on their 2004 tax return. When the information is submitted, "Where's My Refund?" will show the status of a refund and, in some cases, provide instructions to resolve potential account issues.

In the case of Gulf Coast residents affected by Hurricane Katrina, the IRS will expedite research into the status of undelivered payments and issue a refund check when the original is outstanding. The IRS advises hurricane victims who had been expecting a refund check but did not receive one to contact the IRS on the special toll-free Katrina disaster line at 1-866-562-5227.

How to Update an Address with the IRS

Generally, refund checks can go astray for a variety of reasons. Often, a life change results in a change of address. When a taxpayer moves or changes address and fails to notify the IRS or the U.S. Postal Service, a check sent to the taxpayer's last known address is returned to the IRS.

Taxpayers who have moved since filing their last tax return can ensure the IRS has their correct address by filing Form 8822, Change of Address, with the IRS. Download the form from IRS.gov or request it by calling 1-800-TAX-FORM (1-800-829-3676).

Those who do not have access to the Internet and think they may be missing a refund should first check their records or contact their tax preparer, then call the IRS toll-free assistance line at 1-800-829-1040 to update their address.

To put an end to undelivered refunds, taxpayers can join more than 52 million individuals this year who have taken advantage of Direct Deposit. Taxpayers who choose this service receive their refunds directly into a personal checking or savings account. Direct Deposit, which also guards against theft or lost refund checks, is available for filers of both paper and electronic returns.

Carroll Methodist Youth group bake sales raises funds for hurricane relief

The Carroll Methodist Youth group held a bake sale at the Farmer's State Bank on Nov. 15 and donated the proceeds to the American Red Cross. They raised $252.15.

The Carroll bank had challenged the community of Carroll to donate to the hurricane relief efforts through the American Red Cross and had offered to match donations up to $1,000. Frank Gilmore shared one touching story of a young man, Keith Mundil, who brought 13 cents into the bank to donate to the people affected by the hurricanes - this money represented what he had left from his vacation. With the money raised by the Methodist Youth, the total raised from the community was $1,012.28, bringing the total donated to the American Red Cross to $2,012.28 to assist with hurricane relief.

Sandy Hall, Carroll Red Cross Representative, presented these proceeds to Susan Gilmore, President of Farmers State Bank who then made the presentation to Red Cross representatives Lori Carollo and Heather Hemminger, along with the Methodist Youth Group on Nov. 15.

Wayne State College broadcasting students participate in National Cybercast from Kansas City

The students of KWSC-FM at Wayne State College, (K92), were at the controls for a national cybercast from Kansas City on Oct. 27. The two-hour broadcast via Internet-streaming audio was a highlight of the National College Media/College Broadcasters International convention.

"Wayne State College is one of only six colleges and universities across the country to be invited to participate in this cybercast," said KWSC-FM advisor Mike Marek. "This honor is a tribute to the diverse, award-winning programming of K92."

The K92 cybercast featured compressed versions of K92's "All Things Indie" show with Shaun

McCabe, "Get Local" with McCabe and Casey Daehnke, "The Punk Show" with Daehnke, and "Top 40" with Tina Kokoruz and Liz Daehnke. Pre-produced program elements from several other K92 students were also heard.

The cybercast, sponsored by Broadcasters General Store, Studio Technology, and Live365.com, aired from 10 a.m. to noon Thursday at www.live365.com, a Website offering thousands of online radio program feeds, including many college radio stations. Over 3,000 students, college media advisors and media professionals from around the country attended the convention.

A delegation of close to 20 Wayne State College mass communication students attended, including staff of KWSC-FM and TV, as well as student staff of The Wayne Stater. Mass communication faculty members Maureen Carrigg, Max McElwain, as well as Marek, attended the conference.

KWSC-FM, known on the air as K92, is Wayne State College's student-operated radio station. It will celebrate 35 years of service to the Wayne State campus and Wayne community in 2006. The station broadcasts 24 hours a day during the school year on 91.9 mhz in the Wayne area. K-92 is available worldwide by web streaming audio at <http://wildcat.wsc.edu/k92> and is heard on Wayne cable channel 24.

Interacting with nature

Biology students at Wayne High School recently examined the interactions of living and non-living factors in various habitats. Relative humidity and temperature data was collected at various heights in a barren, grassy, and shrub environment. This information was then used to discuss and analyze how the factors interact with each other to allow different organisms to survive and thrive in different environments. "Students developed a better understanding of why those pesky little gnats like to hover overhead and follow you around...just ask a biology student," said Dale Hochstein, Biology instructor.

Public Service Commission denies Aquila rate request

The Nebraska Public Service Commission denied a request by Aquila, one of three privately owned natural gas companies serving Nebraska customers, for what Aquila had called "limited cost recovery." The Commission regulates the rates and services of the three privately owned companies. The unanimous decision by the Commission came at its weekly meeting on Tuesday. In its denial of the Aquila application, the Commission found that Aquila's filing was, in essence, a general rate increase because "Aquila's proposal specifically seeks an overall increase to its revenue." For that reason, the Commission said, the Aquila filing "fits squarely within the definition of a 'general rate filing,' and must be handled through the procedures that apply to general rate filings. Aquila asked for an additional $1,057,936 in annual revenue, approximately 50 cents per customer per month. Aquila, which alleged that it was not making a general rate filing, contended that the Commission has the authority to establish an alternate rate procedure to seek smaller increases more frequently, than in a general rate filing.

First District Commissioner Frank Landis, the hearing officer on Aquila's application, said the Commission is open to ideas, options, and methods for increasing efficiency and lower costs of regulation. "But we still have to do it within the bounds of the statutes."

The Nebraska Legislature provided for regulation of Nebraska's private natural gas retailers by the Public Service Commission in 2003. The law also established a public advocate position. Public Advocate Roger Cox recommended denial of Aquila's application, contending it is not permissible under existing statutes and is contrary to public policy.

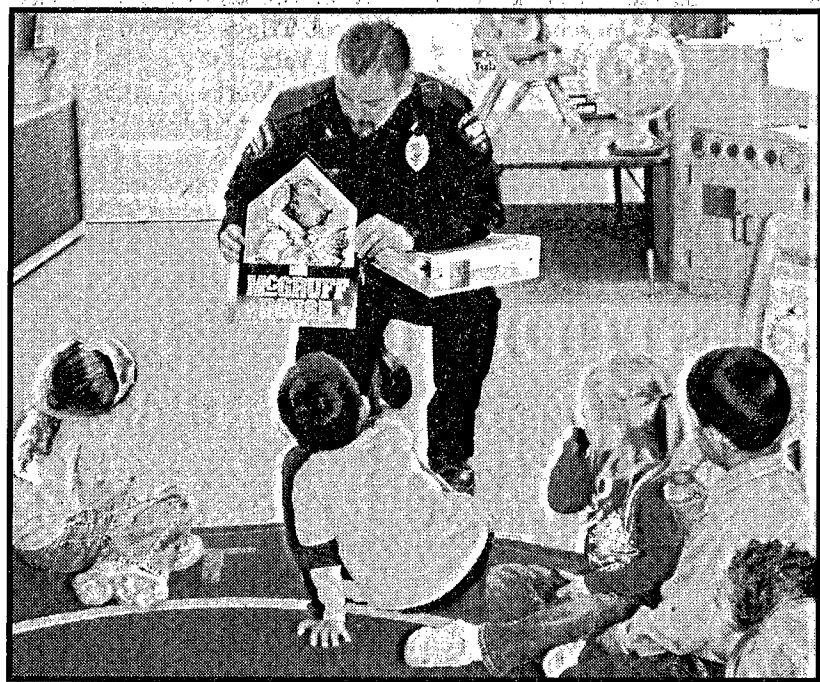

Aquila filed the application on Aug. 1. After the Public Advocate intervened, the Commission separated the application into two phases, one to address whether Aquila's application is permissible under existing statutes and consistent with public policy considerations. The second would have addressed the merits of the application.

The Commission denied the application in the first phase of its consideration.

Sharing time

A fatherhood event with the Wayne Head Start children was held on Oct. 14 at the Wayne Activity Center. Games, popcorn and a movie were on the agenda for this get together. ## Area women invited

Membership night being held at Women of Today

Any women of the community interested in bettering herself and the community and wanting to have fun is invited to an evening of facts, food and fun on Thursday, Nov. 10 at 7 p.m. at Tacos & More.

All women ages 18 and older are welcome. "We could use your help. Because of a requirement in the Nebraska Women of Today bylaws, we need to increase our membership numbers. We would like to think there is a place in Wayne for an active women's group. There must be several women here who would be interested in an enjoyable and very informal civic group," said Debbie Bargholz, a member of the group.

The Women of Today organization in Nebraska traces its beginning back to the Mrs. Jaycees of 1952. Over the years, the organization has evolved with the changing times. One of the changes was to delete the age limit. However, the original purposes of the group remains the same. Those purposes include community service, leadership training and fellowship.

The Wayne County chapter was founded in 1954. A few of the projects completed most recently include a Craft Festival, Christmas Party, Wayne County Fair Awards, informational meetings and donations to the Public Library, Wayne United Way, Toys for Tots, Rainbow World, Food Pantry, Close Up, Haven House and a Wayne High Scholarship.

Members have many ideas for projects they would like to do and are interested in new ideas, but a shortage of members prohibits them from attempting many of them.

"Not everything we do is 'work.' We do many fun things such as one-day trips, picnics, family nights and listening to speakers. We have met other Women of Today members from our region and made some friends. We do not require attendance at every meeting and/or function held. Our members participate only as much as they choose," said Annette Rasmussen, another member of the organization.

For more information, contact Debbie Bargholz at 375-4239; Annette Rasmussen at 375-2701 or Peg Webster at 375-1438.

Divorced parents should plan ahead to make holidays smooth for children

When the holidays near, it can be difficult for divorced parents to reach an agreement about whom their children should celebrate with. Such conflicts can be difficult for children so it's important that parents take steps to make the holidays go as smoothly as possible. Even though divorced parents new family situation.

When a divorced couple lives close to each other, it's easier to allow children to spend time with each parent over each holiday. The parents should cooperate to get the children back and forth when needed.

If distance makes visits more difficult or one parent works during the holidays, consider alternative solutions if the divorce agreement allows it. Maybe children can spend one holiday with one parent and another holiday with the other.

This could be alternated year to year if desired. Perhaps one parent could get a motel room near where the children live so it would be easier to see them.

During the holidays, focus on the children and strive to make them feel genuinely loved in both homes. Try to maintain some similarities when celebrating the holidays, which gives children a sense of security and belonging. Allow children to be in touch with their grandparents and other relatives to reinforce that they still have a family. Avoid competing with the other parent in gift-giving or other holiday activities.

Both parents can attend the children's holiday programs to support them, as long as they and the children are aware of plans in advance. Help children make or purchase gifts for other family members, even those who are related to the other parent. Parents who are divorced must share responsibility for parenting and work together to provide the best situation for their children. This, in turn, will help children cope better with their new family situation.

are no longer together, it usually doesn't mean the children are separated from one of the parents. Children need to realize they'll still have a relationship with both, and parents need to realize this too. When anticipating the holidays, parents should accept that they'll have to compromise in some ways so their children can spend time with each parent.

It is crucial for divorced parents to communicate their expectations for the holidays well in advance. This gives each parent time to plan the holiday schedule, as well as let other relatives know when they can see the children. Also, a set plan gives children security. Always communicate about holiday plans directly with the other parent instead of using children as messengers.

Do not ask children to decide where to spend the holidays, which is a hurtful situation for them. Demeaning the other parent in front of children also is hurtful and unproductive. Instead, support children in seeing the other parent and try to help them adjust to their

Arthritis and Exercise

Daily exercise is a good habit for everyone to develop. However, if you have rheumatoid arthritis or osteoarthritis, some exercises may be more helpful than others. Walking is great for helping to preserve joints in the knees and hips, but if the cartilage is already worn down, a low or no impact activity like biking or swimming might be better. Other exercises that are easy on the joints are water aerobics, in-line skating and elliptical machines. Be sure to speak with your doctor before beginning any daily exercise routine.

Sports activities abound this time of year

November first, All Saint's Day. And another gorgeous Indian Summer day. I keep thinking that every warm day saves that much on heat bills. The geraniums are still blooming, even though the other plants on the patio have given up the ghost. And I see lots of colorful mums as I drive around.

Speaking of ghosts, there were none at our door last night. I guess living in a retired area cul de sac precludes very many children. We did leave our light on, and we did have some candy, but there were no takers.

I'm having trouble getting last Saturday's game out of my mind. This new habit of getting down by three touchdowns before we start to play doesn't do it for me. I'm a little less impressed by coach C every week. I'd much rather watch the volleyball team; they are awesome!

Today's paper details the upcoming volleyball tournaments, and the fact that there are some great players in this state, plus, some great fans.

Of course, the importance of all the games pales when the casualty figures from Iraq are reported. As with most Americans, the longer this plays out, the more I wonder what we are accomplishing. I do know, from e-mails, that there has been much restored in that country, but at what cost? The people themselves have lost so much, in

The Farmer's Wife
By: Pat Melerhenry

lives, property, and security.

Then, I see footage of the Pakistanis waiting for relief in areas that are almost impossible to reach, and know that winter is coming. The number of fatalities there is mind-numbing. And there will be more, from disease and weather.

It's difficult to stay optimistic, isn't it? I think the appropriate quote was one that was circulating from Jay Leno last week. "With all the earthquakes, hurricanes, tornadoes, mudslides, and floods, is this really the time to take God out of the pledge of allegiance?"

One of the neat things the Wayne Herald reported last week was that the Winside cross country girls were district champs and state runners up. I followed cross country for a few years in Cass county because the son of a nurse friend ran for Plattsmouth. It is a grueling sport. Unlike distance running on a track, it takes place on venues like country clubs, with hills and valleys, and grass and gravel. I admire anyone who can do it. And my hat goes off to the Winside team; I remember most of their parents and it doesn't seem possible that their children are in high school.

It's just another sign of time passing. It's true that life is like a roll of toilet paper; the more you use, the faster it goes!

Bacillus Thuringiensis WHAT?

Bt corn has become common place in Nebraska fields with farmers taking advantage of built in ability to kill European corn borer.

Bt is named for the bacteria whose genetic material was transferred to corn to make Bt corn. Bacillus thuringiensis (Bt) is a common soil bacterium that has an unusual ability to kill caterpillars. Bt's ability to kill some insects was discovered in 1911 but not used commercially as a pesticide until the 1950s.

F. John

Insecticides containing Bt are still common place eg. (Dipel, Able, Biobit, Cutlass, Foray, Javelin, Thuricide, Vectobac) and are effective against some leaf eating caterpillars in gardens and trees. As a pesticide, Bt works as a stomach poison causing shutdown of the digestive system and eventual death of the caterpillars.

Bt's rise to fame came with invent of biotech crops where genes can be taken from one organism and introduced into the genome of another. This technology enabled scientists to take the genetic material coding for the stomach position protein from the Bt bacteria and install it into the corn plant. The corn plant now reads that gene and makes the stomach poison protein in its own cells. The resulting corn plant with Bt protein in its tissues is its own pesticide. European corn borer caterpillars who eat the leaves and stems containing the stomach poison protein will die.

New Bt technology has expanded the range of insects susceptible to the protein with Rootworm activity available in some Bt hybrids. Use of Bt corn and cotton has increased greatly since its introduction. This is due to some distinct advantages of the Bt technology over typical nerve-poison insecticides. One advantage is Bt selective spectrum of activity, unlike most insecticides which can kill beneficial insects. Beneficial insects such as pollinators like honeybees, and other natural enemies (predators and parasites) are little affected by Bt.

Perhaps the major advantage is that Bt is essentially nontoxic to people, pets and wildlife. This high margin of safety recommends its use on food crops or in other sensitive sites where pesticide use can cause adverse effects. From soil bacteria to millions of acres of corn and home gardens around the world, Bacillus thuringiensis, has made at least its initials famous.

THANK YOU

The family of Alfred Mangels would like to thank everyone who sent such lovely cards and messages, visited, or offered prayers and support at this time of his death. We say a special thank you to the staff of St. Joseph's Care Center for the wonderful care you gave Alfred and us this past month. Thanks also to Pastor Rixe for the comforting funeral service and to the members of Trinity Lutheran who provided food and served the lunch following the service.

Alfred's faith in God was his strength during his 90 years of life here on earth and his victory in his death, may the same faith be yours also.

John, Karen, Aaron & Seth Mangels

Don't grieve for me now I'm free. He took my hand and said come with me. I finally grasped his hand and went with him to Heaven where there is no pain. Just remember the joy, friendship, the laughter and a card game. I'll miss the good times but don't be burdened with sorrow, but share the Sunshine of Tomorrow.

We are deeply grateful for all the thoughtfulness of the friends, for all the cards, visits, flowers & phone calls while Mylet was recently hospitalized and through the past years. Thanks to all the wonderful doctors and nurses for all their TLC. Words cannot express all the sympathy given to our family following the death of our Mother, Grandmother and Great-Grandmother. Thanks to Pastor's Koeber and Olson for their visits and prayers and the beautiful church service. Also for the flowers, memorials, cards and the Christian Service women for serving the delicious lunch.

It will never be forgotten.
