Christmas on the Main

Despite cold temperatures, the annual Christmas on the Main activities went on as planned last week in Wayne. They included several "Living Windows," a number of floats in the Parade of Lights and extended hours by local businesses. Above, left, Elvis and his friends (Zachary and Morgan Keating and Jackson and Hannah Belt) 'rocked' around the Christmas tree while members of the Wayne County Agricultural Society, right, promoted the 2006 Wayne County Fair.

Sex offender ordinance was put on hold by city council

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

Passage of a sex offender registration ordinance for the city of Wayne was put on hold during Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

Earlier this fall, the council had approved the ordinance on first and second reading.

However, in recent weeks several Wayne citizens have expressed concern with the language of the ordinance and other information has been brought forth.

"We have had some serious concern from people. There has been a lot written about this subject, both in Nebraska and surrounding states. It has been noted what the 'ideal' actions should be, but they aren't being done. This ordinance is 'something' as opposed to 'nothing,'" said Council member Will Wiseman.

Council member Betty Reeg said that with the new information that has been presented, she felt the passage of the ordinance should be tabled until the council can talk about the issue during the annual retreat.

Cal Kroeker, representing the Wayne Association of Congregations and Ministers, told the council that the group was urging the council to make amendments to the ordinance to take out Level I (least likely to re-offend) offenders from the document.

Karen Granberg spoke to the council and said she also had concerns about the lack of distinction between levels of offenders. She urged the council to re-think and revise the ordinance before passing it.

On a 6-1 vote, the council voted to table the third reading of the ordinance.

Rich Robinson of Kirkham Michael was present at Tuesday's meeting to discuss several agenda items.

He talked about change orders for the Country Club Road Project, accepting the work in Street Improvement District No. 2003-03, road reclassification and the application for a municipal ground water transfer permit.

Wayne State College winter commencement to be Dec. 16

Wayne State College winter commencement ceremonies will be held Friday, Dec. 16, at 2 p.m. in Rice Auditorium.

A total of 193 undergraduate and graduate degrees will be awarded by Dr. Richard J. Collings, president.

Michael E. Bousquet of Lincoln, a 1970 Wayne State graduate, will receive the Alumni Achievement Award presented by the Wayne State Foundation. Bousquet is president and chief executive officer of REAMS Sprinkler Supply Co.

Sarah Elizabeth Rowse, Norfolk, graduating Honorable Mention with a bachelor's degree in Language Arts Education, will give the invocation.

Katharine Lynn Dowling, graduating summa cum laude, Scholar in the Major, Secondary English Education, and Kelly McCormack Peterson O'Connor, graduat-

Robinson told the council that the cost of change orders for the Country Club Road Project and the Street Improvement District were 'very good' and the property owners involved were getting a good deal. He noted that this was due, in part, to a favorable construction climate.

Robinson also talked about the process of getting roads in city limits and within the county re-classified. The re-classification would make them eligible for Surface Transportation Program (STP) funding to be used for improvements.

He said that if the city were to re-classify certain streets, others within the city that are currently classified as collector streets would need to be traded.

Robinson also talked about the permit being submitted to obtain a groundwater transfer permit. He said that the Lower Elkhorn NRD considers this request the equivalent of an existing well should the area be determined to be fully appropriated. He also said that at the present time, there is no rush to get the process completed.

The council listened to a presentation by Josh Hassett of Advanced Gaming Technologies on bringing Keno to Wayne.

Hassett explained the percentages of revenue generated that go to winnings, the city and the establishment where the game is available.

He said bringing Keno to Wayne would not cost the city or Jason Miller (of Uncle Dave's, who put forth the request) any money and an election would not be necessary, as the city has already had a valid election.

Jason Miller told the council that he would not make much money on Keno, but hopes to get people to stay in the bar longer.

"I see this as another form of entertainment for our customer," Miller said.

In other action, the council adopted Resolution 2005-112, which will amend the Wayne electric rates.

The council will next meet on Tuesday, Dec. 20 at 7:30 p.m. in council chambers.

ing summa cum laude with a bachelor's degree in political science, will give the honor addresses.

Dowling, the daughter of Gregory and Darlene Dowling of Randolph, is a graduate of Randolph High School. O'Connor, the daughter of Don and Cindy Peterson of Vermillion, S.D., is a Vermillion High School graduate. She is married to Shane O'Connor, a Wayne State College alumnus who recently returned from a tour of duty in Iraq. They are parents of a son, Ty Matthew.

A complete listing of those students graduating with honors and all area graduates will be included in the Dec. 23 edition of the Wayne Herald.

The public is invited to attend commencement.

Rowse to give invocation at Wayne State Commencement

Sarah Rowse of Norfolk has been selected to give the invocation at the Wayne State College winter commencement Friday, Dec. 16 at 2 p.m. The commencement, which is open to the public, will be held in Rice Auditorium on the Wayne State campus.

Rowse is the daughter of Chuck and Beth Rowse of Norfolk. She will graduate with a bachelor of science degree in language arts education, honors in the major. She is a secondary education major with an endorsement in language arts and a minor in theatre.

At Wayne State, Rowse has been involved in Cardinal Key, Circle K, the WSC Honors Program and Sigma Tau Delta. She has been treasurer of Lambda Pi Eta, president and treasurer of Drama Club and section editor for the Wayne Stater.

She also performed in many Wayne State theatrical productions including, The Crucible and The Diary of Anne Frank and directed Rowing to America: The Immigrant Project. She received an Irene Ryan National Scholarship and was named Theater Student of the Year for 2004-2005.

After graduation, Rowse hopes to pursue her graduate degree in education and communication studies from the University of Wisconsin or Denver University.

Wayne State students bring Christmas joy to area families through contest

Pi Gamma Mu and the student senate at Wayne State College, Festival of Trees co-sponsors, presented 11 Christmas trees and gifts for children to seven families in the Wayne area under the direction of Bertolas, Wayne State College professor of geography.

Campus and community members participated in voting for favorite themed trees that have been sponsored and decorated by WSC clubs and organizations. Voting for a favorite tree required making a cash donation. All decorated trees were delivered to area families in need, and all donations bought gifts.

Winners of the project included: Explorers Club - "Sweetest Tree;" WSEAN - "Most Heart-Warming Tree;" Geography/History Club - "Greenest Tree;" Counseling Center - "Most Poetic Tree;" Delta Sigma Pi - "Most Festive Tree;" K-92 - "Most Rockin' Tree;" Berry Hall - "Tinsel Trophy;" Criminal Justice Association - Second Runner-Up in Collected Donations; SHAPE - First Runner-Up in Collected Donations; Zeta Tau Omega - Highest Amount of Collected Donations.

tance of the resignation of Elementary Principal Mr. Lutt with regrets. The board thanked him for everything he has done for Wayne Schools.

No action was taken on the hiring of a full time custodian because of a wait on the background checks on applicants.

There was recognition of the generous gift of $30,000 from Dennis Kern, who is a continued supporter of the school. This money will go to track maintenance.

There were a number of reports from faculty members. Some of what was reported included: Tracy Anderson told the board that four of her students sent in applications and were accepted to attend the Doane Vocal Festival on Jan. 8 and 9, 2006. The festival is being conducted by Dr. Kurt Runestad who is a former graduate of Wayne High School. The festival is on a Sunday and Monday, so Anderson asked for permission from the board to attend the event, which the board approved.

Spanish teacher Rachel Martin presented the board with two optional excursions for a student trip that is being planned. The first choice is European Horizons and the second choice is Madrid and Northern Spain. Martin would like the group to leave the last week of May, 2007. For this trip, students will have to raise the money for the trip. Students need to have completed two years of Spanish or more and be a Junior or Senior in order to attend. This agenda item failed due to a lack of a motion from the board.

David Lutt noted that letters were given to all parents of elementary school children explaining of the lock down that is in effect. Visitors are to enter through the south doors and sign in at the office and get a pass before entering the school and sign out again when leaving. He noted that cameras will be mounted over the Christmas break.

Middle School Principal Tim Krupicka also discussed lock down which is at the Middle School too. He said visitors are to enter from the east doors, and sign in and out.

SPED Director Kelly Ballinger told the board that the Special Ed SESIS report as of Dec. 10 was at 137 students, last year there were 128.

Athletic Director Rocky Ruhl reported that he and several others from Wayne attended the Sportsmanship Summit at Midland College. He noted there was a large turnout for the event with between 800 to 900 attending.

Peg Lutt, curriculum director, noted that she and Ballinger will be attending a School Improvement Leadership Workshop in Omaha, Dec. 14 and 15.

Dr. Reinert mentioned that the Principals evaluations are complete and that an external team has been chosen.

Legislative committee noted that a new law has been passed which requires each Kindergarten student to have an eye exam by an optometrist before they can start school.

The board approved second readings on policy #9110 (technology-Internet safety) and policy #6004 (high ability learner education). They approved first reading on policy #1303 (schedule for policy review).

Future agenda items include hiring of a full time custodian, administration evaluation, policy #1307, Dance Squad and Industrial Tech Club recognition.

No executive session was needed.

The next regular meeting of the Wayne Community Schools Board of Education will be on Monday, Jan. 9, 2006, at 7 p.m. at the high school in Wayne.

Providence Medical Center employees participating in the Bio-Preparedness Education event last week were all smiles in their protective gear.

Bio-preparedness class held in Wayne

Providence Medical Center in Wayne was the site of a pilot class by the Nebraska Center for Bio-Preparedness Education on Dec. 7.

Barbara Dodge, the Coordinator for Hospital Preparedness, Nebraska Center for Bio-Preparedness Education, was in charge of the class. Ms. Dodge expressed that her group appreciated Providence Medical Center hosting this program and said, "there were very engaged class participants."

Ms. Dodge and the instructors were impressed with the Providence Medical Center facility, the hospitality of the staff and employees, and the efforts already made to prepare should an actual bio-terrorism event actually occur.

The instructors were Terry Macklin from Faith Regional Health Services in Norfolk, John Thorogood from the Omaha Fire Department and Jason Wendt from the Omaha Fire Department.

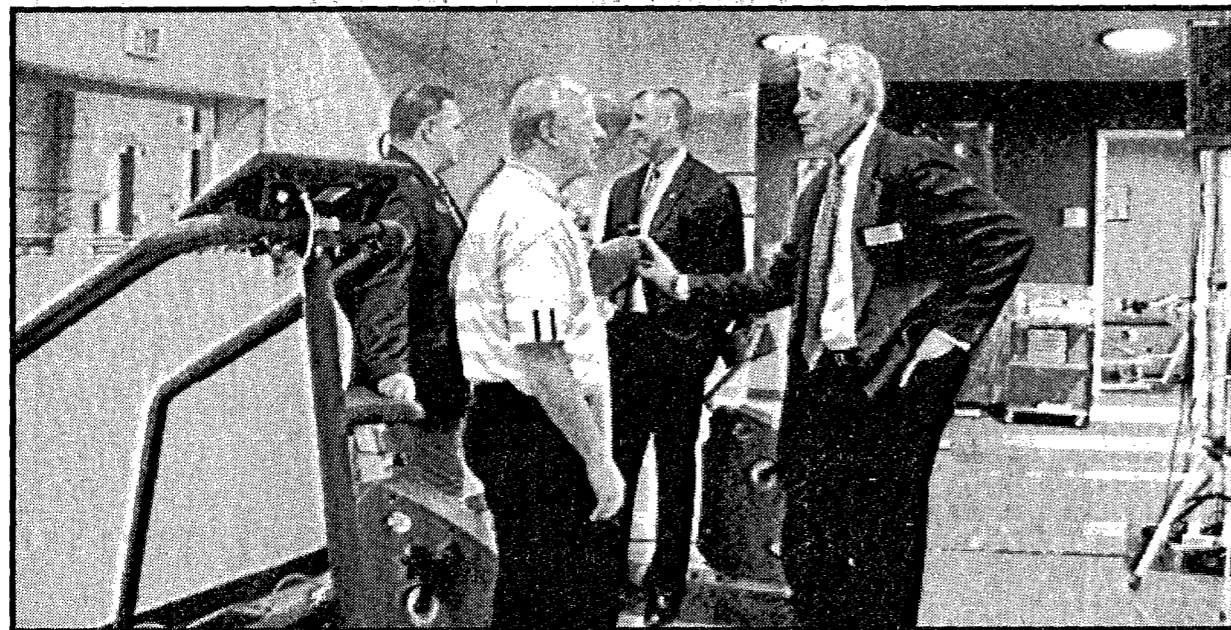

Providence Medical Center participants were Debby Gross, Michelle Ladely, Brittany Peters,

Sports Medicine Center dedicated

A dedication and open house for the Wildcat Sports Medicine Center at Wayne State College was held Friday, Dec. 9, followed by tours of the center.

During the dedication, special recognition was given Dr. Ralph Barclay, in whose honor the center is named. Barclay, a Wayne State professor and coach for 33 years before his retirement in 1998, "impacted the lives of Wayne State college athletes through his personal dedication to their success as their coach, professor and friend," said Dr. Richard J. Collings, Wayne State president.

Located on the upper level of the Wayne State Recreation Center, the Wildcat Sports Medicine Center is unique to the Midwest. It is a public/private partnership between STAR Physical Therapy owned by Regg Swanson of Franklin, Tenn., a 1975 Wayne State alumnus, and the college. STAR Physical Therapy has 50 outpatient clinics throughout Tennessee, Kentucky and Indiana.

Swanson, who set up the first athletic training facility at Wayne State in 1977 when he was head athletic trainer at the college, said the new facility has been a long-time dream. "This will enhance the care the college has been able to provide students," he said.

The Wildcat Sports Medicine Center has approximately 4,000 square feet of space compared to 750 in the previous one. It includes patient examination rooms, a gym area with a variety of state-of-the-art equipment, and a hydrotherapy area with access to the Carlson Natatorium which houses the college swimming pool.

Other goals are to assist the college in developing an athletic training curriculum and enhancing the pre-physical therapy program. "Finally, we want to help the college reach out into the community through the athletic training coverage to local and regional high schools by serving as a liaison between athletes, coaches, parents and physicians," said Swanson.

Andrea Blecke, a Wayne State alumna and a 2003 graduate of the University of Neb. Medical Center with a Doctor of Physical Therapy degree, is the director of the center. Blecke is also a certified athletic trainer. Other staff members include Greg Seier, WSC head athletic trainer; Mark Schoenfelder, MS, ATC; and Kristi Hinnerichs, MS, ATC plus three graduate assistants, all of whom are certified athletic trainers. ## Vehicles get attention at Super Wash in Wayne

Of the Herald

In 1994 Jack Middendorf, on the advice of his son-in-law, opened a car wash at 120 East Seventh Street. Eleven years later, that son-in-law and Jack's daughter, John and Jacque Kinnett, own and operate Wayne's Super Wash.

Super Wash car washes were started by Bob and Mary Black in Morrison, Ill. nearly 30 years ago. Since that time, nearly 700 car washes have been built in 21 states. Currently there are more than 350 self-service, brushless Super Wash locations nationwide.

The self-service car wash, which includes one automatic bay and two self-serve bays, is open 24 hours a day, weather permitting.

"We are unable to operate the automatic bay when the temperatures are below 18 degrees. At that point, the soap freezes on the vehicle, which is hard on the paint," Jacque said.

In addition to the car wash areas, Super Wash has available three vacuums, one of which is also capable of shampooing a vehicle's interior.

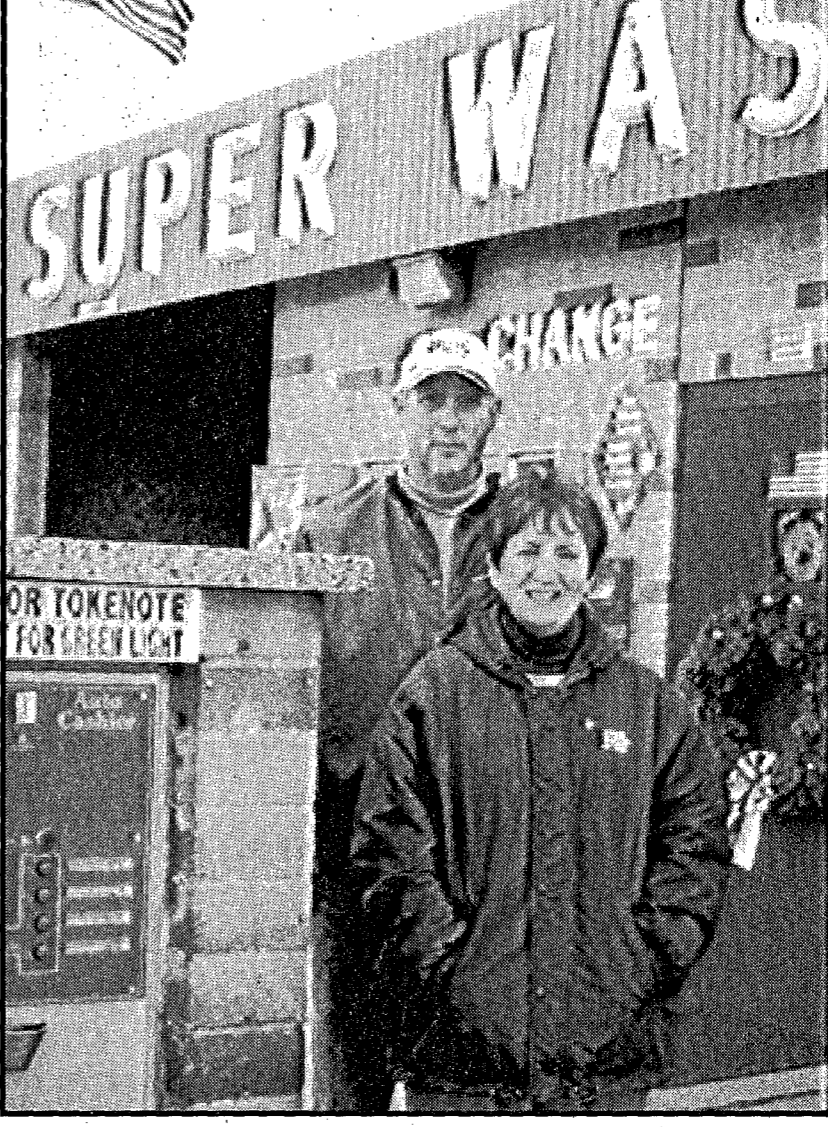

The Kinnetts are generally available at Super Wash to sell tokens, give change and keep the bays clean. Jacque noted car wash tokens are especially popular this time of year as gifts.

The Kinnetts noted that the keys to Super Wash's success are an underflush wash, a spot-free rinse and special soap.

"It is important to wash a vehicle at a car wash rather than at home. This prevents putting soap and chemicals down the drain and into the creek. Our water goes directly into the sewer and to the waste water treatment plant," John said.

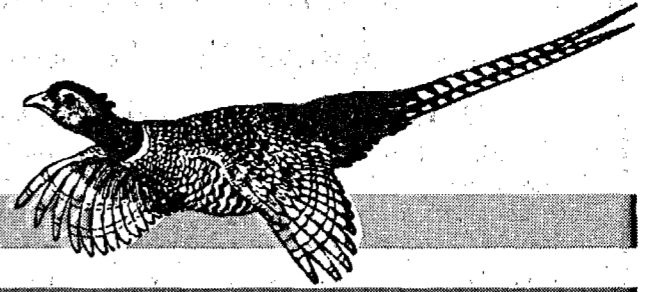

For more information on the Wayne Super Wash, call 375-1651.

Blue Devils drop their first games of the season

The Wayne High Blue Devils encountered their first loss of the young basketball season against a tough Columbus Lakeview team. WHS picked up a dominating victory against Hooper Logan View at home on Dec. 9, and fell to Schuyler in another home contest in a 57-54 heartbreaker on Dec. 13.

Wayne vs. Logan View

A pair of double-doubles, plus two other double-figures scoring performances helped pave the way for Wayne's second win of the season in a 64-51 home victory over Hooper Logan View on Dec. 9.

Ransen Broders and Nathan Summerfield posted identical double-doubles with 11 points and 10 rebounds each as Wayne opened with a 17-10 lead in the opening frame.

Wayne also held a five-point (15-10) scoring advantage in the second quarter before exploding with 17-4 run after intermission.

"I thought we came out and attacked Logan View and kept the pressure on," Wayne High coach Rocky Ruhl said. "We still want to improve our fourth quarter results, but we did a great job of running the floor and controlling the tempo."

Jesse Hill tallied 12 points to lead the Blue Devils, while Reggie Ruhl also sparked the team in scoring with 11 points.

The Blue Devils were strong inside as WHS held a 31-22 advantage on the boards, while Ruhl and Harm were each 2-of-2 at the charity stripe as Wayne was 11-of-16 on the night at the line.

The Blue Devils took the loss after Lakeview posted a 25-16 advantage in the fourth quarter.

"The game was very physical and I thought we responded well," coach Ruhl said. "We will need to work on time and situation concepts, although I was happy with the effort. I think we will improve and learn from the opportunities from the loss."

Broders and Reggie Ruhl lead the squad as each finished in double figures as Broders tallied 16 and Ruhl had 11.

Wayne held a 23-20 advantage in rebounds and the Blue Devils were 11-of-18 from the free throw line. Summerfield was Wayne's rebound leader with six.

Wayne vs. Schuyler

Even though it was the second consecutive loss, Ruhl said Tuesday night's 57-54 home loss to Class B Schuyler was a valuable learning experience for a team that started the season with limited varsity playing time.

"I was happy with our effort," Ruhl said. "The team fought hard throughout the game and never gave up. We experienced several game situations that we can learn from."

Wildcats move to 8-2 over the weekend

The Wayne State women's basketball team split a pair of home contests at Rice Auditorium last weekend to up their season record to 8-2.

On Friday evening, freshman Bridget Yoerger scored a game-high 25 points to lead South Dakota past Wayne State 77-70.

The visiting Coyotes held Wayne State to just 30.9 percent shooting in the game that, was close throughout in the first half as the teams exchanged leads, to go with seven ties, before Wayne State grabbed a 35-34 halftime lead.

USD jumped out quickly in the second half, using an early 8-2 run to take a five point lead at 42-37.

Wayne State battled back to grab a 50-49 lead at the 11:18 mark on a layup by Erin McCormick.

But it would be the last lead of the game for the Wildcats as WSC struggled to make shots down the stretch.

WSC got to within three at 69-66 with 2:39 remaining, but the visiting Coyotes canned six of seven free throws down the stretch to preserve the win.

Senior guard Nicole Gruntorad led Wayne State in scoring with 21 points and a team-high six assists.

Ashley Arndorfer came off the bench to add 18 while Kristen Humphries scored 12.

The leading rebounder for Wayne State was Erin McCormick with nine caroms.

USD shot 48 percent from the field on 26 of 54 while WSC hit just 30 percent from the floor on 21 of 68.

The Wildcats were strong defensively, holding the visiting Mustangs to just 10 points in the first half while jumping out to a 28-10 halftime advantage.

Wayne State played much of the second half with reserves as all 11 players for the Wildcats saw at least 12 minutes of playing time as WSC outscored 37-24 in the second half to pick up the 65-34 win.

Freshman reserve forward Jackie Knievel paced Wayne State with 10 points in the win.

WSC falls to No. 6 USD

Wildcats to host Morningside here Friday

Wayne State kept with striking distance of the nation's No. 6 team for almost 35 minutes last Friday.

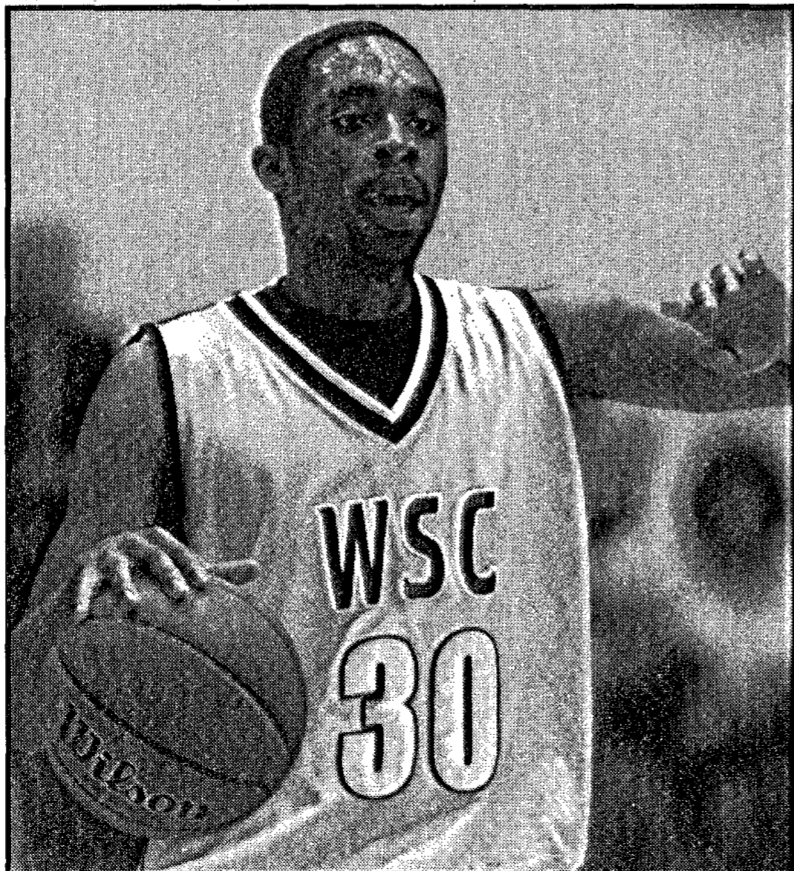

But things got tricky when South Dakota senior American Turner Troholz scored 16 of his game-high 21 points in the second half to lead the NCAA Division II sixth-ranked Coyotes to a 71-60 win college basketball win over Wayne State in home action last Friday night.

Both squads exchanged several leads in the first half until the Coyotes used a late first half run to take command of the game.

With WSC leading 23-21 at the 7:17 mark, USD went on a 14-2 run to end the half to grab a 35-25 halftime advantage.

WSC cut the lead down to four points, 39-35 with 15:01 left in the game, but that's as close as

Wayne High girls notch two road wins, now 3-0

So far, so good.

That's been the assessment of first-year Wayne High girls basketball coach as his team is currently undefeated after adding two impressive road wins this past week.

The team downed Schuyler on Dec. 9 and picked up a 53-27 victory on Dec. 13 at West Point-Beemer. The team will host Wisner-Pilger at home this Friday, Dec. 16, in a doubleheader and play its next game at home against Columbus Scotus on Tuesday, Dec. 20.

Wayne vs. Schuyler

Wayne passed its first road test of the season with flying colors as the Blue Devils defeated Schuyler 57-44 on Dec. 9.

WHS opened with a 14-9 lead in the first quarter and was able to mount numerous scoring threats as nine players contributed points in the game.

"I like that we are finding a way to score points," Coach Henderson said. "I thought our intensity was lacking a bit, however, we were able to overcome that."

Henderson credited Samantha Dunklau at providing the team with a spark in the second half and said that a pair of three-pointers at the end of the second and third quarters by Regan Ruhl also provide highlights on the evening.

Michelle Jarvi led the team with 14 points and seven rebounds, while Ruhl was also in double-figures with 12 points.

Wayne 14 12 14 17 - 57
Schuyler 9 8 15 12 - 44
Wayne scoring: Brooke Anderson 5, Jean Pieper 2, Regan Ruhl 12, Sara Frerichs 5, Michelle Jarvi 14, Samantha Dunklau 4, Alesha Finkey 2, Kayla Hochstein 8, Renee Theobald 5.

Wayne vs. West Point-Beemer

Forced turnovers gave the Blue Devils plenty of scoring opportunities as Wayne picked up a 53-37 win against West Point-Beemer in West Point on Tuesday, Dec. 13.

"We did a better job of executing off those forced turnovers," Henderson said. "If we start taking care of the ball a little better, we will be a pretty good basketball team."

Senior Kayla Hochstein led the team with several three-pointers and tallied 15 points on the evening, while Jarvi finished with 11 and Ruhl added nine.

"Kayla practiced a lot last summer and it really showed tonight," Henderson added.

Both were the game's rebound leaders, also, as Jarvi finished with eight grabs and Hochstein cleaned the glass for six.

Wayne finished 9-of-19 at the charity stripe, while West Point-Beemer was 17-of-35 at the line.

Wayne 19 13 12 9 - 53
West Point-Beemer 13 7 7 10 - 37
Wayne scoring: Brooke Anderson 2, Jean Pieper 2, Regan Ruhl 9, Sara Frerichs 5, Michelle Jarvi 11, Nicole Rauner 2, Alesha Finkey 4, Kayla Hochstein 15, Renee Theobald 2, Kara Hoeman 2.

Grades three and four collected donations for the Jump Rope For Heart event held recently at Wayne Elementary School.

Jump Rope For Heart was a success

During the month of November, students at Wayne Elementary jumped all over heart disease and stroke by participating in Jump Rope For Heart. The students raised more than $2,700 for the American Heart Association.

Donations raised for Jump Rope For Heart help fund research, fight heart disease and stroke and support the American Heart Association's public and professional education programs. Heart disease is the No. 1 killer in America and stroke is #3.

"This year's event was a huge success," said Rob Sweetland, physical educator and coordinator of Jump Rope For Heart at Wayne Elementary. "I am very proud of those who chose to volunteer their time to find sponsors for this event." Josh Stenka was the highest collector, handing in a total of $255, while Paige Wacker tallied $205 for the event. The students built routines during the past three weeks and performed them for classmates at the end of the unit.

Involved in a check presentation of proceeds from the Kevin J. Murray Memorial Fishing Tournament were, left to right, Murray's sister-in-law, Linda Murray, Ken Dahl, secretary of the Wayne Public Schools Foundation and Dennis Murray, Kevin's brother. Sherry Murray was unable to be in Wayne for the presentation.

Scholarships established at Wayne High School

Sherry Murray of Omaha recently presented a check for $8,000 to the Wayne Public Schools Foundation.

The money represents the proceeds from a fishing tournament held earlier this fall in memory of her husband, Kevin J. Murray. Murray is the son of Harold and Earlyne Murray of Wayne.

The Kevin J. Murray Memorial Fishing Tournament was held at Lewis and Clark Lake to honor Murray who drowned Oct. 7, 2005 while fishing.

The money donated will be used to establish two $500 scholarships for Wayne High school seniors. One of the scholarships will be awarded to a student planning to attend a four-year college or university in a construction-related field. The second scholarship will be presented to a student planning to attend a two-year vocational/ technical school.

Mrs. Murray noted that the scholarship applications are available at the high school guidance counselor's office.

In addition, a $100 award will be presented annually to a student who shows leadership in the technology department at the school. This award is teacher nominated and will be presented during the annual Awards Night held at the school.

Both Kevin J. and Sherry Murray are graduates of Wayne High School.

Mrs. Murray said she hopes to make the fishing tournament an annual event.

Art Gallery gives call for entries in exhibit and competition

The Columbus Art Gallery is again extending an invitation to artists to participate in their annual Ernestine Quick Memorial Exhibit and Competition. This competition is made possible by Robert Quick, who generously gave a memorial to the Columbus Art Gallery in honor of his late wife, Ernestine.

Quick was the Columbus Art Gallery's first gallery preparator in 1983. From that point on, until he left Columbus in 1987, Quick was entirely responsible for the arranging, hanging and lighting of all shows.

The Ernestine Quick Memorial Exhibit & Competition will run Thursday, Jan. 5 through Saturday, Jan. 28. Prizes of $400, $200, $100, honorable mention and people's choice are awarded.

If you are an artist in the region, and are interested in submitting artwork, please contact the Columbus Art Gallery at 563-1016 or e-mail gallery@megavision.com for more information. Deadline for entries is Dec. 30 at 3 p.m.

The Columbus Area Arts Council is dedicated to identifying, developing, educating and promoting the arts as experiences central to the life of the Columbus community. The office is located in the Columbus Art Gallery, lower level of the Columbus Library. Gallery hours are Monday thru Thursday, noon to 5 p.m., Friday noon to 4:30 p.m., and Saturday; 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.

The sixth annual President's Holiday Gala Concert was held in the Ramsey Theatre on the Wayne State College campus, followed by a dessert reception hosted by WSC president, Dr. Richard J. Collings.

Local Thrivent Financial for Lutherans chapter presents Veterans organizations with donation

The Wayne-Dixon County Chapter of Thrivent Financial for Lutherans presented the Wayne Veterans organizations with a check for $1600 at their recent meeting. The money given is from the chapters Care in Communities Hands on Activity funds and will be used to assist in the expenses for the support of the troops of the 189th, currently serving overseas. Ken Thomsen and Art Greve, president and vice-president of the Thrivent chapter recognized and complimented the veterans for the work they are doing to support the troops. "We are pleased to be able to help in this way," Thomsen said as he and Greve explained the funds that they would be receiving.

Through its fraternal chapter system, Thrivent Financial provides resources that members can use to make the most of their volunteer opportunities to help others. The program called Care Abounds in Communities provides funding to members who form community service teams to conduct fund-raising activities and hands-on service activities to help individuals, families and/or qualified not-for-profit organizations.

In 2005, the Wayne-Dixon County Chapter supplemented funds in the amount of $14,537 to different benefits, fund raisers, and hands-on service activities in the area. Through the sponsored activities and benefits over $82,000 was raised this past year. Communities represented by this chapter include Hoskins, Winside, Carroll, Wayne, Altona, and Wakefield.

Chapter officers for 2006 are Art Greve, Gerald Muller, Sondra Mattes, Sue Olson, Karen Mangels, Kathleen Johs, Kathy Johnson and Lynne Allemann.

Nebraskans in first place in physical activity gains

Nebraskans are in first place in a recent Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) report announcing state gains in adult physical activity levels. The Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report, Dec. 2 states that "Nebraska had the largest percentage-point increase in the prevalence of recommended level of physical activity."

Nebraska's 10.3 percent increase occurred from 2001 - 2003 and is based on data collected through the Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance Survey (BRFSS). The BRFSS is a population-based, random-digit-dialed telephone survey completed by the states.

In 2001 the Nebraska survey showed that 34.2 percent of respondents age 18 and older engaged in a level of activity consistent with physical activity recommendations. In 2003 that percentage rose to 44.5 percent, representing a 10.3 percent increase. This was the highest of all states.

"Nebraskans can be very proud of this achievement," said Dr.

Joann Schaefer, Chief Medical Officer with the Nebraska Health and Human Services System (HHSS). "Being number one among the 50 states, in the increase in the number of adults who get adequate physical activity, shows that Nebraskans now care more about their health. It also shows that the educational efforts of HHSS are paying dividends."

According to current guidelines for adult physical activity, at a minimum adults need to accumulate 30 minutes of moderate physical activity per day. Exercising 60 minutes per day will prevent weight gain and exercising 60-90 minutes per day will maintain weight loss.

A key point is that no matter what activity is used, it can be accomplished all at once, divided into two or three parts, or even done in 10-minute segments during the day. "The cumulative total is what adults need to strive for," Schaefer said. "Healthy activities include brisk walks, taking the stairs, gardening and even shoveling snow."

Clubs entertain

A number of area clubs have been having their Christmas parties at the Wayne Senior Center. Offering this service helps the Senior Center increase its participation levels. There is a charge for the meal. Anyone with questions can call Tracy Keating at 402-375-1460. Clubs shown in the photographs are, top to bottom, the Roving Gardeners, Pleasant Dell Club, and a bridge group.

Party held for family of 189th T.C.

A Christmas party for the family of members of the 189th T.C. was held Saturday at the Armory in Wayne. Entertainment was provided by the Northeast Singers from Northeast Community College. Decorations included Christmas trees from businesses and organizations. Groups that donated food and helped with the event were the Norfolk VFW, Wayne AmVets, Red Cross, and various other community churches and organizations. Many soldiers had written and emailed messages that were read to the families. A soldier's wife commented that the unit is still getting more mail than any of the other troops and that they love mail and goodies and that everyone is in good spirits. Above, family members of the 189th T.C. filled the Wayne Armory for the holiday gathering. Below, Santa was on hand to visit the children. The child in the foreground is Parker Wren, son of Kari and SSG Jon Wren.

Use ATMs safely during the holiday season

New Arrivals

ATMs have become a convenient way to access cash in our bank accounts. ATMs are available in every community and have become an everyday way of life. Although they are handy, we encourage you to take precautions to protect your transactions, accounts and identity.

According to the Bank Administration Institute, the most dangerous hours for ATM crime are from 7 p.m. until midnight. Approximately 40 percent of the ATM-related crimes occur during these hours.

The following are ATM safety memorize your PIN. Do not write it on the card, or carry it in your wallet or purse.

- Select a PIN that is different from all other numbers noted in your wallet or purse, such as your address, date of birth, telephone number or Social Security number and change your number periodically for insured security.

- Never accept offers of assistance with the ATM from strangers. If you are having trouble, contact your financial institution.

- When your ATM transaction is complete, immediately take your property - card, receipt, money etc. - and put them in your pocket, wallet or purse and leave immediately.

- Never stand around and count your money. You can do that when you get to the safety of your locked car.

- If your transaction is not correct you cannot discuss it with the machine. Call the financial institution as soon as possible.

Enjoy the holiday season while being safe and protecting your identity during the holiday season. Source: Deb Schroeder, Extension Educator, University of Nebraska - Lincoln Extension.

and security tips:

- Keep the vehicle running and watch all other vehicles around you.

- If you get out of your vehicle, lock all the doors after you exit. Keep your keys handy so you can re-enter the vehicle quickly.

- When approaching the ATM, be alert for anything suspicious, especially two or more people in a nearby vehicle, particularly if no one else is at the ATM.

- Never approach an ATM if the lights at the site are not working. Avoid using ATMs with obscuring bushes around them, especially at night.

- Particularly after dark, take a companion along to the ATM and park close to the ATM in a well lighted area.

Using the ATM:

- When waiting in line to use the ATM, wait well behind the person ahead and do not approach the ATM until they have completed their transaction.

- When using the ATM and someone is closer than you would like them to be, politely ask them to move back a few steps. If they do not move, cancel your transaction and wait in your locked vehicle or other safe location until that person leaves or go to another ATM.

- Before you approach the ATM, have your card ready and know your code.

- Protect your Personal Identification Number (PIN).

HOSKINS GARDEN CLUB

Hoskins Garden Club met on Dec. 8 at the Fenske home for a no-host dinner. Christine Lueker read the poem for December entitled, "The Magic of Christmas." Roll call was answered by seven members bringing or telling about a special Christmas ornament they have.

The minutes and treasurer's report was given and approved.

Everyone brought something for entertainment. Lueker had "The Story of the Candy Cane," which was read by Marilyn Hill. Shirley Mann quoted some items gleaned from the Internet and had a written Christmas word game. Hildegarda Fenske had an oral Christmas item game and read, "A Christmas Prayer." Esther Rechtermann read the article, "This Church Glows Like the Northern Lights." Lorraine Wesely read "The Real Twelve Days of Christmas." Shirley Mann concluded the entertainment with the poem, "Right Where You Are."

Everyone brought non-perishable foods which will be delivered to the Food Pantry in Norfolk. After entertainment, the ladies had coffee and the cookies and candy that each brought.

The next meeting will be in April 2006 when the "snowbirds" in the group have returned. The Watchword for December was: "The smallest deed is better than the grandest intention."

Protecting your identity important to all

SheDevil Dance Team wins

There is a lot of talk out there about identity theft and we leave ourselves open all the time with social security numbers freely given and our credit card numbers printed on receipts (a personal pet peeve of mine).

Identity protection is important not only for people but ever increasingly for crops. As biotech crops with special traits become available for producers to grow, the more the industry will care about identity preservation of those crops. We learned a lesson with Starlink corn about how we handle grain and the difficulty of identity preservation.

New innovations in biotech such as soybeans that produce omega 3 oils, and soybeans that yield more and better bio-diesel, as well as crops which producer medications, will need to be separated from grain going to the traditional markets.

According to Bill Wilcke, Extension Engineer for University of Minnesota, it has already begun and will continue to grow that some grain customers will pay premiums for grains that have such special characteristics. While other customers will be unwilling to accept grain that has certain characteristics (GMO's, etc.). The ability to separate one field from another and prove that separation was maintained can be a challenging task.

There are many obstacles involved in preserving the identity of a crop. Develop and instill the proper attitude in yourself and anyone who would be in the field about the importance of keeping this crop separated and that customer satisfaction and the premium is at stake. Study and understand the contract and what is involved in the identity preservation program for yourself as well as for any others who would handle the grain. Develop a plan and follow through with it from planting, to harvest and delivery.

Separate locations for growing and storage of special crops. This will limit the mixing and contamination of the higher value crops. Keep detailed records of field locations, grain bins, vehicles that haul grain, and names of grain handlers. These records will help you prove that identity preservation has been maintained.

Clean equipment between crops. Contamination of special crops with conventional crops could lead to loss of premium as well as contamination of conventional crop with special crops could lead to not being able to sell the crop on the traditional market. Make sure that custom operations are done by people that understand the importance of identity preservation and how to keep within the boundaries of the contract.

Identity preserved crops are an expanding opportunity to get premiums and increase the profit per acre for growing a crop. Challenges in Nebraska may be to find the markets for the crops. In many cases the crops are grown close to the processing plant. There are contract being handed out now in other states for low linolenic soybean by Pioneer and Bunge. Preserving the identity of your crops could bring some additional options for producers looking for a challenge that could pay with higher premiums.

Poem expresses Christmas rush

Hello Heaven, I need to speak to the Christmas angel, the one in charge of Jesus' birth.

We need to put off Christmas 'cause I'm not ready here on earth. You see, it's been a busy year, far too much I've had to do.

A few more days and I'll be ready, hope this won't inconvenience you. I'm not finished with my shopping, had to shove and push and pinch.

That little ole lady ahead of me just would not give an inch.

Wal Mart didn't have my Kelly's gift, things went bad from the start.

When I wasn't looking, they stole Rudolph from my cart.

No time to waste, I'm far behind, I'll try not to be miffed.

Don't really care if they all exchange this year's Christmas gift.

They're ringing that bell and I've run out of dimes and now it's starting to snow.

My feet hurt, I'm hungry, stupid car will not start and insurance won't pay for a tow.

Isn't Christmas something and they say it should be fun.

So if you'll put it off a bit, I can manage to get done.

I've baked dozens of cookies, made rolls, and baked bread.

Need to get those dust bunnies living under the bed. Can't stop now, must wash windows and vacuum the rugs. My Robin Hood flour has those little black bugs.

Was that my Suzy I promised to call or was that a message left over from fall? My memory's slipping, sometimes it just goes, and my glasses must set at the end of my nose. I need them to read all the notes I must write, and find the right switches that turn on the light. I've gained some weight, it's all in the middle, if my feet wouldn't hurt, I'd be fit as a fiddle. If only I could, somehow, learn how to slow down or maybe I should just move into town.

Christmas is coming, they say it's so fun. I need only a few more days to get done.

Son Ron came home, washed his car yesterday, no time to talk so he went on his way.

Erv fondly remembers a someone called wife, who used to be home and mangle his life.

Visions of a fire and a real home cooked meal, clean socks and underwear thrown into the deal.

The note said she's in a hurry, a sale at the mall, and Christmas is coming in no time at all.

The family went to the hot tub, said I should come too, didn't fill it with water, there's so much to do!

Hello, Mary, this the Christmas angel, the one in charge of Jesus' birth.

I can hear you're far too busy to celebrate anything down on earth.

Christmas day will come and go, It will have your special touch.

Christmas time just ought to be the birthday of God's son.

Not trees and gifts, and pecan pie and work that's left undone.

Your world sure would be different if everyone slowed down and spent the day, loving God by serving others, spending Christmas "Jesus' way"!

Farm Bureau members attend state convention

Donald Liedman of Carroll, Greg Villwok of Randolph and Adam Jech of Wayne were Wayne County Farm Bureau's delegates to the 2005 Nebraska Farm Bureau Convention held Dec. 4-7 in Kearney.

Other county members attending the convention were Dorrine Liedman, Malinda Villwok and Clark Kinnison, Regional Director.

Nebraska Gov. Dave addressed the convention Dec. 5 and discussed details of his tax relief plan released earlier in the day.

The property tax component would provide $174 million in state aid to schools, which would enable the current $1.05 levy limit to be lowered to $1 two years earlier than state statutes provide. This change would bring immediate relief for farmers, ranchers and senior citizens, he said, by providing a $125 reduction over a three-year period for every $100,000 of assessed valuation.

U.S. Rep. Tom Osborne said Dec. 6 that the 2007 Farm Bill would likely be "greener" than previous versions and will likely contain large increases for conservation programs such as the Conservation Security Program now being tested in selected watersheds. CSP provides incentives for conservation practices and Osborne urged the farmers present to begin implementing such practices now if they had been considering them. "You don't have to wait to do them to be compensated," he said.

Nebraska Farm Bureau President Keith Olsen said in his annual address that the success of agriculture in Nebraska rests largely on three interrelated components: profitable farms, profitable ethanol facilities and profitable livestock operations.

"The challenge we face in livestock is the ability to have a profitable family-size operation that can meet all the local, state and federal laws and regulations," he said.

Farm Bureau and five other ag organizations formed the Alliance for the future of Agriculture in Nebraska (A-FAN) in October, he said, which will work with individual livestock producers to help them grow their operations by working cooperatively with their local community.

During their business sessions, the Farm Bureau delegates voted to support state and local funding mechanisms to help provide dollars for water conservation programs in the areas of the state where basins are currently determined to be over-appropriated. They also adopted resolutions to support state legislation to prohibit the use of eminent domain solely for economic development purposes, in response to the recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling in the "Kelo" case.

The delegates offered their strong support for Nebraska's ethanol industry by adopting policy to maintain funding for ethanol plants that qualify under the Ethanol Production Incentive Fund. They also opposed legislation to dissolve Class I school districts and supported a ballot effort to increase state senators' salaries.
