Reorganization of Wayne County Board of Commissioners held

By Lynn Sievers Of the Herald

Wayne County Board of Commissioners met in regular session on Tuesday. Reorganization of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners was held: Robert Nissen replaces Kelvin Wurdeman as Chairman of the Board; Wurdeman replaces Myron Miller as Chairman of Board of Equalization; and Miller is vice chairman of Board of Commissioners and Board of Equalization.

Commissioners adopted a resolution to appoint Christopher J. Connolly and Amy Wiebelhaus as Deputy Wayne County Attorneys, They also adopted a resolution to appoint James A. Lindau as Coroner's Physician for Wayne County.

Also approved was the entire Wavne County Board of Commissioners to investigate and act on claims, and also to set wage scale for the road department. The board decided to increase each full time road man to $12.60 hourly wage (which is an increase of 24 cents), plus insurance. They increased part time help to $10 an hour with no insurance. The amount for the raise in wages is already in the budget. Board members were appointed to the following committees: Area Agency on Aging: Nissen, three year term, alternate: Wurdeman; Enhanced 911: Wurdeman, one year; Northeast NE Juvenile Services, Inc.: Wurdeman, alternate, Miller; Northeast Nebraska Public Health Dept., Miller, three year term; Northeast NE RC&D, Miller, three year term; Region IV Mental Health, Miller, alternate, Nissen; NorthStar Services, Wurdeman, alternate, Miller; Wayne County Safety Committee, Nissen.

Present at the meeting was Lee Swinney of Greenwood Cemetery, who informed the R board that they have had to raise rates for opening and closing grave sites to $450. Swinney asked the commissioners to pay adjustments, the single-piece rate for First-Class mail will increase from 37 cents to 39 cents, and the post card rate will increase by one cent to 24 cents.

The price change, the first since 2002, isn't driven by Postal Service losses - it's the law. A law passed in 2003 requires the Postal Service to establish a $3.1 billion escrow account, with use of the funds to be determined by Congress at a later date. Without this federal mandate, it would not be necessary to raise rates in 2006,

A new 39 cent stamp and two cent stamps are on sale now. The 39 cent nondenominated First-Class definitive stamp features the Statue of Liberty and the American flag. The two cent stamp features a Navajo silver and turquoise necklace.

In addition to 37,000 postal locations nationwide, customers can purchase the 39 cent and two cent stamps, and any other stamps online at USPS.com or by calling 1-800-STAMP-24 (1-800-782-6724). Orders are typically delivered within three business days.

International rates, which are determined separately from domestic prices, will also change on Jan. 8 for the first time since 2001. The international increase averages 5.9 percent. The price of one ounce airmail letter to Canada and Mexico will increase three cents to 63 cents, to all other countries the increase will be four cents to 84 cents. The cost of an aerogramme will increase five cents to 75 cents. For more information on international or domestic rates visit USPS.com.

When adjusted for inflation the price of a First-Class stamp is the same today as it was in 1971 when the Postal Service was created. The postal Service has not received tax payer dollars for operations since 1982. and the second ture. This episode of "Statewide," NET Television's weekly news magazine, airs Friday, Jan. 20, at 7:30 p.m. CT, and Sunday, Jan. 22, at noon CT on NET1.

Tobias brings perspective to the Farm Bill discussion with comments from Nebraska farmers and farm group leaders who met last fall for Farm Bill Listening. Sessions in Grand Island, Gering and Norfolk. He also interviews U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Mike Johanns, Nebraska Ag Secretary Greg Ibach and members of Nebraska's Congressional delegation. Farm Bill expert and University of Nebraska at Lincoln (UNL) agricultural economist Brad Lubben offers his thoughts on the legislation as well.

This edition of "Statewide" also includes details of a proposal by a group called WaterClaim that would transfer water into the Republican River in order to meet the requirements of an agreement made between Nebraska and Kansas. A certain amount of water is supposed to flow through the Republican River into Kansas, but recent flows fall far short of the requirement.

"WaterClaim proposes a short term solution of diverting water for hearing-impaired viewers.

Republican Rivers. It's a very unconventional idea." Penner interviews Steve Smith, director of WaterClaim and University of Nebraska hydrologist Jim Goeke to hear their thoughts on whether this approach might solve the dilemma.

Later in the broadcast, reporter Perry Stoner tells the story of a camp for kids adopted from foreign lands. Like any camp, the Holt Heritage Camp is all about fun and making friends, but this camp is for kids who look much different than most members of their family. Each year, young people from across the United States come to Camp Calvin Crest near Fremont, to be with kids who, like them, were born in other countries. The youngsters share daily challenges and learn more about the native culture of their birth countries. Reporter Annie Mumgaard continues her series on the State Capitol building by looking for answers to the question, "What is government good for?" She reports that answers are found in the artwork that soars overhead in the Governor's Reception Room and the interior office.

Supporters of term limits for state senators received an early Christmas present from the state Supreme Court.

Those challenging the constitutionality of term limits had asked the high court to speed consideration of the lawsuit by foregoing proceedings in district court.

The Supreme Court denied that request. The lawsuit must take the long road to the state's highest court.

The next question: Can the litigation move through the courts in time to have any impact on the 2006 Unicameral elections?

The Main Street Four Point Approach[©] refers to the use of the four required Main Street Committees listed in an earlier paragraph. Let's take a look at each of these committees.

The Promotion Committee may have been the most visible committee in its role to sell a positive image of the commercial district and to encourage consumers and investors to live, work, shop, play and invest in the Main Street district. The Promotion Committee has attempted to create a positive image of the downtown area through advertising, retail promotional activity, special events and marketing campaigns carried out by its volunteer members.

Program successful Dear Editor,

Many thanks were expressed by the families who received gifts from the generous individuals, groups, organizations, families and businesses of the Wayne community and surrounding area.

On behalf of those families participating in the Gifts for Kids program, I would like to thank all who truly helped make Christmas great for so many area children.

Goal is surpassed Dear Editor,

As of Dec. 31, 2005, the Roy Reed Unit No. 252, American Legion Auxiliary, Winside, officially reached 101.449 percent of goal with 70 members. Congratulations for a job well done. This Unit is doing what is expected - obtaining renewals and inviting new members into the Unit.

Local American Legion Auxiliary Units are all volunteer members who give hundreds if not thousands of hours to the community, children and youth, veterans in their homes,

State and more on the local level. The Unit is indeed a very visible and viable entity to the local community. They assist other organizations as well as their own by lending support in any way they are able.

Thank you to the local Editor and Staff for allowing this opportunity to publicly recognize Unit 252. Local contacts would be President Pat Miller, Vice President Marilyn Morse, Secretary Kathy Jensen Treasurer/ Membership and Chairman Greta Grubbs.

So indeed becoming a member of the American Legion Auxiliary brings members into all avenues of the community. They are willing to assist when and wherever possible. Why not give the members of Unit 252 - Winside the opportunity to assist and see that truly "Community in small towns builds Hometowns."

Beverly Neel, Winside

Proud of Jaycees

Dear Editor and Readers, In the October Morning Shopper was an ad by the Wayne Jaycees offering to do a room makeover. (I watch Home Makeover on TV and thought, 'wouldn't it be great to be selected'.

We didn't go to Disney World or some island resort like the folks on TV do, but we did leave. The original plan was to go to Wakefield for Waldbaum's anniversary and view the hot air balloons, but it was so cold, dreary and wet we stayed in Wayne with relatives.

I'm writing this letter to thank the group that did all the work and planning for this project. What a great group of young people, our Wayne Junior Chamber of Commerce are!!!

They certainly did a wonderful make over on the living and dining room of our house and made an old couple very pleased and happy!

We just had new carpet installed by a local merchant and she was so helpful to us too - along with the young man who did the installing. I could go on and on how very considerate these young people were.

I didn't mention names because I didn't want to miss anyone.

But Thank You one and all. And thanks to the Morning Shopper ad and Wayne Herald to let us publically acknowledge the local Wayne Jaycees.

Also present to speak to the board was Officer Brad Boyum of the Cuming County Sheriff office. He told the board his county plans on doing a jail study so he is asking counties if they are interested in going in on the study. He noted there are quite a few counties that don't have their own jails so prisoners must be transferred to other facilities.

The commissioners discussed the request and decided that since Wayne County is in the process of having a study done they are not interested in being involved in another study at this time.

the school sign,

The Wayne Coat Closet, located in the basement of First Presbyterian Church in Wayne has released statistics regarding its use in 2005.

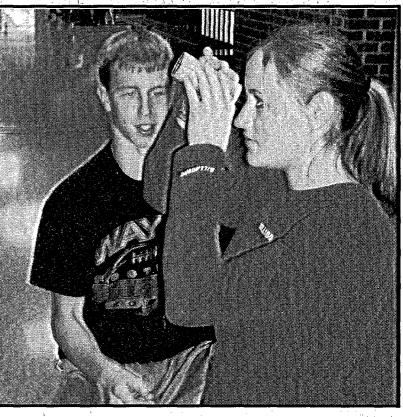

During the past year, 637 coats were distributed to those in need. Of that number, nearly 40 were given out in one day late in December.

In addition to the coats, a large number of gloves, mittens, stocking caps and hats were given out. Many of these were hand-knitted by people from the Wayne and surrounding area. Since the Coat Closet was started more than 10 years ago, nearly 5,000 coats have found their way to those who did not have a coat adequate for the weather.

Those in charge of collecting, sorting and distributing the coats have expressed their appreciation for the community's continued support of the program with their donations of coats and other cold weather gear. Coats continue to be needed at the Coat Closet, especially those for younger children.

For more information, contact the First Presbyterian Church office at 375-2669 between 8:30 and 11:30 a.m. Monday through Friday or stop at the church at Third and Lincoln Streets.

WISNER - The Wayne JV wrestling team earned five medals at Monday's Wisner-Pilger JV Invitational. Wrestlers who placed second were Nick Klassen and Adam Reinert. Third-place finishers for the Blue Devils were John Murray, Nate Hanson and Brett Dorcey.

WSC baseball camp planned

WAYNE - The Wayne State College baseball program will be conducting two baseball camps during the month of January. A total skills camp will be held on Sunday, Jan. 15, with a hitting and pitching intensity camp scheduled for Sunday, Jan. 29. Both camps will take place in the WSC Recreation Center.

The entire Wayne State coaching staff and the Wildcat baseball team will instruct the two camps. One of the many great qualities of the WSC baseball camps is the one-on-one instruction all of the campers receive from the Wildcats staff of instructors.

The camps will run from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. each day with registration beginning at 8:15 a.m. in the Rec Center lobby. Campers are asked to bring their glove, bat and gym shoes.

Wildcats edged at St. Cloud

Zac Campbell made one of two free throws with three seconds remaining to give St. Cloud State a come-from-behind 78-77 basketball win over Wayne State on Dec. 2, to drop the Wildcats to 2-6 on the season.

WSC lost the game despite a career-best shooting performance from sophomore guard Bryce Caldwell, who poured in 10 threepointers and scored a career-high 32 points to lead the Wildcats.

Caldwell was 10 of 13 overall from the field and 10 of 12 from the three point line. He was also 2 of 2 at the foul stripe.

The game was close throughout as SCSU took a 38-35 lead at halftime. Wayne State built a 10 point lead midway through the second half, leading 69-59 with 7:34 left in the game.

However, the host Huskies used a 15-2 run to get back in the game and take a 74-71 lead with 2:09 remaining following two made free throws by sophomore guard David Dreas.

WSC tied the game at 74-74 with :51 left on a Dallas Hodges threepointer. SCSU connected on a three-pointer with :21 left to put the Huskies back in front 77-74.

WSC responded on a Bryce Caldwell three pointer with :09 left to knot the score at 77-77. But St. Cloud State drove the length of the court and Zac Campbell was fouled with three seconds left, making one of two free throws to give the Huskies a 78-77 lead.

WSC's Dallas Hodges put up a desperation three pointer from half court as time expired, bouncing off the front of the rim to end the game with St. Cloud State winning 78-77.

Besides Caldwell's 32 points, WSC had three others in double figures as Tom Sherlock scored 13 points and Dallas Hodges and Dusty Smith pouring in 10 apiece.

WSC shot 41.4 percent from the field on 24 of 58 shots, including 15" of 27 from the three point line for 55.6 percent. The Wildcars were 14 of 22 from the free throw line. WSC's top rebounder was Matt Rathie with seven.

State Wayne College outscored College of St. Mary 43-29 in the second half to defeat the Flames 72-53 in Wayne Monday evening at Rice Auditorium.

The win improved the Wildcats to 10-2 on the season."

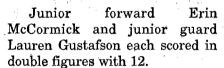

Wayne State opened the game on a 13-2 run to take an early lead as senior center Kristin Humphries scored seven of her nine points in the first five minutes of the game. St. Mary responded well and closed the gap to 23-20 with 3:06 left in the first half.

The Wildcats answered with a three point basket by senior guard Ashley Arndorfer, who led WSC in scoring with 13 points.

WSC took a 29-24 lead into the lockerroom, After only shooting 43.5 percent from the field in the first half, the Wildcats shot lights out in the second half going 18-29 (62.1 percent) from the field.

The Wildcats ended the game on a 19-7 run to pull away with 72-53 victory.

Gustafson also had six assists and shot 4 of 7 from behind the arc. McCormick led the team with six rebounds.

WSC shot 53.8 percent from the field (28-52), 9 -of-22 on three pointers (40.9 percent) and struggled from the charity stripe going only 7-for-14. The Wildcats were outrebounded in the contest 33-30. College of St. Mary had 20 turnovers compared to 12 for WSC.

Food pantry thankful for donations The Wayne Food Pantry, located at First Presbyterian Church in Wayne, has expressed its appreciation for the community's generous response in recent weeks to a number of food drives.

The Food Pantry currently has an adequate supply of most food items, but is in need of paper products such as facial tissue, bath tissue and paper towels. Also in demand are hand soap, laundry detergent, shampoo, toothpaste and toothbrushes. Also popular are meals in a can, such as chicken and dumplings, stews, spaghetti and meatballs, ravioli and other pasta meals.

In recent weeks, members of the Food Pantry Board packed up 26 boxes of food and other items which were delivered to area residents in need.

Anyone wishing to donate these or other items to the Food Pantry, may do so by dropping a donation off at First Presbyterian Church, 216 West Third Street between 8:30 and 11:30 a.m. weekdays or arrangements may be made by calling 375-2669.

Pierce Telephone Company celebrates anniversary

This year the Pierce Telephone

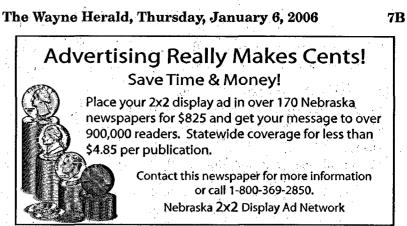

In December of 1955, Pierce Telephone Company was purchased by William W. and Dorothy Fogle and continues to be owned and operated by the Fogle family. What started with lead cable of World War I vintage in town and magneto type with the earth as the conductor and lots of induction noise from power lines in the country has developed into a state-of-

In 1960 new party line cable in the Pierce exchange was buried and in 1963 the Hoskins exchange was purchased. In 1975 all lines were upgraded to private lines with 100 percent buried plant. In 1992 digital switches were installed in the Pierce and Hoskins offices. Since 1992 and continuing today, many miles of fiber optic cable have been buried. With the introduction of digital equipment, came the availability of a host of new calling features. Dial-up Internet was offered in May of 1995 and continues today, along with Digital Subscriber Line (DSL) High-speed Internet service which was extended into the country in July of 2003.

Personal medication records valuable to everyone

It's that time of year again. Time to take stock of our lives, set some new goals and make those often abandoned New Year's Resolutions.

The end of one year and the beginning of the next represents an opportunity for people to assess their overall health, and to identify one, two or three things that they are going to commit to doing in an effort to live longer and feel better. "One of our New Year's Resolutions at Providence Medical Center is to help educate the community on how to manage their medications. Keeping records of all the medications you take is an important part of managing your medication," said Melissa Ehlers, pharmacist registered at Providence Medical Center.

"You should have a personal medication record that you can carry with you at all times, so you have easy access to it when you see your physician or pharmacist or in case of an emergency," Ehlers added.

Providence Medical Center would like to give area residents a free personal medication record that can be carried in a wallet. The staff encourages everyone to stop at the PMC Business office during regular business hours to pick one Why do you need a personal med-

What is a personal medication record?

A personal medication record is a list of the medications you are currently taking, including prescription medications, over-the-counter medications, vitamins and herbal products.

The following information for each of these medications is also included:

1. The name of the medication and prescribing physician;

2. Purpose/reason for the medication;

3. Strength; 4. Frequency or how often you take each medication; 5. How you take each medication; 6. The date when the medication was started; 7. How the medication is working.

It also contains the following information which tells who you are and who to contact: 1. Drug and food allergies;

2. Medial conditions; 3. Patient's and caregiver's name and telephone number; 4. Primary care physician's and primary pharmacy's name and telephone number.

1. Safety and effectiveness a. good prescribing requires good medication records.

b. Medication duplication. Your medication record helps the pharmacist and physician make sure that you are not taking two forms of the same medication.

c. Know your allergies. By listing any allergies that the patient has to drugs, the pharmacist and physician can make sure that you do not accidentally receive a drug that might harm you instead of helping you.

d. Herbal supplements and overthe-counter medications can cause problems as well. Even though herbal supplements and over-thecounter medications are available without prescription, they can have interaction with your prescription medications or disease states.

2. Access

a. In case of emergency, having a complete and accurate medication record can serve as a tool for the emergency medical staff to know who you are, who to contact, your medical conditions, what medications you take and what medications you are allergic to and allows them to give you proper care and ensures safety as well.

b. If you are traveling out of your city and need to visit a health care provider who doesn't know you, the medication record form will help the provider know your medications quickly.

c. When you are separated from your prescription bottles and cannot remember the name or dose of your medication. Tips for managing your medications

1. Make sure you know the name and dose of all your medications, the reason for your medications and what they look like.

2. Always read the label and follow instructions before taking any medication.

3. Take all tablets/ capsules with a full glass of water (or at least onehalf of a glass).

4. Your name should be on every tion, wait and take your normal container of medication; don't store outside of original container.

5. Keep a current list of medications for each member of the fami-

6. Tell ALL doctors (including dentists, pharmacists, etc.) every medication you use and if you have any medication allergies or adverse reactions. 7. Take your medication for the prescribed amount of time. Always discuss stopping a medication with your physician first.

8. If you forgot a dose of medicadose at the next scheduled time. 9. Know that "More" is NOT always better. 10. Discard medications after the expiration date (or if not used in last six months).

11. Take only medications prescribed for you and do not allow others to take your prescribed medications.

12. Be aware of any food, beverage or other interactions with your medication (check with your doctor or pharmacist).

13. Do not allow your regularly scheduled medications to run out. Plan ahead for trips and be sure to have refills available.

14. Keep all doctors appointments. Have a regular check up at least yearly, even if you are feeling healthy.

15. Try to have all of your medications filled at one pharmacy (especially if you have multiple doctors). 16. Be an active member of your health care team! Take part in decisions, ask questions and voice any concerns to your physicians and pharmacists.

I believe the Big Farmer is trying to do a football marathon, I heard there are 28 bowl games, and I think he is watching every one! The Big 12 was doing very well until Iowa State's luck ran out again. They have such a time. And then Iowa got clobbered, too. But boy, didn't Big Red show them?

I confess I didn't watch the game, but went to bed instead. I worked four days last week, and I really am not used to that! I was bushed. I didn't even know who won until I opened the paper the next morning. I work four days this week, too, and I am understanding why I'm retired. But it's really nice to be two miles from the office instead of 30.

Did anyone feel sorry for Colorado? That was a fiasco, I hope Texas can give USC a run for their money. I also hope the rain has stopped by Wednesday; the Rose Parade was a soggy mess today. Too bad they can't send some of that to west Texas and Oklahoma. It looks like nature is starting out the same way this year.

I try not to get offended by the folks who don't want to celebrate Christmas, but I admit I was a bit amazed when I read that Wayne county schools were having "winter" concerts. I doubt there is much of a Jewish or Muslim or even atheist population there.

I received an article from retired Navy man, my brother, that spells out the way I think Christmas should be observed. It seems this fellow and his wife in the East own a small railroad, a couple of cars and two locomotives. They decided to use them to take a bunch of wounded soldiers and sailors from Walter Reed and Bethesda hospitals to the Army-Navy game in December.

They contacted some other private rail cars, Amtrak delivered them to Washington, DC, free of charge, and they picked up 88 service people and their attendants. They were told they could bring a friend or relative, the Marines elected to bring fellow Marines.

A War College Foundation board member got 100 seats on the 50 yard line and various companies filled "goodie bags." They were feted with two gourmet meals. When they arrived back at the DC station, the Marines serenaded with the Marine hymn. The fellow who arranged all this? A Jewish man named Levin. Now that's the holiday spirit!

Ten ways for producers to save $20 per acre

High fuel cost, higher priced nitrogen, higher seeds costs, lower crop prices, sounds like a broken record in the farming industry. The real question is how can one address these issues to keep spiraling costs in check.

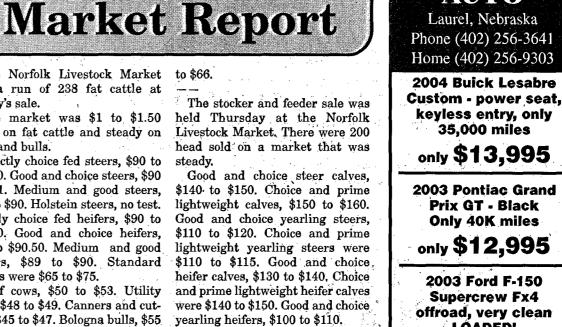

A new program that began last year across Nebraska, called "10 ways to save $20 per acre", offers 10 ideas on how a producer can making drastic changes in the over all operation of the farm.

one tillage operation, or reduce the phosphorus and potassium rates, or testing the soil for residual nutrients plus many other topics. The program will present 10 ideas for the producers to consider along with any research or demonstrations that have been done for each of the ideas. On Thursday, Jan. 19 at the Laurel City Auditorium, this program will be offered sponsored by the University of Nebraska Extension. The program begins at 10 a.m. and ends at 3 p.m. Fee for this program is $20 and lunch and a binder with 20 ways to reduce production costs are included in the · · · · · · · · · · · fee.
