189th adds a little 'culture' to Iraq

When immigrants first came to America, they brought culture with them. Soon America became 'the melting pot'. There were so many differences brought together in one country. The great thing is that many of the traditions brought to America are still in practice. This shows how important an individual's culture and traditions

When the 189th Transportation Company was deployed, many were nervous of the thought of going to another country. SGT Gerald Klinetobe commented on his feelings. "I was very anxious to get started. It was a definite challenge." However, the unit bonded together and set forth for the difficult challenges that were ahead. Of course, they didn't leave behind their cultures and traditions.

Cultures and traditions...it makes us who we are! The 189th is notorious for showing who they truly are. Soldiers proudly walk around wearing their unit patch on their uniform...a cornstalk. It seems we are always stopped and asked 'what the heck is that?' and 'where are you from?' All we can do is smile and explain

Mrs. Lydia Bixby of Boston on Nov, 21, 1864:

Dear Madam.

I have been shown in the fields of the War Department a statement of the Adjutant General of Massachusetts that you are the mother of five sons who have died gloriously on the field of battle.

I feel how weak and fruitless must be any word of mine which should attempt to beguile you from the grief of a loss so overwhelming. But I cannot refrain from tendering you the consolation that may be found in the thanks of the Republic they died to save.

I pray that our Heavenly Father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement and leave you only the cherished memory of loved and lost, and the solemn pride that must be yours to have laid so costly a sacrifice upon the altar of free-

very sincerely and Yours, respectfully, Abraham Lincoln

Main Street Wayne has reprinted this letter in the hope that this letter will impress upon our reading audience the solemnity and sanctity with which Memorial Day should be observed. According to a July 13, 2005 report to the U.S. Congress from the Congressional Research Service, 1,004,015 U.S. Service men gave their lives in the major American wars and conflicts. What a staggering number!!!

Since our nation was conceived, brave men and women have, with a sense of pride and duty, stepped forward to put what matters most at risk. On the day of their deaths, they were willing to trade that day, and every other day they would

The following letter was sent to have henceforth, for the opportunity to persist that present and future Americans would live their lives free of fear, oppression and

Many members of generations older than we can imagine, feel that when Congress turned this day of remembrance into a threeday weekend in the National Holiday Act of 1971, the significance of the day was marginalized. In many American's minds, Memorial Day stands for an extra vacation day; the start of summer picnics and barbecues. How embarrassing to think that many of us are included in this lack of reflection on the meaning of the day.

A return to the sacred spirit of the traditional day of remembrance is a much more befitting memorial for the lives that have been laid down for our benefit. Their last full measure of devotion should give rise to somber reflection on the most hallowed of human ideas; faith, family, duty, commitment. and honor.

So, by all means, Main Street Wayne asks you to spend this coming Memorial Day weekend with your family and enjoy all that life has to offer. But also, please fly our flag, attend a service, tend a grave and say a prayer for those who have fallen in our nation's service. Pray for the safe homecoming of the 189th. Their sacrifices déserve serious tribute.

All the Main Street Wayne committees have been busy and in our next article we will tell you more about our daily activities. Until next time, we pray for our troops' safe return and remember our veterans, not only on Memorial Day, but every day.

Campaigning like boxing match

By Ed Howard Statehouse Correspondent

The Nebraska Press Association Election campaigns are like boxing. A professional fight has three stages. The early rounds, the middle rounds and the late rounds. It's the same in politics. So is the fact that, when some under-prepared, unskilled schmo takes on a champ, a proven big hitter, the result can fall somewhere between laughable and brutal.

Congressman Tom Osborne walloped three challengers during his career as the 3rd District's man of the House. His opponents, whose names were hardly known during the campaigns, never landed a punch. (Osborne suffered a stinging defeat when he moved up in political weight class. He took on Governor Dave Heineman. Osborne's style let him down in the late rounds. The decision of the voting judges went to Heineman in the GOP gubernatorial primary. The governor wasn't flashy; he just kept piling up points.) Sometimes, a newbie does show up with some of the tools to take on and take out a more experienced warrior. This possibility is enhanced if the old pro is past his

Such was the case when Republican Senate nominee Pete Ricketts, with unparalleled financial power in both hands, knocked out veteran campaigner Don Stenberg in the primary election.

Money buys name recognition. Name recognition, and whatever image and reputation come with it, constitutes the one-two combination critical to every political fight. Image and reputation can, sometimes, overcome a worthier opponent with a winning record. Just ask Muhammad Ali, Sugar Ray Leonard or Joe Louis.

Think of a May primary as the "under card." It might be exciting and it might be a dud. Either way, the championship will be decided in November.

Ricketts, whose personal fortune is counted in the hundreds of mil- early or late. In politics, that doeslions, will no doubt use the haymaker punch that comes from a powerful purse in the middle rounds and (most especially) in the late rounds of his battle to unseat U.S. Senator Ben Nelson. However, Democrat Nelson will have plenty of financial power of his own. Ricketts won't be able to bludgeon him to the ropes, ala Stenberg. Nelson will be tossing leather at Ricketts, hard and often.

But what about the early rounds? These days immediately after the primary?

Money usually isn't such a big deal in the early going. People virtually ignore those rounds, mostly because they are agonizingly dull and predictable.

In boxing, the axiom is that every point counts, whether scored n't always prove true. Still, if it will do more good than harm, why not poke the other guy in the nose? It could point up his weaknesses and perhaps make a lasting impression on the judges.

Thus it was that Ricketts had hardly climbed out of the primary election ring when Nelson began to slug him, saying the guy was unworthy of the title - that would be the title of United States Senator.

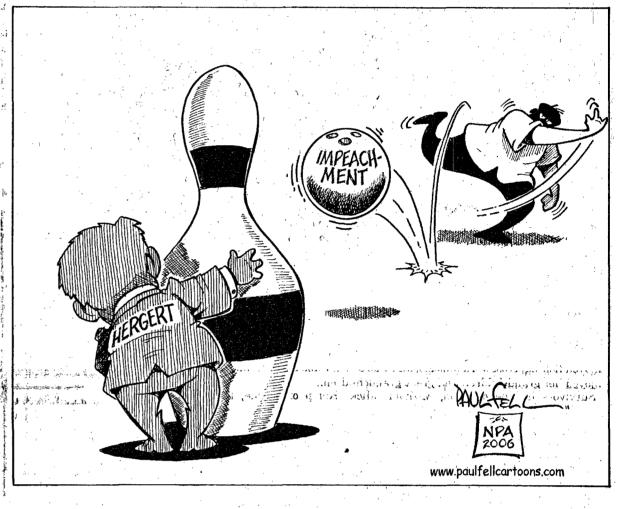

Democrats labeled Ricketts Wall Street Pete." Nelson said the election was between his belief in "Main Street" and Ricketts' purported allegiance to "Wall Street." Since Ricketts' father founded and made enormous fortunes from Ameritrade, the Wall Street jab was seen as potentially very effective. Ricketts would favor the rich.

not ordinary Nebraskans, Nelson implied.

The Ricketts' camp cried "foul," saying Nelson was hitting below the belt.

Interestingly, both Ricketts and Nelson supported extending the tax reduction package pushed by President Bush, a program that overwhelmingly favors the nation's wealthiest citizens. Nebraskans apparently agreed that tax cuts at the top eventually work to the benefit of those at the middle and bottom of the fight for economic survival.

Since Nelson votes Republican (in support of President Bush) more often than any other Senate Democrat, both men may need to impress those voting judges with something more than the standard strategies that have previously won such battles.

Laurel-Concord, Winside, Wakefield all earn gold

Area's schools pick up medalist honors at state track and field meet in Omaha

By David W. Carstens Of the Herald

A season filled with personal best individual and team finishes came to a thrilling conclusion last weekend at the state track and field championship at Omaha's Burke Stadium.

Starting with Winside's gold medal finish in the girl's 3,200-meter relay on Friday morning and finishing with Laurel-Concord's exciting first-place performance in the Class C boy's 1,600-meter relay on Saturday afternoon, the ever-changing weather seemed to bring out the best from athletes from the Wayne Herald coverage area.

Wayne High was paced by Jean Pieper who medaled at Omaha for the third straight year and she took fourth place in the 100 meter dash and sixth place in the 400 meter dash in Class B.

Pieper, who will continue her running prowess as a freshman at Wayne State College next year, finished strong in the 100 prelims on Friday when she won the third heat with a finish of 12.56 seconds.

Her finish in the finals on Saturday for fourth place was 13.02

Wayne High had one other individual runner at state as Joe Mrsny ran in the 800-meter run and finished with a time of 2:09.37 minutes.

Two Blue Devil girl' relay teams the 1,600- and 3,200-meter squads both ran at the meet.

The 1,600 team (Maddie Jager,
Kayla Hochstein, Alesha Finkey, Jean Pieper) placed 14th, while the 3,200 squad (Brooke
Anderson, Finkey, Hochstein, Jager) finished in 15th place.

Laurel-Concord capped its successful season in the Class C boy's division as the teams posted first place finishes in the both the 1,600- and 3,200-meter relay.

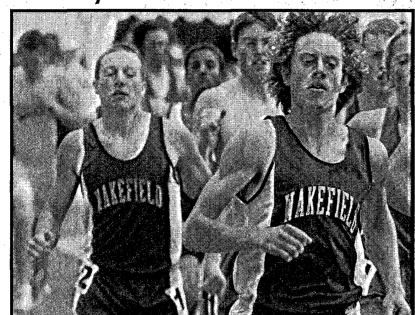

The Bears finished the meet in fourth place in the overall team standings.

The LCHS 1,600 relay team (Nick Roeder, Tyler Petersen, Tony Jacobsen, Brian Saunders) punctuated what was productive meet with their first-place time on Saturday of 3:27.79.

The 3,200 team of AJ DeLong, Nic Roeder, Pat Harrington and Tony Jacobsen added a spark to the Friday's hot weather with a finish of 8:09.58.

The squad edged district foe Wakefield (Joel Nixon, Luke Henderson, Chris Storm, Andy Hampl) who placed third with 8:21.05.

Wakefield's boys finished sixth in the Class C standings are were paced by a come-from-behind finish by Jim Bierbower, who nailed a gold medal in the 1,600-meter run with his time of 4:31.53. He also finished fifth in the 3,200 wth a time of 10:19.21.

Wakefield's Jim Bierbower prepares to take the lead to just moments before earning a state championship, while teammate Andy Hampl also moves toward the front in the 400-meter run at Omaha on Saturday.

Trojan teammate Andy Hampl placed fourth in the race with 4:33.07.

The showdowns with LCHS and Wakefield continued in the boy's 800-meter as Jacobsen took second and Hampl was third, with respective times of 1:57.86 and 1:59.37.

The area's Class D girl's teams also were the showcase for some competitive performances during the state meet.

Winside's 3,200-meter relay team (Amber Aulner, Michaela Staub, Kristy Doffin, Virginia Fleer) secured the first gold medals of the meet with a first-place finish of 9:46.76 minutes.

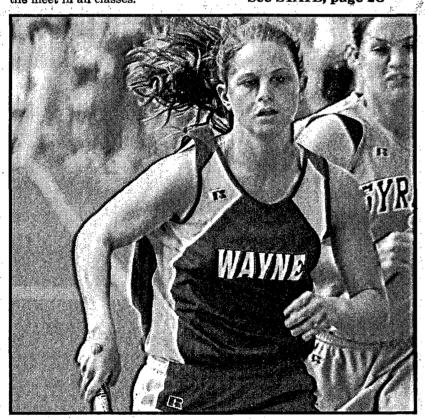

Overall, the Wildcats' finish time in the event was fourth among all the times recorded at the meet in all classes. Class B schools Chadron, Hastings St Cecilia and Aurora were the only teams with better times in the relay.

Winside's time also broke the record the same girls set at the state meet last year when they finished second to Arnold.

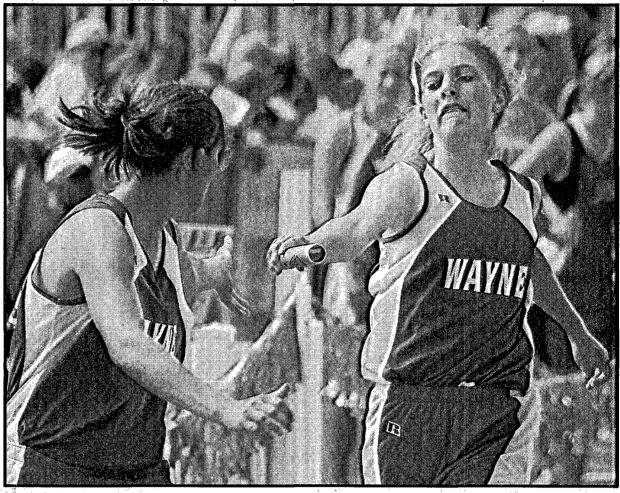

Virginia Fleer, who anchored the 3,200 relay, also medaled in two other events as she was the state runner up in the 1,600 (5:12.92) and placed third in the 800-meter run (2:22.90).

Fleer's 800-meter finish time was .009 slower than the Winside school record set by Melinda Mohr who ran cross country and indoor track for Nebraska in 1993.

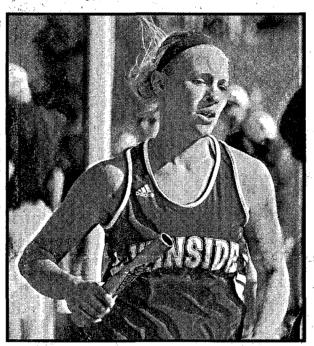

Her 1,600 time broke Mohr's record (5:20.32) set in 1995 and was fifth place among all classes at See STATE; page 2C

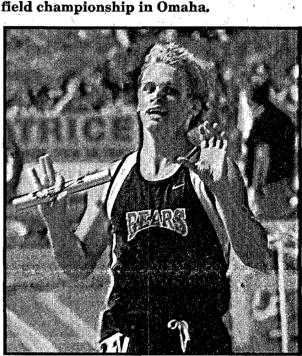

Jean Pieper, who will run next season at Wayne State College. earned two individual medals for Wayne and ran anchor on the Blue Devil 1,600-meter relay team.

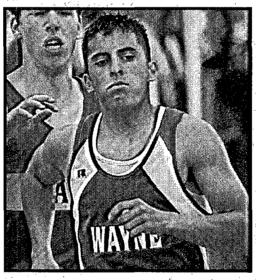

Maddie Jager hands off the baton to Alesha Finkey in Wayne High's 1600-meter relay run on Saturday afternoon at the state track and field championship in Omaha.

Kristy Doffin of Winside rounds the curve in the hot morning sun during the Wildcats' championship 3,200-meter run on Friday at the state meet in Omaha.

Tony Jacobsen holds up eight fingers to signal the end of his eighth lap as he ran the anchor leg in Laurel-Concord's 3,200-meter state championship relay race.

Wayne High state qualifier Joe Mrsny concentrates during his 800meter race on Saturday.

Winside's Virginia Fleer (left) and Erin Keitges of Allen jockey for the lead in Saturday's 1,600-meter run in Omaha.

Wildcats finish season at NCAA Central Regional

It was certainly a tournament where it could have been any team's stroke of luck.

Unfortunately for Wayne State, the appearance at the NCAA Division II Central Region tourney burnt out quicker than had been hoped

The Wildcats were eliminated from the tournament after consecutive losses to Nebraska-Omaha and eventual regional champion Emporia State in games played at Emporia, Kansas, last Thursday and Friday.

WSC vs. Nebraska-Omaha

On Thursday, Nebraska-Omaha scored three runs with two outs in the bottom of the sixth inning to snap a 3-3 tie to help the Mayericks defeat WSC 6-4 in first round play.

Wayne State never led in the game, but tied the score three times before UNO's three-run sixth inning gave the Mavericks the lead for good.

The Mavericks took a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the first inning without a hit, using three walks and a hit batsmen to take the early lead.

WSC tied the score in the top of the second inning when Ben Albury doubled and scored on Chris Pedroza's sacrifice fly to centerfield.

UNO regained the lead in the third inning at 2-1 when Marc Centafonte singled and crossed the plate on Min Sung's sacrifice fly.

The Wildcats countered in the top of the fourth inning when Scott Bidroski connected on a one-out, solo home run to center field to knot the score at 2-2.

UNO regained the lead in the bottom of the fourth inning at 3-2 when Centafonte's RBI single scored Matt Meyer.

WSC cut the deficit to 6-4 in the top of the seventh inning when Dustin Jones scored on Ben Albury's RBI single.

The game was a pitchers duel until a Wayne State error opened the scoring barrage for the host Hornets in the eighth inning to break open a close game.

Only two of the eight runs scored by the Hornets were earned runs in the tightly contested game.

Emporia State took an early 1-0 lead in the first inning when Bill Sharp singled, advanced to third on a failed pickoff attempt by WSC pitcher B.J. Wierzbicki, and scored on an RBI single up the middle by Hornets, second baseman Conner Crumbliss.

WSC tied the score at 1-1 in the bottom of the fourth inning when Chris Pedroza launched a two-out, solo home run to right center field.

The Hornets mounted scoring opportunities in the fifth and sixth innings, but Wayne State thwarted the scoring threats by turning double plays in each inning to get out

The Wildcats also turned a double play in the fourth inning and finished the game with three.

The score remained tied at 1-1 until the eighth inning when the host Hornets took control of the game with a seven-run inning, sending 13 batters to the plate. The inning started when Benge bobbled a grounder hit by Mark McBratney, allowing the Hornets, left fielder to reach first base. A single up the middle by ESU's Jeff Schlosser put runners at sec-WSC then intentionally walked pinch-hitter Toro Trevino to load the bases with one out.

Following a walk to Bill Sharp, Crumbliss delivered a two-run single to right field, giving Emporia State a 6-1 lead.

A fielding error by WSC right fielder allowed a third run to score on the play to put the Hornets ahead 7-1.

Mark McBratney then singled to right field to score Crumbliss to make the final score 8-1. "It was a great ball game," com- with a 37-15-1 record.

mented WSC head coach John Manganaro. "That error to start the eighth inning really hurt us and unfortunately set the tone for the rest of the inning and the game, but that's baseball. If we had to lose a game like this, I'm glad it was to Coach Fornelli and his program. They have such a classy program."

Emporia State had 10 hits in the game to seven for Wayne State.

Wayne State's top hitter was senior catcher Chris Pedroza, who was 3 for 4 with a solo home run and two singles to lead the Wildcats. Dustin Jones contributed a double while Vicente Cafaro, Ben Albury and Alex Koch each singled, WSC senior reliever Walsh (3-2) was tagged with the loss for Wayne State, charged with the first two runs scored in the eighth inning.

Coach Manganaro praised his team's accomplishments for the season after the tough defeat.

"What a great group to coach," stated Manganaro about his seven seniors. "They won four straight Northern Sun Conference championships and have played in three straight regional tournaments, including one regional championship game. That says a lot about their work ethic and the tradition of Wayne State baseball."

WSC seniors who closed ourt their college careers last week were: Danny Benge, Christ Pedroza, Steve Walsh, Arnaldo Ovalles, Ben Albury, Jon Pitts and B.J. Wierzbicki

House Commission Remembrance in 2000, to promote the Moment of Remembrance and the values of Memorial Day throughout the year. The American Legion is a partner in this effort.

TREE CITY USA Allen has been named a Tree Day Foundation to honor its commitment to community forest. It is the 13th year Allen has received this national recognition.

The Tree City USA program is sponsored by the National Arbor Day Foundation in cooperation with the National Association of State Foresters and the USDA Forest Service.

Allen has met four standards to become a Tree City USA: a tree board or department, a tree care ordinance, a comprehensive community forestry program, and an Arbor Day Observance.

"Trees are a vital component of the infrastructure in our cities and towns, and provide environmental and economical benefits," said John Rosenow, President of The National Arbor Day Foundation. "A community, and its citizens, that recognize these benefits and proved needed care for its trees deserves recognition and thanks."

"This year we are excited to celebrate the 30th Anniversary of Tree City USA," Rosenow added. "From its humble beginning in 1976, the program has grown to be the leading community forestry recognition program in the country. Communities like Allen, who emphasize the important roles trees play to the well being of its citizens, have made this program such a success."

Words of advice

Each homeroom presented suggestions to Mr. Lutt on how to fill his retirement days. Suggestions ranged from taking a cruise to going camping and fishing to getting a part-time job at Pac 'N' Save. Lutt will be retiring from education after serving as principal at Wayne Elementary School since 1976. Following the listing of these suggestions, Jill Belt, President of the Wayne Elementary Education Boosters presented Lutt with several gifts.

Information Technology Endorsement Courses offered this summer

Two courses for the Information Technology Supplemental Endorsement are being offered at Wayne State College this summer. The 400-numbered courses are for undergraduate education majors and their 500-number counterparts are for students seeking the masters degree in education.

Sarah Nilson

Sarah Nilson graduates from University of Nebraska-Kearney

Sarah Nilson, daughter of Dennis and Pam Ekberg of Wayne, graduated from the University of Nebraska at Kearney on May 5.

Along with honors, Sarah graduated with a Bachelors of Arts in Education degree with an Elementary Education endorsement. Sarah graduated cum laude, with her final GPA between 3.70

She completed her undergraduate work at UN-K with a semester of student teaching at St. Paul Elementary in a fourth grade class-

She plans to substitute teach in St. Paul Public Schools for the remainder of this school year, while continuing to look for an elementary teaching position for the next school year.

The courses, which are offered by the Computer Technology and Information Systems (CTIS) Department, may also be of interest to those educators who are not seeking an advanced degree, but who may be looking to pick up an additional endorsement or bolster their skills and knowledge of computing, networking, and various information technologies. The courses may also be of interest to non-educators and technical support people wishing to strengthen their information technology backgrounds.

There are no course prerequisites for the IT endorsement courses, said Dr. Tim Garvin, chair of the CTIS Department. The courses are appropriate for those pursuing education degrees (undergraduate and graduate) as well as those educators seeking further professional development on a one- or two-course basis or pursuing the entire five-course (15 hour) IT Endorsement, Students may enroll for one or both courses.

CIS 457/557 Networking and Technology Management is being offered in the June session. The course starts June 19 and is online for most of the course. The face-to-face part of the course will be conducted from 1-5 p.m. on July 17, 18, 19, and 20.

The second course, CIS 475/575
Topics in CIS: Emerging

Technologies, will be offered in the July session. It is also primarily online, and will run from July 10 through August 9. A portion of the course is face-to-face; the in-person class meetings will be from 9 a.m. to noon on July 10-13 and July 17-20.

The face-to-face class meetings have been scheduled so that part of them coincide with the same dates as the afternoon face-to-face meetings for the CIS 457/557 Networking and Technology Management course listed above. This will allow students who wish to take both courses the opportunity to get the face-to-face class meetings worked in with a single trip to campus for each day that both courses meetings occur on the same day, said Garvin.

Students wishing to take these courses should register by the following dates to help ensure a place in the course: CIS 457/557, Network/Tech Mgmt., May 25; and CIS 475/575, Topics: Emerging Tech., June 29. Students may register up to the first day of the respective summer session; however, WSC reserves the right to cancel courses with enrollment below the established minimums, so students are encouraged to register as soon as possible.

For more information, please call the CTIS Department at 402-375-7245.

Wayne State College business dean elected to commission board

Dr. Vaughn L. Benson, dean of the School of Business and Technology at Wayne State College, was elected to the Board of Commissioners of the International Assembly for Collegiate Business Education (IACBE) at its 2006 annual meeting in Orlando, Fla.

IACBE promotes and recognizes excellence in business education in colleges and universities through specialized accreditation. As one of seven members of the Board of Commissioners, Benson will be responsible for determining the accredited status of member institutions and for the review of accreditation expectations and the accreditation process.

Wayne State College's School of Business and Technology/Business and Economics Department is one of over 200 institutions in the United States and internationally that are accredited by IACBE. This accreditation demonstrates to all stakeholders that the Business Administration program is of high quality and business students can expect an outstanding value from a Wayne State College education.

Become a Tax-Savvy Investor: Implement Investment Strategies That Minimize Taxes and Maximize Growth

It happens every year. Millions of people take the time to carefully define their investment strategies, but they inadvertently overlook one key factor in maximizing their return: taxes. Whether you are sitting on a highly successful portfolio or still reeling from recent losses, tax-smart investment decisions could save you money.

Because taxes often lower the actual return on your investments, the first step in becoming a tax-savvy investor is learning how to better understand the implication taxes have on your investments. Essentially, the two main ways in which you can minimize your taxes through investment strategies are by deferring your taxable income and by increasing your deductions. Let's take a look at a few strategies for effectively making one or both of these things happen.

Take advantage of tax-deferred savings. One tax-savvy investment technique is to make regular contributions to tax-deferred savings plans. The more money you place in a 401(k) or a qualified IRA plan the more you reduce your taxable income and lower your tax bill. Plus, the money you've invested can compound free of taxes. The basic idea is that income taxes will not be due until you take distributions from these accounts.

In addition to retirement savings plans, there are also tax-managed mutual funds, municipal bonds money market funds and retirement options for the self-employed. Generally, only higher bracket tax-payers are interested in municipal bonds because of their relatively lower yields. Depending on your individual situation, these may save you money by reducing your overall tax burden. Be sure to consult a tax professional to determine the most effective investment and savings options for your portfolio.

Balance capital gains and losses. Capital gains are the amount by which an asset's selling price exceeds its basis, which is

Jennifer & George Phelps Financial Advisors

Certified Financial Planner Practitioners usually its initial purchase price. Conversely, a capital loss occurs when the selling price of an investment is less than its basis. Any profits made from capital gains are generally subject to taxes or lower rates; however, you can offset realized gains with realized losses. One effective tax move for reducing capital gains taxes is to sell losing investments in the same year, thereby offsetting the capital gains and reducing your tax burden. Even if you don't have gains, you can offset up to $3,000 of capital losses against ordinary income tax. Any unused losses may be carried over into future years.

Beware of short-term gains. Another tax-friendly tax strategy for reducing capital gains taxes is to hold your investments for 12 months or longer when possible. Long-term capital gains — those held for more than one year — are taxed at a lower rate than short-term capital gains — those held for one year or less. When you consider both the long- and short-term tax implications, the savings can add up quickly and be worth much more than you think.

Take steps to increase deductions. The more deductions you can claim, the smaller your taxable income will be and the fewer taxes you will owe. Don't overlook possible deductions; three common large deductions are mortgage interest, state taxes and gifts to charity.

Tax tips for 2006. It's a good idea to revisit your tax situation as you prepare your return to plan now for 2006. Consider making a few savvy tax-saving moves and you may be able to minimize the impact Uncle Sam has on your investment portfolio this year. After all, it's not how much you earn, but how much you keep that matters most.

1. Max out your retirement savings plan. If you aren't contributing the maximum amount allowed, at least be sure to contribute enough to get your employer's matching contribution. You don't want to miss out on free money.

2. Track all of your charitable contributions. All donations to qualified charities can be included on your itemized deductions. So, clean out those closets and be sure to get a receipt.

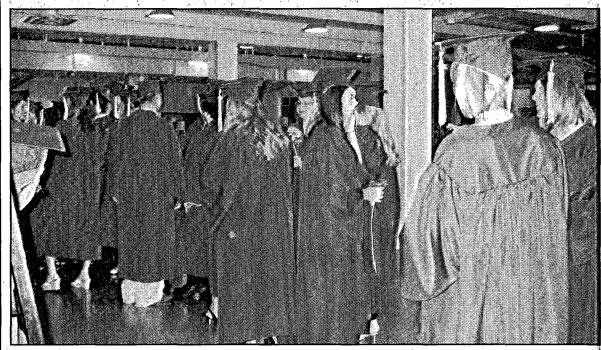

3. Give financial gifts to family members. If you have substantial assets, you can lower taxes on your estate by giving cash to your children and grandchildren every year. In 2006, you can give up to $12,000 to each person free of gift taxes (up from $11,000 in 2005). That gift helps to decrease the size of your estate, which in turn means lower estate taxes. And, as an added bonus, the gift is not taxable to the recipient.

Although tax planning should be considered an integral component of your investment planning process, much depends on your personal situation. You may not be able to implement all of the strategies listed here, but you should be aware of the options that are most effective for your portfolio. Because tax laws are complicated and change frequently, be sure to consult a qualified financial advisor who can help you understand and implement tax-smart investment strategies to help maximize growth and increase returns.

Nebraska Lutherans meet to celebrate, worship and discuss

More than a 1,000 Nebraska Lutherans will gather in June to worship together, to celebrate ministry, and to conduct business of the Nebraska Synod, Evangelical Lutheran Church in America (ELCA). Nebraska Lutherans will elect a bishop and synod leaders, and discuss ministry issues at the Kearney Event Center, June 1-3.

People in the state of Nebraska benefit from the services of 18 agencies and institutions affiliated with Nebraska Synod, ELCA through two colleges, several health and elder care providers and a variety of social services agencies. More than 127,000 ELCA Lutherans belong to 265 congregations in Nebraska.

"Bound for Greater Things -Jesus Christ Transforms Lives!" will be the focus of Nebraska Lutherans for these three days in June, "We gather for the great work that God has placed before us — to be the people of God in Christ Jesus, those who proclaim Christ in our congregations and communities, firmly believing that Jesus Christ Transforms Lives," said Assembly Planner Pastor. Lee Griess, who serves Luther Memorial Church in Omaha. The national ELCA's Presiding Bishop Mark S. Hanson will share ELCA ministry highlights with the gathered voting members and visitors. The Rev. Dr. Barbara Rossing of the Lutheran School of Theology at Chicago will lead Bible Study. Bread for the Journey, an acclaimed global musicial group, will lead worship and music at the Assembly and also offer a workshop for church musicians. The Assembly 2006 offering will support mission development in Nebraska.

ELCA Lutheran Synod assemblies elect or re-elect bishops to sixvear terms. Pastor deFreese, 52. was elected bishop in 2000. Thirtynine pastors were nominated in February; six nominees allowed their names to go on the ballot for bishop. Those pastors include David L. deFreese, Bishop, Nebraska Synod; Wendy W. Fry, Pastor, Bethany Lutheran Church, Elkhorn; Jonathon K. Jensen, Pastor, Zion Lutheran Church. Carleton; Damon D. Laaker, Pastor, Grace Lutheran Church, Omaha; Gary Panko, Pastor, Bethlehem Lutheran Church, Royal, Iowa; and Gordon D. Peterson. Assistant to the Bishop, Yorba Linda, Calif. Voting members also may write in a name on the first ballot. Bishops serve as synods' chief pastors, exercising administrative oversight of the synods' work; they are also members of the national ELCA Conference of Bishops. Presiding Bishop Mark S. Hanson and Vice President Mary Hock will conduct the bishop election process which begins on Friday, June 2.--

Agencies and institutions affiliated with the Nebraska Synod, ELCA include: Alegent Health in Nebraska and Immanuel Health Systems, Omaha; Bethany Home, Minden; Blue Valley Home, Hebron: Dana College, Blair; Good Shepherd Lutheran Community, Blair; InterChurch Ministries of Nebraska, Lincoln; Lutheran Family Services of Nebraska.

Soybeans will soon be emerging and provide a place for the bean leaf beetle to feed. Bean leaf beetles spend the early weeks in alfalfa fields waiting for the soybeans to emerge.

Tom Hunt, UNL Extension Entomologist, indicated that the population of bean leaf beetles were higher in the fall of 2005 than in the past two years. This may indicate that the numbers may be higher this spring, but scouting is the only sure way to be sure.

The bean leaf beetles move to the early emerging soybean fields and begin to feed and lay eggs. Damage is caused by the feeding of the beetle and can be a problem on the new soybean seedling especially if the growing point, stem and cotyledons have been fed upon. Still, the number of beetles needs to be high enough to justify treatment, depending upon the value of soybeans and the cost of treatment, be as high as 2 - 3 beetles per plant, even at the cotyledon stage.

Scout now for bean leaf beetles

As the soybean enters the vegetative stage, the soybean plant can tolerate more damage and recover from the feeding without any yield reduction. In general, unless insect populations are large enough to cause more than 50 percent defoliation of seedling soybeans, it is unlikely that treatment would be economically justified.

Weed treatment can be affected by feeding of the soybean beetle. In general, the more defoliation feeding damage, the earlier the weeds need to be controlled because of the lack of competition by the soybean

Sometimes, it seems to make sense to treat for the early beetle in order to reduce future problems, but that is not an economical and logical decision. There are many environmental factors that can influence beetle populations and the number of beetles per plant can treating early for late populations, results in more expense than is warranted. It is still best to scout and determine the extent of damage caused by the beetle before treatment is applied.

There are always exceptions to the general rule and the one exception is the past field history, incidence of soybean mottle virus, crop rotations and weed management practices. There are cases of high damage caused by the bean leaf beetle based upon individual situations but using that one case to apply to a wide area does not make a good economic or integrated pest management decision.

Scout your soybeans and look for the soybean beetle and get a count per plant, determine the damage, find out the cost of treatment, get the value of the soybean and make an informed, economic decision.

Kinder Morgan designs, installs, tests, operates and maintains natural gas pipelines to meet or exceed regulatory standards, and our employees are thoroughly trained to operate and maintain the system safely. We want you to be aware of our pipelines and what to do in case of emergency.

- Natural gas is a safe, efficient fuel used in millions of homes across the United States. While natural gas has a safety record superior to other forms of energy, it still requires proper use.
- In its original state, natural gas is colorless and odorless. We add a chemical to give it a distinctive odor (similar to rotten eggs or sulfur) so that you can smell a leak immediately.
- Natural gas has a narrow range of flammability. This means that it takes a precise combination of air and natural gas before it can burn. Since naturalgas is lighter than air, it usually will rise and disperse into the air if allowed to vent freely.
- Natural gas is generally non-toxic, however, it can displace oxygen and cause suffocation.

How to recognize a pipeline leak

- LOOK FOR: Fire or explosion near pipeline, a white cloud or fog, dying plants amid healthy ones, unusual blowing of dirt or dust, persistent bubbles in water
- LISTEN FOR: Hissing or roaring sound
- SMELL FOR: A pungent odor, sometimes like rotten eggs

What to do if you spot a pipeline leak Immediately leave the area on foot in an

- upwind direction • From a distant phone, call Kinder Morgan at 1-800-563-0012, or call 911 or your local
- fire or police department Avoid making contact with escaping vapors
- Abandon all equipment being used in the area
- DO NOT light a match, start an engine or car, use a phone, switch on/off an electric light or appliance
- · Warn others to stay away from the area
- DO NOT try to operate any pipeline valves
- DO NOT use a cell phone while near the suspected emergency area

What to do if you smell gas in your home

If you do not call and you happen to hit a natural gas line while you are digging, you could cause a fire or explosion, not to mention an injury or death.

If you ever smell natural gas while digging, leave the area immediately. Don't operate any equipment, don't flip any electrical switches.

Simply get away and call Kinder Morgan at 1-800-563-0012 from another location. State law requires advance notification to the One Call

Notification Center before beginning any excavation.

Still adjusting to city life

We've been inundated this week by locust seeds! There is a big tree shading our driveway, which we appreciate, and more of them all around the cul de sac and down Teton Drive. They are tiny, green, slightly oily round objects that are all over the place. I swept up a bucket full the other day, and more replaced them. You can't exactly throw stuff like that in a ditch; there aren't any ditches, for one thing. So, it goes in a yard waste bag with sticks and twigs and such, destined for the garbage truck.

It's been interesting for me to get used to how city dwellers operate. There are a couple of "neatniks" in our neighborhood; one vacuumed up the leaves around his bushes (I happen to think old leaves are good mulch) and another one picked pine cones off her tree before they landed on the ground. I think pine cones go with pine trees, and I even saved a few of the biggest ones. Obviously, I've been in the country too long.

So, I decided we needed to actually go to Haymarket Park and see a game for real. I called the ticket office a couple of weeks ago, knowing full well that the regular season tickets had been sold out long ago. I told the gal there was no way we could sit on the berms because we wouldn't be able to get up again!

To which she responded, "are we mobility impaired?" Yes, I answered, that would be what we are. In that case, she had two tickets for Sunday.

It was a beautiful day; we ate lunch early, and headed out to Sun Valley Boulevard. Of course, there were lots of vehicles joining us. The parking lot was already full when we arrived, with several tail-gaters perfuming the air with grilled

With a handicapped sticker, you also get VIP parking. And there were plenty of people even more. "mobility impaired" than we are; lots of those scooters you see advertised. It's an easy walk to the entrance, and no steps to the handicapped seats. Plus, they were close to bathrooms. How could we go wrong?

It was a fun afternoon, complete with a tribute to the seniors on Husker Vision, Take Me Out to the Ballgame sung by little leaguers, not too hot, but — we lost the game. We have now lost seven out of nine games in the last three series. We did beat Creighton earlier in the week. But our hopes for the College World Series have kind of gone down the tube.

We have to play Baylor tomorrow in the Big 12 tournament, and I doubt very much that we can beat them. The guys started out so well, we had visions of another trip to Omaha. It just makes you realize how tough it is to get there. Whatever, we've enjoyed the season. It is America's game, after all.

Nebraska Forest Service expert discovers pine wilt treatment A new treatment for pine wilt is available thanks to some creative thinking by a Nebraska Forest Service forest health expert.

Mark Harrell, Nebraska Forest Service forest health program leader, initiated a project to determine whether a trunk injection aimed at controlling the pinewood nematode that causes pine wilt would be effective in preventing the spread of pine wilt. "In 2001, I tested abamectin, an insecticide that is known to have some effect against nematodes and found that it could kill the pinewood nematode at a concentration that was feasible to use in trees," Harrell said. "I began testing it in trees later that year." Arbor Systems, an Omaha-based company that specializes in tree injections, provided the product and the injection equipment. The company added Greyhound, abamectin's trade name, to its product line in the mid-1990s. It commonly is used to control elm leaf beetles, lace bugs, leaf miners and mites. Greyhound is injected into the tree's trunk near the ground. Trees are given a series of injections at fourinch intervals around the tree.

Research trials were conducted in several windbreaks in southeast Nebraska in 2001 and 2002. These windbreaks were evaluated for one year. In 2003, a three-year trial was begun at Horning State Farm near Plattsmouth. The results of the Plattsmouth test showed that Greyhound, applied at six times the recommended label rate, provided approximately 70 percent protection from pine wilt for three years. Greyhound only is effective if no symptoms of pine wilt are present in the tree, Harrell said.

Due to its high application rate, Greyhound treatments are expensive, he said. The product also must be applied by a trained arborist. "Treating a tree with a trunk diameter of 10 inches could cost approximately $300," Harrell said

"However, Arbor Systems now has equipment that can apply the product more efficiently, so a slightly lower rate may be just as effective using the newer equipment. This could bring the cost down." Additional lower cost products and methods for controlling pine wilt also are being pursued, Harrell said. This could enable people to treat windbreaks and other pine plantings.

should remove dead trees as quickly as possible and destroy them by either burning, burying or chipping," Pine wilt has killed an estimated 5,000 pines in Nebraska since entering the state eight years ago. The disease is most common in southeast Nebraska, but also has been found around Fremont, Grand Island

"Since the current cost of the treatment will likely lead to it being used only on high-value trees, people

North Platte and Valentine, Harrell said. The microscopic pinewood nematode disrupts the flow of sap, causing the tree to turn brown and die. For more information about these injections or where to obtain one, contact the Nebraska Forest Service at (402) 472-2944. More information about pine wilt can be found on the Nebraska Forest Service Web site at http://www.nfs.unl.edu/.

Wayne, Nebraska May 16, 2006

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners met in regular session at 9:00 a.m. on sday, May 16, 2006 in the upstairs conference room of the Courthouse. Roll call was answered by Chairman Nissen, Members Miller and Wurdeman, and Clerk

Finn. Advance notice of this meeting was published in the Wayne Herald, a legal newspaper, on May 4, 2006. The minutes of the May 2, 2006, meeting were approved as printed in the Commissioner's Meeting Room Furniture - Drivers exams are now given on personal computers, requiring rearrangement of the tables in the meeting room each week. County Treasurer McDonald asked if the tables had to be moved each week, or if whomever was using the room could arrange it to meet their needs and leave it as such. Motion by Miller, second by Wurdeman to have the furniture moved back to its original position after each use. Roll call: Miller-aye, Wurdeman-nay, Nissen-ave. Motion carried.

Elevator Maintenance Contract - David Oswald of KONE Inc reviewed the differences between an elevator oil and grease contract and a maintenance contract. The maintenance contract would be developed based on the make, age and usage of the elevator. Motion by Miller, second by Wurdeman to enter into a complete maintenance agreement effective June 1st. Roll call vote: all aves, no navs.

Jail Feasibility Study - Phil Lorenzen of Kirkpatrick Pettis reported reviewing the jail feasibility report and felt it was a pretty good report of need and probable cost. He stated that jails are typically funded on a revenue basis, a tax supported basis or a blend; the county would be looking at a blend. Lorenzen felt both Wayne County and the City of Wayne have an expanding economic basis. Population basis has been growing moderately, arrest history and court filings are at fairly low levels. Budget costs are incorporated in the audit but not broken out specifically. We need a more in depth look at current expenditures experience and blend this information in to a new facility. It would take a nickel or more to build and operate facility. The county would then exceed the 50 cent levy limit which would require a public vote to approve. Lorenzen will outline questions he feels need to be answered and direct them to the respective departments.

Long-term Care Plan - Don Mroczek of Platinum Services, Inc. requested permission to offer a long-term care plan as an optional benefit to county employees. There is no cost to the county to implement the plan. Fifteen minutes presentations will be offered during morning break times on Monday, May 22nd and Tuesday, May 23rd.

Road/Bridge Business Federal Aid Project BRO-7090 (13 and 14), Wayne Southwest - Motion by Miller, second by Wurdeman to authorize Highway Superintendent Carlson to begin right of way acquisition as soon as authorized by the Nebraska Department of Roads.

Bridge C009020810 - Motion by Wurdeman, second by Miller to accept the proposal of $28,950 submitted by Theisen Construction for labor to put in a new bridge. Roll call vote: all

Floodplain Administrator - Motion by Miller, second by Wurdeman to make Floodplain Administration duties part of the Highway Superintendent's responsibilities. Roll call vote: all Continuing Business Emergency Management Update - Janssen reported attending the Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department meeting. The member counties all had part-time directors hired and were not interested in jointly hiring a full-time director.

Substitution of Securities - Motion by Wurdeman, second by Miller to approve a substitution of securities submitted by State National Bank & Trust Company. Roll call vote: all ayes, no
