Several parking issues highlight council agenda

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

In what has become somewhat of a regular event, the Wayne City Council again debated the topic of parking on city streets and property during Tuesday's meeting of the council.

Several agenda items involved the time limits and location of where vehicles can be parked in the city.

Troy Stowater came before the council asking the group to consider allowing overnight parking on one side of Crescent Drive.

He said the street was wide enough to have parking on one side and felt there were no safety issues.

During council discussion on the topic, several council members mentioned putting the issue on the ballot to allow residents of Wayne to voice their opinion on the topic.

No action was taken on the discussion item.

Ordinance 2006-10 received second reading approval after lengthy discussion.

It deals with amending the city code in regard to where recreation vehicles can be parked.

Dick Keidel spoke to the council and told them he doesn't feel the ordinance is fair, and even though he would likely be granted a waiver, allowing him to continue to park his RV in his driveway, he feels like "a harassed tax payer."

"I did think about where I would park the RV before I bought it and feel it looks better parked in the driveway than on the lawn on the side of my house," Keidel said.

He also felt the council was micro-man-

Kloesen helps support Henoween each year in spite of her medical problems

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

The 26th annual Chicken Show will be here soon and once again residents are getting into the spirit in a number of ways. One way to show enthusiasm as well as talent is to paint cement chickens which are auctioned off on Henoween. By doing so, money is raised for Henoween activities.

Doing her part each year is Sue Kloesen. She and her husband, Ray, live southeast of Wayne. She has enjoyed drawing and painting most of her life but diabetes has taken its toll on her eyes and since having surgery five years ago, her eyes are worse.

"I have no peripheral vision and also can't see anything to the top or bottom of my eyes," Kloesen said. "I have double vision in one eye so there are prisms in that lens to stop that but it doesn't work well and I only have tunnel vision in the other eye." She notes that is enough, with extra light sources, to paint the chickens each year and she's excited to do her part to help.

Making matters worse, Kloesen fell on June 6 and broke her wrist.

In spite of her problems, she has managed to paint a patriotic red, white and blue chicken, which will go well with this year's theme of "Our Coop Supports the Troops." "The star I put on my patriotic chicken took a lot of time to get perfect," Kloesen said.

in it. From a distance, each looks like every other horse. But if one stops the car, or is walking by, one will notice something quite amazing.

Looking into the eyes of one horse will disclose that he is blind, his owner has chosen not to have him put down, but has made a good home for him. This alone is amazing.

Listening, one will hear the sound of a bell. Looking around for the source of the sound, one will see that it comes from a smaller horse in the field. Attached to her bridle is a small bell. It lets her blind friend know where she is so he can follow her.

As one stands and watches these two friends, one sees how she is always checking on him and that he will listen for her bell and then slowly walk to where she is, trusting that she will not lead him astray.

Like the owner of those two horses, God does not throw us away because we are not perfect or because we have problems or challenges. He watches us and even brings others into our lives to help us when we are in need.

Sometimes we are the blind horses being guided by God and those who he places in our lives. Other times we are the guide horse, helping others see God.

Good friends are like stars....You don't always see them, but you know they are there. Author unknown.

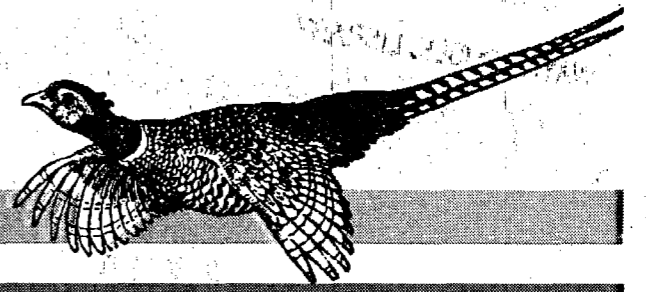

Kloesen likes the poem and feels it is fitting to her life. She also feels that everyone should help support their town and painting her chickens is her way of helping.

Kloesen's patriotic chicken will also be sold during the auction. It goes well with this year's theme of "Our Coop Supports the Troops."

aging things that don't need to be managed. He said that having a waiver "is scary."

Council member Will Wiseman said that the council was working on changing language in the ordinance, but "there will never be anything that everybody likes."

Several suggestions for language changes in the ordinance were presented and will be brought before the council at its next meeting, when the ordinance will be discussed again.

During the meeting, the council recessed as a council and convened as the Community Development Agency (CDA).

As a CDA, the group voted 5-3 to adopt Resolution 2006-4, which will approve a loan between the City of Wayne and the CDA.

The money would be used for the purchase of land on the west edge of Wayne, which would then be offered for development.

Council member Verdel Lutt voiced his opposition to the plan, noting "how many times can we dip into electrical funds?"

Council president Doug Sturm said he would like to see plans for developing the area in writing before moving forward with the purchase of the land.

Also during Tuesday's meeting, the council voted to set a Public hearing date of Tuesday, July 11 at 7:35 p.m. for acquisition of real estate at 319 South Nebraska Street.

The council approved a request from Darin Greunke with the Sharp Shooters 4-H Club to have a shooting gallery style 4-H shooting sports trailer during Henowen and the Chicken Show. The group has been doing this for several years, but permission is required on a yearly basis to allow for the discharge of firearms in the city.

A Class D Liquor License application was granted to TRT, Inc., doing business as The Rain Tree.

The business has recently been purchased by Doug and Paula Schwarten.

Resolution 2006-49 and Ordinance 2006-13 were approved, allowing for the sale of a parcel of land to Diane R. Pick.

Joel Ankeny was re-appointed to the Library Board.

The council's next regularly scheduled meeting will be Tuesday, July 11 at 7:30 p.m. in the council chambers

Gale urges American pride on July 4th holiday

Nebraska Secretary of State John Gale encouraged Nebraskans to fly the U.S. flag at their homes on the July 4th holiday to show support for U.S. military personnel and pride in America.

"We are grateful for the heroic efforts of our military personnel to bring democracy and stability to Iraq and Afghanistan," he said. "With the extreme dangers they face, our thoughts and prayers are with them."

Gale, who serves as chief protocol officer for Nebraska, said flying the flag can help Nebraskans reflect on what it means to be an American.

"The U.S. flag beautifully serves as the national symbol of American values of freedom, liberty and democracy," he said.

As a free public service, people may arrange with Gale's office to have U.S. and Nebraska flags flown at the State Capitol throughout the year in recognition of individuals, accomplishments and special occasions.

Those interested must provide the flag, deliver it to Gale's office and provide information as to why the flag is being flown. Flags flown at the Capitol are accompanied by a keepsake certificate signed by Gale detailing the date and purpose of the flight.

For flag arrangements, contact Katie Clark at (402) 471-4070.

Immigration and foreign policy hot topics

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Politics, politics and more politics in Washington has dominated two issues of great importance to Nebraskans.

We're talking about election-year politics. The kind that translates into a lot of talk and virtually no meaningful action.

Consider the socially, economically and politically loaded matter of illegal immigrants, undocumented workers, or whatever nomenclature you find appropriate.

In what was a mostly half-hearted game to determine what action might be taken concerning border security and other matters, Congress decided to play for a tie.

It was unlikely that any sort of meaningful legislation would be enacted this year. Still, political danger lurked in appearing to do nothing. Even more danger lurked in having to go on the record with debate in the House and Senate.

What to do? The decision in the House was to do nothing while appearing to do something: Forget the legislation, and announce that a bunch of hearings will be scheduled.

The view from here: Nebraskans and the electorate in general have come to expect such stuff, even if they aren't aware of the specifics of the particular method chosen in Washington to take action - without taking action.

Credit Nebraska Senators Chuck Hagel and Ben Nelson with being on the record for what they would, and would not, vote for when it comes to the southern border, and those crossing it illegally.

Nelson has been front-and-center on the demand for much tighter border security prior to any other policy changes.

Hagel has sponsored a plan, endorsed by the Bush administration, that centers more on immigration policy. It includes a complex formula for allowing some "illegals" to get on a path to citizenship. Critics call it amnesty. Proponents call it acknowledging and dealing with reality.

Hundreds of Nebraskans are serving, have served and will serve in the war in Iraq. Some have died heroically.

The death of even one serviceperson can be devastating to an entire community in small-town Nebraska. Every war death is devastating to friends and family, regardless of geography.

Hagel recently said that the war should not be politicized. He said it at some length.

Most Nebraskans would likely agree with the senior senator. Most members of the Senate would likely express the same agreement - while the war continues to be, perhaps, the most political issue in Washington.

It is a dilemma that most lawmakers find politically impossible to address head-on. Not supporting the war risks allegations of not supporting the troops.

The fact in this case is that many Nebraskans feel much the same concern as Washington policymakers. Comparatively few would be likely to support the notion of "immediate withdrawal," or announcing a timetable for leaving. Virtually everyone wants to see a halt in the deaths of those in the armed services.

Immigration policy and foreign policy. Each demonstrates that politics Washington eventually translates into very local issues, and very personal issues, for Nebraskans.

Informational sign completed at Thompson-Barnes Wildlife Management Area

Thompson-Barnes Wildlife Management Area (WMA) is located 5 miles north, and one mile west of 7th and Main in Wayne. The land was gifted to the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission in 2003.

In 2005, a Nebraska State Wildlife Grant was written through Wayne State College to fund a high diversity prairie restoration on 17 acres of former crop land at the WMA. The State Wildlife Grants Program is administered through the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Additional matching funds for the Thompson-Barnes grant came from the Logan Creek Chapter of Pheasants Forever, the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission, and Wayne State College. For more information about the State Wildlife Grants Program, see <http://www.ngpc.state.ne.us/wildlife/programs/grants/>

In December of 2005, Prairie Plains Resource Institute of Aurora sowed the 17 acres with a 187-species seed mix. Local-ecotype seed from native prairie plants were used. This past spring as part of an Eagle Scouts project, Eric Carstens designed and built a wooden sign on the site (with the help of other members of Wayne Boy Scout Troop, 174). Melissa Slaymaker, a Wayne State College student, produced a poster that was placed in the sign. This poster describes the tallgrass prairie restoration project.

On June 17, Scott Brummond representing the Logan Creek Chapter of Pheasants Forever, Russ Hamer representing the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission, Eric and Jeff Carstens representing Boy Scout Troop 174 and Mark Hammer representing Wayne State College met to celebrate the completion of the prairie planting and the educational sign.

The high diversity prairie restoration at Thompson-Barnes WMA will be a significant increase in the amount of native habitat in

Wayne County. The Thompson-Barnes prairie and larger Prairie Plains Resource Institute restorations at the nearby Dog Town Creek Prairie and Arboretum may be a seed source for further ecological restorations in northeast Nebraska. Wayne State College Ecology students will be using these sites for education and research. It is hoped that other area students can use these resources to learn about our native tallgrass prairie ecosystem.

Benefit planned on July 9 for Vel Temme

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

A benefit is planned for Vel Temme of Wayne on Sunday, July 9 at the firehall in Wayne. It will be an omelet and pancake brunch, bake sale and silent auction from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The event will be hosted by Grace Lutheran Church, Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce, Wayne Volunteer Fire Department and friends of Temme. There will be a free will donation with proceeds going towards helping defray medical expenses. Supplemental funds will be provided by Thrivent Financial Wayne-Dixon Chapter.

Temme has been suffering from Myasthenia Gravis, an autoimmune disease that triggered his thymus gland to produce bad antibodies. The bad antibodies blocked nerve messages from the brain which prevented muscles from working right. Myasthenia Gravis is fairly rare, afflicting around 36,000 people in the United States each year.

Symptoms started in February, 2005. First, he couldn't chew and had a droopy eye with impaired vision. He progressively got worse. Soon he couldn't eat or swallow so started losing weight at a rate of about seven pounds every three to four days. He also had arm weakness, couldn't hold his head up and his lung muscles failed.

It took from March to October of 2005 to pinpoint what was wrong with Temme. During that time, he underwent many different expensive tests to find out what was wrong.

Finally, they found Dr. Pary, a neurologist in Sioux City, Iowa, who diagnosed the disease on Temme's first visit there. Temme decided to go to Iowa City because his doctor in Sioux City recommended going there for a thymectomy. Temme noted his cardiothoracic surgeon in Iowa City, Dr. Vanneta was great; he was very caring and had great bedside manners. Since Temme's surgery, Dr. Vanneta left to work in Los Angeles but still keeps in contact with Temme and hasn't dropped him from his caseload.

Temme had surgery twice at Iowa University hospital in Iowa City, Iowa; once to remove the thymus gland and once to insert a trachea into his windpipe. Many symptoms left once the thymus was taken out.

The thymus gland is a butterfly-shaped gland that is attached to the lungs and windpipe and helps create the immune system from ages 1-12, then it goes dormant (or it's supposed to). Vel has and will continue to receive IVIG treatments, getting good antibodies each time. It takes around nine -12 hours for a treatment.

Temme is also on a combination of drugs to keep his body from going into bad reactions and stabilize. He gets a lot of lab work to check on his organs due to side effects of the drugs. It will take time and there are no guarantees that his body will go back to working normal. Temme has been home for almost three weeks now without being in the hospital. So far, he's gaining but it takes a long time.

"I'm ready to run but no one will give me the gas," Temme said. He added it really hurts to see his wife, Sue, working so hard to keep everything going and he isn't able to help her. While he's been sick, Sue has been working at her regular job at Providence Medical Center plus at their bakery in Wayne. Their children - Nathan and Melissa, employees and friends have also been helping.

"I don't know what we would have done without everyone's help, especially our kids," Sue said.

Vel was able to keep helping at the bakery until this March when things got worse and he couldn't do it anymore. It has been a long road and fatigue and emotional stress still bring on symptoms. Vel and Sue agree there is hope, something they had about given up on. They pray for good health to return, something people take for granted until they don't have it anymore.

Internet Auction Service helps turn your sellable items into cash

JoAnn (Giese) McKenzie, owner of Sell It 4 U Internet Auction Service, is an eBay Trading Assistant who has sold everything from an airplane engine to a vintage casket.

Her start on eBay stemmed from her collection of Wizard of Oz memorabilia. She sold items out of her collection to purchase more sought after pieces. Prior to starting her business she was a nurse/business manager at a clinic in Norfolk. Gas prices were rising and she grew tired of the 64 mile a day drive. She decided to turn her hobby into a business.

"I met the requirements to be a Registered Trading Assistant which put my plan in motion," McKenzie said. "My business took off when I joined the Wayne Chamber of Commerce, which I would recommend especially to small and/or home business". If you want to be taken seriously as a business you need to operate like a business. "The Chamber legitimized my company", McKenzie said. eBay has opened up a whole new economy for those in rural areas. It doesn't matter where you are in the world, all you need are items people want, backed by good customer service and business can be limitless.

One of her first customers was Irene Fletcher, over the world. Once something sells, she collects payment, packs and ships it right from her office. McKenzie receives 30 percent commission on the winning bid. If an item does not sell, the item owner pays nothing. People need to keep in mind that an item needs to be worth at least $20 for the owner to profit less costs and eBay fees. "If it's anything original or unusual, it will probably sell," McKenzie said.

McKenzie states many eBayers like buying from U.S. sellers because of our trademark laws. They know their items are most often authentic. Thinking about the global market, McKenzie notes a lot of her buyers are from Australia, Canada and Asia.

McKenzie and her husband, Michael, just returned from the annual "eBay Live" conference in Las Vegas, Nev., where over 15,000 attended from all over the world.

Besides selling on eBay, McKenzie also teaches eBay classes through Northeast Community College and at Central Community College in Columbus. She has taught nearly 1,000 people how to trade safely on eBay, as well as more advanced selling techniques. She is an eBay Education Specialist as she passed certification to teach who owned Legends Clothing Store. Among some of the items sold from the basement of Legends were mannequins, old displays, and advertising pieces. "I have found that just about anything is collectible," McKenzie said. "I love to sell antiques and collectibles; the research is fascinating."

When McKenzie agrees to sell an item on eBay, she first takes possession of it, grades and values it, photographs and researches it for proper category placement and pricing (which takes the most time), designs ads using web design principles, and then fields emails from potential buyers from all Buying & Selling on eBay and Beyond the Basics for the Serious Seller. "I never thought I would enjoy teaching but it has been very rewarding, especially working with senior citizens", McKenzie said. McKenzie grew up southeast of Wayne and graduated from Wayne High School and from NECC in nursing. She's a senior at Bellevue University earning a Bachelor's Degree in Healthcare Administration. "I was almost finished with my degree when my company took off nearly two years ago," McKenzie said.

Her husband, Michael, is U.S. Air Force Retired, and is currently a Quality Assurance Technician at Michael Foods Company in Wakefield. She has a 19-year-old daughter, Elizabeth, who attends college in Omaha.

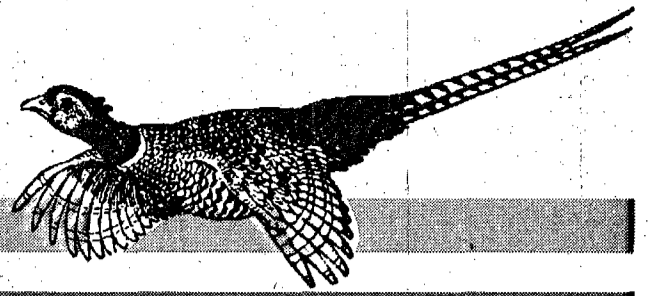

McKenzie's family helps her with packing, shipping, delivery and pick up of items, and general moral support. Besides her internet auction service, she volunteer consults for eBay fundraisers for nonprofits, as she feels everyone needs to give back to their community.

McKenzie can sell your items worldwide to an audience of over 200 million people. As for buying items on eBay, she cautions to use good common sense. "If something sounds too good to be true, it probably is."

Anyone with questions regarding items to sell or upcoming classes and workshops can call McKenzie at 833-5348 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday or visit her website at www.nebraskaselit4u.com

BRIDAL SHOWER

A miscellaneous bridal shower was held in honor of Shandi Briesse on June 25 at St. Anne's Parish Hall in Dixon. Shandi's colors of pink and creme were carried out in the table decorations, guest and gift tables and centerpieces.

Approximately 40 guests were in including special guests, grandmother Lois Becker of Magnet, grandmother Phyllis Nolte of Wayne, and a great great aunt, 101 year old Millie Johnson from Magnet.

Marilyn Harder gave the opening devotions built on the use of kitchen utensils. A prayer followed. Guests introduced themselves and how they came to know Shandi and her family.

Two pencil games, "Name the Cake" and "Guess the White Stuff" were played with the winners relaying their gifts to the bride. As Shandi opened her gifts, questions (already answered by the groom-to-be), were asked to see how much they knew about each other. A dessert luncheon was served.

Hostesses for the afternoon were: Sylvia Ketelsen of Norfolk, Rose Becker of Magnet, Laurie Hintz of Stanton, Tammy May of Dixon, and Shelli Roeder, Marilyn Harder and Suzie Johnson, all of Concord.

Shandi, daughter of Val and Todd Briesse, will become the bride of Dan Nolte, son of Dick and Pam Nolte on Aug. 19 at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne.

Learn to swim lessons ongoing

The Wayne City Swimming Pool offers American Red Cross Learn to Swim lessons every summer. This year, there are three sessions and currently they are in the midst of their second session. Lessons run for 45 minutes, and last for two weeks. Classes begin at 9, 10 and 11 am every morning. There are six levels and each year there are about 250 kids who go through the Wayne Learn to Swim Program.

The swimming lessons are taught by Water Safety Instructors who have completed a 30 hour Red Cross training class through the Northeast Nebraska Chapter of the American Red Cross. This year, there are 10 WSI's (Water Safety Instructors), along with three volunteer aides helping with lessons. Private lessons are also offered and parents can call the pool if interested in those.

Also offered is the American Red Cross Whale's Tales program, which teaches children water safety - not just for being in a swimming pool, but also at a lake or boating, etc. This is offered to all levels each session.

All lifeguards at the Wayne City pool are also Red Cross certified and have completed a 28 hour American Red Cross Life Guard

Training class where they learned critical safety procedures to be able to correctly respond to any emergency that should occur in or around the pool area. This summer there are 19 lifeguards at the Wayne pool (eight full time, including the manager and head lifeguard, and 11 part-time.)

Be careful what you sign, SOS petition circulators expected to be out in force at weekend events

Voters should be wary of aggressive out-of-state petition circulators who are expected to descend on Nebraskans at the College World Series and several other events across the state this weekend.

"Many of the Stop Over Spending (SOS) petition circulators are paid mercenaries who move from state to state," said Connie Benjamin, a spokesperson with Nebraskans for the Good Life, a statewide coalition opposed to the state budget petition. "They don't have a stake in Nebraska. Some circulators will say anything about the petitions to convince you to sign, even if it isn't true."

The SOS circulators are earning at least $2.50 per signature. Nebraskans for the Good Life have received reports that some circulators are raking in as much as $10 for every signature they collect.

"With the July 7 deadline quickly approaching, the circulators will become increasingly desperate to gather signatures. Nebraskans need to be on the alert for illegal practices and high-pressure tactics to force you to sign," Benjamin said.

Earlier this week Attorney General Jon Bruning launched an investigation into allegations that paid petition circulators set up a "Wheel of Fortune" prize wheel near Johnny Rosenblatt Stadium to lure College World Series fans into signing initiative petitions. Bruning has indicated that such action would constitute a Class IV Felony under Nebraska law.

"Do not be fooled," Benjamin said. "This SOS petition effort is being funded by shadowy out-of-state interest groups with deep pockets - and all indications are that they are prepared to spend over $1 million to try to buy their way onto the Nebraska ballot."

The coalition offers the following guidance to the public when dealing with petition circulators:

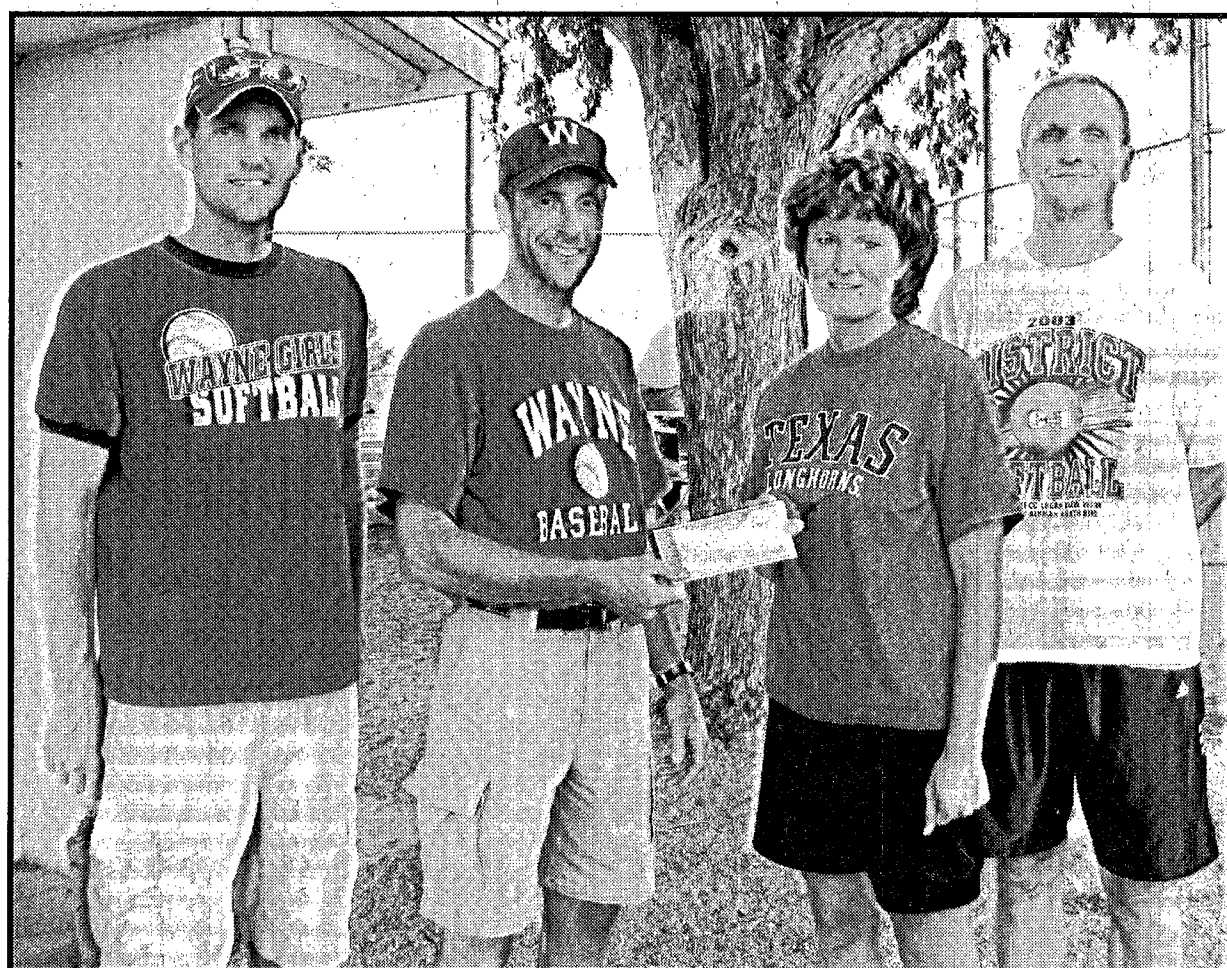

- If someone approaches you with a petition, don't feel intimidated or pressured to sign.
- If you are harassed by a petition circulator, call the police.
- If you encounter petition circulators on private property, ask the manager or business owner to remove them from the premises.
- By state law, circulators must read you the object of the petition. The object statement is printed in bold lettering at the top of the petition. You have the right to read the entire language in the petition before you sign.

If you have already signed the SOS petition and realize you made a mistake, you can have your name removed. You need to sign an affidavit, have it notarized and send the form to the Nebraska Secretary of State's office, election commission or county clerk on or before July 7.

You can also take the same steps if a circulator violated the law by not reading you the object of the petition. Both forms are available on the coalition's web site at www.nebraskansforthegoodlife.com.

Nebraskans for the Good Life are opposed to the state budget petition because it will increase property taxes, slash essential services and make it impossible for government to effectively respond to emergencies.

For more information, contact Devorah Lanner at 402/323-5425 or Connie Benjamin at 402/323-5421.

Prevent eye injuries from fireworks

Fireworks displays are one of the most recognizable symbols of Independence Day, but there are risks, warns Lions Club International, a worldwide service of organization dedicated to the conservation of sight.

Each year, thousands of people across the country suffer serious eye injuries because of fireworks and nearly three-quarters of those injuries occur around the July Fourth holiday. About 2,000 eye injuries are reported each year with nearly half by bystanders, not the people who set off the fireworks. Even sparklers can be dangerous - they are the number one cause of eye injury to children. Sparklers consist of metal shrapnel burning at about 1,800 degrees

Fahrenheit. "Despite our many advances in the ability to repair severely injured eyes, the damage can be devastating, often resulting in blindness, permanently impaired vision or loss of one or both eyes," says Christopher Andreoli, M.D., Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary's Chief Resident and Director of Eye Trauma. "Most eye injuries caused by fireworks are preventable."

Lions Clubs International and Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary offer these sight-saving tips:

- Leave it to the professionals: Pack a picnic and attend a professional fireworks display.
- Leave it to the adults: Don't let children ignite fireworks or stand near others who do.

• Keep your distance: View fireworks displays from at least 500 feet away and keep away from a lighted firework. Many injuries occur when checking on a firework that has failed to ignite.

• Wear eye protection: Eyeglasses or sunglasses can help protect the eyes from smoke, falling ash and stray sparks.

If an accident does occur, Dr. Andreoli advises covering the injured eye. Don't apply pressure to the eye or rub it, as that can make the injury worse and cause bleeding. Don't eat or drink anything until seen by a doctor. Most importantly, seek medical help immediately.

PLEASURE & PROFIT 4-H CLUB

The 4-H Club meeting was held on June 10. The Pledge of Allegiance and Pleasure and Profit were announced. There were four 4-H members present: Jarrett Warner, Shelby Tanderup, Carla Rastede and Whitney Smith. The four guests were Dave, Cindy Krusemark, Joy Smith and Darlene Roberts.

Jarrett Warner presided as President with Shelby who sat in as Vice-President. Carla filled in for treasurer. Jarrett took roll call and Shelby asked "What are you going to do this summer?" The old business was discussion of the $2 dues. Carla and Whitney paid at the meeting, bringing our total amount to $214.63. Lunch was served by the Krusemark family.

New business included discussion by the group on going tanking on Aug. 12.

Also, record books can now be done online instead of written out on paper. If you don't have access to the internet, you are encouraged to find someone who does or you can go to the NE Station to do your record book.

Jarrett asked to adjourn the meeting and Shelby seconded it.

The next meeting will be on July 22 at the fairgrounds to clean up.

COMMUNITY CLUB

The Allen Community Club met June 19 at the Village Inn.

President LeAnn Hoffman called the meeting to order. The secretary and treasurer's were read and approved. Old business was discussed.

Twelve garage sales were listed on the map, and although the weather was in climate, there seemed to be a good turnout. A donation will be sent to the Dixon County Junior Leaders as well as a request for community service to help by the group for clean-up activities in Allen.

Plans were outlined for the Oct. 15 Dixon County Hand Cornhusking Fun Day. Community members will help at the registration and tabulation desk, FFA members will help with the timing, counting, and gleaning, and Dixon County Historical Society will help with demonstrations of equipment associated with corn harvesting.

Community Club members are reminded to help at the July 31 Dixon County Fair Bar-b-que.

The end of the summer community potluck picnic will be held Aug. 21 at 6 pm in the park. Everyone is invited to attend to enjoy food, fellowship, and entertainment.

CORNHUSKING FUN DAY

A new fun event will take place on Oct. 15 - the Dixon County Hand Cornhusking Fun Day. The Allen FFA chapter along with the Dixon County Historical Society and the Allen Community Club will jointly sponsor the event. The Dixon County Historical Society will have items relating to the corn picking on display at the site. More information will be given at a later date.

Local RC&D send three council members to conference in Georgia

Savannah, Georgia was the site of the fifth National Association of Resource Conservation and Development Councils conference held June 18-21, 2006. It was estimated that between 1,100 and 1,200 attended the meetings. The local Northeast Nebraska Resource Conservation and Development Council (RC&D) offices in Plainview, sent three area council members.

Attending were Bob Porter of Wayne, Nebraska State RC&D Association chairperson, Janet Eckmann, Bloomfield and Mary Rose Pinkelman of St. James. Jan Jorgensen, Northeast RC&D Coordinator also attended.

The conference and training sessions were held at the Savannah International Trade & Convention Center which is located on Hutchinson Island across from the famous Historical River Front Street. Water taxis were used to cross the Savannah River and a riverboat dinner cruise on the Savannah River Queen captured the sustainable economic impact of the river region.

The Northeast Nebraska RC&D Council submitted four success stories for the national convention and all four were chosen to be presented in half hour sessions.

Porter presented success story titled "Nebraskans for Food, Land & People. FLP provides educational materials and training to facilitators and teachers. It gives them the knowledge to implement a pre K-12 curriculum on agriculture, natural resources, environment and culture that meets Nebraska's educational standards.

Pinkelman presented the success of the famous "Shannon Trail"; A Lewis & Clark journal story about Private George Shannon, the youngest member of the expedition who got lost in Northeast Nebraska. She told of the efforts of 16 rural towns that created the Shannon Trail - a scavenger hunt bringing travelers who search for wooden statues of Shannon and the impact on improving community economics.

Eckmann offered information on two different success stories of Northeast Nebraska RC&D Council. She told of the success of the council's "Cemeteries & Ghost Towns Fall Tours" and how 106 participants enjoyed a day bus tour of Ghost Towns, cemeteries, old churches and parks of northeast Nebraska.

"Corps of Discovery Welcome Center", was the title of the second success story given by Eckmann in Savannah. She related information on the Welcome Center which opened in May of 2001 which provides the perfect place to learn more about Northeast Nebraska and Southeastern South Dakota. Visitors have come from all 50 states and 62 foreign countries. Savannah's tourism addresses their Civil War History and brought about an architectural renaissance through historic preservation in this coastal Georgia city.

The RC&D welcomes project ideas and suggestions. For more information on current projects being done by the Northeast Nebraska RC&D contact the Plainview office at 402-582-4866 or visit their website at www.north-eastrod.org

Summer reading program session is success

The Wayne Public Library hosted a morning awards party for June Session participants of the 2006 Summer Reading Program "Paws, Claws, Scales and Tales!" on June 24.

Eighty-three participants and family members were in attendance. The party included door prizes, muffins, milk and juice, recognition off all the participants, volunteers and benefactors, and the awarding of prizes to the participants.

The awards were followed by activities like sidewalk chalk drawing, hamster bowling, getting "read" tattoos and face painting.

"This year has been record breaking! In just the first session 223 young people have participated in the program and read 4,025 books! WOW! (Last year at this same time only 184 children had participated and 3,295 books were read.) Outstanding work everyone!" said Julie Osnes, Youth Services Librarian.

Outside the Library's front door, the fish bowl gets a new finny friend for every 100 books that are read. Patrons have already filled it so there may be some flying fish next month. The library also averaged 140 children through the doors on each Wednesday afternoon from 12:30-3 p.m.

"We are so excited with this growth! Hopefully programs like this will foster a life long love of reading and help our community's children develop the positive attitudes toward reading that will give them an edge in future opportunities," Osnes said.

Each active participant also received a paperback book, a bookmark, a small prize and various items and coupons donated by area businesses. In addition, children's names were entered in a drawing each time they read a book, read for one hour or came to a program. A total of 35 special prizes were awarded.

THINK SAVING FOR RETIREMENT IS COMPLICATED?

THINK AGAIN. Some of the best plans in life are often the simplest ones, especially when saving for retirement. For example, you can invest a set amount of money on a monthly basis into an Edward Jones IRA. This lets you:

- Take full advantage of contribution limits and potential tax benefits
- Eliminate the worry about investing at the right time
- Add potential growth and diversification to your portfolio
- Keep your long-term financial goals in focus

To learn why it may make sense for you to invest a set amount of money into an Edward Jones IRA each month, call or visit your local investment representative today.

Automatically investing each month does not ensure a profit and does not protect against loss in declining markets. Such a plan involves continual investment in securities regardless of fluctuating price levels of such securities. You should consider your financial ability to continue the purchases through periods of low price levels.

FIREWORKS SAFETY

From the first anniversary of American independence back in 1777, fireworks displays and Fourth of July celebrations have gone hand in hand. However, the history of fireworks dates back even further, most likely to the ancient Chinese. They often used fireworks in celebrations, believing the loud "bang" would scare off evil spirits.

It wasn't until the 1800s when developers realized that by combining potassium chlorate and various metallic salts, they could create brilliant color displays in the air. Before then, displays were seen in black and white. Now wouldn't that be a sight?

Fireworks may look like fun, but they are also very dangerous. Follow these sponsored safety tips for a safe and fun Fourth of July!

Light fireworks outdoors in a clear area, far from houses or flammable materials.

Never point fireworks at anyone or anyone's property.

Light only one firecracker at a time.

Never hold fireworks in your hand while lighting them or after you've lit them!

Never carry fireworks in your pocket.

Always use protective eyewear around fireworks.

Never try to relight fireworks that are not fully functional.

Always thoroughly soak fireworks in water before disposing of them in the trash.

Do not lengthen or shorten a firework's fuse.

Never let any part of your body extend over a firework.

Make sure fireworks are legal in your state.

Buy fireworks only from reliable sellers.

Children should not be allowed to play with fireworks.

Read and follow all warnings and instructions on fireworks packaging.

Keep a bucket of water nearby in case of emergencies.

Eat light and stay active during the summer

As the weather becomes warmer, there is a natural progression of wanting to eat lighter foods and becoming more active. Hot meals can make one feel weighted down when trying to participate in fun, outdoor activities. During the summer, take advantage of the greater variety of fruits and vegetables and the greater availability of fresh herbs to make cold entrees and salads. Also, take advantage of the nice weather to do more outdoor activities, such as running or swimming.

Cooking and eating outside is another way to enjoy the hot weather. Grilled meats can be placed on top of salads of mixed greens or spinach and served with low-fat mayonnaise or low-fat salad dressing. Also, grilled meats can be accompanied by grilled vegetables or grilled corn.

Other food items to consider grilling are fish and fruits, such as pineapple slices or peaches covered with brown sugar.

A refreshing alternation for a light meal could be cold soups, such as a strawberry soup or gazpacho, which is a tomato-based soup containing a variety of raw vegetables.

Fruits, such as mixed berries, with low-fat or non-dairy whipped topping or yogurt can be the perfect, healthy ending to a cool summer meal.

Lutheran Women's Missionary League holds convention

The 2006 Nebraska District North Lutheran Women's Missionary League (LWML) was in session at the 33rd Biennial Convention at Midland Lutheran College in Fremont.

There were over 300 women, men and children in attendance. They came from northeast Nebraska with JOY in their hearts as state in their convention theme "Joy in Abundance." The theme is based on 1 Peter 1:8b, "You believe in Him and are filled with an inexpressible and glorious JOY."

LWML is a mission-based organization of the Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod (LCMS). The women chose mission grants to "serve the Lord with gladness!" Their mission grant goal for the 2006-08 biennium is $65,500. The goal is reached through the prayers of the LWML and "mite" giving. Mites are the pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters and dollars the LWML gathers and dedicates to God's service.

The grants include: Orphan Grain Train, $8,000; Mission Central, $5,700; Camp Luther, $8,500; Trinity/HOPE, $4,750; Concordia Seminary, Ft. Wayne, $10,000; Alaska Mission for Christ, $3,000; Lutheran Blind Mission, $5,000; Lutheran Center at Wayne State College in Wayne, $1,000; LSMC World Missions, Kyrgyzstan, $5,000; Lutheran Family Services, FACES, $25; International Student Ministry, $25.

Young Women Representatives (YWR) is a program of the LWML to encourage, mentor and teach the young women of the LCMS to continue in their walk with God and to serve Him with gladness. There were 12 YWRs in attendance, and they chose their own mission grant of $2,006 for Mission Central distribution assistance for 100 children in Lutheran schools in Indonesia. YWRs also put their faith into action by working at the Fremont Habitat for Humanity house.

Friends Into Serving Him is a new program of the LWML for teens. It is also a mentoring program designed to encourage these young women in the walk with the Lord.

Election of officers was also part of the convention business. Elected to four-year terms were:

President - Monique Wolske of Tilden; Vice President Gospel Outreach - Monica Ebmeier of Laurel; Vice President Servant Resources - Marianne Slama of Scribner; Treasurer - Jeanne Oltjenbruns of Osmond; Counselor

- Pastor John Ryding of O'Neill; Nominating Committee, Gwen Lindberg of West Point, chair; Pat Neujahr of Valentine; Glenna Gutz of Osmond; Nila Schuttler of Wayne; Marian Beck of Leigh and June McCarty of Arlington, alternate.

LWML women collected over 2,345 items and over $1,500 in gift cards and/or money as "Gifts from the Heart." These gifts included supplies for babies, spiritual care, school students, hygiene, hair care and crafts. These gifts will be distributed to aid Jefferson House in Fremont and also children in the Gulf States region via Orphan Grain Train.

The Lutheran Women's Missionary League, with a membership of over 250,000, is the official women's organization of The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. The LWML focuses on affirming each woman in her relationship with Christ to enable her to be in ministry among the people of the world.

For over 60 years the organization has been encouraging and equipping women to live out their Christian lives in active mission ministries and to financially support global missions.

Agriculture

Week proves to be a busy one

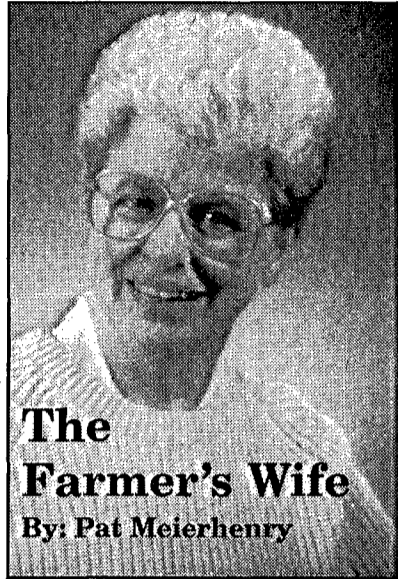

The Big Farmer has been left alone in the townhouse for the last eight days, so I plan to stick close today and cook a decent meal! As I told my friend Mary last night, he doesn't mind, as long as I leave food. It's a very good thing I didn't get one of those guys who doesn't eat leftovers, that's all I can say.

First of all, I covered a vacation for the clinical coordinator last week. I haven't worked five days in a row for a very long time; even the last time I covered for her were three day weekend weeks. I always wonder how I did that, and ran the Bed and Breakfast, too, for about 10 years. I think the answer is I was younger then, because I'm certainly out of the habit now. A couple of those nights last week, I was in bed by 8 p.m. And it wasn't even a particularly busy week.

On Saturday, I didn't leave until after 9, but drove to Fremont where the LWML North was having its convention at Midland college. Here, I got to hear an inspiring speaker, eat lunch with friends, and hug a few more I hadn't seen for quite a while.

These conventions always feature projects, and since it was held in the gym at the college, there was lots of room. When I got there, it was a regular beehive; women marking Bibles, others tying quilts, and still another group cutting out fabric for something I never did discover the name of. And there is always singing, and this convention featured a preacher from Wisconsin who was so good on the keyboard, he should work in a piano bar!

I haven't been in one of those for years, but there used to be one in Norfolk, at the corner of 13th Street and Norfolk Avenue. You could sit around the piano, a lively lady played your requests, and you and your friends could sing all evening. I think I was younger then, too, a lot younger!

On Sunday, I put in an appearance at the retirement party for a Methodist pastor friend at Christ UM church. His wife works with us, and she says he's having a hard time realizing he can actually slow down. I told him it's very easy to get used to, believe me.

And then, I spent the rest of the day with a dear elderly person who had to have a colonoscopy on Monday. I think the preparation for this ordeal is the hard part, but she did just fine. And, after being told there was no cancer, and saying "Thank the Lord" several times, she looked at me and said I'd better get busy and have one, "There's nothing to it!"

It's true, they make it very easy now. But I'm always amazed when I'm at the free-standing endoscopy center, how many folks must be having gastrointestinal problems. I think we are having an epidemic of GERD. That's an acronym for reflux, and those meds sell like hot cakes.

Mike stayed content watching the College World Series, and after Oregon State beat North Carolina in three games, we had to call cousin Gil in Medford and rejoice with him. Those Beavers were amazing! Now, to a dirty house.

PSC increases dry edible bean storage rate

The storage rate for dry edible beans in Nebraska grain warehouses will increase for the first time in 17 years.

The Nebraska Public Service Commission approved in June a raise in the dry edible storage rate of six one hundredths of a cent per hundredweight per day effective Sept. 1. The last previous storage rate increase was in 1989.

Citing increased costs to warehouse operators, the Commission voted 4-1 to increase the rate with Fifth District Commissioner Jerry Vap of McCook dissenting. Dry edible beans and popcorn comprise the Schedule E rate and the Commission left the rate for popcorn unchanged at .15 to .25 cents per hundredweight per day.

The Public Service Commission is charged by law to conduct an annual review of storage rates. The Schedule A storage rate for barley, corn, grain sorghum, millet, oats, rye, sunflower seed, and wheat remains unchanged at a maximum of 120 thousandths of a cent per bushel per day. For soybeans the maximum rate remains at 135 thousandths of a cent per bushel per day.

The Commission conducted a public hearing on storage rates on May 16 at the Commission's office in Lincoln with a video link at Scottsbluff. Grain warehouses are required by the Commission to post storage rates approved by the agency.

Out-of-State interest hikes payment for signatures

Outside groups trying to force a "Stop Over Spending" (SOS) initiative onto Nebraska's November election ballot have reportedly raised the amount they are paying petition circulators to $4.50 per signature. That's a $2 increase over the $2.50 per signature the outside groups were paying.

"These out-of-state interest groups are spending an obscene amount of money—in excess of half a million dollars—to try to buy their way onto the Nebraska ballot," said Connie Benjamin, a spokesperson for Nebraskans for the Good Life, a statewide coalition opposed to the SOS initiative.

The initiative would amend the Nebraska Constitution to require a state budget spending cap. It is modeled after Colorado's Taxpayer's Bill of Rights, which has wreaked havoc with that state's services to citizens. Backers of the petition must collect 115,000 signatures by July 7 to place the initiative on Nebraska's ballot.

"Nebraska's Constitution already includes a balanced budget requirement and the state meets that requirement every year," Benjamin said. "We do not need organizations from outside Nebraska blowing into our state and telling Nebraska voters they should change the state constitution."

The petition was filed with the Secretary of State by Americans for Limited Government, based in Glenview, Illinois. The group that is filing campaign reports with the Accountability and Disclosure Commission is called Stop Over Spending Nebraska, based in North Platte.

As of May 30, the sole source of funding for the initiative campaign is a group in Boise, Idaho, called America at Its Best, which contributed $100,000 to the signature-seeking blitz. Benjamin said that many Nebraskans who have signed the petitions probably do not realize the devastating impacts of the proposed constitutional amendment, such as higher property taxes along with deep cuts to education, local police and fire departments, prisons, community hospitals and health care for children and seniors.

"We are strongly urging the public to decline to sign these petitions," she said. "And if you have already signed the petition and realize you made a mistake, you can have your name removed. Voters can remove their names from the petition by signing an affidavit, having it notarized and sending the form to the Nebraska Secretary of State's office, election commission or county clerk on or before July 7. The forms are available on the coalition's web site at www.nebraskansforthebetterlife.com.

Northeast Nebraska RC&D meeting held

Jeff Fields, Ponca State Park Superintendent was the speaker for the Northeast Nebraska Resource, Conservation & Development (RC&D) Council meeting.

Fields talk focused on the upcoming Missouri River Outdoor Expo, the second year for this annual event geared toward educating and engaging people in outdoor activities. Sept. 23 and 24 at Ponca State Park will be filled with hands-on demonstrations, exhibits and activities on hunting, fishing, biking, shooting, backpacking, outdoor cooking, conservation, dog training and more. The RC&D Council will again be sponsoring a tent for local tourism-related groups.

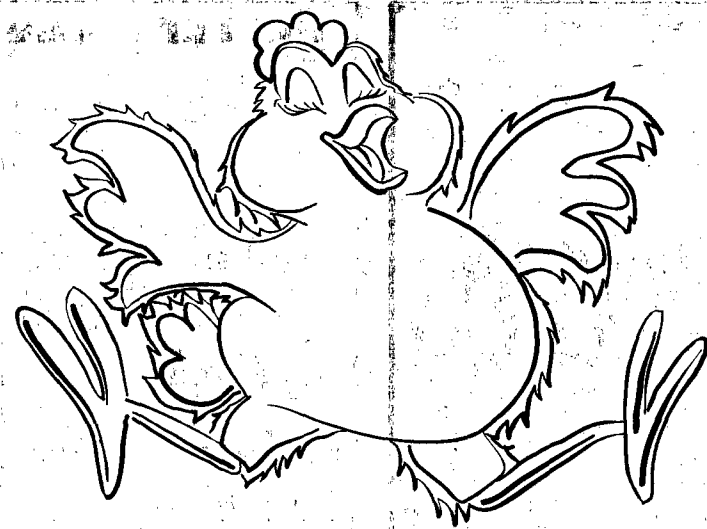

President Gary Howey, Hartington led the meeting. Updates were presented on nine active projects including the Area Plan effort to gather citizen input for the new long-range plan being developed.

A Nebraska Arts Council grant of $1,505 was accepted for the Shannon Trail "Nashville Backstage" concert. The Council also heard that a Kellogg grant was awarded for the Farm to Family Connection project which will link local farmers and their products to consumers.

Two new projects were approved: E-Bay Classes which will be offered through the Pierce Library and taught by librarian Dawn Tucker and a Northeast Travel Council request to provide grant writing assistance.

Bob Porter of Wayne, Mary Rose Pinkelman of Wynot, Janet Eckmann of Lindy and Coordinator Jan Jorgensen told of their training received at the National RC&D Conference in Savannah, Ga. recently. Four Northeast Nebraska RC&D success stories were presented during the conference.

The family of Minnie Rice would like to express our sincere gratitude to all who offered your love, care, and comfort through your visits, cards, flowers and other remembrances to Minnie during her hospitalization, and to her family after her death. In addition, memorials to the John D. Rice Scholarship Fund at Wayne State College are gratefully acknowledged.

A very special thank you to the Providence Medical Center staff, the Oaks staff and residents; Pastor Mary Tyler Browne; soloist Ron Carnes and organist Coleen Jeffries; eulogist Jeannette Samples, who shared loving memories of her Aunt Minnie; pallbearers Edward Carress; Ron Carnes, David Ley, George Phelps, Gary Samples and Ron Willers; the ladies of First United Methodist Church who provided the lovely luncheon; Judy Johnson and Lucille Peterson for their obituary - a warm and personal tribute to Minnie; to Minnie's dear Minerva Club friends; and the Schumacher-Hasemann Funeral Home.

May God bless you all for your many acts of kindness!

The Family of Janet Vanderheiden would like to thank everyone for the flowers, cards, prayers and memorials. We would also like to thank Fr. Pietramale, St. Mary's women for the lunch and everyone that helped at the farm moving bales. Thanks again for all of the support from neighbors, friends and family were great.

Dan Vanderheiden and family

A sincere thank you to Dr. Lindau, PMC nursing staff and the physical therapy department while I was a patient at PMC. You have wonderful, dedicated nurses and physical therapy personnel. Kent and Mandy, as busy as you were, you were very caring, encouraging and patient. I couldn't have made it home without you. Thanks to Gary & Ilene Nichols, and to Connie and Lynn for taking care of Chelsea, to Pastor Mary, Rosalind Woods and Sr. Cecelia for your visits and prayers. Thanks for the calls, cards, gifts, flowers and the dozens of visitors; to my son, Lee, for making my return home much easier. I am truly grateful.

Pearla Benjamin

Thank you to everyone for your cards, phone calls, visits and prayers during my recent hospital stay and recovery at home. Special thanks to Drs. McCorkindale & Lindau and the staff at PMC for their exceptional care, to Pastor Lilienkamp for his visits and prayers and to John, Terry & Michelle, my family and my lovely wife Sue for your heartfelt care & concern. God bless you all!

Tyler Frevert

We would like to say thanks to all of you who sent cards, came to visit, brought gifts, remembered us in prayer, attended our open house, or wished us well. You made our 50th wedding anniversary a wonderful day filled with old and new memories. We are blessed to live in such a caring community.

Thanks to our sons and their families for hosting the event. What a wonderful family you are.

And we would be remiss if we didn't thank the unidentified people who performed an old shivaree prank by stacking all of our porch furniture in front of the door so we couldn't get the door open the next morning. That really brought back some old memories!!
