Before and after . . .

Wayne County Fair set for July 26-30

The 84th annual Wayne County Fair will get underway on Wednesday, July 26 with entry of thousands of exhibits and conclude with the annual Demolition Derby on Sunday, July 30.

Members of the Wayne County Fair and Agricultural Association and numerous other volunteers have made several improvements on the fairgrounds in recent months.

These include the building of a new show arena for the dog, cat, chicken, rabbit and swine show and the installing of a permanent announcer's stand near the grandstand.

In addition, a new wash bay has been built for use by those showing sheep. New fencing was installed on the southwest area of the fairgrounds.

With partial funding from a grant from the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District, a sidewalk was poured in the area of the fair office and the 4-H building.

The Way-Co bathroom has been repainted and the 4-H logo and pledge printed on the side of the building.

Steel has been installed on several buildings and a plastic coating placed on some of the existing boards in the grandstand seating area. This improvement will help preserve the boards from the weather.

This year's fair gets underway on Wednesday, July 26 with entry of the majority of the exhibits, including 4-H, open class and Ag Hall exhibits.

Thursday's activities begin with the 4-H Horse Show and continue with the Bucket Calf, Goat, Dairy and Sheep Shows.

The Loghoppers Chainsaw Artist will be on the fairgrounds throughout the fair. The creations will be auctioned off at 5:30 p.m. on Sunday, July 30.

Three tractor pulls will take place on Thursday. The Northeast Nebraska Pullers Tractor Pull begins at 11 a.m. The Northeast Nebraska Pullers, 3000 RPM and Hot Farm Classes pull is set for 6:30 p.m. and will be followed by the Nebraska

Bush Pullers' Sanctioned Pull at 7:30 p.m.

A flag burning ceremony will take place at 7:20 p.m. that evening.

Friday's events begin with the 4-H Swine Show and continue with a 4-H Cow/Calf Show, Feeder Calf, Breeding Beef and Market Beef Shows.

A Progressive Nutrition Breakfast in the Way-Co Building and Businessman's Breakfast at St. Mary's Food Stand will be available Friday morning.

The weekly Chamber Coffee will be held at 10 a.m. in the Little Theater.

Face painting with Colors da Clown will be available on Friday from 3 to 7 p.m. and Saturday from noon to 3 p.m. and again from 5 to 8 p.m. in the Commercial Building.

The Country Music Truck (CMT) Cross Country trailer will be on the fairgrounds on Friday from 5 to 9 p.m. and again on Saturday from 2 to 8 p.m.

The highlight of Friday's activities will be the 45th annual Free Barbecue at 6 p.m.

It will be followed by the 4-H Fashion Show, the presentation of the Kilroy Award, Ak-Sar-Ben Awards and the Wayne

Laurel church to celebrate centennial

Around the turn of the nineteenth century, Catholics in Laurel celebrated Mass in private homes when a visiting priest was available and later, the Odd Fellows Hall was rented.

Parishioners at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Laurel are preparing to celebrate the 100th anniversary of their church with two days of faith, fellowship, and fun beginning on Saturday, July 22.

The Saturday Centennial events will be open to the public beginning at 2 p.m. with games and fun things for everyone along with funnel cakes, popcorn and other novelties.

Father James McCluskey, current pastor of the parish, will celebrate the regular 6 p.m. Saturday evening Mass.

After Mass, beginning around 7 p.m., there will be bingo and cards in St. Mary's Faith Community Hall and a dance is planned for the teenagers on the street. Many parishioners are cleaning up their old ice cream freezers to make homemade ice cream to be served along with the homemade pies in the hall. Hamburgers and hot dogs will also be served. Pop and munchies will be available outside.

The Sunday celebration will be for St. Mary's parishioners, past parishioners, families and friends. It begins with a 3 p.m. Mass celebrated by Archbishop Elden Curtiss. Former pastors will also be present. St. Mary's Altar Society is planning a parish family meal to follow the Mass. A short program featuring Father Al Salanitro will follow for remembrances and recognitions.

According to a history of the parish, currently being compiled into book form,

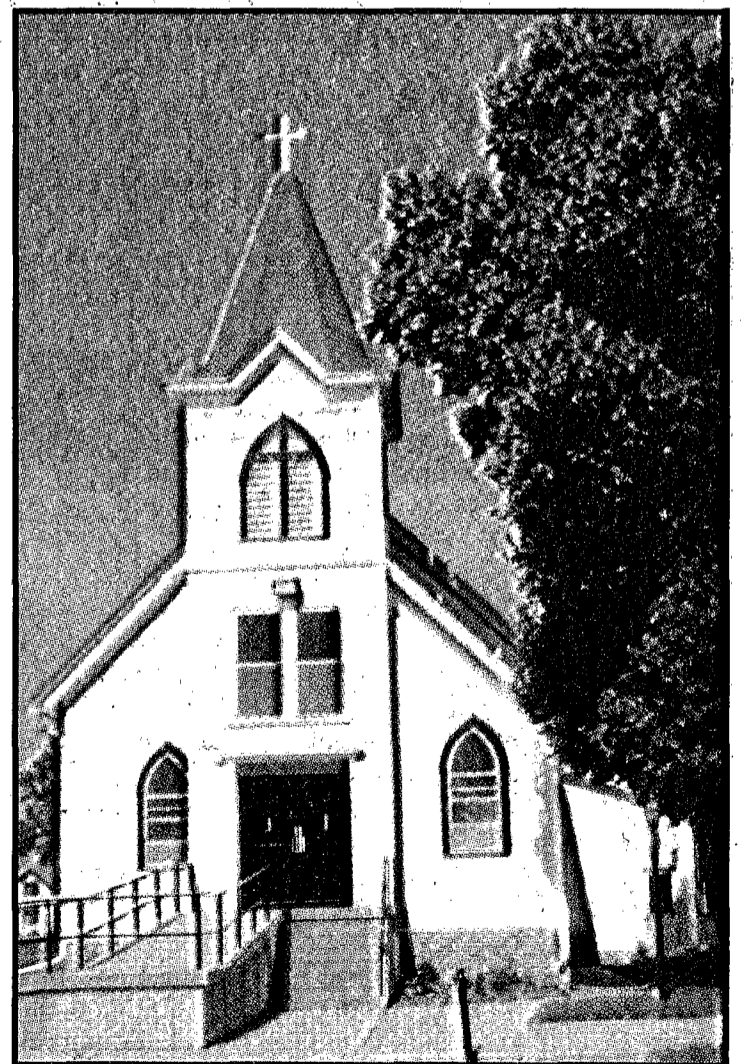

"One of the babies baptized during this pioneer time was Martha, the daughter of James "Hawley" and Catherine (Willness) French. Martha (French) Holm, a resident of Hillcrest Care Center, was baptized in 1903 before there was a Catholic Church in Laurel."

In 1905 a group that might have included James P. Gallagher, the depot agent for the Burlington Railroad, Angus Maun, of the building firm of Fowler and Maun, and James McDevitt, the first druggist in Laurel, purchased a corner lot for $210 in what was then called Goltz Addition.

On Oct. 10, 1905 a contract was let for the church building with the stipulation that the building was to be completed in three months. The new Laurel Church was to be a mission of St. Anne's Catholic Church in Dixon and Father John P. Devane was the pastor.

It seems as though there were construction problems even in those days. Some stories claim that members of the congregations started on the church even before the contract was let. Then the contractors laid the foundation for a wide, two aisle church and Father Devane decided the dimensions were too ambitious for the Laurel parish. The foundation had to be relaid for the one aisle that it has today.

It was finished on Jan. 1, 1906 and Laurel had a Catholic Church with no name. The name selected was St. Mary and was a mission of St. Anne's in Dixon.

The Catholic ladies gave a supper in Wilson's Hall (Corner Cafe building, second floor) on Jan. 3, 1906 with the proceeds being used to furnish the interior of the new church. About that time the Catholic ladies also organized an aid society, now the Altar Society, headed by President Wanda Jonas.

Father Devane was scheduled to hold the first Mass in the new

Summer activities include dealing with petition issues

Main Street Focus

Main Street Wayne wishes to thank all those people who volunteered for the various duties at Henoween and Chicken Days. They were great activities for the community. A wrap-up meeting was held July 19.

Special thanks goes out to all those who participated as volunteers and contributors to the Vel Temme fund-raiser. Last reports were that $23,300 was raised. It was heart-warming to see the large crowd at the fire hall.

As this column is being written, the concrete is being laid on the south end of Main Street. It is amazing to see how this is done and to see the quality of work being performed. But what else could one expect with all the sidewalk superintendents on hand to observe and lend their opinions on the project?

While all the action is taking place Tuesday on Main Street, Out Back is where the action will take place on Saturday. The "Outback Flea Market" is being held in the alleys between Second and Third Street. More than 30 exhibitors have signed up and will be on hand to display and sell their wares. The committee has asked that customers not arrive until the bell rings at 8 a.m. because they need to have time for the exhibitors to set up for the fun day. Although the flea market will be held downtown, the Farmers Market will still be held at the USDA building parking lot.

A food court is planned in the alley on the west side of Main Street, along the white fence at Property Exchange Partners for those interested in a variety of food and drinks.

Main Street Wayne has heard that the National Main Street Annual Convention will be held in March of 2007 in Seattle, Wash. The theme for the convention is "Building a Sustainable Future." The Nebraska Main Street Program has encouraged us to submit a proposal of a paper to be delivered at the convention on the formation of the WAEDI program. The proposal has been submitted and we are awaiting word on our possible selection to present this paper.

The state Main Street Conference will be hosted by the Wayne Main Street program on Sept. 28-29. Sandy Bartling heads up this special Task Force and is looking for volunteers to assist in the planning and tasks that are needed to prepare for the conference.

Last Thursday, the preliminary Wayne City Plan was presented by Marty Schukert and Amy Haase of RDG Planning and Design. Among the potential changes proposed in the comprehensive plan were a revamped downtown and a new town hall with an amphitheater on the southeast edge of town.

Also included in the plan were a community-owned department store which selected members of Main Street have been working on with the city and a community theater in the old fire house (this is another project that Main Street has been working on with a special task force headed by Gary VanMeter and a group of volunteers from Main Street and the Community Theater.

Since its inception, Main Street Wayne has been interested in a revitalized downtown — how many people remember the meetings we held to talk about how Wayne should look and how we developed a streetscape for our downtown area.

What has been accomplished by the Main Street Program has been slow in coming, but the ideas and thoughts have been there. What is needed is more people to step forward and help us turn dreams into reality.

In the presentation Schukert said that a town the size of Wayne needs to think proactively and creatively to draw people to town. He said competing directly with Norfolk and Sioux City would be a mistake, but instead we must use resources that are unique to a town of this size and draw people from cities like Norfolk and South Sioux City. He also stated that "the roads aren't one way roads, they are two way roads."

The plan is a 10-20 year plan and appears to follow a Main Street philosophy of building consensus among all segments of the community and to proceed in an orderly, well-organized manner.

It was an exciting presentation and the room was crowded. I felt that people left the presentation with a good feeling about Wayne and where Wayne may be headed. Now we need to pull together and work together, work with our council members and city officials to see how we can build the community described in the plan.

Justices of the Nebraska Supreme Court probably could plan their summer activities around the number and nature of election-year initiative and referendum petitions.

It wouldn't be surprising to learn that they already consider such situations. Think of their honors at the conference table, going over a list of issues that will hit the streets via circulators.

Judge 1: "Okay. It seems there will be four petitions relating to gambling."

Judge 2: "That's it then. We will have at least two cases up here after the July deadline for submitting signatures."

Judge 3: "I agree. Whichever side loses on the signature count will litigate."

Judge 4: "Let's see. They might challenge the process itself."

Judge 5: "Wait a minute! We decided all that in earlier cases. How many 'new' questions can they think of?"

Judge 6: "That question isn't worthy of you, dear colleague. You might as well ask how many state senators can dance on the head of a gun-control bill. And, they might challenge whether one or more of the issues can be on the ballot, regardless of how many signatures they get."

Judge 7: "Bingo!"

Judges 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6: "What? You have an idea?"

Judge 7: "Bingo! I used to play bingo! I have a conflict! I can recuse myself, excuse myself and remove myself to some place where the humidity is less than 98 percent all summer!"

Judges 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6: "That's craps, you slacker! Bingo is legal, you judicial gold brick. That's not a conflict. It's not even the appearance of a conflict. We won't let you go."

Judge 7: "That's it, then. Clear your calendars for the rest of the summer, I'm going to sue!"

Other judges, again: "You can't do that. There's no precedent that says you can do that."

Judge 7: "Oh, yeah? Well, then — I'll sue over that, too!"

Other judges, one more time. "Okay already. Just go. Have a good time."

Lesson: Sometimes 7 really is a lucky number.

and Aug. 4-5. The sale time on Fridays will be 3 p.m. to 7 p.m. at the site and on Saturday from 1:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. The owner requires cash payment and sales tax is required by the state. The bricks must be counted so buyers will need to stack the pavers they want to buy in layers that can be counted. The owner is selling to private buyers only and not to contractors or vendors and has a 1,000 brick limit. See the Morning Shopper for more information.

Deb Pieper of the USDA Service Center, right, discusses the implementation of a Farmers' Market at last week's Chamber Coffee. The Farmers Market is held each Saturday in the USDA Service Center's parking lot. Pieper noted that interest has been growing in the event and those selling items have generally sold out each week. A grand opening for the Farmers' Market is scheduled for Saturday, July 22 from 9 a.m. to noon at the USDA Service Center.

Those in attendance at last week's Town Hall meeting look over tentative plans for future land use in the city of Wayne.

Comprehensive plan presented

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

Possibilities on what the city of Wayne could look like in the next 10 to 20 years were discussed at a Town Hall meeting last week.

Marti Shukert and Amy Haase of RDG Associates presented the findings of months of research and discussion with members of the community.

Approximately 75 people were in attendance at the fire hall to listen to the preliminary plan for the city's future.

"This plan is a guide to the physical plan for the city. It is a vision for the city's future. It isn't unchangeable or a 'master plan' that commits the city of a specific course of action," Haase told her audience.

She noted that it has been over 10 years since the city went through this process and explained the process that the city has been through to arrive at this point in the plan.

Haase listed the components (parts) of the plan, including the city's strengths and concerns.

Strengths include the educational opportunities available in the community and the economic potential.

Concerns include providing affordable housing and retaining young people.

Haase presented information in regard to the population trends of the community and noted that "the population growth rate affects the number of housing units needed. Wayne is a compact and efficient community."

Also discussed was the impact of a Highway 35 expressway on the community.

"The closer we can keep it (the expressway), the better," Haase said. She also noted that the city should take advantage of the expressway with additional commercial businesses along its path.

Shukert told those in attendance that Wayne has "a solid Main Street District."

He encouraged those in attendance to look for ways to strengthen the areas around it.

"Wayne lacks a town square, somewhere central for people to gather."

He presented information on the creation of such an area in the southeast region of the city, in the area where the present Woehler Trailer Court is located.

He also talked about a community-owned department store, similar to one he has visited in Torrington, Wyo. Several members of the community would pool resources to create this type of business in Wayne, offering a variety of items, including clothing, shoes and accessories.

He told the audience that Wayne should not compete directly with larger cities such as Norfolk and Sioux City, but instead, create its own niche to draw people from those communities to Wayne.

"I am excited about what could happen in downtown Wayne," Shukert said.

Several other topics, including the city's parks and recreation areas, were highlighted during the meeting.

Haase noted a future consideration for the city would be the creation of a large city park in the northeast part of Wayne.

Haase then talked about the implementation of the comprehensive plan.

She noted three areas, including developing police and a plan of action, phased annexation and plan maintenance.

"This should be a living document. It needs to be evaluated each year to be effective," Haase said.

Businesses comment on highway improvement project

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

Paving of Main Street in Wayne began Tuesday, which was ahead of schedule. A & R Construction paved the northbound, southbound and center lane from just north of Fairgrounds Avenue to just south of 3rd Street.

According to Scott Brummond, project manager with the Nebraska Department of Roads, the area that was paved was over 1,000 feet long by 37 feet wide by nine inches deep, which took 1,086 cubic yards of concrete.

The next part of the plan started yesterday (Wednesday) and that is to complete 1st and 2nd Streets. In approximately two weeks, preparation and pouring for parallel parking lanes will begin when the concrete is strong enough to drive on. Work on the south end will also be going on, tying in with the existing highway.

There are five phases to the main street project and they are: #1 (which is done) was to widen some intersections for truck traffic and set up detours. #2 is going on now and includes paving the street from Wayne Auto Parts to 7th Street and get that open to traffic. Phase #3 will go from Fairgrounds Avenue south. Traffic will be shifted east so crews can do the west half of the street. In phase #4, road crews will work on 6.6 feet in the middle and traffic will be split. In phase #5, the remaining east portion of the street will be worked on so traffic will be shifted to the west so they can do the east half.

Also, the storm sewer from 4th Street north should be done by the end of next week.

Several Wayne business owners gave comments on the project: "We are anxiously anticipating the 'reopening' of Main Street, and look forward to seeing more people back in the downtown area. Thanks to everyone in the community that made it a priority to support the downtown businesses. It is greatly appreciated," said Kaye McAfee of Inspiration Christian Book and Gift.

"The business community appreciates the support of the local people. We realize the paving of Main Street has been an inconvenience but we appreciate the loyalty of customers," said Curt Jeffries of Copy Write.

"I definitely have seen a change in my business due to the Main Street construction. I would say my business has decreased by 40 percent, but overall the support of other Main Street businesses and the community itself has been overwhelming. I feel very lucky to live in such a supportive community and look forward to the GRAND opening of our new Main Street. Our delivery and carryout as well as catering has been very beneficial to the success of our business in the last couple of weeks. We have cut back our hours due to slow times but will resume normal store hours church on the first Sunday in February, 1906 but had to postpone it until the next Sunday because of bad weather.

A house was purchased from Nick Wingert in 1916 to be used for the rectory. Father Cornelius Collins moved from Dixon and became the first resident pastor at St. Mary's on October, 1920.

St. Patrick's Catholic Church at Tara Hill which had been a mission of St. Peter's in Newcastle, was assigned as a mission of St. Mary's in 1923. St. Patrick's Church burned on Feb. 2, 1969. Marge Lux, a member of St. Patrick's at the time of the fire remembers that the weather was so bad and the snow so deep that neighbors could only watch the fire and smoke from afar. No one could get to there in time to help. It was never rebuilt.

In 1934, during Msgr. Jeremiah O'Sullivan's tenure, a lot of changes took place at St. Mary's. Work began in April to raise the church about 4.5 feet off the ground for a full basement to be dug beneath. A furnace room, kitchen and church parlors were located in the basement. A new 18-foot addition was also built on the rear of the building for the sanctuary and sacristy. A 50-foot bell tower with entry room was added to the front of the building. Water and a sewer system were added to the church in 1934.

It was completed by June of 1934 and reported in the August, 1934 issue of the Laurel Advocate that the Laurel Commercial Club met in the new dining room of the Catholic church "... and were served a delightful dinner."

Father Timothy Marcel Keliher spent many hours of hard labor and study in planning the major improvements that were dedicated in October of 1938. They included new French doors, stained glass Memorial windows, the bell tower, tile floors and reconstruction of the altar.

In 1978 when Father Jerome Spenner was appointed at St. Mary's, St. Anne's of Dixon became a mission of St. Mary's.

During the following years, minor changes were made which include the wooden cross on the altar that was made by Jerome Donner, carpet was laid in the entire church and many items donated in memory of loved ones. Plans were started during Father Michael Gréwe's two years, 1990-1992, for the Faith Community

A history book is being planned for St. Mary's and will be published later this year. Anyone with stories and/or pictures of yesteryear at St. Mary's is encouraged to contact Betty Kavanaugh, P.O. Box 75, Laurel, Neb. 68745 or email betyk@encsnet.net by Aug. 15, 2006.

Essential services are provided by Behavioral Health Specialists, Inc.

In December, 2003, Behavioral Health Specialists, Inc. (BHS) decided to pursue the development of satellite clinics with Wayne being a target community. Jan Chinn of Wayne became actively involved in securing a location and developing services for this community.

The BHS Wayne Clinic is located at 220 West 7th Street in the BankFirst building. Business hours are Mondays, 3-6 p.m.; Tuesdays, all day; Thursdays, noon to 3 p.m. (or by appointment if need a different time).

"My interest in developing a Wayne Satellite Clinic came from a desire to reduce commuting time each week while developing my professional work in the community where I live," Chinn said. "I strongly believe in the mission of BHS and respect the agency's ability to make mental health services affordable to all individuals. I was very fortunate to receive the full support of our Board of Directors and the full support of BHS, as well as secure such an ideal location to provide the services."

Jan Chinn, MSE, LMHP, CPC has been working for BHS since 1992 as the Director of Youth and Family Services. She completed her Master's Degree at Wayne State College in 1996 and became a Licensed Mental Health Practitioner in 2001. She continues to supervise the Youth and Family Services division, which provides programs such as therapeutic foster care, respite and emergency foster care, and family support. Ms. Chinn has been a resident of Wayne since 1987, with the exception of one year when she lived and worked in Omaha.

In July 2006, Robin Claussen, MA, LMHP joined BHS, with one day per week dedicated to the Wayne office. Claussen is a full-time licensed mental health therapist who specializes in counseling individuals with grief and has extensive experience helping those coping with adoption issues. She also has experience providing professional counseling to clients experiencing depression and anxiety and enjoys working with clients of all ages. Claussen is a native of northeast Nebraska and looking forward to making new connections in the Wayne community.

Chinn and Claussen have extensive experience in providing outpatient therapy services, including services for child and adolescent concerns, abuse and trauma counseling, stress management, coping with divorce, grief and loss and depression and anxiety.

In addition, Chinn and Claussen have experience teaching parenting skills, working with children and families and completing home studies on potential adoptive and foster homes. Through the Wayne Clinic, they will offer outpatient therapy services, including individual, couples and family therapy. They also offer Employee Assistance Services and provide parenting classes in conjunction with the W.O.W. (Words of Wisdom) Parent Training Partnership in Wayne. In addition, BHS would like to expand its foster parenting network in the Wayne community through the recruitment of respite and full-time foster parents.

"Another benefit of working for a larger agency is the multiple services and professionals available to me when referrals for additional services are needed." In addition to the Wayne Clinic, BHS offers services in Norfolk and Columbus. Services include outpatient therapy, psychological evaluations, foster care services, intensive outpatient, community support, and detox and residential services for substance abuse.

Chinn and Claussen note that no one will be turned away for financial reasons.

Allen 18-under girls finish second at Class D State

The Allen 18-under girls softball team traveled to South Sioux City to play in the Class D State Softball Tournament last weekend. Other teams participating were from Pender, Wisner, Crofton, Friend, Elkhorn Valley, Verdigris, Valentine, Garrett, Ashland, Elba and David City.

Allen received a first round bye and had to play the winner of the Valentine and Garrett game. Allen played Valentine very close the entire game and had a tie of 4 to 4 going into the last inning. Valentine scored two runs making the score 6-4 before the last out. Alicia Gregerson was the first batter hitting a double and stole third, Diana Diediker brought her home with a RBI and getting out at first. Kayla Greve hit a triple and Katie Bloomfield hit her home with an RBI and also getting out at first. Allen now had two outs with Courtney Sturges and Angie Gothier both hitting to get on base when Codi Hancock got up to bat. With two outs and two strikes on Codi, she hit several foul balls before smashing one into the outfield to bring in the winning run, giving Allen a thrilling 7-6 win.

Allen vs. Friend

The next game was against Friend. The game started the same way the first game was finished. The Allen girls hit very well and had great defense to keep them scoreless until the third inning. Allen held a 9-2 lead going into the last inning and held Friend to three runs before getting the last out to win by the final score of 9-5. After beating Friend, Allen had a chance of being in the championship game if they won their next game on Sunday against Lawrence.

Allen vs. Lawrence

Lawrence was the runner-up in Class D last year and had a very tough team. They hit very well and did a great job of fielding the ball. Allen got off to a good start in the first inning with two runs and held them to only one run. The score stayed the same until the sixth inning with Codi Hancock getting a base hit and Codi Hingst hitting a triple over the left fielders' head, bringing in Hancock to make the score Allen 3 and Lawrence 1. They scored one run in the sixth, bringing Allen to the last inning with the score 3 to 2. Allen had two hitters get out and Katie Bloomfield left on base with the third out. Lawrence was up to bat and the score was still Allen 3 Lawrence 2. The girls held Lawrence with no runs and Courtney Sturges striking out the last batter to win. Allen now advanced to the championship game.

Championship Game

Allen had to play the winner of the Elkhorn and Lawrence game for the championship. Lawrence won and the girls knew it was going to be a tough game. Starting the game, Allen had a tough time at the plate not scoring a run until the fifth inning and Lawrence had seven. Alicia Gregerson and Whitney Smith (running for Diana Diediker) were on base when Kayla Greve sent one to the fence with a triple. Katie Bloomfield hit Greve home and was out stealing second base. Allen also had Codi Hancock and Codi Hingst scoring before making the last out, making the score 7-5 at the end of the fifth inning. Allen scored one run in the sixth while Lawrence was scoreless. In the seventh inning, Lawrence scored two and Allen scored three to tie the score at 9-9, causing extra innings. Lawrence then scored four more runs making the score 13-9 heading into the bottom of the eighth inning. Allen had Amanda Mischke and Alicia Gregerson on base with two outs when Katie Bloomfield stepped up to the plate. She not only hit the ball over the fence, it went clear to the river. That brought the score Allen 12 and Lawrence 13. Allen still had two outs and the bases cleared when Courtney Sturges got up to bat. She hit the ball high over the first baseman just in reach for the last out.

Because Lawrence was Allen's only loss, the two teams had to play again to claim the championship. Allen started the game with a 3-1 lead until the third inning when Lawrence hit the ball very well. They brought in six runs making the score Allen 3 and Lawrence 8. The score remained the same until the last inning. Lawrence scored twice while Allen scored just once to make the final score Lawrence 10 and Allen 4, giving Allen the Class D Runner-up trophy.

Every player on the team showed outstanding sportsmanship and played excellent softball this weekend. The Allen girls started off the season very shaky and had a lot to prove going into state. We knew how good of a team we had, but had failed to play to the level we expected from ourselves. Everyone played a part in winning the runner-up trophy. Without each person choosing to play for Allen, we could not have won. We started the season with 13 individual players and ended the season as one team. We are very proud of the girls and how well they represented themselves and Allen in the State Tournament.

Wayne State men's golf team signs Papillion-LaVista, Douglas County West standouts

Wayne State College head men's golf coach Matt Murken has announced the recent signings of Tyler DeJong of Papillion-LaVista High School and Lee Olson of Douglas County West High School in Valley to national letters of intent to join the Wildcat men's golf program for the 2006-07 season.

DeJong was a two-year letter winner in golf at Papillion-LaVista High School, coached by former WSC golfer Joe Pudenz. DeJong had four top 10 individual finishes during the 2006 season and will major in agri-business at Wayne State College. He is the son of Barry and Mary DeJong of Papillion.

"I am pleased that Tyler has joined our golf program at Wayne State," said Coach Murken. "He had a successful high school career, but I believe that Tyler's best golf is ahead of him. He is a great addition to the Wildcat men's golf program."

Olson earned four letters and was a three-time MVP at Douglas County West High School (formerly Valley HS). He carded a 65 to win the Capitol Conference Tournament as a senior and holds the course record at the Pines Country Club in Valley, where he fired a 64 during Junior Golf League. Olson medaled in every high school tournament he played in with the exception of one as a freshman.

"I think Lee's accomplishments at the high school level speak for themselves," commented Murken. "I am extremely pleased to add Lee to our golf program. He will have an immediate impact on our team."

NEXT BOOK FOR DISCUSSION

Allen's book discussion group will be meeting again at the end of the summer. Copies of the next book, Old Jules by Mari Sandoz, are now available from Kathy Boswell. Fifteen copies of the book were delivered to Allen this week by Kathy Ellerton of the Northeast Nebraska Library System. Interested community readers will meet to discuss Old Jules in late August or early September. Look for more specific information at a later date.

CORNHUSKING FUN DAY

The Allen FFA Chapter, Dixon County Historical Society, and the Allen Community Club will jointly sponsor the Dixon County Hand Cornhusking Fun Day on Oct. 15 from 1-3 p.m. at the Rex Rastede farm two miles south and three miles west of Allen (or three miles east of Concord) at 58158 866 Road.

Everyone is invited to come to watch and participate in picking corn by hand. Lessons will be provided at the time of registration. Age categories for picking are 0-10 years of age, 11-18 years of age, 19-50 years of age, and 50+. Each picker will do a five minute pick and winners will be determined by the greatest number of ears picked (deductions will be made for ears left on stalk.)

Plans are to have three rows being picked at the same time with FFA members serving as the times, counters, and gleaners and horse-drawn wagons being used to throw the picked corn into. There will be admission or registration charges and there will be a concession stand on the grounds. The Dixon County Historical Society will have items relating to the corn picking on display at the site.

Many readers have memories of their own "cornhusking" days and as part of the Cornhusking Fun Day, we would like to compile these stories. If you personally do have or know someone who had stories, please contact Marcia Rastede so plans can be made for you to tell these stories.

Runestad, WSC Madrigal Alumni featured at State Convention

Cornell Runestad, a retired Wayne State College music faculty member who founded the WSC madrigal singers in the 1970s, and more than 50 alumni of the WSC Madrigal Singers, were featured performers at the Nebraska Choral Directors Association state convention at Doane College in Crete July 9-12.

The Madrigal Singers, along with La Camarata, a madrigal group from Grand Island directed by Pamela (Murphy) Ahlman, a 1991 Wayne State graduate, performed at the Tuesday evening banquet. Expanding on the theme of the convention, "Christmas in July," the banquet included a madrigal dinner featuring a number of selections performed at the annual Wayne State College Madrigal Christmas Feastes.

Alumni from as far away as California and Oregon, as well as a number from Nebraska and neighboring states, participated in the evening performance. Coordinating the events was the NCDA president-elect, Dr. Rhonda (Vieth) Fuelberth, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln faculty member who is a 1991 Wayne State graduate and Madrigal Singers alumna.

More than 225 Wayne State students have participated in the annual Madrigal Christmas Feastes since their inception, Runestad said. "Between 1980-1995, the group took seven trips to Europe to tour and perform," he said. "It is wonderful that so many of the former students were able to return for this special event."

Youngmeyer is National Award winner

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Jason Youngmeyer of Wayne has been named a United States National Award winner in English.

This award is a prestigious award with the Academy recognizing fewer than 10 percent of all American high school students.

Jason, who attends Wayne High School, was nominated for this national award by Sylvia Ruhl, an English teacher at the school. His name will appear in the United States Achievement Academy's Official Yearbook which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability and recommendation from a qualified sponsor.

Congressman Fortenberry to keynote at banquet

Congressman Jeff Fortenberry will be the special guest and keynote speaker at the Northeast Nebraska Economic Development District's Annual Banquet on Tuesday, Aug. 15 in Norfolk. The Northeast Nebraska Economic Development District (NENEDD) will celebrate the past year's achievements, including the award of more than $5.9 million dollars in grants and low-interest loan funds this year to the 22-county region served by the District. NENEDD will recognize two key players in economic development for the Northeastern Nebraska region, as well as one community who has put into place an incredible plan of action. Layton Jensen, Thurston Manufacturing, will be presented with the 2006 Outstanding Service Award for his nine and a half years of service on the Revolving Loan Fund for both NENEDD and Nebraska Economic Development, Inc. (NED, Inc.).

Bruning reacts to court ruling

Attorney General Jon Bruning reacted to a ruling by the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to uphold Nebraska's constitutional amendment defining marriage. "The 8th Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed Nebraskans' right to modify their Constitution as they see fit. In 2000, 70 percent of Nebraska voters chose to amend the Constitution to define marriage as a union between one man and one woman.

The Elkhorn Valley Economic Development Council, under the leadership of R.J. Baker, is the 2006 recipient of the Partnership Award, and the 2006 Doug Bereuter Accomplished Community Award will be given to Mayor Logan Garber and the City of Laurel.

If the case is appealed, we stand ready to defend it in the United States Supreme Court," Bruning said.

The event will take place at the Lifelong Learning Center, on the Northeast Community College campus, 801 E. Benjamin Avenue. The banquet will begin at noon, with Leo Ahmann, Community Coordinator for NENEDD, serving as the Master of Ceremonies.

This ruling is the first federal appeals court ruling on a case regarding the definition of marriage.

For reservations, contact NENEDD at 402-379-1150, before July 31.

The Wayne High School class of 1946 celebrated the 60th anniversary of their graduation on July 7 at Geno's Steakhouse in Wayne.

There were 42 members in the Class of 1946, 16 of whom are now deceased.

The tables were decorated with blue flowers planted in large cups and saucers and several bricks from the streets of Wayne, engraved with the school and class year.

A social hour was held, followed by the dinner and a time of reminiscing.

Marvin Pospishil gifted his classmates with items he made out of teawood, as a remembrance of the get together.

Schmoltdt participates in horseback riding program

Joan Schmoltdt of Wayne recently earned an award for logging 100.0 hours in the American Quarter Horse Association Horseback Riding Program.

The program recognizes and rewards AQHA members for time spent with their American Quarter Horses in activities such as trail rides, working cattle, pleasure driving and simply riding.

A unique aspect of the program is its simplicity. Current AQHA members complete a program application and pay a one-time enrollment fee. Each enrollee receives an official AQHA log sheet to record their hours driving or riding an American Quarter Horse.

Participants need not own their own horse, but all official hours must be accrued with a registered American Quarter Horse.

The first award, a program recognition patch, is given after only 50 hours have been logged and verified. Patches and nine subsequent awards are presented at 100 to 5,000 hour levels and range from merchandise gift certificates from Drysdale's Western Store to a Montana Silversmith trophy belt buckle at the highest level.

Other awards provided by AQHA corporate sponsors include a $25 gift certificate, at the 100 hour level, good towards any item from Drysdale's Western Store and at 750 hours, a Tex Tan basket stamped belt. For each additional hour levels achieved members will receive Montana Silversmith products as awards. Also, at both 500 hour and 5,000 hour award levels, recipients receive recognition in "The American Quarter Horse Journal," AQHA's monthly magazine.

Stephanie A. McCommon, AQHA Manager of Membership Services, said "AQHA is very proud to offer this program rewarding people who enjoy riding and driving American Quarter Horses. Enrollees are doing such diverse activities that it's obvious this program literally fits everyone who likes spending time with horses."

AQHA actively encourages horseback riding as a recreational activity that can be enjoyed alone or shared with family and friends.

For more information about AQHA and its programs, visit www.aqha.com or call (806) 376-4811.

BankFirst offers new service, Identity Theft Resolution

BankFirst recently announced the introduction of a new service to their customers called Identity Theft Resolution. In 1998 Congress passed the Identity Theft and Assumption Deterrence Act, which makes it a federal felony to use another person's identification with the intent to commit unlawful activity.

The Identity Theft Resolution service provided to BankFirst customers will help build a criminal case against identity thieves. Identity theft is the misappropriation of another person's identifying information in order to obtain credit, steal money, apply for loans, file for bankruptcy or even obtain a job.

Identity thieves want personal data including date of birth, social security number, drivers license number, credit card information, bank account information and mothers maiden name.

BankFirst is one of the first banks in Nebraska to offer the service of Identity Theft Resolution which provides assistance to customers who have been victims of identity theft. A Personal advocate will assist BankFirst customers in contacting credit bureaus, credit card issuers, creditors, debt collectors, law enforcement, and government agencies. Assistance will also be provided in filing a police report and the customer is automatically enrolled in monitoring services that will help track changes to the customer's identity that has been lost.

In addition to assistance to victims of identity theft, the bank provides a link on their website www.bankfirstonline.com with information on how to prevent becoming a victim of identity theft, as well as information on current frauds and scams that are occurring called "threat alerts". It is important to stay abreast and avoid becoming a victim of the new scams that are arising daily.

If you would like more information or if you feel that you have been a victim of Identity Theft contact any BankFirst Branch location in Norfolk, Wayne, Columbus, Ord or O'Neill.

WSC Phi Beta Lambda students earn national recognition

Two Wayne State College Phi Beta Lambda students, Jeremy Rasmussen of Dixon and Adam Krause of Peru, earned second place at the recent Phi Beta Lambda National Leadership Conference (NLC) at Gaylord Opryland's Convention Center in Nashville, Tenn., June 24-27.

Wayne State College did well competing against schools of all sizes," Rasmussen said.

Rasmussen and Krause worked together to earn the ranking and a $400 prize in desktop publishing.

"The experience was great for developing leadership skills and networking," Krause said.

Phi Beta Lambda is a state and national business association. Dr. Laura Barelman of the School Business and Technology advised the campus organization.

The award was part of a program sponsored by Future Business Leaders of America-Phi Beta Lambda, Inc. (FBLA-PBL). More than 1,700 NLC delegates participated in business and leadership training workshops and seminars, corporate tours and the election of national officers. FBLA is the high school division and PBL is designed for post-secondary and college students.

Rasmussen graduated from WSC in May 2006 with double majors in business administration with a concentration in finance and public accounting. He is employed as a staff accountant at Dana F. Cole & Company, LLP in Osmond. Rasmussen helped Krause create a logo and develop a desktop publishing newsletter prior to the national convention. Krause attended the convention and took a written test on terms about software. Scores were tabulated by a combination of the project and Krause's test results.

Krause is Phi Beta Lambda chapter president at WSC and a vice president of finance for Phi Beta Lambda at the state level. He will be a sophomore at WSC this fall.

BBB advises how to bid on the Internet

Who hasn't heard someone brag about the great price they got through an online auction? Whether the item is new or used, unique or commonplace, the winning bidder feels a sense of accomplishment. When the purchase arrives as advertised, both the seller and the buyer end up satisfied.

Unfortunately, online auctions do not always offer a happy ending. Better Business Bureaus regularly receive complaints from Internet auction bidders who believe they were defrauded.

Unfortunately, online auctions do not always offer a happy ending. Better Business Bureaus regularly receive complaints from Internet auction bidders who believe they were defrauded.

"There are some pretty sad tales," said Jim Hegarty, president and CEO of the Better Business Bureau serving Nebraska, South Dakota and Southwest Iowa. "Some buyers fail to receive any merchandise whatsoever; others receive an item that in no way resembles what was advertised. There are buyers who report being misled about the terms of the sale. We also hear from bidders who were tricked into using fake escrow sites when paying for their purchase."

BBBs in the U.S. and Canada are reaching out to online shoppers this summer to emphasize how to bid safely and successfully at Internet auction sites.

"If you use care and common sense, you'll secure some great bargains by avoiding unethical sellers," Mr. Hegarty said.

To help ensure satisfactory Internet auction transactions, the BBB encourages bidders to:

- Choose legitimate auction Web sites. Carefully read directions for bidders and know up-front what types of protection (insurance, guarantees, etc.) the site offers.
- Verify the seller's identity and check their feedback rating before placing a bid. If you can't find any information on the seller, avoid doing business with them. Don't rely on e-mail alone; some sellers use a forged e-mail header. Get the seller's phone number and confirm that it is in service.
- Know the terms of the transaction. Who pays for shipping and delivery? Does the item come with a warranty? What is the seller's return policy?

"It's particularly important to check with us if you see the Better Business Bureau name being used in an unusual manner. We don't, for instance, manage financial transactions for online merchants nor are we an escrow service," Hegarty said.

Summer Reading program concludes

The Wayne Public Library hosted a morning awards party for July Session participants of the 2006 Summer Reading Program "Paws, Claws, Scales and Tales!" on July 15.

Sixty-seven participants and family members were in attendance. All were entertained by guest reader, Alisha Karr from Barnes and Noble Booksellers, who read an excerpt from the latest Junie B. Jones release. The party included door prizes, muffins, milk and juice, recognition all of our participants, volunteers and benefactors, and the awarding of prizes to our participants.

"This year has been record breaking. Session II had 162 young people, so our total participants this year was 387 readers. Session II readers went through 2,703 books, for a summer total 6,727 books read. Great work, our fish bowl overflows! We are so excited with this growth! Hopefully these programs will foster a life long love of reading and help our community's children develop the positive attitudes toward reading that will give them an edge in future opportunities," said Julie Osnes, Youth Services Librarian.

Each active participant also received a paperback book, a bookmark, a small prize and various items and coupons donated by area businesses. ## Family Heritage Fair set for Aug. 5

Do you know who your ancestors are? Do you know from which town or area your ancestors hail from? You may be able to answer some of your family history questions at the Family Heritage Fair in Emerson. The Heritage Fair will be held at the Emerson-Hubbard High School located at 1504 Dakota St. in Emerson Sunday, Aug. 5 starting at 9 a.m. and going until 4 p.m.

The Family Heritage Fair will display information on local family histories collected by people who do genealogy as a hobby. This particular fair is focusing on the families that came from the Giekau Church District. Giekau is only one of the 640 church districts in the Northern German State of Schleswig-Holstein.

There are over 50 family surnames, identified to date, that came from the nine villages that make up the Giekau church area. Many of these families settled in northern Mills County in the later half of the 1800s. When the second generation started looking for land to farm and very little was available in Iowa, they moved to other places, with many going to the Emerson area. The reason for so many different families all going to that one area is just one of the many questions that will hopefully be answered during the day.

With the aid of the four area genealogy societies (Dakota, Dixon, Thurston and Wayne) a genealogy workshop will also be held with topics including: Searching the net for your ancestors, Searching the German Net for your ancestors, Scanning your pictures and adding them to your tree, Improving old photos, History of the four county areas, Schleswig-Holstein history, Giekau history, What does it mean when it says your ancestors came from Prussia, What Genealogy has done for me, plus others topics.

A similar event held in Mineola, Iowa in 2004 had over 200 people attending, with most finding a cousin or two that they never known before. Most researchers were able to add many new people to their family tree, filling out some branches that they didn't have information on before that day.

The following list of family names is the ones that have been identified so far as having come from the Giekau area of Schleswig-Holstein: Bichel, Brudigan, Carsten(s), Dohrman(n), Dorman, Dohse, Doose, Dose, Ehlers, Giese, Hammer, Haman, Hansen, Jipp, Jurgens, Kahl, Kai, Kay, Kruse, Kuhl, Lamp(e), Lau, Luth, Lueth, Mathiessen, Miller(Moller)(Muller), Nagel, Nipp, Osbahr, Rethpen(n), Roenfeldt, Roenfeldt, Ronnfeldt, Scheel, Schneeklot, Schoening, Schroeder, Schutt, Schwarten, Stark, Steffen(s), Stumpf, Thiering, Volkers, Vohs, Voss, Wiese, Wolf, Wulf.

Many Emerson area families that are not from the Giekau area will also be displaying their family history in the Friends and Neighbors area of the fair. Anyone who wishes to place his or her family information in this area is welcome to do so and receive a 50 percent discount on the admission price.

Pre-registration discount is also available if sent in before July 25, 2006.

Edward Jones ranks highest in investor satisfaction by J.D. Power and Associates

The financial-services firm Edward Jones ranks highest in full-service investor satisfaction for the second consecutive year, according to the J.D. Power and Associates 2006 Full Service Investor Satisfaction Study (SM), the two Wayne Edward Jones investment representatives announced recently.

The J.D. Power and Associates study found that strong customer service representative performance, convenience, account set-up/offers, account statements and product and service offerings combined with competitive investment performance drive Edward Jones' first-place finish. Edward Jones does particularly well serving its more affluent clients, the survey found.

"As a firm, all of us are committed to providing outstanding client service," said James D. Weddle, managing partner of Edward Jones. "Our clients are the true judges of our service and these surveys show that our clients think highly of the firm and their relationships with their local investment representatives and branch office administrators. Their satisfaction is reflected by the fact that they would recommend Edward Jones to their friends, as reported in the study results."

According to the study, satisfaction translates into advocacy and Edward Jones clients recommend their investment representative more often than other firms, according to the survey.

Meeting face to face with one's investment professional is the best way to increase satisfaction, the survey found.

"We believe that individual investors prefer to conduct business face to face in offices that are conveniently located," Weddle said. "We can treat our clients the way we would want to be treated and we appreciate the honor that they bestow upon us."

Edward Jones ranked highest by J.D. Power and Associates in 2005 and highest in 2002 when the study began. Recently, Edward Jones in Canada announced the firm's highest ranking in J.D. Power and Associates Canadian study.

The two Wayne Edward Jones investment representatives are: Reggie Yates at 375-4172 or 800-829-0860 or Ken Marra at 375-2354 or 866-375-9643.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

Life Insurance: A Smart Part of Your Financial Plan

Typically, when we think of insurance, we think of car insurance or homeowner's insurance - a policy that we pay into, but hope we never need. There's another type of insurance that can help you build assets and protect what you already have. It's called permanent life insurance, also referred to as cash value life insurance.

Life insurance has come a long way since its inception when the sole purpose was to protect income in case of a wage earner's death. Today, life insurance comes in a variety of types and provides a range of financial uses. While its primary benefit is still to provide cash to your family after you die, life insurance also can help people save for retirement, manage an estate, add to a college fund and more.

The different types of life insurance generally fall into two categories: term insurance and permanent insurance.

Term Insurance
Term insurance is often used for temporary needs because it covers a specific timeframe - usually between one and 20 years. In general, term insurance has these features:

- It is used to insure a life when there is a specific financial obligation, such as a mortgage, during a set period of time.
- It pays a benefit only if you die during the term.
- Premium rates increase when the term expires and you want to renew.
- Some policies require a medical examination and a certain level of health at renewal to qualify for re-entry rates.
- Term policies usually do not accumulate cash value.
- Premium rates are less expensive than permanent insurance, particularly for younger people.
- Term insurance can become quite expensive if carried well beyond the initial coverage period.

Permanent Insurance
Permanent insurance is designed to protect you throughout your entire life. Several types of permanent policies that offer various premium rates and payment schedules, are available. Permanent insurance is designed

Jennifer & George Phelps
Financial Advisors
Certified Financial Planner Practitioners™

and priced for people to keep for a long period of time, according to the American Council of Life Insurance. If you don't intend to keep the policy for the long term, this may not be the right insurance for you.

Most permanent policies have "cash values" that are different than their "face amounts." The face amount is the sum of money paid at death. Cash value is an accumulation of money in the policy that can enable you to:

- Take out a loan against the cash value of the policy.
- Use some of the accumulated cash at retirement to help pay living expenses.
- Use the cash value as "paid up" insurance, allowing you to not pay premiums for a specific period of time.
- Cancel the policy after a period of time and receive the cash value. Each of these examples has conditions that may affect the value of the policy. A qualified financial advisor can discuss specific features with you.

The three main types of permanent life insurance are called whole life, universal life and variable life. Combinations of these are also available. Here are the basic features of each:

- Whole life: This is historically the most common type of permanent insurance. It has fixed premiums, cash value and a constant face value.
- Universal life: This type is also known as "adjustable life" because after the initial payment, you may adjust the amount of your premium payments and the time at which you pay them. These adjustments are subject to certain minimum and maximum payments. You may also increase or decrease the death benefit. The cash value of the policy often depends on the investment performance of fixed interest rates.

• Variable universal life: This policy offers cash value feature that fluctuates with the performance of a portfolio of investments. You can specify how you want your premiums allocated among various subaccounts with underlying funds that invest in stocks, bonds and other investments ranging from conservative to aggressive. The cash value of a variable life policy is not guaranteed, it is possible to lose money, so you should carefully consider your risk tolerance before purchasing a variable policy. Some variable life policies offer guarantees of the death benefit, often for a stated minimum premium or additional fee.

Life insurance is an essential part of protecting your financial health during your lifetime and beyond. A qualified financial advisor can discuss your life insurance needs and suggest a policy that may be right for your financial goals. Many kinds of life insurance policies are available to meet a variety of needs, and the right product can offer a foundation of support and security for you and your family.

Variable universal life ("VUL") insurance is subject to risk and is not guaranteed. It is possible to lose money when investing in a VUL policy.

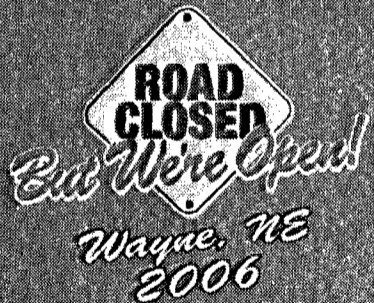

You should consider the investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses of variable universal life insurance carefully before investing. For a free copy of the product prospectus, which contains this and other information, call [insert appropriate number]. Read the prospectus carefully before you invest.

Discipline tips guide children to better behavior

Effective discipline has much more to do with communication than control. The true parental control is developed over time and becomes more of an influential control than a physical control. This is true parental power — to be able to influence the child to behave better, while building self-esteem, and teaching long range life skills. Here are five of the best communication ideas that will contribute to creating this result:

Ruth Vonderohe

1. Write to your child. Beginning at a very young age, parents can incorporate written communication into the parenting style. This can be an especially effective form of communication for parents and kids that seems to have trouble communicating verbally and for all parents that want to be more effective and more of an influence in the child's thoughts and actions. This idea can begin young, as early as three or four with a happy face to say "good for you!" When the child is school age, the notes can be placed in lunch boxes, or handed to kids on their way to school. The notes should be generally positive, acknowledging and heartfelt statements and requests. Parents who write notes to their children report that the children also begin to use this method of communication with their parents. Wouldn't it be nice to receive a request or complaint in writing so you have time to think over your response? So write, write, write!

2. Think it over. Give your child's ideas and opinions a great deal of credence. Whenever possible, verbalize your thought processes in mulling over a particular situation. When your child understands that you are giving weight and consideration to his or her concern, you are more likely to have a better outcome if you need to deny the request.

3. Lead the child to the answer. Often, the parent knows the best answer to any given situation.

The age and experience of the parent create no competition with a child who is just beginning to learn about and understand the world and how it works. Therefore, it is often of little value to tell the child the "answer." The most effective and beneficial manner in which to handle these situations with the child is through leading that child to come up with the answer his or her self. The parent makes this happen through asking leading questions such as, "What would happen if?" or "What will the result of that be?" Help the child work through the pros and cons of an issue, while maintaining a neutral stance.

4. Maintain integrity. What does integrity mean to you? Each person has a different sense of personal integrity. What are your standards of conduct? Do you place value in honesty, kindness, contribution? After taking some time to think about your personal standards, begin to pay special attention to behaving in a way that expresses those standards.

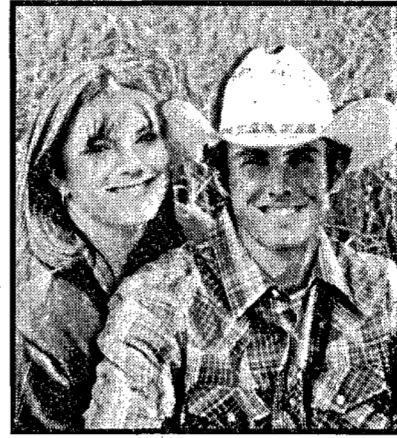

Parents are notorious for bending and breaking the truth with children. It is better to be honest and clear in an up front as possible manner.

5. Maintain physical closeness and connection. In this age of molestation and child sexual abuse, many parents are afraid to be physically close to their children. Sometimes this discomfort can also be caused by abuse when the parent was a child. However, children and all of us need physical closeness! Hugging, cuddling, playful fighting, rocking, stroking hair, massages and bear hugs are just a few ways to be physical with kids. One of the best ways I can think of to maintain physical closeness, is to give great back rubs!

There are many other ideas for effectively communicating with children that can build mutual respect, self-esteem and help kids learn to be great problem solvers. These are my top five and should be included on a regular basis in every home.

Our Savior Lutheran WELCA Guest Day was held July 12.

Jean Wacker presented a program entitled "Precious Moments." It was centered on the entire Good News of Christianity. Some moments to be treasured can be both happy and sad.

She decorated the tables with Precious Moments figurines that she and her daughter have. Erna Karel also had one of hers, a tall patriotic one, on the piano.

The program ended with the question, "Where were you on 9-11?" A poem of Alan Jackson's was read about the renewal of patriotism. Faith, hope and love are the greatest gifts God gave us.

Good Reasons Why It Pays To Shop

- 1
 Your local merchants usually have the same merchandise as their big city counterparts, but maintain a lower overhead. These savings get passed on to you in the form of lower prices.
- 2
 Gas, tolls and parking, may make that out-of-town bargain, more than you bargained for.
- 3
 Shopping locally makes returns and exchanges easier.
- 4
 You'll save time and avoid large crowds.
- 5
 Every dollar you spend in your hometown goes back into your local economy to help fund schools, roads, and other services where YOU live — not in some other town.

Thinking about a barber . . . a cut above the rest

When I met the Big Farmer, in the '50s, he wore the crew cut that most of the guys in college wore. I don't know who kept it cut, but it was simple. And he wore it like that for a few years after we were married. At first, he patronized Dick Adams, in a basement barber shop in Norfolk. Later, we watched Johnny Carson approach Dan Mauck, Sr., in that shop when they filmed the TV special about Johnny going home.

By that time, Mike had found Harry, in Winside. Harry had a shop in Norfolk, but came to Winside on Monday. There were no appointments, and you could catch up on the latest news, either while you waited or when you were actually in the chair. Harry also kept his razor sharp, so he was really helpful.

After the move to Murdock, he found Denny, in Louisville. Here, too, he caught up on news. Plus, Denny also farmed and had stock cows, so they had a lot to discuss. His shop looked a lot like the one in Winside, and the patrons kind of reminded me of the ones in Wayne county, too. The only problem with Dennis was, he wasn't always in his shop when the hours said he would be. When Mike was in town every day, at the real estate office or in the antique shop, that didn't matter. He would just go back every hour or so until he caught him. Later, it became a pain to drive to town for a haircut and not be able to find the barber! By this time, the crew cut was grown out, but the price was still very reasonable.

When we began talking about the move to Lincoln, I remembered a column I had seen about a barber at the VA hospital. The story said he had retired about 10 years ago, and the guy who manned the shop at the hospital asked him to fill in for a couple of weeks. The guy never came back! And this fellow just kept coming.

The Farmer's Wife
By: Pat Meterhenry

Thus it was, after we had been in town a couple of weeks, my mate was looking a bit shabby. I called the VA, which is just down the street from us, and asked for the barber. The voice said, "barber shop," and I asked if you had to be a veteran to get a haircut there.

The answer was "no," so I made an appointment for later that morning.

We have now met the character of all barber characters. Bob Taylor is one of a kind! He had a shop downtown and there is a photo album laying around with pictures of people like Ben Nelson; and by the way, Bob says that is all his hair! He was close to the capital, and has even trimmed governors.

Now, he holds forth in the morning, and golfs afternoons. And get this; the price just went up to $8! He says he made an executive decision. Of course, it is mostly vets who come, but he treats them all alike. Smart man that he is, he sits while cutting.

Sometimes, the hair on the floor gets kind of deep, so I grab the broom and dustpan. Then he snaps a picture of me! That goes in a display of "sweepers." He also has all customers write down their birthdate and they get a card on that day.

Earlier this year, he even had the Men of Magnet calendar displayed with the magazines. He had intended to hang it up, but his wife wouldn't let him! At least, this way, we did get to see it. And I admit, it does get a bit much. But all in fun, you know.

Anyway, Bob has been a pleasant surprise, and number four in a short list of "barbers I have known," and loved. We hope he never retires, or at least as long as we are around.

Soybean aphids are here

If you have not read it, heard about it or found it in your fields, they are here.

Soybean aphids have made their way to northeast Nebraska and are beginning to become infested in fields. Currently, most aphids are being found in sheltered areas or in certain hotspots in the fields. Time will allow the aphid population to build in the fields and depending upon the weather conditions and growth stage of the soybean, will determine the need for treatment.

Soybean aphids injure soybeans by removing plant sap with their needle-like mouth parts. Symptoms of a soybean aphid infestation include yellowed, distorted leaves and stunted plants. A charcoal-colored residue also may be present on the plants. This is sooty mold that grows on the honeydew that aphids excrete. Honeydew in itself makes leaves appear shiny.

Soybean plants are most vulnerable to aphid injury during the early reproductive stages.

Damage will occur later in July and into August as the soybean plant enters the pod filling stage. Research is still being conducted to determine how many aphids are critical to justify treatment. The most recent research has indicated that as many as 1,000 aphids per plant are needed to be an economic threshold. In Nebraska, recommendations are to use 250 aphids per plant with 80 percent of the plants infested and the populations increasing. There is another month at least before numbers will reach any concern, but scouting is still the best method for control of the aphid.

Del Hemsath
Extension Educator

Natural enemies are a very important part of the control process. If ladybugs are present and parasitizing aphids are found, these natural predators may keep the aphid population from becoming a major problem. Spraying a field for aphids will also kill the natural predators and may create a later problem with other harmful pest in the field. That is why scouting is such an important management tool for insect controls.
