Commissioners, council hold joint meeting

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

Cooperation and communication were two of the topics discussed during a joint meeting of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners and the Wayne City Council on Tuesday in Winside.

Members of both groups talked about issues facing both the county and the city and possible ways of dealing with them.

Wayne City Administrator Lowell Johnson asked those in attendance what issues they felt that would need to be dealt with in Wayne County in the next five years.

Among these were cooperation and communication between county, city and regional governmental entities, upgrades in roads, replacement/ sharing of equipment, re-classification of roads and emergency management.

Considerable discussion was held on what equipment the county and city have and how they could share some pieces of equipment throughout the year.

Hiring of a full-time person to work in the area of emergency management was also discussed.

The commissioners noted that paper work is becoming more complicated and time consuming, making a full-time position necessary if the county wants to apply for grant monies that may be available.

A contribution to Providence Medical Center for the replacement of an ambulance was discussed.

Commissioners have been approached with this request and asked the council members how the issue was handled by the

Toys distributed by Wayne Public Library are safe

On Aug. 16 the Wayne Public Library became aware of a consumer health alert released by the Indiana State Health Department. The alert was issued on Aug. 4 after testing found that some animal toys given away by libraries contained unsafe levels of lead. The toys in question were bendable dogs and cats in assorted styles about 4 inches long. The bendable animal toys were available through Highsmith as a reading incentive for "Paws, Claws, Scales and Tales" 2006 Collaborative Summer Library Program.

The bendable dog and cat toys are also available from several other toy distributors. Tests conducted by the Indiana Department of Health found the toys contained .4 and .24 percent lead. The maximum federal allowable level for lead in toys is .06 percent. These toys are a potential health hazard and children should not be handling them.

The Wayne Public Library did not purchase the items in question. However, some children did receive a bendable jungle/zoo animal as a prize. These were purchased from another distributor, Oriental Trading Company, and have not had any recall attached to them.

A representative from Oriental Trading Company said, "Their bendable animals are not part of the recall indicated by the consumer product safety commission. The bendables meet all the applicable product safety standards."

"We wanted to reassure our patrons and keep them informed in case they may have participated in another library's program and received these items as a prize. We will keep you informed with any updates on this alert," said Julie Osnes, Youth Services Director at Wayne Public Library.

For more information on the recall, or information on the effect of lead exposure, call your health care provider or Julie Osnes at the Wayne Public Library, 375-3135 with any questions.

Computers cost the state lots of money

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Computer systems are to state government what the Pentagon is to the federal government.

It's where taxpayer dollars go to die.

Computer systems are reminiscent of the trench warfare of World War I. Money keeps going "over the top" like the doomed soldiers of that horrendous conflagration. Forever gone.

The recent departure of the head of the public retirement system reflected another sad, expensive computer catastrophe.

Policymakers and the citizenry throw the occasional, righteous fit when money is wasted on inefficiency or filching. A government employee misusing a credit card or a cell phone, putting personal miles on a government vehicle, putting in for unwarranted overtime — all can bring heat down on any number of heads.

That sort of money is peanuts. Hardly even peanut shells.

Tens of millions of dollars have likely been spent on botched endeavors to effectively computerize the functions of one state agency or another.

In many situations, problems can be traced to consultant companies who peddle wares to the state.

Years ago Nebraska, like some other states, decided it would be cheaper to deal with the private sector for the every-now-and-then need to update or replace a computer system. Cheaper, insofar as the state wouldn't need to keep salaried employees on board.

The problem is that the state's computer problems are not every-now-and-then-things. They make the Energizer bunny look like a quitter.

There is also the fact that a consultant may screw up a job, then earn even more money by fixing it; or at least promising to fix it.

Consider the consequences of computer "down time" in state government — idled employees, and tasks that are delayed or don't get done; citizens who don't get the help and services due them. Expensive, frustrating stuff.

The latest example was uncovered by the legislative staff that handles research for the Performance Audit Review Committee

Keep this in mind: It is tremendously important, and only fair, for taxpayers to remember high-tech misadventures are not the fault of rank-and-file state employees.

Workaday employees most often spy and predict, coming storms of computer system problems when the latter are barely on the horizon.

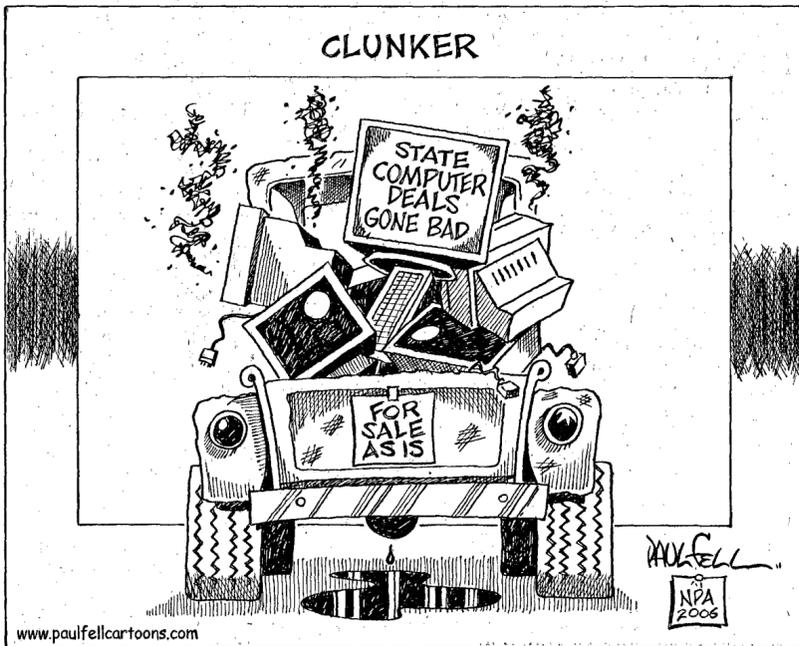

Lots of "little people" in the state's employ are pluggers. They keep on 'keepin' on with what higher ups hand them.

It would be a very, very good idea for the Legislature to authorize whatever sort of review is necessary to find out what various computer debacles have cost the taxpayers — and what they are continuing to cost.

State employees have been fired for using comparatively little government time to handle personal business, for unauthorized use of copiers and for filching office supplies here and there. Such things ought not be tolerated, but they should be seen in perspective.

Headlines and promises to do better when it comes to those much smaller potatoes are fine, but they are examples of tiny problems next to government operations that have big problems.

Johanns announces grants to spur development

Agriculture Secretary Mike Johanns announced the award of 68 grants totaling $6,523,761 to fund rural economic development projects in 42 states and the Territory of Guam.

The funds will create or save more than 900 estimated jobs.

"Job creation in rural communities is a vital part of the Bush Administration's commitment to maintain a strong national economy," said Johanns. "By supporting the creation of new businesses and expansion of existing businesses, this funding will provide attractive new job opportunities in America's heartland."

Nationwide in the past 12 months the U.S. economy has added over 1.7 million jobs and more than 5.5 million jobs have been created in the U.S. since August of 2003, according to Department of Labor statistics.

The grants announced were provided by USDA Rural Development and include Rural Business Enterprise Grants, which finance and facilitate development of small and emerging private rural business enterprises, and Rural Business Opportunity Grants, which promote sustainable economic development in rural communities with exceptional needs.

Two grants were awarded in Nebraska, a $99,999 rural business enterprise grant to Hamilton County Information Technology Corporation to create a Small and Emerging Business Information Technology Training Center in the Aurora Technology Center in Aurora. Dollars will make facility renovations allowing for a setting conducive to learning. New computers and a novel training vignette facility permitting the creation of short digital training vignettes for online training by small and emerging businesses will also result from the grant. Seventeen new jobs are anticipated to be created from the center. Leveraged resources totaling more than $484,000 will complete the project's funding.

The second grant of $46,810 was awarded to the Wayne Area Economic Development, Inc. (WAEDI) who will use the rural business opportunity grant, leveraged with more than $48,000 from outside sources, to assist Wayne County to achieve its next step for regional economic development and to emerge as an innovative model for rural/regional and statewide replication. WAEDI will expand its service coverage to Burt, Cedar, Cuming, Dakota, Dixon, Knox, Madison, Pierce, Stanton, Thurston and Wayne counties.

The project will combine innovative components for business retention/expansion, entrepreneurial development, and regional marketing under county and regional strategic planning models that will feature a best practices-based regional economic development summit.

A complete list of the grants announced is available at: <http://www.rurdev.usda.gov> <<http://www.rurdev.usda.gov>>

USDA Rural Development's mission is to deliver programs in a way that will support increasing economic opportunity and improve the quality of life of rural residents. As a venture capital entity, Rural Development has invested more than $72 billion since the beginning of the Bush Administration to provide equity and technical assistance to finance and foster growth in homeownership, business development, and critical community and technology infrastructure. As a result, more than 1.2 million jobs have been created or saved through these investments.

Further information on rural programs is available at a local USDA Rural Development office or by visiting USDA's web site at <http://www.rurdev.usda.gov> <<http://www.rurdev.usda.gov>>

Swisher. "The best part, R&R Leave for sure. I had a lot of fun at home. I visited my friends, and family, and did a little gambling." SPC Swisher even visited his old elementary school in Laurel to stop by and talk about Iraq with some third grade students. He was home for his two week leave in February.

SGT Chris Rohde - Fordyce - SGT Rohde has a little bit of a different story to tell. For the majority of the deployment, SGT Rohde has been tasked out to conduct driver's training throughout the base of Tallil, Iraq. He has not only trained American soldiers, but was able to train a group of Romanians on the HMMWV (Humvee). "The four day training with the Romanians went well. The hardest part was working through the language barrier, they couldn't speak very good English but it still was fun." He was awarded a plaque and some patches from a Romanian Lieutenant. SGT Rohde is looking forward to working with other nationalities before the end of the deployment.

SPC Joe Glade - Mililani, HI - When being called up, 90 percent of the unit was actually from the 189th. The other 10 percent were from other units that were attached to bring the unit up to its 100 percent strength. SPC Glade, the company's armorer, was from the 600th Trans Co from Omaha before being attached to the 189th. During his time off in Iraq, he enjoys spending time with the friends he has met in the company. "I enjoy playing video games with my roommate to pass the time away. It helps the time go by faster." Once he returns from the deployment he will join his wife and daughter in Hawaii where they currently live.

SPC Waylon McClain - Rosalie - The memories that the soldiers have created are those that will stick in their minds for quite some time. When asked about memorable experiences, a couple quickly came to mind for SPC McClain.

During a convoy to Kuwait, the convoy made a stop at a fueling point where surprisingly there were some cute critters to greet them. "There were these cute little pups. It was kind of cool to see them." The second memory that came to mind was when he was pulled over by the Military Police for going 27 MPH in a 20 MPH zone. When ticketed, soldiers must retrain on the vehicle they were pulled over in. Recently a new punishment has been added that SPC McClain took part in. "I had to fill 50 sandbags for my ticket. It was funny when 2LT Hewitt (189th TC Executive Officer) showed up out there too. At least I wasn't the only one."

SPC Dan VanKerrebrouk - Norfolk - As the 189th Trans Co arrived in Tallil, Iraq a group was quickly assigned to another base with a different mission in store for them.

SPC VanKerrebrouk was within this group that would be training Iraqi soldiers. "It was utterly amazing to be involved in the beginning of the new Iraqi military structure. I met some amazingly wonderful people." He was most proud of being part of the different projects he was involved in. "These projects will have a lasting impression on the future of the country." He has recently rejoined the rest of the unit in Tallil and serves as Truck Master. He is happy to be back with the rest of the unit and back on base with normal toilets and "good soap dispensers in the chow hall."

SPC Sam Kinnett - Wayne - Currently the unit has traveled more than 2.5 million miles throughout the country of Iraq. When traveling that many miles, the soldiers have an opportunity to see so much throughout the desert. A lot of soldiers, including SPC Kinnett, have been able to do a little sightseeing through one of Sadaam's old palaces that is located on a base in Iraq. SPC Kinnett had this to say about his tour: "SGT Wattier, SPC Munter, and I went in the palace with an Army Major involved in intelligence. He was fluent in Arabic and told us all about the palace and the fish in the moat around the palace. It was really interesting and a great experience."

SPC Robert Schlote - Norfolk - When the Iraq Boston Marathon was held on base in April, SPC Schlote had no doubt in his mind that he was going to run it. "Why not? This was the first marathon I have ever ran, and why not in Iraq." He placed 30th overall and sixth in his age bracket. The second annual Iraq Boston Marathon was a huge success and SPC Schlote actually enjoyed running the 26.3 mile course. Since then he has ran in 3 other races in Tallil; two 5K and a 10K run. He continues to run during his free time to stay in shape. SPC Schlote plans on running in a marathon when we return to Nebraska.

SPC Lance Harvey - Norfolk - The 189th Trans Co is notorious for having family members in the unit. There are two sets of three brothers, six pairs of brothers, sister-brother pair, father-daughter pair, brother-in-law pair, and multiple cousins. SPC Harvey happens to have family here also. Even though he is not in the unit, his father is stationed in Iraq as well. "I enjoy going to Base Anaconda the most because I get to spend time with my dad. While others stay in the tents, I get to stay with my dad."

He first met up with his father in Kuwait when his father's flight landed 12 hours after the 189th arrived in country. Since then they have seen each other a few times in Base Anaconda and twice in Tallil. "He came up for Christmas and then for my birthday this month (August)." It is always nice for a little family reunion.

Marking off the official year, since day one of the deployment brings the 189th Transportation Company that much closer to being home. Although the unit has experienced some fun and exciting times, the soldiers are even more excited to get home to their loved ones. Twelve months down with only a couple months to go.

Nebraska State College System Board of Trustees approves $23 million in bonds for facility improvement

The Nebraska State College System (NSCS) Board of Trustees approved plans to issue approximately $23 million in bonds for facility improvements at Chadron, Peru and Wayne State Colleges. The bonds are the result of LB605 approved by the Legislature and Governor Dave Heineman. The bonds will be repaid by a combination of state funds and student fees over a 14-year period.

"These bonds will allow us to continue to make significant improvements in facilities at each of the colleges in our system. These projects will greatly benefit our students and the teaching-learning process that makes our colleges unique and our students successful. We are greatly appreciative of the Legislature's and the Governor's support of our system and these specific projects," NSCS Chancellor Stan Carpenter said.

Projects identified in the funding include Wayne State College Campus Services Building Renovation/Addition. The project will renovate and expand the existing Maintenance Services Building to provide safe, efficient space to accommodate the WSC maintenance staff and workshops. New space will also be provided to house Network and Technology Services.

Wayne State College Rice Auditorium Lower Level Renovation. The basement of Rice Auditorium will be reorganized to improve space efficiency of classroom, office and lab spaces. The area will also include dance and aerobics and improved women's locker room facilities.

Wayne State College Memorial Stadium Renovation. This project continues improvements to the 60-year-old stadium facility, replacing bleachers, remodeling the existing concessions area located under the stadium, and moving the weight room to space under the stadium.

Chadron State College Academic and Administration Building Renovation. The project will complete interior renovation of academic space that provides multimedia technologies and barrier-free accessibility, meets fire and life safety codes, provides natural and flexible lighting sources, and creates areas conducive to student/faculty interaction.

Peru State College Emergency Power Generator. The generator will keep boilers operational in the event of a lengthy winter power outage. In an extended outage, on-campus students could be moved to these two buildings.

Peru State College Al Wheeler Activity Center Bleachers Replacement. Installed in 1980 when the Al Wheeler Center was built, the bleachers have come to the end of their useful life. Safety and ADA issues dictate that the bleachers be replaced.

Peru State College Al Wheeler Activity Center Renovation/Addition. The center will be renovated and additional interior space will be added to accommodate showers, athletic training rooms and a health center. Handicapped accessibility will also be provided.

The Nebraska State College System Board members include: Chair Willa Kosman, Scottsbluff; Vice Chair and Chair of the Enrollment & Marketing Committee Bill Roskens, Omaha; Chair of the Fiscal & Facilities Committee Larry Teahon, Chadron; Richard Halbert, Falls City; Gary Bieganski, McCook and Dr. Doug Christensen, Lincoln; Chadron State student representative Tyler Pribbeno, Imperial; Peru State student representative Crystal Ellis, Humboldt; and Wayne State student representative Michael Jacobsen, Laurel. The Board of Trustees next meet Sept. 14-15 in Wayne.

The Nebraska State College System serves close to 8,000 students from Nebraska and surrounding states through three geographically diverse institutions: Chadron, Peru and Wayne State Colleges. Combined, the three colleges offer more than 200 degree, certificate and pre-professional programs that are accessible on the three campuses, via the Internet, and in several satellite locations throughout the state. With more than 250 credentialed faculty members and 50,000 successful graduates, the NSCS provides significant human and intellectual capital that contributes to the current and future economic strength of the State of Nebraska.

Sports complex begins fund-raising campaign

The Wayne Summer Sports Complex recently began its fundraising campaign.

Committee members have established levels of giving which include the following:

Those contributing $20,000 can have one of the four fields named after them for the duration of the complex;

Those contributing $25,000 can have the concession stand named in their honor;

Those contributing $75,000 have the opportunity to name the entire complex.

The fundraising committee has used a number of ideas for improvements and fundraising they received after touring a similar complex in Arlington.

The committee is currently working on obtaining grant funding to assist with work to be completed at the complex.

Those wishing to make a contribution should contact Doug Carroll at 375-2019 or Laura Gamble at 375-5622.

Students move in

Dr. Richard Collings, Wayne State College president, center, joined WSC students Emily Unger, left, of David City and Whitnea Cline of Stafford, Va. in a campus-organized effort to help other students move into the residence halls on campus, Aug. 18. Unger's parents are Robert and Carole Unger. Cline is the daughter of Les and Hope Cline. Both Cline's parents are WSC alumni.

city. It was noted that the city makes a yearly contribution, although no signed contract between the two entities is currently in effect. Also noted was that any contribution by the Board of Commissioners would have to fall under the county's taxing lid and would result in a lesser contribution to other areas of fire/rescue protection.

Also listed among issues of concern to the groups were county zoning, housing, the Highway 35 Expressway and population trends.

Industrial parks in both Wayne and Wakefield were discussed, as was potential expansion of housing throughout the county.

Both the commissioners and council members indicated that they appreciated the opportunity to get together to discuss general topics rather than just meeting when a specific issue required attention.

The group decided to meet again early next spring to discuss issues relevant to both. Members of village board in the county will also be invited to attend the meeting.

Phelps & Associates has deep history of service to the community

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

Striving to help people "reach their dreams," Phelps & Associates has been part of the Wayne community for nearly 40 years.

George Phelps came to Wayne in 1968 and in 1979 became the first Certified Financial Planner (CFP) in northeast Nebraska. He went on to earn his current designations of CFP®, ChFC®, CLU®. His wife, Jennifer, became a CFP® in 1993 and is currently a Senior Financial Advisor, CFP®, MBA, ChFC®.

In the early years, the business was operated out of the home. Later, George had an office in the 400 Block of Main Street. In 1994, the office moved to its current location at 120 West Second Street.

The couple strives to give back to the community through personal education, professionalism, charitable giving and community service. "These features distinguish us from others offering similar services," Jennifer said. "We have a strong commitment to education, both for us and those we serve," she added. They try to accomplish this by weekly informative articles in the local news media; Jennifer has for several years held "Financial Fridays", in which she tries to simplify complex issues facing people today.

In the area of charitable giving, the Phelps family is awarding yearly college scholarships to graduating seniors of their church. They also award scholarships to Circle K (Kiwanis) members at WSC who have shown exemplary service to the community, WSC and the youth of America. Additional financial contributions have been made to the Wayne Boy Scouts of America Troop #174.

Community service for the couple has come in the form of active involvement in the Wayne Kiwanis Club, the Wayne Planning Commission, the Chamber of Commerce, and Rainbow World.

When George first became involved in the financial planning business, the name of the company was Investors Diversified Services (IDS). He noted that the company has changed names five times in its 110 year history, "but the basic philosophy and the basic purpose remains the same today."

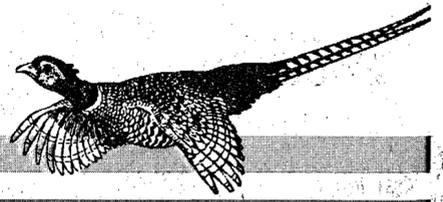

Approximately one year ago, the company became known as Ameriprise Financial with the philosophy "Dreams don't retire, planning beyond the numbers." Both George and Jennifer noted that in recent years there has been an increased emphasis on financial planning because people are living longer and not retiring, but are rearranging their life's focus.

Ameriprise is a full-service financial institution, providing services such as fee-based financial planning and a complete array of financial services.

"This is not a job for us. Instead it is a way of life. Our commitment is to helping people achieve their dreams," Jennifer said.

For more information about Ameriprise Financial, contact George or Jennifer at (402) 833-5285.

New coach set to lead soccer squad at WSC

By Mike Grosz
Wayne State Sports Information

With six returning starters and a strong recruiting class of eight new players, the 2006 Wildcat squad should be able to compete for an upper division finish in the Northern Sun Intercollegiate Conference. Despite a strong finish to the 2005 season (6-2-1 in the final nine games and a third place finish at the NSIC Tournament), WSC was predicted to finish sixth out of 10 teams in the 2006 preseason NSIC soccer coaches poll.

Brooke Bredenberg will begin her first season as head soccer coach for Wayne State. Bredenberg coached at Beatrice High School in 2005-06 where she led the Lady Orange to one of the best seasons (7-7) in school history. She also was a four-year letter winner at the University of Nebraska while playing three different positions for the Cornhuskers.

Wayne State had their first winning overall record since 2001 by going 11-9-3 in 2005. WSC finished in a tie for third place in the NSIC with a record of 7-5-2, which was the first time the 'Cats finished with a winning record in the NSIC since 2002.

The Wildcats will have a shortened NSIC schedule this season since Upper Iowa University and the University of Mary joined the league.

The 'Cats will only play each league team once this season compared to two matches last season, which means winning some games on the road will be essential to competing for the conference title. WSC was 4-1-2 on the road during conference play in the 2005 season.

Wayne State returns 12 letter winners and six starters from the 2005 Wildcat team, including NSCAA All-Central Region First Team performer Melissa Benson.

Benson, a senior midfielder from Maple Grove, Minn., scored nine goals last season to lead the Wildcat returnees. Joining Benson at midfield will be senior M.A. Liebenritt. Although Liebenritt (Lincoln Pius X) saw limited action in 2005 because of a knee injury, she is expected to be back to her old form when she scored nine goals as a sophomore. Senior defender Sarah James (Kearney) and sophomore defender Kate Goss (Millard West) will anchor the Wildcat defense this fall. James was on the 2004 All-NSIC Team while Goss led the Wildcats with 12 assists as a true freshman in 2005. Returning at goalkeeper for the 'Cats is sophomore Jamie Anderson. The Millard

WSC football seeks to expand on last year's successful NSIC run

By Mike Grosz
Wayne State Sports Information

Wayne State will look to build on its best season in the Northern Sun Conference since joining the league in 1999.

Last season, the Wildcats finished with a 4-7 overall record, including a 4-3 record in the NSIC. It was Wayne State's first winning record in conference play.

The 4-3 mark in league play marked the most wins by a Wildcat football team in the NSIC along with the school's best finish (Tie-4th) in the league.

Second-year head Coach Dan McLaughlin welcomes back eight starters on offense and six more on defense.

The 2006 Wildcat roster remains filled with youth as 77 of the team's 99 players consist of either freshmen (46), redshirt freshmen (13) or sophomores (18).

Wayne State fills out the roster with 14 seniors and eight juniors as the Wildcats look to post their first winning season since 1995 when WSC posted a 6-4 record.

Offensively, the Wildcats will be paced by two-time All-NSIC running back Zach Molacek.

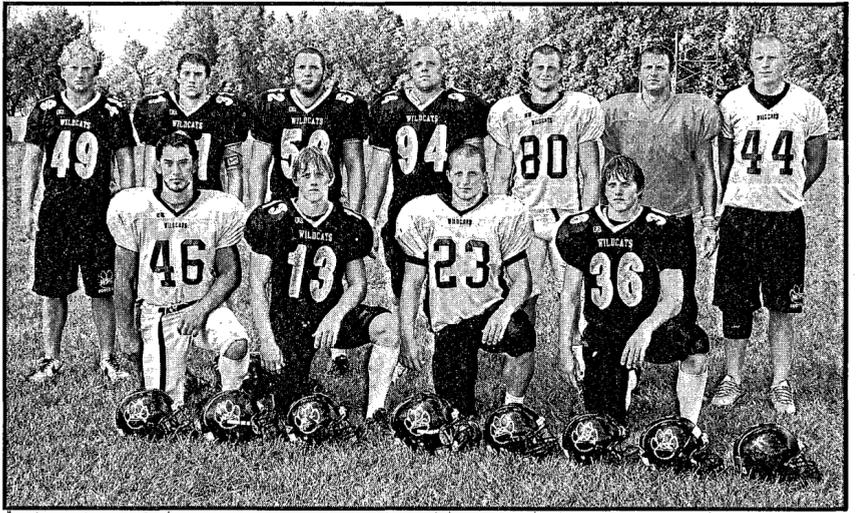

The senior from Stanton missed the first two games of the 2005 season with a shoulder injury, but had a strong second half of the season to rank fifth in NSIC games in rushing at 81.3 yards per game. He finished the season with 604 yards, down from the 1,041 he gained in the 2004 season.

Should Molacek return to his 2004 form, he could become just the fourth running back in school history to surpass the 3,000 yard mark at WSC.

Battle Creek native Bob Barry (1976-79) is the all-time leading rusher with 3,588 yards, followed by Lamont Rainey (1991-94) with 3,268 and Nebraska Football Hall of Fame member Sam Singleton (1967-70) with 3,003 yards.

Molacek enters the 2006 season with 2,236 career rushing yards. Redshirt freshman

Tyler Jones of Millard West will also contend for playing time in the Wildcat backfield along with Orchard sophomore Andrew Hurtig. Incoming freshmen Christopher McCuieu (Des Moines, Iowa) and Hooper Logan View speedster Eric Meyer will also compete for playing time. At full-back, redshirt sophomores Collin

Prosser and Matt Phelps return and will compete for the starting job.

Sophomore quarterback Travis Dietz gained valuable experience last season as a true freshman and threw for 1,182 yards with 11 touchdowns to help the Wildcats finish strong in the second half of the season.

"Travis has made excellent strides in becoming a complete quarterback," McLaughlin said. "He is starting to master the offense and is becoming more of a team leader everyday."

Highly-touted recruit Silas Fluellen (Bellevue West) and Matt Martin of Millard South will also battle for playing time at the quarterback position.

"We are also very excited about our incoming crop of young quarterbacks," McLaughlin add.

Also competing at the quarterback position are incoming freshmen Blake Mosel of Plainview and Andrew Wigham of Red Oak, Iowa.

At wide receiver, the Wildcats return three of the top four from last season, led by senior Josh Peterson, who hauled in 25 receptions for 422 yards and two touchdowns.

Two-time All-NSIC selection

Jake Robinson returns at tight end. He finished 2005 with 14 catches for 194 yards and two touchdowns in nine games after missing the early part of the season due to injury.

Senior Patrick Parrish is a strong backup at tight end for the 'Cats while sophomore Brian Chapman (12 rec., 159 yards) will bring some experience to the youthful group of wide receivers. Senior J.R. Rother had a strong spring and should contend for playing time along with redshirt freshman Ricky Massa.

The Wildcats also brought in six freshmen that will be given the opportunity to compete for playing time in 2006: Eddie Cesar (North Miami, Florida), Lazaro Cortes (Miami, Florida), Curtis Collins (North Platte), Logan Masters (Albert City, Iowa), Dominic McDonald (Ocala, Florida) and Drew Molacek (Stanton).

The offensive line is where the Wildcats lose the most experience as three-year starters Mike Wendt and Colt Meyer were lost to graduation. However, WSC has Jay Winter, a two-year starter at center, along with returning starters Brian Okonofua and Colby Herron.

Transfers Scott Umphenour and Mark Emmons should fill the holes left by graduation. Sophomore Brandon Carlson and redshirt freshman Tony Janssen and B.J. Lambrecht will provide depth and competition for playing time.

Senior Oscar Cervantes returns as the team's placekicker. Last season, Cervantes was 4 of 6 on field goals and 26 of 29 on extra point kicks.

Freshman Bryce Miller of Norfolk Catholic will also challenge for kicking time. Ian DeLaet, a member of the Wildcat baseball squad, will be the team's punter in 2006 after Kurtis Hoefling (37.6 avg.) transferred to Northern Iowa after his freshman season with the Wildcats. DeLaet was an All-Nebraska selection in high school at Ralston High School and will give the Wildcats a quality punter in 2006.

On the other side of the ball, the Wildcats lost Second Team All-Northwest Region nose guard Dan Kruger to graduation, but welcomes back six starters who helped force an NSIC-leading 32 turnovers in the 2005 season.

Special teams were also strong

Sights set high for WSC Wildcat volleyball team

The Wayne State College volleyball team responded very well after facing one of the toughest schedules in NCAA Division II last season.

The 'Cats were 25-10 overall and finished in a three-way tie for second place in the Northern Sun Conference at 10-4.

They also advanced to the NCAA Division II North Central Regional Tournament for the first time in school history.

If the Wildcat volleyball team wants to make a return trip to the NCAA Division II North Central Regional Tournament, they will have to replace three key starters from last season's squad.

Lost to graduation were setter Julie Jacobsen and reliable hitters Jacey Kuck Schwarz and Lani Recob.

Head coach Scott Kneifl said he feels this year's team has the ability and depth to be strong again this year.

"We feel we have the ability and depth on this team to compete for a conference championship and make a return trip to the regional tournament," remarked Kneifl.

WSC returns four starters and 11 letter winners for the 2006 season. At setter, the 'Cats have to replace four-year starter and two-time All-NSIC performer Julie Jacobsen. Brittany Coleman of Beatrice, a senior transfer from the University of Creighton, is planned to fill those shoes. She was a Second Team All-Missouri Valley Conference selection in 2004 and will bring a great deal of experience to the 2006 squad.

Sophomore Ann Beiermann (Columbus Scotus) and freshman Tessa Wietfeld (Leigh) will also add depth to an already strong setting position.

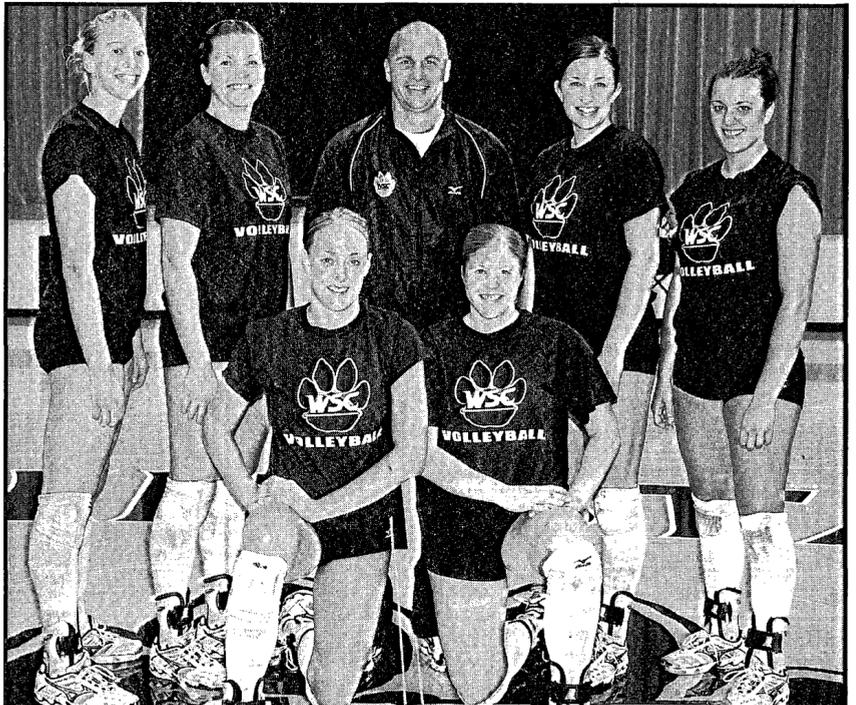

Returning at outside hitter will be sophomore Brittany Van Beek (2.07 kpg). Van Beek (Hull Western Christian) will bring a year of valuable experience and will be on the left side this season. Joining Van Beek on the outside will be Mattie Burnham. The junior from York is a good all around player and is flexible to play many positions. Danielle Wessel (sophomore, Humphrey St. Francis), Ashley Vogt (junior, Sioux City Heelan) and newcomer Jordan Schaffer (Redfield, S.D.) will also compete for playing time at outside hitter.

In the middle for the Wildcats will be Laurel-Concord graduate Emily Schroeder, who is expected to lead the Wildcats offensively. Schroeder will move from outside hitter to middle hitter in the 2006 season after the 'Cats lost four-year starter and All-Region performer Jacey Kuck Schwarz to graduation. Schroeder averaged 3.71 kills per game (2nd on team), 3.26 digs per game (3rd on team) and 1.04 blocks per game (2nd on team) in the 2005 season.

Joining Schroeder in the middle will be senior Michelle Eckhardt. Eckhardt (2.98 kpg, .306 hit percentage, 1.19 bpg) is a native of Ayr, Nebr., and is expected to have another consistent season as a blocker and an attacker.

Allie Hansen, a junior from for the Wildcats in 2005 as WSC ranked first in kickoff coverage, allowing just 11.3 yards per return. The lone returning starter on the defensive line is senior Andrew Spanjers at defensive end, who finished with 10 tackles for loss in 2005.

Transfers Sean Tili and Siosi Migi will battle for playing time at the tackle positions while senior Nate Meyer moved from fullback to defensive end in the spring and impressed coaches.

Sophomores Tyler Krueger (Pierce) and Troy Pribnow (Scribner) will push for playing time at defensive end, while redshirt freshman Austin Stanley and newcomer Chris Barry, a sophomore from Battle Creek, will battle for playing time at the defensive tackle position.

Sophomore Luke Hoffman (Wakefield) is the lone returning starter at linebacker (Will LB) and led the team with 98 tackles last season to go with three interceptions.

Battling for additional playing time at the Will linebacker position will be sophomore Matt Chrans and redshirt freshman Kyle Gardner of Wakefield.

The Mike linebacker position belongs to junior college transfer Nick Baldetti after a strong spring showing. Baldetti comes to WSC from Glendale CC, where he played on the national junior college championship team in 2005.

Special teams contributor Tony Miller, a sophomore, and newcomers Kyle Stoneking and Ryan Reeves will also compete for playing time.

The Sam linebacker position will be a battle between sophomore A.J. James, redshirt freshman Tyler Gebers and freshman Aaron Nielson from Creighton.

In the secondary, the Wildcats return three starters from last season.

Senior Laron Striplin had five interceptions from his free safety position, returning two for scores.

Senior strong safety Adam Peterson is an experienced, three-year starter who had three interceptions with one touchdown last season.

Peterson and Striplin will provide great leadership at the safety positions.

Sophomores B.J. Campbell and Ryan Molacek along with redshirt freshman Matt Greenway will also contend for playing time at the safety positions.

Omari Green returns at cornerback. The senior from San Francisco, Calif., had a strong spring and made great gains during summer conditioning and should be one of the top corners in the NSIC this season.

The other projected starter at cornerback is redshirt freshman Robert Manuel, who had a strong spring and should gain some valuable experience this season.

Newcomers expected to compete for playing time include junior Sherrod Richards (Modesto, Calif.) and true freshmen Mike Armstrong (Omaha), Lucas Marchand (Sioux Falls) and Kenny Bryant (Tampa, Florida).

The Wildcats open the 2006 season hosting incumbent Northern Sun Conference member Upper Iowa University on next Thursday, August 31 at 6 p.m.

WSC will face Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference champion Nebraska-Kearney on Sept. 9 in Kearney and will renew an old in-state rivalry with Chadron State on Sept. 16 at Wayne's Bob Cunningham Field.

The two teams have not met on the grid iron since the 1998 season.

South graduate had an impressive freshman season, which included a record of 9-6-2 with five shutouts and a 1.34 goals against average while guarding the Wildcat goal.

Rounding out the returning starters is sophomore forward Jenna Pendley, who scored one goal and had two assists for the Wildcats last season.

Other returning letter winners from the 2005 Wildcat team include senior defender Lindsay Wood (Millard West), junior defender Marci Douglas (Lincoln Southwest), junior forward Gena Romano (Lincoln Southwest), sophomore forward Elise Lane (Millard South), sophomore defender Cassidy Goc (Columbus) and sophomore midfielder Amy Gustafson (Millard West).

Coach Bredenberg will look to these six returning players and their experience to make a bigger contribution to the Wildcats success this season.

The eight Wildcat newcomers are expected to be able to contribute this season, giving WSC much-needed depth for a grueling NSIC league schedule.

Junior college transfer Kari Munsch (midfielder - Cloud County CC) brings two years of collegiate experience to the Wildcat roster, joining true freshmen Rachel Fuchs (goalkeeper - Omaha Skutt); Christina King (defender - Millard West); Megan Kenealy (forward - Blair); Valerie Robinson (midfielder - Council Bluffs Thomas Jefferson); Michaela Lucas (midfielder - Plattsmouth); Katie Kelley (defender - Millard South) and Kelsey Gerch (midfielder - Sioux City North).

Wayne State opens the 2006 season hosting York College at the Wildcat Classic on Friday, August 25 at 4:00 p.m. in the first of 10 home matches this season.

Wayne, will also compete in the middle and brings a great serve to the table.

2005 NSIC Co-Libero of the Year Laura Dolezal returns in the back row for the 'Cats. Dolezal, a junior from Columbus, shattered the single season digs mark at WSC last season with 818 to rank fifth in NCAA Division II at 6.60 digs per game.

The Scotus High School graduate is 516 digs away from the school's career record and Coach Kneifl said he feels that Dolezal is one of the top defenders in the country.

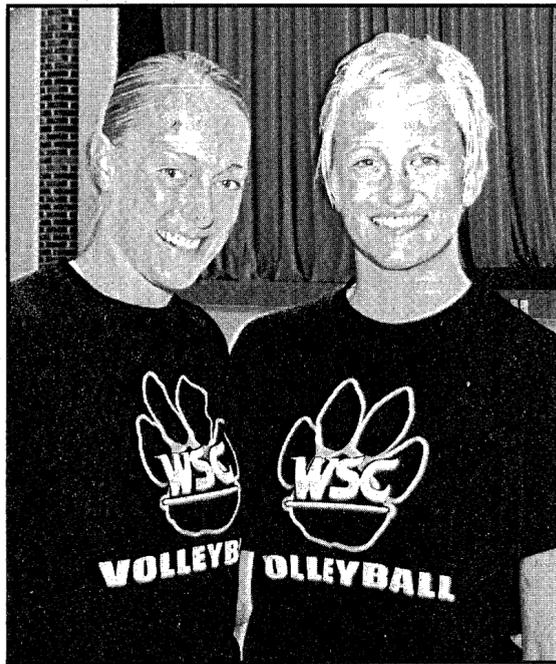

"Her fundamental skills and ability to be in the right spot makes her one of the top defenders in the country," remarked Kneifl about the Second Team All-Region selection from last season.

Helping Dolezal defensively will be sophomore Meredy Dubbs, who had a stellar freshman season in 2005 as a defensive specialist, averaging 2.54 dpg.

Dubbs, from Wood River, has a knack for making great defensive plays and will be a very important part of the success for the 'Cats during the 2006 season.

Sophomore Amanda Johnson (Millard South HS) is a very hard worker and will also compete for a job as a defensive specialist.

Wayne State opens the 2006 campaign by playing Iowa Wesleyan in the UNK Fall Classic, presented by Country Inn and Suites, in Kearney on Friday, Aug. 25, at 10 a.m.

The first of 10 home matches for the Wildcats is on Tuesday, September 5 against in-state rival Nebraska-Omaha scheduled for 7 p.m. in Rice Auditorium.

Coach Kneifl said he anxious to get the 2006 season started.

"We are looking forward to the start of our season. Our players have been working extremely hard over the summer and are ready for competition," Kneifl said.

Club champions crowned at Wayne Country Club

Doug Rose and Sandra Sutton were crowned men's and women's club champs following Sunday's annual Wayne Country Club Tournament.

The event drew nearly 100 golfers, competing in 12 different flights. Sutton returned to a familiar spot as Wayne's top female golfer, carding a three-over par 75. Winning this title has become very familiar to her, notching her 10th over the past 16 years.

Sutton fired rounds of 37-33 with birdies on the par five number two and par five, 13th while recording a deuce on the par three, 12th hole.

Wendy Owens finished runner-up in the first flight with a 93 while Marta Nelson and Vicki Pick also competed for the title.

Jean Loberg won the second flight which was netted out because of disparity in handicaps. Loberg carded a 113 with Karen Kwapnioski netting second after a 110. Sarah Rusk was third at 119. Amy Schweers and Steph Schoh rounded out the flight.

The men's championship flight runs over 27 holes but this year's tournament needed a 28th hole as Doug Rose edged Rob Sweetland in a sudden-death playoff.

Rose came out swinging in the first round, recording birdies on the first four holes before settling for a three-under par 33 on the front nine. He carded a 39 on the back for an even par 72.

Sweetland finished with a one-over par 37 on the front before finishing below par on the back with a 35 and an even par round of 72. Brad Hansen quietly put together a three-under par 33 on the front nine and finished the first 18 holes with a one-over par 73.

In the championship nine holes Sweetland went on the offense early to defend his title with birdies on the first two holes. He would later birdie hole six and finished the round at two-under par 34.

Rose went down three strokes to Sweetland after the first two holes after going par, bogey but a birdie on four and back-to-back birdies on holes seven and eight put him in a tie with Sweetland once again at two-under par 34.

Hansen birdied holes two, four and six and had it not been for a bogey on hole seven, would have forced a three-way tie for the tournament. He also finished two-under par over the final nine holes.

Nine other flights of golfers competed with John Fuelberth winning the first flight with a 77 while Ryan Williams was runner-up at 78 followed by Ron Hammer and Jeremy Nelson with 79s.

Duane Blomenkamp won flight two with an 82 with Kevin Peterson placing second at 83 and Nick Muir, third with 83 followed by Todd Young with an 84.

Doug Carroll won flight three with an 80 while Steve Meyer carded an 81 and Phil Griess, 83. Ralph Etter was fourth at 84.

Dave Diediker captured the fourth flight with a 79 followed in order by Rusty Parker (82), Bill Sharpe (84) and Jim Curtiss (86).

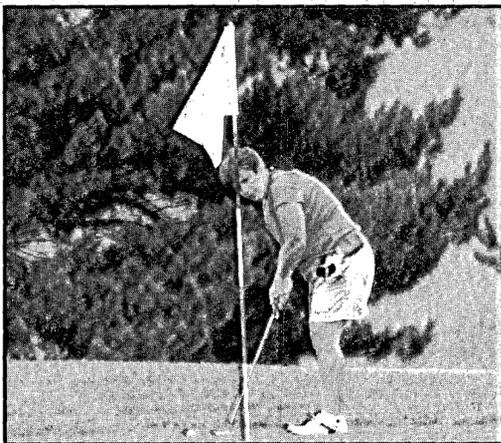

Val Kienast was tops in flight five with an 86 while Corby Schweers carded an 87 for runner-up honors. Darrel Metzler was third at 88 and Gene Claussen, fourth with an 89.

Glen Nichols won flight six with an 87 while Bill Melena was second at 92. Max Kathol was third with a 92 and Don Pearson finished fourth with a 95.

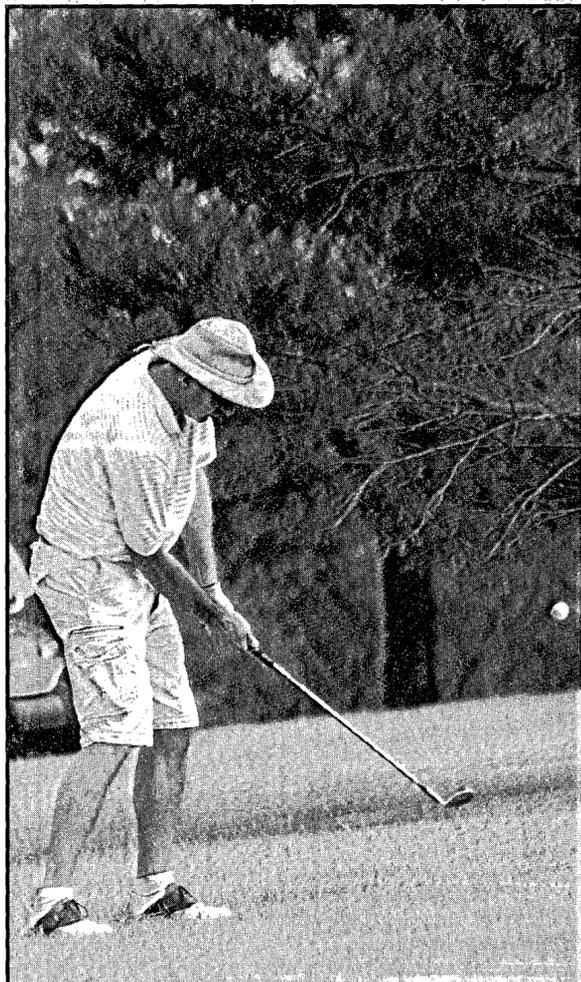

Kevin Armstrong won the seventh flight with an 86 while Kevin Heithold was second at 91, followed by Matt Rathje at 91 and Scott Hammer, 92.

Eighth flight champ was Tyler Frevert with a 93 while Dave Ley was second at 94. Kyle Nelsen was third with a 101 and Bill Kinney was fourth at 102.

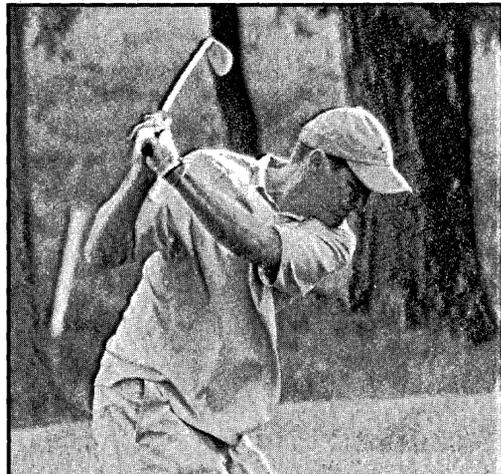

The ninth flight was won by Mike Grosz at 102 while Rob Burrows placed second at 103. Curt Jeffries was third with a 103 and Donovan Doescher placed fourth at 109.

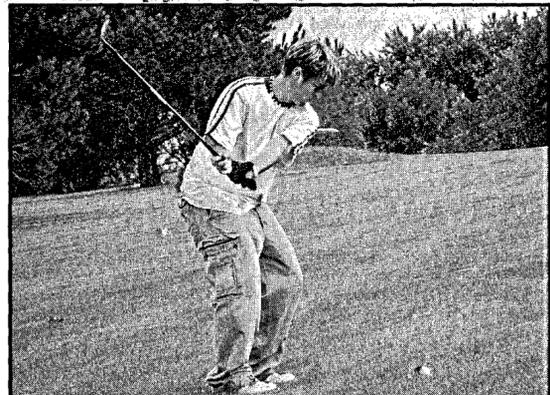

Women's champion Sandra Sutton lines up for a putt in Sunday afternoon's women's championship.

Men's champion Doug Rose makes his way to Hole No. 4 in championship action last Sunday at the Wayne Country Club.

Rob Sweetland aims for the green on Hole No. 1 at the club championship on Sunday.

Rie Volk takes a swing toward Hole No. 4 in Sunday's club championship at the Wayne Country Club.

Brad Hansen launches a tee shot on Hole No. 2 in Sunday's club championship at WCC.

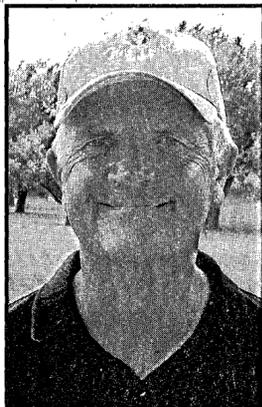

Women's second place finisher Wendy Owens chips onto Hole No. 17 in last Sunday's women's club championship.

Right at Home
 Design and Decorating Inspiration

naturally light and refreshing ...

One of the many considerations when choosing window coverings for your home is the natural light coming into the room. Obviously the direction your windows face and the amount of exposure to sun determines how much or how little natural light comes into the room. What's not so obvious is how dramatically different the type of light is depending on the direction it's coming from.

For example... North-facing windows offer the clearest and most consistent light but also the coldest exposure.

In our region it's smart to look for energy-efficient treatments to prevent the cold from leaking in and the heat from escaping. With energy prices soaring... consider that unprotected windows can allow up to 40% of your home's heat to escape through the windows.

South-facing windows are the most important natural light source because they receive sunlight year round and cast a warm, golden glow on interiors. Look for treatments that let in as much light as possible while still offering protection against heat and UV rays.

We'll continue next time with that warm bright light from the east and that hot afternoon western sun.

Whatever "direction" you may be considering with window treatments... visit our Design Showroom and our trained design staff can assist you in finding just the right style and function for your home.

Or... we'll bring the showroom to you. Our great selection of samples are can't wait to get out of the showroom for a visit to your home. Call toll-free to arrange for a free In-Home Design Consultation.

Haven House to sponsor trainings

Haven House will sponsor several volunteer trainings throughout the month of September.

On Wednesday, Sept. 6 the topic of discussion will be "Domestic Violence" and the training will run from 6 to 9 p.m.

At that training, volunteers will learn what domestic violence is about and the types of abuse. They will also understand the contributing factors that create domestic violence.

The topic of discussion on Wednesday, Sept. 13 from 6 to 9 p.m. will be rape and sexual assault.

Attendees will learn to dispel rape myths by learning the facts about sexual violence, understand sexual violence on a national and state level and know the components of consent and degrees of assault.

"Responding with Law Enforcement/Protection Orders" is the topic of the Wednesday, Sept. 20 session. Volunteers will learn about law enforcement's response to a domestic violence situation, become familiar with protection orders and discuss the difference between a protection order and a harassment order.

The final training session of the series will take place on Wednesday, Sept. 27 from 6 to 9 p.m. and will deal with Crisis Intervention/Cultural Awareness.

Those attending will come to understand the four stages of a crisis and the steps people go through to cope with a crisis, learn crisis intervention steps and techniques and develop telephone skills to respond to crisis calls.

All of the trainings will take place on the Wayne State College Campus in Connell Hall, Room 129.

For more information on these training sessions, contact Kourtney Roebber-Hefti, Volunteer Coordinator at (402) 375-5433 or kroebberhefti@qwest.com

189th Meeting held recently in Wayne

The Northeast Nebraska Chapter of the American Red Cross sponsored a supper and informational meeting at the Armory in Wayne on Aug. 17. There were about 30 adults in attendance, along with about a dozen children. Childcare was provided by Mary Lou George, Bev Sturm and Jane Ahmann.

Jill Belt from Providence Medical Center and Karen Granberg from Wayne State College, both of whom are Red Cross trained mental health volunteers, led the group in discussing PTSD (Post Traumatic Stress Disorder). Layne Beza shared some military information with those in attendance at the beginning of the meeting and later Brad Wieland joined the group and answered questions too.

According to Red Cross Director Lori Carollo, "the group is growing each time we meet and everyone in attendance seems very appreciative of these gatherings. Jill and Karen do a wonderful job in helping the families understand what their soldiers are experiencing and we are trying to also prepare them for things to expect when the soldiers return."

The next meeting will be held on Thursday, Sept. 7 at 6:30 pm at the armory. Anyone who would like to bring a baby gift, gift card, or even just a card for Ben and Heather Marksmeier (they are expecting a baby boy) can either bring it to the meeting or drop it off at the armory prior to the 7th. Ben's grandparents were at the meeting and said they could either get the gifts to the family or Layne Beza can also assist with that. The general idea is for the gifts to be gathered together and come from the 189th "family."

The Red Cross will provide supper again that night and child care will also be provided. Carollo stated, "we just encourage everyone to try and attend these informational meetings. If you have a chance to talk to anyone who has been attending, I think you will find that they are extremely helpful in helping you better understand what you might expect or experience in conversations you are having right now with your soldiers, and especially what things to watch for and be aware of when they return home. Layne and Brad have been helpful also in keeping the families updated at these meetings with the current state with the 189th overseas and give updates at each meeting of the progress that is being made as they get closer to their date to return home! Please join us and bring a friend!"

For more information or for any questions, please call the Red Cross office at 375-5209.

NSP participates in drunk driving crackdown

The Nebraska State Patrol will participate in the statewide "You Drink & Drive, You Lose" campaign began Aug. 18 and continues through Monday, Sept. 4.

The campaign concentrates on drinking and driving in an effort to take alcohol-impaired drivers off our roads as we head into the final holiday of the summer travel season. The statewide campaign is in conjunction with the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration's (NHTSA) new media campaign entitled "Drunk Driving. Over the Limit. Under Arrest."

The Nebraska Office of Highway Safety (NOHS) statistics show one Nebraskan dies every four days in an alcohol related crash. In 2005, there were 74 alcohol related fatal crashes, with 81 fatalities linked to alcohol use. More than 14,500 arrests were made for Driving While Intoxicated.

Troopers will utilize overtime hours beginning Friday, Aug. 25, through Monday, Sept. 4, in conjunction with the "You Drink & Drive, You Lose" campaign and as part of the Patrol's Labor Day Enforcement efforts. The overtime hours are paid for in part to a $14,000 grant from NOHS.

The Nebraska State Patrol is also asking the public to partner in the effort to take drunk drivers off the road during the more than two week special enforcement campaign. If you witness an impaired driver you should call the agency's emergency help line at 1-800-525-5555 or *55 (star) on your cellular phone.

Junior Fire Patrol 2006 to begin

The Wayne Volunteer Fire Department will begin the 44th consecutive year of Junior Fire Patrol on Aug. 28. There will be eight sessions on Monday evenings over nine weeks. There will not be a session on Labor Day, Sept. 4.

The sessions will begin promptly at 7 p.m. and will end promptly at 8 p.m.

Please bring your fourth grader to the fire hall at 510 Tomar Street and pick them up at 8 p.m.

MS Walk to be held in Wayne on Sept. 16

One of the sure signs of fall in the Wayne area is the MS Walk presented by Home Instead Senior Care.

The Nebraska Chapter MS Walk will take place Saturday, Sept. 16 at Henry Victor Park/ Eagles Club beginning at 8:30 a.m. Funds raised from the event will help the National Multiple Sclerosis Society end the devastating effects of multiple sclerosis.

"The community always comes out of hibernation to help make the walk a success. Walkers, sponsors, people with MS and volunteers come together with a dynamic synergy - that is why I always look forward to walk day every year," said Chapter President, Pattie Gorham. "We encourage our tried and true participants to save the date and sign up now. We urge rookies to give the Walk a try and find out how they can help 400,000 Americans living with MS."

events. The $320 million that has been raised since 1991 goes toward research for treatment for people living with the devastating effects of MS, as well as client programs for people with MS.

Each year nearly 200,000 people at over 600 sites participate in the MS Walk. Last year, chapters in each of the 50 states contributed to the $40 million raised to help the National MS Society continue its MS programs, research, and professional education. The 2005 MS Walk raised nearly $200,000 statewide last year and provided support to nearly 3,100 people with MS in Nebraska and Southwest Iowa.

Thanks to significant advances in research, the FDA has approved several treatments that may alter the underlying disease course of multiple sclerosis. People with MS should consult their doctors about using one of the FDA-approved medications and other effective treatments for the symptoms of

Multiple sclerosis is a chronic unpredictable neurological disease. MS can cause blurred vision, loss of balance, poor coordination, slurred speech, tremors, numbness, extreme fatigue, problems with memory and concentration, paralysis, and blindness. These problems may be permanent, or they may come and go. Most people with MS are diagnosed between the ages of 20 and 50.

Since its founding in 1946, the National Multiple Sclerosis Society has been the leading provider of programs for people with MS and their families and friends. Local chapters enable the Society to help meet the needs of Americans living with MS.

For more information or to register for the MS Walk or for information about Nebraska Chapter programs call (402) 572-3190 or 1-800-FIGHT MS or visit our website at www.nationalmssociety.org/en.

Phi Kappa Phi to host first ceremony at WSC

The campus and community are invited to the first Phi Kappa Phi chapter installation ceremony at Wayne State College in the Elkhorn Room, located in the student center at 3:30 p.m., on Thursday, Aug. 31.

"We are proud to be establishing an honor society that recognizes academic excellence across all disciplines on campus," said Dr. Randy Bertolas, faculty adviser and chapter president. "Chartering a Phi Kappa Phi chapter speaks volumes about the quality of students who attend Wayne State College."

A Phi Kappa Phi member since 1967, Dr. Richard Collings, Wayne State College president, will be the keynote speaker. Phi Kappa Phi Regent Dr. Nancy Blattner of Fontbonne University in St. Louis will conduct the chapter installation ceremony and initiate WSC administrators and several WSC faculty and staff as new members.

WSC's first student chapter members will be nominated from the top 7.5 percent of last-term juniors and the top 10 percent of seniors, along with outstanding graduate students, faculty, professional staff and alumni who have achieved scholarly distinction.

Wayne State College was selected as one of three new chapters with charters approved by Phi Kappa Phi's board of directors. Fontbonne University and the University of Texas at Arlington were also approved.

Founded in 1897, Phi Kappa Phi is the nation's oldest, largest and most selective all-discipline honor society. Each year, approximately 30,000 students, faculty, professional staff and alumni are initiated into chapters on 297 campuses in the United States, Puerto Rico and the Philippines. These three new chapters bring the total to 300.

Weber named to Music Educators Association committee

Brad Weber, Director of Bands at Wayne High School was appointed by the Nebraska Music Educators Association to the All-State Auditions Material Committee.

The committee chairman is Tom Jaworski, Director of Bands at Adams Central High School. The committee is to research and compile information so they can select a third year of audition material for the instrumental All-State groups.

For over 40 years only high school juniors and seniors were allowed to audition for the All-State groups. But just a few years ago sophomores in high school were also allowed to audition meaning a third year of audition material needs to be added.

Weber is responsible for the percussion instruments' audition material selection.

The committee's first meeting was May 23 in Lincoln. On July 6 - 8, Weber attended the Nebraska State Bandmasters Association's annual Summer Clinic in Columbus where he and Jaworski gave an update and took suggestions for the Audition Materials Committee.

NSP SWAT teams hold special exercise

Special Weapons And Tactics (S.W.A.T.) Teams from the Nebraska State Patrol Troop B in Norfolk and Headquarters Troop in Lincoln participated along with the Butler County Sheriff's Office in a day of special training, Aug. 23.

A mock S.W.A.T. call involving barricaded subjects was held in northern Butler County, near the Columbus area. The exercise was designed to strengthen intra-agency cooperation.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

Where There's a Will, There's a Way

You've surely heard the old saying, "Where there's a will, there's a way." Never is this saying more apropos than in the case of your last will and testament. A will truly is a way to provide peace-of-mind for you now and your loved ones after you die.

If preparing a will is on your "to-do" list, you're not alone. An April 2000 study conducted by AARP Research Group reveals that 40 percent of Americans age 50+ don't have a will. As you think about how a will fits with your estate planning needs, consider these common myths.

Myth #1: Only people with a lot of money need wills.

We all have things we care about - investments, family heirlooms, objects that have sentimental or monetary value. If you die without a will the state where you live decides what happens to those things. And a probate court judge determines how your assets will be distributed. Only a written will can guarantee that your instructions will be known and followed after your death.

Myth #2: A hand-written will is just as good as a legally prepared document.

Perhaps you've heard stories about how instructions for distribution of million dollar estates were spelled out on crumpled up napkins. It's true that you can write a will yourself, using one of the many how-to books or forms found on the internet. However, if it's not done correctly, your will may be considered legally worthless. The best way to make sure your will is legal and usable is to consult with an attorney who specializes in wills

Jennifer & George Phelps
Financial Advisors
Certified Financial Planner Practitioners™

and knows what your state will consider a valid document.

Myth #3: Once I prepare a will, I'll never have to worry about it again.

Anytime there are major changes in your life, you should revisit your will to make sure it reflects your current situation. Events like getting married, having children, getting divorced or moving to another state may invalidate your existing will. When you marry, for example, the state assumes that you intend for your property to go to your spouse at your death. If you wrote your will before you got married and didn't name a spouse, the state considers your will invalid. You can accommodate these types of changes by creating a new will or changing your will.

Myth #4: It's best to leave everything to my spouse and let him or her provide for the kids.

Leaving most or all of your assets to your spouse may be a simple choice, but perhaps not the best one, especially if you have children. First, your spouse may not carry out your wishes after your death. Second, there may be tax advantages for assigning some assets directly to your children.

Myth #5: Once I have a will my wishes are known and my estate plan is complete.

While having a will is important, it's just one element of a comprehensive estate plan. You'll also want to complete a living will that allows you to dictate the steps that should be taken in case you are incapable of making health care and other decisions on your own. Also, executing a health care power of attorney you give another person proxy for making decisions about which measures to take and when to stop life-sustaining procedures on your behalf. In case you are unable to make financial decisions on your own, consider giving power of attorney to someone you trust to act on your behalf. As with your will, you'll want to consult a lawyer to ensure you follow state requirements for these documents.

Looking at the big picture.

Like other important aspects of your life, planning for when you're no longer here starts with a dream. What is your vision for your loved ones and future generations? Turning that dream into reality means having a financial plan with an estate planning component. Seek a professional financial advisor who looks at the big picture, understands your long and short-term goals and builds on your dreams for the future well-being of those you care about to help create your plan.

Healthy meal and snack planning can save time, money Engagements

Coming up with dinner ideas after working all day can be tough and going to the grocery store every other day for ingredients for meals or after-school snacks can become expensive.

To prevent these frustrations, try planning meals and snacks.

Planning meals and snacks for the family can ensure their nutritional needs are being met and that enough variety is being offered to them. It also can cut costs because trips to the grocery store wouldn't need to be frequent.

The types of snacks to serve and the timing of them, depend on the family situation. Some children like to have a snack after school before starting their homework, and some children like to grab a quick snack before rushing off to do other activities. Quick, healthy snack ideas are fruits, vegetables, low-fat cheese, pretzels and whole grain crackers. In addition, these items are easily accessible and don't require too much clean up.

Ruth Vonderohe
Extension Educator

To begin planning meals, start with breakfast. Mornings sometimes can be hectic, so keeping a variety of quick, healthy breakfast foods, such as milk, cereal, fruit and oatmeal, can ensure that everyone will start the day right.

Frozen whole grain waffles with lite or sugar-free syrups also can be quick, healthy breakfast options.

When planning the rest of the week's dinners and lunches, try to incorporate various foods so the family's nutritional needs are met and so they don't get bored with having the same type of food. It's a good idea to keep lean sandwich meats, such as turkey or ham, and sliced cheeses on hand for sandwiches. Also, fruits and vegetables can be great complements to a sack lunch. After completing a few days worth of meals, it might become possible to use leftovers in lunches or for dinner again later in the week.

During the week it might not be possible to cook dinner on the day it is planned to be prepared. To stay on track with the meal plan, consider preparing and freezing meals or doing certain preparations for it the night before. Children who come home before parents can begin certain preparations for the meal so it can be served on time.

Sweet Corn Sunday

The fifth annual Sweet Corn Sunday was held recently at Immanuel Lutheran Church of rural Wakefield. The day began with church services, led by Pastor Willie Bertrand. As an incentive to church goers, those who sat in the front row of the church were allowed to eat first. The honor was given to Betty Lessmann and her family. More than 300 people were served a dinner of fried chicken, sweet corn and all the trimmings. Following the meal, those in attendance sat under the shade trees and enjoyed a time of fellowship. An auction of various items, including a number of homemade pies, was held again this year. New to this year's auction was a tri-fecta, which included the auctioning of three pies, a rhubarb, cherry and pecan, together. These pies brought in $200. In the photo above left, congregation members gathered to husk the corn prior to the event. Above, Donna Jacobson was all smiles as she worked with the corn. At left, Alma Weiershauser, 100, spent the entire day at the event. She is pictured with her son, Jerry of South Sioux City and a potted plant which was also among those items auctioned at the celebration. Photos courtesy of Debra Nelson.

Trip to grocery store makes day of fasting difficult

For medical reasons, I'm on a liquid diet today; a clear liquid diet, as in apple juice, coffee, tea, and broth. I can remember fasting for a National Day of Prayer once, and I don't remember being this hungry. It helps that I can have coffee, but I'm in need of some carbs!

And, poor planning, we were out of milk and I needed some other groceries, so I went to the store this afternoon. I knew better; one should never grocery shop when hungry. I found myself looking longingly at peanut butter, string cheese, and Cheerios.

Plus, when I got back, I made three pies. The home owners association annual meeting is tomorrow night. For this event, card tables and folding chairs are simply moved to the shady middle of the cul de sac, and everyone brings food. Then, the treasurer tells us how much money we have, lawns are discussed, the same poor fellow is elected president, and we all go home.

I took peach pie last year, and it was a hit. I'm taking peach pie this year, thanks to my Mom. About the first of August, she starts looking at the ads for the best buy on Colorado peaches. They have to be Colorado. I think they are the best for being "cling free", and it is pretty important to be able to get that stone out easily. But I've had some from Missouri already this year, and some huge ones from the local store that were very tasty. Finally, she found two twenty pound lugs for the right price, and I got one. She has canned six quarts, and I have now made six pies. Two are in the freezer.

By: Pat Melerhenry

As I rolled out the dough, I wondered who in the world first figured out that if you mix flour and lard and add water, it will be a sticky concoction that you can roll out and use to line a pan that will hold a custard, or fruit, or even meat and vegetables.

My Betty Crocker book says "pies" of old England were baked in a long deep dish called a coffin, and "pye receipts" up to Martha Washington's day directed colonial cooks to "first make your coffin." Amazing. The first American pie pans were designed round to cut the corners, and flat and shallow so they would go a long way.

Well, whoever invented them, they have stayed popular, even though I now use Crisco with zero grams trans fat instead of lard. And I like pie dough almost as well as I like cookie dough, so it was hard to resist this afternoon. Now they are sitting on the stove, cooling, and the kitchen smells lovely.

Hopefully, they will taste that much better tomorrow for having had to wait to test them. I'll have my cup of tea and try to think of something besides food! I guess this is why I don't do diets very well, and I can't imagine going on a hunger strike. I bet I'll dream of pie and ice cream tonight!

Look for different ways of saving fuel this harvest

Producers may think the only way to save fuel during harvest is to leave the combine and tractors in the shed. However, there are methods of conserving fuel that will save producers money and get them out in the field. Paul Jasa, UNL Extension Biological Engineer has these ideas.

Producers should begin by inspecting their combines from top to bottom. Like all machinery, combines need to be examined for engine problems, dirty filters and proper oil levels. In top condition, a combine will burn less fuel and harvest grain more efficiently. Examine internal parts of the combine to make sure energy isn't wasted because of worn parts or residue build-up inside the machine.

Fuel can be conserved during the drying process as well. When conditions are good, producers can leave crops in the field as long as possible to dry with no energy cost involved. Corn doesn't have to be harvested all at once as well. Rotate the harvest of one crop with another to allow fields extra time to dry. If harvest season turns out wet, crops will simply have to be harvested as is and dried in the bin, if needed.

Hauling grain is another opportunity during harvest to save fuel. Take time to consider the costs of hauling grain to market or storage.

A better price further away may not be a bargain if it costs more to get grain there in the first place.

Cutting back on fall field work will save fuel and improve soil conditions for the long term. For example, no fuel is consumed in the fall by no-till practices and residues are left standing to capture moisture. In these situations, producers may find themselves saving fuel for irrigation the following summer as well.

Smart use of fertilizer will not only increase crop production but reduce the amount of fuel spent during application and dollars spent on the nutrients. Slower release forms of nitrogen, applied in minimum necessary amounts in spring, will reduce the need for producers to return later to apply more fertilizer and use more fuel.

Water testing to be available at State Fair

Fairgoers can have their drinking water tested for nitrates during the Nebraska State Fair in Lincoln Aug. 26 - Sept. 4.

Individuals who get their drinking water from domestic wells can bring a cup-size sample to the Devaney Sports Center (Booth C11) on the fairgrounds between 10 a.m. and 9 a.m. except on Sept. 4 when the booth will be open between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m.

There is no charge for the test, which takes about 10 minutes.

Nitrates are a health concern for infants under six months of age and pregnant women. High levels of nitrates interfere with the blood's ability to carry oxygen and cause "Blue Baby" syndrome.

The water testing is sponsored by the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services Regulation and Licensure. For more information, contact the Environmental Health Services Section, (402) 471-2541.

If you know the farmer who raises your food, then you know your food. Northeast Nebraska RC&D of Plainview, representing six counties in the region, has initiated a new project called Farm to Family Connection that will promote locally raised food and farm products to consumers and institutions and study innovative ways of raising awareness of food grown in the area.

"The goal of the project is to bring the farmer and consumer together and create a working relationship that will benefit both," said project director, Sandy Patton. "The program will serve to educate the consumer and institutions and to motivate them to purchase more local food and farm products."

According to Patton, Farm to Family Connection will utilize an existing weekly radio show airing Thursdays on KKYA radio, 93.1 FM based in Yankton, SD, as a springboard to promote the local food message. Farms and rural businesses that have been featured on Farm to Family Connection radio over the past two years will be surveyed along with some of their customers to analyze if the message is getting to consumers.

The project will expand an existing web-based campaign and create a toolkit that can be utilized by other farm groups, radio stations and family farm and direct marketing advocacy organizations across the country to develop their own radio and web-based local food campaigns.

"When we buy and eat local foods, we know what we're getting and where it came from," Patton said. "The farmer that grew the meat on our dinner table, the tomatoes in our salad, or the honey on our toast, lives in our area."

This project will work with a number of organizations around northeast Nebraska, South Dakota and Iowa in promoting local food not only directly to consumers, but also to institutions like hospitals, schools, nursing homes and local restaurants. Patton said, "Family farmers are the heart of our rural communities. Connecting the farm to the consumer and institution is a way of keeping our rural communities alive."

"We will be looking at new ways for farmers who are direct marketing locally raised food and products to reach out to consumers in our own region," says Crofton area farmer, Curt Arens, who is assisting Patton on the project. "Study after study shows that if they are given a choice, folks will always select fresh produce and food grown by local family farmers down the road who they know and trust."

The two-year project is funded in part by a $100,000 grant from W.K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek, Michigan. The W.K. Kellogg Foundation was established in 1930 "to help people help themselves through the practical application of knowledge and resources to improve their quality of life and that of future generations." Its programming activities center around the common vision of a world in which each person has a sense of worth; accepts responsibility for self, family, community, and societal well-being; and has the capacity to be productive, and to help create nurturing families, responsive institutions, and healthy communities.

To achieve the greatest impact, the Foundation targets its grants toward specific areas. These include: health; food systems and rural development; youth and education; and philanthropy and volunteerism.

The Northeast Nebraska

Resource Conservation & Development (RC&D) is a partnership between USDA and our local non-profit organization that serves the six counties of Antelope, Cedar, Dixon, Knox, Pierce and Wayne in Northeast Nebraska.

The group's purpose is connecting people and their communities to resources, helping plan and carry out activities that support economic development, increase conservation of natural resources, and enhance the quality of life. The local Farm to Family Connection project began Aug. 1 and will run through July, 2008.

Rural communities to be priority for Senate Ag Committee

Nebraska Senator Ben Nelson announced recently that rural development in Nebraska remains an incredibly important issue for future farm policy. Even though the Senate Ag Committee will not have an opportunity to consider the topic specifically during its field hearing Wednesday in Grand Island, Senator Nelson intends to push for improvements to the rural development programs in the Food and Fuel Security Act of 2007.

As part of that effort, Nelson will be submitting written testimony by Chuck Hassebrook of the Center for Rural Affairs to ensure that the issue is a part of the field hearing record. Hassebrook in his testimony states that "Rural communities are not sharing in the nation's prosperity and it is time to invest in creating a future for rural America."

"To correct this, Mr. Hassebrook promotes an entrepreneurship initiative to breathe new life into our rural communities," said Nelson. "I believe this must be done to strengthen our rural development and ensure the security of our farmers aged 55 and up control more than half the farmland and it's anticipated that half of all current farmers are likely to retire at the end of this decade."

To attract a new generation of farmers, Nelson said we must address and invest in rural development including investing in community building blocks like schools, hospitals, airports and promoting entrepreneurship.

Attorney General Bruning appeals casino gambling ruling

Attorney General Jon Bruning appealed a ruling that ordered the secretary of state to verify petition signatures submitted for three casino gambling petitions proposed for the November ballot.

The order was released by Lancaster County District Court Judge Karen Flowers.

"We have tremendous respect for Judge Flowers. However, we disagree with her on the law, and we are appealing her order," Bruning said.

The order has been appealed to the Nebraska Court of Appeals.

Youth exhibit bucket calves

Eighteen youngsters under the age of eight brought Pee-Wee bucket calves to the Wayne County Fair.

The young people showed on July 27 at the WayCo Show Arena. Judge for the event was Vaughn Sievers of Albion. Sievers is a former Wayne County 4-H'er and interviewed each of the participants.

The Pee-Wee Bucket Calf Show began approximately six years ago as a way to involve young people who were not old enough to participate in 4-H. The event was suggested to the Wayne County Fair Board by Delores Felt and has been under the direction of Superintendent Connie Roberts of Wakefield since it began.

All participants received a calf halter from Rich and Connie Behmer of Winside, a cash award from Roberts Simmentals of Wakefield and a participation rosette.

Pee-Wee Showmen included Lucas Longe, Cara Lubberstedt, Emily Claussen, Camryn and Layne Evans, Jayse Munsell, Beau Bowers, Caitlin, Cade and Karlee Janke, Marta Pulfer, Evan Puls, Tyler Gilliland, Andrew Lut, Kaden Schmale, Lindsey Martoz and Elizabeth and Andrea Torres.

Superintendent Roberts was assisted during the show by Morgan and Tarrin Quinn, current 4-H members.

2006 Nebraska Rural Institute highlights research in rural community development

The 2006 Nebraska Rural Institute Sept. 19-21 in Ainsworth will highlight research in rural community development and give participants advice on keeping rural ties strong. The theme is "Ride into the Sandhills... Rich in Natural Resources, Business and Rural Hospitality."

Guest speaker Peter Kenyon of the Bank of I.D.E.A.S. (Initiatives for the Development of Enterprising Action and Strategies) in Australia will offer participants new ideas for advancement in rural communities. Kenyon has worked with over 1,000 communities to encourage residents to invest in their own ideas and resources.

"The institute presents timely topics that are innovative and beneficial to rural Nebraskans," said Bob Stowell, an attorney from Ord who has attended the institute in the past and strongly encourages past and new participants to attend. "It is an awesome opportunity for rural citizens to gather and network."

Featured research presentations include The Economic Impact of Wal-Mart on the Economic Growth of Nebraska Counties, by Azzeddine Azzam, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln agricultural economist; Improving Local Retail Markets, by Diane Vigna from UNL's Department of Textiles, Clothing and Design; and Doing Business in North Central Nebraska, by Eric Thompson of the NU Bureau of Business Research.

Investing in rural youth also will be featured during the institute. Sessions will include a panel of area youth who have worked to strengthen community development, a presentation on encouraging youth to be active citizens and a panel of young entrepreneurs who have returned to work in their rural communities. A community and youth partnership exhibit also will be on display to demonstrate how youth can become engaged in the community.

"Rural Nebraskans need to become more active towards the future and raise hope for all rural businesses and the opportunities they have to offer local youth," Stowell said. "Education used to mean kids didn't return to their rural communities. Today, value is added from education upon their return."

Many mobile workshops are planned for this year's institute. Topics include creating sustainable bio-based businesses in rural areas with a tour of the Nebraska Public Power District's Wind Energy Farm, using existing natural resources for economic development at Smith Falls State Park and the Valentine Wildlife Refuge and a community business tour with stops at innovative businesses and manufacturing companies along Highway 20.

Registration for the entire conference is $200 if paid before Sept. 8 and $275 after. Daily rates for Sept. 19 and 20 are $75 before Sept. 8 and $100 after. Sept. 21 registration is $60 before Sept. 8 and $80 after. Partial day rates are available upon request.

Registration costs include two meals Sept. 19 and 21 and three meals Sept. 20. Extra meals can be purchased for spouses or guests. Group rates for lodging are available at the Comfort Inn or Super 8 Motel in Ainsworth.

Information for full or partial scholarships is available upon request.

To register or for more information visit the Web <http://cari.unl.edu/nri> or contact Charlotte Narjes at (402) 472-1724 or e-mail cnarjes@unl.edu.
