Wayne State Black and Gold Series to present President's Holiday Gala Concert

The 2006-07 Wayne State College Black and Gold performing arts series will open on Sunday, Dec. 10 with the seventh annual President's Holiday Gala Concert. The concert will take place in the Ramsey Theatre on the Wayne State College campus, and will be followed by a dessert reception hosted by WSC President Richard Collings.

The popular program is designed as a fast-paced concert presented in a collage-like atmosphere, highlighting some of the select performing organizations from Wayne State College. Assembled for an audience of diverse backgrounds and tastes, the concert will include festive works and holiday music by Irving Berlin, Chip Davis, Norman Dello Joio, Sammy Nestico, and others performed by the WSC Madrigal Singers, Wind Ensemble, Concert Choir, Percussion Ensemble, soloists and chamber groups.

Performances by the WSC Wind Ensemble have been featured at the Nebraska and Iowa Music Educators' Conventions, and the WSC Concert Choir has appeared on the Emmy-nominated Nebraska Public Television special, Holiday Harmonies, as well as in performances with the Sioux City Symphony Orchestra. As the most select vocal ensemble at WSC, the Madrigal Singers continue a 35-year tradition of presenting annual Elizabethan Christmas Feasts on campus and throughout the region. This group has also performed for the Niobrara Center and K-MEG Television Christmas specials, and recently performed at a major opening at the Joslyn Art Museum in Omaha.

For more than 50 years, the Wayne State College Black and Gold performing arts series has presented cultural programming to serve the northeast Nebraska region. The 2006-07 series will continue on Feb. 15 with a special presentation of the renowned Incredible Shanghai Acrobats.

The President's Holiday Gala Concert on Dec. 10 will begin at 2 p.m. and will be free and open to the public.

Deanna Beckman approved as Emergency Manager for county

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

Wayne County Board of Commissioners met in regular session Tuesday. Sheriff LeRoy Janssen, Wayne County Assistant Emergency Manager and Wayne Denklau, Wayne County Emergency Manager, were present to discuss the appointment of an Emergency Manager. Deanna Beckman of Pierce was approved for the position.

Beckman's work history involves volunteer recruitment, disaster service delivery including work in the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina and management skills involving both the private and professional work environment.

Beckman will begin her duties for Wayne County on Dec. 1 and will put in around 25 hours a week. Janssen and Denklau will help train her.

Dave Simonsen of WAEDI (Wayne Area Economic Development, Inc.) discussed a matching grant of $13,008 from the Department of Economic Development for an entrepreneurial inventors club and asked the commissioners to sign a contract for the two-year grant. WAEDI will combine innovative components for entrepreneurial development and community planned giving/education which will help Wayne County economically.

Commissioners approved a budgeted transfer to Special Police Fund.

Elizabeth Carlson, Wayne County

Highway Superintendent, discussed road and bridge business. She noted the county has been renting a motor grader for Commissioner Bob Nissen's district. He wanted to purchase the piece of equipment. Commissioners approved the request.

Carlson also noted she received an estimated cost for utility relocation on BRO-7090 (15), Winside Southeast. Stanton County Public Power gave an estimated cost of $45,000 to move seven utility poles. Wayne County's share of the cost for moving (three of the seven poles that are the county's responsibility) is $19,700. The reason for moving the seven poles is because they are in the way for a new bridge that will be constructed, Stanton County Public Power hired RVW, Inc. of Columbus to move the poles. Commissioners asked Carlson to give RVW, Inc. a call and discuss and negotiate a price as they feel that amount is excessive.

Commissioners discussed the date of their next meeting and decided on Dec. 4 instead of Dec. 5 because a NAC conference is set for the 5th.

Holiday Tour of Homes to be held in Wakefield

Wakefield Music Boosters will be offering a Holiday Tour of Homes on Sunday, Dec. 3 from 1-5 p.m. Four homes, the Graves Library Museum and the Gardner Senior Center will be featured. Various organizations and groups are decorating the former Haskell House rooms.

Special Wakefield High School musical small groups will share their talents when tour guests stop for a few minutes of music and to enjoy cider and cookies, compliments of Music Boosters. Thanks to a number of generous area crafters, Music Booster raffle tickets will also be offered at the Senior Center during the Tour of Homes.

The homes opening their doors to guests belong to Jeanne Gardner, Jim and Jill Lehmkuhl, Gerald and Kathy Muller and Rod and Ginger Nixon. Graves Library Museum has also agreed to decorate for the holidays and share some Wakefield history with those on the tour.

Tour tickets, in brochure format, are available from Wakefield junior high and high school music students; advance tickets will be $7 and will also be offered at the Gardner Foundation, Iowa-Nebraska State Bank and the Gardner Senior Center. Tickets may be purchased the day of the tour for $8 at the Senior Center.

One of the homes featured in the tour is Jeanne Gardner's residence at 1007 Main Street. Contemporary is the descriptive word for Jeanne's home. Built by Cox Development of Norfolk in 2004, it is contemporary in design and décor. Jeanne's Lladro collection, displayed in her office just off the entry, is a wonderful introduction to this new home. Jeanne's home offers two bedrooms and three bathrooms on the main floor. The mirror in the front powder room was designed by Jeanne and crafted by a Lincoln artisan.

Contemporary art graces the main floor, especially the living, dining and kitchen areas. The upper deck gives a glimpse of the Emerson water tower and leads from the four seasons room to the lower deck. Just inside the patio door on the lower level is a great room and an exercise room; another bedroom, bathroom, cedar closet and maintenance room complete this floor.

Along with the colorful artwork collected and featured, Jeanne displays with pride corduroy quilts handmade 60 years ago by her mother. The ornaments on the small tree are antique collectibles. Mrs. Gardner's miniature village was started in 1993 with a special gift — the cast and crew of A Christmas Carol presented her with her first piece.

Another home featured in the tour is Rod and Ginger Nixon's residence at 207 Johnson Street. The Augusta Jensen family once called this craftsman-style house home. It was built in 1930 and is a 1 1/2 story house that Ginger had her eye on for a number of years. In June of 1996 the Nixons, with their four children - Ty, Katie, Joel and Mason - moved in! Their 10th holiday in their home will be very special, as Ty and Katie have just returned home from Iraq after serving in the 189th Transportation Company National Guard out of Wayne.

Other than painting and carpeting, the home is much as it was when built. The previous owner remodeled the kitchen in the earlier 90's, but the foldout ironing board was too special to eliminate. Notice the push-button light switches throughout the Nixon home and the glass doorknobs that draw attention to the beautiful woodwork.

Hardwood floors grace the home on the main floor and upstairs, although the added main floor carpet brings warmth to the living spaces. There are a variety of antiques throughout the house, and upstairs are three bedrooms and a half bath. Ginger claims the snowman collection and Denim Days Figurines, but Rod is the proud collector of the Budweiser

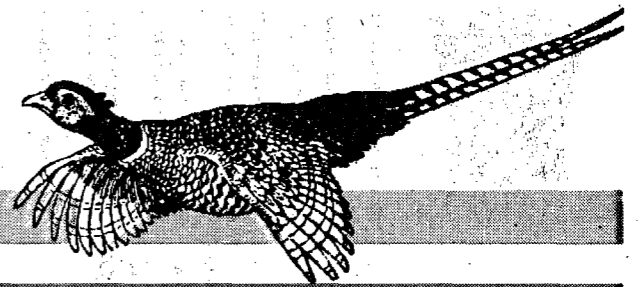

Giving thanks

Give the perfect gift this holiday season

The Siouxland Community Blood Bank's holiday blood donor campaign the "Twelve Days of Christmas", will run through Dec. 31 and is designed to help boost blood donations during this time of year. Your next opportunity to donate in Dixon is Wednesday, Dec. 6 from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. at the Fire Hall.

The purpose of the program is to increase blood donations during the busy holiday season to supply a sufficient amount of blood to the community and to children like Gracie Steffes, a five year old girl of Carroll, Iowa who was diagnosed with leukemia and received several blood transfusions during her treatment process. It is so important that the community gives the perfect gift this holiday season, even if for the first time, so that blood is available at a moment's notice for patients like Gracie.

The Goal is to bring awareness of the need to constantly replenish blood inventories in local communities so that we are able to supply blood to 35 area hospitals and help patients like Gracie and prepare for the potential of accidents with the increase of holiday travel," said Janette Twait, CEO. "We are asking for volunteers to donate blood to ensure a readily available community blood supply. Your donation may help a friend, a family member or a neighbor."

To be eligible to donate blood individuals must be at least 17 years of age; however there is no upper age limit as long as the donor is in good health. In addition donors need to weigh over 110 pounds and have not donated whole blood in the past 56 days. A photo I.D. is required at the time of registration.

Wayne State to host third annual math and science competition

High school students in Northeast Nebraska will have the opportunity to participate in the Tests of Engineering Aptitude, Mathematics and Science (TEAMS) competition at Wayne State College.

The TEAMS program, which introduces high school students to the world of engineering through a dynamic academic program and competition, will be held at the College from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Feb. 21, 2007.

Each year, more than 20,000 high school students and coaches participate at more than 100 TEAMS sites across the country. Local, state and national awards and recognition are determined from this one-day, two-part competition. Part I consists of multiple-choice questions answered as a team. Part II is a team-written essay format. Teams are made up of four to eight students. Schools may sponsor more than one team. Each team competes at the Varsity or Junior Varsity level in one of seven school-based divisions or in the home school division. Top-scoring teams in each division in each state will be eligible for national ranking, which will be determined by eligible teams' performance on Part II of the two-part test.

The program is sponsored nationally by JETS - a national nonprofit organization promoting interest in engineering, science, mathematics and technology.

Nebraskan saves $2,250 - reports 'secret shopping' scam to BBB

The offers look legitimate. The ads in newspapers and by mail say that major companies are seeking "secret shoppers."
If you apply to be a "secret shopper," the company sends you their check for over a thousand dollars. You are instructed to deposit or cash the check and then keep a few hundred dollars to cover your training costs as a new shopper and wire the balance in a Money Gram or by Western Union to become a "secret shopper" in the company's program.
Trouble is - the check is either counterfeit or stolen. By the time your bank discovers this and informs you that the check is not valid, the money you spent as a "secret shopper" and sent the company by wire transfer is long gone - to Canada, and maybe beyond to some remote part of the world where these promoters hide from law enforcement agencies.
The first Nebraska victim reported to the BBB is a Neligh resident who recently answered an ad by a firm calling itself Secret Shoppers, said to be headquartered in Vancouver, Canada. After applying to be a secret shopper, she received the company's check for $2,550.

She deposited it in her local bank and withdrew $300 that was supposed to be her pay for wiring the money. In this case, she called the Better Business Bureau before following the instructions to wire transfer $2,250 to a person in Canada.
The company's check was counterfeit. Luckily, upon the advice from the Bureau, she notified her bank that the check was fraudulent and the bank removed the remainder of the deposit from her account.
BBB President Jim Hegarty said "Reputable companies do not seek 'secret shoppers' this way. They may operate under many names, but the hook in their offers is the same, an invitation to earn money as a 'secret shopper' for major companies."
Better Business Bureaus in the U.S. and in Canada are working with law enforcement agencies to track down these operations. But, as always, the strongest weapon against marketplace schemes is an informed public.
Never send money in advance for anything offered by a company of unknown reliability. If in doubt check it out. Call the BBB at 402-391-7612 or 800-649-6814.

Capitol View

Democracy requires work

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

They wandered the Capitol halls in a fashion not entirely unlike young athletes on their first visit to the varsity locker room.
They looked around a lot. Eyeballed offices. No doubt many wondered "Where's mine going to be?"
None of them had to worry about making the team, though. They had already been selected for starting assignments.
Their season begins in January when the 2007 Legislature convenes for 90 working-days of law-making in the nation's only one-house, officially nonpartisan Legislature.
For the record, most of them are registered Republicans. They always are. It's Nebraska.

Those who think lobbyists were parented by Jack the Ripper and born of Typhoid Mary will need to adjust. They can keep them at arm's length, but they will need to hear what they have to say. Taking one with another the folks back home tend to think of lobbyists as the bad guys, and gals.

Those same people, back home, probably don't give much thought to the fact that when their local city council or county board, or trade association, or business group, or church, or implement dealer, or developer or ... well, you get the idea. When those people want to change the law for the benefit of some of the hometown crowd they often need to make their case with lots of senators, not just one. Lobbyists are at the Capitol every day. They carry the water for people who want to get things done.
If you think lobbyists are the problem you are, generally speaking, wrong.
Lobbyists almost always play by the rules; the ones made by the Legislature. They represent interest groups who pay them for their work.

It isn't very hard for you and other voters to accomplish what the lobbyists want to accomplish - getting your senator to vote a certain way.
Use the mail. Use the email. Use the phone.
In short, communicate. That's what lobbyists do for the people they represent.
Democracy is not a spectator sport.
If you want to score, you have to take the field, play the game, win and lose. Most people don't play - they sit in the stands. Cheering or booing. They complain a great deal "the day after," if things don't go their way.

Area patients are thankful for blood donors

With the Thanksgiving holiday quickly approaching, we can be thankful for many things such as friends, family and neighbors.
Your next opportunity to donate in Wayne is Friday, Nov. 24 from 8:30am to 3pm at the Fire Department.
Without the continuing support of blood donors, patients would not have a chance for another tomorrow. People live such busy lives and yet taking time to give one unit of blood can make the difference between life and death to a patient in the hospital. It is essential that blood and blood products are available when necessary. Not only for treatment of accident cases, hemophiliacs and cancer patients, but for the use of routine surgeries. These occurrences do not stop or slow down during the holidays. Your friends, family, neighbors and community are depending on you to help maintain your community blood supply.
"We understand that the holiday season gets busy, however that means an increased chance for unfortunate accidents that would require blood transfusions, and during the holidays, donations aren't as consistent to be relied on.

It is necessary to have the commitment of the donors to ensure that our blood supply is sufficient," said Janette Twait, CEO.
The community blood supply needs over 1500 individuals to donate blood each week with the Siouland Community Blood Bank to keep up with the needs of the 35 area hospitals in Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota. The need for blood affects all of us. Nine out of ten of us will need blood some time in our lives, and one out of every ten hospital patients requires a transfusion. Help make a difference in the lives of others by donating today.
To be eligible to donate blood individuals must be at least 17 years of age; however there is no upper age limit as long as the donor is in good health. In addition donors need to weigh over 110 pounds and have not donated whole blood in the past 56 days. A photo I.D. is required at the time of registration.

Attorney General Bruning announces $1.2 million Medicaid settlement with St. Elizabeth Hospital

Attorney General Jon Bruning and United States Attorney Debra Wong Yang of Los Angeles, Calif., announced that St. Elizabeth Regional Medical Center has paid the State of Nebraska $1.2 million to settle allegations that it knowingly failed to disclose and failed to return overpayments made by the Nebraska Medicaid program.
Aquila requests gas rate adjustment
Aquila has filed a request with the Nebraska Public Service Commission (PSC) to adjust its natural gas delivery rates across the state. If approved, the average residential and commercial customer bill will increase by approximately $7 per month. The PSC has up to 240 days to analyze the filing.
Aquila's previous rate filing was effective in 2003 and since then the company has invested more than $42 million in gas delivery systems and technology improvements. Increased operating costs, including labor, materials, health care, fuel, and depreciation, are also included in the filing.
Interim rates will go into effect for customers beginning in mid-February 2007 and will remain during the period when the PSC conducts its review of Aquila's filing. If final rates approved by the PSC are lower than interim rates, customer accounts will be refunded with interest.

"System improvements are necessary to ensure safe, reliable natural gas delivery," said Steve Pella, vice president of operations for Nebraska. "Aquila works hard to contain costs; however, we are experiencing increases in operating expenses similar to other businesses. Even with this increase, Aquila customers will continue to pay rates comparable to other natural gas providers in Nebraska."
Aquila is also proposing to assist customers with energy conservation measures. These would include weatherization tools and high-efficiency equipment rebates.
"We want to assist Nebraskans who want to conserve energy and lower their monthly bills," said Pella. "Small investments can provide big paybacks to homeowners and businesses." Aquila serves about 192,000 natural gas customers in 110 Nebraska communities.

"St. Elizabeth was overpaid by Nebraska Medicaid and kept the money," Bruning said. "The taxpayers lose when these types of payments aren't reported."
This amount is part of a larger $4 million settlement in which St. Elizabeth will also pay the federal government $2.8 million for overpayments made by Medicare and Medicaid.
The settlement was paid Oct. 27. The allegations were unsealed by a federal court in California.
The settlement resolves allegations made against St. Elizabeth by a whistleblower. The lawsuit was filed in 1998 by a former employee of Healthcare Financial Advisors (HFA), a consulting firm that assisted hospitals in preparing cost reports submitted to the Medicare and Medicaid health insurance programs. The lawsuit alleged that HFA helped its hospital clients seek reimbursement for allowable costs and helped conceal known overpayments from the government.

St. Elizabeth was accused of knowingly receiving overpayments from Medicare for Intensive Care Unit capital costs for fiscal years 1993 through 1996 and from Medicaid for Neonatal Intensive Care Unit services for fiscal years 1994 and 1995. The lawsuit alleged St. Elizabeth failed to refund these overpayments. St. Elizabeth paid the settlement without admitting any wrongdoing.
The settlement was negotiated by the United States Attorney's Office for the Central District of California and the Nebraska Attorney General's Medicaid Fraud Control Unit. The case was investigated by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Office of Inspector General.

Steins. Also part of the tour is Graves Public Library Museum at 206 West 3rd Street. The museum has been home to millions of books during its life as a library and was constructed in 1917 by Philo Graves as a memorial to his son, Jay. In 2000, the Wakefield Heritage Organization was founded, and in the recent years has planned, developed and decorated the museum's public areas on the main floor. In the basement, Russell Marshall displays his extensive antique wrench collection. Specially built cases exhibit the numbered collection that he has gathered for the past 15 years.

tures a number of mannequins dressed in antique wedding clothing, a typical school room from early Wakefield, a variety of Wakefield business memorabilia from the 1900's, and of course, a sports corner. The rear of the main floor has been divided into a 1910 kitchen, a music parlor and a dining room.

All the items in the museum are from 1881 to 1920 era and originated from Wakefield.

Included in the tour is the Wakefield Senior Center, which is the former Haskell House. The parents of any student in grades 7-12 who are involved in vocal or instrumental music are automatically members of Wakefield Music

Boosters. The organization looks to these parents to assist in sponsoring music trips, accompanying student buses to marching band competitions, providing assistance when Wakefield hosts Conference events and clinics and tracking funds raised by students to be used for band trips.

Parents also organize and help with events such as this bi-annual Tour of Homes to raise money for the general account. Those funds are used for a great many things: helping to purchase the new band uniforms; assisting with chair and music stand racks purchases; buying instruments, cases and flags; paying entry fees and meal expenses for Conference honor choir and band events; paying entry fees and expenses for youth choir events; and encouraging an active, supportive pep band by paying admission fees to attend play off games!

Wayne Public Library kicks off holiday season

On Saturday, Nov. 25, the Friends of Wayne Public Library invite the public to kick off the holiday season with an Open House at the library.

The day will begin with a story and craft time for the kids (and young at heart) at 10:30 a.m. The craft is suitable for ages three and up, but younger children may participate with a parent's help.

Throughout the day, the Friends encourage everyone to stop by for a little Christmas cheer, to see the decorations at the library and to take the opportunity to checkout what the library has to offer for holiday party planning, decorating and baking.

This Open House is one of the many activities sponsored by the Friends of Wayne Public Library over the year. For more information on the Friends you can contact the library at 375-3135.

Police investigate theft at Premier Estates Care Center

On Nov. 11, the Premier Estates Care Center contacted the Wayne Police Department immediately when they discovered that an employee may have been stealing check blanks from one of their residents.

It is alleged that the suspect stole up to seven check blanks from the resident over the course of several weeks. These checks were later cashed and deposited in the suspect's own bank account.

The employee, a 35 year-old Wakefield man, who had been employed at Premier Estates less than two months, is no longer working for Premier Estates. This employee had undergone a drug screening and background investigation, as do all Premier Estates employees, prior to his being hired.

The suspect, who has not been formally charged in Wayne County court, will face charges of Knowing and Intentional Abuse of a Vulnerable Adult, a Class IIIA felony, and multiple counts of misdemeanor thefts.

Wayne Police Chief Lance Webster said the staff of the Premier Estates Care Center took swift and appropriate action when this matter came to light. Webster said without the cooperation of the staff at Premier Estates, this case would have been very difficult to solve.

"This case does point to what can be a problem in our society, abuse of vulnerable adults," Chief Webster said.

He recommends that to ensure a loved one's financial safety, money, valuables, checkbooks or credit cards of any vulnerable adult be secured in such a manner that they are not accessible to casual visitors, either in a care center environment or the family home. Cases where family members take advantage of vulnerable parents or grandparents can be especially troubling and these cases are very difficult to investigate and solve.

Webster said if anyone suspects a family member or other vulnerable adult is being abused, exploited or denied essential services they can make a report to the Wayne Police Department or the Nebraska Health and Human Services Hotline at 800-652-1999.

Police department identifies shoplifters

The Wayne Police Department received a report of two shoplifters at the Pamida Store on Sept. 13.

When officers arrived they discovered a man and woman had shoplifted a television set from the Pamida store and had fled the scene in what witnesses described as an older Ford Taurus. The suspects allegedly stole a 32" Magnavox LCD TV valued at over $1,000.

The Wayne Police Department, working in conjunction with the Washington County Sheriff's Office, was able to identify the suspects as 38 year-old Brenda Cave and 47 year-old Larry Korth, both of Omaha.

Cave was arrested by the Washington County Sheriff's Office for Possession of Stolen Property and Possession of Drug paraphernalia. Korth was arrested for Possession of Stolen Property and other outstanding arrest warrants.

Based on the investigation, Korth and Cave were allegedly traveling around northeast Nebraska, stealing from abandoned farmsteads and shoplifting from discount stores. It is believed the motivation for these crimes is related to methamphetamine.

Both face charges of Theft by Shoplifting filed in Wayne County Court.

Wayne State College Festival of Trees aims to brighten up 'Blue Christmas'

Imagine the holiday season without decorations in your home or gifts underneath a tree. For many northeast Nebraska families, this bleak situation faces them every year during what should be a joyous time.

The third annual Festival of Trees, through the generosity of the Wayne State College community, offers help to make holiday wishes come true. Wayne State College campus organizations, clubs, residence halls or any group of individuals are invited to decorate trees to be displayed in the Student Center atrium.

The campus and community are then encouraged to view the trees and vote for the best decorated tree via cash donations. When the voting ends, all of the donations will be counted and awards will be given to the participating organizations. The donations will be divided between the organizations to purchase and wrap gifts to deliver to needy families identified by the Wayne Health and Human Services Department.

This year, participants will not be donating their decorated tree along with the gifts they purchase. Instead, they will be able to keep the tree to be used for the competition again next year.

The timeline for the event is that organizations must commit by Nov. 29 (Dec. 1 is the latest) by providing organization's name and contact person's name, phone number and e-mail address; trees must be up by 2 p.m. on Dec. 4; voting runs 6 to 8 p.m. on Dec. 4, 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. on Dec. 5, 6 to 8 p.m. Dec. 5, 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Dec. 6, and 6 to 8 p.m. Dec. 6; Donations will be counted after 8 p.m. Dec. 6; Gifts will be purchased and wrapped for families Dec. 7; and organizational representatives will meet at noon in the Student Center atrium to take down trees and distribute gifts Dec. 8. The event is sponsored by the Wayne State College Student Senate and Pi Gamma Mu (social sciences honor society).

To commit your organization to sponsoring an entry in the Festival of Trees, contact Rachele Davis by Nov. 29 at 365-6669.

The home of Duane and Kim Nelson of rural Dixon was destroyed following a fire last week. No one was injured in the blaze.

Dixon family loses home in fire

The home of Duane and Kim Nelson north of Dixon was destroyed by a fire on Nov. 17.

The Dixon Fire and Rescue responded to the fire at approximately 4:30 p.m. They were assisted in their efforts by the Laurel, Concord and Allen fire departments.

The Nelsons were not at home when the fire broke out. It was discovered by Curt Saunders when he went to check horses he has in the area.

The fire started in the upstairs of the home. The family was able to salvage only a few kitchen and personal items.

The Northeast Nebraska Chapter of the American Red Cross provided assistance to the family following the fire. They provided food, clothing and financial assistance, as well as supplying the family with comfort kits containing personal care items.

The Nelsons are currently living with Duane's parents, Marvin and Donna Nelson of Dixon.

A benefit is being planned for the family, which includes Duane, Kim and daughters Amanda and Nicole. It will be held Sunday, Dec. 3 from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the Dixon Fire Hall.

No. 1 is better in C-2 Wakefield rolls Blue Hill to win first-ever state title

By David W. Carstens

Total domination. Wakefield (13-0) capped a perfect season to capture the school's first state football championship last Friday afternoon with a 34-7 victory over Blue Hill in the Class C2 title game at Lincoln's Memorial Stadium.

The Trojans' "Pain Train" defense limited the Bobcats to 39 total offensive yards, including 12 net yards rushing and was sparked by three pass interceptions by Joel Nixon.

The Wakefield offense added another chapter in its storied post-season prowess as Paul Moody ran for three touchdowns, while Tim Haglund and Nixon each tallied one for the offense that outscored its opponents 142-36 points in the playoffs.

Moody who finished with 63 yards rushing on 18 carries told a group of reporters following the game that it was Wakefield's goal to stop Blue Hill's rushing tandem of Garrett Schroeder and Kyle Faimon, who entered the contest with 1,523 and 1,320 rushing yards, respectively.

"We ran out there and we played Wakefield football," Moody said. "We ran it down their throats. They couldn't stop our offense. We just took control of the game. It was a great victory."

Starting with a 15-yard return on the opening kickoff and followed up by a 37-yard run by Nixon in the first series, Wakefield was able to move the ball to the Blue Hill 14 before the 11-play drive was stopped short.

The Trojan defense limited the Bobcats' opening possession to three-and-out and then stopped the next Blue Hill series when Nixon picked off Sam Krueger at mid-field.

The interception set up a seven-play drive that ended when Moody blasted up the middle for a six-yard touchdown with 8:21 left before halftime.

Wakefield got the ball after another three-and-out and engineered a 59-yard, 13-play drive that saw WHS convert twice from fourth-and-long situations, as Nixon found Ben Henderson on a 15-yard completion and Ryan Klein at the end of a 20-yard strike. The inspired effort was capped when Moody added his second TD from one yard out and Nixon found on a two-point conversion pass to give the Trojans a 14-0 lead with 1:23 left in the first half.

Wakefield coach Justin Smith said the game plan heading into the game was to wear the Bobcats down, but first the Trojans had to adjust to the expected big game atmosphere before 3,126 fans.

"We had a few jitters early, but then we kicked it into gear," Smith said. "We got after them and wore them down up front a little bit. That was the plan."

The Trojans picked up where they left off in the third frame when Nixon notched his second interception at the Wakefield 36.

Nixon, who also plays safety for the WHS defense said the careful attention to the Blue Hill game film gave him the tools he needed to make three interceptions which all set up Trojan touchdowns.

"The scouting report showed when they split No. 29 (Faimon) they were probably going to throw," he said following the game. "I just picked the right spot, read the quarterback's eyes and went up and got the ball."

Nixon guided the next Trojan touchdown drive on a 15-play, 57-yard series that ended with a five-yard TD scamper by Tim Haglund and a Uvaldo Reyes kick to extend the lead to 21-0 with just under four minutes in the third period.

Haglund finished the game with 96 yards on his 15 carries.

Moody recorded his third TD of the game from 2 yards out to punctuate an 8-play drive with 8:16 left in the game. Reyes' extra point kick was good and the Trojans took a 28-0 advantage.

It only took 13 seconds for Wakefield to get the ball back after Nixon intercepted Faimon and ran for a 27-yard return to the Blue Hill 30 yard line.

The Wakefield lead was extended to 34-0 just four plays later when Nixon, who carried the ball 18 times for 98 yards to close out a 1,000-yard season, reached pay dirt from four yards out.

Blue Hill, who entered Friday's game scoring an average of 32 points per contest, scored its only touchdown of the afternoon after a Blue Hill's Bradley Kohmetscher is wrapped up by a swarm of Wakefield defenders including: Ian Miner (34), Garek Bebee (73), Andrew Gustafson (51), Nic Curnyn (24), Mason Nixon (10) and Dex Driskell (55).

Wakefield fumble was returned 62 yards by Douglas Fry with 4:38 left in the game to wrap up the scoring at 34-7.

Smith said that the goal of bringing home a state title in football to "Nebraska's Baseball Capital" was something on the minds of the Trojan football staff and players last spring.

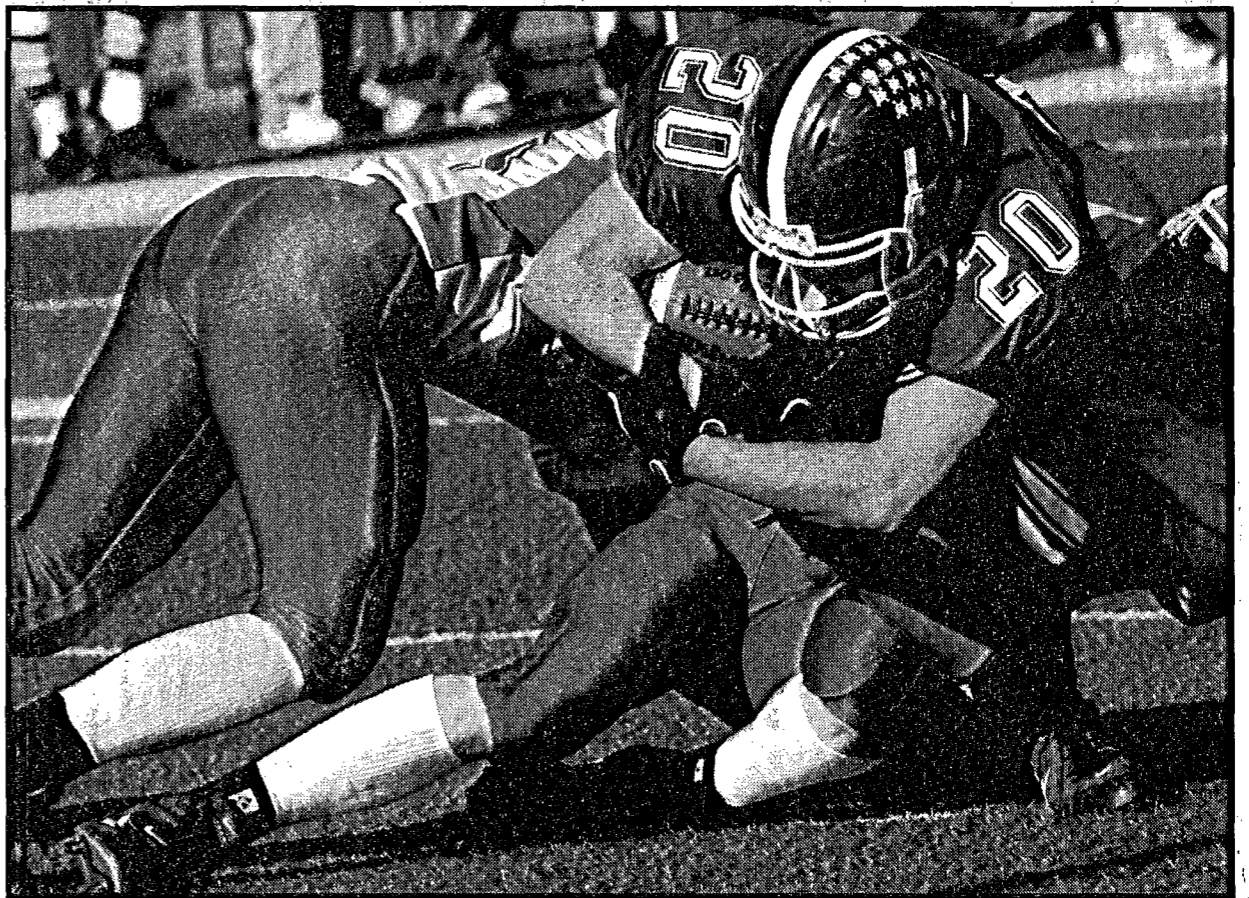

"We knew if we played well and kept improving we had a shot at it," Smith said as he broke into a reflective smile. "There were a lot of good teams in C2 and we just happened to play real good football at the right time."

He then confessed that he and the rest of the coaching staff were going to make good on an earlier promise of getting post-game Mohawk haircuts to match those worn by the rest of the team.

"That's going to happen in the locker room here in a little bit," he added.

The Trojans racked up 377 yards of total offense, including 277 on the ground. Nixon was 8-15 passing with no interceptions. His favorite targets were Klein (42 yards),

Wildcats upset No. 16 Coyotes

The Wayne State men's basketball team is off and running on a new season and entered this week fresh from a big win over nationally ranked South Dakota last week-end.

WSC opened the season last Wednesday evening with a 81-70 home win over York College.

Wayne State never trailed in the game, opening with an 11-1 lead in the first 3:30 thanks to a trio of three pointers by junior guard Bryce Caldwell.

York cut the lead to two on a pair of occasions, 13-11 at the 12:48 mark and 21-19 with 6:57 left in the first half, but Wayne State closed the half strong and led 40-27 at intermission.

The Wildcats built an 18 point lead on several occasions in the second half, but York would not go away and cut the WSC lead to seven points, 75-68, with :48 seconds left on a three pointer by Rasheem Richards.

WSC used two free throws by Bryce Caldwell and a basket and two free throws from Jonathon Thomas to keep the Panthers from getting any closer as Wayne State posted the 81-70 win.

Caldwell and Dallas Hodges led Wayne State in scoring with 19 points apiece.

Freshman guard Jamar Diggs, in his first collegiate game, scored 15 points, while sophomore forward Jonathon Thomas accounted for 12 points and a career-high 17 rebounds for the Wildcats. WSC shot 47.5 percent from the field on 28 of 59 and was 6 of 18 from the three point line for 33.3 percent.

Wayne State 40 41 - 81
York College 27 43 - 70

Wayne State scoring: Jonathon Thomas 12, Matt Rathje 6, Dallas Hodges 19, David Walters 1, Bryce Caldwell 19, Jamar Diggs 15, Michael Dicks 2, Brian Metz 5, Eric Johnson 2, Joshua Hughes 1.

Wayne State College built a 16-point lead, then held off a late

South Dakota rally, as the Wildcats posted a 90-86 upset win at 16th-ranked South Dakota last Saturday night at the Dakota Dome in Vermillion.

Hodges scored 23 of his career-high 35 points in the first half to lead the Wildcats in the win.

WSC used stellar shooting from the field and the free throw line to record a rare non-conference win at the Dakota Dome.

The Wildcats built a 34-20 lead with 8:50 left in the first half, but the host Coyotes cut the lead to eight at halftime at 50-42.

WSC came out on fire in the second half, building a 64-48 lead with 14:40 remaining, following a pair of free throws by freshman guard Jamar Diggs.

USD mounted a comeback, thanks to the play of sophomore Dylan Grimsley, and cut the Wildcat lead down to four points, 71-67, with 7:30 left in the game.

However, WSC scored the next seven points, including five straight by sophomore guard David Walters, to put the lead back up to 11 at 78-67.

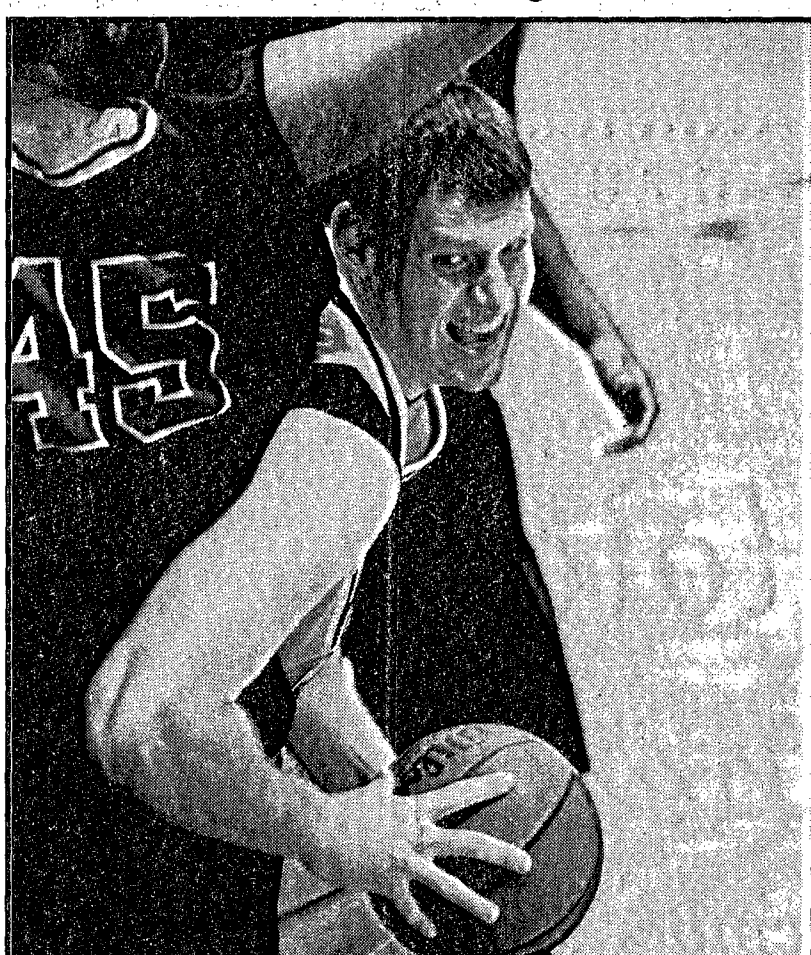

The Coyotes cut the lead to six on several occasions, but the Wildcats continued to hit clutch shots to hold off South Dakota for the win as Grimsley hit a three pointer at the buzzer to make the final score 90-86.

Hodges made 11 of 21 shots from the field and 10 of 10 free throws to account for his 35 points.

David Walters and Jamar Diggs added 13 points each with Bryce Caldwell canning four three-pointers for his 12 points. The Wildcats shot 48 percent from the field (26 of 54), including 9 of 17 from the three point line.

WSC sealed the win by making an impressive 29 of 31 free throws for 93.5 percent.

Freshman Brian Metz was the top rebounder for Wayne State with seven. WSC had 12 turnovers while the Coyotes finished with 10. Wayne State, 2-0 on the season,

Northeast Nebraska Chapter of The American Red Cross holds Babysitting Training course

The Northeast Nebraska Chapter of The American Red Cross recently held a Babysitter Training course on November 18th at the First United Methodist Church in Wayne. Seventeen kids from the Wayne area completed this training. Heather Claussen, with the NE Nebraska Red Cross, taught this course.

The students were taught skills such as how to handle different ages of children, responsibility and making good decisions, helping children behave, and also how to care, diaper, feed and play safely with children they care for. They were also taught basic first aid, safety, and what to do in case of emergencies.

The class lasted from 9 a.m.—3 p.m. and each student received a Babysitter's Handbook and a certification card showing that they took and passed this Red Cross course. If anyone is looking for a well-trained and certified person to care for their children, please give one of these trained sitters a call.

Concealed handgun rules and regulations approved

The Rules and Regulations and Training Curriculum for the new Nebraska Concealed Handgun Permit Law have received final approval.

The approved documents can be viewed on the Nebraska State Patrol website at www.nsp.state.ne.us. Go to the Quick Links box on the upper right hand side of the home page, click on Concealed Handgun Permit to access the page dedicated to the new law. The regulations provide for the permit application and issuance process as well as the training course required of applicants for a permit.

The Nebraska Unicameral passed LB454 with an operative date of Jan. 1, 2007 which created the Concealed Handgun Permit Act. An individual may obtain a permit to carry a concealed handgun in accordance with the Concealed Handgun Permit Act. The Act tasked the Nebraska State Patrol with preparing Rules & Regulations governing handgun training and safety courses and the certification of handgun training and safety courses. A fee for participation in a handgun training and safety course is the responsibility of the applicant.

Permit applicants who successfully pass an approved training course will be required to visit one of the State Patrol's Troop Area Headquarters located in Scottsbluff, North Platte, Grand Island, Norfolk, Lincoln and Omaha to make application for a permit. Concealed Carry Permit Applications will be accepted beginning Jan. 2, 2007.

"The next step is for those wishing to provide training is to seek certification and to have their curriculum approved by the Patrol," said Colonel Bryan Tuma, Superintendent of the Nebraska State Patrol. "Instructions on how to submit the needed documents for approval can be found on the Concealed Handgun Permit page of the Patrol's website."

An instructor application form is available to be downloaded from the Patrol's website. Persons wishing to become a certified training instructor for the required handgun training and safety course should log onto the Nebraska State Patrol website at www.nsp.state.ne.us, go to the Quick Links box in the upper right hand corner of the page and click on Concealed Handgun Permit for detailed instruction.

Special enforcement encompasses holiday weekend and Husker game

The Thanksgiving Holiday weekend and traffic headed to the Nebraska-Colorado game will be the focus of special enforcement efforts by the Nebraska State Patrol thanks in part to a nearly $17,000 grant from the Nebraska Office of Highway Safety (NOHS).

Beginning at 4 p.m., Nov. 22, through Sunday, Nov. 26, extra troopers will be on patrol, and additional dispatchers will be working to help to ensure holiday and game-day travelers reach their destinations safely.

"We all know the tremendous volume of traffic generated by the Thanksgiving Holiday," said Colonel Bryan Tuma, Superintendent of the Nebraska State Patrol. "Add to that Husker fans traveling to Lincoln for the big game, and you've got a lot of people on the road. You can bet our troopers will be going the extra mile to help the motoring public get to where they're going safely."

In 2005, five people lost their lives in traffic crashes over the Thanksgiving Holiday weekend. The Nebraska State Patrol is enlisting the support all drivers to help make this year's holiday weekend a fatality free one.

Motorists are encouraged to give themselves plenty of time to get to their destination, obey the posted speed limit, use extra caution in construction zones, never drink and drive and always wear your seat belt.

Travelers who experience an emergency or would like to report a reckless or impaired driver should call the Highway Helpline at *55 from any cellular phone or 1-800-525-5555 from any landline. Those wishing road, weather and construction information in Nebraska can dial 511.

Fundraiser benefits Red Cross

Blood Bank receives grant to purchase refrigerator

The Siouxland Community Blood Bank has received a grant of $8,975 by the Missouri River Historical Development for a double door blood bank refrigerator to store an increasing amount of blood donations necessary to meet the needs of patients in 35 area hospitals.

The Siouxland Community Blood Bank's collection needs have increased, and because of this increasing number, there is a demand for additional storage for blood products. Blood Banking is an industry that must conform to high standards of quality controls for temperature storage of blood products.

"This special refrigerator meets all industry's requirements," Explained Janette Twait, Chief Executive Officer of the Siouxland Community Blood Bank, "It will also help with the increases in daily blood collections to be prepared for disaster situations where there may become a large demand for blood donations. The Siouxland Community Blood Bank's mission is to provide a safe and dependable blood supply for our area patients, and this refrigerator will help facilitate for that mission."

Siouxland Community Blood Bank was incorporated in 1967 and drew its first blood donor on December 1, 1967 at their first location at 1502 Pierce Street. In 1984, Siouxland Community Blood Bank moved to its present location at 1019 Jones Street. Throughout their thirty-nine years of service, the Siouxland Community Blood Bank went from servicing five local hospitals to currently servicing thirty-five area hospitals in Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota.

Lutt chosen as Nebraska Reviewer with Nebraska Department of Education

Peg Lutt, Curriculum and Assessment Director for Wayne Community Schools has been selected and is serving as a Nebraska Reviewer with NDE (Nebraska Department of Education). Review teams are experienced in assessment quality procedures, in assessment development, and in the assessed content area. Teams are trained to gather information about local assessment quality, provide feedback to districts, and provide ratings based upon the information gathered.

Nebraska's approach to standards, assessment, and accountability: School-based Teacher-led Assessment and Reporting System, STARS, is firmly grounded in the belief that decisions about student learning should be standards-based and should be based upon classroom knowledge of the student. This process relies upon the professional expertise of Nebraska educators and has been built upon a statewide initiative to develop educator capacity in assessment design and the use of assessment data for improved instruction. The requirements of the federal No Child Left Behind Act have been integrated into the accountability requirements.

Since 2000-01 the review of local assessment quality has been conducted through the submission of District Assessment Portfolios to the Nebraska Department of Education (NDE). The portfolios were reviewed and rated by assessment experts external to the NDE. In 2006-07, updated procedures are being applied to the Nebraska-led Peer Review of STARS due to the requirement of the United States Department of Education that every Nebraska school district have an on-site review of all current documentation for the six quality assessment criteria in addition to all assessments used for state reporting.

NDE will conduct district on-site reviews during four weeks of the school year. One week each in October, January, March and April. Approximately sixty-three districts will be reviewed in each of the weeks.

Make room for new building

The old Udder Delights building at 209 E. 7th Street and the house west of the business were demolished and removed last week to make room for a new Udder Delights building and parking lot that should be finished in the spring. Plans include pouring of cement this week. The new building will be 30 x 40 feet (200 square feet), will have more seating and be open year round. David and Jarac Braun of Wayne are the owners.

Wayne State College panel to discuss support of returning military personnel

Wayne State College will be hosting a presentation to discuss issues concerning military personnel and their families on Thursday, Nov. 30 at 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. in the Niobrara Room of the Student Center.

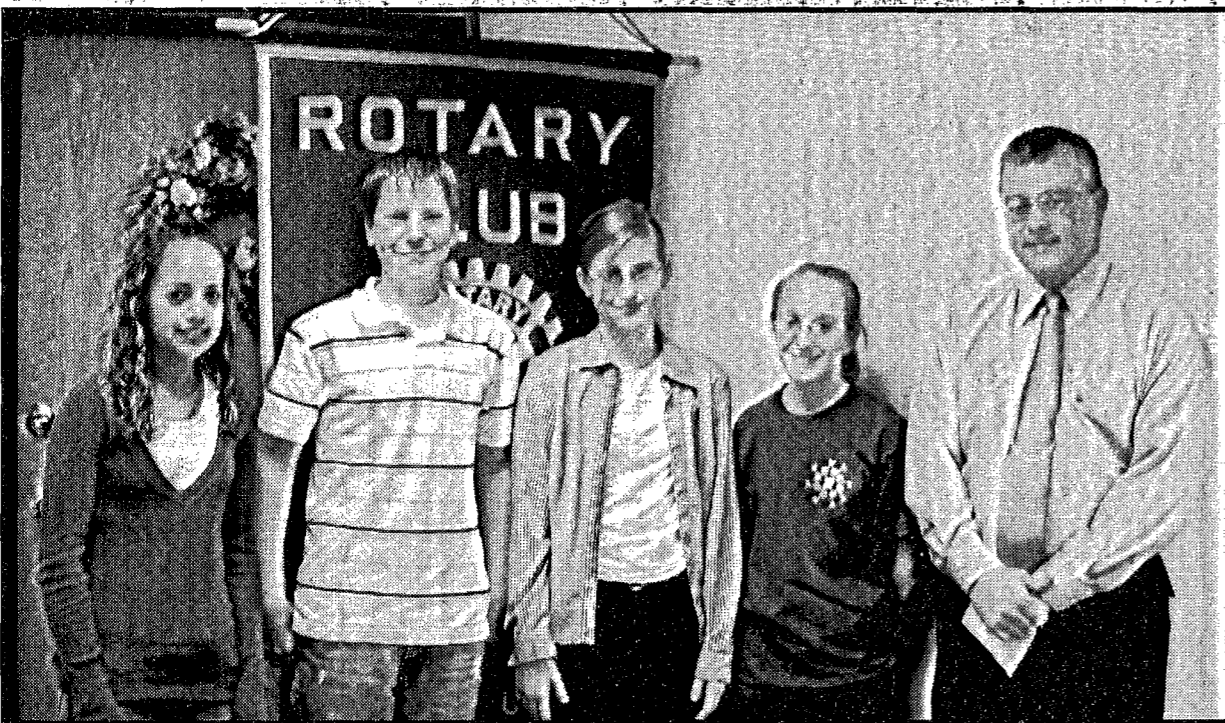

A panel composed of a National Guard Chaplain, a family member, and a counselor will "provide a variety of perspectives about how to welcome returning personnel back to these communities in a sensitive and helpful manner," said Lin Brummels, Director of Counseling at Wayne State College. The presentation is sponsored through a collaboration of the Counseling Organization and faculty and staff of Wayne State College.

"I am pleased that students are promoting this discussion, which will help the well-being of the 189th Transportation Company of the Nebraska National Guard, whose soldiers put their lives on the line for us" said Dr. Keith Willis, Wayne State faculty.

Refreshments will be provided at both presentations, which are free and open to the public. Discussion will be limited to concern for troops, not political issues.

"Wayne State College considers this discussion to be an important part of its mission of service to the community and to the many Wayne State College students who left their studies to go serve in Iraq," said Wayne State College President Richard Collings. "The College sincerely hopes that business leaders, civic groups and ministerial organizations will take advantage of this tremendous opportunity to learn more about how they can help soldiers and their families with the transition from active duty in a combat zone to life back in our community."

My sincere thanks go to every Nebraskan who participated in our recent elections.

Many of you were excited about the ideas that were the foundation of my bid for the governorship, ideas like real and immediate property tax cuts, quality Internet service statewide, realistic help for our family farms, ranches, and small businesses, support for the middle class and an innovative energy policy.

Together, we can create a brighter future for all generations of Nebraskans.

Department of Justice to sponsor National Methamphetamine Awareness Day on Nov. 30

The Department of Justice today announced that it will sponsor National Methamphetamine Awareness Day on Nov. 30, 2006, in order to generate awareness about the damaging effects of meth abuse on individuals, families and American communities. Education and public outreach are at the heart of the national drug control strategy, and National Methamphetamine Awareness Day will play an important role in highlighting the nationwide efforts to increase awareness and decrease demand of this highly addictive and dangerous drug.

As part of National Methamphetamine Awareness Day,

Attorney General Alberto R. Gonzales will host a national event with federal, state, local and community leaders to discuss the broader impact that meth production and use is having on our communities. Across the nation, U.S. Attorneys, along with state and local leaders, will coordinate a variety of educational events targeting their specific communities.

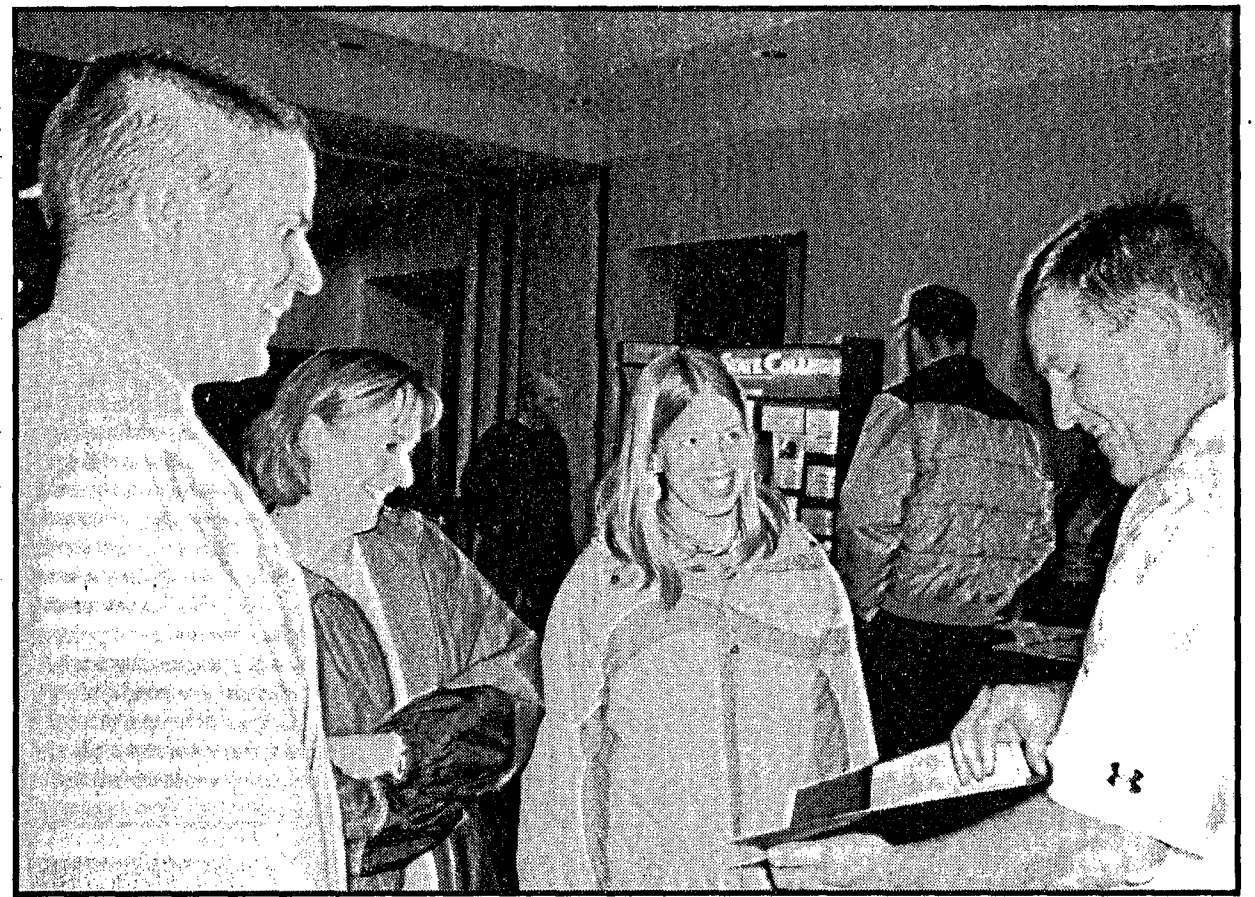

National Methamphetamine Awareness Day is a coordinated effort not only to reach potential meth users with a message of prevention, but also to educate current users about the programs available to them.

In order to increase the impact of this message, the Department is partnering with a number of federal, state and local governments, as well as with private sector and non-profit entities, including: the U.S. Department of Labor; U.S. Department of Health and Human Services; U.S. Department of Interior; Office of National Drug Control Policy; the Drug Enforcement Administration; the Partnership for Drug-Free America; Boys & Girls Clubs of America; Community Anti-Drug Coalitions of America; Fraternal Order of Police; National District Attorneys Association; National Association of Attorneys General; American Council on Education; National Association of Student Personnel Administrators; and the National Panhellenic Conference.

As part of our ongoing effort to combat meth use, the Department of Justice created a model methamphetamine educational presentation that is available to the public to be used by law enforcement, community groups and local leaders in addressing meth use in their communities. The educational presentation is posted on the Department's new meth awareness Website: <http://www.usdoj.gov/methawareness>.

For more information about National Methamphetamine Awareness Day and how to get involved in your community, contact the U.S. Department of Justice Office of Public Affairs at 202-514-2007 or visit <http://www.usdoj.gov/methawareness>.

Wayne couple lead NCT Christmas performances

The Norfolk Community Theater holiday production A Christmas Tuna is being led by Wayne Couple J.B. and Tammy Tyson.

J.B. is directing the two-man performance teaming up with his wife Tammy as the producer of the play.

"We have always enjoyed working together, we worked together on the Wayne Stater over a decade ago," Tammy said.

The couple has collaborated on other various projects over the past many years, such as set construction for Wakefield's, Little Red Hen Theater production of "Lil' Abner" this past summer.

"We have had a few disagreements over sets and costumes, but we always find a nice compromise after much discussion," J.B. said.

The couple has also enjoyed including their children in set construction and painting.

"Chloe (12), Jack (8) and Ethan (3) enjoy painting with us, and this time they were able to help put together Christmas trees, and do a couple of other crafty prop projects," Tammy said.

The kids get to take more breaks than their parents and have a lot of fun singing, dancing on the stage, and trying on costumes while their parents work.

"Chloe did a great deal of work on the Lil' Abner production we worked on in Wakefield last year and it gave us a lot of time to talk and bond as mother and daughter," Tammy said.

As for The Norfolk Community Theater production of "A Tuna Christmas," the play features 20 wacky characters. With quick-change zaniness and comic one-liners, Nick Eicher of Pierce and Tyrone Muhs of Stanton, move through diverse male, female, adult and child characters alike.

"A Tuna Christmas" takes place 24 hours before Christmas and chaos rather than a peaceful yuletide is in the air. The southern fried comedy, "A Tuna Christmas" is showing at the Cox Activity Center Theater on the Northeast Community College campus, beginning on Thursday, Nov. 30, and Dec. 1, 2, 7, 8 and 9 at 7:30 p.m., including a 2 p.m. performance on the Sunday, Dec. 3.

"A Tuna Christmas" introduces us to the delightfully eccentric citizens of Tuna, the (fictitious) third smallest town in Texas, where the Lion's Club is too liberal and Patsy Cline never dies. See them attempt to cope with seasonal traumas; the "Peace on Earth" used weapons sale, a very competitive holiday yard display contest, and a Christmas Phantom on the loose spreading vandalism and havoc," Tammy said.

The play was written by Jason Williams, Joe Sears, and Ed Howard and is a charming sequel to Greater Tuna, with many of the same loveable characters.

Tickets are $10 for adults and $5 for students and are available by calling 844-7360 but can also be purchased at the door. Language may not be appropriate for all audiences.

ASK THE TRAINER

"What is the best time of day to work out?" This is a good question, and more often than not I hear from people who wish they could get up earlier in the morning to work out because they have heard it is the best time to burn fat. The thought is, when a person exercises early in the morning, before breakfast, they will burn more body fat than later in the day. While there is some truth to this, anyone who has performed high-intensity exercise before breakfast can tell you the effects can be nauseating. The reason for this nausea is not seeing the early riser next to you smiling while running on the treadmill, but low blood sugar from an overnight without food. Eating something to replenish this sugar before you exercise will keep your muscles fueled for a longer, more productive work out that will burn more fat. This principle works the same whether in the afternoon or evening, because there is no magic time for exercise. The key to success is to make time to exercise and to do it consistently.

Happy Thanksgiving from everyone at the Wellness Center!

Keep up the good work and keep the questions coming!

State National Bank & Trust Company in Wayne opened the doors of their new building at 122 Main Street on Monday. The last two customers before the bank burned down on Jan. 1, 1986 were Cliff Baker and Gene Lutt. The men were their first customers in the new location. Farmers & Merchants donates to FRIENDS

The President of Farmers & Merchants State Bank, Tim Keller, paid a visit to Wayne Middle School on Nov. 20, to make a $255 donation from the bank to the FRIENDS Drug Free Youth Group.

"I just think the FRIENDS group is doing a great job and it is so important for the kids to have a strong message about being drug free at this age," Mr. Keller commented. "We need to focus on this age group so they can make better decisions about drugs and alcohol. I have always thought that we focus too much on the symptoms, but that is too late. I believe we need to put our dollars into prevention. I think it is a lot more costly to deal with the consequences of alcohol and drug problems, than to invest in preventing them."

Mr. Keller visited with Joan Sudmann, Middle School Counselor, who is the group's sponsor. He was interested in the group's activities and membership. FRIENDS, which stands for "Facts Raising Interest Ending Needless Drugs" currently has 98 members in the seventh and eighth grade (out of a total of 132 junior high students).

The group recently sponsored two middle school assemblies featuring a theatre troop from Omaha, RESPECT2. Fifth and sixth grade students attended a program called "Spelling it Out," which was about bullying. "Caught in the Middle (School)," attended by seventh and eighth graders, focused on choices students make in regard to alcohol, dating violence and cheating.

The FRIENDS group is dedicated to drug and alcohol prevention with awareness activities such as Red Ribbon Week, assembly programs, community presentations and FRIEND Teaching in the elementary school. The group also promotes healthy, drug-free recreational opportunities for youth.

The FRIENDS sponsored a junior high dance last week and is planning a trip to Sioux City for a Musketeer Hockey game.

FRIENDS is supported, in part, with funding from Wayne United Way.

If you have stuffed the turkey, remove any stuffing and debone the turkey before storing. Store all leftovers in shallow containers. Refrigerate or freeze leftovers within two hours of cooking. Why just two hours? Because bacteria that causes food poisoning can multiply to undesirable levels on perishable food left at room temperature for longer than that. Use cooked turkey and stuffing within three to four days. Here are some new ways to use the rest of your turkey leftovers.

Retired school personnel learn about voting machines

President Joann Stoltenberg opened the Wayne Area Association of Retired School Personnel on Nov. 5 at Tacos & More with a quotation from Harry S. Truman. Nineteen members attended the program which took place at the Wayne County Court House. Deb Allemann Dannelly, spoke about the new ES&S machine on Election Systems and Software Model 650 Central Ballot Scanner. Governor

Heinemann provided these through the state government to all 93 counties. All machines read out English ballots, except in one county, which reads Spanish also. This ballot scanner checks for irregularities, including a torn or blank sheet or a write-in candidate. The machine stops and proves the operator with instruction for handling the ballot. Votes are tabulated and the machine tracks the races by precinct.

This scanner generates reports to show the up-to-the-minute totals by individual precinct, city or county and generates a time/date stamped audit log of scanner activities on a separate print out. A permanent record of the election is saved on a zip disk. The members returned to Tacos & More for the remainder of the business meeting. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The treasurer's report included a bill for membership booklets. The booklets were distributed to those who were at the meeting.

Marilyn Bodenstedt gave pins to those members who had done volunteer work with the youth and community this past year.

Harold Maciejewski reported on the many proposed amendments and also the referendum measurers 421, 422 and 423. He encouraged everyone to get out and vote.

Lee Larson will complete the 2006 scrap book soon. Members are to give her photos or clipping of the activities of the organization so they can be recorded.

Joann Stoltenberg gave the report on the State Convention held in Grand Island on Sept. 7-8.

The next meeting will be Jan. 2, 2007 at Tacos & More.

Nebraska grown Christmas trees bring life to the holidays

When it comes to finding the perfect Christmas tree, keep in mind the number of choose-and-cut operations in Nebraska, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln forester said. Not only do fresh trees add to the beauty of the holiday season, but selection creates a fun family experience.

"Nebraska has over 50 Christmas tree farms located throughout the state that grow and sell live Christmas trees," said Dennis Adams, UNL forester. "Live trees are much fresher than trees cut and shipped in from western and northern states, often six weeks or more before Christmas."

An annual survey conducted by the Nebraska Department of Agriculture predicts about 50,000 Nebraska grown Christmas trees will be available for the 2006 holiday season. These trees, typically grown on plantations, are annually pruned to achieve the full, symmetrical appearance most consumers prefer, Adams said.

Some consumers are concerned about buying natural trees because it takes away from the environment, Adams said. However, most trees taken from plantations are grown specifically for harvest once they reach a certain height or age and are replaced with seedlings the following spring.

"Growing and harvesting Christmas trees can be compared with growing and harvesting corn, milo or other crops," Adams said. "The only difference is that trees are not annuals, he said. However, real trees are a renewable resource and purchasing live trees cuts back on the depletion of the un-renewable resources used to make artificial ones.

Hand selecting a live tree can become a family tradition and offers every member of the family the opportunity to learn about the different species of evergreens, Adams said. The most popular species grown in Nebraska is the Scotch Pine. However, other species commonly grown include eastern white pine, Austrian pine, Colorado blue spruce, concolor fir, Douglas fir and Norway spruce.

Pine trees have relatively long needles in clusters of two, three or five while the needles of spruce and fir trees are short and attached to the twig individually. Junipers, such as the Eastern redcedar, have prickly needles and are usually undesirable for holiday decorating.

Regardless of the species, Christmas trees must be kept watered to stay fresh and prevent fire hazards, Adams said.

"Through the years, people have experimented with various home recipes to help keep the tree fresh and green," he said. "The best advice to keep a tree fresh, however, is to mount the tree in a stand that holds at least one gallon of water and check the water level at least daily."

If the water level drops below the base of the tree, a seal will form and keep the tree from absorbing water, Adams said.

For more information on natural trees or to locate the nearest Christmas tree farm, contact any UNL Extension office, Natural Resources District or Nebraska Forest Service or visit <http://www.agr.state.ne.us/pub/apd/trees.htm>.

Annie's Project geared toward farm women's needs

Plymouth and Woodbury County Extension offices will be offering area farm women an opportunity to learn more about today's agriculture technology and to become a more effective farm business partner through a six-week course called Annie's Project.

Annie's Project is based on the experiences of a farm wife who spent her lifetime learning how to be an involved business partner with her farm husband. Annie's Project takes her life experiences and shares it with farm women living and working in a complex, dynamic, evolving business environment.

This women's empowerment program will be offered by Plymouth and Woodbury County Extension as six sessions on Monday evenings beginning Jan. 8 and running through Feb. 12. Each session will be held from 6 to 9 p.m. Three sessions will be held at Woodbury County Extension, 4301 Sergeant Rd., #209, in Sioux City. The remaining sessions will be held at Sergeant Bluff-Luton Middle School, 208 Port Neal Road, Sergeant Bluff, when a computer laboratory is needed for the curriculum.

"Annie's Project is designed to empower farm women to manage information systems used in critical decision making processes and to build local networks throughout the state," said Woodbury County Extension Education Director Sherry McGill. "This is an outstanding course for area farm women to really learn the ins and outs of the business side of farming." The target audience is farm women with a passion for business and involvement.

Farm women will receive training on risk management, financial statements, understanding personalities, marketing plans, business plans, estate planning, spreadsheets, and technology.

The class is partially funded by a grant through North Central Risk Management Education Center and by local sponsors. With the software and materials each participant will receive, the value of the class exceeds $250 per participant. The actual charge to each attendee is only $50.

Pre-registration and the $50 payment are required by Tuesday, Dec. 19. Class size is limited. A registration form may be downloaded by visiting www.extension.iastate.edu/woodbury. Or participants may receive a registration form by contacting Woodbury County Extension at (712) 276-2157 or Plymouth County Extension at (712) 546-7835.

Cataracts affect over 80% of our senior citizens. In fact over one million cataract surgeries are performed annually in the U.S. alone.

New technological developments in implants, ultrasonic equipment, lasers, diagnostic testing, and surgical techniques have made cataract surgery one of the most effective procedures today. Currently, over 98% of cataract patients experience significant improvements in vision, without major complications.

Until now, the high cost of this new technology for cataract surgery was only available in the larger surgical facilities. This meant that you would have to travel for a complete eye examination and surgery. Not any longer.

Complete eye care and cataract surgery is now available at Providence Medical Center in Wayne. You don't have to travel outside of your community to have your vision tested for cataracts. With Dr. Hicks, Dr. Koerber and Dr. Magnuson offering comprehensive diagnostic and surgical services, you now have the most advanced eye care available right here in town.

Nebraska-Grown Christmas Tree Directory Available

Nebraska Department of Agriculture (NDA) Director Greg Ibach is encouraging Nebraskans to purchase and enjoy Nebraska-grown Christmas trees this holiday season.

"Nebraska growers offer a wide range of beautifully grown Christmas trees," Director Ibach said. "When you visit a Nebraska Christmas tree farm to purchase a real Christmas tree, you will not only have a special tree for the holidays, you'll also be supporting your local economy."

Nebraska Christmas tree operations offer numerous varieties of Pine, Spruce and Fir trees. Many of the Christmas tree farms also offer wreaths, swags, garlands, family pictures, snacks, wagon rides, as well as gift and craft shops. Other services offered by some of the farms include tree cleaning, netting and loading assistance.

To help consumers find Nebraska Christmas tree farms, NDA has released the 2006-2007 Nebraska Christmas Tree Growers directory. The directory features 41 tree farms from across the state. A copy of the directory is available through NDA's Ag Promotion and Development Division by calling 800-422-6692. Copies may also be obtained at local county extension offices, Natural Resources Districts (NRD), and the Natural Resources Conservation and Development (RC&D) offices. The directory is also available on-line at www.agr.ne.gov under Brochures.

Shopping can be exhausting

Have any of you ladies out there shopped for jeans lately? What an ordeal! Last year, my best pair had a patch on the leg. I know it's stylish to have holes and stitching, but I just can't go there. Besides, I had lost all that weight after the knee surgery, so I found a pair of size 12's and wore them, every day. It was wonderful. I also ordered a pair of size 12 cords from the Blair catalog and they fit fine. So, I was set for the winter.

Then came spring, and all the lost pounds eventually put themselves right back where they started from. That was okay for summer because I was wearing lighter weight fabrics. But now comes fall, my favorite time of year, when I prefer jeans and sweatshirts. There are plenty of old jeans for around the house. But nothing to wear grocery shopping, to choir practice, and the like.

So, a month ago, I set out to find a pair of size 14's. I had read that skinny jeans were the thing this year; obviously, that didn't affect me! BUT, the low waists, the shiny buttons, and the "faded" looks aren't for me, either. At Penney's, I commented to another gal "is it possible to find a pair of jeans that haven't been distressed?" She answered, "not unless you want to pay $50. Take it from me. I've been looking all day."

Well, that was definitely discouraging. I kept looking, sporadically, as I don't like to shop and never

By: Pat Meierhenry

just set a couple of hours aside to do so. I wasn't coming up with anything, and the season was disappearing. Finally, I turned back to the Blair catalog.

My one pair of black slacks has shiny knees, and I could use some new navy ones, also. I ordered one of each, in size 14. The picture showed intact jeans, complete with elastic waist and "stretch" fabric. So, I ordered two of these. The slacks fit; the jeans don't!

I'm back to square one; plus, I have a package to mail to return the darned things. At least they make it easy, even including the mailing label. Does that tell you that they have a lot of merchandise returned? Then, it will be back to the shopping.

In the meantime, I'm wearing a pair of khakis that are getting very worn looking. Shoot, I shouldn't even be complaining. I have a warm house, warm clothes (albeit, some worn ones), and plenty on the table. Happy Thanksgiving, everyone, and enjoy the warm weather. Beat Colorado!

P.S.—I just received an e-mail that says I'm not heavier. It's just that as I get older, my head is holding so much information that the rest of my body has to help hold it all. I'm not fat, just more intelligent! And that's my story, and I'm sticking to it.

Horse information abounds at eXtension's HorseQuest Web Site

Those looking for the latest news and information about horses need look no further than HorseQuest, a new interactive Web site from the national eXtension project.

The Web site at <http://www.extension.org/horses> contains information ranging from finding the best horse for a child to riding techniques, horse diseases, nutrition and care.

The eXtension project, of which University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension is a leader, produced HorseQuest, the first of many Web sites that will bring the educational resources of Extension nationwide, said Elbert Dickey, dean and director of UNL Extension.

"It's the best of the best university research-based education on horses," Dickey said.

HorseQuest provides frequently asked questions, ask the expert features, online chats, news and events and in-depth learning lessons on equine-related topics, said Kathy Anderson, UNL horse specialist, who was intricately involved with HorseQuest.

"It's a great venue for horse producers across the state and it will only grow, Anderson said. "Right now, people are only seeing a glimpse of what they're going to get."

The frequently asked question feature includes the most commonly asked questions and peer-reviewed answers on horse ownership and care. The ask an expert section offers equine expert answers within 48 hours of submission. Online chat sessions are scheduled routinely with experts in each subject area matter. News and upcoming events offer something nearly everyday that is happening in the world of horses, while the learning lessons offer interactive lessons on the costs of horse ownership, selecting the right horse and more.

"And, HorseQuest is only the beginning for eXtension," Dickey said. "Twenty more sites will come online in the next few months — each of them organized around a community of interest designed to mine extension experts' knowledge from across the nation and represent it in a dynamic, accessible Web-based format."

The new U.S. land-grant university project -- eXtension, pronounced e-extension -- will continue to bring resources from the nation's largest non-formal education system, the Cooperative Extension Service, to broader audiences via the Internet.

Other eXtension Web sites coming online soon include financial security, imported fire ants, disaster response, parenting, rural entrepreneurship, horticulture and wildfire damage management. All will feature a similar approach to that of HorseQuest.

For more information about eXtension, visit the Web at <http://www.extension.org/>

Nebraska 'scrappers' documentary announced

Two Seton Hall University Communication professors have announced plans to produce a documentary concerning the 1942 Nebraska Scrap Metal Drive that supported the World War II war effort.

The documentary will highlight the dramatic participation of the WWII home front from the perspective of the more recent war on terror.

Assistant Professor James J. Kimble, a Nebraska native, has done extensive research on the 1941 scrap drive.

"The Nebraska scrap drive contest contributed nearly 70,000 tons of scrap material in just three weeks, and served to inspire the rest of the country to do the same," said Kimble.

Thomas Rondinella, Associate Professor in Broadcast and Visual Media, will produce and co-direct the documentary. "The inherent visuals of the subject are exciting and the subject matter has great relevance to today," he said.

The video will be a Catfish Studios production. The studio expects to use local video students to assist the actual production.

Kimble and Rondinella are looking to interview anyone involved in the 1942 Nebraska Scrap Metal Drive or those with relatives who were involved.

Catfish Studios can be reached at tom@catfishstudios.com or toll free at (877) 729-9642.

A Tribute to Agriculture

If farming were an Olympic event, the American farmers would bring home the gold every time.

From the livestock producers who put the food on our tables to the cotton producers who put the clothes on our backs, American agriculture doesn't take a back seat to anyone.
