Thursday, April 12, 2007 131st Year - No. 28

Last year's Elderfest recipient of the $1,000 travel certificate was Beverly Bloom of Laurel. She and her husband, Floyd, returned recently from a trip to Hawaii. Above, the Blooms' stand with greeters outside the Polynesian Culture Center, one of the places they visited in Hawaii.

Third annual Elderfest to be held April 19

The third annual Elderfest will be held in the historic Wayne City Auditorium on Thursday, April 19 from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Everything is FREE...food, information, entertainment, door prizes, quilt display, registration to win a $1,000 travel certificate, a $500 travel certificate or a $175 travel certificate and much more.

A full day of fun is planned for this year's Elderfest including businesses and individuals having 46 tables.

A number of businesses have donated to the travel certificates. Those businesses are: The Oaks Retirement Community, $250; Farmers & Merchants State Bank, $150; Arnie's Ford/Mercury, $25; First National Bank - Wayne, $100; BankFirst - Wayne, $100; Security National Bank - Laurel, $100; State National Bank & Trust, $100; Ameritus, $100; Rath, Walling & Associates, $100; Magnuson Eye Care, $100; Farmers State Bank - Carroll, $75; Premier Estates, $100; Property Exchange Partners, $25; First Bank of Belden/Laurel, $50; Carhart Lumber Company, $100; Wayne Mercy Medical, $150 and Main Street Apothecary of Laurel, $50.

Last year's recipient of the travel certificate, Beverly Bloom and her husband, Floyd, of Laurel returned recently from their trip to Hawaii, where Beverly used her $1,000 travel certificate. They were gone March 17 - 25, 2007. Recipients have one year to use their travel certificates.

"We enjoyed the trip immensely," Beverly Bloom said. "Having my name drawn at Elderfest was such a surprise and we are very grateful for the trip. We will be having our 50th wedding anniversary this summer and we always wanted to celebrate it by going to Hawaii. With this gift, we were able to go."

Some of Bloom's memories of the trip include visiting the Arizona Memorial and museum at Pearl Harbor which held special meaning. "It was breathtaking and touching to see this cemetery on water," Bloom said. "It meant a lot to my husband who was in the service. It was something we had always wanted to do."

Another excursion the Blooms took in Hawaii was to the Polynesian Culture Center. She noted there were little grass huts everywhere where you could watch demonstrations. "At one hut, we watched them hike up a tree, clean, crack, get the milk and shred coconuts," Bloom said. "In the evening, there was a luau and a performance in the amphitheatre with natives in authentic costumes. It was beautiful!"

Bloom noted the temperature in Hawaii was between 72 and 81 each day, sometimes with gentle rain which dried almost as soon as it fell. The flowers were gorgeous and the open air patios of the hotels were so relaxing. When outside, colorful birds flew by while vacationers sat and watched surfers and boats sail by, nudged along by gentle ocean breezes.

"We went to Iolani Palace and museum in Honolulu and then to the capital building, where we even watched a hearing," Bloom said. "Later we visited the International Market Place, a big shopping center, which is full of open air shops and gift stores."

Bloom ended with saying, "We saw so many sights and the experience of everything was such a thrill! It was all so fantastic!"

Door prizes will also be given at

New First National Bank building to open in fall

Work is progressing on the new First National Bank of Wayne building at 411 E. 7th Street. The projected opening date is this September.

According to Bill Dickey, President, the bank is being built with the community in mind. They are re-investing in the area by using a local contractor (Vakoc Construction) and many local sub-contractors such as Superior Plumbing, Beiermann Electric, Zach's Propane, Sebade Construction, Kory Leseberg, Carhart Lumber, Heritage Industries, Milo Meyer Construction, Final Touch, to name a few.

One feature of the new building that will be available to the public is a community room with a private entrance to the south.

Approximately 100 people can be seated in the room that will be available to the public for formal and informal settings. There will be an adjoining kitchen with plenty of storage and counter space as well as electrical outlets and a microwave for catering needs.

"We're already getting calls from people wanting to book events," Dickey said.

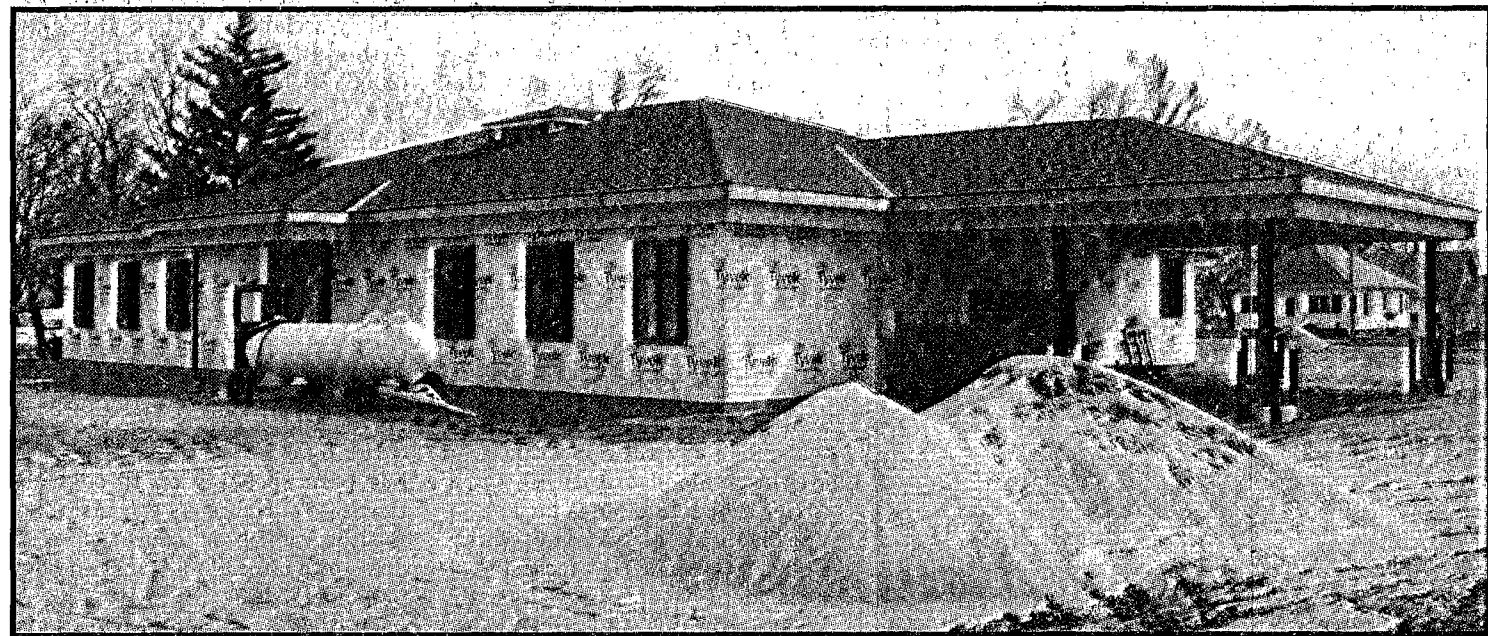

Outside, there will be plenty of room around the bank with 60 parking spots available as well as 10 foot wide drive up lanes to accommodate pick ups and trailers. For public convenience, there will be a drive up ATM machine along 7th Street.

"Original plans called for a basement but we decided to go with one level; no steps and no elevator make it very accessible and convenient for customer needs," Dickey said. "The building is built according to ADA specs and designed for future growth."

The floor plan includes three standing teller stations and one desk location, a spacious ceiling with a skylight and a lobby with ample seating. There will also be a memorabilia wall. (Dickey notes that anyone who has old First National Bank items can contact him, as they are looking for more to place on the memorabilia wall).

"We're trying to create a warm, friendly atmosphere," Dickey said. "We're the oldest bank in Wayne County and have been banking on relationships for over 120 years. We are who we are because of our customers - our most important asset."

Work continues on the new First National Bank of Wayne building, which should open in September.

Board member Dr. Jodi Pulfer reported on gifts to the Foundation: a donation was made in memory of Glen Houdersheldt from members of the 1956 State Championship team and $2,100 was received from proceeds of the recent State National Bank auction.

First reading of policy 1303 - schedule for policy review was approved.

A thank-you to Peg Lutt was received from Pat Roschewski, Nebraska Department of Education director of statewide assessment for participating in the Nebraska-led Peer Review of STARS.

One Hour Walk scheduled for April 22 in Wayne

The fourth annual TeamMates One Hour Walk will be held Sunday, April 22 at the Wayne Community Activity Center.

Last year more than 3,400 Nebraskans participated in the event which benefits the youth of the state.

According to Tom Osborne, founder of TeamMates, "The One Hour Walk is the end-of-year celebration that symbolizes the difference mentoring makes in the lives of youth."

At the present time, approximately 40 youth in the Wayne schools benefit from spending time each week with a mentor. Mentors visit Wayne Elementary School, Wayne Middle School and Wayne High School.

The local walk is being coordinated with help from the Wayne Rotary Club. Several Rotary members have been contacting businesses and individuals seeking donations.

Money generated from each One Hour Walk is used to help fund the TeamMates Scholarship program for graduating seniors at Wayne High School who have been involved in TeamMates.

Main Street Focus

As I drove north on Main Street early Monday morning, I noticed that the light poles were being dropped off and later in the day I saw where some were installed. What a relief to see this work proceeding and, hopefully, the trees and benches will follow.

Tuesday morning the monthly meeting of the Main Street Wayne Board was held. We had Vicki Engelen, a free-lance journalist from Minneapolis and a 1976 WSC graduate, visit with us. Vicki was collecting information for a story on what it is like to be a WSC student 30 years later. She is writing an article for the Wayne Stater and Alumnae Magazine.

Much of the remainder of the meeting was occupied by the Main Street Promotions Committee which reported on the tentative activities for Henoween. Henoween will be held on Friday, July 13, and will kick off with a Flea Market at 8 a.m. and continue to 1 p.m. in the 200 block of Main Street. Vendors are invited to join the Main Street merchants and for a fee of $10 they can set up as many as two tables. Vendors are encouraged to work through the WAEDI office so that there are no conflicts in locations.

The worlds largest Chicken Dance will be held at 5 p.m., also in the 200 block of Main Street. At 6 p.m. there will be some pre-main stage entertainment and this will be followed by the annual concrete Chicken Auction. At approximately 7:30 p.m., "No Better Cause" will perform on the Main Stage. A Teen Dance will be hosted by KTCH somewhere in the neighborhood of Third Street. After the stage show, the JC's will hold their annual Fireworks Display.

Volunteers will be needed to help set up for the Main Stage show and seating, the Chicken Auction and adult sponsors will be needed for the Teen Dance. If you are interested in helping at Henoween, call Irene at WAEDI and she will refer you to the person you need to talk to.

The concrete Chickens have been ordered and should be arriving after the weather warms up so they can be baked. Again we ask those in the community that are interested in painting them to make arrangements with Irene at the WAEDI office to reserve a Chicken for you. When the Chickens are painted we auction them off at Henoween. This is our major fund raiser and helps defray the expenses involved in putting on the Henoween show.

On Wednesday evening, April 25, the Nebraska Lied Main Street officials will be in town to help us put together a Visioning Statement. If you have any thoughts on how Wayne or downtown Wayne should look during the next decade, do not hesitate to join us at the North Meeting Room of the city auditorium. A light supper will be served and then we will be going into a brainstorming session. It is anticipated that sometime the next day, the staff of the Nebraska Lied Main Street will be able to share the Visioning Statement they gleaned from Wednesday evenings brainstorming session.

Dave Simonsen, Executive Director of WAEDI, attended the meeting and shared with us information on the upcoming Economic Development Summit planned for the Wayne area. The Summit is being held on Monday, May 14, and includes special speakers such as our Governor David Heineman, Dr. Louis Pol, Dean of the College of Business, UNO and Dr. Doug Christensen, Commissioner of the Nebraska Department of Education. Many interesting topics will be discussed in the general and break-out sessions. The registration fee is $29 for the first organizational registrant and $19 for each additional registrant.

Water issue likely to produce fight

By Ed Howard

Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Have you any idea of the depth of Nebraska's water problem?

Try to imagine the most advanced nuclear submarine in the world.

Imagine it being crushed like an overripe autumn leaf in the ocean depths, a catastrophe that likely would occur well before it descended even one mile.

You've seen movies about the "silent service." The ones that include an obligatory scene where the sub must "dive, dive, dive" to escape an enemy. As the boat descends (submarines are called boats) some otherwise stout-hearted fellow standing by the periscope says, "She can't take it, cap'n. She's gonna' be crushed like an overripe autumn leaf!" Or something like that. Remember, we're just talking about 1,000 feet or so.

Now, try to imagine a lake that is 200,000 feet deep. That's somewhere in the neighborhood of 40 miles. We're talking about acre-feet. An acre-foot is enough water to cover one acre of land, 12 inches deep.

As one news story recently summed it up, "State estimates indicate that Nebraska could be 200,000 acre-feet short of providing Kansas its share of Republican River water by the end of this year." That ought to shiver your timbers, as the ancient nautical saying goes.

The Legislature, at this writing, was working on a plan to finance the acquisition of the water owed to Kansas. None of the pending options, were universally popular, particularly with those concerned about property (any property) in south-central and southwestern Nebraska. Those options centered on allowing Natural Resources Districts in the Republican River basin to levy a $10-per-acre fee on irrigated farm land; and/or extending their current authority to exceed a state-imposed limit on tax rates that involve all property.

The state and federal government are already contributing millions of dollars this year for the leasing of irrigation water so that it can flow south to the Jayhawks.

Add to this situation the concern among many, including lawmakers, about the burgeoning ethanol industry, statewide. This is a completely separate issue. Enormous amounts of additional water will be needed from all manner of sources for the field-to-"factory" production of the corn-based fuel.

Remember the highly emotional, decades-long fuss over the proposal to put a nuclear outhouse in Nebraska?

The fight to determine the state's future water policy, in several critical areas, could be just as tough.

Consider the assertion and the question recently posed by Sen. Mark Christensen of Imperial, during a meeting of the Legislature's Natural Resources Committee. He was concerned about the proposed authority for NRDs to raise money in connection with the Republican River Basin dilemma.

"It could never end. I don't want to tax myself forever. We've just got to have a cap somewhere. Why do we want to put a lifetime of fees on anybody?"

Christensen's question might easily be answered.

A lifetime of fees on one group is bound to appeal to a great many people - the ones who aren't in that group.

Legislators implement cloture procedure

By Senator Pat Engel

17th Legislative District

Twenty new senators experienced their first encounter with cloture during this past week. A motion for cloture requires 33 votes and is an attempt to end an extended debate on a certain issue. If the motion for cloture is successful, senators immediately vote on the amendment(s) or motion that is pending at the time the motion was made. Immediately following, a vote is taken on the advancement of the bill. There is no minimum amount of time required for debate before a cloture motion is made but as a general rule, senators usually wait about eight hours before making the motion, as they feel that this amount of time allows for sufficient debate.

A Nebraska Supreme Court decision (Bronsen v. Dawes County) issued in September of 2006 ruled that political subdivisions and state government would no longer have the protection afforded to owners of land by the Recreation Liability Act. Due to this loss of liability protection, cities began to close their skateboard parks, their sledding hills, and their ice skating ponds. Local governments were beginning to experience difficulty in affording liability insurance. LB 564 was introduced in an attempt to reinstate limited protection from liability for state and local governments when injuries occur at parks, playgrounds, and other public facilities.

As introduced, LB 564 reinstated protection for public entities under the Recreation Liability Act. As amended by the committee amendments, LB 564 amends the State and Political Subdivision Tort Claims Act to provide an exception to liability for claims relating to recreational activities. The amendment creates three exemptions to liability of the state or a political subdivision for claims relating to recreational activities for which no fee is charged: 1) claims resulting from the inherent risk of the activity; 2) claims arising out of a defect of the premises unless the defect is not corrected within a reasonable time period after noticing the defect; and 3) claims arising out of the design of a skate park or BMX park if it was constructed according to generally recognized standards that were in existence at the time of construction. Recreational activities that involve a fee would be held to a stricter liability standard.

Senator Ernie Chambers strongly objected to LB 564. He didn't think that cities should provide facilities that could be dangerous, such as skateboard parks. He felt that if taxpayers wanted such facilities, then the city should be liable for injuries that result. After eight hours of debate on LB 564, a motion for cloture was made. It was successful on a 40-1 vote. Following the cloture motion, LB 564 received first-round approval on a 42-1 vote. I intend to continue to support this bill, as I feel that our youth need recreational activities available to them.

The Appropriations Committee is meeting over the lunch hour and in the evenings trying to finalize their preliminary recommendations to present a balanced budget recommendation to the Legislature. We should complete our work within the next week or two.

Again, I would encourage you to contact me with your opinions and thoughts on legislation that is before the Legislature. It is only with your input that I can truly represent the constituents of District #17. I can be reached at District #17, P.O. Box 94604, State Capitol, Lincoln, Neb. 68509, my telephone number is (402) 471-2716, my e-mail address is lengel@leg.ne.gov and my fax number is (402) 479-0917.

Council debates variety of topics

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

Parking, insurance and community improvements were among the items debated during Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

A parking committee presented a recommendation to the council on which streets should continue to have restricted parking from midnight to 5 a.m.

Council member Darrell Fuelberth said he did not recommend changing the current restrictions, noting, "streets are for moving traffic, not for parking and not to be used as a garage. For safety reasons, I don't see any reason to have overnight parking on 25 foot streets."

Council member Brian Frevrt questioned the need for any parking regulations, noting that Wayne is one of only three cities in Nebraska with regulations.

Police Chief Lance Webster said he had no strong feelings on the subject, but did provide a list of areas he recommended leaving alone. He also noted society has changed since the regulations went into effect in the 1970's and there are more cars in the community.

No action was taken on the recommendation and additional discussion will take place at future meetings.

Cap Peterson with Northeast Nebraska Insurance Agency spoke to the council on changes being made in the amount of liability insurance cities in Nebraska need.

Currently, debate is taking place in the Nebraska Legislature which will reduce the cap on which a city is liable from $12 million to $5 million. Peterson said this is a better situation of public entities, but noted that the Supreme Court could change the law, even if enacted by the Legislature.

"The question we (city) have to ask ourselves is 'how much is enough and what is it going to cost?'"

Adding an additional $2 million umbrella to the city's current liability policy, which would bring the total coverage to $5 million, would cost an additional $19,000 per year.

Community improvements on the agenda included lighting at the Summer Sports Complex and Hank Overin Field and planters to be placed on Main Street.

Garry Poutre told the council he had spoken with a company in West Point that installs energy-efficient lighting of this type and they had provided estimates for both locations.

City Administrator Lowell Johnson said that the committee looking to improve the Summer Sports Complex has submitted several grant applications but has been unsuccessful in obtaining any funding.

Additional information will be gathered on options before a decision is made.

Approval was given for the style of planters to be placed on Main Street. However, a final cost estimate was not yet available. Grant funding will pay for a portion of the cost and the council had previously approved spending money on the planters in conjunction with Main Street improvement project last year.

Several members of the Board of Directors of the Wayne County Club were on hand at Tuesday's meeting to discuss money the Country Club had given to the city several years ago following a land sale.

The directors said the money, which was designed to be used for capital improvements at the Country Club, was less than they assumed because they thought the money had been placed in an interest-bearing account and the interest was being used for the improvements.

City Administrator Johnson said there was no interest accrued, because the money had not been invested. Instead, a portion of the money and funds remaining from several other projects, was used for various projects at the Country Club.

Kevin Peterson, current President of the Country Club Board of Directors, explained the board's plan for the money and their thinking on how the money was to be used. He also asked if the board could request the remaining money to be used for other capital improvements.

Council member Doug Sturm said he felt a meeting should be held with council members and the board to see if the two could come to an acceptable agreement for the use of the remaining funds.

In other business, the council listened to the annual report from Lauren Loggren, Library Director. She noted that a switch of software recently has "made the last year interesting." She also discussed staff changes and the use of grants and donations during the past year.

A bid was accepted from Midwest Sound and Lighting for the installation of a sound system for the Wayne City Auditorium. The project should be completed by June 22.

Resolution 2007-34 was passed, changing the fee for disposal of grass at the Transfer Station and changing the hours of operation.

Passage of the resolution will result in an increase of 50¢ per bag for grass brought to the Transfer Station and will close the facility on Tuesdays.

The council will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, April 24 at 5:30 p.m. in the council chambers. A joint meeting of county officials and representative from Wayne, Wakefield, Winside, Hoskins, Carroll and Sholes will be held at the Winside Legion Hall on Tuesday, April 17.

Shear Designs offers the one traditional male barber in Wayne and a full service cosmetologist in the same location.

Doug Sturm has been cutting hair for 31 years. Twenty-seven of those years have been in the same location inside Mineshaft Mall located at 112 East Second Street.

"When naming my business

I didn't just want Doug's Barbershop," Sturm said. "I kept tossing around ideas until one fit that I liked."

She then did an apprenticeship in Los Angeles. She has been a business partner of Shear Designs for 10 years this September.

"As a transplant into the Wayne community, I

WSC first baseman Marc Manganaro warms his hands in last Friday's chilly home contest with Northern State.

Winning streak continues for WSC

The string of wins keeps on growing for the Wayne State baseball team.

The Wildcats improved to 20-9 overall and moved into second place in the Northern Sun league standings at 10-2 after posting a four-game home sweep against conference foe Northern State on April 6-7.

The team notched a pair of wins over Northern in chilling mid-teen winter conditions Friday afternoon as the Wildcats recorded 10-0 and 10-3 wins over the Wolves.

In the first game, Travis Mortimore struck out 13 batters while throwing five innings of no-hit ball to lead the Wildcats in a 10-0 win.

Mortimore and relievers Ryan Kolo and Adam McGuire teamed up on a one-hitter as Mortimore won his first decision of the year, improving to 1-4. Offensively, WSC started quickly scoring five runs in the first and three more in the second inning to grab an early 8-0 lead. WSC added two more runs in the fifth for the 10-0 win.

The Wildcats had nine hits in the game. Dustin Jones had a double and triple and scored three runs to pace WSC at the plate. Sean Soderberg contributed a pair of two run singles to go 2 for 3 with four RBI. Jordan Deglan and Scott Bidroski added two hits apiece for the Wildcats.

The second game saw Bidroski go 2 for 4 with a two-run homer and five RBIs to lead the Wildcats in a 10-3 win over the Wolves. Bidroski belted his team-leading sixth homer in the first inning to give WSC a 2-0 lead. He added a two-run single to highlight a three run third inning that put WSC in front 5-0.

Diego Marquez laced a two-run double down the left field line in a three run fourth inning that put the 'Cats up 8-0. Jones went 2 for 4 with a double and scored three more runs in the second game for WSC.

Northern State outthrew WSC 8-6. Senior Michael Donohoe (3-0) earned the win, working six strong innings. He allowed two runs on six hits with four strikeouts. Jim Sake pitched the final inning for WSC, allowing an unearned run with two strikeouts.

On Saturday, the team extended its win streak to 11 games a 7-1 and 13-2 sweep over the Wolves.

In the first game, Mitch Herrick and Nathan Gettler combined to hold Northern State to just three hits in a 7-1 win.

The Wildcats had just seven hits in the game, all singles, but used four Northern State errors and three walks to help score seven runs.

Adam Hoffman was 2 for 2 with two runs scored to lead the Wildcats at the plate while Brian Sulzman recorded two singles in three at bats with two RBIs.

Herrick (3-2) earned the pitching win, working five innings. He allowed just two hits and one run with seven strikeouts.

The second game saw WSC use a seven-run third inning to spark a 13-2 win over the Wolves. Jordan Webb's two-run double highlighted the seven-run third inning, while

Sport management pros give insight at symposium

By David W. Carstens
Of the Herald

The little things you learn now can provide the building blocks for your future.

That was the theme carried by six speakers to a group of about 100 students, educators and members of the community at a symposium dealing with sport management conducted at the Wayne City Auditorium on April 5.

The sports industry continues to grow at a rapid pace across the country to the tune of about $213 billion annually.

The need for college graduates with a sport management degree has grown as well.

Those with degrees in the sport management — similar to the program offered at Wayne State College — can pursue careers in college sports, sports media, professional sport franchise operations, ski resorts, private and corporate fitness center management, sports information, sporting goods merchandising and non-profit sporting activities, just to name a few opportunities.

Degrees combine sport with business in ways that have increased dramatically since the program was founded at WSC almost 15 years ago.

Last Thursday's symposium featured the return of the man credited with helping get Wayne State's program off and running as former WSC baseball coach and instructor Dr. Lenny Klaver presented the keynote address to open the afternoon lineup of speakers.

Klaver currently serves as Vice Chancellor for University Relations at Advancement at the University of Wisconsin-Parkside in Kenosha, Wis.

At the university, he serves as the chief development officer, legislative liaison, and oversees other areas such as alumni relations, the annual fund, special gifts and corporate giving, marketing, publications, public relations, and he runs the university's website.

Even though he's been away from Wayne State College for a number of years, current WSC instructor and longtime friend, Jeff Meyer, said his impact is still felt on the WSC sport management program.

"When he was here, he had to be one of the top five professionals in sport management from around the country," Meyer said. "He made it fun and his classes were ones you never wanted to miss."

Dr. Klaver told the group that it was important to always look at the big picture and take advantage of any and all leadership opportunities.

"Sports are a reflection of everything else that goes on elsewhere in the world today," he said. "It's all about experience and networking."

He also added that application of life experience is important in determining an upward career path.

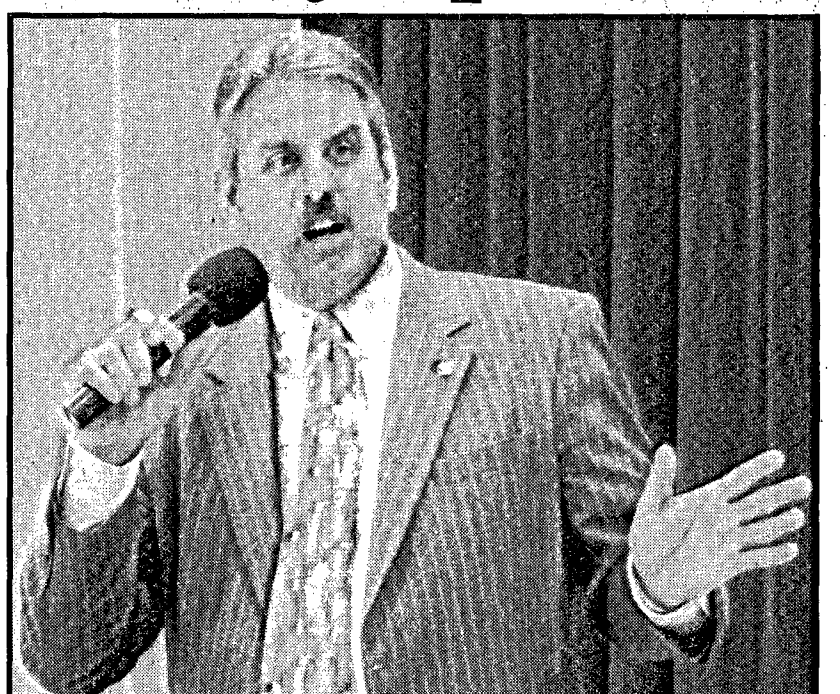

"What you learn in the classroom is important, but it's more about what you do with life experiences once you get out on the job," Dr. Klaver said.

Sport management is about selling the experience of the game, not so much the ticket, he added.

Prior to Klaver's presentation, three of his former students at WSC told about their experiences in the world of sport management.

The day opened with Jamie Alt, who holds a WSC degree and is the current tournament director of the Cox Classic golf tournament in Omaha.

WSC grad Mike West also addressed the group about his background as director of marketing, sales and promotion at Creighton

Former Wayne State instructor/coach Dr. Lenny Klaver presented the keynote address at last Thursday's sport management symposium at the Wayne City Auditorium.

Wildcats open conference play

League play is now under way, even if Mother Nature has her own ideas.

The Wayne State softball team is now 21-8 overall and 5-2 in the Northern Sun Conference play following a home league opener last Friday and play at the NSIC Crossover in Minnesota earlier this week.

The Wildcats' scheduled double-header at Concordia-St. Paul for yesterday (Wednesday) was postponed and the next scheduled action will be Friday, April 13 when the Wildcats visit Dana College in Blair.

Recaps from recent WSC games include:

WSC vs. Upper Iowa

The team opened Northern Sun conference play on April 6 with a sweep over Upper Iowa University, winning 4-3 and 6-0 in bitter cold conditions (mid-teen wind chills) at the Pete Chapman Softball Complex in Wayne.

The first game saw WSC rally from an early 3-0 deficit to record a 4-3 win.

After the Peacocks scored three runs in the first inning, WSC scored one in the bottom of the inning when Bre Parks' RBI fielders' choice scored Caitlin Rowland to make the score 3-1.

The score stayed that way until the bottom of the fifth inning when WSC plated three runs to grab a 4-3 lead.

Kristen Humphries blooped a single down the right field line to score Val Robinson and Amy Sandstrom to knot the score at 3-3, then Cassandra Ward doubled to center field, scoring Humphries with the go-ahead run, to give WSC a 4-3 lead that the Wildcats never relinquished.

Karen Hain worked 5 1/3 innings of scoreless relief in place of starter Kiley Peterson to pick up the win. WSC had seven hits in the game by seven different players.

The second game saw Hain strike out nine batters over six innings as the Wildcats completed the sweep with a 6-0 win.

Offensively, WSC got off to a quick start scoring four runs in the first inning to set the tone early.

Robinson started the scoring with a run-scoring double to bring in Sandstrom. Ward's two-run double scored Robinson and Humphries, while Sara Salmen's RBI single brought in Ward to account for the four-run inning. WSC added solo runs in the second and fourth innings to pick up the 6-0 win.

Sandstrom and Sara Salmen each finished with two hits to lead WSC. Robinson and Ward also doubled for the Wildcats.

NSIC Crossover Tournament

The team lost two of three games played in the opening day of the Northern Sun Conference Crossover Tournament played in St. Paul, Minn. on April 9.

WSC opened with a 8-0 win over Minnesota, Crookston, lost to the University of Mary 2-1 and closed the day with a 3-1 loss to Bemidji State.

In the 8-0 win over Minnesota, Crookston, Peterson tossed a no-hitter to lead the Wildcats in the win. She struck out four and walked just one batter in throwing the no-hitter.

Offensively, Humphries home-red twice while going 3-for-3 with four RBI and three runs scored at the plate.

Robinson was 2-for-3 with two runs scored, while Sandstrom also homered for the Wildcats in the win.

The second game saw the Wildcats leave 12 runners on base in a 2-1 loss to the University of Mary.

WSC outthit the Marauders 8-5, but Mary used a two-run first inning and then held off numerous Wildcat threats to preserve the 2-1 win.

Stacy Shonka went 3 for 3 with an RBI single in the fourth inning to score a Ward with the only run of the game for the Wildcats.

Wayne State was held to just three hits in the 3-1 loss to Bemidji State.

The Wildcats scored their lone run in the fourth inning on a solo home run by Robinson, her third of the season.

The only other hits for WSC were singles by Rowland and Parks.

Peterson suffered the pitching loss, allowing two runs in the first two innings.

The team won two games on April 10 to close out play at the tournament.

The Wildcats rallied for a 7-6 win over MSU Moorhead and took care of Northern State 10-1 to finish the two-day tournament with a 3-2 mark.

In the MSU Moorhead win, Wayne State rallied from a 5-0 first inning deficit to pick up an exciting 7-6 win over the Dragons.

Humphries produced a game-winning two out, run scoring single in the bottom of the seventh inning that scored Rowland with the winning run as the Wildcats rallied for the thrilling win.

Ward started the rally for the Wildcats with a three-run homer in the second inning to reduce the Dragon lead to 5-3.

After MSUM scored a run in the top of the fourth, WSC pinch hitter Dawn Spale laced a two-run double to left centerfield, scoring Robinson and Humphries, to make the score 6-5.

Robinson led off the sixth inning with a solo home run to knot the score at 6-6.

In the seventh, Rowland singled to right field to bring in Rowland with the game-winner for the Wildcats.

Humphries then belted a single to right field to bring in Rowland with the game-winner for the Wildcats.

WSC had eight hits in the game, led by Humphries going 2 for 3 with two runs scored.

Ward and Robinson homered for the Wildcats in the win.

Kiley Peterson (11-3) pitched six strong innings of relief to earn the pitching win, allowing just one run on six hits with four strikeouts.

The second game saw Wayne State produce 12 hits in a 10-1 victory over Northern State.

Parks was 3 for 3 with five RBI and two runs scored to lead the Wildcats at the plate. She had a three run homer in the second inning and a two-run double in the 'Cats four-run third inning.

Humphries, Peterson and Rowland each added two hits in the win for WSC.

Hain (10-5) was the winning pitcher, allowing just one run on three hits with three strikeouts in the game.

Streak

Bidroski and Adam Hoffman added run-scoring singles for the Wildcats. WSC had just nine hits in the win, but used seven hit batters and five walks to help score 13 runs.

Webb finished 2 for 3 with three RBI and two runs scored for WSC, while Hoffman was 2 for 4 with three RBI.

John Snyder (4-0) stayed unbeaten on the season for WSC with four solid innings, allowing one run on four hits with three strikeouts.

Mortimore picks up award

Travis Mortimore of Wayne State College was named the Northern Sun Conference Baseball Pitcher of the Week earlier this week.

Mortimore is 1-4 on the season with a 5.46 ERA, notching 41 strikeouts in just 28 innings on the mound this season.

keting, sales and promotion at Creighton University.

In his presentation called "Selling Sport Like Pizzas at Creighton University," West said concentration on particular career path is beneficial to landing a job in sport management.

"You will succeed in what you emphasize," West told the group.

Rounding out the morning lineup was WSC graduate Troy

Jepsen, who currently serves as director of equipment operations at Iowa State University.

"I got my hands on a lot of different things while I was here," Jepsen said. "I didn't decide that I wanted to go into equipment management as a profession until the fall of my senior year."

He also said the just because students come from a small community or attend a smaller college, big things are very possible for those who wish to succeed.

"I tried to tell the students that just because you come from a small school or a small town that shouldn't limit you in any way," he added. "The biggest thing they can do is be flexible and be locked into one mindset."

Other speakers on the daylong program included Brett Hansen, media/public relations director for the Sioux Falls Skyforce and Cassie Wieberdink, group sales development representative for the Minnesota Twins.

Rugby teams end seasons

The Wayne State women and men rugby squads traveled outside of Denver for the 2007 National Rugby Playoffs last weekend with high hopes of going to the "Sweet 16" in May.

Both teams, however, came up short of their goal with losses at the tournament.

The men posted a 22-7 victory over New Mexico Tech, with scores by Pat Pierce, Beau Boryca, Kellen Wells, and a 90-yard run by Andrew Hurtig.

Needing two victories to crack the top 16 in the USA, WSC men fell to SW Texas St. 32-30. With a game time wind chill of 6 degrees, the lights were turned on to light up the artificial turf with heavy snowfall coming down at kickoff.

Scores by Beau Boryca, Brent Newland, Adam Paitz and two runs of over 60 yards by standout freshman Kellen Wells were posted during the game. WSC had a 10-point lead with only 12 minutes to go in the game, when SW Texas State scored two late touchdowns to come away with the victory.

The WSC women had a big challenge playing No. 8 Colorado.

WSC women did cross the goal line with a score by flanker Dani Raymond, however fell to the Buffalos 35-7. Coach Darren Barner was very proud of his team's performance last week.

"We are a very tight family, and the size of hearts they have for the competition they face, simply can not be measured, it makes the movie "Hoosier's" look silly. If we played schools our size all the time, winning I guess would become boring."

Library offers home delivery

Wayne Public Library has joined with the Friends of the Library to provide a new home delivery service. Beginning this spring, patrons can submit a request for delivery of library materials due to reasons of health or transportation problems. The new home delivery program joins existing outreach to the Oaks Retirement Community, Providence Medical Center, and Premier Estates.

"While this new program is available to all our patrons," said Lauran Lofgren, Library Director, "it is no surprise that our first participants are seniors - both as user and as provider. In fact, virtually all of our outreach happens due to people who are officially 'senior citizens.'"

To be eligible for home delivery of library materials, a patron must complete an Application for Outreach Services that will confirm the applicant resides inside the Wayne city limits, and is unable to get to a fixed library facility due to health or lack of transportation, or is a caregiver to a person requiring continuous care. Service can be either temporary or permanent.

Patrons who receive materials through the Outreach Home Delivery Services must have a WPL user card. They may borrow any circulating items. All items, including audio and videotapes, are charged out for 1 month.

Individuals residing in nursing homes, retirement communities, and assisted living centers qualify for individual home delivery service in addition to deposit collections left at the facility.

There are no fines on home delivered items that are picked up on the monthly rotation. Fines will apply for materials not available for return as scheduled. Library staff will set up routes for delivery. Patrons may call to place holds for specific items to be delivered on their next route date. Popular items may not be available immediately, but the patron's request will be placed in the system holds list. No more than 20 items will be sent to a homebound patron per delivery.

Patrons receiving homebound delivery are responsible for damage to or the loss of materials in their possession. A Reader's Advisory Form should be completed by the patron and will be kept by Library staff for selection purposes.

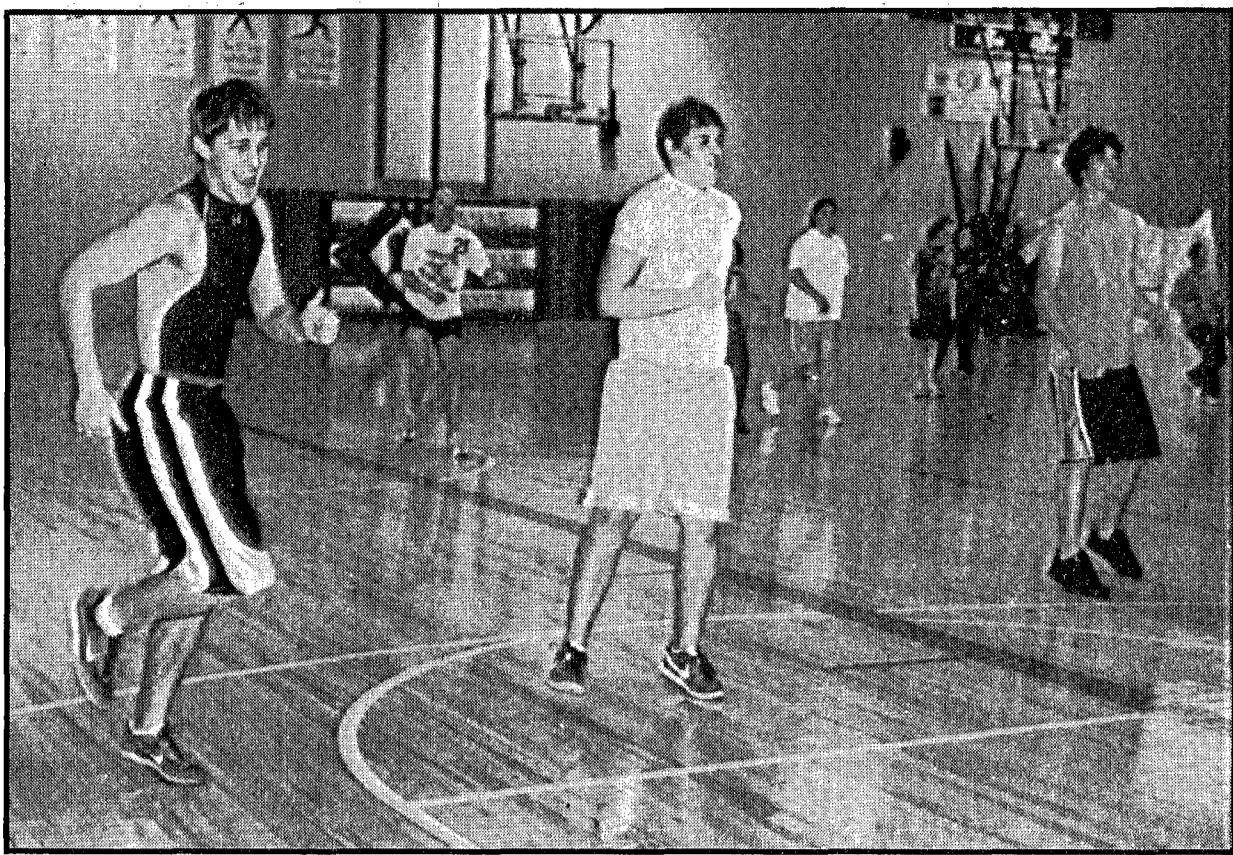

A record of all materials checked out by a homebound delivery patron will be maintained on a database for selection purposes.

"We are very thankful to the Friends for assisting in this outreach program," said Lofgren.

"Without the commitment shown by our volunteers, we would not be able to provide nearly as many services as we do now."

Verna Mae Baier, left, Friends of the Library member is a volunteer for the new home delivery service through the Wayne Public Library. Rita McLean, assistant librarian, is holding one of the many books available for delivery. Other library materials can also be delivered.

Wayne High students in the Sports and Nutrition Class conduct a Jazzercise workout.

High school students learn value of Jazzercise

Famous last words: "Jazzercise is for old ladies." This statement was made by a member of the Wayne High School Sports and Nutrition class during their unit study of fitness.

In this unit, various sports and fitness activities are analyzed for the four components of fitness: muscle endurance, muscle strength, flexibility and heart and lung endurance.

"During this unit we analyze the fitness value of various sports and fitness programs," said Karen Schardt, instructor. "We were discussing various ways to stay fit that are not competitive sports. Since we have a certified Jazzercise instructor, Deb Schaefer, working at our high school, I asked Deb to lead the students in a workout."

After sweating through the Jazzercise workout, Dan Nielsen said, "I have more respect for older women who Jazzercise." Nate Finkey added, "It was a better workout than I gave it credit for. It was also fun."

During their study of fitness, the students wore pedometers for three days. The fitness guideline for the number of steps a person should take per day is 10,000. Taylor Martin kept track of his steps during nine holes of golf; the number averaged 6,000.

"It was harder to get to 10,000 steps than I thought it would be," said Maddy Moser. "If I wasn't out for track, I don't know if I would have reached 10,000."

The one problem students

encountered with the pedometers was their inaccuracy if a person was running.

"I checked the pedometer reading for the distance of a mile,"

Michelle Jarvi said, "the reading was perfect."

The pedometers were purchased with Carl Perkins federal grant funds.

New NECC business division program will train rural agribankers

A new program option in the business division at Northeast Community College in Norfolk is designed to train students for employment in rural banks.

The course of study will lead to an associate of applied science degree in business with a rural agribanking option. The two-year, 68-credit-hour program is designed for those students interested in seeking employment immediately after graduating from Northeast rather than transferring to another four-year institution.

This program of study will introduce students to basic business and banking concepts, as well as the agricultural aspects of working in a rural bank. Freshman courses include microcomputer applications, introduction to farm management, agricultural marketing, agribusiness management, principles of insurance, principles of banking, and more. A three-to-eight-credit-hour coop internship working in a small rural bank setting is also required before students advance to sophomore-level courses.

During the second year of the program, students will take courses like animal science, principles and practices of real estate, business communications, introduction to the economics of agriculture, crop production, advanced agricultural marketing and more.

According to John Blaylock, dean of business, math and technology at Northeast Community College, this agribanking option was added to Northeast's curriculum to meet a need now being faced in small, rural banks. "Many of the experienced loan officers are at or nearing retirement age," Blaylock said, "and there is a great need for well-trained individuals to replace those employees."

Blaylock said that about 50 percent of the classes in the agribanking option program can be taken online.

"We have specially designed this program so that individuals currently working full-time, perhaps at a bank, can continue to work their jobs and take Northeast college classes at the same time. The convenience of online instruction should be very attractive to very busy individuals."

He said this program option is an ideal way for current bank workers to advance to a loan officer position in the bank. It is also an ideal way for the adult learner to learn skills that will lead to a different career.

Blaylock said students who finish the program will find beginning salaries of $25,000-$30,000 in the state of Nebraska. The program has been endorsed by the Nebraska Independent Bankers Association and John Nunn, the Commissioner of Banking for the State of Nebraska.

"We have developed this program at the request of the banking industry in rural Nebraska as they face high attrition rates," Blaylock said. "This is a great opportunity for prospective employees in the rural banking industry and Northeast Community College. We look forward to enrolling our first students to begin the new program in the Fall 2007 semester."

For more information about the program, contact Blaylock at (402)844-7292.

April is volunteer month

April is Volunteer Month, which reminds all of us about the importance of fitting consistent volunteer blood donations into our busy schedules. Even if someone is unable to donate, there are many other ways to save lives with the Siouxland Community Blood Bank. Whether it is making phone calls or coordinating blood drives, so many are involved in the gift of life.

Wayne will be holding their next community blood drive on Thursday, April 26 from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Wayne Fire Department.

"Without the continual support of volunteer blood donors, callers, and blood drive coordinators, the Siouxland Community Blood Bank would not have enough blood available to service the patients in area hospitals," said Janette Twait, CEO of the Siouxland Community Blood Bank. "Everyday volunteers ensure patients' needs are being met, by encouraging people to donate blood. We are very appreciative of their efforts, and because without them, countless patients have been given a second chance at tomorrow."

The Siouxland Community Blood Bank needs the help of over 1,500 donors on a weekly basis or 6,000 donors on a monthly basis to meet the needs of the 36 area hospitals they service in Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota. These volunteer blood donors are needed each and every day to help to maintain their community blood supply.

To be eligible to donate individuals must be at least 17 years of age; however there is no upper age limit as long as the donor is in good health. In addition donors need to weigh over 110 pounds and have not donated whole blood in the past 56 days. A photo I.D. is required at the time of registration.

Bruning speaks to students about Internet Safety

As part of Internet Safety Month in April, Attorney General Jon Bruning recently gave an Internet safety presentation to Dawes Middle School students in Lincoln.

"The number of predators lurking on the Internet is chilling," Bruning said. "Talking to your children is the best way to arm them against online dangers. Our goal is to encourage that communication - both at school and at home."

In addition to the Internet safety contests, Bruning is making a series of presentations this week at middle schools in Scottsbluff, North Platte, Lincoln and Gretna. Bruning outlines ways that predators track young victims on the Internet and gives students tips on how to protect themselves.

According to the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children, one in seven children who use the Internet are sexually solicited. Of those solicited, 31 percent receive an aggressive sexual solicitation or are asked to meet in person.

To learn more about Internet safety, visit the Attorney General's Web site at www.safekids.ne.gov.

Farmers Mutual of Nebraska makes donation to Winside fire department

Farmers Mutual of Nebraska recently helped the Winside Volunteer Fire Department with truck purchase and related fire fighting equipment. In 1945 there were only 45 fire trucks in Nebraska that were available to respond to a rural fire. By 1952 the number of trucks available for rural fires went up to 170. Much of the credit for this expansion belongs to Farmers Mutual and its president at the time, Harold Requarte. Mr. Requarte wrote a bill for the 1945 legislature that allowed farm mutual insurance companies to lend money at very low interest rates to volunteer fire districts for the purchase of fire trucks. Not only did this allow for the purchase of fire equipment, but also reduced the fire insurance rates by some 30 percent. Although the company no longer is in the loan business, Farmers Mutual does make contributions for the purchase of fire trucks and related equipment. They appreciate the efforts of the volunteers who dedicate their time and effort, and risk their lives to protect lives and property. Farmers Mutual is the largest farm insurance writer in Nebraska. With nearly 30 local agencies across the state, they are also one of the largest writers of homeowners and automobile policies. The Winside Volunteer Fire Department consists of 25 fire fighters and 18 EMTs who are dedicated to serving Winside and the surrounding area, along with providing Mutual Aid to other areas of northeast Nebraska. Their current fund raising efforts are to raise money to enable the Fire Hall to be run off of a generator in the event of a power outage, so that the building could be used as a shelter for people in the event of an emergency. This was never so evident as this past winter in central Nebraska and Iowa when terrible ice storms caused power outages for days and even weeks for the people and towns caught in its path. While the initial fund raising efforts will be used for the wiring at the Fire Hall, it is also the long term goal to possibly raise enough money for the purchase of a larger portable generator that could be used at the Fire Hall or in emergencies out in the country as well. Don Skokan, Winside Fire Chief said, "On behalf of the Village Board, the Winside Rural Fire Board and the Winside Fire Department, we are certainly appreciative of the donation that Farmers Mutual has given to this worthy cause."

Blood Bank implements new testing for blood

On Feb. 26, the Siouxland Community Blood Bank implemented a new test for Chagas Disease which has placed them on the cutting edge in the implementation of this test amongst blood centers across the country. The new voluntary test for every blood product collected is among the extensive testing already utilized. "In testing for Chagas disease, we are taking a preventative step to protect the community blood supply," said Janette Twait, CEO of the Siouxland Community Blood Bank. "Keeping up to date on technology and testing allows us to sustain a safe and dependable blood supply, which is the Siouxland Community Blood Bank's highest priority." Chagas disease originated with a parasite in rural Latin America and the disease can be spread from current carriers through blood, including through blood transfusions. Chagas disease can go unrecognized; however, it is a life long disease that affects the heart and intestinal tract. Although Chagas disease is not a major threat currently, with only 12 confirmed cases in the United States and Canada, the Siouxland Community Blood Bank takes precedence in maintaining a safe blood supply for the patients in 36 area hospitals that is services blood products. "The introduction of testing for Chagas disease adds one more measure to those already taken by the Siouxland Community Blood Bank and other members of the blood bank industry to provide the safest blood possible to hospitals and patients," stated Dr. Michael Kafka, Medical Director at the Siouxland Community Blood Bank. "Even though testing for Chagas disease is not currently mandated by the Food and Drug Administration, Siouxland Blood Bank is voluntarily undertaking the testing to improve patient safety." For more information about Chagas testing, contact the Siouxland Community Blood Bank or blood drives in your area, call 712-252-4208, 1-800-798-4208 or visit their website at www.siouxlandbloodbank.org

Encourage kids to volunteer during National Volunteer Week

Each year, thousands of volunteers in Nebraska donate their time and energy to make their communities a better place to live. These volunteers will be among the millions across the country who will be spotlighted during National Volunteer Week, April 15 - 21st. Volunteers are appreciated for the variety of work they do, but they tribute to others. Where can a young person volunteer? Senior centers and care centers are a great place to start. Youth can share their baked goods, their poems, stories, music or dance recital abilities. During the spring, community and highway clean-up projects are another option. Or perhaps youth could help an elderly or disabled neighbor or relative with their spring planting or yard work.

Some of the 4-H members in our area have also volunteered by hosting parties at care centers, making lap quilts for the elderly or disabled, making baked goods to take to shut-ins. They have also used skills from their 4-H projects to share with others, either the elderly or younger children. For either group, helping with a craft, reading a story or teaching new computer skills are always welcomed.

Whatever the skill is shared and whoever the audience might be, the important thing is that each youth experiences the satisfaction of giving their self aid time for others.

So please encourage your children, grandchildren, nieces or nephews to take a bit of time to share. They may find they enjoy the experience so much that it leads to new hobbies or even to an eventual career! Help them be a part of one of our country's most important resources: caring volunteers.

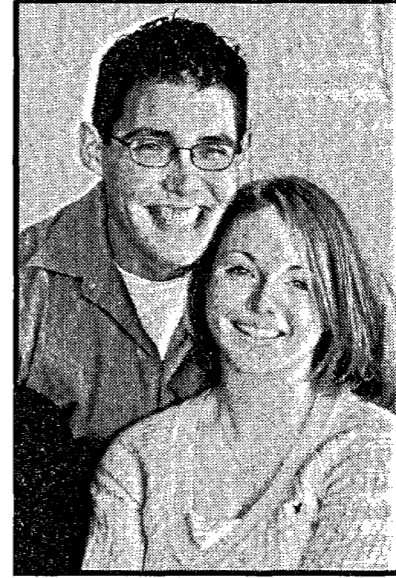

Jane Armstrong Cedar County

typically say they gain more than they give. This year families are encouraged to help their children and youth volunteer.

Dr. Kathy Bosch, UNL Family Life Specialist, says a variety of opportunities exist for youth to volunteer through school, church, 4-H and other youth programs. By involving youth early, they are more likely to continue to volunteer as they grow up. They also learn from their volunteer experiences and gain confidence and the important feeling of being able to con-

Remembering Good Friday

Despite weather conditions which did not allow walking, the annual Good Friday service, sponsored by the Wayne Association of Congregations and Ministers, was held indoors at Journey Christian Church. Representatives from various churches took part in the service, which included readings, prayer and special music.

Tanzanian guest to speak at services

Aiew Mmari will be preaching at the worship services at Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne on April 14 and 15. Aiew is the wife of Pastor David Lyamuya and on the faculty of Mwika Lutheran Bible College in Tanzania. Pastor David is the pastor at Kotela Parish in Tanzania.

Worship services are held at 6 p.m. on Saturday and at 8:45 and 11 a.m. on Sunday.

Our Savior Lutheran Church shares a strong relationship with the Kotela congregation in Tanzania. This was begun in early 1999 when Pastor Samwel KIWELU spent time in Wayne with the congregation and members of Our Savior. Several Our Savior members have traveled to Tanzania since 1999 and have been guests of the Kotela congregation. Pastor Bill and Valerie recently returned from their trip to Tanzania and were guests of Pastor David and Mmari.

Aiew often introduces herself as "Aiew from Iowa" because she studied at the University of Northern Iowa. She is spending three weeks in Nebraska during April as part of the partnership between Mwika Bible College and Midland Lutheran College in Fremont. While in Nebraska she is also visiting a few congregations and Nebraska ministry sites. Because of the relationship between Kotela and Our Savior, the Our Savior congregation will be privileged to host her during the April 14 - 15 weekend.

"We invite the community of Wayne and the surrounding communities to join us in welcoming Aiew to the Wayne area," said Pastor Kim Stover. "You are welcome to join us at any of the worship services this weekend."

Our Savior Lutheran Church is located at Fifth and Main Streets in Wayne. For more information concerning this special weekend or any other ministry of Our Savior, contact the church office at (402) 375-2899.

U.S. Surgeon General issues first-ever call to action against underage drinking

The U.S. Surgeon General, Kenneth Moritsugu, M.D., M.P.H. provided recommendations in a report that he said was designed to get all sectors of society involved in solving a major health problem, underage drinking.

"Too many Americans consider underage drinking a rite of passage to adulthood," said Dr. Moritsugu. "Research shows that young people who start drinking before the age of 15 are five times more likely to have alcohol-related problems later in life. New research also indicates that alcohol may harm the developing adolescent brain. The availability of this research provides more reasons than ever before for parents and other adults to protect the health and safety of our nation's children."

Project Extra Mile, a network of coalitions throughout Nebraska working to prevent underage drinking, has implemented a number of strategies designed to engage community members and leaders that include areas recommended by the Surgeon General. Some of those initiatives have included policy changes such as current proposals within the legislature to establish Dram Shop and Social Host liability for adults who provide alcohol to minors or intoxicated persons.

Additionally, Project Extra Mile has worked with law enforcement to increase underage drinking patrols, coordinate compliance checks of retail liquor outlets and conduct training for law enforcement officers across Nebraska.

The Call to Action identifies six goals including policy initiatives to encourage the prevention of underage drinking, urges for societal changes on attitudes toward alcohol consumption, promotes for further research on the affects of alcohol on adolescent development and supports improving public health surveillance on underage drinking and its societal risk factors.

"This report echoes our continued concern of the devastating societal, economical and health implications underage drinking has on our communities and young people," said Diane Riba, executive director for Project Extra Mile. "We've long been aware of the need for all community members to engage in the process and have worked for years to change societal norms and further policy issues to provide for long-sustainable change that will better the environment for our children. It's up to us as adults to create this change and reduce the availability of alcohol to protect their future and prove once and for all that we value their lives. We urge adults across the nation to take notice to this landmark Call to Action and help join the fight to prevent underage drinking."

The Nebraska Medical Association Foundation has announced the receipt of a $100,000 donation to its scholarship program from the Roger H. and Patricia J. Meyer Family Foundation. The donation creates a $5,000 scholarship to be awarded annually to a University of Nebraska Medical Center family practice student who intends to practice in a rural Nebraska town with a population of less than 10,000.

Roger H. Meyer, M.D., is a past president of the Nebraska Medical Association and graduated from the University of Nebraska College of Medicine in 1963. He has practiced family medicine in Utica from 1964 to the present. Dr. Meyer is presently employed by Memorial Health Care Systems of Seward and CIMRO, the Medicare Quality Improvement Organization for the state of Nebraska.

Medical Association Foundation is to raise and manage funds to support scholarships to deserving medical students, promote the health and wellness of the citizens of Nebraska, and fund research and other projects as identified by the Board of Directors.

Speaker Mike Flood announces water legislative package

Speaker Mike Flood recently announced that, in cooperation with Senators Heideman, Louden, Carlson, Christensen and Langemeier, the Nebraska Legislature will take up a comprehensive water plan.

Speaker Flood said "I want to thank the Senators for their hard work in putting together a legislative package that addresses our serious water issues. I also want to thank Governor Heineman for his leadership by proposing the State's part of the package."

The legislative package includes immediate state funding, long term statewide funding, extensions on existing tools for local funding, new local funding tools and additional authority for the Nebraska Department of Natural Resources and the Natural Resources Districts.

Speaker Flood said "The key to this package is the assistance of the Republican, River, Natural Resources Districts, along with their State representatives Senators Christensen and Carlson, in bringing the local contribution to the table. Their participation in this process is what makes this package work."

The legislative package includes: $8 million in state funding - $3 million for a possible water lease with the Bostwick Irrigation District, $3 million for the Water Cash Fund and $2 million for the removal of invasive vegetation.

Long term funding for the Water Cash Fund by using General Funds through 2012 and starting in 2013 using the corn check-off proposed by Governor Heineman.

Authority for qualified Natural Resources Districts (currently the Republican River) to raise funds through the issuance of bonds to acquire water rights, remove vegetation and augment stream flows. Funding will come from tax levy authority and an occupation tax on irrigation of agricultural lands.

Additional reporting requirements by the Nebraska Department of Natural Resources and the affected Natural Resources Districts.

This compromise plan is the result of the cooperation between the Governor, members of the Legislature, the Natural Resources Districts and the Department of Natural Resources. The components of this package will be put together by the Natural Resources Committee in a committee amendment to LB 701, Senator Christensen's priority bill. The committee amendment will have a public hearing before the Natural Resources Committee on April 4, 2007, beginning at noon in Room 1525 of the State Capitol.

"The best way to address our water issues is to work together. That is what we did and that is why this package is going to come before the Legislature," Speaker Flood said.

Nebraska LEAD Fellowship applications available

Fellowship applications for Nebraska LEAD (Leadership Education/Action Development) Group XXVII are now available for men and women involved in production agriculture or agribusiness.

Up to 30 individuals will be selected from production agriculture and agribusiness with preference given to individuals ages 25-50 who have "demonstrated leadership potential," said Allen G. Blezek, Nebraska LEAD Program Director.

In addition to monthly three-day seminars throughout Nebraska (September through April) each year, Nebraska LEAD "Fellows" also participate in a 10-day National Study/Travel Seminar and a two-to three-week International Study/Travel Seminar.

"Seminar themes include economics, foreign cultures, government, communications, international trade, politics, business, labor, environment, finance and industry, as well as agriculture," Blezek said.

The program is designed to prepare the spokespersons, problem-solvers and decision makers for Nebraska and its agricultural industry, Blezek said. Now in its 26th year of operations, the program is operated by the Nebraska

Agricultural Leadership Council Inc., a nonprofit organization, in cooperation with Nebraska colleges and universities, business and industry, and individuals throughout the state.

Applications are due no later than June 15 and are available from the Nebraska LEAD Program, Room 318 Biochemistry Hall, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, Lincoln, Neb. 68583-0763 or by calling (402) 472-6810.

Nebraska LEAD Program offices are in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Plant Fair offers opportunities

The annual Plant Fair will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, April 28 at the Cox Activities Center on the Northeast Community College campus, 801 E. Benjamin Ave, Norfolk. Admission is free with demonstrations and speakers covering topics of "Attracting Birds to Your Yard," "Pond Designs" and "All-America Selections."

There will be door prizes, vendors, children's activities and a lunch stand provided by Master Gardeners. Look for flyers and coupons for the event at your gardening centers.

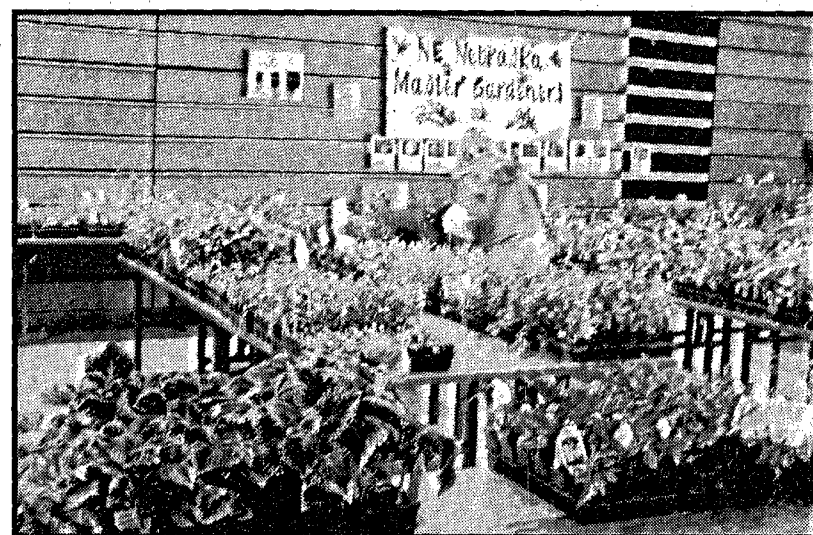

Those attending can get plants in time for outdoor planting. Early plant sales will be held on Friday, April 27 from 6:30 to 8 p.m.

The event is sponsored by the Northeast Nebraska Master Gardeners and proceeds go toward horticulture scholarships for students in NECC. It is co-sponsored by the University of Nebraska Lincoln Extension-Madison County and Northeast Community College.

Speakers include Sandy Siebert, president, Bluebirds Across Nebraska; Shirley Hamernik, co-owner of Bluebird Nursery and All-America Judge, Dale and Laurie Indra, co-owners of Indra's Ponds.

Sandy Siebert - In 1992, Siebert and her husband, Bill, opened Backyard Birds, Inc., a nature store located in Omaha. The store features everything needed to attract and enjoy watching birds, squirrels and other critters in the backyard. She writes a monthly newsletter, Backyard Chatter, which is distributed at Backyard Birds and e-mailed to around 200 subscribers. She also puts on several workshops and seminars throughout the year for Backyard Birds' customers.

Siebert does presentations on attracting birds and on bluebirds to a variety of clubs, schools, churches and civic groups. She is a frequent guest on John Feh's Plant Talk Northeast Nebraska Master Gardeners sponsor the event and proceeds from the Plant Fair go towards horticulture scholarships for NECC students.

Show, a live call-in radio show on KFAB.

Siebert has been awarded the Friends of the Aquarium Award by the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission for her ongoing work at the Ak-Sar-Ben Aquarium Outdoor Education Center. She presents bluebird workshops and maintains a bluebird trail at Schramm State Recreation Area, home to the Ak-Sar-Ben Aquarium.

Siebert is a past board member of the Omaha Raptor Team. She is the current President and the Douglas County Coordinator for Bluebirds Across Nebraska. She has been awarded the Appreciation Award from Bluebirds Across Nebraska for her contributions to bluebird conservation.

Shirley Hamernik - Title: All-American Selections' (AAS) 75th Anniversary; What It Means to the American Gardener.

As AAS celebrates its 75th anniversary, a look will be taken at the exciting plants that have been winners through the years. A long time Bedding Plant and Flower Judge from northeast Nebraska, Hamernik will explain how the program works and why gardeners should plant AAS winners. Attendees can learn how a visit to the AAS Proving Ground test plot in Bluebird's Trial Garden at Clarkson can help you make good choices for your garden. Enjoy a colorful slide show of some of the best flowers and vegetable varieties the world's breeders have to offer.

Dale and Laurie Indra - Indra's Unique Pond Designs in Clarkson. The Indra's pond business has evolved over the last 15-20 years from Laurie's love of ponds. About 10 years ago, she started digging a bigger pond and they now have several ponds and waterfalls. Indras' started answering so many questions and helping others that about four years ago their hobby turned into a business. They now offer service and supplies and are located southwest of Clarkson.

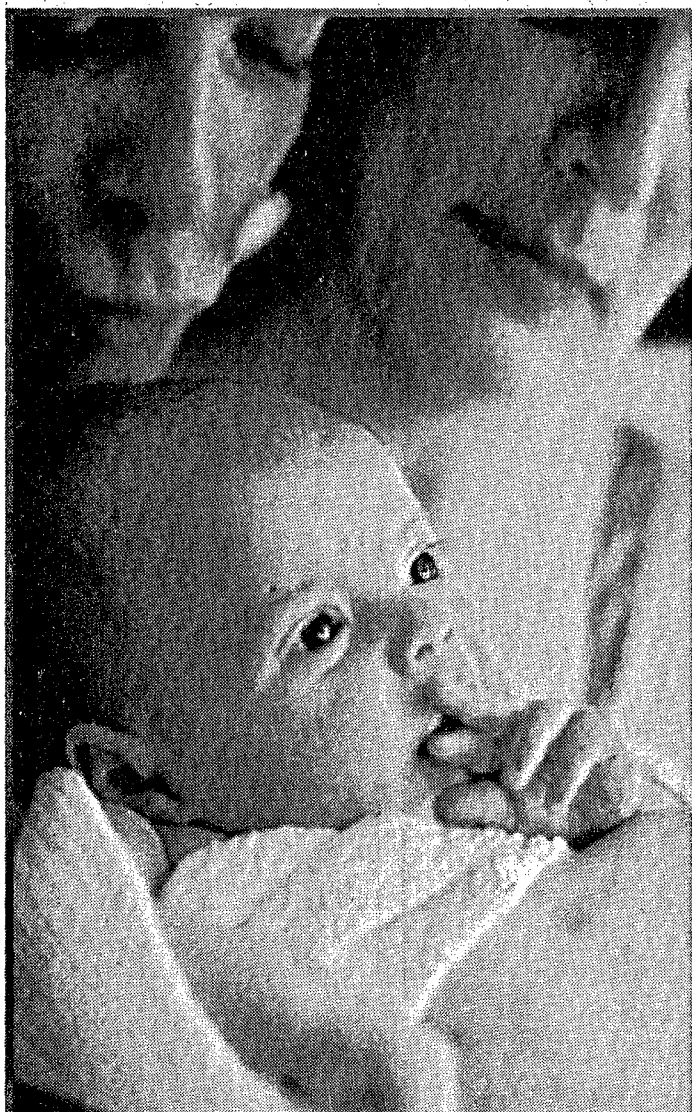

Anyone with questions or would like more information on the Plant Fair can call Deb Daehnke, a member of Master Gardeners. Her telephone number is 402-375-1694, after 5 p.m.

Reminiscing about Easter memories

The Easter ham bone is now part of the split pea soup, and the Easter lily and the gerbera daisy are brightening the window sill. It's much harder to put the tables back together than it was to take them apart, and there was only one young person who wanted to hunt eggs this year. Which is kind of sad, really. However, some of the older ones still wanted to see what the Easter bunny brought.

We got to hear our new minister preach, and you would have thought we were in a Baptist church, with all the Amens! This fellow is from Texas, so I think he brings some southern traditions with him. I remember being at a service at the Nebraska Christian College one evening many years ago when Lowell Burkum said a particularly fine piece of theology from the podium. A friend, from the south, yelled, "amen, brother!" and I thought for a minute that Lowell was going to fall over.

It's the tradition at this church for the choir to sing the Hallelujah Chorus and invite anyone in the congregation who has sung it to join them. Last year, I was too shy (yeah, I know, that's hard to believe) but this year I took my book and took them up on it. Such a thrill to sing that again; I got the goose bumps.

Our Good Friday service was awesome, with a choir cantata and the gradual darkening of the church, and the tolling of the bell. Anyway, it was a wonderful Holy Week, in spite of the weather.

I feel sad for the apple orchards. The trees that had budded around here have all turned brown, and I saw tulips on the ground. I had two plants I've been babying all winter out on the deck and have had to bring them back in the house. It wasn't a very good time to have outdoor sunrise services or Easter egg hunts, either.

Marlyce in Orlando just called, and she has turned into a Gator fan! I can't believe it. But she says this basketball team and its coach are special people, and she's sending some clippings to prove it. So, then, I told her about the Creighton coach and how he was the new coach at Arkansas for about twenty four hours. I still think it was that hog call that did it, but it takes a big person to admit he made a wrong decision.

The Farmer's Wife
By: Pat Meierhenry

The Big Farmer still has not seen Alex Gordon get a hit, and the Royals aren't doing so well. Neither are the Cards, but I guess it's early yet. When we can, we watch Nebraska and they are struggling, also. They are missing Jeff Christy at catch, for one thing.

I finished Roger Welsch's latest book, My Nebraska, last night. Ol' Rog loves small town Nebraska the way I do, only he writes books about it. I learned that there are three Nebraska counties named for animals: Antelope, Buffalo, and... groan! Garfield!

Something you're born to do

Everybody has something that they do best. It's something you're born to do. Farming is like that. It's not easy and it's not for everybody.

Some years right at the very last minute a storm comes through, takes a would be bumper crop and flattens it like a pancake. It takes courage to face those odds every year. You have to believe in agriculture to do that.

We believe in it, too. Ag banking...it's what we do best. If you're in agriculture, we would like to be your bank.

Freezing temps may damage trees

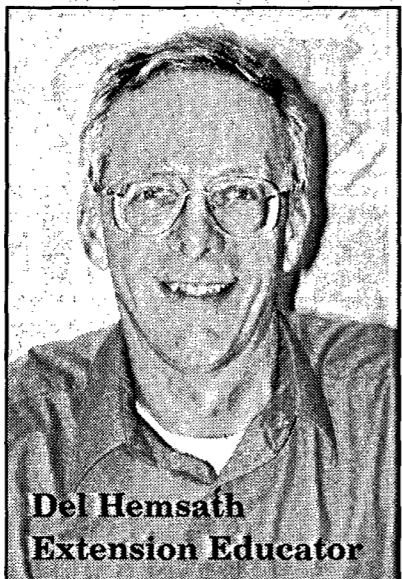

Warm weather in March, caused many trees and shrubs to sense spring in the air and begin to push out leaves and flower buds.

Early flowers are often fooled like the tulips and hyacinths, but they tend to recover very well. Larger plants often do not tolerate the freezing temperatures as well. How cruel of Mother Nature for allowing winter to return during the first week of April with freezing temperatures for four days. Temperatures dropped into the low 20's during several nights and have probably damaged many types of trees and shrubs through killing the emerging leaves and flowers.

Trees most likely affected are Colorado spruce, Green ash, Honeylocust, Red buds and Hackberry. These three trees have leaves just beginning to emerge from the bud, which is the prime stage for freeze damage. Other trees and shrubs that had already sent their leaves out, such as crab apples, lilacs, or silver maple, should not have as much damage as their leaves were "older" and more hardy.

How do you know if your tree was damaged? If the young leaves are blackened, shriveled and dry as a bone, the answer is, yes. The answer also is yes if, during a later hot spell, leaves are dropping prematurely.

What will happen to freeze-

Del Hemsath
Extension Educator

affected trees? The answers vary. Freezing of new leaves will damage the trees slightly. It will set them back and possibly weaken them. Other effects depend on the health of the tree prior to a dramatic temperature change.

Healthy trees are able to store three years worth of energy. If the tree was vigorous and healthy last year, it will put out a new set of leaves from what are called adventitious buds. This "secondary" growth often is weaker than the primary growth put out first, so expect to find small branchlet loss in high wind storms during the summer. The secondary growth also may come out in a bushy or tuft-like pattern called "witches brooming." The shape and form of these trees may look a little different for a couple of years. If the particular tree in question was declining prior to this temperature drop, expect to see further decline. Trees in this situation have less stored energy and may not recuperate as well as their counterparts. If a tree damaged by freeze has not re-leaved by June 1, it probably never will.

Homeowners can't do much to undo Mother Nature's blow. Prune out dead branches during summer and do not "baby" the trees with extra water. Overwatering will lead to oxygen starvation in the root system.

Let nature take its course and work on damaged plants as needed. No fertilization is needed on damaged plants because that can cause extra stress and further damage.

Call your local extension office if you have additional questions.

High-school proms are very expensive affairs. When you add up the prom dresses and tuxedos, prom tickets and pictures, stretch limos, extravagant dining, flowers, and those special hairstyles and French manicures, it's not unusual for the tab to top $1,000. A prom bill, especially for seniors, may also include renting motel or hotel rooms for all-night, post-prom partying. High school goes Hollywood.

For parents, however, the primary prom-related concerns aren't financial. Our biggest prom worries are the risky behaviors associated with proms, most specifically driving under the influence of alcohol and drugs and unsafe sex. It's become the night where teens' poor judgment and dangerous choices have become institutionalized. Think back to your own proms. While much more expensive and self-indulgent than yours were, the hopes, disappointments, joys and dangers associated with proms have remained essentially the same.

The following tips may ease your prom anxieties, while helping to keep your kids as safe as possible:

PROM SAFETY TIPS

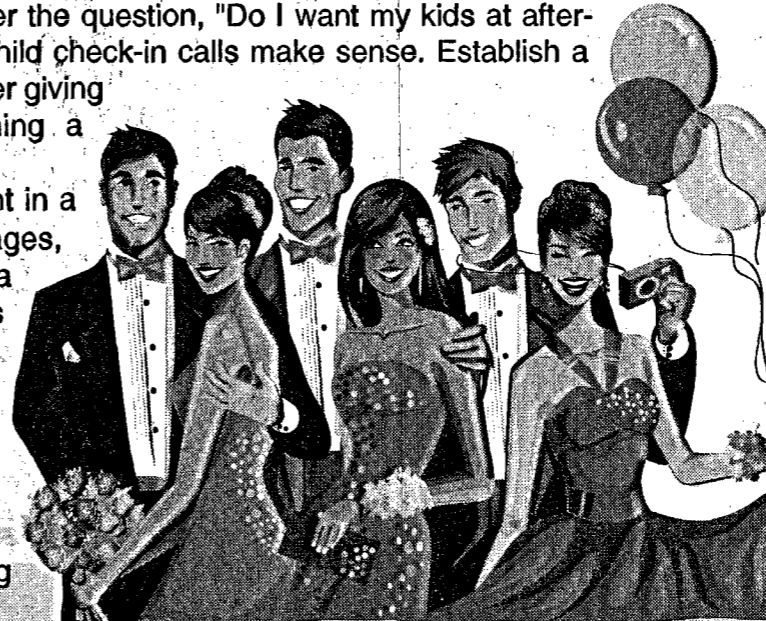

The Talk -- Tell your children that you want them to have a wonderful, memorable prom. Keep that wish as a central focus. They need to give you their complete itinerary for the evening, including whom they will be with, where they'll be going after the prom and the phone numbers where you can contact them. "We'll just be driving around" is not an acceptable response. Come to a fair decision on a curfew, based upon your children's past level of responsibility in this area. Express your concerns about their health and safety and explain to them why prom night makes it more difficult to make safe and smart decisions. Don't be vague -- discuss drinking, drugging, driving under the influence, and sex. Ask them how they plan to keep safe and avoid actions they will regret. Reinforce your belief in their character and in their ability to act responsibly.

The Ride -- If they're not driving themselves, you must know who'll be driving them. Regardless of how many times you have talked about the dangers of driving under the influence of alcohol and drugs, emphasize that these dangers are particularly high on prom night. Your children cannot drink or take drugs and drive. They also must be driven by someone who has not drunk alcohol or taken drugs. You need their promise on these rules. These rules are non-negotiable.

The Connection -- If your children are not returning home right after the prom, you need to be able to contact them at all times until they return home. You also need to be reachable at all times as well. There can be no doubt where your kids will be and with whom throughout the evening and morning. If they're going to other kids' houses after the prom, check ahead of time with these children's parents. You also have a right and a responsibility to ask if these parents are going to allow drinking in their homes. Many parents believe that as long as they "take keys" in a situation like this that underage drinking is permissible in their houses. You must answer the question, "Do I want my kids at after-prom parties where parents aren't present?" Post-prom, parent-child check-in calls make sense. Establish a couple of mandatory call-in times with your kids. You might consider giving cell phones to your kids for the evening, thereby establishing a guaranteed connection.

Post Prom is an event to extend the enjoyment of Prom night in a safe way. Through fundraisers and the help from the villages, community businesses, and community organizations, a memorable Prom night can be enjoyed by students and their dates in a fun yet supervised atmosphere.

The Offer -- Give your children the unconditional option of calling you at any time for help or advice. That includes picking them up at any time of day or night, with a promise not to shame or humiliate them in front of others. Assure them that you always welcome being part of their making smart and safe decisions. This unconditional offer of help and advice should be an outstanding offer throughout their lives.
