Kansas resident's trip to Wayne County brings her closer to fulfilling lifelong ambition

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

Many people set goals for themselves and never carry them out. Not so for Margaret Gates of Manhattan, Kan., her lifelong ambition was to visit each of the 3,073 counties in the United States.

To top it off, Gates was born in 1923 on the 23rd of July so will soon be 84-years-old and started losing her sight in 1999, so is nearly blind. She has only nine of the Nebraska counties and nine in South Dakota left to visit. Wayne County is on her list and she plans to stop in Wayne on May 15. She will stop first in Norfolk to pick up her brother from Michigan who will see her off as she completes her endeavor.

On her trip to this area, she plans to go to Merrick, Nance, Boone, Antelope and Pierce counties before coming to Wayne. She will stop in Dixon, Cedar and Knox counties afterwards. In South Dakota, she will visit Turner, McCook, Miner, Sanborn and Beadle counties. Several of her friends will accompany her.

Gates desire to go to each county in the U.S. stems from her father, Frank C. Gates. Her father was a professor of Botany and Plant Ecology at Kansas State University during the fall and spring semesters and a professor of Ecology at the University of Michigan Biological Station for the summer session (June, July, August).

Her father used the three weeks on the way from Manhattan to Douglas Lake, Mich. (located between Pellston and

University of Nebraska Medical Center leaders visit Wayne on May 1

University of Nebraska Medical Center Chancellor Harold M. Maurer M.D., accompanied by eight senior leaders from UNMC, visited six Nebraska communities April 30 and May 1.

This was the fourth annual UNMC leadership visit.

From West Point and Norfolk on April 30, to Wayne, South Sioux City, Macy and Winnebago, on May 1, the group met with members of the community at community receptions and service club meetings, during tours of health facilities, and visits with health facility administrators, health professionals and staff.

The purpose of the trip was to thank communities for their support, listen to the health care needs of the community, introduce members of the UNMC leadership team, and let people know UNMC leaders are accessible. Host communities provided overviews about their communities and UNMC leaders provided brief updates about UNMC's progress toward its goal of becoming a world-class academic health sciences center.

UNMC's research funding from external sources now is nearly $80 million annually, and has resulted in the creation of more than 2,400 highly skilled jobs in the state.

While visiting Norfolk, UNMC leaders spoke to a combined meeting of Kiwanis and Rotary clubs and participated in a letter of intent signing ceremony with its partners, Northeast Community College and Faith Regional Health Services, for the proposed UNMC College of Nursing division in Norfolk.

UNMC leaders discussed the new UNMC College of Public Health, the Center for Health Disparities and academic success of students and programs, including the recent U.S. News & World Report rankings. They also talked about a recent visit of the Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, which recommended that UNMC be reaccredited for 10 years.

Also addressed was the success in UNMC rural programs, including the Rural Health Opportunities Program, Rural Health Education Network and Area Health Education Centers, UNMC Health/Science Meet, UNMC Career Day, community grant programs and student rural rotations.

Campus expansion plans also will be highlighted. The largest, current construction projects in progress are the Michael F. Sorrell Center for Health Science Education; the Research Center of Excellence II; and the Good Manufacturing Practices Transplant Production Facility.

In January, the University of Nebraska Board of Regents approved construction of a $1.2 million Weigel Williamson Center for Visual Rehabilitation, which will be the only non-profit provider of comprehensive visual rehabilitation services for children and adults in the region.

Joining Dr. Maurer on the trip were Rubens Pamies, M.D., vice chancellor for academic affairs; John Gollan, M.D., Ph.D., dean, College of Medicine; Virginia Tilden, D.N.Sc., dean, College of Nursing; Jay Noren, M.D., dean of the UNMC College of Public Health; Clarence Ueda, Pharm. Possibility of regional jail discussed at commissioners

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

Wayne County Board of Commissioners met Tuesday at the courthouse in Wayne. Lee Myers of Wisner Community Development, a non-profit organization, was present to discuss the possibility of a regional jail. He noted that since the last time he visited with the commissioners, there was a meeting with Alan Brinkman, a jail consultant from Minnesota, Larry Goldberg, an architect and a Beckenhauer Construction representative.

At that meeting, it was noted that if a jail is built that is 100-120 bed size and you look at financing versus a 50-bed jail, there is a substantial cost savings of 20-40 percent for going larger. Myers noted that $60 per person per day in a 50-bed facility is like $40 per person per day in a larger jail. No single county can justify building a larger facility by themselves and the question is, is $20 per person per day for 10 years worth trying to figure out a way of doing this together? It was noted that Beckenhauer will lease purchase; up-front money from the counties can be avoided. The trade-off is a contract to avoid up-front costs and that contract needs to be put together cooperatively.

Myers said that Cuming County is going to put the number on the table pretty solidly for a 40-50-bed jail. He added there needs to be a way to get the other size and costs on the table. Myers continued that the toughest question is how do you put together a committee or a board to try to hammer this out? Should it be one representative from each county? How do you put together a committee that will cooperatively make a decision as to what that board should look like? Should representa-

Jacobs begins trek across Africa

Editor's note: This is the second in a series of articles written by Dean Jacobs on his world travels.

To move from one western culture to another is a stretch, but to move from a western society and land into the middle of Africa is beyond stretching, it is transforming.

A brief stop in Germany was a good way to prepare me for changes on the horizon. Just to be in an environment where English is not the first language allows the ear to become more sensitive, and the awareness to ratchet up.

Landing in Ethiopia was like landing in a world where rules are fluid. I have been here once before, although briefly, in 2002. Slowly I have been moving back into the traveler's mode. Small things, for example; not turning your head every time someone says "you" or "hey mister" have crept back into my day.

Additionally, saying "hello" and People almost always ask me where I'm from, and I always tell them. This elicits a response, "oh what a beautiful country," followed by a comment, "I have a friend in New York or California." This is communicated with a question of wondering, do I know the person? This is understandable in a culture where people spend considerable time with family and friends.

Addis Abba is the bustling capital of Ethiopia. Situated in the center of the country, it is the fourth largest city in Africa, with over 3 million residents. It is also a maze of busy narrow streets and walkways that can be confusing and sometimes overwhelming to navigate through.

One of the best ways to travel around the city is by minibus. These are privately owned minivans that have been converted into public transportation. They travel on set routes, unpublished of course, to various parts of the city.

To go from the orderly city of Cologne Germany and its 400 year old cathedral to the bustling city of Addis Abba Ethiopia was a big change.

My friend Adisu Beyene told me they have a nickname called "Al Queda," because they drive so crazy and appear to have no common sense. "When you see them coming down the road, beware, you never know if they will stop," said Adisu.

They are also one of the cheapest ways to move around town. And when you are traveling on a small budget, you move with local people.

A block from my hotel, I stepped in, said a prayer, and away we sped down the road to explore Addis Abba.

Wayne Rotary Club and Police Department partner for Meth Conference

On April 28, the Wayne Rotary Club hosted a one day conference on Methamphetamine that was held on the Wayne State College campus. First Responders, EMT's, firemen, and nurses from northeast Nebraska attended the conference.

Methamphetamine was the focus of the conference, specifically how people under the influence of methamphetamine will present to emergency responders, what a clandestine meth lab looks like and how to react if one is found.

Wayne Police Chief Lance Webster was the moderator and introduced the speakers. Dr. Joe Metcalf II, an emergency room physician from Faith Regional Health Services, was the keynote speaker. Dr. Metcalf spoke about the physiological effects of methamphetamine on the human body, explaining the brain chemistry of a meth user in very understandable terms. Dr. Metcalf showed several photos of the effects of methamphetamine on the human body and on the brain.

Sgt. Galen Svobada, of the Nebraska State Patrol, showed the attendees what meth labs look like and had examples of methamphetamine and Ice, a very pure form of methamphetamine. Sgt. Svobada provided the group and overview of what the meth cooking process is, leaving out a few key steps, and had a display of the chemicals used in the production of methamphetamine.

Chuck Matson, an officer with the Omaha Police Department, and a nationally recognized expert on drugs and their effects, wrapped up the afternoon session with a presentation entitled "EMT Training - Dopamine Blues". The brain chemical dopamine is produced in over-abundance in the meth user's brain. Such a high level of dopamine causes the normal dopamine receptors to die off, causing irreversible brain damage in meth users.

Officer Matson said Dopamine, along with the other neurotransmitters Serotonin and Norepinephrine are the chemicals that allow a human being to feel pleasure. Long time meth users lose the ability to feel pleasure because of the brain damage they suffer while taking meth.

A taxi conductor looks for passengers in downtown Addis Abba Ethiopia.

asking, "how are you" in the local language always brings a surprised smile in a crowded mini bus or fruit stand. And it has the magical power of breaking down barriers.

The vans generally leave a location once they are full, as a man hangs out a window yelling the destination name as passengers jump in. They also have a reputation.

Bowers begins duties at State National Insurance Agency

Brian Bowers has recently begun his duties at State National Insurance Agency, located in the Mineshaft Mall at 112 East Second Street.

Bowers, a graduate of Winside High School, earned an undergraduate degree in General Agriculture from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

He worked for Rain & Hail Crop Insurance 18 years and is currently licensed to sell crop insurance. He is working toward becoming licensed to sell property, casualty, life and health insurance.

Bowers' family includes his wife, Amy, a physical therapist at Providence Medical Center and sons Brooke, 10, and Beau, 7.

In his spare time, Bowers farms with his father and brother-in-law, is active with 4-H activities and plays golf.

Bowers is assisted at the insurance agency by Mary Jenkins, who has been involved with the business for 15 years.

Jenkins is licensed in property and casualty insurance sales.

She and her husband, Todd, have a daughter, Madison, who is a kindergartner at Wayne Elementary School.

"State National Insurance is a full-line, independent insurance agency and we strive to meet the needs of our customers," Bowers said.

"David Ley and I, as owners and officers of State National Insurance are certainly happy to have Brian Bowers on board as our new associate."

"We are saddened by the loss of Marty Summerfield. He built up the business to a position as a strong and viable insurance agency over the past 20 plus years. We miss him, both as a business partner and a great friend," said Bob Jordan.

He went on to say, "We feel Brian is very well poised to continue the excellent service and represent a strong array of companies that State National Insurance Agency offers. He has been in the crop insurance business for many years, grew up on a farm locally and still continues in that business as well. He is in the process of expanding his knowledge in all other insurance fields."

"We are privileged to have Mary Jenkins as a business associate. She continues to be the right-hand person in the office and has done an admirable job of covering all bases during the transition," Jordan said.

He encourages area residents to stop in the office and "meet Brian and check on our many insurance services."

State National Insurance Agency has been a part of the Wayne community for more than 60 years. It was first located in the State National Bank building at the corner of Second and Main Streets. When that building was destroyed by fire, the firm moved to the Mineshaft Mall.

Cheboygan, a few miles south of Mackinaw City) to travel through various counties and collect specimen plants for the herbariums of these universities. The mounted specimens made up the bulk of the collections of hundreds of thousands of plants.

Her family traveled by train until 1929 when she and her brother, David, had to pay full fare on the pullmans and it was more economical for the four of them to go by car. At this point, they could travel to Michigan by way of San Diego, or perhaps Baltimore, Seattle, Portsmouth, etc.

"By the time I was in the sixth grade," Gates said. "I had been in every state, more than that, to the capital of each state and the university as well as the land grant college if the state had one. We planned these trips as a family, we youngsters chose which places we wanted to see along the way. Dad mapped it all out, got permission ahead of time from companies for us to go down in coal mines, the Corning glass works, etc. He thought it was very educational."

At that time, there were no paved highways, only in towns were the streets bricked or hard surfaces paved. The highways had names, not numbers and of course, motels did not exist.

"I remember well how excited we were to see our very first cabin camp which had a sign reading La Jolla Motel on the Pacific Ocean sea front," Gates said.

Gates continued that when they returned in the fall, her Dad got out their maps and filled in which counties they had 'added' to their lists. This was how it began, her Dad had a purpose to complete collection specimens for the university from each county and for them, it started just an educational tool that her Dad devised to teach them living geography and along the way, a great deal more.

Gates ended by saying, "When I retired as the librarian of the Manhattan Public Library, I had been in about two-thirds of the counties with 1,073 left. I bought an RV and began my odyssey to 'finish' the job."

tion be based on number of commissioners or supervisors per county? Wayne and Stanton counties have two representatives?

LeRoy Janssen, Wayne County Sheriff, told Myers that the more input there was, the better but how will you come up with the right number? Myers noted that unless the counties sign the contract, there is nothing so the more thought out the contract is, the better chance of approval.

Commissioner Kelvin Wurdeman stated that all of the counties need to be involved and not just Wayne county, as that would be too expensive to help pay for the building, he added that if it was proven that the new jail was cheaper, then Wayne County would bring prisoners there.

Myers said it seems as though there should be a wholesale rate and that the location of the facility should be somewhere down where Highways 15, 275 and 51 come together.

Sheriff Janssen agreed that location is important and that convenience will play a big part in the success of the facility.

It was decided that a meeting date should be set and was noted that if a regional group can be put together, there are grants for planning. This will not be a fast process. The joint meeting was set for Wednesday, June 6. Cuming, Stanton and Thurston counties will also be invited to attend.

Dave Warnemunde of Warnemunde Insurance of Winside was present to discuss EMC insurance site survey. He noted that Wayne and Winside road districts need protection around fuel pumps so vehicles don't hit them. He also suggested that protection should be a dike around the bulk fuel storage that is designed to prevent contamination. It was decided he would check back with the commissioners the end of June or first part of July to see what they plan to do.

Commissioners accepted the resignation of Rod Garwood, who was on the Northeast Nebraska Resource Conservation & Development Board and accepted Gary McCoy of Hoskins to that position. The term of this appointment is through December 2008.

Fletcher attended economic development course

Irene Fletcher of the Wayne Area Economic Development, Inc. was one of 85 students representing eight states attending the 19th annual Heartland Economic Development Course (EDC) April 15-19 at the Adams Pointe Conference Center in Blue Spring, Mo.

The Heartland Economic Development Course allows participants to gain a better understanding of the full range of economic development strategies. The course instructs participants on ways to maximize the use of local and external resources and attempts to impart an understanding of the effects of global competition on local efforts.

"With fierce competition among communities and regions for new sources of jobs, income and labor, enhanced professional skills and understanding of economic development techniques becomes absolutely critical for success," said LaDene Bowen, Course Director for the Heartland EDC.

As the first economic development course targeted at professionals within the region, the curriculum for the Heartland EDC focuses on economic development factors relevant to the Great Plains states.

The Heartland Economic Development course is one of 22 similar courses accredited by the International Economic Development Council. Completion of the course is the first step toward meeting educational prerequisites for sitting for the certified professional economic developer exam administered by the IEDC.

The Heartland EDC is developed and directed by the Institute for Decision Making, Business and Community Services Division, University of Northern Iowa in cooperation with the Kansas Economic Development Alliance; Professional Developers of Iowa; Missouri Economic Development Council; Nebraska Economic Development and the Oklahoma Economic Development Association.

Aquila provided a partial tuition scholarship for Fletcher to attend this course.

"We know that the education and relationships built at this week-long training will bring long-term value to Wayne," said Mary Simmons, CECD, manager of Economic Development for Aquila.

They also accepted lodging tax applications from WAEDI for $1500 advertising grant for an advertisement in the 2008 Wayne County and Northeast Nebraska's Information Guide and $350 to the Fraternal Order of Eagles for their Eastern Zone Conference and the Wayne Eagles Club.

ME Collins Construction Co. was the low bidder and commissioners accepted the bid.

Also discussed was a flood water discharge plan for federal aid project BRO-7090 (13), Wayne Southeast, 575th Ave., Mile 854, 1.0 mile west and 1.5 miles south of Wayne and authorized Chairman Nissen to sign a notice of intent. Heritage Homes of Nebraska, Inc. celebrating anniversary with open house

Heritage Homes of Nebraska, Inc. will celebrate 29 years in business with a special open house on Saturday, May 5. Their facility will be open to the public from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. for model home and factory tours. One of the highlights of the open house will be the unveiling of a new model home in their model complex.

The Wayne based company was founded in 1978 by company President, Rod Tompkins and the first home was built and sent out of the factory on May 25, 1978. Since then, the company has grown to become one of the Midwest's premier builders of system built homes.

Today, Heritage Homes delivers homes into 10 states including Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota, Kansas, Missouri, Colorado, Wyoming, Minnesota and New Mexico. Heritage Homes has 52 distributorships throughout their 10 state regions. The factory is located on East Hwy 35 in Wayne and Heritage employs over 110 people.

Heritage Homes offers system built, modular homes that are built inside a 90,000 square foot construction facility. This systemized construction process ensures maximum efficiency, high quality construction and exceptional value to the homebuyer.

Rod Tompkins

Each home is custom designed to fit the individual homebuyers needs and budget.

Sales Manager, Mike Mattison attributes their longevity and growth over the years to a high quality product that meets the needs of the new home building market. Mattison said, "The system built segment of the homebuilding grows each year. This growth is primarily based on the fact that most clients do not want to spend a year of their life in 'limbo' while their new home is being built. With Heritage they can truly have the best of both worlds. They can have a custom built home without all the hassles of building it on site."

Wildcats win regular season, set to host tourney

After the dust cleared from last week's games in Minnesota, the Wayne State Wildcat baseball team emerged as the regular season conference champion.

The squad, now 35-12 and 25-5 in the league, clinched the top seed for the Northern Sun Conference Tournament by completing a four-game sweep at Bemidji State on April 29.

That means the league championship game will be more decided in Wayne, with game dates set for Thursday-Saturday, May 10-12.

It will mark the fourth straight season that the four-team conference baseball tournament will be played at the the Pete Chapman Baseball Complex in Wayne.

The squad is off this week for finals and will play at Augustana College on Monday, May 7 in the regular season finale.

Highlights from WSC's final six games of the conference schedule include:

WSC vs. SMSU

Wayne State moved into sole possession of first place in the Northern Sun Conference baseball standings on April 25 with a split at Southwest Minnesota State in Marshall, Minn.

The Wildcats dropped the first game to the Mustangs 3-2 in nine innings but bounced back to win the second game 7-1.

With Winona State losing at home twice to Concordia-St. Paul, the split gave Wayne State sole possession of first place in the NSIC.

The first game saw SMSU rally from an early 2-0 deficit to top Wayne State 3-2 in nine innings.

Lex Reinke's RBI single scored Greg Laughlin with the game-winning run for the Mustangs.

WSC grabbed a 1-0 lead in the second on an RBI fielder's choice from Sean Soderberg that scored Marc Manganaro.

The 'Cats took a 2-0 lead in the third inning when Manganaro's RBI double scored Dustin Jones.

But SMSU tied the game at 2-2 with a pair of runs in the fourth and eventually won in the ninth inning to negate a strong start by WSC lefthander Travis Mortimore.

The senior from Torrington, Wyo., struck out nine batters in seven innings, allowing two runs on seven hits.

Reliever Nathan Gettler suffered the loss, giving up two hits and an unearned run in his one inning plus of work.

WSC held a 10-9 edge in hits over SMSU. Jones went 3 for 5 to lead the Wildcats in hitting, while Marc Manganaro was 2 for 3 with a pair of doubles. Scott Bidroski and Sean Soderberg also recorded two hits for WSC.

The second game saw senior Michael Donohoe pitch a complete game six-hitter to lead the Wildcats in a 7-1 win over the Mustangs.

Diego Marquez opened the scoring for the Wildcats in the second inning with a two-run homer, putting WSC in front 2-0.

The 'Cats added three runs in the sixth thanks to run-scoring doubles from Bidroski and Manganaro along with an RBI single from Alex Koch.

WSC added two insurance runs in the seventh inning on back-to-back RBI singles by Bidroski and Manganaro.

WSC had 10 hits in the game to just six for SMSU. Manganaro finished 3 for 4 with two doubles and two RBI to lead the Wildcats at the plate. Bidroski finished 2 for 4 with two RBI.

WSC vs. Bemidji State

The Wayne State College baseball team won a pair of contrasting games in Northern Sun Conference play at Bemidji State on April 28.

The Wildcats had to hang on for a 10-9 win in eight innings in the first game, then blasted the Beavers 16-1 in the second game.

The first game saw Wayne State build an early 7-1 lead, then dodge a bases-loaded jam in the bottom of the seventh inning, before escaping with a 10-9 win in eight innings over the stubborn Beavers.

Bemidji State scored three runs in the sixth and four in the bottom of the seventh to tie the score at 9-9 and had the bases-loaded with one out, but WSC closer Adam McGuire got Bemidji State's Eric Pilgrim to line out to third and Josh Juntunen to hit into a fielder's choice to get out of the bases-loaded jam.

Bidroski then led off the top of the eighth inning with a solo homer to give WSC the 10-9 win.

Both teams had 15 hits in the game. Bidroski hit a pair of homers and was 2 for 5 with three RBI to lead the Wildcats in hitting. Sean Soderberg was 3 for 4, Adam Hoffman was 2 for 4, with a triple and two RBI. Manganaro and Marquez each homered for the Wildcats, going 2 for 4 at the plate.

Wayne native Adam McGuire (4-2) earned the pitching win in relief, throwing the final two innings.

Nick Schumacher started the game and worked 4 2/3 innings, allowing nine hits and five runs.

Gettler pitched 1 1/3 innings in relief, giving up four

Classic Performances

Area athletes shine among the best at Norfolk Classic all-star track and field meet

Laurel-Concord's season's long dominance on running track stacked up well against completion, regardless of school size, at last week's Norfolk Classic.

The Bears boys' and girls' track and field teams finished the annual invite-only event at Norfolk's Johnny Carson Field on April 26 with two championships and four runner-up performances on the day.

The L-C 1,600 meter relay team of Brian Saunders, Colten DeLong, Tyler Petersen and Nathan Burns picked up a gold medal with a finish of 3:30.83.

Saunders also earned another top finish in the 400-meter dash after he edged Joel Nixon of Wakefield at the tape with a clocking of 51.0 seconds. Nixon's time was 51.97.

Saunders, a senior, finished second in 100-meter dash (11.38) and third in the long jump with 21 feet, 3 1/2 inches. Winside's Marcus Messersmith closed out the meet with a gold and a silver medal as he took first in the triple jump (42-7 3/4) and second in the 200-meter dash (23.23).

Other second place finishes for Wayne-Herald coverage area teams included Bethany DeLong of Laurel-Concord in the 100-yard dash (12.67) and 400-meter dash (1:00.64); Laurel-Concord's boys' 400-meter relay (45.12) and Wakefield's boys' 3,200-meter relay (8:24.38).

Wayne High had several entries in the meet. The WHS girls' 3,200-meter relay squad (Maddie Jager, Jordan Alexander, Alesha Finkey and Regan Ruhl) placed sixth (10:28.02), while three individual qualifiers also ran for the Blue Devils.

Alexander took seventh in the Love of track continues on for Olson

By Jeremy Buss
Of the Herald

Randall Olson's track career, is a career that almost did not happen.

As a freshman at Wayne High School, Randall decided to give track a try.

Now at age 59, Olson who lives in Norfolk, has compiled an impressive list of meet appearances and medals including a national title in the triple jump and numerous medals in the hurdles, his favorite event.

Olson vividly remembers his start in the sport he still enjoys today.

The first day of practice that season happened to be a rainy day which moved things indoors.

The track coach at Wayne back then also happened to be the basketball coach, so when Olson and several of his friends showed up for practice with wet shoes they were immediately told to remove them so they did not damage the floor.

As he ran in his stocking feet, Olson slid to a stop and broke his big toe to end his track season and career when baseball was offered the next year and he played that sport instead.

Track came back into Olson's life when he was applying for his first teaching job at Bancroft and the superintendent, after much discussion, convinced him to also be head track coach.

While Olson was back into the track world, it would still be many more years — at age 43 — before the lure of the Iowa State Games would get him to compete.

Even then it was not with grandiose intention but to simply see what he could do after working with high school and college athletes for so many years.

But the meets continued and with the hard work came many impressive finishes.

Olson's most recent accomplishment came in March when he competed in Boston in the USA Masters Indoor track and field meet and finished second in the pentathlon in the 55-59 age division.

Making the finish even more impressive was the fact it was the first time he had competed in the event which included four former Olympians.

The silver medal finish earned him an invitation to compete in the world championships in Italy next year.

While he is not sure yet whether he will participate in the world championships, his track and field career will continue, though with goals a bit different than they used to be.

Olson's focus has changed as he has gotten older.

runs on four hits.

The Wildcats used an eight-run fifth inning to blow things open in a 16-1 win in the second game. WSC scored at least one run in every inning except the seventh as the Wildcats cruised to the easy win.

Jones was 2 for 4 with a home run, double and six RBIs to lead Wayne State at the plate. He also scored three runs and had two stolen bases.

Ian DeLaet contributed a three-run homer for the Wildcats.

Bidroski, Adam Hoffman and Manganaro each recorded two hits in the win as Bidroski extended his hitting streak to nine games, while Hoffman, Jones and Manganaro each extended their hit streaks to eight straight games.

Mitch Herrick (5-3) allowed just one run on five hits over 4 2/3 innings to earn the pitching win.

Reliever Jim Sake worked the final 2 1/3 innings on the mound for WSC, allowing no runs on two hits with two strikeouts.

The team clinched the top seed for the Northern Sun Conference Tournament by completing the four-game sweep at Bemidji State on April 29

The first game saw Wayne State rally from an early 4-0 deficit to edge the Beavers 5-4. Bemidji State scored four runs in the bottom of the first inning off WSC starter John Snyder.

But Snyder settled down and allowed just three hits following the shaky first inning and the Wildcats used home runs from Soderberg and Alex Koch to come from behind for the win.

Soderberg's two-run blast in the fifth inning pulled the Wildcats within 4-2, then Koch connected on a three-run blast in the top of the sixth inning to provide WSC with the winning runs.

Koch finished the game 2 for 3 with three RBI and two runs scored to lead WSC at the plate as the Wildcats finished with just six hits in the game.

Snyder overcame a shaky start to earn the win on the mound as the redshirt freshman from Millard West pitched a complete game, allowing four runs on six hits with five strikeouts and two walks.

Jones went 3 for 3 with a home run, double and two runs scored to lead the Wildcats in a 4-2 win over Bemidji State in the second game.

Jones led off the game with his ninth homer of the season to give WSC an early 1-0 lead.

In the third inning, Jones singled and scored on Manganaro's RBI groundout to put WSC ahead 3-1.

DeLaet added an RBI single in the fourth inning to put the 'Cats in front 4-1.

BSU scored once in the fifth to make the final score 4-2.

Jones' three hits paced Wayne State's 13-hit attack in the win.

Hoffman, Joe Wendte and Manganaro each added two hits for Wayne State in the win.

Senior Connor Bramlet (6-0) worked five strong innings to earn the pitching win, allowing two runs on four hits.

Jim Sake worked two-thirds of an inning, while Ryan Kolo finished the game, pitching the final 1 1/3 innings without giving up a hit to record his first save of the season.

WSC appears in rankings

The team is again nationally-ranked in the latest Collegiate Baseball Magazine Division II Top 30 poll released earlier this week.

The Wildcats are tied for 30th with a 35-12 record after going 5-1 in six games played last week.

"It used to be I was trying to add inches to throws and jumps, now from year to year I am trying to stay the same," Olson said. "Mentally it is hard not to get down on yourself but you just have to realize you are getting older."

One bright spot for Olson next year as he continues in competition, the hurdle heights come down a few notches which he said will be kind of nice.

WSC announces two recruits in mens' basketball and mens' golf

Two signees were recently announced by respective mens' athletic coaches at Wayne State College in basketball and golf.

WSC mens' basketball coach Rico Burkett has announced that Zane Abner of West Holt High School in Atkinson has signed a national letter of intent to play men's basketball for the Wildcats in the 2007-08 season.

He joins Marcus Messersmith of Winside High School, Elijah Miller of Galva-Holsten (Iowa) High School and Nate Trueblood of Dixon (Illinois) High School as members of the 2007 WSC recruiting class.

Abner, a 6-5, 190 pound guard/forward, earned Class C-2 First Team All-State honors this past season, averaging 18.8 points and 9.1 rebounds per game, while leading West Holt to a 14-9 record and a district runner-up finish as the Huskies fell to eventual state champion Ponca.

"Zane is a big-time competitor and we feel his passion for the game will allow him to have an immediate impact right away," Burkett said.

Scott Barnes of Papillion-LaVista High School has signed a national letter of intent to attend WSC and play golf for the Wildcats in the 2007-08 school year.

Barnes is a four-year letter winner at Papillion-LaVista High School under coach Joe Pudenz, a former Wildcat men's golfer. "He won eight medals as a junior last season while posting a 76.3 stroke average to earn All-District honors at Papillion-LaVista High School."

"Scott has had a very good high school career," commented PGA Golf Professional Troy Harder, who assists the Wildcat men's golf program in recruiting and player development. "He has been around golf for a long time with his dad, Ross, being a PGA Golf Professional in Omaha. It is nice to sign a player of his talent and I think Scott will fit into our program immediately."

ASK THE TRAINER

This week is exciting for my family and I because we welcomed in a new baby boy Friday. Everyone is healthy and looking to find a new post-pregnancy routine. This leads me to the topic of post-pregnancy exercise and what is safe and beneficial.

Most new moms are ready to have their pre-pregnancy bodies back as soon as possible. While it is impossible to give an exact date when this will happen, it seems moms who exercised before and during pregnancy have the quickest recoveries. This does not mean if you did not exercise during your pregnancy you will not recover, just that it may take a little longer.

The key to getting back into exercise is to start slow. Most sources say if you had a normal pregnancy, you can get back into vigorous exercise after a good six-week check-up. Until that time, if you feel ready, you can do light cardio and work on pelvic exercises like crunches and pelvic tilts. Once you are cleared for vigorous exercise, a good mix of cardiovascular, strength, and stretching exercises will get the body back on track. Of course, to get the most out of the exercises you must also eat a clean diet and rest as much as your baby will allow.

Always remember to check with your doctor before beginning any exercise regimen. If you have more questions or would like to start getting your body back give me a call at the Providence Wellness Center.

Make 2007 the year you take the time to improve your overall health!

Wildcats end regular season

The Wayne State College softball team saw its final two contests drop off the schedule and two games slip away as the team concluded its regular season last week.

The team, 26-20 on the season and 9-9 in Northern Sun play, dropped a pair of extra inning games at Winona State in league play on April 25 and fell 5-2 in nine innings in the first game and 3-2 in eight innings in the second game.

Winona State's Terra Harlon belted a three-run homer in the bottom of the ninth inning to lift the host Warriors in a 5-2 win over the Wildcats in the first game.

WSC took an early 2-0 lead in the second on a bases-loaded walk to Kiley Peterson and a run-scoring single by Caitlin Rowland.

But Winona State scored single runs in the fourth and fifth innings and then won the game in dramatic style in the bottom of the ninth.

WSC had a scoring opportunity in the eighth inning when the Wildcats loaded the bases with two outs, but Peterson's groundout to shortstop ended the scoring threat. Winona State had 13 hits to Wayne State's six.

Rowland was 2 for 4 with an RBI to lead the Wildcats at the plate while Stacy Shonka, Bre Parks, Cassandra Ward and Sara Salmen each singled.

Peterson pitched the final three innings and was tagged with the pitching loss after Karen Hain worked the first 5 1/3 innings.

The second game saw Winona State score single runs in the seventh and eighth innings to rally for a 3-2 win over the Wildcats.

Kristen Humphries gave WSC an early 2-0 lead in the first inning with a two-run homer, her eighth of the season.

Winona State scored once in the second, then plated runs in the seventh and eighth to rally for the 3-2 win.

WSC had four hits in the game with Humphries going 2 for 3 with a homer and double and two RBI for the Wildcats.

Parks doubled and Valerie Robinson singled for the other WSC hits.

Karen Hain (12-12) pitched the final six innings for WSC and was dealt the loss, allowing seven hits and two runs with six strikeouts and four walks.

Peterson started the game and pitched the first 1 1/3 inning, allowing one run on one hit with two walks.

Hain became the all-time strikeout leader in WSC softball history in the second game and now has 354 strikeouts in her career, passing the old school mark of 348 set by Whitney Wilczynski from 2001-2005.

WSC's games against South Dakota was cancelled on April 26 due to weather, while the Midland Lutheran contest on April 29 was dropped due to a schedule conflict.

The team is now preparing for the Northern Sun Conference Tournament scheduled for Friday and Saturday, May 4 and 5 at Southwest Minnesota State in Marshall, Minn.

Rugby team concludes season

The WSC mens' rugby men finished the regular season with an unblemished mark in Great Plains Rugby action last Thursday, with a 57-19 win over Creighton University at the Wayne Rugby Park in front of 400 fans.

The 'Cats took a 14-0 lead with two touchdowns by Kellen Wells

Creighton answered back to make the score 14-7 and WSC put on another touchdown in the closing minutes of the first half by Adam Paitz to go into the locker room with a 21-7 lead.

WSC could not put away Creighton as both teams scored twice in the middle stages of the second half.

However, three unanswered touchdowns put the WSC ahead 57-19 late in the game.

Scores were recorded by Ben Johnson, Casey Schrader, Brent Newland, Chris Holmes and Beau Boryca.

All three of Creighton's touchdowns were from WSC turnovers, deep in their own territory, with one being a 30-yard interception return.

The only losses this year for the mens' team this season was to Central Missouri State and Texas State in the National Playoffs.

The team ends the season at 10-2.

Winside High senior wins Law Day Contest

Virginia Flear, daughter of Robin and Jane Flear of Hoskins, was the winner of the eleventh grade level at the eighth Annual Law Day Essay Contest sponsored by the Nebraska State Bar Foundation and the Nebraska Supreme Court.

On Monday, April 30, a recognition banquet was held at The Cornhusker Marriot Hotel in Lincoln, Nebraska. Virginia attended the luncheon with her teacher, Mrs. Jennifer Kesting and Winside Principal Jeff Messersmith.

This year's topic was "We the people need fair and impartial courts: How do judges make decisions?" Students had to address the following in their essays: In the case of Illinois v. Cabellas 543 U.S. 405 (2005), the United States Supreme Court decided that a dog-sniff conducted during a lawful traffic stop that reveals only the location of an illegal substance that no individual has any right to possess does not violate the Fourth Amendment. Do you agree with the majority opinion or do you agree with the dissent that it makes sense to treat a dog-sniff as a search and try to rely on the body of the Fourth Amendment cases in deciding whether such a search is reasonable?

In other words, do you think a dog-sniff of you walking in the hallway at school, a dog-sniff of your backpack or purse, or a dog-sniff of your car is a search? If you were a judge, how would you analyze these Fourth Amendment issues? Students were to type a one to two page essay and submit it to the Nebraska State Bar Foundation. One winner was selected from each grade level 8-12. The five winners were then notified and asked to submit a list of their accomplishments to be used as part of their introduction at the luncheon.

The keynote speaker at the luncheon was Alan E. Peterson of Cline Williams Law Firm, who is a Fellow of the American College of Trial Lawyers. The Master of Ceremonies was Kile W. Johnson, a Bar Foundation Board Officer. The Honorable Micheal G. Heavican presented the leatherbound notebook to each of the recipients along with a bound copy of all the winning essays. Each teacher was also presented a monogrammed flashlight with glass breaking and seatbelt cutting capabilities.

All recipients, teachers, administrators, and honorable guests were treated to a catered meal at the Cornhusker and pictures were taken with Dean G. Kratz, president of the Nebraska State Bar Association. One recipient also received a $2,000 scholarship to the National Student Leadership Conference provided by the McGrath North Mullin Kratz law firm. The winner was selected by drawing the name out of a basket. Danielle Divis of David City was this year's winner.

Mrs. Jennifer Kesting and Virginia Flear attended the annual Law Day Essay Contest. Flear was the winner in the eleventh grade level.

PSC releases vouchers for relay service equipment purchases

The first of some 300 vouchers for the purchase of relay service equipment for Nebraskans with speech and hearing disabilities are being issued this week by the Nebraska Public Service Commission.

The 300 vouchers represent requests for equipment filed with the Commission from mid-December through April. These requests were held up because the Commission had reached the limit on the amount that can be spent under state law. The Legislature authorized additional spending for the voucher program in LB661 this session. That portion of LB661 contained the emergency clause and became law when Governor Dave Heineman signed it in April.

The vouchers, which average $400 apiece, total about $120,000. The monies come from the five cents per month that all Nebraska telephone users pay as part of their monthly bill to fund the Nebraska Relay System.

Commissioner Jerry Vap of McCook, who sits on the Commission's Relay Advisory Committee, said the use of the funds will not jeopardize the relay system, which is operated by Hamilton Communications of Aurora.

Vap said the Nebraska Specialized Equipment Telecommunications Program largely provides recipients with amplified telephone signaling devices that alert call recipients through visual, loud rings, or personal signals such as vibrations.

Activities abound at New 'Bee' ginnings preschool

A number of activities have taken place at Diane Gentrup's New "Bee" ginnings Preschool as the school year comes to an end.

Greg Warner, a teacher from Wayne State College, initiated a service learning project with his graphics class and New "Bee" ginnings Preschool.

Round-Up Dad's Day was held April 30 for the New "Bee" ginnings Preschool classes.

Students made their dad a cow cake that said "Dads are MOO-velous!"

They then lassooed a cow, had wheel barrow races and ended their day with a wagon/hayrack ride around Wayne.

Mitch and Clara Osten were guests at New "Bee" ginnings Preschool classes as part of their

Paraprofessional educators cohort to train future hispanic educators

Wanted: Hispanics with a strong desire to work with elementary school children in Madison, Norfolk, Winside, and South Sioux City.

Northeast Community College and Wayne State College will provide academic advising and financial assistance for a Pre-Kindergarten to Grade Six Paraprofessional Educators Cohort beginning in the fall. This opportunity is available to the cohort through a $99,993 Improving Teacher Quality: State Grants Program award from the Nebraska Coordinating Commission for Postsecondary Education (CCPE).

Under this program, practicing or prospective elementary education Hispanic paraprofessionals who are fluent in English and Spanish, pass a criminal background check, and have a high school diploma or GED are eligible for financial assistance to attend college. Participants can receive up to $625 per semester or $2,500 for four semesters to help with education costs at Northeast Community College. The students will also be assigned an advisor, Ted Myers.

According to Dr. Anthony Koyzis, dean, School of Education and Counseling at Wayne State College (WSC), and Donna Niemeyer, dean of Humanities, Arts and Social Sciences at Northeast Community College (NECC), 25 qualified individuals will form a group to study for an associate of arts degree from NECC with an emphasis as a paraprofessional. At the completion of the two-year degree, students will be encouraged to continue their studies for a bachelor's degree in elementary education at Wayne State College.

"This is a wonderful opportunity for minority or individuals fluent in Spanish and English who are interested in careers in the elementary classroom," Niemeyer said. "Thanks to this generous grant from the Coordinating Commission, we are able to help the school districts in Madison, Norfolk, Winside, and South Sioux City fill a need. The bilingual paraprofessional or teacher will serve as a model in encouraging minority students in those communities," said Dr. Koyzis.

For more information about the program, contact Ted Myers, multicultural advisor/recruiter, at Northeast Community College at (800-348-9033).

NAJE plans spring concert at NECC

The Northeast Area Jazz Ensemble (NAJE) will soon bring its Big Band sounds to Northeast Community College.

The NAJE Spring Concert is set for Sunday, May 6 at 7 p.m. in the Cox Activities Center Theater. The concert will feature Big Band selections including Cute, by Neal Nefti; Summertime, by George Gershwin, arranged by Brad Morey; Joshua, arranged by Larry Kerchner; Indiana and Misty, arranged by Dave Barduhn, and A String of Pearls, arranged by Jim Mahaffey. Dr. Randall Neuharth is the NAJE director.

The concert is free to the public but free will donations will be accepted. The donated funds will be used for Northeast's music department and its student musicians.

Over the past 20-plus years, the men and women of NAJE Big Band have contributed over $80,000 to Northeast's music department and music students. That support has provided music performance scholarships to students in Northeast's music groups, funded an assistant jazz band director position, provided equipment used by Northeast's performing groups, and supported many functions involving NECC's music students.

Every year, over 40 Northeast student musicians are affected by the support given by the NAJE. The ensemble also sponsors the LaVitef Band Field Competition and co-sponsors, with Northeast Community College, the Northeast Jazz Festival.

Thanks for community support

Dear Editor,
Spina Bifida is the most common cause of motor disability of the newborn child. It occurs three times as often as muscular dystrophy, yet it does not get as much media attention.
Some members of the Wayne High School National Honor Society (NHS) personally know families coping with this birth defect. So, for the past eight years NHS has chosen the Nebraska Spina Bifida Association as one of their community service projects. After collecting pledges, we hold a Bowl-a-thon.
We are writing today to thank the community of Wayne for continuing to make this a successful fundraising project. Parents, friends and neighbors, teachers, and hospital staff have been very supportive. A special thanks to Godfather's Pizza for feeding the bowlers, and to Melodee Lanes (Wayne) and King's Lanes (Norfolk) where Bowl-a-thons have been held. It has been rewarding to help others, and we had fun at the same time.

Visit our webpage to see pictures! <http://www.wayneschools.org/WHS/Activities/Organizations/NHS>
All the money raised from bowl-a-thons stays in Nebraska. Each person who sponsored a student bowler becomes a partner in the work of Spina Bifida Association as they continue their efforts to promote prevention of spina bifida and enhance the lives of all affected. Thank you all very much!

American Red Cross urges planning in wake of storms

As the nation continues to grapple with severe weather conditions throughout the High Plains and into the south, the American Red Cross is asking the public to immediately prepare for the potential increase in storm activity.
The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) has issued a warning for possibly another line of severe thunderstorms, which could unexpectedly develop into tornado activity. In the wake of this latest warning the Red Cross is issuing the following guidelines for storm preparation:
Make a plan for safe shelter—It is important to know the safest locations to take cover from a storm at home, work and school. Locate a basement, center hallway, bathroom, or closet on the lowest floor where everyone should gather. The area should be windowless and free of objects that can become projectiles during high winds. If you are in a high-rise building there may not be time to reach a lower floor before the storm hits. Head to the center of the building.
Build an Emergency Preparedness Kit — Kits should contain a first aid kit and essential medications; three-day supply of canned or non-perishable food and manual can opener; at least three gallons of water per person; flashlights and a battery-powered radio with extra batteries; and other emergency items for the whole family, including pets. Prepare a personal size kit to keep at work and in the car. For more information on what to include in an Emergency Preparedness Kit, log on to the Get Prepared section of the Red Cross website at www.redcross.org.

Stay Informed of Warnings - Listen to your local radio and TV stations for updated storm information. Check with your local emergency management office to see if email and cell phone weather alerts are available in your area. A tornado WATCH means there is the possibility of tornado activity in your area. When a tornado WARNING is issued, immediately head to your planned safe shelter. If you are outside, hurry to a nearby sturdy building or lie flat in a ditch or low-lying area. If you are in a car or mobile home, get out immediately and head for safety.
The best way to stay protected against dangerous weather is to prepare and plan well before a storm hits. The Red Cross has information on preparing for all types of emergencies and disasters, including the Be Red Cross Ready online educational presentation at www.redcross.org/beredcrossready and the Safe and Well Web site, accessible from www.redcross.org/SafeandWell allows disaster victims to post standard messages letting family and friends know of their safety and how to contact them. For more information contact your local Red Cross chapter.

Troop B warns of cold medicine abuse

The Nebraska State Patrol Troop B Headquarters, Norfolk is urging parents and school officials to be aware of the possible abuse by young people of an over the counter cold medicine.
Sold legally over the counter, "Coricidin HPB Cough and Cold" is used by individuals with high blood pressure to relieve cold symptoms. The small red tablets contain 30 milligrams of dextromethorphan (cough medicine). When taken in numbers greater than directed on package labels, dextromethorphan can lead to hallucinations, loss of motor control and "out-of-body" sensations.
"We have received inquiries from school officials about the use of this medicine," said Troop B Investigative Services Lieutenant Randy Morehead. "Upon further investigation, we've found several area pharmacies have already taken steps to move the medicine behind their counters as a precaution. Because this is a legal ingredient in cold medicine, we want to raise awareness among parents and others that this is something young people might be using."

Abuse of dextromethorphan can cause increased body temperature, nausea, abdominal pain, vomiting, irregular heartbeat, high blood pressure, headache, numbing of fingers and toes, loss of consciousness, slurred speech, blurred vision, paranoia, excessive sweating, redness of face, dry and itchy skin, hypothermia, high fever, seizure, brain damage and possible death.
The small red pills are also known by several street names such as, Triple C, DXM, Candy, Skittles, Red Devils, DM, Drex, Robo, Rojo, Velvet, and Vitamin D. The act of abusing dextromethorphan is often called "dexing," "robotripping," or "robotdosing."
"We encourage parents to talk to their children about the dangers of ingesting such medicines and take steps to stop this potential abuse," Lt. Morehead said.
If you suspect someone is abusing this or other similar products you are asked to contact your local law enforcement agency or the Nebraska State Patrol.

Capitol View

Property owners annoyed with tax rates

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

It isn't hard to understand why legions of property owners are perpetually annoyed about the Legislature forever blithering over property taxes.
A homeowner might well view the Legislature like a relative who constantly borrows money.
"If you can give me just a little more, I can buy a car, and then I won't be hitting you up for cab fare all the time, and you'll save money!"
The next thing you know, that relative comes around and wants to borrow more money — for maintenance and insurance.
"If you don't give me some more money, I'll have to bum even more from you, because I'll have to take the cab again! Besides, you should feel some responsibility. After all, I wouldn't be in this mess if you hadn't given me the money to buy that junk heap of a car!"
What's the difference between a government that levies property taxes and a relative with the conscience of a tick?
The relative might die and leave you alone.
How are they alike?
They'll both tell you, ad infinitum, that they really want to find a way to lighten your load, instead of just your wallet.
The problem is that it just doesn't work out. Not very often, anyway. And not much, in any circumstance.
With that analysis on the board, it is time to offer that which has been offered in this column a number of times as —
The view from here: Taxes are going to shift from time to time, but they aren't going to go down. Not enough to make a big difference, unless you already are someone with big bucks. What sort of remedy might bring state and local government under control to some degree?

A constitutional amendment that would give every property owner an option. Not a necessarily pleasant option — but a choice, anyway.
Let's say you're up against a situation where the local assessor and the county board and the state all agree that your house is worth

$600,000 and, by gawd, that's that. The option should be that you could forthwith give the state the deed to your property and say: "Okay, buckaroos. You say our Home Sweet Home is worth 600,000 bucks — so you just bought it! Here's the key to the house, gimme my check for 600-k."
Folks in government and some folks in universities, who think they know about government, and all manner of folks in politics, would laugh at such a notion.
Everyone who couldn't sell a house, for example, might turn it over to the state for what the government says it is worth.

Gosh! What would government do with a house if the real estate market is down? What would it do with all those houses? How would government pay for them?
Government could go broke.
How could such a thing be avoided?
How about if property taxes weren't high enough to make unloading the ol' Home Sweet Home look like the best and safest deal a working family is likely to get?

Budget recommendations presented

The Appropriations Committee presented their recommendations for the biennial budget for fiscal years 2007-08 and 2008-09 to the entire Legislature. Debate will begin on the budget proposal in May.
The Committee was careful to leave an ending balance that met the statutory requirement for a minimum three percent reserve plus enough to fund the Revenue Committee's tax relief package of $218 million the first year and $210.8 million the second year of the biennium. The Committee's proposal also includes $32 million to fund other legislation passed this year.
The Committee's recommendations reflect a 4.5 percent average growth over the two-year biennium, or an increase of 3.7 percent in

Legislative Update
By: State Senator Pat Engel, District #17

The proposed budget totals $6.77 billion in General Fund spending over the biennium. This is broken down to reflect a General Fund budget of $3.3 billion for 2007-08 and $3.47 billion for 2008-09.
For the 2007-08 fiscal year, $1.1 billion is appropriated in Aid to Local Governments. This includes funding for special education and state aid to K-12 school districts, Educational Service Units, and community colleges, as well as state aid to cities and counties. State aid to school districts makes up the largest distribution (68 percent) of funding from this category. Aid to Individuals accounts for $1.0 billion of the 2007-08 budget. It includes Medicaid, public assistance, the Children's Health Insurance program, aid to those with developmental disabilities, as well as behavioral health needs. Medicaid accounts for 60 percent of the costs.
The remainder of the 2007-08 budget, $1.2 billion, is used for Agency Operations, which includes state employee salaries and health insurance benefits as well as other operation expenses of state agencies. The University of Nebraska and the state colleges account for 44 percent of the funding needs in this category.
In summary, of the total general fund budget, funding distributed as Aid to Local Government accounted for 34.4 percent of the spending, Aid to Individuals 29.8%, Agency Operations 35.5 percent, and Capital Construction 0.2 percent. The majority of spending (64.2 percent) is considered "flow-through" spending, in that the state sends it to local units of government or individuals for such purposes of funding local schools or helping the lower income with their health care expenses.

Over the two year biennium, General Fund spending would increase a total of $408 million over spending in the current year. This increase in spending is less than the $428.8 million dedicated to the tax relief package.
I feel that the committee's proposed budget recommendations show restraint in spending, yet reflects our responsibility to sufficiently fund necessary programs and services. It is now up to the entire Legislature to determine if they agree with the Appropriations Committee's proposal. The budget proposal must be approved at three different stages of debate prior to becoming law. The Governor has the authority to line-item veto the budget bills, which means he can reduce the appropriation for certain items, rather than either approving or vetoing the entire package.
If you have any comments on the budget proposal or other bills before the Legislature, I encourage you to contact me with your thoughts and opinions. I can be reached at District #17, P.O. Box 94604, State Capitol, Lincoln, Neb. 68509, my telephone number is (402) 471-2716, my e-mail address is lengel@leg.ne.gov, and my fax number is (402) 479-0917.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

Money management for 'Mompreneurs'

The word, "Mompreneurs," is a trademarked term to describe women who are raising children and operating small businesses at home. "Mompreneurs" typically merge their personal and professional lives, simultaneously juggling dentist appointments and deadlines, self promotion and school conferences, play dates and presentations, networking and nap times.

Technological advancements have made it possible for an increasing number of adults to work from home, and the flexibility of owning their own business appeals to many women. In 2006, the Center for Women's Business Research reported that women-owned firms without employees, including "mompreneurs," are increasing in number and revenues are growing faster than all firms in the United States without employees. Statistics include:

- One of every 11 adult women is an entrepreneur.
- Between 1997 and 2004, women-owned, non-employee firms grew at 18 percent, twice the national rate (nine percent) for all non-employee firms.
- There are 5.4 million sole proprietors that generate $167 billion in sales and comprise nearly a third of all firms with no employees.

While most "mompreneurs" are skilled multitaskers, they may not pay close attention to money management details involved in running their home-based businesses. Following is a financial checklist to help keep "mompreneurs" and other home-based business owners on track.

Take care of the administrative and legal details - Before you start a home-based business, be sure to check the zoning ordinances in your area and any possible restrictions in your neighborhood. Decide if you will be incorporated and explore whether you will need patents, trademarks or copyrights on your work. If your business will be incorporated, a partnership or have employees, obtain an Employer Identification Number (EIN) through the IRS. Determine if you are required to charge sales tax on your product or service and become familiar with the process, if needed. Register your business name (this is usually necessary to open a business checking account) and obtain any local, state or federal licenses required to operate your business.

Confirm that you have adequate insurance coverage - Talk to your insurance agent about the need for additional homeowner's insurance to cover your business equipment, inventory, liability, etc. Depending on your business and personal circumstances, you also may want to investigate professional liability and health insurance.

Be creative in financing the start-up or expansion of your small business - Consider loaning yourself the money from personal savings or a financial windfall, borrowing from family and friends or obtaining business loans from banks or government programs. You may want to consult a financial advisor before you use credit cards, home equity or retirement assets to fund your business. After your business is underway, consider these cash-flow tips: invoice promptly; periodically evaluate and raise your prices; work on retainer; get some or all of your money up-front and have access to a prudent business reserve such as a savings account, credit line or credit card. Create and use a spending plan to operate and grow your business.

Get ready for business taxes - It's critical to keep complete and separate records for your business; and to track all income and expenses. This includes recording all sales, invoices, receipts, payroll and purchases as well as keeping copies of all receipts, invoices and cancelled checks. Record your business mileage in a logbook that you keep in your vehicle. You may want to meet with a tax advisor/CPA to learn about the various state and local tax and accounting issues for your business, these issues include potential deductions and substantiation requirements, when to pay estimated taxes and if you are planning on hiring an employee.

Last but not least, save for your retirement - Once you start generating an income from your business, consider saving a percentage of it every year in a SEP-IRA or other small-business retirement account. SEP accounts are easy to set up and your contributions are tax deductible. Once your account is established, you can contribute every year up to your tax filing deadline, including any extensions. In 2007, you can generally contribute the lesser of 25 percent of your salary or $45,000. Your contributions can vary each year, offering you some flexibility when business or personal conditions vary.

Whether you're just getting started as a "mompreneur" or have operated a home-based business for several years, you may face both personal and business challenges. Consider consulting a professional financial advisor to help you set financial goals and create an action plan to achieve them.

Need exercise? Try Walk Nebraska

If you have been participating in the N-Lighten program, do any type of walking or want to get started walking, you might be interested in a program that is unique - you learn about the great activities which will translate into miles walked as you travel along a trail of your choosing. You can select from five different trails that cross our state ranging in length from several hundred miles to over 600 miles.

As you daily or weekly record your miles, a map will appear which shows your progress along the trail. You will also view pictures of landmarks, historical sites and beautiful scenery. At certain points along each route, walking tips, nutrition information and physical activity ideas will be displayed. When you reach the end of the trail, you may print your own "certificate of completion". Chances are you will want to continue your virtual walk by making another trail selection.

The website also includes newsletters, resources and links to other walking programs. It was developed by the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension to promote physical activity as part of a healthy lifestyle, as well as Nebraska tourism. Contact your local extension office for additional information.

state of Nebraska as you take part in a "virtual" walking program. All that is required is a good pair of walking or running shoes, a method for measuring miles completed (pedometer, walking trail, track, etc) and internet access. Here is how the program works: go to the website at www.walknebraska.org. Instructions will be given for recording your walking

Amy Golz is inducted into honor society

Amy L Golz was inducted into the Alpha Omega Zeta Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa at Laramie County Community College recently.

Golz, majoring in Agricultural Sciences, is the daughter of Larry and Jan Magnuson of Wayne, and is married to Jason Golz of Cheyenne, Wyo.

Established in 1918 by two-year college presidents, Phi Theta Kappa is the oldest and most prestigious honor society serving two-year colleges around the world. The Society serves to recognize and encourage the academic achievement of two-year college students and provide opportunities for individual growth and development through honors, leadership and service programming.

Students must rank in the top 20 percent of the class to be invited to membership in Phi Theta Kappa and must maintain high academic standing during their enrollment in the two-year college. Phi Theta Kappa is the largest honor society in American higher education with more than 1.7 million members and 1,100 chapters located in 50 United States, United States territories, Canada, and Germany. In 1929, the American Association of Community Colleges recognized Phi Theta Kappa as the official honor society for two-year colleges. The Society holds membership in the prestigious Association of College Honor Societies as the general scholarship honor society representing two-year colleges.

Diet not successful

A friend sent a card a couple of weeks ago. It features two ladies on the front, one with one of those collars placed on dogs and cats to keep them from bothering stitches. It says "It's the latest thing. It's called the veterinarian's diet."

Inside she comments that she could probably figure out a way to bypass the collar and get food. But, she adds that she has now lost 15 pounds. Which makes me very jealous.

I am now officially a diet drop out. Since confession is supposed to be good for the soul, I share that news with all of you. And I had such great intentions. Really, I did. Doesn't everyone who starts a diet?

A gal at work lost 50 pounds last year. When I asked her how, she said she and her husband were both using the South Beach plan. Plus, I noticed they were both walking after work. On bad weather days, they walked the halls at Tabitha.

I found the book on that particular diet plan at a used book store (that should have been a clue) and brought it home. It's a modified Atkins in that it allows lots of vegetables and no potatoes. The author, a physician, is convinced that some foods have a high glycemic value and should be avoided.

So, on Ash Wednesday, the Big Farmer and I committed to the new food plan. Phase one, which lasts two weeks, was especially hard. No potatoes, no bread, no fruit, no milk, no cereal. We had eggs for breakfast every morning. Lots of meat, fish, spinach, lettuce, all that stuff. After the first week, we had each lost five pounds. (I think they say those first five pounds are the easiest, and probably all water.)

In phase two, the third week, we could add a fruit a day and milk. I soon learned something about myself when I'm home and not at work, I snack! This diet also allows 15 almonds a day; I was eating four times that amount.

Anyway, after sticking to the basic plan for the rest of Lent, neither one of us lost another pound. Discouraging, to say the least. Of course, for Easter, we ate potatoes, both white and sweet, and bread and pie. Although I did make the pie with low fat, low sugar ingredients. Since then, we've basically slipped back into our old ways. And I have gained that five pounds right back! Disgusting.

So, for now at least, while the weather is decent, it's back to walking for yours truly. An arthritis specialist I heard last Friday said that 30 percent of cancer and heart disease, 50 percent of diabetes, and lots of arthritis pain can be alleviated by WALKING! We went to Seward yesterday to watch a grandson's track meet and were struck by the obesity of the adults who were viewing. We really do need to do something.

And, when reading labels, it's striking how much sugar is in stuff. Sugar, and high fructose corn syrup, which is supposed to be hard for the liver to process. There is a reason for the fat, and it isn't all due to lard. Wish me luck; I at least need to lose that same five pounds again. And I don't want a veterinarian's collar!

Providing water to pastured livestock is vital

By Bruce Anderson, UNL Extension Forage Specialist

Water distribution to livestock is one of the most critical parts of good grazing management. In a moment we'll discuss ways to provide water throughout your pastures.

Plentiful, reliable, good quality water is essential for grazing livestock. Without good water, it doesn't matter how effective other grazing management practices might be.

But how important is location of that water? Animals resist traveling far from water. They graze very little when more than a half mile away from water in rough country or a mile away on flat land. Under 1000 feet is the ideal. If they have to travel far for water, they spend less time grazing, they burn off pounds walking, and they graze distant areas incompletely.

Poor water distribution also transfers nitrogen, phosphorus, and other nutrients as manure and urine are deposited near water sites or along the path to water. Nutrients in these deposits are concentrated and wasted in areas with little grass. A more even distribution of these deposits would grow more grass.

So - how can you improve your water distribution? More ponds, windmills, wells, and dugouts will help, but they can get expensive. Plus, they can only be placed in certain locations and can't be moved. Thus, my preference often is to use a pipeline. They can be put almost anywhere. And water lines are less expensive than you might think. Most folks can get pipe and frost-proof trenching for less than $1/foot. You also can leave your pipe on top of the ground, saving trenching costs, if you only need water during the growing season.

Over time, these water improvements pay for themselves with better grass and improved animal performance.

Something you're born to do

Everybody has something that they do best. It's something you're born to do. Farming is like that. It's not easy and it's not for everybody.

Some years right at the very last minute a storm comes through, takes a would be bumper crop and flattens it like a pancake. It takes courage to face those odds every year. You have to believe in agriculture to do that.

We believe in it, too. Ag banking...it's what we do best. If you're in agriculture, we would like to be your bank.

Safely Home
I am home in Heaven, dear ones; Oh, so happy and so bright! There is perfect joy and beauty In this everlasting light.

All the pain and grief is over, Every restless tossing passed; I am now at peace forever, Safely home in Heaven at last.

Did you wonder I so calmly Trod the valley of the shade? Oh! but Jesus' love illumined Every dark and fearful glade.

And He came Himself to meet me In that way so hard to tread; And with Jesus' arm to lean on, Could I have one doubt or dread?

Then you must not grieve so sorely For I love you dearly still; Try to look beyond earth's shadows, pray to trust our Father's Will.

There is work still waiting for you, So you must not idly stand; Do it now, while life remaineth - You shall rest in Jesus' land.

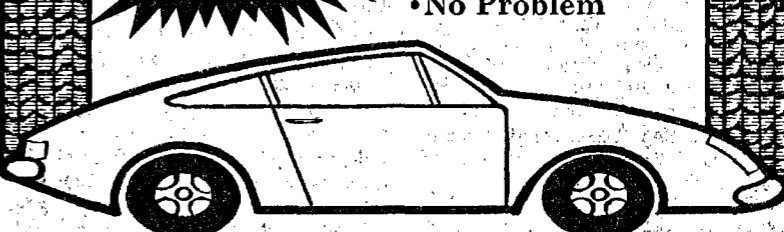

When that work is all completed, He will gently call you Home; Oh, the rapture of that meeting, Oh, the joy to see you come!

A sincere and heartfelt thank you for all the memorials, beautiful flowers and cards, expressions of sympathy and kindness extended to us at the time of Mother's passing. A special thank you to Pastors Littenkamp and Pasche and Bonnadell Koch for the comforting words and beautiful music at her service. Grace Ladies, thank you for the nice lunch. And to our special friend, Fauneil Bennet, thank you for letting our family use your home as a "home base". Everything was greatly appreciated.

The family of Ellaine Vahlkamp.

and 5) authorize NRD staff or their representatives to perform inspections of flow meters installed to comply with the NRD Groundwater Management Area Rules and Regulations. Both oral and written testimony will be accepted at the hearing on May 24, 2007. Written testimony may also be mailed to the NRD at the Lower Elkhorn NRD, P.O. Box 1204, Norfolk, NE 68702, or delivered to the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources NRD office, Suite 101 in the Lifelong Learning Center, at the Northeast Community College Campus, at 601 East Benjamin Avenue, in Norfolk, Nebraska, prior to the hearing. The Groundwater Management Area Rules and Regulations enforce policies established in the NRD's Groundwater Management Plan, which was adopted by the NRD Board of Directors and approved by the Nebraska Department of Natural Resources in 1998. The contents of the Groundwater Management Plan include the NRD reservoir life goal, which is to "provide an adequate supply of acceptable quality groundwater to forever fulfill the reasonable groundwater demands within the NRD for domestic, municipal, agricultural, industrial, wildlife and other uses deemed beneficial by the NRD Board" as well as information about groundwater and its use in the NRD, and the goals, policies, objectives and programs of the NRD Board of Directors to achieve the reservoir life goal. No changes are proposed for the NRD Groundwater Management Plan. Copies of the proposed amendments to the NRD Rules and Regulations are available for viewing at the NRD office at 601 E. Benjamin Avenue, Suite 101, in Norfolk, Nebraska, and on the NRD's website at www.lnrdr.org. The NRD Groundwater Management Area was formed in 1997, and includes the entire NRD as well as the following aquifers: 1. Ogallala Group and overlying deposits, 2. Niobrara Formation and overlying deposits, 3. Dakota Group and overlying deposits, 4. All other aquifers supplying groundwater for beneficial uses. No changes are proposed for the geographic and stratigraphic boundaries of the Groundwater Management Area. Current Groundwater Management Area Rules and Regulations require water well permits for new and replacement wells that are designed to pump more than fifty (50) gallons per minute within the entire Groundwater Management Area, and no changes are proposed for water well permit regulations. The following is a general description of the proposed amendments to the NRD Groundwater Management Area Rules and Regulations, which apply to the entire NRD: 1) The NRD proposes to amend portions of the Groundwater Management Area Rules and Regulations in an effort to better define the rules and programs of the NRD. 2) The transfer of any water well permit issued under RULE 3 (which deals with water well permit requirements) of the NRD Groundwater Management Area Rules and Regulations shall not be allowed from one person to another person. 3) The NRD Board of Directors recognizes the need for improved groundwater use data throughout the NRD. Therefore, a) the NRD shall require the proper installation and maintenance of flow meters on wells permitted on or after August 1, 2007, except for the situations described in the next paragraph of this Hearing Notice; b) the NRD shall require the reporting of data from these flow meters; and c) the NRD authorizes NRD staff and/or their representatives to have access to these flow meters to perform inspections of the flow meters. The proposed amendments also explain the requirements for flow meter specifications, installation, care, maintenance, use, seals, and repair. Any water well permit issued by the District on or after August 1, 2007 (that is, the approval date of the water well permit was on or after August 1, 2007) shall include a condition that requires the owner to equip the well (or wells) with a District approved flow meter prior to groundwater withdrawal, except that: a. Replacement Well - a flow meter shall not be required for a replacement well if the construction of the original water well being replaced commenced before the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District Groundwater Management Area began on January 1, 1997, or if a water well permit was issued prior to August 1, 2007 for the original water well being replaced; b. Well Modification - a flow meter shall not be required for any water well modification, as described in RULE 3(d) of the NRD rules and regulations, if construction of the well being modified was originally commenced prior to August 1, 2007; c. Late Permit - a flow meter shall not be required for any water well requiring a late permit under RULE 3 of the NRD rules and regulations if construction of that well commenced before August 1, 2007; and d. Inactive Status Well - a flow meter shall not be required for any water well that is registered with the Nebraska Department of Natural Resources as an 'inactive' status well if construction of the well commenced prior to January 1, 1997, or if a water well permit was issued prior to August 1, 2007 for the well. A flow meter shall be required when the registration of a water well with the Department is modified from 'inactive' to 'active' status, provided a water well permit was issued after August 1, 2007 for the well. 4) Require the following reports from owners of flow meters installed to comply with NRD Rules and Regulations: Reporting Flow Meter Installation - groundwater users shall report the installation of a flow meter to the NRD within 30 days of its installation. Annual Reporting - groundwater users shall submit a report of groundwater withdrawal to the NRD annually, in a format provided by the NRD. The report must be received by the NRD or postmarked by the first Friday of December each year. Reporting Malfunctioning Flow Meter - any malfunctioning flow meter must be reported to the NRD within five (5) days following its discovery. The groundwater user shall report to the NRD the totalizer reading before repairing the meter on-site or removing the flow meter for repair. 5) The NRD may inspect flow meters upon installation for proper installation and operation, may periodically inspect flow meters to ensure proper maintenance and readings, and shall seal flow meters to prevent tampering.
