

School board approves hiring of several staff members for summer

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

Wayne Community Schools Board of Education met in regular session on Monday night. Approval was given on the hiring of the following people for the summer: Ashley Hall and Kevin Roberts as part-time custodians (Hall, 20 hours per week and Roberts up to 30 hours per week); Michele Jorgensen to work with a blind student; Deb Daum and Margaret Ritze as SPED paraprofessionals. Also approved was the resignation with regrets of Shari Dunklau.

Financial claims were approved. Three gifts were accepted: $500 from Rusty Parker, State Farm Insurance, for the high school band activity fund, an Epson projector from the Booster Club and a monetary gift of $750 from Pamida Company to go towards getting laptop computers in the elementary school.

Dr. Joe Reinert, superintendent, noted that Otte Construction had provided names of architects who designed elevators in schools. After an architect is hired, a contractor will be hired to construct the elevator in the high school as the chair lift is wearing out.

Bids were accepted on the rental agreement on the postage meter for $59.95 and a fuel contract with Nebraska School Bus of $25,946.40 monthly for a nine month period plus additional charges for after school activities.

Administration reports were given: Peg Lutt, curriculum director, noted the State of the Schools report will be released in August.

Mark Hanson, high school principal, shared the 2007 senior exit report prepared by Terry Munson, high school counselor. Of the 68 graduates, two went on to work, one was going into the military, those going into post secondary colleges: four year: 41 and two year (technical, cosmetology, trade schools): 23.

Hanson also discussed drivers education which concluded on June 8. There were 111 students from Wayne, Winside and Wisner who attended. Providence Medical Center provided $1,500 towards student's driver education fees, based on need. A SCIP team report was given. The high school SCIP team attempts to meet individually with students cited for alcohol/drug (including tobacco) possession/consumption. Referrals can come from faculty, staff, parents, students, community. There were 12 student interventions in the '06-07 school year.

Daryl Schunk, elementary school principal, turned into the board a quote from Gateway of $38,000 for laptop computers in the elementary building and $12,000 for maintenance for those computers. It was noted another bid would be needed before a purchase order would go out. Also, it's possible that the Foundation could help raise funds for the computers and WEB could raise funds for the maintenance. Kaye Morris, board president, said the school couldn't commit to getting the laptops because the funds aren't available and they can't guarantee the new computers would fall into their replacement cycle. Dr. Reinert noted there are around 300 computers in the district.

Schunk said Jump Start summer school will run from July 30-Aug. 10 from 8:30 - 10:30 a.m. So far, 68 students are signed up to attend. He also noted painting walls in the elementary building is going well. WEB paid for $500 so far for painting.

He told board members that fourth grade teacher Lori Ruskamp has been accepted for a workshop in Pennsylvania on how to teach about the Underground Railroad. She was the only teacher in Nebraska chosen to attend this workshop.

Tim Krupicka, Middle School principal, noted he gave a tour of the Middle School building recently to several city administrators. He noted there are few remodeled 100 year old schools in the state.

Kelly Ballinger, SPED director, discussed MEPS (speech and occupational therapy) reimbursement.

Rocky Ruhl, athletic director, noted the Athletic Boosters provided the funds for air conditioning and heating in the weight room and also a shop vac. He added that the new bleachers are in the gym at the high school.

Dr. Reinert noted he is on the committee of the 35 Expressway Corridor and said there will be a public hearing this summer on the project. He also said Milo Meyer Construction donated $1,055 in labor to smooth out some grass and dirt piles on school grounds. First reading of policy 6002 was approved with changes. The board retreat is set for Tuesday, July 10 from 12:30 - 4:30 p.m. at the high school.

Future agenda items include a presentation by Lori Ruskamp, second reading of policy 6002 and two bids for laptops.

The next meeting of the school board will be Monday, July 9 at 5 p.m. at the high school in Wayne.

Relay 2007

Nichols has been volunteer with the local Red Cross chapter for many years

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

Mary Nichols of rural Wayne, a long-time volunteer of the local Red Cross chapter, recently shared some of her memories of the organization that she has been a volunteer with for over 30 years.

Nichols noted her involvement with the group started in 1964 when she received a $50 scholarship from Red Cross to attend nursing school. She graduated from nursing school in 1967, worked in the area and was involved in the local chapter.

Mary Nichols

Once a month she helped Joceil Bull with blood pressure checks at the senior centers, the Villa and once a year at the Wayne County Fair; she still helps give blood pressure checks at the Wayne Senior Center. At the center, she prints up cards the seniors can bring with them each month so they have a history of their screening and if they need to see a doctor, they have the information.

In the early years, the local chapter met at the Dick Armstrong home in Wayne (Armstrong was married to Marjorie Ley). Armstrong was chair of the organization then. Some of the volunteers and their duties through the years included Louise (CPR, first aid) and Miron Jenness (disaster, first aid), Berneice Fulton (water safety, first aid instructor), Sandy Lyman, LeRoy Janssen (Wayne County Sheriff), Wayne Denklaue (Wayne County Veterans Service officer), Linda Teach (water safety, first aid instructor).

"There were very few guidelines then," Nichols said. "We only met once or twice a year. We operated on money that had been left to the Red Cross from Hattie Fields Jacobs and also from other donations. Most of the funds were used to help strangers traveling through town with needs such as gas, food and lodging. It took awhile to realize that some people live that way, depending on Red Cross and Salvation Army from town to town."

Nichols added that Armstrong also felt it

Meeting dates to change in July

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

Meeting dates, parking regulations and trash cans were among the items on the agenda when the Wayne City Council met in regular session on Tuesday.

Following the passage of Ordinance 2007-4 and the waiving of the third reading, council meetings will be held the first and third Tuesday of each month, beginning with the July meetings.

Council members had earlier debated the possibility of changing the time of the meetings back to 7:30 p.m. on the second and last Tuesday of each month. However, council members opted to change the meeting dates rather than the meeting time.

Ordinance 2007-5, which deals with parking surfaces for property owners with corner lots, failed as written and will be brought back at a future meeting.

Council members debated the type of parking surface necessary for corner lots and determined that the parking surface on both sides of a building on a corner lot should have some type of parking surface other than grass or dirt.

After discussion, the council voted against having trash receptacles in the downtown area.

Trash cans were removed from light poles several years ago and reports indicate no additional garbage has been thrown on the streets.

Council member Verdel Lutt listed three reasons why he was opposed to having trash receptacles. They include vandalism, the possibility of fire and flies.

Foreclosure proceedings will begin on property at 502 East 6th Street. Nearly $18,000 in costs to abate nuisances on the property have been incurred by the city over the past several years and the council felt it was time to move forward to force the payment of the liens on the property.

Considerable debate was held on a request by the Sharp Shooters 4-H Club to use/rent the Community Activity Center for the 2008 Nebraska State 4-H BB Gun and Air Rifle Championships.

The same event was held at the CAC in 2004 and according to Darin Gruenke, Leader of the group, "was a huge success."

Gruenke said several recreational groups ran a concession stand at the 2004 event and he said that would be possible again in 2008. He also told the council that the group had insurance through the University of Nebraska.

Council members had no problems allowing the facility to be used for the event, but questioned the amount of rent, if any, would be charge for use of the facility.

Several council members felt that allowing the facility to be used for no charge would set a precedent.

Instead, the council voted to allow the Sharp Shooters to use the facility April 5-6, 2008 and pay the non-profit fee.

In a related item, the council gave its approval for the Sharp Shooters 4-H Club to have a shooting gallery style 4-H shooting sports trailer during Henoween and Chicken Show events.

The council also took action to move forward with grant applications for the construction of a speculative building.

Dave Simonsen, Director of Wayne Area Economic Development, Inc. told the council that "the spec building is a marketing tool to get people into the community." He

Safety Council to partner for classes

Northeast Community College and the Nebraska Safety Council will partner to offer two, half-day safety seminars in July.

The first seminar, Crane and Hoist Safety Training, meets Tuesday, July 10 from 8-11:30 a.m. in the Lifelong Learning Center. The National Safety Council's safety professionals will translate OSHA regulations on overhead and gantry cranes into terms participants can use. They will also show participants how to put them into practice. Students will learn practices and procedures that will keep them in compliance and, best of all, help protect their employees.

This course covers: OSHA Overhead and Gantry Cranes regulation (29 CFR Subpart N, 1910.179) and Slings regulation (29 CFR Subpart N 1910.184); Crane and sling terminology; Four types of crane inspections; Safe sling operation procedures; Recordkeeping requirements for slings, and the importance of best practices.

Cost of this half-day seminar is $75 for members, $89 for non-members, and includes refreshments and materials.

Another half-day seminar, Forklift Operator Training, is set for the same day July 10 from 12:30-3:30 p.m. in the Lifelong Learning Center.

Forklift training is required for all operators to develop and reinforce safe operating practices, learn the differences between various lift trucks, reduce injuries to co-workers and operators, and minimize damage to property and cargo. This course meets the latest OSHA classroom training requirements and must be supplemented by site-specific, hands-on training and evaluation.

Certificates will be issued upon successful completion. Cost of this class is $55 for safety council members, $65 for non-members, and includes refreshments and materials.

To register for either or both of these seminars, call the Nebraska Safety Council at (888)704-7233, Ext. 108, or visit www.nesafety-council.org.

Siouxland Blood Bank needs heroes to maintain community supply

The "Heroes Unite, It's About Life" campaign is currently underway with volunteer blood donors that donate with the Siouxland Community Blood Bank. With the help of local Fire, Police and Rescue squads, this recruitment campaign is encouraging citizens to become regular volunteer blood donors during the summer months to help prepare for the blood needs of 36 area hospitals.

Your next opportunity to donate in Wayne is Thursday June 28 from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Wayne Fire Department.

The Heroes Unite, It's About Life campaign is a competition for all communities to take part in and runs from May 1 to Sept. 30 during which the blood bank will be conducting blood drives throughout the tri-state area.

The top three communities with the highest percentage of blood donors registering to donate in comparison to the combined size of their fire, police and rescue squads will be honored by the Siouxland Community Blood Bank and given a monetary award of up to $1000 to go towards community fire and rescue equipment. The award has been provided through corporate sponsorship from Cargill Inc., Prstige Collision Repair and McClintock Insurance.

If you are donating in a different community you can still give your home town credit for the "Heroes Unite, It's About Life" contest. When you register to donate blood just let the Siouxland Community Blood Bank employee know which community you would like to give credit to that day.

To be eligible to donate blood individuals must be at least 17 years of age; however there is no upper age limit as long as the donor is in good health. In addition donors need to weigh over 110 pounds and have not donated whole blood in the past 56 days. A photo I.D. is required at the time of registration.

Two burglaries occur in Wayne County

Sometime during the late evening hours of 5-28-07 to the early morning hours of 5-29-07 two businesses were broken into through windows and items were removed. One of those businesses was Rohde's Body Shop in Carroll and the other business was the Farmer's Coop in Winside. Taken from the Body Shop in Carroll was a two to three square foot safe on wheels. Taken from the Co-op in Winside was a small amount of cash from the cash register.

Both of those burglaries continue to be under investigation by the Wayne County Sheriff's Office. If anyone has any information about those burglaries, please contact the Sheriff's Office and your information can remain anonymous. It would be appreciated.

Library programs continue through the summer

The Wayne Public Library will be hosting a number of activities for younger readers in upcoming weeks.

Family program kicks off on Tuesday, June 19 at 6:30 p.m. The whole family is invited to Wayne State College, for a planetarium show.

"Parking will still probably be an issue, so be prepared to hike over from a nearby side street or larger parking lot to the science building. We will be seeing the night sky, and learning about recognizable constellations, and don't forget the door prizes! It should be a nice family night out," said Julie Osnes, Youth Services Director.

The next family event will be held at the Wayne Fair Grounds. It will be a Geo Cache Treasure Hunt! Those attending will learn all about tracking with GPS technology and have a great time with your kids. This event will take place Wednesday, June 27 at 6:30 p.m.

"We also have a teen night murder mystery planned for Wednesday, July 11, 6:30 p.m. Only students, in grades seven and up will be admitted," Osnes said.

The July session of the Summer Reading program will begin on Thursday, June 28.

Nebraska Humanities Council storyteller, Matthew "Sitting Bear" Jones, will tell how the Kiowa Tales solved the mystery of why the coyote howls and why the crow is black! Anyone signed up for the July summer reading program can come to the program. It is for both Tuesday and Thursday groups.

Jacobs travels to Gambella

Editor's note: This is the sixth in a series of articles written by Dean Jacobs about his travel excursions through Ethiopia.

After a day that started at 5 a.m. and ended at midnight, I didn't care what kind of bed I had, as long as I had a bed. My 12 Birr or $1.50 bed wasn't exactly what I would prefer in the small town of Agaro, but I was exhausted.

I took the extra shirt in my bag and laid it over the pillow where I would rest my head. I didn't trust the bed enough to crawl under the covers, so I crashed on top and used my jacket as a blanket. Just as I was about to fall asleep, I felt something crawling on my skin where my shirt had an opening. Too tired to care, I swept my hand over the area, tucked my shirt back in and fell asleep hoping what ever it was, that it would just go away.

Too soon, I hear a knock, knock, knock on my door at 4 a.m. "Mr. Dean, it's time to go." My dream of a long warm shower was wakened to the reality of another 10-hour bus ride.

As the day worn on, so did the seat of my pants. Often I would stand in an attempt to move blood to certain locations in my body that seemed cut off from its normal supply. My knees stiffened as the pain from arthritis kept me awake for the last three hours of the trip.

After passing through a couple of police check points where they were checking for guns, we finally pulled into the bus station of Gambella. I use this word loosely, because the station is actually just a roadside location where the buses congregate.

The street is full in the area called Newland. Newland is a Sudanese refugee area in Gambella. Most of the day it is filled with people walking to the river collecting water for cooking and daily life.

"Mr. Dean, welcome to Gambella," says police commander Dawit. I had met Dawit earlier in Addis Abba, where he offered to help me once I arrived to his town.

"Now we must find you a room. The hotel I prefer is full, so for one night we will have you stay in the tourist hotel, the cost is 15 Birr a night." Here we go again, I say to myself, but too tired to care, I agreed.

"Tomorrow we will move you to a better location, one with a shower," says Dawit. "Then we will help you find the Sudanese refugees who have connections to Nebraska."

"Sounds good," I say, especially the shower part.

As the day ended I thought back to the student, Subow Abdi, who helped me purchase my bus ticket for the journey.

I had asked him, what do you think about the United States?

Subow replied; "I love the people of the United States because they are always willing to help people. They are always one of the first to offer support in disasters or with the large problems in the world."

"It appears to me that Ethiopia shares the same willingness to help people," I said in return.

He smiled and waved goodbye.

Approximately 40 small planes, such as the one above, will be in Wayne next week for the national convention.

Ercoupe convention to be held in Wayne

Airplane enthusiasts will have a chance to view approximately 40 planes at the Wayne Municipal Airport next weekend.

The 31st annual Ercoupe Owner's Club National Convention will be held in Wayne Thursday through Sunday, June 21-24.

The Ercoupe is a small, two-passenger plane that was built in the 1940's through the 1960's. The majority of these planes do not have foot pedals.

Weather-permitting organizers anticipate approximately 40 planes from across the country participating in this year's convention. Registrations have been received from plane owners in Florida, Texas, Wyoming, Montana, Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Nebraska.

Past conventions for ercoupe enthusiasts have been held in Minden, Nebraska and in Texas, Wisconsin, Florida, North Carolina, Iowa and Michigan.

"The public is welcome to come to the airport at any time to view these planes," said Scott Morgan of Allen, one of the organizers of this year's convention. "We want to let people know what this is all about."

Shuttle service will be provided from the airport to motels in Wayne and the downtown area for shopping. Caterers will provide meals at the airfield and a banquet will be held at the Wayne National Guard Armory.

The tentative schedule for the convention includes arrivals and shopping on Thursday. A planetarium show is also being planned for that evening.

On Friday, June 22, a tour of Heritage Homes and Heritage Industries will take place during the day. That evening the public is invited to "Coupes and Cars Fun Night" beginning at 7 p.m.

The Wayne car club will have cars on display and airplanes will be parked for viewing.

"We will have a clown, piano player and homemade ice cream at the airport," Morgan said.

Saturday's plans include a safety seminar, a craft class, conducted by dianne's in downtown Wayne and a banquet at the armory. A number of planes will fly to Martin Field in South Sioux City.

Informational packets with a number of gifts and highlights of the area have been put together and will be distributed to those in attendance.

For more information on the Ercoupe Convention, contact Scott Morgan at (402) 635-2465.

Nebraska State College System sets tuition rates

The Nebraska State College System (NSCS) Board of Trustees increased tuition for undergraduate resident students at Chadron, Peru and Wayne State Colleges by $7.50, June 7. This makes cost per credit hour $110 for the 2007-08 academic year.

"Each year, after receiving our appropriation, we have to consider what is best for our students and our colleges. We work hard to balance the needs of offering the high quality education our students deserve and expect against our fixed expenses that have to be funded," NSCS Chancellor Stan Carpenter said. "The Legislature and Governor provided funding for a good portion of our fixed expenses this year, and we appreciate their recognition of the importance of what we do for the state. There were, however, additional core needs that had to be met in order to continue to serve our students in the best manner possible."

The increase will translate to an additional per semester cost of $112.50 for undergraduate students taking a full load of 15 hours. Tuition for graduate students will be $139.50 a credit hour. Non-resident undergraduates will pay $220 per credit hour, and non-resident graduate students will pay $279.

"Many of the students we educate are first-generation college students from small communities. This is why our mission of access is so critically important. We are always concerned about the level of debt our students carry upon graduation. With less debt, they are more likely to stay in Nebraska to live and work. In fact, across our system about seven out of 10 students do stay in the state to work and lead in their communities," Carpenter said.

The NSCS Board of Trustees includes: Board Chair Bill Roskens of Omaha, Vice Chair Willa Kosman of Scottsbluff, Larry Teahon of Chadron, Carter "Cap" Peterson of Wayne, Floyd Vitiska of Table Rock, Gary Bieganski of Chadron and Doug Christensen of Lincoln, who is also the State Commissioner of Education. The student trustees for 2007-08 are Tyler Thompson of Scottsbluff, Chadron State College representative; Cori Harmon of Dawson, Peru State College representative; and Jennifer Myers of Wahoo, Wayne State College representative.

The Nebraska State College System serves close to 8,000 students from Nebraska and surrounding states through three geographically diverse institutions: Chadron, Peru and Wayne State Colleges. Combined, the three colleges offer more than 200 degree, certificate, and pre-professional programs that are accessible on the three campuses, via the Internet, and in several satellite locations throughout the state.

With more than 250 credentialed faculty members and 50,000 successful graduates, the NSCS provides significant human and intellectual capital that contributes to the current and future economic strength of the State of Nebraska.

Recent Wayne High graduate named Honorary Admiral in the Great Navy of Nebraska

Graduating from high school is an accomplishment for anyone but for someone with cerebral palsy, it's quite an achievement. Recent Wayne High School graduate Michael Schwarten, son of Doug and Paula Schwarten of Wayne, has cerebral palsy and is legally blind since birth. He is confined to a wheelchair but in spite of it all, graduated from high school this spring and plans to attend Wayne State College this fall.

During Schwarten's graduation celebration at his home recently, Sen. Pat Engel of South Sioux City was in attendance and presented Schwarten with the award of Honorary Admiral in the Great Navy of Nebraska, an honor presented by the governor acknowledging his achievement. Sen. Engel has known Michael and his family since the early 1990s, when state funding and programs for families of children with cerebral palsy were in the process of being cut. Since then, Engel and Schwartens have had a close relationship.

The Nebraska Admirals Association was formed in 1986 to promote Nebraska in education, tourism, products, agriculture, enjoy fun activities, develop and maintain ports in the state, build pride, recycle state assets, include fleet of flagships in the Nebraska Navy. It has been a practice of NAA members to award commissions to the more or less prominent. NAA members meet and host sailors from the USS Nebraska Trident Submarine, converse with government officials and community leaders and commission new ports.

Adult Summer Reading Program offered at Wayne Public Library

Wayne Public Library is hosting something new this summer: an Adult Summer Reading Program. Unlike the annual Children's Summer Reading Program where many books are read, the adult program will focus on one book. Fifteen copies of Bob Greene's book, "Once Upon a Town: the miracle of the North Platte canteen," will be available for checkout during June and July. There will also be a copy of the book in large print and on cassette. Participants may choose to purchase the book for $5.

The theme will center on Nebraska's efforts during World War II. The group will meet three evenings during the summer. On June 18, they will view a DVD called "The Canteen Spirit" which will provide a background for the focus book.

On July 9, the book itself and its meaning to the reader will be discussed. To round out the program on Aug. 6, beginning with an all-American picnic, Wayne Public Library will host guest speaker, Doug Rung. Rung is a retired Social Studies teacher and member of the Speakers Bureau for the Nebraska Humanities Council.

Travel back with Rung to the 1940s and WWII for stories about local military installations, the people involved with their operations and how the war affected the economy and everyday life of many Nebraskans. Rung led his community's oral history project and helped to preserve a unique portion of Nebraska history by those who recounted their memories of war years. He will have memorabilia from the war years to display and welcomes comments, stories and questions from the audience.

All three programs are free and open to the public and will be held at the Wayne Senior Center. June and July programs will start at 6:30 p.m. Light refreshments will be served each evening. The August event will begin at 6 p.m. with the picnic. A free-will donation will be accepted to defray the cost of the food. Nebraska Humanities Council and the Wayne County United Way are helping to fund this program. Stop in or call the library at 375-3135 for more information.

also talked about several grants his office hopes to apply for and the fact that the city needs to be the applicant for a Department of Economic Development grant.

Council members discussed the method of financing both the building and a marketing plan for the building.

Several resolutions received approval during Tuesday's meeting.

These included Resolution 2007-55, which adopts an amended retirement 457 Plan for the police officers and dispatchers and Resolution 2007-57, which accepts a bid from Hattig Construction to replace the Library/Senior Center roof.

Resolution 2007-58 was also approved. It establishes a 2007 residential sidewalk replacement cost-share program to deal with properties having water service shut-off valve extensions protruding above the sidewalk.

Garry Poutre told council members he had identified several places in the city that had water valves extending above the sidewalk, due to the sidewalk sinking.

The council heard an update on the Summer Sports Complex Building.

Drawings were passed out and a timeline for demolition and completion of a new concession/restroom facility were discussed.

Two special designated liquor permits were granted during the meeting, both connected with the Wayne Chicken Show. The first was for Cindy Milligan with the Bar M to use a grassy area and the sidewalk near her business for a beer garden. The second will allow for a beer garden in Carhart's parking lot for a dance on Saturday evening, July 14.

The council approved appointments to a number of boards.

They include Maureen Kingston and Betty Heier to the Library Board, Sharon Braun, Jill Sweetland and Mark Sorensen to the Planning Commission and Bob Keating, Lesa Backstrom, Kris Loberg and Laura Gamble to the Recreation-Leisure Services Commission.

The council will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, June 26 at 5:30 p.m.

Area county representatives meet to discuss idea of a regional jail

Continuing exploration of a regional jail, representatives of four northeast Nebraska counties met in Wisner recently to discuss common interests and what needs to happen to bring the idea to reality. Cuming, Wayne, Stanton and Thurston county representatives were on hand for the meeting that Wisner Economic Development organized.

At the meeting, they decided to form an advisory committee with members from each county. Suggestions included that each county should have a board member, law enforcement officer and an at-large member of the county serve on the advisory committee.

So far, no site has been chosen for a regional jail but it was noted that the location could play a part in the decision because of cost associated with having to travel to a jail further away than where the counties are already taking prisoners.

Of the four counties, Thurston is the only one that still has a jail but it doesn't meet the new jail standards but because of modifications, passes routine jail inspections. The other counties bring their prisoners to jails in the area.

Cuming County is in phase two of planning a 50 bed jail but could modify plans and host the jail if the other counties commit to sending prisoners. If the jail were located in West Point, prisoners could come from counties nearby and if it were built in Wisner, prisoners could possibly come from both Wayne and Stanton counties.

Wayne County Sheriff LeRoy Janssen and Mike Unger, Stanton County Sheriff, agree that Cuming County is considering doing many things to become marketable. According to Sheriff Janssen, "The formation of an area advisory board, placement in a strategic location such as in the Wisner area, video arrangements to reduce prisoner transportation costs and the willingness to consider other areas of collaboration, such as in the field of emergency service dispatching makes the Cuming County decision to construct a facility as an asset to our local area."

County representatives did not set a date for another meeting but several noted they are happy with the discussions and hope they can all work together, which should save money. If the group decides to meet again, Lee Myers of Wisner Economic Development said they could facilitate.

Chicken Show less than a month away

The cement chickens are here, the shirts have been printed and the live chickens are in training. These facts can mean only one thing - The Chicken Show is coming.

The 2007 Wayne Chicken Show will be held Friday and Saturday, July 13 and 14. This will be the 27th year for the event.

Organizers have been working to plan for traditional favorites as well as adding new events to this year's show.

Among the events scheduled is a 5k Run and one mile walk to be held Saturday, July 14, beginning at 7 a.m.

The 5K Run and one mile walk are "out and back" and will follow the flat Wayne Community Walking Trail. It will begin and end at Henry Victor Park.

The event is being sponsored by Stadium Sports, Pac 'N' Save and Impressions.

Registrations may be obtained online and should be returned to Michelle Remming, c/o Wayne Chicken Days 5K, 513 North Main Street, Wayne, Neb. 68787.

was important to provide swim tickets to the city pool to children who couldn't afford to buy them.

The first official local Red Cross board had nine members with LeRoy Janssen and Louise Jenness serving as co-chairs.

The local chapter has been located in a number of buildings in Wayne through the years. Some of those include the laundromat at 9th and Main Street, the basement of the post office, above where Harder and Ankeny is located 223 Main Street and where the bus barn is (Nebraska School Bus, Inc. at 216 W. 1st Street).

Nichols has been a volunteer disaster responder with the American Red Cross for around 15 years. She has serviced many single-family fires in and around Wayne, as well as responded to major events like the tornado in Coleridge in June, 2003 and the tornado that hit the Lutt family farm south of Wayne in 2004.

She noted the tornado by Coleridge was the worst disaster

she remembers. She helped with the aftermath, as did a number of area volunteers and the destruction was unbelievable.

"It looked like a machine came in and gobbled up several farms and sprayed the buildings and machinery into the windbreaks," Nichols said. "There was debris for miles. So many people showed up afterwards to help and trying to organize them was quite a job."

Nichols added the most frustrating thing for her as a Red Cross volunteer is when people lose everything, you can't give them back what they had. There are national guidelines that direct what can be given. She notes that maybe that's a good thing in the long run because otherwise she would have given everything away a long time ago.

"Mary has been a long-time volunteer for the American Red Cross and during that time has been in charge of and maintained the First Aid Booth at the Wayne County Fair for over 30 years. In her early years, she took vacation days from her full-time employment to cover

Local Red Cross celebrating 90 years in Wayne

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

The Northeast Nebraska Chapter of the American Red Cross at 112 E. 2nd Street, is celebrating 90 years in Wayne. The local non-profit organization was chartered on June 2, 1917. The National American Red Cross was founded by Clara Barton on May 21, 1881 in Washington, D.C. The U.S. Congress helped to design the program but the federal government gives no funds to the organization. American Red Cross chapters were started in each county in the U.S. at this time.

As time went by, National Red Cross gave the smaller chapters more requirements to meet. In 1995-96, chapters across the U.S. were required to re-charter or become a state service delivery area. Standards were set which had to be met, such as having a public front office, set office hours (a minimum 2-4 hours a day), a computer with internet and email, a fax machine, provide 24 hour a day coverage and a board with at least nine members. Three years ago they were switched from those standards to Chapter Performance Indicators, which was started as a result of 9-11.

In 1995-96, Wayne American Red Cross chapter volunteers LeRoy Janssen and Louise Jenness co-chaired, at the beginning, to share the responsibility and newness of everything there was to re-learn.

Another requirement was that

each location had to have a paid staff member. Lisa Hochstein was the first paid staff person in Wayne. Other paid staff through the years include Wade Gilliland (part time), Lori Carollo, executive director (full time) and Heather Claussen, service delivery director (part time).

Board member terms are set at three years with the option that a person can be on for two consecutive terms and then must be off for a minimum of one year (unless special or emergency situations arise that can be voted on by the board as a whole).

About two years ago, the Wayne County chapter changed their name to the Northeast Nebraska Chapter to better encompass their service area. The state had relied on the Wayne chapter to cover Cedar, Cuming, Dixon, Knox and Thurston counties for disaster response and health and safety service training so the board requested a more "broad" name change for the chapter.

On July 1, the Madison/Stanton American Red Cross chapter will combine operations with the Northeast Nebraska chapter. The new chapter will operate under Lori Carollo, executive director and serve Madison, Stanton, Wayne, Cedar, Cuming, Dixon, Knox, Pierce and Thurston counties.

All administrative, reporting and personnel services of the Northeast Nebraska Chapter of the Red Cross will be provided by the Wayne office. Everything else will essentially stay the same in both chapters as far as services offered. This includes the weekly blood drives remaining every Tuesday in Norfolk. A full time service delivery director is being hired to run the chapter office in Norfolk but will be additionally responsible for all services throughout the nine counties served.

Presently, there are 18 members on the local Red Cross board, but with the upcoming expansion of their service area, that number will raise to 20-24 so there are representatives from all nine counties.

There are 10 American Red Cross chapters left in Nebraska and they are: the N.E. Nebr. area chapter, Scottsbluff, North Platte, Grand Island, Beatrice, Lincoln, Omaha, Kearney, Columbus and Alliance.

Besides first aid, CPR and disaster training, the local Red Cross has been the leader in aquatics training for many years. They currently take care of approximately 12 pools (soon to be 20 pools) in northeast Nebraska.

A total of over 1,400 American Red Cross "Learn to Swim" classes were offered in the area last summer. Madison, Stanton and Pierce counties will be added to their coverage next summer. They are also the leading organization with life guard training (a 31 hour course), which includes CPR for the professional rescuer. When completed, participants are certified in first aid, CPR/AED and life guarding.

The Northeast Nebraska chapter of the American Red Cross is the smallest chapter in Nebraska, yet they meet and exceed the Chapter Performance Standard requirements every year. The first year, they were the only chapter in Nebraska to meet the criteria (the second year they received the achievement of being a high performer) and this year, they are on target to meet the requirements again.

The annual meeting of the Northeast Nebraska American Red Cross will be on Tuesday, June 19 at 5 p.m., at the Wayne Vet's Club, 220 Main St. At this meeting, the board will vote on any policy/procedure changes, new board members and election of officers. This meeting is open to the public.

If anyone has questions, needs assistance or would like to make a donation, they can call the Red Cross office at 375-5209 or stop in at the office at 112 E. 2nd St in Wayne.

Cornhusker State Games Torch Run gearing up

Ex-University of Nebraska Football Captain Brandon Rigoni, who starred on special teams for the Huskers over the last three seasons, will open the 2007 Cornhusker State Games Torch Run Friday alongside nationally ranked youth boxer Kyle Gorsuch of Dix.

The Games will take place July 20-29 in Lincoln. Those interested can register online at CornhuskerStateGames.com or call 1-800-30-GAMES for more information. Cmdr. Carl Lahti of the USS Nebraska Nuclear Submarine has been named honorary marshal for the 2007 Opening Ceremonies Parade of Athletes.

Both Rigoni, a Lincoln native, and the 12 year-old Gorsuch have a long history of participation in the Cornhusker State Games. Rigoni played soccer in the Games throughout his youth and Gorsuch has won boxing medals the last four years.

The Torch Run begins Friday with an 8:15 a.m. ceremony at the Nebraska-Wyoming border west of Kimball. Major General Roger Lempke, Adjutant General of the Nebraska National Guard, which sponsors the Torch Run along with U.S. Cellular, will deliver opening remarks. Cornhusker State Games Executive Director Dave Mlnarik will also be on hand for the ceremony, which is being hosted by the Kimball Chamber of Commerce.

National Guard Soldier and perennial CSG Torch Runner Nathan Kane, a native of Cresco, is saluting the Cornhusker State Games by flying a CSG flag at his base in Iraq for the duration of the Torch Run. He'll raise the flag at 6:51 p.m. Friday Iraqi time, exactly the time the Torch Run begins west of Kimball. Kane is a member of the 734th Transportation Battalion.

Rigoni, a walk-on who earned the 2006 Lifer of the Year award, was rewarded for his perseverance with a scholarship prior to the 2006 season. He was voted Team Captain in 2006 and was named to the Academic All Big 12 First Team his final three seasons. Despite a 5'6" 185-lb frame, Rigoni used his speed and toughness to lead several special teams units over the 2004-2006 seasons.

Gorsuch is the boxing state champion and is currently ranked third in the nation in his division. He and his family are long-time State Games volunteers and participants.

Rigoni and Gorsuch will be the first of an estimated 900 runners to carry the Torch over its 1,100-mile route to the capital city. The culmination of the Torch Run comes July 20 at the CSG Opening Ceremonies when a mystery torch-lighter ignites the cauldron.

The Torch Run is conducted annually to promote entry in the Cornhusker State Games, which take place July 20-29 in Lincoln with competition in 59 sports. More than 13,000 Nebraskans of all ages and abilities are expected to participate.

Openings for torch runners remain, and those wishing to carry the torch can call 1-800-30-GAMES. More information on the Torch Run and the Cornhusker State Games is available at CornhuskerStateGames.com.

The deadline to register at regular price for most sports in the 2007 Cornhusker State Games is Monday, June 25. After June 25, entrants will incur a late fee.

Cycling race is held

The second in the Northeast Nebraska triple crown of racing is history and was truly "Classic." After a successful Nebraska State Time Trial Championship, Elkhorn Valley Cycling powered by Monster promoted the 2nd Annual Norfolk Classic presented by Monster Energy offering racers great courses in an omnium structure. The final in the event triple header is Psychowpath #7: The Maskenthine XC Classic mountain bike race Aug. 11 at Maskenthine Lake north of Stanton.

The morning 18-mile time trial ran under clear skies and near perfect conditions. Cody McCullough (Powerade-Independent Fabrication) of Sioux City, Iowa set the fastest time and a possible course record, churning it out in 39:52.

Time trial winners were: Junior - Geoff Nelson (Powerade - Independent Fabrication); Women 4 - Megan Neiles (UNMC/Team Kaos); Women Open - Morgan Chaffin (UNMC/Team Kaos); Men 5 (Open) - Jerry Smith (Brookings Cycling Team); Men 5 (35+) - Dan Schultdt (Elkhorn Valley Cycling - powered by Monster); Men 5 (45+) - Jerry Arnold (Unattached); Men 5 (55+) - Richard Hake (Elkhorn Valley Cycling - powered by Monster); Men 4 - Justin Maresh (UNMC/Team Kaos); Men Masters 35+ (3/4) - Mark Brakenbury (UNMC/Team Kaos); Men Masters 45+ (3/4) - Bill Gottberg (The Bike Way); Men Masters 55+ (3/4) - Fred Galata (Omaha Velo Club); Men 3 - Troy Krauss (Lincoln Plating/Lemond); Pro 1/2 - Cody McCullough (Powerade - Independent Fabrication).

The afternoon road race was southeast of Stanton on a hilly and windy 32-mile loop. An early crash in the Cat 5 field sent pre-race favorite Dan Schultdt home with a separated shoulder and left Great Brittan's Graham Rennie-Fowler with a serious case of road rash. Rennie-Fowler was able to finish but Shultdt was out for the weekend.

Cody McCullough again took home first place in Pro 1/2 winning the sprint over Lincoln Plating/Lemond's Kevin Burke after 64 miles of racing. Road race winners: Junior - Geoff Nelson (Powerade - Independent Fabrication); Women 4 - Lindsey Heime (Unattached); Women Open - Marie Neville (UNMC/Team Kaos); Men 5 (Open) - Sean Kennedy (UNMC/Team Kaos); Men 5 (35+) - Steve O'Brien (Brookings Cycling Team); Men 5 (45+) - Jerry Arnold (Unattached); Men 5 (55+) - Richard Hake (Elkhorn Valley Cycling - powered by Monster); Men 4 - Randall Crist (Omaha Velo Club).

Also, Men Masters 35+ (3/4) - Mark Brakenbury (UNMC/Team Kaos); Men Masters 45+ (3/4) - Jordan Brasch (UNMC/Team Kaos); Men Masters 55+ (3/4) - Fred Galata (Omaha Velo Club); Men 3 - Mark Mettler (Minnesota Cycling Team); Pro 1/2 - Cody McCullough (Powerade - Independent Fabrication).

Leaders at the end of day one and winners of the yellow jersey were: Women Open - Morgan Chaffin; Cat 4 - Devin Bethune - Masters (Combined); Mark Brakenbury (tie broken by Time Trial finish); Cat 3 - Mark Mettler Pro 1/2 - Cody McCullough.

After Saturday's wide-open time trial and hilly road race, Sunday offered a technical criterium in the heart of downtown Norfolk. With lots of right and left hand turns and a blisteringly fast finish line straightaway, the course drew rave reviews from riders and spectators alike.

The morning opened with Cat 5 men. Sean Kennedy (Team Kaos) took home the win in the combined field and in the Open category. In Men's 5 55+, Elkhorn Valley Cycling rider Richard Hake remains undefeated for 2007 winning the all three weekend races and taking the omnium first place prize. In Men's 5 45+, Elkhorn Valley Cycling took all three podium spots with Allan Walton (Wayne) in first, Jon Downey (Norfolk) second, and Pat Kester (Oakdale) third.

Women riders ran a combined Cat 4 and Open race where Morgan Chaffin (Team Kaos) won in front of her hometown audience. Lindsey Heim took the Women 4 category with Norfolk's Jamie Bachman in second.

Men's Master took to the downtown course next. Craig Schmidt (Lincoln Plating/Lemond), Dave Rogers (Team Kaos), and Fred Galata (Omaha Velo) took first in the 35+, 45+, and 55+ categories respectively.

Pro 1/2 and Men 3 saw Powerade/IF rider Cody McCullough lead for the majority of the race and take the win. Cody went 3 for 3 with first place finish in each leg of the omnium.

The final race of the day was a hard-fought 45-minute race of Men's Category 4 riders. The entire field raced together for the whole race, with a different rider winning each of three prime sprints. Devin Bethune (Elkhorn Valley), Dustin Bakker (Brookings Cycling) and Justin Maresh (Team Kaos) fought it out in front for the entire race with the lead changing hands on almost every lap.

ASK THE TRAINER

One of the more common reasons I hear for not starting an exercise program or changing a current program is the fear of being sore. Delayed onset muscle soreness (DOMS) is a common and annoying response to starting an exercise program or changing routines. For most people, DOMS peaks in the first two days of activity and then subsides in the next 3-7. The biggest hurdle for some to get over is to realize the pain is not a permanent injury to the muscle, but simply a response to new activity. Acute soreness, like the pain associated with a muscle tear, is different than that associated with DOMS and occurs immediately with the injury.

DOMS occurs when muscle fibers sustain microscopic tears. The amount of tearing depends on the volume of activity and the type of movements performed. A movement where muscle is forcefully contracted while it is lengthening, eccentric contraction, causes more DOMS than when the muscle is contracted while shortening, called a concentric contraction. Eccentric contractions, for example, occur in the lowering phase of the squat or bench press and also while landing from a jump.

Once DOMS has occurred, time is the primary treatment as DOMS will subside in 3-7 days with no treatment. Using the Rest, Ice, Compression, and Elevation or R.I.C.E. plan of action can also help treat DOMS. If the pain is too much, a non-steroidal anti-inflammatory such as ibuprofen will ease symptoms, but not speed healing. Another option is to warm the muscles up with light activity and then perform light stretching to ease pain. The important thing to remember is DOMS is not permanent and it is not a threatening injury.

If you have more questions give me a call at the Providence Wellness Center. Always check with your doctor before beginning any exercise program.

Make 2007 the year you take the time to improve your overall health!

Junior Cadets learn about law enforcement

High school students from across Nebraska will learn what it's like to be a law enforcement officer at the 40th Annual American Legion Junior Law Academy. Thirty young women spent this week at the Nebraska State Patrol Training Academy, 3600 North Academy Road in Grand Island. Forty-one young men will attend the Cadet Program next week in the same location.

Ayla Ebbeka, sponsored by Wayne Post 43 and Amanda Pfeiffer, sponsored by Winside Post 252 attended the academy this year.

The week-long academy follows a strict itinerary providing the cadets with firsthand knowledge of what is required to become a law enforcement officer. Each day begins at 6:15 a.m. with calisthenics, followed by a flag raising ceremony. During the week, the young women will get hands-on experience with the K-9 Unit, drug investigations to include methamphetamine awareness (Monday), Special Weapons And Tactics, S.W.A.T. (Wednesday), and defensive tactics (Thursday), among other skills.

American Legion posts across the state nominated the cadets, who are then selected by district. The American Legion and the Nebraska State Patrol originated the program in Nebraska. It has since been used as a model by many other states. Participants were selected based on worthy character, interest in law enforcement, evidence of self-discipline and the ability to share the knowledge gained with others.

The young women participating this week are from communities across Nebraska including, Allen, Alliance, Arnold, Aurora, Bellevue, Blue Hill, Broken Bow, Burwell, Crawford, Dunbar, Kearney, Lawrence, Lincoln, Malcolm, Nenzel, North Platte, Omaha, Papillion, Sargent, St. Paul, Sutherland, Tilden, Theford, Valentine, Wayne, Winside, and York.

A graduation ceremony will be held at 2 p.m. on Friday, June 15 at the Nebraska State Patrol Training Academy. The Junior Law Program coordinator is Training Sergeant Jim Stover.

Roadcheck 2007 stats released

The Nebraska State Patrol Carrier Enforcement Division released its numbers from "Roadcheck 2007". Carrier Officers conducted three days of inspections as part of the effort to raise public awareness of commercial vehicle safety throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico.

During the effort which ran June 5-7, Troopers conducted 215 level one inspections. A level one inspection is a comprehensive check of the vehicle and its driver. Twenty-two level two inspections involving the driver and a walk-around check of the vehicle were also conducted along with 189 level three inspections (driver only), for a total of 426 inspections.

Forty-three vehicles were taken out of service (not allowed to continue on the road). Vehicles are placed out of service for violations relating to bad brakes, or tires, or other problems that pose immediate safety risks. In addition, 31 drivers were taken out of service (not allowed to continue driving).

This was the 19th year for the national effort, sponsored by the Commercial Vehicle Safety Alliance (CVSA).

Malinda Claire Frevert was recognized as the Valedictorian of Omaha's Mercy High School at their graduation ceremony on May 17.

Malinda Frevert

Recognized as valedictorian

As Valedictorian, Malinda presented her speech on the future of the Class of 2007, which focused on their role as trailblazers. She emphasized that, as first spoken by Catherine McAuley, founder of the Sisters of Mercy, her class is being called to "do ordinary things with extraordinary love." With McAuley's words to guide them, Malinda assured the audience that she and her classmates "will leave this world a better place for our being here."

Malinda is the daughter of Brett and Jackie Frevert of Papillion, the granddaughter of the late Fred and Malinda Bode of Ravenna, Merlin and Kathleen Frevert of Wayne and the great-granddaughter of the late Clara Echtenkamp of Wayne.

Malinda will pursue her undergraduate education at Nebraska Wesleyan University in Lincoln, where she received their Scholars Academic Scholarship. She was also recognized as the West Omaha Rotary Outstanding Senior and the World Herald Scholar representative for her Mercy High Class of 86 young ladies.

Malinda plans to double major in political science and French and will spend most of June experiencing the culture of France with a group of fellow students and her French teacher, Madam Rebecca Rhoads.

Relay 2007 — Super Heroes

With the help of the community and many volunteers, the Wayne County Relay For Life 2007 surpassed its goal of raising $50,000. From the corporate sponsors, to the sale of luminaries, to silent auction baskets, funds were raised throughout the year. This year's theme of Super Heroes included fictional characters as well as cancer survivors and caregivers of those with cancer. The Relay Committee hosted the Chamber Coffee and continued their involvement throughout the night until the event ended at 6 a.m. on Saturday morning. Among the highlights of the Relay was the luminaria ceremony and reading of the "Empty Table." Relay participants ranged from a group of second grade students to those who have been cancer survivors for more than 30 years.

Proud of community

Dear Editor,
I wanted to let the community know the experience I had here in Wayne a few weekends ago.

I had the opportunity to volunteer at the Summer Sports Complex during the softball tournaments as I was asked to sell t-shirts. I was amazed by the number of people, those volunteering to make the tournament a success and the number of teams and visitors this tournament brought to our community. I was pleased to see that our complex could support nearly 29 teams.

Think of the revenue this brought to our town. I had parents, grandparents and players asking me throughout the day, "Where would be a good place to eat in Wayne?" and "Are there good places to shop in Wayne?" I was able to direct them to our downtown and to local businesses and I am positive that these businesses were utilized. I also overheard a team talking about their stay in a local motel.

What I am wanting the community to know is that we have an opportunity to bring in a tremendous amount of people to our community through the Summer Sports Complex. I feel it should be the mission of our community to support the project and raise money to improve our Summer Sports Complex. Our community will reap the benefits in return. We have a dedicated group of individuals who are donating their time and efforts to make this project possible. They have a vision and they see the opportunity this will have for our community. I now know why this mission is so important to them.

The improvements to the complex could add so much. I have seen first hand the struggle for many people to get around at the complex due to the fact that there are no sidewalks and no accessible bathrooms. There were two people in wheelchairs, several with walkers/canes and some with crutches. It was hard for me to watch these people struggle just so they could watch a family member or friend play softball. There were other things that I feel would have been beneficial to have with a tournament of this size:

1. Lights on every field. Tournament play was behind schedule due to the weather and the games ran late into the evening. What a benefit this would have been. Right now only one field has lights.

2. Working score boards. It was difficult for spectators when the score could not be displayed throughout the game.

3. Nets to protect the spectators. With this many games going at once, there were foul balls being hit constantly. This put the spectators at risk for injury as well.

I know that it is this committee's goal to provide the above improvements and I have seen first-hand why this is so important to them. Please take time to think about the impact these improvements could have for our community and also for our children, grandchildren, etc.

I would also like to take a moment to give a 'pat on the back' to all of the parents and volunteers who took their time in between games or even during their own child's game to keep all of the fields looking amazing, working the concessions and doing 'this or that' to make this tournament a success. You are all amazing individuals.

These kids had an amazing weekend and we have a lot of talent in our community. Let's pull together to make this vision a reality. The only way our community will grow is with the amount of effort and commitment that we put into it. I know we can do this!

Unhappy with book choices

Dear Editor,

A few months ago I took my children to the Wayne Public Library. My five year old daughter picked a book out of the children's section of the library that she wanted to take home for us to read.

That evening we sat down to read the book together and I had not read too many pages before I realized we would not finish reading the book. The book was teaching homosexuality. No indication was given about the nature of this book from the title, illustrations or description. I later read the entire book and found it offensive as it was clearly promoting a pro homosexual agenda and I learned, not surprisingly, the book was authored by two homosexual men-gay partners.

I felt it necessary to go through the steps required to try to have the book removed from the library or at least moved to the parenting section. I first filled out a request for reconsideration of library resources and ultimately went to a board meeting to address my concerns to the five member library board.

The foundation for my concern comes from the Bible's teaching on homosexuality. It clearly reads in Leviticus 18 that same sex relations are a sin - calling it an abomination. This teaching is also found in the New Testament passage of Romans 1. The homosexual lifestyle is very detrimental and self-destructive. It is characterized by high suicide rates, short life expectancy, many kinds of disease and cancer, abuse in many forms and psychological problems, to name a few. Is this a lifestyle we want our children to be acquainted with and to embrace?

I was disappointed that the majority of the board members voted to leave the book in its current location. It was a disappointment to me that they thought it appropriate to leave this type of literature readily accessible to the young children of our community. At the very least it should have been moved to the parent resource section of the library where parents can make the choice if they want their child to be exposed to this type of material. We're living in an age where we are constantly hearing the word tolerance.

It's true, we should be tolerant of each other's differences, abilities and over all uniqueness, but we must not tolerate what God calls sin.

A very well known Bible passage associated with homosexuality is the Genesis account of the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah. I feel that this passage is somewhat misinterpreted. While the practice of homosexuality was wide spread and their sin was very grievous (Gen. 18:20), we see that God would have spared the total destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah had there been 10 righteous people found there (Gen. 18:32). So, essentially, the city was not destroyed because of the wickedness of the wicked, but because the righteous compromised. Those that knew God failed to honor and obey Him. With that thought in mind, I would encourage those who believe in God and His Word to be faithful in upholding His Word, in its entirety, in our community. And may God bless us for our faithfulness.

Politicians invoke God during campaign

By Ed Howard

Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

When he said he was making a run for the U.S. Senate, Republican Jon Bruning took a page, or at least a phrase, that has echoed often from the mouths of those within the major league political congregation since the 9/11 attacks.

"God bless Nebraska and God bless America," said the two-term attorney general.

Asking the Almighty to bestow his blessing upon the United States became boilerplate language for candidates looking to the White House, as well as congressional and Senate seats.

Until the terrorist attacks, it wasn't altogether rare for a politician to conclude a speech with "Thank you, and God bless you." Nor was it thought unusual for someone giving a speech to invoke the name of God by way of giving thanks, or in asking for help or strength in the undertaking or completion of a task.

After 9/11 the "God bless America" signoff became something of a political catchphrase, and some critics began to see its use as at least as political as spiritual.

It seemed virtually mandatory for many years, and still enjoys exceedingly widespread popularity.

What is bothersome to many people of faith, and others, is the perception (right or wrong) that invoking God's blessing was viewed by many politicians as the right answer on a religious/political test.

How many "God bless America" endings do you recall on House, Senate or presidential speeches prior to the terrorist attacks? Going back to 1968, when I began writing about them, very, very few come to mind.

That a would-be holder of high office believed in God was generally understood, as was the belief that we had God on our side in various endeavors, including the Cold War effort to fight communism.

Interestingly, John F. Kennedy had to qualify rather than boast of his religious affiliation. Kennedy was a Catholic, something that wasn't a plus in presidential elections of the not-too-distant past.

"The pope will run the White House!" was the essence of the criticism.

Kennedy, a Democrat, made a key speech in which he said that his oath to uphold the Constitution would be his foremost commitment as president; that it would always come ahead of the doctrines or positions of his church.

A decorated veteran of WWII who had a PT boat knocked out from under him by a Japanese ship, Kennedy also used a pinch of family patriotism to turn aside, and perhaps embarrass, the anti-Catholic crowd.

His brother, Joe, died a hero's death as an Army Air Corps pilot. He was killed when his plane, virtually a flying bomb, exploded during a top-secret mission in the European theater.

JFK noted that no one asked his brother about his religious affiliation when he volunteered for the mission that took his life.

Some might also see irony in the fact that Kennedy drew applause as he answered questions at length before the Ministerial Association of Greater Houston (Texas) in 1960, and was peppered with questions about how he saw the relationship between his faith and the presidency.

The Kennedy comment that drew a sustained ovation:

"I hope that other countries may some day enjoy the same happy relationship of a separation of church and state, whether they are in Catholic countries or non-Catholic countries. It seems to me that I am the one that is running for the office of the Presidency ... and not anyone else."

ADF and The American Legion announce national effort to defend veterans' memorials

The Alliance Defense Fund, The American Legion and Liberty Legal Institute announced recently the launch of a national effort to defend and protect America's veterans' memorials from potential legal attacks from groups such as the American Civil Liberties Union.

"One person's agenda shouldn't diminish the sacrifice made by America's veterans and their families," said ADF Senior Counsel and Senior Vice-President of Allied Attorney Support and Coordination, Joe Infranco. "Despite the claims from the ACLU and others, crosses on veterans' memorials have been under attack. One only needs to look at what's happened at Mt. Soledad and in the Mojave Desert. Americans want these memorials to be protected."

The ADF has been involved in legal efforts to defend the cross memorial at Mt. Soledad in San Diego and the Mojave Desert Cross in southern California against ACLU-led efforts to have them removed. Both memorials honor American military veterans.

In January, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 9th Circuit ruled that an atheist's 17-year-old lawsuit seeking to tear down the cross at Mt. Soledad be declared moot. Despite that, the ACLU has again filed suit against the memorial in an effort to have the cross removed. A federal court also granted a motion filed by the ACLU that resulted in an order to cover the Mojave Desert Cross so that no one can view it.

"Stamping out these symbols of sacrifice is the first step to forgetting who's kept America free and what's made America great," said Infranco. "ADF, The American Legion, and Liberty Legal are joining together to ensure that we will never forget the sacrifice made by so many for our precious freedoms—including the freedom to honor our fallen heroes as we so choose."

For more information, a fact sheet on the Defense of Veterans' Memorials project can be seen at www.tellaadf.org/UserDocs/DefenseofVeteransMemorialsFAQ.pdf.

The ADF is a legal alliance defending the right to hear and speak the Truth through strategy, training, funding, and litigation. The American Legion is the nation's largest veterans' service organization, representing 2.7 million wartime veterans.

Learning for life with 4-H Engagements

By Natalie Sukup
Cedar County Extension Intern
Greetings Wayne Herald read-

My name is Natalie Sukup, UNL Extension Intern in Cedar County, College of Agricultural

Sciences and Natural Resources student and Ambassador. Although I am new to this article, I can tell already that you (the reader) are going to be a wonderful audience.
But, lets get down to business.

The purpose of this article is one that I am very passionate about, this passion being 4-H. Now, I'm sure some of you are thinking "I already know what 4-H is," or maybe some of you are even in 4-H.
But, here's the deal, too many times 4-H is taken for granted.
Having been deeply involved in the 4-H program since I was seven (I am now 21), I am becoming quite used to hearing the phrases, "The better ribbon I get, the more money
I will receive," or "Mom/Dad did that project for me," or my all time favorite, "I'm too old to be in 4-H."
I'm not saying there is any wrong in any of these phrases. I myself am guilty of throwing out these phrases a time or two. I just think sometimes the true meaning of 4-H has been lost in translation.

What is the true meaning of 4-H?
As a horticulture major in landscaping design at UNL, I have encountered many life skills that I can thank 4-H for preparing me.
You may be thinking, "What could 4-H have possibly taught a college student?" A college student doesn't need to know how to properly show a cat or pick out four perfectly rounded muffins. Although these events have not been carried on after my 4-H years, the skills attained while accomplishing these projects still live on! One might actually be surprised to find out that I and every other past and present 4-Her uses the skills that are first learned in 4-H almost every day.

The skills learned in 4-H are important accomplishments that have a purpose no matter how old or where you are in life. From being able to speak in front of a group of people, a skill learned from the 4-H speech contests, to precision in my landscape design work, a skill learned from sewing projects, I have been able to continually use 4-H day to day. This just goes to show us that you are never too old for 4-H!

In my college career, I have so far experienced test taking, memorizing equations but forgetting them after a test and I have even become really good at writing papers the night before they are due. Typical college student, right? Well, I would like to think otherwise. The value that these actions hold may not grasp the experience one needs for his or her future but what lays beneath are the experiences that add up to success. These experiences being just what 4-H has taught us, "Learn by Doing." But, what's better is that the skills I learned from the projects I mentioned earlier did not come from a lecture or reading a textbook. They all came from learning hands on.

By spending time in the greenhouses at school and looking under the microscope, I have learned more than I would have another way.
The only difference now being a better grade rather than a ribbon or premium.

Now, to address the issue of parents doing projects for their 4-Hers.
Shame on you! I actually believe this can be an excellent way to learn as well when carried through in just the right way. Today we all have to admit that our lives are busy and they just keep getting busier. With a year full of school activities, jobs and community events, how do parents find time to sit down with their kids to pass on new expertise? Skills like sewing, cooking, genealogy or even quilting seem to almost be lost arts to the youth of today.

But with the help of 4-H, these experiences are still being sent up the generational ladder. I have heard many families say, "without 4-H, our kids would not have learned (insert skill here)." 4-H is parents helping kids; Family Time!
But, what's better than that is, family time is being valued. We 4-Hers are succeeding not because we now know how to properly pick out 12 perfect green beans or build a flawless birdhouse, but the steps we took toward completing those goals can be applied anywhere.

4-H not only helps us learn new skills but builds on what we already have. It helps us discover our hidden talents and exercises existing ones. I personally dabbled in almost every project 4-H offered.
It wasn't because I wanted to try to get hundreds of ribbons and a hefty check. I was looking for my deepest interest and passion. With the wide selection of opportunities 4-H offered, surely I would be able to find something that triggered a passion that I could carry on as a future career. Sure enough, I found this enthusiasm in the floriculture project and developed it into a passion large enough to choose my career path.

We are constantly learning every day whether it is something as simple as learning a new name or as big as learning a chapter in a text book for a classroom test. It's really how we apply what we learn that makes the greatest impact. So to end this article, I want to leave you with these few thoughts. Use your head for clearer thinking, your heart for greater loyalty, your hands for greater service and your health for better living. Use it not only for yourself but also for your club, your community, your country and your world!!!

Nebraska Sports Council puts forth challenge to Wayne County residents

The Nebraska Sports Council has produced a challenge this year for the Cornhusker State Games, to have all 93 counties represented. Looking over this year's records so far, we noticed that Wayne County had no participants. Every year the Cornhusker State Games has over 12,000 participants and to have all 93 counties represented in some fashion would make the games that much better! Last year Wayne County had 27 participants.

Senior Farmers' Market begins new season

The Nebraska Department of Agriculture (NDA) kicked off another year of the Senior Farmers' Market Nutrition Program (SFMNP). The program allows low-income senior citizens to receive locally grown, fresh fruits and vegetables at no cost. Earlier this year, the NDA received $228,487 in U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) grant money to operate the program.

"The Seniors Farmers' Market Nutrition Program enables Nebraska's low-income senior citizens to readily access nutritious, Nebraska grown produce," said NDA Director Greg Ibach. "The program also benefits Nebraska's produce growers as we expect around 4,760 seniors to utilize the program this year."

Among those accepting the coupons locally is Laura Hochstein, who participates in the Wayne Farmers' Market in Wayne. The SFMNP, established as a pilot program in 2000 and authorized in the 2002 Farm Bill, provides low-income seniors with coupons that can be exchanged for fresh produce at farmers' markets, roadside stands and U-pik operations. The SFMNP is intended to provide fresh, nutritious, locally grown fruits, vegetables and herbs to low-income seniors and to increase the consumption of agricultural commodities by expanding or aiding in the development of farmers' markets and other outlets. Nebraska's SFMNP is a joint effort between NDA, Nebraska Health and Human Services (HHS) State Unit on Aging, Nebraska HHS Commodity Supplemental Foods Program, Nebraska Area Agencies on Aging and the Nebraska Senior Centers. Coupons are available to low-income seniors during the months of June, July and August from their local senior centers. Free copies of the "Your Guide to Nebraska Fresh Produce," which identifies the locations of Nebraska's farmers' markets, roadside stands and U-pik operations are available from the Nebraska Department of Agriculture by calling 800-422-6692 or visiting www.agr.ne.gov. Low-income seniors interested in more information about SFMNP coupons should contact the NDA at (402) 471-4876 or 800-422-6692, the Nebraska HHS State Unit on Aging at 800-942-7830.

President declares major disaster for Nebraska

The head of the U.S. Department of Homeland Security's Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) recently announced that federal disaster aid has been made available for the state of Nebraska to supplement state and local recovery efforts in the area struck by severe storms, flooding, and tornadoes during the period of May 4-19.

Assistance for the State and affected local governments can include as required:

FEMA Administrator David Paulison said the assistance was authorized under a major disaster declaration issued for the state by President Bush. The President's action makes federal funding available to state and eligible local governments and certain private non-profit organizations on a cost-sharing basis for emergency work and the repair or replacement of facilities damaged by the severe storms, flooding, and tornadoes in Blaine, Brown, Cass, Custer, Gage, Garfield, Jefferson, Johnson, Keya Paha, Knox, Loup, Nemaha, Otoe, Pawnee, Richardson, Saline, Saunders, and Wheeler Counties.

- Payment of not less than 75 percent of the eligible costs for repairing or replacing damaged public facilities, such as roads, bridges, utilities, buildings, schools, recreational areas and similar publicly owned property, as well as certain private non-profit organizations engaged in community service activities. (Source: FEMA funded, state administered.)
- Payment of not less than 75 percent of the eligible costs for removing debris from public areas and for emergency measures taken to save lives and protect property and public health. (Source: FEMA funded, state administered.)
- Payment of not more than 75 percent of the approved costs for hazard mitigation projects undertaken by state and local governments to prevent or reduce long-term risk to life and property from natural or technological disasters. (Source: FEMA funded, state administered.)

Federal funding is also available on a cost-sharing basis for hazard mitigation measures statewide. Paulison named Lee H. Rosenberg as the Federal Coordinating Officer for federal recovery operations in the affected area. Rosenberg said damage surveys have been scheduled and more counties and additional forms of assistance may be designated after the assessments are completed.

Fact sheet-Federal aid programs for Nebraska disaster recovery: following is a summary of key federal disaster aid programs that can be made available as needed and warranted under President Bush's major disaster declaration for Nebraska.

FEMA coordinates the federal government's role in preparing for, preventing, mitigating the effects of, responding to, and recovering from all domestic disasters, whether natural or man-made, including acts of terror.

'It's all a matter of taste'

I haven't been to a movie theater since we went to see Chicago and were sorely disappointed in the raunchiness. But I do intend to watch Dream girls one of these days; if for no other reason than to recapture the days when singing groups dressed up. All the publicity for this show has the singers dressed in lovely evening gowns, and, of course, sporting the beehive hairdos of that time.

I've come to the conclusion that the new dress code for groups is "there is no dress code." I don't know for sure what pop-punk music is, but I'm pretty sure I wouldn't like it. The songs the dream girls sang harmonized and were melodic. Now, the louder and harsher, and disharmonic, the better.

I have an entertainment section from the Omaha paper that has been laying around here for at least a month because it reminded me of the column I intended to write on the subject. There is a group on the cover of four young men: one has a crown of thorns tattoo around his neck, the next one has the most beautiful head of long hair you could ever find on a girl and a jewel in his chin, and the third has sideburns that come almost around his chin, glass frames from the sixties, and a huge ball cap. (but the cap is on forward, not backward.) The fourth fellow looks almost normal, except that he has a scowl on his face. That seems to be the other rule of thumb: do not smile, try to look as angry or sad or something else as possible!

In the same section, there is another group of four who are a hard rock band. Same slouches, same glowers, black jeans, black t-shirts, and black baseball shoes. You would think they've never had a dime to spend on haircuts or clothes.

The only thing stranger than their appearances are the names of their groups and the titles of their songs. I'm sure they are all really trying to imitate Motley Crué and Guns and Roses. I think I would be afraid to go to one of their concerts, for fear of losing my hearing and being stomped on.

A recent photo of a single female singer showed her in a provocative pose with very few clothes on and a cigarette dangling out of her mouth. It must take effort to keep that up! And, apparently, she sings like that and sometimes plays a guitar, too.

A few years ago, I wondered what all the fuss about the Omaha sensation, Bright Eyes, was, so I stayed up late to catch them on Letterman. Oh, my, was I disappointed. I'm still trying to figure it out. And just a couple of years later, a 15-year-old miss from another state got her mother to bring her to Nebraska so she could see Conor Oberst's hometown. Does this mother not have anything else worthwhile to do? Amazing.

Oh, well, it just dates me some more. I tell people I'm not old-fashioned, but traditional. I've been to my high school reunion again and I'm reading about all those taking place right now and I sigh, remembering when we dressed up to perform and were thrilled to do so. It's all a matter of taste, right? And mine is hopelessly dated.

Cercospora needle blight discussed

Cercospora needle blight is a fungal disease of Junipers and now is the time to apply fungicides for its control. If left uncontrolled, and weather conditions remain moist, this blight can severely damage older windbreaks of Eastern Red Cedar and landscape Junipers.

Late June and July is the infection period for Cercospora needle blight. This is the time when fungal spores are released and Juniper foliage is most susceptible to infection. This is also the critical time to apply fungicides if they are to be effective in preventing the disease. If fungicides are applied too early before the infection period or too late after the infection period, their effectiveness is greatly reduced.

Rainy weather promotes Cercospora as moisture is necessary for dispersal and germination of the fungal spores.

If you have a valuable Juniper planting, you may choose to apply a fungicide this year since environmental conditions have been conducive to infection. If your plants are showing symptoms from last year, fungicide applications will be beneficial.

Del Hemsath
Extension Educator

Initial infections occur in the inner part of the tree during late June and July. Infected needles turn bronze-colored, die by late September, and drop from the tree in fall, resulting in the interior of the tree becoming bare with healthy, green foliage remaining on branch ends.

Over time, Cercospora needle blight will spread upward and outward causing the lower half of trees to become quite bare. This greatly reduces the windbreak and aesthetic value of these evergreens.

Repeated infections in subsequent years can kill trees.

Cercospora needle blight can be successfully controlled by applying a fungicide to protect foliage during the infection period. Standard strength Bordeaux mixture (8-8-100) or a liquid copper fungicide are recommended.

An initial application in mid-June, followed by a second application in late July is usually adequate. Additional applications applied at monthly intervals may be needed if frequent rains occur in August and September.

There is very little long-distance spread of the fungal spores. Applying fungicides to infected Junipers and nearby Junipers or cedars will be effective in reducing the spread of the disease.

SBA delivers new disaster recovery plan to Congress

The Administrator of the U.S. Small Business Administration, Steven Preston, briefed congressional leaders on the agency's new Disaster Recovery Plan (DRP).

The plan, which was delivered to Congress on June 1 - the beginning of Hurricane Season - focuses on the agency's strategy for rapidly ramping its capacity in response to large scale disasters.

The new DRP indicates that since the 2005 Gulf Coast hurricanes SBA has dramatically redesigned its Disaster program, quadrupling its loan processing capacity, enhancing customer service and increasing accountability.

"The Disaster Recovery Plan demonstrates the tremendous progress SBA has made towards a 21st century Disaster program," said Administrator Preston. "We are now far better equipped to handle a catastrophic disaster than at any time in agency history."

A collaborative, cross-disciplinary team within SBA worked for several months to share best practices and lessons learned to develop a method for ramping up its operations to a high performance level in major disasters.

SBA's response to catastrophic disasters has five guiding principles which allow the agency to execute an agency-wide surge plan and effectively partner with other agencies and levels of government across the United States:

1) SBA is prepared to respond. Based on process improvement and lessons learned, SBA has an improved organizational infrastructure to respond to catastrophic disaster events swiftly and effectively.

2) SBA is trained to respond. Training and coordination are the keys to preparedness. A vast majority of employees who are involved in SBA's catastrophic disaster response plan have been trained and will continue to be trained in their roles. They also will receive clear guidance on how the recovery plan will be implemented.

3) SBA's response requires an "all hands on deck" approach. Employees across the entire SBA organization will have key roles to play in core functions and will be valuable assets to help SBA achieve the level of performance Americans require and expect.

4) SBA takes pride in quality assurance and customer service. The agency will continuously strive to deliver the highest level of quality in service. Customers will be provided with the necessary support and communication channels to minimize confusion and ensure a positive experience during their time of greatest need.

5) SBA's response will be coordinated with its government partners. The agency will communicate with local, state, and federal government agencies, including Congress, to deliver timely assistance.

As a testament to SBA's commitment to customer service and dedication to assisting disaster survivors, the agency's reforms continue to show that progress is being made in the Gulf Coast region:

- Of 160,000 applicants with approved loans from the 2005 Gulf Coast hurricanes, 99 percent have now either received all or some of their loan money, or have chosen not to proceed with their loans.
- $ 5.7 billion has been provided to home and business owners in the Gulf Coast region who are seeking to rebuild.

ChoicePoint adopts safeguards to protect consumer information

Attorney General Jon Bruning recently announced a settlement with Georgia-based ChoicePoint, Inc., the nation's largest data broker. The settlement resolves allegations that the company failed to adequately maintain the privacy and security of consumers' personal information, including 572 Nebraskans.

"Through no fault of their own, Nebraskans' identities were compromised," Bruning said. "This settlement sends an important message to companies - if you collect personal information on consumers, you have a responsibility to keep it from falling into the wrong hands."

ChoicePoint provides identification and credential verification services to businesses, government and nonprofit organizations. In February 2005, ChoicePoint announced that individuals posing as legitimate businesses gained access to consumers' personal information. Bruning, along with 37 other attorneys general, wrote ChoicePoint, demanding the company notify the 145,000 consumers nationwide whose information may have been accessed.

As part of the settlement with 43 states and Washington, D.C., ChoicePoint will make significant, ongoing changes in the way that the company credentials new customers who have access to consumer information. It will be the first data broker to apply the same safeguards it uses to protect financial information to protecting consumers' personal information. ChoicePoint will pay $500,000 to the states. Nebraska will receive $5,500 for attorneys' fees.

In a January 2006 settlement with ChoicePoint, the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) required that ChoicePoint improve its process for accepting clients that obtain information from credit reports. The state settlement goes further by requiring the company to improve its credentialing process for clients that obtain Social Security numbers and other forms of personally sensitive information. ChoicePoint also paid $5 million into a fund for consumer redress in the FTC settlement.
