Process continues in request to vacate

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

Wayne County Board of Commissioners met in regular session Tuesday. Discussion was held on Dennis Linster and Linda Young's plans to vacate the unfinished part of Highview Drive in Muhs Acres. George Ellyson, city planner, was present and said the city has given formal authority for them to vacate Highview Drive and since Wayne County has the right of way there, they also need to give authority for them to vacate.

Ellyson noted he will demand a replat of Muhs Acres and dedication of a 200 x 200 foot square at the end of the unvacated Highview Drive so a cul de sac can be created in the future, if the county decides to do so. Linster and Young then need to bring a re-plat to Ellyson of what they own.

Commissioners recessed and Board of Equalization convened. Action was taken on Jämmer Photography accelerated tax correction because the business has been sold. Also, John Bauer of Sholes is moving a trailer to the river so an adjustment was needed on his property tax. Board of Equalization closed and the commissioners meeting re-convened.

Deanna Beckman, Wayne County Emergency manager discussed the recent grant they applied for. She also noted Wayne County bought a trailer for emergency management purposes from FEMA.

The trailers were used after the hurricane Katrina hit. Beckman noted the trailer will be available for others in the county for emergency operations.

The EMPG grant was discussed and if commissioners give Beckman full time hours, the grant will provide money to the county towards her salary and benefits. She noted the deadline to apply is September. Commissioners decided to give full time hours to Beckman.

Wayne Public Library Director Lauren Lofgren and JoAnn Field gave the Wayne County Library Association annual report and 2007-08 budget request. Lofgren said there are 667 county patrons using the Wayne Public Library. In 17 months, 16,000 items were checked out. She continued that with the $5,000 received from the county, they have spent half on books (regular and large print) and on audio books.

Lofgren asked commissioners if they minded her setting aside $1,000 for a project they are working on to put Wayne Herald pages on CDs and get software for the computers. She noted it will be easier for patrons to use than what they have now and for genealogy it will be great as they have issues back into the 1880s. Commissioners gave their approval to the project.

Main Street Clothing Company committee members give information on community-owned clothing store

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

Several Main Street Clothing Company committee members spoke at a Wayne Rotary Club meeting recently about the benefits of starting a locally owned clothing store in Wayne. It was pointed out to Rotarians that Wayne is progressive and that momentum creates momentum. The group feels there is an absence in Wayne that needs to be filled and a community-owned clothing store could fill that gap.

Committee members present were Irene Fletcher, Kaki Ley and Lowell Johnson. They noted there is a target date to open the store this fall, Oct. 1, if all goes as planned. The group is planning to open the business in the building where Antiques on Main is located, at 207 Main Street. Owners of Antiques on Main, Cap and Nana Peterson, will move their business across the street to the location of their other store, This N That, at 222 Main Street.

In the new clothing store, customers will find mens, womens and childrens' clothing and shoes.

Committee members ended by saying that with Wayne being the county seat, a medical hub with the hospital, Providence Medical Center, here and already having a good customer base, it is the perfect place for new growth but time is running short to get everything in place for the proposed Oct. 1 opening date.

David Simonsen, Wayne Area Economic Development, Inc. executive director, told fellow Rotarians everyone is needed for the

Monstrous moths

Local residents had the opportunity to seek a number of very large moths last week. According to information from "Birds and Blooms" the creatures are cecropia moths, the largest moth in North America. They have a wing span of up to six inches and after they emerge as a moth, generally live only one to two weeks. Adult cecropia are active mainly at night and usually are found on dogwood, alder, birch, sugar maple, box elder, pear, plum, cherry and apple.

Jacobs meets fellow Nebraskans

All the time I have spent traveling the world, never once, had I met someone abroad who was currently from Nebraska, until now.

I share with them I am from Nebraska. We talk about where they are from, a little of Nebraska football of course, and what they rounded by a fence or wall made of sticks, these compounds are family units. There are smiling children running and playing in the dirt

I respond, I've come to try and understand the journey that many Sudanese who now live in Nebraska endured.

You are our honored guest, he says with a smile, and walks away. It becomes clear to me what I was told earlier is true; the Nuer people are a very welcoming and dignified people.

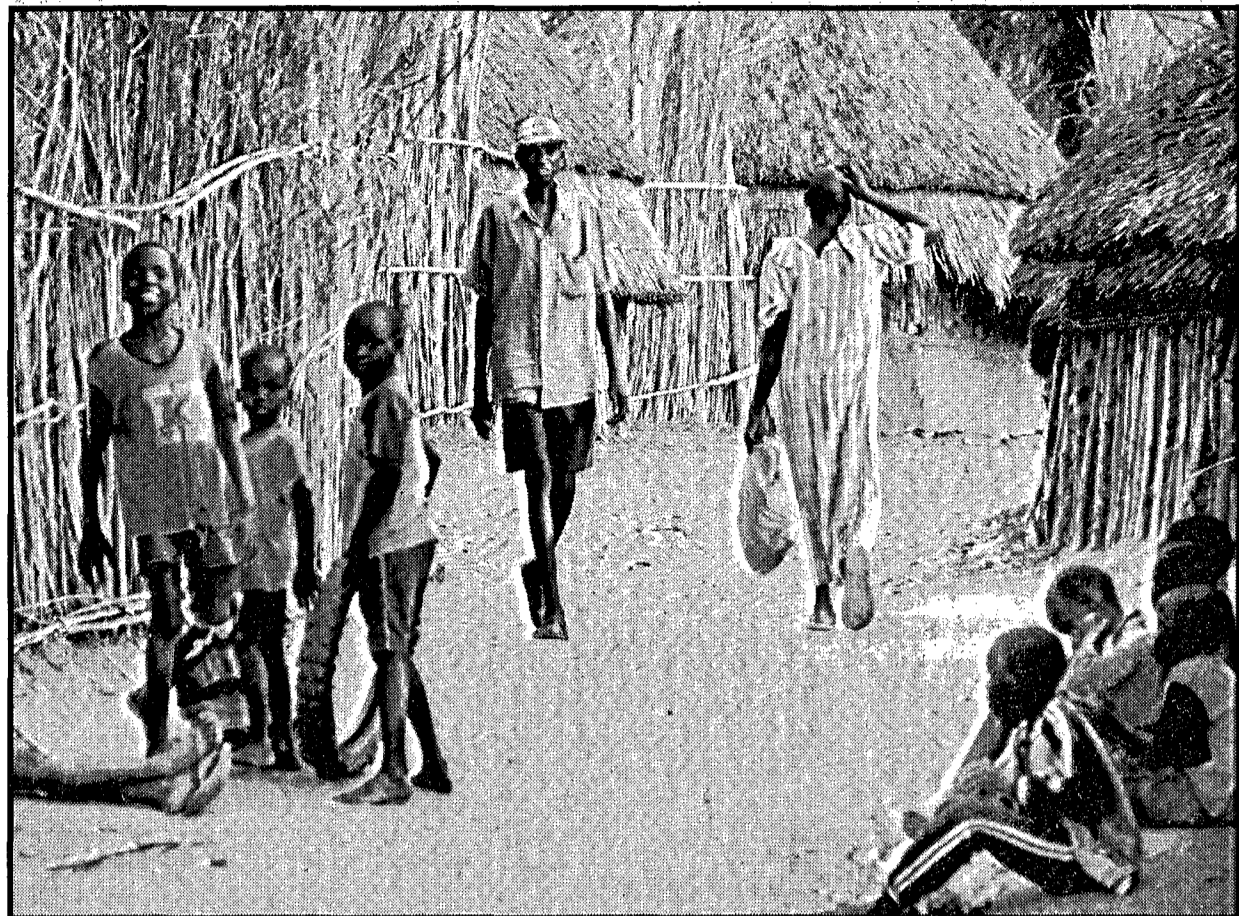

This is a true testament to the character of the Nuer and all whom I've ever met from south Sudan, especially when you consider what they have endured.

A complex civil war that dates back to 1955, and conflicts that forced many of these out of their homeland for 20 years. Maybe the true test of character is not when things go right, but when they go wrong.

Sitting on a concrete step that leads into a restaurant, I meet a young man called Surafel Asfaw. Surafel is a driver for a Chinese oil company. We chat for a bit over a Coke and I ask him what he thinks about the US?

"Americans have good feelings for Africa," he says. "When I see other nations, like the Chinese, they come only for themselves, while America comes to help feed us. When the Chinese smile, it is not a real smile; there is something behind that smile I don't trust."

"America needs to continue to work hard on its dream of Democracy."

Children play in the walk ways that connect the homes in the Sudanese settlement Newland. Up to 20,000 Sudanese people live in the settlement, which is a suburb of Gambella.

I have always jokingly told people there's only two of us, and the other one is back watching the cows.

But, now as I walked through the hot brown dirt roads of Gambella, I encounter three Nebraskans in one day. Two of them were back visiting family members in the refugee camps, the other decided to move back and find a way to help his people.

Large smiles are expressed when are doing in Gambella.

It is a small world, or maybe, our world in the Midwest has larger connections than what we understand.

I walked through the Sudanese refugee villages to see what life is like here. It is more accurate to call them villages, because when people call them camps, I picture in my mind large tent cities. I see large round tan grass roof huts with walls made of earth, often sur-walkways that connect all the compounds. People smile and wave at me in a friendly and welcoming way. When I say hello (mali) to them in the Nuer language, the smiles grow even larger.

"Brother, you are most welcome here," says a man after I say hello. I respond with a thank you, (icha loid a tes) in Nuer, and he laughs, not because it's funny, but because he's so happy.

He asks, why are you here?

Wayne Rotary Club celebrates 20th anniversary

Wayne Rotary Club has been in Wayne for 20 years. The club was chartered on June 24, 1987 by chartering representative Dist. Gov. Warren H. Hill of Omaha.

Board members were Clyde Flowers, international service; Morris Anderson, vocational service; Richard Zrust, club service and Marty Summerfield, community service. Other charter members were Donald M. Cleary, Felix Dorcay, Vincent Leighty, Joe Lowe, Cliff Peters, Jon Putnam, Steve Schumacher, Robert Sheckler, Doug Sturm, Robert Tieg and Rod Tompkins.

Haase stated at that time, "In order to receive full membership in Rotary International, we had to have 20 members and the sponsorship of an existing club. President Wes Sohl and his committee from the Norfolk Noon Club have attended weekly, providing the necessary guidance and encouragement."

Charter night was a large gathering and the 41 club presidents and their spouses from District 5650 were invited as well as all present and past Rotary International representatives, members of the two Norfolk clubs plus local dignitaries.

Wayne Rotary Club officers now are Darrell Miller, president; Della Pries, president elect; Anne Nolte, vice president; Wilma Moore, secretary; Deb Jensen, treasurer; Eric Schoh, sergeant-at-arms. There are 41 members.

They are the force that allows Rotary to carry out its many humanitarian efforts and achieve its mission. Service Above Self is the Rotary motto.

Two windows on the Red Cross Emergency Response Vehicle were damaged by vandals this past weekend.

Vandals damage Red Cross vehicle

The American Red Cross ERV (Emergency Response Vehicle) was vandalized sometime between Saturday evening, June 16 and Monday morning, June 18.

Two windows on the side were broken by a heavy object and shattered.

"With upcoming events like Chicken Days and county fairs, this vehicle is used as a First Aid station and also to respond to disasters, so the local chapter definitely needs to get these windows replaced so the vehicle can once again be operational to respond and be used when needed," said Lori Carollo, Chapter Manager of the local Red Cross.

"If anyone knows anything about this incident, please notify the Wayne Police Department at (402) 375-2626. If the person or persons who caused this damage would like to make an anonymous gift to the Red Cross to help cover the expense of replacing these windows - or if anyone else would like to make a donation to help the chapter fix these windows - a donation can be slid under the Red Cross office door in the Mineshaft Mall, 112 E. Second Street in Wayne," Carollo added.

The approximate price to replace these windows will cost the chapter about $200.

A number of local residents spent an hour last week trying to raise 'bail' money. Zeiss is 'Shining Star in Education'

Jan Zeiss of Wayne was recently recognized as the 2006-07 Shining Star in Education for the Siouxland area.

Zeiss, who has been the K-6 Elementary Guidance Counselor at Emerson-Hubbard Elementary School for 20 years, will receive a $1,000 prize from Smith Barney for use in her school.

Earlier this year, Zeiss was nominated for Educator of the Month and was recognized in January by KSCJ and KSUX, radio stations broadcasting from Sioux City, Iowa.

The nomination was submitted by Zeiss' students, Seth and Cole Shanks and their mother, Angie.

The letter states, "Mrs. Zeiss is amazing. She truly cares for each child in the elementary school. She helps wherever needed and that is many places in a small school with limited funding."

"She doesn't complain and she makes so much happen for the kids. She makes sure the kids have what they need - their physical needs, with school supplies or gloves and hats; emotional needs - support at school and visits to the homes when needed and personal development - from kindergarten through sixth grade, she teaches kids about the character skills that make them great people."

As the January Educator of the Month, Mrs. Zeiss was recognized at a breakfast at Perkins Restaurant in Sioux City, Iowa and received a number of prizes, including gift cards, savings bonds and a plaque.

"When I got back to Emerson, I was treated like a hero. All the students and staff did things to make me feel special," Mrs. Zeiss said.

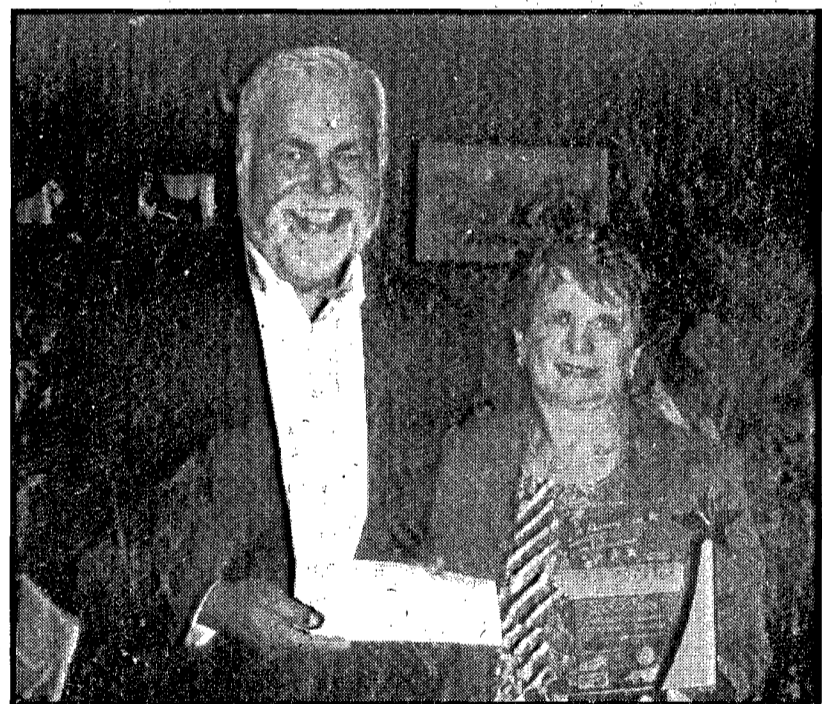

Each of the monthly honorees was invited to a second breakfast early this month and the Educator of the Year award was announced.

As the Educator of the Year, Mrs. Zeiss was presented the Grand Prize of $1,000 from Smith Barney. She said that before the 2007-08 school year begins, she will get together with the teachers in her school and determine the best way to use the money.

Mrs. Zeiss downplays the award and said, "it is the kids that make my job so much fun. I love being around them, getting the hugs and the funds they received from the county are going towards childrens books and also for large print books.

'High 5's' and watching them grow and mature."

Lee Myers of Wisner Economic Development discussed the appointment of three people to a committee to gather facts for the regional jail concept. A resolution was approved to appoint three people to that committee.

The following fund transfer resolutions were approved: miscellaneous general to highway superintendent because that budget was depleted due to salary costs and pickup fuel; miscellaneous general to emergency manager because of costs due to opening an office and salary of part-time manager; county road to snow removal because on June 5, 1990, Wayne County Commissioners created and established the snow removal and equipment fund and said that the revenues of that fund should consist of cash transfers of unexpended funds from the county road and bridge fund. On this, the last commissioners meeting for the 2006-07 fiscal year, unexpended funds exist so the transfer of funds is necessary.

Also, approved in the fund transfer resolutions was interlocal services to general because the other interlocal services fund was audited and there's an available balance of $2,004. Claims totaling that amount had been paid from the general fund so the $2,004 needs to be transferred back into the general fund.

Also approved was a resolution authorizing the commissioners to contract beyond their normal duties. Approved were the county commissioner yearly employment contracts to stay at the same hourly wage of $8 and not to exceed $3,000.

Road and bridge business included approval on a proposal of $7,150 from Mainelli Wagner & Associates for engineering services for Federal Aid Soft Match Project to replace bridge #00335, eight miles west and 0.2 miles north of Carroll.

Approval was given on a resolution directing the highway superintendent to make a study of the use being made of the east side of Highview Drive in Muhs Acres and make a report of her recommendations as to the vacation or abandonment thereof.

Commissioners approved signing a supplemental agreement between the state of Nebraska and Wayne County for Federal Aid Program BRO-7090 (14), Wayne Southwest, one mile west and 0.8 mile south of Wayne and approval was given on requests for permission to bury utility lines in county road right of way on 858th road.

The next Wayne County Board of Commissioners meeting will be held on Tuesday, July 3 at 9 a.m. at the courthouse in Wayne.

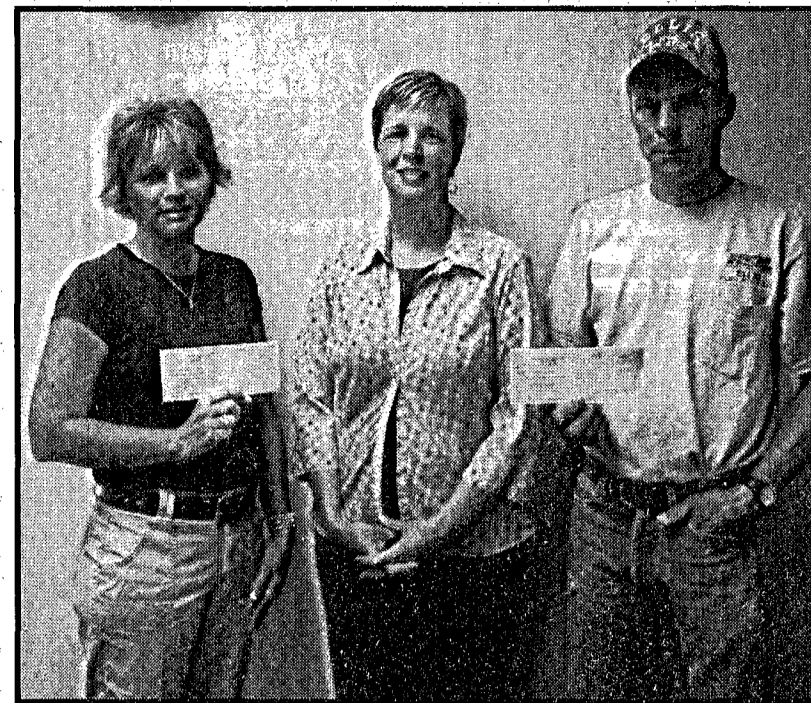

Forty percent tax credit available on donations to new sports complex in Wayne Building on the new softball complex in Wayne is set to begin Oct. 1, if enough funds are received. Committee members note that donations continue to come in slowly but in order to make that deadline, the time to donate is now.

An example of how much a new softball complex is needed is two weeks ago there were 29 teams playing in Wayne which made it obvious that new restroom facilities are needed as well as more lights on the field.

For those donating, the City of Wayne applied for a 40 percent tax credit on all donations made to the Wayne Summer Sports Complex. This credit does not apply to non-profits. This is a 40 percent state tax credit that is for both individuals and businesses.

This credit comes directly off your state taxes. This is how the process works, when you make a donation to the Wayne Summer Sports Complex, the check will get sent to the Nebraska Communities

Jill and Jeff Ellis each gave a donation to the softball complex from promotions they ran in April at their businesses, The Hair Studio and Ellis Plumbing. At the Hair Studio, $3 of each tanning package sold and at Ellis Plumbing, $3 of each service call went towards donations to the softball complex. There were 61 tanning packages sold and 92 service calls. Making the check presentations (total of $459) to Laura Gamble of the softball complex committee were Jill and Jeff Ellis.

project to be successful. Economic development builds momentum and more retail development often follows when a new store is opened. He noted there is a community-owned clothing store in Torrington, Wyo. and five new stores located there after that clothing store opened.

Anyone who would like to find out more about being part of a community-owned clothing store in Wayne can contact committee members, call the WAEDI office or stop into the Main Street office at 208 Main St. on Thursday nights to talk to committee members about the project.

Foundation. Channele at the City office will fill out a state tax credit form with a copy of the check, you receive a receipt from the Nebraska Communities

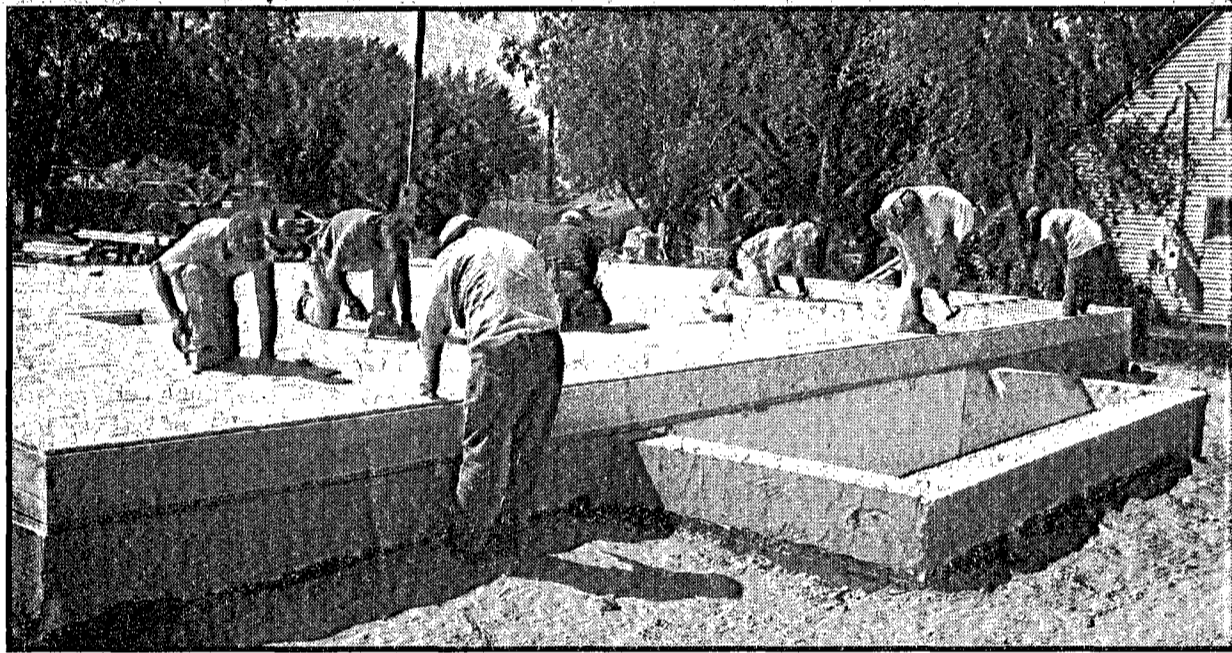

Foundation, you keep your cancelled check and you will receive a letter from Channele at the city about how the process works (closer to tax time at end of the year).

There will be some areas you will have to fill out and send back to Channele along with the cancelled check. Channele will then send the paperwork to the state and the state will send you an official tax form with the amount that you will receive back in state taxes. You should take that form to your accountant at tax time and they will file it with your state taxes and you will receive a check from the state.

For example, if someone wanted to give a large donation they would receive 40 percent back and that is a pretty good ($20,000- (naming rights) donation would give the person $8,000 back in taxes).

Anyone with questions about the sports complex or the 40 percent tax credit available on donations can call Laura Gamble at 402-375-5622.

Undressed chickens

A number of cement chickens are feeling lonely, and a bit naked, these days. These birds are anxiously waiting at the WAEDI office for someone to pick them up, take them home, decorate them and return them before this year's Henoween activities on Friday, July 13. There is no charge to do this, but the chickens must be returned to the WAEDI office in time to be auctioned off. For more information, contact Irene at the WAEDI office at (402) 375-2240.

Fine, high quality stone and installation offered at International StoneWorks in Wayne International StoneWorks, where you will find high quality stone such granite, marble, travertine and more, is open in Wayne. The new business is located at 106 1/2 Pearl Street and is open Monday through Friday, 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. (unless installing, then call 402-369-2242 to set up an appointment). Jess Thompson and Chris Janke are the owners.

Services offered at International StoneWorks includes installation of countertops, vanities, fireplace hearths, outdoor grill areas, re-surfacing tables, desk tops and more.

International StoneWorks is international, the fine stones offered are 100 percent natural and come from all over the world. The stones are custom fabricated at the shop in Wayne. Granite is highly scratch resistant and very durable. Some of the names on hand are Tropical Brown, Santa Cecilia, Uba Tuba, Absolute Black and Egyptian Sand.

At International StoneWorks, samples are available. Pricing of real stone is comparable with man-made products.

"We have the best prices in the tri-state area, Janke said. "Granite has become more affordable."

"Fine quality stone is available to the average homeowner now," Thompson said. "Anyone pricing will know our prices are very good."

"Realtors and professionals know that when it comes to pricing homes, you get your money back out of having granite installed," Janke said. "You won't lose money. We started this business because granite is popular, a good product, more affordable and we saw a need for it in this area."

A benefit to buying stone at International StoneWorks is they can get the product, get it in fast and people don't have to wait; the turnaround is faster than most fabricators and most installations take one day.

Another benefit is that there are sealers for the stone they sell, if the customer wants it. The stone is stain-proof for the life of the product.

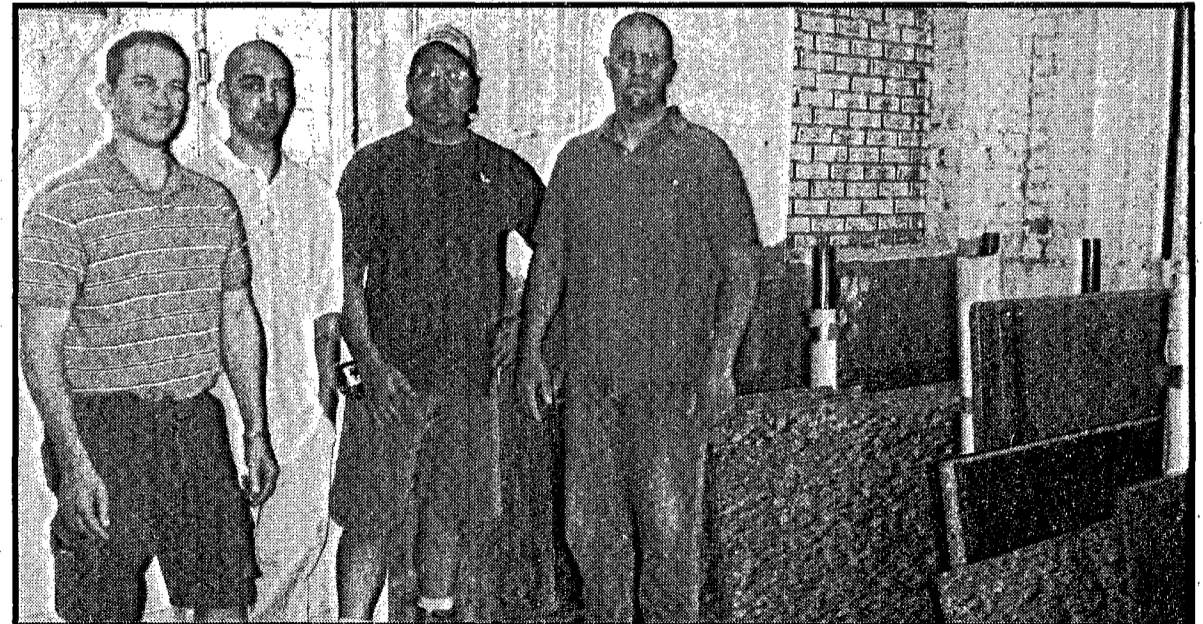

Thompson has been working in construction nearly 17 years. He is married to Kara and they have two children, Jakob, 10 and Josie, 6.

Janke is a silent partner and works as a sales manager for an insurance company. He is married to Kris and they have a son, Cal, 4.

Staff at International StoneWorks includes Rob Allen, who has 22 years of construction experience. His wife is Deb and their children are Sierra, 16, Austin, 15, Lexi, 12, Laken, 9 and Harlee, 5.

Also, working at International StoneWorks is Juan Mejia, apprentice. His wife is Rosa and they have a baby daughter, Mariana.

Materials are constantly evolving and expanding at International StoneWorks. Area residents are encouraged to stop in or call 402-369-2242. There are free estimates.

Of the Herald

The Wayne Country Club played host to the 2007 Nebraska Girls Match Play Championship earlier this week.

The event featured 29 golfers and was played at the course on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The qualifying round was played on Monday and saw Lincoln's Anna Christenson emerge as the medalist for the day with a four-over par 76 to edge the 2006 state medalist Mary Narzisi of Omaha by a stroke.

After play on Monday, sixteen girls, including area golfer Rachel Mooberry of Norfolk, qualified for the championship bracket, while the remaining golfers were paired in a first flight of eight and a second flight consisting of four golfers.

Two other Norfolk golfers, Thea Baum and Lauren Bahle, represented the only area qualifiers in the tourney.

In Tuesday's matches involving Norfolk golfers, Teri Schaffer defeated Baum by the match play score of 2 up in the semifinals of the second flight.

In the first flight quarterfinals on Tuesday morning, Bahle defeated Maggie Kildare of Columbus, 2 and 1. Bahle

William Janke is National Award winner

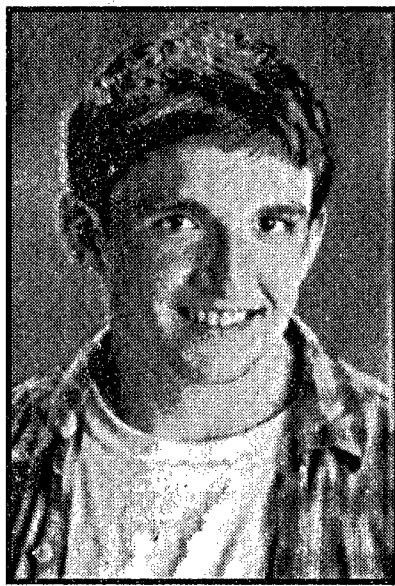

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that William Janke of Winside has been named a United States National Award Winner in Mathematics.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes fewer than 10 percent of all American high school students.

William, who attends Winside High School, was nominated for this national award by Rachelle Rogers-Spann, a math teacher at the school. His name will appear in the United States Achievement Academy's Official Yearbook which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly, United States Achievement Academy winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Founder of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors, and other qualified sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability and recommendation from a qualified sponsor.

William is the son of Deano and Debbie Janke of Winside. His grandparents are Dean and Daisy Janke of Winside.

Goldenrod Hills Community Action receives funds for Weatherization Expansion Project

Goldenrod Hills Community Action's Weatherization Program received funds from the USDA Rural Development Housing Preservation Grant (HPG). The expansion project will give the program the ability to repair or replace roofs and foundations on area homes.

Guidelines would limit recipients to those who live in 125 percent of poverty in owner-occupied homes. Repair of the roofs and foundations would make the participants eligible for weatherization funds provided by the U.S. Department of Energy and the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program. These state and federal funding sources do not cover roof or foundation repair.

If anyone is interested in Weatherization services only Goldenrod Hills Community Action operates a Weatherization program that serves 14 counties in Northeast Nebraska. The program installs energy saving materials and practices to homes for the purpose of cutting fuel usage year round. It is the long-term solution to the high costs of heating consumption, both for individuals and the environment.

Participants for weatherization services include income-eligible renters as well as home owners. Weatherization services include insulation of sidewalls, attics and foundation, door replacement and repair and window repair. The program also provides furnace repair and replacement for homes that meet requirements.

Weatherization practices may be applied to mobile homes as well as frame and masonry homes. Please contact us if you are interested in applying for the Weatherization Expansion Project or the Weatherization Program at 402-529-3513 ext 274, 275 or 278.

Goldenrod Hills Community Action (GHCA) strives to work together with area agencies to combat poverty, promote self sufficiency, and improve quality of life for residents in Northeast Nebraska. GHCA programs include the Commodity Supplemental Food program; Family Services; Every Women Matters; Immunization; Weatherization; Head Start; Operation Great Start; Women,

Infants, and Children Nutrition and Early Child Services Coordination. The agency serves Knox, Antelope, Pierce, Madison, Stanton, Cuming, Thurston, Dakota, Burt, Wayne, Dixon, Cedar, Washington and Dodge counties.

For more information on GHCA programs call 402-529-3513.

Blood Bank's 'Heroes Unite, It's About Life' campaign is in full swing

With the Heroes Unite, It's About Life campaign in full swing at the Siouxland Community Blood Bank, many towns are hosting community or employee blood drives and recruiting donors to ensure patients in their area will have blood products when needed.

Locally, your next opportunity to donate is in Wayne on Thursday, June 28 at the Wayne Fire Hall from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The Heroes Unite, It's About Life campaign began May 1 and continues through Sept. 30. With about three months of the Heroes Unite, It's About Life campaign yet to go, many communities still have the opportunity to hold additional blood drives, and potentially affect their ranking a great deal. Community support and participation is integral to the success of this program, as blood donors are working hand in hand with fire, rescue and police units in town to save lives.

"We have witnessed area patients and their families that are experiencing tough times as they deal with illness or injury, and these struggles happen on a daily basis. We, as citizens, can guarantee blood is available when patients need it by supporting a blood drive and participating in Heroes Unite," said Terry Stecker, Director of Operations for Siouxland Paramedics.

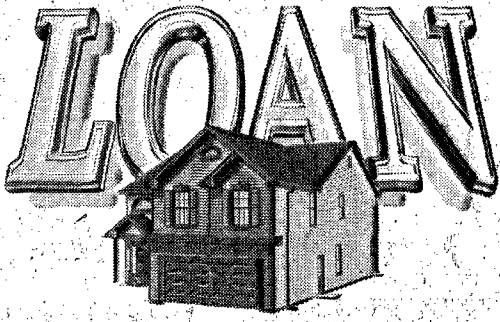

To date, the top ten communities include: Nebraska - Wayne and Pender; Iowa: Boyden, Carroll, Cherokee, Ida Grove, Le Mars, Manning, Onawa and Yankton, SD.

The top three communities with the highest percentage of blood donors registering to donate in comparison to the combined size of their fire, police and rescue squads will win a sponsored donation towards community fire and rescue equipment. Cash awards for Heroes Unite, It's About Life are provided through corporate sponsorship from Cargill Inc., Prestige Collision Repair and McClintock Insurance.

To be eligible to donate blood individuals must be at least 17 years of age; however there is no upper age limit as long as the donor is in good health. In addition, donors need to weigh at least 110 pounds and have not donated whole blood in the past 56 days. A photo I.D. is required at the time of registration.

For more information about "Heroes Unite, It's About Life", the Siouxland Community Blood Bank or blood drives in your area, call 712-252-4208 or 800-798-4208 or visit their website at www.siouxlandbloodbank.org.

Makin' Money Camp 2007 successful

Makin' Money Camp 2007 was held in Laurel recently at the Learning Center and the community park with 11 participants. The Makin' Money Camp is a one-day camp designed to improve interest in entrepreneurship among youth and to suggest that they consider Northeast Nebraska as an opportunity for business ownership.

Youth determine which one of four products they create that day for their business, develop a simple business plan, borrow from a banker for supplies, complete three sets of products for sale to customers, put together some advertising and conclude the day by selling at the Camp Marketplace. The camp is held in part to Makin Money Camp is funded in part by The Connie Fund and Northeast Nebraska Telephone Co. In-kind support and partners: Cedar and Dixon County Extension, Northeast Nebraska RC&D, Center for Rural Affairs and Laurel Economic Development.

From surveys, children said they had a great time. Their comments on the most important thing they learned were: Think outside the box!, The formula for price determining, How to create good business by calculating things, To keep careful track of money and have a plan, How to get a loan from the bank, That you have to be of good character to start a successful business, That you need a license to start your own business, Use money well.

At the event, Burbach Countryside Dairy of Hartington shared their cookies & cream, chocolate and strawberry milk with participants and told of some of the things they encountered to get their business going. Bruce Pitzer told of his experiences owning a small business and was a presenter on making fishing lures.

On Dec. 1, a follow-up evaluation will be sent to participants to see if they moved ahead with business plans or have additional ideas to pursue.

American Legion Auxiliary convention planned for Columbus

Nebraska American Legion Auxiliary members look forward to meeting National President JoAnn Cronin of Imperial, Mo. at the 2007 Department Convention to be held June 22-24 at Columbus at the New World Inn. Cronin will attend several events during the three days here in Nebraska, including a Memorial Service on June 22. Department President Gertrude Johansen of Bennington will open the Convention with her theme "Family" and her symbol the "Blue Star Banner." With over 27,000 members in the Department, Mrs. Johansen states "I feel everyone should be proud to display the Blue Star Banner in their family home if they have a family member serving our Nation."

The banner is a symbol of recognition for members of our Armed Forces and a visible display in the community of their willingness to serve and protect. Working with The American Legion and Sons of The American Legion this past year they have combined their efforts in promoting "Family" in all their endeavors.

Madam National President Cronin will present the keynote address on June 23. She will recall for members her pride in all that has been accomplished under a theme of "We Can Do It." "We can do it for our Veterans through the Creative Arts Festival, for our troops by looking out for their families while they are engaged in the war on terror, for our youth by finding ways to engage young women in programs that interest them and for our community by finding a need and filling it."

Cronin fully understands Madam President Johansen's drive for displaying the "Blue Star Banner." In her acceptance speech as National President, JoAnn told the delegates that, "Many of our men and women are being deployed to support the war, leaving behind their spouse, their children and parents. These are the people in our community that we need to check on to see if there is anything that we can do for them. We could cut the grass, baby sit, grocery shop, or just sit and visit with them. We can adopt a deployed Unit and send much needed items."

Nebraska American Legion Auxiliary members look forward to National President Cronin's visit to Nebraska and hope to see many members in attendance to give her a warm Cornhusker Welcome.

Employee Assistance Program provides added benefit to Nebraska State College System personnel

The Nebraska State College System, which includes Chadron, Peru and Wayne State Colleges, recently selected Best Care Employee Assistance Program (EAP) to provide a new benefit to full-time employees beginning July 1. Best Care EAP is headquartered in Omaha with several locations throughout the state. "This new benefit, agreed upon during contract negotiations this year, will provide all personnel with access to professional counselors for assistance. It is designed to enhance the lives of our personnel by improving overall wellness, thus increasing effectiveness at work. It is a great benefit to everyone employed in the Nebraska State College System," Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs and General Counsel Larry Schultz said.

The employee assistance program offers a full range of counseling services to meet individual needs. It is a confidential program that addresses a variety of personal and workplace issues, such as anxiety, depression, family issues, marriage and relationship concerns, stress, and substance abuse.

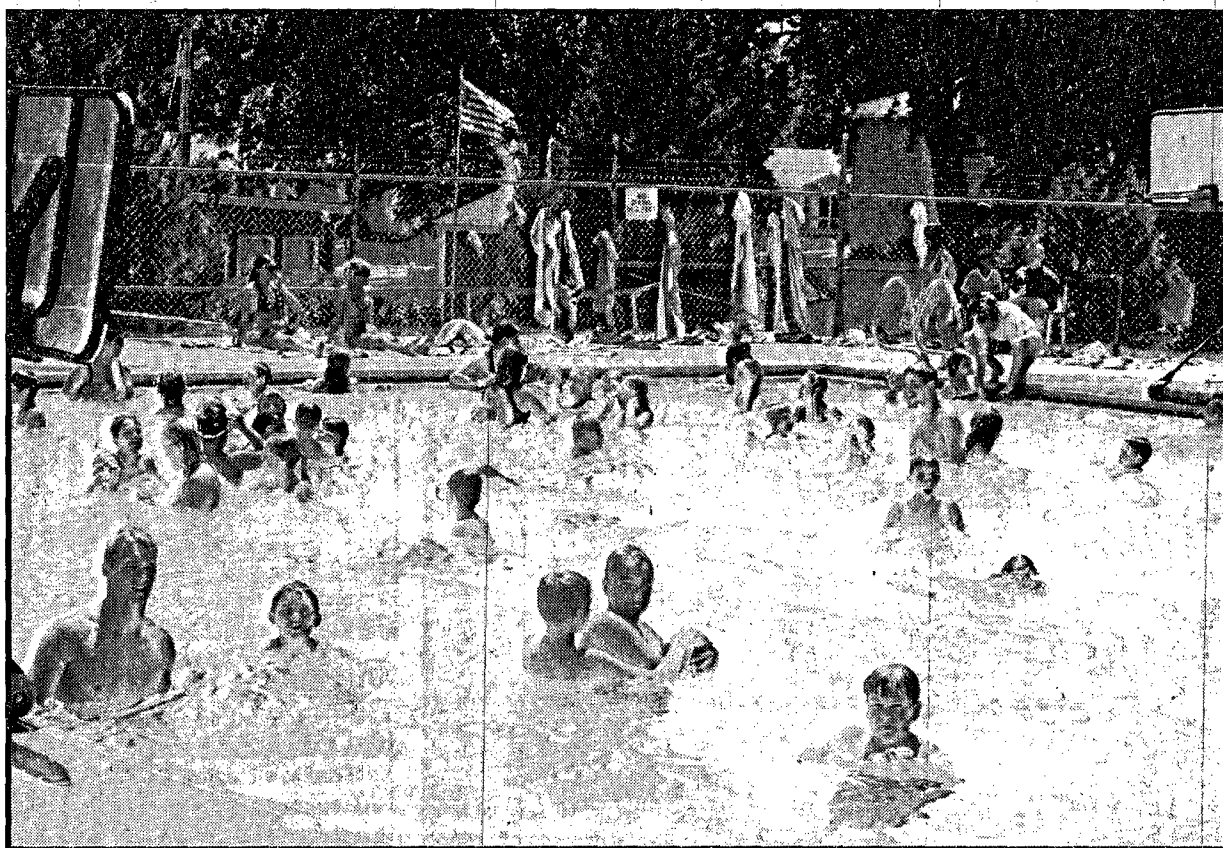

In addition, it offers basic information regarding wellness and fitness issues, services available within the community, monthly and quarterly publications, and seminars on issues affecting your workplace.

Chancellor Stan Carpenter said, "We recognize that the stresses of everyday living and personal issues may have an adverse effect on an employee's job performance. This program has been established to help deal with these things. We are providing this benefit, because we care about our employees."

Personnel will be notified about the program by the administration at each college this summer. Orientations explaining the program in detail and training for supervisors will be conducted this fall.

HHS awards over $3 million in Nebraska homeless assistance funds and special project grants

The Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) announces grant awards of almost $3.3 million to community programs that help homeless Nebraskans.

"These funds allow us to provide a helping hand to community organizations that provide a safe haven for some of Nebraska's most vulnerable people," said Scot Adams, director of HHS.

Jean Chicoine, HHS program specialist said, "Approximately 80 percent of homeless people and families are displaced because of a natural disaster or financial burdens. They're homeless for a short period of time and generally don't become homeless again, but they need somewhere to go to get back on track."

Ten agencies received special project funding this year to replace aging buildings with new ones or renovate existing facilities. Sixty-six agencies received renewal awards from the Nebraska Homeless Assistance Program funded by the Department of Housing and Urban Development's (HUD) federal Emergency Shelter Grant Program (ESGP) and the state's Homeless Shelter Assistance Trust Fund (HSATF). Funding for the special project awards are from HSATF.

Grant awards listed below include the ESGP funds awarded by HUD directly to Omaha: Panhandle Region: $180,909; North Central Region: $285,799; Southwest Region: $271,163; Southeast Region: $486,511; Northeast Region: $376,869; Lincoln: $395,571; Omaha: $793,990; NAF-Statewide organization: $11,000.

Main Street Focus

Just a reminder that the next meeting of Main Street Wayne is an All-Hands meeting at 8 a.m. on Tuesday, June 26 in the Main Street Office.

We no longer meet each Tuesday, but now meet on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month. The second Tuesday will be the monthly Board meeting and also All-Hands meeting while the fourth Tuesday will be an All-Hands meeting. All Main Street Wayne meetings are open to the public and anyone is invited to join us at the meetings and as a volunteer.

At our last meeting Kari Wren of Property Exchange was selected to fill the vacant seat on the Board as the result of the resignation of Beth Sievers. We are sorry to see Beth step down, but happy to see that Kari stepped forward to serve on the Board. Three Board seats will need to be filled at the end of this year and nominations must be in the WAEDI office by July 1 so they can be included in the mailing of all officer elections for the three organizations under the umbrella of WAEDI.

All persons interested in running for the Board must be a WAEDI member and should understand that there is some time required of Board members in attending meetings and fulfilling their obligation to the office. Interested people should contact Wes Blecke at the WAEDI office.

Have you noticed that the large concrete Chicken has been put on display at the Flag Plaza in front of City Hall? The chicken has been in storage since we vacated the Main Street Park so that a new building could be built there. Talking about chickens, there are several available at the WAEDI office for aspiring artists to paint. Henoween is catching up to us quickly and we would love to have all the chickens painted so that they could be auctioned off as part of the Henoween celebration.

The money raised from the auction goes to pay the expenses of providing entertainment and meeting the expenses of the Henoween celebration.

Chicken Show leaflets are available at various businesses around town. Pick one up so that you have a better idea what is being planned for the weekend. Chicken show t-shirts are being sold at First National Bank, State National Bank, This and That, Super 8, K-D Inn, Pamida, Pac 'N' Save, the Wayne Greenhouse and the WAEDI office.

The lineup for Henoween this year includes a Flea Market/Sidewalk Sale with the Flea Market taking place on the morning of Friday, July 13. At 4 p.m. there will be a Siouxland Idol Competition east of Wayne at the Country Nursery. It will be sponsored by KTIV. At 5 p.m. the vendors should be set up in downtown Wayne. Carnival games will be available and the annual Order of Eastern Star Chapter's Pie and Ice Cream Social will be held in the North Meeting Room of the City Auditorium. At 6 p.m. the "World's Largest Chicken Dance" will be held, sponsored by KTCH/ NRG Media on Main Street between Second and Third Streets. This will be followed at 6:45 by a WSO Show Reprise, the Cement Chicken Auction at 7 p.m. and the Main Stage Shows, beginning at 8 p.m. Fireworks begin around 10 p.m., sponsored by the Jaycees, and a Teen Dance will be sponsored by KTCH and the First Presbyterian Youth Group.

The Farmers' Market has been started and is located Saturday mornings in the area around the old Fire Hall. Producers are needed and flowers and crafts are encouraged to join the group. Should you have any further questions about this, please call Irene or Wes at the WAEDI office. Many companies have outstanding Farmers' Markets and we would like to see the Wayne Farmers' Market grow and expand.

Please don't forget that volunteers are needed at the old Fire House on Saturday, June 23 to help with the clean-up of the Fire House. If you would like more info, call Gary Van Meter at Mines' Jewelry or Sandy Bartling at Providence Medical Center. Help is needed here and for the various groups sponsoring activities at Henoween and the Chicken Show.

Our gratitude for those serving in the military is understandably at its highest when America is involved in armed conflict.

Those who give what Abraham Lincoln called "the last full measure of devotion" are the subjects of posthumous thanks, in the hearts of their countrymen and the speeches of politicians.

Most of those individual speeches and much of the collective thanks cite the basic freedoms guaranteed by the Constitution which the armed forces are sworn to protect.

When an armed conflict lasts long enough, there are inevitable and appropriate efforts to create monuments - local, state or national - to commemorate the lives and deaths of those who served.

No freedom is more basic than the right to vote.

The exercise of one's franchise might be the most direct and appropriate expression of gratitude that can be made in honor of those who serve and have served.

These musings led to an idea for a memorial - memorials, actually - that would serve as a continuing measure of thanks and respect. And perhaps prompt the expression of it via more than words and Memorial Day wreaths.

Imagine a statue or a sculpture on every courthouse lawn, which would reflect and mention the nation's major conflicts. From the Revolution through the Civil War, World War I and World War II, Korea, Vietnam, along with less-remembered conflicts that claimed American lives, from Cuba to the Philippines and elsewhere.

Now: Imagine at the base of each memorial a big-as-it-can-be bronze frame, capable of holding large, appropriately designed signs which could be changed every so often.

How often?

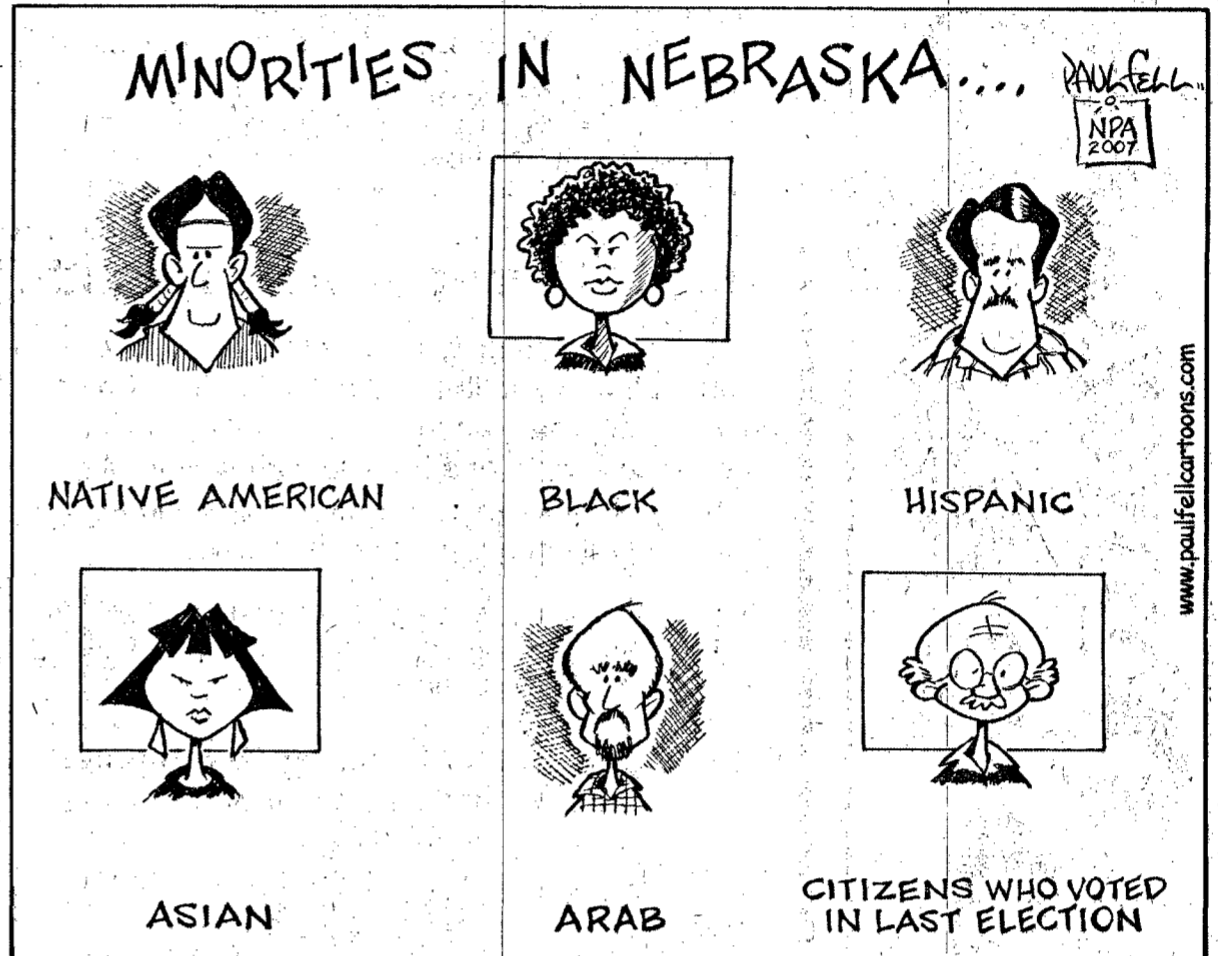

After every general election.

What would each sign proclaim? The number of people who voted in the last general election, along with the number of those eligible to vote in that county.

The message upon each sculpture: "To Honor Them!"

The message on each accompanying sign: "In the most recent general election 20 percent of voters in Green Tree County went to the polls."

That would give the electorate something to think about when walking or driving past the courthouse - and not just on the Fourth of July and Memorial Day.

Father's Day poll results show most men willing to get involved in domestic violence, sexual assault prevention

More than half of men think it is very or fairly likely that, some time in their lives, they will know a victim of domestic violence or sexual assault - and most are willing to take action to raise awareness, help victims, and promote healthy, violence-free relationships. Those are among the results of a new Father's Day poll conducted by Hart Research for the Family Violence Prevention Fund, with support from Verizon Wireless.

According to the poll, 56 percent of men have reason to believe a member of their immediate or extended family, a close friend or acquaintance has been in a domestic violence or sexual assault situation. And, the poll finds, men are taking action. Two in three dads (68 percent) have talked to their sons about the importance of healthy, violence-free relationships. Fifty-five percent of the men surveyed have talked to boys who are not their sons.

"Across the board, men want more done to stop domestic violence and sexual assault," said Verizon Wireless President and CEO Lowell McAdam. "Men are ready to do their part by talking to the next generation, donating wireless phones to help victims, and more. Verizon Wireless will continue its commitment to stop violence, and encourages men - and women - to take action."

"There has been a sea change in men's attitudes toward domestic, dating and sexual violence, and especially in their willingness to take action to stop it, which gives us real hope," FVPF President Esta Soler said. "But we need many more individuals and institutions to get involved. We are asking Congress to fully fund the Violence Against Women Act, and the sports, business and other communities to do their parts."

According to the new poll: Just 15 percent of men say it is not likely that, at some point, a woman or girl they know will be a victim.

Seven in ten men are willing to talk to children about healthy relationships (up from 55 percent in a poll conducted in 2000) and an equal proportion are willing to donate old wireless telephones to programs that help victims and prevent violence.

More than three in five men say the sports and entertainment industries, government, school and colleges, the news media and businesses should do more to stop violence.

87 percent want employers to provide information for victims, and 83 percent want employers to adopt policies to help victims.

From April 23 to May 3, Hart Research conducted this national survey for the Family Violence Prevention Fund and Verizon Wireless among a representative sample of 1,020 American men age 18 and over. The margin of error is + 3.1 percentage points.

The Bureau of Justice Statistics reports that on average, more than three women are murdered each day in this country by their husbands or boyfriends. (Information on the poll is available at: www.end-abuse.org/07menspoll & www.verizon-wireless.com/surveyresults).

FINANCIAL FOCUS

Taxes: now or later?

Plan now for a tax-efficient retirement

Why pay taxes today if you can put them off until later? Future retirees have banked on this theory for years by stashing their retirement assets in tax-deferred accounts. As retirement grows closer, it's generally time to start thinking about paying the piper.

It's true that there was once a time when you could expect income to be taxed at a lower rate during retirement years. However, with today's more active retirement lifestyles, many people are finding they need nearly as much income as they did while working. If you plan to fund your lifestyle with distributions from 401(k) plans and traditional IRAs, remember that these distributions will generally be taxed as ordinary income - which could mean paying 35 percent or more to Uncle Sam down the road if today's tax brackets remain unchanged.

The good news is that if you have a few years left before retirement, it's not too late to create a saving strategy that considers both your current and projected tax brackets. Roughly 40 percent of workers today have savings or investments in addition to what they have set aside in retirement accounts so you may already be on your way to retirement tax efficiency*. If you are not one of those individuals, consider these ideas for creating a blend of pre- and post-tax dollars that's right for you:

The Roth IRA - taxes now, not later. While your Roth IRA contributions are not tax-deductible, qualified distributions will be federal income tax-free down the road if all requirements are met. What's more, your earnings will grow tax-deferred just as they do in your 401(k) or traditional IRA.

You can currently contribute $4,000 per year to your Roth IRA, provided you do not make any other IRA contributions. If you are 50 or older, you can also add an extra $1,000 to your account in 2007. Keep in mind, however, that the ability to make a Roth IRA contribution is phased out for joint filers with a modified adjusted gross income (MAGI) between $156,000 and $166,000 and for single filers with a MAGI between $99,000 and $109,000.

Long-term benefits of a Roth IRA conversion. While converting traditional IRA funds to a Roth IRA does not make financial sense for everyone, it may be beneficial in your situation. When you convert, taxes must be paid at your current rate. If you think you may be taxed at a lower rate in the future, a Roth IRA conversion may not make sense for you. Roth limits need to identify they are an aggregate total of all Roth and Traditional IRA contributions per taxpayer.

A provision of the Tax Increase Prevention and Reconciliation Act affects the current $100,000 income limitation for a Roth conversion. In 2010, the income eligibility ceiling will be removed so income will no longer restrict a conversion from a traditional to a Roth

IRA. What's more, if the conversion is completed in 2010, the tax burden on the conversion can be spread over a two year period in 2011 and 2012. If you think you may be a candidate for a Roth IRA conversion, a financial advisor may be able to help determine your eligibility requirements and timing considerations.

Qualified plan to Roth rollover - a tax-planning option. Various provisions of the Pension Protection Act of 2006 could affect your tax situation in retirement. For example, beginning in 2008, you will be able to roll funds from an employer retirement plan like a 401(k) directly to a Roth IRA.

Previously, the 2001 tax act required that funds from an employer's plan be converted to a traditional IRA before a Roth IRA conversion. The new law simplifies the conversion process by removing that step.

Post-tax investments may be withdrawn tax-free. If you choose to simply pay your taxes today, it might make sense to shore-up your savings by making systematic after-tax payroll deductions. If your employer doesn't offer a plan that permits after-tax investments, most financial institutions have a variety of periodic investment options available.

Planning is the key. As you can see, taxes are inevitable at some point in time. However, careful planning is the key to preventing excessive tax amounts from taking too big a bite out of your retirement savings.

A knowledgeable financial advisor can be valuable as you plan for retirement. He or she can help you create a strategy that matches your time frame and goals, so you have an investment plan in place that's right for you today and in the future.

Talk to children about living wills or advanced directives

The job of parenting although rewarding, is often complex and at certain times can be considered difficult. Initiating tough discussions with children about important and sensitive issues is not an easy thing to do. Many family members, young and old alike, avoid talking about the subject of death. Yet, talking about dying while everyone something inside dies after an abortion

to be completed before a serious injury or terminal illness occurs is also important. A living will names a trusted person to speak on your behalf when you can no longer make decisions about the type of care provided by medical professionals.

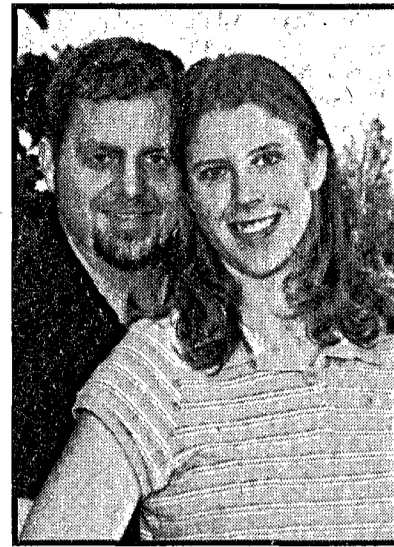

Each state has laws regarding advanced directives. In Nebraska, forms and information are available from the Nebraska Health and Human Services agency on aging, a legal services office or from your attorney. Caring Connections, National Hospice and Palliative Care Organization website, www.caringinfo.org links to state-specific downloadable forms. The printable forms, when signed completed, are legally binding. It is not necessary to have a lawyer complete an advanced directive; Nebraska law requires a person to be at least 19 years of age and in sound mind to complete the document. It becomes legally binding if signed by the proper witnesses or the maker's signature has been notarized.

Expressing your desire for care and choosing "an agent" to act on your behalf is only part of the equation. Having a discussion with your family members and your physician about personal choices for medical intervention at the end of life are equally important. Copies of the completed document need to be in your medical file, with the chosen agent, and other family members as well. Having a completed form will not benefit anyone if no one knows about it.

Begin thinking about your own wishes for end-of-life care. There may come a day when you would be in a position to make decisions for a member of the older generation, or worse yet, your spouse or your own child. Having a discussion now with your children about your future choices will be an enormous help to them should they ever be in that decision-making role.

is healthy will be much easier to do than when faced with a crisis or an emergency.

Depending upon the age of the child, of course, parents can involve children in a discussion about end-of-life issues in a non-threatening atmosphere. Opportunities arise, such as death of a neighbor, a friend, or a front-page news story, to talk about how death of a family member signifies changes to one's family life and affects every family member.

Parents themselves may have aging parents they are providing care for or who live in the home. Children are aware their parents transport grandparents to the doctor's office, or hospital stays, or even accompany them on visits to a nursing home. Discussion about caring for someone or making health care decisions for one who is no longer able to do so on their own, is a natural way to introduce the concept of "Living Wills," or "Advanced Directives." Another term is "Power of Attorney for Health Care"; essentially all refer to the same thing: giving another person legal authority to make health care decisions on your behalf.

Explaining to children that advanced directives or living wills are "written statements describing the type of care a person wishes to receive at the end of life" and need

Soybean disease alert presented

This has been an ideal spring and early summer for the development of soybean seedling diseases because of the wet soil conditions from excess rain.

There are disease-causing organisms naturally present in the soil plus those carried by insects, to cause potential problems in soybean fields every year but this year has been ideal. The most common seedling diseases are those that infect the seed, root or emerging shoot and cause death of the roots, stem and eventually the entire plant. Young plants in the field will suddenly die for no apparent reason but if the plant is dug out of the soil, there will not be any roots and probably a discolored stem. The plants that do survive will be stunted and slow growing, produce less flowers and thus less grain. Now is the time to look for field symptoms that include, patches of shorter plants in the field, thin stands or just a general poor appearance of the plants. There is nothing that can be done once the soybean has been planted to prevent the disease.

The treatment must occur before planting by treating the seed with a fungicide before planting or selecting a variety that is resistant to the seedling diseases. The most common diseases are phytophthora root and stem rot, seedling blight and rhizoctonia root rot. The disease is also more likely in those fields where reduced tillage has been used for several years and areas where there has not been an extended time of no soybeans. Rotation between corn and soybeans do not allow enough time between cropping years to reduce the disease causing organisms. The best system would include at least three crops in the rotation system which would allow at least three or more years between the same crop. Including alfalfa would extend the time between crops and help reduce the changes of disease problems.

One of the other potential problems are the soybean cyst nematodes that infect the roots of the soybean plant and cause serious problems, later in yields. Visual symptoms include stunting plants, yellowish plants, less flowers and less pods. The only sure way to know is to have a soil test analyzed for the nematodes. This can be done anytime, but the best time is in the fall. Many of the soybean varieties have SCN resistance bred into the bean, just ask for them.

A free test for the cyst nematode is available through the extension office, check with your nearest extension office for availability of bags.

Volunteerism is alive and well in Nebraska

At the Governor's Conference on Aging in Kearney, last year, Governor Heinemann announced that Nebraska is second only to Utah in numbers of folks who volunteer. That's pretty amazing, when you consider we are fairly sparsely populated compared to other states.

As a long time hospice person, I was already familiar with the dedicated volunteers in that organization. There was a photo in this paper recently of the group that serves this area. Some go back to the days when I was personally associated with hospice in Wayne county; and that is now 15 years ago. That's commitment.

We are into Little League season and we are trying to get to some grandkid's ball games. Here again, volunteers. Randa plays for a Hickman team, with volunteer coaches, volunteer umpires and volunteer groundskeepers. Danica plays for a Lincoln Swingers team, where at least the officials are paid, but the coaches, again, are volunteers. Her coach, in fact, is a grandfather of one of the players. I can understand a mom or dad deciding to coach their child's team, but what would motivate a grandpa to spend that time in the heat and the dust, instead of in front of the boob tube in air conditioning?

This morning, I attended training by Community Health Charities, in preparation for the campaign for health organizations in the work place. These speakers will be asked to give seven minute presentations to companies that participate in a payroll deduction plan.

I was again struck by the commitment. There was a tall young lady whose mother was diagnosed with Alzheimer's eight years ago, at the age of 67. I sat by a lovely mother whose eight year old has juvenile diabetes, diagnosed two years ago. One of the "sample speakers" has multiple sclerosis.

There was an African American with kidney disease whose father is recently deceased with the same disease and another gentleman who has leukemia. I learned that one in three Nebraskans will be diagnosed with a chronic illness this year. Think of the impact, on those individuals, those families and on the health system in general.

On Saturday, I attended a workshop on domestic violence. It was very discouraging because treatment is seldom successful in this area. I thought to myself, we have to come up with a prevention. I wish there could be a vaccination!

Well, for a lot of the physical diseases, research will be the answer. When I was a student, Hodgkin's disease and childhood leukemia were death sentences. Today, they are not. Of course, research takes big bucks. But in the meantime, there are all these volunteers out there, educating, advocating, and encouraging. When it touches your life, you suddenly become motivated. And you start volunteering. And that's a good thing.

Concord News

Suzie Johnson
402-584-2693

The next meeting will be held on Friday, July 6 at noon.

SENIOR CENTER POTLUCK

Concord/Dixon Senior Center monthly potluck lunch was held on June 1 with 15 members and one guest in attendance. Linda Wells from the Area Agency on Aging gave an informational program on nutrition involving snacks.

Roy Stohler conducted the business meeting. The minutes of the previous meeting and the Treasurers report were given and accepted. All bills will be paid.

The group plans to visit the Ponca Senior Center in the near future. They will be journeying to the Gardener Senior Center at Wakefield on Thursday evening, June 21, for the evening meal. The meal begins at 6 p.m. so the group will leave the Concord Senior Center at 5:15 p.m.

Also, on June 21 at 10:30 a.m., Velma Dennis has a quilt ready to tie. Anyone interested in helping can come to the Center and should bring a sack lunch. The quilt is probably a double bed size and there is a need for more large needles.

CONCORDIA RUTH CIRCLE
Concordia Ruth Circle met on June 7 with nine members present. Leader, Doris Nelson, opened the business meeting with a reading entitled "To Old Glory". A discussion was held about the July 19 Birthday Party for the Honorary Members. It will be held at 9:30 a.m. that day. The July 5 Circle meeting will be held in the home of Opal Carlson at The Oaks in Wayne. The group will celebrate her birthday that day.

Suzie Johnson led the Bible Study entitled, "With the Message of Jesus" taken from the series, Act Boldly For Mission. The study notes the purpose of our lives is connected to God's purposes. The point of our lives is to be a part of what God is up to. We are to "Get To Work!" sharing with the world God's dream for all of us. Many verses were read and studied. God is the real deal. Everyone has a big job to do. The group closed with prayer, offering and table grace. Fern Erickson served a red, white and blue lunch.

Northeast RC&D gives update

Northeast Nebraska RC&D updates include:

Outlaw Trail Scenic Byway - Verdel's historic jail sits along the Outlaw Trail as a reminder of the rowdier days of the past. Stories are still told of a large cave along the Missouri River near Verdel that served as a hiding place for cattle and horses stolen by outlaw gangs; although the cave can no longer be found. Rumors said it was big enough to hide entire herds - or as a hideout for outlaws in the territory who were not anxious to meet up with the men who enforced the long arm of the law.

Shannon Trail - Their summer promotion is in full swing so get going on the 2007 Contest and be eligible to win $500 and many other prizes. Pick up an entry blank from participating sponsors, find the answers to the Shannon quiz on the 16 National Park Service signs along the trail while collecting the stickers and submit the entry form by August 25.

Corps of Discovery Welcome

Center - Visitor traffic is picking up and more people are finding out that the Welcome Center is a good place to stop for local, regional and Nebraska information. New staff members as well as volunteers are enjoying their experiences. To join in the fun, call 402-667-6557.

County Church tour - There will be a Sept. 8 tour of Cedar County Churches. This one-day motor coach tour features stops at seven churches and includes lunch at St. James Marketplace.

Laurel Recycling Center - Laurel's new recycling center is ready to handle not only their own materials but those of surrounding communities and rural residents. It's set back from the west side of U.S. Highway 20 and is a beige building with maroon trim. They accept plastic bottles #1-7, tin cans, aluminum, newspaper, magazines and catalogues, office paper, corrugated cardboard, as well as cereal and other food boxes. Contact the City of Laurel 402-256-3112 for more information.

Midstates planning committee seeks rural community success stories

The Midstates Community and Economic Development planning committee is seeking examples of successful development efforts in towns and cities in Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota. The committee is looking for people to share their story of what their community did to revitalize and enhance the quality of life for individuals living in their town or city.

"If you know of a success story in your community, we want to hear from you," said Sherry McGill, Education Director for Iowa State University Extension-Woodbury County. "In the event your story is selected, you will be provided with an all expense paid trip to South Sioux City, Neb., and have the opportunity to inspire others by telling your success story at the eighth annual Midstates Community and Economic Development Conference." The 2008 conference will be held on March 19 at the Marina Inn.

The Auxiliary needs a wallet size photo, name, rank and branch of service for each. They are asking family members for help in getting this project in place by Independence Day, July 4.

Beverly Neel is the project organizer. You can contact her at 402-529-3593 (home) or 1-800-584-9360 (work).

Foundation receives proceeds from auction

Recently Dave and Kaki Ley donated the proceeds of the auction held at the old State National Bank building to the Wayne Public Schools Foundation.

The funds will go toward the Wayne Schools Fine Arts program.

The Wayne Public Schools Foundation has been in existence since 1989. Through the generosity of community members, faculty, staff, and alumni, the Foundation has been able to endow scholarships for graduating seniors, purchase new computers, renovate the elementary school track (Kern track), and help fund new bleachers in the high school gym.

Currently, members of the Foundation are updating Wayne

High School alumni lists. If you are a reunion organizer for your class, or have information about upcoming reunions, please call Tracy Pierson at 375-3512.

The Foundation will be organizing school tours over Chicken Day weekend for anyone interested. Board members are also available to give short presentations about the work of the Foundation, or to distribute brochures outlining the Foundation's work.

"The members of the Wayne Public Schools Foundation sincerely appreciate the efforts of all involved in our continued pursuit of providing Wayne students a quality school environment," Pierson said.

Trio Travel Main Street Office Closing - Website Still Open!

It is with great regret that we announce that Trio Travel has closed its retail office at 311 N. Main St. in Wayne. However, we will continue to accept future leisure and corporate travel bookings on our website at www.triotravelne.com. Trio Travel wishes to thank all our customers for their patronage throughout the past 25 years, but due to industry changes, such as the elimination of airline commissions, the necessity to decrease fees to compete with large travel websites, and local companies who work directly with tour operators to earn their own commission/incentives, the business is no longer able to support a full time employee or office space. Vickie Schulz (Rauner) will continue to own Trio Travel and continue to work full-time from her home office for Landscapes Unlimited, a golf course development company based in Lincoln, Nebraska. If you wish to redeem a Trio Travel gift certificate, or need assistance with an existing booking, please email Vickie at vickie@triotravelne.com or leave a message at 402-375-2670.

SBA announces New Patriot Express Loan Initiative

The SBA recently announced the new Patriot Express Pilot Loan as the latest extension to the financial, procurement and technical assistance programs the agency provides to the military community. Patriot Express is a streamlined loan product based on SBA's highly successful SBA Express Program, but with enhanced guarantee and interest rate characteristics.

"With military activations and extensions having a profound impact on entrepreneurs in the military community, SBA is committed to helping America's service men and women during the continuing War on Terror," SBA Administrator Steven Preston said. "We believe that Patriot Express, supported by SBA's other services, goes directly to the needs of these American Patriots who wish to start businesses, and in the process encourages job creation and growth, an essential part of the President's economic agenda."

"SBA thanks the Presidential Task Force on Returning Global War on Terror Heroes for its guidance and hard work and Veterans Affairs Secretary Jim Nicholson for his devoted leadership," Preston added.

Patriot Express is available to military community members including veterans, service-disabled veterans, active-duty service members participating in the military's Transition Assistance Program, Reservists and National Guard members, current spouses of any of the above, and the widowed spouse of a service member or veteran who died during service, or of a service-connected disability.

The new Patriot Express Loan is offered by SBA's network of participating lenders nationwide and features SBA's fastest turnaround time for loan approvals. Loans are available up to $500,000 and qualify for SBA's maximum guaranty of up to 85 percent for loans of $150,000 or less and up to 75 percent for loans over $150,000 up to $500,000. For loans above $350,000, lenders are required to take all available collateral.

The Patriot Express Loan can be used for most business purposes, including start-up, expansion, equipment purchases, working capital, inventory or business-occupied real-estate purchases.

Patriot Express Loans feature SBA's lowest interest rates for business loans, generally 2.25 percent to 4.75 percent over prime depending upon the size and maturity of the loan. Local SBA district offices will have a listing of Patriot Express lenders in their areas. Details on the initiative can be found at www.sba.gov/patriotexpress

Recently, the SBA has expanded its face to the military community through an expansion of its Veterans Affairs Office, increased local outreach and goaling in its district offices and participation in Department of Labor job seminars.

SBA provides programs and services for veterans and members of the military community wanting to establish or expand small businesses.

SBA has veterans' business development officers in district offices in every state and territory able to provide military community members full access to the SBA's range of programs and services. There are also five Veterans Business Outreach Centers located in: Albany, N.Y.; Pittsburgh, Penn.; Lynn Haven, Fla.; Edinburg, Texas; and Sacramento, Calif.

In addition to district offices, SBA's resource partners SCORE, Counselors to America's Small Business; Small Business Development Centers; and Women's Business Centers provide local and online assistance with: writing a business plan, financing options to start or grow your business, managing the business, expanding the business and selling goods and services to the government.

For those who are already small business owners and who expect call-up, the SBA and its resource partners have expertise to assist with preparing their businesses before deployment; managing their businesses, selling goods and services to the government, obtaining other SBA financing and financial assistance, and obtaining loans for economic injury - Military Reserve Economic Injury Disaster Loans (MREIDL) - Loans of up to $1.5 million are available for small businesses sustaining economic injury because an owner or essential employee has been called to active duty as a military reservist.

"More than 14 percent of businesses in America are owned by veterans, and SBA is proud that we guarantee more than $1 billion annually in loans for veteran-owned businesses," Administrator Preston said. "Veteran-owned businesses make significant contributions to the economy and because of the unique technical and leadership skills they acquire through military service, they can become successful entrepreneurs. As we celebrate Flag Day we remember our military community and their patriotism on behalf of our grateful nation."

The SBA and its Office of Veterans Business Development (OVBD) provides comprehensive assistance, outreach and support to veterans. Each year the SBA assists more than 100,000 veterans, service-disabled veterans and Reserve Component members.

Deserah Janke is National Award winner

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Deserah Janke of Winside has been named a United States National Award Winner in English.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes fewer than 10 percent of all American high school students.

Deserah, who attends Winside High School, was nominated for this national award by Penny Baier, an English teacher at the school. Her name will appear in the United States Achievement Academy's Official Yearbook which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly, United States Achievement Academy winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Founder of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors, and other qualified sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability and recommendation from a qualified sponsor.

Deserah is the daughter of Deano and Debbie Janke of Winside. Her grandparents are Dean and Daisy Janke of Winside.
