Back to the books

Students of all ages returned to the classrooms this week. From top to bottom, Wayne High School freshmen were happy to be back in class; Wayne Middle School students picked up class schedules to begin the school year; kindergartners in Mrs. Tiedtke's class were eager to go to school; students at St. Mary's Elementary School conducted the flag raising ceremony indoors due to wet weather on Wednesday.

Group learns about life in Sweden

Lincoln residents Joe Roberts (originally of Wayne) and Eric Drumbheller were recent speakers at a Wayne Rotary Club meeting. The two men were part of a recent GSE (Group Study Exchange) to Sweden, along with three other team members, Kristi Nohavee of Lincoln and Pete Jenkins and Cassie Carrington, both of Omaha. The group arrived in Sweden on May 2.

The GSE program is a cultural and vocational exchange opportunity for young business and professional men and women in their initial years of professional life. Rotary districts in different countries are paired to send and receive professional study groups of four to six non-Rotarian team members and one Rotarian team leader to travel for three to six weeks, staying in the homes of Rotarians when possible.

On this trip, Roberts, who is an Insurance and Investment Broker for Midlands Financial Benefits, was the team leader. He is the son of Eldin Roberts and the late Wilma Roberts of Wayne. Roberts and his wife, Sheryl, have two children, Sonya and Christopher, and a grandson, Tobey.

The professions of the other members of the team include: Drumbheller, director of grants and scholarships at Education Quest Foundation; Jenkins, realtor with CBSHOME Real Estate; Carrington, Desktop Publisher with HDR and Nohavee, architect and structural engineer with Clark Enersen.

While in Sweden, the GSE team spent time on tours of companies similar to their own professions and also did some sight-seeing. On May 3, the group toured Bjorkhagaskolan (the equivalent of the American grade school) and the Lindskolan (equivalent to high school in the USA).

Roberts noted that staying with host families is an excellent way to find out about the culture of the country you are visiting. Members stayed with host families in Lindesberg.

On May 5, members of Nora Rotary Club, a small town about 20 miles from Lindesberg, hosted them for a day of Nora history and culture as Nora is famous for their trains and iron ore. During a tour of the depot, the group saw their fine collection of vintage rail cars and locomotives, and later they were treated to a train ride to a nearby community where iron ore is mined. Upon their return, they had Fika (Swedish coffee break) at a historic home and toured the city.

On May 6, team members left their first host families and moved to new families in Vasteras, a beautiful city bordered by a large lake. The group saw a castle that houses a cathedral and an old town. In the afternoon, they toured the city-owned power plant, "Malarenergi." Different from those in the U.S., the plant generates hot water for the homes run by heating systems and since the pipes run under the streets, snow is melted off during the winter. Electricity is also generated but is considered a byproduct of the hot water. Swedes are very environmentally conscious; there's a lot of solar and wind power utilized there.

On May 8, team members spent time on the island of Elba, where they had dinner at a restaurant there. May 9 and 10 were vocational days and everyone enjoyed learning about their profession in Sweden. Jenkins spent time with a realtor who sold the most expensive house to date in Vasteras, $1.25 million (US dollars). Later, they went to Anundshog to tour Viking ruins and burial sites.

On May 12, team members were treated by Rotary District 2340 to a weekend in Stockholm; they took the train from Vasteras and had a bus and boat tour of the city. The next day, they left their Vasteras families and transferred to Karlstad about two hours away, which is next to Lake Vanern, the third largest lake in Europe.

While in Karlstad, they had a tour of the town that was founded over 400 years ago as a port center to collect taxes. The town is also home to Selma Lagerlof, a local author who won the Nobel prize for literature.

Another stop in Karlstad was to the Swedish National Church, which is Lutheran. Until a few years ago, the church was part of the government and you were a member if you were born in Sweden. The National Parliament was responsible for all church decisions. Now, you have to agree to be a member of the church and it is not state funded anymore.

A couple of differences between U.S. and Swedish churches include: the Swedish National Church is responsible for cemeteries. The government charges all people a .25 percent cemetery tax on income to cover the cost of a plot, opening and closing a grave and transportation. The family is responsible for all other arrangements. The state collects a tax from all church members and provides it to the church.

"While church membership is optional, the parish we visited had 21,000 members out of 24,000 people who live in the parish," Drumbheller said.

On their final day in Karlstad, the team took a tour of the Fire and Rescue and of

Summer Sports Complex, parking surfaces discussed

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald.

Implementation of an ordinance regarding parking surfaces in the city of Wayne was put on hold following discussion at Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

The ordinance, which was set to go into effect on Oct. 1 of this year, would have resulted in property owners needing to replace certain parking surfaces on their property.

George Ellyson, Chief Inspector/Planner, told the council he has received a number of phone calls in recent weeks and there has been a great deal of anger expressed by the public.

After considerable discussion, the council agreed to prepare another draft of the ordinance and present it to the Planning Commission for revision and input. It is hoped that the Planning Commission can make its recommendations to the council by January of 2008 so the council can implement an ordinance before the next construction season.

Representatives of the Summer Sports Complex Committee were present at Tuesday's meeting to give an update on the fundraising aspect of the complex, as well as discuss naming rights for various parts of the complex.

Laura Gamble told the council that at the present time, the fundraising committee has $52,904 in cash and approximately $12,500 in pledges toward the goal of raising $125,000. She noted that two recent large donations of $20,000 each are not included in the total. The two donations would result in the donors being allowed to name two of the ball fields at the complex.

In a related item, the council voted in favor of allowing the city treasurer to cash flow the construction costs for the project until all the pledges are collected.

The city will also request proposals and sign a construction management agreement to build the complex. This will allow the city and sports complex committee to maximize the construction material and labor donations offered.

The council also listened to a presentation from Lori Carollo, Red Cross Chapter Manager, about having Red Cross blood drives in Wayne.

She told the council that the Wayne chapter recently joined with the Norfolk chapter, which holds weekly blood drives. Her office has been approached by the Omaha office to conduct drives in Wayne.

"We are not here for competition with the Siouxland Blood Bank. The bottom line is saving lives and getting more people to donate blood," Carollo said.

The Red Cross is planning a blood drive in Wayne on Wednesday, Sept. 12 at the Wayne National Guard Armory.

Julie Osnes, Youth Services Director at the Wayne Public Library, presented a video to council members on the summer activities at the Wayne Public Library. She noted that more than 6,500 books were

Laurel student to compete for title of America's Top Young Scientist

The countdown to choosing the nation's top young scientist began recently as Discovery Communications announced 400 middle school students from 44 states, including one student from Nebraska, as semifinalists in the 2007 Discovery Channel Young Scientist Challenge. Nebraska's semifinalists include Emma Engebretsen of Laurel (Laurel-Concord Public School).

With a focus on the environment and sustainable development, the 49 students who go on to qualify as finalists will tackle some of the Planet's most significant environmental challenges, dubbed Operation Green, with the winner chosen in Washington, D.C., Oct. 21-24.

In its ninth year, the Discovery Channel Young Scientist Challenge is the nation's premier science contest for students in grades 5-8, designed to encourage the exploration of science during the critical middle school years. Discovery Communications launched the competition in partnership with Science Service to nurture the next generation of American scientists at a critical age when interest in science begins to decline.

In this year's competition, students will investigate climate change, global warming and eco-friendly initiatives such as recycling and green building design. The contest's environmental theme reflects Discovery Communications' long-standing mission to preserve and protect our planet - a commitment that moves to a new level with the launch in early 2008 of Planet Green, a new TV channel in more than 50 million homes dedicated to all things green.

"The Discovery Channel Young Scientist Challenge has always been an important part of our company's commitment to science education. There is a real crisis in this country when it comes to scientific proficiency, and Discovery Communications remains steadfast in our mission to advance science literacy and achievement across America's school system," said David Zaslav, President and CEO, Discovery Communications.

The contest identifies and honors those who best demonstrate leadership, teamwork, scientific problem-solving and the ability to be an effective science communicator - a goal that reflects Discovery's philosophy that scientific knowledge is most valuable when it is shared. This year's qualifying science fair projects draw upon a broad array of disciplines, including biochemistry, physics, mathematics, engineering and zoology.

The Young Scientist Challenge targets students as they first pursue seriously their innate fascination with the natural world," said Elizabeth Marincola, President and CEO, Science Services, the non-profit organization that administers the Challenge. "In partnership with Discovery Communications, Science Service is delighted to nurture these outstanding young scientists, encouraging their interest in research and helping build their skills in promoting public engagement in science."

"As the United States struggles to compete with other nations in the fields of science and technology, DCYSC plays an important role by letting goal-oriented, knowledgeable and imaginative students showcase their science success stories to younger students. This year's semifinalists represent the country's next generation of science leaders," said Steve Jacobs, DCYSC Head Judge. "Even more impressive, and a fundamental part of our competition, is their skill in explaining their work to others, a prerequisite of scientific leadership. It is crucial that we continue to play a role in developing the skill sets that young people will need as the demand for eco-friendly innovation increases."

The countdown to choosing America's top young scientist continues on Sept. 12, when the field is narrowed by the Challenge judges to the "Final Forty." In October, the 40 finalists and their families will come to Washington, D.C., where they will take part in a series of team-based, interactive challenges focused on this year's environmental theme. The students will compete for more than $100,000 worth of scholarships and special prizes, as well as the title of "America's Top Young Scientist of the Year."

The semifinalists were selected from 1,960 formal entries chosen from a pool of 75,000 students who entered science fairs nationwide.

The full list of 400 semifinalists, their hometowns, schools and the titles of their entries can be found at: <http://www.discovery.com/dcyse>

In 1999, Discovery created the Young Scientist Challenge to help lift achievement in science and math among middle school students. Nearly 16,000 children have entered the Young Scientist Challenge since its inception. Winners have received approximately $700,000 in scholarship awards and federal government recognition, and have participated in science-related trips that have taken them around the world.

Commissioners approve healthcare renewal for county employees and listen to update on Keystone Oil Pipeline Project

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Wayne Herald

Wayne County Board of Commissioners met in regular session Tuesday. On the agenda was renewal of health insurance for county employees. Steve Muir of First National Agency in Wayne was present to answer any questions.

The commissioners approved United Healthcare's option four plan, which has a rate of $488.55 per employee or $1,025.97 with spouse at a monthly premium of $48,221, an individual/family deductible of $2,000 (single)/$4,000 (family) - (paid by the county) and also a prescription drug card. The revised plan will take effect Sept. 1, 2007 until Sept. 1, 2008.

Jeff Rauh, a representative of Keystone Oil Pipeline Project was present with an update. He told commissioners the pipeline proposed by TransCanada, is seeking permission to lay their pipeline across Wayne County in 2009. There should be 19 miles of pipe put down in Wayne County at that time. The 30 inch pipe will run north to south along the western side of Wayne County.

As part of the regulatory review of the project, public meetings were held in the area in October and public comments will be accepted until Sept. 24. Regulators have since published a Draft Environmental Impact Statement which can be viewed online at keystonepipeline.state.gov and comments can be given there too. Additional meetings are planned: Stanton: Sept. 12, Seward: Sept. 13 and Yankton, Sept. 11 (no TransCanada rep will be present though).

The project will bring Canadian crude oil to the U.S. at a rate of 590,000 barrels a day. TransCanada has the second largest oil reserves, next to Saudi Arabia. Rauh noted Canada's oil reserves are mixed with sand and was too expensive to ship until recently when the price of crude oil raised and new technology in extraction was found.

At this point, the company is acquiring right of way, which is a slow process. He noted there have been a number of questions about the project including clean-up in case of emergency. Rauh noted if that occurred, local emergency crews should secure public safety but clean up and maintenance is TransCanada's responsibility.

Rauh said there will be pump stations in Cedar County and in Stanton County with a possible maintenance center and team based in Yankton. TransCanada has an office in Omaha.

Rauh added that they figure TransCanada will be paying over $5 million in taxes to Nebraska ($500,000 to Wayne County, which would benefit the schools, fire departments, etc.). Anyone with questions can call TransCanada at 1-866-717-7473.

Also present at the meeting was Dave Simonsen of WAEDI, asking the board to approve a resolution supporting participation in Nebraska's Economic Development certification of the city of Wayne. He added county support (not financial) is needed. Commissioners approved the resolution.

The commissioners approved the 2007 tax requests from the following: Wayne Ag Society: (general) $39,000; Carroll Fire District #1: (general) $23,940 and (bond) $16,575. Wayne Fire District #2 (general) $25,000 (sinking) $20,400; Winside Fire District #4 (general) $22,800 (sinking) $5,000; Wakefield Fire: $38,548.20; Library: (general) $10,000.

Road/Bridge business included solicitation of sealed bids for sale of any surplus equipment by running newspaper ads, which the commissioners approved. Approval was also given to authorize solicitation of sealed bids for leasing one or more motor graders.

Speece Lewis engineering firm was approved to provide inspection, staking services and project management for Federal Aid Project BRO-7090 (13), Wayne southwest, one mile west and 1.3 miles south of Wayne.

Commissioners also approved Gary Pavel for audit services for fiscal year ending June 30, 2007.

Approved was a transfer from General Fund to Special Police Fund of $25,000 and transfer of $90,000 from Snow Removal & Equipment fund to County Road Fund. Both transfers were made to cover operating costs until the budget has been approved. The budget must be approved by Sept. 20.

The commissioner meeting was recessed until Sept. 22 (evening) when a budget work session was conducted.

The next meeting of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners is Tuesday, Sept. 4 at 9 a.m. in the courthouse in Wayne.

Exterior work nearing completion on Habitat for Humanity home

Progress is being made on the Wayne Area Habitat for Humanity house being built in partnership with the Wanda Ryden family. On Aug. 18, volunteers completed the roof, and neared completion of the exterior siding.

This past week, Godfathers Pizza of Wayne donated food for lunch. Pat Thompson provided the snacks for break. On the previous week, Tacos and More of Wayne donated lunch for volunteers, while Leah Agler provided snacks.

The plumbing and electrical work is now in progress. Local contractors are conducting this work. Once these are completed and inspected, work on the interior of the house can continue by volunteers. For more information on volunteer opportunities, contact Kyle Rose at 375-2340.

Following installation of the rough plumbing and electrical, drywall will be hung in the ceiling and a few walls. Insulation will then be blown into the walls, followed by hanging of the remaining drywall.

Stop in Wayne part of peace ride across USA

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

On a PEACE (Patriot Exhibition Advancing Community and Environmentalism) mission, Alix Bryan of Charlottesville, Va. is driving her Buddy 125 from the Genuine Scooter Company across the U.S. and stopped at Super 8 in Wayne on Aug. 14. From Wayne, she was traveling to Sioux Falls, S.D. Along the way, she's meeting many different people and asking them to define peace.

She left from Washington, D.C., July 15 following a peace-sign pattern across the country and will end up in Crawford, Texas in mid-September, traveling around 10,500 miles.

"If we can, define peace, then maybe we can practice peace," Bryan said. "If people would think about peace long enough, then we would have it."

On her trek, Bryan hands out post cards and asks people to send them back to her with their definition of peace. Also on the post card is an itinerary of her trip, which is: Mid-July: Washington, D.C.; Charlottesville, Va.; Asheville, N.C.; Atlanta, Ga.; Montgomery, AL; New Orleans, LA.; Shreveport, LA.; Tulsa, Okla.; Salina, Kan. Early August: Sioux Falls, S.D.; Fargo, N.D.; Devil's Lake, N.D.; Missoula, Mont.; Spokane, Wash.; Seattle, Wash. Mid-August: Portland, Ore.; Eugene, Ore.; Arcata, Calif.; San Francisco, Calif.; Santa Cruz, Calif.; San Luis Obispo, Calif. Early September: Long Beach, Calif.; Joshua Tree, Calif.; Prescott, Ariz.; Sedona, Ariz.; Grand Canyon, Ariz.; Santa Fe, N.M. Mid to end September: Salina, Kan.; Oklahoma City, Okla.; Crawford Ranch, Texas.

Bryan notes there is a peaceful, non-violent correlation of her leaving from Washington, D.C. and ending up in Crawford, Texas. She emphasizes this is a non-political event.

"If President Bush can offer a definition of peace at the end of this trip, that would be awesome," Bryan said.

On her postcard it states that Bryan would rather we make history by creating peace, than become history in its absence.

Bryan's Buddy 125 scooter gets about 90 mpg and its top speed is 60+ mph. Bryan's sponsors are Genuine Scooter Company and Scooterworks USA of Chicago. Plus, she's had supporters along the way. She said her biggest expense has been lodging. As for her food, she mainly shops in grocery stores along the way.

"I appreciate donations," Bryan said. "I still have student loans to pay. In the end, I plan on writing a book and I also hope to help make the world a better place."

Bryan would welcome your definition of peace so join her online at peacescooter.com.

On May 17, the group was in Norway for their National Day, which celebrates their constitution and independence from Sweden. While there, they stayed with their host families in Arvika, which is a city of around 25,000 people. On May 26, the team met with the District 2340 GSE team who was in Nebraska in April. They played Kupp, a traditional Swedish lawn game and had dinner with their friends.

On May 28, they visited the Swedish judicial system in Orebro. They spent time with the Police Authority, the Public Prosecutor and the District Court. The team found the Swedish judicial system is very different from ours. Sweden has a national police force where decisions are made in Stockholm and then carried out in the counties. There is local police presence but they do not work for the local city like they do in the U.S. The court system, with exception of trials that involve charges against the media, are not held with a jury. There are four judges, on who has professional legal training and the other three are political appointments.

Each year Rotary District 5650 supports the Group Study Exchange program. The 2008 team will travel to Australia in February. Rotary is currently accepting non-Rotarian team applications for professionals between the ages of 25 and 40.

Jorgensen glad to be back in Wayne

By Clara Osten

Of the Herald

After asking himself earlier this year "when was the last time you were happy?" Ken Jorgensen answered the question, purchased The Max Sports Bar and Grill and is now back in Wayne.

Jorgensen, a graduate of Wayne High School, who has worked for Delta Airlines in Chicago and owned another bar in Wayne, purchased the former Uncle Dave's at 109 Main Street from Jason Miller. Four years ago Jorgensen sold the business to Miller.

"In August of 1977, when I moved back from Chicago, I bought Mike's Bar and re-named it The Fourth Jug. In August of 1992 I purchased this business (The Max) and owned both bars for almost two years. In May of 1994 I sold The Fourth Jug to Jim Milliken and ran The Max until February of 2003," Jorgensen said.

He noted that after buying the business in 1992 he did "lots of remodeling and added the kitchen." When he sold the business in 2003, Ken went to work driving truck for Affiliated Foods.

"I just got tired of talking to the windshield. I was never around anybody and I never got to see my kids," he said.

Ken's family includes a daughter, Andrea Zara, of Weston and sons Tyler of Lincoln and Quentin, Ramsey and Hunter, all of Wayne and a grandson, Cooper.

Earlier this year he asked Miller if he wanted to go back to his home town in Illinois as much as Ken wanted to own a bar again. The answer was 'yes' and Jorgensen took possession of the building on June 1.

A number of minor changes have been made at The Max, including adding new sandwiches to the menu, but Jorgensen said no major changes have taken place. Remodeling of the back room is on the list of possible changes in the future.

Daily lunch and evening food specials are offered at The Max. Ken's mother, Frieda Jorgensen continues to make pies and desserts for meals, as she has done for a number of years.

Hours at The Max are 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. for lunch and 4 p.m. to 1 a.m. for evening hours, Monday through Saturday. There is a possibility of having Sunday evening hours in the future. Delivery of food items is available during regular hours.

The Max has approximately 20 employees at the present time.

For more information on The Max, call 375-9817.

2007 Wayne State Fall Preview

Youthful energy comes to WSC soccer squad

By Mike Grosz
Wayne State Sports Information

A combination of experience and youth will make up the 2007 Wayne State College women's soccer team.

Second-year head coach Brooke Bredenberg welcomes back 10 letter winners and six starters from last season's 10-10-1 team, but the Wildcats will need to rely on a talented recruiting class of 13 freshmen to help fill the shoes of several key players who either graduated or left the program.

Lost to graduation were Melissa Benson, Sarah James and M.A. Liebenritt. Benson was a three-time All-NSIC and two-time All-Central Region performer and ranks sixth on the career scoring list with 24 goals and 54 points.

James was a two-time All-NSIC defender that scored three goals last season while Liebenritt was a Second Team All-NSIC honoree last season with eight goals and 19 points and finished her career ranked fifth on the all-time scoring list with 65 points, including 24 goals.

"Each and every girl on this team will be fighting for a spot throughout the season," Bredenberg said. "I feel the girls have worked hard over the summer and are looking forward to a new season. Our team has an amazing work ethic and has a chance to go very far this season."

The WSC roster of 23 players features just two seniors and one junior with seven sophomores and 13 freshmen making up a majority of the team.

Co-captains Marci Douglas and Gena Romano, both seniors, bring a wealth of experience to the Wildcat roster as the two players begin their fourth year of competition.

Romano, from Lincoln Southwest, will start the season as a utility player after starting games at three different positions last season. She scored two goals and added two assists for six points, including two game-winning goals.

Douglas appeared in all 21 games last season and recorded one assist for the 'Cats.

Talent returns for volleyball team

By Mike Grosz
Wayne State Sports Information

Coming off arguably the most successful season in the 31-year history of Wayne State College volleyball, the Wildcats will be looking to make their third straight trip to the NCAA Tournament in 2007 and improve on last year's semi-final finish at the North Central Regional Tournament.

Last season, the 'Cats advanced farther than in-state foes Nebraska-Kearney and Nebraska-Omaha, who both lost in the first round.

Wayne State was 30-8 overall in 2006 and finished in second place in the Northern Sun Conference at 15-3, losing to No.4-ranked Concordia St. Paul in both the NSIC Tournament Finals and the NCAA North Central Regional Tournament semi-finals.

The Wildcats ended 2006 with their highest ranking in school history at 20th overall and will start the 2007 season ranked 21st in NCAA Division II.

Wayne State returns many key players this season, but will still have to replace departing starters Brittany Coleman and Michelle Eckhardt. Coleman was an Honorable Mention All-American at setter and ranked fifth in NCAA Division II in assists per game (13.41 apg), while Eckhardt was second on the team in both blocks (132) and kills (544).

Coach Scott Kneiff's cupboard will be far from bare in 2007 as his team returns five starters, including Second-Team All-American Emily Schroeder and two-time NSIC Libero of the Year Laura Dolezal.

"I am very excited about this season," commented Kneiff. "With a good nucleus coming back from last year's squad and an exciting freshman class, our goal is to compete for an NSIC title and another berth in the NCAA North Central Regional Tournament."

Schroeder, a senior from Laurel-Concord, was the school's first All-American in volleyball last season, earning Second-Team honors from Daktronics and the AVCA. She led the team in kills with 599 (4.47 per game) and blocks with 206 (1.54 per game).

Her 1.54 blocks per game placed her at fourth overall in NCAA Division II, while her 599 kills established a new single season school record.

Schroeder also pulled in First-Team All-Northern Sun and First-Team All-Central Region honors.

"Emily is a difference-maker at the middle hitter position," Kneiff said. "Her athleticism and competitiveness will help this team get to where we want to go."

Dolezal, a senior from Columbus (Scotus HS), will look to become a three-time NSIC Libero of the Year award winner in 2007.

"She is a solid fixture for us at libero, her three years of playing experience and her passing and defensive skills will be a welcomed back fixture to this year's team," Kneiff said.

Dolezal led the team in digs in 2006 with 779 (5.86 per game), good enough for 18th in NCAA Division II.

For her efforts, Dolezal earned First-Team All-Northern Sun Conference and First-Team All-North Central Region honors. She also led the team in service aces last season with 33.

The 'Cats will also return junior starters Brittany Van Beek, Meredy Dubbs and Daneille Wessel.

Van Beek, a 5-11 outside hitter, will be looked to for both kills and blocks as she was third on the team in each category last year with 416 and 154 respectively.

"Brittany has worked extremely hard in the off-season to become a better player and I'm excited to see the results," Kneiff said.

Dubbs, a defensive specialist/outside hitter, racked up 432 digs, 3.22 per game, second on the team and trails only Dolezal in that category.

"Meredy is a phenomenal ball handler with a knack for the game," Kneiff remarked. Wessel will also be a key outside hitter after ranking fourth on the team in both kills (245) and blocks (67) last season.

The Wildcats will also return five other letter winners in seniors Mattie Burnham and Ashley Vogt, junior Amanda Johnson and sophomores Jordan Schaffer and Tessa Wietfeld.

Burnham and Vogt will be looked upon for leadership as Burnham played in all but one match last season, while Vogt appeared in 32 contests.

Johnson will be used as a utility player, which will be a great asset to the team. While only playing in 16 matches (season-ending ACL injury), the left-handed hitting Schaffer still racked up 53 kills.

According to Kneiff, Wietfeld has improved defensively from her freshman year and will compete for a job at defensive specialist.

The Wildcat coaching staff also brought in a talented recruiting class of five freshmen to join the

WSC football team seeks to improve

By Mike Grosz
Wayne State Sports Information

Wayne State head football coach Dan McLaughlin has elevated the level of Wildcat football in his two seasons at Wayne, but is far from pleased with where the program is at entering his third season.

The Wildcats posted a 5-6 overall mark and finished in a tie for third in the Northern Sun Intercollegiate Conference at 4-4, recording the highest finish for a WSC football team since joining the league in 1999.

A pair of three point losses at home (40-37 to league champion Bemidji State and 27-24 to Concordia-St. Paul) kept the Wildcats from posting their first winning season since 1995 when the 'Cats went 6-4.

Under McLaughlin, the Wildcats continue to improve as WSC posted a three-game winning streak last season for the first time since 1995 and recorded back-to-back shutout wins for the first time since 1976. The 'Cats field a young squad again in 2007 with just six seniors to go with 18 juniors, 17 sophomores, 17 redshirt freshmen and 27 true freshmen making up the roster of 85 players.

"We are very excited and optimistic about our football season like everyone else at this time of the year," said McLaughlin, who is 9-13 overall and 8-7 in the NSIC, entering his third season. "We look to be much improved over the past two seasons."

Wayne State returns eight starters on offense and four on defense, but will have to replace several key losses on both sides of the ball.

Running back Zach Molacek, the 2006 NSIC Offensive Player of the Year, was lost to graduation, along with senior defensive back Adam Peterson.

Both players were Second Team All-Northwest Region selections in 2006.

Molacek rushed for 1,155 yards last season and finished his career as the second-leading rusher in school history at 3,391 yards, while Peterson was a four-year starter who finished his WSC career with 280 tackles and 10 interceptions.

Offensively, the Wildcats return talented sophomore quarterback Silas Fluellen.

The Bellevue West product became the starter in the third game of the season as a true freshman and guided the Wildcats to a strong finish, throwing for 1,595 yards (105 of 243) with 13 touchdowns and just eight interceptions.

He will be protected by an experienced offensive line that returns four starters and allowed just two sacks in NSIC play last season.

Senior tackle Scott Umphenour looks to fill the other starting offensive line spot vacated by the graduation of Colby Herron, a three-year starter.

Sophomore Logan Masters is the top returning wide receiver after a standout freshman season.

The Storm Lake, Iowa native hauled in a team-high 44 catches last season for 693 yards and seven touchdowns to rank sixth in the NSIC in receiving yards per game (68.0 ypg).

Junior Brian Chapman and senior Stuart Morrow bring veteran experience to the wide receiver position and will contend for playing time.

At tight end, sophomore Brian Locke had a strong spring and looks to be in contention to start after making nine catches for 90 yards last season.

The Wildcats will call upon several players to fill the void at running back with the graduation of Zach Molacek. Junior college transfer Travis Rhone rushed for 1,101 yards last season at Iowa Central Community College and has worked hard over the summer to fill the role of Molacek. Redshirt sophomore Alex Hall, who started seven games in 2005, and sophomore Eric Meyer will also vie for playing time in the backfield.

WSC has a pair of experienced kickers back on special teams.

Kurtis Hoefling averaged 33.7 yards on 30 punts last season while splitting time with baseball player Ian DeLaet, who will focus on baseball this season.

Sophomore Nick Hope became the starting placekicker midway through the 2006 season and 10 of 11 on PAT-kicks and 5 of 9 in field goals, including a long of 42 yards.

Redshirt freshman Bryce Miller of Norfolk Catholic will also battle for time at the kicking position.

On defense, the linebacker position returns the most experience with all three starters back along with a strong group of players battling for playing time.

Senior middle linebacker Nick Baldetti ranked third last season with 73 tackles and anchors a strong group in the middle of the Wildcats' defense.

Junior outside linebacker from Wakefield Luke Hoffman recorded a team-high 100 tackles last season at the will linebacker Cats this year.

The group will improve the depth of the Wildcat squad immediately while pushing for considerable playing time in 2007.

They are: setter/outside hitter Erin Dostal, outside hitter Lea Hartigan, setter Jenna Jansen, middle and rightside hitter Megan Statton and middle hitter Jennifer Hefner.

The Wildcats open the season at Shepherd University on Thursday (tonight), before playing in the Shepherd University Tournament in Washington D.C. on Friday-Saturday, Aug 24-25.

The Wildcats will open NSIC play at Southwest Minnesota State on Sept. 8 at 4 p.m. and will play their first of 11 home matches against the University of South Dakota on Sept. 12 at 7 p.m.

WSC cross country teams prepare for season

The Wayne State College cross country team are ready for with could be another strong season under eight-year head coach Marlon Brink.

The mens' team battled several injuries last season while slipping to a fourth place finish at the Northern Sun Conference Championships and a 17th place effort at the NCAA Division II North Central Regional Championships.

Coach Brink, will rely on several junior college transfers and a former WSC runner, to keep the Wildcats a top contender for the NSIC title in 2007.

Last year's number two runner, Matt Schneider, the lone senior on this year's team, will redshirt in 2007 due to a stress fracture suffered at the end of the last spring's outdoor track and field season.

Wayne State's top returning runner is junior Nathaniel Bergen, who placed 22nd at last season's NSIC meet.

Fellow junior Ben Jansen is primarily a track runner but competes in cross country to stay in shape and brings two years of experience to the Wildcat roster.

Sophomores Jimmie Doherty and Andrew Bachman redshirt freshman Jesse Wassenaar round out the returning runners for the Wildcats.

Headlining the group of newcomers is junior David Obermeyer, a member of the 2003 Wildcat squad. The Omaha Bryan graduate was called up by the Army to serve in Iraq after finishing 25th at the 2003 NSIC Championships in Duluth, Minn. After serving as an assistant coach last season at Garden City Community College in Kansas, Obermeyer decided to return to WSC and finish his degree.

Former Omaha Benson standout Nate Preston joins the WSC squad this season after two seasons at Garden City CC, where he was a two-time Junior College All-American in cross country.

Preston's junior college teammate, Cheto Cerda of Baytown, Texas, also joins the Wildcats this season.

Freshmen Lee Anderson, John Kern and York Thomas bring a wealth of high school success to the Wildcat program.

WSC will compete in six meets this fall, starting with the WSC Black/Gold Alumni 5K run at the Wayne Country Club on Saturday, Sept. 1.

A combination of seven returners — all sophomores — and seven freshmen should make the Wayne State College women's cross country team the favorite to repeat as Northern Sun Conference champions in 2007.

The Wildcats won their first-ever NSIC women's cross country team title last season and finished a respectable 10th place, the best-ever finish in school history, at the NCAA Division II North Central Regional Championships.

Megan Zavorka leads a strong squad into the 2007 season.

The sophomore earned All-NSIC honors last season with a second place finish at the conference meet and was just six places and 17 seconds shy of qualifying for the NCAA National Meet.

Randolph sophomore Melissa Schmit had a stellar freshman season for the Wildcats in 2006, gathering All-NSIC honors with a third place finish.

Sarah Thomsen, a sophomore from Wahoo, had a strong finish to the 2006 season with an eighth place finish in the NSIC meet to round out three returning All-NSIC performers.

Grand Island sophomore Molly Gibson just missed earning All-NSIC honors by placing 11th last season and has great potential to break into the NSIC Top 10 this season.

Rounding out the sophomore class are Megan Knudson, Meghan Costello and Ashley Cochran.

Seven freshman will provide depth this season. They include: Marissa Dargy, Kristy Doffin from Winside, Meghan Jacob, Jenna McCoy, Melissa McIntosh of Ainsworth; Lary Rocole, Anna Wolverton of Wisner.

The team will open the season on Saturday, Sept. 1 in their only home meet of the season, the Wayne State Black/Gold Alumni 5K run, at the Wayne Country Club.

Sophomore Rachel Fuchs is the lone returning goalkeeper for WSC with freshman Emily Walker contending for playing time.

Goc and sophomore Christina King are returning starters at defender. "Cassidy and Christina will do very well and start right away with the potential to be All-NSIC players this season," commented Bredenberg.

Sophomore Michaela Lucas and freshmen Anna Walker, Krista Zarybnicky, Erin Fullmer, Amber Beecher, Ashley Janca and Sara Schwiager will all contend for playing time at the defender position.

Sophomores Katie Kelley, Megan Kenealy, Valerie Robinson and Michaela Lucas return with experience from last season at the midfielder position.

Freshman Mikayla Comba will split time at midfield and defender positions.

Douglas is the top returning player at forward with freshmen Tiffani Kellerman, Stephanie Bright and Charis Oswald expected to see plenty of time in the field.

Wayne State opens the season on the road on Saturday, Aug. 25 at Minnesota State in Mankato, Minn. and the first of eight home matches for the Wildcats is scheduled for Friday, Sept. 7 when WSC hosts the University of South Dakota.

position, while sophomore Aaron Nielsen appeared in all 11 games as a true freshman in 2006 and notched 53 tackles to rank sixth on the team.

Other returning sophomore line-backers that will compete for time include Ryan Reeves, Wakefield's Kyle Gardner, Tyler Gebers and Landon Stender.

Although all four starters on the defensive line graduated, the Wildcats appear to be strong up front with key backups from last season and several newcomers expected to take over. Junior Tyler Krueger of Pierce (four sacks and 20 tackles in 2006) and sophomore Austin Stanley had strong spring drills according to defensive coordinator Clint Brown.

Defensive end Troy Pribnow had three sacks and 20 tackles last season and also had a strong spring. Redshirt freshman Nehemiah Blackburn and junior college transfers Darius Davis and Wesley Sells also will contend for starting spots on the defensive line.

Sophomore Robert Manuel is the lone returning starter in the secondary and is the projected starter at left cornerback for the Wildcats in 2007.

The Houston, Texas native had three interceptions last season and ranked fifth on the team in tackles with 60.

Junior B.J. Campbell is projected to start at right corner after a strong spring.

Stanton junior Ryan Molacek (free safety) and sophomore Matt Greenway of Lincoln Pius (strong safety) are the projected starters at the safety positions.

Transfers Benny Collins (cornerback) and Reno Bloomquist (safety) will also contend for playing time.

A newcomer expected to contribute in the secondary immediately is Delta State (Miss.) transfer Nile Legania, a senior who made 41 tackles with eight pass breakups in 2005. He was also a standout punt returner at Delta State who could help the Wildcats on special teams as well.

The Wildcats open the 2007 season at Chadron State on Saturday, Sept. 1 starting at 1 p.m. followed by the home opener against Nebraska-Kearney on Sept. 8 in Wayne.

WSC opens the NSIC schedule at Upper Iowa on September 15, followed by home games in league play against MSU Moorhead (September 22) and the Homecoming/Hall of Fame Game vs. Minnesota, Crookston on Sept. 29.

Sandra Sutton claimed her 11th club championship title at last Sunday's Wayne Country Club championship tournament.

Mike Varley claimed the mens' championship at last Sunday's Wayne Country Club championship tournament.

Brooks Blohm took third in the mens' championship flight.

Kelly Hammer placed second in the mens' division last Sunday.

Championship Sunday

Mike Varley and Sandra Sutton crowned champions at Wayne Country Club

The annual mens' and womens' Wayne Country Club Tournament was held Sunday with over 100 members vying for top spots in respective flights.

On the women's side Sandra Sutton claimed the title as top female golfer with a scratch score of 76 over the 18-hole event. Sutton, no stranger to the winners circle claimed her 11th overall championship over the past 17 years.

"Both my nine-hole scores were 38," Sutton said. "I had two birdies on each side." She birdied holes five and six on the front nine and 12 and 16 on the back.

On the men's side WCC welcomed a new champion to the hallowed wall of fame as Mike Varley stepped to the forefront and claimed the championship. Varley fired rounds of 34-35 over the first 18 holes for a three-under 69.

He took a comfortable six-stroke lead to the championship round where he carded an even-par round of 36 for a 27-hole total of 105.

"I didn't come out swinging like I was going to be in contention," Varley said. "I bogeyed the first hole and then hit a shot way right off number two tee. I then hit a tree on my second shot and it bounced toward the sand trap on number four.

The 24-year-old then hit a seven-iron 185 yards to the green where he calmly sank a 20-footer for birdie.

"I really settled down after that," Varley said. "I got in a good rhythm and knocked in birdies on holes four, seven and nine to put me in solid position."

Varley said he got some great help from playing partner and former champion Rob Sweetland heading to the back nine. "Rob told me to relax and keep hitting my driver and not get conservative," Varley added. "He said if I keep hitting fairways and two-putting that nobody would catch me."

The prophetic Sweetland proved dead-on as Varley had eight pars and a birdie on the back nine (No.14).

Varley took aim at the final nine holes like it was a complete separate tournament. "I wanted to win that last nine holes despite having a comfortable lead," he said. "I didn't want to have to hang on to win."

Kelly Hammer began his assault on the leaderboard over the final nine holes, going from a tie for fourth place to sole possession of second with a three-under 33 over the final nine holes. He topped the field over the final nine holes.

Brooks Blohm, carded an even-par 36 over the final round and claimed third place honors with a 113 and last year's champ Doug Rose settled for fourth place with a 114. Rob Sweetland (2005 champ) placed fifth at 115.

Wayne State's Kelsee Katsampes finished runner-up in the championship round of women's play with an 86 with Johnna Rathje placing third.

Karen Kwapnioski won the second flight with a 101 while Stephanie Hansen placed second with a 102.

The third flight was won by Jean Loberg at 105 with Amy Schweers placing second and Sarah Rusk, third.

On the men's side the first flight was won by Kevin Peterson with a 77 while Ryun Williams placed second at 79 followed by Ron Hammer with an 80. Ken Dahl was fourth at 80 and Ray Nelson was fifth with an 82.

Randy Simonsen won the second flight with an 80 with Dick Broders placing second at 83 followed by Dave Diediker, 84 and Doug Carroll, 85.

Marion Arneson was champion of flight three with an 81 followed by Tim Sutton with an 83 and Jon Wren with 83. Bill Sharpe finished fourth with an 83 as well.

Val Kienast won flight four with an 88 with Larry Lindsay placing second at 89. Ron Carnes fired a 90 for third place and Matt Nelson finished fourth at 92.

Brad Thomas was the champion of flight five with a 90, edging Matt Rathje with the same score. Josh Swanson was third at 91 and Matt Merken was fourth with a 92.

Bill Melena set the stage in flight six with a championship score of 81 with Craig Walling placing second at 85 and Rocky Ruhl, third at 94. Glen Nichols was fourth at 95.

Seth Liston topped the field in flight seven with an 88 followed by Rob Burrows at 88 and Kory Leseberg, 91. Tyler Frevert was fourth with a 93 and Bill McQuistan was fifth at 95.

The final flight was won by another Melena as Pat topped the field with a 99 followed by Curt Jeffries at 103, Don Endicott, 105 and Gunnar Spethman, 105.

Blood Bank's Heroes Unite campaign is in full swing

With the Heroes Unite, It's About Life campaign in full swing at the Siouxland Community Blood Bank, many towns are hosting community or employee blood drives and recruiting donors to ensure patients in their area will have blood products when needed.

Your next opportunity to donate in Wakefield is on Friday, Sept. 7 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Christian Church.

The Heroes Unite, It's About Life campaign began May 1 and continues through Sept. 30.

With about three months of the Heroes Unite, It's About Life campaign yet to go, many communities still have the opportunity to hold additional blood drives, and potentially affect their ranking a great deal. Community support and participation is integral to the success of this program, as blood donors are working hand in hand with fire, rescue and police units in town to save lives.

"We have witnessed area patients and their families that are experiencing tough times as they deal with illness or injury, and these struggles happen on a daily basis. We, as citizens, can guarantee blood is available when patients need it by supporting a blood drive and participating in Heroes Unite," said Terry Stecker, Director of Operations for Siouxland Paramedics.

To date, the top ten communities include: Nebraska: Wayne and Pender; Iowa: Carroll, Cherokee, Ida Grove, Le Mars, Manning, Onawa, Orange City and South Dakota: Yankton.

The top three communities with the highest percentage of blood donors registering to donate in comparison to the combined size of their fire, police and rescue squads will win a sponsored donation towards community fire and rescue equipment. Cash awards for Heroes Unite, It's About Life are provided through corporate sponsorship from Cargill Inc., Prestige Collision Repair and McClintock Insurance.

To be eligible to donate blood individuals must be at least 17 years of age; however there is no upper age limit as long as the donor is in good health. In addition, donors need to weigh at least 110 pounds and have not donated whole blood in the past 56 days. A photo I.D. is required at the time of registration.

For more information about "Heroes Unite, It's About Life", the Siouxland Community Blood Bank or blood drives in your area, call 712-252-4208 or 800-798-4208 or visit their website at www.siouxlandbloodbank.org.

Appreciates pool staff

Dear Editor:

Over the years, I've swam at a fairly large number of municipal swimming pools, but I can't ever recall seeing one as well managed as the Wayne Swimming Pool. I've never met a kinder or more attentive pool staff anywhere else.

I've seen those lifeguards often go beyond the regular line of duty when it comes to caring about kids, and one particular story comes to mind. One Sunday, a little girl was attempting to make her first jump off the high board. She had her floaters on, and her father was waiting below, but she just couldn't muster the courage.

One of the young ladies on the staff, her swimming instructor, I presume, came out of the office and offered to climb up on the board and help her jump. She made her jump, and the look of pride on that little girl's face when she got out of the water was unforgettable. She immediately headed back to the ladder for another jump.

From the manager on down, I've witnessed a level of consistency and fairness that was truly impressive. It's not easy sitting out there in the heat day after day while remaining attentive and alert, especially, when the humidity index starts to climb, but they did so day in and day out.

They are a fine group of young adults, and the community should be proud of them. They definitely belong in the assets column. A heartfelt thank you to all of them for making the summer a good one.

Sincerely,

Daniel Kruse,
Wayne

Tougher laws needed for gun violations

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent

The Nebraska Press Association

Thugs don't much care about laws intended to keep them from possessing and running amok with guns.

Bad guys already know gun play can mean a long jail sentence. They know it can bring sudden death at the hands of other creeps. Neither reality seems to make much difference.

Omaha Mayor Mike Fahey wants the city council to approve tougher penalties for gun violations - including a minimum six-month sentence for minors convicted a second time for possessing a firearm.

You can bet that the first ten dozen people who face that sentence will look at their lawyers and say: "Huh?"

Some other cities face similar problems on a smaller scale.

Laws crafted to have maximum impact in areas where "gun crimes" are common make for good headlines. They get a lot of coverage, with quotations from elected and law enforcement officials, who commonly praise them as "one more tool" for fighting crime, or "a message to those who would prey on law-abiding citizens."

Unfortunately, reading newspapers is not high on the list of thug-life priorities. Drug dealers who go strapped, and others whose culture involves the hot-lead ethic, often regard a gun as an insurance policy.

After all, there is an old saying among some cops, and lots of street criminals:

"It's better to be judged by 12 than carried by 6."

When people are being shot in the streets, it doesn't matter if those pulling the triggers are white, black or Hispanic. It doesn't matter if they are gang members, violent criminals or simply people with bad tempers and matching judgment.

The underlying issues in gun-happy neighborhoods have never been solved, to my knowledge, simply with tougher laws. Crime can sometimes be suppressed with greater police presence, so long as society is willing to foot the bill. Solving crimes can be made easier by increased use of surveillance cameras and other technology.

But the only thing that will reduce crime in the long term is a change in the community's collective mindset.

Those "Take Back Our Streets" marches get about as much coverage as new get-tough laws targeting gunslings. They usually follow some terrible, bloody, heart-breaking calamity. They are also like buses, campaign promises and congressional scandals, in that you can count on there being another one.

High-minded resolutions, more laws and news coverage of crime and punishment cannot clean up a community.

It is fine to note that education and jobs are keys to a better world. After all, it's usually true. The problem is that a per capita increase in education or employment is unlikely in most high-crime areas.

The view from here: Communities would be well served to count less on the occasional "Take Back Our Streets" mentality, and adopt the "I'm mad as hell, and I'm not gonna' take it any more!" attitude.

Such is easily said, but almost impossible to do. Calling the cops in the toughest of neighborhoods can lead to terrifying and sometimes bloody retribution. Face it: When good people turn against bad guys, some good people might get hurt before the bad guys move on.

And that's the ultimate rub. Cleaning up a neighborhood doesn't mean the rotten apples have disappeared. It just means they will find another barrel.

Only the people within a community can clean it up, even a little bit. They have to make it virtually impossible for bad actors to have free rein. That means help from law enforcement and policymakers will be needed in quantity, but any lasting solution will depend on the citizenry, not Big Brother.

Main Street Focus

It is great to see all the students back at Wayne State College and to see life on the streets.

Wayne Public Schools are open and there are many young children walking the streets and sidewalks to school. We really need to be cautious when we are driving. One of our problems on Main Street is the big trucks that seem to be running the traffic lights with greater frequency. Being one that walks and drives Main Street often I see many instances where this happens and I have become used to looking twice and being careful. Let's all attempt to be more careful driving and walking the streets of Wayne so we don't see anyone hurt in an accident caused by carelessness.

Last week was a busy week for Main Street Wayne. On Aug. 15, Main Street hosted a Design Training Workshop. The workshop was conducted by Gordon Scholz, Professor of Architecture at UNL, and four of his advanced students. The School of Architecture at UNL is a partner with the Nebraska Lied Main Street Program and provides design help to businesses in Main Street Programs across the state for a nominal fee. The service has been used by a number of businesses in Wayne and is available by talking to Wes at the WAEDI office or Gary Van Meter at Mines Jewelry, chairman of the local Design Committee.

After a short lunch, we had a power point presentation that talked about signs, awnings, lighting, windows, materials used in refurbishing, color, architectural detail and maintenance. It was very interesting because the presentation included pictures of buildings in Wayne and as a certain topic was discussed, we were able to see what the presenters were talking about as these topics related to buildings in Wayne.

It was great to see that when they discussed "Architectural Detail," they were able to point out a number of buildings in Wayne and illustrate the architectural detail that someone without the training and eye for the detail would miss. And we have some fabulous potential in many of our Wayne buildings to respect and accentuate this architectural detail. However, recognizing this and respecting the building's features by maintaining and refurbishing them may become a problem if the financial resources are not available.

The last part of the workshop was to walk the sidewalks and to have the architectural teacher point out the things discussed in the presentation in living color. This part of the workshop was especially useful for the building owners who are thinking about making changes to their buildings and store fronts in the near future. Those attending the workshop seemed to be very satisfied with the topics covered and discussed.

Our regular Tuesday morning Board and All-Hands meeting was changed to Aug. 17. Finances were a large part of the discussion at this meeting. Bills were approved to pay the Henoween expenses. The remainder of the meeting was an open and frank discussion among Board members and volunteers on the $4,000 donation to WAEDI. A number of ideas and solutions were presented and discussed on how to increase the membership of WAEDI so that this situation doesn't arise in future years. No action was taken and another meeting was scheduled for Friday morning, Aug. 24. The next regularly scheduled All-Hands meeting is Tuesday, Aug. 28.

Looking Ahead in Wayne

By Lowell Johnson,
City Administrator

City Council meeting
The next regular city council meeting will be Tuesday, Sept. 4 at 5:30 p.m. in the council room.

Parking in Front Yards
The consensus of the council is to delay the Oct. 1 beginning date of enforcement of the new prohibition against parking on dirt or in the grass in front yards in residential areas. Several issues of types of aggregate and method of enforcement remain unresolved. The council has asked the staff to prepare a proposal for the mayor and council and planning commission to amend the surface materials approved and system for enforcement.

City Budget Hearing Sept. 4
The mayor and council held their annual budget work sessions last Friday and Saturday and set a budget proposal for public hearing. The annual budget hearing establishes the level of staffing and services we will provide and the projects we will build in the next year. This information is available ahead of time and the budget hearing is for public input and comment.

Waste Water Treatment Plant
The treatment plant committee appointed by the mayor and council have received draft facility plan with one option to renovate and enlarge the existing plant and four options for a new plant.

The mayor and council have allocated additional funds to direct the engineering firm to look at two more alternatives with the committee because of the high price of the first five options. The committee is scheduled to tour an alternative plant operation in Missouri on Sept. 7-8. The only permit deadline we are working against at this time is June of 2009 to have an ultraviolet system in place to disinfect 500,000 gallons per day of treated waste water going to Logan Creek.

Library/Senior Center Roof
We are preparing a proposal for the mayor and council, with the roofing contractor, that will separate the heated spaces in the building from the unconditioned, ventilated, outside spaces to control moisture and heat loss.

This will be required to keep the natural moisture from building activity away from the roof sheeting before the roof can be replaced. We will have this contractor proposal reviewed by a mechanical engineer and should be able to do some of the work through the fall and winter once it is approved.

ASK THE TRAINER

This week, I would like to discuss nutrition and how important it is to the outcome of an exercise program.
 Nutrition plays a huge role in the success of either a weight loss or weight gain program. It does not matter if the individual is an athlete or non-athlete, nutrition can make or break the success of any exercise program. In my line of work, I see first hand the successes and failures that go along with dieting and the use of supplements to achieve goals. In general, the use of extreme diets and supplementation for weight loss is a set-up for failure. It takes a longer-term disciplined approach to portion control and meal timing to achieve success. Many people fail by making extreme changes in diet like eliminating macronutrients, such as carbohydrates, in the hopes of losing weight. While the short term success may be there, the long term result is almost always a return to old habits.
 To be successful, it is important to sit down and perform a food recall. The recall consists of writing everything down that is put in our mouths and exactly how much of it was put in. This is often an eye-opener as most people are surprised at exactly how many calories they take in during the day.
 One point to remember is to only allow a registered dietician or physician tell you what foods you should be eating or how many calories should be taking in. You should never let the television or a personal trainer or anyone unqualified set up your food program. It takes education and training to develop meal plans that are individualized, safe, and healthy.
 If you have more questions give me a call at the Providence Wellness Center. For more in-depth answers or to have a diet plan evaluated and written for you always see a registered dietician for answers. Always check with your doctor before beginning any exercise or diet program.
 Make 2007 the year you take the time to improve your overall health!

Celebration planned for Maskell's 100 years

The town of Maskell on Hwy 12 in northeast Nebraska, with the smallest city hall in the United States, is celebrating 100 years of township.

The town boasts of a 10 foot by 10 foot city hall which is no bigger than a walk-in closet. It was built during the Depression years as a work project and still stands today.

Main Street Memories from 1907-2007 is the theme for the Maskell centennial. The town residents have activities planned for the last weekend in August. On Saturday, August 25, there is a reservation-only evening dinner in Vermillion and following there will be moonlight buggy rides and an outdoor movie after sunset in the town of Maskell.

On Sunday, August 26, activities begin in the 100-year-old town with a 9 a.m. worship service at Faith Lutheran Church with coffee and rolls following. The lunch counter opens at 11 a.m. and a centennial parade will begin at 2 p.m.

Kiddie activities, horseshoe pitching, day buggy rides and an assortment of vendors will make for a fun filled day. An evening Christian Musical Festival at Faith Lutheran Church will round out the day with taverns and desserts served.

A pictorial quilted wall hanging of old and new photos of Maskell will be raffled along with afghans, and ink sketches of 1950 Main Street Maskell. Calendars with scenes of Maskell will be for sale and also CDs.

Parade exhibitors are welcome and can call 402-692-3471 for more information.

Countdown to the Nebraska State Fair: 4-H offers up fun, learning

Nebraska youth and adults can learn the latest in technology, have fun with hands-on activities, take in a pet show and more during the 2007 Nebraska State Fair.

The Nebraska State Fair, Aug. 24-Sept. 3, offers several new and exciting 4-H activities that all Nebraskans can enjoy, said Kathleen Lodi, 4-H youth development specialist. Fair participants not only can see the work Nebraska youth did throughout the year, but learn something new in areas such as computers, science and technology or livestock and animals.

"The Nebraska State Fair celebrates 4-H youth's talents that can lead to exciting careers not only for the youth entering the projects, but for anyone who stops by and visits the 4-H exhibits," Lodi said. New to 4-H activities this year at the Nebraska State Fair is the 4-H Pet Show at 1:30 p.m. Aug. 26 in the 4-H Exhibit Hall Arena. This show will allow 4-Hers to exhibit their small animals, said Lisa Karr-Lilienthal, University of Nebraska-Lincoln companion animal specialist.

Karr-Lilienthal said adding the pet show to this year's lineup allows all kids with pets besides cats and dogs to show their animals.

"In the past, there was just a dog and a cat show. This will be an additional show that will give kids an opportunity to learn more about their pets and get more involved in 4-H," she said. "One of the fastest growing areas of pets is smaller pets. They are easier to take care of and don't require as much space."

The show will allow ferrets, chinchillas, guinea pigs, gerbils, hamsters, mice, rats, hedgehogs and pet rabbits.

Also new this year is a beef all-around team competition. This pilot contest was created to promote teamwork and all-around knowledge and skills in the 4-H beef project, said Deanna Karmazin, extension educator in Lancaster County.

The event will be Sept. 2 at 7 p.m. in the East Arena. The contest includes grooming and fitting, quiz bowl and skillathon activities, she said.

In the grooming and fitting portion, teams draw for a market beef animal that has been shown in the past month, but not recently clipped or groomed. The team will have two hours to wash and dry the animal and one hour to groom the animal for the show.

In the quiz bowl portion, teams are drawn at random to compete against each other. Finally, all team members participate in a skillathon which includes skill-based questions and activities such as feed identification, equipment identification and/or use, and retail meat cut identification. The 4-H Cyber Fair will make its fifth appearance at the Nebraska State Fair. This year's event will be open daily from 10 a.m.-9 p.m. Aug. 25-Sept. 3 and from 5 p.m. to close on Aug. 24.

The Cyber Fair features dozens of booths from the College of Agricultural Sciences and Natural Resources and Nebraska 4-H and is equipped with 20 new laptop computers with high-speed Internet access.

"Individuals and groups of any age can work on the computers or participate in the activities," said Patricia Fairchild, Nebraska 4-H curriculum design specialist. "In addition, activities and presentations also are planned to complement specific day themes at the fair, such as Veteran's Day, Nebraska's Largest Classroom and Older Nebraskans Day. This isn't your traditional 4-H project demonstration."

Booths and activities feature podcasting, a shooting sports practice range, a healthy lifestyles game, Xavix, robotics competition, Nebraska youth and adult entrepreneurs and more. In addition, the Cyber Fair is teaming with Operation Military Kids to provide a mobile technology lab as a way to facilitate connections between deployed soldiers and their kids.

The Cyber Fair is located in the Farmland Building.

Discover 4-H also will return this year. It will be in the 4-H Exhibit Hall. These educational events will be on Aug. 30 and Sept. 1. Events start at 9:30 a.m. on Aug. 30 and 10 a.m. on Sept. 1.

About 12 to 15 exploration stations will be available with fun-filled activities for kids ages 8 to 12, said

Tracy Pracheil, 4-H youth development extension educator.

Some of the exploration stations at Discover 4-H include: textile science, food science, tobacco education, robotics and more.

The textile station will have a microscope on-hand for kids to look at different fibers. The station also will have information about the 4-H project Quilt Quest.

The tobacco education station will share with kids the science of tobacco products and why they should stay tobacco free.

The College of Agricultural Sciences and Natural Resources also will have booths available at the fair located at the Cyber Fair, Agriculture Hall, 4-H Exhibit Hall Arena and the FFA area. High school students and their families are invited to attend.

In addition, CASNR will hand out candy bars to all 4-H and FFA exhibitors Aug. 31 and will host the CASNR Amazing Race on Aug. 29. The scavenger hunt is open to all UNL students and starts at 4 p.m. For more information call Jill Brown at (402) 472-8273.

UNL's Food Processing Center will have a display in the Lancaster Building with samples of Nebraska food products.

Other exhibits will be open to the public throughout the fair. For more information about 4-H at the 2007 Nebraska State Fair or a complete schedule, visit the Web at <http://4h.unl.edu/programs/state-fair/>.

Free water testing offered at State Fair

Fairgoers can have their drinking water tested for nitrates during the Nebraska State Fair in Lincoln, Aug. 24 to Sept. 3.

Individuals who get their drinking water from domestic wells can bring a cup-size sample to the Devaney Sports Center (Booth U17) on the Fairgrounds between 10 a.m. and 9 p.m., except on Aug. 24 when the booth will be open between 5 p.m. and 9 p.m., and on Sept. 3, when the booth will be open between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. There is no charge for the test, which takes about 10 minutes.

Nitrates are a health concern for infants under six months of age and pregnant women. High levels of nitrates interfere with the blood's ability to carry oxygen and can cause "blue baby" syndrome.

The water testing is sponsored by the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services, Division of Public Health. For more information, contact the Office of Drinking Water and Environmental Health, (402) 471-2541.

Tree planting and landscape improvement funds available

Tree planting and landscape enhancements for public spaces can get a boost from a grant program coordinated by the Nebraska Statewide Arboretum and Nebraska Forest Service, both based at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Sue Kohles, NSA special projects coordinator, says, "The funding assistance is meant to help communities develop landscapes that reflect and enhance the beauty of Nebraska. One of the goals of NSA, NFS and this grant program is to create long-term, sustainable projects that utilize diverse plants and encourage environmentally-sound landscape practices. We hope that these projects not only improve the landscape of Nebraska roadways, but also provide an example for others and contribute to the health and viability of its communities."

The Nebraska Community Enhancement Program funds tree planting and landscaping that improves the state's transportation corridors, including public streets, highways, entryways and trails. This can involve areas along parks, schools, fairgrounds, college campuses, libraries, courthouses, hospitals, welcome signs and other public properties. Tree planting is an especially important component of this program although shrubs and herbaceous plantings are also eligible.

The Community Enhancement Program is funded by the Transportation Enhancement Program of the Nebraska Department of Roads. It is an 80 percent/20 percent matching grant program with a maximum funding award of $20,000 per project. The application deadline is Nov. 16, with funding awards announced by January 2008.

Since 1996 the Community Enhancement Program has awarded over $3.5 million in landscaping grants to over 530 projects in communities all across Nebraska.

For more information about this grant program and/or for an application contact Sue Kohles at (402) 472-2971 or skohles2@unlnotes.unl.edu. Information also can be found at <http://arboretum.unl.edu>.

Weather leads to many concerns

When you have actually visited a place, you pay attention to the weather and other happenings there. The weather this year has certainly kept our attention. My brother in South Carolina said last night that this year's drought is worse than in 1986 when Nebraska shipped hay to that state. Thousands of acres of corn and beans are gone.

Earlier this year, London and surroundings were dealing with flood. I read yesterday that it was the worst one since 1766. So, of course, we wondered about the friends there.

Last night, we heard from a cousin in Winona, Minn. Their house is okay but their huge garden is gone and a collection of old tractors is sitting in nine feet of water. Many lovely homes are gone and there have been six confirmed deaths.

We had our own little wind show here last night but nothing like that. We didn't even have power out, except for a few blinks. So, we feel very fortunate.

The Big Farmer has 50 first cousins and they are scattered all over the country. Last week, one in Lincoln had a 60th anniversary. So, his sister and husband drove from Durango, Colo. for that and stayed here (it doesn't have as many guest rooms as the Farm House but we do still have a few beds and breakfast folks every so often).

We gave them a key and made them breakfast but we were too busy to do much else. My nursing classmates who live around here get together for lunch every other month and last Friday we went to Columbus to Duster's. That was a fun experience.

By Pat Meterhenry

On Saturday, our Sue participated in graduation exercises at the Devaney Center and was awarded an MA. We had three people here on Friday, including Mike, who did not even go to their master's graduation. But, Sue has been so preoccupied the past two years in obtaining this piece of paper, she felt it deserved a celebration. And we did...celebrate.

I did go to the ceremony and was glad I did. It was streamlined and efficient, but impressive. Pomp and Circumstance always makes me tearful, no matter whose graduation I'm attending. And The Star Spangled Banner was sung by a senior student in the college of fine arts, accompanied by the faculty brass quintet, the way our national anthem should be sung. I actually had goose bumps.

The speaker was an UNL professor of educational psychology who was even Sue's boss on her master's project. The program said her interests are concerned with relationships between parents and teachers, and in developing partnerships among teachers, parents, and other care-givers to promote positive outcomes for children. I vote for that! And that is basically what Sue does in her job.

We had lunch for everyone here and ended up in Seward at a neat little "nightclub" with appetizers, conversation and music. After the guests left on Sunday morning, we went to church, ate left-over ham sandwiches for lunch and took naps!

Closing Farm Service Agency offices hurts farmers and ranchers

By Senator Ben Nelson

When Agriculture Secretary Mike Johanns announced he is going to close 10 Farm Service Agency offices in Nebraska, I got to thinking how this will affect Nebraska's farmers and ranchers.

Well, first it could inconvenience many producers by forcing them to drive many extra miles to get to their new FSA office. With today's high gasoline prices that becomes an expensive inconvenience. It just doesn't seem fair that they have to spend more to help the federal government spend less. Second, small communities will be hurt by the loss of this important economic anchor as producers visit the FSA office several times a year and have an opportunity to do other business along with the trip.

When you look at the big picture, closing 10 FSA offices in Nebraska won't even save the government all that much money - perhaps $500,000 per year. When it comes to spending money I'm as tight as three coats of paint. As Governor and Senator I have worked hard to cut spending, cut taxes, and balance budgets. But to be fair when money is tight, decisions have to be made to assure continued customer service without placing a greater burden on those served.

Every effort needs to be made to assist producers as close to their home location as possible. Nebraska is a large agricultural producing state and USDA should allocate resources accordingly.

Instead, agriculture producers and small communities in Nebraska are being told that they will shoulder a bigger burden than other segments of the population. What is being offered here is the illusion of budgetary savings and at a tremendous cost to farmers and ranchers and small communities alike.

To say I am disappointed about the closings is an understatement. I will continue to demand that USDA work through this matter and to use its resources to best serve all farmers and ranchers as close to their operations as possible.

As I have said before, when it comes to rural living, sometimes Washington just doesn't get it. I always thought the USDA would "get it", especially when its headed by a Nebraskan but, sadly, that is not the case as the USDA follows what has become an all too familiar pattern with this Administration.

The Wayne County Fair was once again a very successful and enjoyable event that I feel exemplifies what's right and good about life in the rural Midwest. Family and friends from neighboring communities working and sharing together common interests reflect a spirit of "simpler times" in our heritage.

I want to thank all of the members of the Fair Board and especially Louis Lutt and John Williams for their efforts in making my dream of a handicapped golf cart a reality. Combined with the talented labor of Dave Swanson the finished vehicle far surpassed my expectations. My Richard would have been so pleased and appreciative.

Finally, I want to thank Farmers State Bank of Carroll, Bruce and Yleen Johnson of Wayne and the Wayne Eagles Auxiliary for special awards premium money, as well as the Fair Board for the premium money given to me for items I exhibited:
Sincerely Pat Jenkins

I want to take this opportunity to thank the 2007 Relay for Life Committee for recognizing me as their "Caregiver of Hope" during their annual Relay that was held June 8th & 9th.

It was a great honor to represent a group of people who care lovingly and diligently for someone whose life has been forever changed by cancer.

The beautiful gift basket donated by the Diamond Center filled with gifts and gift certificates from Antiques on Main, The Coffee Shoppe and Back In Touch was much appreciated. It was an unexpected but lovely gesture.

Everyone who has a loved one, friend or acquaintance whose life has been changed by cancer knows that life really does become a relay from one hour to the next, one day at a time with the journey marked by each nursing eval, each Drs. appointment, each treatment, CT scan, MRI and PET scan.

I am reminded of these words of wisdom, "Only the journey is written, not the destination." We must always face the journey with hope and faith in God.
Patricia A. Jenkins

A dam and log cabin have been built east of Concord.

New life for an old dam

By Suzie Johnson
Concord correspondent

This summer brought back many memories for the Clarence Pearson family of Concord, who grew up east of Concord beginning in 1940. A neighbor at that time was Harold Anderson. He had a dam built just across the road to the north connecting to the property of Pearson.

On July 1, 1957, the dam was finished and Ed Doescher, bulldozer operator and construction worker, debated about taking the dozer out of the dam as no one thought it would fill for many days to come. He did take it out, however, and later that evening the rain began to fall, measuring six inches plus before morning.

Over the years the dam was stocked with many fish and many local people, young and old, enjoyed the recreation there. Property owners changed through the years and now the dam and land around it are owned by Regg Swanson, formerly from the Wayne, Concord, and Laurel areas and son of Ernie and Lyla Swanson north of Wayne.

Regg calls Franklin, Tenn. his home but returns often to this area. He has had the dam dredged out and has stocked it with many species of fish. A log cabin is being constructed into the west bank by a Kearney company and will be finished under the guidance of carpenter, Warren Hanson of Concord.

Regg is an avid hunter in this area and the community is pleased to welcome this wonderful addition to our area. Especially pleased are those who remember the beginning of this natural creation spot.
