Ponca retreat designed to promote healthy communities

Approximately 40 community members met at the last MAPP (Mobilizing Action through Planning and Partnerships) retreat at Ponca State Park to continue the MAPP planning process.

The meeting was sponsored by Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department.

Community members with the MAPP process have been meeting for nine months. The vision is to have healthy people in healthy communities. The mission is to promote physical and mental health and prevent disease, injury and disability.

Public health prevents epidemics and the spread of disease, protects against environmental hazards, prevents injuries, promotes and encourages healthy behaviors, responds to disasters and assists communities in recovery and assures the quality and accessibility of health services. The 10 essential services of public health are: •monitor health status · diagnose and investigate · inform, educate and empower · mobilize community partnerships develop policies and plans • enforce laws and regulations · link people to needed services/assure care ·assure a competent workforce ·evaluate health services · research.

The community benefits of MAPP are to create a healthy community and a better quality of life; strengthen the public health system in the community; anticipate and manage change; engage the community and create community ownership for public health issues.

MAPP visioning includes: •economic health and prosperity ·improved technology and communication services •visionary public health infrastructure ·local behavioral health services 'universal health care access · health, wellness and prevention education ·coordinated resources ·effective emergency preparedness partnerships 'elderly services 'environmental safety.

MAPP subcommittees are: community themes and strengths: Laura Gamble, Darby Weller, Lois Shelton, Deanna Beckman, Jim Rabe, Denny Spangler, Carrol Baier, Mona Zufante, Kim Schultz; Local public health system assessment:

Dusty Bargman, Linda Calvillo, community partnerships to iden-Barb Fish, Sonya King and Deb Scholten; Community health status assessment: Sandy Pierce, Dee Moeller, Amy Munderloh, Erica Diediker, Mary Bachman and Julie Rother. Consultants are Joe Nitzke and Deb Burnight. Surveys were sent out in the four county area for community perceptions regarding quality of life and community strengths. Survey areas included: health problems and community issues, risky behaviors, area health items, satisfaction items and demographic items. Survey responses included: •three in four described their community as "somewhat healthy," • majority of respondents are "somewhat satisfied" with their quality of life, one-third are "very satisfied" with their health care system.

The most important health issues identified in the survey results were: cancer, heart disease and stroke, child abuse and neglect, high blood pressure and diabetes. The most important risky behaviors identified in the survey results were: drug abuse, not using seat belts/child safety seats, alcohol abuse, not getting shots/immunizations to prevent disease and being overweight. The importance of area health issues (in priority order as identified in the survey results) were: 1. elderly services 2. public health 3. environmental safety 4. effective emergency preparedness partnerships 5. universal health

Included in the local public health system are: Police, EMS, Community Centers, MCOs, faith organizations, home, jails/health, parks, health department, schools, hospitals, doctors, elected officials, nursing homes, mass transit, fire, environmental health, philanthropist, CHCs, Civic groups, tribal, lab facilities, drug treatment, mental health, tribal health, employers, economic development, mass tran-

Tax forms available at library

Wayne Public Library has the most commonly used IRS forms and booklets. Also available are a supply of Nebraska forms.

Patrons may use the computer lab to access the IRS gov website to print out most of the forms they might need. Copies are 10 cents each.

As a service to the patrons. Wayne Public Library participates in the Internal Revenue Service Tax Forms Outlet to the Public (TFOP) program. Through this program the library can offer free copies of basic tax forms. The IRS determines what forms can be ordered and library staff determines how many they anticipate needing. None of the forms ordered are multi-part forms - that includes blank W2s and 1099 forms.

On the IRS website the forms are provided for informational purposes. These official IRS forms can be ordered through 1-800-TAX-FORMS or by ordering on line at the IRS website.

Wildcats end losing streak with 67-62 win over Mount Marty

By: Casey Schroeder

Wayne State men's basketball team snaps three game losing streak with 67-62 win over the Mount Marty Lancers last Sunday.

The game turned out to be a game of multiple lead changes and a game where no clear winner was determined until the final minutes

The Wildcat men led by eight points in the first half, and would head into the locker room with a marginal 34-28 lead.

Mount Marty came out of the locker room, and went upon a tenpoint scoring run, to reclaim a 38-34 lead with 16 minutes left.

The Wildcats who refused to back down, found it within themselves to score the next 12 points and a lead, which was short lived Diggs 6-14 8-11 21 Walters 2-9 0-0 as both teams would find one way or another to reclaim the lead.

With less than three minutes left, Mount Marty led by two.

Bryce Caldwel scored a three pointer for the Wildcats that was answered by Lancers forward Stan Johnson who tipped in a missed shot by Chris Filsinger.

With a little under two minutes left, Wildcat center Matt Rathje found the basket on a lay up to put the Wildcats ahead.

With the clock ticking down,

Mount Marty shot a three pointer, and missed.

After two successful free throws by guard Jamar Diggs the nail was put in the coffin with a 67-62 win over the Lancers.

The 7-6 Wildcats will return to NSIC play and square off on the road with a Friday night game against Upper Iowa and a Saturday contest against Winona

Round Two Games

In the second day of action at Wayne State College Laurel-Concord and Wayne were both Leading scorers for Wayne were downed in the winners bracket while, Wakefield picked up a win.

Wayne was defeated by Elkhorn Valley 52-47.

The Blue Devils came out and played strong against Elkhorn Valley. Wayne put up a good effort crashing the boards, while Elkhorn Valley limited the Blue Devils offensive game.

Kari Schroeder who had 15 points the day before, put up ten points to lead the Bears in the 48-39 win.

In the consolation bracket Wakefield snuck away with a 35-23 win over Emerson-Hubbard.

"We played a little better today, especially defensively," head coach

Matt Brenn said. While the game was a low scoring affair the Trojans took advantage of a leery Pirate offense and secured the 35-23 win. The leading scorer for the Trojans was Anna Brownell with 12 points.

In the consolation bracket Valentine beat Pender 43-34.

Round Three Games

In the final round of the Northeast Nebraska Shootout Laurel-Concord was awarded runner-up honors while Wayne claimed third place.

Another notable game was Wakefield who defeated Valentine 49-35 for fifth place.

Struggles with shooting seemed to be a problem for the Blue Devils early on in the game.

Wayne was ahead throughout the game and pulled away with the win as Battle Creek lost their composure in the ending minutes

Even though the Bravettes hung with the Blue Devils, Wayne came out on top 44-31.

The Blue Devils leading scorer was Nicole Rauner with 13 points. In the championship game of the girls bracket Laurel-Concord faced Elkhorn Valley.

Both teams were equally matched and played a technical game of basketball.

Elkhorn Valley, just as they had done in their day one game set the tempo by limiting any Laurel-Concord offensive attack.

For the Bears things fell apart in the second half, as fouls proved to be costly. The Lady Falcons in the fourth quarter on their way to claim a championship put the Bears to sleep by scoring 26 points In the Bears scoring efforts Kari

Schroeder put up 13 points to Laurel-Concord. In the consolation bracket

Wakefield capped off a 49-35 over the Valentine Badgers. The Trojans, who could have easily been in the winner's bracket, wasted no time with the Badgers. Wakefield took advantage of senior Anna Brownell's speed and scoring capabilities. Overall Wakefield put together a good game, but minor mistakes kept a win for the Badgers within

2007 The Year in Review

By Senator Ben Nelson

The year sure went by fast. It seems like only yesterday that it was January 2007 and I was being sworn in for a second term in the U.S. Senate, and now another new year has rolled around.

Looking back at some major accomplishments I worked for in the Senate, it's easy to see that 2007 was a good year for Nebraskans especially agriculture producers, veterans, working families, and senior citizens.

AGRICULTURE PRODUCERS The farm bill took on a new meaning in 2007. It is now officially the Food and Energy Security Act of 2007. For the first time it acknowledges agriculture's increasing role in the battle for energy independence and offers incentives to producers to grow more of our own fuel from a variety of new crops. It also includes a per! manent disaster program, better water conservation, continuation of the National Drought Mitigation Center at the University of Nebraska - Lincoln, smart rural development programs to help new farmers get started, and a strong safety net for producers with meaningful reforms.

VETERANS As Chairman of the Senate Armed · Services Personnel Subcommittee I cosponsored the Dignified Treatment of Wounded Warriors Act to help improve health care for service members. The bill, which came in response to reports that found care lacking, will result in a comprehensive policy on the care, management, and transition from the military to VA or civilian life of service members with combat-related injuries or ill-

WORKING FAMILIES

For the first time in 10 years workers saw an increase in the minimum wage from $5.15/hour to $7.25/hour in three steps over two years. It was critical that Washington increase the minimum wage to ensure that working families were able to keep up. It is my belief that anyone who works for a living should not languish in poverty; they deserved a pay increase. SENIOR CITIZENS

Congress successfully blocked a shortsighted Washington-think proposed rule change to Medicare that would have prevented senior citizens from access to rehabilitation care. Known as the "75 percent rule," the proposal would have required rehabilitation hospitals to meet unrealistic and arbitrary thresholds for numbers of patients receiving particular treatments to qualify for Medicare reimbursement. The rule would have severe-

> VISTAs tackle this problem by improving the ability of individuals and organizations to alleviate poverty in their communities. VISTAs raise funds, recruit community volunteers, and design sustainable programs that get to the heart of the problem. VISTAs serve with large national nonprofits -- such as Habitat for Humanity, ACCION, One Economy, and Boys & Girls Clubs of America -- as well as with very small community and faith-based organizations.

> Last year AmeriCorps VISTA members served more than 10.7 million hours, raised more than $152 million in cash and in-kind resources for their anti-poverty projects, and recruited or managed 517,000 community volunteers - an average of 75 volunteers per AmeriCorps VISTA member.

"A VISTA is a catalyst for change. VISTAs identify resources and engage people in the community to expand access to education, housing, jobs, credit, technology, and more" said VISTA Director Jean Whaley. "VISTAs channel their ideals and energy into becoming poverty-fighters who build successful and sustainable programs that help people and communities lift themselves out of poverty."

Michelle Suarez is appointed to the Nebraska State College System Board recently appointed Michelle R. Suarez, Lincoln, to the Nebraska State College System (NSCS) Board of Trustees. The seven-member board is responsible for the policy oversight of the system, which includes Chadron, Peru and Wayne State Colleges. Each board member serves a term of six years.

"I am honored the Governor Heineman appointed me to the Nebraska State College System Board of Trustees. I have two daughters - one in college and one that soon will be - and know that education makes a tremendous difference. I believe so strongly in all levels of education and will work during my time on the board to make higher education available to as many people as possible," Suarez said.

Suarez will complete the term vacated by former Board Chair Willa Kosman. Kosman was first appointed to the board in March 1999 and was reappointed in 2003. During her time on the board, she served as chair, vice chair, chair of the Academic, Personnel and Student Affairs Committee and and a board member.

Heineman most recently, chair of the Chair of Committee.

> Suarez has been the principal at Calvert Elementary School in south Lincoln since 1997. Prior to that, she was a coordinator at Beattie Elementary School and also taught kindergarten, first and sixth grades. She was a first grade teacher in Wilber-Clatonia Elementary School for two years and worked at the Nebraska Summer Migrant Schools in Scottsbluff and Gering instructing children ages 3-8 for six years.

Chancellor Stan Carpenter said, "I am very pleased with the Governor's appointment of Michelle Suarez to the Board of Trustees. As an outstanding educator, Michelle will provide great insight and perspective as we plot the future course of the Nebraska State College System."

Suarez currently serves as a board member on the Foundation for Lincoln Public Schools and the Nebraska Education Leadership Council. She is also the Friendship Home Program Committee Chair

The Shaffer Trucking terminal in York has named Edward Sherer Driver of the Month for October. Sherer lives in Wayne with his wife; Debra.

Sherer has been on the road for 35 years for four million accidentfree miles.

Sherer will receive a plaque and compete with drivers of the month from 13 other fleets for Shaffer Trucking's Driver of the Year award, which was to be awarded in December.

To be named Driver of the Month, drivers must be accident free- for the month of recognition, maintain steady production, keep accurate logs and warrant no disciplinary actions stemming from complaints within or without the company. Shaffer Trucking, based in Kingstown, Pa. and York, is one of the nation's premiere refrigerated carriers, hauling more candy than any other carrier. With 14 fleets nationwide, Shaffer Trucking hauls beverages, candy and confections across the 48 continental states.

Amy Dee-Kristensen

Kristensen's hilarious and engaging style will leave attendees energized.

Dee-Kristensen's 18 years of professional speaking experience includes founding a prosperous company in Scandinavia while living in Norway, developing successful life strategies as a psych nurse, and grappling with the exciting challenge of family life.

Cy Wakeman will offer th shop Thriving in Changing Times were she will address how change is becoming a key competitive advantage for organizations. In this program, participants will learn key models and techniques for transforming their organization into a change-seeking machine.

Wakeman has a unique background, which combines four successful business start-ups with 20 years of working and consulting in a variety of arenas. Wakeman has personally led strategic planning efforts, culture change initiatives, ERP implementations, talent management system design and implementations and succession planning projects.

Cost for participants registering before Friday, Feb. 8 is $75. After Feb. 8 the fee is $85. A continental breakfast and lunch are included. Adam Diediker

Diediker inducted into honor society

Adam D. Diediker was inducted in to the Tau Chi Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa at Northeast Community College on Nov. 4. Diediker, from O'Neill, is majoring in nursing. He is the son of Tami Diediker and Dave Diediker of Wayne. His grandparents include Dianne and the late Arnold "Ole" Anderson and Vera and the late Don Diediker, all of Laurel. Adam and his wife, Sarah, have two sons, Trevor, 8, and Tyler, 2.

Established in 1918 by two-year college presidents, Phi Theta Kappa is the oldest and most prestigious honor society serving twoyear colleges around the world. The Society serves to recognize and encourage the academic achievement of two-year college students and provide opportunities for individual growth and development through honors, leadership and service programs.

Students must rank in the top 20 percent of the class to be invited to membership in Phi Theta Kappa and must maintain high academic standing during their enrollment in the two-year college.

Phi Theta Kappa is the largest honor society in American higher education with more than 1.7 million members and 1,100 chapters, located in the 50 United States, United States territories, Canada and Germany. In 1929 the American Association Community Colleges recognized Phi Theta Kappa as the official honor society for two-year colleges. The Society holds membership in the prestigious Association of College Honor Societies as the general scholarship honor society representing two-year colleges.

Although the wintry weather has Dr. Wanda Koszewski shares some throughout the coming winter season.

During the winter, bears aren't the only animals that hibernate. But unlike bears, humans tend to gain weight during the winter months. There are three things most important in staying healthy during the winter.

First, eating healthy can go a long way in staying healthy. Often when people tire, they skip meals or eat high-fat meals. Be sure to eat plenty of fruits, vegetables and whole grains. To help make meals healthier and liven them up, barley and brown rice can be added to soup. Adding fruits and vegetables to meals can help too. Eating a variety of foods from all food groups and at an appropriate portion size will help get the most nutrient density.

The second thing people can do is exercise. People don't exercise as much during the winter because it's cold outside. While the cold weather may put a stop on running or biking, other little things can be done to build up exercise. Walking halls at work or the mall, riding an indoor bike or doing water aerobics all can help. TV show exercises can help motivate as well.

Snow-boarding and skiing also are great for exercise. Cross-country skiing burns up lots of calories, but even going sledding and walking up and down a hill can do a lot. If someone does choose to exercise outside during the winter, it is important to dress appropriately. Wearing layers and dressing for wind, cold, ice and snow, including wearing breathable fabrics, helps. Also make sure to warm up and cool down and drink plenty of fluids when exercising. People may not always feel comfortable exercising in public. Some people feel intimidated or uncomfortable when the winter, exercise wherever feels comfortable, but exercise.

The third thing people can do is get the right amount of sleep. Students start dropping like flies because they're not sleeping enough or eating well. Students need an average of eight hours of sleep a night. Adults need seven and a half to nine hours of sleep a night on average

People also can stay healthy by not contracting any illnesses. Washing hands and not sharing food or cups with sick individuals can help people from catching colds or the flu.

One thing that further complicates staying healthy is Seasonal Affective Disorder, also known as the winter blues. SAD is a mood disorder and can cause depression. A sun lamp can help with the disorder by exposing a person to bright light, employing the same therapeutic effect as sunlight.

If people have any further questions about staying healthy, visit a depression persists, go see a local doctor or physician qualified to deal with depression.

Christmas production

Our Savior Lutheran Church held its annual Christmas Program on Dec. 9. About 80 children from nursery through sixth grade presented a musical and spoken presentation about the seasons of the church year that lead up to and follow Christmas itself. Advent, Christmas and Epiphany candles were lit, with symbolic meanings attached to each one as the story of Jesus' birth unfolded. The title of the program was "The Christmas Log" directed and written by Cynthia Von Fange with the assistance of Holly Doring.

CONCORDIA WOMEN

Concordia Women of the ELCA held their annual advent supper at the church on Dec. 12, with 45 members and guests in attendance. President, Ardyce Johnson welcomed the group and led the Table Grace. A special committee served

Following the meal, the Dorcas Circle members presented the program, "Come Hear the Bells". Tables were decorated in Advent Purple with many bells and candles accenting the theme. The program was built around the hymn, "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day". We heard about the origin, the legends, and the scripture verses leading up to the birth of the Christ Child. The emphasis of the program was "peace on earth, good will toward men." MERRY HOMEMAKERS

Merry Homemakers Club held its annual Christmas Party at the Senior Center in Concord on Dec. 18. All members were present. Fern Erickson and Alyce Erwin hosted the supper. Following the meal, the hosts presented a short program beginning with the Christmas Story from the Bible. Other readings were also enjoyed.

Gifts were then exchanged and Secret Sisters revealed. New Sisters were drawn for the new year. Jan. 22 hostess will be Darlene Cuba. The evening came to a close with Christmas cookies

NECC plans Microsoft office 2007 classes as dean, students weigh in College plans classes to help computer users upgrade their skills, the dean of business, math and technology and several students have weighed in on the newest Microsoft application Microsoft Office 2007.

"As an education leader in the area, Northeast Community College instructors and student's learn with leading technology and computer software," Dean John Blaylock said. "As we help our students prepare for the world of work or continuing their education, our students and faculty began using the Microsoft Office 2007 suite this

Northeast will soon offer courses in Microsoft Office 2007. Blaylock

As Northeast Community versions of Office may find Northeast's Microsoft Office Word and Excel Transition class (course number OFFT 1998) helpful. This two-session class is scheduled for Wednesday, January 16 and 23, and again on Tuesday and Thursday, February 7 and 12, from 5:30-9:30 p.m. Northeast Community College also has several sections of its OFFT 1500 Microsoft Office course for those wanting a more comprehensive

According to Blaylock, Microsoft Office 2007 brings with it significant changes in appearance, functionality and an upgraded user interface. In some respects, the look of the Office 2007 documents is similar to older versions, but ribsaid those comfortable with older bon tabs have replaced drop-down items, submenus, and the standard toolbar, he said.

Administrative Assistant major Emily Reeves said, "Office 2007 is fairly easy because commands are much easier to find in ribbons across the top." According to Cody Mrsny, another Administrative Assistant major, "There are fewer clicks of the mouse and everything is categorized. The computer does a lot more for you than before."

Another enhancement to the Office 2007 Suite is an expanded use of styles and templates. The program comes loaded with many more templates than before, Blaylock said. These templates provide a foundation for common business and personal documents that can be personalized to the user's preference.

"The templates that are already set up in the new features are a must," said student Joy Bechtold. "Very time-consuming features are so much easier to use." The live preview is another popular feature of the Office 2007 Suite. "This feature allows you to view what your document will look like before you actually apply the formatting changes," said Auni Strong, a Northeast student. "This really speeds up the process of making formatting decisions in a Word document."

"Once you know how to use the Microsoft Office 2007 program, it is much easier and faster to complete a document," said Administrative Assistant major Shawnae Zessin. "This program has features to make our documents look more professional."

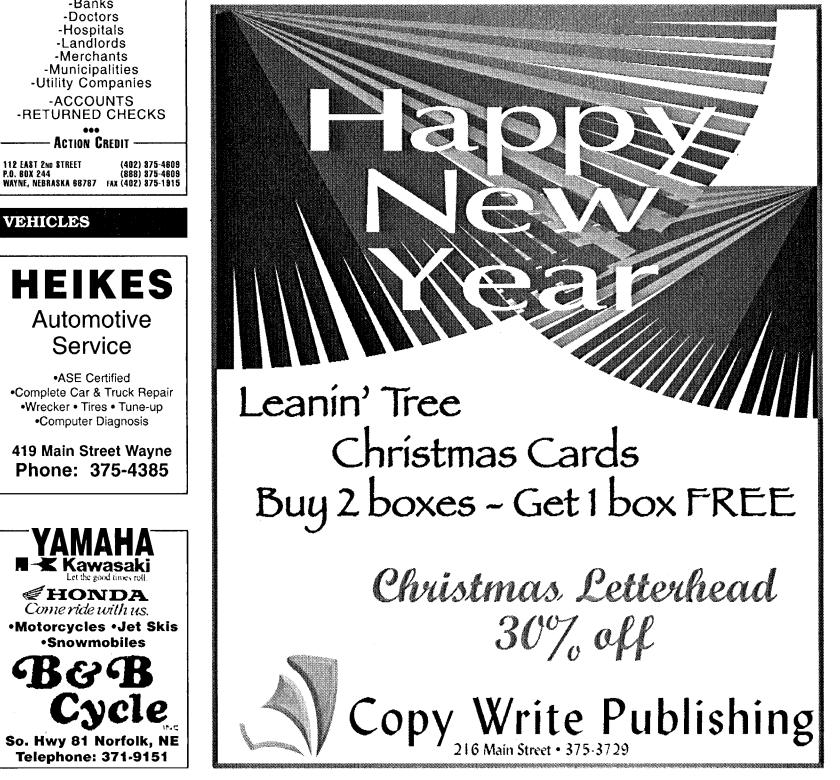

For more information about any Microsoft Office 2007 classes, call Northeast Community College at (402)844-7265.

Reminiscing about Christmas 2007

Well, it was definitely a White those decisions for you. Christmas, and a cold one. And an icy one! That's what made it diffi- one evening that the neighborhood cult. I've heard of we drove around to look at them. several falls, one that resulted in Lo and behold, they had added some fractures.

Santa brought me some insulated, water repellant hiking boots. My walking program has suffered greatly in the last month, because of the cold and the ice. The wind was a factor, too, some days. Hopefully, in the new year, I will get good use out of them.

I have worked straight through for two weeks because the clinical coordinator's husband had a hip replaced on the 17th. I'm not used to it, and I'm getting tired. Plus, the darned computer program has had me stymied on more than one occasion, and the coordinator is the one who can usually help me. Since she's not there, I've had a heck of a time.

But speaking of computers, the kids got us a new modem. And our "guru", Monte, spent Christmas afternoon getting things transferred. It is much faster, and I know it will do things that that old one didn't, but I didn't realize we needed it. That's the beauty of adult children, they can make the number of Christmas cards; this year, I think it was 150. The inservice I did in November on surviving the holidays included a list of typical tasks that we were to go through and decide how important they were for us. Things like having a very clean house, decorating the house, baking cookies, etc. Lots of the participants said they no longer send cards.

Every year, I try to cut down on year.

Well, we don't actually send cards, but we still do the much maligned letter. One page, no bragging, and just the high lights. And we still receive them, and we love them. It's the highlight of each day to get the mail and sit down and read them. It's sometimes the only time we hear from scattered cousins and friends. For us, it's the one tradition we try to maintain. That, and I guess Silent Night to candlelight on Christmas

And so, as we prepare for 2008, we watch the political ads for Iowa and worry about the middle East and hope heating fuel prices don't go any higher. And we are grateful for family, friends, neighbors, and co-workers who all "helped to make the season bright."

I hope yours was, as well, and let's all pray for peace in the new
