TeamMates celebrates National Mentoring Month

and Jan. 24 is "Thank Your Mentor" Day. In Nebraska, the TeamMates program promotes its mission "to positively impact Nancy Jo Powers, Jodi Pulfer, Molly the world by inspiring youth to reach their full potential through mentoring."

This is TeamMates 16th year of mentoring to students throughout Nebraska. The current executive director of TeamMates is Suzanne Osborne Hince who continues the legacy founded by her parents, Tom and Nancy Osborne, in 1991.

In Wayne, the TeamMates program began in December of 1999 and currently has 38 mentors working with students in the Wayne schools.

They include Kevin Armstrong, Todd Barner, Jordan Berglund, Wes Blecke, Leann Bolte, Dena Brock, George Burns, Jr., Mary Carstens, Amos Davis, Deb Dickey, Patsy Dohrman, Chris Duncan, Laura Gamble, Al Hansen, Stephanie Hansen, Jenny Hopkins, Margaret Hunt,

At the present time, Jill Walling serves as coordinator of the local program. She is transitioning into the president position on the Board of Directors and is training Jenny Hopkins to become the new coordinator.

TeamMates currently has programs in 97 communities in Nebraska and Iowa, with more than 3,200 matches.

They expanded into Council Bluffs and three other Iowa communities this past year and have a focused initiative to bring additional programs to Iowa.

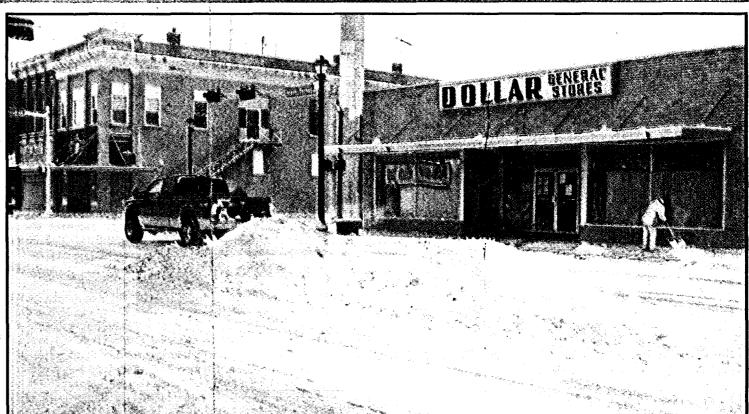

A Gala was held in Omaha in October featuring Lynn Swann as the keynote speaker. TeamMates announced that 97 students statewide received over $58,000 in scholarships from local and state level TeamMates.

TeamMates received an appropriation of funds, supported by Senator Ben Nelson's office, for expansion in the third district of Nebraska. This $258,500 will help expand mentoring in rural areas of the state.

New communities with TeamMates programs for 2007 in the northeast part of the state include South Sioux City, Stanton and Elkhorn Valley in Tilden.

Snowy start to the week

The Wayne area received around five inches of fluffy snow on Sunday and Monday, which made driving conditions poor in and around town. City workers were busy clearing streets while business owners and residents shoveled out. Wednesday brought more snow and wind causing area schools to close, thus giving students a chance to enjoy the snow. More snow is forecast for later this week and into the weekend. The Wayne Police Department reported several weather-related accidents this week, but as of Wednesday, no injuries were reported because of these accidents.

Wayne Natural Gas Franchise fee to increase on Feb. 1

in the franchise fee beginning on their February natural gas bills. The Wayne City Council voted last fall to increase the franchise fee from $1.50 to $2.50 per month for residential customers and from $3 to $5 per month for commercial customers. As a result, residential customer bills will increase by $1 per month and commercial customer bills by $2 per month.

"The change will increase city revenues to help pay for police, fire, library and other general fund expenses," said

"Although the mayor and council would prefer not to increase fees, the costs to run the city continue to increase."

Customers with questions about the change should contact Wayne City Hall at (402) 375-1733. Aquila provides natural gas service to approximately 1,780 customers in Wayne. The company has 197,000 gas customers in Nebraska and has state headquarters in Lincoln. More information is available at www.aquila.com.

Project Extra Mile needs local input on alcohol classification issue

The Wayne County Project Extra Mile taxation and regulation of alcopops since coalition meeting was held on Jan. 11 at the Journey Christian Church in Wayne. At the meeting, community members gathered to discuss ways to prevent underage drinking by addressing the classification of Flavored Alcoholic Beverages, also commonly referred to as alcopops.

In October 2006, a lawsuit was waged by public health advocates to address the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission's proceedings related to the regulation and taxation of alcopops, arguing that the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission circumvented Nebraska state law when making its controversial decision to reclassify the drinks as beer in July 2006.

Alcohol taxation has long been noted as an important piece of the puzzle in preventing youth access to alcohol. The U.S. saw a drastic decrease among young smokers after raising the tax on tobacco.

"Efforts undertaken to ensure that beverages such as beer and alcopops are taxed at the lowest rate possible are not by accident," explained Cassandra Greisen, program specialist for Project Extra Mile. "Some in public health and safety believe they are part of a larger strategy employed by the alcohol industry to attract younger drinkers.'

Currently, the average price of beer has fallen by more than 25 percent relative to the Consumer Price Index over the past five decades. Had the tax kept up with inflation over the past 40 years, today's $18 per-barrel tax would total approximately $61.30, according to the Center for Science in the Public Interest.

A number of states have disputed the they have entered the U.S. market. In Nebraska, alcohol is taxed and regulated by the process used to derive the alcohol, not the amount of alcohol by volume. According to the Tax and Trade Bureau (TTB), a majority of alcopops tested in 2002 have 76 percent or more of the alcohol derived from the distillation process. These products are currently being taxed at the lowest, beer rate, $.31/gallon versus $3.75/gallon for distilled spirits, estimated to affect Nebraska with a nearly $2 million loss in revenue each year. By collecting the appropriate, higher tax on these products, the state would also reduce the availability of these products to kids.

In December 2007, the Lancaster County District Court remanded the case back to the Commission to "commence rulemaking . regarding the classification and taxation" of alcopops.

The court noted that, in arriving at its decision to classify the products as beer, the Liquor Control Commission "failed to comply with rulemaking procedures under the Administrative Procedures Act, and [the classification] was therefore unlawful." Further, the court found that the "NLCC can not provide proof of any public notice, public comment, or official rulemaking record in this proceeding as all of these processes were not observed by the NLCC when adopting the TTB rule."

Nearly 800 citizens, municipalities, and community groups across Nebraska have signed a resolution of support to share concerns that classifying the products as beer is in violation of state statute and jeopardizes the health and safety of youth.

Wilbur H. Settje

Wilbur Settje, 93, of Norfolk died Friday, Jan.18, 2008 at Community Pride Care Center in Battle Creek.

Services were held Tuesday, Jan. 22 at Our Savior Lutheran Church in Norfolk.

Wilbur H. Settje was born on the family farm near Creston on May 25, 1914, the son of Herman and Ida (Meyer) Settje. He attended Lonely Valley School and graduated from Creston High School in 1932. After graduation, he helped his parents on the farm until his marriage to Elverna Michaels on Oct. 29, 1939. Three children were born from this union. They lived in San Antonia, Texas, where Wilbur worked for the Civil Service and repaired airplane radios during the war. In 1947, they purchased a farm by Madison, where Wilbur continued to raise his children following the death of Elverna in July of 1955. In February of 1960, he married Sylvia Gross and in 1962, they moved to Norfolk after Wilbur retired from farming and became a parts manager for Wetjen Implement Company. Sylvia died in 1963. A stepdaughter was gained from this union. On Dec. 31, 1964, he married Grace (Lubben) Levos. He established Settje Construction which he operated until his retirement in 1975. While living in Madison, he served on the school board of Madison District #6 and the church board of Immanuel Lutheran Church in Madison. After moving to Norfolk, he helped found our Savior Lutheran Church and has been a member for 45 years. Wilbur and Grace spent 42 years together. They drove their motor home through 49 states, Canada and Mexico and went by air to Hawaii. They were able to live in their own home until July of 2004 when they moved to Community Pride Care Center in Battle Creek. Grace died in March of 2006. After his retirement, he spent many hours driving dusty country roads in pursuit of his love of farming. He loved to play golf and enjoyed attending sporting events, especially baseball. He loved being with his children and their families.

University of Nebraska program designed to help entrepreneurs start food-related businesses

Many people have a special recipe that friends and family ask them to prepare over and over.

How many consider manufacturing that recipe and developing a business? The University of Nebraska-Lincoln's Food Entrepreneurship Assistance Program can help make that a reality.

The program, part of the university's Food Processing Enter, begins with a one-day seminar, From Recipe to Reality, which will be offered March 31.

The seminar allows participants to gain knowledge regarding all aspects of starting a food business. They are provided with the tools to make an informed decision concerning their desire to develop a value-added food company.

Following the seminar, participants may choose to enter the "From Product to Profit" phase of the program. During this phase entrepreneurs receive individualized and confidential assistance from food scientists and business consultants with the development of their own business venture.

Tecumseh, a food manufacturing us achieve our goal of starting a business engaged in producing and marketing pre-popped popcorn, is one of many companies to benefit from the program. Owned and operated by Region V Southeast Nebraska Developmental Services, the company markets popcorn to grocery stores and convenience stores in southeast Nebraska.

Bob Kinghorn, director of the agency, and the company business manager, Sonia Kistner, participated in the program.

"Services provided by the Food Processing Center greatly helped food manufacturing business. They provided invaluable consultation and resources throughout every step of business development, Kistner said.

Those over 21 could ride without a helmet if they wore eye protection and completed a motorcycle safety course or were grandfathered in.

An amendment was adopted to also require proof of current medical insurance coverage of $1 million. The vote on LB 253 fell two votes short of the 25 needed for advancement. It is doubtful that this bill will be up again this year. Senators did advance LB 205 (school bullying) and LB 157 (safe haven) to the second stage of debate. Under LB 205, schools cerning bullying prevention and education for all students. The policy would have to be reviewed annually. Bullying, defined as any ongoing pattern of physical, verbal, or electronic abuse on school grounds, in a school vehicle, or at school-sponsored activities or athletic events, was added to the reasons that constitute grounds for long-term suspension, expulsion, or mandatory reassignment of students.

The details of the safe haven legislation will be fine-tuned before the second stage of debate. The purpose of the bill is to give a parent a safe place to leave an unwanted baby without being charged with a crime. The bill stalled during debate last year, but took on more importance this year due to three instances of infant abandonment in Nebraska since the Legislature last debated the issue.

In May, a newborn was abandoned near a trash bin in an apartment complex in Omaha, in July a baby was left in a Lincoln hospital and in September a newborn was abandoned in a restroom at an Omaha hospital.

The Governor presented his State of the State address this past week. Governor Heineman outlined his initiatives, which include property tax relief, tax incentives for businesses offering higher paying jobs and tighter restrictions on illegal immigrants seeking government benefits.

I introduced LB 723 as a result of correspondence with a local law enforcement officer, regarding the need for commercial property electrical inspections when there is a concern about a safety issue. Statutes allow only for inspection of existing electrical violations observed during inspection of new wiring, unless accompanied by the State Fire Marshal. This legislation would allow an inspection of existing installation at the request of an elected or appointed local official.

I have introduced two bills on recall. LB 858 would eliminate the authority to recall officials elected at annual meetings of a political subdivision (i.e. irrigation districts, cemetery districts and rural and suburban fire districts). The Secretary of State's office asked that I introduce this legislation because many times when the election is not controversial, there are no clear records of the vote taken and therefore, it would be impossible to determine how many signatures are required for the petition to recall if the number of voters is not known.

Under LB 878, elected officials could only be recalled for malfeasance in office (knowing and intentional commission of an unlawful or wrongful act in the performance of his duties), misfeasance in office (negligent performance of duties or negligent failure to perform a specific act which is a required part of duties) or nonfeasance in office (knowing and intentional failure to perform a specific act which is a required part of duties).

A statement would be submitted alleging one of the three reasons for recalling an official. The official could respond to the alleged statement by submitting a defense statement or could file an action in the district court challenging the sufficiency of the allegations. The court would presume the allegations are true, determining whether the allegations establish one of the three required grounds.

An amendment will be offered at the public hearing that would add a fourth reason for recall, that being if the elected official was convicted of a crime involving an act of dishonesty or a false statement. The amendment would also require a statement on the petition form informing those signing the petition that recall elections are held at taxpayers' expense.

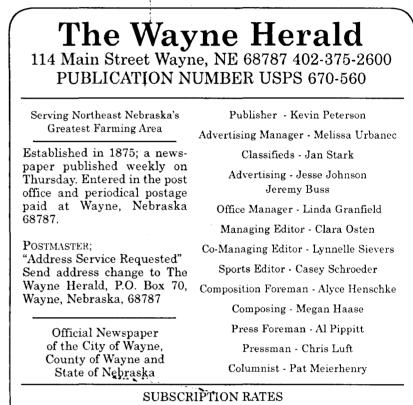

With the increase in attempts at recall that have been initiated lately. I fear that it may prevent qualified candidates from seeking public office, after observing the hardships a recall election can have on an official and their family. I do not want to repeal the recall process, as I feel that there are situations where it is needed, but I do want to limit its use to valid reasons.

I encourage you to contact me with your thoughts on the bills that I have introduced or on legislation that has been introduced by my colleagues. I can be reached at District #17, P.O. Box 94604, State Capitol, Lincoln, Neb. 68509; my telephone number is (402) 471-2716; and my e-mail address is lengel@leg.ne.gov.

The Mari Sandoz High Plains Heritage Center has transformed Bill and Jan' Moeller's book Crazy Horse: A Photographic Biography into a traveling exhibition that is visiting Wayne State College.

The Moellers wrote in their book of the need they felt to "see" the landscape that they were reading about in Mari Sandoz's Crazy Horse: Strange Man of the Oglalas. Wayne Blue Devil boys hand O'Neill second loss of season

By Casey Schroeder

Coming off a narrow 58-46 win against Hartington C.C. on Friday night, Wayne came up with a big win at home on Saturday routing the O'Neill Eagles 70-56.

"This was a great win for our team. I thought we came ready to play," head coach Rocky Ruhl said. From the initial tip off Wayne held themselves together quite well. The Blue Devils on defense effec-

After a poor performance against Concordia-St. Paul on Friday night at Rice Auditorium the Wildcats avenged the loss and defeated MSU Moorhead Saturday 70-63.

Rico Burkett's men sit at 10-9 overall, and are tied for third (4-5) in the NSIC.

"We played with no energy, we came out lackluster...and got snowballed," Burkett said on his teams' performance against the Golden Bears.

Concordia-St. Paul dominated all areas of the game Friday night from start to finish.

While the Wildcats managed to hold their own early on against Concordia, costly turnovers and missed opportunities found WSC on the end of a 10-0 Golden Bear scoring run.

With the 10-0 scoring run, Concordia went into intermission ahead 39-25.

"We didn't come out with much energy and it showed on the court, we were sluggish," WSC guard Jamar Diggs said.

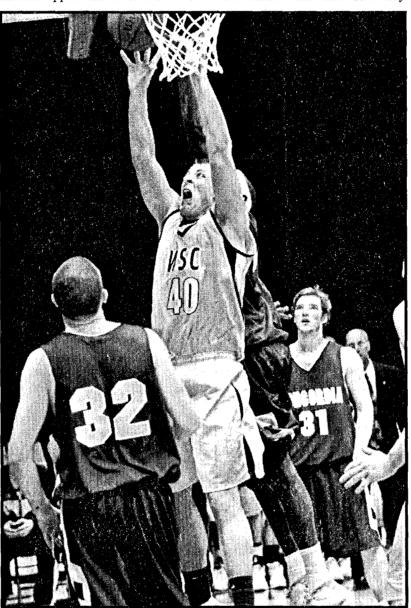

In the second half WSC responded well at times and pulled within nine points several times.

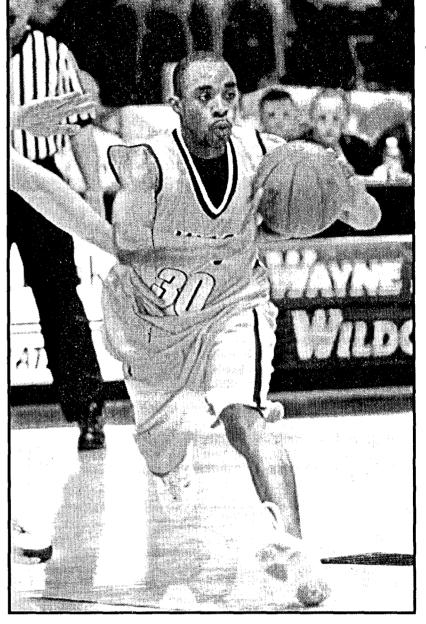

WSC's last chance to contend with CSU was with 15:01 on the clock, when Diggs nailed a three pointer to up the Wildcat score to 48 - 39

'Girls just wanna have fun' Blue Devils 2-1 in recent games

By Casey Schroeder

A third quarter melt down found the Blue Devil girls on end of 71-49 loss to the eight-ranked West Point C.C. last Thursday.

"I need to remind them that it is a game and they need to have fun while playing," head coach Courtney Maas said.

In the first quarter with Wayne having minor success moving the ball, West Point capitalized on late first quarter turnovers to take a 14-12 lead.

After a mediocre first quarter, Wayne's struggles began.

"This is frustrating because we were with them in the first half," Maas said.

Repeated fast break blunders, poor shooting and a lack of defense prevented a Blue Devil lead, and West Point rounded out the first half on top 28-27.

Coming out in the third quarter, the Blue Devils put together a sheepish performance.

Turnovers, along with a timid offense and defense that was stuck to floor saw West Point inching away with a lead.

"When we have 41 turnovers in one game, we will lose the game no matter what," Maas said.

The final blow was dealt to the Blue Devils in the fourth quarter.

Down by seven points Wayne tried on numerous occasions to reclaim the lead.

However, the Blue Devils would come up short, as fouls and poor shooting resulted in the Blue Jays scoring 22 points and walking away with a 71-49 win.

Michelle Jarvi led the Blue Devils in scoring with 24 points. With a day off to regroup and make sense of Thursday nights loss the Blue Devil came out strong Saturday and defeated O'Neill 62-

51. The Blue Devils in the first half took advantage of several O'Neill turnovers and fouls that transitioned into multiple point runs for Wayne.

After two quarters of pressuring defense and a attacking offense Wayne led 32-25.

"This was a good confidence builder and moral booster," Maas said.

Things only got better for the Blue Devils in the second half, as Wayne out rebounded and limited turnovers that resulted in a 20 point lead.

"This was a fun game to coach because I could see the girls were having a good time playing," Maas said.

A lot of the success that Wayne had against the Eagles came from offensive ball movement that created scores.

O'Neill cut the Blue Devils lead to ten points with 2:29 left on the clock, but Wayne hung on and claimed a 62-51 win.

In other Wayne High action, the Blue Devils defeated Tekamah-Herman Tuesday night 47-38.

Wayne's Nicole Rauner had 15 points, while Michelle Jarvi added 13 points against the Tigers.

Jessica Calhoon had a head turning performance, as she hit three shots from the perimeter and led the Blue Devils with six assists.

" I was very impressed with the play of Jessica Calhoon," Maas said.

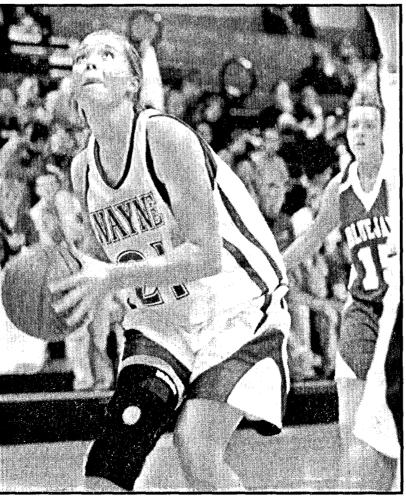

"She came in and gave us three, three pointers and picked us up defensively.

Over the course of ten minutes MSUM cut the 'Cats lead..

Dragon's guard Blake Strouth finally brought MSUM within three after a successful lay-up bringing the score to 65-62.

With the score close, WSC converted five of six free throws in the final minutes to secure a morale boosting 70-63 win.

"We got to get back to playing efficient basketball, but we still have success even when struggling," Burkett said.

Rathje and Walters led the Wildcats in scoring on Saturday with season high totals of 19 and 15 points respectively.

The Wildcats will be at home again hosting Bemidji State on Friday and Minnesota Crookston on Saturday.

Wayne State win standoff with Dragons 72-70 after Friday night's 78-77 robbery

By Casey Schroeder

Wayne . State junior guard Laquisha Cook took a gamble last Saturday night in overtime when she released the ball from her fingertips as the clock expired.

However, Cook was on the money as she drained a 15 foot jumper to win the game for WSC, sending her teammates and the crowd at Rice Auditorium into a form of rare pandemonium.

"I struggled the whole game and felt that I wasn't productive," Cook said.

While Wayne State managed to lead by eight points in the first half, the Dragons retaliated andscored 11 points, securing a 30-28 halftime lead.

In the second half both teams had relative success on offense, and WSC led by as many as eight points.

After several conversions the Dragons took control of the game and the score

Kylee McGill brought the 'Cats back into contention with a three pointer with fewer than three minutes left and tied the game at 58-58.

As the clock dwindled down, MSUM's Jessica Fesenmaier scored to pull the Dragons ahead 60-58

McGill, who had success all evening, answered Fesenmaier's call by hitting a lay-up, making it 60-60.

After both teams failed on a jump shot, the Wildcats and Dragons went into overtime.

Prior to Saturday's invite, several Wildcats took part in Friday's Holiday Inn Invitational in Lincoln.

Nate Preston took home fourth place in the 3,000-meter run (2:34.81) and Brett Suckstorf finished sixth in the 35-pound weight throw (57' 3 1/2").

The women's top finisher Friday was Lacey Jensen in the 20-pound weight throw, taking fifth with a throw of 51'7".

Katie Wilson finished right behind Jensen in sixth at 51' 5 3/4".

Rachel Roebke was the lone sprinter to garnish honors at the invite, as Roebke placed seventh in the 60 meter hurdles with a time of 9.07 seconds.

"We are making progress in getting our athletes to compete at the level we need to be at. It's still early in the season." Brink said.

Wayne State will compete this weekend at the Iowa State Open in Ames, Iowa on Friday and Saturday.

Cook Named NCAA Division II Co-Player of the Week

Laquisha Cook of Wayne State College was named the Nebraska NCAA Division II Women's Basketball Co-Player of the Week Tuesday afternoon following her play in two Wildcat games over the weekend.

Cook shared the honor with Nebraska-Kearney senior Amy Mathis and it's the second time she has received the award this season. Cook. a 5-9 junior guard from Houston, Texas (Tyler JC), averaged 21 points and five rebounds per game.

She scored a career-high 29 points in Friday night's 78-77 home loss to 3rd-ranked Concordia-St. Paul and then added 13 points and hit the game-winning shot in overtime Saturday night as the Wildcats topped MSU Moorhead 72-70.

On the weekend, Cook shot 45.5 percent from the field (15 of 33) and 91.7 percent (11 of 12) from the free throw line.

For the season, Cook is leading the 13-5 Wildcats in scoring at 15.2 points per game.

Herian selected NSIC Women's Track Athlete of the Week

Kylie Herian of Wayne State College has been named the Northern Sun Conference Women's Track Athlete of the Week.

It's the first time in her Wildcat career that she has received the honor.

Herian, a sophomore from Pierce, Nebraska, won the 60-meter hurdles in a provisional national qualifying mark time of 8.88 seconds Saturday at the University of South Dakota Bill Hillenbrand Open.

Herian, who also won the 60-meter hurdles at last week's Mankato State Open, was an indoor national qualifier last season as a freshman in the 60-meter hurdles.

Her time of 8.88 seconds ranks 10th in NCAA Division II.

Baseball Tournament once their season is finished for the year.

> All players over 18 of any ability and skill level are encouraged to participate. College and former professional players may also participate. The cost is $250 per team.

Those wanting to play, coach, and umpire are encouraged to call immediately to receive a league manual for the 2008 season. Town teams use current American Legion Baseball guidelines regarding player recruiting. Additionally, towns have a 25-mile radius to recruit players.

There are two divisions for the State Tournament: Class A (towns 8,000+ in population), and Class B (under 8,000). There are five Regional sites and a State Finals site per division. The Regionals and the State Final sites are up for bid in February. Regionals are Aug. 8-10 and the State Finals are Aug. 15-17, 2008.

There are two informational meetings coming up in February. Players, coaches, umpires, and sponsors wanting to be involved are invited to attend. The meetings will last approximately one hour. Those meetings are at:

SIDNEY: Saturday, Feb. 2 2 p.m., Sidney High School, classroom #106, 1122 19th Ave. (entrance is on the south side).

WAHOO: Sunday Feb. 3 1 p.m., The Pressroom, 127 E. 6th St

Sand Creek Post & Beam adds new associates

Wayne has announced the addition of three new full-time associates to their corporate office.

Due to tremendous growth in 2007, two in-house dealers and a new office coordinator have been hired to provide customers the personal service and attention they expect from Sand Creek.

Joni Heithold of Wayne joined the Sand Creek team on Jan. 2 as the new office coordinator.

Heithold has resided in Wayne for over 20 years, but is originally from a small farm town in north central Iowa. She brings with her a wealth of office experience, most recently at Farmers and Merchants State Bank. Prior to the bank, she was employed for 15 years with the Wayne Public School system. Her family includes her husband, Mark, and two sons, Benjamin (19) and Derek (16).

"I'm very excited to be a part of this team and to learn more about post and beam construction. I spent a lot of time in our barn as a child. It was a wonderful way to grow up and I'm very pleased to be a part of providing memories to a new generation," Heithold said.

Brigitte Burbach, who joined the team in the fall as Office Coordinator, has been promoted to Accounting Coordinator and will be working very closely with the CFO and Plant Operations Managers.

Amy Wilson of Emerson, joined the team as a Sand Creek Post & Beam in-house dealer in November. She is responsible for the Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, and Wisconsin territories.

Wilson has been involved with advertising sales in the Siouxland and northeast Nebraska area for Post & Beam barns kits contact: the past 15 years. Along with her husband Gary, they own Wilson Horse Training in Emerson. They have three children, daughters Audra and Emily, recent graduates of UNL, and a son, Britton, a Sand Creek Post & Beam of mechanical engineer living in Lincoln.

> "My lifelong experience in the equine industry, time in the country and passion for sales, provide a perfect partnership for me. I'm very excited to be a part of this team and am enthused about rebuilding our countryside with authentic post and beam buildings," she said.

> Tami Schmitt-Wiese of Laurel joined the Sand Creek Post & Beam in-house dealer team in October. She is responsible for the Michigan, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Virginia and West Virginia territories.

> Tami received her MS from the University of North Carolina -Chapel Hill and has many years of experience with customer support and sales. She currently resides in Laurel with her husband Tony and three daughters, Kayla (14), Cassidy (11), and Marissa (11). "Having grown up in the rural Midwest, it is very rewarding to join a team so dedicated to preserving our past. I lived on several acreages as a child and each one > had an old barn with a lot of character. Thinking back, they provide very vivid memories for me," she said.

"We're very pleased to have the opportunity to work with such professionals", said Len Dickinson, coowner and President of Sand Creek Post & Beam. "The experience and passion they exude provides a wonderful working environment to learn from each other, grow our company, and have a lot of fun along the way."

For information on Sand Creek Sand Creek Post & Beam, 215 North Pearl Street, Wayne, Neb. 68787; phone 888-489-1680; www.sandcreekpostandbeam.com; or e-mail sandcreekpost@conpoint.com.

The students were enrolled at one or more CCC locations, which include the Columbus, Grand Island and Hastings campuses; Holdrege, Kearney and Lexington centers; and learning centers in about 60 central Nebraska towns. Students on the President's Honor List earned a perfect 4.0 grade point average while students on the Dean's Honor List earned a GPA between 3.5 and 3.99.

Adam Reinert

Adam Reinert completes basic training

Adam Reinert, son of Joe and Glenda Reinert of Wayne, and a 2007 graduate of Wayne High School, is currently enrolled in the United States Air Force training program.

Reinert reported for basic training in early October and graduated in mid-November. He is presently attending advanced training at Sheppard Air Base in Wichita Falls, Texas.

Each year approximately 36,000 people graduate from basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, the sole entry point for all enlisted ranks into the United States Air Force.

begun, resolve to help increase that number by donating blood at community blood drives or blood donation center.

"The Red Cross is not only thanking current blood donors, but challenging the rest of America to follow their lead and start donating blood," said Mark Thornhill, CEO of the local Red Cross Blood Services region. "Make an appointment to give blood today." Donors have the chance to give on a regular basis: donate whole blood every 56 days, donate automated double red cells every 112 days, donate platelets every three days (up to 24 times a year) and donate plasma every 28 days.

The blood supply is particularly vulnerable during and following the holiday season when donations can dip due to busy schedules. Winter weather can also affect the ability of people to donate blood. Giving blood now can help build the blood supply and will help to ensure enough blood is on hand for patients in the weeks to come.

How to donate blood: simply call 1.800.GIVE.LIFE (1.800.448.3543) or visit givebloodgivelife.org to make an appointment or more information. All blood types are needed to ensure a reliable supply for patients. A blood donor card or driver's license, or two other forms of identification are required at check-in. Donors must be at least 17 years old, 16 years old with a signed consent form in Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri and Illinois and must weigh at least 110 pounds.

About the Red Cross: the Mid-America Division of the American Red Cross Blood Services supplies blood products to nearly 250 hospitals in 10 states and across the nation. The Red Cross relies on the generosity of more than 370,000 volunteer blood donors, nearly 8,300 blood drive coordinators and more than 2,100 employees to collect the blood that helps save thousands of lives each year. The Mid-America Division is one of nine Red Cross Blood Services Divisions located throughout the United States. Together, these divisions collect more than 40 percent of the nation's blood supply.

with regulations from all levels of government.

Business.gov's new search service is a "mashup" – a unique service created by combining content from separate Web applications of Google-based services that include Google's Custom Search Business Edition, Google Maps, the Google Search Appliance and publicly available compliance information culled from federal, state and local government Web sites.

The new service improves upon general search services by delivering results directly aligned with doing business in a specific geographic area, saving business owners time by getting to the right information more quickly. For example, if a user types in "business license Richmond, VA" the relevant results on licenses will be returned from the City of Richmond and State of Virginia Web site.

"The inclusion of state and local content on Business.gov means that small business owners can go to one website to find what they need to successfully manage their operations," said Nancy Sternberg, program manager of the Business Gateway Initiative. "Business.gov helps give small business owners a complete understanding of what's needed to comply with government regulations."

Business.gov has also expanded the content of its Small Business Guides which help business owners understand what regulations and programs apply to them, how to comply, and how to stay in compliance while growing and managing their operations. For example, if a retail business is interested in expanding its business online, the Small Business Guide to E-Commerce will provide guidance on legal and regulatory requirements the business owner must meet before opening an online store.

Business.gov's expansion follows the recent addition of a new "Permit Me" feature, providing a single source for information on obtaining federal, state, and local permits, business licenses, and registrations for types of businesses most popular with Business.gov users.

Letters Numbers may be mis-leading

Dear Editor,

The article "Voluntary Reduction in Force Severance Program Resolution Dominates Board Meeting" in the Jan. 17, 2008, issue of The Wayne Herald included some statistics about the student to teacher ratio in the Wayne Community Schools that made it seem as though the schools may be overstaffed.

While the information about student to teacher ratio is mostly correct, with the exception that special education students and teachers are indeed included in the student/teacher ratio, some explanation of how that ratio was obtained is needed.

The article could give readers the impression that the average student is in a classroom with 9 to 12 other students. In reality, the student/teacher ratio is figured by taking the total number of students in a building and dividing it by the number of all certified staff members in that building, not just classroom teachers.

For example, there are currently just over 300 students in Wayne Elementary and 15 regular classroom teachers, yielding an average of approximately 20 students per classroom. Some elementary classrooms have as many as 27 students, others fewer than 20. However, to figure the student/ teacher ratio all other teachers in the building, including the librarian, the counselor, the music and physical education teachers, plus the special education and Title 1 teacher are included, which yields the lower 13 students to one teacher ratio.

Because students in the middle and high school switch classes throughout the day, the student to teacher ratio is more difficult to figure on a class by class basis, but it also includes all teachers and counselors in each building, which yields a lower number than the actual average size class.

Attend the caucus Dear Editor,

 \mathbf{The} first-ever Nebraska Democratic Party Caucus will take place beginning at 4:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb.9, 2008, in the Wayne County Courthouse.

For many of us, the truly outstanding candidate for President -among a stellar field - is BARACK OBAMA.

Senator Obama brings to this election not only a truly American vision of a people united beyond bitter partisan divisions, but also detailed plans for an authentic renewal of our nation in terms of domestic and foreign policy.

To me, he is the first candidate of either party in decades who has the charisma, vision and personal dynamism necessary to lead our country out of the tremendous difficulties in which we currently find ourselves.

Barack Obama's appeal is not just to long-time members of the Democratic Party; he has drawn wide support from Independents and from Republicans disillusioned with the policies and actions of the present administration.

I therefore urge any citizen, Wayne regardless of party affiliation, who is interested in supporting Sen. Obama to participate in the Democratic Party caucus on Feb. 9. Individuals can (1)register to vote beginning at 4:30 p.m. OR (2) change current party registration for the sake of the caucus, and then change back right after the caucus at the same place. A separate trip to the Courthouse for such registration and changes is not necessary. Please note that the change to a caucus system means that this is the only opportunity for people to participate in selecting the Democratic nominee for President. The May primary will have no influence on delegate selection for the Democratic national convention. Even if you have not yet decided on a specific candidate, please attend the caucus to learn more

Awaaay back in the 1960s the iconic Bob Dylan penned the folk music anthem "The times they are a'changing."

It was particularly appropriate for those times. The high point of the civil rights movement was at hand. So were social unrest, the birth of massive social services programs and wholesale changes in the way Americans viewed their lives and government.

What we all know, although are sometimes slow to accept, is that the times always are changing.

Then-youthful baby boomers witnessed the move toward social and political revisions that changed the face of the nation.

In the next few decades, virtually all of them will participate in another enormous change in the nation's identity. This time they won't be marching in the streets, or dancing in the streets or fighting in the streets. Lots of them will find themselves happy just to be able to walk across the street without hobbling.

"All of them" includes Nebraskans. The economic changes facing Cornhusker taxpayers young and old, and the additional expense confronting government, will in some instances be enormous

A declining population, and the aging of those who remain, will present special problems for the state in the not-so-distant future.

The view from here: There has never been a time when two virtues of which Nebraska politicos like to boast - vision and leadership - have been more important for this state's future.

Council meeting

The next regular City Council meeting will be held Tuesday, Feb. 5 at 5:30 p.m. in the council room. Insurance premiums - money down the drain? Plugged sewer lines.

Raise your hand if you like to pay insurance premiums. Raise your hand if you want to get paid when there is a loss. At the risk of stirring up a problem that is only temporarily quiet, we need to talk about sewer backups.

We need to talk about this again for two reasons:

(1) We all need to hear the message several times before we get it. (2) Not everyone saw the "alert" last time.

Since I came to Wayne in 2000, we have received several claims for sewer backups into basements. We forward all claims against the city to our insurance carrier, EMC. EMC uses existing state law and recent court cases to determine if the city is liable for damages and either pays or denies the claim.

In Nebraska, cities and counties have liability for gross negligence in recreation activities, public roads and property and utilities. However, when someone is injured in the course of normal activity and the city property had been maintained and warnings posted, the city is generally not considered liable for the injury or damage.

In Nebraska, if a sewer backs up into a house because the house service line to the alley is plugged, that is considered the fault of the home owner. If the city sewer line in the alley backs up from a lack of city maintenance or a problem that the city knew about but didn't fix, then the city will likely be determined at fault and the claim paid by the insurance carrier.

In most of the past cases here in Wayne, EMC has denied sewer back up claims because the plugs were caused by pieces of wood, shop rags, tarps, bed sheets plastic sheets and other stuff that people forced into the sewer system and got hung up. Those acts are considered vandalism and the city liability coverage won't pay that damage claim if our maintenance records and flushing schedules document that we are maintaining the system

What to do? You can buy coverage for this. Call your household insurance carrier this week and ask if your policy has coverage for sewer backups. Many policies now provide it with standard coverage and if yours doesn't, it can be added for a modest fee.

As I said, this issue is only temporarily quiet, and it will happen again some where in town. We all think it will happen to somebody else

January is Radon Action Month

January is Radon Action Month and an opportune time for Nebraskans to test for radon in their homes, according to the state's top health official. During winter homes are closed up and can trap the toxic gas.

"Radon is the leading cause of lung cancer for people who have never smoked," said Dr. Joann Schaefer, Chief Medical Officer for the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services. "It's important that every home be tested for it."

Radon is an odorless, colorless, tasteless gas that is present at high levels in half of Nebraska homes.

The Environmental Protection Agency estimates that approximately 21,000 lung cancer deaths each year in the U.S. are radonrelated, second only to tobaccorelated lung cancer deaths.

Radon comes from the decay of naturally occurring uranium in the earth's soil and can accumulate indoors to dangerous levels. It can enter homes through cracks or holes in concrete floors or walls, sump pits, and drinking water from private wells. Once trapped inside an enclosed space, radon can accumulate.

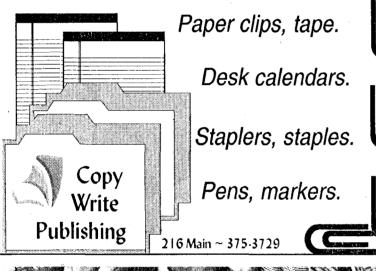

The EPA recommends that houses with radon levels of 4 picocuries

Financial holiday recovery

The holidays are over. Like many people, this may be that time of year when you feel the most "tapped out," from spending more money in the weeks leading up to Christmas season than you do most other times of the year. It is also the time when you are most susceptible to financial fallout if a short-term cash emergency should occur.

During this time, it is most important to have extra cash on hand. You might need some cash to pay off extra credit card charges that you rang up during your shopping trips. Or, you may just need it as protection against an unexpected expense that will be harder to pay with your regular income given the higher-thanaverage expenses you recently generated.

When you need it, you need it The phrase "save it for a rainy day" is almost as old as the concept of money itself. It is not difficult to understand the logic behind the idea of having cash reserves in case of an emergency. These days, too many people wrongly assume that outlets ranging from "payday loan" shops to credit cards to home equity loans can, in effect, serve as an emergency cash reserve.

The problem is that anytime you have to borrow money to pay for an emergency need, the cost of that product or service (a new furnace or paying somebody to have your furnace repaired) is even higher. What's more, too many people find it easy to repay loans with only minimum payments, carrying short-term debt over an extended period of time, ultimately suffering finance charges.

A recommended option is to make sure you have money put away in your own "rainy day fund," so you can avoid having to borrow for a sudden emergency. How much is enough?

A general rule of thumb is that you should have enough money in reserve to cover three-to-six months of living expenses. In other words, multiply your current monthly out-of-pocket expenses by at least three and try to have that much money held in reserve.

Is three months really enough for most people? Think about the possible difficulty you will have replacing income in case of illness or disability. Also consider how susceptible you are to having your income interrupted based on the type of job you have. The more stable and reliable your position, the less risk you face of an extended financial shortfall. On the other hand, if you are in a position where a layoff is a greater possibility, or you are self-employed with a less predictable income, a larger cash reserve may be a better option. This is especially true given the unpredictable nature of today's economy. Any number of factors could create a short-term financial crunch, including: • Upward adjustments to mortgage payments based on interest rate trends and mortgage "reset" conditions in certain contracts • Less job stability and challenges finding a replacement position

•The increasing likelihood that you may face out-of-pocket medical expenses

Aside from possible short-term credit crunches, a cash reserve fund can play a critical role in preparing for unexpected circumstances. Whether it be your automobile breaking down, a refrigerator going on the fritz or an unforeseen medical expense. In a sense, it is your own insurance policy to carry you through a difficult time. These days, that could even include finding yourself out of work when you least expect it.

How to start saving

Ideally it is 'recommended to stock away 25 percent of your pay each month. If you achieve this, you would have three months worth of income set aside in a year. Even if you save a smaller amount, it can help you manage a short-term financial challenge.

As for putting the money to work, a good rule of thumb is to keep it "short and safe." Make sure the money is kept in an account that is fully liquid, so you can access the funds when you need to without paying a penalty for early withdrawal.

Keep in mind that your primary goal is to have the money available when you need it. While it is beneficial to look for a competitive interest rate, you may need it in short order. A financial advisor may help identify savings goals as well. per liter of air or more be fixed to reduce risk of developing lung cancer. A list of trained professionals is available at the Nebraska Radon Program website http://www.dhhs.ne.gov/radon/rado nmit.htm#LicensedBusinesses

Twelve local projects across the state are underway to educate Nebraskans about the dangers of radon with the help of $24,000 in grant funding from the Environmental Protection Agency. The funding was given to local health districts and University of Nebraska county extension offices. A list of local projects is available at: http://www.dhhs.ne.gov/radon/ Radonprojects.htm

For more information about radon or mitigation, call the Nebraska Radon Hotline at 1-800-334-9491. Radon test kits are available for a minimal charge from DHHS for the month of January.

Optimist Club makes plans for Valentines event

Our relationship . . . and communicating effectively

Effective communication re- partners must love and respect you talk together. You should not quires a two-way commitment. As a partner you have the responsibility to communicate with your mate. Your partner also has a responsibility to communicate with you. Communicating effectively with your partner does not come easily and without practice. It takes a sin- cere with what you say. It means cere effort by both partners. Both caring about the other person when each other and want to nurture their relationship. Sharing Feelings and Listening Communicating effectively means being willing to share your feelings and being honest and sin-have to keep your feelings hidden because you are worried about what might happen when you express yourself.

Communicating effectively also means being a good listener. You do not always need to be the one talking. You must be willing to hear about your partner's day, feelings, opinions, concerns or whatever is being discussed. Partners who care about each other and desire effective communication will avoid words that put their partner down, ridicule, poke fun at or demean in any way. They also avoid negative voice tones and negative facial and body gestures.

Managing Conflict

Couples who wish to communicate effectively will be interested in learning ways to manage conflict. Some conflict in a partnership is normal and healthy. It is not so much the presence of quarreling that is the problem in relationships, but rather the presence of defensiveness, hostility, stubbornness and withdrawal. Inflexibility also threatens the stability of marital interaction.

Partners wanting to strengthen their relationship will be flexible and look at a variety of options to deal with a problem or compromise. They will recognize problems and validate or acknowledge their partners' feelings, opinions and ideas. This does not mean that all problems will be resolved or you will always agree with your partner, but it does imply that mutual respect is present in the relationship.

Positive Exchange

Couples who get along well engage in more positive validation sequences where a problem is followed by a positive reaction or when something good receives a positive response. Positive behavior usually is prominent in couples where friendship, love and respect are present. Strong couples will experience conflict, but it is not ? threatening to the foundation of their relationship.

Emotional Responses are OK Core issues in a marriage, such as separateness and connectedness, vary with development and a family's life cycle. For example, the issues for newlyweds will be different than those for new parents, parents of teenagers or retirees. Some issues are "cool" and others are "hot" and may evoke emotional responses with tears or raised voices and blood pressure. Expressing communication with your partner emotions is an appropriate way to handle difficult issues and should not be an excuse to ignore problems or avoid conflict. There may be times, however, when it is more appropriate to raise sensitive issues.

Make Important Decisions Together

In more significant matters, couples must communicate during the decision-making process, and not only to inform the other partner that a decision already has been made.

Couples will want to set boundaries for minor things that can be decided by an individual partner and other things that should be discussed together before making a decision. For many couples buying groceries, repairing the car and disciplining the children might be something one person does independently. But at times, there are circumstances that warrant working together on similar decisions. For example, you may want to talk with your partner if the car is needing costly repairs or if a child is in trouble at school.

Take Time to be Together Probably one of the most important things you can do to improve is to plan to spend more time together. Too often couples lead busy lives that take them in separate directions. Communicating effectively also means enjoying some quiet times together. For instance, taking a walk or reading books together. You likely will find it rewarding when you make a sincere effort to improve communication and connectedness with your partner.

CHIROPRACTIC & CHILDREN

Many of you have experienced firsthand the benefits of chiropractic care to your health. But what about your children? Have you ever considered bringing them in for a chiropractic checkup?

Surprisingly, the first stress placed on a child's spinal column is during the birthing process. Equally surprising is the fact that 26% of children surveyed at school reported a history of back pain.

A child's spine is frequently subjected to repeated forces in the process of learning to walk as well as a multitude of childhood mishaps, sports related injuries, and postural strains. Many adults that come to a chiropractor's office show evidence of childhood injuries to their spine. This is why it is important to have your child's spine checked regularly for any signs of spinal imbalances or misalignments.

Fortunately, chiropractic has had many positive results in treating some very common childhood maladies. Problems like colic, headaches, ear infections, scoliosis, asthma, and even some cases of behavioral problems and bed-wetting have been successfully treated with chiropractic care. In fact, a recent study showed that children under chiropractic care suffered from fewer ear infections than those whose parents sought medical care alone.

Are chiropractic adjustments safe for children? Absolutely! Because a child's skeletal system is still developing, there is a great deal of elasticity within the joints. Light pressure is usually all that is needed to adjust a child's spine.

So the next time you come to our office, bring your children. The few minutes you invest in your child's spinal checkup may save them needless suffering now and in the future.

Conferences Will Help Farmers Use No-Till Successfully

University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension will provide corn and soybean producers information on how to be successful with no-till farming practices at the Nebraska No-Till Conference.

The conference is from 9:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m. Feb. 20 at UNL's Agricultural Research and Development Center near Mead and on Feb. 21 at the Ag Center in Holdrege. Registration begins at 9 a.m.

Conference organizers, UNL Extension educators Keith Glewen and Chuck Burr, and Paul Jasa, UNL extension engineer, said producers will learn the benefits of no-till and how it can work for them.

Speakers include no-till farmers, university specialists and industry representatives. The ARDC conference focuses on "Three Farmers, Three No-Tillers, Three Different Stories" with presentations by no-tillers Duane Lange, Keith Thompson and Jerry Crew. Other topics include: Controlling Trees in No-Till with Lowell Sandell, UNL Extension weed science educator, and What I Heard Today and What I Learned in 2007! with Jasa.

No-till farmers Lange and Thompson will also speak at the Holdrege conference and Jasa's topic will change to Residue Management -- Achieving Uniform Emergence. Dwayne Beck of Prairie Lakes Research Farm in Pierre, S.D., will present Do You "C" What I "C", and a rainfall simulator demonstration on conventional and no-till soils will be provided by Dan Gillespie, NRCS no-till specialist.

Pre-registration is due Feb 13. For more information or to register at the ARDC location, call (402) 624-8030 or (800) 529-8030 or e-mail kglewen1@unl.edu. For more information or to register at the Holdrege location, call (308) 995-4222 or e-mail cburr1@unl.edu. Online registration is available at http://ardc.unl.edu/no-till.shtml.

week seemed chilly, it was nothing compared to Sunday's! And the younger Manning is coming along in the quarterback role, that's for sure. It's looking like the Patriots will be able to complete a "dream season" with no losses, but nothing is for sure. How well we Huskers know!

NAMES OF CONTRACTOR

This old "wimp" skipped a band concert in Seward tonight in favor of staying in where it is warm. We try to keep up with the grandkids and their activities, if possible. But I think they understand when we don't make it.

It has to do with "relationships". I've been reading about these a lot lately. In every activity, it seems there needs to be a relationship. For instance, the football team has lost some recruits because they had established a relationship with the coaches who left. I can understand that.

I know for a fact that when I called on discharge planners in Omaha hospitals on behalf of my employer, we had more home health care and hospice referrals. There is just something about being able to put a face with a voice over the phone.

For me, it's important to have a relationship with my health care provider, and with my spiritual

I'm developing a relationship, and an admiration for, our church choir director. She is the music teacher in the parochial school, and she directs the youth choir and the chancel choir and the instrumental group. Our Christmas cantata was postponed due to weather, so we presented it at all three services this weekend. I was pooped by noon on Sunday; I can't imagine what she was!

I have sort of a relationship with Lynn Sievers and Clara Osten, even though I've never met them. They call me on Tuesday morning if this thing slips my mind, or if the computer doesn't get it to them for one reason or another. Next month will be 25 years of the Farmer's Wife, and neither of them were in any relationship with the Wayne Herald at that time.

I still have a relationship with my co-workers in hospice, and they cheerfully put up with me because I fill in for them when they are sick or need a vacation. So, I guess that means it helps to have something the other person or persons in the relationship need, right? The flexibility of retirement is a big plus! I highly recommend it. And I recommend good relationships, too. They make the world a better place.

theme for the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension conference that will celebrate 23 years of education and recognition of women in agriculture -- the heart of every Nebraska farm, said Megan Voss, program coordinator

Feb. 21-22 in Kearney

The conference features nearly three dozen workshops on various topics, including the farm bill, stress management, distillers grains, GPS and record keeping. "Funshops" are optional workshops

Natural Resources will provide 20 scholarships for 4-H, FFA, and community college students who are interested in attending the conference. The scholarship will cover $45 of the $90 registration fee. The remaining $45 will need to be paid by the student. In addition, five current CASNR students will receive a full scholarship to the conference. Application forms are available on the WIA Web site or by e-mailing Voss at mvoss2@unl.edu. Applications are due Feb. 8.

Wayne, Nebraska January 15, 2008

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners met in regular session at 9:00 a.m. on Tuesday, January 15, 2008 in the upstairs conference room of the Courthouse. Roll call was answered by Chairman Nissen, Members Wurdeman and Rabe, and Clerk

Finn. Advance notice of this meeting was published in the Wayne Heraid, a legal newspaper, on January 3, 2008. A current copy of the Open Meetings Act was posted in the meeting room and accessible to the public.

The agenda was approved.

The minutes of the January 2, 2008, meeting were approved as printed in the Commissioner's Record.

The family of Luverna Hilton would like to place a memorial on the courtroom level of the courthouse. Various options discussed included church pews for those waiting outside the courtroom, and a clock inside the courtroom. These options will be presented to the family

Quotes for a heating and cooling system maintenance agreement from Jim Kozeny, and Control Services, Inc. were reviewed. Preventative maintenance inspections, emergency service, replacement of worn parts or components, and subcontracting services were compared. Motion by Rabe, second by Wurdeman to approve the agreement with Control Services Inc. for the annual price of $1,806.00. Roll call vote: Rabe-aye, Wurdeman-aye, Nissen-aye; motion carried.

An electrical estimate submitted by Klein Electric for outlet replacements and additions, and for replacement of light fixtures in the Treasurer's office was approved.

A listing of residents agreeing to serve on the Wayne County Extension Board for the year 2008 was reviewed and approved. Connie Kirkpatrick, Kelvin Puntney, and LeNell Quinn's terms will expire on June 7, 2008. Additional members include Rick Lange, Kelly Meyer, Doug Temme, and Kenneth Thomse Bid specifications for lawn mowing and spraying services for the courthouse and Health & Human Services buildings were reviewed and approved. Bids will be opened on February 19th at 1:30 p.m.

Bid specifications for cleaning services for the courthouse and Health & Human Services buildings were reviewed. Cleaning expectations were discussed, including the possibility of staff members being responsible for cleaning their own work areas. Bidders will be asked to bid public areas only, and to bid public and office areas. Bids will be opened on February 19th at 2:00

Curt Reiter of Microfilm Imaging Services presented his concerns that counties are purchasing services from the Nebraska Association of County Officials/MIPS, a company owned by the counties of Nebraska, rather than from private businesses. He didn't feel government business should compete with private business, and encouraged the board to make sure the county is not receiving more service than needed, and that a bid process is always implemented.

The public hearing for the One and Six Year Road Plan was set for Tuesday, February 19th at 10:00 a.m. Project lists are currently being reviewed and updated.

A grant application for scrap tire recycling was signed.
