Fiftieth anniversary of annual children's play observed

Wayne State College students continued a theatre tradition on campus by introducing audiences to "The Magical Land of Oz" in celebration of the 50th anniversary of the annual children's play. Public performances were hosted on April 6 in Ramsey Theatre, located in Peterson Fine Arts Building on the Wayne State College campus. School children from all over Northeast Nebraska attended special performances. Previous student casts have visited Oz on stage for WSC children's theatre performances in 1973 and 1989. Dr. Gwen Jensen of WSC directed the play. Janet Roney of WSC is technical director and the designer of scenes, costumes and lighting. Standing from left are: Eliott Anderson of Lincoln as the Cowardly Lion; Sarah Peters of Papillion as Dorothy; and Dane Levi of Norfolk as the Tin Woodsman. Seated are Garrett Flamig of Hartington as the Scarecrow and Jeremy Baldwin of Omaha as Toto.

WSC graduate and world traveler gives presentation

By Lynn Sievers

Of the Herald Daring not only to dream but to carry out his dreams, world traveler Dean Jacobs, a graduate of Wayne State College and native of Fremont, was on the WSC campus Thursday captivating his audience with tales of his latest adventure. His presentation, "From Sails to Rails," an exploration of the Nile Basin of Africa and the Trans Siberian railway of Asia, was sponsored by the WSC Explorers Club and the Wayne Herald.

On May 16, 2001, Jacobs made a lifechanging decision to give up a successful business job and journey around the

"Before I left, I wrote my will and letters to Mom, Dad and Grandma because 1 didn't want any bags, physical or emotional," Jacobs said. "For two years, I traveled from Mt. Everest to the Dead Sea."

When he returned, he wrote his book, "Wondrous Journey - The World is Waiting for You," which captures his travel around

His last journey took him to 13 countries in 10 months and since his degree is in Biology, one place he made sure he stopped at was the Galapagos Islands, a biologist's paradise. While in Fremont, Jacobs was a the beautiful photographs he has taken stop he wanted to make was to Sudan as along his global trek. While abroad, Jacobs also committed to a weekly column, which he emailed to newspapers, including the Wayne Herald. His website, www.travelfor life.org reflects his journey.

"I had a dream to see the seven wonders of the world, which are sight, hearing, smell, taste, touch, laughter and love,' Jacobs said.

Jacobs noted he traveled on a low budget of $10 to $15 a day, not only because he's not independently wealthy but also because he wanted to experience the ordinary, everyday people in the world.

"I've eaten horse, camel, scorpion on a stick and they all taste like chicken," Jacobs said. "I've broke bread, had tea and worshiped different Gods with people around the world. I've learned so much about others and myself; it's a magical dance being in new situations. I've learned that humanity is priceless, timeless and can't be bought.'

On his first trip, he visited 28 countries, from Australia and Southeast Asia to the Middle East and Africa. He found kindness in the ordinary people along the way and that generosity is the golden rule. Traveling to Sudan from Israel, he was refused entrance into Sudan because photo journalist and his talent shows in the Sudanese don't recognize Israel. One

Dean Jacobs, a graduate of Wayne State College and a world traveler, gave a presentation of his journey at WSC on April 3.

Nebraska has the largest Sudanese population in North America. He acquired a new passport and tried to get into Sudan again and was successful.

"I had heard of the hardship of the Sudanese and wanted to learn what they went through," Jacobs said. "I saw a refugee camp where people have lived there 15-20 years so it's not a camp anymore but Jacobs added there is no running water in the homes and temperatures are around 115 degrees. The people go to the river for their water and to bathe. "I watched them throw rocks in the water before they went near the river and found out a guy had been eaten by crocodiles the day before," Jacobs said. "Water is scarce and for camps further from the river, water is a real issue.'

Jacobs noted the UN has been loading planes and is starting to move people back to their homes, as there is less trouble there than there was before.

"It's emotional moving people home," Jacobs said. "I stood in the runway watching a plane take off only to see it return and the wings wave back and forth as if to say goodbye and I knew then there was no where else I was supposed to be. There is a sense of peace when you are true to your

Sharing of resources working for several area schools

By Lynn Sievers Of the Herald

While school consolidation continues to be controversial, school districts sharing resources seems to be the wave of the future. As funding for area schools continues to go down, some are getting onboard or are already sharing resources.

For example, Laurel-Concord, Coleridge, Newcastle, Wynot share the services of Superintendent Dr. Dan Hoesing, who lives in Laurel. Those four schools also share services of 23 professional staff members and numerous support staff members as well as with the schools of Allen, Winside, Wausa, Ponca and Prague.

As for sharing services of professional staff members and support staff members, Dr. Hoesing stated that all expenses are shared on a cost basis so the cost varies depending on the level of service required. The shared employee, however, receives compensation only from the hiring district, those school districts receiving the service make payments directly to the school district. Inter-local agreements are in place between the districts and serves as the finance model in support of these pro-

Looking back, Dr. Hoesing was superintendent in the Laurel-Concord school system in 1995 and started being a "shared superintendent" in 2003 with the Coleridge school system. In 2006, his services were shared with Newcastle and in 2007, the Wynot school district was added to his list of duties.

The approximate driving distance for Dr. Hoesing between the communities is: Laurel to Coleridge, 11 miles; Laurel to Newcastle, 30 miles; Laurel to Wynot, 25 miles; Coleridge to Wynot, 25 miles; Coleridge to Newcastle, 30 miles and Wynot to Newcastle, 15 miles.

"My goal is to be physically onsite one day every week in each district," Dr. Hoesing said. "Because of technology, however, I am available on the Internet for a videoconference, voice conference or instant message conversation virtually anytime."

Dr. Hoesing noted he makes sure to attend school activities as well as community and church functions whenever possible in each district. He hosts a superintendent calendar on the Internet so everyone in the school districts knows where he is each day.

Communication is a key factor in sharing between school districts, " If I am in route to a meeting or to another school, I can generally be reached via cell phone," Dr. Hoesing said. "This is all part of our communication plan and requires much planning and selfdiscipline. Sometimes it makes for a busy, but manageable schedule."

In addition to regular meetings, there are also board committee meetings, joint board committee meetings, regional meetings, state meetings, etc. that are scheduled each month. In order to manage all the meeting schedules, board, superintendent and administrator calendars are posted on the Internet so the public can see what's happening at each level.

Everything that happens in each school district is posted on the district homepage on the Internet. The four schools jointly hire one person to manage all public relations, district communications, district homepage, district calendars, curriculum and course management, activities and all electronic information. Internet is central to their communications. but other forms of materials are also used such as newspapers, radio, television, printed communication to parents and district patrons, as well as community meetings and workshops.

"At times, we wonder if we are doing enough to keep connected with various community patrons, parents, staff and students," Dr. Hoesing said. "We just completed our second annual education conference with Innovation Labs serving as our workshop facilitator. While there is excitement about what is happening in our schools, there is still much to do to make these systems better."

Dr. Hoesing said overall, about 850 students are served at the four locations and over 890 students are enrolled in distance education classes each day for high school and college credit classes. There is an administrator on-site each day in each of the school districts.

"Each administrator is responsible for various programs in each district even though they may be located at one site," Dr. Hoesing said. "This way we try to minimize duplication of services and provide additional support when the building principal is out of the build-

He notes that in addition, there is one (.875 FTE) activities director that works with principals in each district to post the schedule of activities and works with their webpage manager to coordinate these activities in each district, especially for shared staff.

"Ours is not a perfect system, but we work hard to try to meet the program needs in each district. I am not suer I have a suggestion for the right number of administrators in each district, I believe that can only be determined by the responsibilities for each position in each district."

Dr. Hoesing stated he is not implying that what is currently working in their school districts can be generalized to other schools or that their present administrative configuration will serve their needs in the future. The administrative services in each district are munity."

As for the future. Dr. Hoesing ended by saying that there is an increased interest in collaboration between school districts, not just in our area or State, but across the

"As recent as 20 years ago, many times the only options available for increased opportunities improved efficiency were through consolidation of school districts but today, education and finance needs are met through a variety of strategic interventions," Dr. Hoesing said. These interventions include distance education, shared staff, services materials, equipment, etc. and with this in mind, we operate under the direction of four separate school boards who have developed a clear direction for our focus: 1. Maintain a quality education program for all students, 2. Operate in the most cost efficient manner possible and 3. Maintain a school in every com-

Students learning the future of transportation through electric vehicle racing

In its fourth year under Tony laps. Cantrell's instruction, the Wayne High Power Drive electric vehicle racing team is competing against other Nebraska high school teams.

"Many things have changed from my first year here at Wayne High. Our first car was a learning experience on what not to do. Since then the program has evolved from three or four students and one car to 11 students designing and building two cars. We have become more competitive over the last couple of years, winning three races and holding track records in the advanced class at two tracks -Hastings, and here in Wayne," Mr. Cantrell said.

Students are in charge of designing, building, troubleshooting and racing the cars.

Cars compete in three different events - braking, maneuverability, and endurance.

Braking competition awards first place to the car that can stop in the shortest distance from 15 MPH.

Maneuverability is a competition in which the driver must go through a slalom course, trying for the fastest time possible.

Endurance is the most popular of the events. It involves a 60 minute race to see which car can travel the furthest or complete the most

Drivers of the cars must under-

Wayne Planning Commission approve preliminary and final plat of area in Muhs Acres

By Lynn Sievers

Of the Herald Wayne Planning Commission met in regular session on Monday night. Discussion was held on 8,9,10,11, 12, 13 and 14. Block 1 and lots 6,7,8,9. 10, Block 2 of Muhs Acres subdivision located in the Southeast 1/4 of the Southwest 1/4 of Sec. 1,, T26N, R3E of the 6th PM, Wayne Co., NE. Applicants were Dennis and Carolyn Linster and Linda Young.

George Ellyson, zoning administrator, chief inspector and planner, recommended the commissioners give approval since it was consistent with the comprehensive plan and nothing was changed except some lot lines were taken away and now two owners own a portion that's a single legal description rather than multiple. He added that the right of way was vacated. The commissioners approved unanimously recommendation to city council.

A public hearing was held on Ellyson went through conditions for granting and said the only one that applies is #1, which since the location is across from a residential use district, there's a need for a fence or barrier. Commissioner Jill Sweetland asked how many vehicles would be displayed and Schulz said probably 10 or less. The commissioners unanimously recommended to city council to grant the use by exception request with completion of the #1 sub paragraph.

is needed to put another one there. condition a house be built on the property within 12 months.

Communication from the public included Randy Pick who stated that he was interested in buying that lot for commercial reasons. He asked if a house will be built there and if so, why, as it is zoned B3. Melvin Miller also stated he's interested in buying the lot for commercial reasons.

Doug Sturm, city council member, said he feels the city is asking for the use by exception so either residential or commercial could be built there.

Johnson noted advertising on the lot is for single family dwelling to be built within 12 months and if that doesn't happen, the city will get it back. He said the property will be auctioned off on Friday, April 11 and that the city has $1,800 in clean up costs and liens in the property.

Commissioner Sorensen asked why the city is stipulating a house be built there, why not just offer a lot for sale? Johnson noted they city tries to offer affordable housing whenever they can and also often the fastest way to get tax money in with a house.

The commissioners noted that most houses in that area are legal non-conforming. Ellyson said the south side of 7th Street to 6th Street are legal non-conforming as they were built there before zoning started in 1979.

Commissioner Sweetland said she feels that whoever buys the property should be the one requesting the use by exception. Commissioner Pat Melena said the city is the owner so it's their legal right to apply for a use by exception. He added that it's consistent with the neighborhood and with the comprehensive plan so he made a motion to give recommendation for approval for the request to the city council. He later withdrew and amended the motion with addition that all sub sections of Sec. 90-424 (13) B-3 Neighborhood Commercial District be met. The commissioners approved the recommendation.

Discussion was held on the preliminary plat for Western Ridge II addition but because the plat was incomplete, the issue was tabled until the next Planning Commissioners meeting on May 5. At that time, commissioners will look at the proper document that meets city codes and shows property owners abutting the area.

Meyers open Mikey's Place at 111 E. 3rd Street in Wayne

By Lynn Sievers Of the Herald

Mikey's Place at 111 E. 3rd Street in Wayne opened on Jan. 27. Mike and Michelle Meyer of Wayne are the owners. The couple bought the business from Cindy and Ed Milligan, who ran Bar M for 13 years. Mikey's Place is open Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to close and Sundays, three p.m.

Mike is from Wayne and has farmed for 25 years. Michelle, is originally from Omaha and works at the counseling center at Wayne State College and also teaches. The couple has two children, Sheila, 22, a senior at the University of Nebraska - Lincoln and Joe, 20, who is a sophomore at WSC.

"Michelle says I'm a social butterfly and that should help in getting to know customers and for them to know me," Mike said. '

He added they are grateful to Cindy for the smooth transition. They are also thankful to Bill Dickey of the First National Bank as he's been a great help and support, as well as Stan and Imogene Baier for all their help.

Future plans for the Milligans include, as Cindy stated, their first real vacation, which is seeing a new grandbaby and traveling through Nebraska and Wyoming. The couple has seven grown children, 14 grandchildren and four great grandchil-

"We've met a lot of people and lost great friends while we had the bar," Cindy said. "The bar was our extended family and during the time we owned it, we lost over half of my family members. At that time, customers stepped in and helped us out. We wish Mike and Michelle all the luck in the world."

Looking back, the bar has a long history in Wayne. Land owners of 111 E. 3rd Street include William Berg, 1948; Chris Lueders, 1950-51; Conrad Suhr, 1977-82; Mert Ellis, 1982-1995; Ed and Cindy Milligan, 1995-2008; Mike and Michelle Meyer, Bar owners (when it was the Nu-Tavern) were: William Berg, George Hoffman, Chris Lueders, Norris Weible, Don Pfeifer, Harold and Dick Korn and Conrad Suhr.

Business owners through the years include Terry Lutt, (when the bar was the TP); Tom Prenger, (Nu Tavern); Mert Ellis, (Merts); Gary Brummond, (Mr. B's); Cindy and Ed Milligan, (Bar M) and Mike and Michelle Meyer, (Mikey's Place).

Looking ahead, Mike notes there will be few changes at this time for their business except for possibly adding a beer garden. Anyone with questions can stop in and talk to Mike and Michelle or give them a call at Mikey's Place, 402-375-9990.

Williams resigns as Wayne State women's basketball coach and heads to USD

After ten seasons as the women's head basketball at Wayne State College, athletic director Eric

Ryun Williams

Schoh announced on April 3, that Ryun Williams has resigned his position at WSC to become the head women's coach at his alma mater the University of South

"This was not an easy decision," Williams said.

"Wayne State and the community of Wayne have been like Camelot to us. We are so grateful for the opportunity given to us and we will always 'Back the Cats'."

According to Schoh, a national search for Williams' replacement will begin immediately with hopes of having a new coach in place by the end of the month.

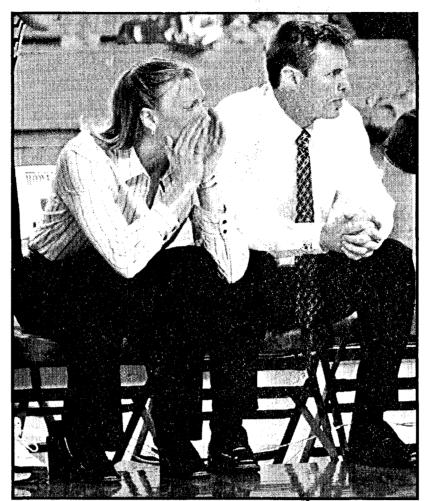

In ten years at WSC, Williams accumulated a 182-106 record (.632), including a 95-57 mark (.625) in the Northern Sun Conference. He has led the Wildcats to 20 or more wins in three of the last four seasons.

Predicted for a sixth place finish in the NSIC this season, Williams guided the Wildcats to a second place finish in the NSIC with a 12-6 league mark and a 22-10 overall record.

WSC advanced to the NCAA Division II North Central Regional Tournament for the second time in the last three seasons and upset North Dakota 85-78 in the first round before falling to Minnesota State 64-62 at the buzzer in the regional semi-finals.

The win over North Dakota was WSC's first in the NCAA Tournament.

Williams is the winningest coach in WSC women's basketball history. He coached the Wildcats to the best season in school history in the 2005-06 season when WSC finished Coaches Allison Kruger and Ryun Williams during the the Wildcats NCAA Regional Tournament at USD.

27-4 overall and 13-1 in the NSIC to win the regular season and posttournament season earning the titles, school's first-ever trip to the NCAA National Tournament

WSC was ranked as high as 19th in NCAA Division II and finished the season ranked 25th, which was the first time that the Wildcats ended the season ranked in the national poll.

In addition to a stellar season in 2006, Williams was named the NSIC Coach of the Year.

The Wildcats posted back-to-back 20 win seasons for just the second time in school history under Williams, going 27-4 in 2005-06 and 20-11 in the 2004-05 season. The 2005-06 team also set a new school record for consecutive wins as the Wildcats won 17 straight games, passing the old mark of 13 that was set in the 1976-77 season.

Before coming to WSC, Williams served as the head women's basketball coach at Sheridan Junior College in Wyo., where he compiled a 54-38 mark.

A whole lot about nothing...

Generally this column serves as an outlet for a little off-thewall humor.

However with the recent resignation of Wayne State women's head basketball coach Ryun Williams I figured I'd take a more serious approach to writing my column, which wasn't easy...

So late Sunday evening/early Monday morning the light bulb clicked within my head (which doesn't happen often) and I set out to contact several of current players that Williams had spent the past year coaching, to get their current assessment on the shake-up at Rice Auditorium.

While I contacted several players, I only received a handful of responses from four different players. One being junior and team captain Kylee McGill, and the others being sophomore Teresa Case and freshmen Jodi Boss and Alyssa Fischbach. So here it is...

Q: How did you take Williams' resignation? Did it surprise you, or did you know it was going to happen?

Boss: "I took Coach Williams resignation pretty hard. I thought he was an awesome coach and I was expecting to have him as my coach for all four years.'

Q: What will you miss most about Coach Williams?

Fischbach: "I will miss how much fun he made basketball and winning for us all. He brought so much excitement to the game and to coaching us."

Q: What won't you miss about Coach Williams?

McGill: "I won't miss the random morning practices, and I won't miss the random yelling sprees when no one knows what's going on. And I won't miss five minute 'game shots' that we did everyday."

Q: Does his resignation affect your deceision to play or return for next season?

Boss: "It's hard hearing that our coach is leaving us, but I plan to stay with the team in Wayne. I think that if we stay together great things will come out of this team.'

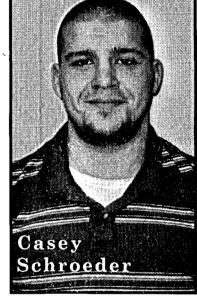

Q: How do you stay focused now without a head coach on hand? Do you think this drama and set back will effect next season?

McGill: "Staying focused has never been a problem with this team.

We are a strong heartful team with a big passion to compete and win. Coach or no coach we are a college basketball team and we will play like one."

Q: What should the Athletic Director and those involved in the selection process keep in mind for the next coach and what are some important qualities?

Case: "Someone who can bring the best out of us and knows how to win."

Fischbach: "I think we need a coach that knows how to win, but who also makes it fun and keeps our love for the game.

I hope we find someone who can make each of us better and bring out the best qualities in us

McGill: "Eric Schoh has big hopes for the next coach, and he strongly believes that whoever gets the job will fit the program that has already been established.

I'm not at all nervous with his selection choice.

As a player I want a coach that pushes each player individually, someone who has the enthusiasm and spirit to keep our team's heads high when we are falling

I want a coach who I am able to look up to on the court, but more importantly off the court. Someone who takes his job seriously and does the dirty work when no one is looking."

Q: How do you think Williams will do at USD? Case: I think Coach Williams will do really good at USD." Fischbach: "I think he will do great things at USD and will really help them with their transition from Division II to Division

Boss: "I think coach will do great at USD, and they are lucky to be getting such an awesome

McGill: "Coach Williams will be fine at USD. He has a personality that attracts all different types of people. I hope his moving there will get him where he wants to be...home."

In closing, I wish Coach Williams and his family the best from the sportsdesk at the Wayne Herald.

His willingness to work with the "rookie" reporter will be truly missed as his door and ears were always open.

national provisional marks as she won the shot put (46' 2 1/2"), and took second in both the discus (145' 10") and hammer throw (161' 10"). "I am making good improvements, I just need to keep improving my marks," Wilson said. "Staying healthy is going to be important right now and making sure that I am competing at my top level. While Wilson took second in the hammer throw, it was teammate Lacey Jensen who won the event with her throw of (166' 2"), which also earned her a new school record and a national provisional mark. The women's final provisional qualifying mark of the day came from sophomore Kylie Herian who hurdled her way to first in the 100meter hurdles with a time of 14.32 seconds and helped aid the women's squad to a combined sixth place finish.

In the men's division, junior Brett Suckstorf took top honors for the day.

Suckstorf set a new school record and recorded a national provisional mark in the hammer throw with a first place mark of 183' 4", while teammate John Sloup finished second with his national provisional qualifying mark of 177' 2".

The men's other lone provisional mark of the day came as a result of senior Tim Pilakowski who leaped his way to first in the long jump with a mark of 23'9".

"Hopefully this will set the tone for the remainder of our outdoor season." Brink said. "We have to make every meet count as we get ready for the NSIC Championships which we will host on May 9-10."

Wayne State will look to add to their recent success of breaking school records as they compete in the Division II Challenge in Emporia, Kan. this upcoming weekend.

Winside boys and girls make 'fools' out of competition at Newman Grove Invitational

By Lee Koch

The Winside boys and girls track squads teamed up on April Fools Day to win the combined meet championship at the Newman Grove Invitational held in Genoa.

Both squads combined for 274 points to outdistance Lindsey Holy Family who scored 194 points to earn the runner-up spot.

The Winside boys were led by gold medalists Tucker Bowers, Zach Brokaw, Chase Langenberg and the 4 x 100-meter relay team.

Bowers won the 800-meter run in a time of 2 minutes and 11.87 seconds, while Brokaw covered the 1600-meter run in a time of 5 minutes 11 seconds to earn his first gold medal of the season.

Langenberg followed up a winning mark in the shot put (45' 5") with a second place finish in the discus (116' 10").

The 4 x 100 relay team comprised of Kalin Koch, Ethan Taylor, Jordan Brummels and Bowers sprinted their way to first with a time of 47. 5 seconds.

Michaela Staub and Virginia Fleer led the Wildcat girls to a second place finish as Staub won the 800-meter run (2:39.51) and Fleer recorded first in the 1600-meter run (6:12.35).

Junior Hilliary Lienemann led all Wildcat girls in the field events as she recorded her second win of the season in the shot put with a mark of 32' 10".

To further compliment the Wildcats, Amanda Pfeiffer recorded

All it took was the solid play of Shaun Kardell, Collin Jeffries, and Sam Kurpgeweit to propel the Blue Devils to a second place finish at the Crofton Invitational on Friday April 4.

"This was a true team effort to even get second," head coach Dave Hix said. "We couldn't count Andi's (Diediker) score, so the rest of the players had to step up." Wayne's top performer of the day was Kardell who finished third with a score of 82. "It was nice to see Shaun finally get some game together," Hix said. "I know we haven't had many opportunities but that is where he left off last year. Shaun had eight greens in regulation so he was getting shots at the green."

'Cats rebound from Winona State loss to go 4-1 at NSIC Crossover Tourney

By Casey Schroeder

The Wayne State College women's innings and gave up no runs on loss, while Earleywine recorded softball team bounced back from a two game losing skid against Winona State on Friday to finish this past weekend's NSIC Crossover Tournament with a 4-1 record.

The Wildcats moved to 18-15 overall and currently have a 4-3 record in the NSIC.

"We are starting to play more consistent ball both offensively and defensively," head coach Krista Unger said. "Our defense was very solid this weekend."

On Sunday's opening game at the Pete Chapman Complex, WSC used the bottom of the first inning to take an early lead as an RBI single from Jennifer Radley scored Samatha Earleywine to give the Wildcats the 1-0 lead over Minnesota, Crookston. In the second inning WSC used two hits and a Golden Eagles' error to record another run making it a 2-0 contest.

three scores, the first of which three runs for WSC. came from an Amy Sandstrom homerun that was followed by singles from Valerie Robinson and Radley.

WSC kept on pace throughout the inning as Blaire Kuhl reached on an error that brought Robinson home for the score.

Alaina Novotny added another Wildcat score as she sacrificed a fly that returned Radley to home plate to give WSC the 5-0 lead.

Additional breathing room came for the 'Cats in the fourth inning as WSC used one hit and two Golden Eagle errors to record another score to jump ahead 6-0.

WSC closed out the game in the fifth inning with a two-RBI single by Radley that scored Amber Baird and Novotny, which gave WSC the Pitcher Katie Goetzinger (12-7) worked the complete game for WSC and pitched a three-hit shutout, where she had one walk and seven strikeouts. WSC concluded Sunday's action with a convincing 22-0 win over Northern State, with 15 runs being scored in the first inning.

The Wildcats used 19 batters in the first inning to record 15 runs on

To further highlight the 'Cats explosive first inning, nine different starters recorded at least one RBI in the inning enroute to the 15-0 lead.

WSC added seven runs in the second inning to further distance themselves from the Wolves as they cruised to the 22-0 win.

WSC was led from the mound, where Goetzinger (13-7) pitched a complete game as she gave up no runs on no hits with no walks and two strikeouts in three innings.

Prior to the Wildcats' trouncing of opponents on Sunday, WSC opened Saturday tournament action with a pair of wins and a loss.

In game one the Wildcats downed MSU Moorhead 3-0 with one run scored in the second and third WSC had eight hits in the game, with Earleywine, Sandstrom, Robinson and Novotny all recording two hits.

Goetzinger and pitcher Kylie Peterson combined for the shutout against the Dragons, where and a two-run homer. Goetzinger worked the first six seven hits with no walks and five strikeouts.

Peterson worked the final inning for WSC and earned her second save of the season as she also gave up no runs and no hits on no walks and one strikeout.

After a narrow opening win, the 'Cats continued to struggle as they edged Bemidji State 6-4 in game two of Saturday's action.

With the game knotted up at 4-4 in the top of the third inning, WSC unleashed its offense Earleywine doubled and eventually scored on an RBI double from Sandstrom.

Sandstrom later scored on a RBI groundout by Radley to give the Wildcats the win.

"Being a senior, I'm really proud of my younger teammates, for showing that they can fight back," Spale

Earleywine, Sandstrom,

Robinson and Engelkamp each had The third inning saw WSC add two hits, while Radley drove in

Peterson earned the win from the mound and gave up no runs and two hits with one walk and three strikeouts If luck had anything to do with the

'Cats previous two wins on Saturday, then the luck ran out as the University of Mary defeated down in tough games we can keep showing the fight that we have, Spale said.

WSC was led offensively by Radley who was 4 for 4 with 3 RBI's two hits for WSC. Goetzinger gave up three runs WSC and 10 hits from the mound, with Goetzinger 5.0 3 0 0 1 7 no walks and one strike out in 6 2/3 innings worked.

The State 4-H BB Gun & Air Rifle Competition was held in Wayne on April 5-6. The event was held at the Wayne Community Activity Center. Over 160 4-Hers from 23 Nebraska Counties competed in the event. The event was organized by shooting sports clubs in Wayne and Pierce Counties.

More sessions of popular digital camera classes planned

Improve your digital photography skills for all those great spring photo ops after taking a digital camera class in April at Northeast Community College in Norfolk.

The first class, Digital Cameras I, with course number DP 0300-04/08S, meets Thursday, April 10, from 6-9 p.m. in the Lifelong Learning Center. Another session of the same class, with course number DP 0300-06/08S, meets Monday, May 12, at the same time in the same location.

This noncredit workshop is for people considering buying a digital camera or those who have just purchased a digital and want to learn its basic functions. Instructor Chris Mannel will teach students how to transfer pictures from the camera, save, archive, and organize photos. He will also show participants how to insert pictures into email or documents and print their pictures. Cost of this class is $10.

Action Hills Goldenrod Community Weatherization expansion project available

Goldenrod Hills Community Action's Weatherization Program is applying for a Housing Preservation Grant (HPG) provided by the United States Department of Agriculture. The expansion project would give the program the ability to repair or replace roofs and foundations on area homes.

Guidelines would limit recipients to those who live in 125 percent of poverty in owner-occupied homes. Repair of the roofs and foundations would make the participants eligible for weatherization funds provided by the U.S. Department of Energy and the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program. These state and federal funding sources do not cover roof or foundation repair.

Looking Ahead in Wayne

Provided courtesy of Nancy Braden, City Treasurer

When I say Ord, Nebraska, what do you think of? A few years ago this rural community had an aging population. They were losing their youth and the town appeared to be in a downward spiral. If you look at that community today, you will see a vibrant growing community. You may ask how they turned around these trends that are common place in many of the small communities in this country.

Ord was a pilot community for a program called Hometown Competitiveness (HTC) a Come Back – Give Back Program for sustainable communities. This program is built around four pillars. These pillars are:

- 1. Entrepreneurship
- 2. Youth
- 3. Charitable Assets 4. Leadership

HTC believes in two strategies for entrepreneurship — the first is the transfer of existing businesses to the next generation and the second is to help those people that have ideas but may be lacking something to get the businesses off the ground.

Ord passed a local option sales tax with LB840 so they had funds available that they could use to assist the entrepreneurs.

We have all heard of the brain drain, but how do we stop it? HTC starts early with the youth by getting them involved in the community. We need to find out what will attract young people to either come back to our community or to stay once they are out of school.

A goal set by HTC communities is to try to retain a portion of the wealth created by the aging population. Because many of the children of the older generation no longer reside in our community. the wealth they generated in our community leaves the community.

uses the Nebraska Community Foundation for residents, past and present, to give something back to their community. The earnings from these funds are used for community directed projects.

The final pillar is leadership. HTC communities start early to develop the capacity within their communities to have leaders for the future. We need to build a number of dedicated residents what are committed to building a future for our community.

"This four-pillar approach provides communities with specific attainable goals allowing them to strategically target scarce resources for maximum impact. Together, these strategies address the root causes of rural decline and offer communities a way to work toward a healthy and sustainable future. Specifically, this approach to reversing rural decline offers rural communities a way to focus their efforts in four specific arenas: setting realistic targets to capture a portion of the transfer of wealth, expanding the leadership core, retaining youth, and working to build specific place-based businesses with potential for growth and wealth creation." (http://www.htccommunity.org)

This process works in small and large communities in Nebraska and I believe it can work in Wayne. We need to challenge ourselves to come back and give back to our community. Let's make Wayne self-

Mis-use of language disturbing

English teachers, community uplifters and all right-thinking Nebraskans should demand and support measures to protect society from the gawd-awful crime committed by those who misuse the words "incentive" and "disrespect."

If you are not a death penalty advocate, the constant misuse of these words might prompt you to rethink your position.

Incentive is not a darned verb! Incentive means inducement, and things akin to it.

Lawmakers who say "We need to incent business to pay higher wages," or "This is to incentify," this group, or "incentivise" that one, should be subjected to ... something really nasty!

Then there is the word "disrespect." You know what it means.

To say that someone is "disrespecting" someone else, or something, is disrespectful of America's mother tongue.

The state constitution should require that any lawmaker who uses, or any teacher who approves or ignores such linguistic criminality, be summarily relieved of their

State aid to schools, State Fair on agenda passed LB 988, the bill that revamps the state aid formula for K-12 school districts. The Governor signed it the same day.

Within minutes of his action, the four districts that had sued the state over our current state aid formula dropped their lawsuit. This is good news, as now money that can be better spent on student learning will no longer be tied up in attorney

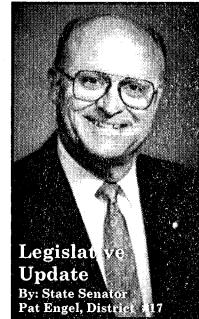

Five years ago, Omaha Public Schools, along with Grand Island, Lexington and South Sioux City school districts, filed a lawsuit challenging the constitutionality of the school finance formula. The school districts felt that the current system did not adequately address the academic needs of students in poverty and those that cannot speak English.

Under LB 988, the method used to calculate needs would be revised, comparing school districts of similar size to arrive at a basic funding level. It also places more emphasis on funding for disadvantaged students. Although less than certified earlier this year, state aid tr schools will still increase next year by approximately $70 million over state aid appropriated this school year, amounting to a greater than 9% increase.

In addition to signing the state aid bill, the Governor also signed the budget bills. However, he used his line-item veto authority on the portion of the budget that would have resulted in a gas tax increase of 1.2 cents. Senators had approved an increase of $14.5 million to the Department of Roads for increased salaries and health insurance costs, in an effort to avoid a likewise decrease in road projects. Members of the Appropriations Committee voted 6-3 to make a

This past week, the Legislature override the Governor's veto of the gas tax increase.

The Agriculture Committee has recommended that the State Fair should be moved to Grand Island by 2010. Under LB 1116, the University would contribute $21.5 million from foundation and private resources for the purchase of the current fair site, the City of Grand Island would contribute $8.5 million, the State Fair Board $7.0 million, and the State of Nebraska would transfer $5 million from the Cash Reserve Fund, for a total projected cost of $42 million to relocate the state fair. Of this amount, $27.5 million would be used for the construction of new buildings (Livestock Buildings, Exhibition Halls, and Equine Barns) and $14.5 million for other improvements, such as lights, parking, and landscaping costs.

LB 1116 was given first round approval by the Legislature on a 44-3-2 vote. It must be approved motion to the full Legislature to two more times and signed by the Governor, who has indicated that he is supportive. If LB 1116 is passed by the Legislature, the relocation of the state fair would clear the way for the University of Nebraska to convert the current site into a research and development campus, which has been referred to as Innovation Park. My concern lies with the future costs of Innovation Park, which will be sub-

Lincoln leaders, although making it known that their first choice is the Innovation Park, would have liked to keep the state fair in Lincoln. However, the Agriculture Committee rejected the site of the Lancaster Event Center. There has been a history of controversy between the Lancaster County Agricultural Society and the State Fair Board. The City of Grand Island has worked diligently to promote their site.

Efforts to statutorily re-enact Initiative 300, which was a constitutional amendment that limited farming by non-family corporations, were unsuccessful. I-300 was recently ruled unconstitutional, due to a ruling that it violated the federal commerce clause. LB 1174 attempted to remove the legal flaws that were cited in the court ruling. Senator Cap Dierks, the sponsor of the bill, moved to bracket the bill after committee amendments were not adopted. Most of the major farm organizations were opposed to the legislation.

As we begin the final two weeks of this legislative session, I encourage you to contact me with your thoughts and opinions of the issues before the Legislature. I can be reached at District #17, P.O. Box 94604, State Capitol, Lincoln, Neb. 68509, my e-mail address is lengel@leg.ne.gov and my telephone number is (402) 471-2716.

Big Oil uses record profits to hold us hostage

I'm not sure if oil companies causing everything from obesity to think we are that naïve, or that we all just love paying nearly $4.00 a gallon for gas while they bask in record profits.

oil companies combined for profits of $123 billion. At the same time, the value of the entire U.S. corn crop in 2006-07 was $32 billion that's the gross value, or the value before any expenses and taxes are paid.

Those incredible profits by the oil industry - which are 90-160 percent more than they were just a few years ago - are part of the reason Big Oil executives were called to Congress to explain how they could show those kinds of profits while American consumers are staring $4 gas in the eye. "We have to move to a renewable energy economy," Rep. Edward Markey (D-Mass.), chairman of the Select Committee on Energy Independence and Global Warming, told a CBS morning program. "We can never get out of this trap as long as the oil companies want to hold us hostage to this old agenda."

To hold on, oil companies play an age old shell game that they have the money to control: Blame someone else for the problem while you profit, and keep those you blame on the defensive. One way to keep corn ethanol on the defensive is to blame corn producers and the ethanol industry for a variety of problems, real or perceived.

Unfortunately, Big Oil's welloiled machine has been successful over the last year, as corn farmers starvation to being the root cause of higher food costs.

The simple truth is some food prices have gone up. But the real Exxon Mobil reported record driver behind the increase isn't profits of $40.7 billion last year, corn. It's the cost of energy. Big Oil while it and the other four leading won't admit it, but studies show that high fuel prices have twice the impact on food costs as corn. So not only are consumers getting raked over the coals in the grocery store, but the oil companies make sure to rake us all again when we fill up on the way home.

Fortunately for motorists, ethanol is priced much less than regular gas and helps lower fuel costs. One economist recently calculated that ethanol lowers the price of a gallon of gas by 5 to 10 cents. Another study suggested the savings were 6 to 9 cents. That may not seem like a lot, but across the country that means a savings of $7 have had to defend themselves for billion to $14 billion each year.

That's a lot of money!

There is also enough ethanol production now that it helps meet this country's fuel demands by making up for oil company refineries that haven't been expanded and, in some cases, are operated below capacity. In fact, the oil industry has not opened a single new refinery to make more diesel and gasoline in more than two decades.

In a report by the Consumer Federation of America last month, Dr. Mark Cooper explained: "For a half a decade the major oil companies have exercised their market power. ... In response to record high prices, consumers are cutting their consumption and lower priced alternatives, like ethanol, are expanding supplies."

The report went on to say, however, that if oil stays around $100 per barrel and refiners cut their production runs to increase margins, consumers could see gasoline increase as much as 75 cents per gallon or more before the Memorial Day weekend. That's right - refiners may actually cut production to maintain margins.

American corn growers, though, have increased acres and are poised to plant the second-largest corn crop in history in order to meet demand. They've aided local economies by investing in new equipment and technology to become more efficient and lower costs. They've met demands for feed, food and fuel, and are working hard to meet the demand for corn in the future.

What has Big Oil done for you lately with their record high profits? Are they working to meet your demands - or theirs?

It's a kid's yard; let them enjoy it

By Christina Hoyt Nebraska Statewide Arboretum

It used to be that kids were told "Go outside and don't come home until sunset." With that, nearby creeks, fields, forests, parks or gardens were transformed into special and wondrous places where children acted out their imaginations. However, with television, computers, video games, organized activities and fears of "stranger danger," kids find themselves spending most of their time indoors. Recent studies have linked an increase in childhood obesity, deficit-disorder symptoms and childhood depression to this phenomenon and shown that time in nature can actually relieve some of these symptoms. One step of reconnecting kids with nature is creating and preserving meaningful nature experiences for them close to home.

Our yards have become increasingly manicured, with tidy lawns, carefully pruned shrubs and limbed-up trees all designed for the a child's eye, and make a few inviting changes, yards that were once place for children to explore nature patience and stewardship and more lasting play environment: Let go of a perfectly tidy landscape, especially a highly manicured lawn and the chemicals it takes to make it look that way.

· Plant a diversity of shrubs, perennials and trees that will encourage wildlife including pollinators such as birds and insects.

· Stay away from poisonous plants such as yew and monkshood.

· Allow "rough edges" that are not manicured. Areas planted as a mini-prairie, wildflowers or unmowed areas of lawn work well. Give children spots of their own to dig, plant, build and play.

 Instead of pre-built play houses or swing sets, give children materials to build their own. For young children create the structure's outline and let them create their own walls out of blankets or sticks; let older children build the whole adult aesthetic. By looking through thing. Workshop for youth workers teaches Experiential Learning Model

Father David Hemann

Do you want to learn how to engage youth you are working with? Then this training is for you. Nonprofit Siouxland Management Alliance is hosting a workshop for people who work with youth in kindergarten through twelfth grades. The training will be offered twice to accommodate the schedules of the workshop participants: Tuesday, June 10 and Thursday, June 19. Both trainings will be held at the Bluffs Area Family Center located at 903 Topaz, Sergeant Bluff from 8:30 a.m. until 12 p.m.

Iowa State University (ISU) Extension Youth Field Specialists Steph Anderson and Amy Fuglestad will train on the Experiential Learning Model, the very best method for teaching kids. Attendees will be divided into groups based on the ages of children he or she works with. Amy will lead the training focusing on K- third grade youth, and Steph will lead the training on youth in fourth through twelfth grades.

"Whether teaching specific content or a life skill, using the Experiential Learning Model will ensure that the message being taught will be remembered and understood," said ISU Extension

Youth Field Specialist Steph Anderson. "This training will be hands-on and dynamic, so come prepared to have fun while learning a great way to reach our kids." Anyone who works with youth is invited to attend this activity-filled training.

Attendees will learn practical ways to work with children that is fun for them and can be provided at low cost to agencies. This will be especially beneficial to organizations that are planning summer programs.

The registration fee is $20 per per son. The registration form may be downloaded at www.extension.iastate.edu/woodbury or call ISU Extension-Woodbury County at (712) 276-2157 for more information. The registration deadline is Monday, June 2.

This program is arranged by the Siouxland Nonprofit Management Alliance, a partnership of Tri-State Graduate Center, United Way of Siouxland, and Iowa State University Extension-Woodbury County. Wayne State College studio art student Cody Spiegel of Holdrege will display his senior show including sculpture and mixed media from April 14 to 21 in the Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery, located in Peterson Fine Arts Building on the Wayne State College campus.

The show will focus on a series of masks that has been created during the past two years. The public is welcome to attend the opening of the show on April 14 at 4:30 p.m. in Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery.

Several Northeast students also won top individual awards at the Skills USA/Diesel Technology Challenge. Northeast student Adam Venteicher, Pierce, won first place at the college level and a $300 gift certificate from Snap-On Tools. Puntney won second place and a $200 gift certificate from Snap-On. Hansen garnered third place and a $100 gift certificate from Snap-On.

The Diesel Technology Challenge is held in conjunction with the annual Nebraska Skills USA. Some 32 secondary and post-secondary students from across the state competed in several vocational and leadership contests.

Contests included Interview Skills, Anti-lock Brake Systems, Conditioning Air Systems, Precision Measurement and Failure Analysis, Preventative Maintenance Inspections, Electronic Engines, Hydraulics, ASE Test, Electrical Diagnosis, Transmissions, and Welding. Northeast diesel technology instructors Doug McKibbon, Tony Milenkovich, Craig Evans and Bill Marx are team advisors and also assisted with the judging.

Father David Hemann of Ida Grove, Iowa will present a concert

Entrepreneurship seems to be in work and deciding they would rather work for themselves than for someone else.

All over the country, people are finding a way to work in the town or part of the country they like most and creating a business in their favorite location. I have even read about young people starting their own businesses as early as age 10 or 12, and actually being able to buy their first car or pay for college expenses! It all sounds exciting!

For middle level school students, entrepreneurship camp, "Makin' Money" will be held at Wayne State College on May 29-30. Youth will find out what entrepreneurship is, learn the steps in making a business plan, create products, and market them during the two day camp. Registration materials have been sent to each school in northeast Nebraska and are available from your county UNL Extension office. The event is sponsored by UNL Extension, the RC&D, Center for Rural Affairs and Wayne Area Economic Development.

Another opportunity for youth interested in entrepreneurship, or for teachers teaching entrepreneurship, is the set of new 4-H curriculum materials, EntrepreneurShip Investigation" which provides great learning activities. The materials were developed by a team consisting of UNL Extension staff, the Nebraska Department of Education, NET-Home Competitiveness, the Nebraska State 4-H Office along with support from former Congressman Tom Osborne and funding from the Nebraska Farm to order them. A new cutting edge technology resource is also available for everyone interested in entrepreneurship. It's the new eXtension website that combines information from over 3,000 local Extension offices throughout the United States to bring you the most up-todate, reliable and un-biased information about a variety of important topics.

Just go to www.eXtension.org on your internet program and be ready to receive credible expertise and reliable answers based on sound research. It is an up-to-date source that is available 24 hours a day that will provide customized answers to your specific needs. Be sure to check it out for information about entrepreneurship, but also about beef, dairy cattle, horses, corn, organic production, soybeans, wildlife damage management, parenting, personal finance, youth science, engineering and technology, natural disasters, lawn and gardens, caregiving, and GIS. Additional topics will be added throughout the year! Again, if you need additional information, contact your local UNL Extension

Kleeb visits at WSC

Wayne State College student and Young Democrat organizer Amber Hansen invited and organized a visit by Nebraska Democrat running for senate Dr. Scott Kleeb of Hastings on Thursday, April 3 in the Student Center.

The visit was hosted by the WSC Young Democrats organization. Kleeb teaches American history at Hastings College. His background includes work as a ranch hand in Colorado and in Nebraska's Sandhills, during and after college.

Kleeb earned his master's degree at Yale University in international relations, and then earned a PhD in history, with a special focus on agricultural economics. His doctoral dissertation won the prize for best work in Western American history. He has also been awarded a fellowship for outstanding teaching, a position at the United Nations Policy Planning and Analysis Unit and the opportunity to serve as an Associate World Fellow at Yale.

For more information, please call, Hansen at 402-841-8151.

Wow! Another three point shot home prior to that time. at the buzzer and we are in overtime! And Kansas wins! The resident sports fan in this house says the two best teams were in the finals, and it certainly looked that way. I don't know how many times the lead changed; but in the end, the Jayhawks were ahead.

Tonight, we will be watching the gals, and Tennessee will once again be a top contender. But Connecticut is out, which surprised

You know what? Nebraska appears to have an excellent baseball team this year. Some young pitchers and a few great hitters; Omaha, here we come!

Hospice of Nebraska observes 25 years as an organization this year. As part of the celebration, a volunteer has written a book about it. I don't know how many pages of minutes she read, or how many people she interviewed, but she was able to winnow it down to the main

I believe this was one time that Nebraska did not wait for the movement to come across the country from the east coast. A lot of people were involved in a grass roots effort before there was an actual organization. I think the first volunteers were trained in northeast Nebraska in 1980. I know that a dedicated group in Pierce took care of a high school principal in his

off. Our social workers are much more involved. And the ever faithful volunteers help us carry out our mission.

I made a couple trips to Epley with speakers, which gave me an hour in the car to pick brains. One nurse, from Arizona, is working for the Alzheimer's Institute. One thing she said that stuck with me is that we will all be taking statins because they seem to have a preventive effect. Statins are anti cholesterol drugs. A lot of us are on them, anyway, and I would certainly appreciate it if it reduced my chances for Alzheimer's.

The second speaker, a psychiatrist from Raleigh, North Carolina, made me chuckle because what he wanted to talk about was his farm! Yes, he owns a vineyard in California that belonged to his parents, and he lives on an acreage in Carolina. As I've said many times before, the desire to work the land must be ingrained in a lot of men, and women, for that matter.

Anyway, by manning the Hospice booth on Wednesday, I had the opportunity to reconnect with lots of old friends. You know me, that's always a plus. And our annual banquet featured a talk by old friend Joan Burney, so it was a totally good day, from start to finish. anniversary, Nebraska

Today, one in 150 individuals is diagnosed with autism, making it more common than pediatric cancer, diabetes, and AIDS combined. It occurs in all racial, ethnic, and social groups and is four times more likely to strike boys than girls. Autism impairs a person's ability to communicate and relate to others. It is also associated with rigid routines and repetitive behaviors, such as obsessively arranging objects or following very specific routines. Symptoms can range from very mild to quite severe.

than girls to have autism. Autism was first identified in 1943 by Dr. Leo Kanner of Johns Hopkins Hospital. At the same time, a German scientist, Dr. Hans Asperger, described a milder form of the disorder that is now known as Asperger Syndrome. These two disorders are listed in the DSM IV (Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders) as two of the five developmental disorders that fall under the autism spectrum disorders. The others are Rett Syndrome, PDD NOS (Pervasive Developmental Disorder), and Childhood Disintegrative Disorder. All of these disorders are characterized by varying degrees of impairment in communication skills and social abilities, and also by repetitive behaviors..

Autism spectrum disorders can usually be reliably diagnosed by age three, although new research is pushing back the age of diagnosis to as early as six months. Parents are usually the first to notice unusual behaviors in their child or their child's failure to reach appropriate developmental milestones. Some parents describe a child that seemed different from birth, while others describe a child who was developing normally and then lost skills. Pediatricians may initially dismiss signs of autism, thinking a child will "catch up," and may advise parents to "wait and see. New research shows that when parents suspect something is wrong with their child, they are usually correct. If you have concerns about your child's development, don't wait: speak to your pediatrician about getting your child screened for autism.

If your child is diagnosed with autism, early intervention is critical to gain maximum benefit from existing therapies. Although parents may have concerns about labeling a toddler as "autistic," the earlier the diagnosis is made, the earlier interventions can begin. Currently, there are no effective means to prevent autism, no fully effective treatments, and no cure. Research indicates, however, that early intervention in an appropriate educational setting for at least two years during the preschool years can result in significant improvements for many young children with autism spectrum disorders. As soon as autism is diagnosed, early intervention instruction should begin. Effective programs focus on developing communication, social, and cognitive

Watch for the Red Flags of Autism - In clinical terms, there are a few "absolute indicators," often referred to as "red flags," that indicate that a child should be evaluated. For a parent, these are the "red flags" that your child should be screened to ensure that he/she is on the right developmental path. If your baby shows any of these signs, please ask your pediatrician or family practitioner for an immediate evaluation:

·No big smiles or other warm, joyful expressions by six months or thereafter

·No back-and-forth sharing of sounds, smiles, or other facial expressions by nine months or thereafter

• No babbling by 12 months

·No back-and-forth gestures, such as pointing, showing, reaching, or waving by 12 months · No words by 16 months No two-word meaningful phrases (without imitating or repeating)

Autism and the Wayne Community Schools - The Wayne Community Schools Special Education Department makes a continuous effort to keep their staff informed regarding current educational techniques for use when working with students on the Autism Spectrum. The district partners when needed with the regional Autism Coordinator, Sonja

Ford, ESU#1, and ASD Network. Several staff members attend the statewide Autism Conference each year. High School special education teacher Misty Beair was selected last year for her work in the area of Autism Spectrum Disorders to participate in the STEPS program through the regional ASD Network. Elementary School special education teacher Winter Stewart was named in March to the Regional Autism Team, due to her extensive work in this area as well. Speech pathologist Kay Mader, is a resident expert in dealing with the communication issues associated with Autism Spectrum Disorders.

If you have a concern or would like more information regarding Autism Spectrum Disorders, please contact the Wayne Community 'Schools Special Director, Education Ballinger, at 402-375-2230.

Receiving the donation is Jill Kaps, Community Services Director with the NE Nebraska Chapter (who works in the Norfolk office) and making the presentation are Rich and Lisa Riley, owners of the Culver's in Norfolk.

"It's always a fulfilling experience to participate in a program that directly benefits our local community," said Lisa Riley, co-owner of Culver's. "While raising funds is critical, our additional goal of educating our guests about the value of preparedness was equally important in our 'Day of Giving' activities."

The fundraiser coincides with National Red Cross Month, a time when citizens celebrate and reflect upon the work of the Red Cross in communities throughout America. It is also a time when Americans are encouraged to take steps to prepare for emergencies, take CPR and first aid training, to volunteer their time, give blood and financially support the programs and services of the Red Cross. The money raised at each locally owned and operated restaurant will stay in the community in which it was donated to help the Red Cross pay for local community programs as well as emergency preparedness and disaster relief efforts.

"The money that was raised during Culver's 'Day of Giving' helps restore hope and dignity to local individuals during their most vulnerable times, such as during a crisis," said Jill Kaps of the Red Cross. "The donations will help our efforts to get people back on their feet as well as educate local citizens through community programs. We sincerely thank Culver's and the kind people that contributed."

"The Red Cross is vital to ensuring individuals affected by life changing events, such as floods, fires, and other disasters, are cared for in their time of need," said Lea Culver, Culver's co-founder and a Red Cross volunteer. "The unity displayed by our franchisees and their guests to make this significant contribution to the Red Cross is truly humbling."

Author Curt Arens to be at Welcome Center

Center will be hosting "Meet the Author" with Crofton farmer and local author, Curt Arens on Sunday, April 20 from 1 to 3 p.m.

Arens, a former board member of the CDWC, had a livelong dream of being a published author. His first book, "Down to Earth" is on sale in our gift shop and he will be on hand to sign your personal copy.

Arens farms with his wife, Donna, a school teacher, and their three children on the fourth generation Arens' farmstead. A freelance journalist, Arens's Down to Earth: Celebrating a Blessed Life on the Land, was released in January by Catholic and Christian publisher, ACTA Publications in Skokie, Ill.

Growing up a farm kid, giving 4-H and FFA speeches along with editing the high school yearbook, gave him a taste of journalist life. Although he admits his fist hope was to one day be able to raise his own family on the farm where he grew up along West Bow Creek near Crofton.

His history in writing is long as are his credits as a published writer. Some may remember his diary written as a high school student being published in the popular "Farmwife" magazine by Rieman Publication, now known as "Country Woman." He took his baby steps in column writing with the Crofton Journal and still writes a weekly column, "Farm to Family," for the six newspapers owned by the Northeast Nebraska News Agency in Hartington. He founded "Farm to Family Connection," a Yankton based weekly radio program promoting local family farms and communi-

Babysitter training course held in Wayne

The Northeast Nebraska Chapter of The American Red Cross recently held a Babysitter Training course on April 5 at the Chapter Office in Wayne. Fifteen kids from the Wayne area completed this training. Heather Claussen, with the NE Nebraska Red Cross, taught the course.

The students were taught skills such as how to handle different ages of children, responsibility and making good decisions, helping children behave, and also how to care, diaper, feed and play safely with children they care for. They were also taught basic first aid, safety, and what to do in case of emergencies. The class lasted from 9 a.m.-3 p.m. and each student received a

Babysitter's Handbook and a certification card showing that they took and passed this Red Cross course. The Wayne Kiwanis Club also provided a Babysitter's First Aid kit to each participant. If anyone is looking for a well-trained and certified person to care for their children, please give one of these trained sitters a call.

By Ruth Vonderohe, UNL Extension Educator

Yes, we have come a long way since we first began working in the field of diabetes education. We now know that the complications associated with diabetes can be prevented or delayed. Plus our growing knowledge of various foods and their effect on blood sugar levels enables people with diabetes to eat food they like, choose when and how much to eat and still control blood-sugar levels.

It is the best time in history to have diabetes, especially in light of the difficulties our parents and grandparents would encounter had they been diagnosed decades ago. Today people with diabetes can choose from a wide variety of nonnutritive sweeteners and can even figure out how to fit sugar-containing foods into your meal plan. With carbohydrate information now readily available for most foods, diabetics can easily learn to count carbohydrates at each meal. This allows diabetics to fit virtually any food into your meal plan.

Fitting diabetes into your life style is the key message today. Diabetes does not have to dictate how you live.

Extension invites you and your family members to participate in a new and exciting diabetes educational program. The series of programs is being offered via the twoway interactive distance education facilities. Participants will learn about current issues related to diabetes from educators with over 20 years of team-teaching experience with the in-depth Living with Diabetes series.

Wednesday, April 16, is the first of three programs in "Control Diabetes for Life" series. Topics that will be addressed during the University of Nebraska-Lincoln two-hour program are: "Medication Educator in Cuming County. Updates," "Type 1 Diabetes in Adults-Is it Type 1 or Type II?", "Classify your Carbs", and "Life Style Changes/Becoming more Resilient" along with other helpful hints. Participants will sample a new recipe for a diabetic appropriate food.

> Team-teaching the program will be Phyllis Heimann, R.N. and Certified Diabetes Educator; Mary Clare Stalp, R.D. and Stacie Petersen, R.N. and Certified Diabetes Educator of Franciscan Care Services in West Point and Debra Schroeder, UNL Extension

Participants have the opportunity to attend the program on Wednesday, April 16, from 1:30-4 p.m. at the Courthouse Annex Meeting Room in Center, Nebraska.

"Control Diabetes for Life" is a joint project of University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension, Franciscan Care Services of West Point and the schools hosting the presentation. The program is offered free-of-charge. "Control Diabetes for Life" will help participants learn to control diabetes and prolong the onset of complications from the disease. These sessions are designed to supplement the education that you receive from your local diabetes education team and not a substitute for diabetes classes through your local health care providers.

Participants are asked to preregister for "Control Your Diabetes for Life" by calling the UNL Extension Office in Knox County at 402-288-5611. Please register by Monday, April 14, so the proper number of handouts may be prepared. Nebraska School Food Service Association has approved this session for two hours of continuing education credits for food service staff who attend.

patriotic, civic, fraternal or religious group in cooperation with the local American Legion Post. The program will take place at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln downtown campus from June 1 through June 7.

American Legion Cornhusker Boys' State is set up as a functional "51st state" and each boy learns how government subdivisions operate by actually doing the job. Participants will campaign for offices, hold elections, take part in band and chorus, compete in athletics and be involved in other varied activities as part of the citizenship training program. They will also set up their own state government and draft bills.

Special lectures and addresses will be delivered by experienced public officials and professional leaders including Governor Dave Heineman and Supreme Court Chief Justice John M. Gerrard. National acclaimed motivational speaker JoAnne Owens-Nauslar is also scheduled to address the

Six months of good news at SUX

Rick McElroy, Airport Director, Sioux Gateway Airport/Col. Bud Day Field, announced recently a 230 percent increase in total passengers for March compared to March of 2007. There were 14,108 passengers this March as compared to 4,278 last March. March also marks the seventh consecutive month of increased passengers.

March is the sixth month of service for Frontier Airlines. McElroy acknowledged that the huge increases have come about because of many interrelated factors: competitive airfares, quality air service (including size of aircraft, frequency, and schedule of flights), the FLY SUX marketing campaign, the addition of the Northwest Airlines' Reservation Center to downtown, and the availability of two viable air service providers for travelers.

"The market has always been here but customers were choosing other airports before Sioux Gateway. Now, with the addition of new service to Denver and the existing service to Minneapolis, our customers are able to take advantage of two quality commercial air carriers when making travel plans.... and no airport is more convenient", said McElroy.

Milenkovich of Winside. She is active in music, speech and sports at Winside High School. She is also a member of the National Honor Society.

Girls State is a nationwide program sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary. Each year more than 400 girls from throughout the state are offered an opportunity to be active participants in structured role-playing that emphasizes our democratic form of government. The selection process is difficult and only the most qualified high school juniors are selected. The American Legion Auxiliary works with the local high schools in the process. The students selected have demonstrated an interest in learning about government and have shown leadership in their high schools.

The Department of Nebraska American Legion Auxiliary Cornhusker Girls State session will be held at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln from June 1 to June 7.

If Chelsey is unable to attend, her alternate, Shelby Meyer will take her place. Shelby is the daughter of Larry and Kathy

ORDINANCE NO. 2008-5

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING CHAPTER 18, ARTICLE I, SECTION 18-2 DEMOLI-TION OF BUILDINGS; REGULATION OF THE WAYNE MUNICIPAL CODE; TO PRO-VIDE FOR THE REPEAL OF CONFLICT-ING ORDINANCES OR SECTIONS; AND TO PROVIDE FOR AN EFFECTIVE DATE. BE IT ORDAINED by the Mayor and Council of the City of Wayne, Nebraska:

Section 1. That Chapter 18, Article I, Section 18-2 of the Wayne Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

Sec. 18-2 Demolition of buildings; regula-

(a) It shall be unlawful for any person to demolish or raze any building or part of a building in the city without first obtaining a permit from the building inspector. (b) Such permit shall be issued by the building inspector, but only after an application for such permit has been approved by the city administrator (c) Before such application is approved by the city administrator, the applicant shall be required to post a bond of $1.00 per square foot of the total floor space of the building excluding basement to be demolished or razed. The bond shall be conditioned that all city utilities shall be properly disconnected and that there will be proper removal of all demolished or razed material. The words "properly disconnected" shall include, but not necessarily be limited to, shutting off the water at the main and sealing the sewer at the point of disconnection with concrete. The building inspector shall charge a fee for the permit. The amount of such fee shall be set by the Council, and a schedule of such fee is on file and available in the City Clerk's office. Section 2. All Ordinances or parts of

Ordinances in conflict herewith are repealed. Section 3. This Ordinance shall be in full force and effect after its passage, approval, and publication as provided by law PASSED AND APPROVED THIS 1st day of

Charles Shapiro of the University of Nebraska - Lincoln, discussed a Well Head Protection Plan for the City Wells.

Brian Gibson, representing the Wayne County Javcees, was present requesting Council consideration to increasing the amount of the annual donation given for the 4th of July fireworks from $1,000 to $2,500, and to donate ing $5,000 for the 125th celebration to be held in 2009. Councilmember Lutt made a motion and Councilmember Frevert seconded to increase the budget from $1,000 to $1,500 for the 2008 fireworks display. The motion was then withdrawn because the request to increase the annual donation was not on the agenda. The matter would be brought up at the next Council meeting.

Phil Monahan, representing the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department, was present requesting Council consideration to allowing them to submit a grant application to FEMA for replacement of 40 sets of bunker gear and approve the 5% matching funds needed for the same. They were originally going to submit a grant application to replace the aerial ladder truck, and because this change was not reflected on the agenda, the matter would be brought back before Council at the next meeting.

Kent Franzen, representing Industries, presented the Mayor and Council with the NPPD 2007 Economic Development Award.

Kent Franzen updated the Council on the LB840 Sales Tax effort. The consensus of the group was to try for the 1% sales tax. Annual reports were given by Jeff Zeiss,

Recreation-Leisure Services Director, and

Lauren Lofgren, Library Director. Discussion took place regarding the purchase of a car for city staff to use when traveling to meetings and conferences. No action was taken on the matter.

Administrator Johnson provided information regarding the Phase II Trail Project in the last packet. This will be bid out some time in May or June for construction in 2008. He is going to propose an alternate with a completion date in June/July of 2009.
